THURBER IN JAIL WHEN BOMB FIRED IN WALL STREET

Story Told by Man in Prison in England Disproved by U. S. Police

Mystery of Murder of Thirty Persons in 1920 Still Unsolved

New York, March 5.—Whatever hopes the New York police had of solving the mystery of the famous Wall Street explosion of 1920 through the reported confession of Ralph Thurber flickered and vanished to-day when the police were advised that Thurber was in San Quentin Penitentiary, California, when the explosion occurred.

Thurber, who was made known to the District Attorney through a telegram from Secretary of State Hughes to Governor Smith, was seriously questioned by detectives after they had failed to find the addresses of two men whom Thurber, in an affidavit made in a London prison, had implicated in the explosion.

Thirty persons lost their lives in the Wall Street bomb explosion, which occurred September 16, 1920, in Canadian Army.

London, March 5.—Ralph Thurber, a prisoner in the Pentonville Jail, who confessed to implication in the Wall Street bomb explosion of 1920, formerly served in the Canadian Army, according to The Daily Sketch, Thurber recently came to England in defiance of a deportation order sending him to the United States.

THREAT OF LEGAL ACTION HANGS OVER HEADS OF ALDERMEN

Pool to Take Personal Action Against Members of Council on High School Expenditures Reported Raised

Twenty-five taxpayers in Victoria have guaranteed contributions towards a pool to take personal action against the members of the City Council for alleged extravagance in High School expenditures as soon as the estimates committee of the City Council has completed its business, is the report which has reached the ears of aldermen.

The ordinary estimates of the School Board, which include the appropriation for the High School, have been approved.

It is estimated they will fight the matter through the courts, the main point of contention being that children over the age of sixteen years are included at the expense of the city unless they have special ability which would enable them to attend them to special educational privileges.

Whether it is a bluff threat to induce the Council to curb expenditures or whether it is a serious attempt to limit free High School education to students up to sixteen years of age is a matter which is agitating some of the aldermen. While some treat the matter lightly and scorn the idea that they will be personally sued, as it has been stated they will otherwise believe that they may be subjected to considerable annoyance and be dragged into an expensive legal contest, others are of the opinion that they have no choice of action.

Two aldermen have threatened to resign if legal action is taken against them personally after the estimates have been passed.

The Public Schools Act, they point out, provides that sufficient school accommodation shall be provided for all children between six and sixteen years of age and states that High School education may be provided after that date.

The onus for High School costs is on the school trustees, one alderman claims. If the taxpayers do not want to pay beyond the age of sixteen years, he suggests that they elect trustees who will rule accordingly, and do not blame the members of the Council for expenditures which they do not make.

Informal reference was made to the contemplated action against the aldermen after the Oak Bay Council meeting last night, but those who appeared to have information on the subject were not prepared at this stage to divulge their plan of action. It is understood that the trustees would subscribe to the fund.

John Dean, who has headed many of the campaigns against expenditures, is not one of the number. "I'm not going to do it," he said, "giving an opinion on the spur of the moment is inclined to subscribe to it. I should only do it if I had the money and the interest and what line of action they were taking. The city authorities have gone to excess in the cost of education, and the taxpayers should be called upon to pay for nothing beyond a common school education."

Oak Bay faces a similar problem, and at the Council meeting last night the aldermen discussed the question of that municipality, it being pointed out that 55 per cent of the total revenue was used for education.

F. B. Pemberton, while criticizing super-education, had no information to impart on the rumored fund. Although he had heard talk of such a fund, he had not been told what line it would take. He expressed his opinion against the general use of the High School, except for students of special ability. "I don't mean to say that I don't want to see men come to me applying for work on the farm," he said, "but I have children from 17 years to 19 years of age, who are attending High School, but will eventually go in for mechanical work. There seems to be a consensus of opinion everywhere that even if a boy is going in for business, he should start early. Most of the men who have been successful I have interviewed, and they all say that intelligent workingmen and their opinion is that the High School is a ruinous load of really good mechanics."

That the talk of a fund and legal action may be in the nature of a threat is the view of some aldermen. No actual contribution to the fund is yet known.

MURDEROUS VOLLEY WOUNDS HELMSMAN ON GASOLINE BOAT

Out across the fifteen feet of water separating the Hadel and the captured Kayak sped a volley of lead that dropped Davidson in a limp mass across the steering wheel inside the cabin.

The first bullet had taken him in a crouched position, entering at the point of the left shoulder, traversing the body through the ribs, through the left hip and out in the fleshy part of the leg below the thigh. A second bullet had passed through the right shoulder, while a third had entered at one side of the boat and left at the other.

From shells found on the Kayak, from where the murderous broadside had been fired, the bullets that struck Davidson were from a Mauser automatic rifle, it was discovered. Students of ballistics state that this type of rifle will penetrate a fifty-eight pine plank at a distance of fifty feet from the muzzle.

The police suspect that the bandits will transport their $10,000 haul to a fast boat, as the Hadel could only make a maximum of six knots an hour so loaded. It is thought they abandoned the speed boat in which they came, but this has not yet been established.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY'S ATTITUDE STATED

Forke Tells Commons Followers Will Support Constructive Measures

Deals With Tariff, Canadian National Railways, and Other Subjects

Ottawa, March 5.—Robert Forke, leader of the Progressives, spoke in the House of Commons in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, as did J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the Labor group of two, W. F. Maclean, Conservative, South York, Ontario, and A. J. Lewis, Progressive, Swift Current, Sask., during the remainder of the afternoon and the evening.

PROGRESSIVE ATTITUDE

Stating the attitude of the Progressives toward the Government, Mr. Forke said:

"The Progressives are ready to support progressive measures whenever such measures come before the House. If the Government is prepared to present the measures for our consideration, it knows it will get our support. If it does not, then it will have to take the consequences."

The Progressive leader expressed doubt whether there would be many Governments in future with a majority over all in Parliament. He seemed to expect that the Government should feel called upon to resign if defeated on a minor issue.

NET RETURNS LOW

Agriculture was prosperous so far as concerned production, but unfortunately it was necessary for the farmer to judge prosperity by his net returns at the end of the year. The men on the farms were not making enough to give them a comfortable life. The Progressive leader cited figures reported by Premier Bracken of Manitoba that while wheat was only a little higher now than in 1914, three farm implements which in 1914 cost but $25 cost at the present time $412.

ECONOMY PLANS

The House, said Mr. Forke, awaited with interest the Government's proposals for economy and reduction of taxation. Nobody could disagree with that part of the Speech from the Throne which stressed the necessity of this. Provided the necessary work of the country was carried on and due precaution taken to prevent interference with such necessary development of the whole House, he thought, would applaud any effort the Government might make. To permit members properly to study them, the estimates should be brought down early, and the supplementary estimates should not be left to the dying days of the session.

DUTIES ON IMPLEMENTS

As regards the Progressive's attitude toward reduction or abolition of duties on farm implements, Mr. Forke would rather see a general reduction which would benefit all classes of Canadians. The Progressives did not wish to be selfish about the tariff. It would not be a bad idea, he said, to discontinue the sales tax on agricultural implements.

TRANSPORTATION RATES

Speaking of transportation, Mr. Forke said that exorbitant charges affected agriculture as hardening of the heart would be to the human body. Reduction of transportation costs was essential and Canada's future prosperity depended upon it to a very large extent.

NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Every lover of Canada must rejoice at the indication of increasing prosperity of the Canadian National Railways. Mr. Forke suggested that the capitalization of the road be written down and revaluations made. The country would not stand for anything that would jeopardize the success of the Canadian National Railways.

IMMIGRATION

Mr. Forke did not believe in indiscriminate immigration, but he thought increased immigration would help solve many of Canada's problems. Just as long as Canada was situated next door to a great nation like the United States there would be an exodus of Canadians to that country. It seemed tragic that the best trained Canadians should go. He advocated making conditions as pleasant here as possible so as to retain the immigrants who came. With 2,000,000 out of employment in Great Britain, Canada need not be afraid to invite Britishers to this country.

MADE IN CANADA

RAILWAY BRANCHES The West needed branch railway lines and if these lines were built in proper places they would be revenue-producing. Mr. Forke hoped no party manipulation or wire-pulling would prevent the voting of money for construction of these Canadian National lines at this session.

WOODSWORTH SHARED IN OTTAWA DEBATE

Winnipeg Labor Member Dealt With Cape Breton Labor Troubles

W. F. Maclean, Conservative and A. J. Lewis, Progressive, Also Spoke

Ottawa, March 5.—J. S. Woodsworth, member for Centre Winnipeg and leader of the Labor group of two in the Commons, said during the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne yesterday afternoon that the most important happening of the last year was the attainment of power by the Labor Party in Great Britain.

Mr. Woodsworth made some sharp comments in connection with the Cape Breton strike. He took the case of J. B. MacLachlan, Labor leader, sentenced to two years for seditious libel (released on ticket-of-leave), and charged that MacLachlan had been taken to Halifax to face judges who "up to the time of their connection with the bench had been closely connected with coal companies."

The law of sedition, said the Labor member, was archaic and should never have been invoked in such a case. "I venture to assert," said Mr. Woodsworth, "that if Mr. Meighen had made in public one-half as serious a charge against the Government as he made in this House yesterday, he would be subject to the law of sedition, which is defined as speaking against the authorities."

Mr. Woodsworth added that Nova Scotia workers declared that Hon. E. M. Macdonald, Minister of Defence, who "is responsible for the Cape Breton strike," had been, if he were not still, the solicitor for the coal companies. The speaker advocated appointment of a parliamentary committee to investigate the British Empire Steel Corporation.

NEWFOUNDLAND EVIDENCE

He advocated investigation of "the abnormal profits of the Government subsidies, concealed profits, absentee management and watered stock." He called attention to the evidence given Newfoundland that at a time when important negotiations were going on Premier Squires of Newfoundland received $45,000 had been given to Premier Squires of that corporation.

DUTY ON NICKEL

An export duty on nickel, of which Canada had the world's visible supply, would be a reasonable thing, he said. Since the United States had seen fit to put a prohibitive tariff on Canadian wheat, Canada might also retaliate with an export duty on pulpwood and thereby make about $100,000,000 a year.

DUTY ON PULPWOOD

W. F. Maclean, Conservative, South York, Ontario, said that the principle of a duty on pulpwood was not sound.

York, and A. J. Lewis, Progressive, Swift Current, both were in favor of an export duty on pulpwood. Mr. Maclean stressed the importance of the St. Lawrence Waterway scheme. Mr. Lewis urged that the leaders should be outlining more reforms instead of differing over lesser issues.

Mr. Maclean said the two-party system would never return. He urged Canadians to watch the coming election in the United States as indicative of the political revolutions now going on in the English-speaking world.

non-taxable Government securities should be abolished. Mr. Maclean said that bank reform was necessary in Canada. Banks should be asked to accept a federal reserve system such as obtains in the United States and national notes issued by the Government should replace all the banknotes now circulated in Canada.

BANK REFORM

The Home Bank depositors had a very good excuse for asking for relief in the same manner that the Province of Quebec had protected bank depositors, continued Mr. Maclean. All banknotes in circulation should be national notes, and although the Dominion had issued notes, the banks had held them back, giving preference to those of their own issue.

They Know The way to whiter teeth. Will you not find it out?

Those many people you meet with glistening teeth do something you should do. You see them everywhere today. They have gained new beauty and new charm. But they have also gained new cleanliness, new safety.

They combat the dingy film. You feel on teeth a viscous film. That is what clouds teeth. Under old-way brushing, much of that film remains. It becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats, to make the teeth unsightly and unclean.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Such troubles became almost universal, due to attacks caused by film. Science has sought ways to combat that film. It has found two which proved effective in many careful tests. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation, one removes it without harmful scouring.

Pepsodent THE PEPSODENT COMPANY, Dept. P, 191 George St., Toronto, Can. Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

Face of Louis Wolheim is His Film Fortune

"His face is his fortune," might be written of Louis Wolheim, who plays the part of "Frozen Face" Laird in "Unseeing Eyes." Cosmopolitan's picturization of an Arthur Stringer story of the Canadian wilderness in which Lionel Barrymore and Seena Owen are featured, and is now showing at the Capitol.

Not that Wolheim would win any prize in a beauty contest, for, as those who saw him in "The Hairy Ape" know, he has the most villainous face imaginable. Wolheim used to be quite a handsome boy, but it never got him anything.

When Eugene O'Neill wrote his romance of "Beauty and the Beast," known as "The Hairy Ape," Barrymore recommended the former Cornell student for the ape, and the hit he scored is a part of theatrical history. Since then he has appeared in numerous Cosmopolitan productions, including "The Face in the Fog," "The Go Getter" and "Little Old New York," and in J. Parker Read's "The Last Moment." As "Frozen Face" Laird Wolheim does the best work of his screen career.

Veteran Players in Supporting Cast at Columbia Show

In the cast supporting Mary Pickford in her new production of "Tess of the Storm Country," a United Artists release now showing at the Columbia Theatre, are four actors who have been actively on screen or stage for twenty or more years and two of these four have been donning the grease-paint for nearly a half a century. David Torrence and Danny Hoy are the two who have rounded out twenty years in the entertaining service. Forrest Robinson has been an actor for forty-seven consecutive years while Gus Saville made his debut but forty-five years ago. All four of these veterans play important character parts in "Tess of the Storm Country." Hoy, the youngest of the group, started his career at the age of six years, and, at the age of twenty-six he is considered one of the really finished character actors of the silver-sheet.

Dog Loaded in, Spoiled Picture, Enraged Director

In "Her Temporary Husband," a First National comedy feature showing at the Royal Theatre to-day and to-morrow, there is a cross-section view of three rooms, through which two men are alternately chased by two villains. The four are supposed to reach door in unison, open and close it so that neither is seen by their pursuers or able to see the men ahead.
During the production of the picture Director John McDermott worked for hours, calling "One, two, three, four," so that the four actors would work in accord. But sooner or later, before the scene would be completed one of them would open a door too soon, or wait too long. After a while, just as the chase was getting warm and McDermott was sighing with relief, in loomed "Prince," the studio dog, protested. Prince, perplexed at such unstage-like conduct. He entered the chase, grabbing Owen Moore by the trouser leg. McDermott all but collapsed.
The dog was tied down in a secluded corner and the chase started once more.
"Her temporary Husband" is the most outstanding comedy of the year. Directed by John McDermott, it is interpreted by a most unusual cast of funsters, including Owen Moore, Sidney Chaplin, Sylvia Breamer, Tully Marshall, Chuck Reisner, Charles Gerrard, George Cooper and others.

Crooning Melodies in "Black Magic" at Playhouse Theatre

Crowds are flocking each night to the Playhouse where Super-shows are being given. For a long time there have been requests from various of the patrons of Mr. Hinks production that he should write something featuring the crooning melodies of the south as well as the quartet songs so common there, and at last he has answered these requests with as funny and tuneful a show as one could desire. But besides all this there is on the screen our old friend Douglas Fairbanks in his greatest comedy "The Nut," as well as Lloyd Hamilton in "The Educator."

Horseshoes Not Emblems of Luck to Tully Marshall

Horseshoes may be emblems of good luck for most of the world but they have just the opposite significance for condemned criminals according to the discovery made by Tully Marshall, veteran screen character actor.
Marshall plays one of the featured roles in the Joseph Henabery production, "The Stranger," all this week at the Dominion Theatre.
Betty Compson, Richard Dix and Lewis Stone are also featured.

"Blossom Time" is Notable Musical Success, Due Here

Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert will present "Blossom Time," the most notable musical success of years at the Royal Theatre, on Friday and Saturday, with Saturday matinee, with the original New York Century Theatre cast and production absolutely intact from a run of more than two years in New York City.
This rare and unusual play comes here with the prestige of being the biggest financial winner in the annals of light opera productions in this country, and it is the work of other distinctions quite as interesting to the theatre-going public. No light opera has ever had a lovelier score. Practically all the music was taken from the undying songs and other famous melodies from the larger compositions of that greatest song composer of all times—Franz Schubert.
The story of "Blossom Time" is set in old Vienna of 1826 and Schubert is first introduced surrounded by a group of lovable cronies, much after the style of Murrer's better-known Bohemians, of Paris. Most of his friends have to keep watch over the young genius to see that he has food enough to live upon, for he lives—in this opera as in life, at the age of thirty-one, in dire poverty. When these Bohemians are flush they dine at an out-of-door restaurant in the famous old Prater Park, Vienna, and here one day while they are singing and feasting, come the three pretty daughters of old Kranz, the young Jeweler, to meet adventure. Schubert falls desperately in love with the eldest, Miti. He writes a song which he dedicates to Miti, and later on, the young girl asks him to sing it to her. Schubert is inordinately shy and through a misunderstanding he causes his best friend, Baron von Schober to serenade Miti in his place. Never quite understanding the difficulties and great modesty of her genius lover, she completely misinterprets the coming of von Schober on this occasion, and at the end of the impressionistic song, Miti falls in von Schober's arms, just as Schubert comes upon the scene. Schober later confesses that he always loved Miti and Schubert is too magnanimous in spirit to interpose himself further between his chum and the only woman he ever loved.

Hollis Davenny will be seen in his original role of Franz Schubert, Gertrude Lang will play her original role of Miti, and others of the Century Theatre, New York cast, are Halina Brusovna, Teddy Webb, Ralph Soule, Amy Lester, Hedley Hall, George Hackett, Laurence Roberts, Ferns Newell, DeVacmon Ramsay, Ione Wilber, Julia Hurley, Janette Gray, Clement Taylor, David Resnick and others.

NEWS IN BRIEF

William Hiphurn has taken out a building permit for alterations at 1228 Yates Street, and a permit has also been issued for alterations at the Weller Building, Douglas Street.

The Spanish Council will hold its regular meeting at Royal Oak on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, when it is expected that delegations in connection with the saving the West Road and other matters will present their views.

A charge of having no visible means of support was withdrawn against Virginia Phillips in the city police court to-day when it was stated the case was one for the city to deal with through other channels.

The Spanish Police Commission will hold its monthly meeting at Royal Oak on Friday evening at 7 o'clock. The remaining items not yet passed, which are included in the estimates for 1924, will be considered.

A concert will be held in St. Luke's Parish Hall, Cedar Hill, on Friday, March 7, at 8.15 p.m. J. O. Dunford has charge of the programme and the following artists will take part: Mrs. Morton, Mrs. Humphries, Miss Morton, Mrs. Knight, R. R. Webb, Mr. Dicke, Mr. Abbott and others.

An attractive musical programme has been arranged under the co-ownership of J. O. Dunford, to be given on March 7, in the Campbell Building, at 8 o'clock at Canon and Mrs. George Burnett who contributed several instrumental trios for violin, harp and organ. Miss Rita Christensen, G. J. Burnett and Harry Christensen lent splendid support as accompanists.

Delegates from service clubs of the city will be invited to meet the Great War Veterans' Association to secure information on pensions. That the seriousness of the prospective cut through the elimination of the bonus is not generally appreciated was advanced as the reason for extending the invitation.

Visits by city schools to local industries during this week have been set as follows: B.C. Telephone Exchange (High School) to-day; Golden Gate (High School) to-morrow; Victoria Steam Laundry (George Jay) to-day; Gas Works (High School) all Thursday; Post Office (High School) Victoria Steam Laundry (Margaret Jones), St. Charles Roofing Co. (South Park), and Turner, Beaton & Co. (Girls' Central) all Friday.

Francis Nickawa, the well-known Cree entertainer, attracted such a large audience for her recital last evening under the direction of the Wesley Church choir that the big auditorium of the Metropolitan Methodist Church where the concert was held, was filled to capacity, and many would-be patrons were turned away.

Miss Nickawa delighted the audience with her art. Her native humor kept everyone in happy mood, and the little stories with which she introduced her numbers were received with evident pleasure.

Assisting also in the programme was the Wesley Girls' choir, which sang "O Canada" as the opening number, and later in the programme the glee, "Ah, Could I in Fantasy Stray," by the part song, "The Mill," each number revealing the careful training given by J. O. Welch, the conductor; Mrs. Edmonds, soprano; Miss Nora Jones, contralto; Geo. Guy, tenor, and Miss Anita Holt, violinist. Each item was enthusiastically endorsed.

NEW PASTOR FOR LUTHERAN CHURCH

Rev. T. A. Jansen of Astoria Appointed; Presentation to Rev. P. E. Baisler

Rev. T. A. Jansen, of Astoria, Oregon, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Grace Lutheran Church, Queen's Avenue, according to statement made by the Rev. P. E. Baisler this morning.

Rev. P. E. Baisler, who has been filling the pulpit at Grace Church for the past few years pending the appointment of an incumbent, is Western field secretary for the Grace Lutheran Church in Canada. He has recently returned from Prince Rupert where he has been making the necessary preparations before taking temporary charge of the Lutheran congregation there.

On arriving here last evening, he and his wife found their home invaded and surprised host and hostess were presented with a most interesting piece and a purse from the congregation. The remainder of the evening was passed with a program of songs and readings, and delicious refreshments were served.

What I do think, however, speaking in the interests of those who want to take their children round the exhibition with the fair, the exhibition suffers from the counter attraction, and each year recently the show has been suffering more by the eclipse of the racing.

While I welcome the announcement that the B.C. Agricultural Association intends to stage a fair this year without horse racing, I think the proposed dates in August, are too early, said Mayor Hayward this morning. "Personally, I have no objection to horse racing, but when it is run in conjunction with the fair, the exhibition suffers from the counter attraction, and each year recently the show has been suffering more by the eclipse of the racing."

CONVEYABLE HEARS VALUABLE ADDRESS BY UNIVERSITY MAN

Prof. R. L. Davies, of University of B.C. Gives Advice to Wool Growers

Professor R. L. Davies, of the University of British Columbia, addressed a meeting of the directors of the B.C. Wool Growers' Association this morning, giving a great amount of valuable information.

The speaker asserted that it would be a good thing for the province and for the breeders in all parts of B.C., if a ram sale were established at some central point, and carried on at certain times of the year.

The feeding of pregnant ewes requires great care, said the speaker, and roots should not be fed them in large quantities. Roots and silage in reasonable proportions are excellent food for animals throughout the winter, and at all times, covered with them in amount, he said.

OAK BAY FACES IMPROVEMENT TAX COUNCIL IS TOLD

Mill Rate to Cover 1924 Expenditures 45; Would Cause Revisions of Land

Reeve and Council to Reconsider Estimates and to Lay Case Before Ratepayers

A mass meeting of Oak Bay ratepayers was called shortly to consider what they would do about the tax on or exemption from taxation of improvements.

The delegation, headed by J. E. Wilson, representing the Victoria Golf Club, included E. G. Powles, Upholds Golf Club; E. H. Wilson, Hudson's Bay Company; F. B. Pemberton, Hugo Bevan, F. Nation, A. E. Haynes, H. J. Davis and many others.

The delegation said with conviction that if a mill rate of forty-five mills was passed by the Council this year the corporation would find lands reverting at a wholesale rate, and urged an improvement tax as the solution to the difficulty.

Spokesmen pointed out that the mill rate last year had been thirty mills, and at this rate even lands had reverted to the municipality. This year, it had been proposed, a mill rate of forty-five mills on the dollar would be asked, and this would be unbearable, it was held.

Taxes on the Victoria Golf Club rose, it was stated, from $2,500 to $3,500 under this plan. The Upholds Golf Club would pay $6,500 as against $4,400, and a situation would be created where reversions of property would be inevitable increases.

The difficulty faced by the 1924 Council was accentuated when it is remembered that the parcel was erected on a platform of straight taxation without improvement levies. Voicing this side of the question, Councillor W. H. Mearns stated that he had taken office with the view that an improvement tax was unnecessary. Now, he admitted readily, he realized to carry on under the single tax approach was impossible.

Councillor A. E. Mallett stood firm on the single tax, but was beset by questions to which an answer was difficult. The delegation was promised, after a spirited hearing, that their request would be given very careful attention, and thanked for their courtesy in presenting the question in private session after the delegation left the Council discussed the question at length.

There was talk of the Council resigning in a body, but it was found that this was impossible under the law. The nearest approach to this was for three to resign, and later the remainder of the Council would be elected, and a new Council would be in place.

It was explained that forty-five mills on the dollar would not even meet the needs of the corporation fully, but still left a margin of four mills not provided for. The full rate to cover everything would be forty-nine mills, it was explained, but this could not be asked.

The corporation was faced with legislative restrictions against increasing the mill rate for general purposes further, the limit of twenty mills having been reached, it was said. If a forty-five mill rate were asked, said the delegation, not seventy per cent of the taxes would be collected, and this would lead to a deficit of $20,000, besides the increasing difficulty of the reverted lands problem. Finally the question was stood over to a further meeting to be called shortly when the Council is to reconsider its estimates.

WILL CALL MEETING

To The Times to-day Reeve H. F. Hewlett stated that if the Council found that no cut could be made in the mill rate a general meeting of ratepayers would be called, and its will asked on the point as to whether improvements are to be taxed or not.

Reeve Hewlett made no secret of the fact that he did not see much hope in the Council or anyone being able to find a possible solution in the expenditures.

No decision on the taxation of improvements would be made, he said, without putting the case fully before the ratepayers. Meanwhile the Council would go over the estimates again to search for a way out of the difficulty.

The feeding of pregnant ewes requires great care, said the speaker, and roots should not be fed them in large quantities. Roots and silage in reasonable proportions are excellent food for animals throughout the winter, and at all times, covered with them in amount, he said.

NO RUSH FOR THIS JOB.—There's one public job in Minneapolis that folks aren't clamoring for. It's Mrs. C. V. Wylie's "side issue" in the Minneapolis Public Library's museum. Every day, she feeds this rattlesnake. He's just recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

SENTENCED BY CHINESE.—A Chinese court has confirmed the death sentence imposed on General Alexis Korniloff, former Russian Cossack leader in Manchuria. Korniloff is the first white man ever sentenced to death in a Chinese court.

How a seed planted years ago split a rock.

A TINY SEED DID IT.—A little seed was accidentally dropped in a crack in this old boulder on the outskirts of Lansing, Mich., years ago. From it sprang a giant tree. In the process of its growth, it split the rock in two. But now the old tree is nothing but kindling wood. And the old stone is about to be removed from its location, too.

DOCKERS LEADER.—Ben Tillet, British Labor M.P., and leader of the dock workers in the strike which terminated victoriously for them.

TO WED EGYPTIAN ROYALTY.—Mrs. Jean Nash, daughter of an American millionaire, who eloped at the age of 17, now is engaged, it is reported, to Prince Ahmed Salihi Bey (shown with her) nephew of King Faud of Egypt. One report is that Mrs. Nash will embrace the Mohammedan faith.

PHILANTHROPIST.—Mrs. Lillian Boutin, of Seattle, once an adopted baby herself, is going to adopt a baby soon. A Yakima, Wash., family, hard hit by economic misfortune, are giving away their unborn child. And Mrs. Boutin seems to be the one who'll get it.

PRACTICAL.—Some kindly inventor devised a combination knife and fork for use by war vets who lost an arm. Here, it is in action.

BLOOD SALESMAN.—At $31 a quart, J. George Broady, twenty-one, is selling his blood to pay his way through Ohio State University. To date he has made $500 and says he never felt better in his life.

JACK HIMSELF.—Jack Dempsey called at the White House and discussed affairs of the nation with the president. Dempsey wanted to know why Czechoslovakia was not given mandate over Abyssinia—it is rumored. Coolidge assured Dempsey, gossip says: that the only thing that stood in the way was Article X of the League of Nations, and the two thereupon discussed the League in detail.

CHALLENGES COUNTRY.—Mrs. G. T. Stapleton, fifty-eight, of Pueblo, Colo., is said to be the youngest great-grandmother on this continent. She is seen in the photo's extreme right together with three generations of heirs which form basis for her claim.

RUDOLPH VALENTINO.—He has discarded the Spanish atmosphere that made a million girls call him a sheik, and for his next picture, "Monsieur Beaucaire," dons this sort of garb. Powdered wig and everything. Fine clothes. Looks different but clothes don't make a man and our guess is that Rudy will get more letters from movie-smitten lassies than ever. This might prove almost anything. Rudy has been away from the screen for some time, so that his return is something of an event—like the birth of twin graffes or breakfast in bed.

CHARGED WITH PUTSCH.—General Ludendorff, former German war lord is on trial in Munich charged with treason in connection with the Bavarian "putsch" of last November.

POMP MARKS WEDDING OF PRINCE REGENT.—Cameramen were lined before the Tokio palace gates to film the Prince Regent and his bride, the Princess Nagato, following the recent wedding ceremony. Japanese evidently must be afraid of cameramen at close range, hence the distance between cameras and auto.

MANIAC'S WORK.—A maniac with a peculiarly perverted mind is believed to have overturned ninety-five tombstones in Mount St. Mary's Cemetery, Pawtucket, R.I., recently. He must have been of tremendous strength. He worked all night during the heaviest snowfall of the season.

HOOP TIME

The Mystery Road

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM Author of "Nobody's Man," "The Profiters," etc.

"Why, you're positively homesick!" Myrtle exclaimed. "No, I am not homesick," Myrtle assured her gravely, "but I am like an animal that has been hurt and wants to go back to its home. A little time ago it was different. Every fibre of me longed for escape, to be where life was. Now I would like to go where I can forget it." "Fortunately," she said, "you are very young. You will learn soon that there are many men of Gerald's type, and that they are not to be taken too seriously. They have the trick of making you believe what they want you to believe, and they use it because they must. They are never quite honest. They are never quite bad. They are certainly not worth a broken heart. Now we must take this message down to my father and send a reply. He does not altogether approve of Christopher's politics, but he will be glad to know that he is elected. Afterwards, I will talk to him about you. I shall have to be very eloquent, for I know he will hate your going."

to his mistress a little doubtfully. "There is a person here, your ladyship, who desires to see you." "What sort of a person?" Lady Mary enquired. "The butler coughed. "A woman, your ladyship. She struck me as being some sort of a foreigner. She assured me that her business was urgent, and I had shown her into the morning room." "Mary rose to her feet at once. "A foreigner?" she repeated, with sudden aroused interest. "Perhaps she has news of Lord Dombey." "Nevertheless, when she entered the little room where Elsa Francks was waiting, it scarcely seemed likely that news of so fastidious a person as her brother could come from such a source. Her doubts, however, were soon set at rest. "Are you Lord Dombey's sister?" the woman asked bluntly, without offering to move from her chair. "I am," Lady Mary acknowledged at once. "Have you brought news of him?" "I have brought him home," was the unexpected reply. "You?" Lady Mary exclaimed. "Yes, me!" she declared. "I have saved his life a dozen times over, as I dare say he will tell you some day. Even now I do not know why." "But where is he?" Lady Mary demanded. "He is safe in the Charing Cross Hospital," the woman replied, "and if you want to know all about him, you will give me some wine quickly." Mary, scarce conscious of what she had said, rang the bell. This woman was certainly the strangest visitor who had ever penetrated the portals of Hinterley's House. She seemed larger and coarser than ever. Her clothes were shabby, but unbrushed and crumpled as though she had slept in them for nights; her hair was yellow but untidy. The rouge and powder were distributed upon her face in an ungainly daub. She breathed an atmosphere of stale scent. Notwithstanding all these things, she had news of Gerald, Gerald who for seven months had been lost! Lady Mary waited eagerly for the butler, who entered the room, full of the confident anticipation that he would be asked to remove this incongruous visitor. "This lady would like some wine," Lady Mary announced. "Do tell me what you would prefer," she added, turning towards her guest. "Champagne, if you have it," was the prompt reply. "Bring champagne, Richards," his mistress directed. "Perhaps you had better tell his lordship. This lady has brought us news of Lord Dombey." "The woman held out her hand," she begged. "I will tell my story to you, ma'am. I am very near hysterics myself. To reach here from Sokar has taken us a month. We tried at seven places on the frontier before we could get into Poland." "Poland?" Mary exclaimed. "But here is the wine. Do, please, help yourself." "The woman was served with champagne and dry biscuits, which latter she scornfully rejected. She drank three glasses of champagne, however. Then she filled a fourth glass for herself and began to talk. "How much do you know of your brother's visit to Russia?" she asked. "Only that he went there on some mysterious errand at the instigation of two ladies who are, I believe, Russians." "One of them was called Pauline—his sweetheart, eh?" "I suppose so," Mary admitted. "Well, here is my story," Elsa Francks said, draining the contents of her glass and refilling it. "Remember it, for I shall never tell it again. It is a story I would like to forget." "I will certainly remember it," Mary promised. "Twelve months ago I went to live at Sokar," Elsa Francks began. "It is a miserable place, but I went there to be near my friend Ivan Krossneya, the Governor of the fortress. In that fortress was confined a man whom your brother went to Russia to rescue. He came to me to ask me to help him bribe the Governor. That was in the month of October last year. He was a very different person then, and I thought that I liked him very much." "The woman sipped her champagne. The warmth of the room and the wine had moistened her face. A little streak of rouge had spread upon her left cheek. There were black lines under her eyes. Her voice, however, was stronger. "He offered a great deal of money, and I agreed to help. I sent for Ivan and, although he made difficulties, he was easy to persuade. It was all arranged. The prisoner—Number Twenty-nine, we called him—was taken out of the fortress in your brother's clothes and with his American passport. Your brother was to take his place for twenty-four hours. Then he was to leave the prison in the funeral coach of another prisoner who had died." "This was seven months ago," Mary faltered. "The woman wiped her lips, shivered at the sight of the color upon her handkerchief, closed her eyes for a moment and recovered herself. "That seven months," she said deliberately, "has seemed like seven years, and each year like a lifetime in hell!—Listen, I go on with the story. Your brother entered the fortress as arranged, changed clothes with Number Twenty-nine, who walked out of the place and came, without doubt, to London. Your brother was to spend that night in the fortress. Krossneya came down to me. We were both excited. It was a great sum of money which we had been paid, and life in Russia is a horrible burden. We drank a great deal of wine. The more we drank, the more quarrelsome Ivan became. He resented having to part with so large a share of the money to me. We quarrelled. Once or twice we made it up. Then Ivan's anger flared out again. In the end, he declared that he would take away a part of my share. We had a struggle. Somehow or other, his revolver went off. He fell backwards with a groan. He was dead."

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, March 5, 1924

MARKET LIMITED TO-DAY

(By H. P. Clark Wire) — Price movements in the stock market today were limited, but a steady tone was again maintained throughout the trading.

Steel advances indicated that there would probably be a sustained activity for the next few months.

The news of Westinghouse Electric was very constructive and helped the general market.

Pressure was again in evidence against the Conton leather issues, reflecting the unfavorable earnings of that company for last year and the somewhat poor outlook for that industry.

Short covering was in evidence in various parts of the list, particularly so in Pacific Oil and some of the other oil shares.

Another drop in weekly crude oil production was reported and this, of course, was not without its beneficial influence on the list.

The market offers very impressive resistance to selling pressure.

All things considered we continue to look for higher prices in the stock market.

QUIET STRENGTH IN WALL STREET

(By R. A. Bond Wire) — The stock market showed more quiet strength today than it has done in some time.

The market seemed to be very professional, but on each little depression there seemed to be less stock for sale, and final quotations were higher.

The advance during the last half hour of the session. There is a lot of bullish talk on the oil side just now, and it is not surprising to see this group lead in the next advance, if we are to see higher prices in the near future.

Steel stocks, too, are showing signs of quiet strength.

There are some favorable developments during the past few days. There is quite a lot of bullish talk on the oil side just now, and it is not surprising to see this group lead in the next advance, if we are to see higher prices in the near future.

FOUR MORE OIL

Los Angeles, March 5.—Production in great oil fields of California is declining fast, and one of the greatest needs of the industry is for continued exploration on a scale that will meet constantly increased demands, according to Paul Shoup, vice-president of the Southern Pacific Railway and president of the Pacific and Associated Oil Company, who addressed the Advertising Club here today.

Mr. Shoup declared that the three great fields of Santa Fe Springs, Huntington Beach and Signal Hill, at Long Beach, were showing marked falling off in their flows. He added that these fields, although they had produced approximately $250,000,000 worth of oil to date, had not yet returned the amount of money invested in them.

The supply of gasoline in the United States, Mr. Shoup placed at less than enough to meet the nation's needs for sixty days. This was being met by coming in storage and semi-manufactured, he declared, but he doubted if this addition would more than meet consumption.

The oil industry executives declared that the oil industry wished the whole truth brought out in the inquiry at Washington, but he stressed every effort to drag in personal animosities or political expediency.

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 5.—Further arrests of Macedonian leaders throughout Bulgaria have brought the total of those in custody to over 400.

In the Sobranje (National Assembly) a former Attorney-General, a Macedonian, interpellated the Government on the arrests made without legal procedure provided in the constitution.

San Jose, Costa Rica, March 5.—Only a few casualties have been reported thus far in consequence of the series of earthquakes which occurred yesterday.

Great property damage was caused in San Jose, Heredia and Alajuela and a few small towns were wiped out.

The United States Embassy building in San Jose was slightly damaged.

The tremors continued to-day and all business is closed, the people seek shelter in open places. Port Limon was not damaged. News has not been received from the Pacific coast.

There were 150 quakes in four hours yesterday morning, the last one of twenty-seven seconds duration. This accounts for the people being able to run to safety.

BRITISHER TO LOAD 1,000,000 FEET OF LUMBER FOR ORIENT

Due Here To-night at 5 o'Clock; Canadian Winner Due Friday

To load 1,000,000 feet of lumber, including the last orders of relief lumber for Japan ordered by the Provincial Government, the C.G.M.M. Canadian Britisher will arrive here this evening at 5 o'clock. Nearly 650,000 feet of lumber has been assembled at pier A of Ogden Point by up-island mills, and all of this will be loaded aboard the Britisher while she is in port.

The local mills will provide 380,000 feet of lumber, bringing the total amount of lumber leaving this port to more than 1,000,000 feet. The Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company is providing 160,000 feet for the Britisher, while the Moore and Whittington mills will ship 220,000 feet of lumber, transshipping the cargo by scows from their mills to the Ogden Point docks. When the Britisher leaves for the Orient she will take out with her a capacity cargo including 4,500,000 feet of lumber.

Advice received at the local office of the C.G.M.M. this morning states that the Canadian Winner, which is completing her first and last round trip in the United Kingdom service will reach Victoria Friday. According to her wireless position she is 595 miles from Cape Flattery. She has a large consignment of light wines and liquor for discharge here and in Vancouver. On her arrival at Vancouver she will be placed on another run, being succeeded in the United Kingdom service by an oil burning vessel.

CHANGES WILL BE MADE ON PACIFIC PASSENGER LINERS

Capt. J. T. Rolls is Retiring; Capt. R. Crawford Promoted to Aorangi

Several changes are to be made in the personnel of the Canadian-Australasian Royal Mail Line of liners owing to the retirement of Capt. J. T. Rolls, commander of the Niagara, and the promotion of Capt. R. Crawford.

It was learned this morning that Capt. Rolls will retire this morning. His successor on the Niagara has not yet been announced. Capt. Crawford will make his last trip on the Makura when he returns to the Antipodes, leaving here Saturday. On his return to Sydney he will relinquish his command to Capt. Barlow and will leave for the Old Country to take over the command of the new motorship Aorangi, which is being built in Scotland for the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand. This liner will be the first of its kind to enter the Canadian-Australasian service and is a new departure in passenger liners. She will have a speed much faster than the Makura or the Niagara and will also have greater and better accommodations.

Chief Steward Reid will become chief steward of the Aorangi, while Chief Engineer Lockhart will remain on the Niagara. Second Engineer Lockhart will be chief engineer of the Aorangi. The Aorangi will be ready by June. It is reported and was confirmed during the latter part of the year.

RECORD SILK CARGO ON HAKATA MARU

Consignment Totals 3,000 Bales of Silk; Record For N.Y.K. Ships

When the Nippon Yusen Kaisha freighter, Hakata Maru docks here she will bring with her the largest silk cargo that has ever been brought across the Pacific in an N.Y.K. steamer, it was learned at the local office this morning. It is reported that there are twelve carloads of raw silk aboard the liner for transshipment from Seattle to New York. This, averaging 250 bales of silk to the car, makes the total cargo 3,000 bales valued at $4,000,000. The Hakata Maru is one of the freighters which were taken from the Vancouver run and placed on the Victoria route.

The vessel has considerable Oriental cargo on this trip and will discharge 100 tons at Victoria. Although not a regular passenger ship she has accommodations for seven passengers. On this voyage she is bringing five first class passengers.

Among the first class passengers is S. Sakamoto, the new N.Y.K. manager for the Seattle branch. S. Omega, the present manager, will return to the Orient to take over the management of the Seattle branch.

The Hakata Maru left Yokohama on February 28, and will make William Head on March 13.

CREW WILL BE SENT TO REPAIR VESSEL

Repairs Will be Made to Ss. Virginia Dollar Which Put Back to Honolulu

San Francisco, March 5.—A crew of mechanics will be sent to Honolulu to make repairs to the Virginia Dollar, of the Dollar Line, which put back into that port after a big cargo of freight, including 2,500 bales of silk, valued at $3,000,000. In addition to this there are 2,500 bags of mail, a portion of which will be discharged here for distribution throughout Canada and for transshipment to Seattle by aeroplane.

The Pacific Mail Liner President Tait, which arrived here this morning, is scheduled to arrive here about three months while the vessel is completely overhauled and reconstructed. It was announced yesterday that the ship would be sent to Honolulu for repairs.

The steamship Griffith, owned by James Griffith & Sons, of Seattle, has been chartered by the McCormick Steamship Company to replace the steamer Columbia in service between Seattle, Coos Bay, Sureka and San Francisco. The Columbia recently was wrecked at the entrance to Coos Bay. The Bert E. Haney was chartered for one trip to replace the Columbia.

Three passenger liners, the Pacific Mail ships President Lincoln and the Ecuador and Oceanic Liner Sonoma depart from this port yesterday. Bringing a heavy cargo and fair sized passenger list the Matsun Liner Wihelmina arrives here this morning. Transfer of the company's holdings to the San Francisco Terminal, Inc., recently incorporated with a capital of $1,000,000 is in progress. The company plans to expend between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000 in the construction of a new terminal building. Harry S. Scott, president of the General Steamship Corporation, was elected president of the McCormick Steamship Company yesterday, succeeding Captain W. J. Gray. Other officers chosen were Marshal Hale, vice-president; Felix Kahn, treasurer; and secretary. The board of directors will include the officers and William M. Abbott.

Engineers have been instructed to begin drafting of detailed specifications for the project immediately. It was announced that the McCormick, Tausig and the William A. McKinney, both of 14,000 tons, are to be placed on the intercoastal service of the Munson-McCormick Line, it was announced yesterday. They will replace two smaller steamships, the intercoastal traffic having necessitated the additional cargo space, officials said.

ST. MARGARET MAY BE BOUGHT BY C.G.M.M.

May Replace Prince Albert on Queen Charlotte Run

Capt. D. Donald Makes Recommendation Following Inspection

The much talked of steamship to replace the Prince Albert has been discovered by a representative of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. She is the British steamship St. Margaret and is recommended by Capt. D. Donald, who has been in the Old Country looking over a list of boats which were recommended to him before he left Vancouver.

If his report on the vessel proves satisfactory the deal will be closed.

The St. Margaret will probably be placed in the Queen Charlotte Islands service. This is the service that the Prince Albert formerly maintained. The St. Margaret has been on the North Coast, Orkney and Shetland Islands run.

Of 1,088 gross tons, 241 feet long, thirty-three feet beam, the St. Margaret is a larger ship than the Prince Albert, which is 1,015 gross tons, 232 feet long and thirty feet beam. The Albert is a much older ship than the St. Margaret which was built in 1907.

The Prince Albert was built in 1922. Capt. Donald will remain in the Old Country until he is able to find a passenger liner several ships have been inspected in England, and it is expected that an announcement will be made soon regarding the chartering of a vessel.

ADVANCE IN OCEAN RATES IS EXPECTED

Cunard and White Star Lines Wire Advice to Local Agents Regarding Rates

Expect Rush For Reservations Before New Rate is Put Into Effect

Ocean rates to the United Kingdom and Europe are expected to be advanced in the very near future, according to wires received by local agents of the Cunard and White Star Lines from the head offices. The wires state: "An advance in ocean rates on the Atlantic is anticipated soon." Following this advice is given to make bookings before the new rates are put into effect. This rise in rates, it was stated, will not effect those who have already booked, but those who book in the immediate future.

Transportation men pointed out this morning that the rise in rate of the rush for late Spring and early Summer bookings to the United Kingdom and Europe, and the demand for tickets that the British Empire Exhibition near London, England, is creating.

Speaking of the rise in rates, anticipated by the Cunard and White Star Lines, it was stated this morning that other steamship lines were expected to make similar announcements very soon. Transportation men are already feeling the pressure of demand on account of the advance in the passport rates which go into effect on March 15. Many are rushing their bookings so as to get their passports at the old rate instead of having to pay five dollars when the new rate comes into effect.

Local agents for transatlantic lines anticipate a general rush for reservations as soon as the date of the new rates is announced.

Speaking of lower rates, it was stated that there was no possibility of an advance in rates. It was also pointed out that the price of transportation was considerably increased by the advance in passport rates. The advance in passport rates was itemized as follows by transportation men: $5 for the passport; $2.55 tax on lower berth on train and $1.35 tax on rail ticket. An additional $1 is in photographs for the passport which brings the total to $14.90.

ST. MARGARET MAY BE BOUGHT BY C.G.M.M.

May Replace Prince Albert on Queen Charlotte Run

Capt. D. Donald Makes Recommendation Following Inspection

The much talked of steamship to replace the Prince Albert has been discovered by a representative of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. She is the British steamship St. Margaret and is recommended by Capt. D. Donald, who has been in the Old Country looking over a list of boats which were recommended to him before he left Vancouver.

If his report on the vessel proves satisfactory the deal will be closed.

The St. Margaret will probably be placed in the Queen Charlotte Islands service. This is the service that the Prince Albert formerly maintained. The St. Margaret has been on the North Coast, Orkney and Shetland Islands run.

Of 1,088 gross tons, 241 feet long, thirty-three feet beam, the St. Margaret is a larger ship than the Prince Albert, which is 1,015 gross tons, 232 feet long and thirty feet beam. The Albert is a much older ship than the St. Margaret which was built in 1907.

The Prince Albert was built in 1922. Capt. Donald will remain in the Old Country until he is able to find a passenger liner several ships have been inspected in England, and it is expected that an announcement will be made soon regarding the chartering of a vessel.
