EXILED RUSSIANS CHEERED BY REPORTS SOVIET IS TOPPLING

Paris, May 5.—Exiled Russians living in Paris are greatly cheered by reports arriving weekly from Moscow of an impending change.

The struggle for power between the Stalin Triumvirate, including Kamenoff and Rykoff, and the moderate groups is growing more tense, in the opinion of Russians here, who believe the present regime is tottering and that even a slight push would throw it over.

The hopes of both Monarchists and Liberals seem to unite upon Ex-Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaievitch, second cousin of the late Czar and once in command of the Russian army.

COALITION WHICH UPHOLDS NEW REPARATIONS SCHEME WINS THE GERMAN ELECTION

Indications Following Polling in Republic Yesterday Are That Socialists, Clericals, Democrats and People's Party Will be Able to Carry Legislation in Reichstag To Make Experts' Plan a Working Scheme

Berlin, May 5. (Canadian Press Cable via Havas).—Returns from the Reichstag general election up to noon today, showed the following standing of the parties:

Socialists, 101; Communists, 54; Democrats, 23; Centrists, 51; Populists, 40; Nationalists, 24; Ultra-Nationalists, 24; Hanoverians, 5; Bavarian Populists, 15; Members of the Economic Union, 5; Bavarian Peasants, 4, and other parties, 8.

Berlin, May 5.—The promised "Big Coalition" of the moderates, comprising the Socialist, Clerical, Democratic and People's parties, is regarded as assured on the basis of partial returns from yesterday's Parliamentary election.

About seventy-five per cent. of the electorate voted throughout the Reich. The Nationalists and Communists made some gain but the vote polled by Ludendorff's monarchists did not come up to expectations, and the result indicates failure of the reactionary and radical campaigns.

The balloting was heavy, and it is probable that at least fifteen new deputies will be added to the Reichstag, increasing the membership to 475.

REPARATIONS APPROVED The returns so far available would appear to indicate that the people of Germany have placed their approval on the report of the reparations experts, as the leaders of the moderates, including Foreign Minister Stresemann, urged their campaign on the adoption and execution of the report as a sure cure for the country's ailments.

While the counting of the ballots is necessarily slow, due to the large number of party tickets in the field, indications are that the coalition will have sufficient seats in the Reichstag to force through the legislation required by the experts' report with little help from the independent factions.

LUENDORFF ELECTED Among the notables elected are General Ludendorff, head of the extreme Nationalists; Chancellor Marx, former Chancellor Wirth, young Prince von Hismark, grandson of the Iron Chancellor, Admiral von Tirpitz, Minister of the Navy during the Great War, and Otto Weiling.

Count von Bernstorff, former Ambassador to the United States, was returned as a Democratic deputy.

HILFERDING RE-ELECTED The Socialists re-elected Dr. Rudolf Hilferding, former Minister of Finance; Wilhelm Sollman, former Minister of the Interior; Arthur Crispian, Eduard Bernstein, Paul Loebe, President of the Reichstag; Dr. Rudolph Bartsch, Frederick Stampfer, editor of Vorwaerts, and Wilhelm Dittman.

Dr. R. Dernburg, Dr. Eugena Scheffer, Erich Koch and Dr. Karl von Siemens, industrialists, were elected on the Democratic ticket.

The Nationalists returned Oskar Hertz, Count von Westarp and a majority of their former delegation, as did the Clericals, among them being Dr. J. Bell, Dr. Peter Spahn, Johann Giesberts and Adam Ste. Gerwald, the former Pressian Premier.

LUENDORFF SUPPORTERS Reinhold Wulle, Albrecht von Graefe and Major Wilhelm Henning, who deserted the Nationalists a year ago and organized what is now the Hitler-Ludendorff movement, were re-elected, as were also Herr Remmele, Herr Koenen, Clara Zetkin and Herr Hoelken, Communists.

The new Reichstag will in all probability contain two parties wedged in between the Socialists and the Communists, the latter being the Socialist League, headed by the Ludendorff and the Independent Socialists, headed by Theodor Liebknecht, brother of Karl Liebknecht, who was assassinated in the 1919 revolution. (Concluded on page 2.)

Thomas Advises Against Talk of Coercion of Ulster

Derby, England, May 5.—In a speech here yesterday at a labor demonstration, J. H. Thomas, the Colonial Secretary, said the Irish boundary problem could not be solved by abusing the Irish leaders. Mr. Thomas declared there must not be talk of another war or of any attempt to coerce Ulster. Such a threat would not bring Ireland to a reasonable frame of mind nor make her arrange a settlement of the situation.

British-Soviet Conference Reported Making Progress

London, May 5.—The Daily Herald, labor organ, to-day terms as "pernicious nonsense" the declaration at Lancaster Saturday by J. J. O'Neill, National Liberal, to the effect that the Anglo-Russian conference had reached a deadlock on the question of the recognition of debts. The newspaper declares that, on the contrary, the negotiations have progressed with unexpected smoothness and that the recognition of debts, which there are not the slightest signs of anything in the nature of a deadlock.

It charges that Mr. McNeill is taking part in a campaign deliberately started to wreck the conference.

No Deaths Resulted From Disputes Following Annual Red Cross Meeting Gendarmes Elected Officers and Civilian Members Objected

Cracow, Poland, May 5.—Twenty-four duels have taken place between gendarmes, members of the Cracow chapter of the Red Cross, and civilian members of the chapter as the result of violent controversies over the annual election of officers of the Cracow Red Cross.

The entire regiment of gendarmes, all members of the Red Cross, entered the hall where the meeting was being held and voted for and elected a ticket entirely composed of gendarmes. Protests against this action were made in such a form that the gendarmes felt insulted and issued challenges. No fatalities resulted from the duels.

The minority of the Cracow Red Cross chapter has applied to the National Red Cross authorities at Warsaw for cancellation of the election.

This is Pepsodent Week, May 4 to 10

It is Free
This ten-day test. Simply send coupon.

Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay. It multiplies the starch digestant in saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth.

Every use of Pepsodent brings these combined effects. Together they bring a new conception of what clean teeth mean. You will be amazed and delighted.

Film—the robber of all tooth beauty. Learn how millions now combat it

That cloudy coat on teeth is film. At first the film is viscous—you can feel it now.

That film is clinging. No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats it. So, in old-way brushing, much of it clings and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. That is why so many teeth are clouded.

Two methods found

In this research two methods were discovered. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Able authorities have proved these methods effective, by many careful tests. A new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists everywhere began to advise it. The use fast spread the world over. Now careful people of some 50 nations have adopted this modern tooth paste.

Two other needs discovered

Two other essentials were revealed by research. So

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combater which contains harsh grit.

Film is unclean

Film is unclean. When it lingers on or between the teeth it threatens constant damage.

Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

These film-caused troubles became almost universal. They were constantly increasing. So dental investigators started out to find ways to fight film.

You see the results at once

The Pepsodent results are quick and apparent. Some are seen and felt at once. You can have no doubt about them.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

Compare this new way with the old. Then you will know what method should be used by you and yours. Cut out coupon now.

TWO-MONTH TOUR

In an interview aboard the special saloon passenger train for Montreal Senator McLennan said he was returning from a two-month tour of Italy and France. He had been surprised to see the large number of Germans in Italy. As far as he could judge they were into business there, but all the hotels were crowded with them and they spent their money freely. He had also visited the battlefields in France and was very much impressed with the work of the War Graves Commission in the cemeteries. The Canadian monument at St. Julien, he said, was very beautiful.

SAW MANY GERMANIA

Mr. O'Hara, Federal Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, who accompanied by Mrs. O'Hara and their daughter, had been on a three months' holiday during which he had visited the principal cities of Italy and Switzerland and a couple of weeks in Paris and a month in London. As a result of his first trip to Italy the Deputy Minister said he was greatly impressed on noting the number of Germans who were literally swarming with Germans, who apparently were very prosperous. The hotels were crammed with them and they seemed to be seen feasting themselves at the restaurants, traveling about well dressed, with their valets and maids, and spending money lavishly.

"They appear to have plenty of money," he added, as even the high prices seem to be a subject of humor with them and they seem to treat everybody and everything with contempt. Every picture gallery and church is noisy with German gutters. It is estimated there are 70,000 Germans traveling in Italy alone.

Mr. O'Hara had changed his views on the Ruhr. He said every resident in Paris had met, whether French, British or Canadian, declared his belief that there should be no further sentiment in the matter and that the French policy was correct. The Germans had swindled the whole world with their money, and the sooner they were brought to understand that they had lost the war the better, he concluded.

VISITED ROME

"I am back from my first visit to Rome in the last ten years and I enjoyed my trip very well, it having proved a genuine period of rest to me," said Archbishop Emond. He stated he never gave interviews, but admitted that he had been favored with eight private meetings with the Pope. While in Rome he assisted at the elevation of Cardinal Hayes and Cardinal Mundelein and said he had never assisted at any ceremony so impressive in his life.

NEW SETTLERS

The Empress of Scotland brought 163 first class, 128 second class and 603 third class passengers, the majority of the latter, including a party of forty-seven Dutch farmers, being destined for Ontario and the western provinces.

Thirty-one passengers, mostly Americans, were tourists returning from a cruise of the Mediterranean. Special C.P.R. trains left with the saloon and cabin passengers for Montreal and New York and Toronto, Chicago and Western Canada, respectively, while two other trains departed with the third-class passengers later in the day.

The steamer also brought over a large number of mail bags, among which were several for the Orient.

GENERAL HERTZOG STATES HIS POLICY

Leader Says Nationalists Would Protect South Africa's Industries

Cape Town, May 5.—General Hertzog, the Nationalist leader, in an election campaign speech, said that if his party should be called to form a Government its aims would be, first, agricultural development; second, protection for South Africa's own industries; third, a thorough and comprehensive attempt to solve the problem of unemployment; fourth, establishment of a new portfolio of labor; fifth, a solution of the native question based on the existence of a European population and civilization; and sixth, revision of the system of taxation.

General Hertzog said he favored the establishment of a State bank.

$70,000 Loss in Fire in Suburb Of Montreal

BRITISH FASCISTI SCORED BY SLESSOR

Solicitor-General Says Law Officers in Old Country Watching Movement

London, May 5 (Canadian Press Cable)—"We can not afford to speak flippantly about the Fascisti or other reactionary movements on the Continent," declared Henry Slessor, Solicitor-General, in a speech in Leeds yesterday.

"I understand some of the less intelligent members of the Conservative Party who call themselves British Fascisti go about in black shirts and wearing badges with the initials 'B.F.," the Solicitor-General said. This statement was greeted with laughter.

However, he seemed not to take the matter as a joke, for he said: "The British Fascisti are receiving consideration by the law officers of the crown."

SEASON OF FLOODS IN NEW ZEALAND

Auckland, N.Z., May 4.—Floods due to a heavy rainfall swept down the valley of the Waigera River, in the North Island, dislodged a hill from its base and sent it thundering hundreds of yards into the river channel.

Several families of settlers had been surrounded in their new homes of mud and water descended on their homes. A bride and bridegroom just returned from their wedding were surrounded in their new home and escaped in the nick of time. The landslide wiped the house out of existence in a moment. Others escaped only by swimming the swollen river.

A lake several miles across now fills the valley, the river having banked up behind the landslide. The roar of the sliding earth was heard for miles.

Three Deaths Were Caused by Fire

St. Louis, Mo., May 5.—As the result of a fire which broke out in a three-story six-family apartment block here yesterday morning, three persons, a mother and her two daughters, lost their lives; eight persons are suffering with injuries and the lives of the two score occupants were endangered.

The dead: Mrs. Hattie Harty, fifty; Beryl Harty, fifteen, and Thelma Harty, fourteen.

Eight persons suffering from the effects of the smoke and minor injuries when they jumped to safety from the second floor of the apartment are in hospital.

In the upper floor front apartment the bodies of Mrs. Harty and her two daughters were discovered by firemen huddled together as they had fallen, overcome by burns and smoke in an attempt to get to the windows.

Painting of Late President Will be Presented to U.S.

Washington, May 5.—An oil painting of the late President Harding showing him making his address last Summer in Stanley Park, Vancouver, B.C., will be presented to the newspapermen of the United States through the National Press Club next Thursday evening, with Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador, making the presentation and President Coolidge receiving it.

The gift of The Vancouver Sun, the painting, has been officially approved by the Canadian Government. By direction of Premier King, the painting was exhibited in many Canadian cities during the past month, and in making the formal presentation the British Ambassador will deliver the greetings of Mr. King.

FOREIGN CAPITAL

TO WHAT extent is Canadian industry owned or controlled by capital from United States?

This question arises as a result of the publication by The Saturday Evening Post of an article on American capital and finance in which it is asserted that into Canada Americans have put more money than into any other foreign country.

From figures given, American investments Canada to-day total nearly $2,500,000,000, of which $1,200,000,000 is in Canadian bonds of one kind or another and the rest in stock companies, lands, farm mortgages, factories, banks and business undertakings. In one year, 1919, two hundred American branch factories were established in Canada, part of the total of about 1,000 such American-owned establishments here now. In 1920 some $250,000,000 of American money was put into the Canadian pulp and paper business, carrying what is declared to be an eighty per cent. ownership in that industry.

A bulletin of the Bankers' Trust Company of New York is quoted to the effect that in 1919, when the last survey was made, it was estimated that United States capital practically controlled the motor-car accessory, proprietary medicine and artificial abrasive industries, while the motor car industry was divided in the proportion of sixty-one per cent. United States and thirty-nine per cent. Canadian capital. Over forty per cent. of the electrical apparatus, meat packing, rubber, paint and varnish, brass and copper, condensed milk and refined petroleum industries were American owned.

Finance has become so internationalized in recent years that it is becoming increasingly difficult to determine the exact extent of American penetration, especially as the two countries, because of geography, are more or less of an economic unit. The Toronto Globe recently took up the question as to whether Canada was being annexed in an economic sense to the United States and came to the conclusion that such economic conquest of this country was a myth. Its conclusion is quite right, although as far as British Columbia is concerned American capital seems either to dominate or is inextricably involved in our chief industries, in our biggest and most successful metal mines, our coal mines and our lumber mills.

But even if American capital is participating more and more in our industrial development, does it mean economic annexation? The suggestion of economic annexation will not bear examination. The development of the United States from its early days was carried on almost entirely on English, Dutch and other European capital. The great American railroads had to look to England for the money for their construction. This imported capital remained on this continent and increased until much of it was called back during the war, when it was replaced on this continent by American capital. But this trans-Atlantic capital brought with it no idea of economic annexation.

All new countries have to look to older and more advanced countries for capital with which to develop themselves. Canada's advance would be greatly impeded at present if we did not have a very rich neighbor whom we could tempt with profitable investments. Because of the vast amount locked up in war debts, the available supply of capital from Britain has now been much curtailed. In the United States, however, there is $30,000,000 a day going into savings banks and seeking investment. It is part of that daily surplus of the American people that finds its way across the border. It is well, too, that we can draw on this. It was recently pointed out in the House of Commons that two billion of our two and one-half billion national debt is held by Canadians. That is creditable to Canadians but it also carries with it the fact that that much of our money is thus removed from the field of industry and development, creating a void which has to be filled by outside capital, chiefly American in the present state of the world.

As far as such foreign investment bringing about our economic annexation, it is rather a case of Canada in time annexing that capital. As the United States has now reached the stage where she has capital to export, there is no incentive to return the profits from that capital to United States. The profits from what comes here are reinvested in Canada for further development, and in reinvestment and growth becomes more and more a part of the country and Canadianized.

In time the profits built up in Canada from the original American investments and the development following on them will be in a similar position in respect to foreign capital as the accumulations of American capital in recent years have been towards pre-war European investments in United States. Canada will be able to liquidate American capital investments here with the ease with which United States in recent years has been buying back the holdings of Europeans in the basic industries of this continent.

The important thing is to get Canada developed, or we will have to admit that Canadians have not annexed even their own country. Finally, it should be remembered that before the war Britain always had been the chief source of supply of capital for Canada.

WHAT THEY PROVED

PROVINCIAL PARTY orators say they proved more in the recent P.G.E. inquiry than they charged. In one respect that is true. They proved that they had been engaged in a campaign of slander for months and that when they were given an opportunity of making good their accusations under auspices which would have given them no end of political prestige, they almost collapsed. One of their counsel withdrew from the investigation and for several days they were uncertain whether to beat an inglorious retreat, bag and baggage, or not.

What they actually proved out of the numerous charges they made will be disclosed when the report of the Commissioner has been published. What that report contains only the Government, which has it, knows; but apparently the leaders of the Provincial Party think they know what is in it. More than that, they suspect that it does not show them in a favorable light, because they are working overtime to give the public a report of their own manufacture.

The complainant, having made a show of himself in court and thinking he is going to get an adverse judgment, is telling the public that he really won the case, no matter what the judge may say.

SMOKING POPULARITY

TOBACCO manufacturers are themselves marveling at the rate of increase in cigarette smoking on this continent. Every month or so the cigarette factories of this country and United States set a new high record in output. For instance, the latest figures available show that the production of cigarettes in March from the American factories was the highest ever attained, exceeding March, 1923, by four per cent., and March, 1922, by forty per cent. The output for the first quarter of the year is almost ten per cent. greater than that of the same period in 1923 and about fifty per cent. higher than in 1922.

While the use of cigarettes is increasing in this startling manner, the consumption of cigars and other forms of tobacco is not much more than holding its own. In the last twenty years the consumption of cigars has increased by 1,500 per cent., but during this period, the annual number of cigars consumed shows no increase, despite the large increase in the population.

The gain that the cigarette has made in popularity at the expense of other forms of tobacco is attributed to the handy and low-priced form in which the tobacco is put up, the increase in the number of young smokers, particularly women, and the extensive national advertising campaigns which have been carried on by the cigarette manufacturers.

Eighteen billion cigarettes were manufactured for domestic consumption in United States and Canada during the first three months of this year. Men say they like a cigarette because it steadies their nerves and enables them to think better. But it would be interesting to know how many original or worthwhile thoughts went with these eighteen billion.

Everett Hale created in fiction a man without a country. Certain Tory influences seem determined to create Mr. Bowser a leader without a party.

Somebody at the Provincial Party meeting remarked that campaign funds from the public were coming in slowly. The rank and file no doubt feel that General McRae can keep the kettle boiling until the election, at any rate. Besides, is it not the General's party?

Liquor revenue in Ontario for 1923 including sales, fines and license fees, amounted to $5,704,815. Purchases from dispensaries chiefly on prescriptions, totalled $4,840,875, with a Government profit of $675,000. To take a plebiscite now in that province on the question of going wet seems superfluous.

How some of the total of nearly two billion dollars which Britain has spent on unemployment since the armistice goes, was illustrated in London the other day when an able-bodied man, who has received more than $1,000 out of relief funds from the board of guardians, made the public declaration that he would never work again. His case has been reported to the Ministry of Health as has that of a Southward man who married in the morning and called on the guardians in the afternoon for his relief.

MORNING AND MIDNIGHT

By J. D. C. Fellow in Parentalia
This is the night,
And no stars shine,
Do I need their light,
When my love is mine?

The rain falls,
But I care naught,
My heart to me calls:
We have found that we sought.

We have found a gate,
That opens out,
From the tower of Fate,
And the walls of Doubt.

Mine eyes shine,
And my heart sties,
For my love is mine,
And I am hers.

And I walk on light,
And drunken feet,
So fair is the night,
The air so sweet.

Oh Sun, don't under,
The sea's deep ways,
For this great wonder
I give thee praise.

Dr. Frank Crane Says Nationalism Is Wholesome

EVERY individual soul, like every planet, has its orbit and keeps that orbit steadily when there is a perfect balance between the centripetal and centrifugal forces; that is, when the impulse to fly away is exactly balanced by the impulse to approach.

The impulses that lead us toward each other are strong. There is the mighty impulse of love, the love of husband and wife, of parent and child, of friends, of neighbors and of country.

Like all other natural forces, these are good or bad exactly in proportion as they are duly controlled.

Always the opposite forces should be reckoned with. Many a tragedy in the family has been caused because parents did not take into account the impulse of the child for individuality. Many a marriage has been wrecked because husband or wife insisted upon the complete subservience of the other and did not appreciate the strong pull toward independence that is in every human soul.

Unity is a good thing but not the sort of unity that suppresses individuality.

The best and most lasting union is that between entirely independent units. That is, between those in whom the forces that draw together and the forces that keep apart are in perfect balance.

Excessive intimacy cannot last. Complete dominance of one person by another gives no permanent satisfaction.

In other words souls, like planets, are destined to move in orbits and not to fall into the sun and be consumed. There is a type of marriage which is simply extreme uxoriousness. There is a kind of devotion to parents in which the child is entirely submerged. A sort of patriotism becomes plain Chauvinism.

Mixtures of souls, to be enduring, should not be cold; that is, they should not be fused into one grey mass; each soul should retain its individuality.

It is the same with nations and races. The effort to secure a unity of nations in one organization is wholesome only as the independence of each nation is maintained. The Communistic dream of merging all nationalities into one is against Nature.

Capture of Fort Oswego by Yeo's Forces

BY THE middle of the day, May 5, 1814, just one year exactly after he had first landed in Canada at Quebec, Sir James Yeo, youthful commander of the British fleet on Lake Ontario during the War of 1812, arrived with a squadron of two frigates, two ships of war, and four brigs with attendant supply boats and gun boats in the offing before Oswego on the United States shore to open his second campaign. Oswego was an important United States war depot protected by Fort Ontario, three acres in extent and recently rehabilitated, overlooking Lake Ontario from an elevation at the mouth of the Oswego River. It mounted three long range heavy guns and three smaller ones. The garrison consisted of between three and four hundred regulars.

During the afternoon the British fleet closed within range of the heavier garrison artillery. The smaller craft crept in to draw the fire of the fort and disclose the position, number and range of the American guns. For an hour and more the artillery exchange was kept up till the British commander had his information and the gunboats drew off. After conference with Lieutenant-General Drummond, the commander of the British forces in Upper Canada, Sir James decided to attack at 5 o'clock in the evening.

This plan was vetoed by the weather. At sunset came a squall from the North which compelled the British fleet to stand out to sea, for the safety of their vessels. So sudden was the change and so heavy the blow that four supply-boats had to be cut loose, three of which were recovered. The other went ashore. EARLY next morning, May 6, the British fleet appeared again and took up battle position. The larger vessels engaged the batteries of the fort and shore while the smaller towed in the troops and then covered their landing. The landing force numbered about seven hundred and fifty, was commanded by Lieut.-Col. Fischer, and consisted of British regulars, Canadian militia, British marines, and a detachment of aboriginals. The two commanders of the expedition landed with the men to keep in closest touch with every incident.

In the furious cannonade which accompanied the landing of the troops, one of the ships suffered considerably, but was not incapacitated. The American forces, augmented during the night by the hasty summoning of two hundred militia from the neighborhood, swept the beach from the edge of a commanding hill and from the cover of some woods, as well as from the fort itself. Under this fire the boats shoved in and the men formed up. One detachment, the Glenagry Light Infantry, charged up the hill and into the woods, clearing the enemy partly into the fort and partly into the countryside. The main body charged up the slope against the fort, which they took in short order at the point of cold steel. Lieutenant Hewett of the marines climbed the flagstaff under a withering fire and cut down the Stars and Stripes. The American commander got away with the best part of his force and withdrew to Oswego Falls, twelve miles distant, whither he was not pursued.

BRITISH loss in this swift little action was twenty-two killed and seventy-three wounded. The American loss was obscured but was about six killed, thirty-eight wounded and sixty captured among whom were many wounded.

Sir James Yeo removed thirteen guns and destroyed six, transferred to his fleet the large stores of ammunition found, together with a considerable quantity of commissariat supplies. Also he had the small American ship, the Growler, which the Americans had sunk in the river, raised with all her equipment and stores. All this and some smaller vessels in addition he took away. The barracks, the public buildings of the settlement and the equipment of the fort, the British burned or otherwise destroyed. Then they sailed without delay for Kingston, for there was pressing work elsewhere to attend to on that thinly held Canadian border line.

Tuesday Is Courtesy Day

"I like shopping at Hudson's Bay because the sales staff is so polite and obliging."

Such is the remark one often hears both inside and outside the store.

Courtesy has always been one of the characteristics of this store not only among our sales staff but in all branches of the service.

Our Telephone Operators are always courteous and obliging.

Courteous drivers deliver your goods and the waitresses in our restaurant are courteous in their manner; and so you'll find it right through our store.

To-morrow is to be observed as "Courtesy Day" not so that our staff may appear to be more courteous than usual, but rather to emphasize the fact that every customer and every visitor to this store is treated with that courtesy which springs from respect and a genuine desire to serve.

"Courtesy is a golden thread in the weave of Life."

INADEQUATE SUPPORT

To the Editor:—There are apparently very few people who are yet aware of the fact that the visit of H. M. Special Service Squadron to the Capital City of British Columbia means from a purely financial standpoint, the Citizens' Committee in their organization work towards Canada's welcome to be extended here are thus far having a similar task to that of the Israelites of old when their taskmasters looked for the making of bricks without straw.

Nearly three months ago a tentative programme for the entertainment of these representatives of our glorious navy was drawn up by a special committee of citizens with experience in such matters—a programme in no way "unnecessarily lavish" in expenditure, but one considered to be of a character worthy of the unprecedented occasion in the history of the Island, the Capital City, the Province and the Dominion; and worthy of the dignity of this welcome in its four-fold aspect.

A budget was submitted to a sub-committee upon finance, again very carefully considered and the total amount required apportioned by this finance committee to be raised by the Municipalities, the City, the Province and the Dominion.

The result after three months effort by the executive is that only the City Council of Victoria has had vision enough to sanction the full appropriation asked for, namely $3,000, which with $150 each from the municipalities of Oak Bay and Saanich and a vote of but $2,500 from the Provincial Government, gives a total of $5,800 with which all organization for this welcome to six thousand officers and men has to be conducted.

Bishops to the quadrennial conference of the church recommends. Only those amusements "which can not be enjoyed in the name of Jesus Christ" should be barred, according to the address, which was presented yesterday.

The bishops observed with grave apprehension the growing spirit of worldliness and agreed it was necessary to correct this evil, but considered the methods used to this end hitherto inefficient and an embarrassment to many pastors, especially among the young people of the church.

UNION SUPPORTED

Endorsement was voiced of the Union of Nations in the cause of peace, and union of the Methodist Churches of America in the cause of Christianity. The address urged endorsement of the younger business men of the United States to the world.

A frightful condition existed in relation to the divorce laws in the United States, it was stated. The bishops declared prohibition in the United States had decreased crime and misery. All efforts to modify or change the law would fail, they said.

BIGGEST LUNCHEON IS HELD BY GYROS

Drive for Members Brings Results; Hoe-down Friday Will Be Big Success

Nearly one hundred gyros and prospective gyros attended the club luncheon to-day. It was the biggest gathering since the formation of the club three years ago.

At the regular monthly meeting two weeks ago, Gyro Harold Elworthy was appointed chairman of the drive for members and his efforts have resulted in a large number of the younger business men of this city aligning themselves with the Gyro Club.

At the luncheon to-day two films of the "Athabasca Trail" based on the poem by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, were run off. The pictures showed some wonderful scenery to be found along this historic route.

Miss Beatrice McDonald was the soloist and her vocal numbers were loudly applauded and greatly appreciated by the Gyros.

The directors of the club will meet to-night to discuss on what part the club will take in the Empire Day celebrations.

The Gyros have made great plans for their hoe-down on Friday night at the Saanichton Agricultural Hall. There has been a tremendous demand for tickets and the club anticipates a successful and interesting evening. The novelty of old clothes, overalls or singhams, for those attending, has served to arouse interest in the affair.

DRASTIC RULES TO PROTECT B.C. LIVESTOCK URGED

Barrow Asks Embargo on Foodstuffs From Infected California Area

Wants Washington State Regulations Imposed at B.C. Boundary

Imposition of drastic measures to protect British Columbia cattle from foot and mouth disease is urged by Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, in a telegram which he has dispatched to the Federal Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Barrow proposes that the Federal Government put into effect a complete embargo on all those parts of California affected by foot and mouth disease. He asks also that all fruit and vegetables grown in California outside the infected area be fumigated before being allowed to enter this Province. These regulations, he explains, are along the lines of those imposed in the United States to protect the cattle of that state.

Mr. Barrow is also forwarding to the Federal Department of Agriculture copies of the proposals advanced by the Vancouver Board of Trade for the protection of British Columbia livestock. These include an absolute embargo on all fruit and vegetables originating in California.

CABINET MEETS BUT FIXES NO ELECTION DATE

Nothing Decided Yet, Premier Says After Confering With Ministers

Flays McRae in Mainland Speech; Bares Facts of Fisheries Scheme

Members of the Oliver Government assembled here to-day to discuss the political situation, and decide the date of the anticipated general election.

After confering with his colleagues for an hour and a half, Premier Oliver stated at 1.30 this afternoon that nothing had been decided at the Cabinet meeting.

"Nothing has been done," the Premier told newspaper correspondents gathered outside the Government building to-day.

"It is understood that the Premier will confer further with his Ministers to-morrow in order to reach an early decision on the election question."

All members of the Government except Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General, and Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, came to Victoria to-day to meet the Premier, and talk matters over with him. Mr. Manson and Dr. Sutherland are still in the Interior and will not return to the Coast until Thursday. The Cabinet, however, is going ahead with its deliberations without them, as it is familiar with their views.

Having made his first campaign speech in Cloverdale Saturday night, when he was elected a candidate for re-election to the Legislature, the Premier will go to the Mainland this afternoon for a week-end at South Vancouver. Liberals to-night when the Liberal candidate in South Vancouver will be nominated.

A. D. Paterson, sitting member in the Legislature for Delta, was nominated at a crowded convention at Cloverdale Saturday night to carry the Liberal banner at the forthcoming election in the riding of Delta. Unanimous, no other name being brought before the convention.

Premier Oliver was in his best political form at the convention and delivered a vigorous attack against the "So-called Provincial Party, or like peas in a pod." The Premier said that the searchlight of the organ of the Provincial Party, was the most damaging and mischievous literature he had ever seen, being full of "vile, malicious and unscrupulous stories."

"FALSE WITNESS"

Mr. Oliver quoted that Commandment which says: "Thou shalt not bear false witness Against Thy Neighbor."

"The stuff contained in these newspapers is the falsest kind of witness against his neighbor," he said.

"I have a reputation to uphold," said the Premier with emphasis, "and it is worth more to me than McRae's millions. He was the organizer and promoter of the Canadian Northern Fisheries Company in which $2,000,000 in debentures was floated in the Old Country. Within four years the affairs of the company were in the hands of the receiver, and it was sold by order of the court for $178,500. Did McRae offer to share any of his millions with the shareholders when his company went broke?"

"The freight rates to the Coast is still two-and-a-half cents higher than the water rate when the reduction I have been fighting for comes about, it will more than double the grain producing territory from which 'rumor' is being 'drawn'."

PUBLIC SPENDING TOO HEAVY SAYS MONTREAL BOARD

Urges Campaign of Education For Debt Reduction

Resolution Before Chamber of Commerce Directors

A campaign of education through every Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce on Canada's public debt was urged by the National Economy Conference held in Ottawa March 28, the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce were advised by the Montreal Board of Trade to-day.

The Montreal Board has issued a circular on the subject endorsed by the Montreal Trades and Labor Council and the Montreal branch of the Manufacturers' Association, which states that the public debt has grown in the last ten years from $32,000,000 to $2,714,000,000. The debt head has grown from $241 to $12.

The circular alleged that the large debt is the result of public spending and borrowing beyond the country's needs, and that although the war ended five years ago, the country was still doing this. It urged the election in Dominion, Provincial and Municipal politics of men who would support a policy of reducing the public debt.

The secretary, George I. Warren, reported attending the National Economic Conference during his trip East. He presented a petition which was signed by the Chamber of Commerce of Canada, urging no expenditures which were not necessitated by the requirements of the Department of Amalgamation and co-ordination to eliminate duplication were advocated.

SAYS OBSTACLES DELAY PASSENGERS

Unable to Land in Victoria Immediately on Arrival

Chamber Wants Officers to Board at William Head

One hour's delay was caused to passengers before they were able to get ashore from the Australian boats, Alfred Carmichael reported to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day. A corps of officials boarded the steamer Makura as it reached the wharf, and the delay gave passengers so little time that they were only able to get an impression of Victoria from the outer wharf. He produced a memorandum written by a passenger suggesting that the work of the officials could be done before they reached the port. He thought this matter had been settled, but the restrictions evidently were still in force, he said. He asserted that the boats were not met at William Head by an immigration official as has been assumed they would be. A wall was being built around Victoria which prevented people getting into it. It was decided again to take the matter up with immigration officials.

The regular monthly meeting of the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association will be held in the City Hall to-morrow night at 8 o'clock.

The meeting will take the form of a general discussion, dealing with the care of growing crops. H. O. English, of the staff of Victoria High School, has again kindly consented to be present and assist in the discussion. These arrangements have been made in view of the forthcoming exhibition, and valuable information should be derived, which should benefit every intending exhibitor. F. B. Robinson, chairman of special committees, reports on the enlarged scheme in connection with the competition of home gardeners and cultivated vacant lots.

EVENTS TO COME

The monthly meeting of the Marguerite Chapter L.O.E.B. has been postponed until Tuesday, May 13.

An executive council meeting of the Army Veterans in Canada will take place this evening at 8 o'clock in the board room at 512 Fort Street.

MALAHAT CLOSED; OILING PRODUCES SPLENDID RESULTS

No Traffic on Highway For About Ten Days While Surfacing Proceeds

The Malahat Highway was closed this morning by the Public Works Department and will remain closed for a week or ten days while oiling of the road surface is in progress.

If the present good weather continues oiling operations will proceed rapidly and will be completed, it is expected, in about ten days. The road will be closed for a week at least, it is stated at the Public Works Department.

A heavy layer of oil is being sprayed upon the road surface, which has been smoothed off in preparation for this treatment. After the oil has been spread on the roadbed, sand will be scattered over it.

The road from Colwood to Goldstream was oiled last week and now is in splendid condition.

The oil and sand have formed a running surface. Motorists who have driven over this stretch of the Highway are delighted with it.

DRUG FIGHTERS INSIST THAT CANADA BE REPRESENTED

Suggest Judge Emily Murphy Attend Opium Conference in Europe

Recommendations Before the Chamber of Commerce

Through Dr. M. G. Raynor, chairman of the Health Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the directors to-day were asked to endorse a resolution of the Victoria and District Anti-Narcotic League calling upon the Government of Canada to be represented at the opium conference in Europe this fall.

The resolution before the directors stated that the drug traffic could only be accomplished by united and co-operative action of all nations. Canada in common with other countries had a vital interest in the suppression of the traffic as it already constituted a serious and insidious menace to its national welfare.

DIRECT REPRESENTATION

Direct representation of Canada at the conference by a Cabinet Minister and a lay representative was urged, and it was submitted that the name of Judge Emily Murphy, author and police magistrate of Edmonton be considered a lay representative. Her close study of and writings on the question, together with her wide experience in court work place her in a position to render valuable service to the conference. No more delegate could be more suitable to speak for the people of Canada, particularly the women, with whose viewpoint on this serious problem she is fully cognizant, it was argued.

Dr. Raynor, supporting the resolution, said Canada had never before been directly represented at the convention. He declared the root of the traffic was in the growth of the drug. The amount needed throughout the world was 500 tons, and the production was 2,500 tons. Canada with 15,000 addicts was vitally interested. The resolution was endorsed.

WENT FISHING; HAS NOT RETURNED

Search Fails to Locate Sidney Bayne at Stamp Falls

Special to The Times
Alberni, May 3.—In spite of an all-week search by a large party, no trace has been found of Sidney Bayne of Beaver Creek, who left his home last Sunday morning at 5 o'clock to go fishing at Stamp Falls, with the intention of returning about 8 o'clock for breakfast, and to help milk the cows.

He started off on his bicycle and after going about a mile he had a puncture in one of the tires and he left the wheel at Mr. S. Rands' home, and proceeded to walk from there, and it was here that all trace of him seems to disappear.

The Stamp Falls are very rough, and if a person were to slip in there he would have very little chance to save himself owing to the numerous rocks and the back eddy in the water.

The searchers are in charge of Provincial Constable H. N. Wood, and are leaving no stone unturned in their efforts to find some trace of the missing young man, who was very popular in the district.

The Provincial Party has arranged for a nominating convention to take place in Port Alberni next Wednesday when members propose to put a candidate in the field. A number of names are being considered, but Alderman C. A. McNaughton, of Port Alberni seems to be the most likely one to get the nomination.

Word has been received by E. M. Whyte from Cecil Tice, of the Department of Agriculture at Victoria, that Alberni is getting seed certification for potatoes this year, and a number of those interested have already filed their applications to have their plots entered for certification purposes.

Remarkable Accident Occurs on Hospital Hill, Duncan

Special to The Times
Duncan, May 3.—What might have been a very serious accident occurred on Friday morning at the bottom of Hospital Hill. Mr. Patterson was driving into town when in turning to avoid a coal truck, either his steering gear went wrong or he skidded in the loose gravel and ran into a telephone post. Miss Eliza Potts, who was a passenger in the car, was thrown forward, her head going through the windshield. She was rushed to the hospital and some of the cuts were so deep that skin had to be grafted. Mr. Patterson was slightly cut and very badly bruised.

MAY DAY DANCE PROVES SUCCESS

Special to The Times

Metchoin, May 5.—The Metchoin branch of the W.A. held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Arden on Thursday afternoon. The financial report of the sale of work held on the 21st, Mary Church and $190 was kept in the W. A. funds. The expenses amounted to $63, and of the net profits of $127, $47 was given to the St. Mary's Church and $80 was kept in the W. A. funds.

The May-day dance held in the Lutton Hall on Thursday night, under the auspices of the Women's Institute, was an unequalled success. One of the largest crowds that ever gathered in the hall was catered for by the institute, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Ray Kinloch's orchestra supplied excellent music, and many were the compliments paid to the committee on the splendid condition of the floor and the success of the event, and many visitors bequeathed the officers of the institute to hold another dance soon. In a spirit of "making hay while the sun shone" the executive officers held an informal meeting and decided then and there to arrange for another dance to take place on May 29, and engaged the same orchestra to play. The net profits after all expenses had been paid amounted to $100, and the members are well pleased with the result of their efforts.

May 1 being the opening day of the district Queen contest, the institute contest committee made the most of their opportunity, and Miss Margaret Dyer, the Lutton and Miss Valley, candidates, had the pleasure of seeing her vote coupons bought generously by the crowd.

WILL VIEW TRANSIT OF PLANET MERCURY

Members of Local Societies Invited to Meteorological Observatory

On the invitation of F. Napier Denison, director of the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Heights, the members of the Royal Astronomical Society and of the Natural History Society, will be enabled to view the transit of the planet Mercury across the face of the sun this month. This is one of the most interesting phenomena which the observers will have noted in many months, and the conditions, providing the sky is clear, should be favorable here.

The transit will first be seen at 1:42 p.m. on Wednesday, May 7, and through the arrangements of Denison, on whom the arrangements may be clearly seen. The image of the sun will be projected upon a white surface that those who take advantage of the invitation to Gonzales Observatory may better view the spectacle. The sun sets with Mercury just on its face.

This transit is in reality a small eclipse of the sun, for the planet moves between it and the earth, but owing to its small dimensions and its great distance from the earth, the effect of its passing is merely like that of a small black speck. The naked eye cannot observe the transit, but a small telescope, with a solar eyepiece would be ample for the viewing of the unusual sight.

The transit of Venus across the surface of the sun was at one time utilized as a method of determining the earth's distance from solar body, but this has since become obsolete. The only modern observations which would be made during such a transit would be for the purpose of checking up on the movements of the inner planets, which are much more difficult to observe and study than those which lie outside the orbit of the earth. Observations of the size of the apparent disk of the planet in transit are also made to determine the diameter of the body in miles.

During the month of May, as in April, there is excellent opportunity for the viewing of the brighter planets.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, May 5, 1899

Many stories of hardship and of starvation are reported from the overland trail of the Yukon via Ashcroft. A relief expedition is planned. A new Waterloo fire engine has arrived, and been successfully tested for use by the Fire Department. It will be known as the "Charles E. Redfern," after Mayor Redfern. According to news received by the steamer Willapa all Carmanah Point and the lands of the surrounding districts have been staked off as coal lands. Coal, it is said, has been found in paying quantities within a stone's throw of the lighthouse.

ONLY TWO DELAYS FROM LOS ANGELES

Travel Restrictions Now Reduced to Minimum

That restrictions imposed on auto tourists traveling from California to British Columbia have now been relaxed to such an extent that there is virtually no inconvenience at all to the ordinary traveler, is substantiated by tourists arriving here. Lee H. Emmert, Los Angeles business man, who arrived this week, stated that the only place he was halted was at the Ventura County line. Here his car was sprayed with formaldehyde and he walked through sawdust soaked in disinfectant. Officials well used to carrying out these duties delayed him for only a few minutes, and he then proceeded without further interruption to the Oregon boundary line, where a ceremony was repeated with equal expedition.

Like other travelers who have arrived from Los Angeles, Mr. Emmert reported that no foodstuffs or camping equipment are allowed beyond California points or beyond the California boundary line. These restrictions, he reports, are the only ones that may cause any falling off in travel from the South now that the irksome regulations at first enforced have been reduced to a minimum.

BUSY SEASON IN MACKENZIE RIDING

B. Brynildsen is Here; Industrial Progress of District

"On the whole we are looking forward to a busy and profitable season in the area around Bella Coola, in fishing, lumbering and mining during the summer," said B. Brynildsen, well-known Bella Coola merchant, who is down from the north, registered at the Dominion Hotel, for a few days on business. He is also interested in the Bella Coola Logging Company, Limited, a local concern there, of which he was president and general manager. This company had large holdings of timber, which have now been taken over by Vancouver and Victoria interests. The new directors are Alderman A. E. Todd, H. A. Ross, H. J. Davis of Victoria, E. C. Mayers and Mark Cosgrove of Vancouver, with J. C. Clausen managing director, now at Bella Coola.

The company now taken over was organized some years ago by oldtime settlers. A charter was obtained for the clearing and use of the Bella Coola River. Foreshore rights were also acquired, and some $20,000 was already spent in equipment and booming facilities for rafting of logs at the mouth of the river. Logging and clearing of the Bella Coola River for the successful floating of logs has also been agreed to. With the organization of this company a large area of outside timber has also been taken over, with the result that outside of the holdings of timber owned by the Pacific Mills Limited, of Ocean Falls, the Bella Coola Logging Company now controls the bulk of standing timber. It is asserted that the valley has one of the finest stands of timber in the province. The valley has also been signally free from forest fires.

M. Brynildsen observed: "The general condition in our district is very satisfactory, and considerable land is cleared up for spring planting and seeding. Our climate is the finest, so much so that last winter was the mildest in the history of the northwest coast. The hot springs of the valley are of great medicinal value."

"The two salmon canneries at Bella Coola are now preparing for operation, and expect full packs. This remark applies to the Rivers Inlet fish packs. The Goose-Billard Packing Company, whose canneries burned down last summer, is now rebuilding it. This plant cannot handle 85,000 cases of salmon, and a considerable amount of this quantity had not been shipped out when the fire came, and destroyed it. This concern has also taken over the Winch Company's sawmill and cannery at Namu, and those plants are now being made ready for the season."

"At Surf Inlet, mine work is carried on, and the output from this plant shows a steady increase, with regular shipments of concentrates." "The big pulp and paper mills at Ocean Falls are producing to capacity. Last summer there was a shortage of water for which provision has been made this summer by raising the dam fifteen feet, which has materially increased the water so that the supply should be sufficient. The pulp plant at Swanson Bay has been closed down for some time. A saw and shingle mill is running to cup up the supply of logs on hand there."

Mrs. Jenkinson had been to a political meeting and when she returned home she regaled her husband with her party view. "We are going to sweep the country, John," she exclaimed. "Then," remarked her husband, "you had better start with the kitchen, dear!"

In the garden was an apple tree, and father had forbidden Betty to touch the apples until they were ripe. One day father came to the nursery, looking very stern. "Somebody has been to look at the apple tree. I have found three cores on the grass."

Betty tried her best to look as if she had never seen an apple. "At last she blurted out: 'Well, it wasn't me, 'cause I ate my cores.'"

ALBERTAN OIL SITUATION HEARD

F. L. Runions Has Been Studying Situation Carefully

After two years spent in the Albertan oil fields, F. L. Runions, of Vancouver, has come here to tell investors something of the future of these fields. To the Times, speaking highly of the preliminary work done in Alberta by the Imperial Oil Company and other interests, as justifying a policy of development, Mr. Runions pointed out that the encouraging results in the Wainwright field had induced American interests to make an offer to the Hudson's Bay Company for their holdings, but the company, favoring the retention of Empire assets within the Empire, had leased to the Anglo-Persian Company some of the interests. The Royal Dutch Shell Company had also decided to look into the field, and it was reported, the Canadian Pacific Railway holdings in several townships. The Imperial Oil Company was also looking into the field. Piping, derricks, timber, boilers, castings, and other equipment are awaiting an opportunity to be moved from the railway to the field, six miles away, and it is expected the roads will be in such condition that this can be done during the next few days.

In the Many Island field, near Medicine Hat, a leading geologist has forecasted an activity absolutely without parallel in the development of Canada. British capital, he said, is behind the Sarnia Oil and Gas Company, which will develop its holdings to the extent of $5,000,000. It has secured a permit from the Dominion Government to extract carbon black and gasoline from the product. It is said to be the only place where helium gas is found within the Empire, and it is hoped that the British authorities will eventually establish a base there. There is a heavy demand for carbon black in the United States market greatly in excess of the supply, so the future of this project appears assured.

In the Sweet Grass area a well has broken in at 2856 feet, under conditions which assure a large production. At Port McMurray the tar sands are very encouraging. Mr. Runions stated, in pointing out the numerous potential pools of oil east of the great Cordillera of the North American continent, stretching from Mexico to Northern British Columbia. The area of these tar sands had been placed at $50,000,000 acres, being practically oil impregnated throughout. Tests were being made on more than one of these sands to determine the commercial feasibility of production.

BOY RESCUED WHEN ALMOST EXHAUSTED

Capsized Canoe and Struggling Victim Rescued by Prompt Action From Shore

Thrown into the water, when a canoe in which he was sailing capsized under a sudden squall, David Carey, seventeen-year-old son of George F. Carey, 1692 Chandler Avenue, had a narrow escape from drowning at 8 p.m. on Saturday. The canoe, prior to the accident, had handled well under sail during a two-hour cruise off Trial Island. It was when coming about to return to the shore that a sudden puff of wind caught the craft close-hauled, and it swamped.

The boy managed to retain his head above water, and called for help. After an interval of several minutes his cries were heard on shore by Mrs. J. Smith, 2120 Penance Road, and by a trio of boys on the beach. The boys, Bob Clark, Jack White, and a companion set out at once, rowing hard to the capsized boat then a half mile off shore. They reached the Carey boy just in time and hauled him into their boat.

Mr. Smith, called by the cries of his wife, put out in another boat to the rescue. Mr. Smith, aided by the boys, transhipped the exhausted lad, and took him to 2120 Penance Road, where hot drinks and blankets had been prepared by Mrs. Smith.

Sighting the accident through binoculars, Major F. V. Longstaff, Highland Drive, sent in a call to the

RAILROAD LABOR BOARD CONTEST IN UNITED STATES

Washington, May 5.—Railroad interests and organized labor in the United States have locked horns over the proposed abolition of the Railroad Labor Board. Both have taken sides in the fight in Congress over the Howell-Barkeley bill, which provides for settlement of disputes between railroads and railroad employees without Government interference.

A drive by railroad officials and attorneys to defeat the bill and preserve the Labor Board is being made. Labor is threatening to blacklist members of Congress who vote to defeat the bill. The question is expected to come to a vote in the House at an early date.

Ancient Peruvians who mended their leaking gourds with pitch which seeped lavishly from the earth, struggled with crude contrivances after their own fashion to make some use of an age-old treasure of petroleum underlying the soil of this remarkable land.

It remained, however, for Canadians to modernize the primitive oil workings of Peru and bring to a needy motor car market the finest lubricating oil in the world.

An Ancient Treasure Indispensable to a Modern Age

The wheels of modern civilization revolve upon petroleum. Without the lubricants derived from crude oil, busy factories would cease to hum—countless motor cars would stall by the roadside—great liners would wallow helplessly in the trough of the sea—giant locomotives would rust on their tracks.

As the world's largest consumers of lubricating oils, motor car owners should be first to recognize the vital necessity of selecting for their use only scientifically correct lubricants, made from one of the few crude oils entirely suited for lubricating purposes.

Thousands of miles away in Peru, Imperial Oil Limited controls an unending supply of the finest crude petroleum to be found anywhere. Imperial Polarine Motor Oils, the product of this unexcelled crude oil, absolutely defy competition.

Have your crank-case cleaned and refilled today with the proper grade of Imperial Polarine Motor Oils, as specified on our Chart of Recommendations, and you will notice an immediate improvement in the performance of your car.

Rex Beach's Famous Story "Flowing Gold" Will Prove Very Popular Screen Feature Here

Rapidly Moving Drama Showing at Royal This Week Leads up to Smashing Climax With Greatest Storm and Fire Scenes Ever Filmed

"Flowing Gold," now showing at the Royal Theatre, is an epic of the oil fields. Richard Walton Tully, who produced this picture for Associated First National Pictures, Inc., has spared no effort to make it one of the really big screen attractions. "Flowing Gold," an adaptation of Rex Beach's popular novel of that name, is laid in the northern Texas oil districts and is a rapidly moving drama which leads up to a smashing climax with some of the greatest storm and fire scenes ever screened. It concerns itself with the Briskows, a family of impoverished Texas nesters, who strike oil on the old farm in great quantities. Calvin Gray, a penniless soldier of fortune, becomes interested in the family and guides them through the hectic period of their opulence. Milton Sills in this role is given one of the greatest parts of his career and is ideally suited to the role. Anna Q. Nilsson, as Allegheny the awkward daughter of the family, is most capable and gives a charming and artistic performance. Alice Calhoun, as Barbara Parker; Crauford Kent, as Henry Nelson; Clay Fitzgerald, as Margie Fulton; John Roche, as Buddy; Josephine Crowley, as Ma and Bert Woodruff, as Pa, are all exceedingly well cast and do excellent work. Charles Selton, of "Bad Man" fame, as Tom Parker, is another very satisfactory member of this all-star aggregation. The story is replete in the dra-

Film Star Would Welcome Literary Renown Readily

Patsy Ruth Miller Jots Down Vagrant Sentences At All Hours

Patsy Ruth Miller, featured with Nita Naldi, George Fawcett and Matt Moore in Herbert Brenon's current production for Paramount, "The Breaking Point," now showing at the Capitol, has cherished two ambitions all her life. The first, to be an actress, has been realized. The second, to be a successful story writer, she may yet achieve. Whenever Miss Miller goes, she carries a little leather covered note-book. She spends odd moments writing descriptions. Anything which strikes her as worthy goes into her note-book. "It is just practice writing," says Miss Miller. "My note-book is like an artist's sketch-book. I am never satisfied with the way I write a sentence and always try to express the same thought in a dozen different ways. It is amazing the variety of shades one can get by shifting a word in a sentence or changing one." Frequently during the night Miss Miller wakes with a new thought running through her mind. She always keeps her note-book and pencil on a table beside her bed. When she wakes she switches on the light, jots her thought down and promptly goes to sleep again. "It is exciting in the morning to pick up the book and read what I have written during the night," says Miss Miller. "Frequently I have utterly forgotten and a sentence strikes me with the effect of something entirely new." "The Breaking Point" is from the pen of Mary Roberts Rinehart.

Film Gives Lie To Tradition of Thieves' Honor

No Friendship Amongst Crooks Throughout Underworld

When crook meets crook, popular fiction says they immediately establish a bond of fellowship and forever hold it sacred. They don't "squeal" on each other and they help each other all they can. Now comes a motion picture which blows these popular traditions to pieces. It tells the truth about the underworld and the so-called "honor among thieves." "White Tiger," at the Columbia this week, is a Universal-Jewel screen drama of a trio of international criminals who should, by their exalted rank in crookdom, have achieved the highest standards of honor and good fellowship. In reality they display an utter lack of any human friendship for each other; being merely three clever crooks allied for purely business reasons and ready to shatter their obligations to each other at an instant's notice. "White Tiger" stars Frisella Dean.

Circus Display To Amuse Patrons Of Playhouse

Something Out of Ordinary is Promised This Week

This week's bill at the Playhouse promises to be something much out of the ordinary, as far as the play is concerned. An entirely new idea is presented to his patrons this week. It is staged in a circus with lion tamer, tight-rope walkers, "never-thing." The only thing missing is the proverbial wild man, and he is supplied finally by a colored gentleman who is pressed into service much to his evident terror. Those who are in the know claim that this is the peepiest thing yet with a full quota of rollicking fun and frolic and should go over with a bang. The picture end of the programme is well taken care of, being no other than the great Irene Castle in her wonderful success, "No Trespassing," in which she is said to be supported by a particularly strong cast. There is the usual "funny" for which the Playhouse is becoming so justly famous and it is said to be fully up to standard.

Irene Castle Will Show at Playhouse During This Week

Famed Danseuse Takes to Pictures and Director to the Water

If you have ever wondered what it feels like to plunge into the surf in December, take the word of Edwin L. Hollywood, director of the Irene Castle production, "No Trespassing," that the experience is one not to be repeated. Mr. Hollywood took his first and last winter plunge last December during the filming of one of the scenes for "No Trespassing," which will be shown at the Playhouse this week. Mr. Hollywood and the cameramen were shooting one of the boating scenes which appear in the picture. The work was being done in Flushing Bay, L.I., just outside of New York City. When the scene was about half finished, the bay froze over and the boat that Mr. Hollywood was using caught fast in the ice. The scene had to show clear water, so a crew of dynamiters were engaged to dynamite the ice around the boat. Director Hollywood and possibly safe position about 200 yards from the boat. Then came the explosion, but so great was its force that the ice where Mr. Hollywood was standing also gave way and he and the cameramen were plunged into the icy waters. One of the cameramen, costing in the neighborhood of $3,000, was lost. The other machine was rescued. "No Trespassing" is the second of a series of productions starring Irene Castle for release through the W. W. Hodkinson Corporation. The third production, "Don't Weaken," is now being produced.

Lure of Unknown Adds Interest to Pantages Show

Alexander Heads All-star Programme at Vaudeville House

The lure of the unknown, the charm of mystery that the thrill of the future brings to humanity, all are promised in the visit to Victoria of Alexander, "The Man Who Knows," asserted to be the world's master psychologist, who will be the headline attraction of the big new bill of vaudeville opening at Pantages Theatre to-morrow evening with one performance at 9. Matinee and two evening shows will be held Wednesday and Thursday.

This will be the mystic's second appearance locally but he has an international reputation for being able to fathom the minds of his auditors. His act is extended and full of interest for those with a scientific turn of mind, while others who may come only to be amused are assured of having their appetites fully satiated. Whether the auditor accepts the remarkable psychic demonstrations of Alexander as authentic manifestations of thought transmission, or whatever one may care to label his added and unexplained faculty, and takes the answers to myriad questions, written in any language in the privacy of the home or office and sealed in the most formidable manner, at their face value, or whether he regards the performance as an exhibition of mere human ingenuity, it is true that impressions profound are left upon one and that there remains the fascinating element of mystery and the suggestion of the supernatural. Alexander's act will be varied by the introduction of series of new and original Oriental dances, alluringly interpreted by Mile. Valieska. The remainder of the bill embraces the sensational musical comedy, "Wigginville," which brings clever comedy lines by Eddie Mountain and Cliff Dixon; Bayes and Smith, who appear in a clever skit entitled "Keep Smiling," awes with sure-fire comedy; Chuck Haas, the cowboy with the fascinating drawl and his wonder lariat; and Adair & Adair, a couple of gymnasts who perform remarkable feats on the horizontal bars.

Green Room Notes

French plays in the original will be produced in London, England, by Mile. Cecile Sorel during a season commencing on May 25. Many of the favorites familiar to all playgoers will be presented, and incidentally one which forms the French equivalent of "The Taming of the Shrew."

If public attention here is not turned to Shakespeare this season, it is not due to any shortcomings in the way of revivals here for both Mastell and Sir John Martin-Harvey have played in the Bard of Avon, while lectures and other references should have stimulated interest.

Dazzling magnificence and grandeur, seldom if ever equaled before in the filming of any motion picture, abounds in the gorgeous Hall of the Mirrors scene, at the court of Versailles, in the Cosmopolitan's forthcoming production, "Janice Meredith," in which Marion Davies is the star.

It is in this beautiful scene that Benjamin Franklin is received at court by King Louis XVI of France, and Queen Marie Antoinette, and make his successful appeal for aid for the American cause. The plain, sombre-clad figure of Franklin is ushered through the throng of gay courtiers in their magnificent court costumes of that period, to the throne, where he is cordially greeted by the king and queen.

The thousands of mirrors reflecting and re-reflecting the thousand or more French courtiers, with their powdered hair and their magnificent costumes of brocades, satins and silks, make a brilliant spectacle.

Dr. Hugo Riesenfeld, who spends $1,000,000 a year in the music of the four Paramount playhouses of New York City has thought-out-unique plans ensuring a high level of excellence in the presentations of "The Ten Commandments" on tour.

The essential feature of the plan (now being organized by Famous Players-Lasky) is to send a group of Symphony players on the road with each of the traveling companies. Headed by an operatic conductor trained by Mr. Riesenfeld, they will present a musical accompaniment equaling the grand effects at the parent house, the George M. Cohan Theatre, New York. This is something that only a highly trained orchestra of symphonists can achieve. "The Ten Commandments" music, written and arranged by Riesenfeld, is admittedly the most difficult ever synchronized to the screen. Parts of great compositions like Bruckner's and "Die Valkyrie" are used, and the climax of Rubinstein's "Demon" opera accompanies the barbaric Golden Calif orgy.

Service's Poem Filmed by Notable Cast at Dominion

"Shooting of Dan McGrew" Provides Thrilling Theme for Screen Story

The Sawyer-Lubin production of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," a Metro picture, will play a week's engagement at the Dominion Theatre, beginning to-day. As the result of a popular vote, Barbara La Marr, Lela Cook and Percy Marmont were chosen to play the famous roles of The Lady Known as Lou, Dangerous Dan McGrew, and supplemented by a cast that includes Max Baucus, George Siegmann, Max Ascher, Philippe de Lacy and many others.

Robert W. Service's story of the Yukon, has been brought to the screen with life-like vividness by Winifred Dunn, who wrote the film version, and Director Clarence Badger, who has to his credit such productions as "Quincy Adams Sawyer" and "Potash and Perlmutter."

Not only has the splendid climax been faithfully reproduced, but the events leading up to it have been worked out in full. Service wrote his poem from an actual incident of the gold rush in the Yukon, and the Metro picture has gone a step further and told the whole story of this tragic encounter between two men.

The early married life of Lou and Jim is shown—their happiness and contentment while appearing as dancer and musician in South Sea Island ports, and the first rumblings of disaster at the introduction of Dan McGrew. Later the story shifts to New York, and finally to the Yukon.

According to advance reports, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" is crammed with fiery action and variety of scene, and is sure to arouse unusual interest because it reveals the heretofore unknown details at which Mr. Service hinted in his poem.

The picture was personally supervised by Arthur H. Sawyer.

GOOD PROGRESS ON SUMMER EXHIBITION

Effort to Stimulate Production of Early Vegetables, Fruit and Flowers Here

Prospects are very encouraging for the exhibition of early vegetables, fruit and flowers to be held at the Arcade Building on July 11 and 12, under the auspices of the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association. Mayor Hayward, as honorary president, has undertaken to open the function. Many fine displays of flowers will be arranged by local florists, including a display of rock and alpine plants. It is expected that a band will be in attendance.

Several special prizes, in addition to the general list of $100, have been offered, including two from A. J. Woodward and Sons, for the best collection of vegetables grown from Sutton and Sons' seeds, for which they have the British Columbia agency. Brown Brothers will donate a handsome palm, and George Little is giving a prize for the best bowl of roses. Others are also promised.

In two weeks the prize list will be ready for distribution. F. E. Boulter, 1445 Woodlands Road, the secretary of the association, is handling the secretarial work. Support of various public organizations to the show has already been promised.

GARDEN COMPETITION

A home garden competition is planned by the association, providing the necessary grant is forthcoming from the City Council, which has now been sought. This will be open to those within an area of two-and-a-half miles of the City Hall. Professionals will be handicapped fifteen per cent, and a fifteen per cent. bonus will be given those gardens on newly turned sod. Vacant lot cultivation will be featured next year, it being rather late to make a start on this occasion. A score card will be issued for the guidance of competitors, and entries must be made by June 20. This will be among the members, the Marchant cup being exclusively a trophy of that class. The membership fee for the association is nominal.

Royal Canadian Institute Celebrates Its Anniversary

Toronto, May 5.—On Saturday the Royal Canadian Institute celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary and at the annual meeting tonight an account of what the institute had accomplished and the objects it had sought to attain was given by Frank Arnold, K.C., who was professor of the institute during 1913, 1914 and 1915.

The object of the institute, he said, was to promote scientific research in Canada, to bring about co-operation among scientific workers, to disseminate the records of studies and in general to constitute a clearing house for scientific thought, investigation and exploration.

The speaker said that at present the institute had accumulated a scientific library consisting of about 14,000 volumes, and it was one of the most wonderful in the world. Prof. J. C. Fields, who is at present in England, was re-elected president.

BRITISH COLUMBIA ABUNDANTS IN GAME

Interesting Data is Compiled By Frank Giolma
Good Sport Available in All Parts of Province

The physical features of British Columbia, which to a large extent determine the habitat of the various species of game, require some explanation. The Province is traversed from south to north, by four principal ranges of mountains, viz.—the Rockies, Selkirk, the Cascades, and Coast Range. British Columbia, being the watershed of the Pacific Coast of Canada, has many large rivers. The most important of these are the Fraser, the Stikine, the Skeena, and the Columbia, which flow into the Pacific Ocean. The waters of the two other large streams, viz.—the Thompson and the Kootenay—are absorbed by the Fraser and the Columbia respectively. The island and the Peace River, in a north-easterly direction towards the Arctic Ocean. These streams with their numerous tributaries, together with the extensive and important lake system, which has no equal on the Pacific slope, furnish access to every portion of the Province, taking the sportsman or tourist to surroundings unequalled for beauty of scenery and variety of sport.

Climatic conditions in British Columbia tend in every way to enhance the pleasure of a visit at any season of the year, says Frank Giolma, in an interesting article on Game of British Columbia, and it is possible for the sportsman to spend a large portion of the time shooting, and fishing owing to the variety of climate in the different districts. The West Coast attains the most uniform climate, the Summers being warm and fine with suitable rainfall, and little or no frost in Winter. East of the Coast mountains the temperature is more pronounced both in Summer and Winter, while in the northern parts of the Province the Winters are more or less severe.

Graham and North Dundas Islands extend from April to the end of July. Campbell River, famous for its big "Tye" salmon, and located near the celebrated Seymour Narrows, is best in August.

While strict regulations governing the killing of game in British Columbia are in force, liberal provision by way of bag limits on game of all kinds is afforded.

CONSERVATION AND PROPAGATION

The Government of British Columbia has been fully alive to the importance of conserving the great natural resources of the Province, including its wealth of game and fur-bearing animals, and with this object in view suitable game reserves are being established from time to time for the protection of such species of the larger game which appeared to be in danger of extermination. The Fort George Reserve, situated on the Little Smoky River and comprising over half a million acres, affords protection to bear, moose, caribou, mountain-sheep, mule-deer and fur-bearing animals. The Yakomom North Fork Reserve, situated on the North Fork of the Bridge River, is a sanctuary for mountain-sheep, mountain-goat, mule-deer and fur-bearing animals. In the Kootenays, adjacent to the Alberta boundary, the Elk River Reserve shelters wapiti (elk), mountain-sheep, mountain-goat, and a variety of other wild life. The wapiti numbers from 6,000 to 7,000 constituting perhaps the largest band in America. A short open season is provided each year for hunting this species of the Province, taking the sportsman or tourist to surroundings unequalled for beauty of scenery and variety of sport.

Similar sanctuaries provide facilities for protection, and various lakes on the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island have been reserved as preserves for migratory birds.

Further conservation is effected by regulation of the seasons, and such strictures being opened for hunting as the conditions of the game from year to year warrant. On Queen Charlotte Islands, where hunting (except wild fowl) has been prohibited for a number of years, Scotch red deer imported from New Zealand and acclimatized in captivity have been liberated, and a small herd of elk with a view to re-establishing them in that part of the country.

GAME ANIMALS

The following are the principal species of big game to be found in the Province, taking the natural divisions of the Province:

West Coast—Coast deer, mountain-goat, bear and wapiti (elk).

Southern Interior—Caribou, mountain-sheep, mountain-goat, mule-deer, white-tail deer and bear.

The Kootenays—Moose, wapiti (elk), mountain-sheep, mountain-goat, mule-deer and bear.

Central Interior—Moose, caribou, mountain-sheep, mountain-goat, mule-deer and bear.

Northern Interior—Moose, caribou, mountain-sheep, mountain-goat and bear.

Peace River—Moose, caribou, mountain-sheep and bear.

MOOSE

This is the largest of all the deer family, on which evolution has made but slight change, and remains today the animal from which one of the grandest heads is obtainable.

Along the tributaries of the Stikine River the best heads are obtainable, but the hunter in the Cariboo district can be equally sure of heads that he may well be proud of.

WAPITI (ELK)

Authentic data records the enormous dimensions attained by the elk in ancient times, and the bull elk of to-day, dwarfed as he appears by comparison with the records of his kind, still presents a very noble spread of antlers—possibly the finest stag extant. His range, wide as it has been, has not prevented a depopulation, so rapid as to foreshadow eventual extermination in his natural haunts, or possibly a survival restricted only to park limits.

CARIBOU

Both Columbia may reasonably claim the caribou as an animal distinctly representative of the Province. Its habitat is high up, near the top and about the timber-line, and these animals have no difficulty in subsisting under severe weather conditions.

MOUNTAIN-SHEEP

A question for the hunter and the photographer to decide is, whether the big-horn affords a greater attraction to shoot with the camera or the rifle. Certainly, no protective measures should be overlooked to preserve from any chance of extermination this noble animal which inhabits the mountain of British Columbia. On the high peaks of the rugged mountains it finds a befitting home amongst the grandeur of the scenery, and the hunter who sights the big-horn is well rewarded for his arduous stalking.

MOUNTAIN GOAT

This singular animal is to be found on all the rocky slopes and exposed ridges of the mountains throughout the mainland of the Province. Up many of the long inlets on the coast and in the Rockies and Selkirk he is easily hunted, though not particularly sought after as a trophy or for his skin. Usually no difficulty is experienced in approaching goats, which, whether by mountain or in difference, seem to fall to realize danger. November is the best month for hunting them, as their coats are then prime.

MULE-DEER

The wide range of the mule-deer, throughout the central and southern interior and the Kootenays, affords convenient opportunity to sportsmen, though presenting the difficulty of the average hunter, preferring as they do a dry, open country, and moving about the Summer feeding grounds on the uplands to the great timber areas of the lower country with the advent of the first heavy snow. Their numbers are multiple to considerable variation and beauty of spread.

WHITE-TAIL DEER

In the Kootenays and low-lying hills to the east of the Coast Range these deer are fairly plentiful, their habitat being between the river-bottoms in thick brush.

COAST OR COLUMBIA DEER

These deer afford the chief supply of venison in the more settled districts on the West Coast, including the islands, and are numerous, smaller than the interior deer, they frequent the thick woods, browsing on all manner of shrubs, and at times frequent the cultivated fields of settlers.

GRIZZLY BEAR

The grizzly bear—the source of endless stories—is confined to the mainland of the Province, and is to be found in the various districts in color right through to the northern districts, and particularly in the Selkirk and Rockies, which are his principal haunts.

BLACK BEAR

The black bear is found throughout the Province, including Vancouver Island, and is very common on the West Coast. Berry-feeders by nature, they are abundant in the wild fruits of British Columbia, which later in the year the slamon afford them an easy opportunity of obtaining food. They leave their dens earlier than the grizzlies, and not much difficulty is experienced in hunting them from any of the well-known hunting points.

Protection has again been afforded, there being a closed season for bear hunting throughout the Province for the months of July and August.

GAME BIRDS

The principal game birds obtainable in the different parts of British Columbia are:

West Coast—Blue and ruffed grouse, ducks, geese, snipe, pheasants, partridges and quail.

Southern Interior—Grouse of all kinds, prairie-chicken, ducks, geese, snipe, pheasants and quail.

The Kootenays—Grouse of all kinds, prairie-chicken, ducks, geese and snipe.

Northern Interior—Ptarmigan, blue and ruffed grouse, geese and ducks.

Peace River—Ptarmigan, blue and ruffed grouse, prairie chicken, geese and ducks.

PTARMIGAN

These birds are found in great numbers in the Northern Interior and the Peace River, always about the snow-line on the mountain-sides. In the neighborhood of Atlin and throughout the Cassiar district large quantities are to be found about the last of September and the first week of October.

BLUE GROUSE

Commonly known in British Columbia as the "hooper", are to be found throughout the entire Province, especially in the Central and Southern Interior and the West Coast, including the islands. In the early Fall they afford the best sport, as they live on berries in the ravines and valleys at the foot of the mountains, a little later migrating to the highest points of the surrounding country or to the tops of the tall fir trees and living almost entirely on buds and pine-tree needles, during which time they are not of very great value as food, their flesh being more or less unpalatable.

RUFFED GROUSE

These birds, commonly known as the "willow grouse", are plentiful throughout the Province, the Central and Southern Interior. Considerable numbers are found in the valley of the Fraser River and in the vicinity of streams and bottom lands on Vancouver and other islands. Living principally on berries and wild crabapples, while singularly confident in the woods, they later afford excellent sport for the hunter.

PRAIRIE CHICKEN (SHARP-TAILED GROUSE)

A few years ago the prairie chicken abounded in the Lillooet, Kamloops and Cariboo districts, but for some unaccountable reason (possibly disease) these birds have become very scarce, though they are showing a marked improvement in some parts and should eventually become quite numerous.

DUCKS

Ducks of almost every variety are to be found in the lakes and marshes throughout British Columbia, the Northern Interior and Peace River districts affording the best breeding grounds, although quite a number breed in the valleys of the Fraser and Thompson Rivers and the marshes tributary to many of the rivers of the northern portion of the Province. Locally-bred birds afford the sportsman excellent shooting during the month of October, at the end of which time they start on their southern journey. November brings the first flight of northern birds through feeding and resting grounds throughout the entire valley of the Lower Fraser: River and Coast inlets.

GEESE

Nearly all varieties of wild geese visit the different marshes and lakes, especially in the Kootenays, the Lillooet, and Cariboo districts of the Southern and Central Interior, and in the lowlands of the mainland coast. The Canada goose, commonly known as the "honker", which should be called "Canada's national bird", is more plentiful than any other variety; these birds breed in large numbers in the Peace River district and in the various inlets on the West Coast, particularly the northern end of Vancouver Island.

SNIPES

The Wilson snipe and the Yellow-legs are found on the lowlands of the Coast districts in the early Fall, affording the best shooting in the month of October, as they migrate after a few days of cold weather.

PHEASANTS

These birds were first introduced on Vancouver Island in the year 1852, and now abound in the Lower Fraser River Valley and on Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands. They have become numerous throughout the farming districts in the southern portion of the Province, and are well established, affording excellent sport for the hunter, and especially appealing to the residents, whose time for shooting is in the majority of cases somewhat limited. As the population of the cities increased it has been found necessary to replenish the stock of these birds from time to time, and in consequence, in the year 1918, a large pheasant-breeding farm was established at Colquitz, and later another near Cedar Hill, both near Victoria, from which the various districts are restocked. Several thousand birds can be liberated annually from these farms, and it is intended to increase the output as circumstances warrant. Successful experiments have been made in the introduction of these birds into other districts of the Province, where heretofore it had been thought that on account of the climatic conditions they would not thrive—even in the Cariboo and as far north as Prince Rupert and Prince George.

EUROPEAN PARTRIDGES

In 1864 these birds were introduced and liberated in the Fraser Valley, and on Vancouver Island a few years later. They have done fairly well, but require the introduction of new blood. Efforts are being made to propagate them in the Southern Interior and in the Kootenays.

QUAIL

From time to time various varieties of quail have been imported and liberated in different parts of the Province, but experiments have established the fact that the California Valley quail are the only species that will thrive in British Columbia. Vancouver Island, owing to the topography of the country, affords most wonderful entertainment in the shooting of these birds.
