COMPILED BY GRACE GARDNER GRIFFIN.

PREFACE.

The annual bibliography which follows is the sixteenth number of a continuous series opening with 1906. A volume entitled Writings on American History, 1902, prepared by Professor Ernest C. Richardson, librarian of Princeton University, and Mr. Anson Ely Morse, was published at Princeton in 1904. A volume upon a plan more like the present, Writings on American History, 1903, prepared by Professor Andrew C. McLaughlin, Mr. William A. Slade, and Mr. Ernest D. Lewis, under the auspices of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, was published by that institution at Washington in 1905. After an interval followed the series, Writings on American History, 1906, 1907, and 1908, prepared by Miss Grace Gardner Griffin, and originally published by the Macmillan Company (New York, 1908, 1909, 1910).

Independent publication ceased for a time with the volume for 1908. Beginning with the volume for 1909, though the preparation of the material continued to be provided for by subscription, the printing and publication of the annual bibliography was assumed by the American Historical Association. In its Annual Reports for 1909, 1910, 1911, bibliographies of the material published in those years were included. The Yale University Press, with much public spirit, took up at this point the publication of the series, and issued as independent volumes the bibliographies for 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, and 1917. Publication by that concern having ended, the plan of incorporating this annual survey in the Annual Reports was resumed, and the bibliographies for 1918, 1919, and 1920 were incorporated, as supplementary volumes, in the Annual Reports for those years. A similar procedure is followed with this bibliography for 1921.

To those who desire to have complete sets of the volumes hitherto published, it may be useful to know that the volume for 1902 can still be obtained from the library of Princeton University, that for 1903 from the Carnegie Institution of Washington, while those for 1906, 1907, 1908 (independent volumes), and bound "separates" of those for 1909, 1910, and 1911, and the volumes for 1918, 1919, and 1920 can be obtained from the secretary of the American Historical Association.

The ensuing pages have been prepared upon the same system as in the preceding volumes. The intention of the compiler has been to include all books and articles, however brief, which contain anything of value to the history of the United States and of British North America. With respect to the regions lying south of the continental United States, however, and to the Pacific islands, the intention has been to include all writings on the history of these regions published in the United States or Europe; but the product (not relating to the United States) of South America and other southward regions has been left to their own bibliographers. New editions of books, if they contain no new material, have not been noticed. When no other date of publication is given, the date is 1921. The annotations have been confined to explanations of titles which seem to need explanation; or analyses of contents (in many cases taken from the catalogue cards of the Library of Congress), when analyses seemed requisite; or mention of critical appraisals in a few journals whose criticisms have value.

A topical arrangement has been followed. As a rule, the books and articles in any division are arranged alphabetically by the authors' names. In a few cases another arrangement appeared to be more helpful; in the case of biography and genealogy the subject of the book or article determines the alphabetical arrangement.

In the compilation of the material, performed at the Library of Congress, Miss Griffin has had most obliging assistance from Mr. Appleton P. C. Griffin, Chief Assistant Librarian, and the Librarian, Dr. Herbert Putnam, has kindly afforded her every facility for her work.

Meanwhile the preparation of the manuscript, as distinguished from the printing and publication, has from 1906 to the present time been sustained by a group of subscribers consisting of various historical societies and individuals, the present list being the following: The American Catholic Historical Association, the American Historical Association, the Chicago Historical Society, the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Florida Historical Society, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, the Illinois State Historical Library, the Iowa State Historical Society, the Massachusetts Historical Society, the Michigan Historical Commission, the Minnesota State Historical Society, the New York Historical Society, the Oregon Historical Society, the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, Mr. Charles Altschul, Mrs. Washington E. Connor, Professor Henry W. Farnam, Mr. Edwin F. Greene, Mr. Stewart L. Mims, Mr. Henry C. Morris, Mr. Irving B. Richman, Professor W. H. Siebert, and Mr. John B. Stetson, jr.

- Thayer, William Roscoe. Pen portraiture in seventeenth century colonial historians. AM. ANTIQ. SOC. PROC., n. s. XXXI, pt. 1, 61-69. [145]
A discussion of the written descriptions in the seventeenth century of some of the old colonial personages, having reference not merely to the pen-portraits of externals—of features and of bodies—but of men's characters. Considers in particular the character sketches found in the writings of Bradford, Winthrop, and Cotton Mather, and points out that these pen-portraits represent certain generic types but not individuals.
- Thayer, William Roscoe. Vagaries of historians. AM. HIST. ASSOC. REP., for 1918, I, 75-88. [146]
Personal address prepared to be read before the American historical association, at Cleveland, Dec. 28, 1918. Reprinted from the American historical review, v. XXIV, January, 1919.
The writer suggests that "if he [the historian] must have some watchword to guide him, let that watchword be 'Man the measure'—man, not the laws which apply to the animal kingdom, or to unthinking and soulless matter. Human nature is the substance in which the historian must work."

Abendanon, E. C. An important atlas in the British museum. GEOG. JOUR., LVII (Apr.) 284-289. [385]

Describes an atlas (no. 1513 Bibl. Egerton) consisting of 78 charts of the coasts of both hemispheres, dated 1587, and attributed to an otherwise unknown French pilot named Pasterot. The author suggests that the atlas may be the map of the world made by Jean Clamorgan, lost from the Fontainebleau library, though given in the inventory of 1682; or, it may be the work of Macé Jalobert, lieutenant of Jacques Cartier.

Bernard Christian Steiner, editor. Baltimore: Maryland historical society. xx, 606 p. (Archives of Maryland, XL) [735

"The period covered by this volume is one which tried Ogle's skill as governor and his action in regard to the proceedings of the legislature furnishes a good illustration of the truth of Osgood's words (American colonies in the seventeenth century, III, 314): 'The British colonial system was Roman and feudal, that is provincial in character,' and the 'forces which were moulding it after this model came necessarily and at once into conflict with the democratic and separatist tendencies which were inherent in colonial life. The central thread of our colonial history is to be found in the record of that conflict.'" cf. Letter of transmission: p. iii.

- Boit, John. John Boit's log of the Columbia—1790-1793. ORE. HIST. SOC. QUAR., XXII (Dec.) 257-351. [1111
Annotations by F. W. Howay and T. C. Elliott. Introduction by F. G. Young.
The original log was presented to the Massachusetts historical society in 1919, and is printed in the Proceedings of that society, v. LIII, 1920, without the annotations and introduction here given.
The log was kept by John Boit of Boston, on the second fur trading voyage of the "Columbia" from Boston to the northwest coast of America and China, during the course of which the Columbia river was first entered, and named. That portion of it recording the movements of the ship while on the northwest coast (June 4 to Oct. 8, 1791) is reprinted in the Washington historical quarterly, v. XII, no. 1 (no. 1112 below).
- Boit, John. A new log of the Columbia by John Boit. WASH. HIST. QUAR., XII (Jan.) 3-50. [1112
Introduction and notes by Edmond S. Meany.
The original document has recently (1919) been presented to the Massachusetts historical society, and is published in v. LIII (1920) of the Proceedings of that society.
Boit was fifth officer of the ship "Columbia" on her trading voyage to the Northwest coast in 1791, in the course of which the Columbia river was first entered, and named. Only that portion of the log covering the period on the Northwest coast (from June 4 to Oct. 8, 1791) and chronicling the discoveries and experiences during that time is here given.

- Dunn, Jacob P. An historical detective story. MISS. VALLEY HIST. REV., extra number (Nov.) 230-259. [1118]
A solution of the mystery in connection with the lawsuit of Thomas Forsyth and John Kinzie, merchants of Chicago, v. Jeffrey Nash, negro, in which the plaintiffs sought to recover possession of the negro who had escaped to Louisiana, the decision of the Louisiana court in 1816 being adverse to the plaintiffs, on the ground that slavery was prohibited in the Northwest Territory. From the evidence examined the writer concludes that, in spite of the provision in the Ordinance of 1787 prohibiting slavery, nevertheless it was to some extent legal in the Territory.
- Elliott, T. C. The origin of the name Oregon. ORE. HIST. SOC. QUAR., XXII (June)-91-115. [1119]
Supplements the article on "The strange case of Jonathan Carver and the name Oregon" by the same writer in v. XXI, no. 4 of this Quarterly. The first known mention of the name Oregon (Ouragou or Ourigon) is made in Carver's "Travels through the interior parts of North America," published in London in 1778. Includes copies of several documents, 1765-1773, from the Public record office, London, in regard to the explorations of Captain Robert Rogers and Captain Jonathan Carver in the far Northwest.

Hoskins, Halford L. French views of the Monroe doctrine and the Mexican expedition. HISPANIC AM. HIST. REV., IV (Nov.) 677-689. [2170]

The armed invasion of Mexico by the French is taken as a striking case to show the attitude of European states towards the Monroe doctrine, not only because it was the only thorough violation of the Monroe doctrine, but also because it was instituted by a combination of the three European colonizing powers; England, France, and Spain. This intervention was the only successful attempt ever made by a foreign state to plant a colony in America against the will of an Hispanic American state.

- Hoskins, Halford L. French views of the Monroe doctrine and the Mexican expedition. HISPANIC AM. HIST. REV., IV (Nov.) 677-689. [3140]
 The armed invasion of Mexico by the French is taken as a striking case to show the attitude of European states towards the Monroe doctrine, not only because it was the only thorough violation of the Monroe doctrine, but also because it was instituted by a combination of the three European colonizing powers; England, France, and Spain. This intervention was the only successful attempt ever made by a foreign state to plant a colony in America against the will of an Hispanic American state.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

FOR

THE YEAR 1922

SUPPLEMENT

WRITINGS ON AMERICAN HISTORY, 1922

COMPILED BY GRACE GARDNER GRIFFIN

WASHINGTON
GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE
1925

PREFACE

The annual bibliography which follows is the seventeenth number of a continuous series opening with 1906. A volume entitled Writings on American History, 1902, prepared by Prof. Ernest C. Richardson, librarian of Princeton University, and Mr. Anson Ely Morse, was published at Princeton in 1904. A volume upon a plan more like the present, Writings on American History, 1903, prepared by Prof. Andrew C. McLaughlin, Mr. William A. Slade, and Mr. Ernest D. Lewis, under the auspices of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, was published by that institution at Washington in 1905. After an interval followed the series, Writings on American History, 1906, 1907, and 1908, prepared by Miss Grace Gardner Griffin, and originally published by the Macmillan Company (New York, 1908, 1909, 1910).

Independent publication ceased for a time with the volume for 1908. Beginning with the volume for 1909, though the preparation of the material continued to be provided for by subscription, the printing and publication of the annual bibliography was assumed by the American Historical Association. In its Annual Reports for 1909, 1910, 1911, bibliographies of the material published in those years were included. The Yale University Press, with much public spirit, took up at this point the publication of the series, and issued as independent volumes the bibliographies for 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, and 1917. Publication by that concern having ended, the plan of incorporating this annual survey in the Annual Reports was resumed, and the bibliographies for 1918, 1919, 1920, and 1921 were incorporated, as supplementary volumes, in the Annual Reports for those years. A similar procedure is followed with this bibliography for 1922.

To those who desire to have complete sets of the volumes hitherto published, it may be useful to know that the volume for 1902 can still be obtained from the library of Princeton University, that for 1903 from the Carnegie Institution of Washington, while those for 1906, 1907, 1908 (independent volumes), and bound "separates" of those for 1909, 1910, and 1911, and the volumes for 1918, 1919, 1920, and 1921 can be obtained from the secretary of the American Historical Association.

The ensuing pages have been prepared upon the same system as in the preceding volumes. The intention of the compiler has been to include all books and articles, however brief, which contain anything of value to the history of the United States and of British North America. With respect to the regions lying south of the continental United States, however, and to the Pacific islands, the intention has been to include all writings on the history of these regions published in the United States or Europe; but the product (not relating to the United States) of South America and other southward regions has been left to their own bibliographers. New editions of books, if they contain no new material, have not been noticed. When no other date of publication is given, the date is 1922. The annotations have been confined to explanations of titles which seem to need explanation; or analyses of contents (in many cases taken from the catalogue cards of the Library of Congress) when analyses seemed requisite; or mention of critical appraisals in a few journals whose criticisms have value.

A topical arrangement has been followed. As a rule, the books and articles in any division are arranged alphabetically by the authors' names. In a few cases another arrangement appeared to be more helpful; in the case of biography and genealogy the subject of the book or article determines the alphabetical arrangement.

In the compilation of the material, performed at the Library of Congress, Miss Griffin has had most obliging assistance from Mr. Appleton P. C. Griffin, Chief Assistant Librarian, and the Librarian, Dr. Herbert Putnam, has kindly afforded her every facility for her work.

Meanwhile the preparation of the manuscript, as distinguished from the printing and publication, has from 1906 to the present time been sustained by a group of subscribers consisting of various historical societies and individuals, the present list being the following: The American Catholic Historical Association, the American Historical Association, the Chicago Historical Society, the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Florida Historical Society, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, the Illinois State Historical Library, the Iowa State Historical Society, the Massachusetts Historical Society, the Michigan Historical Commission, the Minnesota State Historical Society, the New York Historical Society, the Oregon Historical Society, the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, Mr. Charles Altschul, Mrs. Washington E. Connor, Professor Henry W. Farnam, Mr. Edwin F. Greene, Mr. Albert Matthews, Mr. Stewart L. Mims, Mr. Henry C. Morris, Mr. Irving B. Richman, Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, Professor W. H. Siebert, and Mr. John B. Stetson, jr.

Wright, George William. The origin of the prehistoric mounds of Oregon. ORE. HIST. SOC. QUAR., XXIII (June) 87-94. [215]

"It is appropriate to show the probable relationship of the mound builders of Oregon to the primitively ancient people of northeastern Asia and Japan, who existed there prior to the bronze and iron age. In other words, the things exhumed from the Willamette and Calipooia mounds are clearly products of the Neolithic age; and the skulls and relics therein found indicate a relationship to a people anterior to the modern Mongolian."

CONTENTS.—Hypothèses diverses. L'homme américain, ce qui le caractérise. Origine ethnique de l'homme américain. Les trois races typiques: noire, jaune et blanche. Les anciennes voies de communication entre les deux mondes. Le lieu et la date du passage de la race jaune en Amérique. L'ordre des migrations asiatiques en Amérique. Conclusions et récapitulation.

The writer concludes that the Indians of the New world came originally from northern Asia, that in America they became a distinct and separate branch of the great yellow race, and developed an individual civilization different from that of their Asiatic habitation.

"Peter Martyr de Anghera may be said to have composed the matter in this little book, writing it in Latin from a series of letters addressed by him to various noted personages. These letters were written immediately after the events they describe . . . This work was put into its present narrative form some time prior to the summer of . . . 1501 . . . Angelo Trivigiano . . . translated it into the Venetian dialect . . . The manuscript went into print in April, 1504, and, except for the interjection by Trivigiano of the few words describing the personal appearance of Columbus, the work is Peter Martyr's own. The 'Libretto' is the first collection of voyages ever printed. It contains . . . the first three voyages of Columbus . . . [and] the one made by Pero Alonso Niño . . . in 1499 and 1500 . . . [and the one made by] Vincentianes called Pinzone and Aries his brother . . . in 1499[-1500]"—Thacher, Christopher Columbus, 1903. v. I, p. 439-440, 454, 510.
