BRIEF SUMMARY OF HISTORY

—OF—

14th REGIMENT, MAINE INFANTRY.

Rendezvoused at Augusta, Me., fall of 1861. Mustered into service as a Regiment, Dec. 31, 1861. Embarked by rail for Boston, en route for Ship Island, Gulf of Mexico, Feb. 6, 1862. Sailed from Boston Feb. 8, on sailing ship North America.

Landed at Ship Island March 8, 1862. Embarked in May on Ship Premier, for New Orleans. Went into camp at Freret's Cotton Press, N. O. Removed to Lafayette Square. Capt. W. D. Chase, Co. D, detailed to superintend erection of gallows for hanging of Mumford, the rebel who hauled down the Union flag. Regiment under arms on occasion of that execution.

Capt. Barnard (and his Co., A,) detailed and served in command of Provost guard while Regt. was in N. O.

Capt. Trask detailed, with 100 men, on expedition on armed steamer Saxon, to Bayou Plaquemine, to capture steamer Whiteman; expedition successful.

About 400 men discharged at N. O. for disability, and others enlisted in their stead, known thereafter as the New Orleans men; most excellent men, embracing representatives of all the then modern battle-fields.

Early in July, proceeded by steamer Louisiana Belle to Baton Rouge. When about to embark, a professional negro hunter appeared with a deed of Private McRae, of Co. C, (a New Orleans man,) who fell in the "forefront" at Port Hudson, claiming him as a slave. (Till then, no one suspected that he had a drop of negro blood in his veins.) The slave hunter was induced to make himself scarce.

Went into quarters at U. S. barracks, Baton Rouge; then went into camp at junction of Bayou Sara and Clinton roads.

Engaged in "Battle of Baton Rouge" Aug. 5, '62; losing heavily in killed and wounded. Regiment thanked for its bravery by Gen. Butler, in general orders. A large number of our wounded were drowned while en route to New Orleans, soon after the battle, by the sinking of steam transport "Whiteman," in collision with a Federal gun-boat.

At evacuation of Baton Rouge in fall of '62, proceeded to Carrollton and went into Camp in orange grove in rear of levee.

Then removed to Camp Lewis, and were, with the 21st Indiana, 4th Wisconsin and 6th Michigan Regiments, constituted the "Veteran Brigade," Col. Paine commanding. Made short expedition up the river to St. James Court House, capturing supplies.

Moved to Camp Williams, an infernal death-trap. Then went into camp just in rear of Carrollton. Proceeded by Steamer Algerine to Bonnet Carre early in '63. In camp there till May. Maintained outpost at Lake Pontchartrain, commanded by Capt. Trask, who captured rebel paymaster with upwards of $20,000 in good money, and a large quantity of quinine.

This force made an expedition to Pontchachoula, which met with a determined resistance, in which the enemy was entirely routed.

Made two expeditions to Amite river, via Doyle's plantation. Sharp fighting on both occasions. During last of these expeditions, ordered to Port Hudson via Baton Rouge. Made forced march to Port Hudson, reaching there May 22, '63. Engaged in assaults of May 27 and June 14, and siege operations at Port Hudson.

During this Siege, a large number of the Regiment, both officers and privates, volunteered in the assaulting column of one thousand men, known as the "Forlorn Hope," in which Lieut. Col. Bickmore was in command of one wing. In Aug., '63, marched to Baton Rouge; went into camp across the bayou above the town.

Embarked on Steamer North America for Algiers; transferred there to ship W. T. Wentworth (in tow) for Sabine Pass, Texas. Returned thence to Algiers and proceeded by rail to Berwick Bay. Marched thence via Franklin, New Iberia and Vermillionville to Opelousas. Marched back to New Iberia, went into permanent camp; Regiment re-enlisted there.

Marched thence to Franklin and encamped. Thence by Steamer Red Chief to Berwick Bay, and thence by rail to Algiers; crossed to New Orleans and prepared for veteran furlough.

During this Teche campaign, Co. G, Capt. Hobbs, and D, Capt. Wiswell, were detailed by General Orders and served as Head Quarters Guard.

Embarked for New York on steamer Arago; thence by steamer Katahdin to Fall River, thence by rail to Augusta, where 30 day furloughs were granted, Rendezvoused at Augusta at expiration of furlough, and were tendered a banquet in rotunda of capital; address made by Gov. Coney.

Proceeded by rail to Portland, and embarked on Steamer Merrimac in March, '64, for New Orleans. Went into camp at Carrolton, then proceeded by steam'r Geo. Peabody to Baton Rouge and encamped. Next proceeded by steamer Starlight to Morganzia bend and encamped; taking part in the erection of heavy earth-works, as also in expedition to Mount Adams, Miss.

Ordered to proceed by Steamer Magenta to Algiers, preparatory to embarking on a secret expedition.

Went into camp at Algiers, and there exchanged our Austrian for Springfield rifles. Embarked under sealed orders, (four Companies on Str. T. A. Scott, and six Companies on steamer Tillie; destination was Fortress Monroe for orders; then up James River to Bermuda Hundreds, where we disembarked and joined Gen. Butler's forces, upon the right bank of the James river. Engaged in expedition to Deep Bottom at time of mine explosion at Petersburg. Sharp skirmishing all the time; retired in the night, by orders.

Orders to march by night to Bermuda Hundreds and embark for Washington to meet Early's forces. proceeded from Bermuda Hundreds to Washington by steamer Elcid. Embarked on cars for Frederick, Md.; order then countermanded; proceeded to Tenallytown and went into camp.

Marched thence (Gen. Grover's Division,) via Leesburg Turnpike and Snicker's Gap to Shenandoah Valley; forded Shenandoah river just at dark and effected junction with Gen'l Sheridan in the night at Berryville. Fell back next day to Charlestown, and fortified. Army retired to Halltown Heights, Grover's Division acting as rear guard, and following in the night. Intrenched at Halltown.

(While at Charlestown, the 14th was detailed to guard train to and from Harper's Ferry, then the hunting ground of Mosby.)

Constant skirmishing at Halltown for several days, till Early retired. Advanced to Berryville and fortified. Heavy skirmishing for several days, till Early retired.

Visit of Gen'l Grant, Sept. 17 and 18. At 2 A.M., Sept. 19, marched for Winchester and acted our part there in battle of the 19th (Opequan). Severe loss, including Lieuts. Jackman of I, and Godwin of H, killed, and Capts. Hobbs of G, Worster of E, and Gardner of I severely wounded and permanently disabled.

Sept. 20, advanced to Fisher's Hill, and engaged in operations there, ending in routing of Early's forces. Engaged in close pursuit of Early to Mount Crawford, above Harrisonburg. Retired to Harrisonburg and encamped for some time. Retired to Cedar Creek, where we encamped and intrenched.

Oct. 19, attacked by Early on our extreme left. Our Division was under arms before the attack; fighting was hot, but not well managed. Retreated five miles. After Sheridan's arrival, re-formed lines and moved to the attack, routed Early utterly, and re-occupied our former position. Loss in the 14th very heavy, more than one-third, including killed, wounded and prisoners. Among the killed was Lt. Col. Bickmore, who fell early in the day, lamented by every man in the Regiment.

Sept. 20, advanced to Strasburg; then fell back to Cedar Creek; and in November retired to near Winchester and fortified Camp Russell, so-called. At this place the Regiment was made part of a detached Brigade and proceeded to Martinsburg, guarding a supply train. Remained in the defences of Martinsburg some days, then returned to Camp Russell. At this place occurred the separation of the re-enlisted and non re-enlisted men, the latter proceeding as a Regiment, by order of Gen'l Sheridan, to Harper's Ferry, where they turned over their arms, and thence proceeded to Augusta, Me., where they were finally mustered out. The re-enlisted men were organized into four companies.

In early spring of '65, proceeded by rail to Baltimore and embarked by Steamer for Savannah, Ga., where they were joined by six companies of recruits and a fine band, and were re-organized as a full Regiment.

From there marched to Augusta, Ga., and was there at the time Jeff Davis arrived, a detail of the Regiment, under command of Lt. Joseph W. Grant, Co. A, guarding Davis from there to Fortress Monroe. Marched from Augusta to Savannah. Proceeded by Steamer Resolute to Darien, Ga.

The Regiment returned to Maine in September, 1865, and was mustered out at Augusta, Me., Sept. 23 of that year.

In conclusion, it may be said that the Regiment was always at the front after it reached the Dept. of the Gulf. Its history is marred by no blot whatever. Its discipline, obedience and drill were always of the best. In whatever command serving, it was known to the commanding general as a regiment always to be relied upon, and was often detailed for duty such as only the most reliable troops could be entrusted with. Its losses were heavy from many causes incident to the service, including severity of climate and unfit food in the first year of its service. And no regiment is better entitled to have its achievements embalmed in a volume which shall go down to posterity as a portion of the history of the great war in which it bore so honorable a part.

THE FOURTEENTH MAINE AT PORTLAND.

The Fourteenth Maine Regiment held their annual meeting at their club house at Long Island, Portland harbor, Aug. 7th. About fifty attended, and all enjoyed a sumptuous dinner, after which several speeches of interesting and sometimes humorous nature were delivered. At the conclusion of the dinner all adjourned to the hall, where the following officers for the ensuing year were elected:

President, Charles Barnard, Chelsea, Mass.

• First Vice President, J. W. Porter, Bangor.

Second Vice President, Col. T. W. Porter, Boston.

Third Vice President, Capt. George Blodgett, Bucksport.

Secretary and Treasurer, Gen. Samuel J. Gallagher, Augusta.

Executive Committee, E. L. Clark, Chelsea, Mass.; Stuart Worster, Woodfords; Joseph W. Grant, Bangor.

Finance Committee, E. H. Lyford, Vinalhaven; Willard Carver, Livermore; F. D. Mixer, Auburn.

Drum Major, John Derelin, Auburn.

A general afternoon of a sociable nature followed with impromptu music, remarks, etc.

The Fourteenth was mustered into service Dec. 31, 1861. Its engagements included the battle of Baton Rouge, Aug. 5, 1862, at which the Regiment was thanked by Gen. Butler for bravery; two expeditions to Amite river, the assaults on and siege of Port Hudson, and many minor engagements in the department of the Gulf. It was constantly at the front and saw three years of hard service. A history and roster of the Regiment published by the Secretary, Willard Carver, in 1891, shows that 43 of the survivors then lived in Waldo county.

This roster is not expected to be perfect, and can only be made so by the active co-operation of all members of the Association, who can give names and addresses of comrades who do not appear in the roster, which has only been brought to its present degree of completeness by the expenditure of time, patient effort and extended correspondence.
