GLENDALE PAYS TRIBUTE TO HERO DEAD!

REPUBLICAN SQUABBLES THREATEN HARMONY

President's Defeats at Hands of Own Party Rousing Bitter Feelings

By DAVID LAWRENCE Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright 1924 WASHINGTON, May 30.—President Coolidge's several defeats at the hands of his own party in Congress have stirred up bitter feeling inside the Republican organization.

The difficulty arises out of the fact that many of the president's friends are keenly disappointed that the Republican leaders in Congress have not been able to put through the administration program, and many of them have individually deserted him, thus giving the impression that Mr. Coolidge's leadership of his party is ineffective.

In his first address to Congress, the president set forth the platform on which his pre-convention campaign has been based, and he regards the overwhelming vote for him in the primaries as an endorsement of his ideas. Yet Congress, and particularly a large number of his own party, is diametrically opposed to those planks. The president outlined his position typically in his first message, and here is what has happened since:

What Has Happened Foreign Affairs—Recommendation by the president that the Japanese exclusion provision be modified or its operation postponed until a treaty could be negotiated with Japan. Refused by both houses of Congress and exclusion provision inserted in the bill.

World Court—Recommendation in favor of present world court created by League of Nations. Report by Senate foreign relations committee, endorsed by Senator Lodge, Republican leader, and other prominent members of party, ignoring original recommendation and proposing new plan which Mr. Coolidge has said was not practical.

Taxation—The president endorsed the plan of the secretary of the treasury, Andrew W. Mellon.

Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs to Meet There for 1925 Session

FRESNO, Cal., May 30.—Seattle, Wash., is the new convention city of the Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs association, following its selection at the conclusion of the annual meeting of the organization here. The meeting ended with a banquet and carnival dance after a four-day session.

Lloyd Spencer of Seattle, the new president, was elected following a spirited contest with Marshall Dana of Portland, whose name was finally withdrawn, making Spencer the unanimous choice.

Praise Officials for Winning Plague Fight

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—Indicating that the federal government considers the hoof and mouth disease in California under control, Dr. U. G. Houck, chief of the federal forces here, has received the following wire from Secretary of Agriculture Wallace: "Gratifying news all diseased herds under ground just received. Congratulations to you and all of the state and federal co-workers, for the winning fight being waged against numerous and great obstacles."

PERMITS TO PASS 1923 FIGURES

Building Totals for First Five Months to Set Record, Is Claim

The total of building permits issued in Glendale during the first five months of 1924 will equal, if not exceed, those of the corresponding months of 1923!

This was the announcement made last night by H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent, after the close of the day's business.

Refute Propaganda Thus does Glendale give direct refutation to all stories of depression and business stagnation which her enemies would broadcast over the entire country in a vain effort to stop the influx of easterners and Californians irresistibly attracted to "The Fastest Growing City in America."

The amount of applications for building permits during the month of May last night totaled $802,864, of which $117,490 came in yesterday.

Compares Figures This brings the total for the year to $4,232,807, which is only $19,252 below the total on June 1, 1923. As there still remains Saturday morning in which to issue permits this month, the total for last year will probably be swept into the discard along with all other records which Glendale has established in the past.

Not only in the total, but in the permits issued each month does this year exceed 1923, as for

TWO MEN REVEAL STORY OF BLAST

Inside Information Given to Keyes on Aqueduct Dynamite Outrage

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—Information of great importance concerning the recent dynamiting of the Los Angeles aqueduct was obtained yesterday by District Attorney Asa Keyes in a secret conference with two men whose identity was closely guarded.

Because of the nature of the revelations said to have been made by the two men, who were reported to have been on the "inside" of the dynamiting plot, Keyes is expected to place the investigation in the hands of United States Attorney Joseph Burke this morning.

Fear Vengeance The two witnesses were closeted with Keyes, City Attorney Jess Stephens and Investigator Jack Dymond and lengthy depositions are said to have been taken. Both men, it was declared, consented to appear before Keyes only upon full assurance that they would be safeguarded from possible vengeance.

GO TO CONVENTION SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—More than 300 members of the Islam Temple of the Mystic Shrine are en route to Kansas City to attend the fiftieth annual session of the order's imperial council on June 3, 4 and 5.

CLUB WOMEN RALLY FOR BIENNIAL MEETING

America and Foreign Nations Sending Delegates to Mammoth Assembly

By KATHERINE V. SINKS Of The Evening News Staff.

Women from all parts of the United States and from seventeen foreign countries are to gather in Los Angeles June 3 to 13 for the biennial of the General Federation of Women's clubs.

Twelve years ago the biennial was held in San Francisco and that was a great occasion, but the 1924 convention will be immeasurably greater and not merely because of the greater numbers in attendance.

Since that gathering in San Francisco in 1912 women have become oriented in their new duties of citizenship; they have seen the dream of two generations realized in the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment, and the World War has been fought.

In short, the world has progressed and new problems to be solved, new sacrifices to be made and new victories to be won are confronting American club women.

Peace Is Keynote "World Peace" is to be the dominating theme of the convention sessions, and it is a keynote that was sounded with emphasis by the General Federation president, Mrs. Thomas Gerald Winter.

With world peace as a nucleus of action the biennial is destined to be an epochal event in the great movement for peace.

In anticipation of the biennial

ARIZONA PERMITS ORANGES, LEMONS

Embargo Raised on Shipping Fruit Into State But Rules Are Strict

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 30.—Lifting of the embargo against California oranges and lemons has been authorized by Governor Hunt in a proclamation modifying the Arizona hoof and mouth quarantine regulations and setting forth conditions under which shipments of the fruit may be made.

Shipments of oranges and lemons will be permitted after midnight May 31, in carload lots only. The California department of agriculture will be asked to designate areas that have not been under the hoof and mouth disease quarantine and from such sections the fruit may be shipped.

Fruit must be grown, packed and shipped from such areas at least twenty miles from infected districts. Shipments must be packed in new boxes and shipped in fumigated cars and cars must be inspected and sealed by federal inspectors and the way bill accompanied by a certificate from the inspectors.

Persons in California desiring to ship oranges and lemons into Arizona must first make application to the Arizona state entomologist for permission. The point has been reached in the fight against the hoof and mouth disease, the proclamation declares, where lemons and oranges might safely be shipped under proper supervision.

Postpone Hearing of Trunk Murder Trial

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—The trial of Mrs. Margaret Willis, charged with the "trunk" murder of Dr. Benjamin B. Baldwin, was postponed until Monday to allow the defendant to recuperate following her collapse in court. Mrs. Willis, removed from a hospital to the county jail, was reported rapidly improving.

Lying in our National burying grounds, in God's green acres all over our United States and in the cemeteries of foreign lands are thousands of American boys who died before their time, in battle or because of war. They gave their lives for independence, to save the Union, to free the slaves, to liberate the oppressed, to make safe the seas and, as they were told, to end war forever.

If all was not accomplished for which they fought, it was no fault of theirs, for they gave their lives. Oh, the waste to the world in all this young manhood cut off without a chance to work out, each one, his destiny.

Rossiter Johnson, a writer of civil war times, mentioning some of the great men who came back from that war, said, "But where was young Ellsworth? Shot dead as soon as he crossed the Potomac. And Winthrop? Killed in his first battle with his best books unwritten. . ."

That is the great tragedy of war; potential greatness cut off before it has a chance to prove itself; our finest manhood annihilated before its destiny is accomplished; a power that might be the salvation of the world forced to destroy and be destroyed.

Will Irwin has written wonderfully of the Unknown Soldier. Not he who lies beneath the stately tomb at Arlington, nor any of the few whom other nations have honored, but the genius who was killed in the war before we knew that he might have become another Moses. "He it was whose vision would have found the formula by which men of different tribes, tongues and creeds may get along together and whose force of character would have fused that formula with life."

This Moses, Luther, Gladstone, Lincoln, Roosevelt died with many another who would have achieved greatness. They died for us. Circumstances kept us mediocre people at home while they went and fought and died. "Had war granted him forty more years," says Mr. Irwin, "we would have raised his sepulchre above that of kings." Why should we not do so anyway even though he did not live to achieve his great and wonderful destiny? He laid down his life and "greater love hath no man than this."

It seems a pity that we have in a measure lost the true meaning of Memorial day. If we have soldier graves of our own or if we belong to some patriotic organization, Decoration day means much to us. Otherwise, we are inclined to make a holiday of the time that has been set apart for a sacred Memorial. It is shameful to forget those who lie sleeping in death and those who are suffering a living death in hospitals all over our land because of war.

It makes no difference to our soldier dead whether or not we place flowers on their graves today. We cannot bring them back nor take away any of the suffering they once endured. It is for ourselves that we should celebrate Memorial Day; to guard against the calamity of being a forgetful and an ungrateful people.

Had our soldiers all lived to become great—poets, authors, statesmen, leaders of men—we should have honored them "above kings." They were all potentially great. We know not which among them might have been the Moses to lead the world out of the wilderness of hatred and strife which the last war did not destroy as we had hoped.

Let us honor them every one today with flowers for their graves and praise for their deeds. We can reverence those who died for us without extolling war. And in doing honor to our soldier dead we are purging ourselves of ingratitude, one of the most debasing in the whole category of sins.

And while we honor those who are sleeping let us not forget those who are suffering and hopeless because of the war. The payment of our debt to them must be no mere ceremonial but the offerings of material comforts, gratitude, brotherly love and cheer.

Seek Bandits After One Victim Is Shot

FRESNO, Cal., May 30.—Automobile bandits who shot and painfully wounded one victim and knocked another unconscious were being sought by police following robbery which netted them $100. Jack Francis received a severe scalp wound after he knocked one of the bandits down with his fist, by a wrench wielded by the other bandit. A. W. Pohl, Francis' companion, was shot in the leg.

Plan Party for Next Grunion Run, June 6

SEAL BEACH, May 30.—The Boosters Club of Seal Beach has arranged to greet an expected grunion run here on the night of June 6 with a brass band as a prelude to the opening of the amusement zone for the summer season on June 7. Free marshmallows and bonfires will also be provided for those who will help to welcome the little fish, according to Mayor Richards.

Would Prohibit Extra Motor Carrier Tax

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—Proponents of an initiative measure which would prohibit levying any tax on motor carriers in California in addition to four per cent gross receipts tax now in effect have filed petitions with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan carrying 52,000 signatures. Approximately 25,200 additional signatures must be obtained to place the measure on the November ballot.

High Winds Fan Fire In Northern Forests

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—Fanned by a stiff north wind which thus far has blocked efforts of fire fighters to stamp them out, five forest fires are raging in Placer and Eldorado counties, according to reports received by the State Board of Forestry here. State rangers have been dispatched to take charge of the situation.

PROGRAM OF MEMORIAL SERVICES READY TO PRESENT

Highest Honors for Those Who Gave Their Lives in Nation's Behalf

The official program for Memorial day exercises in Glendale will be found on page 3 of today's edition of The Evening News.

Glendale will today pay tribute to the fallen soldiers of all wars.

Flags will fly from a myriad staffs and thoughts throughout the city will turn to those who gave their lives that the nation might live.

In the morning and again in the afternoon, this patriotic feeling will find concrete expression in large parades sponsored by the American Legion, G. A. R. and other organizations whose ideal is the perpetuation of America's glory in arms.

In the morning Glendale will join with Burbank at 10:30 o'clock in decorating the graves of resting heroes at Grand View cemetery, in the northwest section, with Commanders J. A. Wilson and W. H. Adams of the Glendale and Burbank posts of the American Legion, respectively, in charge of the parade.

Arrange Program Past Commander T. M. Barrett of the General N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., and Comrade R. M. Taylor of the post will officiate at the graves, assisted by the Girl Scouts. The post ritual will be led by Commander T. C. Fuller of the G. A. R.

There will be many school children present at the morning exercises, and they will join in singing "America the Beautiful." Arden Ginery of the Glendale Union High school will deliver Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address," and Mrs. Leonora M. Skelton of the W. R. C. will, as patriotic instructor, offer a tribute to the fallen soldiers of all wars. Judge Ira Thompson of Los Angeles, representing the Inter-Post Council, will then speak. The exercises will conclude with the decoration of the symbolic grave and firing of a farewell volley, then "Taps."

SOCIAL EVENTS

Leaves for Trip

Mrs. N. P. Sherman of 1217 East Lexington drive was happy yesterday to receive a telegram from Wisconsin telling of the safe arrival of her mother, Mrs. M. M. Gear, who left Glendale last Sunday.

As a farewell honor for Mrs. Gear a group of her friends in the home missionary society of the First Methodist church, surprised her on the Saturday afternoon before her departure.

There were sixty in the company that arrived unexpected at the Sherman home for an informal social afternoon.

As a favored gift Mrs. Gear's friends presented her with a box of candied fruit.

Late in the afternoon Glen Hallik, violinist, and Miss Gertrude Cleophas, pianist, came down from the Tuesday Afternoon club fete at the Brand estate, and entertained Mrs. Gear and her guests with delightful music.

Mrs. Gear plans to spend six months visiting relatives and friends in the state of Wisconsin. Her former home was in Waukesha.

In Bungalow Home

Mrs. W. N. Kirkby opened her attractive bungalow home on 1872 Kirkby road Wednesday to members of the music department of the Whittier Women's club, of which she is a member. During her residence in Whittier she took an active part in this department of the club and so the members were most delighted to motor over to Glendale to enjoy the hospitality of her new home.

Assisting Mrs. Kirkby in receiving and entertaining was her mother-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Kirkby.

A buffet luncheon was served at noon and the afternoon was devoted to a business hour and a program given by the department members.

Resides in Utah

Miss Martha L. Dodson of 558 Vine street, leaves Sunday afternoon for Ogden, Utah, where she will become the bride of Wallace Moore on June 7, at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Shreck of that city.

Miss Dodson has been a resident of Glendale for several years, making her home with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Black. She has been employed by the J. A. Newton Electric company for the past three years.

After her marriage she will make her home in Ogden and will be greatly missed by her host of friends here.

Hold Food Sale

The Young Mothers' class of the Glendale Presbyterian church will hold a cooked food sale Saturday, May 31, at Williams' Dry Goods store, 103 North Brand boulevard, it is announced.

The sale will begin at 9 o'clock and continue throughout the day. Plans were made for a bazaar at chairman in charge, will be assisted by Mrs. Paul Lowry and other members of the class.

All members and friends are urged to patronize the sale. Delicious home-made cakes, pies, and other cooked foods will be available. The proceeds of this affair will be applied toward the general fund.

Gives Radio Party

An enjoyable radio party was given Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hearn Robinson at 451 Riverdale drive by the J. C. C. class of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church.

The affair was given to raise money for the building fund for an addition to the Sunday school room at the church.

There were over thirty-five class members and friends present to enjoy the radio concert and vocal solos by Miss Dona Wilson, accompanied by her sister, Miss Ethel Wilson.

Plan Dinner

At the meeting held yesterday afternoon by the members of St. Mark's Guild, plans were completed for the chicken dinner to be served June 5 in the Guild hall.

Mrs. W. J. Farbar, president of the Guild, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Frank England was appointed chairman of the dinner committee.

This affair will be open to all Glendaleans. The proceeds will be applied toward the Guild fund.

Other matters of importance were discussed during the meeting which were of interest to members only.

Plans Long Trip

Mrs. Harriet Hamilton of 327 West Garfield avenue is preparing to leave about June 8 for an extended trip east, going north by water to Seattle, and from there across to Lake Louise and Banff, making short stops at these resorts.

The months of July and August will be spent with relatives in Iowa and Illinois and Pennsylvania. In the late summer she will visit in Boston and vicinity and will make the return trip to California by water via Panama probably in October.

RABBI SEEKS AID FOR PAROLED MEN

Lions' Clubs Informed That 40 Men Await Liberty if Jobs Are Found

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—Declaring there are twenty men at present in San Quentin prison who could be paroled "if they had jobs," Dr. Rudolph I. Coffee of Temple Sinai, Oakland, made a strong appeal for more humanitarian treatment of men discharged from California penitentiaries, before the fourth district of the International Association of Lions' Clubs in annual session here.

The rabbi asked the cooperation of the organization in placing men released from prison in positions. He declared the clubs could render no greater service in uplift work than by helping "moral cripples," without friends or influence.

Following the action of the majority of members of the Kiwanis club at the meeting last week, the regular weekly luncheon of the club is being held today noon at the Harriet Mae Tea room instead of at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Following the meeting, the members will participate in the Memorial Day parade.

Reports of committees and the general discussion of business will be the order for the meeting. Plans for the annual picnic, to be held June 7 at the Perry Whiting ranch near La Crescenta, will be outlined. It will be in the nature of a Hi-Jinks with the baskets being auctioned off at 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Patriotic Assembly Is Staged at School

An impressive patriotic assembly, in observance of Memorial Day, was held at Glendale Avenue school Wednesday afternoon when the student body and faculty were addressed by members of the N. P. Banks' post, G. A. R., and W. R. C.

Appearing on the program were Mrs. Mary Bennett, president of the W. R. C., and Comrades U. H. Emerick and McWayne who spoke briefly of the significance of the observance of the national holiday. Comrade Geo. F. Le Clerc delivered the principal address. The program opened with the flag salute and singing was led by Miss Mildred Hughey.

PATRONS FOLLOW MOVE OF MURPHY

Throng's Crowd Big Tent as Comedians Stage Play at New Location

Throng's of play-goers last night christened the new location of Murphy's Comedians at North Brand boulevard and Stocker street, where "Nothing But the Truth" was again presented. The play will continue until Sunday, when "The Squash Head," another farce-comedy, will open up.

"Nothing But the Truth" tells what happens when a young man makes a wager to be strictly voracious for a given period. When asked pointed questions about the conduct of certain of the feminine gender in their set, he naturally tells the strict truth—with the result that several divorce suits threaten.

Desperate, certain of his friends resolve to kidnap him. What happens then furnishes plenty of excitement. Altogether the play is one of the funniest ever seen in Glendale.

Told to Face Enemy, Island Officer Quits

MANILA, May 30.—Rather than face the fanatical Colorums, Lieutenant Juan Dimson, of the Philippine Constabulary, resigned when ordered to proceed to Surigao at the head of a detachment detailed to cope with the fanatics. Upon receiving his orders, Dimson asked to be excused on account of a sick wife, but when his excuse was not accepted he handed in his resignation.

CLAIM OLDEST TWINS

KEENE, N. H., May 30.—The honor of having the oldest twins who served in the Civil War is the claim of this city.

They are Wilbur F. and William B. Chandler, who respectively observed their eighty-fourth birthday anniversary. They are not, however, the oldest twins in the county, as Andrew H. and Aaron B. Woodbury, of Winchester, passed their eighty-fifth anniversary December 22, 1923.

POLITICAL LIFE OF BRYAN TODAY SEEMS DIFFERENT

'Old Timer' Recalls Famous Addresses Delivered in Past Years

By 'OLD TIMER,'
 Of The Evening News Staff.
 How are the mighty fallen! The spectacle of William Jennings Bryan seeking a place on the Florida delegation to the Democratic national convention with a possibility of denial is to a certain degree pathetic to those who remember him in the height of his popularity and almost confirms one of the belief in the fickleness of the public.

It is hard to reconcile the benign countenance of William Jennings Bryan as seen from the Chatauqua platform or as frequently the case in the past few years from the pulpit of some prominent pastor, or on the stage of a woman's clubhouse or last fall as many saw him as he delivered the prologue to that magnificent spectacle "The Wayfare," with the "man of eloquence," the idol of his party who twenty-eight years ago startled the nation with his impassioned plea before the national Democratic convention. The famous "Cross of Gold" speech which aroused a spontaneous response such as a convention has seldom seen and gave Mr. Bryan such an ovation that his nomination as the presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket was the only thing possible.

As a resident of Mr. Bryan's home state, Nebraska, Old Timer felt all the thrill of the presidential candidate although not agreeing with him on his platform.

Omaha in 1896
 It was in Omaha the night before the election in 1896. The days of the torch light processions with marching men arrayed in oil cloth capes, grotesque hats and dripping torches were past and it was the era of campaigning from the rear platform of a special train. Mr. Bryan had made a most strenuous campaign reserving the night before election for Omaha, the metropolis of his home state. Three immense meeting places were arranged where Mr. Bryan would speak, dashing madly from one place to the other in a carriage driven at full speed.

With the greatest desire to see the great man and failing because of the great crowds to reach the places reserved at the mass meeting, at the suggestion and accompanied by the city editor of one of Omaha's daily papers, "Old Timer" and party "camped" at the stage door of the old Boyd opera house determined to fulfill that desire when he emerged from the house to again dash madly for the next meeting and the waiting crowds.

Bryan Appears
 A carriage occupied the space near the door and the imposing coachman with his high hat and great coat obligingly allowed the party to "roost" on the carriage steps during the wait during which loud applause and wild enthusiasm could be heard in the auditorium. At last their virgils was rewarded. The door was

BRING YEAR OF WORK IN NIGHT SCHOOL TO END

All Classes Well Attended During Entire Course; Plan for More

At the end of next week, the work of the Glendale Union Evening High school will be brought to a successful close, with the total enrollment for the year standing at over 1300, according to A. L. Ferguson, principal. Plans are already being formulated to continue the work next year.

Mr. Ferguson says that the night school work during the past year has been very popular and feels that it is doing a much-needed service in the community. Every department has experienced capacity classes and several additional classes were added to take care of increased demand, he said.

The Americanization and naturalization courses have been especially popular. Over thirty foreigners have completed the requirements for naturalization and about forty are enrolled in the Americanization work.

Increase Classes
 The demand for this class of study has been so great that it was necessary to offer the work five evenings a week. The Americanization course is the study of the English language for the benefit of foreigners who are not familiar with it.

Remarkable achievement has been reported in the shorthand department, some of the students who entered in January having attained a speed of sixty to seventy words per minute in taking dictation. Large numbers have also taken advantage of the opportunities offered at the night school to become proficient on the typewriter.

The mechanical and architectural drawing classes have required the services of three instructors to take care of the great demand for this work. Several students are at present completing their third year. In mechanical drawing the work has been adapted to the needs of the individual and has branched off into machine design and blue print work.

Work Expands
 In the mechanical arts department, all classes have been filled throughout the year. It has been necessary to employ four instructors to give the work. Elementary and intermediate Spanish courses have also drawn capacity classes with Mrs. Lambert in charge.

The millinery and dressmaking classes have been particularly heavy, necessitating two evening and three afternoon periods per week. The regular enrollment has averaged over 100 students per week, and Mrs. Clara Parker, the instructor, states that a great deal of work has been accomplished.

Physical education, under the direction of the regular high school instructor, has been

PUPILS PRESENT PROGRAM BEFORE CAPACITY CROWD

Broadway School Auditorium Scene of Brilliant May Performance

The May program presented last night before a capacity audience at the Broadway school auditorium by the pupils of the school revealed itself as one of considerable merit. That many appreciative friends and admirers were in the auditorium was attested by the applause given at the close of each number.

A May program is an annual feature observed at the school and one looked forward to with considerable pleasure by the pupils, teachers, parents and friends, and the presentation last night excelled anything given in the past.

The group of talented children showed careful training by their teachers, and unusual ability, and their attractive and gay colored costumes added a brilliance to the production. The entire affair had been planned and directed by the teachers of the school who gave generously of their time in coaching and preparing the various numbers.

Represent Flowers
 The first part of the program might have been called a Flower Pageant as all the pupils in the various numbers were costumed to represent flowers. The specialty number of this part of the program was the Spring Garden, when pupils of the second and third grades very cleverly represented a brightly colored flower garden. Their songs and drills were enthusiastically received.

The Flower Cantata was presented during the second part of the program and included the crowning of the May Queen, the court procession, songs and drills by the pupils of the fifth and sixth grades.

The school orchestra rendered several selections before the program opened and during intermission.

Complete Program
 The complete program is as follows:
 Selection by school orchestra, "Dandelion Song," pupils of CALMON LOBOVISKI, famous violin virtuoso, is featured on the variety program to be staged June 5 by the Knights Templar.

A wealth of professional talent is promised by W. W. Worley for the night of June 5, at the Broadway High school auditorium, when the Glendale Commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar, will stage a variety show for the benefit of their crack drill team.

Calmon Loboviski, celebrated violinist, will be one of the nine headliners, offering Kreisler and Sarasate numbers. Overture and concluding numbers will be rendered by the Glendale Union High school orchestra of thirty pieces. Lois Naudain will be seen in a charming toe dance, "Vanity Fair," and Ettore Campana, noted tenor, will sing the "Prologue" from "Pagliacci" and "Toreador's Song" from "Carmen." Thayer, "the mystifier," will do some novel magic stunts.

Another big feature will be the Orpheus Four, who are popular throughout Southern California. A sparkling comedy in one act, "He Said and She Said," will present Sylvia Florian, Cortena Ord, Virginia Barber and Bednarz.

Other numbers on the program are: Mrs. W. C. Barber in a reading, "Miantowana," by T. B. Aldrich, Grace Caldwell Bennett at the piano; A. B. Kachel in "Melting Pot," a stirring Russian drama.

The proceeds from this big show will enable the drill team of Glendale Commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar, to go to Seattle in July of 1925. Mr. Worley states, to compete with Commandery drill teams from all parts of the country.

DECORATION DAY INSPIRATION FOR BIRTHDAY PARTY

A. H. Cleveland Is Host to Sunset Club Members on Anniversary

Surrounded by a company of his friends of the Glendale Evening News Sunset club, A. H. Cleveland celebrated his 87th birthday yesterday at a most enjoyable patriotic party given by his daughter, Mrs. Elsie Stowe at her home, 363 West Lomita avenue.

Assisting Mrs. Stowe were Mr. Cleveland's daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. E. Cleveland; his granddaughter, Mrs. W. H. Peart, and Mrs. John Peart.

They had taken the patriotic spirit of Memorial day as an inspiration for the scheme of decoration for the party. Bouquets of red carnations, white Shasta daisies and blue corn flowers were used, and on the refreshment table were streamers of red, white and blue crepe paper and eagle figures cut out of crepe paper.

When the refreshments were served cunning little flags decorated the brick ice cream.

Civil War Veterans
 Adding to this patriotic spirit was the presence of several Civil war veterans, among them being Mr. Cleveland.

Mr. Cleveland was the recipient of many lovely flowers, cards and other remembrances. It was with pride that he showed a picture of his daughter, Miss Mary B. Cleveland of New York, just received for his birthday. He also received an envelope containing eighty-seven new one-dollar bills from his three children, Mrs. Stowe and W. E. Cleveland of Glendale and Miss Cleveland of New York.

During the informal social afternoon a count by states was taken and it was found that the company represented ten states, Canada, Germany and Sweden. The states represented were Illinois, California, Pennsylvania, Michigan, West Virginia, New York, Ohio, Iowa and New Jersey.

Oldest and Youngest
 In learning the ages of all present it was decided that Charles Bock of Eagle Rock, 94 years of age, was the oldest member of

ASSOCIATION TO HEAR ARTIST ON COLOR HARMONY

C. MacDonald Wright Will Lecture Sunday Before Local Art Lovers

C. Macdonald Wright of Los Angeles, who has won a place of recognition in art circles, both in America and abroad, is to speak Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock before the Glendale Art association on "Color Harmony."

He is a most interesting speaker and very much in demand for club programs. He has a successful background from which much knowledge is gleaned by wide experience.

With Morgan Russell he founded the school of Synchronism in Paris, France, the only art movement ever fathered by Americans.

Authority On Art
 In addition Mr. Wright is author of a book on color, and has lectured in Munich, Paris, London, New York and Los Angeles. He has written on art subjects in literary and art publications in all of these cities.

His compositions have been exhibited in all the salons of Paris and in every capital of the world.

In his art work he was co-inventor of the only perfected instrument for the projection of plastic color light, known as the chromatograph.

Mr. Wright is an American and has studied in Paris and Munich under many celebrated academicians. He has come to California to live and is at present in charge of the Art Students' league, the oldest school of art in Los Angeles.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

He who mingles praises with a glad today makes a glad tomorrow. And so all life by praise becomes a sacrament of joy. There are no breaks or pauses in the flow of blessing to those who joy in God.—James Baldwin Brown.

MARKETING OF FOOD PRODUCTS

The distribution of food products is one of the greatest problems of the day. The dissatisfaction of the people is growing and there must be a radical change very soon. Various measures have been introduced at the present session of Congress to relieve the situation of the farmer. The McNary-Haugen bill may be workable and may prove of benefit to the big grain farmer in case of emergency, but we must have something that is more far-reaching.

Here in Southern California it often happens that fruit rots on the trees because the rancher cannot afford to pick it for the small price he receives for it. In the city a dozen miles away the housewife pays an exorbitant price for this same kind of fruit. A rancher raises potatoes for which he receives forty cents a box, and by the time they get to the consumer they are priced at three times that amount. The same thing is true of food products all over the country from fruits and vegetables to grains and other big staples.

Municipal markets and public markets where the producer sells directly to the consumer partially solve the problem, but these markets are only convenient at best to a small portion of the population of cities.

Cheaper and better shipping facilities, and more public markets may help to eliminate the two or three middlemen who operate between the grower and the consumer and get, each one, his profit.

Growers and consumers have both allowed themselves to be imposed upon, they have allowed the middleman to control the food supply and fix the prices, but the crisis is bound to come, and when the public wakes up and takes matters in its own hands there will not be such a great difference in the price the producer gets for his product and the price the consumer pays for it.

REAL ESTATE VALUABLE

There has been one disadvantage arising from the great advance in real estate in Southern California in the past few years. The land is so high that the man of small means who buys a lot for a home must, of necessity, build a small, cheap house and the result has been that hundreds of homes of the type known as shacks have sprung up wherever restrictions do not forbid them. They are small and cheaply built, and, being new, vegetation has not yet had a chance to soften their unsightliness.

While we boast that a shelter from the sun and rain is all we need here in Southern California, children deserve to grow up in surroundings that have some of the refinements. A man is to be commended for making an effort to own a home, no matter how poor it may be, and it seems a pity that, with such vast expanses of vacant land all over this great state, a man of moderate means cannot own a lot much larger than his hand.

The man who buys land for an investment finds it is so valuable that he naturally wants to make the most of it. In many sections you will find a fairly pretentious home on the front of a forty or fifty-foot lot and two or three small houses in the rear. Bungalow courts have grown popular, and while many of them are beautiful in architecture and convenient and thoroughly up-to-date in arrangement it is too bad that human beings find it necessary to huddle so closely together. We boast that we can live out of doors the year 'round here in the sunny South, but many a little child has to live in a flat, an apartment or a bungalow court where he has not a spear of grass or one small tree to call his own. But then nearly every family has a car, so neither old nor young want for fresh air.

GOOD MEN IN CONGRESS

We have heard so much about the Congressional investigations and the accompanying scandals and the conduct of certain men in Congress that we are inclined to believe that our National law-making body is made up of rascals. While it is only too true that we do not get the results we should from our Congress, we should not forget that there are some good, honest and able men in that body. A writer in a current magazine makes the statement that the worst thing that ever happened to the United States was Congress. He would have us believe that there are no good men in public office and that none are available for public service today.

The Review of Reviews does not take this gloomy view of the situation. This magazine says: "With 435 members of the House of Representatives, under our form of government, it is hardly possible for many individuals to attract wide national attention. Yet we have not several but a very large number of public men at Washington, in Congress and in the executive departments of such character and ability that they would be shining lights if they were in the British parliament or in the public service of other governments."

AMID BEAUTEOUS BOWER

There is no excuse for not having beautiful grounds in Glendale. Every home, be it a tiny bungalow or a pretentious villa, should be the center of a beautiful bower. Plant your seeds, set out your shrubs and trees, turn on the water—and nature will do the rest.

A house cannot be beautiful surrounded by unkempt lawns. Every unkempt yard is a detriment to Glendale. And, if you choose, you may look at it from a cold dollars and cents angle. Beauty can be commercialized in Southern California as readily as any other commodity.

Glendale has long been known as "the fastest growing city in America." It would be a good idea to let it be known as "the most beautiful city in America" as well, which it could certainly be, situated so ideally, if every property owner would do his and her plain duty and clean house outside as well as inside.

Woman takes her own life because of fear of death. Once a man dropped from a tall tree because he feared the limb on which he was suspended would break.

Some men who are unwilling to let their wives help run the republic are perfectly willing to let them manage the affairs of the kingdom of God.

The woman who attends the murder trial to write sob stuff for the daily papers must have almost as desirable a job as the garbage collector.

It's the fruits of our dissipation that get us into trouble—you recall that Adam got into trouble, fooling with fruit.

It's now the time of year we get our money-lust changed into wander-lust.

"The Bivouac Of The Dead"

It was written in 1847 by Theodore O'Hara to commemorate the death of his comrades who fell in the Mexican war, and was read by him upon the occasion of their burial in the cemetery at Frankfort, Kentucky, after removal from Mexico. Extracts from the poem have been carved on military monuments at Sebastopol, London, Dublin, Constantinople, and perhaps many other foreign places. It is inscribed over the archway of the national cemetery at Arlington, and on many military monuments throughout the country.

The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo;
No more on life's parade shall meet
That brave and fallen few.
On Fame's eternal camping-ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And Glory guards with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead.

No answer to foe's advance
Now swells upon the wind;
No troubled thought at midnight haunts
Of loved ones left behind;
No vision of the morrow's strife
The warrior's dream alarms;
No braying horn nor screaming fife
At dawn shall call to arms.

Their shivered swords are red with rust;
Their plumed heads are bowed;
Their haughty banner, trailed in dust,
Is now their natural shroud;
And piteous funeral-tears have washed
The red stains from each brow,
And their proud forms, in battle gashed,
Are free from anguish now.

The neighing steed, the flashing blade,
The trumpet's stirring blast;
The charge, the dreadful cannonade,
The din and shout, are past;
No war's wild note, nor glory's peal,
Shall thrill with fierce delight
Those breasts that nevermore shall feel
The rapture of the fight.

Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead!
Dear as the blood you gave,
No impious footsteps here shall tread
The herbage of your grave;
Nor shall glory be forgot
While fame her record keeps,
Or honor points the hallowed spot
Where valor proudly sleeps.

Yon marble minstrel's voiceless stone
In deathless song shall tell,
Where many a vanquished age hath flown,
The story how ye fell.
Nor wreck, nor change, nor winter's blight,
Nor Time's remorseless doom,
Shall dim one ray of holy light
That glids your glorious tomb.

—Theodore O'Hara.

The Dawes Plan

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Germany has agreed to co-operate with the report of the committee of experts as a "practical basis for a speedy solution of the reparations problem."

This is encouraging. France, Great Britain and Belgium have already agreed, Italy, at this writing, is on the point of promising agreement and there is every surface indication for optimism.

Moreover, M. Barthou, president of the reparations commission, says: "The solution of the reparations problem appears to be in a fair way of accomplishment. There are excellent reasons to be optimistic, although the difficulties are as yet far from being solved."

What the Dawes plan is does not matter. The main thing is for the nations to get together and it seems that the committee's conclusion will furnish that excuse.

They probably had to swing apart for a certain length of time until political motives had exhausted themselves. Until, indeed, the various governments had discovered that the policy of isolation on the part of any one of them was disastrous.

Germany found it out when many of her people were unemployed and still more were hungry. France found it out when the franc began to caper nimbly after the mark.

This report will be transmitted to the United States government with a recommendation for approval and adherence. What the United States will do is problematical but it is not among the possibilities that it will allow itself to be drawn into the development and execution of any plan as a government. "As private citizens no doubt our government will manifest its hearty approval of this proposal."

When the time comes for floating an international loan, as proposed by the Dawes plan, it will be found that our people have about all the money there is to be loaned.

The German people are not likely to give an adverse vote on co-operation with the allies. Neither are the French people likely to report adversely. In fact, the report of this committee gives the hope required for all the European governments to behave themselves, as the indications are that the United States of America will not join in any European affairs until Europe has made up its mind to act reasonably. To be sure, M. Poincare has reiterated his determination to hold fast to the Ruhr and to retire from there only in proportion to the payments made by Germany. To be sure there is material for trouble in this ticklish situation. If this can be carried on without further bad blood between France and Germany, if the total amount of Germany's reparations debt can be fixed and if the people will go resolutely toward paying the reparations, there is little doubt but that the United States will co-operate.

If this co-operation is secured there can be little doubt that there is the beginning of the end of Europe's troubles.

REDWOOD MAGIC

(From Woodland Mail)

When Joseph Hergeshelmer, investigating lumbering operations in the west for the Saturday Evening Post, approached that redwood district, he believed that lumbering was a necessary and proper business, and that it was rather unfair of those afar off to complain about matters they knew naught of. He had a prejudice against the cry "Save the Redwoods!" raised by individuals "against whom that saving, however imperative, might not be charged."

But when he actually got into the district, he found that every one connected with the labor regrets the passing of the great trees. "I lost for the moment my interest in economic lumbering, in utilization and variety of manufacture; I forgot who legally, rightfully, owned that stand, and the other stand, of coast redwood trees." A sensation of fear took possession of him at the idea of their loss.

"It was then that I remembered how rich as a nation, we were, the only rich country left after the late disasters of modern civilization. Yet we hadn't enough gold, with all our gold—we hadn't the integrity, with all our show of public faith—to keep 300,000, 400,000 or 500,000 acres of a natural magnificence needed more for the integrity of our fibre, the sheer future survival of spirit, than for surpluses of employment, of temporary gangs, crews of labor and invested securities.

After fighting his sentiment with logic, after listening to all the arguments in favor of cutting the redwoods, many of them good arguments, he concludes, at last: "Second growth everywhere would, eventually, replace the first; but nothing could bring back the serenity the forest had accumulated after a 100,000,000 years. Standing in a grove I thought of the bitter and vain resentment that the future—when it had learned that a commerce was not enough to keep the heart alive—would hold against the past, our present. The grace of the towering trees masked their gigantic span; the ground in perpetual shadow, held only flowering oxalis and emerald ferns. It was raining very softly. The fallen trunks of an utter remoteness, too great to see over, were green with moss. The whisper of the wind was barely audible, far off, reflective; the gloom in the trees was clear, wet and mild. It was the past. And this was the redwoods' secret—their special magic, that they absolved, blotted out the fever of time the wasted years, the sickness of mind, in which men spent the loneliness of their lives."

Dare we, as a nation, let ourselves lose that magic?

THE 1928 CONVENTIONS

(From Pasadena Star-News)

Californians should have one or both of the great national political conventions in 1928. San Francisco made a valiant attempt this year, to procure one or both of the conventions. Party expediency held both conventions well to the east—one in Ohio, the other in New York. But by 1928 the political power and prestige of the Pacific west should be such that astute party leaders should see the advantage of bringing the national conventions to this state and section.

There will be much work to be done to induce the conventions to come to this state. A long and insistent campaign of education

The People — of — Anytown

Character Sketches

Colonel Churchill was a man of distinction in Anytown. He was one of our earliest settlers, one of our wealthiest men and an officer in the Civil War. "Colonel" was no idle title for he had won it in the war and his fellow citizens of Anytown took almost as much pride in it as he did himself. It is scarcely necessary to say that Colonel Churchill was one of the speakers on almost every program that was ever held in our town hall; that he was perpetual president of our G. A. R. post as well as officer of the day in all our Memorial Day and Fourth of July parades. We delighted to honor him and he always did us credit, at home as well as in near-by towns where his services were in demand as speaker at patriotic celebrations.

Colonel Churchill had come to Anytown with his young wife in the forties from New York state and they built at that early day the big stone house that stands at the corner of Maple and Main streets. He bought from the government quantities of land around Anytown and this eventually grew so greatly in value that he died a very rich man. He did a great deal for Anytown in working and improving this land, and while he never lived on a farm himself he spent nearly all of his time directing the work on his farms.

When the war broke out Mr. Churchill was not a young man, but he was among the first to enlist and he served with credit to himself and Anytown throughout the war.

I always thrilled with pride when I saw Colonel Churchill's soldierly form on the platform at the town hall, or seated on the handsome bay horse that Johnson's livery stable always loaned for the use of the officer of the day when there was a parade of any kind. He was of commanding stature, well-built and of erect and graceful carriage. His bearing was martial at all times. His white goatee alone would have distinguished him from every other man in Anytown. Colonel Churchill was a fit and forcible speaker and he loved to talk about the war and the battles in which he had been engaged. He had met President Lincoln on several occasions and we never tired of hearing his reminiscences of our martyred president.

His graphic account of the battle of Gettysburg thrilled and stirred us now we youngsters admired and worshipped a man who had taken such a prominent and conspicuous part in the making of our history and how we loved to hear him tell of his experiences in the war, some tragic, some funny, some fired with all the glory and glamor of battle.

Some of his stories we knew by heart but they took on added interest and charm when they came directly from his lips. Colonel Churchill was never too busy to talk to us children and he never failed to point to us that the war for the Union was just and he never forgot to pay a tribute to the bravery of the Confederate soldier who, he said, was as conscientious as he of the north.

and persuasion will be required. Californians should be a unit in this. First, agree upon the city. Then all pull together for that city. Whether it can be San Francisco or Los Angeles, or some one of the smaller cities of the state, there should be agreement among Californians as to the one city to support, then the backing of that city should be wholehearted by all parts of the state. THE CASE OF JENNIE BRICE

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story so far:

Mrs. Pitman, who tells the story, ran away from home to marry, and was never reconciled to her old Pittsburgh family, although she returned to her home town to live after she became a widow. She kept boarders in what was then lower Allegheny, where, because there were floods every year, rents were cheap. One March there was an unusually high flood. Miss Jennie Brice, as she was known on the stage, was having an unusually quarrelsome time with her husband, Mr. Ladley. Mrs. Pitman overheard them talking with a man, and Miss Brice said, "That's all very well, but what about that prying she-devil that runs the house?" That night the water rose high, and in the middle of the night another boarder, Mr. Reynolds, woke Mrs. Pitman to say somebody had just rowed away in the boat she had tied to the stairs in the lower hall. Mrs. Pitman later saw Mr. Ladley returning. He said he had been out for medicine for his wife. Peter, the dog, finds a slipper of Mrs. Ladley's brought to the boat, and later a big knife of Mrs. Pitman's, with the blade broken. Mr. Ladley offers to pay Mrs. Pitman for a pillow slip he says was burned with a cigarette, and says his wife really was not ill, but went away in the night.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

IT IS THE BROKEN BLADE
It is hard to say how ideas first enter one's mind. But the notion that Mr. Ladley had killed his wife and thrown her body into the water came to me as I sat there. All at once I seemed to see it all: the quarrel the day before, the night trip in the boat, water-soaked slipper, his haggard face that morning—even the way the spaniel sat and stared at the flood. Terry brought the boat back at half-past eleven, towing it behind another.

"Well," I said from the stairs, "I hope you've had a pleasant morning."

"What doing?" he asked, not looking at me.

"Rowing about the streets. You've had that boat for hours." He tied it up without a word to me, but he spoke to the dog. "Good morning, Peter," he said. "It's nice weather—for fishes, ain't it?"

He picked out a bit of floating wood from the water, and showing it to the dog, flung it into the parlor. Peter went after it with a splash. He was pretty fat, and when he came back I heard him wheezing. But what he brought back was not the stick of wood. It was the knife I use for cutting bread. It had been on a shelf in the room where I had slept the night before, and now Peter brought it out of the flood where its wooden handle had kept it afloat. The blade was broken off short.

It is not unusual to find one's household goods floating around during flood-time. More than once I've lost a chair or two, and seen it after the water had gone down, new scrubbed and painted, in Molly Maguire's kitchen next door. And perhaps now and then a bit of luck would come to me—a dog kennel or a chicken house, or a kitchen table, or even, as happened once, a month-old baby in a wooden cradle, that lodged against my back fence, and had come forty miles, as it turned out, with no worse mishap than a cold in its head.

But the knife was different. I had put it on the mantel over the stove I was using up-stairs the night before, and hadn't touched it since. As I sat staring at it, Terry took it from Peter and handed it to me.

"Peter gave me a penny, Mrs. Pitman," he said in his impudent Irish way. "I hate to give you a knife. It may cut our friendship." I reached over to hit him a clout on the head, but I did not. The sunlight was coming in through the window at the top of the stairs, and shinning on the rope that led to the basket. The end of the rope was covered with stains, brown, with a glint of red in them.

I got up shivering. "You can get the meat at the butcher's, Terry," I said, "and come back for me in a half-hour." Then I turned and went up-stairs, weak in the knees, to put on my hat and coat. I had made up my mind that there had been murder done.

I looked at my clock as I went down-stairs. It was just twelve-thirty. I thought of telephoning for Mr. Reynolds to meet me, but it was his lunch hour, and besides I was afraid to telephone from the house while Mr. Ladley was in it.

Peter had been whining again. When I came down the stairs he had stopped whimpering and was wagging his tail. A strange boat had put into the hallway and was coming back.

"Now, old boy!" somebody was saying from the boat. "Steady, old chap! I've got something for you."

A little man, elderly and alert, was standing up in the boat, poling it along with an oar. Peter gave vent to joyful yelps. The elderly gentleman brought his boat to a stop at the foot of the stairs, and reaching down into a tub at his feet, held up a large piece of raw liver. Peter almost went crazy, and I remembered suddenly that I had forgotten to feed the poor beast for more than a day.

"That's a well-trained dog, madam," said the elderly gentleman, beaming at Peter over his glasses. "You should not have neglected him."

"The flood put him out of my mind," I explained, humbly enough, for I was ashamed.

"Exactly. Do you know how many starving dogs and cats I have found this morning?" He took a note-book out of his pocket and glanced at it. "Forty-eight. Forty-eight, madam! And ninety-three cats! I have found them marooned in trees, clinging to fences, floating on barrels, and I have found them in comfortable houses where there was no excuse for their neglect. Well, I must be moving on. I have the report of a cat with a new litter in the loft of a stable near here."

He wiped his hands carefully on a fresh paper napkin, of which also a heap rested on one of the seats of the boat, and picked up an oar, smiling benevolently at Peter. Then, suddenly, he bent over and looked at the stained rope end, tied to the stair-rail.

"What's that?" he said.

"That's what I'm going to find out," I replied. I glanced up at the Ladley's door, but it was closed.

The little man dropped his oar, and fumbling in his pockets, pulled out a small magnifying-glass. He bent over, holding to the rail, and inspected the stains with the glass. I had taken a fancy to him at once, and in spite of my excitement I had to smile a little.

"Humph!" he said, and looked up at me. "That's blood. Why did you cut the boat loose?"

"I didn't," I said. "If that is blood, I want to know how it got there. That was a new rope last night." I glanced at the Ladley's door again, and he followed my eyes.

Tomorrow—The Escape.

HORSEMEN WILL HAVE BIG YEAR

Slump Has Not Hurt Racing In England; Lord Derby Has Large Stable

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service.
LONDON, May 30.—Whatever may have been the effect of trade depression on industries of England, there is one business which flourishes with unflinching prosperity. That is horse racing.

Horse racing in England is estimated, will pay a profit of nearly 25 per cent on the capital invested during the present racing season.

Any doubt of the extent to which racing has become a business in England is removed by the fact that approximately $15,000,000 is invested in horses alone.

Profits on the racing season of 1924, it is estimated, will amount to more than $4,000,000. This does not include the winnings of the bookmakers or the casual winnings of the bookmakers' patrons. It represents the money that will be won by the owners of racing stables either through the capturing of purses or through successful backing of their own horses.

It is estimated that approximately 5000 horses will be seen in various meetings in Great Britain and Ireland.

Probably the three biggest owners of race horses in England are Lord Derby, Lord Astor and Lord Woolavington. Each of these noblemen maintains a racing stable organized on tremendous lines. That they find the business profitable is indicated by the winnings of Lord Derby in 1923, which are said to have been nearly $200,000.

That the business is profitable for others besides the owners of horses is shown by the hundreds employed. It is estimated that horses trained by Alec Taylor last year won more than $200,000 in stakes, while several other trainers earned sums well in excess of $100,000 for their owners.

JUDGE ENDORSES BOY SCOUT WORK

Claims Movement Solves Problem of Training American Youths

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—Addressing the Rotary Club on behalf of the Boy Scout movement, Superior Judge J. P. Pullen declared that "nothing is as important as the training of our successors. The Boy Scout movement is the answer to the question. But it is up to the business men to bridge the gap." Advising every business man to take an active interest in the Boy Scout campaign, Judge Pullen said: "If you let your heart become covered with the sorrows of cynicism and the ice of pessimism when you are grown old, why God have mercy on your soul."

JUDGE UPHOLDS WIFE'S RIGHT TO HAVE HAIR CUT

Fines Indignant Husband for Assault and Battery When He Objects

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924
NEW YORK, May 30.—Does the promise to "obey" in the wedding ceremony go as far as to require a wife to get the consent of her husband before she has her hair bobbed?

Police Court Judge Joseph Connolly, of this city, holds that it does not. He believes that if a man can go down town in the morning and shock his wife and children by appearing suddenly at the dinner table with his mustache or his grizzled whiskers missing, there is no reason on earth why a woman should not have her tresses trimmed without first getting the husbandly consent. The judge feels that the bobbing of the hair is nothing more than a new style of head-dress and he contends that certainly a woman in these modern times is entitled to that much of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Some Forbid It
There are many "old style" husbands, however, who have flatly forbidden their wives to fall in line with the new vogue and consequently there are many women "just dying" to get a boyish bob, with a little V shape peak down the back to the neck, but who do not dare to invite the ire of the head of the house. Some husbands have gone so far as to threaten to leave their wives if they succumb to the prevailing fashion for bobbing.

It is all very well to talk about the new era of equality for women, but just the same there are comparatively few wives who care—one might almost say dare—to run contrary to their husbands' expressed wishes in matters of personal appearance. With single girls or bachelor maids, it is entirely different. They, indeed, have a true independence.

Judge Connolly's thoughts on hair bobbing were engendered by an experience in court with an irate husband who was alleged to have "assaulted and battered" his flapper wife because she appeared home late one afternoon all bobbed up and marcelled within an inch of her life. The husband took one look at the bob and then took a couple of swings at it. He was proceeding to maul the terrified wife when the neighbors and the police interfered. Then he was hauled off to court.

Has Tresses Cut
The wife testified she had been begging her husband for a long time to let her have her hair bobbed and two days ago she understood him to have given his consent. Her joy knew no bounds. She had already picked out the very shop to do the bobbing. And as soon as the house work was done for the day she went off for the big adventure in the barber chair. When the artisan had completed his work she was pleased beyond all words. She thought her husband would be glad he had given his consent and would admit that his fears and prejudices were all wrong.

Only a woman, perhaps, can imagine the surprise of this poor wife when instead of words of commendation and affection, she was greeted with fist cuffs as soon as the tight-fitting little cloche hat was removed from the unsuspecting head.

The husband vowed and declared in court that he never gave his consent and never would have given it. He further declared that he would not live in the same house with his wife until her hair grew out again.

Swings on Judge
Judge Connolly attempted to take issue with the irate defendant on some of the strong points he made for husbandly control over would-be bobbed-haired wives, but the defendant lashed out at the judge with as much fury as he had swiped at his trusting little wife. The judge took the side of the wives and got the better of the argument when he sentenced the man to jail for five days for contempt of court. The wife had meekly withdrawn the charge of assault and battery. Later the husband calmed down. He told the judge he was needed at home to provide for his wife and their two sons. So sentence was suspended.

The husband's parting shot to the court—in fact, he said he wanted to tell the whole world—was that in any event he would not speak to his wife until her hair grows out.

So Mrs. Mildred Welin has her bob even if she is getting the silent treatment at the old fireside. Harry Welin still stands out for the rights of husbands to say just what and what not their wives shall do. He takes literally the words of the wedding ceremony—even if most modern women do regard it as obsolete.

ion, which now has been rejected by both houses of Congress, and a substitute bill adopted. On this proposal the majority of the Republicans voted against the president.

Override Veto
Soldier Bonus—The president announced that he did not favor the granting of a bonus, and stated the government could not afford it. The majority of Republicans in Congress ignored his plea and voted for the passage of the bonus over his veto.

Other important questions on which the will of the president has been thwarted are not finally disposed of, but the congressional contrariness to the executive's desires has been apparent in the handling of the Muscle Shoals problem, on which the Senate committee favors government operation instead of a sale to private interests, as Mr. Coolidge recommended. Also the president recommended the Woodcock-Burrows bill for agricultural relief, but Congress defeated it.

Voters in Quandary
The logical result of such a situation is an appeal by the executive to the country for a Congress of Republicans who are supporters of the president. The vote was stronger than his party, and that, as a consequence, Republicans up for re-election to Congress would be swept into power by virtue of their position on the same ticket with him. But that part of the electorate which wants to express its dissatisfaction with Congress cannot vote for opponents of the present Republican membership because in many cases primaries have been held and the nominations have been made. Also in the Senate, some of those who voted against the president, like Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, are not up for re-election. How can the Republican voter tell Congress that he prefers Mr. Coolidge to Mr. Lodge as leader of the Republican party, for instance? The Democrats predict that the independent voter will answer the question by electing a Democratic president who has with him a Democratic Congress. But that doesn't help the Republican voter who has no use for anything Democratic. Who ever can solve that puzzle for the friends of Mr. Coolidge, will win their eternal gratitude for the "resentment vote" is now a by-product of the campaign for the Republicans and the objective of the Democrats.

Complete Examination Of Patient Is Urged

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., May 30.—The doctor who knows the symptoms of a nervous victim as he should can absolutely change not only the physical health of his patients but even their temperament, disposition and mood. Dr. Oscar T. Buffalow, of Chattanooga, Tenn., told more than 2,000 osteopaths here in an address on "Complete Examination Is Our Best Salvation," before the annual convention of the American Osteopathic association. "A cinder, ulcer or inflammation in the eye, or nose or throat trouble is usually attended to," Dr. Buffalow said, "but there are many conditions that are against the grain of nervous force and unless a complete examination is made, it is impossible for the patient to get a square deal."

BIENNIAL DRAWS CLUB DELEGATES

Women of Many Nations to Share in Convention of Federation

Mrs. Winter paid California a visit last fall and California club women were privileged to have a "pre-view" of the leader of 2,800,000 American women. Mrs. Winter arrived in California last Sunday and has been spending several days in Pasadena, resting in preparation for her arduous duties as presiding officer of the coming convention. She will make her first public appearance Friday night, May 30, when she will address the convention in Pasadena of the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

Ends Administration
Mrs. Winter is closing four years of service as president and, under the constitution of the federation, is not eligible for re-election. To her high office Mrs. Winter has brought honor and increased power of service in marked degree. When she became president the federation had 2600 clubs with a total membership of 2,800,000. Today it counts 5000 clubs with a membership of nearly 3,000,000 with clubs in twenty-one different countries of the world.

Under Mrs. Winter's consistent and wise guidance American club women have made their influence felt against child labor and illiteracy, in behalf of improved industrial conditions for women who work, as well as for wider Americanization, law obedience and enforcement, vigilant citizenship and most particularly international peace.

World peace has been always Mrs. Winter's prime motive in all her work. She was chosen by President Harding as a member of the committee for the disarmament conference. In view of all this it will be sensed that the theme of the convention is very near to Mrs. Winter's heart.

On Magazine Staff
Mrs. Winter has put aside many appeals to go into public life. She states that she will devote herself to writing, when she gives up her duties as Federation president. She has just accepted a staff position on a monthly magazine of prominence. One of the interesting sessions of the biennial will be the election of a successor to Mrs. Winter. There will be three candidates: Mrs. William S. Jennings of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Wallace Perham of Glendrive, Mont.; and Mrs. John D. Sherman of Estes Park, Colo. All capable and honored club leaders.

The presentation of the new officers will mark the close of the biennial on the night of June 13. Speakers of national and international reputation will be presented to discuss the various questions in general session and the committee meetings, bringing together the women of all different sections who are working along the same lines.

President's Message
On the first day, following the formal opening in Philharmonic auditorium, will come Mrs. Winter's message. Following this Mrs. Winter and other general Federation officers will hold a reception, giving every delegate the opportunity to greet the leaders of American clubwomen.

Luncheons will be held every day in the Biltmore hotel, the General Federation headquarters, where elaborate exhibits are arranged showing the work in the various departments of club life. All foreign countries will be represented on "International Day."

Another big day of the program will be "Education Day," June 6, when Mrs. Sherman will review the various activities of the organization. There will be six division reports, as most of the activities of the Federated clubs come under her department of Applied Education.

Home Betterment
Child welfare, better homes, forest conservation and garden week plans, which is an annual program, under Mrs. Sherman's direction, come under this department. In the displays of this department will be diagrams showing how far-reaching this department of the united display is. One of the unique displays will be that of the South Hills High school, of Pittsburgh, Pa., for the American Tree Association of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Sherman has just received from Charles Gardner, president of the American Tree Association, a letter telling of the great work done for tree planting by the federated women during garden and forest protection week.

On the program are such well-known speakers as Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, whose subject will be "Citizenship." She will be introduced by Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Austin, Texas. Another speaker will be Whiting Williams, writer and investigator of working conditions all over the world, who will speak on "Mainsprings of Democracy." Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, widow of the famous humorist, will tell of "American Women's Clubs in Other Lands." Other speakers will be Mrs. George W. Plummer, of Chicago; Mrs. J. C. Pearson, of Marshall, Oklahoma; Mrs. Harry Lilly, of New York City; Mrs. William R. Alvord, of Detroit; Helen H. Gardner, of the Civil Service Commission, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Elmer Leatherwood, of Utah; Mrs. C. E. Vowles, of Mount Pleasant, Michigan.

Thirty Luncheons
So many will be in attendance there will be seven receiving lines at the opening reception. Mrs. Oliver C. Bryant has arranged for thirty noontime luncheons—each of which there will be 1000 hostesses. Mrs. Edith Middleton

WANTS PROPERTY UNDER OLD LAW

Highland Park Resident in Suit Claims He Should Be Given Tract

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—Taking advantage of an old law on the statute books that is now little used, J. H. Brittain, Highland Park, has filed suit against D. H. Thornton, administrator of the estate of Jane Moore, who died in 1918, to secure title to Highland Park property.

The law of adverse possession, enacted during the early land settlement days of California, provides that if one "squats" on land, whether owned by him or not, constructs and maintains a fence about it, cultivates and tills the land and makes other improvements and keeps up the tax payments for a period of five years, he then can petition the superior court for a clear title. The original owner, by failing to do these things for the same period of time, forfeits his right to the property.

Brittain claims he was living on the land when Mrs. Moore died. Since her death, he has erected the fence as required, has maintained it, has "tilled the soil" by means of a family garden, and has paid the taxes during the five-year period that recently was ended. The property is said to be valuable now.

Roesch has been making arrangements for displays of the federation work for six months. Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson has been drilling a squad of fifty women on "Know Los Angeles" for the information bureau at the Federation headquarters.

Public Welfare, Fine Arts, American Citizenship and Foreign Relations were the subjects to be taken in during the closing days of the biennial.

The entire west coast has been making plans for months to entertain the delegates after the sessions close. At Santa Rosa Luther Burbank will show the women through his famous gardens. A trip will be made to Santa Cruz and the Big Trees. On June 16 the delegates will move on to San Francisco. Points of interest will be visited, and the San Francisco clubs will give a reception for the delegates, Oakland, Mills College and the University of California will be visited. On June 18 San Mateo and Santa Clara counties will be on the itinerary. A musical will be given for the delegates at Leland Stanford university. WOMAN FAVORED BY COURT'S RULE

Judge Hands Down Order in Favor of L. A. Writer of Noted Play

Mrs. Grace A. Fendler of Los Angeles yesterday was awarded in her twelve-year fight for her asserted rights when Supreme Court Justice Erlanger in New York city signed a court order in her favor in her suit against Richard Walton Tully, playwright, and Oliver Morosco, internationally known dramatic producer. Mrs. Fendler sought $1,000,000 damages for the alleged plagiarism of her play, "In Hawaii," by Mr. Tully, who wrote "The Bird of Paradise."

Judge Erlanger indicated, in his order, that a referee would be named by the court and instructed to fix the amount due Mrs. Fendler by Mr. Tully and Mr. Morosco, after she had asked for all back royalties and full restoration of her rights.

"The Bird of Paradise" was first produced in Los Angeles in 1911 with Bessie Barriscale in the leading role. The play has been seen in every city of any importance in the United States and has been one of the biggest drawing cards in the theatrical world. Mrs. Fendler claims she wrote her play in 1909 and submitted it to Mr. Morosco. When the play was taken from Los Angeles to New York, David Belasco advised Mrs. Fendler to claim infringements, she stated in her suit.

Romance of Capital Now Ended by Death

BALTIMORE, May 30.—A romance that began a year ago in Washington when the Shriners and order of Eastern Star held conventions in the capital city, is ended as George Shaw, San Francisco shipbuilder, is speeding toward Baltimore to be here in time for the funeral of his fiancée, who died from injuries suffered when struck by an automobile. The dead woman is Mrs. Henry Lauer of Pikesville, Md. Miss Jeanette Rosner, 21, law student, has surrendered to the Pikesville police, saying it must have been her car which struck Mrs. Lauer.

Gold Teeth Give Way To Porcelain Crowns

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—Gold teeth will soon be a thing of the past, according to Dr. S. B. Scott, who told the California State Dental association, now in convention here, that porcelain is almost as strong, serves the same purpose as gold and gives a better appearance. Dr. Guy Millberry, dean of the University of California dental college, also declared the buzzer will disappear as soon as the public learns to eat the proper foods. Dr. S. B. Fontaine was announced as president-elect of the association and the meeting will be brought to an end with the installation of officers for the coming year.

LIPSTICK, BIBLE MAIN SOLACE OF MURDERESS

Slayer of Mother-in-Law Has Two Comforts as Death on Gallows Nears

By MILLARD FERGUSON
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 30.—A lipstick and a Bible that she never had read until she was put behind the bars are the chief comforts of Mrs. Ida Hughes, who today is awaiting the hangman's noose for the murder of her mother-in-law, Mrs. M. C. Hughes.

There is something very childlike—and very pathetic—about this woman who coolly stuck a pistol against the body of her mother-in-law and shot the older woman to death, with policemen standing only a few feet away.

Reads and Powders

She reads the Bible a while. Then she goes to her mirror and powders her nose and wields her lipstick, making herself attractive for her husband, whom she expects at any minute. But the husband does not come. He has not visited her for three weeks. That, apparently, is her one concern. She has appealed for a new trial. But she isn't at all confident it will be granted. Yet she does not seem disturbed over the possibility that her days will end on the gallows. What concerns her is that her husband doesn't come.

"They say I killed my mother-in-law," Mrs. Hughes said as she sat in a rocking chair in the woman's ward at Fulton County Tower—"the big rock" the negro prisoners call it because it is of granite from Stone Mountain. "But I don't remember getting the pistol or firing it. That is all a blank to me. What I remember is the way I suffered beforehand."

Worked in Mill

"My mother-in-law lived with us and she was a bad woman. She drank and she brought to our house women of bad character. I worked on the night shift at a cotton mill and made from $3.20 to $3.90 a night. That had to pay house rent, grocery bill and everything for us. My husband wasn't working."

"After I'd worked all night I'd come home and cook breakfast for them, and half the time none of them would speak to me, or if they did speak it was to grumble at what I had cooked. At night I'd fix supper before I went to work."

"Why did you stand for all that?" she was asked.

"I didn't have anywhere else to go. Besides I loved my husband and I kept thinking things would get better."

"Finally, my mother-in-law decided to move, and when she left she took most of the things in our house with her. One Sunday she came back with two policemen. She had a warrant for clothes of hers that she said I had."

Tragedy Occurs

"She went over to my trunk and began throwing my things on the floor. I asked her to stop, but she kept on."

"The next thing I remember I was riding in an automobile and my husband and little boy were crying. I asked the policeman next to me what was the matter, and he said: 'You know what the matter. You've killed your mother-in-law.' But I didn't know. 'I believe in a hereafter,' Mrs. Hughes concluded, 'but I believe I have had my full punishment on this earth. I am in the hands of the law. If I must die then I must. But none of it seems real. It all seems like something I had dreamed.'"

Pistols that will shoot marbles are among the toys recently invented.

Last minute changes for the parade today were announced late last night by Chief of Police J. D. Fraser, marshal of the parade. The arrangements for formations, with the exception of the change of street, will be the same, Chief Fraser announced.

CLEVELAND HOST ON ANNIVERSARY

Sunset Club Members Join in Birthday Party at 87th Milestone

the club company, and Mrs. James Ireland, 74, the youngest.

After a picture had been taken an impromptu program was given. Mrs. Zilpha Parker, whom the club was glad to greet after an absence occasioned by illness, opened the program with a poem she learned when a young woman. The club members were most happy to greet R. N. Taylor, prominent member of the N. P. Banks Post, G. A. E., who although young, belongs to the club, is often present as a special guest. He gave recitations and songs, closing the afternoon with an appropriate flag poem.

Mrs. Carter, who was another special guest, sang, and Mrs. Juliana Hayes gave a clever recitation.

Pioneer Poems

No Sunset club meeting is complete without recitations and poems. At the recent meeting, let alone yesterday he repeated by request many of his pioneer selections.

And finally the Rev. William G. Cowan, whose eloquence always sounds the serious note in the club meetings, greeted Mr. Cleveland on behalf of the club. In anticipation of Memorial day Mr. Cowan recalled Civil war days, telling of his experience on the battlefield, where the northern and southern armies were drawn up opposite each other. Each band would play a popular war song and then the other band would reply with another song. Finally the northern army's band struck up "Home, Sweet Home," and without a moment's hesitation the southern army's band joined in what Mr. Cowan termed "that grand old hymn of home."

An interesting feature of the party was the presence of one of Mr. Cleveland's great-grandchildren, Arthur Peart.

Many Fiends Absent

The club members were most happy to welcome George M. Walton, who has never been able to attend a meeting before.

Many of the well-known members were unable to be present, and their absence was noted with regret.

Among those present were Charles Bock, 94 years of age; Mrs. Bock, 82; H. Cleveland, 87; Rev. William G. Cowan, 85; Jeffrey Wisner Gillette, 87; James F. Ireland, 82; Mrs. James F. Ireland, 74; Dominic Minnie, 87; Mrs. Minnie, 84; Mrs. Zilpha A. Parker, 89; Mrs. Sarah Ellen Flannette, 87; George M. Walton, 81; Mrs. Caroline Frances Wilcox, 86; Mrs. Mary Phillips, 87; Henry Clay Brown, 94; Mrs. Juliana Hayes, 81; R. N. Taylor, 78; Mrs. Addie L. Carter, 78; Olaf Force, 81, and A. O. Devoil.

SKILLED WORKMEN LEAVING ENGLAND

Emigration to America and Other Countries Is Causing Alarm

LONDON, May 30.—Public opinion here is alarmed at the number of skilled men emigrating to America and other countries. According to information given in the House of Commons by Sidney Webb, president of the Board of Trade, 20,509 skilled workers in the building, metal and engineering trades left England for America in the first nine months of last year. Of this number 12,807 took up permanent residence in the United States, according to Webb.

Webb admitted that extensive house building programs are being held up through lack of skilled labor.

Nurse Denies Making Love to Man Aged 76

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—Declaring that her friendship with Amos L. West, 76, former Kansas City resident now living in Long Beach, was nothing more than a business affair, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, pretty nurse, testified in the contested divorce suit of Mrs. Mary West.

The nurse, with whom it is charged West was infatuated, admitted running up and down the beach clad only in a bathing suit with West, but denied there was ever "any love making."

AUTHOR OF LAW ON CHILD LABOR EXPLAINS NEED

Senator Shortridge Tells Why He Drafted Bill Before Congress

After a fifty year struggle by friends of children, a child's labor amendment to the United States constitution will probably be passed by the present Congress. Senator Shortridge, the author of the proposed amendment, here gives his views upon this important legislation.

By SAMUEL M. SHORTRIDGE, United States Senator from California. Written Expressly for International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—I am highly gratified that the long battle for the children of the United States is drawing to a close and will end in victory.

Next Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock the Senate will vote upon my resolution proposing a child-labor amendment to the constitution. I am confident the Senate will accept the resolution by the necessary two-thirds vote.

Greatest Asset

My interest in the children of America has been an outstanding factor in my public and private life.

I have personally experienced poverty and the hardships that go with it, and I long ago resolved that if I were ever given an opportunity I would fight the battles of poor girls and boys.

They are the greatest asset of our country. They are the only asset we possess that has ever contributed to our republic. The childhood of America is the greatest possession of the world. I mean that specifically. The future generations of Americans will mold the history of the world.

Gives More Freedom

What we need now is an untrammelled generation; one generation that is not enslaved; one generation that is not directed by masters; a generation that recognizes responsibilities.

We can have these things only by having an untrammelled childhood; a childhood without the curse of a master so exacting in his demands that makes humanity a curse itself.

Since children are brought into the world without their own volition, entirely helpless and dependent, to protect them by law is not alone simple justice, but it is also of the greatest importance to every state that its citizens should attain the highest moral, intellectual and physical development.

OVER-RULE PLEAS AGAINST SEWERS

Trustees Order Work to Proceed, Set Date for Receiving Bids

BURBANK, May 30.—The Board of Trustees have overruled two petitions objecting to the construction of the proposed sewer system and have adopted resolutions ordering the work to proceed. June 24 is the date set for receiving bids.

The protests consisted of one signed by Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Fawkes and another signed by W. G. Pugsley and 87 other property owners. Neither protest gave the grounds for which the protests were being made, confining themselves merely to a protest against the construction of the sewer and the assessment against the property for paying for the same. The protests were referred to the city engineer for checking up to determine the proportionate number of names on the petition compared to the total number of property owners in the district to be served. The engineer reported later in the evening that the petitions did not represent a majority of the property owners of the city and on this basis the board proceeded to adopt the above resolutions.

Guests of Friends

Tells Graft

CHARLES R. NASH reveals corruption in internal revenue bureau before senate committee.

Another scandal path was blazed when Charles R. Nash, assistant commissioner of internal revenue, told a senate committee investigating the affairs of the internal revenue department that in three years 796 employees of the bureau had been dismissed from the service on charges of graft and collusion.

CONTRACTORS TO STAMP HIGHWAYS

Hereafter State Will Know Who Is Responsible for Faulty Road Work

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—Road contractors building California highways henceforth will be compelled to stamp their names and the date in the highway at the conclusion of each day's work, according to the State Highway commission.

"If a contractor knows that his name will be linked with each piece of work he undertakes the job is likely to receive better attention than it would otherwise," said R. M. Morton, state highway engineer. "When a unit of work fails to stand up under traffic the name of the contractor responsible for the faulty construction will be constantly before the public. On the other hand, if the work is good it will stand as a permanent advertisement for the builder."

In asphalt work a brass plate will be inserted and in concrete the name of the contractor, together with the date, will be stamped.

STEAM ROLLERS ARE SMOKELESS

Nuisance Done Away With And Fuel Is Conserved By Engineer's Plan

CINCINNATI, O., May 30.—Cincinnati is indebted to Joseph Stehling, steam roller engineer, for the elimination of virtually all of the black smoke which formerly marked the path of the city's steam rollers.

Not only is the smoke nuisance overcome by a simple device designed by Stehling, but fuel is economized and the life of the engine and boiler prolonged, it is said.

Stehling forces a spray of steam into the firebox. This steam mixes with the smoke, forcing it through the firebox again. Here a large portion of the fuel produced in the smoke is consumed. The remainder of the smoke, almost invisible, due to its combination with steam, emerges from the stack.

Charge Japs Supplied Mex Rebels with Arms

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The Japanese government furnished arms and ammunition to Mexican rebels in 1922 for use in overthrowing the existing Mexican government, it was revealed here today by a report of the department of justice documents read to the Wheeler-Brookhart committee. The department reports also showed that Japanese military officers acted as secret service agents to promote a Mexican revolt.

Guinea Pigs Arrived Too Fast, Must Settle

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—Because guinea pigs multiply rapidly will cost Dr. J. A. Roberts laboratories here $1,000. The laboratories, under contract to purchase from Dr. E. E. Kinnach all the guinea pigs he could raise found themselves soon swamped with thousands of the animals and refused to pay for them. Dr. Kinnach sued and his $1,000 judgment is on record here.

COMEDY TICKLES CROWDS AT TENT

'Nothing But the Truth' Goes Over with Whoop with Patrons of Show

Glendale turned out wholeheartedly to greet Murphy's Comedians last night and gave them a royal house-warming in their new location at the corner of North Brand boulevard and Stocker street, Casa Verdugo. So great was the procession of cars trying to park that Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department, had to dispatch a special traffic officer to straighten out the congestion.

To show their appreciation of all this enthusiastic patronage the Comedians outdid themselves last night, and "Nothing But the Truth" went over with almost continuous applause from the great crowd that packed the big brown tent.

It was a thrilling, inspiring, hilarious, laugh-riotous performance. Every funny line seemed funnier and each ludicrous situation more ludicrous. Many in the audience had seen the play before and when the last curtain descended they were heard everywhere to exclaim that last night's performance was the best ever.

Good for Business

Naturally, the merchants of the Casa Verdugo section are overjoyed to have Murphy's Comedians with them. It brings business, creates good-will and makes everyone happier. "Those fellows are a regular tonic," one merchant said. "They stimulate not only my business but my funniness, and when I come home from one of their shows I feel like a kid."

The Comedians will open with a new show on Sunday night, June 1, "The Squash Head," another hilarious farce comedy. Meanwhile "Nothing But the Truth" continues to draw packed houses, showing nightly at 8 o'clock.

Titter, 84-year-old foreman, in a trembling voice.

U. S. Agents Used in Bergdoll Kidnaping

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The attempt to capture Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire draft dodger, at Eberbach, Germany, on January 21, 1921, was made by agents of the United States government, Secretary of War Weeks has revealed.

In a letter to Speaker Gillett, Weeks said that the attempt to get Bergdoll was made by Frank Zimmer and Charles Naef, agents of the criminal investigation division of the war department.

In the attack on Bergdoll, Lena Rutt, a German girl, was wounded when one of the Americans fired his pistol. Weeks asked Congress to appropriate $200 to indemnify her.

Nevada Solon Scores Veterans' Bureau 'Ring'

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Denouncing the administration of the Veterans' bureau under Director Frank T. Hines, Senator Oddie, Republican of Nevada, attacked the Senate by a scathing attack upon its alleged "inhuman treatment" of wounded ex-service men.

Oddie charged a "ring" of office holders in the bureau were guilty of "miserable inefficiency, cruelties toward disabled men" and on occasions "framed" ex-service men into insane hospitals.

Conditions in the bureau under Hines, he said, were worse than under former Director Charles R. Forbes, because of this ring's activities.

NEW RECORD FOR BUILDINGS SEEN

Vandewater's Prediction Is Based on Official Permit Figures

three months out of the five last year's record has been eclipsed, as the following table will indicate:

	1923	1924
January	$1,035,336	$1,029,553
February	1,019,613	895,706
March	1,036,475	968,050
April	528,938	626,754
May	588,637	802,864

Total.....$4,252,059 $4,232,807
Three Big Permits
"The record is a remarkable one in every way," stated Mr. Vandewater last night. "During the first five months of 1923 three permits were issued which totaled over one and a half million dollars. During the same period of time this year our largest permit has been $216,000; and the next one $75,000."

"It means this, that homes and small buildings erected since the first of the year or under construction at the present time exceed by one million dollars the investment during the five corresponding months in 1923."

Mr. Vandewater added that he looked for another banner month in June, with several large projects planned. Although a little slow in getting underway, 1924 is rushing forward with a momentum that promises to give Glendaleans more cause than ever to take pride in their residence in the best city in the best state in the best country in the world.

Fraser, Glendale police chief, will be grand marshal of the afternoon parade, which will assemble at Forest Lawn memorial park at 2 o'clock following a parade down Brand boulevard and Glendale avenue. There another memorial program will be carried out, with a squadron of airplanes from Clover Field, Santa Monica, dropping flowers from the skies.

John Arthur Myers will direct the school children in the singing of "America the Beautiful," and after an invocation by Rev. C. R. Norton of the G. A. R. and a solo by Miss Elizabeth Rudy Mottern, a G. A. R. ritual service will be conducted. Assemblyman Frank C. Weller will deliver one of the principal addresses, representing the American Legion. Orra E. Monnette of Los Angeles, president of the Bank of America, will be the speaker of the day. The exercises will conclude with the decoration of the symbolic grave, after which a firing squad from Fort M. Arthur will fire a volley. "Taps" will then sound, and another Memorial day will have passed into the glorious record of American history.

CONVICTS SHY AT CHANCE TO FLEE

Fear Lack of Moral Strength to Resist Temptation to Seek Liberty

AUBURN, N. Y., May 30.—"Convicts in the oldest prison in use in New York State prefer to stay behind the bars rather than enjoy life in the open as workers in road camps."

That is the strange announcement of State Superintendent of Prisons James Long, who declared that the moral fear of the temptation to escape keeps prisoners at Auburn State Prison from accepting the free life of the road instead of the drab monotony inside the walls. Auburn Prison is located in the heart of the Finger Lakes region and the gangs of convict highway builders are stationed at wild spots along the improved roads linking and circling the inland lake. Now that it is about time to commence sending men out to work on the various roads to the prison officials are trying to get together a list of men who desire to be outside during the summer months.

One would believe it an easy task to get the men interested—but such is not the case. Chances for a getaway are numerous. In this environment the lure of the lake country to freedom, to independence and to recreation in the zone which was the playground of the Indian, is a temptation, indeed. In virtually all cases where escapes have been effected from road camps the convicts have later been apprehended. Their sentences were then extended. It is the grim fear of this possibility which, the superintendent asserts, is keeping the men in gray from the woods and glens and limpid waters of the Finger Lakes.

OFFICER BREAKS STATE FIRE LAW

Willits' Constable Convicted On Charge of Burning Slash; No Permit

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—State Forester M. B. Pratt announced the arrest and conviction of Constable H. I. Willits of Willits, Mendocino County, on a charge of setting fires in violation of the state fire laws.

The Mendocino County peace officer was found guilty of burning slash on the outskirts of Willits without a permit, the fire escaping his control and destroying several acres of young timber. He was fined and given a warning that a second offense would bring a jail sentence.

AMERICA HOLDS FINEST MOTHERS

French Poetess States That United States Children Looked After Best

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—"The American woman is the super-mother of the world!" So says Mme. Marie Jonnesco, French poetess and art critic, here recently on a special mission for the Queen of Rumania, to interest Americans in the art of that country.

"American women are closer to their children than any on the globe," said the French visitor.

COURT FUNCTION COSTS TOO MUCH

Presentations Not Wanted by Cabinet Members' Wives in England

LONDON, May 30.—Wives of British Labor cabinet ministers are showing no anxiety to achieve the height of social ambition by being presented at court.

But Ambassador Kellogg has hundreds of applications from American ladies for every presentation allotted to him. So the Englishwomen's refusal may help his difficulties.

The main objection of ministers' wives is the expense. None of them are overburdened with means, and they claim that the cost of the outfit necessary for them to make their curtsy before the queen cannot be justified, particularly as they may not be able to use it again.

Only One Application
"I could never use the train again," said one. "It's all right for young girls. They can utilize the same train when they get married."

"I could not afford to buy those feathers, just to wear once," said another. "It looks to me like waste of money." And, said another, "We Labor women are no good at walking backwards."

So the courts at Buckingham palace will not be very troubled by cabinet ministers' wives. Viscountess Chelmsford, hostess of Admiralty House, would have made the presentations, but, so far, the only woman who has approached her in the matter has been Mrs. J. H. Thomas, wife of the colonial secretary, who wants to be presented with her two daughters—"Peggy," who is 23, and Doris, who is 17, and has just left school.

Mrs. Clynnes, wife of the deputy leader of the House of Commons, does not think she will undergo this formality, especially as she has met the queen many times informally, and her daughter, Mrs. Herbert, has only just recovered from an operation for appendicitis and will not be well enough for social engagements for some time to come.

It has not even been decided whether Miss Isabel MacDonald, daughter of the prime minister, will be formally presented at court. She has already met the queen at several dinner parties and a number of other social functions where she has been a guest with her father, and has spent a week-end with the royal family at Windsor castle. Ramsay MacDonald is not a believer in unnecessary splendor, although he is a great lover of tradition.

So the wives and daughters of the Labor administration are not likely to be presented in great force to make their bow before the throne when King George and Queen Mary hold court this season.

Thousands of Men in Army Have Same Name

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Some idea of the complications which could arise out of duplication of names in the veteran lists the war department must handle in setting the adjusted compensation act in motion may be obtained from the following figures:

There were 50,328 men named "Smith" in the army during the war. Of these 47,952 were enlisted men and 2,376 were officers.

There were 40,101 named "Johnson," of which 38,961 were enlisted men and 1,140 officers.

There were 28,902 named "Brown," of which 27,723 were enlisted men and 1,179 officers, and 27,938 named "Williams," of which 26,973 were enlisted men and 965 officers.

RED CROSS WILL AID APPLICANTS

Veterans May File All Claims for Bonus with Pacific Coast Organization

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—Red Cross Chapters will assist ex-service men to file their claims for Federal bonus, according to an announcement made by William C. Hunt, manager of the Pacific division of headquarters of the American Red Cross.

Letters authorizing this step have been dispatched to the three hundred chapters of the Red Cross in the Pacific division. Forms and instructions will be sent to chapter chairmen as soon as received from Washington, D. C.

"It is fitting that the American Red Cross should be called upon by the government for this continued co-operation in working out the welfare of the men and women who served in the great war," said Manager Hunt.

JURIST SAYS DRY LAW WILL REMAIN

Legionnaires Told That Men Will Marvel at Former Liquor Licenses

SACRAMENTO, May 30.—Addressing the American Legion Federal Judge Frank H. Kerrigan of San Francisco, declared that "seventy-five years from now the people will not understand or believe that the selling of liquor was once sanctioned by the law."

The jurist said that absolute, consistent enforcement of the prohibition law probably would take twenty years to attain.

"Half the cases in the federal court," continued the speaker, "at the present time are liquor cases. The court is cluttered with them, and the jails cannot accommodate the offenders. Still, taking everything into consideration, prohibition is here to stay."

Talks Investment to Women at Back Door

CHICAGO, May 30.—"Call a woman to the front door to talk investments and she invariably replies half wittingly to questions, and the interview is ended with an impatient explanation about letting the husband invest her money; but call at the back door and the same little lady is a shrewd-eyed business woman."

So declares Miss Katherine L. Berry, in charge of the woman's investment department of a Chicago bank, which is a pioneer in woman's investment circles.

Kitchen selling is the only method to bring results, Miss Berry declares.

"Women transact thousands of dollars' worth of business every year across the steaming suds of a washtub, over glistening pans of freshly scalded dishes and tables littered with baking pans. Cake recipes, laundry hints and chats about the baby are only a little part of the back door sales talks necessary for the selling of bonds and investments."

Average number of people in the world is one to every twenty acres; 400 years hence it will be five to every acre, if present increase rate continues.

Spirits of camphor will erase ordinary drawing ink if not rubbed too hard.

BURNEY SCHEME TO BE ADOPTED

British Isles to Be Connected with Colonies by New Airship Service

By CHARLES A. SMITH
For International News Service.

LONDON, May 30.—Official announcement of a State-subsidized, commercially-run trans-British Empire airship service is to be made shortly, it is learned.

The scheme for an airship service to connect Britain with her dominions has been extensively urged by Commander Burney and other influential people for the last two years, and it is understood that it is the Burney scheme which the British Government is proposing to act upon.

It is unlikely, however, that the full Burney scheme, entailing expenditure of more than $300,000,000, will be accepted, but that some sort of compromise arrangement will be made for the time being.

To Build Airships
This would include the building and testing of two giant airship liners, one of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity, to represent the commercial interests involved in Commander Burney's scheme, and the other to be purely Government craft, to be handed over to the Admiralty, after completion, for experimental purposes.

The commercial airship will be built to carry 300 passengers and will have sleeping berths, bathrooms and dining-cars. It is expected that in an airship of such dimensions and power it will be possible to reach India from England in three days.

Long Cruising Radius
The Government airship will be structurally different, being built to carry fighting aeroplanes and personnel and having a cruising radius of more than 20,000 miles. Both airships will be built at the Government airship factory at Cardigan.

The date of the actual commencement of the service will rest on the speed and success of the experimental work to be carried out.

MONTE CARLO TO LOSE SUPREMACY

Plan on Foot to Institute Gambling in Dublin for English Tourists

DUBLIN, May 30.—A million-and-a-quarter-dollar scheme to make Dublin a second Monte Carlo and the Mecca of the English and American gamblers is revealed in a Government report here.

The plan, according to the committee which investigated its merits, was to establish, in the vicinity of Dublin "a modern, well-equipped hotel or casino, furnished with the usual sporting facilities such as are available at Monte Carlo and other casino resorts, as a counter-attraction to these places."

Government's Per Cent
The company making the offer states it would furnish the hotel with baccarat, chemin de fer, roulette and trente et quarante tables and that the Government should take 25 per cent of the profits and the company the rest, on a twenty-one years' monopoly.

Week-end gambling parties from England are predicted if the scheme comes to fruition.

The attitude of the Government is said to be favorable, but awaiting the stand of the Church before making public its decision.

Booze Found Stored In Garage Gas Pump

CANTON, O., May 30.—Booze stored in a gasoline pump in a garage here was the find of local dry enforcement officers.

Strangely enough, the officers became suspicious when, during a raid, they found a steady flow of liquor sprouted forth. Considerable work with pick and shovel was rewarded by the finding of a barrel containing corn sugar whisky.

Raiding officers said the barrel was buried beneath the garage three years ago, and its supply replenished from time to time by removing the pump and inserting a funnel. The garage owner was arrested and the pump confiscated.

Klan Declares War on Auto Petting Parties

GADSDEN, Ala., May 30.—The Ku Klux Klan has declared war against "petting parties" in this section.

In a letter to Sheriff R. A. Leath that organization filed a vigorous objection to the continuation of "roadside outrages," according to the official, and demanded that they be stopped. Copies also were sent to Gadsden newspapers.

The letter concluded with: "Our membership is going to furnish you with car numbers, occupants' names, also to bring this matter before the grand jury of the county, and we assure you that we are pretty well represented in every community of the county. If the law cannot cope with the situation we will help the law."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BULLY NO TAIL

"Dear me!" exclaimed Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the hollow stump bungalow one morning. "This is too bad!"

"What is too bad?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who was getting ready to hop off and look for an adventure. "Do you mean you see two bad chaps, Nurse Jane—the Bob Cat and the Alligator?"

"Nothing like that, I'm glad to say," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I mean it's too bad my wrist watch has stopped. It must be broken, and now I can't tell what time it is when I go shopping."

"Let me see," spoke Mr. Longears. He put his ear to Nurse Jane's watch. There was no ticking sound. The watch had stopped.

"What shall I do?" asked the muskrat lady's housekeeper. "I ought to be going down town now to meet Mrs. Bow Wow, the lady dog. But I won't look at all stylish if I don't have a wrist watch. Wear mine," kindly offered Uncle Wiggily, taking it from his paw. "It's a bit larger than yours, but it is going, and yours isn't. However, I'll take yours to the jeweler's while I'm out adventuring. He'll fix it for you."

"Thank you," murmured Nurse Jane. So she put on Uncle Wiggily's wrist watch and gave him hers, and then she went down the path to meet Mrs. Bow Wow and Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods, to look for an adventure, and also to have Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy's watch mended.

Uncle Wiggily had not hopped very far through the woods when, all of a sudden, he heard a croaking voice say:

"There! Now it's gone and I can't have any more fun! Oh, why did I bounce it so high! Oh, dear me!"

"Here is trouble, as sure as my pink nose twinkles!" said Uncle Wiggily, his eyes shining like stars on a frosty night. "I'm glad there is trouble, for it gives me a chance to help. But first I must look and see that it isn't the Fox or Wolf trying to play a trick on me."

Peering through the bushes, the rabbit gentleman saw only Bully No Tail, the frog boy, gazing sadly up into a tree.

"What's the matter, Bully?" asked Uncle Wiggily, hopping out from behind a bush.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" croaked the frog boy. "I bounced my rubber ball so hard that it jumped up into this tree, and I can't get it down! I've jiggled the tree and joggled the tree, and I've thrown stones up to try and knock my ball down, but it won't come back to me."

"That's too bad," spoke the bunny rabbit. "Perhaps I can get it for you." Uncle Wiggily saw where the frog boy's ball was caught in the fork of the tree. Then the rabbit gnawed a long stick from the mulberry bush, and with the stick, Uncle Wiggily jiggled the tree, and the ball fell down. It bounced on the ground and the frog boy caught it.

"Oh, thank you, Uncle Wiggily!" he croaked. "You are very kind. I wish I could do something for you."

"Tut! Tut! Nonsense! Don't talk of such a thing!" laughed the bunny gentleman. Then he hopped along to get Nurse Jane's watch mended and Bully hopped along bounding his ball. But the frog boy took good care not to bounce it so hard as to make it jump up in a tree.

The dog gentleman jeweler screwed a funny little round glass in his eye and looked at Nurse Jane's watch.

"There's nothing the matter with this watch except that it needs winding," barked the dog jeweler. Then he twisted the stem and the watch began ticking as merrily as before.

"Oh, I'm glad of that," said Uncle Wiggily. "Thank you." He put the watch in his pocket and again hopped in the woods, to look for an adventure. Reaching a cool, deep spring of water in the forest, Uncle Wiggily felt thirsty, and, kneeling down, he took a long drink. And just as he finished, he heard a ker-plunking sound, and something went swish into the spring.

"Oh, my goodness! It's Nurse Jane's wrist watch!" cried the bunny. "It slipped out of my pocket and went into the spring!" And that is just what had happened.

Uncle Wiggily tried to reach

What's the matter? croaked a voice

Uncle Wiggily was putting the watch in his pocket when, all of a sudden, the Bob Cat jumped out of the bushes and cried:

"I'm going to take you off to my den, Mr. Longears."

"Oh, no, you aren't!" croaked Bully. With that the frog boy jumped back into the spring and splashed so much water on the Bob Cat that the bad chap sneezed "ker choo and ker foo!" and ran back into the woods.

"Thank you, Bully!" laughed the rabbit gentleman, as he hopped away with Nurse Jane's watch, and then the frog boy hopped along bounding his ball. And if the clothes horse doesn't go to sleep under the hall tree and forget to give the tickled olive a ride on its back, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the carpet tacks.

Uses Radio In Revolt

PRESIDENT ALFREDO ZAYAS of Cuba spends his time between fighting revolutionists and broadcasting appeals to the people over the radio.

Where other executives have hidden themselves away while the shooting was going on, President Alfredo Zayas of Cuba is winning supporters to his side in his battle with revolutionary elements by the open way in which he is handling the situation. He is dividing his time between revolt scenes, the first executive ever to do so, and the presidential palace in Havana, where he has radio equipment in his office to broadcast appeals to the people.

HADDEN HALL FOR DAIRY
Hadden Hall, in England, immortalized in Charles Major's story, "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," and further made famous by Mary Pickford's charming picture of the same name, is to be made into a dairy farm, we hear. Mary Pickford and her husband (Douglas Fairbanks) are now abroad and intend to visit his work and insisted that he had no ambition to be a movie actor. Incidentally he is manager of the company.

FILM TREE-CLIMBING FISH
A motion picture expedition will soon leave for Ceram, an Island of the Malay Archipelago, to make films of a remarkable tree-climbing fish that is found nowhere else in the world. The expedition is sponsored by William H. Thomson, former mayor of Chicago. The fish is about nine inches long. It is said to spend most of its time on land chasing the insects on which it feeds.

Kerrigan refused to take a check for his work and insisted that he had no ambition to be a movie actor. Incidentally he is manager of the company.

Why I Am In Glendale

The latter part of last June I came to California on a thirty-day vacation. I had spent around twenty years in the service of the federal government (that was before the day of investigating committees), and during that time had occasion to visit some thirty or more of the states, but had never reached Southern California.

Making Hollywood headquarters, I began to visit the different towns within a radius of a hundred miles. Within two weeks I determined on making some place in Southern California my home, just a matter of location. After a visit to Glendale I could not get the place out of my system. Its enterprising citizenship, a city of homes, churches, schools and environments that could not be duplicated by any other city, appealed to me. I went back to the old home Texas town, gave my stuff to the first man who would make me an offer, and now as a Glendale citizen I sing its praises daily and do it conscientiously.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

For International News Service.

KANSAS CITY, May 30.—The work of promoting domestic talent rather than long hair and elongated fingers has at last gained recognition as the primary requisite for musical distinction. Sheiks and flappers, whether of pasted or shorn locks, need have no further fear of being ignored if they possess real musical ability.

Applause for the long-haired foreign artist who appears at concerts in strange sartorial attire, merely because of his eccentricities, is becoming passe, and a concerted movement is under way to encourage American artists of plainer manners and appearance, provided they possess the requisite talent.

This was the declaration of national music leaders who attended a meeting of the board of directors of the National Federation of Music Clubs here recently.

They were unanimous in the opinion that musicians and music patrons no longer look for freakish actions and eccentricities as an indication of talent.

Foreign artists always were good attractions in the drawing rooms of society leaders and their concerts generally were followed by bursts of applause, kisses on locks and finger tips and endearing praise by the audiences.

To supplant the less talented and to give encouragement to American artists, the National Federation of Music Clubs now devotes an entire department to the work of promoting domestic talent.

"We are not trying to shut out the foreign artists," Miss Helen Harrison Mills, of Peoria, Ill., explained. "Their distinguished talent always is recognized. But for too many years we Americans have been prone to give all our applause to foreigners.

"The National Federation now is undertaking to place promising artists before the public. In doing that, we say we are on a fifty-fifty basis—that is, sponsoring both the foreign artist and the American artist."

The National Federation of Music Clubs announced that at the biennial convention in Portland, Ore., in June, 1925, a young artists' contest will feature the meeting. Each state federation will send its state winners to district tryouts and the districts in turn will send the winners to the national contest.

The winners of the national contest will gain the attention of the musical world and probably will be sent on concert tours, it was announced.

Kansas City music lovers, responding to a subscription campaign for the establishment of a symphony orchestra, subscribed $233,505 and gave assurance that increased pledges in the fund over the quarter million next two years would bring the dollar goal which was set.

A "Little Symphony" orchestra was organized here about a year ago and this will form the nucleus for the larger symphony organization.

From Book Of Life

MAGNIFICENCE
Too often magnificence is confused with mere largeness, pompousness and glitter. A good definition of magnificence is that given by Edmund Burke in his dissertation on the Sublime and Beautiful.

"Magnificence is a source of the sublime. A great profusion of things, which are splendid or valuable in themselves, is magnificent. "The stary heaven, though it occurs so very frequently to our view, never fails to excite an idea of grandeur. This cannot be owing to the stars themselves, separately considered. The number is certainly the cause. The apparent disorder augments the grandeur, for the appearance of care is highly contrary to our idea of magnificence. Besides, the stars lie in such apparent confusion, as makes it impossible on ordinary occasions to reckon them. This gives them the advantage of infinity.

"In works of art this kind of grandeur, which consists in multitude, is to be very courteously admitted; because a profusion of excellent things is not to be attained, or with too much difficulty; and because in many cases this splendid confusion would destroy all use, which should be attended to in most of the works of art with the greatest care; besides, it is to be considered, that unless you can produce an appearance of infinity in your disorder, you will have disorder only without magnificence.

"There are, however, a sort of fireworks, and some other things, that in this way succeed well, and are truly grand. There are also many descriptions in the poets and orators, which owe their sublimity to a richness and profusion of images, in which the mind is so dazzled as to make it impossible to attend to that exact coherence and agreement of the illusions, which we should require on every other occasion."

Burke offers as an example of this, the description which is given of the King's army in Shakespeare's play on Henry IV:

—All furnished, all in arms, All plumed like ostriches that with the wind Baited like eagles having lately bathed: As full of spirit as the month of May, And gorgeous as the sun in Midsummer, Wanton as youthful goats, wild as young bulls. I saw young Harry with his beaver on Rise from the ground like feathered Mercury;

And vaulted with such ease into his seat. As if an angel dropp'd down from the clouds To turn and wind a fiery Pegasus.

In a book notable for the vivacity of its descriptions as well as the solidity and penetration of its sentences, "The Wisdom of the Son of Sirach," there is a passage on the high priest Simon the son of Onias, which is another illustration of Burke's point:

"How was he honored in the midst of the people, in his coming out of the sanctuary! He was as the morning star in the midst of a cloud, and as the moon at the full; as the sun shining upon the temple of the Most High, and as the rainbow giving light in the bright clouds; and as the flower of roses in the spring of the year, as lilies by the rivers of waters, and as the frankincense tree in summer; as fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessel of gold set with precious stones; as a fair olive tree budding forth fruit, and as a cypress which growth up to the clouds. When he put on the robe of honor, and was clothed with the perfection of glory, when he went up to the holy altar, he made the garment of holiness honorable. He himself stood by the hearth of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about; as a young cedar in Libanus, and as palm trees compassed they him about. . . ."

Poems That Live

CHILD'S SONG IN SPRING
The silver birch is a dainty lady. She wears a satin gown; The elm tree makes the old churchyard shady. She will not live in town.

The English oak is a sturdy fellow. He gets his green coat late; The willow is smart in a suit of yellow. While brown the beech trees wait.

Such a gay green gown God gives the larches— As green as He is good! The hazels hold up their arms for arches. When Spring rides through the wood.

The chestnut's proud, and the lily's pretty. The poplar's gentle and tall, But the plane tree's kind to the poor dull city— I love them best of all.

THE FARMER BOY SAYS:

"Among other proofs of their wisdom the ancients regarded milk as a medicine."

CROUP

Two weeks ago, I ran the first article on Croup, in our Confessions of a Baby series. I had the Adorable Sockums tell you how his Grammie fixed up a croup tent for the little girl, Alice, next door. There is a little more I want to tell you about croup.

We used to speak of two types of croup—the true, or diphtheritic croup; and the simple, or false croup. But nowadays we do not use the term croup for the diphtheritic type of the disorder, for this is known to be due to diphtheria of the larynx (the wind-pipe), so it is known as laryngeal diphtheria. This differs from the simple croup in that it is extremely dangerous, while the simple croup is not dangerous. If laryngeal diphtheria is allowed to go on for days, without the use of anti-toxin, the child is very apt to die of strangulation if a tube is not inserted in its throat so the air can get to its lungs. By that time the system is so poisoned that the child is liable to die anyway.

Recently a New York quack doctor treated a case like this with what he called spinal adjustment. The frantic family finally called a real physician who gave anti-toxin, but it was too late. The child choked to death. The quack was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to Sing Sing.

One of the latest discoveries of medical science is a treatment which causes the child's blood and tissue cells to manufacture a defense which protects it from getting diphtheria. This is known as the toxin-antitoxin treatment. What we have known as antitoxin is still used after the child gets diphtheria, but it has been proved pretty conclusively that if a child can take toxin-antitoxin treatment, it need not have diphtheria. I am going to write more on the subject soon. Today I want to finish telling you a little more about simple croup.

Simple croup is sometimes called spasmodic croup and it occurs most often in undernourished children or children suffering from rickets. Indigestion, colds, and obstructive adenoids and tonsils are often found to be predisposing causes for the attack.

You know from my articles on children feeding what to do to prevent these conditions. Other hygienic measures—keeping the child out in the open as much as possible, having good ventilation at night, plenty of rest and sleep—are, of course, a part of the preventive treatment.

Now some of the other things to do for the spasmodic croup, besides the croup tent and the hot bath which Sockums told you of two weeks ago, are as follows: A hot compress applied on the throat and upper chest, bringing it well up under the jaws and covering the ears. Leave this on for a few minutes. Take it off and rub the throat with cold water and then apply a fresh hot compress. Give the child some hot water to drink. Kellogg says that sometimes sprinkling cold water on the child's face and chest will cause the spasm to relax, but that a more efficient remedy is to seize a child by its feet, hold it upside down and slap it smartly on the back. I never have seen this done, but apparently Kellogg has. A warm enema is sometimes effective.

Croup usually gives home preliminary symptoms during the day. The child may have some difficulty in breathing and may have a hoarse cough. The spasmodic attack usually comes on about midnight. After the attack the child usually falls asleep and seems quite well in the morning. There may be two or three other attacks in succession.

The croup tent can be made of an open umbrella placed over the crib and covered with sheets. A tea kettle, two-thirds full of actively boiling water, is placed on a chair at the foot of the bed and the nozzle inserted under the tent. A teaspoon of compound tincture of benzoin to the quart of water makes the steam more effective. Syrup of epeac, 15 drops every 15 minutes, for a baby from six to ten months old, and 30 drops for those over that age, given while the child vomits, is recommended by most children specialists.

Milady's Vacation Frocks

The approach of summer holidays raises the question of appropriate frocks and coats such as are regarded as essential to the wardrobe of the well-dressed woman. Below are shown some of the latest styles.

ME. LISBETH

Judging by the enthusiasm with which fashion writers are suggesting clothes for the June brides and the sweet girl graduates in their literary efforts it would seem that there are to be no girls left unmarried or ungraduated—at least any that take any interest in clothes for themselves. I must confess to an absorbing interest in the two classes of femininity mentioned above, and at times it does seem as if the only clothes worth writing about these May days are those intended for the trousseau of that bride or suitable for the many class festivities and graduation of the school girl.

Realizing in time that there are probably a few of you women who are bent on pursuing the even tenor of their accustomed ways and probably going on vacations as usual I decided to say a word about clothes suitable for them.

Every woman knows, I suppose, that if they do not rush to the shops and choose a spring coat in February or March, but wait until the rush is over, they can usually get a bargain, although they will have to content themselves with a somewhat picked over stock. Many very desirable coats will be left, however, at greatly reduced prices. If you have not already chosen a coat for all purposes this very handsome and practical garment will appeal to you. It is one of the new cape models and is fashioned of navy twill with a banding in blue, red and yellow for trimming.

If you prefer a suit, a jaunty little black roshanara crepe affair is to be seen on the right. Pippings of white appear on the sleeves and collar and a white crepe blouse with a touch of black and a black and white hat complete the costume.

The dainty frock in the center might be carefully folded and laid in the suitcase or trunk for the subduing of the masculine beholders when worn on sundry occasions. A crystal pleated chiffon is used as a foundation and over it is placed a gold colored all-over embroidery. A belt of white beads and rosette of ribbon and beads gives a chic finishing touch.

Beauty Chats

THE YOUTHFUL OLD WOMAN

When I was young a grandmother was an old lady who was an expert at knitting and making up wise maxims. Quite often she wore a lacy white cap. I am glad I have known the type, for I firmly believe it extinct. I knew one—but I won't reminisce!

Today's grandmother wears smart toques with flying veils, trim tailored suits, frilled blouses, an 18-year figure. She takes "cures" if she can afford them and if not, goes periodically on diets at home, takes gymnastic exercises or plays golf for her figure, uses pink face cream, knows the latest dance steps and the most amusing musical comedies and often smokes cigarettes. She is, of course, the daughter-generation to the grandmother of my childhood, I'm glad I know her type, too. I wonder whether her daughter-generation, when it achieves grand-motherhood will go back to lace caps and knitting. I doubt it!

There is a time when every woman must grow old. When that time comes, she had better submit gracefully, and be as charming and youthful-hearted as an elderly woman as possible. But that doesn't mean that she should not put off the days of old-ladyhood as long as possible. The great thing is to know when to stop trying to look young, when to give up the bluff we all play, to let the gray hairs alone, adopt a more dignified style of dress, and manners to match. It's better to be a young looking old lady, than an old-looking, would-be-young one. There will be a time, anywhere between 40 and 60, when one must stop being young or even youngish, and submit to middle age. Watch for that time!

What a lot of moralizing! But even in the midst of middle age, cold cream and face powder and such things can comfort one's soul.

Reader—Brittle nails are helped by keeping the skin from growing over the base of the nails, as that interferes with the circulation, increasing the trouble. Regular manicuring will be the cure for this tendency. Another great help result from massaging oil or cream into the nails every night, and after each time the hands have been immersed in wa-

Miss Eve Lowenthal is a young Jewish girl who has hit upon a novel method of earning her way through the Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, Pa. She started a fad for hand painted Panama hats with college color emblems and frat designs done in oils. The fad "took" to such an extent that Miss Lowenthal is E. LOWENTHAL away behind in her orders for eastern colleges.

Miss Ruth B. Esparza, a girl of humble parentage in Guanajuato, Mexico, has enrolled as a student at the Illinois college at Jacksonville, Ill. She hopes to fit herself for teaching the children of her native country. Her plan includes the starting of a great campaign for bettering the educational program now in force, for schools are few in Mexico. Body building, hygiene, clean living, industry and economics are some of the things she hopes to teach to thousands of Mexican boys and girls.

The World Conference on Education which met at San Francisco in July, 1923, passed a resolution setting aside May 18 of each year to be observed as World Goodwill Day. As May 18 this year comes Kirkman, in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Mary S. Allen, London's first and foremost policewoman, arrived in this country recently to study our police methods. Miss Allen dresses in a uniform consisting of long belted top coat, mannish collar, string tie, high boots and garrison cap, which is the correct dress of the London policewoman, but she is very feminine in her manner and has a soft, well modulated voice. She will lecture on the work of London police women in Washington, Boston, Buffalo and New York.

Mrs. Frank B. Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J., and New York, has been appointed joint delegate with her husband to the scientific management congress to be held at the Masaryk Academy of Labor in Prague, Czechoslovakia, next July.

Mrs. Gilbreth is one of two engineers who have been elected to honorary membership in the American Society of Industrial Engineers, the greatest honor for a management engineer.

She is a graduate of the University of California and has a Ph. D. degree from Brown University, is the author of several authoritative books on the psychology of management of fatigue study, and is the mother of ten children.

The first and only woman judge in Alabama, and so far as known the only one in the south, is Mrs. Virginia Henry Mayfield, of Birmingham, Ala., judge of the Court of Domestic Relations. The court was created by legislature last summer and Governor W. W. Brandon appointed Mrs. Mayfield to the office.

All affairs pertaining to domestic affairs, with the exception of divorces, are managed by this court. Mrs. Mayfield takes a pride in trying to adjust differences between man and his wife, and between parents and children. She gives motherly and womanly advice, rather than resorting to fines and punishment whenever the case will admit and the parties can be persuaded to try it all over again.

ANGELS WIN AS MARTY STEALS HOME IN NINTH

L. A. Boss Takes Desperate Chance When Score Is Tied, Beats Bees

By C. R. SIMMONS
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, May 30.—In a ninth inning rally the Angels yesterday afternoon emerged victorious, 3 to 2, after they had literally lost their third straight game to the Salt Lake Bees. It was a sensational finish, Marty Krug stealing home and otherwise chasing his men around as the fans stayed to see a real bit of baseball.

Salt Lake scored in the fourth and eighth and it looked like they had the game sealed up, for the Angels had registered only in the fifth frame when Beck walked with bases full and forced in Hood. Frederick on the Bees landed on one of Root's offerings in the eighth for a homer, and Weinery was called in to finish the game. The score:

Carpentier Slips Away for Workout Before Big Fight

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 30.—Georges Carpentier slipped away from the watching crowd late yesterday and got in his last hard knock-out training for his bout tomorrow with Tom Gibbons of St. Paul. Although it had been determined that Georges would not do any more boxing, Francois Descamps, manager, changed his mind and sent the French heavyweight through some fast work. No one aside from camp attaches were present.

DOPE FROM DUGOUT

NEW YORK, May 30.—With its first eastern trip ended, no major league club of the west presents a more striking contrast than Cleveland. It has been batting better than any club in the circuit except St. Louis and seemingly is fielding fully as well as any except New York and yet it cannot win better than half its games. When the Indians started on their eastern trip they looked as if they had found their bearings. They won five games in succession and fans who fancied this team of sluggers began to grin broadly. But the Indians then promptly proceeded to lose six in a row—three of them to Boston, which has developed a kick laden with dynamite.

Three victories out of those six lost games would have put Cleveland in a mighty good position to fight their way to the top. But Speaker's men did not get them. What ails Cleveland? Pitchers.

The team seemed strong enough in pitching talent when it was in Florida. Speaker had confidence in Shaute, felt Coveleskie was on the way back to the corn crib, and figured that Edwards would have something to show. Guy Morton looked as if he might round to the standard which he has threatened for three years, and there was Sherry Smith, the old Brooklyn southpaw, and Leavon, a kid of promise. Uhle, of course looked like a safe deposit vault full of gold pieces.

Yet Speaker has only two pitchers who have won more games than they have lost—and their margin is painfully close. Smith and Edwards, both left handers, have a little credit balance. The others have been kicked around like an old football. Part of Speaker's distress in the pitching department may be due to the unseasonable weather. Old pitchers of which he has more than his share, will not warm up to a good game in cold, raw weather. Apparently the time has come when Speaker must decide whether to continue waiting on the old boys, or pull in some of the youngsters he has planted and take a chance on getting results from them.

The Indians' greatest success has been against the weaker teams of the league. But you can't win a championship on second division victories. Speaker has got to start beating the first division clubs or give up his pennant dreams.

Two major clubs have been handicapped by injuries to players. McManus, of the St. Louis Browns, is laid up with a broken finger. With a team intact, the Browns might have fought their way into the lead by the middle of June. Can't tell what they will do without his aid. Cincinnati loses a powerful batter and a generally efficient infielder by the temporary retirement of Fonseca with a broken arm. The Portuguese is a solid thumper. The Reds have not any more utility players than they need. In fact they have not enough.

The Reds do not look as good today as Pittsburgh, though the Pirates are not so well up in the race. Cincinnati might well have taken on an infielder and an outfielder before the season started. The gamble for the championship was worth it.

PENNER FIRST TO COUNT TEN WINS

Tiger Ace Has Pitched in Thirteen Games Since Season Started

Ken Penner, hurling ace of Bill Essick's Tigers, is the first pitcher in the Coast league to win ten games this season. He has had three defeats. Lefty Mitchell of San Francisco leads the league with eight wins and one loss. Vean Gregg of Seattle is tied with Bob Geary of the Seals for third place. Hulvey of Salt Lake is second. The veteran Doc Randall of Los Angeles with six wins and two lost leads the Los Angeles pitchers. The great Walter Mills is down in the list with seven wins and five lost.

Plenty Of Science Here

There should be lots of speed and action tomorrow when GEORGES CARPENTIER, upper left, and TOM GIBBONS, upper right, meet in Michigan City, Indiana. Below is a cutback to that well-known Shelby shell-out, when Gibbons lived through 15 rounds for almost nothing.

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Written for The Evening News. Whatever else may be said of the battle between Georges Carpentier at Michigan City, Ind., tomorrow, it can be taken for granted that the battle will furnish lovers of boxing science and skill a real feast—if both boxers step in his defense as well as his offense. He covered himself cleverly against all of Dempsey's short-arm blows to the body in their mill at Shelby.

Just how much of his speed the French idol has retained in the years that have elapsed since he met Dempsey remains to be seen, of course. Those who have watched him in action in Europe of recent months say he has slipped woefully. His knockout victory over Townley, the Englishman, was not impressive, it is generally agreed. Townley is not his match in boxing and even lacked a wallop.

On the other hand the chances are that Carpentier has not been

NEW YORK, May 30.—The half mile race feature of the intercollegiate meet Saturday promises one of the greatest contests of the big event, but the writer has his doubts whether a new record will be established. It seems a century since the writer stood within the enclosure at the time of the London and New York Athletic Club games and saw Charlie Kilpatrick run his famous half mile. It seems only yesterday that the writer, as an official in the Harvard Stadium saw Ted Meredith in his double record breaking half mile which he ran in one minute and 35 seconds.

VILLA-ASH FIGHT WILL TAKE PLACE

Judge Vacates Injunction Issued to Halt Bout in Brooklyn Ring

NEW YORK, May 30.—Supreme Court Justice Benedict yesterday afternoon vacated the temporary injunction issued on Monday by which the Villa-Ash fight at the Henderson Villa in Brooklyn, scheduled for tonight, would have been prevented. The fight will be held as scheduled.

The injunction was sought by property owners living in the vicinity of the bowl. The writer in the fight attracted undesirable who damaged their property and that its operations constituted a nuisance. The bowl is located at Nostrand avenue and Sterling street, Brooklyn. Owners of the bowl contended the fight was attended by representative citizens.

FOR GAME'S SAKE

By LAWRENCE BERRY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.
NEW YORK, May 30.—Having looked over the results of spring football practice, and digested them, Knute Rockne sends word east he doesn't expect that Notre Dame's eleven will be as good next fall as last. Rockne's prognostication seems chiefly based upon the loss of several important players. Knute has mourned similarly in past seasons and the burden of his plaint has related to missing stars. But the fact will not have escaped the observer of intercollegiate athletics that this accomplished coach usually produces each year a sufficiency of stars to meet the needs of the season.

Consider what he did with Stullreher. When the boy was in Kiski, all the scouts of various colleges that look to Harvard school for material paid scant attention to him. He came to Notre Dame with no reputation and not much ability. But when Rockne got through with him he was a blazing star.

It was the same with Elmer Layden; Brown, the star forward, and a lot of other men who have been luminaries at South Bend. So unless history fails utterly to repeat itself, Rockne will not be so badly off for material next fall as might just now appear on the surface.

Suppose you were a physical director and had just signed a contract to coach football and conduct sports generally at a place with a thirteen million dollar endowment, where no tuition is charged to students and board and lodgings in beautiful commons and comfortable dormitory cost $25 a month? You would think you had landed in a whole-souled and generous institution, wouldn't you?

Well, this is precisely the sort of place into which John W. Heisman, one-time coach at Georgia Tech, then at Pennsylvania and last year at Washington and Jefferson, has dropped—Rice Institute, Houston, Tex. Rice merely took a glance at Rice Institute, took one peering survey of the conditions that obtain there and dived for the dotted line like a trout going after a silver coachman. The faculty is made up of picked instructors from the north—Yale, Harvard and Princeton grade mainly. The arrangement of fine buildings of the Spanish mission type is adequate.

ALL-STARS WILL BE HERE SUNDAY

Jasper Washington's Fierce Hitting Crew to Meet Sox Second Time

Jasper Washington brings his Colored All-Stars to Glendale for their second meeting with the White Sox next Sunday. On the occasion of their last trip here they went away with the short end of the count, the score being 6 to 1.

On that day Archie Thornton was right and held the colored sluggers down to two hits, one of which was a homer and accounted for their only run. One bad inning, the third, when two hits and two two-base errors netted five runs, was disastrous to the visitors. Jackson, one of the best port side twirlers on the Coast was in great form, and the game was a thriller outside of that one inning.

The Sox have won all five games played in the summer league and of course will be out to keep the slate clean and accidentally hang up their fifteenth consecutive victory.

Frank Kerwin is still up in the air over his choice of a twirler for Sunday. He has three on his list but none of them signed as yet. As manager of the Sox and secretary of the managers' association he is in closer touch with good pitchers than any other man in this part of the country, so should have no difficulty in lining a man to take Cruze's place.

BASEBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about baseball, or a rule interpreted, or if you want to know anything about a play or player, write John B. Foster, the man who helped make the rules, and which the game is played today. If you want a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column. Address: John B. Foster, Special Baseball Correspondent of The Evening News, 811 World Building, New York.

QUESTION—If a runner on first base starts to steal second and the batter hits a foul fly and a first catcher it and throws to first, is the runner out?
ANSWER—The runner is out if he has left first and is unable to get back to the base in advance of the throw.

QUESTION—If the batter steps on the plate and a pitched ball comes over the plate and hits him, is he out?
ANSWER—Not on the first or second strike, and only on the third if the umpire decides there has been interference.

QUESTION—In the ninth inning A. who is pitching for the visiting team, which is leading, 8 to 5, is taken out and B is put in. Two runners are on the bases at the time. Before the inning is over the home team wins, 9 to 8. Who is the losing pitcher?
ANSWER—B loses. Counting both runs that were put on the bases by the game would not have been tied and it was evidently tied and won on B's pitching.

BLAME DRY LAW

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 30.—Decline in the florists' business is another thing that can be laid on the prohibition law, according to local flower dealers. The hobby who used to take home a peace offering to friend wife, after a night with the boys, no longer drops in to buy American Beauties, and his failure to do so is hitting the florists where it hurts most—the cash register. Accordingly, it's to the women that the florists must look for patronage these Sahara days, and the women are not regarded as particularly liberal spenders for flowers, local dealers assert.

LEWIS, ARGUE AND KAER LEAVE SOON

Trio to Compete in Events at New York for Berth on Olympic Team

By R. C. FRANKLIN
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, May 30.—Charlie Lewis, Morton Kaer and Cliff Argue, three of Southern California's ifon men athletes, are scheduled to leave this city Tuesday for New York, where they will take part in the decathlon and pentathlon Olympic tryouts. In an attempt to land a berth on America's team to Paris this summer, the three athletes are scheduled to leave this city Tuesday for New York, where they will take part in the decathlon and pentathlon Olympic tryouts.

Lewis, who is representing the Los Angeles Athletic club, won the local decathlon tryouts at the coliseum, while Kaer, a freshman at the University of Southern California, defeated the athletic club entry for the pentathlon. Argue did not take part in the tryouts here, but is being given a chance to try out in the east because of his past record. He is going as a representative from Occidental college to the eastern tryouts and chances are very good that he will represent America across the water.

Lewis, Argue and Kaer are undoubtedly three of the best all-around athletes in the country. The performances of the three men this season have been nothing short of marvelous and many are picking them to get the cross-water trip. Lewis is a former Occidental student and later attended Cornell. At Oxy he did not take part in track due to an injury received in football, and the past few years he has competed in all the open meets, performing in top-notch fashion in all of them.

Hard to Determine
Until that question is settled, it will be manifestly impossible to determine with precision the ratio of endurance between the sexes. But it may be considered as fairly well established that the male who can hold in after two and a half bobbles, and the female who can hold in after eight, are somewhat above the average in self-restraint.

One of the most striking examples of self-restraint the writer came across in delving into the subject of golf tempers, was furnished by a woman golfer who is a member of one of the eastern clubs. Her sailing record is 192 shots for an 18-hole course, without a single "damn."

In Water Hole
About half the 192 shots were spent at a water hole, where she splashed her ball. It took wading, boating and shooting to get it out, but she kept on until she did. She was wet, bedraggled and grim of face, but it is solemnly attested by witnesses that she never once cursed the contrary little spheroid.

EX-GOVERNOR IN PLEA FOR WATER

Dr. Pardee Wants All Burnt Areas to Be Reforested Immediately

MODESTO, Cal., May 30.—Every acre of watershed that is stripped of its natural covering by fire and destroyed as a conservator of moisture should be reforested or rebushed without delay, said Dr. George C. Pardee, former governor of California, in the course of an address before the Exchange and Kiwanis clubs. Dr. Pardee declared the state takes on the attitude of a mendicant when it begs the federal government for funds to fight forest fires and does not appropriate money out of the state treasury. Preservation of watersheds as conservers of water for summer use is a matter of primary importance to the entire state, said the former governor. Great areas of the finest land in California are entirely dependent on summer irrigation for production, he declared.

Somewhere in between those two extremes lies your own endurance record. Are you above or below the average?

HERD OF CATTLE AND STOOD GONE

Officers Seeking Diseased Cows Run Onto Hidden Cache and Still

PORTERVILLE, Cal., May 30.—Misfortune befalling today for Joe Mello, dairyman, whose herd of cattle was slaughtered by federal officers in the warfare against the hoof and mouth disease. The officers in making a final clean-up on the ranch ran into a cache of bootleg liquor. Maston appeared and confiscated the still and some liquor. Mello appeared in Justice Lumley's court and pleaded guilty to possession of liquor and to possession of a still. He was fined $1,000 which he paid in court.

Countess Makes Debut As Cabaret Performer

LONDON, May 30.—Catherine, Countess of Westmoreland, has made her debut as a cabaret performer. Countess Westmoreland has filled an engagement as a soloist in "Dolly's Revels," a midnight performance, staged by Edward Dolly, brother of the Dolly Sisters.

The Countess gave a new touch to cabaret performances when she sang simple ballads and folk songs, instead of jazz.

RECORDS DIFFER IN GOLF TEMPER

Blow Up After Few Bad Shots; Women—No

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.
NEW YORK, May 30.—What is your temper endurance record? How many shots can you take for a hole in golf, without blowing up and streaking the circumadjacent ether with superfluous sayings?

Professional golfers, who teach all kinds of men and women the game, have great opportunities to observe the display of human frailty in the face of exasperation. Incidentally, they come out with wonderfully enlarged vocabularies of profanity.

A poll of some of these sages of the links, just completed by the writer, discloses that the male golfer, on an average, is able to endure only 2-1-2 bad shots without releasing the floodgates of his wrath and damning everything in sight and a lot that isn't.

Women golfers, the same straw ballot shows, are much more solicitous about their future after death. Their average seems to be between six and eight shots. The reason the women's average cannot be brought to a more exact figure is that many women golfers have a habit of dropping out of sight—around the end of a high bunker—after a few bad shots.

Sometimes their lips can be observed working frantically as they disappear. But whether they have retired to cuss in private, and actually do say naughty words behind the bunkers, cannot be established with scientific certainty.

Hard to Determine
Until that question is settled, it will be manifestly impossible to determine with precision the ratio of endurance between the sexes. But it may be considered as fairly well established that the male who can hold in after two and a half bobbles, and the female who can hold in after eight, are somewhat above the average in self-restraint.

A man in Schenectady illustrates how short-tempered golf can make a human being. One poor shot caused him to swear, by actual measurement, for 200 yards. And when he caught up another offending ball he drove it clear of the course and flung his club after it.

Somewhere in between those two extremes lies your own endurance record. Are you above or below the average?

Young Dynamiters Are Victors Over Citrus

The Glendale High Freshmen Baseball Nine Took the Citrus High School Freshies, who are Leading the League at this Time, Down the Line on Moyle Field at the Harvard High School Yesterday, 10 to 3.

The Lemons scored their three runners in the third inning. After that time they were unable to hit the ball. Jesse Herman pitched good ball for the Dynamiters and was given fairly good support by his teammates. "Big Boy" Smith of the visitors had little on the ball, and was given poor support.

Question Legality of Accounting Section

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Constitutionality of the general accounting section of the budget act was questioned in a brief filed with the House Judiciary committee by Attorney-General Stone. Since the law provides that the comptroller-general is irremovable by the president, it takes away the chief executive's power to dismiss an appointee and in this feature its constitutionality is questioned.

TREASURY HEAD SCOUTS CHARGES MADE BY MEANS

Mellon Declares Spy's Story of Liquor Dealings Is Irresponsible

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Testimony before the Wheeler-Brookhart committee by Gaston Means, regarding Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, was denounced by Mellon late yesterday as "irresponsible and too absurd to deserve notice."

"Some months ago I was subpoenaed by the committee but have as yet to be asked to appear," Secretary Mellon said. "If the committee gives any credence to Means' story it will undoubtedly call upon me for the facts."

Blames Mellon "If you'll investigate you'll find that Secretary Mellon knows more about the liquor situation than any other man," said Means. "The big banks were the big bootleggers and the daddy of them all was the Mellon bank."

Means said an attempt had been made to bribe him. When he reported all this to the department of justice, Jesse Smith said to him, Means said, that he had a commission from the president to investigate the prohibition office and he wanted to go to the top, regardless of who was involved, and that particularly did he want to get Commissioner Blair out.

"What happened to the Guggenheim case?" asked Wheeler. "So far as I know, nothing whatever has been done by the department about the case."

Means charged that "the interests" were working hand-in-glove with the whiskey smuggling ships of rum run on the east coast. "After the Guggenheim case, what did you do?"

"I walked out of the department and opened an office in a local hotel," Jesse Smith paid my expenses. He paid the expenses of my stenographer, Miss Laura Jacobson.

"Did she try to get something on Senator Caraway?" "She did everything possible."

"Did you investigate Caraway for yourself?" "Certainly not; for Jesse Smith. To me, Caraway was only a number, like a bishop."

SCIENTISTS TO TRY TALKING TO MARS BY RADIO

Chicago Group Busy Now on Plans for Experiment in Communication

By OWEN L. SCOTT Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924. CHICAGO, May 30.—The possibility of communicating with Mars, an idea that has engaged the fancy of scientists since astronomy first developed that support for the theory that that far-away planet is inhabited, is being debated with renewed vigor as a result of a series of experiments about to be undertaken at the University of Chicago.

Radio is the means by which this dream may be made a reality—provided, of course, that the coming experiments prove successful, and also provided Mars is inhabited by a race which knows something about the mysteries of radio, but recently discovered on this globe.

The trouble about radio communication with Mars to date has been that the air about the earth's surface is extremely poor conductor of electricity and would head off any message that tried to get through its blanket into space. But it has been believed for some time that the further penetration goes into the great empty spaces beyond the earth's air blanket, the less becomes the resistance to transmission of electricity.

To Use Balloon It is to prove or disprove this theory—and thus establish or upset the possibility of radio communication with Mars—that the University of Chicago scientists are sending their plans. An extremely ingenious and delicately balanced recording mechanism, which is to be carried to new heights by a hydrogen balloon, will determine exactly the conductivity of thinning atmosphere, as it shoots up twenty miles or more.

In making this first attempt at scientific determination of the resistance of the upper air to electricity, the scientists hope to send their balloon to a height three times that reached by man in his greatest exploits with a balloon or airplane. Even at that relatively nearby distance, the atmosphere is so thin that man cannot exist in it. It is figured that if electrical resistance is found to diminish markedly in that distance, it will diminish more in the vast ether beyond.

Meantime, a group of scientists are planning a light test, to be conducted in the Swiss Alps next August, in an effort to attract the attention of our 35,000,000 miles away neighbors. There are one way on Mars. Using the snow as a reflector, the scientists plan to direct powerful light rays through lenses at Mars, while great telescopes will watch to see what, if anything, the surprised Martians will do by way of response.

Failure to get action in this way would leave radio as the last known recourse for inter-planetary communication. Of course, there is no assurance that a possible race of Martians would have developed wireless. But scientists think there is a good chance they may have, since Mars is a much older planet than the earth, and it is believed that, if any, would have had the benefit of five million years in which to conduct scientific research and experimentation.

In this connection, it is recalled that Marconi, a few years ago, reported that he had picked up a 150,000-meter wave length, which is greater than any wave length known on earth and some scientists are inclined to the belief the waves were sent out from Mars.

PORTLAND, May 30.—Wool sellers in this section are still reluctant to bid on prices that have obtained for their clips, but sales of about 100,000 pounds in the Lewiston district of Idaho has been confirmed at 30c to 32 1/2c a pound, with some Prineville wool bringing 35c to 36c, and Bannock clips selling as high as 38c to 39c. Sealed bids on some Boise lots were rejected by growers.

BUSINESS NEWS

By W. W. FORSTER Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924. PITTSBURGH, May 30.—An increase in the volume of business indicates that a turn for the better in the steel trade is approaching. Steel manufacturers say there is an excellent potential demand and this feeling is being made evident by the slight increase in the price of scrap. There has also been a stiffening in the price of pig iron, but this will have to be extended considerably before the so-called merchant furnaces are able to resume and make pig at a profit.

By EARLE D. JENCKS Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924. ST. PAUL, May 30.—Twin Cities wholesale and retail dealers are doing from 10 to 15 per cent less business than a year ago. This is due chiefly to protracted cold weather. Political uncertainty has been a minor disturbing factor. Trade will spur under influence of warmth favorable to crop growth, but gains sufficient to make the volume approach that of 1923 are not expected until after July when the crop money can be fairly well estimated.

COMMODITY NOTES

LIVE STOCK FORT WORTH, May 30.—American cattlemen are pleased with the tightening of the restrictions against importation of Central and South American cattle into Mexico, feeling that these regulations will tend to prevent passage of cattle disease from Mexico north of the Rio Grande.

KANSAS CITY, May 30.—There has been some inquiry for mules in this market for shipment to the Southern cotton states, but no shipments yet have been made.

COTTON ATLANTA, May 30.—The demand for calcium arsenate for fighting the boll weevil is increasing, and tenant farmers in southwest Georgia are threatening to quit their crops unless landowners provide large quantities of the poison. Cold, rainy weather has started abandonment earlier than last year, although the movement is not general yet.

WOOL PORTLAND, May 30.—Wool sellers in this section are still reluctant to bid on prices that have obtained for their clips, but sales of about 100,000 pounds in the Lewiston district of Idaho has been confirmed at 30c to 32 1/2c a pound, with some Prineville wool bringing 35c to 36c, and Bannock clips selling as high as 38c to 39c. Sealed bids on some Boise lots were rejected by growers.

BOSTON, May 30.—The mills are not buying raw wool here in any large quantities. This is attributed to the slackening off in the foreign prices, as revealed in recent British auctions.

SAN ANGELO, May 30.—The Wool Growers Central Storage company of this place received over 45 cents a pound for some eight months wool sold Boston interests, and 49 cents for some twelve months clips. These figures are the highest of the season so far.

LUMBER SEATTLE, May 30.—It is feared here there will be an almost complete suspension of sawing in the lumber mills of Washington June 15. For the twenty weeks of this year lumber production in the Pacific Northwest has been nearly 3 per cent greater than any similar period in history, while orders fell off almost 11 per cent from 1923.

OIL ST. PAUL, May 30.—The St. Paul Automobile club is selling gasoline to members at 15.9 cents a gallon; but, while independent oil dealers forecast a cut in price soon, the prices to the general public have been affected in this city, although some rural stations sold at 18 cents last Sunday.

BUSINESS WORLD

NEW YORK, May 30.—The outlook for coal seems to be brightening but, according to men in the town with the industry, the bituminous markets still have a long way to go before they are satisfactory to either mine owners or mine workers. The improvement in the bituminous markets so far has been largely in tons for tonnage, although some few contracts for fairly large amounts recently have been placed in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The bituminous coal industry in the east, the middle west and the south is closely allied with iron and steel and indications that the latter commodities were scraping rock bottom with better demand prospect shortly is encouraging to coal men. Bituminous prices have touched such low points that it is felt that improvement in demand will be reflected promptly in betterment of prices and many mine owners who have had their properties closed down are preparing to open them in order to reap full benefit of the rise when it comes.

Production is now at a low ebb. In Pennsylvania the bituminous properties are working about 45 per cent of full time while those on rail routes have cut down to 20 per cent of capacity. In Illinois well over 100,000 miners are believed to be out of work or working only a small percentage of full time. Hundreds of mines in Ohio and other parts of the middle west are closed entirely.

The latest large coke contract calling for delivery of ten thousand to twelve thousand tons of Connellsville coke during June, July and August was made at less than $5.50 a ton. This compares with $1.25 a ton for the figure at which current contracts for the second quarter of the year were made last January and February. Coke men say it is impossible to produce coke at $3.50 unless wages are reduced and some wage cuts already have taken place in Pennsylvania.

These brought wages to the 1917 scale. A cut of about 20 per cent with a consequent reduction in coke prices by the Lincoln Coal & Coke company, however, failed to produce business and the company closed the ovens. The treatment of production of January and February of this year which was larger than for any other similar period in the past, amounting to $2,000,000 and $6,000,000 tons respectively is now being absorbed and the statistics already has been added by the fact that during the past few weeks was lower than at any time since the depression of 1921.

A good many consumers are commencing to feel that to delay placing orders for supplies much longer will be to their disadvantage and consequently are putting in inquiries for tonnage at figures which they still consider advantageous.

Just at present there is no high pressure in the manufacturing or retail industries, which constitute the bulk of the coal consumers. Later, however, the most accurate authorities believe activity will increase and in some cases it may be found that coal reserves are dangerously low. Such a condition undoubtedly would lead to a sharp jump in price and a consequent improvement in the number of miners at work.

Already the coal situation in Detroit has improved to such an extent that the Ford company plans increasing its coal shipments and expanding the weekly schedules at its mines from 2 to 3 days a week. All the Ford mines now are operating to some extent. Coal prices in the northwest show signs of stiffening and wholesalers in that section are encouraged over the outlook.

The anthracite mines are facing no such depressing situation as the bituminous properties. The usual summer reduction in prices at the mine and at the consumers' bin have served to stimulate domestic demand and the mines are running actively with output, especially the so-called domestic sizes being well absorbed.

TEXAS PRIMARY COST KLAN THOUSANDS, CLAIM WASHINGTON, May 30.—Between $8,000 and $10,000 was spent by Dallas Ku Klux Klan No. 66 to put over its slate in the Texas primary election of 1922. H. M. Keeling testified yesterday afternoon in the Senate election committee's investigation of the Paddy-Mayfield senatorial contest. Senator Mayfield, whose seat is demanded by George E. B. Paddy, defeated candidate, was on the ticket, the witness said.

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—Despite the cry of habitual pessimists who live in California, prominent stock issues that have a place on the Los Angeles stock and bond exchange are refuting them. Here is just one single instance that proves this point:

For April Southern Pacific reported a gross of $21,863,000 or only $17,000 less than last year's record figures. Not much ground for worry there? Not for the month was $3,496,000 compared with $3,517,000 a year ago. For the four months the gross of $86,447,000 is 1.4 per cent ahead of the year ago, although net of $10,431,000 is $1,779,000 less.

Based on the seasonal variation the net is at the annual rate of practically $10 a share on common stock. For the year 1923 Southern Pacific reported a net from railway operation of $54,228,000, outside income $13,381,000, fixed charges $23,507,000, leaving a balance for dividends of $12.92 a share. The balance sheet as of December 31 showed a strong financial condition. The combined statement of the Southern Pacific and its subsidiary companies showed cash and government bonds and demand loans in excess of $56,040,000, compared with total current liabilities of $41,276,000. The working capital was $68,420,000.

Outside of equipment trust maturities and $1,743,000 Oregon and California 5 1/2 maturing in 1927 there are no large issues to be refunded until 1929 when $60,858,000 of 3 1/2, 4, 4 1/2 and 5 1/2 come due. Earnings for the past eight years, not including government guarantee, have averaged $11.08 a share on the stock outstanding.

FINANCIAL BRIEFS

The Empire Gas & Fuel company, subsidiary of the Cities' Service company, Los Angeles, has closed transaction with the California Oil and Gas company for the lease of the southwest quarter of section 4-11-23 near Mariposa. The property adjoins the big transport Bush producer and Empire plans drilling four wells to offset transport well. The rig is up for the first offset and the work is to start immediately. Terms of the lease are understood to include a large royalty.

The Cuban Cane Sugar company has passed the $3,650,000 bag production compared with an output of 3,284,731 last year. The Central Moron is still grinding. Equipment for the reconstruction of the Tokio telephone system will be manufactured in England by the Nitron Electric company. The first order for 750,000 pounds has been placed.

COMMENT That's All

Drama League's Aim City Honors Heroes Ban on Fraternities Obedience to Law

By Gil A. Cowan

Pasadena this week is playing host to the Drama League of America. This organization stands sponsor for the speaking stage and bases its only salvation on the Little Theatre movement.

Community interest in the drama is most commendable in view of the fact that the theatres are becoming merely automats of the motion picture producers.

Film houses are forced to take that which is served them. The public is not consulted in the matter. And as a result dissatisfaction is seen on every hand.

It is good to know that the drama league will carry on, and there is no reasonable doubt but what the renaissance of the speaking stage is coming.

Memorial day again is here. The tributes annually paid the veterans of the Civil war, as well as others, more and more hush, mainly appealing as the years roll by.

In Glendale fitting services have been prepared. It is every patriotic person's duty to share in some way the observation of Memorial day.

And do not fail to display the American flag on this occasion.

Respect for the law should be taught the youth of this nation. Concerning the subject the editor of the Riverside Daily Press has the following to say:

"The school board of Alameda has given high school students notice that they must resign membership in secret fraternities within six days, and furnish evidence of having done so, or be expelled. There has been a law on the statute books of the state for ten years barring secret organizations from high schools. This law is being violated all over the state. Some principals take the position that they know of no such organizations in their schools, and if the students join such fraternities which meet elsewhere than in the school it is none of their business. This is a paltry dodging of the issue, because a fraternity composed of high school students is a high school fraternity regardless of where it may hold its sessions. That all such secret societies were included in the scope of the law is plain from its very purpose, which is to keep secret societies out of school life during the immature years of students.

"Bad conditions led to the enactment of this law, and like laws are in effect in other states. Recent events in several cities in California reveal the need for such a law, especially one in Sacramento.

"It is, of course, easier for a principal or a superintendent or a school board to ignore the existence of such societies until some outrage or act of enthusiastic and immature judgment brings private grief and public scandal. The majority of men are of that disposition, pedagogy having its full share. Sad experience has shown that boys of high school age are not old enough to exercise the powers of a secret fraternity with conservatism and judgment. They go to extremes, often with fatal results. Experience also shows that such fraternities consume too much time and enthusiasm which should be given to studies.

"But, whether prohibition of fraternities in high schools is wise or necessary or not, is not the only question, nor is it just now the most important. Respect for and obedience to law is the great issue of the day. What sort of law abiding citizens may we expect to turn out from schools where law is set at defiance by the students and its violation winked at by the teachers? A tremendous tidal wave of disrespect for law is sweeping over the country, embracing all ages and classes of citizens, but in the main embracing those but recently arrived at the age of full citizenship and those still below the age. Our jails are filling up with these young law violators. If the schools do not hold and inculcate high standards of citizenship, where are the boys to acquire them? This is a far more serious question than that of the desirability or undesirability of high school fraternities."

school coaching staff, has been adapted to the seasonal sports, as well as boxing and wrestling. Both the men's and women's classes have been well attended.

Lip-Reading Class

A course was offered this year in lip reading under the direction of Miss Mary Rice who is widely experienced in that line. The class has been meeting in the afternoon, and many people totally or slightly deaf have been learning this method of overcoming their handicap. Mr. Ferguson states that the course has been greatly appreciated.

It is expected that all of these courses will be offered again next year with the addition of new subjects including different lines of art work, music, commercial law, salesmanship and additional work such as United States history, civics and mathematics.

Work in practically all of the courses will be arranged so that a student may enter at any time without being handicapped by his late entrance. It is planned. This is possible because of the individual character of the instruction. Mr. Ferguson expects that a waiting list will be necessary in a great number of the classes.

DEGREE WORK BY DE MOLAY TEAM

Local Drill Team to Confer Ranks at Fillmore on Saturday Night

A large delegation from the Glendale chapter, Order of De Molay, will visit Fillmore tomorrow night to put on degree work for the chapter there. The caravan will leave the Masonic temple at 4 p. m., arriving in Fillmore at 7 p. m. The work will start at 8 o'clock.

Cullom Heffington, master counselor of the Glendale chapter, asserts that the local initiation team can compare favorably with those of the other chapters of the Hollywood team, which put on work before the local chapter on May 15, is supposed to be the best in the south, and he feels that the Glendale team is equally as good.

It is urged that as many members attend as possible in order to make a favorable impression on the Fillmore chapter. Cars will be provided for those who have not arranged transportation.
