GENERAL INFORMATION

DELEGATES PLEASE READ

Hotel Headquarters.—The hotel headquarters will be at the Portland, Sixth and Morrison. Executive Committee meetings, preceding and following the Convention, will be held at the Portland.

Railroad Certificates.—All railroad certificates must be handed to Lucy Anthony, Chairman of Committee on Railroad. After these have been signed and countersigned they will be returned to the owners. Note date for handing in as announced from the platform.

Post Office.—A post office will be established at the Congregational Church. All mail addressed to "Woman-Suffrage Convention" may be called for at this post office.

Interviews.—Members of the Convention will realize that courtesy demands that no conversation be carried on in the auditorium or on the platform during sessions. Persons desiring interviews are, therefore, requested to send their cards to the platform by the pages who will be in attendance, thus securing an announcement of their desire to meet their friends in the reception room.

Sales Tables.—Attention is called to the Sales Tables which will be found on the main floor near the door. They will contain tracts, suffrage stamps stationery, leaflets, etc., etc. The proceeds from these tables will go to the National Treasury.

Luncheon.—Luncheon will be served in the dining room at the close of the morning sessions, at 25 cents.

Badges.—Delegates and visitors are requested to secure badges from the Committee, who will be found at the sales table. Delegates are requested to procure badges, as they will identify members of the Convention and will be the means of securing seats at evening sessions.

Rest Room.—Delegates and visitors will find a Rest Room where they may rest and write.

BATTLE HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC.

By Julia Ward Howe.

Tune—"John Brown."

Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord,
He is trampling out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored;
He has loosed the fateful lightning of his terrible swift sword;
His truth is marching on.

Chorus—Glory, Glory, Hallelujah!
Glory, Glory, Hallelujah!
Glory, Glory, Hallelujah!
His truth is marching on.

He has sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat;
He is sifting out the hearts of men before his judgment seat;
Oh, be swift, my soul, to answer him! be jubilant, my feet!
Our God is marching on.—Chorus.

In the beauty of the lilies Christ was born across the sea,
With a glory in his bosom that transfigures you and me;
As he died to make men holy, let us die to make men free,
While God is marching on.—Chorus.

HEALTH IN THE FOOD

Every one knows that Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure. The housewife uses it with confidence, and she is justified in so doing.

But how few realize that Royal Baking Powder is a direct product of the healthful and delicious grape! The product of the grape, crystallized and ground, is the cream of tartar which forms the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.

Fruit properties are needful for the healthfulness of the body, and the grape as used in Royal Baking Powder is the most valuable and healthful of all.

Royal Baking Powder

produces food remarkable and wholesomeness.

From the West to the West

ACROSS THE PLAINS TO OREGON

By ABIGAIL SCOTT DUNIWAY. With Frontispiece.

A MOST INTERESTING chronicle, in fiction form, of the perils and hardships, as well as the romantic incidents, of travel fifty years ago.

One of the most interesting books of the year is "From the West to the West," across the plains to Oregon, by Abigail Scott Duniway, of this city, a most scholarly woman, whom this state delights to honor. The tale is a fascinating one, dealing with the hardships of the pioneers and their exciting adventures, and the word-pictures of those stirring times are admirable.

Around the facts of the early day crossing of the plains Mrs. Duniway has woven a romance which gives the life touch to the tale and at the same time brings out vividly the sufferings and dangers which were the lot of the courageous pioneer.—Oregonian.

Mrs. Duniway has written as she will—has not been influenced by any one's style or convictions. Her book is a genuine "human document," and will be greatly enjoyed by that numerous and growing class of readers which has learned that a sincere setting down of personal convictions and actual experiences is the thing after all.

The author's decidedly vigorous opinions upon "woman's rights," divorce and other issues of the past and the present are always to the fore, and always inspire respect. Indeed Mrs. Duniway's personality, strong, sensible, resourceful, shines from every page. It is the personality of the noblest type of pioneer woman—the type which made the conquest of the West by the civilization of the Eastern States possible. A type, alas! that is fast vanishing away, leaving only the results of their great labor, unflinching courage and noble ambitions.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Mrs. Duniway's book, "From the West to the West," though written as a novel, is true to life and border history. It is a work of which every true Westerner may well be proud and a book which should be in every home in this land. One could read history after history and yet not find out as much concerning pioneer life as is to be found within the covers of "From the West to the West."—Portland Evening Telegram.

MRS. ABIGAIL SCOTT DUNIWAY

Mrs. Duniway's historical novel, "From the West to the West," was accepted with thanks by the publishers, A. C. McClure & Co. Chicago. . . . The book is having a phenomenal sale.—Oregon Daily Journal.

Mrs. Duniway's new novel, "From the West to the West," is dedicated to the Historical Society of Oregon, which may well feel proud of the compliment from so talented a representative of the State as Mrs. Duniway.—San Francisco Chronicle.

It is a book of wonderful interest, wonderfully well written. It may be taken for granted that it is true to life and gives a correct picture of border histories. The circumstances in which it is written add to the interest. Taking it all in all, "From the West to the West" is a most remarkable book.—St. Louis Star.

"I place the demand for woman's political emancipation as a matter of duty. I think we are bound to seek it as a very great means of doing good, fulfilling our Social Duty of contributing to the virtue and happiness of mankind, advancing the kingdom of God."—Frances Power Cobbe.

GOD.

By F. W. Faber.

There's a wideness in God's mercy,
Like the wideness of the sea;
There's a kindness in his justice,
Which is more than liberty.

For the love of God is broader
Than the measure of man's mind;
And the heart of the Eternal
Is most wonderfully kind.

If our love were but more simple,
We should take him at his word,
And our lives would be all sunshine
In the sweetness of our Lord.

OUT OF THE DARK.

S. Longfellow.

Out of the dark the circling sphere
Is rounding onward to the light;
We see not yet the full day here,
But we do see the paling night;

And Hope, that lights her fadeless fires,
And Faith, that shines, a heavenly will,
And Love, that courage re-inspires,—
These stars have been above us still.

O sentinels! whose tread we heard Through long hours when we could not see,

Pause now; exchange with cheer the word,—

The unchanging watchword, Liberty!

Look backward, how much has been won!
Look round, how much is yet to win!
The watches of the night are done;
The watches of the day begin.

O Thou, whose mighty patience holds
The night and day alike in view,
Thy will our dearest hope enfolds;
O keep us steadfast, patient, true!

O'ER SEAS OF GOD.

D. A. Wasson.

The winds that o'er my ocean run
Reach through all worlds beyond the sun;
Through life and death, through fate,
through time,
Grand breaths of God they sweep sublime.

A thread of Law runs through my prayer
Stronger than iron cables are;
And love and longing towards her goal
Are pilots sweet to guide the soul.

O thou God's mariner, heart of mine!
Spread canvas to the airs divine!
Spread sail! and let thy Fortune be Forgotten in thy Destiny.

The wind ahead? The wind is free!
Forevermore it favoeth me:
To shores of God still blowing fair,
O'er seas of God my bark doth bear.

For Life must live, and Soul must sail,
And Unseen over Seen prevail;
And all God's argosies come to shore,
Let ocean smile, or rage, or roar.

AMERICA.

My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where our fathers died,
Land of the pilgrims' pride;
From ev'ry mountain's side
Let freedom ring.

My native country, thee—
Land of the noble, free—
Thy name I love;
I love thy rocks and rills,
Thy woods and templed hills;
My heart with rapture thrills
Like that above.

Let music swell the breeze,
And ring from all the trees,
Sweet freedom's song;
Let mortal tongues awake;
Let all that breathe partake;
Let rocks their silence break,
The sound prolong.

Our fathers' God, to thee,
Author of liberty,
To thee we sing;
Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light,
Protect us by thy might Great God, our King.

"The reward of one duty is the power to fulfill another."—George Eliot.

CENTENNIAL ODE

(Composed and written by Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway, and by her presented in the name of 2600 Oregon women to the Lewis and Clark Exposition, on opening day, June 1, 1905.)

While yet the Nineteenth Century was young,

A Son of Freedom, with prophetic ken,
Discerned this distant West; and straight outsprung,

Through magic power of his official pen,
An Expedition whose results shall last As long as Freedom's flag shall float before the blast.

And then, to make the prophecy complete,
An Indian Mother led the devious way,
Foreshadowing woman's place, which man shall greet

Without a protest in a hastening day,
When Womanhood, benignant, wise and free,

Shall lead him to yet greater heights of strength and victory.

As through the vista of a Hundred Years
We backward turn to the Atlantic shore,

Our hearts athrob and eyes suffused with tears—

Almost in hearing of Pacific's roar—
The Then and Now so closely crowd the scene

That Time and Distance both but dimly intervene.

Long 'ere this Nation's birth, a Master
Hand,

With mighty purposes no man foreknew,
These mountains, rivers, hills and dales
had planned,

And spread in matchless majesty the view

We now behold, of forest, lake and plain, Evolved through countless ages from the heaving main.

A Hundred Strenuous Years ago! Ah,
then,

So distant were we from our country's heart,

That Darkest Africa appealed to men

As being nearer each commercial mart
Than Mandan District; and this Sunset Land

Was farther from their border homes
than India's coral strand.

No steamer then had plowed the sea or stream,

No flying ship been trained to cleave
the air;

O'er all the earth no tamed electric gleam
Was chained to duty as man's char-ioter;

No cable then was laid beneath the sea,
And telegraph and telephone alike were yet to be.

And Trade and Commerce, in their infancy,

Awaited ingenuity of man
To bring them forth in full utility.

To build a track for iron horse to span
The lengthened trail, on which was blazed
the mark

Of vallant Captain Lewis and intrepid Captain Clark.

As here, from lands anear and far, are seen

The works of man within these beau-teous grounds

Which water, earth and air were taxed
to glean,

And place before us midst these sights
and sounds,

Let every soul, in sweet soliloquy,
In reverence, contemplate this Nation's destiny.

From each bejeweled, bleak Alaskan height,

From hot Hawaii's glittering sands,

From Porto Rico's sunshine bright,

From far Manila's sea-girt lands,

Our Starry Flag, in every breeze unfurled, Proclaims that Freedom yet shall reign supreme o'er all the world.

THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER.

O say, can you see, by the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming, Whose broad stripes and bright stars
through perilous fight, O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming,
And the rockets red glare, the bombs
bursting in air Gave proof through the night, that our flag was still there;
O say, does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home
of the brave?
On that shore dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dead
silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze o'er the towering steep
As it fitfully blows now conceals, now discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morn-ing's first beam,
Its full glory reflected, now shines on the stream;
'Tis the Star Spangled Banner, oh long may it wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home
of the brave.

And where is that band, who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war, and the battle's confusion,
A home and a country should leave us
no more?
Their blood has washed out their foul footstep's pollution,
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight, or the gloom
of the grave,
And the Star Spangled Banner in triumph
doth wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home
of the brave.
Oh thus be it ever, when freeman shall stand Between their loved homes, and the war's desolation!
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven rescued land Praise the powers that hath made, and preserved us a nation,
Then conquer we must, for our cause is just
And this be our motto—In God is our trust
And the Star Spangled Banner, in triumph
shall wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home
of the brave.
