A FOREWORD

It was a few years ago only that Americans awoke to the beauties of the antique Chinese rug. Rugs of the nearer Orient had then already been acquired here with such appetite that it was credibly stated that there were more of them in this country than in any other. But even those persons who posed as accomplished purveyors of the artistic productions of Cathay had failed to feel the potency of charm inherent in these creations of the Celestial looms. Mr. Clarke proved sensitive, and he has been busy obtaining these rugs ever since.

(I have sometimes thought, in conning the multiplicity of his artistic activities and sympathies, that in a less sophisticated age he would surely have come to be known as "The Prince of Collectors," or by some other illuminating and affectionate appellation. For he has been identified in the field of art, for many years, and collected for the sake of collecting and with an endeavor to encourage others in procuring the beautiful in art rather than the commonplace.)

In assembling these rugs he has brought together some most beautiful and unusual fabrics. In his private collection, which he is including in this sale with rugs of stock, are remarkable specimens, and even extensive collectors of Chinese rugs will doubtless find the unexpected. In the general collection are, naturally, rugs for a variety of tastes and uses—here are almost if not quite all of the colors and sizes, and many shapes—and it, also, comprehends choice examples. In both categories—and no attempt is made in the catalogue to segregate them—are to be found rugs large and small such as have not been publicly seen in this country.

Some of the designs will come as a surprise to those who have viewed the Chinese rugs heretofore exhibited. The so-called animal rugs, comparatively rare, are here in considerable number—not only the strange Fu, but the famous eight horses, the tiger, and the animals of the Chinese zodiac also appearing.

There is, too, a fish rug. Several of the rugs possess the rarity of birds in their decoration—that is to say, not merely the fabulous feng-huang, propitious harbinger, the equally familiar crane, messenger of longevity, and the storks, those “couriers of the immortals,” but song birds winging through their element or loftily poised on swaying boughs (and even the domestic rooster, if he may be included).

Butterflies and dragon flies, water weeds and other aquatic plants—the air and the water as well as the earth contribute to the decoration. The foliose ornamentation is most diversified, symbols of art and culture abound, and there is ever found occasion to work in emblematic medallions of “myriad ages”—round Shou characters—the Celestial wish for length of days in naive hyperbole. Of the richness, purity and softness of color, of its transcendental nuances, it is unnecessary to speak.

It might be wished that man and his needs had been more tender to some of these fabrics, but the wish may vanish in thanks that wonder-working time has been kindly in the treatment and the preservation of so many of them.

A forgetful remark is sometimes heard that all objects of Chinese art are commonly spoken of in words generally used concerning Chinese porcelains, with the implication that porcelains having first become familiar to the Western world, the subsequent vocabulary was indebted to them. The liberty is ventured, therefore, to offer the reminder here that it is ancient Chinese weaving which has supplied most of the decorative motives employed in other branches of Chinese art, and that therefore it is in ceramics that the recurrence, not the origin of resemblant terms is found.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. Any bid which is merely a nominal or fractional advance may be rejected by the auctioneer, if, in his judgment, such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

2. The highest bidder shall be the buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more bidders, the auctioneer shall either decide the same or put up for re-sale the lot so in dispute.

3. Payment shall be made of all or such part of the purchase money as may be required, and the names and addresses of the purchasers shall be given immediately on the sale of every lot, in default of which the lot so purchased shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

Payment of that part of the purchase money not made at the time of sale shall be made within ten days thereafter, in default of which the undersigned may either continue to hold the lots at the risk of the purchaser and take such action as may be necessary for the enforcement of the sale, or may at public or private sale, and without other than this notice, re-sell the lots for the benefit of such purchaser, and the deficiency (if any) arising from such re-sale shall be a charge against such purchaser.

4. Delivery of any purchase will be made only upon payment of the total amount due for all purchases at the sale.

Deliveries will be made on sales days between the hours of 9 A. M. and 1 P. M., and on other days—except holidays—between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M.

Delivery of any purchase will be made only at the American Art Galleries, or other place of sale, as the case may be, and only on presenting the bill of purchase.

Delivery may be made, at the discretion of the Association, of any purchase during the session of the sale at which it was sold.

5. Shipping, boxing or wrapping of purchases is a business in which the Association is in no wise engaged, and will not be performed by the Association for purchasers. The Association will, however, afford to purchasers every facility for employing at current and reasonable rates carriers and packers; doing so, however, without any assumption of responsibility on its part for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such service.

6. Storage of any purchase shall be at the sole risk of the purchaser. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter, while the Association will exercise due caution in caring for and delivering such purchase, it will not hold itself responsible if such purchase be lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed.

Storage charges will be made upon all purchases not removed within ten days from the date of the sale thereof.

7. Guarantee is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness or authenticity of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing, or any imperfection not noted. Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, after which it is sold "as is" and without recourse.

The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly, and will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued, and, in its judgment, may either sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby would become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without proper foundation.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Buying or bidding by the Association for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph or telephone, will be faithfully attended to without charge or commission. Any purchase so made will be subject to the above Conditions of Sale, which cannot in any manner be modified. The Association, however, in the event of making a purchase of a lot consisting of one or more books for a purchaser who has not, through himself or his agent, been present at the exhibition or sale, will permit such lot to be returned within ten days from the date of sale, and the purchase money will be returned, if the lot in any material manner differs from its catalogue description.

Orders for execution by the Association should be written and given with such plainness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the title, and bids should be stated to be so much for the lot, and when the lot consists of one or more volumes of books or objects of art, the bid per volume or piece should also be stated. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Association, a deposit should be sent or reference submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

Priced copies of the catalogue of any sale, or any session thereof, will be furnished by the Association at a reasonable charge.

No. 8

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Dimensions, 2 feet 3 inches by 1 foot 9 inches.

Sapphire and golden-brown, the sapphire a beautifully brilliant blue and the golden tones pale and inclined to neutrality, resting in a soft-gray field; these are the colors in corner foliations, a foliate medallion, and a floral lattice. Eighteenth century.

No. 9

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Dimensions, 2 feet 2 inches square.

Variegated lattice-border with conventionalized floral patterns, enclosing a square of red and pink grill having scalloped corners and a foliated central medallion of soft olive-yellow ground, adorned with blossoms in rose-pink, white, garnet and blue. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 10

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Dimensions, 2 feet square.

A white crane touched with pale blue is pictured on the wing in a floral medallion completed in sapphire, golden-yellow and white, within a shimmering brown square that is dotted with smaller conventional medallions in pale blue and old-gold. Two borders. Eighteenth century.

No. 11

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Dimensions, 2 feet 2 inches by 2 feet.

Scrolls and foliations in deep sapphire and pale turquoise blue, dull white and pale gold, on a brown ground, form the decorations of this mat, appearing in the border and in a medallion, and in the corners of a square field. Eighteenth century.

No. 12

FOUR CHINESE SQUARE MATS

(Blue and white)

No. 15

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 2 feet 4 inches square.

On fawn ground within a square are scrolling foliations and a medallion of foliations and angular scroll, in two shades of blue, orange-brown and pale-gold. Border of bold swastika-fret in sapphire-blue on the fawn ground. Eighteenth century.

No. 16

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 2 feet 5 inches square.

A tawny-yellow field with brilliant sheen is worked with pale-golden foliations which all but vanish in its luster. Foliar scrolls in dark sapphire and fair turquoise, with white, form a square within it and in turn enclose a medallion of flower and butterfly motives in the beautiful colors of the field. Eighteenth century.

No. 17

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SQUARE MAT

(Blue and white)

Dimensions, 2 feet 6 inches square.

Grayish-white ground warming to an éceru tone, with a soft sheen. Composite medallion of floral and angular-scroll forms, on a square field with corner foliations; broad foliate border; all in blue of two tones and soft, rich quality. Eighteenth century.

No. 18

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SQUARE MAT

(“Blue and white”)

Dimensions, 2 feet 6 inches square.

The “white” ground is a pale café-au-lait or light fawn, with soft, silken sheen. Ornate medallion and foliate corners in a square field; border of foliations and emblematic bats; all in sapphire and turquoise blue. Ch’ien-lung.

No. 19

PAIR ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MATS

Length, 2 feet 7 inches; width, 2 feet 1 inch.

In the form of chair-seats. Soft pile, the ground of brownish tone, decorated with a peony-blossom, foliations and a border of formal flowers in two shades of blue, and white. Ch’ien-lung.

No. 20

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 2 feet 5 inches by 2 feet 4 inches.

Short, soft, silky pile. The ground a shimmering silvery gray, bordered by a band of especially rich seal-brown, a similar band separating the border proper from the square field. Within the square, a medallion and formal corners of angular fret-scroll in golden-yellow, golden-brown and light sky-blue; in the border a succession of small medallions in detached groups of three, in blue and gold. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 21

TWO SQUARE MATS

Length, 2 feet 8 inches; width, 2 feet 6 inches.

Red borders with running ornamentation along formal lines, in blue, pearl-gray, light yellow and dark brown, about squares centered by conventional fern-leaf medallions—the colors of medallions and corners varying in the two rugs.

No. 22

CHINESE RECESS-RUG

Breadth, 2 feet 10 inches; depth, 2 feet 10 inches.

Glowing imperial yellow ground, decorated at the base with a wave motive, in the central field with a lion supporting a vase on its back and surrounded by Buddhist emblems of happy augury, and in a border edging the sides and in the arched top with scrolling foliations—all in a variety of browns and yellows, white, and two tones of blue. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 23

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Dimensions, 2 feet 10 inches by 2 feet 7 inches.

A formal, conventional trellis of floral elements is traced in sapphire-blue and garnet, both subdued, on a dark deer-skin ground, within a border of the swastika-fret. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 24

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 2 feet 8 inches by 2 feet 7 inches.

Field and border-ground of dark écreu tone, supporting a decoration of center-medallion and corners in angular scroll, and a border of swastika-fret scroll, all in an even tone of dull grayish-blue. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 25

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 2 feet 7 inches square.

Seal-brown, cobalt-blue and white are used on a light golden-yellow ground in a complex decoration involving various conventional patterns within a square field; border of foliations in like colors. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 26

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Dimensions, 2 feet 9 inches by 2 feet 7 inches.

Central medallion picturing a phoenix standing upon a rock, in two tones of blue, yellow, brown and white, enclosed within a square having a brown ground; fret border in white and broader border of a conventional floral lattice in tones of yellow, brown, blue and white. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 27

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 2 feet 8 inches by 2 feet 6 inches.

Soft, velvety pile. Fawn ground inclining to tawny, with a light sheen. The decoration is wholly in the conventionalized archaic-dragon motive, which appears in an angular scroll-fret in medallion and corners, all in a brilliant dark blue outlined in a pale blue and in white. Eighteenth century.

No. 28

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 2 feet 7 inches by 2 feet 5 inches.

"Blue and white" as to class, the whole ground now a soft smoke-gray with silvery mottlings; decoration in dark and lighter blue consists of floral medallions and foliar scrolls within a square, and similar patterns in the border. Eighteenth century.

No. 29

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 2 feet 7 inches square.

A square field of golden-tawny hue, with swastika corners, embraces a medallion containing two primitive Fu-lions in pale gold and reddish-bronze—in one rug the reddish-bronze being replaced by a rich seal-brown. Elaborate swastika-fret border in the same low, harmonious tones. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 30

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE MATS

Length, 3 feet 2 inches; width, 1 foot 11 inches.

Red-brown field, decorated in low golden and blue tones and dull white, with ancient sacrificial vessels, screens, jars of plants and other ornamental objects, and exhibiting a medallion and dragon-scroll corners. Harmonious border in a low key, embodying formal designs and familiar symbols. Eighteenth century.

No. 31

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 4 inches; width, 1 foot 10 inches.

Rich orange field with a golden-bronze sheen, decorated with two large sprays and a medallion of the peony scroll in pink and white, sapphire and turquoise; corners of angular scroll in the two blues. Floral scroll border. Eighteenth century.

No. 32

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE OVAL MAT

Length, 3 feet 3 inches; width, 1 foot 11 inches.

Fawn tone of soft quality prevailing. In the oval field a swastika-lattice of brownish hue, carrying numerous small medallions some of which enclose the Shou symbol. Other small medallions of various decoration dot the wide border. Eighteenth century.

No. 33

CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 2 inches; width, 1 foot 10 inches.

Pale yellow border with the endless knot at each corner, and decorations of medallions and characters or other symbols, about an oblong field of brown cut with a lattice embodying floral forms in different colors.

No. 34

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 4 inches; width, 1 foot 10 inches.

Conventional lattice between formal corners and a foliar medallion, effected in a brilliant greenish golden-yellow, pinkish-browns, dark and light blue and white. Border similarly colored. Eighteenth century.

No. 35

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 2 inches; width, 1 foot 9 inches.

Orange-pink field of crenellate outline and angular-scroll formation, picked out in bright yellow, white, and light and dark blue, and overlaid with a diamond-shaped figure comprehending numerous geometrical forms and repetitions of the swastika symbol. Interrupted T-fret border. Eighteenth century.

No. 36

PAIR ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MATS

Length, 3 feet; width, 1 foot 10 inches.

Tawny-brown field with an archaic-dragon medallion, floral sprays and foliations, in dull golden-yellow, golden-brown, pink, sapphire, pale turquoise and gray-white. Pinkish-brown fret border. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 37

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

(Blue and brown)

Length, 3 feet; width, 2 feet.

Tawny-brown ground of soft tone, without border whatsoever. Its decoration eight archaic dragons, conventionalized in foliate lines and exhibited in a rich and glowing blue of deep sapphire quality. Two are coiled in a medallion, one is curled in each corner, and two others appear between medallion and the ends. A rare and handsome example of this characteristic brown and remarkable blue. Seventeenth century.

No. 38

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

("Blue and white")

Length, 3 feet 3 inches; width, 1 foot 10 inches.

Angular-scroll medallion with brocade flowers, between branching foliations, on an oblong field with scroll-fret corners enclosing the swastika symbol. Border of foliations. All in two shades of blue. The white ground has become a dark gray. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 39

ANTIQUE CHINESE ROUND MAT

(Salmon-red)

Diameter, 3 feet 2 inches.

Close, thick pile. Rich, full and brilliant salmon-red is the ground, both in the bold border of scrolling foliations in dark and light blue and white, and in the circular field. The field is adorned with peony, plum, chrysanthemum and bamboo sprays, and a fret-scroll and foliate medallion, all worked in the two blues and white. Leather-bound. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 40

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

(Blue and white)

Length, 3 feet; width, 2 feet 2 inches.

Brownish-white ground throughout with a silvery sheen. Central medallion of swastika-fret; elsewhere on the field, and in the border, graceful foliations. All the decoration in a brilliant sapphire-blue. Eighteenth century.

No. 41

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 3 feet square.

A wide lattice border surrounds a square divided into four compartments by angular fret-scroll, each compartment containing a conventional floral medallion. The colors employed are red, green, brown and blue, all in low tones, and the fabric is bordered or bounded by a narrow band of soft red. Fringe ends and over-cast sides. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 42

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

("Blue and white")

Length, 3 feet 5 inches; width, 2 feet.

Oblong field of grayish tone, the principal decoration two Furlions, one standing guard over the brocaded ball; the other is a cub with wide-open jaws. Fret border. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 43

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 5 inches; width, 2 feet.

Soft, silky pile, with a bright sheen. Latticed field with conventionalized floral figures, in a light sky-blue, golden-yellow and dark orange, with a brilliant medallion and formal corners. Interrupted T-fret border with a dominant ground of dark blue, the fret and some detached blossoms being worked in yellow, light blue, orange and white. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 44

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 6 inches; width, 1 foot 11 inches.

Two full medallions and two half medallions appear on the dark blue field, with quadrants at the corners, the pattern of all a compound of floral forms and angular-scroll, the colors light blue and white with the dark blue reserve. Border of vases, fruits and flower forms. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 45

SQUARE MAT

Length, 3 feet 4 inches; width, 3 feet.

Soft, deep, loose pile. A study in browns. Within a light brown edge-band an alternating-fret border in deep dark brown courses over a fawn ground, while the square field reveals the same and other browns in an open lattice whose crossings are adorned with bright red blossoms.

No. 46

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE MATS

(Blue and white)

Length, 3 feet 6 inches; width, 2 feet.

Soft pile and loose texture. Oblong field enclosed by a double stripe of sapphire and turquoise-blue; the same colors supply branching foliations and an angular-fret medallion encompassing two bats. Fret corners in solid blue. Border of foliations and detached blossoms in the two blues. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 47

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 6 inches; width, 2 feet.

A soft and handsome brown prevails throughout the rug, in a border of foliations and a field covered by an open lattice, the foliations being effected in part in a dark and modest blue and the same hue being used again for minor ornaments within some of the spaces of the lattice. Eighteenth century.

No. 48

CHINESE MAT

(Blue and white)

Length, 3 feet 6 inches; width, 2 feet 1 inch.

Foliations worked into a medallion, and others as broad sprays at either end, all done in cobalt-blue and pale turquoise, form the principal decorations of the white field, which has fret corners of solid blue. Border of cobalt swastikas alternating with detached blossoms, in turquoise on the white ground. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 49

CHINESE MAT
(Variiegated)

Length, 3 feet 7 inches; width, 2 feet.

An unique production. A most unusual fabric, seeming to represent the greater part of the Celestial textile worker's chromatic range. The entire rug is an interesting medley of lateral striations, multicolored, shimmering, iridescent, evidently the improvisation of a weaver who gave his imagination and handiwork free play. The only formal design appearing is a group of small swastika symbols at one end.

No. 50

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 7 inches; width, 2 feet.

The repetitive design of the conventional "tiger-stripe" fills the rug on either side of a median "chain," or spinal ridge; both in brown on a golden-tawny ground. The pile is soft and silky. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 51

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 7 inches; width, 2 feet.

Gray fawn ground, with a quadrilateral field displaying a formal arrangement of ornament, including angular scrolls, foliations and geometrical devices. These are effected in dark and light blue and white, but with an unusual infusion of a bright red which greatly enlivens the rug, appearing again in a lattice-meander border. Eighteenth century.

No. 52

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT
(Blue and white)

Length, 3 feet 8 inches; width, 2 feet.

Short, soft, silky pile. Soft grayish-white field, with trees and mountains; at one end a spotted stag, at the other an unspotted doe; overhead between them, flying phoenixes and emblematic bats, and nascent butterflies; all in dark indigo and light grayish-blue, with white reserve. A border of white spots on dark blue, a narrow meander border of mixed blue with white, and a remarkable and unusual border comprising a succession of small swastikas on a broad white meander. Eighteenth century.

No. 53

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 8 inches; width, 2 feet.

Brilliant golden-yellow, orange and rose pink, golden-brown, and dark blue and cobalt, on a white ground—these colors make this mat a bright one. The white oblong field has a wide-branching spray in the same bright colors, at either end, outside a foliate medallion enclosing an angular scroll, and at the corners blue foliations around a flower with pointed petals. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 54

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

(Blue, white and yellow)

Length, 3 feet 9 inches; width, 2 feet 2 inches.

Two spotted stags, emblems of long life, and two phœnixes are shown in a mountainous landscape, in two tones of blue, tawny-yellow and pale gold on a soft white ground; bold swastika border in blue on white. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 55

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

(Blue and white)

Length, 3 feet 9 inches; width, 2 feet.

At either end of the gray-white field a Fu-lion, emerging from the shade of a tree by the seashore, fixes his attention upon a spotted stag, emblem of longevity, which in turn gazes upward at a symbolic bat (emblem of happiness), flying near conventional cloud-serolls which take the form of the sacred fungus—another emblem of longevity. The whole is accomplished in varied blues, and the field presents also two conventional floral forms in brownish-yellow. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 56

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 9 inches; width, 2 feet.

Field of a rich dark yellow with brownish tone and mild sheen, ornamented with a foliate medallion and various sprays in dark blue, white and brown. Dark brown border with blue foliations. Ch'ien-lung. (Repaired.)

First Afternoon

No. 57

CHINESE MAT
(Blue and white)

Length, 3 feet 9 inches; width, 2 feet.

An alternating fret border surrounds a long field having scroll corners turning on a swastika; in the field, broad foliations and a composite medallion; all in two shades of blue on white ground. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 58

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT
("Blue and white")

Length, 3 feet 9 inches.

The "white" of the long field is a light deerskin hue with a soft sheen. The decoration comprises four Fu-lions, glaring at each other in pairs, with open jaws, between graceful foliations, and an archaic-dragon medallion; all are in brilliant sapphire and pale washed-turquoise. Brilliant sapphire border with a scroll of flowers in white reserve. Eighteenth century.

No. 59

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 9 inches; width, 2 feet.

Deep marine blue, with slow shimmer, the field adorned with floral motives and the border similarly treated with the addition of symbols, in various quiet tones of yellow, brown and orange, light blue and white. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 60

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE TIGER-STRIPE MAT

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet 1 inch.

Through a tawny ground a rich, dark seal-brown chain runs down the median line of the mat from end to end, like a vertebral column, and on either side the balance of the fabric is filled with curling brown "tiger-stripe" sinuosities on the same tawny ground. Overcast sides; fringed ends. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 61

CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet 1 inch.

Yellowish rice color in field and border, decorated with a variety of small medallions.

No. 62

CHINESE MAT

Leaf-brown throughout its surface, with the formal foliate decorations of field and border in blue so dark it appears black.

No. 63

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet.

Oblong field with a pale greenish-yellow ground, decorated in two shades of blue and other hues with a variety of household ornaments and a floral medallion. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 64

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet 1 inch.

Oblong field of pinkish hue, decorated with elaborate scrolling foliations in light and dark blue, about a medallion of angular-scroll outline enclosing a square of swastikas and flowers. Swastika-fret border. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 65

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

No. 327

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Blue and white)

Length, 9 feet; width, 5 feet 9 inches.

The expansive pearly white field is brilliant with Buddhist symbols, bronzes in the form of ancient sacrificial vessels, screens, garden plants, and sprays, a floral medallion and archaic dragon-scroll corners, all in deep, intense blue and turquoise-blue, with white reserve. Two borders, of fret and foliations, and an exterior strip of solid blue. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 328

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE BROAD RUG

Breadth, 10 feet; depth, 5 feet 10 inches.

The broad oblong field is a light reddish brown of metallic tone, with a luxuriant decoration in cobalt blue, white and a deep dark blue. This includes sprays of the peony and winter-blooming wild plum tree, clusters of pomegranates and sprigs of the Buddha's-hand citron, incense burners and ancient sacrificial vessels, pi-tungs with brushes, bunches of aquatic plants and various other designs. Diaper border in two blues on a white ground and a broader border of light blue and white foliations on a dark blue ground. Top and bottom fringed. Eighteenth century.

No. 329

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

Length, 10 feet 8 inches; width, 5 feet 10 inches.

Deep close pile and substantial texture. The large field reflects a warm salmon hue with a soft and brilliant glister. Over the field are scattered flower-sprays and butterflies in light canary-yellow, sapphire and fair turquoise-blue, and white, a dark golden-brown and peach-red. A brilliant foliate medallion in the same colors centers the field, the corners are formed of other foliations, and a bright floral border surrounds the whole. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 330

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET

(Yellow, rose and blue)

Length, 10 feet 5 inches; width, 7 feet 1 inch.

Short, close, soft pile; firm texture. An intricate arrangement of the ancient conventional dragon-scroll in a large medallion, in dark blue and turquoise, holds the center of an expansive field of scrolling foliations in golden yellow over a rose-pink ground, the scroll interrupted by conventional blossoms in light and dark blue, and various yellows, browns and reds. Corners repeat the medallion motive and colors. Borders of octagonal lattice and swastika fret. Early Ch'ien-lung.

No. 331

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET

Length, 12 feet; width, 11 feet 3 inches.

Short, close, velvety pile. An ornate grill in brilliant sapphire-blue with a light outlining of pale turquoise, the spaces enclosing indefinite devices in pale greenish-yellow and light browns, extends over a large square field bounded by narrow brown and sky-blue guard-stripes. Narrow meander border in the body-color on sapphire-blue, and broad swastika-fret border in sapphire on the fawn ground. Ming.

No. 332

ANTIQUE CHINESE SILK AND METAL CARPET

Length, 13 feet 6 inches; width, 7 feet.

Woven of raw silk with a large proportion of metal threads which seem to be silver and gold. The pattern suggests the western and southern Asiatic weaves, the field with an all-over repetitive geometrical design, the silk colors being pinkish tones, azure, turquoise, brown and dull green, with a dark metal groundwork. Of the several borders, varicolored, the principal one has a light metal groundwork. About the exterior is a band of rose. Fringed ends and overcast sides. Sixteenth century. (At the center of one side a piece of the border twelve by fourteen inches is missing.)

No. 333

CHINESE CARPET

(Red and yellow, brown and white)

Length, 13 feet 10 inches; width, 12 feet 6 inches.

Deep, soft pile and loose texture. A rich, substantial and comfortable fabric, in bright but harmonious colors. The ample square field of blood-orange red presents a galaxy of conventional butterflies, bats and varied scrolls, in tawny and bright golden yellows, golden browns, white, pink, salmon, and seal-brown. The four corners and the large central medallion are formed of the conventional archaic dragon-scroll (the dragon's head presented in each instance), in light brown and soft white. A diamond-lattice border in various colors on white is succeeded by a swastika border in brown and bright yellow, and that by a broad boundary band of rich, dark brown, the several borders being separated from each other and from the field by pink, red, brown and pale-fawn stripes. Nineteenth century.

No. 334

LARGE ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET

Length, 14 feet; width, 12 feet 10 inches.

The field a floral lattice of sapphire-blue and grayish-brown, with a lighter brown panel reserved in the center, outlined in turquoise and sustaining a medallion formed of four archaic scrolling dragons, this in turn encompassing a smaller medallion of angular scroll. The angular scroll appears again in formal corners on ground of the same color as that of the central panel. Border of cloud and fungus scroll in two shades of blue interrupted by bats in brown, and a wider border of the swastika fret in two tones of brown. Ming.

No. 335

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 2 feet 3 inches square.

Dark blue ground with conventionalized floral figures distributed geometrically in lattice effect, in apricot and golden-yellow, light blue and white, about a medallion of the same colors. Border of geometrical fret in two shades of blue on an apricot ground. Late eighteenth century.

No. 336

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Similar to the preceding (No. 335) and of the same period and dimensions, but slightly darker in tone.

No. 337

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Dimensions, 2 feet 3 inches square.

Formal corners with floral ornamentation in apricot, dark and light blue and white, on a golden-yellow ground, encroach considerably upon a small field of brownish tone. This is marked by an unobtrusive lattice, which encompasses a conventional medallion repeating the colors of the corners. Fret border in light and dark blue, white, seal-brown, golden-yellow and peach tones. Eighteenth century.

No. 338

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT OF MEDALLIONS AND BIRDS

Length, 3 feet 7 inches; width, 1 foot 10 inches.

Short pile, close texture. In an oblong field, which is dense blue of sapphire quality, small medallions are implanted, singly, hinged in pairs, or grouped in trefoil formation, each medallion bearing a character or device and all contrasting with the deep blue field in their gayer colors of bright yellow and brown, salmon, gray-white and turquoise-blue. A solid border of turquoise-green and turquoise-blue carries other similar medallions, and at each corner is a conventional bird with outspread wings and open beak, worked in subdued but rich browns of light tone. Eighteenth century.

No. 339

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Dimensions, 2 feet 5 inches square.

The pile is short, with velvet surface, and from the field returns a softly glistening sheen, light in tone. The ground is decorated in a dull golden-yellow, dark blue and lighter blues, apricot and soft brown, with a floral medallion, foliations, sprays of the plum, bamboo and chrysanthemum, and branches of the pomegranate and Buddha's-hand fruit. The border is a yellowish-brown of golden note, adorned with foliations and blossoms in dark and light blue and white, and is separated from the field by a strip of dark blue carrying white dots, and another carrying a white reversing fret. Eighteenth century.

No. 340

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MAT
(Variegated)

Dimensions, 2 feet 6 inches by 2 feet 6 inches.

Short pile, soft and compact; loose texture. A highly colorful "dragon mat" in brilliant notes, with yellows, blues and browns predominating. The field, a soft and delicate brown, displays a central dragon medallion, about which are grouped four rampant dragons as "corners," the whole boldly done in brilliant golden yellows, light and dark blues, white and salmon-pink. The brilliant color scheme is continued in a broad complex border set off from the field by strong lines of dark and light blue and white, in an intermittent pattern. Overcast sides and fringe ends. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 341

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Dimensions, 2 feet 6 inches square.

Fawn and tawny field with a nebulous luster, enclosing a medallion depicting a Fu lion in dark blue and turquoise-green, and a cub in golden-yellow, the field marked by scroll corners in apricot tones. Border of swastika fret in blue on a ground the color of the field, surrounded by an exterior strip of light tawny-yellow. Two sides fringed. K'ang-hsi.

No. 342

PAIR ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Dimensions, 2 feet 7 inches square.

Field of yellow-tawny note with a light and soft sheen, and a decoration of small medallions placed singly and in groups and worked in golden yellow, turquoise-blue, apricot, white and dark blue. Guard stripe of white dots on a blue of cobalt quality, and another of key-fret in golden-yellow on a similar blue; broad border varying from gray-fawn to a light olive-gray, adorned with medallions in golden-yellow, apricot and blue. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 343

TWO ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MATS

Viewed against the light the field presents tawny notes mingled with a fawn hue, and with the light upon it shows a silvery-brown luster with evanescent olive suggestions. A peony medallion in the center is held in the embrace of chrysanthemum foliations occupying the corners, effected in neutral tones with touches of blue and a soft grayish-white. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 344

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MAT

Dimensions, 2 feet 9 inches square.

A field of tawny brown with a softness of sheen which enhances its coloring is adorned with a medallion in deep blue and a grayish-blue, touched with white and golden-yellow. In the medallion appear peony blossoms and a phœnix, the fabulous bird being seen with great wings spread while one foot rests momentarily on a rock. At the four cardinal points about the medallion are small conventional peony blossoms in light blue and white, and in the corners the peony blossom in white is supported by foliations in dark and light blue. K'ang-hsi.

No. 345

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE ANIMAL AND BIRD MAT

Length, 3 feet 7 inches; width, 1 foot 10 inches.

Soft pile with heavy, firm texture. On a rich, deep sapphire field with a modest sheen, golden-yellow stags, which are spotted in white and turquoise-blue, appear below flying cranes in gray-white and turquoise—dual emblems of longevity, taking their places in a landscape of mountains and trees executed in sundry pale blues, grays and dull whites, intermingled with pale yellows and salmon-pink. Beyond a narrow fret border of white on blue is a broad border of floral forms in colors of the field decoration, with a Shou character at either hand. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 1 foot 2 inches.

A field of golden bronze of rich quality is profusely decorated in turquoise and sapphire, apricot and gray-white, with sprays of the plum and chrysanthemum, a peach, conventional butterflies, and corner foliations. In the center is a medallion, in which a figure seated on a branch holds a scepter on one arm and some device or symbol in the opposite hand. A narrow border of white swastika fret separates the field from a rich border in dark colors comprehending clusters of fruits, foliations, and song birds and others. Eighteenth century.

No. 347

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RAW SILK SQUARE MAT
(Red)

A swastika lattice in gray-blue on a red ground is broken at the center by a medallion displaying formal devices in pale green, orange and red on a ground of café-au-lait. The field also carries a characteristic border in more or less neutral notes of yellow, blue and green tendency, with a dull white. The enclosing border is a fret in pale blue and white on a red ground, while outside a double guard-stripe is a narrow exterior band of pinkish tone. Eighteenth century.

No. 348

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet 1 inch.

A field rissolé is delicately adorned with flying birds and butterflies, blossom sprays, foliations, and an unusual brocaded medallion formed of eight intertwining circles about a blossom center. The adornment is in subdued tones of apricot, a soft, grayish white, turquoise, and bolder lines of dark sapphire. In the border are detached units of the archaic dragon scroll, peony blossoms and Shou medallions, employing the colors of the field. Eighteenth century.

No. 349

TWO CHINESE SILK SQUARE RUGS

Dimensions, each: 3 feet 8 inches by 3 feet 4 inches.

These have been sewn together as one rug. Short, close, compact pile. Within a key-fret border of deep blue on seal-brown, a broad band of light mustard-yellow carries an elaborate complex of temple ornaments and other decorative elements in brown, turquoise and brownish-red; while within a second similar border an inner square is filled with a further complexity of ornament, including conventional bat emblems and Shou characters in similar colors. Long fringe ends. Ming.

No. 350

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SMALL RUG

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet.

Short pile, close texture. On a pale golden or yellowish-white ground shifting to light fawn, a central medallion of the archaic dragon-scroll highly conventionalized, in salmon-pink outlined with white, and embodied with foliations in strongly contrasting blues. The motive recurs in the corners, with similar coloration, and in the intermediate spaces of the field appear formal plants and household ornaments. Conventional borders of fret and floral forms in corresponding colors. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 351

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Purple and white)

An unusual chromatic scheme in Chinese rugs is presented, not only in the combination of purple and white but in the colors used with them in the ornamentation of the field. The border is a swastika-grill, diagonally arranged, in purple on a white ground. At either end of the soft-white field a saddled charger stands, tethered beneath a formal tree. His body is purple; mane and tail are a pale Nile-green; and in his trappings are used fawn, a fresh green and a rich orange-brown. Eighteenth century.

No. 352

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

Length, 4 feet 2 inches; width, 2 feet 1 inch.

Those familiar messengers the cranes are seen winging their way near cloud scrolls above the heads of spotted stags which hold in their mouths what appear to be conventionalized forms of the sacred fungus; at either side are trees and two swastika emblems; all in two shades of blue on a field of light smoky-gray. Wide and narrow borders of fret in the same colors. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 353

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

Length, 4 feet 1 inch; width, 2 feet 3 inches.

The field a soft and lovely hue of golden rose, struggling with reticence through a sheen that is rather a halo; on it are small medallions grouped in twos and threes, or singly, in indigo and turquoise, apricot and golden-yellow, orange and white. Guard stripes of chevrons and of dots, in white or light blue on dark blue, lie near a border of medallions; among these are some of the Shou character, and with them are also found bats and floral forms on a glistening ivory ground. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 354

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

Length, 4 feet 4 inches; width, 2 feet.

The ground of field and border is a reddish-brown of deep or burnt note, a most unusual change from the original color as may be seen by comparison with the back. The field has a floral latticé in turquoise-green and a blue so dark that its effect is black, and the border carries a swastika-latticé in the same blue, interrupted by symbolic bats in a light golden-brown and the turquoise-green. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 355

ANTIQUE CHINESE SADDLE-CLOTH

Length, 4 feet 2 inches; width, 2 feet 1 inch.

In the shape of the silk-worm's cocoon, with field and border conforming to the outline. The ground of both has a golden iridescence, and the field is spotted with small medallions of various tones and colors, mostly subdued, similar tones appearing in formal designs in the border. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 356

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 4 feet 2 inches; width, 2 feet 1 inch.

Yellow of golden note and greenish tinge forms the ground of the field, which is decorated in two tones of blue, gray-white, soft brown and apricot, with foliations, conventional butterflies, and a medallion showing the chrysanthemum, bamboo and plum. Border with the peony pattern and foliations in golden-yellow, apricot, white and the two blues. Eighteenth century.

No. 357

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 4 feet; width, 2 feet 1 inch.

Conventional willow trees spring from rocky hillsides at either end of a smoky-white field, and under each a horse with long, flowing tail, and wearing only a halter, is tied to a limb of the tree. The decoration is in sapphire-blue and turquoise-green, except that dark yellow is used for the halters and in spots at the base of the rocks. Eighteenth century.

No. 358

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SADDLE-CLOTH

(Sapphire and soft golden tints)

Field of blue with the glow and brilliance of a precious jewel, adorned with complex medallions, fruits, plant sprays and conventional butterflies in pale yellows and browns, light blue and white; surrounded by a border where subtle ground confusion results in a golden blend, while bats, Shou medallions and foliations appear in stronger colors. K'ang-hsi.

No. 359

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Of golden surface, inside an exterior band of brilliant light-sapphire blue, with narrow borders of white dots and white fret on a similar blue demarcating the principal border of golden-toned swastika-fret from the field. The field is a profusion of ornament, vases and jardinières holding blossoming plants or shrubs filling the space between a medallion of Fu lions and archaic dragon scroll corners. Eighteenth century.

No. 360

CHINESE RUG

Length, 4 feet 7 inches; width, 2 feet 5 inches.

Loose, fluffy pile with a soft and yielding quality. The general body, without borders, is a light tawny-yellow, and covered with conventional tiger stripes in miniature, brown in color and repeated in successive waves as radiating from a spinal ridge effected in the same deep brown as the stripe-symbols themselves. At the ends of the rug the wave motive appears in high conventionalization, in two tones of blue, white, a light golden yellow, light brown, and rose. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 361

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 4 feet 4 inches; width, 2 feet 6 inches.

A rich golden yellow with soft sheen is the ground of the field, which is rectilinear, and on it are two medallions of the conventionalized archaic dragon scroll, with a medallion of two Fu lions with the brocaded ball between them, while peony blossoms and butterflies encircle the center medallion and in the corners are fret designs; all in sapphire, turquoise and white. Swastika border in sapphire on golden-yellow, between bands of blue. Eighteenth century.

No. 362

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Cat and birds)

Length, 4 feet 9 inches; width, 2 feet 5 inches.

Soft pile, with a brilliant sheen. The gleaming ground both of the field and border is of a light tawny hue, and is enriched throughout with many bright and joyous harmonious colors, and deep contrasting sapphire-blue. Trees and plants in abundant blossom spring from behind rocks at either end, and lively singing birds are perched in the branches. At the base of one rock sits a cat, while at the opposite end is a larger and more ferocious member of the feline species—one of the great cats, quiescent but portentous. Fringe ends, overcast sides. Eighteenth century.

No. 363

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SADDLE-CLOTH

Dark blue field, divided at the spinal ridge by a varied band of rich apricot, pale yellow, white and purple, and carrying two foliated medallions in similar coloring. The same color scheme is used in the border, which lies between guard stripes of red and purple, the ornamentation in the border being Shou and swastika medallions, bats and sprigs of pomegranates, peaches and Buddha's-hand citron. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 364

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Blue and white)

Length, 4 feet 2 inches; width, 2 feet 7 inches.

Silvery-white field, with a spotted stag in brilliant sapphire and a doe in light gray-blue at either end, a phœnix flying over the doe's head in each instance. Traditional rocks and vegetation as accessories in the decoration, all in two shades of blue and patches of soft browns. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 365

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 4 feet 7 inches; width, 2 feet 7 inches.

Salmon-pink ground with a bright sheen; seen against the light the tone fleets to rose. Decoration, five Fu lions, one in a center medallion guarding the brocaded ball, and one at each of the corners, executed in bright golden-yellow, deep sapphire, gray-blue, white and seal-brown. Further decoration of conventional peony sprays in similar coloring; formal border. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 366

CHINESE RUG

(Red and black)

Deep, soft pile. Rich, deep red, almost crimson, with a light sheen. The warm red hue pervades the whole fabric, from over-cast sides to fringed ends, interrupted only by a bold swastika border between guard-stripes, small corners within the long, narrow field, and an angular-fret medallion in the center, all in black—the medallion outline adapted from the conventional archaic dragon-scroll, and its center a swastika fret.

No. 367

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 4 feet 9 inches; width, 2 feet 6 inches.

Formed of a square mat and a recess mat of corresponding design and period, which at some time have been put together to make a long rug. In each the principal motive is the five-clawed dragon, worked in a bright imperial yellow, pursuing or guarding the sacred flaming jewel among scrolled clouds; in the square are five of the dragons, in the recess mat two of them. In the borders appear the ancient wave motive and foliations in white and two shades of blue. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 368

CHINESE RUG

Length, 5 feet 4 inches; width, 2 feet 5 inches.

Short, soft pile. Tawny hue with a light sheen. The body covered with conventionalizations of the tiger stripe, in miniature repetitions, worked in blackish-brown. At either end the wave motive, highly conventionalized, with other conventional ornamentation, in dark and light blue and white, on the general tawny ground which here is slightly warmed by blendings of yellow and reddish-brown. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 369

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Blue and white)

Length, 4 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet 6 inches.

In this rug six of the Fu-lions appear—an unusual number, since if more than one or two, the group generally comprises five or nine—and the customary brocaded ball is not here. Two of the lions are facing each other at either end of the field, and a large one and a cub are seen in a medallion at the center. In the border of foliations appear bat symbols and Shou medallions. The decoration is in rich sapphire-blue and a gray-blue of turquoise quality; the ground is a soft grayish white. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 370

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SHORT STRIP

Length, 5 feet 2 inches; width, 1 foot 10 inches.

Formed of three square mats separated by dark blue stripes, each with a golden-yellow center ornamented with a medallion in dark and light blue, white, golden-brown and apricot, and angular-fret corners in the two blues, and with a border of cloud-scrolls in white and the two blues, with golden-yellow and golden-brown, on a pinkish-apricot ground. Eighteenth century.

No. 371

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Blue and white)

Length, 5 feet 1 inch; width, 2 feet 10 inches.

The white field has taken a light and lustrous tan tone, with which its decoration in brilliant sapphire and a subdued turquoise-blue harmonizes most agreeably, the decoration presenting boldly drawn peony scrolls and foliations, in high conventionalization, with an adroit use of ground reserve in the blossoms. The same motive and method is pursued in a central medallion, and the corners are formed of angular fret about a conventional blossom. Border in accord in color and design. Eighteenth century.

No. 372

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 5 feet 1 inch; width, 3 feet 2 inches.

A field fluctuating between salmon and rose, with a light luster, is adorned with peony and other sprays, a medallion, a winter-blooming wild plum tree in blossom, and the sacred fungus growing by a bamboo tree, effected in golden yellow, turquoise-blue, white and a rich dark blue. Border of foliations and blossoms in the blue tones, white, brown and the field color on bright golden yellow. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 373

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 5 feet 5 inches; width, 3 feet 7 inches.

Broad quadrilateral field of a soft écreu tone, lying within a single narrow border of white petals on bright sapphire, this being placed between guard stripes of turquoise tone. The field has an abundant decoration of large sprays, conventional butterflies, jars of plants and generous corners, all as one large irregular group about a peony medallion. The colors are brilliant sapphire, apricot, orange-pink and old gold. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE LONG MAT

Length, 6 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet 11 inches.

The oblong field of golden-tawny hue, with luster, is adorned with a profusion of sprays, assembled with vases and ancient bronzes about a foliar medallion, in dark and light blue, white, brown and apricot tones. Of several borders the principal one shows a blue swastika fret on golden ground, interrupted by conventional blossom forms. Eighteenth century.

No. 383

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Fawn and blue)

Rectilinear field of a soft, dark fawn color, with an interesting and unusual form of the archaic dragon-scroll employed with conventional foliations in an open medallion at the center, worked in dark blue and gray-white. The dragon motive is found again at the corners, where two shades of blue are used in the scroll, and over the balance of the field jars and boxes of plants are done in light and dark blue, yellow, dark brownish-red and white. Border of swastika-fret in dark blue on pale fawn. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 384

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 6 feet 4 inches; width, 3 feet 2 inches.

Deep, rich, sapphire blue with a brilliant sheen throughout the field, which is decorated in golden tones, browns and light blue, and white, with a medallion, corners and large sprays, all in the peony motive, while large and small butterflies appear here and there. Border of angular fret, foliations and conventional blossoms in white, the two blues and golden-yellow, on a brown-yellow ground. Eighteenth century.

No. 385

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 6 feet 2 inches; width, 4 feet 2 inches.

“Rice-grain” lattice in peach color on a golden yellow ground; in the center a foliated medallion of cerulean ground displaying conventional blossoms and scrolling foliations in peach tones, golden brown and golden yellow. The field is extensively cut into by the formal corners, two at one end in the blue of the central medallion ground and the opposite two with a ground of light sky-blue or palest turquoise; the decoration of each agrees with that of the medallion. Formal border in the various colors on a golden yellow ground. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 386

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Fawn and blue)

Close, firm, short pile, with a soft sheen. The field of light fawn color carries a medallion of key-fret embraced within peony scrolls, and angular-fret corners, all executed in blue of a rich quality and brilliance. Border of the dragon scroll in detached units, alternating with floral scroll motives, in pale turquoise-blue and white on a ground of deep and brilliant blue. K'ang-hsi.

No. 387

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 6 feet 4 inches; width, 4 feet 5 inches.

A tan field with characteristic sheen is decorated with a large medallion and four smaller ones in deep, dark blue, a subdued golden-yellow, turquoise and white. The larger medallion embraces four of the conventionalized archaic dragons amid formal flower patterns. Intervening spaces of the field are occupied by sprays, branches, and various articles of home decoration. Borders of T-fret and foliations. K'ang-hsi.

The field, rectangular, has a ground of soft fawn color, which carries an extensive decoration in blue and white. At the corners are archaic dragons, conventionalized in angular scroll, pendent from or supporting formal flowers, and in the center a composite medallion is enclosed within a cloud medallion. Elsewhere on the field are sprays, jars of plants and other objects of household decoration. A border of white dots on deep blue is followed by a border of diagonal fret in light blue on the dark blue ground, and that by a swastika-fret border in dark blue on the fawn color of the field. The latter border is interrupted by peaches of longevity and the fruit of the Buddha's-hand citron. K'ang-hsi.

No. 390

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Goldenrod-yellow)

Length, 6 feet 6 inches; width, 4 feet 2 inches.

Effulgent yellow field, brilliant as a mass of goldenrod in the sunlight, ornate with flower sprays in pink, white and two blues enwreathing a foliate medallion in the same colors. Elsewhere boxes of flowering plants, and four medallions with the archaic phœnix-scroll, within corners having the form of temple ornaments. Meander and foliate borders. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 391

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 6 feet 6 inches; width, 4 feet 5 inches.

A broad lattice in light lime-yellow with interstices of pale rose-pink covers the field, between corners of formal floral scroll in two tones of blue and white. Conventional peony scrolls in the same colors are ranged at either side of a floral medallion similarly toned, which is centered by a finer floral scroll in the pale yellow. Floral border in harmony. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 392

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 6 feet 6 inches; width, 4 feet 6 inches.

A tawny ground with a light luster is overspread with a floral scroll largely in pale gold, the stems and foliations being wholly in this tone while the design is emphasized by intermittent blossoms in dark and light blue and white. At each corner and in the center is a medallion worked in the same colors. There is a border of swastika fret in bright blue on a tawny ground; and a band of three stripes made up of variations on the tawny note lies between this border and an exterior band of solid blue. Seventeenth century.

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Blue and white)

Length, 6 feet 9 inches; width, 4 feet 7 inches.

On a soft grayish-white field four foliar medallions and a central medallion embracing a Fu lion and cub are executed in dark and light blue, with a free use of white reserve. Elsewhere are sprays of the peony and chrysanthemum, clusters of the Buddha's-hand fruit and pomegranates, and conventionalized butterflies, also in the two blues and ground reserve. Formal border of foliations in the blues on a white ground. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 394

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 6 feet 8 inches; width, 4 feet 9 inches.

The rectangular field is of a deep, rich tawny note, and without formal corners or medallion is ornamented with a conventionalized chrysanthemum scroll which distributes itself to all parts, in a deep, gem-like blue of great brilliancy and purity of tone. Two fret borders of the brilliant blue, and several stripes. Late Ming.

No. 395

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 6 feet 11 inches; width, 5 feet.

Field of salmon tone with a pinkish flush and fine sheen. The decoration includes floral and composite medallions, flowering trees, baskets of flowers on tripod stands, blossoming shrubs in large outdoor jardinières, and corners of foliations; all in dark and light blue, white, and golden yellows. Light border of chevrons, and a tricolor swastika-fret border on a dark blue ground. Boundary strip of brilliant blue. Eighteenth century.

No. 396

ANTIQUE CHINESE LONG RUG

Length, 7 feet 7 inches; width, 3 feet 3 inches.

Oblong field of peach tone, brilliantly decorated with sprays in golden yellow, turquoise, white, dark blue, and pink, around a floral medallion involving the same colors without the pink. Border of floral lattice in comparatively quiet tones, and a broader border of conventional floral designs in light and dark blue, pale yellow, white and dark orange, on an imperial yellow ground. Eighteenth century.

No. 397

CHINESE RUG

(Sapphire and golden yellow)

Breadth, 7 feet 7 inches; depth, 4 feet 6 inches.

Long, soft pile and loose texture. This is a broad and comparatively shallow rug rather than a long and narrow one, properly speaking, the weft being so accomplished. The broad quadrilateral field presents a solid ground of rich, deep sapphire-blue, with a fine sheen, this ground being cut into a widely open and erratic lattice by narrow, serrated white lines. The interspaces are adorned and the dentated lines eccentrically interrupted by floral sprays in bright golden yellow, orange-brown, blue, white, faint pinks and delicate fawn. Borders of white dots on blue, and golden-yellow swastika-fret on dark salmon. The narrow sides are overcast and the broad ends, or top and bottom, are fringed.

No. 399

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet 8 inches; width, 4 feet 6 inches.

A rug of compelling attraction, in workmanship and color. The decoration within its long rectangular field is a conventional floral scroll, with foliations, exquisitely drawn in sapphire-blue of remarkable depth of tone, the large blossoms being effected with a delicate use of reserve and having each a single touch of turquoise. This is on a ground of very light buff, or éceru, with a soft luster, the same ground being found in the border, which is formed of foliations in two tones of blue. K'ang-hsi.

No. 400

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet 2 inches; width, 5 feet 1 inch.

In the center a peony medallion embracing a smaller one in which a white crane is flying over the head of a spotted stag; corners of the archaic dragon scroll with foliations. Thickly placed about the field are vases, plants and various ornaments, all the ornamentation in turquoise and deep dark blue, white, golden yellows, pink and orange, on a light pinkish-brown ground. Borders of meander and the swastika-fret. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 401

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(Yellow and gold, blue and white)

Length, 7 feet 3 inches; width, 5 feet 5 inches.

Rectangular field, the ground a warm yellow of golden note, laid with graceful interpenetrating scrolls of foliations and conventionalized blossoms in old gold, white, and dark and light blue. The floral network is interrupted by five foliated medallions in the two blues and white with ground reserve. Unusual border of light and graceful foliations also in the two blues, on a pale gold ground. K'ang-hsi.

No. 402

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet 7 inches; width, 5 feet 1 inch.

Bright yellow field of softened tone, in which a lattice almost in self-color is discernible, with five floral medallions each executed in pale gray-blue, deep dark blue, white, pink or orange, and golden-brown. Scattered between them about the field are bats and clusters of fruit—peaches, pomegranates and the Buddha's-hand citron. Formal border in the colors of the body, and including small symbolic bats. Eighteenth century.

No. 403

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet 4 inches; width, 5 feet 3 inches.

A field of light chocolate with a creamy sheen is blazoned with medallions of foliar and angular motives, and with numerous sprays and bold corners of heavily branching foliations, in very light golden-yellow, pink and peach tones, orange, turquoise, white and a modicum of sapphire blue. In the center medallion appears the ancient conventional dragon scroll. Formal borders in similar high keys, held down by a boundary strip of glowing sapphire. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 404

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Salmon-pink with blue and white)

Length, 7 feet 6 inches; width, 5 feet.

The ground of the rug is a warm and brilliant salmon-pink inside a boundary band of sapphire-blue, the ground color persisting through two borders and the field. The outer border exhibits the swastika-fret in dark blue and is separated by a turquoise stripe from the second border which carries a T-fret in sapphire and turquoise. Between this border and the field, again, is a lattice band in the two blues on white, while the field displays eight medallions, scroll corners, butterflies and flower sprays, all also worked in the turquoise and sapphire-blues and white. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 405

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(A field of lions)

Soft, thick pile. Nine of the Fu lions are found in the broad salmon field, all vigorously executed in deep and light blue, white, light brown, and pale golden-yellow. One is at each of the corners, and one occupies the center with two others appearing above and below him, while a cub is on his back and another scampers at his feet. About the field are detached flower and leaf sprays. Border in accord. Eighteenth century.

No. 406

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet 6 inches; width, 5 feet 2 inches.

Short, close, silky pile. A large composite medallion, embodying four pairs of archaic dragons in two shades of blue, outlined in white, alternating with peony blossoms in pink and rose and enclosed in pale golden-yellow foliations, holds the center of a rich orange-yellow field and embraces a smaller medallion of a rock-peony landscape. The mellow, glowing field is thickly strewn with sprays, emblems and ornaments, and its elaborate corners repeat the dragon and peony motives, all in brilliant color. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 407

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet 7 inches; width, 5 feet.

Soft pile and close texture with a light sheen. The field is rectangular, its ground between tawny and tan, and into this are worked with scarcely a perceptible variation of the neutral body color innumerable bats, their beady eyes, only, being made conspicuous in dark brown. The chiroptera are placed amongst myriad scrolls, which cleverly combine the conventional cloud-scroll with that of the outlines of the sacred fungus, these in deep blue, outlined and their details accented in light blue. Fret border repeating the ancient fylfot, in deep and brilliant blue on a ground of the field color, and a boundary strip or band of brown. Eighteenth century.

No. 408

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet 9 inches; width, 5 feet 3 inches.

Loose, soft, deep pile. The field a "rice-grain" lattice of old-gold and golden-brown, over which are spread five stepped medallions of peach tone, worked with floral devices in light and dark blue, yellow, rose-pink and white. Borders of T-fret in light and dark blue on a bright and vivid yellow, and conventional floral scrolls and foliations in the colors of the medallions on the same peach-colored ground. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 409

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet 10 inches; width, 5 feet 3 inches.

Confused ground, yellow, tawny, fawn, in tone, with floral medallion and sundry ornaments in neutral notes with accents of crushed raspberry-pink, and at the corners foliations in two shades of blue clinging about the conventionalized archaic dragon-scroll in pinkish-brown. Meander border followed by a broader formal border, in harmonious keys. Eighteenth century.

No. 410

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet 11 inches; width, 5 feet 3 inches.

An imperial yellow field of brilliant tone is adorned with a great Fu lion in blue of cobalt quality, with details in dark blue, yellow reserve and white, eight other lions in various parts of the field and different positions, and numerous Buddhistic emblems of happy augury, all in the cobalt blue, deep blue, white, brown, pink and orange tones. Border in the peony motive laid on a delicate apricot. K'ang-hsi.

No. 411

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Breadth, 7 feet 10 inches; depth, 5 feet 8 inches.

Short pile, close texture. A rug of rare and peculiar color, the ground of both field and borders having the tone of a dull fire-red, with slight glow. In the center a medallion of archaic dragon-scroll with foliations encircles a group of five lions, one cub sporting on its elder's back. The dragon-scroll is used again in the corners, and about the medallion in the field are incense-burners, a prayer-wheel, jars of plants and sprays of flowers and fruit, all the ornamentation being in dark and light blue and white. Fret and foliate borders. Early Ch'ien-lung.

No. 412

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(“Blue and white”)

Length, 7 feet 10 inches; width, 6 feet 2 inches.

Deep, soft, thick pile; loose but firm texture. While conventionally a “blue and white” rug, the white ground of this example, whether in field or borders, is a toned white, more nearly a light, silvery fawn, mildly shimmering. The quadrangular field is adorned with five elaborate foliar medallions, the central one a large one, with flying butterflies, large sprays and conventional foliate corners, all in sapphire and turquoise blues. Fret and foliate borders. Early Ch'ien-lung.

No. 413

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Salmon-pink, golden-yellow and blue)

Length, 7 feet 10 inches; width, 6 feet 5 inches.

On the salmon-pink field a circular medallion picturing five Fu lions in turquoise-green, a golden yellow, gray-white and deep, dark blue; scattered ornaments and formal corners in similar coloring. Hatched border in two blues and white arranged in a meander, within a broad swastika-fret border in bright golden-yellow on salmon-pink, with occasional interpositions of the blues and white. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 414

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE FRAGMENT

Length, 7 feet 10 inches; width, 6 feet 8 inches.

While appearing in rug form this is an inglorious putting-together of two glorious fragments. The rug in its original form must have been stunning; the color and the workmanship surviving attest it. The field is a tawny hue with soft, glistening sheen, in places with olive-green suggestions. Its principal decoration is two large Fu lions powerfully drawn and expressively posed, worked in orange and white, with eyebrows, spinal ridge and bushy tail in a fine green, as in the ancient potteries. About them are cloud scrolls. Originally there were other lions in the field, as may be seen near the cut edges which have been pieced together. Ming.

No. 415

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

("Blue and white")

Length, 8 feet 3 inches; width, 5 feet 1 inch.

Pearl-gray field, quadrangular, adorned with foliar medallions five in number, corners of foliations pendent from conventionalizations of the peony, and a ramification of conventional foliate and flower scroll extending to all parts, in dark and light blue. Border of gammadions in a continuous fret in blue on the gray ground, and an outer band of solid blue. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 416

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 8 feet 1 inch; width, 5 feet 6 inches.

Pale écreu ground with a light sheen. The decoration in various peach and apricot tones, golden yellow and dark and light blue, comprises five medallions of angular and foliate formation, the large one exhibiting eight of the archaic dragon-headed scrolls, formal corners in the same dragon motive, and bamboo, magnolia, chrysanthemum and other sprays. Border of foliations and flower forms in two tones of blue, white and other colors used in the field on a dark peach-color ground. Eighteenth century.

ANTIQUE CHINESE SILK AND METAL RUG

Length, 8 feet 8 inches; width, 5 feet 3 inches.

Woven of raw silk with a free use of metal threads wound about others. The field is decorated with an elaborate pattern evolved from floral motives and combined with some geometric lines. Its well worn colors give an effect of blue and green and yellow detail on a brown or fawn ground, the general tone of the ground color being continued in the successive borders, whose decoration also shares the colors of the field. Ming.

No. 418

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Medallions and flowers)

Length, 8 feet 2 inches; width, 5 feet 4 inches.

Soft loose pile. Over a field of neutral tones and brilliant sheen, large stems and branches of flowers lie thick between eight various medallions, and at either end appears a large and brightly colored butterfly. The medallions are partly floral and partly formed of the archaic dragon-scroll. The colors in the decoration include deep, dark blue, pale gray-blue, light lemon-yellow and seal-brown. Eighteenth century.

No. 419

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(Flame and golden-yellow)

Length, 8 feet 4 inches; width, 5 feet 4 inches.

Deep soft pile and loose texture, with silken shimmer. Rich salmon-red or flame-color field, ornate with flowering branches and sprays in brilliant golden-yellows, seal-brown, deep sapphire and light turquoise-blue, and white; and among the branches butterflies displaying the same or similar colors. A broad border of conventional flowers and foliations reveals also numerous Shou characters and medallions with the bat symbols of longevity and the swastika. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 420

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 8 feet; width, 5 feet 8 inches.

A field of greenish gold is strewn with repetitions of a floral spray in light and dark blue, white and orange, there being all told seventeen of the sprays, while eighteen butterflies in similar coloring and varying in size are to be found amongst them. Border of floral motives and foliations in the colors of the field on an apricot ground. Eighteenth century.

No. 421

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 8 feet 4 inches; width, 5 feet 7 inches.

A broad field of tawny tone bounded by a narrow blue stripe is occupied by a formal arrangement of short sinuous lines, distributed in pairs and concentric as to each pair, in dark brown. The pattern is interrupted at the center by a parallelogram of scintillating azure-blue, on which conventional scrolls suggestive of cloud-scrolls appear in successive transverse bands and in various soft browns and yellows. Swastika-fret border in pale pinkish tone on a grayish ground. Eighteenth century.

No. 422

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 8 feet 8 inches; width, 5 feet 5 inches.

Mi sé or millet-colored field with a "rice-grain" lattice revealing apricot tones and bold spots of golden-brown: this interrupted by eight medallions of floral motives in light and dark blue, white, pale apricot and brown. A border of large white discs on bright blue is followed by a border of oblique fret seroll in the millet-color, also on blue, and that by a broader border of swastika fret in light and dark blue, white, golden yellow and apricot. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 423

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 8 feet; width, 5 feet 9 inches.

A swastika trellis in brilliant sapphire covers a lighter blue ground of turquoise hue, and encloses a medallion picturing a phœnix and a kilin in bright yellows on a deep blue ground. Ornamental vases and detached sprays are found about the field, in the bright yellow colors, and heavy corners in which the orange predominates involve a key and swastika fret and conventionalized blossoms. Various borders. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 424

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Peach and golden yellow)

Length, 8 feet 10 inches; width, 5 feet 6 inches.

Field of peach hue, decorated with a medallion and formal corners, sprays, household ornaments and jars of plants, in a light and brilliant golden yellow, rich seal-brown, pink and apricot tones, light turquoise and dark blue and a great deal of white. Borders of large white dots and a white fret on blue, and a wider border of conventional patterns keeping up the bright and striking color scheme of the field. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 425

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 8 feet 10 inches; width, 5 feet 7 inches.

Apricot field in a deep and handsome shade, bound by corners of geometrical fret in light blue traced upon and enclosing a dark blue ground. In the center a cloud ring encloses a medallion of five lions and around it are flower sprays and jars of flowers, in light and dark blue, white, golden brown and a bright golden yellow. Diaper border in turquoise, light apricot and white, and a wide border in white and the two blues with apricot and gold on a deep blue ground. Fringed ends. Eighteenth century.

No. 426

CHINESE RUG

(Varicolored)

Length, 8 feet 10 inches; width, 5 feet 7 inches.

Fancy was unrestrained in the coloring of this carpet, which blazes forth in chromatic assertiveness, confident and complete. The pile is soft and thick and the workmanship careful and correct. The field of orange note carries corners of elaborately serolled foliations and a foliar medallion encircling a smaller one which contains a spotted stag looking up at a flying erane. Elsewhere are expansive sprays and conventional butterflies, and the whole decoration is in bright golden-yellow, peach-red, turquoise and deep dark blue, white and brown, with the pure white notably conspicuous. Border of diagonal seroll-fret in white on dark blue, and in a wider border of dark blue ground are floral sprays and many panels, all brightly decorated like the field.

No. 427

CHINESE TIGER RUG

Length, 9 feet 7 inches; spread, 4 feet 6 inches.

Thick pile; loose. The rug is fashioned to imitate a tiger-skin that has been made into a rug, the body woven in a tawny-yellow striped in a bluish-black. The edges, representing the lighter underbody, are in light yellow and white; the eyes in vivid yellow, and blue and black; and the paws, ears and gray parts of the face in mixed colors and raised in relief.

No. 428

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Phœnix and peony)

Dense pile. Brilliant yellowish-tawny field, with sheen, decorated wholly in the phœnix and peony motive in dark blue, turquoise and white, with touches of light brown. In the corners are looped branches of the peony; detached sprays with expansive blossoms are placed about the field, where six phœnixes are flying amongst them, and in a central medallion the peony and other trees are seen springing from among rocks, with singing birds high in the branches. Eighteenth century.

No. 429

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 9 feet 1 inch; width, 5 feet 9 inches.

On a pinkish ground with a light sheen are implanted branches of the tree peony carrying very large blossoms, in golden-brown and pale golden-yellow, white, dark and light blue and pinkish-brown, together with corner foliations in white and the two blues; in addition there are conventional butterflies in the several colors, and a cloud medallion enclosing five of the Fu lions, the central beast in blue and white, and the others circling around him in yellow and brown. Conventional borders. Eighteenth century.

Length, 9 feet 2 inches; width, 5 feet 10 inches.

Deep, close, soft pile; the ground a soft grayish-white. At the corners the conventionalized archaic dragon—two to each corner—has been worked into a combined key and swastika scroll-fret, the motive recurring with foliations in a double medallion at the center. On the field appear bold floral patterns of conventional form, with butterflies, and twenty-two butterflies are seen with conventionalized floral and foliate ornament in a narrow border, outside which a broad border is made up of sections of swastika lattice alternating with floral forms and emblematic devices. All the decoration is in two tones of blue, with touches of yellowish-brown added sparingly. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 8 feet 11 inches; width, 5 feet 8 inches.

Similar to the preceding (No. 430).

No. 432

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(“Blue and white”)

Length, 9 feet 10 inches; width, 5 feet 8 inches.

Soft, deep, silky pile. The conspicuous and dominant feature of the field is a superb sapphire-blue lattice, based upon the mystic fylfot motive, on a ground of gris souris. The lattice is interrupted by pointed medallions of the ground color, outlined in turquoise and white, displaying foliate and angular ornamentation in dark and light blue and white. At the corners are intertwinning foliations in white and the two blues. Bold fret border. K'ang-hsi.

No. 433

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 9 feet 10 inches; width, 5 feet 8 inches.

Quadrilateral field of quiet autumn brown, ornamented with intertwinning stems, leaves and blossoms of the chrysanthemum, conventionalized. These occupy the whole spread of the field between a medallion and the corners, all effected in the motive of the conventionalized archaic-dragon scroll. All the decoration is in dark blue, a grayish-blue and white, and around the field is a border of fylfot fret in dark blue on brown. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 434

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(“Blue and white”)

Breadth, 9 feet 2 inches; depth, 6 feet 7 inches.

Deep, close pile. According to the weave the rug is a broad one—its depth less than its breadth—rather than a long one. A whitish-gray field displays peony blossoms and other flowers, water plants and butterflies, in two shades of blue, about a large floral medallion which encircles a smaller one enclosing two conventional archaic dragons. Corners of angular scroll and swastika fret. Swastika-fret and dot borders. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 435

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 9 feet 11 inches; width, 6 feet 9 inches.

On a yellowish-brown field a cloud medallion in the center encircles a group of five Fus, while four more of the strange beasts occupy the corners. They are executed in dark blue and turquoise, white and pale yellow, golden-brown and orange, and the same colors are carried through further decorative elements, including conventional butterflies and various sprays. In the border appears an adaptation of the ancient highly conventionalized archaic dragon scroll. Eighteenth century.

No. 436

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 9 feet 2 inches; width, 7 feet.

The entire field of this rug is given over to a trellis of octagonal figures, outlined in a fair, pale turquoise on a ground of varying yellows, the crossings marked in deeper yellow and brown, and all melt into a golden sheen where details matter not. Around this is a narrow lattice border in sapphire-blue, yellow and turquoise, followed by a swastika fret border in sapphire on tawny brown, and outside these are stripes in the various yellows. Seventeenth century.

No. 437

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 9 feet 4 inches; width, 7 feet.

Deep red-brown field with coppery sheen, the corners a key traced in light blue on a dark blue ground and enclosing at the elbow dark blue swastikas on red-brown reserve. At the center a composite medallion of foliations in white and gold and the angular conventionalization of the archaic dragon-scroll in two tones of blue with white. About the field appear the pomegranate and citron, plum and magnolia, with various symbols of art and culture, in gray-white, old gold, and dark and light blue. T-fret reversing border in the two blues on a ground of the field color. Eighteenth century.

No. 438

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

(Old-gold and blue)

Length, 9 feet 10 inches; width, 8 feet 5 inches.

Deep, soft, silky pile. The great field, almost square, is resplendent in a golden sheen. This seems to envelop the elusive ground-color, whose wavering tones suggest a peach-flush. The entire field is spread with branches of the blossoming tree-peony, conventionalized, and laid in in an old-golden yellow, deep sapphire, pale turquoise, white, and a cadet blue of cobalt quality. Border of deep, glowing sapphire-blue on pale gold, and a broad exterior border of sapphire. Eighteenth century.

No. 439

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 10 feet 4 inches; width, 5 feet 9 inches.

The field is a soft ivory white and has corners of angular fret in orange and blue with white reserve. In the center is a cloud medallion encircling a group of five Fu-lions, in golden brown and light yellow, orange and pink and two tones of blue. Peony sprays and vases of flowers in similar colors give additional decoration. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 440

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

(Fawn-gray and sapphire)

Length, 10 feet 10 inches; width, 6 feet 7 inches.

Deep, close, silky pile, with a lustrous softness of tone, the long quadrangular field having an agreeable fawn-gray ground, prodigally worked in a dense and brilliant sapphire-blue with an all-pervading and graceful chrysanthemum scroll. Borders of T and swastika fret in the same gem-tone, on a tawny-yellow ground, within a binding stripe of slightly lighter sapphire hue. K'ang-hsi.

No. 441

ANTIQUE INDO-CHINESE SILK RUG
(Old-rose and azure)

Length, 10 feet 8 inches; width, 6 feet 8 inches.

One of the fine examples of the work of those Chinese weavers who displayed the influences of Western Asia in their productions. The whole fabric suggests Persia. It retains its beauty despite all the scars of a long and arduous service. The field is old rose, with a profuse floral and geometric ornamentation in a crystalline azure, soft pink, a faint green and glints of old gold. Of its several borders the principal one has a ground of the brilliant azure, its decoration a repetitive formal design and incidental latch-hooks. Sixteenth century.

No. 442

ANTIQUE CHINESE BROAD RUG

Breadth, 10 feet 9 inches; depth, 6 feet 4 inches.

Light greenish-yellow ground with slight sheen, decorated with many household ornaments and sprays of flowers and fruits, in various pinks, yellows and blues, with white. Floral borders, one with a yellow ground, one with a ground of brownish-red. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 443

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET
(Square)

Thick, soft pile, with light sheen. Golden-yellow ground traversed by a complicated swastika-lattice of coppery tone, interrupted by nine medallions, each formed of two white cranes touched with pink and deep dark brown, their wings curved to complete a circle. Fret and foliate borders. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 444

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET
(Blue and white)

Length, 10 feet 10 inches; width, 10 feet 8 inches.

Square field of a pearly gray tone, with thirteen medallions of conventional floral pattern and numerous sprays and butterflies, besides corner foliations, all in dark and light blue. Fret border in the two blues and a border of flowers and foliations in the two blues on white; exterior band of solid blue. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 445

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

Length, 11 feet 8 inches; width, 6 feet 3 inches.

The large field, of soft rose tone, holds five delicately outlined medallions of graceful floral scroll, done in sapphire-blue, turquoise, white and pinkish-brown. The interspaces carry a generous distribution of detached sprays on a large scale, worked in the same colors. Early Ch'ien-lung. (Slightly repaired.)

No. 446

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

Length, 11 feet; width, 6 feet 8 inches.

Close, soft, deep pile. The whole ground of the rug is a warm salmon-pink, bounded by a solid band of deep sapphire-blue. A border of scrolling foliations in two shades of blue with white, and a second border of deep blue fret, both on the same ground encompass the long quadrilateral field, where the salmon ground continues and is traversed by a bold conventional scroll of flowers and foliations in deep blue, cobalt and white. Fringe ends; overcast sides.

No. 447

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

(Neutral tones)

Deep close pile. Long, quadrilateral field, within a succession of modest stripes and borders, wholly covered with a lattice of quiet tones surrounding a foliated medallion outlined in tawny-yellow and containing elaborate foliations in dark and light blue, gray-white and pale yellow, on an orange-brown ground. In the lattice the colors are low tones of browns, yellows and blues, and the pattern includes interstitial swastikas. Eighteenth century.

No. 448

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET

(Blue and white)

Deep soft pile. A deep border of floral medallions at the rug's edge is followed by a broader border of the swastika-fret in bold line, the flowers of the first border done in turquoise and white on a cobalt ground, the fret in deeper blue on a white ground. On the quadrangular white field, within heavy conventional corners, symbolical bats circle among conventional cloud-scrolls about a majestic medallion of angular scroll in the turquoise and cobalt blues combined with an inverted repetition in white reserve, and a floral center. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 449

ANTIQUE CHINESE BROAD RUG

Breadth, 11 feet 5 inches; depth, 9 feet 1 inch.

Quadrangular field of chestnut-brown, with an all-over decoration of conventionalized peony scroll, the blossoms notably enlarged, in light and dark blue, white, and bright golden yellow. Swastika-fret border, the figures in the two blues and white, golden-yellow and orange-pink, and an outer border of interlacing meander in the same colors. Beyond this is an exterior band of solid color, a rich blue. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 450

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET

(Blue and white)

Length, 11 feet 7 inches; width, 6 feet.

Deep soft pile. Four fierce dragons in high conventionalization form a large central medallion as they pursue each other around a Shou character which may represent the sacred jewel. They are in a wonderfully fine, rich, gem-like blue, as is the rest of the decoration, consisting of beautiful scrolling foliations in restrained design, with other dragons at the corners, on the large, soft grayish-white field. A fret border in orange-pink intervenes between the field and an outer blue and white border of foliations. K'ang-hsi.

No. 451

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

Length, 11 feet; width, 7 feet 11 inches.

A joyous fabric of golden sunlight and the sea, butterflies and summer flowers. The ground is the hue of the blown wild rose, and its ornamentation is old-gold, golden-brown, turquoise and sapphire and white. At the ends are rocks and leaping waves and more sunshine, and at the sides borders of fret and foliations. Seventeenth century.

No. 452

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

Length, 11 feet 8 inches; width, 6 feet 10 inches.

Within a deep band of solid blue and some narrow guard stripes, the whole field is given to an all-over pattern of octagonal figures forming an open lattice of large proportions. The lines are in dark blue and enclose a confused ground of greenish-yellow and orange or apricot, while at the crossings the swastika is worked in blue. Seventeenth century.

No. 453

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

Length, 11 feet 3 inches; width, 10 feet 9 inches.

The square golden field is adorned with five medallions, one large and four small ones, formed of foliations and blossoms in light and dark blue, orange and brown. There are formal corners in similar coloring and detail, and around the field are branches of the rock peony and conventional butterflies. Border of reversing fret in blue on rose-pink, another of flower forms and foliations in the field colors generally, and a wide outer border of rich sapphire-blue. K'ang-hsi.

No. 454

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

Length, 11 feet 5 inches; width, 10 feet 11 inches.

Short compact pile. The entire quadrangular field, interrupted by medallion or technical "corners," is covered by a brilliant conventional floral-scroll, boldly executed in broad lines in golden-yellow on a tawny ground. Borders of octagonal lattice in browns, yellows and pale blue, and a swastika-fret in brilliant blue. Ming.

No. 455

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET
("Blue and white")

Length, 11 feet 5 inches; width, 11 feet.

Deep soft pile; loose texture. Of the blue and white class, the "white" of this large carpet is really a soft gray, extending over a square field and appearing again as a ground in the two borders—one a double T-fret and the other of conventional foliations. The decoration of the great field, in two tones of blue, comprises a foliar medallion, sprays, blossoms, butterflies, and formal foliate corners. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 456

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET

Length, 11 feet 9 inches; width, 11 feet 4 inches.

With a medallion of angular scroll in the center, and corners of the same scroll, both in tones of quiet yellow and brown, the blue field carries over the rest of its surface a conventional scroll of foliations with formal conventionalized flower patterns, effected in similar tones. Swastika-fret border. K'ang-hsi. (This rug has been cut in two and sewn together.)

No. 457

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET
(Azure and dull gold)

Length, 12 feet 1 inch; width, 6 feet 3 inches.

The whole great field exhibits an intricate pattern of floriated scroll, executed with the precision of a stencil, in tones of dull gold on a ground of deep and scintillant azure. The field is outlined with a narrow guard stripe of the dull golden tone, and the whole bounded by a border which continues the field motive, in the same hue on a ground of the same effulgent blue. Ming. (Repaired.)

No. 458

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET
(Storks among clouds)

Length, 12 feet 2 inches; width, 6 feet 3 inches.

Brilliant azure field spread thickly with small conventional clouds in formal transverse lines, the clouds represented in a soft milky brown or café-au-lait, and among them flying eighteen storks arranged in five rows, the birds done in turquoise and gray-white. White swastika-fret border on a blue ground. Seventeenth century.

No. 459

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

Length, 12 feet 3 inches; width, 6 feet 3 inches.

Deep close pile. Bright yellow field, of slightly greenish tone, with brilliant sheen; conventional foliate scroll corners; central medallion enclosing a group of five Fu-lions in light and dark blue, white and pinkish-brown. About the field butterflies and flowers in pinkish-brown, orange tones, white, and turquoise and sapphire blues. Meander and swastika borders in brilliant colors, harmonizing. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 460

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

(Golden yellow and blue)

Length, 13 feet 10 inches; width, 6 feet 5 inches.

Large rectilinear golden-yellow field, with variable sheen, covered with detached sprays of peony blossoms and scrolls—an occasional butterfly appearing among them—in sapphire and turquoise-blue, apricot tones and white. Reciprocating fret border and an outer foliate border. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 461

LARGE ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SQUARE CARPET

(Blue and white)

Length, 12 feet 9 inches; width, 11 feet 1 inch.

An elaborate, refined and unusual open scroll, of conventionalized floral design, effected in a deep sapphire blue with the use of reserve, is gracefully carried over the whole big field, which is of a soft white tone. A scroll fret border in blue on white is succeeded by a border of conventional blossoms and foliations in blue and white on a yellowish ground. K'ang-hsi.

No. 462

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

Length, 13 feet; width, 9 feet.

Yellow ground of a light ochre hue, with bold corners of foliations, conventional peony flowers and the archaic dragon in conventionalized angular scroll form, in dark and light blue, white, a peach tone and pinkish-brown. The same colors are used with a light golden-yellow in a large medallion containing the nine Fu-lions, and in sprays and home and garden ornaments, which are distributed over the field. Two borders. Eighteenth century.

No. 463

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET

Length, 13 feet; width, 9 feet 9 inches.

The great field is of very pale golden aspect, as to its ground, which is everywhere threaded by a maze of the peony scroll, with peony blossoms highly conventionalized and other conventional forms interrupting or accenting it, and numerous conventional butterflies interspersed, these details in various darker colors. Fret border in pink on a yellow ground; swastika-fret border in blue so deep that it appears black, on a pinkish-brown ground, and an exterior band of deep brown. Overcast sides and fringed ends. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 464

LARGE ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET

Length, 16 feet 3 inches; width, 13 feet 2 inches.

A rug of remarkably large size, these very large ones not often appearing. The whole vast field is a soft, delicate and even old-rose in its ground, over which is laid an open grill of geometrical pattern, its figures effected in C-scrolls of sapphire-blue outlined on both edges with turquoise. The interspaces show conventional flower devices in pale yellows. Borders of key and fylfot fret and numerous stripes. Eighteenth century.

Catalogue Nos. 465 to 585 inclusive

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SQUARE MAT

(Blue, green and white)

Dimensions, 2 feet 5 inches by 2 feet 3 inches.

Short pile and loose texture. The square field is a rich, full, dark sapphire-blue, within narrow guard-stripes of white and pale bottle-green, and a T-fret border executed in the same colors. The field is occupied by four lions of archaic vigor of expression, each filling a corner, the group being centered by a ball with numerous fillets which curl out to the lions' feet. Both beasts and filleted ball are worked in the bottle-green and white, with touches of tawny-yellow and bits of the deep sapphire reserve. Overcast sides; fringed ends. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 466

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

(Or short strip). Short velvety pile, with varying sheen; the predominant hue a rich, sugary brown with tawny trend, lying between narrow border stripes of golden brown and golden yellow. The ornamentation of this rich, subdued ground reveals Fu lions, fungus and cloud forms, and Buddhistic emblems, some boldly executed in dark seal-brown, deep sapphire-blue and dull emerald-green, and other parts of the decoration in sympathetic golden yellows of softened tone, and modest neutral tints. K'ang-hsi.

No. 467

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

(Gold and blue)

Length, 3 feet 7 inches; width, 2 feet.

Short, dense pile, lustrous of surface, the field a rich mazarin blue of depth and dignity. On it are laid six Fu lions in golden yellow and tawny tones, two of them in a medallion guarding the brocaded ball and two at either end among gracefully scrolling foliations. Here and there are details in white and a fair turquoise hue. The golden tones supply the border ground, supporting designs in dark and light blue with touches of white. K'ang-hsi.

No. 468

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG
(Blue and old gold)

Length, 4 feet 8 inches; width, 2 feet 5 inches.

Soft, deep pile. The whole body of the rug is a rare turquoise, with a confusing sheen, and takes sometimes the aspect of a hazy sky-blue. A white stripe and a line of white fret enclose a generous border of leaf and floral forms in golden brown, golden yellow and white, all lying lightly in the blue body, while within a second white guard-stripe is encompassed the fair expanse of the oblong turquoise field proper. Here household ornaments thickly cluster around a medallion enclosing deer and a Fu lion, —all accomplished in yellows, browns, white and old gold on the basal blue. Fringe ends; sides overcast. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT
(Blue and white)

Length, 3 feet 9 inches; width, 1 foot 11 inches.

Cerulean field with a light sheen, adorned with two of the feng-huang swooping toward two kilins looking upward, while flaming wheels whirl in space near by; the whole in pale turquoise and a pale grayish-white, touched with apricot. Borders of fret, foliations and Shou medallions on a ground of the field color. Eighteenth century.

No. 470

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

(Silvery fawn and blue)

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet.

Short pile and velvety sheen; close, compact texture. The unusual ornamentation of this rug—a complex union of diverse decorative elements—is accomplished in rich but in no way insistent dark blue, softened and relieved by lighter grayish-blues, on a fawn ground with a slight silvery sheen; and although without formal lines of definition or segmental separation whatever, yet supplies border and corners and field, in the accepted plan of traditional rug decoration. Around a central floral medallion are sprays and boxes of plants, at the corners are angular and archaic scrolls, and in the engaging and informal border appear besides conventional floral scrolls, Shou characters, the swastika, bat emblems and grotesque bird-heads. Early Ch'ien-lung.

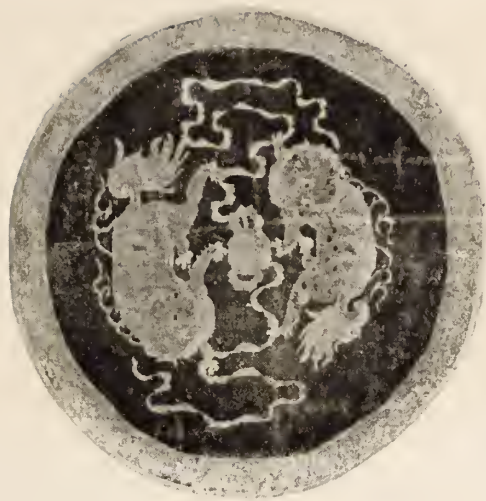

No. 471

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

(Blue and gold)

Length, 3 feet 4 inches; width, 1 foot 10 inches.

Field in dark blue of wonderful depth and richness, adorned with a brocaded medallion, butterflies and sprays of blossoms and leaves in golden, apricot and turquoise tones. Border of the peony design in light and dark blue with white, on golden ground. K'ang-hsi.

No. 472

ROUND CHINESE RUG

Diameter, 2 feet 10 inches.

On a circular field of deep, dark blue, within a tawny border, two lions boldly sketched in lively action appear about a filleted ball. They are woven in the tawny tone of the border, emphasized by deeper patches of ochre, sections of bluish-green resembling the hue of the washed turquoise, and reserved dots in the deep blue of the round field. Edge bound. Eighteenth century.

No. 473

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 1 foot 11 inches.

A kilin at either end looks up toward a phoenix flying above his head, both being done in yellow and apricot tones, with light turquoise-blue, on a dark blue ground. Border of foliations, medallions and symbolic bats in the lighter colors on dark ground. Eighteenth century.

No. 474

RARE GREEN ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT
(Sage-green and golden-brown)

Soft pile, closely woven, with a delicate sheen. Formal geometrical medallions embodying ancient elements of design furnish the principal decorative motive of an oblong field, two of the medallions complete, with corresponding hemispheres midway of the sides, and quadrants at the corners. Intermediate decoration appears in the form of vases with flowers. The whole in golden yellows and browns, delicate and mellow, picked out and emphasized by strong sapphire-blue, on a ground of softened sage-green. Surrounding all are sundry borders, bounded by a narrow band of deep sapphire. Fringed ends, sides overcast. Eighteenth century.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 5 inches; width, 1 foot 11 inches.

Decorations in golden tones and light blue on a lustrous sapphire field include a floral medallion, pomegranates and the Buddha's-hand fruit, sprays of water plants and the blossoming plum tree and chrysanthemum, with corners of foliations. Border of the golden hues accented with light and dark blue in a foliar scroll with blossoms. K'ang-hsi.

No. 476

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT
(Old-gold and blue)

Length, 3 feet 4 inches; width, 1 foot 11 inches.

Soft, silky pile; close texture. The deep, ultra-sapphire that has been called "midnight-blue" is here used in a combination of remarkable effect with azure and a modicum of white on a ground of old gold. The blue design, in formal floral units entwined and detached, covers a rectilinear old-golden field around a central brocaded medallion. Separated from the field by light and harmonious stripes and a narrow dot border is a broad border displaying a bold fret in deep blue, relieved by an azure underlining, on a ground matching that of the warm and delicate field. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 477

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet.

Field with a dull golden note of greenish tinge, its ornamentation sapphire and turquoise sprays and foliations, and conventional butterflies, touched upon occasion with white. Narrow borders of small white squares and a white fret on sapphire, and a broader border of floral forms and foliations in sapphire, turquoise and white on a ground with the golden note of the field. K'ang-hsi.

Fourth and Last Afternoon

No. 478

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SILK MAT

(Red)

Raw silk. A broad border which gives the rug its note, occupying a large proportion of its surface, is a bright red of scarlet tone but with a jewel quality in its brilliancy. On this ground are formal designs in pale sky-blue and pearly white, old gold and pale emerald-green. Near its outer edge is an angular fret border in apricot on pale turquoise, and on its inner side is a narrow border of oblique scroll fret in apricot on seal-brown, enclosing a center field of various designs in red and old gold on a ground of turquoise and silver. Eighteenth century.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SILK MAT

(Red)

Length, 3 feet 9 inches; width, 3 feet 3 inches.

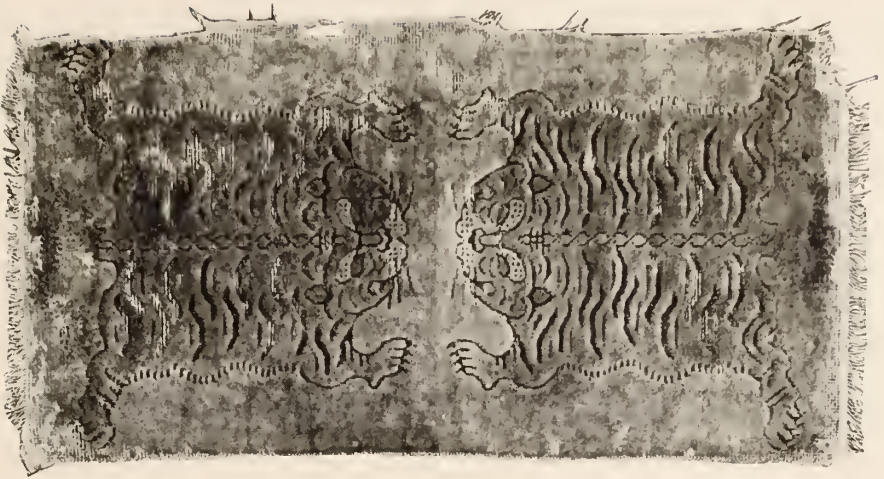

Short, close pile. Body-color of a soft but bright red, of ruby quality, extending as a broad band on all sides of an inner square which is demarcated by an angular fret-scroll in orange on dark brown. The red band or greater body carries a formal floral and geometrical ornamentation in pale yellow, white and blue; the inner square is similarly ornamented, with the addition of red reserve. Narrow fret border of golden brown on turquoise. Long fringe ends. Probably Western China. Eighteenth century.

No. 480

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE MAT

Length, 3 feet 10 inches; width, 1 foot 8 inches.

A piece of palatial richness, its silken pile caressing to the touch, its soft benignant aspect ingratiating to the eye. A geometrical lattice of intercepting squares and circles is woven in two deep tones of blue, outlined in palest brown and bronze, over a field whose indefinable color is lost in its exquisite luster—the circles framing crane-medallions almost in self-color, and the squares enclosing foliations in rich wine-color and two blues, while the crossings are marked by small swastikas. Ming.

No. 481

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

("The Two Tigers")

Length, 3 feet 7 inches; width, 1 foot 11 inches.

Soft, silky, short pile, with handsome sheen. The body of the fabric, extending uninterrupted by band or border from fringed ends to overcast sides, is a soft, beguiling, pale olive, shimmering in the light, overspreading which are the forms of two outstretched tiger skins, head to head, the tails curling at opposite ends of the rug. The great cat bodies are in a tawny yellow, almost a light golden brown, with gray utilized about mouth and paws, and a more pronounced brown marking ears and eyes, while the stripes are worked in a sharply contrasting dark brown, as is the neatly defined spinal ridge. Seventeenth century.

No. 482

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

("The Rooster")

Length, 4 feet 4 inches; width, 2 feet 2 inches.

A rare example. Three similar geometrical panels, one outlined in blue, lie transversely on a rose-pink field, their decoration accomplished in blue and tawny yellows. In one a rooster is seen perched proudly on some roof or projection, with branches of trees near by. In a second a spotted doe is looking upward near some rocks, and the third pictures an ancient sacrificial bronze vessel and a globular bottle holding flowers. Swastika-fret border in brilliant sapphire on a tawny ground. Ming.

No. 483

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Sang-de-bœuf)

Length, 4 feet 2 inches; width, 2 feet 2 inches.

A color rarely found in Chinese rugs. The whole ground, of field and border, is in sang-de-bœuf tones, the decoration in a blue so deep and dark that it gives the appearance of a rich matt black. A medallion of floral forms and foliations encloses a lesser medallion of fret-scroll, foliations supply the corners, and in the intervening space are conventionalizations of the peony motive in sprays. The border is a swastika-fret. Eighteenth century.

No. 484

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

(Golden-yellow, blue and white)

The field is a lattice of floral wheels or rosettes in dark and light blue and white, broken by a medallion and triangular corners of scrolls in golden-yellow and apricot. This is surrounded by a white fret border on blue, a broader border of complicated fret in light and dark blue, white, apricot and yellow, and a blue band through which runs a stripe of lighter blue. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 485

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

Length, 4 feet 4 inches; width, 2 feet 3 inches.

In general color the rug presents a refined and delectable confusion, a fawn tone perhaps prevailing, though with silvery and golden suggestions and a light and brilliant sheen. On this ground the field is elaborately ornamented with sprays and jardinières, a medallion of five Fu-lions, and corners involving the archaic dragon in conventional scroll form with foliations, all wrought in sapphire-blue, turquoise which verges upon turquoise-green, apricot, bronze and golden-yellow. Beyond guard stripes and narrow borders of dots and fret in white and golden-yellow on blue ground is a wide border of the swastika fret in the colors of the field with golden tones prevailing. Eighteenth century.

ANTIQUE CHINESE BIRD RUG

Length, 4 feet 4 inches; width, 2 feet 2 inches.

A field of fulvous tone and light sheen is threaded by numerous delicate shades of brown and pale yellow, spreading over it branches and sprays of flowers, and to these are added other blossoms in white and various blues. At either end, perched upon branches above rocks over a rose-pink slope, are sapphire-blue birds with yellow legs, their turquoise and white striped wings tipped with salmon. Conventional border embodying the general color scheme. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 487

ANTIQUE CHINESE MAT

Length, 4 feet 5 inches; width, 2 feet 3 inches.

A very handsome small rug, rich in quality, fine in texture and with a soft luster. Field and border return a creamy café-au-lait tone, and both are ornamented in foliar designs, worked in a rich, deep sapphire-blue, a blue of grayish turquoise quality and a modicum of soft white. In the field are also to be found conventional butterflies, sprigs of the Buddha's-hand citron, and a floral medallion, and in the border are conventionalizations of the peony. Eighteenth century.

No. 488

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(The Eight Horses)

On a creamy field, amongst rocks, trees and grasses done in two shades of blue, are the famous eight horses, the motive commemorating the notable steeds of Mu Wang, the Chou monarch, whose charioteer drove them with his master wherever hoofs had trodden or wheel ruts ran in the ancient realm. The horses are worked in the two blues, tan, and a mixed brown. One is happily rolling on his back, one is munching at the leaves of a tree, and one is biting his neighbor's back. One only is saddled and bridled. Eighteenth century.

No. 489

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(Sapphire and golden-brown)

A textile bijou; a very handsome small rug, exquisite in its class. Short pile, soft and silky, and close texture. The oblong field of rich, deep sapphire-blue, with a sheen of subdued glow, is cut at the corners by quadrants of scroll medallions—their design a complex of floral and conventionalized archaic-dragon scrolls—in pale and golden yellows and light and dark browns. Midway of the sides impinge half-medallions of the same design and coloring. The same hues with white and light blue added are employed in two complete medallions, worked with floral forms, butterflies and fruits, near either end of the field; while sprays and emblematic bats furnish additional embellishment over the gem-like surface. In the principal border, conventional designs worked in delicate harmony on a ground of brilliant golden-brown. Overcast sides; fringe ends. Early Ch'ien-lung.

No. 490

ANTIQUE CHINESE CIRCULAR MAT

Diameter, 2 feet 6 inches.

Unusual shape. Long, soft pile. The circular field, encompassed by a series of borders, displays a bold landscape in which a spotted deer appears amongst trees, with a crane flying overhead amidst cloud-scrolls—auspicious emblems, in the imagery of the Orient. The decoration is accomplished in a variety of harmonious browns and yellows, with stronger dark blues, and light blue and white, on a ground of salmon-pink. Eighteenth century.

No. 490—Antique Chinese Circular Mat

No. 491

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MAT

(Gold and sky-blue)

Dimensions, 3 feet 1 inch by 3 feet 2 inches.

The ground of the field is the beautiful sky-blue of a fair day, with a light and brilliant sheen, and over it is a decoration intricately and ingeniously effected of flying bats amongst cloud-scrolls—happiness in the skies—some of the scrolls taking the outlines of the sacred fungus, symbol of long life. These are placed about a seal character, the whole worked in notes of old gold and golden yellow, light apricot and golden-brown, with a soft luster. Border of gammadions in gold on a deep sapphire-blue. The silky pile is short and dense. Eighteenth century.

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE MAT

(Gold and sky-blue)

Dimensions, 3 feet 2 inches by 3 feet 3 inches.

A pendant and companion to the preceding (No. 491), with the same soft glow and beauty of coloring and design. Same period.

No. 493

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 4 feet 5 inches; width, 2 feet 3 inches.

A blue and white fabric with supplementary colors. At either end of the gray-white field a saddled horse is tied to a tree which springs from among rocks. In the center is a medallion embracing a tree, a spotted stag and a phœnix. Borders of Greek and swastika fret. The colors used are dark blue and a greenish-blue, tawny-yellow and orange-pink. Eighteenth century.

No. 494

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 4 feet 11 inches; width, 2 feet 10 inches.

The body of the field is a rich, effulgent blue of sapphire quality and atmospheric depth, and bears a decoration in a grayish or turquoise blue, with white, composed of graceful foliar scrolls in two expansive designs all but embracing a medallion of similar motive, while at the corners appear angular scrolls in pale blue and white about the swastika device in the same pale blue picked out with sapphire. Border of swastika fret in sapphire on a gray-blue ground. Eighteenth century.

No. 495

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG
(The Zodiac)

Length, 4 feet 4 inches; width, 3 feet 3 inches.

Soft, velvety pile. Quadrangular field of rich, brilliant sapphire, bounded by a narrow band of light seal-brown, and containing a broad sphere of soft grayish-white with a perimeter of pale gold. Within the circle are the twelve signs (animals) of the Chinese zodiac in blue, salmon-pink and golden-yellow, about a center or inner circle encompassing the ancient symbol yang-yin. Eighteenth century.

No. 496

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG
(Sapphire and gold)

Length, 4 feet 6 inches; width, 2 feet 5 inches.

Soft, thick velvety pile and loose texture, with a rich but subdued sheen. Field of a deep, glowing sapphire blue, intense and luminous, in which appear at either end spotted deer and flying cranes, with emblematic bats—symbols of longevity and of happiness—worked in old-gold, golden-brown, white and turquoise; while in the center a medallion with a caparisoned horse under a tree is effected in similar colors. The brilliant chromatic scheme is continued in a border which includes Shou characters, adjoining a boundary strip of rich sapphire. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 497

PAIR ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUGS
(Blue and white, coral, pink and yellow)

Length, 4 feet 4 inches; width, 2 feet 2 inches.

Creamy-white ground, on which are pictured birds, butterflies and bats, two of the birds poised upon rocks and two perched in blossoming plum trees, all in purplish-blue and turquoise, coral, pink and pale yellow. Dot and meander borders, and a broad border of the archaic dragon-scroll with foliations, the dragons depicted with flaming tongues. Eighteenth century.

No. 498

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Blue and white)

Length, 4 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet 4 inches.

Soft, thick pile; loose texture. An oblong field of swastika-lattice in deep blue and dark turquoise-green is interrupted by a central floral medallion in the same colors with white, the scalloped corners being reserved in blue and bearing floral conventionalizations in the green and white. A narrow fret border in white on blue, between guard-stripes, is succeeded by a deep border of flowers, fruits and Buddhist emblems in cream-white, turquoise-green and soft brown on deep blue ground. Ch'ien-lung.

(Blue and white with yellow)

With a decorative scheme which in general is quite familiar, this rug is itself quite unusual in that the ornamental arrangement shows unexpected variation. At either end, in a mountainous landscape, a dark blue spotted stag with outline and details in lighter blue is sniffing at a plant growing on a rocky ledge, a recumbent doe just discernible below him—the doe worked in a tone almost the equivalent of that of the body color but clipped to a lower plane. The customary tree on either side is similarly clipped, and in similar tone as to its trunk and branches, while the leaves are in sapphire blue. Above the head of either stag is a flying crane in two tones of blue, its crest and wing-tips in apricot, and here and there apricot and orange yellows appear in details of the landscape. Eighteenth century.

No. 500

ANTIQUE CHINESE FISH RUG

Length, 4 feet 4 inches; width, 2 feet 5 inches.

Soft, loose pile, with a slight sheen. The gray-white field, between jagged corners of varicolored mountain forms, is suggestive of the white sandy-bottomed aquaria where rocks are placed that the piscine inhabitants may be at home. Here swim numerous gold fish, and others, of the varieties having the extraordinarily long, sweeping, tail-like fins or double tails, and protruding eyes, while aquatic grasses struggle through the water, and leaf and insect forms dot its surface. Swastika-fret, meander and stripe borders. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 501

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 5 feet 2 inches; width, 3 feet 4 inches.

Short, soft pile. The greater part of the fabric is a warm rose-pink or salmon-red, with a fine light luster. This is ornamented with successive short, seal-brown lines, in geometrical arrangement about an ovate medallion, which has the same ground color and is decorated in old-gold, sapphire-blue, pale turquoise and white, with a figure—possibly the Taoist divinity Hsi Wang Mu—bestriding a grotesque lion-monster and carrying a branch of sacred fungus as a scepter. The ends are worked with the conventional wave motive, in the colors of the central medallion with brown added. Eighteenth century.

No. 502

ANTIQUE CHINESE SILK SADDLE-CLOTH

Length, 4 feet 4 inches; width, 2 feet 3 inches.

Made for a high personage. Broad border of soft gray of a remarkable quality and effulgent silvery sheen. This carries a narrow geometrical border in soft blue, and itself lies between bands of rich seal-brown. The body of the rug is traversed by a fine lattice in golden-yellow on a neutral gray, taking a golden sheen. Strap-slits have been covered by two leaves of lime-green leather. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 503

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(Golden-brown and green)

Length, 4 feet 10 inches; width, 2 feet 5 inches.

Short velvety pile. The whole aspect of the rug is of a soft blending of rich golden brown and warm orange or copper tones, with accents of dark greenish-blue and turquoise-green. The decoration depicts a large phoenix at either end, in the midst of peony scrolls which extend to a center medallion in which the bird appears again along with a conventional archaic presentation of the kiln. The greenish-blue and turquoise-green present themselves further in connection with the golden body colors in successive borders which include a key and an alternating fret. K'ang-hsi.

No. 504

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(Golden-bronze)

Length, 5 feet 6 inches; width, 3 feet 3 inches.

A rare example. Short, close, silky pile. The narrow oblong field has a sheen of golden-bronze—a rare tone in carpets. This field is beautifully worked in dark sapphire-blue, pale turquoise-green and a modicum of white, with the Buddha's-hand citron, graceful poppies, and peony and other floral sprays. Floral corners are similarly worked upon it, and a center medallion is formed of foliations and the conventionalized archaic dragon-scroll. K'ang-hsi.

No. 505

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE ZODIACAL RUG

(Blue with yellow and white)

Length, 4 feet 11 inches; width, 2 feet 6 inches.

Soft, deep, silky pile, with loose texture. The prevailing blue a deep cerulean, with a delicate aerial sheen. The long field is occupied by the twelve animals of the Chinese zodiac, done for the most part in golden yellow and brown, brownish-whites, salmon-pink and turquoise-green, appearing in strong contrast to the blue ground. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 506

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Unusual ornamentation. Soft, close pile. The main field or ground appears as a column, in rich and glowing blue, enclosed throughout by a Greek fret, and by a border of foliations except beside certain projections at the top. Above the top is a frieze of the swastika-fret; at the bottom of the column are archaic dragon corners. The field holds two medallions and various ornaments, all in light blue, dull browns, yellows and white. K'ang-hsi.

No. 507

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Red)

Length, 5 feet 1 inch; width, 3 feet 1 inch.

On a body of soft red, without border, is a decoration of many short parallel lines, seal-brown in color, placed in transverse bands alternately straight and wavy, the lines themselves being vertical. At the center is a medallion of angular fret in dark and light blue and white, and at either side of it the brown lines change to the horizontal, increase in weight and are placed in concentric bands. Seventeenth century.

No. 508

VERY RARE ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(The "Eight Horses" of Mu Wang)

A Ming product in an excellent state of preservation. Soft, caressing, tawny ground with a brilliant sheen, between end-borders of the leaping-wave motive in two tones of blue, golden-brown, golden-yellow and white. In the center a floral wreath in dark and light blue, and white, encircles a Shou medallion and a bat emblem, in brown and brownish-yellow on a golden-yellow ground. About the field are the Eight Horses of Mu Wang—the celebrated steeds that were reputed to have carried their royal Chou owner wherever wheel ruts ran or hoofs had trodden in the ancient kingdom. They appear in various attitudes—two nibbling at shrubs, one drinking, others grazing or scampering—in white, brown and blue. All around are trees, with black or brown trunks, their tops enwrapped in a halo of golden sunshine. Ming.

No. 510

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(The Eight Horses)

Length, 6 feet 6 inches; width, 4 feet 3 inches.

The reddish copper-brown field, with a light metallic sheen, has variously placed upon it rocks, trees and grasses, in golden yellows, browns, light and dark blue and white, and about the field appear eight several steeds in white, blue and brown, commemorative of the wondrous eight horses of Mu Wang, which were reputed to have taken him from one end of his kingdom to the other, wherever hoofs had trodden, back in the days of the Chou. Eighteenth century.

No. 511

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE DRAGON RUG

(Blue, flame and tawny-yellow)

Length, 5 feet 9 inches; width, 3 feet 2 inches.

Soft thick pile. A fierce five-clawed dragon, his scales defined, is depicted in a mottled tawny-yellow pursuing a flaming jewel, in the deep, sapphire ether, among emblematic clouds above tossing waves of the sea. About him are seen branches of the sacred fungus, and the auspicious Buddhistic emblems of the twin fish and the endless knot. K'ang-hsi.

No. 512

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 6 feet 4 inches; width, 4 feet 2 inches.

A very fine rug and in good condition. The field, apparently originally intended to be imperial yellow, is now time-softened to a restful golden tone, and its color is continued to an exterior band of solid and brilliant deep blue, the field being demarcated by a triplicate stripe formed of this dark blue on either side of a gray or turquoise-blue, and the intervening space divided into two borders by a thin line of the dark blue. The adornment of the field, symbols of art and culture, about an intricate medallion, is woven in deep blue, a soft seal-brown, white and turquoise, time harmonizing all with the golden note of the ground color. The borders are worked in similar tones, one in the "walls of Troy" fret, one with the archaic dragon scroll and peonies. Early K'ang-hsi.

No. 511

No. 513

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE RUG

Dimensions, 6 feet square.

The square field is bluest of the blue, of sapphire quality and a deep glow, adorned with four floral medallions near elaborate corner foliations and a central medallion figuring a phoenix and kiln. Strwn between the medallions are sundry floral sprays and amongst them butterflies are on the wing. The colors are golden yellows, light blue and white. Fret border of peach-pink, followed by a border of white dots on blue, and an outer border of conventional peonies and foliations in dark and light blue, white and pale yellow on a golden ground, with a boundary strip of solid color,—the blue of the field. Eighteenth century.

No. 514

ANTIQUE SILK ELEPHANT SADDLE-CLOTH

(Brilliant red with rainbow hues)

Length, 5 feet 3 inches; width, 3 feet 1 inch.

The silken pile is soft, brilliant and close-lying, of a deep, rich red. The long sides are overcast, the ends are shaped as segments of circles and have long fringe. In the center is an elongated medallion of angular-scroll in turquoise-blue, in the midst of varied short hatchings in seal-brown so deep that it seems a rich black. End-borders and supplemental motives in a variety of soft and brilliant colors with a rainbow iridescence. Eighteenth century.

No. 515

ANTIQUE CHINESE SQUARE RUG

Dimensions, 6 feet by 6 feet.

Short, compact pile. Centered by a dragon-and-phoenix medallion of archaic construction, with four foliar-scroll medallions surrounding it, a deep sapphire field with a subdued sheen is strewn with sprays and fluttering butterflies in sundry bright tones of turquoise, orange-brown, white and pale yellow, while the corners are occupied by foliate scrolls with archaic elements. Edges overcast and fringed. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 516

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Ivory white, sapphire and bright gold)

Length, 6 feet 7 inches; width, 4 feet 8 inches.

Close, short, silky pile. An ivory white field, toned and with a reticent sheen, is decorated in a rich, deep sapphire, yellow gold, turquoise, and subdued orange-pinks and pinkish-browns, with a landscape of mountains and varied trees, in which appear the sacred spotted stag and doe, and a flying crane "spotted" with the mystic fylfot symbol, each of the three—all emblems of longevity—bearing in its mouth some branch, presumably of the sacred fungus, which is another wish for prolongation of days—the highest desire of the Celestials. Two borders harmoniously arranged both in design and color, and a boundary strip of solid sapphire-blue. Early Ch'ien-lung.

No. 517

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Blue)

Length, 8 feet 8 inches; width, 5 feet 9 inches.

Soft pile and loose texture. An expansive quadrilateral field of deep cerulean with varying sheen is bestrewn with floral sprays of many forms, and among them are to be detected sprigs of fruits of the abundances,—here a peach, there a pomegranate, yonder a Buddha's-hand citron,—all accomplished in harmonious browns, golden yellows and salmon-pinks, emphasized by contrasts of white, and of blue so deep as to appear almost black. The borders repeat the colors of the field, either solid or bearing conventional designs. Overcast sides; ends bound. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Blue, white, gold and apricot)

Length, 6 feet; width, 2 feet 11 inches.

The rectangular field is a soft, grayish-white, restful in tone, with écriu inclinations, and is decorated in apricot, light brown, old gold, sapphire and turquoise, with sprays and foliations and butterflies, and a floral medallion. Surrounding it is a border of white discs, followed by a border of chrysanthemum scroll in light blue, white, and tones of apricot, both on a sapphire ground. Eighteenth century.

No. 519

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 6 feet 5 inches; width, 4 feet 6 inches.

An unusual and graceful decoration crosses the rug in three bands, each formed of delicate stencil patterns and tracery, the end ones with a single medallion each and the central one having two medallions, all in dark blue on a fawn-tawny ground. Border of deep blue with a foliar scroll in pale blue and ground reserve. K'ang-hsi.

No. 520

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Old-gold and sapphire-blue)

Length, 6 feet; width, 4 feet 6 inches.

The archaic dragon conventionalized into foliations forms the principal decorative motive of the rug, one appearing at each corner and two forming a medallion in the center, all in a rich and brilliant gem-like deep blue of sapphire quality, on a light field threaded by a floral scroll in old-gold. Swastika-fret border in the same brilliant blue on a pale brownish-yellow ground. Ming.

No. 521

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Varicolored)

On a white field softening toward écreu is a profuse ornamentation, of varied motives, in tones of the apricot, peach, and dark purplish raspberry-red, combined with a dark sapphire and a gray cobalt-blue, and a very soft yellowish-green. The motives are numerous sprays and fruit clusters, flowering shrubs guarded by balustrades, and a medallion and corners formed of the archaic dragon in conventionalized angular-seroll. Beyond a narrow fret border in white with guard-stripes of the lighter and darker blue, the principal border displays flower and scroll motives in the colors used on the field, with the same light ground. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 522

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Red, yellow and brown)

Silky pile. The red ground is decorated with numerous short parallel lines of seal-brown, vertieal, arranged in transverse bands which are alternately straight and wavy as they cross the rug. In the intervals of the waved or looped bands are conventional blossoms in yellow, white and brown. At the center is a large medallion of angular seroll in seal-brown and white, and at either side of it the short brown parallel lines are turned to the horizontal in concentric bands. Running across either end of the rug is a deep band of formal designs in yellow and red, seal-brown, pinkish-brown and white. Seventeenth century.

No. 523

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Azure with brilliant decorations)

Length, 6 feet 7 inches; width, 3 feet 1 inch.

Soft, deep pile with delicate sheen. In the center a composite medallion of the swastika, a conventional archaic angular scroll, and foliations—similar motives being employed for the corners; and about the field various ornaments from the “Hundred Antiques.” All in golden-yellows, salmon-pinks, white, golden-brown, rich pumpkin-color and occasional bits of deep blue. Conventional borders in accord. Ch’ien-lung.

No. 524

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Touched with scarlet)

Length, 6 feet 10 inches; width, 4 feet 7 inches.

Soft, deep and silky pile. The field has a golden aspect, which resolves itself into a “rice-grain” lattice of soft seal-brown on a golden-yellow ground, the interstices presenting a minute orange grill. In the stepped corners, angular and swastika fret in turquoise, orange and gold, and in the center a fret and scroll medallion in white, pale gold and light and dark blue. A bold and remarkable swastika border is worked in pale-turquoise and dark blue, white and yellow-gold, with interruptions of brilliant scarlet, on a salmon-pink ground. Ch’ien-lung.

No. 525

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Tawny-yellow and sapphire-blue)

Length, 7 feet 2 inches; width, 3 feet 9 inches.

Short, close, compact pile, with firm texture. The field is a tawny, lion-skin yellow, with a soft sheen. In it are worked archaic dragons, highly conventionalized and taking the form of foliated scrolls, two coiled in a central medallion, one curling about each of the corners, and two others rampant in the field. They are done in a remarkably brilliant, deep sapphire-blue, as are five emblematic bats surrounding the medallion and completing the decoration of the fine yellow field. A conventional lattice-scroll border is succeeded by one of swastika-fret, both in blue on the tawny body color. Ming.

No. 523

No. 528

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(Sapphire-blue and fawn)

Length, 6 feet 4 inches; width, 4 feet 5 inches.

Short, compact pile, with light sheen. The fawn field is most interestingly broken up by seven decorative units in a brilliant and intense sapphire-blue. The dragon is the motive, the archaic dragon conventionalized in a foliate scroll. One occupies each of the four corners; a smaller one is placed between each end pair, and a central medallion is formed of two of them coiling, and pursuing the sacred jewel. About the medallion, as four unconnected corners of an indicated enclosing square, the angular-fret scroll based on the archaic dragon conventionalization is used. Ming.

No. 529

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(Fawn-gray and sapphire, with brown and pale gold)

Length, 6 feet; width, 4 feet 6 inches.

Short, compact, silky pile. A field of soft, silvery fawn-gray is adorned only in rich, deep sapphire-blue, the ornamentation restrained and carefully placed, and based on the primitive dragon motive. Conventionalized archaic dragons, worked into foliate-scroll form, occupy the corners, supply a center medallion, and (two of them) sport on the field. The balance of the decoration is made up of four technical "corners" of conventional angular scroll based on the archaic dragon design, placed about the central medallion to indicate an enclosing parallelogram. Tawny-brown border with floral ornamentation in pale gold, blues and white. Ming.

No. 530

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(The "Moonlight" Rug)

Length, 6 feet 6 inches; width, 4 feet 6 inches.

Soft, silky pile with fine sheen; texture loose and heavy. Quadrilateral field of pale blue whose strange, enticing sheen has given the name "moonlight ground." This luminous ground is strewn with sprays and butterflies in brilliant yellows, rose-pink, white and sapphire-blue; foliations in similar colors without the blue fill the corners; and the center is occupied by an open medallion of winging flies and fine flowers. Overcast sides and fringe ends. Ch'ien-lung.

CHINESE RUG

(Long life and happiness)

Length, 7 feet 3 inches; width, 5 feet 5 inches.

Soft pile and loose texture. A bright golden-yellow field receives a conglomerate lattice effect from patches of seal-brown and small figures in dark cherry which are closely placed all over it. This indeterminate pattern is interrupted by five conventional floral medallions in sapphire, turquoise, white and peach tones. Stepped corners with flower scroll. Bright and elaborate floral border with bats and Shou marks—signifying happiness and longevity. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 533

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE SQUARE RUG

(Blue and white)

Length, 7 feet 8 inches; width, 7 feet 2 inches.

Soft, loose pile. Within a deep edge-band of solid color—a soft, gray-blue of turquoise quality—a broad border of bold swastika-fret in the same blue, on a soft gray-white ground, encloses a square white field, with heavy angular-fret corners. The field is centered by a bold medallion in blue, through which an angular scroll conventionalized from the archaic dragon motive runs in white reserve. Carefully spaced on the field are Shou medallions, endless-knots and other symbols—the same soft tones of blue and white prevailing throughout. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet 10 inches; width, 5 feet 9 inches.

Fine, short, close, velvety pile. Over a field of gray fawn ground runs an interlacement of graceful floral scroll in the form of vines, leaves and large blossoms in an elaborately conventionalized design. It is in a rich blue of fine quality and occupies the entire field, which is bordered by numerous stripes and two bands of fret. K'ang-hsi

No. 535

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 7 feet; width, 5 feet.

Deep pile. A glowing field of rich sapphire-blue is the luminous background for a brilliant floral display, in five medallions and a generous strewing of sprays and branches. The leaves and blossoms are worked in golden yellows and browns, white and a pale blue of bright turquoise quality. Corner foliations in similar colors. Border of alternating T-fret, interrupted by detached blossoms, conventionalized. Ch'ien-lung.

No. 536

ANTIQUE CHINESE ANIMAL RUG

Length, 6 feet; width, 3 feet 7 inches.

Short silky pile. Sapphire-blue, rich and glowing, is the field, a parallelogram within formal borders, and on it appear no less than nine of the strange Fu-lions, four of the smaller ones playing with the filleted ball. The animals are in the blue and green of the turquoise, and in gray and brownish white. Fringed ends and overcast sides. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Apricot and old-gold; peonies and butterflies)

Length, 7 feet 8 inches; width, 5 feet 6 inches.

Broad quadrangular field of apricot hue with a glistening sheen, carrying a bold and well regulated decoration brilliantly executed. This consists of the peony motive, variously adapted, in scrolls for the corners and detached sprays for the field about the central medallion, and butterflies fluttering among them; all in sapphire and sky blue, white and old-gold; the medallion a most unusual one in the same colors. Conventional border. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Rice grains and peony)

Thick, firm pile. A fine "grains-of-rice" lattice in peach tones on bright lemon-yellow forms the field, between formal corners of bold foliations. In the center is a peony-scroll medallion, in two blues and white on an orange-brown ground, and comprehending a central disc where two of the Fu-lions are seen, boldly executed. Placed with careful restraint and fine sense of proportion between corners and medallion are six peony blossoms, on stems with leaves. Fret and swastika borders, the latter interrupted by detached flowers. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 8 feet 11 inches; width, 5 feet 2 inches.

Fine greenish-golden swastika-grill over a gray-fawn ground, throughout a long quadrilateral field. Spaced in alternating rows of two and three, are twenty-five decorative objects in deep blue and turquoise, golden reserve, peach tones, orange-brown and yellow. They include a hanging bell, a dish of fruit, a branch of plum blossoms, a tripod, flower sprays, and fish swimming in a bowl. Eighteenth century.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 6 feet 10 inches; width, 4 feet.

Thick, close pile, and brilliant sheen. Effulgent in the glowing blue of the deep; spread with tones of gold; touched with pale turquoise and white. The decoration consists of eight varying geometrical figures, enclosing various ornaments of the household, in two columns on the blue quadrangular field, which is bounded by a brilliant golden swastika-fret border, within a sober, narrow, exterior strip of camel's-hair brown. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE BROAD RUG

(Azure and yellows and the zodiac)

Breadth, 8 feet 2 inches; depth, 5 feet 7 inches.

Short, compact pile with loose texture. A rug of ancient motives and modern beauty. Luminous azure field, broad and rather deep, largely covered by decorative motives in subdued yellows and browns, deep blue, and gray-white. The decorative devices include bold archaic dragon-scrolls in the corners, and the same design worked with foliations into five medallions, with numerous sprays and ornaments largely filling the interspaces of the field. T-fret border followed by a conventional floral and foliate border in which are found the twelve figures of the Chinese zodiac. K'ang-hsi.

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(Fawn and blue)

Length, 8 feet 6 inches; width, 6 feet 6 inches.

Soft, silky, compact pile. Light fawn field, the ornamentation so placed that broad spaces are left undecorated, to reveal at the full the quiet monochrome charm. The ornamentation itself has a peculiar attraction, an individuality, though deriving from conventional sources. In corners, in the medallion and in field figures an outline scroll is employed that appears to be an artist-weaver's variant upon that form of the archaic dragon-scroll which took the lines of foliations—the colors a deep sapphire and very pale green, with rare touches of yellow. The border, in the same light lines, is alike suggestive of familiar forms, yet has been worked out with an ingenious individuality. Fringed ends and overcast sides. Ming.

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(Blue, white and yellow)

Length, 8 feet 9 inches; width, 5 feet 8 inches.

Soft close pile. Fu-lions in deep sapphire, turquoise and white, glare aggressively in pairs in the field, and collectively in a group of five in a central medallion, which is surrounded by an outer band or wheel in which a suggestion of the Western Asiatic latch-hook appears in alternate sections of the two blues. The color of the field is a rich, full yellow, one of the innumerable beautiful yellows in which the Chinese craftsmen were superlative whether working in porcelain, carpets or silks. The field is further effectively decorated with growing plants, symbols, and archaic-dragon corners. Fringe ends; overcast sides. Eighteenth century.

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG
(Neutral tones)

Length, 6 feet 5 inches; width, 4 feet 6 inches.

Short, soft, compact pile, with loose texture. A fawn-gray tone pervades the square field, modified by quiet browns and yellows in the bodies of sundry vases and censers and other characteristic objects of household decoration which are woven into the fabric. Contrasts are supplied by outlines of small body-masses of deep blue. An orange-brown fret runs through a sapphire band as an inner border, beyond which is a swastika-fret in deep sapphire on a brownish-yellow ground. K'ang-hsi.

CHINESE RUG

(Peach and old-gold, blues and seal-brown)

Length, 8 feet 9 inches; width, 5 feet 4 inches.

Deep loose pile. Rectilinear field of peach color, with a delicate bloom or sheen, richly ornamented with branches of peonies, conventional butterflies and floral medallions—the colors turquoise and sapphire blue, white, a wealth of old gold, and generous touches of a soft seal-brown turned by flecks of yellow toward a golden-brown. In the brilliant and ornate border the Shou character appears in medallion form in imperial yellow on the old-gold ground, with peaches, emblematic bats and foliations in various colors. Fringe ends; overcast sides. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 8 feet 8 inches; width, 5 feet 5 inches.

In a field of golden-ochre hue there has been distributed a bountiful decoration, worked out in rich dark blue and a blue which suggests "cadet gray," with white. It comprises, with five floral medallions, the central one embraced within festoons of peonies, a plant of the sacred fungus near a bamboo tree, a mei tree in blossom and a blossoming chrysanthemum, with peach and pomegranate trees and a plant of the Buddha's-hand citron, besides corners of interlacing scrolls. A narrow border of white dots on dark blue is followed by a key-fret border in the gray-blue on the dark blue, and this by a border of gammadions in the dark blue on a ground of the field color. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Yellow, rose and blue)

Length, 8 feet; width, 5 feet 8 inches.

Deep, thick and soft pile. Brilliant as a mass of goldenrod, the quadrangular field of deep orange-yellow is set with leaves of old-gold on sapphire-blue branches sustaining gorgeous tree-peony blossoms in old-rose and white. These in profusion are scattered about a cloud-scroll medallion encompassing in turn a group or inner medallion formed of lions, the whole device in all the colors of the floral decoration coupled with ground reserve. Archaic dragon-scroll corners. Angular-fret and flower-scroll borders. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

Length, 8 feet 7 inches; width, 5 feet 8 inches.

Thick, soft, velvety pile. A handsome Oriental production in which numerous strong colors are harmoniously employed. The field has a soft pearl-white ground and a two-party decoration, or a decoration repeated based on each end of the rug. At either end the spectator looks upon a mountainous landscape with trees of different varieties. In the topmost branches of wine-colored plum trees with blue, yellow and pink blossoms are perched dark-blue birds with light-blue, white-striped wings and pink beaks. Near by are standing and flying cranes, and lower down are a gray-blue stag, spotted in reds, and a sapphire-blue doe without spots; and elsewhere are to be found bamboo trees, symbolical bats, and scrolls of the sacred fungus pattern. In an inner border are found Shou medallions and the endless-knot, amongst various formal patterns, and the knot recurs in the outer border, which is of unusual and ingenious variety of pattern and color. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

(Fawn and blue)

A fine example of early Ch'ien-lung. The field of fawn color with a light, soft sheen, is enclosed within a fret border which is followed by a conventional floral border, both done in two shades of blue on the fawn ground, these being succeeded by a boundary stripe in solid blue. In the center is a large medallion formed by a group of nine of the Fu-lions playing about the brocaded ball, and the corners are formed of the archaic dragon scroll combined with the conventionalized peony motive, all executed in sapphire blue and a darkened turquoise. The same colors are used for the generous balance of the decoration, which includes jardinières with growing peonies, bamboo, plum, the Buddha's-hand fruit and pomegranates, bronze sacrificial vessels and other objects of household ornament, a bundle of books and the endless-knot symbol. Early Ch'ien-lung. (Repaired.)

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Dark green)

Breadth, 8 feet 3 inches; depth, 6 feet 1 inch.

Short, soft and compact pile, with loose texture. A rug in sober colors, with a profuse ornamentation. The expansive field is a dark, subdued green, into which are worked closely placed decorative devies—bronzes and other household ornaments, boxes of flowering plants and shrubs, conventional butterflies—besides five foliate and geometrical medallions, and formal corners. The color used are blue so deep that it suggests black, red browns, quiet yellows, and gray whites. The several borders include one of a bold and intricate swastika-fret in brighter colors. This is really a broad rather than a long rug. Sides overcast; broad ends fringed. Late eighteenth century.

ANTIQUE CHINESE BROAD RUG

Breadth, 8 feet 2 inches; depth, 5 feet 11 inches.

The field ground is a turquoise-blue which when looked at against the light has a slightly mottled hue of turquoise-green. Its decoration comprises five medallions in which the peony motive and foliate and angular scrolls are used, and various ornaments, butterflies and sprays, with extensive corners of the peony pattern and foliations. The colors are a rich sapphire, soft gray-white, and different yellows, and the general key is held low, as it is also in the two borders, although in them the yellow tones predominate in contrast to the darker ground tone of the field. Eighteenth century.

Undoubtedly a production of the Yung-chêng era, with an exquisite quality and color in the decoration which irresistibly suggest the rare rose-backed and five-bordered plates that came from the ceramic artists of that day. The field is of a soft apricot tone with light luster, profusely decorated with flower forms, bats and butterflies, in a delicate rose, soft white, dark sapphire and lighter cobalt-blue, brown and a bright golden yellow. The same colors form a tripartite medallion in the center, in which are involved blossoms and foliations, archaic dragons, and a bird perched upon a flower stem. Five colored borders may be counted, including a boundary band of dark sapphire. Yung-chêng.

(Imperial yellow, blue and white)

Length, 9 feet 9 inches; width, 3 feet 5 inches.

An unusual pattern in rugs. The whole field, a bright and vivid imperial yellow, is broken by vibrating white lines into the pattern known as "cracking ice," the lines interrupted by drifting blossoms of the mei, all in white; the decorative scheme familiar in porcelains and there denominated the "hawthorn pattern"—a motive designed to represent the passing of winter and the coming of spring, the disintegrating ice strewn with blossoms of the winter-blooming wild prunus. In the border the same bright yellow continues as ground, adorned in deep sapphire and pale turquoise blue with detached cloud scrolls. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

(Blue and white)

Length, 9 feet 8 inches; width, 6 feet 4 inches.

Glowing field in the rich and brilliant color of the deepest sapphire sky, crystalline, scintillant, gem-like, of ample proportions; decorated generously yet with artistic restraint, in turquoise and a white of soft, grayish tone. The decoration involves a variety of sprays, including some not often met with in these fabrics, with large foliations and several butterflies, distributed about a large and gracefully worked medallion of similar elements. Border of foliations also in the turquoise and white on a brilliant ground of the field color. K'ang-hsi.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RUG

A carpet of dignified and impressive qualities and rare color distribution. Rich cerulean field, with corners of the archaic dragon-head scroll linked to a conventional peony blossom, in deep apricot and a lighter apricot of pinkish hue, bright golden yellow, white, and dark sapphire-blue. Both the dragon-scroll and the peony reappear in a large medallion at the center, in similar coloring, but with the pink leaning toward rose and the deeper apricot replaced by a tone almost red. Four lesser medallions have place in the field, which is further adorned with vases, jardinières and symbolic bats, the same colors being used with the addition of turquoise and a light greenish-yellow. In the border the dragon-scroll and foliations, in dark and light blue, white, golden yellow and pale apricot on a deep apricot ground. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUÉ CHINESE CARPET

(Pearl gray and polychrome)

Short, soft pile; close, firm texture. The ground of the long rectilinear field is a soft, grayish-white, partaking of the nature of a light pearl-gray. It bears a prodigality of ornament in five colors—light and dark blue, golden yellow, salmon-pink and a dark coppery red. In the center a foliar medallion encloses a group of five lions about a small brocaded ball. Near the corners are four smaller circular medallions, with the rare decoration of figures—traditional Taoist beings, one borne on a phœnix, one riding a kilin, a third on another strange animal of tiger-like build, while the fourth appears to be seated on a lotus-leaf. In the corners themselves are foliations entwined with an ancient angular scroll, while over the field butterflies, bats and phœnixes fly amid flower sprays, clusters of fruits, baskets or blossoms, and numerous devices from the “Hundred Antiques.” In the principal border of formal flower motives a dozen birds are to be found, perched or on the wing. A rare rug, as well as beautifully ornate. Ch'ien-lung.

ANTIQUE CHINESE RUG

Length, 10 feet 10 inches; width, 6 feet 2 inches.

This beautiful carpet has all but yielded its color to its brilliant, shimmering sheen. The rectangular field has a ground of salmon or pinkish-orange tone which gives way to the bright yellow-golden note of a vine-scroll it supports, which is all-pervasive. Here and there amongst the scrolling leaves and stems appear conventional blossoms in white and two shades of blue, and the field is broken by eight foliate medallions, also worked in the blue tones and white, enclosing inner medallions of two rudely conventionalized archaic dragons. The border of conventional peonies and foliations, which is in the two blues and white on light golden-yellow ground, is done in an early and engaging manner. K'ang-hsi.

(Gold and blue)

Length, 10 feet 9 inches; width, 6 feet 7 inches.

Soft, satiny pile. Glowing golden yellow is the field, brilliant and shimmering, and revealing in elusive glimpses a vague lattice which covers the field throughout in a scarcely perceptibly darker tone. Fu-lions prowl or crouch at the corners, three of them in a group appear in a central medallion, and two more roam individually in the field, where also are sprays of flowers, clusters of fruit and flying bats. The various decorations are in two shades of blue, white, orange-brown, fawn and a faint rose-pink. In an elaborate border the endless knot, the conch shell and a fish find place amongst numerous symbols and devices. Eighteenth century.

Length, 10 feet 9 inches; width, 7 feet 6 inches.

A fine fabric bearing the scars of venerable service. The capacious field, a light antelope hue, encloses a medallion of generous diameter, formed of four scrolling archaic dragons pursuing each other around the circle, this medallion encompassing a lesser one made up of two of the monsters extended in sinuous scroll. Both of the medallions are in blue of fine quality, so interspersed with threads of the ground color as to give the effect of stippling, or the soufflé of porcelains. The dragon motive is repeated in the same color and manner at each corner, where two of the supernatural animals are found. Wide border of the swastika fret executed in the same method as the dragons. Ming.

ANTIQUE CHINESE CARPET

Length, 11 feet 4 inches; width, 8 feet 4 inches.

A dignified carpet, sober and contained. The field, a glowing sapphire-blue characteristic of the period, is so treated as effectually to form a broad border about a large panel which occupies its center and a goodly portion of its areage. On the blue is a formal and elaborate peony scroll in tawny tones, the large conventional blossoms touched with turquoise and ivory white. The panel, with indented corners, and projecting spear-points midway of its sides, is defined in turquoise and the tawny notes, and has a light fawn ground, on which two of the Fu-lions in blues and yellows guard their broeaded charm. There are several borders, in the lighter tones, the principal one revealing the swastika in its ground color, the design being effected in detached units of pale turquoise. K'ang-hsi. (Repaired.)

Length, 10 feet 8 inches; width, 6 feet 1 inch.

Deep, soft pile and loose texture, with a brilliant and delicate silken sheen. Examined against the light the ample field presents the hue of the blue turquoise, with blendings of palest turquoise-green. With the light upon it it reflects the pale azure of a slightly milky sky. Over this blue expanse are lightly sown flower-sprays and sprigs of fruit, among which butterflies flutter, around a large and delicately constructed open medallion of foliations with which the beautiful moths are adroitly intermingled. Foliar corners meet as floral arches. The ornamentation is in bright golden yellows, salmon tones, salmon-pink, rich and luxurious golden browns, and white, with the addition of intense dark blue in the foliations of the central medallion. Bright and harmonious borders of angular fret and formal floral devices. Fringe ends and overcast sides. Ch'ien-lung.

A noble carpet with bigness of design and rich color. The depth of the sapphire ground which runs throughout the fabric is at once noticeable. The decoration is laid upon this in turquoise-blue and a soft gray-white, in a quadrangular field and formal border within a boundary of the solid blue. The border is a succession of foliations and lies between narrow stripes of white and turquoise, other similar stripes also marking off a narrower border on the inner side of it, the latter composed of white discs implanted on the deep blue ground. The great field, its dark ground fairly aglow with a quiet and deep brilliance, is occupied by opulent sprays of flower and fruit design, the peach, Buddha's-hand citron, plum, chrysanthemum, poppy and others, and numerous butterflies, some of relatively enormous size. At the center is a foliar medallion enclosing sprigs of the peach, pomegranate, Buddha's-hand fruit and the plum. K'ang-hsi.

Warm salmon-red, almost a flame color, as a ground, throughout the large rectangular field, which has an unusual and highly successful decorative scheme. This consists of many varieties of flowers and fruit, and numerous objects of Chinese ornament, to the total number of seventy units, so disposed and colored as to produce an agreeable effect and balance. And contrary to the familiar way of having half the decoration face either end of a rug, in this one all the objects are to be viewed from one end. The colors used include sapphire and turquoise blue, various yellows and browns, and white; and among the objects are incense burners, vases, ancient sacrificial bronzes, bell or sounding-stone stands in the dragon motive, bamboo, peony, chrysanthemum and plum branches, the peach of longevity and the Buddha's-hand citron. ANTIQUÉ CHINESE RAW SILK CARPET

A carpet of many colors, yet so softened as to give the suggestion of neutral tones. The whole square field is cut as a large grill of geometrical figures in azure and turquoise lines. The interspaces, with a ground of rich, soft brown which holds all the other colors and the patterns together, are marked by varied conventional flower designs and stars, in soft pink and old rose, seal brown and golden yellow, pale turquoise and a yellowish olive-green. Familiar and remarkable as are the greens in antique Chinese porcelains and potteries, it is very rarely that green is found in the old rugs. Aside from the notes of it in the body of this carpet, there is here a very beautiful smaragdine border, in which is laid a swastika fret in brilliant cerulean, a striking yet happy combination. Enclosing this border are stripes of rich seal-brown, old-rose, turquoise, and again the smaragdine with a darker emerald green. A rug which particularly emphasizes itself for an oak room. Length, 14 feet 5 inches; width, 7 feet 6 inches.

The entire field of this ancient carpet is of a golden-brownish tone, tinged with yellow, covered with myriad repetitions of the conventional tiger-stripe in miniature, in a dull, deep brown. In the center a geometrical figure with diamond points, outlined in pale gray-blue and dark sapphire, encloses two lions—one in pale yellow, one in the dark sapphire—each with a fillet of the broad-eared ball that lies between them in its mouth. The unusual border is a broad reticulate band of geometric forms in gray-blue and sapphire on a light tawny-yellow. Ming.
