Summary [edit]

Description | Lightning strike in conifer.

ISA Tool was a pilote project of “Structured Data on Commons”

What ?

adding metadata on Commons
in a structured, multilingual
& machine-readable format

What for ?

making Commons files easier to view, search, edit, organize and re-use

- Florence Devouard, development process lead, Wiki In Africa
- Islahaddow, communications lead, Wiki In Africa
- Eugene Egbe, Developer
- Navino Evans, Technical manager, Histropedia
- Sean McBirnie, Designer, Histropedia
- Sandra Fauconnier, mentor and SDC liaison, Wikimedia Foundation

What is ISA?

- Describe Commons media files with structured data from Wikidata
- Tool accessible on desktop and mobile
- Set up your own campaign or participate to already set-up ones
- Track and easily report participation

ISA

Easily Add Information about Images on Wikimedia Commons

ISA is a multilingual, mobile-first tool, that makes it easy for people to add 'micro-contributions' in the form of structured data (descriptions, captions, tags, etc.) to images that have been contributed to Wikimedia Commons by Wiki Loves competitions.

About This Tool

In the long run, the intent behind the tool is to increase the use of the knowledge that is reflected by each image hosted on Wikimedia Commons.

The tool is aimed to assist in the usefulness and information of images donated during the Wiki Loves competitions. It is initially being built to assist in the descriptions of Wiki Loves Africa images, but is being specifically modelled to be useful to all of the Wiki Loves competitions and beyond.

<https://isa.toolforge.org>

It is also designed to be a host of micro contribution competitions proposed by project leaders.

Campaign #179

Wiki Loves Africa 2021 Health + Wellness

There are millions of subjects you can read about on Wikipedia. Of all those subjects, the ones that relate to Africa have the least coverage. This is due to a number of reasons, but some are linked to the fact that many people do not know that they can have their knowledge and cultures reflected on Wikipedia by donating their images, videos and audio to Wikipedia.

The richness, diversity and beauty of Africa deserves to be visually celebrated on Wikipedia. YOU can help to do this.

Everyone is welcome to participate!
