POETRY.

The Heiress.

I love thee for thyself alone,
The world reproved my choice;
Yet well thou know'st I claimed thee still,
With an unflinching voice.
They called thee fickle;—oh, how blind
Fond woman's love will be!
I deemed it but an idle tale,
And trusted all in thee.

My father said that thou wert poor,
Improvident and wild;
He said that want and penury
Would kill his gentle child.

I answered not, but secretly
I scorned the tale he told;
And then stole forth and pledged to thee
The heiress and her gold.

My mother said, "do not heed
Thy lover's want of wealth;
But will he fondly cherish thee
In sickness and in health?"

"He has the restless eye of one
Who leads a roving life;
He loves not as thou should'st be loved—
Oh! do not be his wife."

My father's anger moved me not.
Nor yet my mother's tears;
Thy fascination waned my heart
From love, the growth of years.

With few and fleeting tears I left
The haunts of early youth,
And, placing this weak hand in thine,
I trusted to thy truth.

My chosen dwelling would have been
Some undisturbed retreat;
But, led by thee, I trod the halls
Where pleasure's votaries meet.

And if with joy I heard them praise
The beauty of thy bride,
'Twas but because I dearly loved
My husband's glance of pride.

But soon a dreary time came on,
I often wept alone;
And when we met, thy voice had lost
Its former gentle tone.

I uttered no complaint—thou know'st
I never did repine;
And if my pale cheek chided thee,
It was no fault of mine.

They said my boasted wealth was spent—
I smiled at such a loss;
'My husband's love was more to me,
Far more than hoarded dross.

"And was it only this that caused
Those frowns upon his brow?
That wealth has been his bane," I cried;
'We shall be happy now."

Vane hope! thou now dost shun the home
Thy folly rendered poor;
I know not how to win thee back—
My cheek hath lost its lure.

I have no mother now to soothe
My sorrows on her breast;
And he whose counsels I despised—
My father—is at rest.

I did not say I loved thee not—
No, false one, come what will,
Return and be but kind to me,
And I will love thee still.

A broken mirror still reflects
In every shattered part;
'Tis thus love seems but multiplied
In this poor broken heart.

HAD HIM THERE!—A waggish citizen of Stonington, Connecticut, went into a Boston store some years since to buy a carpet. Finding one to his taste, he asked the price.

"Two dollars and five cents."
'I'll take it at two dollars."

"No, I couldn't sell that carpet for two dollars and four cents."
'Oh! well, I won't chaffer."

Then after a random talk our citizen returned to the subject.

"I suppose you will credit with good security."
'Certainly."
'Six months?'"
'Yes."

Then another random talk, and the subject came up again.

"Of course you make the usual discount if one takes up his paper at once?"
'Of course."

"Well, then, figure up my discount and I'll take the goods."
SHOPKEEPER (ciphering a moment.)
—"Zounds! I'm selling my carpet for two dollars after all!"
The clerks roared.

A MAN WITHOUT MONEY.—A gentleman some sixty miles below New Orleans was accosted by a stranger—"Sir have you any money about you?" "Yes," was the reply, "I always make it a point to carry some money with me, more or less."

"Well," rejoined the stranger, "I wish to go across the river; the fare is only ten cents. Would you please to accommodate me with that sum?"

The gentleman with a look of well affected surprise, exclaimed: "Sir, do you mean to say that you haven't ten cents?"

"Yes sir, I haven't a cent," rejoined the stranger.

"Well, responded the gentleman, "if you haven't a cent it'll make little difference which side of the river you are," and coolly left the stranger to his own reflections.

Mr. and Mrs. Brewer of Wayne county, Kentucky, have twenty-two children. Their is, perhaps the most extensive brewery in the West.

Filial Love.

On one of the many bridges in Ghent stand two large brazen images of father and son, who obtained their distinguished mark of the admiration of their fellow citizens by the following incident:

Both the father and son were, for some offense against the State, condemned to die. Some favorable circumstance appearing on the side of the son, he was granted a remission of his sentence under certain provisions; in short, he was offered a pardon on a most barbarous condition—namely, that he would become the executioner of his father! He at first resolutely refused to preserve his life by means so fatal and detestable. This is not to be wondered at; for let us hope, for the honor of our nature, that there are very few sons who would not have spurned with abhorrence life on a condition so horrid and unnatural! The son, though long inflexible, was at length overcome by the tears and entreaties of a fond father, who represented to him that at all events his (the father's) life was forfeited, and that it would be the greatest possible consolation for him in his last moments to think that in his death he was an instrument in his son's preservation. The youth consented to adopt the horrible means of recovering his life and liberty—he lifted the ax—but as it was about to fall, his arm sunk nerveless, and the ax dropped from his hand! Had he as many lives as hairs, he could have yielded them all, one after another, rather than again conceive, much less perpetrate such an act. Life, liberty, everything vanished before the dearer interests of filial affection; he fell upon his father's neck, and embracing him, triumphantly exclaimed, "My father! my father! we die together!" and then called for another executioner to fulfil the sentence of the law.

Hard must their hearts indeed be—bereft of every sentiment of virtue, every sensation of humanity—who could stand insensible spectators of such a scene. A sudden peal of voluntary applause, mixed with groans and sighs, rent the air. The execution was suspended, and on a simple report of the transaction to the authorities, both were pardoned. High rewards and honors were conferred on the son; and, finally, those two admirable brazen images were raised to commemorate a transaction so honorable to human nature, and transmit it to the instruction and emulation of posterity. The statue represents the son in the very act of letting fall the ax.

Wanted--A Printer.

"Wanted—a printer," says a contemporary. Wanted a mechanical curiosity, with brains and fingers; a thing that will set so many ems a day; a machine that will think and act, but, still a machine; a being who understands the most systematic and monotonous drudgery—yet one the ingenuity of man has never supplanted mechanically, that's a printer. A printer; yet for all his dissipated and reckless habits, a worker—at all times and hours, by day and by night; setting up in close and unwholesome offices, while gay crowds are hurrying to the theaters; later still, when street revelers are gone and the city sleeps; in the fresh air of the morning in the broad and gushing sunlight, some printing machine is at his case, with its eternal, unvarying click! click!

Click! click! the polished tubes fall into the stick! the mute integers of expression are marched into line, and march forth into immortal print. Click! and the latest intelligence becomes old, the thought of a principle; the simple idea of a simple sentiment. Click! click! from the grave to the gay, item after item—a robbery, a murder, a bit of scandal, a graceful and glowing thought, are in turn clothed by the mute and impassive fingers of the machine, and set adrift in the sea of thought. He must not think of the future nor recall the past; he must not think of home, of kindred, of wife or babe. His work is before him, and his thoughts are chained to his copy.

You know him by his works, who read the papers, and are quick at typographical errors; whose eye may rest on this mute evidence of ceaseless toil; correspondents, editors, and authors, who scorn the simple medium of your fame, think not that printer is altogether a machine. Think not that he is indifferent to the gem of which he is but a setter. Think not a subtle ray may not penetrate the recesses of his heart, or the flowers he gathers may not leave some of their fragrance in his toil worn fingers. But when you seek friend, companion, advisor—when you would elevate one who from sympathy, may fitly represent either or both—when you want Judges, Governors and Presidents, O, ye people, advertise—Wanted—a printer.

SOME bachelors join the army because the like war, and some married men because they like peace.

GENIUS AND LABOR.—Alexander Hamilton once said to an intimate friend: "Men give me some credit for genius. All the genius I have lies just in this: When I have a subject in hand, I study it profoundly.—Day and night is before me. I explore it in all its bearings. My mind becomes pervaded with it. Then the effort which I make is what the people are pleased to call the fruit of genius. It is the fruit of labour and thought."

Mr Webster once replied to a gentleman who pressed him to speak on a subject of great importance: "The subject interests me deeply, but I have not time. There, sir," said he, pointing to a high pile of letters on the table, "is a pile of unanswered letters, to which I must reply before the close of the session," (which was then three days off.)—"I have not time to master the subject so as to do it justice."

"But, Mr. Webster, a few words from you would do so much to awaken public attention to it."

"If there is so much weight in my words as you represent, it is because I do not allow myself to speak on any subject till I have imbued my mind with it."

Demosthenes was once urged to speak on a great and sudden emergency. "I am not prepared," said he, and obstinately refused.

The law of labor is equally binding on genius and mediocrity.

A FRENCH WOMAN THE BEST WIFE!

So far as nationality goes, I should prefer the French woman to all others in the world.—The German woman is all love and gentleness, full of child-like purity, which transports one to paradise. The English woman—chaste, exclusive, thoughtful, and absorbed in home affections so loyal, so firm, and so gentle—is the ideal of a wife. The passion of the Spaniard bites deep into the heart; and the Italian, in her beauty and softness, her warm imagination, often with her touching frankness, renders resistance impossible, and you are enraptured conquered. However, if you desire a wife whose soul shall respond to your own, by the sympathy of intellect as well as love—who shall renew your heart by a charming vivacity and gaiety, a helping wit, womanly words, or bird-like songs—you must choose a French woman. You risk very little in marrying a plain woman in France. She is most frequently so for want of love. When she is loved she becomes quite another person; you would scarcely recognize her.—Exchange.

CURE FOR COLIC IN HORSES.—E. H.

Fzall, of Houston Co, Georgia, advises in the "Southern Field," simply to pour cold water on the back of the animal for fifteen or twenty minutes. Pour the water on from the withers to the loins, so as to run profusely over sides and stomach. I have seen it tried in fifty instances. It will give almost entire relief in one hour.

At the close of the sitting of the House of Representatives at Springfield, Illinois, the clerk read the following:—"I am requested to announce that Rev. Dr. McFarland will deliver a lecture this evening in this Hall, on the Education of Idiots." Members of the Legislature are invited to attend!

The leading men in the oyster business in Baltimore assert that there are more oysters in Chesapeake Bay at present than there were twenty years ago, notwithstanding millions upon millions of bushels have been removed.

A recent traveler in America records the following anecdote:

"Jack," said a man to a lad just entering his teen, "your father is drowned."

"Darn it," replied the young hopeful, "and he's got my knife in his pocket."

A wag on seeing an old gobbler trying to swallow a cotton string, very facetiously remarked: "That was the last attempt to introduce cotton into Turkey."

Among the curiosities lately added to the museum, is a musquito's bladder containing the souls of twenty-four misers, and the fortunes of twelve printers—nearly half full.

A young lady appeared in male attire in Baltimore, and one of the editors says her disguise was so perfect that she might have passed for a man "had she a little more modesty."

The earth is a kind and tender mother to the husbandman, and yet at one season he always harrows her bosom, and at another he pulls her ears.

If the way to heaven be narrow, it is not long; and if the gate be straight it opens into endless life.

Wit is brush-wood; judgment is timber—the first makes the brightest flame, but the other gives the most lasting heat.

SLANDERS issuing from red and beautiful lips are like foul spiders crawling from the blushing heart of a rose.

We think it is about time for the Citizens of this place to commence taking some initiatory steps for celebrating "Our National Anniversary."

We would suggest that all those interested in the matter meet at the School House, on Tuesday Evening next, at six o'clock, to arrive at something definite in the Premises.

E. B. DAVIDSON, of the Post office Literary Exchange, Fourth st., between J and K, Sacramento, has our thanks for the following Magazines and Newspapers.

HERPESIAN.—The Hesperian for May has just come to hand. It contains a fine likeness of Gen. Winfield Scott, with a biography by Mrs. F. H. Day, also a beautiful colored engraving and accompanying description of the columbar idria; also a number of original articles by various contributors.

S. F. & M. R. R. Co.—At an election held by the stockholders of this Co., at their office in Marysville, on Thursday May 10th, the following gentlemen were elected as directors for the ensuing year, to wit—J. B. Frisbie, Solano county; W. G. Hunt, of Yolo, and D. W. C. Rice, W. K. Hudson, A. S. Randall, J. E. Gallo-way and C. G. Moxley of Yuba county.

LIBERAL.—The Sacramento Valley Railroad, Pioneer Stage Line and the California Stage Company, have offered free passage and transportation to all men and matters pertaining to the Carson Valley War.

MASONIC.—The Alta says that the Masonic fraternity throughout California are preparing for a good demonstration on the occasion of laying the corner stone of the new Masonic Hall, in San Francisco, and that probably every Lodge in the State will be represented.

THE GREAT FOOT RACE AT NEW ORLEANS.—The announced race between Schultz, of Kentucky, and "The Unknown" of Philadelphia, came off at the Creole Race Course on Saturday afternoon April 14th—the distance two hundred yard, and the prize a wager of $5,000.

The track was nicely fixed off for the occasion, and a committee of gentlemen experienced in sporting matters acted as judges and timers. The unknown beat Schultz about ten feet, making 200 yards in less than 18 seconds; very fast time. The excitement during and after the race was prodigious.

For fifty yards in the race, Schultz was about a foot ahead; then the Unknown got even with him, and they kept even to about 120 yards when the Unknown left his competitor by degrees, and came out ten feet ahead, as above stated. Both showed themselves splendid runners, and their performance was much admired.

THREE STEAMERS A MONTH FOR NEW YORK.—The Bulletin is, authorized to say that on the 1st of July the long coveted arrangement for the dispatch of three steamers a month will go into effect.

The Present Indian War.

The recent out-break of Indian hostilities, in Carson Valley, has to a certain extent created no little excitement and sadness throughout the whole of California. Though such a catastrophe might have been expected from the very nature of the circumstances, by which the whites and Indians are surrounded, yet, its fell ravages fall none the less heavily upon the friends and relatives of those unfortunate young men, whose mutilated bodies, now, remains in the wild gorges of the Truckee; WHOSE LIVES WERE OFFERED upon, the stern, inexorable but praiseworthy—and most holy ALTAR of PATRIOTISM.

And foremost among these, the FATE of Henry Meredith will be most grievously lamented by every son and daughter of northern California. He was for some few years a citizen of "our County" than whom no other did "old Yolo" more highly respect and esteem for his many social and moral virtues—more highly prize and revere for his rare talents and pre-eminent attainments—more deeply venerate and love for his honesty, disinterestedness and unwavering patriotism.

As to the real exciting and moving cause of the war there appears, as yet, nothing definite and clear on the subject.

Whether the miners or the Indians were the actual aggressors in the premises is not known—nor is it material, now, since hostilities have commenced. Let that be as it may, the war will have to be prosecuted to a final conclusion—till the savages sue for peace!

The prompt and zealous manner in which both regulars and volunteers respond to "the cry for help" is both pleasing and commendable. Where? In what other State or Country do the Citizen-Soldiers hasten with that zeal—alacrity—and burning enthusiastic Patriotism to the battle field at the faintest and most feeble call, of outraged humanity, as, do "the dwellers on the Pacific."

This has been illustrated time and again in California, Oregon and Washington.

It will not be long before these savages are taught a lesson, which if they will profit by it, might last them for all time to come.

There are many who conjecture that the MORMONS are at the bottom of the whole affair—the truth of the matter will soon appear. And if such be the case, there will be, perhaps, a much longer, harder and more bloody campaign than might be otherwise anticipated. There is no question but, what the "Danites" the "Destroying Angels"—or more properly the Guerilla Bandits of Mormondom have been for years engaged in murdering and robbing all that traveled through their country that they could with impunity. They have repeatedly instigated and led on the INDIANS to do their nefarious work—they remaining out of harm's way the while—ever ready to pounce upon the booty when danger is over.

The Mountain Meadow Massacre, and a score of other brutal murders and robberies (on the plains in the last few years) might be cited in proof of this proposition. Indeed it is a truth so patent, that, even the Mormons themselves do not dare to gain say it.

Now, if, these myrmidons have instigated this war or if they are in any manner connected with it, however, remotely, it would be good policy to carry the war into their country and chastise them well. Their conduct, heretofore, has justly merited a scathing rebuke, one that they would feel and heed.

In the late difficulty between them and the United States Government the latter was too lenient and mild towards them. Such a course was of the most doubtful policy, especially, when treating with a people of their questionable honor and sincerity. Hence, no wonder, that, the policy of "the Administration" in this particular was so highly animadverted and condemned by the masses generally throughout the entire nation.

The prejudice and antipathy of the Californians against the Mormons is sufficiently great already. A slight provocation on their part might call forth volunteers to march to Salt Lake City—sack the same; and blot out their nationality(?) and exterminate the latter-day Saints from the Earth!!

MARYSVILLE APPEAL.—W. Bausman has taken charge of the editorial department of this paper in place of Mr. H. R. Meighles, who intends paying a visit to the East.

The Carson Valley Massacre!

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

Names of the Dead, Wounded and Returned.

In our last week's issue we published the account of the Indian Massacre at Miller's Station. A company was organized and left under the command of Major Ormsby, on the morning of the 9th, at 8 o'clock. Since which time there has been alarming accounts and great excitement.

The following dispatch was received on Sunday morning last in Sacramento, gives intelligence that nearly the whole force has been slaughtered by overwhelming numbers of savages:

Virginia City, May 13—10:45 A.M.

C. T. Lake, belonging to the Company who left Silver City, has just arrived here. The forces, one hundred strong, struck camp on the Bend of the Truckee yesterday morning and advanced on the trail towards Pyramid Lake.

Between three and four o'clock, p.m. the Indians, judged to be two thousand strong, came upon the forces and opened fire on the line from ambush, while under march.

Major Ormsby gave orders to charge. The Indians then fled to the right and left, surrounding the troops, firing occasionally.

The ammunition of the forces soon became exhausted, and the Indians on seeing this closed in and poured volley after volley upon them.

Lake was ordered to guard the pass to the last to secure retreat. He succeeded in this, followed by six men. He thinks a few escaped across the river, but no others came through the pass.

Major Ormsby is shot, and Lake thinks that the greater part of the forces are dead upon the field.

From the Bee's Telegraphic Report.

Virginia City May 15—1 1/2 P. M.

About midnight, last night, there was an alarm. The Indians were reported within two miles of town. Women and children were gathered to Pat. Riley's stone hotel, which was barricaded. Many cowards sneaked out of town, with their blankets and rifles, during the night—a number went out yesterday, and some of them will be in San Francisco soon!

No Indians were seen or heard, nor do I believe there are any, except scouts, within fifty miles. Our population has been much diminished within a few days. The absentees will return after the arrival of troops and arms, now on the road. A war is anticipated; but the Indians won't come here to fight us. A proposition has been made, emanating from Genoa, to send delegates to Carson City, at once, to organize a temporary or provisional Government. I am opposed to it.

We have a military government now, and that is all which is necessary for the present. Better wait for Congress to organize the Territory. In an hour a dispatch, embracing the names of eighty-one men engaged in the battle—those dead, living, and missing, as far as yet known—will be forwarded you. Dr. Trask is preparing it.

The following are the names of the dead, wounded and returned as far as heard from.

Genoa Company—Of this company we have the following: Thomas Condon, fate unknown; Michael Tay, Robert Ridley, Big Texas, M. Pular, Thompson, Lee James. Returned—D. E. Kimball.

Watkins, Dr. Eckelroth, John Holmes, James McIntyre. Fate unknown: Nine discharged United States soldiers, names unknown.

Company from Silver City: dead—Parsons, Charles Sevans, James Lee, Boston; wounded—James Shabell; Returned—J. Holmes, Albert Bloom; unknown—Mr. Keene, and boy, name unknown.

Company from Gold Hill—number and names unknown—have all returned.

Company from Virginia, under Capt. F. Johnson: dead—F. Johnson, Chas. McCloud, John Flemming, S. Auberson, Andreas Schuold, M. Kreserwitch, John Gavento. Wounded—Hugh McLaughlin. Returned—J. Call, McLierney, Geo. O. C. Steel, D. E. Kimbal, H. Beet. Unknown fate—M. Shasbench.

Company from Virginia, under Capt. A. McDonald; killed—William Arrington, A. K. Elliott, W. Hampkins. Geo. Jones, Henry Meredith, Mr. MacIntosh, S. McNaughton. Wounded—S. Gatehouse. Returned—A. McDonald, Chas. W. Allen, Jos. Baldwin, B. D. Cole, Charles Forman, A. L. Grunns, Archibald Haven, J. C. Hall, Richard Lawrence, Col McVance, Pat. McCourt, Henry Newton, John Noyce, A. F. J. Peck, William Spear. Unknown—Richard Snowden.

Recapitulation; Fate unknown and missing 43; returned alive 38; dead 21; wounded 3; total, 105.

Capt. T. D. Johns, commanding, has dispatched an ambulance with Dr. Perkins of the Pacific Mail Company to the Truckee, to attend the wounded there, with provisions and other necessaries.—He left at 11 A.M.

Later From Carson Valley.

Another Horrible Massacre—Seven Bodies Found.

Virginia City, May 15—10:20 P.M.

We have just received information of another horrible massacre on the Truckee, which must have been perpetrated between the 8th and 11th instant.

Mr. O. C. Stone saw the bodies of seven men, who were murdered a few miles below the lower crossing of the river.— They were seen also by another man, who came up with Captain Curtis, of the commissary relief party. They are supposed to have comprised a party which left this place on the 5th of May, for prospecting in the red bluffs of the Truckee. Their names are as follows:—Spero Anderson, McAsevich, John Gibson, D. King, J. Greek, Caulfield and Charles Putnam.

THE ARMS OF THE INDIANS.—It is a curious fact, that nearly all the rifles in possession of the Indians in or about Carson Valley, Virginia City, and, in fact, this whole "eastern slope," are California State arms, marked with, Gen. Kibbe's initials.

I would like to know, in the first place, what right Gen. Kibbe has to put his initials on the arms of the State, and secondly, by what means the Indians have come into possession of them. Traders here and elsewhere, have been for months selling powder to the red-skins. This is bad enough. But it certainly is a subject demanding explanation, when we see the arms of the State of California, marked with the initials of its redoubtable Quarter-Master General, in the possession of savages—thus armed to kill the very people taxed to pay General Kibbe's salary, and taxed to the tune of sixty-thousand dollars to pay for his Indian-hunting expeditions. Did his officers or men avenge their honors by selling the State arms to the red-skins, or were they defeated by them, and thus their arms become the spoils of war to the Indians? Come out, Gen. Kibbe, and explain. I have, and so have others, seen these arms, thus initialed on the locks, in the possession of Indians. How did they get them? Let the public know. FRANK SOULE

The San Francisco Telegram explains it thus:

"About three years ago 'Uncle Billy Rogers' made a requisition upon the Governor of this State for arms to protect his party from Indians. One hundred rifles were furnished him, and in order that they might be identified and reclaimed, the initials of General Kibbe were stamped upon them. Nothing has since been heard of the articles, and the supposition is that the Indians obtained them from Roges's company.

THE DEATH OF JOHN O'MEARA.—The New York Tribune has the following notice of the death of O'Meara.

John O'Meara, printer, aged 33 years died in this city at his residence, No. 5 East Thirtieth street, on Saturday, April 7. After having been for five or six years employed on the Tribune, he migrated to California, where he rapidly acquired position and competence. He was the publisher of the Broderick daily in San Francisco through the late violent canvass, and run on the Anti-Lecompton Ticket for State Printer—a post to which he had (we believe) been once chosen. Defeated in the contest, and dispirited by the death of Broderick, he returned to the home of his youth to die. We do not know that he had a vice, nor believe he had a personal enemy. A solemn High Mass of Requiem was celebrated for the repose of his soul on Tuesday morning, 10th April, at 10 o'clock, in St. Stephen's Church, Twenty-eighth street—Rev. Dr. Cummings.

THE Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer Golden Age, J. T. Watkins, commander, arrived on Sunday morning last, with 827 passengers, 324 bags mail, and 949 packages freight.

Heenan and Sayers Fight. THEY ARE TO FIGHT AGAIN.

From the Union's Telegraphic Report. St. Louis, May 5-11. p.m.

The advices per the Canada state that Heenan and Sayers are to fight again, as soon as they are recovered from their injuries.

A large Democratic Meeting was held on the night of May 4th, at Augusta, Georgia. It was addressed by King of Missouri, and Flournoy of Arkansas.

A County meeting was to be held to send delegates to a State Convention to appoint delegates to the Baltimore National Convention.

Mann and Thomas Rynders, Deputy Marshals in New York, to-day were dismissed from office for complicity in the escape of the slave Storm King.

Split in the Charleston Convention.

NO NOMINATION.

From the Standard's Telegraphic Report. St. Louis, May 5th.

The Charleston Convention rejected the majority Report, protecting all the rights of property against Congressional or Territorial Legislation, and wherever Federal authority extends; Alabama, Mississippi, Florida and Texas withdrew entirely, and South Carolina, Georgia, Arkansas and Delaware partially, forming a Southern Convention. The regular Convention balloted on the first and second instant, under rule of two-thirds of all States; 57 ballots without choice, and Douglas' highest vote 152 1/2. His lowest, after 21 ballots, was 151 1/2. Last ballot—Douglas, 101 1/2; Dickinson, 2; Davis, 1. On the 19th ballot, California gave Lane 3 and Dickinson 1. On the 3rd instant, adjourned to meet in Baltimore on June 18.

[The above does not give the full number of votes unaccounted for, as in a full Convention there are 303.]

MISSING DISPATCHES.—The following is a copy of an open dispatch sent from the agent of the Pony Express, at St. Joseph, to the Telegraph operator at Carson City, and is dated apparently, on the night of the 5th of May, which explains the absence of the dispatch to the California papers:

"The regular package did not come to-night from St. Louis, at usual. The Express does not arrive until 10 p.m., and I cannot raise St. Louis [the writer seems to be a telegraph operator] to learn whether the agent of the United California papers sent them. I suppose, of course, he had, as he said nothing to the contrary. The messengers are waiting to close their mail."

THE NORTH ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH BETWEEN EUROPE AND THE UNITED STATES.—The caution money of £20,000 on the concession for the North Atlantic Telegraph between Europe and the United States, for one hundred years, granted by the Danish Government, was remitted on the 16th ult., to the Danish Minister of Finance at Copenhagen.

The line will proceed from Scotland and Denmark via the Faroe Islands, Iceland, Greenland, Labrador to Canada and the United States; and its practicability has been recently demonstrated by a personal survey made by Col. Shaffner who on the 14th inst., gave evidence upon the subject before the Committee of the British House of Commons, then in session.

ANOTHER SUB-MARINE CABLE.—It is said that government intends laying down a sub-marine cable, connecting Penang on the north with Rangoon, and on the south with Singapore, Batavia, China, and the Australian colonies. The Zenobia, which came down from Bombay with forty-two convicts transported to this island, and with fifteen expired men, was employed in taking soundings for the Red Sea cable, and in some places the depth was found to be two thousand fathoms, taking five or six hours to make one dip of the line. She will, we hear, proceed from thence to Junk Ceylon and Mergui for similar purpose after the arrival of the Calcutta steamer, by which she expects charts and further orders.—London Globe.

LARGE SHIPMENT OF ARMS.—The Mobile Advertiser Says:

We learn that 14,000 stand of arms have just been received in this city from the North, for the Arsenal at Mount Vernon. They were consigned to T. P. Officer, of this city, and were forwarded by him yesterday morning to their destination.

Really the Government seems to be looking South a little about these days. Fourteen thousand muskets are a pretty good addition to the stock in the Arsenal made at once. What's in the wind? Is this the result of the little gunpowder party held the other day at Vera Cruz?

Col. Sprague, the newly elected Governor of Rhode Island, though worth $2,000,000, accumulated by himself, is only 28 years of age.

THE KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS.
How Deep Should We Plow.

This depends, first, upon the richness of the soil; second, upon the depth to which it has been previously plowed; third, upon the character and quality of the subsoil; fourth, upon the crop which is to be planted.

If the soil be sufficiently rich, it is best that at least an inch of the soil beneath should be returned to the atmosphere, at each successive plowing, and exposed to the action of the elements. If the land has been what is called 'run' pretty hard, and the farmer has no manure with which to restore the exhausted constituents of the soil, it can hardly be said to be best to plow deeper than the previous cultivators of the same fields have done. But, as soon as suitable stimulants to vegetation can be applied, we would advise the gradual deepening of the culture, until from nine to twelve inches becomes the habitual thickness of the overturned furrow.

If the subsoil be gravelly and light, there is not as great call for deep working as otherwise, nor is the use of a subsoil plow as much demanded. But soil, no matter of what character, lying upon a flat, level subsoil of hard-pan clay, needs to be made of a good depth, either by its own upturning, or by a gradual encroachment underlying clay. The subsoil plow should also follow the other plow, and thoroughly loosen the brick-like stratum upon which the furrow rests.

The deeper we plow, the further down we bury the seeds of noxious weeds, which have often gathered upon the surface about to be overturned. The more we allow the air to circulate among the loosened particles of the soil, the better is the drainage in wet seasons, and the more perfect the irrigation in a dry summer. By allowing the air to permeate freely the texture of the soil, we also bring into contact with its constituents the carbonic acid of the air, the ammonia of the atmosphere, the nitrogen and other elements which the soil needs to maintain its integrity, and support the crops we plant upon it. This deeper plowing enables the roots of the plants to penetrate far deeper, while the loosening gives them a wider range; and whether it be food or moisture which they seek, they are far more certain to be fully supplied. In seasons of excessive rain, the shallow plowed fields, where the earth has only been loosened to the depth of four or five inches, are easily saturated with water, causing the death, or, at any rate, the very sickly appearance of the crop; while the deeply stirred land has permitted the penetration of the fluids to the depth of many inches, washing down richness of nourishment to the very deepest roots, and, while all the land has a sufficiency of moisture, compelling upon none a greater than a proper amount of wetness.

Root crops require a more thorough upturning of the soil, than the almost universally cultivated Indian corn. We think that the raising of this purely American product has exerted an injurious influence upon the agriculture of this country. Farmers can, by merely scratching the surface of their land (say, not more than five inches deep,) raise, under most circumstances, excellent crops of corn, especially upon newly cleared soils. This ease of cultivation has led our agriculturists to slackness in the preparation of the land for all other crops, until shallow plowing has almost become the rule instead of the exception. In the older countries of Europe, where land is more valuable and labor more plentiful than in our newly-settled hemisphere, they have learned to improve every foot of the breadth of their lands, and also more inches of the depth than we dare mention. Cultivation is far deeper than with us, and, as a consequence, crops are both surer and larger.—Root crops are raised which would challenge admiration at any of our State Fairs, and grain produced in quantities unprecedented on any of our shallow-plowed and carelessly cultivated fields.

Let us, as speedily as possible, emulate our European cousins, in their careful application of manures; in their use of every foot of surface, leaving none for weeds or fence corners; and in their depth of culture—furnishing to the growing crops a land that drinks water of the rain of Heaven, so that neither more nor less than they desire of the soaking moisture, of the fruitful showers and the rain from Heaven, shall be supplied to the absorbing rootlets of the growing crops.—Genesee Farmer.

HOW TO SELECT FLOUR.—1. Look at color; if it is white, with a slightly yellowish or straw-colored tint, buy it. If it is very white, with a bluish cast, or with black specks in it, refuse it. 2. Examine its adhesiveness; wet and knead a little of it between your fingers; if it works soft and is sticky, it is poor. Flour from spring wheat is likely to be sticky. 3. Throw a little lump of dry flour against a dry, smooth, perpendicular surface; if it falls like powder, it is bad. 4. Squeeze some of the flour in your hand; if it retains the shape given by the pressure, that too is a good sign. Flour that will stand all these tests is safe to buy. These modes are given by old flour dealers, and we make no apology for printing them, as they pertain to a matter that concerns everybody, namely, the quality of the staff of life.
