

LARGER QUARTERS ARE NEEDED BY ARCHITECTS

Charlton & Brainard Move Into Suite No. 17 at Central Building

The most convincing proof of Glendale's growth and progress is seen in the efficiency and prosperity of the city's business concerns, both new and old. Representing the former are Charlton & Brainard, architects, whose business during their seven months in Glendale has so increased that they have moved to larger quarters in suite 17 of the Central building, 111 East Broadway.

During the past seven months they have completed plans for more than $200,000 worth of buildings. They have designed Eagle Rock and Los Angeles and with much work in view for the summer and fall they have moved their offices in order that old and new clients will find increased facilities where their needs and desires will be most carefully brought out in plans, specifications and expert supervision.

Under Construction At present they have under their supervision the following work in course of construction: Eight-room residence and garage, 1717 Hillcrest avenue, for W. E. Welz; five-room bungalow, Cameron Place, for O. W. Wright; the C. & S. cafeteria and apartment building on Brand boulevard.

They have lately completed the Lincoln flats, corner of California avenue and Kenwood street; the double bungalow on the corner of California avenue and Louise street for Mr. Persons; a residence on North Verdugo Road for C. H. Howland of Los Angeles; and the remodeling of the Central building on East Broadway.

H. D. Charlton of the firm announces that the organization is now associated with his father, H. W. Charlton, certified architect, who is a member of the firm of Charlton & Birnbach of Los Angeles.

Greatly Pleased "I first came to Glendale because my mother and father came," said H. D. Charlton of the Glendale firm, "that was in the early part of 1906. Since then Uncle Sam took me for a trip over most of the United States and most of France and I've returned to Glendale to stay. We are greatly pleased with the success we have enjoyed in Glendale and we are inviting our patrons and friends to visit us in the Central building, where they will find it is a pleasure for us to please them."

'Volstead Confetti' Used by Kiwanians

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio.—Volstead confetti is something new. This "confetti" consists of bottle caps, without bottles, serving as reminders of a dry nation. The caps, made by a local tin-plate plant, bearing the name "Martins Ferry," were taken by local delegates to the International Kiwanis clubs' convention at Toronto, Ont. When tossed upon persons, the caps are known as "Volstead confetti."

Major Edward H. Armstrong, formerly in charge of America's radio service in France, has just invented this marvelous amplifier. The super-regenerative circuit has but three vacuum tubes and gives the same result as an ordinary receiving set with nine tubes. The feature of Major Armstrong's invention is its simplicity.

THE CONNECTION OF THE HEAD TELEPHONES

The magnet windings of head telephones are wound on the permanent magnets in such a manner that a steady current flowing through them will either tend to increase or decrease the strength of magnetism. That is, the telephones have polarity. With some makes of telephones the cord is spotted with different colors on each terminal lead, so that correct connection may be made into the plate circuit of a vacuum tube receiver. If the proper connections are not made, the steady current which flows in the plate circuit when the tube filament is glowing will tend to demagnetize the telephone magnets, and they will become less sensitive.

The highest potential in the plate circuit of a vacuum tube detector, for example, exists at the positive terminal of the plate battery and between it and the plate if there is resistance between those two points. That is, if the head telephones are connected between the plate and the positive battery terminal they are subjected to higher potentials than if connected between the negative battery terminal and one of the filament leads. The insulation in the telephone windings is comparatively light, and after the telephones have been worn for some time moisture may collect. If the windings are subjected to high potential it is conceivable that the insulation might be broken down. With the ordinary "soft" detector tubes this potential may not be sufficient to do damage, but when "hard" tubes are used it may, possibly. It is best to be on the safe side and connect the telephones to the low potential part of the circuit between negative battery terminal and filament.

One-Pound Baby Is Born to Ohio Folk

MANSFIELD, Ohio.—Although weighing only one pound and seven ounces, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gages, born this month, was normally developed at birth. Attending physicians, pointing out that, ordinarily, a babe of such diminutive proportions would have been placed in an incubator for treatment, said it is expected that tiny Miss Gages will progress as a normal child.

Paper Shortage Hits Government of Soviet

LONDON.—Exhaustion of the supplies of printing paper and coloring material has reduced the output of society government's printing presses by 30 per cent, according to a Copenhagen message. In consequence of this limitation of the paper money supply the wages of the Bolshevik workmen are said to be many million rubles in arrears.

Silk Dress Styles of the Hour Are Sale Priced

Street and afternoon models, the trimming treatments are skillfully carried out with embroidery and beading, and then there are plain dresses, in various charming styles. This sale includes the famous "Peggy Paige" models so deservedly popular with the carefully dressed woman. Think of buying these exclusive models at $25.00, $29.50 and $35.00

Oregon Athlete Wins Distinction In Study

EUGENE, Ore.—Ralph Spearow was the best all-around track and field athlete at the University of Oregon this year, with records of 23 feet for the broad jump, 13 feet in the pole vault and 5 feet 11 inches at high jumping. But his distinction didn't stop there. Spearow won honors carrying a heavy course in the psychology department.

Ballooning Safe? Scientists to Decide

PARIS.—Should free ballooning be relegated to history, along with jousting, bear baiting and table tennis? Is it too safe to be any fun? These questions, raised by the international balloon race, which took place here recently, are subjects of discussion in both sport and scientific circles. It is held on the one hand that balloon races and ascensions make use of a type of flying machine that is as antiquated in airplanes as a tricycle is to an eight-cylinder speedster. The pro-ballooningists declare that mankind always will enjoy putting himself to some extent at the mercy of an element over which he has obtained at least partial mastery.

Increase In Air Funds Is Urged In France

PARIS.—Pointing to the United States as an example, advocates of aerial preparedness in France are urging a large increase in the appropriation for naval aircraft. The United States, it is pointed out, has appropriated the equivalent of 200,000,000 francs for naval aviation, as against the equivalent of 100,000,000 for land aviation. The present French appropriation calls for 37,000,000 francs for naval aviation, against 214,000,000 francs for military aircraft. Great Britain, according to the same sources, has provided the equivalent of 250,000,000 francs for naval, out of a total of 600,000,000 for all aviation requirements.

Boiling Lava Found at Depth of Ten Feet

HONOLULU, T. H.—Borings into Kilauea Volcano, Island of Hawaii, recently started under the auspices of the Hawaiian Volcano Research association, have resulted in the finding of live steam registering a temperature of 90 degrees centigrade at depths of only about ten feet below the surface of the lava. It is planned to extend the boring operations to cover the entire volcanic area in the vicinity of Kilauea volcano. Those places showing the greatest possibilities of power development will be selected for deeper and more extensive borings.

MARRIED MEN WORK BEST

If you want a job on a farm your chances of getting it are slightly better than 50 per cent if you are married. The United States department of agriculture has found out that, of 1201 farm jobs advertised in eastern farm papers from 1920 to 1922, single men were wanted in 347 instances and married men in 416 instances. In 398 cases the social requirements were not stated. Of the advertisements for married men, children specifically were not wanted in 54 instances. Children were wanted or were permissible in 14 instances.

NEAR EAST SITUATION

Basic agricultural conditions in Bulgaria are better; exports and imports of the Baltic states have been increasing, with a tendency toward favorable balance; Rumania reports little change, as does Jugoslavia, where talk of an American loan continues to be the main item of interest; the general industrial situation in Poland is not very satisfactory, with increasing prices and labor disturbances.

Bee Stings Driver; Loses Control of Car

TECUMSEH, Mich.—J. D. Cox of Detroit, en route to Rome City, Ind., with his family, for a vacation, lost control of his car here when a humbebee alighted on his nose and stung him severely. The car swerved into a ditch and turned turtle. Mrs. Cox sustained a broken arm. Cox, his brother and two children were uninjured.

PLAGUED RUSSIA

Another plague has visited Russia and threatens disaster to the wheat and other crops throughout Azerbaijan. Great swarms of locusts have destroyed the crops in that region and the frantic peasants are doing everything possible to save the sprouts of wheat.

EAGER FOR U. S. FRUITS

The people of Rumania are beginning to fancy the choice American canned peaches and other fruits which are now being sold in practically every country in the world, along with our canned salmon, sardines, and milk.

tion exceeded 500,000," he stated, "and there isn't a street in the whole city as wide as Brand boulevard."

Tells of Being Tagged

Commenting on the effect which the stringent parking laws are having on the business section of Los Angeles, Mr. MacMullin said, "Every time I go to Los Angeles I get a tag. It seems as though I can't go there without getting a tag. I stayed home all day Tuesday so I wouldn't break some law or other and get fined."

Asked his opinion on the parking question, Mayor Robinson stated that he believed that some kind of parking ordinance should be passed, the details to be fixed as suited the wishes of the business men of Glendale who would be affected.

"Too many people, said the mayor, "drive into Glendale from Montrose, La Crescenta, La Canada, Sunland and other surrounding territory, park their cars in front of some place of business and take the electric line into Los Angeles for the day."

More of Mayor's Views

The police checked up the cars which are being regularly parked in this fashion, said the mayor, and the number was surprising. "A three-hour ordinance," he stated, "would give shoppers plenty of time to make their purchases and would eliminate the all-day parking in front of places of business. Those who wish to leave their cars all day," he said, "could then park them on some side street where they would not interfere with business."

More courtesy to those who are ignorantly violating the traffic laws, and less stringent prosecution of such cases was advised by various members of the board. Mayor Robinson explained that the policemen are instructed to use courtesy and added that any policeman who was found to disobey such instructions would be "fired."

"Before any parking ordinance is put into effect," said the mayor, "signs to the effect that parking would be prohibited over a certain length of time will be posted over the districts affected."

Those appointed to get signatures of business men in favor of a three-hour ordinance in the districts named included J. I. Wernette, E. T. Seidenglanz, Hal Rice, O. Kroehle, James W. Pearson, Mrs. M. L. Ticht, Roy D. King, E. P. Hayward, George A. Blanchet, L. H. Wilson and Edward D. P. Hennessy.

Peddling Publicity

Secretary Hayward stated that about 2000 of the booster Glendale booklets gotten out by the Realty board were to be sent to Rotarians all over the world who registered while attending the convention in Los Angeles.

The so-called lawyers' bill was brought up and it was decided that the board should hear both sides of the question. Dr. Jessie A. Russell was appointed to invite a representative of the legal profession, and E. P. Hayward to present their arguments. The speakers are to be present at the meeting next Wednesday and, after hearing them the board will decide whether it is to the best interests, and the interests of the realty men to support or oppose the measure.

At the close of the meeting the committee secured petitions for the parking ordinance at the office of E. P. Hayward and started out to cover the territory which would be affected by the proposed ordinance.

Dr. Eugene Settles Arrives In Glendale

Dr. Eugene L. Settles, who received his M. D. degree from Harvard university several weeks ago, has arrived in Glendale and is spending several weeks vacationing with his mother, Mrs. Stella M. Settles of 212 Dayton Court. Dr. Settles will not open a practice in the immediate future, but will serve a year's internship at the Los Angeles county hospital, beginning August 15. Of 127 graduates of medical schools all over the United States who took the examination for the internship he was one of thirty-six whose applications were accepted.

Although Dr. Settles has claimed Glendale as his home for the past several years, only about a quarter of his time has been spent here, the remainder of which was devoted to studying at the University of Missouri and Harvard university. It was from the former that he received his A. B. and M. A. degrees several years ago. He will be remembered in this city as having prepared a report of Glendale's first sanitary survey, which he conducted last summer.

Sisters Show Great Devotion to Mother

Two girls—one employed in Y. W. C. A. work in New York City, the other a stenographer at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce—were called to Mart, Texas, a week ago, where their mother had been stricken by a third apoplectic stroke while visiting relatives.

Arriving in the torrid country of the Lone Star state both realized their mother could not survive the summer there, yet she was in an unconscious condition and could not direct her daughters.

It was folly to think of taking her to New York when Glendale offered a more equitable climate and the fresh foods and good care to be found here.

So it was that Miss Ruth Blank brought her mother, Mrs. L. B. Blank, to Glendale and placed her in Glen Haven sanitarium where she regains consciousness at intervals.

But the little girl who sits there tapping the typewriter knows that it is only a matter of days until the telephone will ring—in the parlance of the newspaper profession, "30" will have been written to a story of devotion seldom seen in the walks of life.

VISITING IN NORTH

Mrs. Anna M. Shaley and daughter, Miss Marion Shaley, of 328 East Dryden street, are at Santa Marguerita in the northern part of the state. Mrs. Shaley will remain all summer, while her daughter plans to return to Glendale within three weeks.
