EXTRACT OF A LETTER

To General John B. Armant,
Adjutant and Inspector General
of the State of Louisiana.

Sir:—In pursuance of a requisition to me from Major General Gaines, commanding the Western Division of the Army, to furnish two companies of Artillery with field pieces, completely equipped for service in Texas, you will order Major General Lewis, of the first division of Louisiana militia, to raise by voluntary engagement if possible, otherwise by draft, the two companies complete. You will furnish them with the artillery and equipments required from the Arsenal, and direct him to place them forthwith under the orders of General Gaines.

I am, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
A. MOUTON.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Head Quarters, New Orleans, Aug. 18, 1845.

GENERAL ORDER—No. 12.

To Major General John Lawson Lewis,
Commanding First Division, L. M.

Sir: You are hereby ordered to raise within your Division two companies of artillery to be mustered into the service of the United States for three months.

You will raise those companies by voluntary engagement, if possible, or otherwise by draft, and place them forthwith, complete in every respect, under the orders of Major General Gaines, of the United States Army.

By order of the Commander in Chief,
J. S. ARMANT,
Adjutant and Inspector General.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
August 19th, 1845.

To General John S. Armant,
Adjutant and Inspector General of the State.

Sir:—I have received a communication from Major General Gaines, commanding the Western Division of the United States Army, requesting that "four Regiments of Infantry and Riflemen from the Militia of this State be organized and held ready for service in Texas, to move thither at short notice, which shall be communicated at the proper time;" and they will be duly mustered in the service."

In pursuance of his request you will forthwith organize two Regiments of Infantry and two Regiments of Riflemen, and equip them in the best possible manner for service. You will issue your orders to Major Generals of the Divisions to invite Volunteers to engage in the service and to report to you, as soon as possible, any Companies, Battalions and Regiments that may be organized and tender their services. I rely with confidence on the patriotism of our citizen soldiers to complete the requisitions by voluntary engagement without resorting to a draft, and I desire you would communicate to them in the vicinity of the capital the great satisfaction I feel at the order they have exhibited to engage in the service of their country, from the moment it was known their service might be required.

I am, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
A. MOUTON.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Head Quarters, New Orleans, Aug. 19, 1845.

GENERAL ORDER No. 14.

By order of the Governor and Commander in Chief, two Regiments of Infantry and two Regiments of Riflemen are forthwith to be organized and held ready for the best possible manner for service in Texas at the request of Major General Gaines, commanding the Western Division of the United States Army. The Governor has directed me to express to our Citizen Soldiers in the vicinity of the Capital, his great satisfaction at the order which they have manifested to embark in the service of their country the moment it was known their services might be required, and that he relies with confidence on the patriotism of our citizens throughout the State to meet the requisition by voluntary engagement without resort to a draft.

The Major Generals of Divisions will, therefore, forthwith issue orders to the officers under their command to tender the services of volunteers and organize them without delay into Companies, Battalions or Regiments. As soon as a Company, Battalion or Regiment is organized the Major General will report it as ready for service to the Adjutant General.

Should the regiments or any part of them be called into service, they will be furnished by the United States with every requisite supply of subsistence, arms and ammunition and camp equipage, at the place of rendezvous in the vicinity of New Orleans, together with steamers and other vessels for their transportation to Texas, and also with wagons and horses for the transportation of supplies after landing in Texas.

Nevertheless the Major Generals will report to the Adjutant General the state of the arms, munitions and equipments of the corps and they will make requisition for all their exertions to make it as complete as possible.

By order of the Commander in Chief,
J. S. ARMANT, Adj. and Ins. General.

HEAD QUARTERS FIRST DIVISION L. M.
New Orleans, August 4, 1845.

GENERAL ORDER No. 9

Upon the requisition of Major General Gaines, commanding the Western Division of the U. S. Army, in obedience to orders No. 12, and from the best quarters of his Commander in Chief, two regiments of Infantry, and two regiments of Riflemen will forthwith be organized and equipped for active service in Texas.

2. The officers of the First Division will forthwith take the necessary measures to call into service such volunteers as may offer to engage and organize them into companies, battalions and regiments.

3. As soon as organized, the commanding officer in each brigade of Regiment will report to the Inspector of the Division.

In communicating this call to the officers and soldiers of the First Division, the Major General commanding relies with confidence on the zeal and patriotism of its citizens to cause to meet promptly the requisition by voluntary enlistment, without their resort to draft.

By order of
Major General Commanding First Division L. M.
J. L. LEWIS.
Inspector of First Division L. M.

HEAD QUARTERS LOUISIANA LEGION.

FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, BILIOUS AND NERVOUS HEADACHE, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, GOUT, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL FLATULENCY, &c.

THIS PREPARATION is made from the best Turkey Rhubarb, and possesses all its valuable properties, combined with such aromatics as will be most materially assistant in its operation, and is thereby rendered an unequalled aperient in diseased regions.

As a medicine, Rhubarb (the Turkey) has for a considerable period held a high place in the medical world, and has thus far proved itself eminently deserving its great reputation, though the ruinous properties universally possessed of by its salts, when procured in its pure state.

In cases of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, it is an invaluable remedy; and as a preventive of the various diseases arising from this very disagreeable complaint, holds a high place in the estimation of the medical profession.

In cases where griping pains affect the stomach and bowels, this preparation is strongly recommended; while it also will be found a most valuable remedy in following Dysentery. To persons afflicted with Gout, (and it has enjoyed high station from those who have been so afflicted in good qualities,) it is confidently offered as a remedy that will be taken when a cooling purgative would otherwise be objected to.

This preparation cannot be too strongly recommended to the many thousands now suffering from Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and its consequences. Bilious Attacks, Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Gout, Rheumatic Pains, &c., &c., are some of the various complaints to be placed on it, each as to its ill-consequent nature and highly curative qualities.

SANCTIONED AND PATRONIZED BY THE FIRST EMINENT OF THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

"By merely pouring water on a tea-spoonful of this Aperient, a cooling and truly refreshing beverage is obtained, resembling Soda Water to the taste, and imparting to the constitution all the benefits of the celebrated Seltzer Waters of Germany."

TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT
SELTZER APERIENT.

"Of all prescriptions made up with a view to diuretive effect, none can be compared with Mineral Waters."—Jones Bell, M. D., F. R. S.

"These waters revive the languishing circulation, give a new movement to the animal energies—re-establish the perspiratory action of the skin and the lateral vessels, physicke gical type the vitiated or suppressed secretions, provoke salutary evacuations, under one or other, or by transmutation; they bring about in the animal economy the ultimate transmutation—a personal change."—Paracelsus.

MEDICAL men of eminence in this and other countries term the preparation known as "Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient." Could the numerous flattering testimonials which for successive years have borne testimony to its powers now elicited from the most distinguished Physicians be given unabridged for insertion or would the columns of a new paper permit their insertion, proofs of its value, UNDENIABLE and UNIMPEACHABLE would be exhibited, to satisfy the most fastidious in the country, even the most sceptical, and it would stand forth to the world as the unsophisticated success, (as in truth in the most agreeable, refreshing and effectual medicine ever offered for the cure of those diseases which are engendered under the heat of a Tropical Sun. In the practice of Paracelsus, the Aperient has ever been found a most valuable remedy, for its celerity and most without fail, exhibited in its favor the friendship and patronage of all who have ever tested the beneficial operation of this deservedly celebrated medicine, with unanimity with which medical men join in the praise, it is for the guarantee that it possesses the same character they have given it in the numerous testimonials in the hands of the proprietor.

In Nausea or Bilious Affections, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Heartburn, Febrile Disorders, Gout, Acidity of the Stomach, &c., and all the various complaints caused by the sudden changes of temperature, as no medicine has ever been so great that it has been highly recommended, and has on every occasion given the most prompt and most satisfactory results has invariably proved the most rapid state of the Liver, its action upon the system has been beneficial and the energies have been restored and its healthy tone restored.

Planters and residents at a distance from medical advice, would find the Seltzer Aperient a most valuable and indispensable addition to their medicine chest, and would obtain by its use a preventive against fever and ague, possessing rich medicinal properties and which may, in the various climates nature has to their climate exert a salutary influence upon the system subjected to its exposure and restore the languishing circulation to an active and healthy condition. Its virtues have been tested wholly in the hottest ever, and its application is found invaluable in any climate to which it has been sent. This is a valuable property and deserves the careful notice and attention of travellers and others.

In the Seltzer Aperient, such improvements have been made as are calculated to increase its efficacy and facilitation in greater quantities of those ingredients, which impart the original sparing, and which are esteemed the most valuable properties of these waters. It is pleasant, sound, unnecessary or injurious in their tendency, hereby in fact rendering it the most valuable Preventive existing to prevent disease, and is more health restoring than any other preparation.
