MILITARIAN GET SUMMER CAMP ORDER

Local Company to Join Regiment at Monterey in July

NEAR THE DEL MONTE

Captain Thomas D. Wat- son, Commanding Local Company Gets Notice

Word has been received by Captain Thomas D. Watson, commanding officer of Company M, National Guards, that his company and Headquarters company, commanded by First Lieutenant Normal C. Hayhurst, stationed in Glendale, will accompany the 160th Regiment to Monterey for the summer encampment of the National Guards of the state during the latter part of July. The announcement also states that the 160th regiment will, during the encampment be bivouacked near the Hotel Del Monte and that a portion of the regiment will have their camp actually on the grounds of the hotel.

The Hotel Del Monte is recognized as one of the leading summer resorts in the state and is located near the beach with acres of beautiful lands adjoining it. These lands have been offered as a camp ground for the troops during the summer maneuvers.

Members of the Glendale companies will be instructed before leaving this city for the camp to take their bathing suits with them this year as the surf bathing at Monterey along the beach near the Hotel Del Monte is the best along the coast. For those members of the guards who play golf or tennis it is said that the experiences of the encampment, spent last year in Yosemite National Park. The site chosen for this year is just outside the town of Monterey. San Francisco is only a few hours distance from Monterey and there are several other resort towns near the city chosen for the encampment.

The matter of food, that one item dear to the heart of the soldier, will be better arranged this year, it is announced, and full rations will be issued with a wider variety. Last year the regiment was practically in the process of organization and the proposition of securing rations sufficient for the large number of men who attended was a difficult task as enlistments in the various companies of the regiments increased just before the date set for departure for camp and there were more men at camp than was at first anticipated by the officers in charge of securing rations for the period.

There are at present vacancies for about 10 men in company M of the Glendale companies and several openings in Headquarters company. With the addition of these men required to bring the companies up to full peacetime strength it will be necessary to appoint several more non-commissioned officers. These appointments will be made from the ranks and the appointees will be men who can qualify for the duties of a non-commissioned officer. The recent enlisted men will have the same opportunity for appointment to these positions as it is announced as will men who have served longer. The only requirement will be that the men appointed are efficient.

A baseball and football team will be organized in the Glendale companies. Last year the football team of the Glendale company had difficulty in securing games during the encampment because the Glendale team at the beginning of the camp defeated several of the best teams of the regiment.

THE WEATHER

Spiritualism Holds Interest as Conan Doyle Arrives Here

Referring to the purpose of Conan Doyle in coming to this country to expound the principles of spiritualism, Henry Jones in a comment on the day's news says that he has chosen a large job, that there are many who believe as he does but there are others whose intelligence inhibits such belief. What Mr. James has to say on this subject will be found of interest. He also speaks of the Genoa conference, a girl who has been pronounced physically perfect, and other subjects.

In "The Listening Post" tonight James W. Foley invites business to state its case, also Worry, Gladness, Work, Rest and Play.

Dr. Frank Crane in his column tells something of films and how necessary it is to exterminate them early in the year. He tells how busy this little worker becomes and you will find his article fairly staggering.

GLENDALE CITY GOVERNMENT COST LOW

State Controller Issues Comparisons Between East and Calif. Cities

The cost of government of California cities is much less than that of eastern cities, according to a statement issued by State Controller Ray L. Kelley.

The statement is based on a comparison of costs between cities of Massachusetts with those of equal population of California. In making such a comparison it is necessary to eliminate from each the cost of education, owing to the different methods of administration. The city schools of Massachusetts are under the direct financial control of the city, while in California these costs are largely taken care of by the state and counties.

The other expenditures are for identical functions and both are based upon the classifications used by the U. S. census bureau.

After the elimination of the classifications not common to both municipalities we have the following comparable data between Milford, Mass., with a population of 13,471, and Glendale, 13,535, and Pomona, 13,505, which shows the per capita cost of Milford to be $11.33; Glendale, $6.88; Pomona, $10.23.

BOY SCOUTS OF VERDUGO HILLS CALLED

Presentation of Council Charter to Be Big Event at Hi Tonight

150 IN DRILL CORPS

Opening with Community Sing, Program to Close with Yells

Those who attend the presentation of the council charter tonight and there are a considerable number who are planning to be there, at the high school, will be treated to a distinctive and exclusive boy scout program presented in true boy scout fashion. It is claimed that over 150 boy scouts from Glendale, Burbank, Tujunga and Eagle Rock have been practicing especially for the occasion, which marks the first quarter of the existence of the recently organized council for the Verdugo Hills district.

The scouts are all on their toes for tonight and will give the best kind of an entertainment they know how, and it is expected that the high school auditorium will be comfortably filled with people from the nearby communities as well as Glendale, although there are a goodly number of scouts and their parents away enjoying the Easter vacation period.

A look at the program convinces one that there will be plenty of variety with humorous and sober moments intermixed in goodly measure. At 8 o'clock H. Benjamin Robinson, assistant scoutmaster, troop No. 2, Glendale, will start the ball-rolling with a community sing. Ben claims that the adults won't have a show when he gets the scouts' music boxes all tied up. An honorary membership for seven years, paid in advance and costing $350, gives the holder of the certificate a life membership in the national guard.

The money received from the sale of these memberships is used to make the necessary enlargements on the army and to pay for things that the national guard companies need that is not supplied by the state allowance, for rent and incidentals.

It is understood that the excursion will be accompanied by a good jazz band, which will keep things stirring all the time.

It is proposed that the city officials of Eagle Rock and Burbank be invited to attend this excursion and it is expected that this step will be taken. According to latest reports, all the details of the excursion are being carefully developed, the idea being to make this one of the biggest things of the kind ever held in the San Fernando valley.

EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Memorable List of Musical Events for Church to Close

On Easter Sunday, April 16, the last Twilight Recital will be given at the Glendale theatre for the benefit of the organ fund of the Holy Family Catholic church, Glendale parish.

The program is one of unusual excellence and well worthy of the consideration of a discriminating musical public. Glendale's singing mayor, Spencer Robinson, will hold down the tenor spot and sing by request a song endeared to the music world "Love's Old Sweet Song" by Malory, and also William Bode and Herbert will render several piano and saxophone duets.

There will be ten numbers on the program, with a fitting finale to the most successful series of recitals ever given in Glendale, which will be the rendering of the official Knights of Columbus anthem by the combined voices of Glendale Council No. 1920, Knights of Columbus, the Holy Family choir and all other parish organizations assisted by every artist on the program.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE! COURT OF PUBLIC NOW IN SESSION

'Fatty' Acquitted of Rappe Murder to Face People's Jury

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Roscoe Arbuckle, acquitted of the killing of Virginia Rappe, now goes on trial before the public.

The big comedian was tremendously interested in the news from New York that the Famous Players corporation will immediately release one of his pictures to test out his popularity.

The question of whether Arbuckle will be asked to remain in the movies will be decided by the jury, according to word from New York.

The verdict of "not guilty" came late yesterday at the conclusion of Arbuckle's third trial on a charge of causing the death of Virginia Rappe, beautiful movie actress, during a "wild party" at a San Francisco hotel last Labor day.

The jury, it was reported, took less than one minute to complete the ballot acquitting Arbuckle.

NO MORE PASSES

LONDON, April 13.—Charles B. Cochran, London's greatest producer of revues, has decided to give critics the "gate." No more "oakleys," he says, for inconsiderate, abusing gentlemen of the press, who enjoy free seats at opening nights and then pronounce as terrible a show that runs on for months or maybe years.

The decision was made when Cochran took exception to the criticisms made about his latest revue, "Mayfair and Montmartre," in which he is starring Alice Delvina, just returned from her tour of the United States.

BUILD LONDON HIGHER

LONDON, April 13.—The skyscraper has won its first victory in London—a recommendation to change the height limit of buildings from sixty to eighty feet. The building acts commission, in a report to the London County Council, states that after consultation with officials of the fire brigade, it has been decided that buildings of large area may be erected to the height of eighty feet.

READY FOR U. S. TOURISTS

GENEVA, April 13.—At last there is a rift in the dark clouds which have been obscuring the financial horizon of Switzerland and threatening disaster to her favorite industry—that of hotel and boarding houses. From across the Atlantic comes the welcome news that the former summer migration of tourists is not only going to resume its former proportions, but even bids well to break all records and that the Swiss mountain resorts are once more to come into their own.

Powder Puff Wins; Not Injurious to Health or Morals

CORNING, Ark., April 13.—Arkansas girls cannot be expelled from school for powdering their noses, District Judge Bandy had ruled here today. The decision declaring talcum powder is cheap—"so cheap both boys and girls can wear"—followed the expulsion from school of Miss Pearl Pugsley, 18, who revolted against an order by Prof. Hicks against cosmetics.

The girl's father carried the case to court. Judge Bandy scored the school board and Hicks for letting so "frivolous" a case get to court and declared face powder not injurious to health or morals.

SEMEENOFF'S CRUELTY IS NARRATED

Americans, Reds Looked Alike to Cossack, Com- mittee Hears

EJECTION IS ASKED

Cruelty to Y. M. C. A. Worker Is Charged to His Troops

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Gouging out the eyes of Y. M. C. A. worker and the cutting out of his tongue because he would not give Semenovoff Cossacks candy and cigarettes was charged to troops of General Gregory Semenovoff by Captain Edward L. Earl of St. Paul, Minn., a former British royal engineer, testifying before the senate labor committee today.

Appearing before the committee which seeks dishonorable ejection of Semenovoff from this country, Earl brought forth a series of shuddering charges against the Cossack chieftain, including: Unwarranted attacks on British and American forces; utter insolence of Semenovoff himself to his allied colleagues; shooting down in cold blood of innocent peasants.

Earl said one of the British Red Cross cars was stolen by the Semenovoff men and the British sentry guarding it mysteriously disappeared.

"We never received co-operation from Semenovoff such as common decency would require from an allied officer—he called himself one and in fact he did everything he could to make it hard for us."

Asked as to conflicts with Russian troops, Earl told of an attack by Semenovoff forces on a train containing a small British and American contingent.

One Britisher was killed, several wounded and an American lost his hand.

Asked if he knew of any instances of cruelties against natives, Earl replied: "Oh, yes; but time is limited. I could not tell all of them."

But he did tell of outrages where innocent peasants were lined up and mowed down with machine guns simply out of rage and because of unfounded suspicion that they were Reds.

Semenovoff's attorney sprang a surprise by asking Earl if he had not appealed to Semenovoff since his arrival in New York for funds to come to New York, offering aid in return.

The attorney read one message of Earl to Semenovoff claiming that he had information of value to the Russian.

Earl hotly denied wanting any aid and answered such a reply that it was "indiscreet" of the lawyer to hint that he was acting for Senator Borah or Colonel Morrow.

"Read my second telegram," challenged Earl, but the attorney claimed to have but one message.

The inquiry on this line was abandoned.

Earl said that at one time the Cossacks fired on a group of sleeping American soldiers.

At the conclusion of this testimony Borah introduced two telegrams, clarifying the subject of Earl's communication with Semenovoff, revealing that Earl was playing to "get" Semenovoff, meantime letting Borah know exactly what he was doing.

ALWAYS FRIENDLYWISE FOLK ARE

For a few minutes the red dog hung around Dr. Muskrat's pond waiting for a chance to thank the clever old goose who had fixed his hurt foot for him. But by and by he made up his mind that both Dr. Ticklefeather and Dr. Muskrat had forgotten all about him. They were talking over old times and puzzling about new ones, till he felt the most polite thing he could do was to slip quietly off and not stand there listening to them.

scary-looking. Nobody spoke because everybody was waiting for somebody else to begin. Even the two old doctors stopped gossiping and looked around.

Here was the red dog's chance.

And With That He Caught the Old Fellow by the Wing.

But it didn't matter much, for long before they reached Tad Coon's tree they knew who was causing the excitement. "Honk!" went a goose flock guard, and "Honk! Honk!" a dozen voices echoed him. Up went the big birds in a perfect hurricane of wings, and circled overhead.

In a minute more they would have been soaring off into the sky if a voice louder than all the rest hadn't bugled, "Wank, Ha-wank!" which means, "Down wings all!" So down they came. Some of them craned their necks and stared; others were asking, "Don't our leaders know these are dogs and men?" but the sensible ones said, "That was young Hot-spur who called. He knows what he's doing." So they all lit in the willows across the pond.

I'm not saying that Tommy and Louise and Watch felt quite at home. The big birds were pretending not to notice them but the way they rolled their eyes to peek sideways made them very fierce and

He bounced over barking, "Dr. Ticklefeather, Louie's here. You must come and meet him." And with that he caught the old fellow by the wing! If it had been any other bird of all the flock—

But it wasn't. The sensible doctor just waddled briskly along as if they were arm in arm instead of "wing in jaw," nodding and bowing. "Pal!" reproved Louie in a shocked voice. "Let go this minute! Whatever do you mean? Quick, Tommy, where did you put the present they always brought for Dr. Muskrat. And what more would any goose want in the way of introduction?"

LABOR COLLEGE TO TRAIN UNIONISTS

CINCINNATI, April 13.—A "labor college" training unionists to better meet the complexities of modern labor organization, will open here on May 4, according to present plans.

The school, which will be in charge of Rev. Peter Dietz, of Milwaukee, was founded by the American Academy of Christian Democracy. Rev. Dietz will be assisted by John P. Frey, editor of an industrial journal and by John C. McCarthy, attorney.

"The intense growth and concentration of capitalistic production has made imperative an increase in general knowledge and technical preparedness on the part of the workers," Rev. Dietz said.

"Students in the school will be given opportunity to observe at first hand labor meetings, factories and workshops," he continued. "Such observation, coupled with lectures, will constitute much of the curriculum of our educational department."

Economics, industrial relations and law and politics will also be covered in the seven week's course, provided under present plans.

The school, Rev. Dietz said, has the endorsement of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

"The course is designed to make more intelligent and better trade unionists," he said.

The school for the present will confine activities to labor in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, Rev. Dietz said.

W. C. T. U. EXPRESSES TO MONDAY HELPERS

Officers of the W. C. T. U. desire to express through the columns of the Glendale Press their thanks to Dr. Henry R. Harrower, Mayor Spencer Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard, Harry James and all others who helped to make their social Monday night a success.

THE YANKS ARE COMING HOME FROM "OVER THERE"

By the end of the week the last contingent of American troops on the Rhine are scheduled to be en route home. The order to the Yanks to retire has heightened the European political tension over the demands of the United States for priority right to the payment of $241,000,000 German indemnity for the upkeep of the American army of occupation. Here is shown a typical scene aboard a troop transport-doughboys arriving in New York from "over there."

FOREIGN FORCES IN ELECTIONS

WASHINGTON, April 13.—With the approach of the congressional campaign and the attendant discussion of all national policies there is a noticeable increase in foreign propaganda appealing to the various nationalities in this country to seek to rally foreign blocs in support of, or opposition to, this or that policy of the administration with a view of electing congressmen in accordance.

This is not a new experience to the people of the United States. Prior to America's entrance in the late war this country was subjected to a tremendous foreign propaganda campaign waged by all the interested European nations. This most recent example within the memory of everyone was not the first effort, however, upon the part of foreign nations, through their representatives in this country, to involve the United States in European politics or interfere in the domestic policies of this nation.

As far back as Thomas Jefferson's administration an effort was made to involve the United States in European politics. Citizen Genet, who was minister to this country representing the French Directory sought to embroil the United States in European politics which were then in a turmoil on account of the French Revolution. Because he insisted upon making appeals to the people of this country to take sides in European affairs this government asked the French government to recall him. It was not done, so he was handed his passports by the United States government and all official relations with him were stopped.

The next minister who got into trouble represented Great Britain. He had no sooner landed in this country than he began to publish propaganda in criticism of the administration and circulated all British consuls urging them to attempt to create public sentiment in this country against the policies of the administration then in power.

M. Constantine Catacazy, the Russian minister to this country during the administration of General Grant started propaganda in criticism of this nation's policies in connection with settlement of the Alabama Claims. He pursued the same tactics as other foreign ministers had in conducting such propaganda—issuing interviews to newspapers, making public speeches and generally attempting to create sentiment against the wisdom of the policies of the administration then in power. He was saved being dismissed by a visit of the Grand Duke of Russia to the United States at that time. Upon the departure of the Grand Duke he took the Russian Minister with him, although the Russian government had been notified that we would hand him his passports in case this were not done.

The next foreign representative to interfere in American domestic affairs was Lord Sackville-West, British minister to the United States in 1888. During the presidential campaign of that year he wrote a letter to an American citizen in criticism of the domestic policies of the United States, and especially of the action of the Republican Senate, which had rejected a treaty that had been formulated between Canada and the United States. This letter was given wide publicity in October just before the election. For interfering in domestic affairs of this country and attempting to lecture American citizens on how they should vote, he was handed his passports immediately.

There is rising resentment in this country at present over the action of representatives of some foreign countries who are now criticizing certain domestic policies in this country, as well as some of its foreign policies, and who are appealing to people of their nationalities and races to take sides in such a way as to benefit foreign nations, rather than to serve America first.

BURBANK NEWS

STATE SOLDIERS' BONUS IS URGED BY GOVERNOR

Guest of Burbank Club's Executive Discusses California's Problems

Governor Stephens was the guest of the Woman's Club at their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. He spoke interestingly in justification of the present state administration and explained the causes of high taxes, which he attributed partly to the general increased prices of everything and to the great growth of California. He said that while the state expenses had been $44,000,000, the county government of Los Angeles had been $42,000,000. He said that the state expenses for the past two years had been $88,000,000, but of this amount $45,000,000 had been for educational purposes, and further, that $30,000,000 of this last sum had gone to the counties and could no more be charged to the state than could a loaf of bread given to a neighbor be charged on the family bread bill. He said that while Los Angeles county had spent nearly as much as the entire state, there was no criticism for that and no one was worrying over it. The Governor also spoke in favor of the measure for aid for the soldiers which will come up at the fall election and then voiced his opinion concerning the Japanese question. Of this, he said, there would be no war with Japan over the matter, but stated that this country could not assimilate the Japanese, and he hoped that information as to the conditions here would be broadcasted over the country and propaganda be sent out to the result that Fed-

PRESBYTERIANS OF BURBANK INVITE THE PUBLIC

Prayer Meetings Tuesday in Various Parts of City

During the revival at the Presbyterian Church, neighborhood prayer meetings were held and since the close of the service, these meetings have been continued. On Tuesday morning, a gathering for prayer will be held in four different sections of the city and this will be continued indefinitely, nor is it desired that these shall be strictly denominational. Members of all other churches or outside any, are invited and already a number of those prominent outside the Presbyterian church have been in attendance.

Following the discourse by the Governor, who left immediately, a solo and encore was given very effectively by Mrs. Thimman. These were followed by the reading of the two interesting papers, one by Mrs. May M. Clark on the history of the California navel orange, and the other by Mrs. Woods on the bear flag of California. Mrs. A. C. Fillbach read a California poem. This was followed by a demonstrated lecture on health and corrective exercises by Miss Florence Arlene Thornton of New York.

CIVIC BETTERMENT CANDIDATES WIN AT BURBANK

All Four Nominees Are Elected Defeating Old Board Members

The city election passed off with a sweeping victory for all four of the Civic Betterment Association candidates, who were: J. C. Crawford, E. J. Jackson, I. S. Crawford and John Neilson. Crawford had a total of 874 votes, which will probably place him as chairman of the board. Jackson was a close second with 839 votes. Watson and Neilson polled 750 and 601 respectively.

The old candidates who were seeking to retain their places, H. W. Rouscup and Orville Myers, fell down badly in their efforts, for Myers polled but 218 votes, while Rouscup came up with 241. J. W. Fawkes, who made his campaign on the virtues of annexation, succeeded in convincing 116 people that he should be mayor. T. S. Phillip had 88 votes and J. A. Wilson but one less. Frank E. Craig, who has moved out of the city, received the support of 49 people, who apparently did not know they were voting for a non-resident. L. J. Hirsh was given seven votes at each polling place.

BOY SCOUTS RALLY TONIGHT AT HI

Community chest and president of the Pasadena district boy scout council. In addition to what has been mentioned, the program includes the following: The boy scout oath—Troop No. 1, Tujunga. Boy scout laws, international—Troops Nos. 1, 2 and 3, Burbank. Exhibition of knot-tying by Troop No. 3, Eagle Rock. Camp life of the boy scouts—Troop No. 1, Glendale. Typical boy scout meeting—Troop No. 2, Glendale. Boy scout games—Troop No. 3, Glendale.

As a grand climax to the evening's entertainment all the boy scouts in the district will be massed upon the stage and will give their yells, songs, etc. Everybody is invited to the "big doings," so crank up "Lizzie" and jaunt down to the high school about 8 o'clock and really enjoy yourself with the scouts for an hour or two. Don't worry about having to pay anything, because there "won't be any such animal."

PROGRAM FOR YEAR ADOPTED At a recent meeting of the district boy scout executive board in the office of Roy L. Kent, a strenuous program was adopted for the development of scouting in the Verdugo Hills district during the coming year. The program to be followed by the local scouts is as follows:

April—Presentation of council charter, organization of scout leaders' training course, big scout pow-wow at the Pasadena weekend camp, and the reorganization of the court of honor. May—Start of monthly troop inspections, patrol leaders' training course, inter-troop efficiency contest, and plans for summer vacation camp at Catalina. June—Boy scout field day, father-and-son jamboree and final arrangements for summer vacation camp.

July—Summer vacation camp at Catalina. August—Emphasis on outdoor activities, troop meetings, overnight hikes and week-end camps.

September—Survey of scout conditions in the field, and reorganization.

October—First aid contest and big scout pow-wow. November—Knot board contest and organization of a boy scout orchestra.

December—Photographic contest and annual meeting of the council.

In addition, the program calls for the organization of eight new troops in the district, as follows: Glendale, 3; Burbank, complete reorganization of all Burbank troops; Eagle Rock, 1; Montrose, La Crescenta, Roscoe and Sunland, 1 each.

Through the courtesy of the Pasadena camping committee and Tallman H. Trask, scout executive, the use of the Pasadena council site at Catalina for a summer camp was proffered to the Verdugo Hills boy scouts. This camp is one of the best equipped and most ideally located camps in the west. Each year, hundreds of scouts in Southern California go to the camp and the cost is made so low that many who could otherwise never see the famous island enjoy the privilege at a price commensurate with their pocketbooks.

The committee on finance, of which Charles B. Guthrie is chairman, announced a plan whereby a "clean-up" campaign will be held during the next few days for the purpose of raising the balance still needed to cover the 1922 budget. The council members will be organized into teams with a certain part of the business section assigned to each. Following the solicitation, the teams will meet at a banquet in the Citizens building to count their gold.

CRUELTY OF SEMENOFF TOLD

general's attorney announced he will surrender the fugitive "ataman" before night. The Cossack commander's bondsman decided to surrender him to the authorities yesterday and with visions of jail, the general vanished. Sheriffs and detectives hunted him unavailingly. They have a court order to bring in the Russian refugee in connection with a civil suit for $475,000, brought against Semenoff by a New York firm.

OREGON REUNION

All who ever lived in the Beaver state are called to meet under the auspices of the Oregon state society for a great picnic reunion all day, Saturday, April 15, in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles. Come as early as you can and spend the day with friends. We will have county registers and headquarters so you can find the old neighbors, even with 10,000 present. There will be a brief program, opening about 2 o'clock, songs, and short talks. Dudley W. Evans, president, will preside and have charge of the day. The main purpose will be to have a good time and let the people do the talking. We want to see all the tourists and visitors from the old home.

Bring your basket well filled. Coffee will be served free to those who buy the silk souvenir badges. Each one who learns of this is asked to pass the word along. Further information may be had of C. H. Parsons, secretary of the federation of state societies, office in the Continental National bank, Main and Ninth streets, phone 10261, where the great Oregon register may be seen. SAVING A PARTY

President Harding is having a great opportunity thrust upon him. Members of the republican party
in congress are conducting themselves in a manner
certain to result in destroying the organization, unless checked by a strong hand. The folly of some of the current legislation is too manifest to permit
survival of any majority responsible for it. If republicans are determined to reduce the American navy to third class, the people of the country will not sustain them.

The Pacific coast contingent of voters may feel irritated at the neglect of their interests in relation to naval affairs. However, they are minded to be reasonable. So far as the policy of economy imposes hardships, they are willing to endure their share. If they must observe their harbors neglected, they do so with the hope that under future conditions the necessity for such stinting may not continue. Their patience does not in any part apply to the spectacle
of a navy being deliberately crippled to the point of uselessness. So to cripple it must be the inevitable effect of congressional action unless the President shall bring the majority there to its senses, or override its ignoble course.

Perhaps an appeal on the ground of party expediency might reach the representatives who have, to the present, been deaf to all appeals based on national pride, national duty, and sound public policy.
The Hearst papers declared that the four-power pact
was giving the United States a position of inferiority.
This was a false assertion. That it was false, the common intelligence recognized. The men who stood for Americanism in the conference out of which they brought a four-power pact of their own fashioning,
were not of the type to humiliate and degrade their great people. It remained for congress to perform a task so base, and it has entered upon the task with zeal.

The republican party has no reason to consider itself immune to fatal attack. It is not by any means buttressed in a strength that means its security may not be impaired. It is on trial right now. Unfettered opponents of its doctrines proclaim that it has covered itself with glory. The public gives no sign of accepting the proclamation either as sincere or convincing. Politicians who desire to remain where their piffing speeches become embalmed in the Congressional Record, would be wise to wake up at the muttering of discontent. If they fail to do so, the next thing they are likely to hear will be a trumpet blast
of wrath summoning them back to private life, in which all advertising must be paid for by the inch.

Democrats do not have any particular reason for feeling cheered. They, too, have lost in popularity.
They, no more than the majority congressional element, are winning approbation. It does not appear that any political earthquake that could hurl the republicans off the map would leave the democrats in serene possession. Not by a long shot. They would be caught in the upheaval, and descend with the debris. Then out of the ruins would be likely to arise new forces, men and women weary of mediocrity, of paltering, of un-Americanism, among the so-called statesmen of the land. But the little persons bent on ruining the navy would not arise.
They would be dead and buried.

Perhaps new parties could do no better than those now recognized. It may be that the country has been running alone from impetus imparted by the fathers, and this is dying out. A moral certainty exists that new parties couldn't do worse than this being done. Hence there is a growing willingness to try the experiment.

OFF FOR RUSSIA

Dispatches state that sixty-eight members of the
I. W. W. have sailed for Russia. These are supposed to be the vanguard for a force of 6000. So far as America is concerned, the exodus may be viewed with equanimity tinged with satisfaction. If a greater number than 6000 can be mustered, the people of this country could afford to help them on their way. But what of Russia? There is considerable sympathy for that country, arising from the hope that its people some day may overthrow the oligarchy that now crushes them. Every I. W. W.
person sent over adds to the burden of the people
there. If anybody in Russia assumes that the present invasion will help industry, he does not understand the organization.

The bolsheviks maintain their authority by means of a great army. They maintain the army because the soldiers have learned that in being soldiers they may live without work. They eat the substance of the laborer, getting it by the simple process of stealing it. An army so supported naturally will have the approbation of the I. W. W. provided they can win admission to its ranks. Anyone who has an idea that the purpose of the venturers now on the way over is to toil, might as well dismiss it. People who will not work in a land where they had the privilege, as well as the boon of being paid in real money, are not likely to arrive on the other side spiritually
renewed.

GUARDED AT CHURCH

The statement that J. D. Rockefeller, jr., was guarded by police as he attended church in New York is little short of amazing. If a man is not at liberty to worship God according to the faith that is in him,
or that he professes, revision of the statement that this is the land of the free becomes necessary. The violence that would reach one individual in a congregation necessarily would be a peril to many others.
The younger Rockefeller, as an individual, has not earned the hatred of any man. On the contrary he has done many kind and beneficent things. He hardly is to be held as in any degree responsible for a system of which he is the product. An injury to him could have no effect in impairing the system.

It could do no good, and it would be certain to do much harm. It would accentuate the unreasoning hatred between classes, and could not but check the impulse to do away with conditions that make life
hard for the class most devoid of creature comforts.

It is worth while bearing in mind that many of the men now mighty in a financial sense began their business careers with no capital but their native ability. This fact should be enough to demonstrate that every individual has a chance.

The great trouble with the world is selfishness.
Success excites envy, rather than ambition, on the part of the one who observes it but does not participate. The course of achieving success for himself is open before him. It does not suggest that he blow up the man who has reached a station at which the discontented would be glad to arrive. Nothing is to be gained by violence. The group whose conduct makes a police guard necessary at church never will get anywhere, unless in jail, by such methods.

FOOLISH HUMAN NATURE

It befell that a woman back east was moved by an impulse to kill a certain man. She did it with skill and enthusiasm. After she had shot him she continued the process until her weapon was empty.
Later a jury acquitted her, feeling, evidently, that the man merited the punishment she had given him.
As the case went along she had proved herself
feminine by fainting effectively at irregular intervals.

She tells how hundreds have written in to felicitate
her. She sets forth modestly the receipt of three offers of marriage, a chance to "go into pictures," and
the opportunity to syndicate the story of her life.
Probably all these allegations are true. Human nature is large and expansive, affording room for much foolishness.

When there comes into the life of any woman the seeming necessity of killing an admirer whose un-worth has been demonstrated, sympathy often is evoked, and perhaps justly so. It is evoked even in instances in which it really belonged to the party of the other part, the unfortunate whose career had been ended. In other words, the slaying of a one-time male associate does not of itself elevate the female slayer to the plane of heroism, or acclaim her
as virtue restored to spotlessness by shooting off the spots with a .44 bullet.

If this woman were to accept the best of the marriage arrangements available, reject the business
proffers, and retire to the seclusion of the fireside, it might be possible for her to win at least the boon of being forgotten.

That there is possibility of enjoining the practice
of dragging the Peete case out of the penitentiary, is to be regretted. The lawyer on behalf of the woman has a habit of making allegations tending to show that the woman did not kill the man for whose murder she was convicted most conclusively. On none of the several occasions that the habit has manifested itself, has there been the slightest evidence justifying the lawyer's course.

It's a rare man who can pay the fiddler without making his wife help.

Many an indulgent husband allows the indulgence
to stop with himself.

FLIES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

And now comes Professor E. Roubaud and submits to the French Academy of Science a mass of figures relative to the fly.

Next to the prophet who predicts the end of the world, nothing
is so terrifying as a statistician.

Citizen Roubaud tells us that his studies have established that one pair of flies from May first to September thirtieth, may breed by successive generation
as many as 4,000,000,000,000, 000,000 descendants.

The way you speak that number is four quintillion.

And, speaking of quintillions,
we are reminded of the small boy who asked his preoccupied
father upon one occasion,
"How many make a million?"
and was answered, "Damn few."

However, it will be seen by Mr. Roubaud's figures that friend fly is an industrious and vigorous individual, manifestly blessed of the Lord in that his quiver is full of arrows so that even such an one as the late strenuous Mr. Roosevelt would approve him as not being addicted to race suicide.

All this means that the eggs deposited by the first fly that flits from the butter to the garbage
can early in the spring, at the beginning of the five-month fly season, will turn you out during the course of that time some thousand trillion successors—accent on the first syllable.

Still this figure is only approximate, since the professor is careful to point out that the captive flies he used in his experiment did not thrive as they would have "throve" under natural conditions.

Some idea of what this busy little worker can do in the way of unlimited birth control, and of what such figures mean which we have jauntily
been setting down, can be had when it is remembered that a man counting steadily ten hours a day and three hundred days a year, which would give him all his Sundays off, would only average about twenty million units per year. To reach four quintillion, it would take him two hundred million years.

It will also be noted that, according to the conclusions of the able scientist, it would take only about a couple of years, with a reasonable amount of fine weather and plenty of decaying vegetable matter, for the entire habitable world to be wholly submerged in flies.

Take it by and large, there is nothing so comforting as science.

THE LISTENING POST

Come in, Business, and state your case.
Inasmuch as you are not the only caller, cut it
short.
Don't omit any part of it, but make it clear and concise.

Business thrives best when it is briefly and clearly stated.
Maybe I want to talk with you and maybe the thing you have does not interest me.
But we shall both save time and patience and energy if you tell me the thing briefly and clearly.

Nothing like clearness and brevity.
No use beating about the bush.
Don't be afraid to state your case with all the energy it deserves.
Nothing is gained by hesitancy or doubt.
If you have a good thing to offer, you need not be afraid to say so.

Thanks, Business.
We got to the point quickly and got through
with it.
Congratulations.
Keep it up.

Sit down, Worry.
I've seen you before and often.
Sorry things are mixed up and tangled.
Let's lay them out on the desk and see if we can't straighten them out.

There.
A little clear vision and horse sense untangled it.
It wasn't so bad after all.
The trouble is that you've fretted so long with it you got tired out.
What you needed was a clear eye and a steady
hand.
Good by, Worry.
Glad we got it fixed for you.

SONGS OF THE POETS

"Just for Today"—Sybil F. Partridge (18)

Lord, for tomorrow and its needs,
I do not pray,
Keep me, my God, from stain of sin
Just for today;
Let me no wrong or idle word
Unthinking say:
Set Thou a seal upon my lips,
Just for today.
Let me both diligently work,
And duly pray;
Let me be kind in word and deed,
Just for today;

Let me in season, Lord, be grave,
In season, gay;
Let me be faithful to Thy grace
Just for today.
In pain and sorrow's cleansing fires,
Brief be my stay;
Oh, bid me if today I die,
Come home today;
So, for tomorrow and its needs,
I do not pray;
But keep me, guide me, love me, Lord,
Just for today.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

Oklahoma's scandal, involving murder of an army officer, seems to have had its source in moonshine.

Any "little navy men" who happen to see Admiral Sims coming, would do well to dodge up a side street.

People desirous of a larger congress think more
of quantity than of quality.

Arrested for having a lot of whisky a man explained that he drank only because bitten in youth
by a mad dog. But the bite of moonshine is worse.

Senator Norris is much concerned as to where Chief Justice Taft eats dinner. There really are other things for a senator to worry about.

Four clarinet players have escaped from San Quentin. That's the spirit of jazz crystallized into action.

Somebody substituted cold tea for whisky that was being held as evidence, thus projecting fresh discomfort into the lives of the jurors.

Gall-Curci got her jewels back. Naturally she gave the finder a golden note of thanks.

An aged musician in New York killed himself rather than play jazz. He preferred a quick death to slow torture.

Weather is no respecter of horse shows and gives
not a whoop for baseball.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

MUST BE CONSISTENT

[New York Times]

None but short-sighted democratic senators can be swayed by the impulse to take a sweet revenge
upon the republicans for having insincerely rejected
the League of Nations. A question of democratic consistency is involved, as well as of patriotic obligation. How can senators who voted over and over again for the league have the face to oppose the four-power treaty? That would be straining at a gnat after having been willing to swallow a camel.
Moreover, from the point of view merely of party tactics it would be a huge blunder. Some democratic senators talk gleefully about smashing the Harding administration at one blow. Yes, but their fellow citizens, and they themselves, would be in the smash, and they would be held chiefly responsible for it by the country. The defeat of the Washington treaties would leave the nation humiliated and shamed before the world. Is it to be supposed that Americans would not search out the authors of such a disaster, and hold them to account for it? Certain democratic senators seem to think that if they act like a reckless boy and set fire to the house just to see it burn and the engines come racing up the

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART

Some of us have bargain orgies. Let a few sales be glowingly advertised and we hasten to view, becoming as truly intoxicated as do—no, as did—men who drink—drink—liquor with alcoholic content.
The spending spree is a common indulgent of womanhood. Who dares say that it is not?

The witty merchant knows well this feminine weakness and profits thereby. Why should he not?
If a material which will not sell at twelve cents per yard in the piece can be made to net him twenty
through cutting up into two-yard "remnants," why not take advantage of it? No one is in business solely for the pleasure of the endeavor.

And so we—some of us—wander from store
to store, carrying out "coupons" or stamp books, and buy lace for which we have no use, material which does not match anything else we have, odds and ends of furnishing goods, out of date or slightly damaged supplies, to add to the already numerous clutter in closet or on shelf. An undefinable urge is within us, fed by the glowing advertisement and insistent clerk. We have a perfectly lovely time—
while the spree lasts.

And then, our purchases home, a slight misgiving
is apt to creep over us. Away from the excitement and glitter of the shops, they fail to appear quite as desirable. The misgiving grows greater as we find failures to "match," as we thought they would,
little defects, short lengths. We feel disgusted and a little ashamed at our foolishness. "Never again!"
we cry to ourselves.

And when the next bargain sale comes we forget it all and do exactly the same. Don't we?

family would then want to put them in full charge of the property. That would be fine political strategy—in a land of lunatics.

MAKING A NEW PROFESSION

[Detroit Free Press]

For some time the Rockefeller Foundation has been encouraging the establishment of schools where students are prepared as experts in hygiene and public health. The latest gift for that purpose is $6, 000,000 to Johns Hopkins university and since it is the largest of its kind that was ever made, that school will probably become a leader in this form of education.

For many years the medical profession has unselfishly assumed the duty of promoting public health.
The doctors have been behind every advance in the dealings of government with sanitation, and when public health officers have been needed the profession has supplied the men. Gradually a class of physicians who specialized in public health has grown up, but the fact that a man has had a medical education does not make him a good health officer. An ordinary physician who undertakes to care for the public health needs to learn how the thing is done after he takes office, and the process of learning may be a costly one for the people.

Schools like the one to be built at Johns Hopkins meet this difficulty and promise a time when any community needing a health officer will be able to find one expertly prepared for the work just as city
engineers are now available.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Conan Doyle has arrived in this country for the purpose of attacking its skepticism in relation to spiritualism. He has chosen a large job. There are many who believe as he does. There are others whose intelligence inhibits such belief. This is no reflection on the intelligence of the first class. It means merely that mental perceptions are different.

Comparatively few doubt a spiritual life. They accept such a life as an essential part of the great scheme. But they admit that between the world
upon the surface of which they move, and the future
world of which their intuition tells them, a veil has been fixed. They do not think that mortal vision ever has pierced this veil, nor that it ever will.

There are psychic mysteries in abundance. They stir the interest, even exciting it to high pitch. A table tips without the volition of any whose hand
may be resting upon it. There are raps that cannot be traced to definite source. Through various instrumentalities, messages seem to be received.
They purport to be the expressions of men known while on earth to have been good and wise. Most of the messages are unspeakably silly.

People have been experimenting for many years. It is the common opinion that nothing has been revealed. That which in the beginning was unaccounted for, still declines to become open to the understanding.

Recently an aged spiritualist died in this community. A little later a banquet was given in his honor, and a chair set for him. Messages as from him were read. Their foolishness was an insult to his memory.

Perhaps had Doyle been frank he would have believed. Even a large faction of the spiritualists frankly declined to do so.

No restriction is put upon the right of any and all to entertain such opinions as may be pleasing to them. It may happen easily that they are unable to win others to participation in their opinions, and that their doctrines and theories appear to observers as fantasies.

The Genoa conference opened with great promise. Its purpose as outlined by the chairman is similar to the purpose of the recent disarmament conference at Washington. There was a candid admission that the latter had accomplished the great work of assuring peace on the Pacific. The aim is for peace over all Europe.

By some it is regretted that the United States has no representation at Genoa, but the conclusion that this country was not called upon to participate officially is generally upheld. No apprehension is felt that the United States will be ignored in the proceedings. It is a factor in world affairs, and all the world knows its interests are not to be slighted.

A notorious prisoner who recently shot a pal in the Los Angeles county jail had been a preacher. There has not been the slightest tendency to construe this into any reflection upon the high calling.
By the way, the ease with which prisoners get guns and saws
and such things, never has been perfectly explained.

There is a girl somewhere who has been pronounced physically perfect. She was inspired by this to seek a male equally flawless.
Now she announces that she has found him and that she is his'n.
She expects their joint contribution to the race to be of great value.

Naturally there rises a question as to whether the pulchritudinous
twain have brains and character, for these also are equations worth considering.

A report comes from Germany that counterfeit money is being made there. It is singular that anybody should have the ambition to make a worse currency than the government is grinding out.

Probably it will be a long time before Russian counterfeiters take the trouble to add to the immeasurable bulk of the money that is extant in their land. Even the genuine is without value.

One thing to which millions of Americans are indifferent is the Stillman divorce. They do not care who gets it, or if nobody gets it.
They would be glad if the whole mess and the entire personnel were
to take a running jump into oblivion.

But yellow journalism won't permit this consummation.

Here's a girl now, warning others of her kind against the attentions of old men. She had considerable attention herself from a fatherly party who heaped money upon her. This she spent with both hands. When she found that her benefactor had stolen the money he lavished, and unsentimental representations of the law look her booty away, she withdrew her affections, and issued her warning.

When an old man comes bearing gifts perhaps it would be well to find in advance whether he had swiped the stuff.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

My wife says that Jimmy Whitehead is insincere. She says that no one can possibly be as glad to see me as Jimmy pretends to be. She says she isn't that glad herself. And from the way Jimmy carries on when he sees Mrs. Pilgrim, you'd think that the light had just been restored to his eyes.

"He is nothing but a flatterer," says my wife, scornfully.
For all that it looks like no festive occasion is complete under our humble roof unless Jimmy Whitehead is there. If we dance Jimmy's feet are among those present. If we eat it is Jimmy who is carried away from the table in a state of purple repletion. If we just sit on the veranda on a pleasant evening, and say mean things about the people passing by Jimmy is apt to be sitting with us.

"I don't believe a word he says," my wife repeats.

And she doesn't. I feel just the same way she does about Jimmy.
I haven't any idea that he looks on me as an elder brother should be looked on but rarely is, or that he regards my wife as the most perfect specimen of her sex in the captivity of matrimony. But we had rather listen to Jimmy tell us these pleasant things which are not true than put in the hours hearing Dr. Darwin tell of the Fall of Man and registering the exact distance of the fall.

I rather like these insincere people, myself. They keep me in good humor. They are forever finding fine things in my character that my truer friends have never suspected. There is an atmosphere of warmth and geniality when they leave and many's the time that Jimmy has arrived just in time to protect me against my wife's sincere and love inspired but blistering tongue. Maybe it would not do for all the world to be insincere, but it wouldn't do any harm if a few more of us were at least a little more given to checking and controlling our sincerity.

Also, I do not forget that the time I was so sick Jimmy Whitehead was the only one of my friends who acted as though he really wanted to sit up with me.

Exceptional roadability, combined with a dashing smartness, are admired characteristics of the Type 61 Eight-Cylinder Cadillac Phaeton. Owners are enthusiastic over its exhilarating gliding smoothness even when the car is driven at high speeds. They take no less pleasure in its superb power and in the easy swiftness of its acceleration. An outstanding improvement of the Type 61 Cadillac — its lowered center of gravity, achieved without reduced road clearance — causes the Phaeton to cling to the road and handle with a sure ease which is a joy to the experienced driver. In the Phaeton, as in all models of the Type 61, a delightful surprise awaits those who had assumed that the maximum of roadability and riding comfort had been previously attained in the Cadillac.

NEW TEST OF BRAIN POWER PLANNED

Wisconsin Professors Believe They Can Out-Rid Edison

MADISON, Wis., April 13.—"The Punic War, the identity of Chesterton, Babe Ruth, Bill Bryan, and the normal temperatures of the human body are much more important than the chemical composition of rubber."

Which is only another way of saying that two dozen University of Wisconsin professors believe they can better calculate the intelligence of the human mind than Thomas A. Edison.

The two dozen, including such nationally-known authors, as E. A. Ross, sociologist; John R. Commons, William Keilhofer, economist; F. A. Ogg, political scientist; and H. L. Russell, dean of agriculture, got together and compiled a hundred questions.

"No questionnaire, however, can be an accurate test of the college man's ability," the magazine presenting the questions declares. "The college man is training and developing his mind, not gathering facts."

Seventeen subjects are touched in the list of questions. Among the questions are:

Who wrote "Main Street," "The Brass Check," "The Side of Paradise," "Mirrors of Washington," "The Americanization of Edward Bok," "Outline of History"?
Is the Standard Oil Company a single corporation? What is the largest steel company in the United States?
Who is Chesterton?

What positions are held by Gompers, Bryan, Coolidge, Wilson, Lindsay, LaFollette, Hays, Hughes, Colonel Harvey, Ruth, Taft, Landis, Wood, Blaine, Pershing?
Name some of the works of the late Lord Bryce.

Is it necessary that courts should follow their own precedents, and why?
How far from Chicago to New York and why? From Boston to San Francisco? From Milwaukee to New Orleans?

How large was our war debt? What part have we paid off? How large is the present annual expenditure of the United States government?
What are the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse and what do they stand for?

What British colonies are organized on a federal basis?
What are the various methods used by the federal government to raise money?
Who are the senators from your state? The representative from your district? How many senators are there? How many representatives?

How did Tom Sawyer get his fence whitewashed?
What was Mr. Micawber always waiting for?
How was Rebecca, the Jewess, rescued from being burned at the stake for sorcery?

Is George Bernard Shaw young or old?
Did St. Louis precede or follow Charlemagne?
Is Utopia the name of a country, of a book, or of a man?
Did Shakespeare precede or follow Milton in date?

Why is the sky blue?
Why are raindrops spherical?
What causes the fall of dew?
Why is snow white?

When and where was the first English settlement in what is now the United States?
Who was Gladstone? The "Magna Charta." What, when and where? What was the Reformation?

Who were the Spartans? The Crusaders—what, when and where?
What is meant by the Fall of Rome?
What was the "Black Death"? What was the Punic War? Who was Leonidas? Xerxes? Who was Cleo? Name one of his contemporaries.

Can you locate the north star? The Meg O'Connell? Casseopia's chair? The Pleiades?
A mother sent her boy to the river to get seven pints of water. She gave him a three-pint vessel and a five-pint vessel. Show how the boy can measure out exactly seven pints without guessing at the amount. Begin by filling the five-pint vessel.

What is meant by the closed shop and the open shop?
What is scientific management?
What in the long run determines the value of wheat?
How is the relatively high wage scale in the United States to be explained and what limits are there in the determination of wages?

A man said, "I always buy my newspapers of the smallest newsboy." What is wrong with his principle of conduct?
Why do free meals pauperize, but not free libraries?
Just what is unsound with the proposition: "This couple are unhappy together, therefore let them be divorced and go their separate ways?"

Of what use are leaves?
Why does a plant produce flowers?
Name the five principal human food crops and tell in what countries they are produced in large quantities.

Give a brief statement explaining: What are vitamins. What did Rose Bonheur do for agriculture? What is butter and how is it produced? From what part of the animal is porterhouse steak obtained? From what animal is veal obtained? From what source is silk obtained.

In what continent or zone did the following originate: Irish potato, maize, tobacco, coffee.
What country controls: Hongkong, Suez canal, Greenland, principal islands of the East Indies?
What great engineering project for the development of the Middle West is now being advocated?
What is a promissory note? A ture?

MOVIE CAMERA LATEST FRIEND OF DUFFER ON THE LINKS

The very latest in golf teaching methods is the "flipper" book. An enterprising English movie camera man "shoots" golfers who are anxious to correct their faults. Prints from the film are cut in sections and bound in a "flipper" book. By running rapidly through it the golfer gets a movie of his own drive, iron shot or put. Thus he sees his own faults and can go about correcting them intelligently.

PRISCILLA DEAN THRILLS HER AUDIENCE

"Wild Honey" at Glendale Theatre Is Full of Dramatic Incidents

Theatre patrons who failed to see Priscilla Dean's "Wild Honey" at the Glendale theatre Wednesday night should make it a point to go tonight. While full of thrilling incident, there is nothing objectionable in the development of any part of the plot, which shows the legitimate adventures of Lady Vivienne, which ends happily in her marriage to the hero, who rescues her from a terrible situation, and who is a real man, not the weak substitute, represented by Freddy Sutherland, as portrayed by Lloyd Whitlock. The contrast between the English baronial hall in which the first scenes are staged and the South African desert, afford dramatic variety and Miss Dean is a really beautiful heroine worthy the approval of critical audiences. Her delineation of the reserved English lady is excellent. She never resorts to "vamp" methods and is thoroughly charming, all the way through. It is booked for a three-day showing and will be on the screen Friday as well as tonight.

The comedy, "Straight From the Farm," provides some amusing exaggerations of the supposed behavior of a country boy in the city, and Aesop's Fables, modernized, as usual, are good.

MULTIPLE LISTING APPROVAL DEFERRED

tion of this association that the city council was considering an occupational tax on all business interests in the city of Glendale, to make good a deficit in the running expenses of the city government. At a previous meeting the Glendale realty board took action against such a tax as respects the real estate dealers and at this time made a motion that it be the consensus of this meeting that there be no occupational tax levied by the city of Glendale against the business interests of Glendale and that the secretary be instructed to so notify the city council.

Letters were read from the president of the Los Angeles realty board regarding the "Reactors End of the Trail Caravan," and as many present indicated their desire to join this caravan to the national convention, a committee was appointed to investigate and work out the full details regarding attendance at the national convention. It is thought that as many as ten will be able to go from Glendale.

The multiple listing committee next submitted their report recommending the adoption of the multiple listing system by the Glendale realty board, referring the matter to the governing committee to draw up rules and regulations. Owing to the fact that there were two or three who were not exactly satisfied to take affirmative action at this time and that the adoption of this system should be unanimous when it was taken, and as this is to be one of the important matters to come before the national convention, when the opinion of the reactors throughout the country may be had regarding the desirability of the multiple listing plan.

The meeting adjourned with a reminder from President Thom for everybody to turn out to assist the chamber of commerce in the trade trip through the San Fernando valley and to attend the social evening at the end of the trip, which will further cement the ties of friendly association which permeates the spirit of all realty board activities.

'HILLHAVEN' WORK IS PROGRESSING IN TUJUNGA

Higher Thought Retreat Is Being Converted Into Beauty Spot

TUJUNGA, April 13.—Grading for roads and general improvement work is progressing rapidly at "Hillhaven," the retreat which the Higher Thought college of Tujuanga is establishing at the old Talamantes ranch in the Verdugo hills. A natural amphitheatre is to be converted into use for outdoor meetings, and three parks made, in groves already on the tract. In one of these parks will be erected a Greek temple. Springs will be utilized to form pools and streams in the parks. George Harris is to have charge of the general beautification and construction work for the tract.

Dr. W. Frederick Keeler, of the Higher Thought college, who is promoting the "Hillhaven" work, has stated that people of Tujuanga will be welcome at any time to use the amphitheatre on dates which do not conflict with Higher Thought activities.

A radio outfit will be installed at Hillhaven to be used in connection with a summer school of metaphysics, to be opened about May 15. A course of lectures is to be given with the general subject, "The Fine Art of Living."

The date for the local Chautauqua has been set for May 11 to 17. It will be held at the corner of Orange and Harvard streets.

CLAM CAUGHT DUCK
BEAUFORT, N. C., April 12.—Russell Smith witnessed the capture of an adult duck by a clam in the thalweg Waterway. The duck, catching the clam, a large one, snapped shut. The duck could not escape. The weight of the clam prevented the duck's flying away. Smith made an easy capture of the fowl.

JAMES W. FOLEY

UNDISMAYED

Once came Defeat with bowed and bloody head: "The night has come, the battle lost," he said. "The ranks are fallen like the reaper's corn. The words are broken and the standards torn; O Master, say—what shall we do at dawn whose ranks are broken and whose hope near gone?"

The Master heard him speak: "I tell thee then But this—go forth at dawn and fight again!"

Came chill Despair, and trembled at his feet: "The dream is done," he cried, "that was so sweet It filled my day with gladness and the light Of it shone like a glorious star at night. Then as I had it wooed and all but won, I fell and failed—and now the dream is done. Quick, Master, say what shall I do at dawn, When I go forth to day, and dreams are gone?"

The Master raised him up: "The ten times ten The dream may fail, still shalt thou dream again."

And Love came with her broken heart and wept, Dishonor with the pledge of him unkept, Shame, Loss, Grief, Failure, Sorrow, Care and Want, With hearts grown sick and limbs grown lean and gaunt. "Quick, Master, say—the night grows dark!" they cried, "What shall we do when very hope has died?" So gently then he spake: "I bid thee then Arise, go forth, be strong and hope again!"

REV. HOLMES TELLS HOW CHRIST SET AT BAY CITY IS REALTOR VACATION AT BAY CITY IS GENERAL IDEA

Preaches in Passion Week Services at Baptist Church

Rev. Holmes, who is delivering a series of discourses at the First Baptist church, corner Louise and Wilson, throughout the evangelistic meetings which will close Sunday night, preached last night on the life of Jesus Christ on Tuesday of the Passion week. His topic and all of the scriptures readings were taken from the book of St. Mark.

He said in part: "Jesus Christ has done more for this world than all the kings and presidents in the world, and I am not ungrateful in saying this. Jesus has made us free. Every university in this country was started under the influence of the church. Every school and hospital in the country—must pay tribute to the carpenter of Nazareth. Ninety-eight per cent of the hospitals of London were started by the followers of Jesus Christ. Where is there another man who can save us from all sin?"

"Christ is king—his precious hand holds the scepter of command. Talk about ability and authority! Jesus Christ has all ability and all authority. He should have the authority over every heart in this place and over every home in this city. None in the world has ever had the authority of Jesus Christ, and none ever will.

"The people of the world are inclined to skip the part of the scripture that they do not want to follow. Let us be men in connection with the scriptures as well as anything else. We must render unto God the things that are God's. There is no such thing as 100 per cent Americanism unless we are Christians. We must be lined up with the church of Jesus Christ. America is constitutionally Christian and a good American will be a Christian. The greatest menace to American history is the man or woman who turns his or her back on God.

When a nation turns its back on God it is sure to go to pieces. When the American people turn their backs on God, America is doomed.

"Jesus was asked, 'Which is the greatest of all the commandments?' and his reply was, 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength, and thy neighbor as thyself.' Loving thy neighbor as thyself is secondary and is not sufficient. God must be put first. Some people believe that loving humanity will get them to heaven, but it never will.

"There is only one side on which to stand—that is the side of Jesus Christ—it is the only manly side. If you are not for Christ you are against him. The church needs men—all you men. It needs real, red-blooded men with heroic spirits to line up with the church. We must have men to draw nearer to Jesus Christ. You must be the means of drawing others nearer to God."

SALARY TWO CENTS A MONTH
LONDON, April 13.—Russian university professors look upon their American counterparts as plumed plutocrats. The average salary of the professor in Russia is ten thousand rubles a month—something less than two cents.

WIRELESS CONCERT AT HI-Y FATHER AND SON MEET

Kenneth Lee and James Newton to Supply Radio Apparatus for Dinner

The banquet committee for the Y. M. C. A. "Father and Son" banquet, to be held next Tuesday evening, April 18, at the First Methodist Church, have arranged to get the equipment to put this concert on for the fathers and sons, but through the interest of James Newton of the Newton Electric Company and Kenneth Lee, the demonstration has been made possible. Kenneth Lee, a member of one of the Y. M. C. A. groups, will furnish his own set and Mr. Newton was in Los Angeles Wednesday arranging for the loan of other necessary parts.

John W. Hamilton of Hamilton Associates School of Los Angeles, will talk for the Glendale meeting. Due to the heavy demand for radio parts, it has been very difficult to get the equipment to put this concert on for the fathers and sons, but through the interest of James Newton of the Newton Electric Company and Kenneth Lee, the demonstration has been made possible. Kenneth Lee, a member of one of the Y. M. C. A. groups, will furnish his own set and Mr. Newton was in Los Angeles Wednesday arranging for the loan of other necessary parts.

Kenneth Lee, John Wardell, Russell Bloomfield and Billy Pigg are setting up a receiving set in the First Methodist Church and will test it out at their regular meeting this coming Friday.

The annual banquet is open to all boys and fathers of Glendale, it not being necessary to be a member of a "Y" group.

EASTERN MAGNATE ENTERS FIRST NATIONAL

E. L. Marston Becomes Identified with L. A. Institution

Announcement was made yesterday by Henry M. Robinson of the election of Edgar L. Marston as a director of the First National bank of Los Angeles.

Back of this announcement lies the fact that Mr. Marston's election to the board is one of the most important steps in the business development of the Pacific-Southwest that has yet been made.

In addition to having been the active head of Blair & Co. of New York, which, in volume of business done, ranks well with the firm of Morgan & Co., Mr. Marston is interested in the City National bank of Dallas and is a director of both the Bankers' Trust and the Guaranty Trust companies of New York. Mr. Marston became manager of the bond department of Blair & Co. in 1890; was made a member of the firm in 1893, and since that time his rise in the American business world has been rapid.

Until very recently Mr. Marston was not only a director in many financial institutions but was also on the directorate of Borden's Condensed Milk Co., both in the United States and in Canada; was president of the Pond's Extract Co. and the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co. He is now a director of the Missouri Pacific Railway Co., the Western Maryland Railway Co., the St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern Railway Co., the Clinchfield Coal Co. and the Goldschmidt Detinning Co.

Mr. Marston served for a number of years as trustee of the General Education board, and is a trustee of Bishop's Baptist college, Brown university and of Vassar college, and a patron of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the New York Botanical Gardens.

It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Marston, who have been at the Ambassador hotel for some time, have under contemplation the purchase of a home in Southern California at an early date and that other members of the family may join them.

The election of Mr. Marston to the board of directors of the First National bank will tend to strengthen the connections between the First National bank of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Trust and Savings bank with the best class of eastern financial institutions.

STANDARDIZED FLAP AMAZES BRITISHER

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The most interesting thing he has observed in America, according to Gordon Selfridge, the man who took the American department store idea to London, is the "standardized flapper."

Asked to define the creature he referred to, Selfridge said: "Why, these girls you call flappers, are to be found everywhere in America, in New York, in Chicago, especially in Chicago, where large numbers of newspaper men make their living writing about them—in San Francisco, and in all other cities.

"The thing that strikes me about them is that they are all alike. They are standardized. They all wear the same thing from hat to toe."

"Well, you know what I mean. They don't wear a great deal, but what they do wear is standardized."

Between two evils many of us choose both. Differences of opinion, however, do not change the facts in the case.

They Play Roles in the Latest "Love Duel"

Mrs. ALICE JONAS

Mrs. ISABELLE MATTESON.

Gerald Matteson, of Chicago, is champion kisser of the world, declares his wife, in her suit for divorce. Gerald, her petition states, never demonstrates his powers of prolonged osculation on Mrs. Matteson. Mrs. Alice Jonas, pretty blonde, is named in the suit as the recipient of his osculatory embraces. The latest "love duel" started. Mrs. Matteson asserts, when she saw her husband kissing Mrs. Jonas.

'POLLY OF FOLLIES' WINS AUDIENCE AT T. D. & L.

'Connie' Talmadge Stages Film Story Quiet Mirth

Although he has six bank accounts, owns stock in a dozen corporations and runs the finest drug store in Bowling Green, Silas Meacham was a tightwad. He made his nice Polly do all the housework, and she and brother Jimmy supplied the help at the store. If charity were a blessing, Uncle Silas would be booked for the hot places right off.

Such is the happy family life that Constance Talmadge, in the title role of "Polly of the Follies" introduces in the First National attraction at the T. D. & L. theatre. Polly decides that she has had enough of the drudgery by the time a traveling circus hits town and decides to strike out for the big show. Flo Ziegfeld and his famous Follies' Beauty Chorus are brought into the story and Polly solves her problem in a manner that is unique among stage-struck girls.

Miss Talmadge's latest screen offering abounds in the quiet humor for which the star's pictures are noted. Her antics as the country girl with stage aspirations are a wonderful piece of screen acting. The supporting cast seconds her efforts ably. Kenneth Harlan is leading man, and Geo. Pawcett, eminent character actor, reappears before the camera in an important role.

CHILDRENS LEADER AT THE ALLIANCE

Rev. Frank A. Miller, children's evangelist of Los Angeles, formerly of the Chicago Presbytery, will occupy the time Sunday a. m. at the Alliance tabernacle, 310 East Chestnut street, which is ordinarily devoted to Sunday school, in an interesting, entertaining and instructive talk to the children. Rev. Miller is recognized as being one of the foremost children's evangelists in the United States and any youngster who can listen to him Sunday from 10 to 11 a. m. and does not, will miss a rare treat.

At 11 o'clock, Rev. Geo. W. Davis of the Alliance tabernacle, Los Angeles, will fill the pulpit. Rev. Davis is too well-known in Glendale to require special introduction, he having spoken in many pulpits here as well as conducting regular Tuesday night Bible study.

During the convention, which begins Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Eicher, who has been a missionary to India for fifteen years, will speak several times, as well as Rev. Crisman, of Spokane, Wash., who is pastor of the Alliance tabernacle of Spokane, and one of the ablest exponents of the Bible on the Pacific coast.

Rev. Stewart is another able speaker who will be heard during the convention. He served as a missionary in China for many years, and had considerable experience during the Boxer rebellion. Other speakers of note will be present, which will make this convention one of the most interesting and instructive to be held in this district this year. Do not forget the time: Thursday to Sunday inclusive, from 2 to 4 p. m. and at 7:30 p. m.

FRENCH NET STAR TO DEFEND TITLE

NICE, April 13.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, European woman tennis champion, will defend her title at Wimbledon in June, if she is physically able, she said at the recent tournament here.

The French star added that she hoped Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the American champion, who defeated her last summer in the United States, would be one of the entries in the British title play at Wimbledon, as she felt sure she could prove that the incident of last summer was a fluke.

Charles Lenglen, the girl's father, who trained her from the time she was able to swing a racket, was with her during the March tournament and said that she had not completely recovered from the illness that caused her to default in the American championships.

Mlle. Lenglen looked well, however, while she was playing here. Her spirits seemed higher and she admitted that she felt much better since she had been able to return to the court.

While her plans for the summer are indefinite, Mlle. Lenglen said one thing is certain—she is not going back to the United States for vindication.

The racket apparatus for saving life from wrecks is available at 350 stations round the coasts of the British Isles.
