EXPORT OF LEATHER AND HIDES FROM THIS COUNTRY PROHIBITED

Abnormal Situation Affecting Both Public and Shoe Manufacturers in Dominion Leads to Government Action; Conference at Ottawa

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—The Minister of Trade and Commerce announces that owing to the abnormal situation of the hide and leather markets, which vitally affects the interests of both consumers and producers of boots and shoes in Canada, the Government has called a conference of the various interests concerned to consider and advise the best course to pursue in the premises.

In the meantime, it is deemed wise as a preliminary measure, to place the exportation of hides, skins and leather under control. An Order-in-Council therefore has been passed and is now operative, to the effect that pending consideration of other necessary action, the exportation from Canada of raw hides, skins and leather for the manufacture of boots and shoes shall be prohibited except under license from the Canadian Trade Commission.

BUY YOUR SHOES NOW ADVISE MERCHANTS

On Next Orders Local Shoemakers Will Have to Meet Increase in Prices

Shoe merchants in this city advise the general public to lay in a good stock of footwear within the next six months, as there is every indication at the present time that the prices will be greatly advanced at the expiration of that time. Most of the merchants have bought fairly heavily of late and there will be no increase on these orders, but at the next buying period they will be forced to meet the increased prices of the manufacturers.

A few days ago the announcement was made by W. S. Duffield, of the John McPherson Shoe Co., of Hamilton, Ont., that shoes will advance $4.00 a pair within the next six months. He states that labor is not to blame for the increase, but the fault rests with the Chicago packers who have a monopoly on leather. A horsehide that could be bought for $1.00 a few years ago now commands $17.00, while $65.00 is asked for a cowhide, a sum that would once have purchased a cow. Labor will only get 20c out of the $4.00 increase.

EMPIRE STRONGEST PILLAR OF LEAGUE

Milner Speaks of British Commonwealth and Society of Nations

London, Aug. 4 (Reuter's).—Speaking of the Empire in an address at Oxford on Saturday, Viscount Milner, Secretary of State for the Colonies, said he did not share the fear that the independent positions of the Dominions, India and other countries in the League of Nations would tend to disruption. If the Commonwealth went to pieces the strongest pillar in the League would be shattered, he declared.

The various parts of the Empire must always settle their domestic difficulties among themselves. The Commonwealth had more to lose than any other state by another war and nothing to gain. To have the full support of the Empire the British Government's foreign policy must be broad, simple and straightforward.

Mob Attacks Police Barracks in Ireland; A Constable Wounded

London, Aug. 4.—A party consisting of from twenty to thirty men yesterday morning attacked the Broadford police barracks in East Claire, Ireland, according to a Central News dispatch from Ennis, capital of County Glair.

GEN. GREGORIEFF IS REPORTED SHOT

Bolshevik Messages Does Not Say Whether Russian Leader Was Killed

London, Aug. 4.—A Bolshevik wireless dispatch received from Moscow reports the shooting of General Gregorieff, the Russian commander who captured Odessa early in July and whose troops are reported to have carried out a massacre in the Jewish quarters of Odessa recently. The dispatch does not indicate whether he was killed. It says: "Hetman Gregorieff, who commanded the troops in the capture of Odessa a month ago, has been shot with a revolver by a Ukrainian insurgent force, at the village of Sketovo, in the Kherson district, during a personal interview."

No Negotiations. London, Aug. 4.—A Bolshevik wireless report from Petrograd received here to-day denies rumors that negotiations are in progress at Moscow looking to the establishment of a coalition Government. The Soviet Government, the message says, is now more firmly established than ever.

WILL OFFICIATE AT STONE LAYING

Prince of Wales Invited to Attend Ceremony for Queen's Statue

The Prince of Wales is to be invited to lay the corner stone in connection with the mounting of the splendid Queen Victoria statue in Parliament Square, according to an announcement made this morning by Hon. Dr. J. D. MacLean, acting Premier. The ceremony will take place here at the end of next month, and Dr. MacLean states that the programme in connection with the function will be arranged shortly.

The huge statue of Queen Victoria is of bronze and will be mounted on Swedish granite. It was carried out from the design of A. Bruce Joy in England before the war, but shipment to this country was prevented by the breaking out of hostilities.

Dominion Parliament is Summoned to Meet First Day of September

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—Parliament will meet on Monday, September 1. On the same day the Prince of Wales will lay the cornerstone of the tower of the new Parliament Buildings.

TROOPS USE BAYONETS TO CLEAR LIVERPOOL STREETS OF RIOTOUS MOBS TO-DAY

Liverpool, Aug. 4.—Riotous crowds were driven from the streets of this city this morning by troops charging with fixed bayonets. The rioters filled the streets during the night and it was not until daybreak that the soldiers were ordered to charge. The cruiser Valiant and two destroyers have moved into the Mersey River to protect the docks.

The employees of bus and tramway lines failed to report for work this morning. No notice of a strike had been given, but it is not believed that the movement was undertaken in sympathy with the policemen's strike.

London, Aug. 3.—A strike of one of the branches of the Associated Locomotive Engineers, involving 600 men, failed entirely to tie up the Southwestern Railway this morning.

The strike was called soon after midnight. The superintendent of the Southwestern stated to-day that the majority of the steam trains had left Waterloo Station and that the entire electric service was operating.

The company later made an announcement that "train service may be considerably restricted and trains are being run as engines can be found for them."

Exchanges Closed. The stock exchanges here and in Liverpool were closed to-day.

Bakers. The striking London bakers at a meeting in Trafalgar Square yesterday decided that the steps taken to meet their demands were unsatisfactory, and it was resolved to cancel temporarily all police holiday leaves in order to replace the dismissed strikers.

Rioting. Serious rioting occurred in Birkenhead, opposite Liverpool, as well as in Liverpool, Saturday night. Ninety-six (Concluded on page 4.)

H. HOHENZOLLERN WRITES KING GEORGE

Brother of Ex-Kaiser Wants Allied Statesmen Put on Trial

Copenhagen, Aug. 3, via London, Aug. 4.—Ex-Prince Henry of Prussia, in a letter to King George, published by The Hamburger Nachrichten, says the truth about the war may be had from the Allied Statesmen, and he suggests that if the former Kaiser is placed on trial, the Allied statesmen also appear.

The letter asks King George, "in the name of justice and his own interests" to desist from fighting for the extradition and trial of the former Kaiser of Germany.

"Humble" Now. The letter, which is signed "Your Humble Cousin, Henry," charges that Britain plotted Germany's commercial downfall. If the Allies want the truth, the former Prince says, the leading Statesmen of Great Britain and the other Allied Powers should be brought before the tribunal "as primarily and urgently suspected of guilt in the world war."

The letter continues: "Germany and her brave people have been hit severely, but they are not yet dead. The German spirit, which now seems dead, still lives, and will one day awake to a full consciousness of the disgrace and shame which have been inflicted and will some day demand a reckoning."

The letter charges that it was solely the British Government which for years prepared the world war in order to eliminate Germany from the world markets as a troublesome competitor.

Ex-Prince Henry continues: "Let me only remind Your Majesty of your meetings with M. Sazonoff (then Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs) in September, 1912, at Balmoral, and the utterances of Your Majesty on that occasion, which leave no doubt of the plan planned for the German war and merchant navies."

EXPLOSIONS KILL EIGHT IN NEW JERSEY; TWENTY-FIVE HURT

New Brunswick, N. J., Aug. 4.—Eight persons are reported to have been killed and twenty-five injured to-day in four explosions of ammunition in the Raritan Arsenal of the United States Army five miles from here.

LIBERALS READY FOR BIG CONVENTION

Sessions Will Begin Tomorrow; Many Delegates Arriving in Ottawa

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—The National Liberal Committee which has been making the arrangements for the National Convention, which is to open here to-morrow morning, held its final meeting this morning to complete the programme of procedure for the big gathering. The plans as decided upon by the Committee will be reviewed at the caucus of Liberal members and Senators at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The National Liberal Committee ceased to exist after the meeting to-day, and its sub-committee named to draft resolutions on all matters to be dealt with by the convention also dissolved. The resolutions will be referred to the committees of the convention which will be nominated to-morrow. An exception will be the resolution dealing with the death of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, which will be the first order of business of the Convention after the election of its joint chairmen.

The expectation is that the election of Hon. George H. Murray and Sir Lomer Gouin as joint chairmen of the Convention will be unanimous.

Quebec Members. This morning there was a caucus of Quebec members to discuss the attitude they would adopt in regard to the leadership and other matters before the general caucus this afternoon.

Hundreds of additional delegates arrived on to-day's trains and the billeting committee has been kept busy. As the delegates arrive they are advised to proceed to Howick Hall and register with the general committee. This must be done by all delegates before they secure their credentials of admission.

While no definite announcement has yet been made as to when the vote for Leader will be taken, the possibilities are that it will not be before Wednesday because a number of the delegates now en route to Ottawa can not arrive before the morning of that day.

COST-OF-LIVING OFFICIAL URGES FRUIT CANNERIES BE REGULATED HENCEFORTH

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—That the organized canners of the Dominion as soon as possible be put under the regulative power of the Board of Commerce, shortly to be named, is one of the important recommendations which was placed in the hands of the Minister of Labor on Saturday by the Cost-of-Living Commissioner. The report states that the business of canning is practically a natural monopoly and that its prices should be as carefully regulated as the charges made to the public by the railroad or telephone companies, because it is doubtful if there will ever be sufficient competition in this field to control prices.

The Commissioner found that the business of canning fruits and vegetables in Canada is very largely in the hands of the Dominion Canners, Ltd., and the Canadian Canners, Ltd., the first of which is described as "an operating company which packs about three-fourths of the Canadian output,

BLOODY PERIOD IN EUROPE PREDICTED

Arthur Henderson Foresees Wave of Rage Before Winter Sets In

Lucerne, Switzerland, Aug. 4.—Before the winter sets in there will be "a terrible spasm of rage and despair among the peoples of Europe in which the final remains of civilization may be totally annihilated," it was predicted by Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, British Labor leader, at the opening session of the International Socialist Conference here yesterday.

German Declaration. The remarks of Mr. Henderson followed those of Otto Wells, of the Majority element of the German Socialists, who declared the German workmen expected from the Socialists the creation of a real League of Nations, internationalized the League organized at Paris without Germany and Russia as members as a "mere plesantry."

In alluding to the peace treaty, Mr. Henderson declared the principal points of it ought to be subjected to immediate and thorough revision.

Condemnation of support of Admiral Kolchak, head of the All-Russian Government at Omsk, by the Entente nations, was expressed by James Ramsay MacDonald, of the British delegation, and Marcel Cachin, the French Socialist leader. Both the speakers demanded that an energetic attitude be adopted by the Socialists toward the nations, particularly on this ground.

Emile Vandervelde, a leading Belgian Socialist, gave his opinion that it would be impossible to reconstitute the International Socialist organization until the question of war responsibility was settled.

At Amsterdam. Amsterdam, Aug. 4.—Samuel Compere, president of the American Federation of Labor and head of the delegation of Americans to the International Trades Union Convention in session here, pleaded for greater rights for labor.

SS. ARAGUAYA ON WAY TO PORTLAND, ME.

Portland, Maine, Aug. 4.—The Canadian hospital ship Araguay will arrive here between August 12 and 14, according to advices received to-day by Capt. Grant of the Hospital Clearing Depot, bringing 350 wounded and convalescent Canadian soldiers.

BRIG.-GEN. M'BRIEN SUCCEEDS TURNER IN THE UNITED KINGDOM

London, Aug. 4.—Brigadier-General J. H. M'Brien is taking over the duties of Lieut.-General Turner, Chief of the Canadian General Staff in the United Kingdom.

The Headquarters Staff is being considerably reduced. Adjutant-General Thacker, Quartermaster-General Hoar and Paymaster-General Ross will all return to Canada early this month.

The Serbo-Croatian Cabinet's Resignation Has Been Accepted

Belgrade, Aug. 2.—Via London, Aug. 4.—Prince Alexander, the Serbian Regent, has accepted the resignation of the Cabinet.

The Serbo-Croatian Ministry's impending resignation had become known last week, but no details concerning the reasons for this action have been forthcoming.

FORCE OF ROUMANIANS ADVANCED AND IS IN CAPITAL OF HUNGARY

Troops Moved Forward From Theiss River Despite Representations of Allies and Are in City Now, Says Dispatch From Budapest

Budapest, Aug. 4.—Budapest was occupied to-day by Roumanian troops, who advanced from the Theiss River in spite of representations made by Lieut.-Colonel Romanelli, the Italian representative of the Allies at Vienna.

Copenhagen, Aug. 4.—Premier Clemenceau, President of the Peace Conference, replying to a wireless message from the Italian military mission at Budapest, declared the Supreme Council of the Peace Conference did not intend to interfere in the internal policy of the new Hungarian Government, and added that Roumania would be asked to withdraw her troops to the line fixed on June 13 until the new Government at Budapest has strictly conformed with the conditions of the armistice between Hungary and the Allied Powers, according to a Vienna dispatch.

The Italian commander, it is said, has sent a reply to M. Clemenceau stating that the new Government is prepared to fulfill the armistice conditions and that it requests the Allied and Associated Powers to lend support by each power sending one regiment to Budapest.

A Budapest dispatch reports that the Roumanian commander has notified the Hungarian military authorities that a Roumanian commission is on its way to Budapest to negotiate an armistice.

Banks Robbed. Budapest, Aug. 3.—Via London, Aug. 4.—This city to-day presents a pitiful appearance after the flight of the Communists. The streets are half deserted, no stores are open, there is little food in the hotels or private houses and no soup, coffee, tobacco or linen is to be had. Many windows have been broken. The people move about aimlessly.

The Communists, who robbed both for political and private purposes, left the banks empty. Financial institutions which contained round figures 5,000,000,000 crowns now have barely 50,000,000,000 in good money. Finance Minister Miskow does not know which way to turn as the only money left him is Communist paper.

The Communists, in addition to printing foreign banknotes, falsified Czech and Jugos-Slav stamped money to a great extent.

Szamuely Killed. Vienna, Aug. 4.—Tibor Szamuely, one of the most prominent of the Hungarian Communist leaders, was shot and killed last night while he was crossing the frontier near Furstfeld, by crown whose brother, a farmer, Szamuely had had executed. As he was dying Szamuely exclaimed: "I was the only enemy of the enemies of the proletariat."

In Austria. Vienna, Aug. 4.—Bela Kun, former virtual dictator of Hungary, and his associates have been granted asylum by Austria to avoid disturbances and unnecessary bloodshed in Budapest, according to an official statement explaining the presence of Bela Kun in this country.

The statement says they will be allowed to remain in Austria under detention until Hungary is able to receive them again but will not be permitted to carry on political propaganda.

A Peculiar Power. Bela Kun's frame of mind during these days of defeat has not been made known. His fight to maintain power during the last four months was a continuation of his extraordinary career during the war. He is a Jew with a strain of Turkish blood according to his friends. He is a small man. (Concluded on page 4.)

BRITISH ISLANDS TO UNITED STATES

London Paper Says Cession of British West Indies Being Considered

London, Aug. 4.—The National News says a suggestion that the British West Indies be ceded to the United States in part payment of Great Britain's war debt is being considered seriously on both sides of the Atlantic.

Not Considered. Washington, Aug. 4.—So far as is known, no proposal that the United States take over the British West Indies in part payment of Great Britain's war debt, as reported by The National News, of London, has been considered by the Government of the United States.

Islands and Canada. London, Aug. 4.—Edward Davies, president of the West Indies Associated Chambers of Commerce, has sent to The Times the results of inquiries he made personally between the West Indies and Canada in reference to the suggested union of the Islands with Canada. In the West Indies he found no desire for political union with Canada, although the opinion was general that the Dominion would be glad to receive the West Indies under some form of crown colony government, provided they should desire to join. It was realized, however, that the desire was at present non-existent and therefore the Dominion was aiming rather at developing the mutual trade relations of the two countries to the utmost.

London, Aug. 4.—A movement is on foot to form a centre party in the House of Commons by the extension of a group of new coalition members recently formed. Major Guest is the chairman of this group and he sets forth, in a manifesto published here, the objects of this new party, which is to be of all shades represented in the Coalition Government, to expel the Government's policy as laid down at the general election; to form a sessional group to maintain unity of purpose within the Coalition, and to maintain permanently the principles which brought the Coalition Government into existence. The Prime Minister is invited to become the leader of the new party.

HUTTERITE QUESTION AGAIN TO THE FORE

Winnipeg, Aug. 4.—The Hutterite question has come to the fore again, alleged irregularities in the immigration of Hutterites from the United States to Manitoba having aroused the hostility of the Great War Veterans Association. The Veterans have sent a strong protest to the Federal Government against the admission of people of this class into the province, and, officials announced, if action is not taken the Association will carry out its threat to send a delegation to Washington to protest to the American Government.

PLACING RETURNED PROFESSIONAL MEN

Ex-Fighters and Business Life of Canada; Quality of Salesmanship

Winnipeg, Aug. 4.—The following is the fourth of a series of articles on the problems of the returned professional man, written in connection with the work of the Profession and Business Sections, Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment and the Employment Services of Canada:

It has been stated in a previous article that the securing of a position is largely due to an employee's ability as a salesman. In addition to his salesmanship he must, of course, possess the necessary qualifications in order to fill the position; but in the case of two applicants with similar qualifications being selected for interview, the one who can interest the employer and make him desire the services offered is the one who stands the best chance of filling the position.

In selling an article, the salesman must first interest the buyer in the article. He must be able to demonstrate its uses and point out its value to the prospective buyer. If the article is likely to be of any use to him in his business, the buyer will become interested and, if the salesman can prove its superiority over similar articles and can develop the primary interest, the desire to possess the article will follow and a satisfactory conclusion to the interview is comparatively easily attained.

Services for Sale.

In the case of an employee applying for a position, the article that he has for sale is his services. In order to secure the position he must arouse the employer's interest by showing that his services will be of value—so valuable, in fact, that the employer will want him on his staff. Final details as to salary, etc., then become a comparatively easy matter to settle. An up-to-date employer will pay any reasonable salary to a first class man, because his services are equivalent to a good paying investment.

After several years of life amidst the thrills of war and of unique sights in new lands, the returned soldier, particularly the professional man, who has spent his civilian life in the army or navy was a new and at times a pleasant experience, in finding it rather difficult to settle down to the comparative humdrum life of the civilian. He is subject to fits of restlessness, and he needs an outlet for the high spiritedness which he acquired when overseas and which he has had to subdue since his return. In consequence of this many employers have had some of these men who seem to leave their employ for no apparent reason. It is difficult to know what to do in cases of this kind. Employers who have themselves taken an active part in the war can appreciate their feelings, but at the same time cannot afford to overlook such actions. The only real solution is for the returned soldier employee to exercise his will power and to show the same spirit of determination in business that he has already shown on service; to fight against this restlessness and to settle down once more as a useful civilian.

Some employers in Winnipeg have tried the following scheme with a certain amount of success. When the employee has had this restless feeling come over him, he has been allowed to go out and have a smoke for a few minutes, and it has been found that he gradually goes out less and less and finally settles right down to work with his pre-war keenness. This scheme may be fairly successful in a small business, but would be out of the question in a large one. In the latter, the dictator can only be overcome by the employer personally.

To Cities.

It has been noticed that there is a decided tendency on the part of men who have previously been employed on farms or in small country towns to gravitate towards the larger centres. They have tasted, probably for the first time in their lives, of the unsubstantial delights of city life, and the glamour is still upon them. They do not seem to realize that their experience in the army has not necessarily fitted them for a change of civilian occupation. They are blind to the benefits of rural life; the smaller centres, the healthier the environment and the opportunities for a capable man in a small but quickly growing community. The representatives of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment and the Employment Services of Canada always endeavor to guide these men back along the better path and to get them to reconsider their rather wild decisions.

Disabled Men.

Quite a different problem is presented by the disabled soldier. Many of these men were engaged in occupations where considerable activity was an essential, and by reason of their wounds find it impossible to again take up their pre-war employment.

The Vocational Branch of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment is doing what it can by training these men in some occupation in which their disability is not a drawback. It is, difficult, however, to place these men owing to their lack of actual experience with business concerns. Their misfortune has given them a keenness to make good in their new line, which goes a long way towards compensating for their inexperience. The employment of these men is a very practical matter of recognizing their services to the country, and should prove a good investment when they have added experience to their training.

KUN WEPT WHEN HE WAS OUSTED

Admitted Hopelessness of the Situation, But Predicted "White Terror"

SAID PEOPLE WOULD RETURN TO HIM

Vienna, Aug. 3.—Via London, Aug. 4.—The downfall of Bela Kun, virtual dictator of the old Hungarian Soviet Government, and the fight he made almost alone to maintain the power that had caused the Allies so much trouble for months, are described in dispatches received here and by refugees from Budapest.

Final action took place on Friday at the meeting of the Central Council of Revolutionary Workers and Soldiers at Budapest. Zoltan Ronay, former Minister of Justice, announced the Government's resignation. He explained that the dictatorship of Bela Kun, effective on March 4, had been based on three assumptions, namely, world revolution, military aid from the Russian Soviet and the Hungarian proletariat's capacity for self-sacrifice. These conditions, he said, had not been fulfilled.

Bela Kun wept.

Bela Kun then appeared before the Council. With tear-stained face and in a choking voice he admitted the hopelessness of the situation. Speaking at the meeting, he told how the Roumanian troops were within forty kilometers of Budapest, and that the Allies threatened to tighten the blockade.

Jacob Wallne, president of the Soldiers' and Workmen's Soviet, and Dr. Auzon, the Minister of Justice, who concurred with the Allied representatives at Vienna and had been told that a new Government be formed, got up in the Council meeting and strongly demanded Bela Kun's resignation. They asked him if he wished the Budapest headquarters' pitiful plight to be made worse by the hated Roumanians.

Yielded.

Then Bela Kun yielded. He predicted the coming of a "white terror," robbing the workmen of their freedom and means of production, all of which he deplored. He added that the people would return to him.

The formal decision to demand the dictator's resignation was made at a meeting Thursday to the Trades Union Council after President Samuel Jazsi had given a vivid description of the desperate economic and military situation. The Council voted 48 to 4 for the immediate resignation of the Soviet Cabinet.

At another meeting at midnight of the Cabinet and Trades Union Council, M. Varga, Soviet Minister of Social Protection, and Dr. Landier, leader of the Hungarian Socialists, stubbornly defended Bela Kun, asserting confidence in his ability to re-establish his power. Their arguments were unavailing, however, and the dictator was informed by telephone that the crisis had been reached.

Papers Suppressed.

Paris, Aug. 4.—Soviet newspapers in Budapest have been suppressed, according to a dispatch from the Hungarian capital. The city is reported as being calm, the workmen's battalion preserving order there.

Amnesty.

Copenhagen, Aug. 3.—Via London, Aug. 4.—Complete amnesty for political offenders arrested during the Soviet regime has been ordered by Peter Agoston, Minister of Foreign Affairs in the new Hungarian Cabinet, who also has issued a decree giving special protection to foreigners, according to a Budapest dispatch.

Complete order prevails in Budapest and the surrounding country, the dispatch asserts.

In order to secure the position he must arouse the employer's interest by showing that his services will be of value—so valuable, in fact, that the employer will want him on his staff. Final details as to salary, etc., then become a comparatively easy matter to settle. An up-to-date employer will pay any reasonable salary to a first class man, because his services are equivalent to a good paying investment.

After several years of life amidst the thrills of war and of unique sights in new lands, the returned soldier, particularly the professional man, who has spent his civilian life in the army or navy was a new and at times a pleasant experience, in finding it rather difficult to settle down to the comparative humdrum life of the civilian. He is subject to fits of restlessness, and he needs an outlet for the high spiritedness which he acquired when overseas and which he has had to subdue since his return. In consequence of this many employers have had some of these men who seem to leave their employ for no apparent reason. It is difficult to know what to do in cases of this kind. Employers who have themselves taken an active part in the war can appreciate their feelings, but at the same time cannot afford to overlook such actions. The only real solution is for the returned soldier employee to exercise his will power and to show the same spirit of determination in business that he has already shown on service; to fight against this restlessness and to settle down once more as a useful civilian.

Some employers in Winnipeg have tried the following scheme with a certain amount of success. When the employee has had this restless feeling come over him, he has been allowed to go out and have a smoke for a few minutes, and it has been found that he gradually goes out less and less and finally settles right down to work with his pre-war keenness. This scheme may be fairly successful in a small business, but would be out of the question in a large one. In the latter, the dictator can only be overcome by the employer personally.

To Cities.

It has been noticed that there is a decided tendency on the part of men who have previously been employed on farms or in small country towns to gravitate towards the larger centres. They have tasted, probably for the first time in their lives, of the unsubstantial delights of city life, and the glamour is still upon them. They do not seem to realize that their experience in the army has not necessarily fitted them for a change of civilian occupation. They are blind to the benefits of rural life; the smaller centres, the healthier the environment and the opportunities for a capable man in a small but quickly growing community. The representatives of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment and the Employment Services of Canada always endeavor to guide these men back along the better path and to get them to reconsider their rather wild decisions.

Disabled Men.

Quite a different problem is presented by the disabled soldier. Many of these men were engaged in occupations where considerable activity was an essential, and by reason of their wounds find it impossible to again take up their pre-war employment.

The Vocational Branch of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment is doing what it can by training these men in some occupation in which their disability is not a drawback. It is, difficult, however, to place these men owing to their lack of actual experience with business concerns. Their misfortune has given them a keenness to make good in their new line, which goes a long way towards compensating for their inexperience. The employment of these men is a very practical matter of recognizing their services to the country, and should prove a good investment when they have added experience to their training.

DOMINIONS ARE TO BE REPRESENTED AT LONDON CONFERENCE

London, Aug. 4.—The allusion by Colonel Amery in the House of Commons to the necessity for a special conference with representatives of the Dominions has been rather misunderstood. What is meant, according to The Yorkshire Post, is not a meeting of the Imperial Conference, which is continuously in being, but a meeting intended to deal with the special question of setting up an Imperial Cabinet or even an Imperial Parliament. No date has been fixed yet, but the meeting may not be long delayed.

FIVE WERE KILLED IN RIOTS IN BASEL

Paris, Aug. 4.—Five persons were killed at Basel, Switzerland, during the recent strike riots there, according to official reports on the disorders. Fifteen persons were wounded.

LORD LYTTON MAY BE NEW BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO U.S.

London, Aug. 4.—Lord Lytton was discussed by the Sunday papers here as a candidate who is now being considered for the post of British Ambassador to the United States. Rt. Hon. James W. Lowther, Speaker of the House of Commons, also is mentioned again as the probable successor of Earl Reading.

AUSTRALIAN SEAMEN'S STRIKE CONTINUES

Melbourne, Aug. 4.—The seamen's strike is entering upon its twelfth week with prospects of a settlement remote. President Lecornu, of the Seamen's Union, has dispatched a cable to the United States, asking that United States seamen isolate Australian ships until all the demands of the strikers have been granted.

CALGARY MACHINISTS' UNION IS CUT OFF BY INTERNATIONAL

Winnipeg, Aug. 4.—James Somerville, international representative of the machinists announced last night that he had found it necessary to suspend Calgary Local No. 357 on account of its One Big Union activities. Any future meeting of the local may hold he said will be unconstitutional and illegal unless called by himself personally. Mr. Somerville expects to be in Calgary within the next two weeks.

DAMAGED BY FIRE IN QUEBEC VILLAGE

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—Fire did damage to the extent of $20,000 in the village of Gatineau Point, Que., Saturday night, destroying a butcher shop and the residence of Mrs. Joseph Tutloff, 50 Champlain Avenue, the post office building and the general store conducted by Hilaire Brals and a number of outbuildings and sheds.

Winnipeg, Aug. 4.—A number of ministers of the Manitoba Methodist Conference, under the impression that William Ivens did not get a "square deal" at the last session of the Conference, have lodged an appeal against his expulsion with the court of appeal of the Conference. It also is stated that the case of A. Smith, of Brandon, ex-president of the Manitoba Conference has been appealed.

AN AVIATOR FLEW ABOUT PIKE'S PEAK

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 4.—Lieut. Alexander Lendrum, of Colorado Springs, circled the summit of Pike's Peak yesterday in a Curtiss Oriole biplane, reaching an altitude of 14,200 feet. He was accompanied by two passengers. The flight was the first ever made to the crest.

EXPLOSION IN ITALY KILLED FIVE PERSONS

Taranto, Italy, Aug. 3, via London, Aug. 4.—High power explosives, said by the police to have been placed by radicals in order to terrorize people during the proposed general strike on July 21, exploded to-day near Chianuna. Five persons were killed. Parts of their bodies were thrown several hundred feet in the air. No damage was done to the railway line. The police are investigating the incident.

TORONTO MUSICIANS WANT HIGHER PAY

Toronto, Aug. 4.—An ultimatum served on all the various theatres in this city by the Musicians' Union asking for a minimum of $36 a week expires to-day and the city faces a strike of orchestras. The men have been receiving $31 a week. The employers of several playhouses declare that they can not afford to pay the increased wages.

HE GOT OUT QUICKLY.

In the crowded tramcar all eyes were turned on a man seated in a corner attired in a gorgeous fur-coat and talking pompously to the man next to him, a perfect stranger. He was apparently in very affluent circumstances, and wished people to take note of the fact. "Yes, sir," he said, loudly, "I was having a conversation after lunch the other day with the Prince of Wales, and..." "Ladies and gentlemen, show your tickets, please!" called out an inspector, who had just boarded the tramcar, and the fur-coated man tendered a piece of paste-board for the official's examination. The inspector scrutinized it carefully for a moment, and then, handing it back, observed: "I'm sorry, sir, but we don't go anywhere near there." "Near where?" inquired the owner of the gorgeous coat, lazily. "Near Smith's, the pawnbroker's," was the reply. "You've shown me the wrong ticket, sir!"

Spent Over $2,000 Seeking Health; Tanlac Has Restored Her

"The medicine and treatment I have taken during the past two years cost my husband over two thousand dollars, and I didn't get any benefit from it at all, but since taking a few bottles of Tanlac, I have gained twenty-six pounds, and am enjoying as good health as I ever did in my life," said Mrs. Addie Petherick, who lives at Ferryvale, Alberta, while in the Owl Drug Store in Edmonton the other day. "My entire system was in a badly run-down condition," continued Mrs. Petherick, "and when I commenced taking Tanlac I was almost a nervous wreck. I was so weak and worn out that I was not able to do my housework, and in fact, I was in such miserable health that I was hardly able to get about at all. I was so nervous that the least noise would upset me, and it seemed out of the question for me to have a good night's sleep. I suffered a great deal from headaches, too, and nearly every day I would have such bad dizzy spells that I could scarcely stand on my feet. I kept on going down hill until I only weighed ninety-two pounds, and as all the medicine and treatments had failed to do me any good, I had gotten very despondent over my condition. "Well, I commenced taking Tanlac then, and the way it has overcome my troubles and built me up is wonderful. Why, I never felt better in my life than I do now. I am not nervous now, and I sleep just like a baby every night. I don't have that tired, worn out feeling like I did, and those terrible headaches have left me altogether. I have regained all my lost weight, and am so strong and well that I can do all my housework without the least trouble. I believe Tanlac is the best medicine in the world, and I never lose an opportunity to speak a good word for it." Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas—Advt.

TAKING THEM UNAWARES.

A gentleman started out early one morning to shoot birds, but met with no success. He was returning home in the afternoon in despair, when he met a lad, and said to him: "I say, my boy, are there any birds in these parts? I've been round about here all day, and I haven't shot one." "Yes, there are plenty of birds," replied the boy; "but you can catch them alive, and that's a lot better than shooting them." "Oh!" said the gentleman; "and how do you catch them?" "Well," replied the lad, "you get a handful of hard peas, and put them on the ground. When the birds see them, they will fly down for them. Through the peas being hard, the birds will shut their eyes when they are cracking them in their mouths. You will then walk quietly behind them while they have their eyes shut. That's the time to catch them." His succeeded him. Bob succeeded too. The audience showered their hostile verdict at the stage in the form of such useful commodities as carrots, eggs, and onions. "They called for the author, but he did not appear. He stood shaking in the wings, watching the whizzing vegetables with fearful eyes. "Listen to them now!" he said, as a loud roar arose, intermingled with shrill whistling and cat calls. He turned to the manager, threw up his hands despairingly, and exclaimed: "You give them tragedy, and they want comedy. You give them comedy, and they want tragedy. It's hard to find out what they do want." "On the contrary, it's painfully easy," replied the manager. "They want their money back!"

FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY.

Five years ago to-day the British Empire buckled on its armor and accepted the Prussian challenge. At midnight on August 4, 1914, Great Britain's ultimatum to Germany expired.

Four years and a little over three months afterwards, with half the world in arms, Germany was finally awakened from her dream of world-dominion. Deserted by Bulgaria and Austria, the "sick man of Europe" a liability for many months previous, the ex-Kaiser's armies had ceased to goose-step; they were in retreat from the sand dunes of devastated Belgium to the frontier of Switzerland.

Thus, after four years, Germany stood humiliated by force of arms in the field, the barnacled hulls of her once proud ironclads skulking in the placid waters of Kiel and Wilhelmshaven, her domestic vitals inflamed by the forces of revolution, her colonies gone and not a merchant ship anywhere on the seven seas.

Whether Germany is finally admitted to the League of Nations or not depends upon her good behavior. The Peace Treaty, however, bears her signature and on June 28, in the identical room in which Bismarck tested the soul of France in 1871, Germany fully realized the extent of the folly she committed exactly five years ago to-day.

TIMELY RE-ORGANIZATION.

Perhaps no body in Canada to-day is more closely in touch with the public welfare than the Union of Canadian Municipalities. Its active interest for the advancement of local government in all its phases must have been patent to all those Victorians who attended the sessions of the Union held in this city a little more than a year ago.

Like many other public organizations, however, it labors under an important handicap: The few are responsible for initiative and the greater proportion of actual hard work. Moreover, it is virtually impossible for the Union to consolidate its efforts along any specific line for the simple reason that the present system governing the appointment of its executive personnel has no regard for automatic removal from aldermanic activity by means of the ballot box.

It will be remembered that the president chosen at the Victoria convention last year was defeated at the polls six months afterwards and in consequence he ceased to hold executive office in the Union. On this account whole-hearted support should be given to the proposal of the executive, to be submitted to the Kingston conference next week, which would provide for the establishment of a permanent executive and certain paid officers who would be required to devote their whole time to the business of the Union.

There should be very little difficulty in obtaining the unanimous approval of such a palpably essential arrangement. The public welfare of Canada demands a body united and aggressive and in direct touch with municipal life as apart from provincial and national relationships. For instance, the Union would do well to keep its weather eye upon such Federal legislation as seeks to encroach unduly upon municipal jurisdiction in matters affecting control over public service corporations operating under a Federal charter.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that the Kingston gathering will bring about the reorganization of the Union executive and the delegates from every Canadian municipality should find no difficulty in supporting it. It is a pity Victoria is not to be represented.

WHY THE FOREIGNERS?

According to a dispatch from St. Catharines, Ontario, work has been held up since Friday last on No. 3 section of the new Welland Canal and, in order that the property may be protected and navigation between the upper lakes, Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence safeguarded, armed guards with rifles and machine guns are on duty.

It is not clear just what kind of work the 300 men were doing, but the dispatch establishes the fact that they were not Canadians. This in itself is somewhat significant, particularly at a time when all Governments, federal and provincial, are being memorialized to institute vast programmes of public works in order that honest labor might be provided for returned and returning men. Why is it necessary to use 300 foreigners on construction work in the Thorold District of the Welland Canal? Surely there should be no difficulty in distributing the work between Canadians, former fighters, or Britishers who need employment to maintain their families.

OTTAWA AFTER LEATHER.

On Saturday last we drew attention to the fact that in a very short time the people of Canada and the United States would be called upon to pay considerably more for their boots and shoes because the Chicago packer ring had so decreed. Already the United States Senate Interstate Commerce Committee has commenced its inquiry into the premises as part and parcel of Washington's programme directed towards reducing living costs.

If the proper course is taken at once it should be possible for the Conference to determine how much, if any, of these products Canada can afford to export without danger of incurring a shortage at home. Foreign export trade developed in articles which are not surplus leads to one result—higher prices in Canada. If the prices of boots and shoes are to soar much higher, therefore, the people of this country will soon find themselves obliged to adopt the sabot for summer footwear. So, it is to be hoped that by combined action at Ottawa and across the line the unbridled monopolistic juggling with another of the necessities of the people will be scotched. Footwear prices are already out of all proportion to value and the suggestion of a further increase is preposterous.

ANOTHER VERSION.

Prince Henry of Prussia recently sent a communication to King George seeking his intervention on behalf of the ex-Kaiser with a view to preventing his extradition and trial. His Majesty's ex-Royal cousin promised at that time certain details that would render considerable assistance in placing responsibility for the war on guilty shoulders. Apparently King George did not fall over his feet in anxiety to reply to the former Prussian Prince, and Henry has now sought refuge in the columns of The Hamburger Nachrichten in a demand that Allied statesmen should be tried as well as his former ex-Royal master.

In addressing his observations to King George he charges England with having plotted Germany's commercial downfall, and he reaches the farcical limit when he asserts that it was solely the British Government which for years prepared the world war in order to eliminate Germany, as a troublesome competitor, from the world markets. Former Prince Henry Hohenzollern, like many other Prussian post-war commentators, appears to be able to chloroform all memory which would take him back further than the waning days of July five years ago. At that time, of course, there sprang into visible being a Prussian state of mind tuned to harmonize with a predestined programme then ready to be launched simultaneously from Berlin and Vienna.

But when such an authority on Prussian history as former Prince Henry bursts into print he should at least see that his writings are more in keeping with the position he held in the world of international affairs before civilization removed him and his relations "to other parts."

If the younger members of the gentler sex are forced to wear sabots on account of the high price of footwear, will they be inclined to copy the fashionable mode of the Dutch girl who counts her charms by the number of petticoats she can wear without disturbing the normal figure?

Those who study the prices asked by the United States Government for canned goods under the plan of disposal of about $125,000,000 worth of surplus army foodstuffs must feel tempted to cross the border, remain there while the sale is on and then come back and smile at the customs officers.

It must be highly interesting for returned soldiers who are looking for work to know that 300 foreigners left their jobs on the Welland Canal because of their failure to get more money and shorter hours. But the humor comes when it is remembered that a military watch is to be kept on the foreign idlers so that property will be safe and navigation safeguarded. And Canadians have to foot the bill!

FORCE OF ROUMANIANS ADVANCED AND IS IN CAPITAL OF HUNGARY.

Continued from page 1.) unimposing physically, but is said to have a peculiar power over men and an ability to stir them. The soldiers, it was said, obeyed him with a blind faith although many never saw him. Several times the Associated Press correspondent here was able to pass military lines with Kun's signature scribbled in lead pencil on a piece of unstamped paper, when other passports were not accepted.

Budapest, Aug. 2.—Via London, Aug. 4.—(Associated Press)—Roumanian cavalry patrols are advancing toward this city from the direction of Godollo, fifteen miles northeast of here. The whole population is reported to be in flight in that vicinity. There is a spirit of panic in Budapest over the prospect that the city may be occupied by those who are termed "hated enemies."

The Roumanians, according to Hungarian authorities, are defying the Allies' instructions to cease their advance as retaliation for the Hungarian occupation of Bucharest three years ago.

A dispatch sent from Paris yesterday said the Supreme Inter-Allied Council has sent a message on Saturday to the Roumanian Government requesting that the Roumanian army along the Theiss River cease its advance. The dispatch added that the Council had held no formal meeting yesterday, but its members were eagerly awaiting further communication from the new Hungarian Government at Budapest.

Another dispatch reported that the commander of the Italian military mission at Budapest had sent a wireless message to Premier Clemenceau, stating that the Hungarian Government had asked an armistice on the basis of the recent proposals of the Allies. The Hungarian Government also had asked that a provisional line be fixed along the Theiss River.

EMPIRE STRONGEST PILLAR OF LEAGUE

Continued from page 1.) often been costly and grossly exploited by powers that possessed them or that the British had not in some cases exploited their dependencies in the past, but he did say most emphatically that the present policy of the British Government was directed in a vigorous manner to prevent such abuses.

It was the duty of the British to the inhabitants of these countries to make better use of the natural resources, often immense and almost completely neglected. In the process they would inevitably enrich themselves, but if the material advantage derived from their trusteeship was unquestionable, was there not also the moral side? He was proud to think that, as a general rule, men of the British race who had been entrusted with power over dependent races had used it well, and had striven to raise the people entrusted to their charge. The nation as a whole had gained much from their experience and their example.

A NEW EYEGLASS.

"What are you studying now?" asked Mrs. Johnson. "We have taken up the subject of spectacles," answered her husband. "I hope you will be very attentive and practise constantly," said the mother. "I tried to get your father to wear one, but he could not keep it in his eye."

BLOODY PERIOD IN EUROPE PREDICTED

Continued from page 1.) His address followed the report of a committee which said it could not accept the charter given labor in the peace treaty as a full expression of the workers' demands.

Mr. Gompers declared that he always had worked for improvement of conditions and demanded that labor should not be regarded as an article of commerce. He urged also that a seamen's act be enacted to permit sailors to leave ships when they were safely in harbor. He pleaded for the equality of women and men and the abolition of involuntary services.

Germany's Ideas. German delegates disputed Mr. Gompers' argument, which they said made it appear that the European labor unions were too conservative. They demanded that the workers strive for a realization of the unborn Conference's programme, including the regulation of children's education, women labor, shorter hours, Sunday rest and the supervision of home industries. This position was supported by Leon Jouhaux, a French delegate, who declared the workers' task should be to complete labor's charter as set forth in the peace treaty.

Berne, Aug. 3.—Via London, Aug. 4.—The Swiss Party issue a manifesto to-day endorsing the demands of the Basel and Zurich strikers. The manifesto demands among other things, confiscation of all stocks of foodstuffs, clothing and shoes, and introduction of a state monopoly of imports and exports so as to control profits and prevent speculation.

It was announced at a meeting of the Federal Council here, yesterday that the strike movement was stationary at Basel and decreasing at Zurich.

FIUME QUESTION NOT SETTLED AS YET

Rome, Aug. 4.—The report that the Inter-Allied Military Commission arrived at a decision hostile to Italy was denied to-day by The Popolo Romano. On the Fiume question, the newspaper said, the Commission had not yet finished its work and its conclusions will be presented to the Supreme Allied Council at Paris for a definite decision.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, August 2, 1894. The salmon run on the Fraser has commenced in earnest. Consul Meyer's annual report shows very little difference in the business done by Vancouver Island merchants with the United States during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, compared with that of the previous year. The total exports to the United States represented $2,519,040.58. H. M. S. Hyacinth was out for a trial run yesterday, but if all reports are true it was not much of a success.

TROOPS USE BAYONETS TO CLEAR LIVERPOOL STREETS

Continued from page 1.) of the total force of 225 policemen went on strike in Birkenhead, where feeling is running high. There was looting of shops with damage estimated at many thousands of pounds. The situation was rendered serious by looters who attacked the saloons and became intoxicated. The Riot Act had to be read and troops summoned to restore order. Many of the rioters were arrested. The authorities were obliged to recall the special constables to duty.

Stores Looted. At Liverpool several shops suffered in the great Homer Street area, but the outbreak was quickly quelled on the arrival of plain clothes men. There was more serious havoc wrought in the London Road, where gangs of youthful hoodlums smashed windows of jewelry, boot, tailor and mantle shops and stripped the windows of their contents, throwing the goods to the sidewalks. Troops formed a cordon at the entrance to the street and eventually charged, but the hoodlums slipped into the side streets and later returned, smashing more windows.

Railwaymen. The Railway Clerks' Association, particularly in the north of England, is threatening to cease work as a protest against the delay in consideration of the men's demands for better all-round conditions as regards pay, hours and holidays.

The last awful moment had come. For full twenty hours they would not meet again. They stood at the open street door. "Light of my life," she murmured, as she clung to him passionately. "Light—" "Angela!" came a gruff voice from above. "It's you put the light out. Remember it's still rationed."

A NAVAL PAGEANT ON THE THAMES

Fifth Anniversary of Mobilization of British Fleet Commemorated

London, Aug. 4.—The important role played by the British sea services during the great war was commemorated to-day by a naval pageant on the Thames, the day marking the fifth anniversary of the historic mobilization of the British fleet. The days when the Thames was the "King's highway" and when the people of London used boats just as their descendants of to-day use taxicabs were recalled by the appearance of King George's royal barge, which was built more than 200 years ago for Queen Mary and King William. It is richly ornamented with crimson and gold.

Paris Cited. Paris, Aug. 4.—Premier Clemenceau has cited the city of Paris in army orders as follows: "The city of Paris, a capital magnificently worthy of France, animated by patriotic faith which never faltered, bore with firm and smiling courage frequent bombardments by aircraft and long-range guns from 1914 to 1918 and has added deathless chapters to her secular glory."

Johnnie—"Pa, am I made of dust?" Pa—"That's what they say." Johnnie—"Are you made of dust, too?" Pa—"Well, your mother and sister seem to think so—and of gold dust at that."

A BEDTIME STORY

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BIG BAG

When Uncle Wiggily Longears hopped into his hollow stump bungalow one day, after having been out in the woods looking for sassafras roots, he saw a little letter on the table. The postman must have been here while I was out, said the bunny gentleman to himself, as he looked through his red, white and blue spectacles. Oh, no! Just a moment if you please! I mean he twinkled his pink nose and read the letter. "Why, it's from Nurse Jane, my nice Miss Fussy, Wuzzy muskrat, lady housekeeper!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "Why did she write me a letter? Perhaps she is going to leave me, and was afraid to tell me so to my face!" Uncle Wiggily was very much surprised, but he read the letter, and then a smile came over his jolly nose. "It's all right," he said, sort of speaking to the empty room. "Nurse Jane had to go over to see Mrs. Bushytail, the squirrel lady, and this note just tells me that, and also says: "Dear Uncle Wiggily—Will you please hop over to the coop of Mrs. Cluck Cluck, the hen lady, and get a large bag she has ready for me? "Yours truly, "NURSE JANE."

EMPIRE CONSOLIDATION

Writer in United Empire Points to Some Problems of British Emigration

"The work to be done in the overseas dominions by the trained and selected women emigrant in conjunction with the native born is a work that calls for all the patriotic devotion of the race. The sick to tend, the young to educate, the little corner of the wilderness to be made to blossom like the rose. It is a task that demands all the zeal British women can bring to the doing; that done wrongly may work an infinity of mischief, done rightly will serve to strengthen the bonds of Empire and link our most distant populations with those of the Motherland. For the day has gone when emigration meant lifelong banishment, a living bereavement. It means but a widening of individual spheres a knitting up of interest near and afar," says D. H. Monray Read in the July issue of United Empire, the organ of the Royal Colonial Institute, in considering the emigration of women to the overseas dominions.

Sex Distribution. He says in part: "As it is realized that competition in the labor market becomes daily greater, that the number of trained, or partially trained women will have increasing difficulty to obtain highly paid work, it is natural enough that they should be turning their eyes to a wider field than appears to be available in the curtailed spaces of the home country, and wish to seek in the Dominions opportunities deemed more favorable than can be expected locally. It had come to be an accepted axiom that the male population of our overseas Empire was greatly in excess of the female, that the colonies, in short, represented a matrimonial lucky-bag in which there were few blanks and plenty of prizes. History largely gave color to this notion. But the world does not stand still. Girls are born in those new lands, and their own daughters came to be metes for their own sons. Even before the war it was officially considered that in Australia the excess of men was doubtful—in Melbourne the excess of women was actually higher than in London—and a redistribution of our overseas Empire population would have adjusted the balance better than the encouragement of further female immigration, which served mainly to swell the preponderance of women in the towns. The balance of numbers has since been considerably affected. Every part of the Empire sent sons who fought and fell on the battlefields alongside their kinsmen from the Motherland. Every part has its own immediate problems of reconstruction to face; to readjust in civil life both men and women who have borne their part in the great struggle. Not all this has been accomplished can any influx of newcomers be justified. The point is officially recognized, and though Government assistance is promised to those desirous to settle overseas it is not to be granted immediately, or without restriction. The overseas troops go first, next come the claim of demobilized men from the home country and lastly the women. In each case, however, the men concerned are promised facilities for their dependent womenfolk, and these, quite apart from any independent women emigrants, represent a large increase in the female population of the colonies.

Would Emigrate Widows. "Early in the war an attempt was made by Australia to solve one of the many problems that arise through the tragedy of such a conflict. It was suggested that widows whose families should be offered free passages to the Commonwealth. The scheme, for some reason, fell in abeyance. The widows may not have shown any eagerness to avail themselves of the chance to start a new life amid new scenes and people. The question of transport no doubt presented many insurmountable difficulties. But while the authorities hesitated, or awaited that more convenient season beloved by the official mind the men solved some of the problems by marrying over here. The blind god has ever claimed a toll of victims in wartime. In answer to inquiries made in March it was officially asserted that 746 members of the South African Overseas Expeditionary Force had married girls in England; approximately 2,000 New Zealanders, and from 7,000 to 8,000 women will proceed to Australia in consequence of their marriages to Australian soldiers in this country. The Canadians were reported to be marrying at the rate of 1,200 a month.

Domestic Service. "This demand will not be lessened by the arrival of the war brides. Less accustomed than their colonial sisters to the work they will have to undertake, they will, wherever conditions permit, desire and seek to obtain domestic aid; and it will only be natural for them to wish to bring over their friends and relatives to be their guests or assistants, or to fill posts in their vicinity. But the demand for the domestic servant is common to this country also, and whilst it is recognized that colonial life offers greater attractions in many ways, and at least nominally higher wages, the reverse of the picture must not be overlooked. If conditions of service appear more inviting the work is harder, there is less mercy for the incompetent and there is no room for the shirker. Nor should it be forgotten that the inevitable result of the laws of supply and demand must be that if no British-born girls will enter domestic service at home their places will sooner or later be filled by girls of alien birth, and it is to the immigrant alien that the bulk of overcrowding—and consequent underpaying—in Great Britain has been due.

All Round Efficiency. "There is a great opening for women teachers in the west of Canada, for example, but before a girl can take up her work there she needs a course of instruction at a Canadian training centre to learn Canadian methods. Probably the career of greatest usefulness, and with the widest openings for women to-day, is that of a nurse. Nurses, above all nurses trained in midwifery, are required almost everywhere in the new lands, especially in the vast spaces of Canada's Far West. But these nurses must be women who are qualified to tackle any emergency that may arise, not only whatever their nursing work entails, but all the demands that beset the one capable woman in a lonely shack out on the prairie; who can and shall not only nurse the patient, but do her work in addition, that is to say be a housemaid, cook and dairymaid, who

On Saturday noon, at "Breadalbane," the minister's residence for the Rev. Dr. Campbell celebrated the marriage of Roy Wood and Miss Mabel Margaret Davis, both of Port Angeles, Wash., U. S. A. They were unattended. After a honey-moon in Victoria Mr. and Mrs. Wood will make their home in Port Angeles.

Lieut. W. E. McIntyre, who has been serving with the 4th Battalion, returned on Saturday morning from overseas service and with Mrs. J. O. Dunford, 1845 Fern Street. Mrs. McIntyre went to Winnipeg two weeks ago to meet her husband, and they have been spending the interim on the prairies.

On Saturday afternoon the Rev. Dr. Campbell, at "Breadalbane," 1115 Fort Street, officiated at the marriage of John Robertson Macintyre and Miss Mary Sommerville, both of Victoria. Hugh Macintyre, the bridegroom's brother, and Miss Helen A. Keen were in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Macintyre will make their home in this city, where they have many friends.

Mrs. W. S. Goodwin, of Rochester, formerly of Victoria, announces the engagement of her daughter, Winnifred Emille, to Capt. Arthur Charles Fletcher, M. C. Crozier, of the 4th Battalion, returned on Saturday morning from overseas service and with Mrs. J. O. Dunford, 1845 Fern Street. Mrs. McIntyre went to Winnipeg two weeks ago to meet her husband, and they have been spending the interim on the prairies.

Col. R. Ross Napier, Chief Assistant Provost-Marshal of Canada, is in the city in the course of a tour of inspection. He is a guest at the Empress Hotel while in the city. Colonel Napier is a Vancouver man, and left in 1914 as captain in charge of the Corps of Guides. He was wounded at the fighting around Hill 63 in 1916, and again when returning to the trenches after Vimy. In the latter engagement Colonel Napier was hit in the arm and put finally out of action.

LONDON CLUB FOR DOMESTICS OPENED

Signs of the times are evident in the announcement made in the London press of a club for domestic servants, which has been started in a London suburb. The "Highgate 1919 Club" has opened at Highgate as a social centre for domestic servants, and it is said it is but the first of many to be formed within the next few months. Residents may become associates by paying the annual subscription of half-a-guinea ($2.50), and are thus entitled to nominate one member for a year. The membership numbered ninety before the club was opened.

If the heat tends to loosen and wrinkle your skin, there's an effective and harmless remedy you can readily make at home. Just let an ounce of pure powdered axolite dissolve in a half-pint of witch hazel and bathe your face in the liquid. This at once tightens the skin and smooths out the lines, making the cuticle and underlying tissues much firmer. The ingredients of course can be obtained from any druggist. The axolite lotion is splendid for baby cheeks or chin, as well as for sun-burned noses. It makes a tired, wilted face more refreshed and youthful looking.

'J'ACCUSE' AUTHOR HITS NEW GERMANY

Charges Its Government and Peace Delegation With Knowing and Concealing Guilt

FALSE ALLEGATIONS STILL BEING MADE IN GERMANY

In an article headed "The Question of Guilt at Versailles," Dr. Richard Grelling author of the famous brochure "J'accuse," in which the guilt for the world war was laid at the door of the German Government early in the European conflict, returns to an analysis of this question in bitter disappointment because the revolutionary German Government has still failed to consider it frankly and to draw the proper conclusions from it. The article, which appeared in the Freie Zeitung of Berne of June 11, a copy of which has just been received here, derives added interest from the fact that immediately after the armistice Dr. Grelling hurried back to Germany to take part in the purging and reconstructive processes of the revolutionary Government and to cooperate with the socialist Karl Kautsky in examining the secret German archives, with a view to publishing these to the world in the effort to bring to light the true origin of the war. This effort of Kautsky, however, was soon nipped in the bud by the Ebert-Scheidemann regime, which characterized such a publication as for the time being inexpedient. In his article Dr. Grelling says: "Truly there is no help for the unfortunate German people. All addresses and sermons since the beginning of the decline and the overthrow of the crowned criminals, all ardent injunctions and warnings on the part of true lovers of their fatherland, have been merely so many words spoken into the wind, fallen on deaf ears and hardened hearts; also all attempts to say to them: 'Confess your guilt in the war; freely take upon yourselves all the burdens that have been put upon your opponents through the misdeeds of your former rulers. Free your conscience, purify the morale of your people.'"

"The very make-up of the first revolutionary Government, with Ebert, Scheidemann, and Landberg as People's Commissioners in the empire; Sudekum and Hansch in Prussia, and a David, most stubborn champion of the 'war of defense' theory, especially in the Foreign Office, seemed to destroy all hope of an inner change in the German mentality, a voluntary confession, and honest repentance."

"With the departure of the Independents from the Government offices, these hopes were further and completely swept away. Thereafter there remained in the leading stations only compromised accessories after the fact, and the lamp-followers of the Hohenzollern war of booty, voters of its credits, half and full annexationists, and men without exception who were defenders of the 'war of defense'; Majority Socialists in trusty union with Centrum folk and so-called Democrats who in reality had merely drawn themselves closely together into a party with the most wabbling figures under the National Liberal flag and who had thereby dissolved what little backbone they still had into a mollusc of softness."

Brookdorff-Rantzau of Old Regime. "After our advice and warnings of months had proved futile, we tried a last attack against this official blindness on the occasion of the selection of the peace delegation. We succeeded, through the register of the names of sinners of the Davids, Erzbergers and Scheidemanns, to keep at least these least fitted representatives of an allegedly renovated Germany away from the peace delegation. Landberg, Giesberts and Lelgert took their places. The latter two were compromised not exactly personally, but through their party membership; the first, on the other hand, known unfavorably to all the world as the leader of the most nationalistic trend in the Majority Socialist Party. Count Brookdorff-Rantzau, by birth and sentiment representative of the old regime, by sudden confession a November Democrat and revolutionist, was and remains the head of the German peace delegation."

"With the tongues of the angels we spoke and warned: 'Send uncompromised men to the peace negotiations, men who from the very first instant opposed the Hohenzollerns and their criminal war, men who have fought and suffered for their convictions. If, indeed, anything at all can be saved from the German shipwreck, it is only such men who will be able to pilot the fragile German bark after a fashion safely into the harbor of peace.' All in vain."

"With assiduous care all pacifist and socialist opponents of the war were kept far from the German peace delegation as they had been from the republican Government. As an 'advising' bailiff there was nominated for the peace delegation Herr Dr. Schuckling, who—like other German pacifists such as Guille and his consorts—had not exactly drunk deep draughts from the horn of the 'defensive war,' but who on the other hand had taken good care not to admit in frank words the guilt of the Hohenzollern Government in the outbreak and the prolongation of the war. Apparently to counter-balance the nomination of David as Under Secretary of the Foreign Office, there was delegated to Karl Kautsky the arrangement and publication of the diplomatic documents concerning the events before the war. But when the publication was ready for printing, the request of Kautsky was refused as inexpedient at the time, and the publication of the document was postponed to the Greek Calends.

Demand For Revolutionary Court.

"Ever more urgently and ever again since the beginning of the revolution have we German opponents of the war demanded the establishment of a German Revolutionary Tribunal for the condemnation of all those guilty in the war, from the Kaiser down to the last press lackey. And what has come of it? That farce of a Court of States, which, in addition to the five Presidents of the court taken from the old bourgeoisie, designates ten pacifists as judges, elected by the National Assembly and the committee of the States; that is to say, goats who have been invested with the functions of the gardener who was to guard against the depredations. That farce of a Court of States which has no jurisdiction to call the crowned heads chiefly guilty before its tribunal, and which can impose as maximum penalty permanent disability to occupy public office and the deprivation of the passive right to vote."

"Everywhere facade without real content, everywhere sand strewn into the eyes of the unhappy German people, whom they have cheated through the four years of war, and think they can continue to cheat for countless years of peace."

"The conventional lie about the 'war of defense' is, just as before, and as if we had not lived through an overthrow of the war criminals, a revolution, a birth of a German republic. The conventional lie, I say purposely, for I assert, as I asserted in my books and writings during all the years of the war, that no one among the leading German military men, diplomats, politicians and journalists war has had the slightest concern concerning the fact that Kaiser Wilhelm and his folk consciously and purposely brought on the European war; that the ill-fated Austria-Hungary and the Serbian conflict was the trigger gun and excuse for bringing on the war, and that knowingly, out of a long prepared and easily demonstrable plan, the Hohenzollern conquest presented the German people as a war of defense. I have published the proofs of this in printed pages in thousands of hand-written copies so I cannot be accused of merely anecdotal material, as it is called, which could be quoted in great volume, but have published and officially furnished testimony and original evidence."

"Not one of the men now serving as a representative of the New Germany at Versailles is ignorant concerning the true origin of this war, ignorant of the exclusive guilt of the Hohenzollerns and their accomplices, the heavy accessory if guilt of the former wielders of power in Vienna and Budapest. And, in spite of all this, every one of them denies—after explicit or tacit agreement—that the past of the German State had the sole or even the chief responsibility for the war. It is hard to understand under such circumstances why the Davids, Scheidemanns, and Erzbergers, kept out of the German peace delegation. Worse than Count Brookdorff-Rantzau and Landberg, even Scheidemann and David could not have wrought in Versailles."

Brookdorff's Evolution on Guilt.

"It is interesting to follow the evolution that Count Brookdorff has gone through in the few weeks of the Versailles negotiations with respect to the question of responsibility. In his speech of acceptance before the National Assembly on February 14 he characterized the attitude taken by Germany at the Hague Peace Conference toward both the fundamental questions of international arbitration and limitation of armaments as a 'historic culpability for which our entire people must now make expiation.' But he added that this confession of sin should in no way contain also a confession that Germany alone was responsible for the world war. In his first speech at Versailles, on May 7, before the European Aegaeopans, he brought out the confession of responsibility from the peace negotiations in a very weakened form, but emphasized on the other hand that the German people had been 'convinced' that it was waging a defensive war, and that the acceptance of sole responsibility for the war would be a lie in his mouth. As to the decisive factor that caused the war, the leaders of the German peace delegation dared to utter this statement: 'The Russian mobilization deprived the statement of the possibility of hearing and gave the decision into the hands of the military powers.'"

"This motivation, apparently, suffices even to-day for the modest needs of the German people for enlightenment concerning the origin of the war! All the proofs, running into many volumes, that the Russian mobilization was no aggressive act, but an act of safeguarding, that the Czar and the Foreign Minister had agreed to all proposals for an understanding, no matter from which side they came, that they themselves had proposed—but unfortunately in vain—all possible suggestions for a settlement, (in the first place the placing of the dispute before The Hague Tribunal) and that until the last moment they gave the sacred assurance that they for their part wished to declare no war and to undertake no aggression—all these palpably uncontroversial documentary proofs of the Russian innocence of the war simply do not exist for the German Minister of Foreign Affairs."

The Lie of Russian Mobilization.

"Has the German Minister of Foreign Affairs never had a dawning suspicion that the Russian order for general mobilization of July 31 was not the cause of the conflict, but only the result of the diplomatic and military events that had taken place since July 23? Did not, in addition to Russia, Serbia also in its answering note of July 25 propose the settlement by The Hague Conference, or by a conference of the great powers of the few points to which it had not given its assent in the Austrian ultimatum? Did not Russia as well as the other Entente powers and Italy from the very first moment give its consent to the proposal of the London Conference of Ministers? The same conference which Germany and Austria, coldly smiling, declined? Did not Sazonov declare himself ready as a parallel action with the conference of Ministers to enter into direct negotiations with Austria—negotiations which Count Bethelold on July 23 declined in harshest manner? Did not the Russian Foreign Minister on the night of July 29 to 30—that is, immediately after the Czar's proposal as to The Hague Tribunal—dictate to Count Pourtales a formula of agreement that demanded nothing other than the elimination of the ultimatum which that infringed on the sovereignty of Serbia, and agreed as a reciprocal concession on the part of Russia to cease all further military preparations? And what became of this proposal of agreement that was transmitted to Berlin more than twenty-four hours before the Russian order for general mobilization and was even recommended by Count Pourtales? Herr von Jagow declined the proposal as 'inacceptable pour l'Autriche'—without further inquiry at Vienna. (Orange Book No. 50, 51.)

"But what is particularly grave, not only as showing the guilt, but also as showing the consciousness of guilt on the part of the German Government, is this: That Sazonov's proposal for an agreement—one of the cardinal points in the entire discussion of responsibility—is mentioned neither in the White Book nor in the Red Book, and without further inquiry at Vienna, recently in Jagow's untenable writing of defense—reproduced only in forged or mutilated form."

What Hope in Deception Now?

"..... Whom does the leader of the German peace delegation expect to convince to deceive with such a manipulation of history as he dares attempt before the whole world? Does he think that thereby he is doing a service to the German people—or the German cause—as he has done in the past? Are the victors' opponents are concerned? He could do nothing more mistaken than to try to assail the question of responsibility before the Versailles gathering, which is fully as familiar with it as he himself, and then even to attempt in this miserable fashion to ascribe the outbreak of the war to the Russian mobilization rather than to the German will for war."

"But this deeply mistaken presentation of history is not the end of the Brookdorff attempts at defense. In his letter of May 13 to Clemenceau, Count Brookdorff emphasizes anew that this year was ever a war of defense in the consciousness of the German people; but now adds as a variant and crescendo of his former exculpation and sentence: 'They, (the German delegates), are unable to ascribe to the former German Government the sole or chief blame for the war.... No proofs are adduced for this.' Here we see not merely a lance broken for the German people, but a direct campaign of defense undertaken for the advantage of the criminal regime that has plunged Germany into this unprecedented calamity. Not even the Kaiser, his generals, his diplomats, and Pan German chorus leaders are to bear the blame for the war. The 'Russian attack,' which is then again in the note of May 23 represented as the real cause of the war, is to unburden Germany's wielders of power of all blame. Wherewith Count Brookdorff-Rantzau has almost reached the standpoint of another Count namely Count Rantewilow, who, in an article of May 5, rightly recognizes the bearing of the question of the peace terms, but who skillfully and piously maintains the thesis that a German peace of force would have been justified, because it would have been supported by 'the known and grievous guilt of the hostile European coalition in the war,' but that for the same reason a peace of force dictated by the opposing side on the other hand would have been damnable as against an innocent Germany!"

Allies Justly Suspicious.

"This is the way the German representation at the peace negotiations sizes up. And then we complain because our opponents are unwilling still to give confidence to the new Germany, that they wish to surround the future of the world with a wall of guarantees against a Germany that has been neither repentant nor inwardly changed. The peace conditions are hard, in many points extraordinarily hard, and I am the last person who would wish to make himself a defender of this peace structure. But a part of this harshness, at least, is without doubt to be attributed to the fact that the German people has had neither the insight nor the strength to shake off, from the first moment of the revolution all that was linked up with the old regime and guilty or accessory to the guilt of the monstrous crime of looting this war—to shake all that resolutely from its skirts and to show itself to the world a new spirit as well as a new dress."

AN UNSINKABLE SHIP.

For many years, and particularly during the war, much time has been spent in producing an unsinkable ship. Now a vessel has been designed on the North-East Coast which, it is claimed, has this attribute.

The idea is simple, but very ingenious, and consists of the bridge which will be larger than usual being hollow and airtight. Its normal position will be close down to the decks, to which it will be attached by an apparatus which will permit of its being raised to a certain height above the deck.

Should the ship be so damaged that the hull will sink, the bridge will be elevated to the full extent allowed by the deck attachment, and when the hull sinks the bridge not only remains afloat, but will carry the submerged shell. On the bridge accommodation is provided for those on board.

Shipowners who have examined the design consider the idea justifies the claims made in regard to it, and with a view to testing its practicability arrangements are being made for the building of a ship in accordance with the plan.—Tit-Bits.

RURAL SCHOOL AND ITS DEVELOPMENT

Professor J. B. Arp Offers Some Views; To Address Summer School

"Make the schools fit democracy," should be the slogan of modern education, according to Professor Julius B. Arp, of Minneapolis, late County Superintendent of Education in Jackson County, Minnesota. Mr. Arp began this afternoon lectures at the Summer School.

Mr. Arp has specialized in the rural school consolidation plan, and declares it will be greatly followed in this province shortly. "It is essential," he said, "to provide for the improvement in education in the rural communities, because that lack has driven so many parents to the urban centres. There is also the factor that the unrest in the world is increasing, and teachers must be encouraged to give young people better training. In the United States this is appreciated, and I notice it is more and more welcomed in Canada as leading to a better understanding, and to the moulding of a better type of man and woman in the future."

Mr. Arp told The Times yesterday something of the great grant offered by the United States federal government to the States towards education, on a dollar for dollar basis, and said it would result in a tremendous impetus to education across the line. The principle was already in vogue in Canada in the per capita grant by the Dominion Government for agricultural education.

A Splendid Spirit.

"I have found," said Mr. Arp, who has just conducted courses at the Summer Schools in Saskatoon for the Saskatchewan Government and Edmonton for the Alberta Government, "that there is a very splendid spirit in this country, though in some respects a little backwardness is shown. The teachers' salaries, I find, are better than those obtaining in many states; the average runs higher, particularly payments in the rural schools."

"Conditions in Southern Alberta and parts of Saskatchewan," Mr. Arp continued, "have been very serious from a production standpoint, and will be again this year, so that the trustees are having to borrow to keep their schools running, and this leaves its influence on educational efficiency."

Mr. Arp spoke this afternoon on "The Rural School, Present and Future." His subjects for the remainder of the week are:

Tuesday—The School in Action.

Wednesday—Community Leadership.

Thursday—Being a Teacher.

Friday—Home, School and Country.

The professor came west from Huron College, South Dakota, and on completing this engagement will fall one at the Dakota Wesleyan University.

OF GREAT BENEFIT TO NATION'S FUTURE

Inspector S. E. Lang, of Manitoba, Speaks on Coming Winnipeg Congress

Great interest is aroused in Winnipeg in the forthcoming educational congress, from which much benefit to national education is expected, according to Sidney E. Lang, Inspector of High Schools for Manitoba, who was at the Dominion Hotel last week during a visit to Victoria.

Mr. Lang, who is a master of arts of Cornell University, has been identified for many years with educational affairs in Manitoba. He says the congress, which will be held this fall, is assured not only of gathering learned men from all parts of the country, but of practical good in the direction of reforming the present educational policy of Canada.

High School Progress.

The progress industrially of Western Canada has called for higher education, and Mr. Lang points out that the Manitoban high schools are endeavoring to keep abreast of the demand. There has been a steady improvement in the standard of educational instruction, in equipment, and in the calibre of the staff employed. He is greatly impressed with the fine buildings and equipment provided in the high schools of British Columbia, which compare favorably with any of the Dominion, in his opinion.

Young Returned Men.

For returned soldiers, whose occupational training has been interrupted, the Federal authorities are taking steps to provide, while Mr. Lang points out that the educational authorities of Manitoba are endeavoring to provide for the young men whose education was interrupted by war service. The matriculation is being adapted to the special circumstances, and many young men are now qualifying whose whole attitude to life has been changed by contact with hard facts overseas. These boys, it was recognized, could not be placed in the high schools again, and special arrangements had to be made to provide for them.

Text Book Reform.

Mr. Lang referred appreciatively to the effort being made to save expense, and secure uniformity by the use of uniform school text books in the four western provinces, and expressed his confidence that the results would be beneficial.

Modernizing Education.

The visitor dealt with the effort to supplant the tendency to too much study of dead languages in the schools, and said that the matriculation subjects for Manitoba had been revised to encourage modern languages, as of more practical usefulness in a new country. Students are being advised to give more attention to science.

He left for the Okanagan on Saturday, where he will stay before proceeding to Winnipeg.

marked that in June, 1886, Prince Luitpold was appointed Regent. A week later the King committed suicide in Starnberg Lake, and his body physician, Dr. Gludden, was drowned in a vain attempt to save the life of his royal charge.

Ludwig's brother Otto then became King of Bavaria. He, too, was afflicted with the family curse, and within a few weeks of his accession had to resign his functions into the hands of Prince Luitpold, who became Regent. He in his turn was succeeded by his son Ludwig, who eventually became King, and is the man on whom the curse of the Wittelsbachs has now apparently fallen. WILL BRING MORE PLAYERS FOR NEXT TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Visitors Delighted With Provincial Games in Victoria

FINAL GAMES ON WILLOWS COURTS

The British Columbia championships have been held under the auspices of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club since their inception in 1889, and on no former occasion has there been greater enthusiasm, larger attendance, keener competition. The attendance on Saturday afternoon was unexpectedly large, although everything pointed to a record crowd, as the attendance from the first day was very gratifying; notwithstanding, the committee met the emergency with praiseworthy efforts.

Capable Entertaining.—Mrs. T. H. Leeming, vice-president of the club, and head of the committee in charge of the tea, etc., directed affairs with splendid management and great success, everyone present being quietly and efficiently looked after. The courts were in very good condition with the exception of No. 3 (single court), which had become a little rough on account of the excessive amount of play during the week. With this exception, the groundsmen of the club and the committee in charge are to be congratulated on the playing surface.

Best New York Courts.—Mr. Wabrauchef, who has played on the grass courts at Forest Hill, New York, states that the Victoria courts are far superior to the New York courts. Not a hitch of any kind occurred to mar the proceedings, every arrangement was made, showing the forethought and judgment of the committee, and it is safe to say that on no previous occasion did things run more smoothly. The visiting players expressed their pleasure at the manner in which the tournament had been conducted and the courtesy shown them in every possible way by the committee and members of the club generally, as well as having entertainment provided for them in the evening last Thursday evening in the Observatory, first morning through the Uplands, Gordon Head and Cedar Hill districts, and the fannel dance at the Alexandra Club last evening.

Couldn't Keep Them Away.—As an evidence of the visitors' appreciation of the hospitality of the club and its officers, when asked if they would be coming again next year, replied: "You couldn't keep us away from Victoria with a regiment of soldiers. We're coming next year and bringing more with us."

A General Favorite.—Play started at 10.30 a.m. Mercer, of Vancouver, disposing of Verley, of Winnipeg, by a score of 6-1, 6-1, the latter being clearly off his game. Mr. Verley's visit to Victoria has made him a great favorite with tennis enthusiasts, not only for his excellent playing, but for his urbane and courteousness on and off the court. Mr. Wabrauchef, of Seattle, a young player, also has made himself a favorite with tennis players here by his splendid tennis, genial manner and sportsmanlike conduct. Mr. Wabrauchef won from Lewis, of New Westminster, by the score of 6-1, 6-1. Two mixed doubles matches were played in the morning, the first between Miss Pitts and McCallum and Mrs. Rickaby and Peers being a hard and well contested match, long rallies and hard hitting being the order throughout, and won by Miss Pitts and McCallum. After a short rest, Miss Pitts and McCallum played Miss Henderson and Mercer, the match proving the most interesting of the entire tournament. For some reason known only to himself, Mercer played like a novice, letting his partner down in a very marked manner. Miss Pitts and McCallum winning in two sets, 6-0, 6-1.

The Best Match.—In the afternoon the best match of the tournament in singles events was played between Wabrauchef and Hudson, the former winning 6-3, 6-4. It was not an easy thing for the winners at any stage of the match, and Hudson is to be congratulated on the fight he put up, having had less than three weeks' practice since his return from overseas, serving in France and Italy in the Royal Flying Corps. Miss Lawson again demonstrated her superiority over Mrs. Cushing, of Berkeley, California, by defeating her in three sets by almost the same score as she defeated her the previous week in Vancouver.

Victoria Ladies Won.—In the ladies' doubles, Miss Lawson and Miss Idiens, both of Victoria, defeated Miss Maymo Macdonald, of Seattle, and Mrs. Cushing, in two sets, the first set rather easily, but in the second set the American ladies were leading 2-2.

but the Victoria ladies have a habit of never giving up till the last stroke is played and the game won or lost, with the result that they eventually won the set and match.

In the veterans' singles a new champion has appeared, Major Taylor having disposed of J. J. Brown, one of the ex-champions, on Friday night proceeded to dispose of W. H. Bone in two straight sets, 6-1, 6-2. Major Taylor plays a good all round game, being more active than either Mr. Bone or Mr. Brown, and used a chop cut stroke which neither of these gentlemen could handle.

Splendid Volleying.—The mixed doubles was won rather easily by Mrs. Sweeney and Mr. Verley from Miss Pitts and Mr. McCallum. Mrs. Sweeney's extraordinary steadiness, coupled with the splendid volleying at the net by Mr. Verley, overcoming all the terrific onslaughts of Mr. McCallum, who was somewhat erratic in this match, his play at the net not being up to the usual Miss Pitts, whose play throughout the tournament was a great treat to watch, the splendid smashing and driving of the Americans being particularly good. The lobbing and placing of the Vancouver men, however, broke up their game.

The men's doubles (five set match) which was expected to be the great match of the tournament, resulted in a win for the Vancouver men—Milne and Mercer, in three straight sets, from Wabrauchef and Shannon, of Seattle, the score being 6-5, 6-4, 6-3. Notwithstanding the playing was a great treat to watch, the splendid smashing and driving of the Americans being particularly good. The lobbing and placing of the Vancouver men, however, broke up their game.

Men's Singles.—In the men's singles (five set match), Milne defeated his doubles partner, Mercer, in three straight sets, first set going to 10-8, after which there was only one set on the courts, Milne easily taking the second and third sets, 6-1, 6-2.

At the close of the play the prizes were presented to the various winners by Capt. Martin, R. N., with a few well chosen words.

Before the prizes were presented, J. G. Brown, president of the club, in a few brief remarks thanked the visiting players for their participation in the tournament, complimenting them on their fine play and expressing the pleasure of the club and Victorians generally, stating that much of the success and enthusiasm that has been manifested from the States, Alberta, Montreal, Winnipeg and various cities of the Province had competed, the honors of the tournament being fairly well divided, Vancouver taking the men's singles and men's doubles events, while Victoria took the ladies' singles and ladies' doubles. Seattle secured the boys under 21 singles, while the mixed doubles, the veterans' singles and mixed doubles in Victoria. Mr. Brown also referred to the future of the game in this city as being safe in the hands of such players as McCullum, McCallum, Gordon, Proctor, and Miss Marjorie Leeming, with others coming close behind, and hoped that the senior players would take more interest in the younger players and develop their game.

The Trophies.—Reference was made to the presentation by Mr. E. E. Jenkins, of the Foundation Company, of a handsome silver shield for competition in the men's doubles, and a cup presented by Mrs. I. W. Powell for boys under 21, in memory of her son, the late R. B. Powell, whose prowess on the tennis courts of almost every civilized country in the world is well-known. In referring to these gifts, it was stated that the trophies for the men's events in the B. C. championships except the mixed doubles and ladies' doubles, and Mr. Brown hoped that before next year's championships, some round some of our public-spirited citizens will have come forward and filled this want.

In closing his remarks the President spoke of the splendid work of the various committees in connection with the tournament, without which the tournament could not have been the success it turned out to be. Thanks also was given to members and friends who kindly gave trophies or contributed to their purchase. The singing of the National Anthem brought the proceedings to a close, with three cheers and a tiger for the energetic, urbane and capable President, which were most enthusiastically given.

The Committee.—The following ladies and gentlemen composed the committee: J. G. Brown, president; Mrs. T. H. Leeming, vice-president; Miss Lawson, Miss Idiens, D. M. Gordon, G. B. Kitto, T. H. Leeming, A. M. Fairbairn, secretary-treasurer, to which were added various sub-committees, Miss Atkins taking charge of the ice cream table, the dance committee, being composed of Mrs. Hodgins, Miss Lester, Miss Love and E. P. Pollard.

Summary of the Results.—Men's Singles—Milne (Vancouver) defeated Mercer (Vancouver), 10-8, 6-1, 6-2. Ladies' Singles—Miss Lawson (Victoria) defeated Mrs. Cushing (Berkeley, Cal.), 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Boys under 21—Singles—Wabrauchef (Seattle) defeated Hudson (Victoria), 6-2, 6-4. Veterans' Singles (over 50)—Major Taylor (Victoria) defeated W. H. Bone (Victoria), 6-4, 6-5.

Ladies' Doubles—Misses Lawson and Idiens (Victoria) defeated Miss Maymo Macdonald (Seattle) and Mrs. Cushing (Berkeley, Cal.), 6-3, 7-5. Men's Doubles—Milne and Mercer (Vancouver) defeated Wabrauchef and Shannon (Seattle), 6-5, 6-4, 6-3.

Mixed Doubles—Mrs. Sweeney (Victoria) and Verley (Winnipeg) defeated Miss Pitts and McCallum (Victoria), 6-2, 6-1.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC WAS HELD AT BAZAN BAY

Bazan Bay was the scene of the picnic of the First Presbyterian Sunday school on Saturday, when 250 children and grownups enjoyed a delightful day in the open.

Three tallieshoes left the church at half-past nine, in the morning, all of them packed with children. A similar vehicle started for the picnic grounds at a quarter to two. In the morning the children amused themselves by wandering about the woods and on the beach, while sports and races were held in the afternoon under the direction of Harry Sargison. The big party started for home at half-past seven in the evening, tired but happy.

WORK PROCEEDING ON SEVERAL CITY TRAILS

Work on a number of trails has been started by the City Engineer's Department in accordance with plans laid when the annual estimates were passed. The trail on Denman Street is nearly finished now while work is proceeding on Hamley and Haultain Streets. When the question of laying trails was considered by the City Council the City Engineer was instructed to leave at least part of the work over until late in the summer in order that there might be no necessity for hiring more men than were already on the pay roll.

FIRST REHEARSAL

Twenty-three Musicians Attended Practice of G. W. V. A. Band Yesterday.

Judging from the results obtained at the first rehearsal held yesterday morning the band of the Great War Veterans' Association promises to attain a high standard in local musical circles. Twenty-three musicians were present yesterday and within the next few weeks Bandmaster J. N. Miller hopes to increase the number to thirty.

The musicians were from the bands of the 2nd C. M. R.'s, 67th Battalion, 54th Battalion and 88th Battalion. Bandmaster Miller was in charge of the famous First Division Band in France.

The band is now open for engagements and it is expected that before long will make its initial appearance.

Back From Overseas—Nursing Sister D. I. Gambie has just returned from overseas service and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Griffiths, Oak Bay. Miss Gambie was a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital, and left Victoria about twelve months ago for England, where she has since been on duty at No. 4 General Hospital at Basingstoke, Hants.

"DEADHEADS" AT SOCIETY BALLS.

"One of the features of the Peace celebrations," said a private detective, "is a revival of the old game of 'walking'. Some men—and women, too—don't wait for an invitation to a West-end ball; they go, and risk being found out."

"I have known many of these dog-eared gain admittance to a house by professing to be waiters, members of the band, and so on, and then spend the whole evening in the ball room. Some of them actually ask for an invitation, and if one is not forthcoming, temporarily personate a guest who is sure to have got a card.

Polite Presumption.

"Until recently a certain man of some standing made a practice of writing to a lady who was giving a ball: 'I shall be pleased to attend your dance, and am holding the day open. Kindly do not overlook my name in sending out invitations. With kind regards, I am, etc.'

"The worst class of uninvited guests are those who carry off 'souvenirs'. One night not long ago a man drove up to a West-end house and walked straight in past the policeman, who was completely deceived by his appearance. After doing himself well, he sauntered downstairs, donned his own overcoat, and then put on a costly fur coat belonging to an invited guest. He finally sallied forth into the street unchecked and unquestioned.

Taking Ways.

"In another case a man was turned out of pocket a silver spoon. He seemed to be an uninvited guest—an American. As the circumstances were suspicious, his luggage, which was in a well-known hotel, was searched, and in it were found forty and fifty spoons, most of them from hotels, and two belonging to the girl whose name was then staying. Those two, at any rate, were charged for in his bill."—Tit-Bits.

TENDER GUMS — A WARNING

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhoea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhoea—many under forty also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhoea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infected the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pyorrhoea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes. All Druggists.

secret of a bitter experience, and eventually finding a way to face life with renewed courage. Here is crystallized the big emotional spirit of "Common Clay." A. H. Woods' screen presentation of the Harvard prize play by Cleves Kinkead and featuring Fannie Ward. And that it is a play with a real punch is attested by the fact that it ran for a solid year on the New York stage and was played, for three years following by six companies, in every city of the United States and Canada, during which time it is estimated that more than five million persons witnessed it. "Common Clay" touches upon one of the greatest problems of the big cities—The Girl, handicapped by poverty, who is struggling along without proper safeguards. It has been widely discussed in the newspapers, by social welfare and civic organizations and made the text of discourses from many pulpits. This is so because "Common Clay" has to do with stark realities that cannot be overlooked or lightly brushed aside. It deals with souls in travail and good endeavor combating the evil. Miss Ward, in this seven-reel Pathe special has done some of the most appealing emotional work in her entire career on the stage and the screen. It will be shown at the Royal Victoria Theatre all this week.

End Your Catarrh To-day

Catarrh sufferers, meaning those with colds, sore throat, bronchial trouble, etc., can all be cured right at home by inhaling "Catarrhose." In using Catarrhose you don't take medicine into the stomach—you just breathe a healing piney vapor direct to the lungs and air passages. The purest balsams and the greatest antiseptics are thus sent to every spot where catarrhal trouble exists—germs are killed, foul secretions are destroyed, nature is given a chance and cure comes quickly. Colds and throat troubles can't last if the pure healing vapor of Catarrhose is breathed—sneezing and coughing cease at once, because irritation is removed. Use Catarrhose to prevent—use it to cure your winter ills—it's pleasant, safe and guaranteed in every case.

NEW GISH PICTURE NOW AT DOMINION Story of "I'll Get Him Yet" Was Written by Los Angeles Editor

Newspaper stories about reporters who climb four stories to get missing papers and are then given a raise to five hundred a month by the city editor are usually written by some aspiring young man who never saw the inside of his own home town composing room, let alone the red color that surrounds the editorial mazes of a metropolitan newspaper. And, likewise, in moving pictures it is the common thing for young reporters to appear on the scene with leather-bound notebooks and probably silver mounted pencils which they flourish all over the place while the person being interviewed are talking. All of which is by way of preface to the statement that Harry Carr, editor of The Los Angeles Times Magazine, has written a Dorothy Gish newspaper story and that he has insisted that the reporter hero act like a reporter should. Dorothy's new picture is "I'll Get Him Yet," and it has to do with a girl of millions and a reporter of decidedly radical ideas. Dorothy plays the part of the girl, and she chose Richard Barthelmess as the boy. Then the two held a consultation with the author, and for the next five days spent their waking hours together in the different departments of a Los Angeles newspaper. Dorothy says she hopes that newspaper people will not have too much fault to find with the way it is presented.

TAYLOR HOLMES IN HUMOROUS COMEDY

George K. Spoor's Picture Will Occupy Variety This Week

The turn of a deal of poker brought T. Boggs Johns into the most momentous and thrilling year of his life. Not that T. Boggs would have things turn out any differently. For he was tickled to death to become the butler in the home of his business partner. "A Pair of Sixes," adapted from the famous stage play of Edward Peple, shows Taylor Holmes in one of his merriest moods. It is the feature attraction at the Variety this week. The complications of the story hinge around the marital incompatibility of two business partners. When they decide to abide by the verdict of a hand of poker as to who will run the business for a year and who will be the other's personal servant, T. Boggs (Holmes) loses. Thus does he take part in the domestic life of his partner, George Nettleton. And Boggs does not, at a cost of $5,000, reveal the circumstances of his fate. T. Boggs is pursued by the relentless adoring "Coddles," the aged and unbecomingly maid of all works in the Nettleton home. Her love is staid and ludicrous. And up and down stairs she chases T. Boggs. And then Florence, his sweetheart, arrives in the Nettleton home and schemes with him to get even with Nettleton. They plan together many incriminating circumstances that will worry Nettleton. And when, in desperation, Nettleton asks to have the contract abandoned, well, T. Boggs refuses, saying he would like to renew it. An admirable cast supports Mr. Holmes in this picture at the Variety. Maude Eburne, the original "Coddles" of the stage premiere, was secured for the same role. Alice Mann, a favorite in filmland, was secured to play Florence Cole, and Robert Connors, for Nettleton. Cecil Owen, appearing on the speaking stage with Jane Cowi in "Alice Time," also takes an important supporting part in the picture, as does Edna Phillips Holmes, wife of the star.

WILLIAM RUSSELL IN NEW ROMANO FILM

Western Life Drama Affords Vehicle For Popular Star

William Russell, the popular athletic actor, has a big, swift moving outdoor drama in "Where the West Begins," to be shown at the Romano for three days, beginning to-day. It is produced by the William Russell Productions for the American Film Company, Inc., under the direction of Henry King and distributed by Pathe. "Where the West Begins" is a wholesome comedy-drama. In the principal supporting roles with Mr. Russell are Eileen Percy, Clifton Landis, Frederick Vroom, Carl Stockdale and Alfred Ferguson. The story is of an Eastern lad who is duly shown by a brisk Westerner that life is just what you make it. Russell creates fully enough excitement for the Easterner, to say the least. The action of the story transpires first in little of Noo Yawk and later in the great outdoors, the glorious West. Mystery, adventure and romance—the three most essential elements when properly woven together. And when the leading role is played by such an artist as William Russell the result is an interesting and inspiring photoplay. Pearl White in the twelfth chapter of "The Lightning Raider" will also be presented on the Romano screen to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday. "Women," he hissed, "woman, do you thus spur my heart after leading me on?" "When did I lead you on, as you call it?" asked the girl. "Did you not tell me that that fortune teller had told you that you were to wed a handsome blond young man, with the grace of a Greek god and the voice of an Aeolian harp?"

HARRY CAREY PLAYS IN "BARE FISTS" HERE

Columbia Presents Western Cowboy Feature Full of Excitement

Harry Carey, Universal's cowboy star, famed for his hard riding and straight shooting, comes to the Columbia to-day in his latest drama, "Bare Fists."

Carey is seen again as "Cheyenne Harry," that character immortalized on celluloid in his stirring Western productions. Cheyenne Harry represents the typical Westerner and he always has an exceptional story to help him. The plot of "Bare Fists" is based on a man's promise to his mother that he will never carry a gun again. Such a promise is a difficult one to keep in a cattle country overrun by unscrupulous thieves and Cheyenne Harry is often sorely tempted to break his word. But he doesn't—although he is misunderstood by his friends and taunted by his enemies because of it. Even the girl he loves doubts him at times. How could it be otherwise when he is grossly insulted in her presence and makes no move to avenge himself in usual cowboy fashion?

His cattle are stolen, and then in a fight with one of his enemies a shot is fired and the man falls dead. Charged with carrying concealed weapons while posing as an unarmed man, Cheyenne Harry is placed on trial for his life and is convicted of the cowardly act. Then comes the big moment of the play, when allowed home on parole he finds that his enemies have branded his little brother—the kid brother that he has been both father and brother to since that day when his father had been killed. As he holds the quivering little form in his arms Cheyenne Harry considers promises no longer, but with a new purpose in his eyes, arms himself and rides off in hot pursuit of the cowards who had wronged him and his. The climax comes after a series of exciting moments and Cheyenne Harry finds happiness and love as well as complete vindication. The third chapter of the Vitagraph

OSWALD'S FOLLIES HAVE ATTRACTIVE NEW PROGRAMME

An entirely new programme will be rendered by Oswald's 1919 Follies at the Gorge Park commencing to-night, the headliner being a humorous sketch entitled "Thumbs Up," which will no doubt be the means of causing a great deal of hearty laughter, as the humorous situations have been well thought out, which will make it one of the most popular sketches yet put on by this popular company. The musical concert numbers will be "Selling in My Balloon," and the "Boys in Scarlet and Gold." The single numbers will include "The Landlady," sung by Beatrice Carman and George Borman, song features, "Oh, Lady, Stop Rolling Those Eyes," by Sherry Page; "The Land of I Don't Know Where," sung by Ruth McKinley; "One of the Upper Ten," by Billy Oswald. The programme will also include three new humorous interludes, the whole making a very interesting and satisfying performance. Two performances are given daily by this popular aggregation at 3 and 5 p. m.

BIT BY BIT. "I'm afraid your wife's mind is gone." "I don't wonder at it, considering that she has been giving me a piece of it for so long."

PANTAGES LEADER REFRESHING TURN

Juvenile Revue Makes Charming Appeal; Wide Variety in New Programme

Seldom does vaudeville offer a more charming number than "The Comedy Generation," which headlines the bill at the Pantages, commencing with the matinee performance to-day. Nine or ten of the most delightful youngsters of the stage, surely, provide this repertoire of dances and song. The act has the freshness and buoyancy of youth and the real skill of the veteran. It is under the personal direction of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Douglas, widely known on this coast for their conception and production of the artistic in dance interpretations, and their clever little troupe exceed any desire that may be had for bright novelty in vaudeville entertainment. These eight girls and a boy present a juvenile revue of novelty, toe, ballroom and interpretative dances as well as specialties such as the Highland Fling. They are remarkably capable performers and make a fine appearance in their numbers.

With Adele Jason, leading woman, and Al Price, comedian, in the featured roles, "Hello, People, Hello," occupies the position of the special added attraction on the new bill. This is a girl and music offering of the better class and is presented in an attractive setting and with brilliant costumes. There are five distinctive scenes enlivened by a chorus of pretty girls and hitting music numbers. Foster Ball and Ford West present a character study of the old Civil War veteran which has come to be one of the classics of vaudeville. "Since the Days of '61," is the title of the sketch which features the characterization of Ford West in the role of the park policeman. They have a popular number of the programme. Dorothy Lewis, mezzo-soprano, is a winsome vocalist who exhibits good taste in the selection of her song repertoire. She displays a voice of exceptional quality and keeps her programme on a very high plane. "Richard the Great" is the monkey who made a man of himself. This remarkable chimpanzee wears a boiled shirt and dress suit

SCHOOL GIRL TELLS OTHERS

How They Can Find Relief From Periodic Sufferings.

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried as many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I use to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—DELINA MARTIN, 29 Bowers St., Nashua, N. H.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, therefore is a perfectly safe remedy to give your daughter, who suffers from such painful periods as did Miss Martin. The reason so many girls write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice, is because from their 40 years experience they have a store of knowledge which is invariably helpful, and conducts himself accordingly. He does about everything but talk and is without doubt the most highly educated monkey on the stage, today. He is called Brown, calling themselves the "brainless wonders," present trick riding and broad comedy of the continental type. BLUE GROUSE.

To the Editor.—There has been much adverse criticism by sportsmen here in regard to the arrangement of the dates for the coming shooting season and I do not consider it unwarranted. Having had over thirty years' continuous hunting on the island and at the same time taking a deep interest and study in same I venture to give my opinion conforming myself more to the opening date set for the blue grouse. The date for this species is at least two weeks late. The blue grouse is migratory and leaves us any time between the middle of August and the first two weeks in September, according to the weather. If a couple of days' rain comes late in August, you may depend that in a week's time after you will notice them disappearing, and by the middle of September the hunter may travel many miles without seeing any, for there are none remaining, but perhaps a stray weakly one in a brood (which happens frequently) that was unable to take its departure with the others. So far as the hunter is concerned, the Board might as well have made it a close season altogether for the blue grouse. Last year on September 15, the opening date, how many found blues? I got three in two days' hard hunting, all I saw. They had gone, but being very heavy rain up to that time the birds had remained very much later than usual and only disappeared a few days before we were allowed to hunt for them, which was exceptionally late. The disappointment of the hunters I think is not the short season of sixteen days, but the lateness of the commencement.

The remedy for same is to petition the Board to make the opening season for the blues on September 1 and close it if they choose on September 15, for they will all be gone away at that date anyway. "ESQUIMALT."

ELECTRIC SKY-SIGNS. Before the war scores of electric signs for advertisement purposes were being erected in big towns, while many firms had cinematograph screens erected which advertised their particular wares. Since the war, however, the most ingenious invention has been used by the newspapers of America. This sign looks from the street like an ordinary board with thousands of small electric bulbs fastened on to it. Each of these bulbs is attached to a special typewriter in the building behind, and as the typewriter writes any message or advertisement, each key pressed down lights up certain of the electric bulbs, and so spells out each letter in turn. Above the typewriter is a small copy of the big sky-sign, so that the typist can see at once if he has made a slip and hit the wrong letter. A switch

Humanity's Debt to Switzerland

Beneficent Work of the Red Cross.

By Philip Gibbs in The London Daily Chronicle.

Now that Peace is signed—some sort of Peace which does at least hold a promise of hope for the healing of the world's wounds—one debt of gratitude should be remembered on behalf of a small nation which maintained its neutrality, not selfishly, but with generous service to all stricken peoples, throughout the war. England, like many other countries in Europe, should find time to say in its heart: "Thank you, Switzerland." The Swiss people found themselves closed in on all sides by this world war. They were in an island—a little sanctuary—around which the tempest raged, and waves of blood mounted high. As the months passed, and the years, the flotam and jetsam of human wreckage was cast up on their shore, across their boundaries—thousands of broken men, hideously smashed, miserably helpless, from all the combats, armies and thousands of non-combatants, old men and women, young mothers and babies, and children of all ages, who had been engulfed in the tide of war, and had seen their homes and farmsteads caught by its red flame, and had lived under hostile rule, and at last had been allowed to escape to rejoin their own people on the other side of the lines, by way of Switzerland.

A Kindly Race.
In the cantons of that little country were a liberty-loving folk whose patriotism was strong but not narrow, nor based on the spirit of hate. They were French-Swiss, Italian-Swiss, German-Swiss, touched with a cosmopolitan spirit which crossed the frontiers of hatred and made them international in the noblest sense of a much-abused word—international: in kindness to all who suffered and were stricken by this cataclysm of peoples.

Very quickly they set to work to organize their Red Cross on a scale which could cope with the agony around them by a multitude of services. Men and women of every class volunteered as organizers, doctors, stretcher-bearers, nurses, canteen workers, bottle washers, cooks, floor scrubbers, waitresses, clerks—anything. They did not ask for pay or for honor. They only asked for the chance of helping in a labor of love. The world even now does not know the names of any of those men who were responsible for the repatriation of their relatives and their prisoners, nor of any of those ladies who, during four and a half years, tended the wounded on their way through Switzerland, nursed the babies of tragedy, clothed the naked, fed the hungry and gave the first glimpse of joy to scores of thousands who had lived with grief. Even now these Swiss people do not ask for thanks or for publicity, but it is up to us to give them gratitude.

relatives of prisoners of war "missing" and lost.

There were many homes in England as in all other countries of Europe, where there was the daily torture of anxiety because no news could be had of the son or daughter who had been swallowed up in the mystery of the war zone until one day there came a letter from the Swiss Red Cross to say "He is found" or "She is well." There were little English, Irish and Scottish governesses in Bruges and Ghent and Liege, and many other towns, who disappeared after a certain day of August in '14, and from whom no word came, month after month, until the Swiss Red Cross were asked to find them, and tracked them down through the labyrinths of German domination and sent news back.

There were boys who went out at dawn one morning in attacks on the Western front and were seen by their comrades in the smoke of shells and in the upheaved earth, and then were seen no more. Their bodies were not found. They had not been seen to fall. Some time later their names appeared in the lists: "Missing" or "Missing," believed dead. That was the worst thing to read by mothers and wives, whose imaginations roved through all the dreadful possibilities and who were sick with hope deferred, and then "abandoned" or "Gravely wounded." One leg amputated; "Severely gassed." But no longer missing.

A Clearing House.

Trainloads of badly wounded men came into Switzerland from Germany. Arrangements had been made at last for an exchange of prisoners too badly hurt to be of any use to any side as fighting men again. Switzerland was the receiving station and sorting office of all these derelicts. It was the Swiss people who carried them from one train to another, bandaging their wounds afresh, providing them with clean linen, feeding them after their starvation and sending them on their journey home, which was their land of heart's desire. Hundreds of British soldiers now alive and recovered of their wounds must look back to that day they arrived at Bâle or Berne as the red-letter day of their lives, because it was the open gate to liberty. Swiss ladies spoke to them in their own tongue and said "Welcome back! Now you won't be long away from England. Good luck!" It was good to hear words like these, good to get some hot coffee and rolls, good to get out of foul linen into clean. So good that some of those men, I am told, broke down and wept like children. England should not forget the givers of that joy.

In the Sanctuary.
So it was with French soldiers, Serbians, Italians, Belgians, Armenians and many others. And always, year after year, it was so with vast numbers of French and Belgian civilians who were "repatriated" through Switzerland to their own side of the lines, and to their own relatives, after their long misery in German hands, under German rule, with destroyed homes behind them and nothing left of household treasures and the things they had stored up in a life of toil on the good earth in days of peace.

These old, old men and women, so feeble, so wrinkled, so bewildered by the tumult of war in which they had been tossed about like straws in a whirlwind, found themselves in this sanctuary of Switzerland, where women took them by the hands, spoke kind words to them in French, sat them down to little banquet tables in halls decorated with French flags and banners which said "Soyez les bienvenus," and "Bon Retour en France!"

It was strange! They had never expected such happiness again. The old men and women found themselves wheeled about in chairs, carried into the trains, tended by women as though they were little children.

Caring for the Mothers.

And the young mothers who had carried their babies down many roads and had tramped away from burning villages with children clinging to their skirts, found help now in Switzerland. There were nurseries for the babies with many gentle nursemaids. The children were loaded with toys, and laughed as they had not done in war time. At Christmas there was a great party, a Christmas tree, a fairy queen, presents for everyone.

These people, too, broke down and wept when they went away amidst cries of "Bon voyage!" Their tears were of gratitude and joy. War had not killed all human kindness. There was still charity; love . . . even laughter in life!

The Swiss Red Cross spent 600,000 francs on this work—a large and generous sum out of their people's pockets—but they gave more than money. They gave willing service, energy of brain and heart, an immense pity for the suffering of war-broken peoples, a love which was not bounded by any frontiers.

They taught the world a moral lesson in Christian spirit, and now it is only right that we should say "Thank you, Switzerland."

GOLDEN TUNES.

There is no doubt that song-writing is not entirely without reward—at any rate, to the chosen few. A member of a large music-publishing firm states that to-day, more than ever, there is money in songs. He instanced "The Rosary," which brought in hundreds of pounds, and "Soldiers of the Queen," which was a small gold-mine for Leslie Stuart.

Mr. James W. Tate, better known as "Tate," made £1,200 out of "If I Should Plant a Tiny Seed of Love," a song which he composed in less than half an hour.

"Way Back Home," composed in the trenches by Herbert Mackenzie, sold to the extent of over 70,000 copies within the first six months of publication. "The Trail That Leads to Home," by the same composer, brought in several hundreds of pounds.

Fifteen hundred pounds a year is a modest estimate of the income made by the composer of a popular song.—Tit-Bits.

RIGHT WITH THE TIMES.

"Madam, you have had three husbands, now," said her legal adviser, "and every one of them either went crazy or turned out to be worthless. And yet you are thinking of marrying again!"

"Yes, sir," answered the fair client; "what I think I've got now is a safe and sane fourth."

Have a heart! Help her keep those rosy cheeks of hers. "Put her next" to baker's bread. Take her out on the verandah with you.

Out of thirty-two starters in The Times long distance swim from the Causeway to the Gorge Saturday afternoon seventeen swimmers finished the course, and Miss Audrey Griffin substantiated the claim made for her of champion lady swimmer of Canada by winning the race in roughly nine minutes under the time she finished the distance last year. Jock D. McNeill, of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, winner of B. C. championships over the fifty yards and 440 yards courses; Jack Marshall, of the same club, and Grubb, of the V.I.A.A., carried off the second, third and fourth prizes respectively, and each became owners of one of the four handsome cups presented for the race. Miss Griffin received another Times Cup to add to her collection of silverware.

Honors Even.

Two cups, a first and fourth go to the V. I. A. A. Club, and two, a second and third to the V. A. S. C. Of the starters in the race the V. I. A. A. had twelve and eight finishers; the V. A. S. C. had nine starters and six finishers; the Y. M. C. A. had six starters and two finishers; the Foundation two starters and one finisher; Yarrowa, two starters and no finishers; and the Crystal Pool, Seattle, one starter who failed to finish.

Ladies Stood the Test.

One of the outstanding features of the race was the way the lady competitors stood the test. The hard grind over the three-mile course through water with varying degrees of temperature including extremely cold currents had far less effect on the lady entrants than on the men. Of nine lady starters only two failed to finish the distance—Ann Mayhall, the Seattle star, and Kathleen Wellburn, a young member of the V. A. S. C. The Seattle star had passed the Point Ellice bridge and was forging her way from the rear to a position among the three leading swimmers when she was suddenly overcome with cramp. Miss Mayhall was taken out of the water unable to swim another stroke. Kathleen Wellburn made a plucky effort before she was forced to submit defeat, and as a swimmer who is rapidly improving should make a good showing in next year's race.

Hard on Men.

Twenty-three men plunged into the water at the Causeway and there were ten at the death. With the exception of the winner, however, the men obtained the positions in the race, six of them reaching the finishing raft before the second lady arrived home.

Faster Than Ever.

The race was a record in every way. There was a large entry for the swim which attained instant popularity last year and not only did Miss Griffin knock several minutes off the time in which she won the race last year, but the four cup winners all finished well under the time in which The Times cup was won last summer. Grace Wellburn, who was the second lady to finish, was only twice forty seconds behind the time in which Miss Griffin won the first Times cup. Edna Currie, who last year finished as the second lady this year, finished third lady in several minutes ahead of the time she swam over the same course in the first race.

Lead All the Way.

There looked every prospect of Miss Griffin retaining her laurels before the race was five minutes old. Gordon Young, of the Y. M. C. A., took the lead for upwards of 100 yards after Miss Hughes had started the race. Then Miss Griffin caught up with the Y. M. C. A. man, wished him luck and took the lead. Using an easy trudgeon stroke with perfect rhythm and little variation in time for the whole of the race, she never appeared fatigued at any stage, and frequently held short conversations with her pilots. She never let the second competitor decrease the distance between them by less than one hundred yards, and finished the last fifty yards with a sprint.

McNeill's Plucky Effort.

Jock McNeill made a plucky effort. The returned soldier swimmer was smashed up a little in France, but it apparently has not decreased his ability.

Audrey was leading, George Corke, using the breast stroke, Edna Currie trudging, and Gordon Young, crawling, were all bunched in front as the swimmers crept up to the Evan's, Coleman dock. McNeill took the outside position gradually obtained second place before the first bridge was reached. Miss Griffin and McNeill held their positions until the final destination, but the third, fourth and other positions changed frequently.

A Steady Overarm.

Like the winner of the race, McNeill relied upon one stroke, a strong overarm, for the whole of the distance. Jock seemed to hardly vary his time or speed right to the finish. Swimming on his side he was unable to see ahead or behind. He was never once seen to glance ahead to see the distance separating him from the winner. He showed wonderful generalship in conserving his energy evenly over the

A REMARKABLE SWIM

Miss Ivy Hawkes, of London, England, was the winner in the long-distance swim competition held under the auspices of the Surrey Ladies' Swimming Club in the Thames recently. This young athlete swam the whole distance of 1 1/4 miles in 5 1/2 hours.

Another Returned Man. Tom Hawkes came between Miss Wellburn and Edna Currie. Hawkes is a D. C. M. of the 54th Battalion, with a lot of pots for swimming and track and field events to his credit. It is less than twelve months since he was rather seriously smashed up in the firing line, so particular praise is due to him for his good showing.

Came in On the Crawl.

Edna Currie in several minutes quicker time than last year changed to the crawl stroke fifty yards from the landing stage and jumped out of the water without showing the slightest sign of fatigue, ready to greet Buck Calder, who followed her closely. Muriel Daniels, a young V. P. A. A. swimmer fresh and smiling, preceded George Corke. The cold water had had its effect on the Y. M. C. A. man, whose athletic training has caused him to throw off any surplus fat which might have been of some assistance to him in withstanding the chilly temperatures met with.

Prizes will be distributed by Mr. Justice Martin at a later date. The race was held under the auspices of the Victoria and Island Athletic Association.

AUDREY GRIFFIN'S TIME PROBABLY A RECORD

Audrey Griffin's time for the long-distance swim Saturday is probably a record. George Stott, President of the B. C. section of the C. A. S. A., announces that the record book will probably arrive in Victoria in the course of a few days. Many swimmers, however, refer to Lou Godfrey's time as the fastest up to yesterday. On August 5, 1914, the files show that Godfrey swam over the same course with the exception that the start was made from the James Bay Club house in 1 hour, 13 minutes and two-fifths seconds. Miss Griffin's time was 1 hour, 11 minutes and 4 seconds. Jock McNeill, who also competed, but failed to finish in the 1914 race, finished Saturday in 49 and 3-5 seconds longer than Godfrey's time.

RIPPLES FROM THE RACE

Thirty-two swimmers, oiled and soaped, hit the water shoulder to shoulder and there was a mad scramble to get out of the mix-up.

Some of the young swimmers entered the race without any idea of winning the race. They were only interested in completing the distance, and many of them succeeded. They are to be congratulated on their showing.

Audrey Griffin swam a beautiful race. She has an easy roll with her trudgeon. Outside of a slight cramp in her left leg she was as fresh as a daisy at the finishing raft.

Jock McNeill swam a steady race. He used an overhand stroke over the entire distance. He made his best time between the Point Ellice and C. N. R. bridges, but could not overtake Audrey. During the last few hundred yards Jock swam on his nerves alone, and had to be pulled out of the water.

The lady competitors stood the endurance test better than the males. Man's muscles are so close to the surface that the cold water benumbs his actions, whereas a woman is blessed with a few good layers of protective flesh, and is in a better position to combat the cold.

Out of nine feminine starters seven successfully completed the race. Twenty-three men took off, but only ten reached the Gorge. The cold water in the inner harbor bothered most of the men.

Ann Mayhall, the only outside competitor, was swimming strongly in third place when the cold took her suddenly, and forced her to signal for the first aid boat. Miss Hayball is considered one of Seattle's star swimmers, but she does not show up very well in long distance swimming against Audrey.

Along the Course in Big Water Marathon

(Viewed by a Special Times Representative.)

After the swimmers plunged together into the water in Saturday's aquatic marathon for a few moments a confused mass of heads and splashing arms was all that could be seen until Gordon Young slowly crept into the lead with Miss Griffin, Jock McNeill, Edna Currie, J. C. Bayley, Ann Mayhall and George Corke all fighting for second place. But Miss Griffin had no intention of allowing this scheme of things to continue. Following the same plan of procedure that brought her victory last year she started in to lead the race after the first hundred yards. She quickly gained a lead and then calmly set to work to maintain and, if possible, increase it. And this, for the champion, was just like taking candy from the proverbial baby. By the time the big press of launches, row-boats, canoes and swimmers had reached the Grand Trunk wharf Miss Griffin had managed to forge about twenty yards ahead, and she was still working hard for additional distance.

Behind her, Jock McNeill, with a steady machine-like over-arm side stroke, was cutting up the course with the greatest avidity, while Marshall's strong trudgeon played havoc with distance. Young, too, looked like a winner but he could not stand the pace set by Miss Griffin.

Crowds Watch Race. All along the course of the swim crowds lined the wharves, while the Johnson Street Bridge served as a vantage point for a large number of spectators. The first aid boat, the "Blue Bird," was kept busy flashing back and forth all along the line of swimmers and other power boats, among them the official craft bearing W. H. Spaulding, the energetic referee, and General Leckie, kept the course clear.

As the Johnson Street Bridge was neared the swimmers had pretty well swung into the positions which were maintained until the end of the race. Miss Griffin, of course, had an easy lead, but she was not satisfied with it. McNeill by this time had the second place carefully tucked away and was hot worrying. Marshall was surging along third. A gruelling battle for fourth place was maintained for a time between Grubb, Corke, Young, Bayley and Grace Wellburn, the latter making an attempt to beat them to it.

Long Line of Swimmers. By the time Miss Griffin emerged from under the bridge the rest of the competitors were ranged in a line that stretched back several hundred yards. By this time more than one had found the water too cold and the distance too long and had been hauled into a nearby boat.

Interest in the race proved too much for the men at the Point Hope Yard of the Foundation Company. While the race swept past work on the French Government contract was stopped, hammers ceased to clatter and riveting machines were silent as the workers clambered on to the nearest point of the scaffolding and watched the proceedings.

Some of the most interesting swimming of the day were seen between Johnson Street and Point Ellice. It was no time for the weaker swimmers. Miss Griffin set a gruelling pace, in spite of McNeill's business-like efforts, she managed to gain a still greater lead. The other swimmers remained pretty much as before, Corke, Young, Grubb and Marshall struggling along just as hard as they knew how with Calder and Miss Wellburn doing their best to increase their speed. As for the other swimmers, they were stretched out in a line with the slower ones south of the railway bridge.

"Oh, When Do We Eat?" Miss Griffin was thoroughly enjoying the swim. But her enjoyment did not mar her speed a little bit. She was hungry, however. At least she cried out with remarkable enthusiasm, "Oh, when do we eat?"—a remark greeted with great interest but small sympathy from the spectators.

Miss Griffin continued to chat with her pilots and friends, and, arrived at Point Ellice bridge, which was crowded with eager onlookers, she turned about to mark the positions of her competitors, smiling with satisfaction in viewing her considerable lead of well over a hundred yards.

Not so McNeill. He had no time for talk or thoughts on the necessity of food. Not a word did any one get out of his mouth as he strove to increase his energy into that final stroke of his with the fixed determination that he would cut down or entirely abolish the distance between himself and the elusive girl in the lead. Marshall had managed to grab third place and it was pretty nearly certain that he would keep it unless something unusual occurred to stop him. With a little bathing and an occasional view of his face the only things besides his arms visible, Grubb was taking things seriously, battling with all his energy to keep up with Bayley.

Still Smiling. Miss Griffin continued to regard the proceedings with interest but without the slightest shadow of fatigue or fear of failure. With nearly half the race over and with many of the hopeful contestants out of commission she still had a smile, and a jest for a photograph.

But McNeill's steady monotonous pace was having its effect. He managed to gain while leaving Marshall and others quite a way behind. But Miss Griffin had lots of speed left if she wanted to use it. She did not need it just then, however.

Soon the leaders neared the C. N. R. Bridge, the buttresses of which served as a seat for enthusiastic watchers. Two enthusiasts had scrambled to the top of the lifting span, which was reared high aloft, and from there they had an excellent view of the swimmers.

McNeill Had Gained. Barely over fifty yards of water separated Miss Griffin from McNeill by this time, while Marshall a hundred yards back, was third.

Apparently at the juncture Miss Griffin perceived that she would have to put on a little more speed, for McNeill was getting perilously close, and by this time had left Marshall a hundred yards behind. And she acted accordingly, gradually drawing ahead without difficulty.

And then the Gorge came into sight. Many of the swimmers, however, were still on the far side of the C. N. R. bridge. Miss Griffin had about a hundred yards of lead, and was still increasing it a very little. McNeill was swimming away from Marshall, who continued quite a way ahead of Grubb, who climbed into fourth place and kept it after Bayley had given up the race as a bad job. Young surged steadily along in fifth place, but he could not catch Grubb, who was putting up a of the V. A. S. C. Club, who finished second in the race. Jock did little or no training for the race, and his original intentions were to swim as far as the Point Ellice Bridge. Working in hot water at his trade of dyer he felt the cold currents particularly, but stayed to the last.

truly remarkable performance and was pressing Marshall to the utmost to retain his lead.

Cheer Champion. Curtis Point was lined with Miss Griffin's V. I. A. A. club-mates, who sent up cheer on cheer on perceiving that their champion was well in the lead.

McNeill was gaining a little, however, and some of Miss Griffin's supporters began to fear that he would catch up on her. But the famous mermaid still had a burst of speed which he began to apply as she neared the Foundation club-house. There was then no doubt about the winner, or the second place, but between Marshall and Grubb a battle royal was waged for the third position. Marshall contrived to keep his lead, but he had a hard time doing it. Some distance behind Young slid through the water, followed by a long stream of bobbing heads and flashing arms.

A Final Burst of Speed.

To the applause of the spectators at the Foundation club-house Miss Griffin returned a beaming smile and then put every ounce of energy she had into a final sprint to the finishing wharf, which she reached in record time, amid deafening cheers and the screech of boat whistles.

After receiving The Times Cup, which she had so easily won, the champion was wrapped in a hugo Union Jack, bundled into the first aid launch and taken to the V. I. club-house, where her club-mates bore her shoulder high in triumph to her dressing-room.

YOUNGEST COMPETTOR ONLY THIRTEEN YEARS

Members of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club are justifiably proud of their baby member and youngest entrant in The Times' Long Distance Swim, Miss Florie Gates. The clever little athlete who finished sixteenth in the race, and finished with a smile of satisfaction, is only thirteen years of age and at the stage of the race did she entertain any thoughts of abandoning the test until she reached the landing stage. The performance is particularly commendable in view of the fact that it is the young swimmer's first race. She only learned to swim last year and with the exception of club handicaps, has never entered for any other event.

Kathleen Wellburn, the other very young swimmer of the V. A. S. C., was swimming well up to the Point Ellice Bridge when a "stitch" in the side made it necessary for her to be taken out of the water. Jerry Wellburn found the cold too much for him when he reached Curtis Point. George Silburn was half way between Point Ellice and the E. & N. Bridge when he was forced to leave the water.

Ross was approaching Curtis Point when he left the water. Wagstaff came to the wharf straight from work, hurriedly undressed, without using any of the grease preparation which some of the swimmers found so helpful. He had to leave the water shivering with cold between the E. & N. Bridge and Point Ellice.

Seattle Girl Plucky. Miss Ann Mayhall, the Seattle swimmer, made a courageous effort. She was a dangerous adversary and was swimming strong and well, hovering between second, third and fourth place. Had she been able to stay in the race she would undoubtedly have made a good showing, but opposite Moore & Whittington's lumber mill she was attacked by cramp and had to be taken out of the water. The visiting swimmer was considerably disappointed that she was unable to finish.

Bayley's Hard Luck. Bayley, of Yarrowa, had hard luck. He swam third for a great part of the way and had enough in hand to speed up at the finish. As he reached Curtis Point he turned over from the side stroke to speed up and decrease the distance separating him from the other swimmers. In doing so he wrenched his body, and was unable to finish.

ALL THE YEAR ROUTE FROM TEXAS TO VICTORIA IS KNOWN AS EVERGREEN HIGHWAY

AUTOMOBILE ROUTES TO VICTORIA

FROM EL PASO, TEXAS
VIA PHOENIX, SALT LAKE CITY, BOISE AND INTERMEDIATE POINTS, WITH ALTERNATIVE ROUTES THROUGH IDAHO, OREGON AND WASHINGTON
FROM THE LONE STAR STATE TO THE ISLAND OF A THOUSAND MILES OF WONDERLAND

One July morning two years ago a picturesque little scene might have been witnessed on the steps of the Parliament Buildings, when the pathfinding party of the Evergreen Highway Association left Victoria on the tour which took them through eight states after leaving British Columbia.

At the present time the representative for British Columbia of this association, whose officers are in the city to-day, is W. A. McAdam, Commissioner of the Victoria and Island Development Association. The delegation which met representative citizens at the offices of the association to-day was headed by the president, F. H. Sweetland, of the Commercial Club and Chamber of Commerce, Tacoma, and C. A. Collins, Field Secretary.

Alternative Routes.

The route from El Paso, Texas to Victoria runs in a general northwesterly direction, passing through many delightful cities and towns noted in the history and present-day life of the West. North to Boise, Idaho, the route followed is the "Evergreen Highway," so called on account of the fact that although abounding in splendid scenic features, high mountain passes are avoided, consequently even on the higher levels, it is seldom indeed that any part of the highway is blocked by snow, and it is practically an all-the-year-round evergreen road.

North from Boise alternative routes are shown. The "Evergreen Highway" route passes through Lewiston, Walla Walla, Goldendale, Vancouver City, Wash., to Olympia, the charming capital of "The Evergreen State." From Olympia there is a choice of two routes by which to continue the journey and reach Victoria. One way is through Tacoma to Seattle and thence by steamer-ferry eighty miles to Victoria and "Canada's Auto Paradise." The other way passes through a densely wooded country with many beautiful seascapes and mountain vistas to Port Angeles and from there by steamer-ferry across the straits of Juan de Fuca to Victoria.

C. A. Collins, Field Secretary of the Evergreen National Highway Association, has the following to say:

"Where in all the world can such a trip be had in the same number of miles? The cities of the Northwest should bend every effort to back the Evergreen Highway movement, as there is no doubt that with the advent of complete maps and guides this route will be the means of diverting to this city and section many tourists who otherwise would journey South to California—tourists who come with their purse strings untied to partake of our scenery, our climate, our opportunities for investment and home building, and the best of all is the fact that the more we sell our natural advantages, the easier they are to sell, the more they are worth, and we still have them to enjoy ourselves.

"The Evergreen Highway, as a tourist artery to the great Northwest, is now a reality. The route has been completely marked with the distinctive markers of the Evergreen Highway all the way from the Utah state line through Idaho and Eastern Washington, down the north bank of the Columbia River and thence northward via the Pacific Highway, thus making it possible for the westbound tourist to find his way over the new scenic route without difficulty. Road notes and material for authentic maps and guides have been collected and are now being prepared for the press, and from now on every effort is to be made to push the publicity work with extreme vigor in order to bring the highway into the prominence it so richly deserves.

Entire Road Good.

"With the exception of that small portion of the route which lies in the rugged canyons of the Salmon and Little Salmon Rivers, where there are spots which require cautious driving, the entire trip to Salt Lake City is as good as the majority of transcontinental tourist routes to-day and, when reliable maps and guides are available, there is no doubt as to the tourist travel that will be diverted to this country."

FOUR LAWYERS IN FIELD FOR POST

Position of City Solicitor Desired by Several Legal Practitioners

Three Victorians and one Vancouver lawyer, it is understood, are in the field for the position of City Solicitor. The Legislative Committee of the City Council, which has the matter of an appointment in hand, will probably make a selection from among these four, and it is expected will make a report to the Council this evening.

The Victoria lawyers who are desirous of securing the position to be vacated by R. W. Hannington at the end of this month are all well known. One of them is an officer who returned from the front some time ago and who has occupied a seat in the City Council. Another gentleman, who has done legal work for the city, is said to be backed by several aldermen in his desire for the appointment. The Vancouver man is recognized as an excellent court lawyer and it is understood that if he were appointed he would confine himself to court work, leaving routine business to an assistant.

IMPORTANT MATTERS WILL BE CONSIDERED

By Library Convention at End of This Month; Will Sit in Vancouver This Year

Matters of importance in the library work of the West will be considered by the convention of Pacific Northwest Library Association to be held in Vancouver on August 23, 29 and 30.

At previous conventions held on the Coast British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and Idaho only were represented, but at the meeting this month representatives from California, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba will be present. In fact, all the leading figures in the library world of the Canadian and American West will join in the deliberations.

The question of salaries for librarians will be one of the topics of consideration at the convention, while the work of libraries in the period of reconstruction, it is expected, will occupy a leading place in the discussions. It is the belief of librarians that the information contained in the best books on the subject will be invaluable in the solution of problems arising out of the great war.

For consideration of its own affairs the British Columbia Library Convention will hold a separate meeting during the convention.

NEW BOMB OUTRAGE AT LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Aug. 4.—Revenge for the part he played in the prosecution of a group of dynamiters in the Middle West several years ago was assigned by the police here as the probable motive for an attempt on the life of Oscar Lawler, former Assistant Attorney-General of the United States. Mr. Lawler's home was practically destroyed by a bomb explosion and a subsequent fire here early to-day and he and Mrs. Lawler both seriously burned and otherwise injured.

Mr. Lawler received burns covering his body. His recovery is possible.

PROVINCIAL Fairs ARE ON INCREASE

Editorial Convention—Anticipating the conclusion of suitable arrangements at to-night's meeting at the Victoria and Island Development Association rooms for the reception of the 220 editors and their families who will arrive in Victoria on August 17, a wire was received by W. A. McAdam, Publicity Commissioner, this morning from Edmonton as follows: "National Editorial Association royally entertained everywhere. Hope your machinery is working. Editorial Association anticipating a very enjoyable visit to Victoria. It is an exceptionally good party and all its members are workers." The meeting to-night will begin at 8 o'clock and all public bodies are asked to be represented. Last Monday chairman of several committees were appointed, and it is particularly desired that every one of these chairmen be present at to-night's meeting, as there is a great deal to be done in the way of preparing for a suitable reception, and the time is getting short.

Attended Scottish Sports.—Hon. Dr. J. D. MacLean, Acting Premier of British Columbia, who left for the mainland Friday night on Departmental business, took occasion, while in Vancouver, to attend the annual sports gathering of the Caledonian Society, which he says was the greatest celebration of his kind ever witnessed in the province.

MEDICAL OFFICER HOME

Major J. H. Moore Returns After Four Years' Service in England and France.

Major J. H. Moore, C. A. M. C., returned to Victoria last week after an absence of over four years. He left here as medical officer of the First Pioneers and in England transferred to the Medical Corps. For some time he was officer in charge of surgery at No. 2 Canadian General Hospital in France and later was stationed at No. 14 Canadian General Hospital in England.

Major Moore is well known in this city. He came here about ten years ago and attended the Victoria High School. After graduating here he studied medicine at Queen's University, and on receiving his degree returned to this city. Prior to enlisting with the Pioneers, Major Moore had been practicing in Fernie.

FROM THE SCOTIAN.

The British Columbia Returned Soldier Commission, Parliament Buildings, has been advised by telegram from the O. C. Clearing Service Command, Quebec, that the following party from the S.S. Scotian left there on August 3 for this district: For Victoria—Lieut. E. Parsonage, 1218 Vancouver Ave.; R. S. M. W. W. Cavett, care of Peniketh, 3517 Blanshard Ave.; Sergt. Rich. Dawas, 461 Quebec Street; James Bay; Sergt. J. W. Blogg, care of Spr. A. G. Moody, care of Mr. Haggard, Cook Street, near Reservoir; Sergt. E. R. Herriott, 1594 Cardin Street, Esquimalt; Cpl. A. M. Herriott, 1594 Cardin Street, Esquimalt. For Kojichai—Spr. F. Leyland. For Nanaimo—Pte. Dendoff.

Returned To-Day—Christian Sivertz, son of Christian Sivertz, well-known in labor circles, and Mrs. Sivertz, returned to Victoria to-day. Christian was one of three brothers who went overseas together in the 103rd Battalion. All three brothers were popular and served with distinction in the firing line. Sergeant Henry Sivertz winning the Military Medal and bar before he was killed gallantly leading his men in an attack on a machine gun position. The three brothers were popular and conscientious members of the Timber Wolves, and were equally well liked in the units which they joined in France. Christian Sivertz attended the Khaki College while overseas.

OBITUARY RECORD

The funeral of the late Della Roberts took place Sunday afternoon at 1.30 from her late residence and 2 o'clock from St. Mary's Catholic Church at Esquimalt, Rev. Father Silver officiating. There were many friends present at the home and church, and the floral tributes were very beautiful. The following were pallbearers: P. Ross, R. Kainai, John Silver, F. Fletcher, A. Morrison and G. Barker.

The death occurred at Juneau, Alaska, of Charles Stewart, aged 68 years, a native of Manila, Philippines many years. He is survived by five daughters and three sons—Stanley Stewart, of Vancouver; Alex. Stewart in California, and Geo. Stewart, of Vancouver; Mrs. G. Anderson, of 728 King's Road, and Mrs. H. Burke, of 308 Cloverdale Avenue; Mrs. J. F. White, Mrs. R. Rule, of Vancouver. The remains will be brought south for cremation, and arrangements are in the hands of the Thomson Funeral Company.

Yesterday morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Gosney, 2713 Rock Bay Avenue, the death occurred of Mrs. Mary Wynne, aged seventy-one years. She was born in Newfoundland and had been living in this city for the past four months. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Gosney, and seven grandchildren in this city, and a daughter in Newfoundland. Funeral services will be held at the Sands Funeral Chapel to-morrow afternoon at 3 p. m., the Rev. Dr. Batty officiating. Interment will be made in Ross Bay cemetery.

Naval Boy Scouts Outing.—Under the personal supervision of Seymour Green, secretary of the Victoria Branch of the Navy League of Canada, a party of fifteen boys of the Oak Bay Boys' Club went out to Patricia Bay on Saturday for an outing. After a sail in the Bay the boys were the guests of Mr. Crofton at the Y. M. C. Camp at Meadlands. The naval scout movement is making considerable headway and steps are being taken to form clubs in James Bay and Esquimalt.

Nurses' Dance.—The nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital will hold a flannel dance on Thursday in the Alexandra Club. This is the first dance which the nurses have given and every effort is being made for its success. Tickets may be obtained at the hospital only.

Picnic Postponed.—The Elks' picnic, which was to have been held at the Excelsior farm yesterday, was called off on account of the rain. A meeting will be held to-night to decide on a new date for the outing.

Dr. Tolmie Going East.—Dr. S. F. Tolmie, M. P. for Victoria, and the Union Government's choice for the Dominion Portfolio of Agriculture, expects to leave for Ottawa on Wednesday to be sworn in preparatory to taking over the business of his new office. Dr. Tolmie in receipt of many letters of congratulation from his many friends, and from agriculturists all over the country.

Friendly Help Society.—The Friendly Help Society will hold the regular monthly meeting to-morrow morning at 10.30 in the rooms, Market Building, Cormorant Street.

MISPLACED ENERGY.

Bill Simmons was actually running—an event wholly without precedent in the memory of anybody living in the village. Indeed, Bill was notorious as the laziest member of the community. Yet now he was running. What could have happened?

"Evergreen hopped and, rapping open mouthed, watched him as he made his mad, reckless progress, scattering chickens before him like a touring motor car, until, finally, with a crash, he bumped into the portliness of the vicar.

"Why, what is the matter?" gasped the reverend gentleman.

"Can't stop, sir!" panted Bill, hastily disengaging himself. "I've just heard of some work!"

"Will you get the job?" inquired the clergyman, amazed at the black sheep's sudden reformation. "And, by the way, what is it?"

"Some washing for my wife!" said Bill. And, like a streak of lightning he was off again.

ARAMINTA'S AILMENT.

"Ferdinand, is this really love?" sighed Araminta.

"It is, darling," answered Ferdinand, tenderly, as he gave her a thousand-pound-to-the-square-inch pressure squeeze.

"Are you certain?" gushed Araminta.

"Oh, let there be no mistake!" Describes her symptoms, dearest," answered Ferdinand.

"I feel," said Araminta, "as if my heart would leap from my throbbing breast. My throat contracts and then expands. The muscles of my throat leap back and forth."

"And then a disgusting tramp arose from behind the seat where they were sitting.

"That ain't love, miss," he said, as he shuffled off; "that's biceps! Try vinegar on a lump of sugar!"

A Pimply Face or Poor Complexion Quickly Restored

Thousands of young men and women would be handsome and attractive were it not for unsightly pimples, blackheads and rough, uneven skin. Custom seems to recommend lotions and salves, but unfortunately their effect is but temporary. These disgusting blemishes do not originate in the skin—their birth in every case goes further back, to the blood, which must be cleansed of humors before the pimples depart for good.

A physician who has made a careful study of such cases, says that the quickest cure comes from a blood-cleansing medicine like Ferrone's. The minute Ferrone strikes the blood its good work begins. Poisons and foul matter are expelled. Every trace of humor is driven out, and the whole life current is supplied with nutriment and health-giving qualities. You can always tell Ferrone's complexion when you see it—the cheeks are clear and rosy, no signs of sallowness—the eyes are bright and expressive because rich, red blood is circulating through the whole system carrying health, energy and strength with it. Not only will all skin eruptions disappear, but an increase in vital strength, an all-round improvement will be apparent. No rebuilding tonic could be more efficient. Get Ferrone's today—good for young and old, for well folks and sick ones, too. Fifty cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from The Catarrhose Co., Kingston, Ont.

Prominent Men.
Prominent delegates named above are Congressman Guy U. Hardy of the Third Colorado district; President of the Association; Ben Herbert son of "Father" Herbert, the founder of the association and editor of the National Printer-Journalist; H. Hoard owner of Hoard's Dairyman the largest paper of its class in the United States and President J. E. McClure, of the Illinois Press Association. Mrs. C. L. Woodring, of Peru, Indiana, owner of two daily newspapers, is coming to renew old acquaintances on the coast. Ferd W. Alsopp, of the Gazette, Little Rock, Ark., a newspaper about to celebrate its hundredth anniversary, and Frank N. Henderson, of Little Rock, Ark., are among the Southern visitors. The South Dakota delegation is giving Illinois a close run for the honor of having the largest attendance at the convention. George Schlosser, secretary of the association, is at the head of the South Dakotans.

A meeting of the Victoria reception committee will be held this evening.

The new parson was calling on the farmer.
"I've got to find out a lot of things about this district," he said "I suppose you know all the ins and outs of the place?"

"Well, sir," said the old fellow, "I know all the ins."
