REALTORS TO CELEBRATE IN ANNUAL BANQUET

Prominent People to Attend Gathering in Glendale Next Tuesday Night

The annual banquet of the Glendale Realty Board, that is to be held at the Tuesday Afternoon club on the night of Tuesday, January 15, is to be graced by the attendance of men prominent in the realtors' profession from all over Southern California, as well as by that of representatives of the national organization.

President Henry P. Barbour, of Long Beach, head of the California Real Estate Association, will be the guest of honor, and others who will be present are: William E. Herren, field secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, who is touring the west at present; W. T. Hollingsworth, a director of the national association, and his wife; Glenn D. Willaman, secretary of the state association, and Mrs. Willaman; W. L. Brent, president of the Los Angeles Realty Board, and Mrs. Brent; Tom Ingersoll, secretary of the Los Angeles Realty Board, and Mrs. Ingersoll; H. L. Butler, president of the Pasadena board, and Mrs. Butler; Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Hartranft of Tujunga; W. R. Johnson, president of the Eagle Rock board, and Mrs. Johnson; G. A. Watson, president of the Burbank board, and Mrs. Watson.

Local Citizens
 Others who will attend are: Charles B. Guthrie, vice president of the state association, and Mrs. Guthrie; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Chobe, the former the designer of Glendale's two winning floats; W. E. Hewitt, president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce; Secretary E. F. Sanders of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Sanders; George B. Karr, president of the Rotary Club; R. E. Johnson, president of the Exchange Club, and Mrs. Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, the latter president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club; A. L. Baird, president of the Kiwanis Club, and Mrs. Baird; Mayor and Mrs. Spencer Robinson.

Prepare Program
 S. S. Gilhuly, chairman of the entertainment committee, and his associates, Elisa J. and A. R. Johnson, have prepared a program that will, they declare, furnish all sorts of surprises for the guests at the banquet, but for the present they are shrouding it in an atmosphere of mystery that is defying the detective abilities of "Sheriff Bill" Truitt, the Sherlock Holmes of South Brand boulevard.

The dinner will start promptly at 6:30 o'clock, and all the local realtors and their wives have been invited to attend.

Roy L. Kent and Associates Buy Property; Plan to Construct Building

A syndicate headed by Roy L. Kent and associates have purchased the southeast corner of San Fernando boulevard and Tujunga avenue, Burbank, 155 feet frontage by 150 feet deep, at $400 per front foot, it was announced this morning from the offices of Roy L. Kent, 130 South Brand boulevard.

The property will at once be improved with a high class one-story brick office building costing $20,000, for which plans are now being drawn by Mr. Kent's architects.

Another Purchase

Another syndicate headed by Roy L. Kent and associates have purchased the northeast corner of San Fernando boulevard and Tujunga avenue, Burbank, 155 feet frontage by 150 feet deep, at $300 per front foot. Mr. Kent announced this morning.

It is not planned to improve this latter lot at the present time. Commenting on his acquisition of these two valuable Burbank corners, Mr. Kent states that he considers values on close-in property in that city excellent and believes the investments will prove very profitable.

NAME DIRECTORS FOR FINANCE CO.

A. R. Eastman Is Re-Elected President at Meeting Of Stockholders

The annual stockholders' meeting of the People's Finance and Thrift company was held at the company's offices, 233 South Brand boulevard, yesterday, when the retiring directors were re-elected for another year's term.

The directors of the firm are: A. R. Eastman, president of the Glendale State bank; Dr. David Ross Boyd, former president of the state university of New Mexico and Oklahoma; J. J. Nesom, of the Nesom Finance Company of Los Angeles; Roy L. Kent, Glendale contractor; George B. Karr, manager of The Baldwin Shirt Co.; W. G. Lauderdale, The Irish Linen store; Francis J. W. Henry, of the Henry-Brown Co.; C. D. Lusby, president of the Lusby Mortgage Co.; W. E. Lusby, secretary-treasurer and manager of the People's Finance Thrift Co.

Following the election of directors the following were re-elected as officers for the coming year: A. R. Eastman, president; Dr. David Ross Boyd, first vice-president; J. J. Nesom, second vice-president; W. E. Lusby, secretary-treasurer and manager.

Successful Year

W. E. Lusby declares that the officials of the company, which was organized on March 15, 1923, with a fully paid up capital of $75,000, has had a most successful year and that the prospects for the next year are most encouraging.

"The firm was formed for the purpose of providing financial facilities for the salaried man and the wage earner, and the class of borrowers we have secured has amply justified us in making a special bid for the business men of this class. The loans are made on a long-time basis with regular re-payments, and by this means the man of limited means can consolidate his debts into one and can clean up his scattered obligations, keeping his credit good with the local merchants.

"This method of making loans has also paved the way for many local people to become owners of their own homes.

GENERAL STRIKE

DUSSELDORF, Occupied Germany, Jan. 9.—A general strike was proclaimed here today, trying up all industry.

GIVE PRAISE TO VARIOUS WORKERS

Peter Hanson, President of Realtors, W. E. Hewitt Of C. of C. Happy

Peter Hanson, president of the Glendale Realty board, today issued a statement relative to yesterday's election results. And, of course, it is filled with optimism. He says regarding the ten-to-one victory:

"It was glorious! We told the world we had no sewers and the people of the nation wondered what the 'fastest growing city in America' was going to do. Today they know and any other answer would have shamed us. Now we can look ahead confidently, and capital can come in with assurance.

"My faith in the people of Glendale is greater than ever. I just felt that they would rise to the occasion. Naturally, I am proud of the Realty board. They are a wonderful bunch. The Rotary, Kiwanis and Exchange clubs are just as loyal and all worked hand in hand, while the Chamber of Commerce looked after the publicity. The good name of Glendale was at stake, and we held the banner of our campaign above slush and slime.

Thanks for Everybody
 "I would like to shake the hand of every worker, but especially 'Cam' Thom, the general chairman, 'Charley' Ingledue, who had charge of the precinct captains, and Lloyd Myers, who put on that magnificent parade. And then the newspapers! We are proud of them. Nor would I forget the theatre managers who ran the slides, and the City Council who worked so long to get the contract. But besides the fact of voting the electors, there has come out of this campaign a community spirit and unity of purpose to which we can safely trust the future of our city. The Realty board is fostering this spirit by having already invited the heads of the different clubs to its annual banquet.

"There were many heckling as well as amusing incidents in the campaign, but these we will now forget and all join hands for a 'Greater Glendale.' I want to thank all who took a part."

W. E. Hewitt, President Of C. of C., Is Gratiified

Yesterday at the polls the grist was separated from the chaff, when thousands of loyal Glendaleans showed a mere handful of obstructionists that they approve the contract with Los Angeles and are going to have sewers, is the way President W. E. Hewitt of the Chamber of Commerce sums up the election.

Final Figures on Election Gratify Leaders In Fight For Sewers

The interest felt all over Glendale in the success of the sewer bonds and contract is amply demonstrated by the final figures shown at the close of yesterday's election, when, out of a total registration of slightly over 12,000, the number of votes cast stood at 6,239, or 60 per cent of the total registration, a condition that is declared by men experienced in political work to be extremely rare at a special election.

Every precinct in the city indorsed the bond issue and the contract between the cities of Glendale and Los Angeles by much more than the required two-thirds vote, showing conclusively that the people of this city are definitely aligned behind a program that will keep Glendale in her present proud position as one of the most progressive cities of the nation.

Total of Six Votes

The smallest precinct, in point of numbers, No. 17, showed a total registration of six voters, and every one of them cast his or her ballot for both the bonds and the contract. Four of the voters in this precinct were on the election board.

Precinct No. 5 cast the heaviest vote at the polling place at 333 North Brand boulevard, a total of 704 being listed, with sentiment ranging around 10 to 1 in favor of both bonds and contract.

Now that the bonds and the agreement with Los Angeles have been so overwhelmingly indorsed (Continued on Page 3)

Complete Returns From 17 Precincts

Out of a total registration of about 12,000, voters to the number of 6239 went to the polls yesterday to cast ballots on the sewer bond project and the contract with the city of Los Angeles. A two-thirds vote was required to carry each project. And it was a ten-to-one victory for progress! The bonds received 5648 votes to 524 against. The contract received 5575 votes to 564 against. It was a landslide for prosperity! There were seventeen consolidated precincts and the complete returns follow:

STAGE BIG CELEBRATION OVER TEN-TO-ONE VICTORY

People Gather at Glendale Evening News Office and Celebrate; Hold Parade, Extend Hearty Congratulations

Jubilant Glendaleans last night celebrated the $1,600,000 sewer bond election victory at The Glendale Evening News office, following which Peter L. Hanson, president of the Glendale Realty Board, appointed Cameron D. Thom to lead a parade which roused the town at 10 o'clock.

Nearly 1000 interested real estate dealers, professional and business men and women gathered at The Glendale Evening News' office to get the first complete reports from the seventeen precincts. From 7 to 10 o'clock thousands of telephone calls were answered by an efficient office force.

Get Quick Action
 By organization The Glendale Evening News was able to give the results from all precincts as soon as they were tabulated by the precinct officials. Practically all public officials looked to this source for their information, which was bulletined accurately from 8:20 as a "Ten-to-One" victory for both the bonds and the contract.

At 9 o'clock Peter Hanson, commander-in-chief of the realtors, took the rostrum in The Evening News office and made a speech in which he pointed out the results of the successful campaign:

"First, perfect unity of Glendale civic organizations put down the project," said Mr. Hanson.

"Second, sensible people across the 'triumvirate' of obstructionists and...

"Third, the newspapers were main instruments in making victory possible."

Praises Evening News
 Mr. Hanson paid high tribute to A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, and his paper for its 100 per cent support.

Three cheers were led by Mr. Thom for the victory, while Cam Thom, chairman of the realty board's campaign committee, was giving a rousing "hurrah." Congratulations were in order on every hand and none was quite so satisfied as Mayor Spencer Robinson and Councilmen Davis, Kimball, Hall and Horn.

Two Dead, Forty Hurt In M. T. & K. Collision

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 9.—Two were dead and physicians held little hope today for the recovery of two of the forty persons injured when Missouri, Kansas & Texas passenger train number 23 and 26 crashed in a head-on collision at Hillendahl switch, near here, late last night.

Engineer Ed De Rossett and Fireman Edward Sullivan of number 23 were instantly killed. The crew of the other train, Lee Thomason, engineer, and Charles Deckhart, fireman, were believed fatally injured.

Both trains operated between Galveston and St. Louis. The engines, a baggage car and two mail cars, were demolished.

Confusion of orders was responsible, it was said.

COUNCIL AND CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE MEET, DECIDE ON METHOD TO PROCEED

Final Surveys Being Made by Engineers in Preparation of Specifications on Which Contractors Will Be Asked to Bid

Plans for the immediate launching of the construction of Glendale's $1,600,000 sewer system were considered this morning at a meeting of the City Council with the sewer campaign committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and steps will be taken at once to issue the bonds authorized by the voters of Glendale yesterday. President W. E. Hewitt of the Chamber of Commerce, was in the chair.

These bonds will be sold only as the city needs the money to meet the cost of installing the sewers, and by this means, it is declared, a considerable sum will be saved to the city interest.

V. B. Stone, right of way engineer, reported that only a small strip of territory remains over which rights of way are yet to be secured, and this matter will be taken up at once and brought to a successful conclusion.

Making Final Survey
 Chester A. Smith, of Burns & McDonnell, engineers, stated that his firm is now engaged on the final surveys and is preparing specifications on which the contractors will be asked to bid, and as soon as the figures are completed the city will advertise for these bids, on three types of construction.

The vote cast yesterday will be canvassed at once by the city officials.

Suggestions from All
 Mayor Robinson, in discussing the suggestion that an advisory committee be chosen to work with the City Council, stated that he is anxious to see the men and women who have worked so energetically for the passage of the bonds remain at their posts and aid the council in every way possible until the sewer system is entirely completed.

Councilman Sam Davis declares that, as councilman, he wants all citizens of Glendale to offer suggestions relative to the sewer proposition and that he will be glad to hear from any citizen.

Other members of the council also declared they wanted all citizens to bring forward suggestions, taking the view that the matter is of vital importance to every Glendale resident.

Senators to Continue Probe of Fall Loan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Not satisfied with the explanation given in writing by Edward B. McLean, millionaire Washington newspaper publisher, of the $100,000 unsecured loan he made to former Secretary of the Interior Albert H. Fall, in 1921, the senate public lands committee decided today to send a subcommittee to Palm Beach, Fla., to interrogate McLean, who is said to be too ill to come here.

Normand Films Face Ban In Massachusetts

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—Notice was sent out today by the directors of the Massachusetts branch, Motion Picture Owners of America, recommending to more than 500 theatres, members of the organization, that they refrain from showing films in which Mabel Normand appears.

Don't Get Impatient At Delay In Sewer Building

Glendale, "The Fastest Growing City in America," passed a great epoch in her phenomenal record last night when the final vote was cast, passing the $1,600,000 sewer bonds and ratifying the contract with the city of Los Angeles.

Glendale did not become the fastest growing city in America in one year or five, nor will her many brilliant possibilities be realized in a limited period of time.

It has been upon a sound foundation that the city of Glendale has developed through the years and the working out of the great sewer problem has been one of the important factors in this development.

The consummation of any great project requires time and patience, and now that Glendale has taken the great step toward securing a sewer system, time must be allowed for the installation of that system.

It will be a gigantic task, and require many months, and Glendaleans will eagerly watch its progress and anticipate its completion.

The great civic spirit that has passed the bonds will inspire the routine work of construction, and through the coming months helpful criticism instead of impatient knocking will be the thing that will boost this mammoth project and bring about a "Greater Glendale."

Birthday Surprise

John Smallman of Los Angeles, who is directing the Oratorio Section of the Glendale Music club in their work on Mendelssohn's
"Elijah" for presentation in March, was happily surprised last night at the close of the rehearsal at the high school, when he was invited to the Frank Arnold home at 211 East Lomita avenue for an informal affair celebrating his birthday.

In recognition of the birthday
Mr. Smallman was presented with a beautifully decorated birthday cake.

During the affair a most enjoyable and talented program was given.

Taking part was the Nevin quartet composed of Mesdames
Charles A. Parker, Helen Graham
Cole, A. M. Draper and Frank Arnold. They were most heartily applauded in their singing of "An Irish Folk Song" (Arthur Foote), with harp accompaniment by Mrs.
Enona Hopkins, and piano accompaniment by Mrs. L. N. Hagood.

Later in the evening, "In Mario, Parker" and "Annie Laurie," the latter unaccompanied.

Mrs. Hopkins was encored again and again for her delightful harp solos. She played "By the Sea" (Oberthur); "Presque Rien" (Te-deschi); "Romance" (Ruben-sch); and "Marionette" (Te-deschi).

Pleasing vocal numbers were given by Perry J. Rogers, accompanied by Mrs. Rogers. He sang
"Duna" (Josephine Maginn), and
"Uncle Rome" (Sidney Homer).

Mr. Phillips was another pearlist of the evening. Accompanied by Mrs. Phillips he sang "Song of Songs" (Moya), and "At Dawning" (Cadmam).

A special treat was when Mr.
Smallman consented to sing. Playing his own accompaniment he sang "Sweet Genevieve." In bidding the club members farewell he was most gracious in his appreciation of the compliment paid him and spoke most enthusiastically of the work of the Oratorio Section.

among those present to hear the reports, while W. E. Hewitt, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Lyman P. Clark, chairman of the Chamber's drive, as well as Secretary E. F. Sanders, kept constantly in touch with the returns through The Glendale Evening News service.

Praise Civic Spirit
Representatives of Burns & McDonnell, sanitary engineers, employed by the city, were also present to get the final returns, which they flashed to their headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. They expressed great admiration for the civic spirit evinced by the Glendale Realty board and Chamber of Commerce.

The Glendale Evening News takes this occasion to thank the many people outside of its employ who aided in making its election service so superior last night, while the employees were only too happy to record the victory.

Greater progress and prosperity are assured!

ADAMS' 'THINRIND' IS MASTERPIECE

Depicter of Still Life and Portraits Picks Meat Shop For Setting

CENTERVILLE, Ind., Jan. 9.—Wayman Adams, portrait and still-life painter, of two continents, a master of the palette and brush, produced his "masterpiece" here the other day in a butcher shop.

A strange story surrounds the painting of the interior of a shop owned by John H. Nixon, possessor of one of the finest collections of pictures in the Middle West.

It dates back to a time, many years ago, when Nixon, a butcher by trade, became interested in art. He began to collect pictures from the brushes of some of the prominent artists and in doing so became acquainted with Wayman Adams. Adams was on a visit to Indianapolis recently, and Nixon invited him to come to Centerville.

A slaughter house might seem a queer place to produce a painting. But history records that the flame of genius has burned in many odd places. Rembrandt's most celebrated canvases were painted in the dissecting room. Rosa Bonheur's greatest pictures were first seen in stables, cattle-pens and farmyards.

Shows Hogs' Heads
Adams' picture painted here measures 36 by 60 inches. It has three hogs' heads for central figures on the slaughter block, with several knives, a few pieces of meat, a butcher's coat, a pair of gloves and an old crack included. The high-lights are thrown in relief against a warmish red background, and a bright blue ladle-bucket furnishes a touch of color.

The technique of the artist is easily seen in the work. His bold brushwork and power of composition are things which make the whole painting fine.

Adams has painted portraits of a number of prominent persons. One of these, of the late President Harding, was completed only a few days before the chief executive's fateful Western trip. Others have been made of Prince Bibesco, Rumanian Minister to the United States; Irving Cobb and his daughter Meredith Nicholson; Booth Tarkington, James Whitcomb Riley, Kenesaw Mountain Landis and W. O. Bates.

His "The Jury" has created a great deal of comment from critics, and this canvas will represent him in the international exhibit at Rome this winter.

The painting made here has been named "Thinrind." It will be in the possession of Nixon until January, when it will be included in the exhibit of Indiana artists at Richmond, Ind., after which it will be sent East for exhibition.

Officers of Oakmont Club Are Re-Elected

The officers of the Oakmont Country club were re-elected last night when the newly-elected Board of Directors met at the Glendale State bank, 109 East Broadway.

Plans were also worked out for the completion of the club and golf course, with a view to holding the formal opening on or about February 15.

The officers re-elected were: Harry E. Hall, president; Roy L. Kent, vice-president, and A. R. Eastman, secretary-treasurer.

that the vote would go 'yes' on both ballots by 10 to 1 are more than gratified to be borne out," he says. "The people have expressed their will—and the last obstacle has been removed from the path of Glendale's growth.

"We can now say to the world: 'Come to Glendale, not only the fastest growing city in America but the most progressive and one that will soon have a sewer system the equal of any!'"

Thanks The News
"Many organizations deserve unstinted praise for their staunch support of this campaign, and none more than The Glendale Evening News, a paper which from the very start had its hat in the ring for the bonds 100 per cent and yielded a power that was directly reflected in the overwhelming victory. It is to such mediums as this that cities owe immeasurable debts of gratitude.

"The people of Glendale have expressed their abhorrence of a city of cesspools and have taken a step that will mean the safeguarding of our water supply, thus putting us forever beyond the clutches of annexationists who would plunge us into the turbulent pot of Los Angeles politics.

Benefit Themselves
"And the people of Glendale have benefited themselves from a financial as well as a sanitary angle, for today every piece of property within the city limits is more valuable by from 10 to 30 per cent than it was yesterday.

"Not only has property automatically increased in value by the assurance of sewers, but many big building projects, such as hotels, office buildings and factories, have been made possible. Tremendous expansion will mark the course of the city in 1924, together with a new high record in building permits and greatly increased population.

"Yesterday's election has designated Glendale to become a big city."

AFRICAN EMPIRE MENACES FRANCE

Fears Loss of Territory If Spanish and Italians Form Combine

PARIS, Jan. 9.—A military and naval alliance between Italy and Spain, menacing France's Mediterranean connection with her great African Empire—reservoir of power for the next war—is envisaged by the French press as a result of the visit of King Alfonso of Spain in Italy.

"Kings and Queens don't go to so much trouble for nothing," comments the Matin, and goes on to point out the disadvantages of the alliance from a French point of view.

Collaboration of the Italian and Spanish fleets in the Mediterranean would result in a combined naval force much more powerful than any France could muster in southern waters. Italy and Spain would have 31 cruisers against France's 15, 80 torpedo boats against France's 15 and 51 submarines against only 20 for France.

So long as the Anglo-French entente endures—and it seems now to be standing on its last legs—France has nothing to fear for the Italian-Spanish alliance could not counterbalance the British Mediterranean fleet. But once the entente goes to smash, France's connection with her African colonies will depend upon the suzerainty of Italy and of England.

Suggests Alliance
The press suggests that France should join in an alliance with Italy and Spain.

Judged by recent events, Mussolini—who is not at all Francophile—would not willingly accept such an arrangement. Indeed, most of the Mediterranean extension schemes are directed against France.

An indication of the situation in the recent anniversary celebration of Fascism in Italy. According to a Paris radical newspaper the Fascist legions carried banners on which were printed the map of Italy. Curiously the map included Corsica—a French possession—as Italian territory.

The uncertainty of the situation so far as France is concerned, makes a race for Mediterranean supremacy within the limits of the Washington conference, seem inevitable. At least the French building program, now before the Senate and Chamber, will be seriously considered at the present extraordinary session of Parliament.

Watch Glendale Grow
City Manager W. H. Reeves was likewise enthusiastic over the outcome.

"Yesterday morning I predicted that the bonds would carry and the contract be approved by a large majority, but did not dare to prophesy that the vote would be so overwhelmingly in favor of the issue," he said.

"In the face of the wonderful strides which Glendale has made in the last few years, it seems out of place to say that anything has held it back. But, if any phase of the municipality has had a tendency to do this, it has been the lack of proper sewage facilities.

"I have always been a firm believer in Glendale's future. "Now watch Glendale grow." Council to Meet
At the regular meeting of the City Council tomorrow morning, the vote will be certified, if found correct. The next step will be the preparation of the bonds by the city attorney, Ray L. Morrow. When these are completed they will be placed on the market and bids asked for.

"We will not lose a minute in carrying out the preliminary work preparatory to the real work of construction," said the city manager this morning. "Glendale will have sewers at the earliest possible moment."

WOULD PRESERVE HISTORIC MANOR

Seek Funds to Perpetuate Old Ancestral Home of George Washington

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 9.—An effort to secure an endowment fund for Sulgrave Manor in Northamptonshire, Eng., the home of the English ancestor of George Washington, has just been launched through-out Tennessee. The drive, which is of a national scope, is being fostered by the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America. Each state has been given an allotment and Mrs. C. C. Nottingham, of this city, is Tennessee's chairman for the fund.

In making an appeal for contributions recently, Mrs. Nottingham said:

"This quaint old mansestead of George Washington's ancestors, rich in historic memories, was purchased in 1914 as a gift from a number of publicspirited English men and women to the people of the United States and England as a memorial to their common inheritance and in celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the signing of the treaty of Ghent, which marked 100 years of peace between the two nations.

"We share with England all her history before the American Revolution. Shakespeare is ours, as well as England's Oxford and Westminster are ours. They are a part of our common heritage. But the old Washington manor is especially our own; our flag floats over it and the place should be our care for all time to come.

Coat of Arms
"The oldest part of the Manor House was built by Washington's ancestors. Over its door is the Washington coat of arms, with the stars and stripes, which furnished the inspiration and the design for our own flag with its thirteen stripes and its forty-eight stars. Washington's ancestors were living at Sulgrave when the first shipload of colonists landed at Jamestown in 1607 and almost came to Plymouth in 1620. John Washington, Washington's great grandfather, was born at Sulgrave and came to America in 1620.

"We guarantee two things to the donor of every dollar, or more, to this fund: first, that every penny contributed will go to the fund without any deduction for expenses; second, that the name of each contributor will be enrolled in a volume to be preserved at Sulgrave."

The endowment fund, it was stated, will be administered by a board of trustees, made up of representatives of Great Britain and the United States, with the American Ambassador to the Court of St. James's as chairman. Other members of the board are: Viscount Bryce in memoriam; Viscount Cowdray, Earl Spencer, Sir Henry E. Brittain, Lord Wear-dale, Robert Donald, Charles P. Taft, J. P. Morgan, Major General Wood, John S. Stewart and H. S. Perris.

The president has gone to the western front to inspect the federals who will go into action on receipt of the arms and munitions purchased from the United States government.

PUBLICITY CHIEF EXPRESSES THANKS
Lyman P. Clark Congratulates All Who In Any Way Aided Campaign

Lyman P. Clark, chairman of publicity for the sewer bond organization, gives The Glendale Evening News the following self-explanatory communication:

Editor The Evening News:—Now that the $1,600,000 sewer bond issue has been voted and the agreement with Los Angeles to care for Glendale's sewerage has been ratified by such a splendid majority, I want to take this opportunity, as chairman of the sewer publicity committee of the Chamber of Commerce, to thank The Glendale Evening News for the wonderful part it had in the culmination of this big victory.

In previous civic campaigns with which I have been connected it has never been my pleasure to have such complete co-operation on the part of the newspapers and the public, especially the Glendale Realty board, the Chamber of Commerce, the churches, service clubs—in fact, every organization, when they were called upon to do anything in connection with this campaign, responded wholeheartedly.

It was this enthusiastic co-operation and demonstration of civic spirit that made the sewer bond campaign such a success. I was only glad to do my duty in the winning of Glendale's greatest victory of progress.

LYMAN P. CLARK.

Head of Transportation Expresses Sincere Thanks

Ample means of transportation to and from the polling places was a big factor in the success of the bond election yesterday, and M. Walters, chairman of transportation for the bond organization, has received many compliments for his committee's work.

But Mr. Walters shared honors with everyone who contributed in any way, and he takes occasion to heartily thank everyone who gave the use of an automobile, and also The Glendale Evening News for the generous publicity on the call for cars.

"Transportation gets many people out to vote," said Mr. Walters this morning, "and that's what we were after yesterday. We got many votes for the bonds this way and I will sincerely thank everyone who helped me and my committee in any way."

by the voters of Glendale, every possible speed will be made to wind up the remaining legal details in connection with the issue of the $1,600,000 responsibility that the people of this city have so gladly shouldered. The City Council will tomorrow morning meet to canvass the returns.

Do Great Work
Representatives of every civic organization were on the firing line from early morning until the polls closed, hauling voters, checking up on those who had not voted, and exercising an immense influence on the result of the election.

The organization formed by the Glendale Realty Board, to cover every precinct in the city, furnished with the smoothness of a well oiled machine, and the men who donated the use of their cars to the committee were another big factor in the result that is so gratifying to the progressive citizens of Glendale.

ARMED FANATICS SLAY POLICEMEN

School Teachers Abducted In Uprising of Filipino Religious Sect

MANILA, Jan. 9.—Five constabulary men and two policemen were killed and two school teachers abducted by an armed band of 2000 "colerums" on the islands of Ducas and Surigao, north of Mindanao.

The "colerums" are a fanatical Christian religious sect, given to weird and often immoral rites and are usually found in remote regions of the archipelago where they have gained considerable following among the most ignorant Filipinos. Branches are located in the San Cristobal mountains of Luzon and in the mountains of Negros province.

'East Is West' By Royal Stock Players

The famous Chinese oddity, "East Is West," opens tonight at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, produced by the Royal Stock company, with Edythe Elliott in the role played by Fay Bainter in the original New York company.

Miss Elliott will wear the exquisite gown worn by Constance Talmadge in the screen version, states Charles E. Royal. This gown, he says, originally cost $8,000 and is one of the most gorgeous things ever worn on the stage.

Miss Elliott is one among a cast of sixteen professional players who will combine their efforts to "offer this gigantic production of 'East Is West.'"

The play will be presented tonight, Thursday and Saturday nights, at 8:20 o'clock, with a 2:30 o'clock Saturday matinee. No performance will be given Friday night when the Royal Stock company will relinquish the theatre to the Tuesday Afternoon club for a special offering.

Court Declines Bar on Klan's Documents

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The supreme court of the United States has denied a petition for review of a decision of the United States district court at New York refusing to restrain publication in Hearst's International Magazine of letters, documents, list of members, or other papers of the Ku Klux Klan.

Stranded Japanese Steamer Re-Floated

SEATTLE, Jan. 9.—The Japanese steamer Hakubo Maru, which went ashore forty miles north of the Columbia river last night, floated at 2:30 o'clock this morning, according to Seattle harbor department radio advices. It not stated what damage, if any, the vessel sustained.

Announcement:

In another portion of this paper you will see an announcement by THE COMALT CO., INC., of GLENDALE. This deserves more than a mere reading, because success of The Comalt Co. and its products means Glendale success, added strength to local industry and more income generally. Your aid loaned to local industries simply means building up your own city and becoming interested in a plant that is built, operating and expanding. There is no charity in this; it is a pure business proposition that will result in a safe, sane, conservative investment and every dollar subscribed goes into the business.

Read the other announcement carefully, then ACT, or, better still, come down to the plant and see what you are being told about.

It is up to you to become sufficiently alive to the building up of the commercial side of Glendale, to realize what this means, and to lend your assistance to a Glendale industry that is destined to become nationally famous.

The COMALT Company

Incorporated

A California Corporation with Glendale Assets

You have all heard about COMALT and the other products of the S. W. BROWN CO., INC., which is now succeeded by the COMALT CO., INC.

Until quite recently the capitalization of the old company was on a basis that was consistent with the business but not large enough to handle the tremendously increased business that has come since COMALT was put before the public.

During the last three months the business of the Company has increased to the point where it has become absolutely necessary that more capital be available for expansion purposes, and for this reason the old corporation was retired and succeeded by the COMALT CO., INC.

All the original stockholders still retain their holdings and enough new ones will be secured to make available sufficient capital to put the company in position to handle the immense new volume of business adequately.

COMALT was put before the trade purely on merit and met with an immediate 100% response, the result of which is that the COMALT CO., INC., has on hand at this moment contracts aggregating several hundred thousand gallons of syrup, which will result in an excellent profit to the company and consequently to the stockholders.

The COMALT CO., INC., owns and controls plant, buildings, machinery, formulas, processes and all U. S. rights, which are being handled solely under FRANCHISE under the supervision of this Company, so that COMALT wherever used or sold is always under the direct handling and processes of the Company.

The COMALT CO. comes to you not as a company seeking a market for a product, but as a company seeking additional working capital to handle the business already in existence, and take care of the future.

MARKETS—Demand for COMALT is nation-wide, as the syrup form in which it is made makes it easy of handling and transport, and the syrup is not affected by climatic conditions.

All the officers and directors are men active in the business life of Glendale and Los Angeles and their association is very valuable, as they are taking a keen interest in progress and development and devoting their thought to the building up of the business.

PROFITS—The average profit per gallon of COMALT syrup to the Company is very liberal, even when the present high cost of materials is used in figuring.

From the above you will see what an attractive investment COMALT is offering you with the added fact that this is a GLENDALE business that means expansion and added growth to the city.

A small amount of stock is being offered to the public at the par value of $10.00 per share and the sale is BY THE COMPANY, FOR THE SOLE BENEFIT OF THE COMPANY. NO PROMOTION STOCK, and every dollar accruing to the benefit of the Company for business purposes.

Commercial investments of this character are safe, sane and have a good earning capacity in an existing plant with tangible assets and an established reputation.

Officers of the COMALT CO., INC., are:

- Wm. Roslington.....President
- W. F. Ross.....Vice-President
- A. D. Mars.....Sec'y-Treas.
- F. J. Benneson.....Director
- H. D. Mackinnon.....Director
- F. M. Brooks.....Director

LACROSSE TEAMS CHAMP MAY MEET TO PLAY IN U. S. ENGLISH BOXER Oxford and Cambridge Will Dempsey Intimates Trip To Europe; Fight Fans See Hope For Match

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Oxford and Cambridge Universities England, will again invade the United States in 1924.

The main ingredient of the dish is a championship battle between the English colleges' lacrosse management to manage the American tour of the Britishers, will refer the matter to the Intercollegiate Lacrosse League, which holds its annual meeting in New York early in December.

These two statements come from the Syracuse University athletic headquarters, which made public the request for an American schedule sent here by Lord Wansbrough, captain of the joint Oxford-Cambridge twelve.

At the same time the English universities invite the Syracuse University team to make a second invasion of England in 1925.

Syracuse holds the international lacrosse trophy, won on its English tour last summer.

It is to regain this trophy, now held by Syracuse, that Oxford-Cambridge is planning to come to the States in 1924.

Several reasons entered into the Syracuse decision to refer the British invitation and defl to the Intercollegiate League. Syracuse does not want to have a monopoly upon international lacrosse, particularly when other good teams, such as Johns Hopkins and the Crescent A. C., are clamoring for the opportunity of extending their lacrosse relations with England.

Arranging the details of the British trip is quite a task also.

Although Syracuse is declining the responsibility of acting as host, the Orange will certainly give Oxford-Cambridge a game or their tour of next spring. Dr. Laurie D. Cox, Syracuse coach, said.

Whether Dempsey is inveigled into a match or not it is probable that Bloomfield and Carpenter will meet in the near future. Bloomfield is considered the likeliest young heavyweight in Europe and the legitimate successor to Carpenter as the European champion. He is fast, very shifty on his feet and packs a wicked punch. He will weigh around 175 pounds in his present fighting trim and should add a few pounds to that as he matures. Scores of capable judges of fighters believe that Bloomfield can "take" Georges any time he starts against him.

It can hardly be argued, even by Bloomfield's most enthusiastic supporters, that he is good enough to conquer Dempsey; but, if he beats Dempsey is arranged, he undoubtedly would give a better account of himself than any other scrapper in Europe.

The "big" that makes it seem improbable that Dempsey will indulge in a match here is the reluctance of European promoters to talk about money with the largesse to which Jack is accustomed. A purse of $100,000 would look as big as Mount Everest to English promoters, while it would look like Bunker Hill to Dempsey. Jack Kearns' recent reputed statement that Dempsey would ask $1,000,000 for his next fight rules the British impresarios out, for none of them could be convinced that there is that much money.

If, however, the well-known mounter should amble over toward Mohammed and Dempsey should consent to fight Bloomfield or Carpenter, or anyone else over here, they would have

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Jack Dempsey's recent intimation that he intends to visit Europe again within the next few months has cultivated a crop of rumors that he may display his pugilistic talents in a British ring while he is on this side of the Atlantic.

Without having anything really tangible in the way of fact, some of the boys that write pieces for the London papers have cooked up a nice little dish for Dempsey. The main ingredient of the dish is a championship battle between the world's title holder and a European opponent at Wembley Stadium, where the British Empire Exhibition is to be held next summer.

According to one version of the story, a certain English promoter has booked the Wembley Stadium for a match in which Dempsey has tentatively agreed to participate. The opponent suggested is either Georges Carpenter or Jack Bloomfield, a promising young British heavyweight.

Carpenter and Bloomfield, it is reported, are to have the privilege of fighting each other for the honor of incurring a match with Dempsey. This argument, according to present schedule, is to be staged in London some time in February.

Goddard "Out"

Although Frank Goddard, a burly Australian, is officially recognized as the heavyweight champion of England, it is noticeable that he is not being considered as a possible opponent for Dempsey, while the man whom Goddard beat to win his title is in the front rank of possible adversaries.

Goddard won his title lying on his back, listening to the mocking birds, after Bloomfield had knocked him out in the second round. His victory was entirely due to the fact that the punch with which Bloomfield lugged him to sleep was a foul.

Bloomfield is considered the likeliest young heavyweight in Europe and the legitimate successor to Carpenter as the European champion. He is fast, very shifty on his feet and packs a wicked punch. WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Youth and a college education, rather than experience and mature years, are the prime requisites for officers of the army of the United States, according to figures recently compiled by the statistical branch of the army.

These figures show that out of 114 officers who have just received their commissions over $4 per cent were either college graduates or had had college training. The average age of officers appointed was 24 years, and the majority were under 24 years. Many were under 24, and one was 20 years and nine months old at the time of his appointment.

Of the 114 men who received commissions only 17 had never attended college, and of these the majority had seen former military service in the Regular Army.

On the other hand, 36 were civilians, without former active army service; 17 were civilians, with former active army service, and nine were enlisted men in the Regular Army.

Army officials attribute the increase in the number of college men applying for commissions in the army to the courses in military training which have become a part of the regular curriculum in many schools and colleges throughout the country.

Before the war the army as a profession was not considered by the average college man, officials say, because he was never brought into contact with it, and the opportunities it afforded were never given the proper publicity.

This was due to the old military policy of considering the army as an organization entirely separate and distinct from civil life in every way. The war brought about a great change in this attitude.

Weeks and General Pershing are conducting the affairs of the War Department now along lines which they hope will influence the public to take a greater interest in military affairs.

As an example of this policy newspaper correspondents to look over the military plans of the General Staff, an unprecedented action.

CORRECT REPORT ON TAX FILINGS

Dairymen Must File Returns On Income, Declares U. S. Collector

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodell yesterday corrected a report which has gained wide circulation, to the effect that southern California dairymen are not required to file income tax returns.

Inquiries from many sections of the district have reached Collector Goodell. Pasadena seems to be the center of the erroneous interpretation of the income tax law as regards dairymen.

Collector Goodell believes that the report regarding the exemption of dairymen originated in a ruling of the internal revenue bureau, which, in effect, held that co-operative associations, such as sales agents for farmers, fruit growers and dairymen, and turning back to the producers the proceeds of the sales of their products, less the necessary operating expenses, on the basis of the produce furnished them, are exempt from income tax and are not required to file a return.

This ruling does not exempt the individual dairyman or farmer. Every dairyman who is married and whose net income was $2000 or more, or, if single, $1000 or more, must file a return on Form 1040 or be liable to a heavy penalty. If he engages in farming, he must also file Form 1040-F, which is a schedule of farm income and expense, with his 1040 return.

An assembly of interest was held Tuesday at Glendale Avenue school, with Principal Norman R. Whytock presiding. Boys of the senior, junior and midget soccer teams and those of the three touchball teams were presented with the letters to which they are entitled for athletics during the present term of school.

Presentation of the letters was made by H. E. Bremer, assistant director of physical training. Letters were presented to the girls of the three volleyball teams by Miss Natalie Mackay.

Principal Whytock spoke a word of commendation to the students for their work in athletics, and also outlined plans for the "newspaper drive" that is to be conducted, the proceeds to go to the school library fund. Chorus singing was directed by Miss Mildred Hughey.

IRISH TENOR IN FRIDAY CONCERT

Allen McQuhae to Appear On Event Presented By Music Club

Glendale is to become acquainted with Allen McQuhae, young Irish tenor, Friday night, when he will sing before the Glendale Music club in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

His concert is one of the big events of the Music club's current year and a filled auditorium is to greet the world-known singer. The following description has been given of Mr. McQuhae: "With an open, smiling face and a winning way about him, he makes friends of his audiences before they have a chance to hear that sweet tenor voice, which is full of the soft, balmy air of County Wicklow, from whence he came originally.

"He has broad shoulders and a fine pair of fists, which stood him in good stead in the rough days, when he was working out in the Canadian Northwest and in the Klondike.

Won War Honors

"He is a favorite singer with the Knights of Columbus, and last fall, a year ago, he was chosen to sing at the convention of the American Legion in Cleveland, for he went overseas, got a commission over there and brought home two citations."

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Music club, announces that reserved seats can be secured at the Brunswick shop on South Brand boulevard. Only a limited number of seats are left and those desiring good ones should secure them at once. Season tickets for five events are obtainable from Mrs. Warren Roberts, treasurer.

Suffers Broken Arm In Automobile Crash

Fred Donnelly, of 430 North Grand avenue, Los Angeles, was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and hospital suffering from a broken arm and other bruises and cuts late yesterday afternoon as the result of an automobile accident at the corner of California and Orange streets.

Mrs. Edith Sadler, connected with the City Health department as city nurse, was going west on California, and Donnelly was driving on Orange. In an attempt to avoid a collision at the intersection, he swung his car sharply to the left, the rear of his machine striking the front wheels of Mrs. Sadler's car. Mr. Donnelly's machine was overturned.

Mrs. Donnelly, riding with her husband, was slightly injured. Mrs. Sadler was unhurt.

Annexation Fever Reduced, Says Tower

Editor, The Evening News: Not only has the landslide vote of yesterday decisively settled the sewer question and cleared the way for Glendale's advancement "all along the line," but another gratifying result is that the annexation fever has received a decided chill and setback for at least five years. By that time Glendale's progress will be such that the thinking element of the annexationists will abandon the idea forever.

AUTOIST BURNED BY FLAMING CAR

Ray Tillman Is Injured When Machine Leaps Off Canyon Road

Ray Tillman, said to be from Glendale, was painfully burned Sunday when his automobile shot off the road in Brea canyon and then caught fire. Reports state that Mr. Tillman was badly burned about the hands and face and bruised about the body. His clothing was badly torn.

Following the accident he was taken to the Pomona Valley hospital, where he remained until Monday.

An account from Pomona states: "There are two questions that Mr. Tillman is unable to answer and they are, how his machine happened to shoot off the road in Brea canyon and how it happened to catch fire after it had made the leap.

"He was evidently overcome by heat and smoke while attempting to beat out the flames, which were rapidly consuming his machine.

"According to his own story he was on his way from Long Beach to Pomona Sunday morning to visit friends. While making one of the sharp turns on the Brea canyon highway he said that something appeared to go wrong with the steering wheel and he was unable to make the turn. Instead the machine shot over the bank, where there is a drop of 100 feet or more.

Leaps from Car

"He jumped from the car and it continued in its wild plunge. Just how it happened to catch fire Tillman does not know, but when he started towards the place where it had come to a stop, flames burst forth. It was suggested here that the car must have turned a somersault and caught on fire in that way. The car was a new one, recently purchased in Pomona.

"The remains of the car, which smoldered all day Sunday," attracted the attention of hundreds of Sunday motorists passing through the canyon and brought calls to the police and to the fire department."

Mr. Tillman is not listed in the Glendale city directory, but possibly became a resident of this city after the 1923 directory was compiled.

There were 300 churches of one church for every 800 inhabitants, in Mexico City.

INDIANS IN U. S. GAIN IN RICHES

Educational Fund Indicates Increase in Number of School Children

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Contrary to popular belief, the Indian population in the United States is increasing, rather than falling off, according to figures made public here today by Charles H. Burke, United States Commissioner of Indian Affairs, in his annual report to Secretary of the Interior Work.

The population of the Indians in the United States, exclusive of Alaska, is now 24,302, Burke said, compared with 24,917 in 1922. The present population is an increase of 13,664 since 1913.

The total value of the individual and tribal property of American Indians at the close of the last fiscal year on June 30 was placed at $1,010,870,519, a gain of $283,124,122 over the preceding year and $343,939,256 more than in 1913. In the total for June 30, 1923, is included the value of oil, gas, coal and other minerals estimated at $250,000,000.

Educational activities among the Indians were stressed by Commissioner Burke. He said the number of eligible Indian children not in school was reduced by more than 5,000 during the year, while special attention is being given to home economics and home building by special supervisors.

Health Problems

The most difficult health problem in caring for the Indians is the prevention of trachoma, pneumonia and tuberculosis, the commissioner said, and he urged the kind of additional sanatoria, schools and general hospitalization, with some increase of nurses and field matrons. He also recommended a hospital for crippled children.

The operation and maintenance of fifty irrigation projects was continued in Indian reservations during the year. Further undertakings included the restoration to cultivation of about 9,000 acres of Pueblo lands in New Mexico; the drilling of additional wells on the Navajo and Hopi reservations; lining the main canal on the River project, Arizona, to conserve water for 1,000 acres more; the construction of a dam across the Gila river, Arizona, that will provide irrigation for 35,000 acres of Indian lands, and other projects in the southwest. Work begun on the Fort Hall reservation, Idaho, will provide irrigation for 52,000 acres, and agreements effected with the Empire Irrigation District of Bancroft, Idaho, will furnish water for about 50,000 acres more of Indian lands in that state.

Other construction under way will add largely to water supplies on the Shoshone Reservation, Wyoming, the Yakima Reservation, Washington, and the Crow Reservation, Montana.

School Facilities

The Chickasaw of Minnesota were provided with additional further facilities, physicians and further rationing of the old. A commission appointed by the Department awarded them $1,490,195.50 as due for lands and timber taken for the Minnesota National Forest.

The report shows a substantial increase in the number of Indians farming, in their cultivated acreage, in the use of modern machinery. There was a marked reduction of the depression of livestock interests.

The year's leaseholdings for oil and gas mining exceeded 300,000 acres; the gross oil production was about 54,000,000 barrels, and the revenue to the Indians from existing leases was approximately $27,000,000. In the Osage Reservation, Oklahoma, 67,864 acres were offered for lease, 48,031 being sold for a bonus of $1,246,000. Over 150,000 acres of leases sold for more than $1,000,000 each, the highest price paid for any one tract being $1,325,000. The Osages received $30,572,111.14 from existing oil and gas leases. In the Five Civilized Tribes leases for oil and mining embraced 197,540 acres, and the total oil and gas revenue was $5,591,008.43.

Special effort made during the year to draw attention to the opportunities for successful logging and milling operations on Indian reservations resulted in favorable sales on the Quinalt and Colville reservations, in the state of Washington. Commissioner Burke said, and also in Oregon, Montana and Idaho. The lumber sales totaled $7,000,000.

Aide To Wilhelm Is New Mayor of Broek

DOORN, Ireland, Jan. 9.—The household of Huis Doorn, the former kaiser's exile estate here, is about to lose one of its most important members. P. J. Peereboom, who has just been appointed by Order of Council to become burgomaster of Broek, in Waterland. This is an uncommon honor, for with his 27 years Peereboom will be the youngest mayor in the Netherlands.

For the last three and a half years Peereboom has acted as secretary to the court marshal, which is the title that the ex-kaiser's right-hand man still retains in this little fenced-off "phantom empire." Peereboom is the only Hollander in Wilhelm's household. His father is mayor of Wieringen, where the former crown prince was exiled up to recently—so that between the two, father and son, had the elder and younger Hohenzollern pretty well "tied up."

Broek in Waterland is an attractive little place near Amsterdam, and is world-famed as the cleanest village in Holland. It is one of the favorite spots of American and English tourists.

Corn Continues to Reign on American Farms As Value of Crops Goes Up More Than Billion

This chart shows graphically the increase in crop values and acreage in the United States in 1923, and the production of the principal crops in the year as compared with 1922.

LABOR DECLARES AGAINST PAPERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Peanuts, peanuts, peanuts. You wouldn't suppose that the goobers which figure chiefly at ball games are one of the ten most important crops of the United States, would you? Well, they are. They stand after corn, which continues to be king, and cotton, wheat, oats, potatoes, tobacco, apples, oranges and beans.

The value of the crops raised by the American farmer was more than a billion dollars greater in 1923 than in 1922. That is the increase in crop values. Livestock is not considered in the figuring. There was increased production of winter wheat, corn, tobacco and beans, and decreased production of spring wheat, white potatoes, sweet potatoes, rice, cotton, peaches, apples and peanuts.

There was an increase in the acreage under cultivation, but an increase considerably under that registered in 1922 over 1921. The increase in 1922 was 1,639,970 acres, but only 603,530 in 1923.

An increase in acreage and crop production every year is demanded by the ever-increasing population of the United States.

Iowa, Illinois, Texas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Missouri, California, Kansas, Ohio and Indiana lead the states in the order named in the value of farm property, but the leading states in value of farm crops are Texas, Iowa, Illinois, Ohio, California, Kansas, Oklahoma, Georgia and Nebraska.

The value of the crops raised in 1923, based on farm prices of December 1, follows:

Corn	$2,222,013,000
Winter Wheat	1,563,347,000
Oats	543,825,000
White Potatoes	539,253,000
Tobacco	412,392,000
Apples	295,936,000
Sweet Potatoes	201,110,000
Spring Wheat	181,675,000
Oranges	155,061,000
Beans	144,430,000
Peanuts	137,075,000
Rice	136,686,000
Onions	122,011,000
Cabbage	17,183,000

Enter Many Bowling Teams For Tourneys

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 9.—With more than 150 entries now in and requests for more than 50 additional reservations on file, the 1924 tournament of the Elks' National Bowling Association, which will be held in Lima, O., in February, already is assured of a record-breaking 22 of entries.

Secretary John M. A. Galen, of this city, today declared he was confident the 500 mark would be reached, as the closing of the entries is still a week away.

Chicago is relied upon to send 40 teams; Cleveland, 20; Toledo 15; Detroit, 50; Lima, 30; Cincinnati, 10; Fort Wayne, 10; South Bend, 3; Louisville (which seeks the next tourney), 5; New York, 2; Buffalo, 3; Columbus, 8; Milwaukee, 10, among the larger cities.

In the event the entries reach the 500 mark arrangements will be made for rolling the affair off on the Elks alleys and the Knights of Columbus alleys in Lima.

Libby Urges America To Join World Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 9.—"The next war in Europe, if it comes, will be caused by the Versailles Treaty," said Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, addressing a local audience.

"Russia will be a Power to be reckoned with within the next ten years. Germany will recover in spite of anything France may do," continued Secretary Libby.

"Russia and Germany will be in a position to demand the return of Alsace-Lorraine, and France won't be able to prevent it.

"We must have a court which is competent to change the Versailles Treaty so that it will be based on the principles of justice, not upon the fortunes of war. The first step is to get into the World Court. Then we can help it to develop successfully. If we can get around the corner a new era awaits us. If we fail to get around that corner civilization will be at an end," asserted Secretary Libby.

Beverly Hills Plans to Buy Water System

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—The Beverly Hills Utilities Company of Beverly Hills, Los Angeles county, has applied to the railroad commission for authority to sell its water plant and distributing system to the city of Beverly Hills at an agreed price of $250,000.

English Laborite Intimates Action By Journalists And Printers

Huge Merchant Marine Stirs Fear of Powerful Foe At Nation's Door

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Possible labor action against England's new combine of newspapers has been hinted at by Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Labor Party.

Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Rothermere have been the objects of bitter attacks since they formed the combine which now holds control of the London press, but it remained for Ramsay MacDonald to intimate that action be taken against the combine by organized journalists and printers, if the combine isn't good.

MacDonald attacked the combine for some of its statements with regard to Labor's policies and then made these significant remarks:

"I hope that the time is not far off when the National Union of Journalists, for the sake of the reputation of the profession to which I myself am proud to belong, will consider this type of reputable journalism, and that printers will, if moral agencies fail, and a sense of decency cannot be relied on, themselves decline to be made the tools of such scoundrelly action."

Strike Looms

A strike against the combine for its attacks upon the Labor party was evidently what MacDonald meant.

The newspaper workers in England are solidly organized and there is no doubt but that the unions working together could tie up the operations of the newspaper combine, but whether they will have the courage to take such action is another matter.

At present there is a surplus of newspaper workers in London, and every newspaper in and out of the combine is fully staffed, some overstuffed. A strike against the combine would mean that the strikers must have sufficient funds to carry on a prolonged fight, for there are no new fields of endeavor to which the men can turn for self-support.

Antagonism against the combine continues to grow, however.

"It is bad enough to have the press monopolized as it now is, so the opinions you read, if ever you waste your time in reading the stuff that is being produced, are those of one or two men," MacDonald declared. "It is very much worse that the owners of newspapers can buy a man to do the dirty work of the familiar masked Italian attacker, who used to stand in the shadow of the doorways and courtyards to stab his victim in the back."

Illinois Picks Out Strongest Opponents

URBANA, Ill., Jan. 9.—Bob Zupke, football coach at the University of Illinois, is a "big game hunter," according to a sports bulletin issued by the university. The little coach picks the strongest opponents he can find, it is asserted.

"A tough schedule makes a tough team," is Zupke's unadorned logic, the bulletin asserts, whereupon the following statistics are set forth in substantiation:

The complete Illinois schedule:

- October 4—Nebraska, at Lincoln.
- October 11—Butler, at Illinois.
- October 18—Michigan, at Illinois.
- October 25—Depauw, at Illinois.
- November 1—Iowa, at Illinois.
- November 8—Chicago, at Chicago.
- November 15—Minnesota, at Minneapolis.
- November 22—Ohio State, at Illinois.

Says Kitchen Refuse Cause of Jap Quake

PARIS, Jan. 9.—Japan's earthquake was caused by the accumulation of kitchen refuse on the earth's surface and not by an underground inner movement of the earth's molten center.

That's the theory of the learned Adrien Guebhard, expressed in a thesis recently read before the French Academy of Sciences.

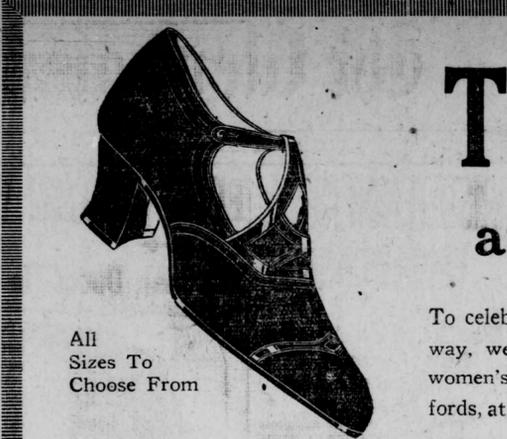

Tokyo and Yokohama grew too fast, M. Guebhard pointed out, and the steady accumulation of garbage, layer after layer, year after year, finally brought the earth's crust to the saturation point.

Then, one fine morning, a not too thrifty Japanese housewife jumped into her garden a particularly large quota of kitchen refuse. Like the fatal last drop of water and the straw that broke the camel's back, the last can of garbage destroyed the earth crust's hydrostatic balance—hence the earthquake.

M. Guebhard's thesis, couched in highbrow French, Latin and Greek was printed in its entirety in the Journal Officiel, the newspaper in which state decrees are published before they can become laws.

REBUILD RAILROADS

Practically all of Japan's 8000 miles of railways are to be rebuilt of standard gauge.

ARTIST RECALLS 'SIX DEAD LIVES'

British Painter Goes Back to Various Incarnations Of Centuries Ago

LONDON, Jan. 9.—A well-known British artist declares himself to be a "man of six dead lives."

He is Henry G. Massey, principal of the Heatherley School of Art, and he is convinced that he has knowledge of six distinct lives or incarnations. He believes his memory has defied death and physical disintegration. He claims to remember when he was a priest deep in the mysteries of Isis in Egypt; days when as a Phoenician gold worker he fashioned subtle filigree work and days when he was a Greek philosopher.

His story recalls the sensation created at the British association this year when Captain Pape, a young Scotch scientist, claimed there are men in the world with "time-machine brains" capable of living in the past.

"My recollections are unthought and require no effort," states Massey. "I am not dreaming when the recollections leap into mind. I simply go back."

"A few days ago I went back for twenty minutes. I walked up the Egyptian temple that I know so well, although I have never been in Egypt. I saw a procession of priests winding between the great pillars. They stopped, me, saying: 'Come no further! You are not purified.'

"My wife at that moment walked in from the next room, saying that she had felt unaccountably anxious on my account."

"There is a picture in my studio illustrating a Greek philosopher instructing a young girl beneath a tree. The philosopher has my face.

Paints Former Lives

"That is the only proof an occultist can give. I painted that picture subconsciously. I had no idea of what I was doing, but the resemblance to myself is obvious."

"Another picture of mine representing a Viking and his wife standing on the top of a hill is also a subconscious production. The Viking is myself, and the lady is my wife."

"I have a hazy recollection of being initiated into a secret society during the Middle Ages—probably the Rosicrucians. I remember also a life when I was working as an architect and engineer, under Leonardo da Vinci, on an aqueduct outside Rome."

She Might Be 'Crazy' But Court Rules Not

AMARILLO, Texas, Jan. 9.—Because her husband said she was crazy for accusing him of giving money during the Rosicrucians, probably the Rosicrucians, I remember also a life when I was working as an architect and engineer, under Leonardo da Vinci, on an aqueduct outside Rome."

Rebuilding Work In France Going Ahead

PARIS, Jan. 9.—More than 20,000 of the 22,900 French factories destroyed by the Germans during the war have been reconstructed; 88 per cent of the destroyed land is again under cultivation; 598,000 of the 741,000 homes destroyed have been rebuilt, and the population of the devastated regions has returned to the pre-war normal.

According to French official figures, this reconstruction until the end of this year, will have cost France 66 billion francs, while 35 billion francs have been paid to French citizens in war damages.

USELESS WEEVIL REMEDIES SCORED

U. S. Will Act to Drive All Worthless Preparations Out of Existence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—"The widespread ravages of the cotton boll weevil in southern cotton fields have brought to the front a lot of new theories as to the use of new remedies in exterminating the pest, the Insecticide and Fungicide Board of the Department of Agriculture reported.

"The board has attempted to collect all of these, with the idea of submitting them to analysis and test," the report stated. "This is a tremendous undertaking, and it probably will take several years' work before this situation is cleaned up and worthless preparations driven off the market."

The report calls attention to the fact that this work cannot be carried to completion until Congress authorizes additional funds.

"The campaign inaugurated in 1919 involving the inspection of the domestic supply of calcium arsenate used for cotton boll weevil control was continued during the fiscal year 1923, and it was found that the composition of this article was growing more constant and satisfactory from the point of view of control and lack of burning qualities," the report states.

"However, enough of the off-grade material continues on the market to demand our attention. One of the outstanding new features of our control work during the past year was the investigation of large shipments of calcium arsenate sent in from abroad. Up to the present year some large shipments came from Germany and England. Investigation showed that some of the shipments were satisfactory, while others consisted of a very poor grade of calcium arsenate that was irregular in composition and contained enough water-soluble arsenic to cause the product to be seriously injurious to cotton. Unsatisfactory shipments of calcium arsenate were, of course, excluded from the country.

"The campaign designed to improve the quality and labeling of Bordeaux mixture and Bordeaux-labeled arsenate was continued during the fiscal year 1923 and the labels for most of these preparations brought in entire conformity with law."

ATLANTA TO BAN 'SLOT' MACHINES

Police Chief Says Gambling Instinct Implanted in Children by Them

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 9.—Asserting that slot machines are making criminals out of hundreds of Atlanta children, Police Chief James L. Beavers has issued drastic orders to the plain-clothes detail here in a final effort to stamp out this form of gambling device on which Atlanta police have waged a fight for weeks.

"I want every slot machine in Atlanta brought to the police station," the chief said, "and I want the operators jailed."

Several hundred slot machines have been found in operation in Atlanta in the last few weeks. The operators have been fined from $10 to $100 each and the machines returned with the instructions not to continue the practice. Chief Beavers said that he would insist upon heavy fines and jail sentences hereafter.

These machines resemble in form and size a cash register. In some cases they have been operated openly on front counters. In most instances they are kept under cover in the rear corners of drug stores.

"It's the meanest type of gambling. It fastens the gambling instinct in the pliable character of children. The worst influence of this machine is that it lures children into hangouts and cheap joints where the youngsters come in contact with the criminal element, and they are led into deeper fields of gambling."

DIG UP ANCIENT CITY, IS BELIEF

Relics Found at Mesa Verde Indicate Prehistoric Civilization

DENVER, Jan. 9.—That a prehistoric city dating back two centuries before Christ has been unearthed in the Mesa Verde National Park is the belief expressed here by Jesse L. Nusbaum, superintendent of the park, who has been in this city with specimens of some of the so-called post baskets that have been discovered by archaeologists in this wonderland of enchanting beauty.

Mesa Verde National Park is located in the extreme southwest corner of Colorado, near a point where New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Colorado converge. It was designated as a national park in 1906 and embraces an area of 48,966 acres. It is already famous for its ruins of prehistoric cliff dwellers that disappeared entirely before the time of historic record. There is little authentic knowledge of what manner of people the cliff dwellers were, but the ruins of their homes show evidences of excellent skill and finished workmanship.

Great importance is attached to the latest archaeological discovery by Nusbaum, who declared that it brings to light a civilization much earlier than any ever before discovered in Colorado. The discovery included, he said, the finding of prehistoric reservoirs that will lead to development of an irrigation system in the park following the exact lines of the method used by the ancient race.

Find New Ruins
"The new Rock Springs trail leading to the west side of the Mesa Verde Park," Nusbaum said, "made it possible to visit many of the large ruins never before accessible. On this trail, at a ruin called Step House, enough evidence was found on the surface to firmly establish the fact that even before the beginning of the Christian era Indians made their homes in the same caves in which the cliff dwellers later built their homes above the ruins of this earlier post basket period. And there is only one culture in the Southwest at the present time that is known to antedate the post basketmakers."

Found Accidentally
The finding of the prehistoric reservoirs which are believed to indicate presence of a race of people in the vicinity even before the post basketmakers, was purely accidental, Nusbaum said. The reservoirs were stumbled upon in Big Soda Canon within a mile of the park's camping ground, and already engineers are adopting the methods of the ancient race in solving the water supply problem, which has always been a serious one in Mesa Verde.

In describing the reservoirs and outlining the work of engineers in developing a new irrigation system in the park, Nusbaum said: "The ancient rough masonry dams were constructed in the bottom of the canon and in nearly all the available draws leading into the main channel, where flood waters could be intercepted and stored.

"The highest dam so far found is a few inches over five feet high, and the extreme length of any dam is 40 feet.

"They were built in spiral series—86 having been found in a distance of a quarter of a mile in the main canon. Many of them are less than 15 feet apart and some are but a foot or two in height.

"The extreme water level in the lowest of these dams reached the base of the dam built above. Carried in Jugs
"Water could never have been carried directly from the reservoir to the fields above," Nusbaum said, "because of the depth of the reservoirs below the available farm land. Women and children evidently followed the method of many present-day Pueblo Indians, carrying jars of water on their heads to the crops to be irrigated.

"During heavy showers," Nusbaum continued, "the upper reservoirs were the first to fill and as they overflowed the lower dams were filled. Since they were all built on the great sandstone cap which forms the upper 150 to 200 feet of the Mesa Verde, the water was rapidly absorbed by the sandstone and soon disappeared from the reservoirs. But it was not lost. Separating the upper cap of sandstone from the lower was an impervious seam of shale. This had a slope to the southward, the water seeping through the reservoirs above saturated the sandstone and seeped through the shale, following the slope to a point where it dripped into the main canon stream. Live springs were formed at the exposed shale seam and only in this way could water be obtained during long periods of drought, which still persist in the Mesa Verde."

Follow Old Dams
Adopting the method of the ancient unknown race, National Park service engineers have now constructed two large dams on the rim rocks at the head of Spruce Tree Canon, above the old stock reservoir, and drainage ditches have been built to increase the surface run-off that could be conducted to these dams. Four more reservoirs will be constructed above this first series. At the head of the canon a trench nearly 350 feet long now gathers the water that filters through the sandstone cap—a natural filter—and conducts it to cement cisterns, from which it is pumped 175 feet above to storage tanks, where it is held for camp use.

Fear that the water regained after saturation through the sandstone might be polluted has been dispelled, according to Nusbaum, by the report of chemists at the University of Colorado in Boulder. Analysis of the filtered water shows, it was said, that only 426 bacteria were found in a unit sample—a remarkably low count.

The larger the series of reservoirs above, according to Nusbaum, the greater the area of sandstone that is saturated. And since the movement of the water through the sandstone bed is slow, the water that enters the reservoirs in the early spring from the melting snows in the water that carries the camp through the long periods of drought in the summer. The water is particularly clear and is very cold.

SHAVES ROYALTY FOR MANY YEARS

British Barber Has Record For Scraping Chins of England's Rulers

LONDON, Jan. 9.—That he has shaved the chins and cut the hair of more members of royalty and other distinguished people than any other barber is claimed by Charlie Howlett, of Snettisham, official barber to the royal family when they are in residence at their country estate at Sandringham, six miles from Snettisham. Twice a week Charlie goes to Sandringham to attend to the needs of the household, and he has many reminiscences of his fifty-five years' service as a royal barber.

"I was the first man to shave King George," said Charlie in an interview. "That was in 1885, but since then he has grown a beard."

"I have had the honor of waiting on the King and other members of the royal family for fifty-five years and I have also attended, among others, King Haakon of Norway and the Crown Prince

Carrie Jacobs Bond Suffers Breakdown

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Carrie Jacobs Bond, the famous composer, whose ballads are sung the world over, is seriously ill at her Hollywood home from a nervous breakdown, it was announced yesterday by her secretary.

According to the announcement, Mrs. Bond's physician has ordered her to Hawaii for a six months' rest and she will sail January 29, if she is sufficiently recovered. Mrs. Bond is 61 years old.

Olaf of Norway. I was the first to cut Prince Olaf's hair.

Howlett points with pride to one of his treasures, a telegram dated March 21, 1902, reading: "Wait on Prince Wales today, 2 o'clock."

"The King often chats with me when I go to Sandringham," he continued. "Once I had burglars, who nearly throttled me, but my wife came to my assistance. I afterward told the King, and he laughed heartily when I told him how my wife nearly throttled the burglar in trying to rescue me. He afterward told the story to one of his equerries, getting the equerry onto the floor to show him how my wife tackled the burglar."

Indian Genealogy Is Told in Pictographs

RENO, Nev., Jan. 9.—Failure writing recently discovered by Prof. B. F. Schappelle, of the University of Nevada, might bear out the idea that the Pah-Ute tribe of Indians of Nevada and northern California, was an off-spring of the Aztec and Toltec tribes of Mexico.

Ancient hieroglyphics and artifacts found by Prof. Schappelle near Reno and at Pyramid Lake, closely resemble those lately found in Mexico by the National Geographic society.

Methods used in producing these pictographs are identical to those used by Mexican tribes, namely, by pecking into the solid rock, by cutting a groove in the rock with a stick smeared with moistened sand and by painting with a mixture of red ochre and grease or charcoal and grease.

It has been known for some time that the Aztec language was similar in many respects to that of the Pah-Utes.

According to Prof. Schappelle, traces of three distinct races have been found in the study of these pictographs—the Aztec and the Toltecs, of Mexico, and the Mayas, of Central America. He thinks it very likely that the Pah-Ute tribe, or their forerunners, have either descended from Mexican tribes or are an off-spring of them.

YALE'S TUITIONS DON'T PAY COSTS

Interest On Big Investments Chief Revenue Source For Upkeep

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 9.—Yale university spent an average of $835 upon each student registered there for the year 1922-23 and received an average of $267 from each student. Out of the $835 the university spent 39.4 per cent for instruction, while it received but 26.6 per cent of its total income from tuition fees. Yale freshmen, it seems, came through better than students in any other department of the university, for their cost "was conspicuously less than the average of $835, and their payments were slightly more than the average of $267," in the words of the treasurer's annual report.

On the other hand, students of the school of forestry caused expenditures that were eighteen times what they paid, presumably because of their various trips—one to Louisiana in the winter and another to Milford, Pa., where the Pinchot family provided an outdoor work-plant for the Yale school of forestry. Yale's income in the year came 52.5 per cent from investments, 26.6 per cent from tuition, 7.3 per cent from dormitory rentals, 7.2 per cent from the alumni fund, 3.9 per cent from gifts and 2.5 per cent from miscellaneous income. The Yale budget shows that 39.4 per cent of the total expenditures was made for instruction, while the upkeep of its vast properties took 19.6 per cent of its expenditures.

Students to Stage Annual Stag Party

Tickets have been placed on sale for the annual stag party of the Glendale Union High school to be held Friday night, January 11.

The program will begin with basketball games between the freshmen and sophomores, juniors and seniors. The winners of these two games will play for the school championship.

Following the basketball games a peppy program will be given in the auditorium, including boxing, wrestling, movies and a short play by the dramatics department.

The evening will be concluded with plenty of "eats" in the cafeteria. As tickets this year are only 25 cents, it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

CARE IN COUNTING CALORIES

Now you are well on your reducing regime. You started off shrinking your stomach so that you could diet later without any discomfort and you lost anywhere from five to ten pounds, or possibly more, during that period.

Now I want you to stay around 1200 calories daily until you are down to normal, if you are not more than 30 or 40 pounds overweight. If you are so much overweight as that, then it may be advisable to go on a maintenance diet—one on which you will not reduce or gain for a week after losing that amount, then begin reducing again. This will give the system a chance to store any elements you might have missed. However, I have had many, many letters from followers stating that they continued reducing sometimes as high as 65 pounds without stopping, and with no ill effects, so if you are careful to eat correctly you can do that without doubt.

Usually, in the eat-and-grow-thin menus written by the layman, you are advised to leave off all starches and sugars and all fats. Now, this is very dangerous because it leaves a diet too high in protein, and will bring on a state of acidosis.

It has been found that it is necessary to have two or three oz. of carbohydrates (starches and sugars) because fat is not burned properly in the system without this amount of carbohydrates. You must remember you are burning considerable fat in the system now, for you are consuming your own fat.

Your calories of vegetables and fruit are largely carbohydrates and you are going to allow yourself considerable of those. And, if, with those, you allow yourself one or two full slices of bread (whole wheat bread is best) or one or two moderate sized potatoes, or some other starchy food—rice, spaghetti, etc., you will get your allotment of carbohydrates.

Now, sometimes those who do not understand give the impression that if you count your calories it does not matter what food you take so long as you do not exceed the number of calories. This is false and dangerous. You must first supply the elements your system needs, and then if you have any calories left over, you can take what you like.

You should have 250 to 350 calories of protein for your repair work. This is important. So here is a list of foods with the number of protein calories to the hundred calories of the food. The - best and most complete protein is the protein in milk, so if you do not take two or three glasses of skim milk during the day, try to get some cheese, preferably cottage cheese. The protein of the white of eggs and of nuts is also good. So if you do not care for meat or fish, you can get your protein from these.

PARIS FLIRTS WITH SIDE FULLNESS

Gradually the number of frocks with increased fullness at the sides is being increased, and Paris is finding many ways to give them distinction. To the left is a youthful model in crepe faille, trimmed with fancy braid. The back and front are in flat effect, while the sides are gathered and held in place with narrow string-ties. The neck is finished with a bang collar. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch material and 6 yards of braid.

The fullness in the second model is confined to one side and introduced in the form of a drapery. The closing is on the left shoulder. Charmeuse satin or satin crepe would be ideal for the development of this model. An inserted gathered section at the left side hangs below the lower edge, giving the uneven hem-line that is still one of the favored modes of the season. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch satin.

First model: Pictorial Review dress No. 1660. Sizes 16 to 20 years and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price 35 cents.

Second model: Dress No. 1680. Sizes 34 to 42 inches bust and 16 to 20 years. Price 35 cents.

INSOMNIA

If you ask each of your friends for a cure of insomnia you will find at the end that you have as many cures as friends; each one will have a different theory. And then if you are troubled with this unfortunate habit you will probably find your cure different from any of the suggestions.

A standard remedy for a time was a glass of hot milk and a few crackers. But many people can digest milk in the morning only to have it turn sour in the stomach when taken at bedtime. Many people suggest hot chocolate, but chocolate is soothing to some and very stimulating to others. Hot tea which is supposed to be stimulating is very soothing to many people, and just the right thing to help them to sleep. It should not, of course, be strong black tea, but weak and freshly made.

Some people can get to sleep through a sort of self-hypnotism by deliberately excluding the unpleasant thoughts and thinking only pleasant ones. None of these things have ever worked with me, while the only times I have ever tried the tradition-honored method of counting-sheep as they jumped over a fence I found myself so hopelessly wide awake after the 20th sheep that there was nothing to do but get up and read a book. In fact I find that the best way to grow sleepy on a night that promises sleeplessness is to go to bed with a cup of hot, weak tea and a book of pleasant monotony, something bright and cheerful that will not bore you but that also will not stimulate your brain too much.

Have you ever tried yawning yourself into sleepiness? You know how catching a yawn is when it's another person doing it. Try it on yourself and see whether in a few minutes you don't begin to do it unconsciously. When you yawn you MUST be sleepy, and though being sleepy and going to bed and going to sleep are two different things, it is quite likely that you can get yourself off this way.

TROUBLED—BAY RUM

is often included in hair tonics, but it would not be advisable to use it alone on a scalp that is covered with dandruff. I will be glad to mail you the formula for a tonic that will suit your needs, upon receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope, repeating your request.

L. E. E.—Agar agar is a Japanese seaweed sold in any quantity at the drug stores. It is tasteless and is usually sprinkled over the breakfast cereal. It becomes gelatinous and acts as a cleanser for the digestive tract, but it does not act like a medicine. When you are physically and mentally exhausted, take a hot bath, drink a glass of hot milk or hot malted milk, and lie down to sleep, if possible.

Two readers have asked information concerning the cooking and serving of mushrooms, for guest dinners.

To cook fresh mushrooms, first wash them well. Remove stems, scrape, and cut in pieces. Peel caps and break in pieces also. Cook in butter for two minutes, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and cover with either hot water, tomato juice, cream or soup stock. I personally prefer just the hot water, so that the delicate mushroom flavor is preserved. Cook slowly, with the liquid just simmering, for five minutes, then serve.

There are many dishes, however, which are improved in flavor by having mushrooms added to them—such as Chicken a la King. Other dishes in which mushrooms are combined with various ingredients, are:

Spaghetti with Mushrooms: Break one-fourth pound of spaghetti into short length and cook in plenty of boiling, salted water till tender; drain it, let cold water run through it a moment, and separate it slightly with a fork, then set it away till needed. Just before meal time, melt two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan, stir into this two tablespoons of flour, and when smooth add one and one-half cups of stewed tomatoes and one-half cup of diced mushrooms (prepared and cooked as directed above). Also add the cooked spaghetti, let it heat up for five minutes, and serve hot. (Canned mushrooms may be substituted if desired.)

Escalloped Mushrooms: One-half pound of mushrooms, two and one-half cups of soft bread crumbs, one-fourth cup of butter, one-half teaspoon of raw onion juice, a pinch of salt and pepper, a sprinkling of ground nutmeg, and brown soup stock or canned clear soup. Peel the mushrooms and cut the caps in dice and the stems in bits. Butter ramekins, put in a layer of the crumbs which you have previously fried lightly in the butter, then add a layer of the mushrooms, sprinkling them with the seasonings. Repeat these layers till ingredients are used. Four over all just enough heated stock to moisten well, then add an extra layer of crumbs on top. Dot with butter and bake thirty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot.

Mushrooms with Bacon: One pound of mushrooms, one-half pound of bacon thinly sliced, buttered toast. Peel the mushroom caps. Remove the stems and peel to stop thinking of them as friends. Always be pleasant and cordial to them, but look about for new friends. Don't let shyness on your part hold you back. It usually takes a form of aggressiveness to have a lot of friends and to be popular. Most people haven't time or inclination to meet others half way. When you meet some one you like in your rural neighborhood or at church, invite her to your home for Sunday afternoon or tea, or suggest that you and she attend a movie together when you are in town. If you interest yourself in others, they will surely respond and before long you will find yourself far less lonely and well on the road to having a new circle of friends.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

A COUNTRY GIRL

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of nineteen years and live in the country but I have always lived in town before. I used to have many friends in town, but since I live in the country my friends think they are better off without me. I go to church or any such place they pretend they don't know me. If I am with any of my boy friends they laugh at me and make fun of me.

I kept steady company with a boy just one year younger than I, but since I don't live in town any longer he has been caused to dislike me by a girl friend of mine. She loved him and so she has caused him and others to hate me. How should I treat my friends?

LONESOME KID.

LOVE AT SEVENTEEN

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl seventeen years of age. I am in love with a young man two years older than I. About two weeks ago he got angry at me. I love him dearly and will never love another as I do him. He seems to think a great deal of me, but still he is jealous and does not want me to speak to any other boys. I think that is very foolish of him. Do you think he is really that jealous of me or is trying to see what I will do?

I have bobbed hair and he does not like it at all. Would you advise me to let it grow?

Since he is so jealous of me should I keep him from coming to my house? Is it wrong for me to invite him to come to supper on Sunday nights? My parents think a great deal of him and he thinks a lot of them.

I cannot guess the depth of the young man's jealousy. If he is so jealous it is better that you should teach him that you are independent and feel perfectly free to speak to other young men when you consider it advisable. Use your own judgment about your hair. If you and other people consider it more becoming bobbed, continue to cut it. But if you

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Miss Teresa M. Lenney, a public school teacher of New Rochelle, New York, recently won a national contest for her essay on highway safety. Sixty thousand elementary school teachers competed. The prize was $1500 in cash and a trip to Washington.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce offered the prize and the judges who awarded it to Miss Lenney were Mrs. Louis N. Geldert, president of the League of American Penwomen; Dr. A. B. Meredith, commissioner of education for Connecticut; and Dr. Ernest Hamlin Abbott, editor of the Outlook.

Mrs. Henry Ford, wife of the automobile magnate, recently went to New York from her home in Detroit to do some Christmas shopping. Mr. Ford is president of the Detroit, Toledo and Iron- ton railroad and it is customary for the private car of a railroad president to be hauled free of charge over other lines. In this case, however, Mr. and Mrs. Ford insisted on paying the first class fare for Mrs. Ford, her secretary, maid and guests.

Police Lieutenant Mina Van Winkle, head of the police-women's bureau of Washington, D. C., and Miss Eleonore Hutzel, deputy commissioner and head of the Detroit women's bureau, are leaders in the movement for the appointment of women for police work in American cities. They hold that the duties of police-women should be apart from the run of police work to insure more competent supervision and eliminate political restraint.

Dinner Stories

Slim, a youth fresh from a farm in the middle west, had just taken on the job as driver of a coach in Yellowstone park, states Judge. In order to fit himself for the position, he obtained as much information as possible from the driver whose place he had taken, and thought he had soaked up all the knowledge there was to be had about nature's show place.

On the drive leaving the Upper Geyser Basin, the tourist crosses the continental divide twice in two different altitudes. Signposts giving the names of the different points of interest and the altitudes are erected at frequent intervals throughout the park, and it was one of these that proved Slim's undoing.

The new guide was put in charge of a party of school teachers from Boston on his first trip. As they drove along the ladies kept reading the signs and commenting on them. "Continental divide," read one, giving the altitude. A few miles farther on they encountered a similar sign, giving a still higher altitude.

"Why, how is this?" asked one of the party. "I thought we just passed the continental divide."

This was a poser for poor Slim. He studied for some time over it in thoughtful silence, and then said: "Oh, lady, I think I know how that happened. They've moved it and forgotten to take down the sign."

While women formerly were interested in furs only from the standpoint of purchasers and wearers, many now are conducting fox farms and participating in the industry down to the selling of the finished product.

Dr. Foslack says the majority is wrong most of the time. He probably means that the majority is in wrong most of the time.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—If there is someone in the United States with many millions of dollars and an unquenchable desire to get rid of them easily and rapidly here is the way for him to win everlasting fame by emulating the great Carnegie. All he has to do is to establish a museum in each city, town and village in the country.

The plan to dot the nation with historical and artistic exhibits has been formulated by the American Association of Museums, which offers to co-operate with any individual or any community which wants to set up a museum for its very own.

Get Local Exhibits
In addition to the collecting of accurate information concerning authenticated historical objects, the association suggests that these local museums should be devoted to the exhibiting of the following:

Old costumes, house furnishings, implements, weapons, manuscripts, natural history objects such as animals, plants and minerals, American art works produced in the local community and other art objects produced elsewhere.

"A well-balanced museum," the association says, "should include exhibits showing the materials, processes and products of local industries and commercial organizations to give citizens a better understanding of the place and importance of their community in the realm of business."

Not Popular Now
"Museums now are in about the same shape of popular appreciation as were public libraries a few years ago, but there is every indication that in the near future they will become as numerous as libraries are today. The best interests of every community should give attention immediately to obtaining for their city the advantages of a museum and the prestige of a place of leadership in the museum movement which is now gaining headway.

"The real purpose of museums is not generally understood because there have been so many junkhouses which have been called museums. Modern museums are public institutions which are responsible for educational work which depends upon collections. They cooperate with schools by sending illustrative material into the classrooms to make school work more attractive.

"They furnish pictures for publication in newspapers, magazines and books. They investigate science and art and history and thus make contributions to knowledge. They encourage the best in art and so promote good taste and appreciation of beauty. "School children need the instruction which they can get only by seeing and touching the thing about which they read in books. By museum methods applied in cooperation with schools, their understanding of the world is broadened, and their ability to use knowledge is increased.

"Scores of homes in every city hold objects of great historical interest which should be displayed publicly and preserved for the community. The work of local artists usually deserves more attention than it gets and a museum can stimulate interest, increase appreciation and preserve worthy objects for all time.

WOOD FAMILY HOLDS SPOTLIGHT

Philippines, Fortune and Cupid Bring Fame

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The McCormicks, the Fords, the Goudts and other clans will have to move over and allow room for the Woods in the select circle of prize publicity families.

The glare of first pagedom is beating down on the family of Leonard Wood, Sr., governor general of the Philippines, from three angles.

Item: Osborne C. Wood is busy explaining how he amassed $800,000 by skyrocketing in Wall street. His father-in-law, Henry Thompson, is revealed in the light of his American agent in the transaction, Osborne's assault on the financial ramparts having been conducted all the way from Manila.

Item: Leonard Wood, Jr., the theatrical promoter, and Miss Dolores Graves, actress, break their widely advertised engagement by mutual agreement. Miss Graves says they realize that marriage and the stage do not make for a happy home life.

Item: Philippine senate insists on passing measures over votes of Leonard, Sr., and keeping him awake nights with their efforts to achieve full liberty from the United States.

Item: Representative Frear of Wisconsin prepares a resolution calling for an inquiry into the administration of the Philippines by Leonard Wood, Sr.

Item: Leonard Wood, Jr., denies his father is in any way connected with an oil company promoted by Leonard, Jr., but data on the oil company is turned over to Representative Frear by Senator Caraway for use in connection with the proposed inquiry.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

WINTER SPORTS
"There's some one at the door," said Nurse Jane to Uncle Wiggily one day, as a tappy-tap noise sounded near the front hall.

"I'll let them in," offered the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"No, don't let them in until you see who it is," objected Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. It might be the Skilley Scallery Alligator or the Bob Cat.

"The Alligator wouldn't come out while the weather is so cold," said Uncle Wiggily.

"He might if he put a fur tip-pet around his neck," answered the muskrat lady. You sit still, Uncle Wiggily, and I'll go to the door.

When Nurse Jane looked through the side window she saw Curly and Floppy Twistytail, the little piggie boys, standing on the steps. They had their ice skates strapped over their shoulders.

"What is it you want, piggie boys?" asked Nurse Jane. "I suppose you have come for some of the New Year's cake, since I gave Dickie and Nellie Flipfall crumbs from it."

"Oh, no ma'am, Nurse Jane!" squealed Curly. "We don't want any cake!"

"We'd take it if you gave it to us, of course," granted Floppy, "but what we came for is to ask Uncle Wiggily to go skating with us, and, maybe, show us some tricks on the ice."

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily can't come skating with you!" laughed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "He is too busy."

"What's he doing?" asked Floppy.

"I'm not doing anything but twinkle my pink nose," laughed the dear old rabbit gentleman, who had heard the talk at the front door. "And I'll go skating with you, my little piggie boys."

"Well, I never heard of such a thing in all the born days of my life," exclaimed Nurse Jane, holding up her paws. "An old rabbit gentleman like you going skating and doing tricks on the ice?"

"Can you do tricks, Uncle Wiggily?" Floppy wanted to know.

"Of course I can and I'm not so old, either," chuckled Mr. Longears. "It's all in the way you feel, and I feel fine!"

"Oh, hop along with you!" laughed the muskrat lady. "There is no use talking to you!"

"Now we'll have some fun!" squealed Floppy, as he jingled his ice skates like a new penny in a Christmas bank.

"And we'll see Uncle Wiggily do some tricks!" granted Curly.

Uncle Wiggily hunted in the closet under the stairs, where he kept his golf clubs, balls and bags, and at last, under an old sweater and a pair of rubber boots, the bunny gentleman found his ice skates.

"Now, we'll go to the frozen pond," he said to the piggie boys and away they went, over the fields and through the woods.

"Before I do any tricks," said Uncle Wiggily, as he sat down and strapped on his skates. "I must see if I can stand up. It is some years since I skated, and I may have forgotten how."

Curly and Floppy had not forgotten how, though, and they were soon gliding about on the slippery ice, their skates cutting little tracks and furrows in the frozen water.

Uncle Wiggily stood up on his skates and then, all of a sudden, he sat down very hard, cracking the ice a little.

"Was that a trick, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Floppy.

"No, that wasn't exactly a trick," answered the bunny. "I sort of slipped, that was all. I'll begin skating and doing tricks soon."

It took Uncle Wiggily a few minutes to get used to his skates, but when he did he could skate very well. Then he began to do some fancy work, making grape vines, figures of 8 and all things like that.

"Did you ever see me do the cork-screw trick?" he asked the piggie boys.

"No," they answered.

"Then watch me; I'll do it now," the bunny laughed. He spread his paws apart and began twirling around in a circle very fast. He spun like a top, did Uncle Wiggily.

"I learned this when I was a kid," he told the piggie boys.

Now, all the while Uncle Wiggily was twirling about in a circle on the ice his skates were cutting deeper and deeper into it. And, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily cut down into the ice so deeply that a big round chunk was cut out, just as mother cuts a round of the ice water!" And when they did, and when he had run home dripping wet to his bungalow, Nurse Jane said:

Was that a trick, Uncle Wiggily? asked Floppy.

"I told you so!" But then she helped Uncle Wiggily get his wet things off and gave him hot drinks and put him to bed, so he didn't catch cold.

"But I'm not going to do any more cork-screw tricks on the ice," said the bunny, as he twinkled his pink nose. And if the tea kettle doesn't boil over and tickle the legs of the gas stove, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the candy balls.

INDIGESTION BANISHED LIFE A PLEASURE

Thanks To Korretto

"New Year's Day I felt that I could eat my first real meal without worrying about the outcome. KORRETTO relieved almost instantly. I have taken it after meals, especially after heavy meals (which I often enjoy now) with the assurance that the old time distress will not bother me."

These two cases, and many others who have suffered from chronic indigestion over a period of years, and could not even take a light meal without fear of the evil consequences that would follow, show the remarkable effectiveness of KORRETTO as a remedy for all the digestive troubles. Why suffer longer, or depend for relief upon something which has failed time after time when by the simple expedient of stepping to the corner Drug Store and purchasing a bottle of KORRETTO, you can be assured of immediate relief for the trouble, no matter how long standing it may be.

Many have been skeptical and have at last tried KORRETTO to find that what is claimed for it is true. Why be doubtful any longer? Buy a bottle today.

DR. WILLIAM MATHER LEWIS

With the formal installation of Dr. William Mather Lewis as president of George Washington university, this nationally known educator assumes direction of the only non-secular and educational university at the national capital. The university enrollment is in excess of 5,000 students.

Following many years of work on the faculties of various institutions, and a study of educational systems of many of the leading European countries, Dr. Lewis was asked to take charge of the educational service of the United States chamber of commerce, which position he held until his election to the presidency of George Washington University.

Born at Howell, Mich., March 24, 1878, Dr. Lewis was educated at Lake Forest college, Illinois, graduating in 1900. He pursued his graduate studies at Illinois college, where he was on the faculty for three years, followed by a similar period at Lake Forest college. From 1906 to 1913 he was headmaster at Lake Forest academy, serving as president of the board of education there the last two years.

It was in 1913-14 that Dr. Lewis traveled about England, France and Germany studying the educational systems of those nations. Upon America's entry into the war, Dr. Lewis went to Washington as the executive secretary of the national committee of patriotic societies, which post he occupied during 1917 to 1919. From 1919 to 1921 he was the director of the savings division of the U. S. treasury department, handling the sale of war savings stamps and developing a national thrift during the difficult post-campaign war period. Following this he took up his work with the U. S. chamber of commerce.

He is the author of various articles on educational subjects published in the New York Times and Post, the Independent, Analyst and the Encyclopedia Britannica.

REP. JOHN M. NELSON

As one of the Progressive Republican leaders in the lower house of congress, Rep. John M. Nelson is playing an important part in the activities of that house these days.

Nelson first drew attention when the Progressives "threw him" into the speakership fight.

He entered the legislature in September, 1906, to fill a vacancy in the fifty-ninth session and has served continuously with the exception of the sixty-sixth session. He is a native of the state he represents, Wisconsin. His birthplace is Burke, Dane county. He is 53.

He attended the public schools in Milwaukee, attended high school and then worked in law and insurance offices for some years to obtain money enough to study law at the University of Wisconsin.

He opened law offices in Sheboygan, Wis., in 1899, and still maintains his law practice.

Pat was plainly in trouble. So preoccupied was he that he was carrying about twice as much in his hod as usual. Mike couldn't bear to see his friend in the grip of gloom so he blandly asked him what the trouble was.

"Wimmin ain't got no consistency," Pat responded.

"What's the matter, Pat?"

"My wife chased me out wid a rollin'-pin this morning, and then cried because I left home without kissing her good-bye."

"Someone pulled the bell-cord!" shouted the conductor. "The express knocked our last car off the track! Take us four hours before the track is clear!"

"Great Scott! Four hours! Why, man, I am to be married today!" groaned the passenger.

The conductor, a bigoted bachelor, raised his eyebrows suspiciously. "Look here!" he demanded. "I suppose you ain't the chap that pulled the cord?"

JACK AND TOM TO BATTLE NEXT MAY

Big Fellows Will Meet in New York; That's Where There's Sap Coin

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons will meet in a New York ring, fifteen rounds to a decision, for the world's heavyweight championship, some time during the final week in May. That much is in the bag. Slight details, such as Dempsey's share of the purse, the site of the bout and the possibility of the political discountenance of all things pugilistic in the meantime, must be cleared up but it is almost certain that Tex Rickard will be the promoter.

Gibbons is to be the opening number on Dempsey's calling list next summer. Louis Firpo and Harry Wills the other two. Firpo will be met on or about July 4, and Wills on Labor day, if at all. That is the program now.

Out for Money
Rickard, however, still must be won over to Gibbons as an opponent for the champion, and a few adolescent steps in this direction will be Tommy's, scheduled bout with Furry Fred Fulton and extravagant rumors of a Dempsey-Gibbons match in St. Louis, Cleveland, Louisville and all points west. Both fighters are keen on New York as the scene of the bout for obvious reasons. Most of the sap money is here.

Talk of holding the fight in the west will only serve to garnish the newspaper headlines and make the project more desirable in the eyes of the New York customer. Nothing is valuable here until some one else wants it.

It is possible that Gibbons may be brought on to New York for several appearances at Madison Square Garden in order that the public may become better acquainted with the man who dalled fifteen rounds with Dempsey at Shelby last July, the only challenger to stay the limit with Dempsey since that two-handed champion became champion. A Gibbons-Tunney bout, to replace the now defunct Tunney-Spalla affair, is one of the possibilities of the winter season.

That Firpo Bout
Jack Kearns, of course, is sitting tight on the situation, beyond admitting that Dempsey and Gibbons are virtually agreed that a date in May will be quite acceptable. For Firpo and Wills, it seemed to have no immediate plans, although he declared that Dempsey hoped to meet them in the order named before next fall.

Any plans we might make for a Firpo bout must be held up until he arrives in this country," Kearns declared. Dempsey, as I have said a million times, is ready to meet any man at any time if place or conditions are satisfactory. I have my own ideas as to when Dempsey and Firpo will meet again, but that is not for publication at this time. There is absolutely no use in anticipating the situation. I think you can say, however, that Gibbons is almost certain to be Dempsey's first opponent in a championship bout this year.

"As for Wills, there is nothing I can add to what I have already said. If it is at all possible to take him on we are for it. But the matter rests in hands other than mine."

Occidental to Hold Novice Track Meet

On Friday afternoon, January 18, an inter-class novice track meet will be held at Occidental college on Paterson field. In this meet no man who has previously won a first or second place in any event will be allowed to compete in that particular event, but is eligible for the other events.

This gives each man a chance to try something new, and the candidates for the varsity and frosh teams a chance to do their stuff. This meet will not show the real strength of the classes, as it is only a novice meet. A week later comes the regular inter-class track meet when the comparative strength of the classes will be seen.

The men have been practicing since early fall, and already have a good start this year, which will aid considerably for the interests of the early season dual meets. Coach Pipal is now devoting his entire time to the track men. He looks forward to the trip east for the Penn State and Drake relays, and also for the proposed California dual meet, and possibly a meet with U. S. C., March 8, still pending.

Basketball Star To Lead Oxy's Quintet

Neil Archer, former Hollywood High basketball star, has been elected captain of the freshmen mejon tossers at Occidental college. Archer played forward at Hollywood for two years, and was a member of the city league championship team last season. He is a clever player and has a good eye for shooting. Paired with Solley Mishkin, also of Hollywood, Oxy has the two best forwards in the conference freshmen teams. Between the two they scored twenty-two points in the practice game with the South Pasadena De Molays last Monday evening, when the Tiger Babes came out on top, 26-7. Neil Archer is also president of the freshmen class, and is very popular among the Tiger students.

Mickey Doolan, one of the most picturesque infielders in the game during the period he served as short for the Phillies, has given up baseball entirely. Doolan, who has been managing clubs the last few years, will devote all his time to practicing medicine, according to word from Springfield, Mo. Mickey managed the Fort Smith Western Association club last season.

Iron Man Joe McGinnity has quit baseball. Another young gent lost to baseball. Joe was only 52. Probably had several good years left in his system.

Georges Carpentier wants to come to the United States to meet a couple of prominent light heavies. In fact, he's just pinning to come. But the only drawback is that he wants the money to talk the way it did when he was the biggest card in Europe and a real challenger for Dempsey's heavyweight title. So guess Georges will remain in Europe a while.

Despite the fact that he is almost deaf and is minus part of one leg, George Alden Donaham, a freshman at Colgate, is said to be one of the most promising students and boxers in school. His ability to read lips enables him to keep pace with his mates in the class room. Which little item is a lesson in courage.

Harry Wills and Bartley Madden are scheduled to appear in the ring next February. One cannot believe they intend to fight. Madden is done. Should Wills elect to finish him there'll be nothing but a short walk to the center of the ring and one smack. However, it may be a good starter if Wills is to be prepped for a fight with Firpo.

The Athletics are going to give Frank Loftus, a righthand pitcher, his second trial next spring. This Scranton, Pa., boy looked good in the Eastern league last season. The Mackmen gave him a tryout two years ago, but he lacked experience.

Lou Criger, veteran of many an American league campaign, is fighting the white plague now, and it is said to the credit of baseball that the American league is aiding him in his battle.

You can't squelch them. Fred Mollwitz, former major leaguer and old enough to prefer ease, is leading the batters in the Sacramento winter baseball league.

Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion—in some towns—scored a technical knockout over one Pat McCarthy the other night. And McCarthy didn't accuse anyone of holding his foot while Johnny hit him.

Frank Rokusek, the brilliant U. of Illinois lineman who will lead the Illini host on the gridiron next year, will keep fit until that time circling the ends of his wagon and the front lawns of his customers. For Frank has a broad route around the college campus and neighborhood. In addition to this job he is also agent for a big laundry firm. He is paying his own freight through school.

Clifford Knox, student at Iowa State College and star catcher of that institution's team last year, will receive a tryout with the Pittsburgh Pirates next spring.

Jefferson Davis Cohn leads the turf figures in France for the past season with winnings totaling 1,512,352 francs for the year's racing. The jockey club's list credits his horses with winning thirty-two races. His nearest rival, Cesare Ranucci, saw but sixteen of his horses flash to the tape winners. Mr. Jefferson Davis Cohn has had an unusual career in the racing game. At the tender age of 14 he became a race horse owner and won his first race as proprietor at that age.

Paul Wertheimer, who is now in the United States arranging for international races for his prize Epinard, had five winners which collected 62,199 francs for him. Of course Epinard was his big game winner.

American league fans got a momentary thrill recently when they read the headline "Yankees Purchase N. Cullop." Until they read the attached dispatch they wondered if the Cullop mentioned could possibly be "Nick" Cullop, southpaw who hurled once before the Yanks and also served with the Cleveland Indians. But the new Cullop is no relation to the veteran. But as his first name begins with "N" they'll probably nickname him Nick.

He was one of the best pitchers in the Western league last season. Old Nick was one of the southpaws who have helped make left-handers famous for the eccentricities and weird antics on and off the ball field.

W. B. Smith, president of the Birmingham club of the Southern association, is credited with telling the following yarn at the recent meeting of baseball moguls in Chicago:

We had an umpire down in the Southern league a few days ago who was quick on the triggers. One day one of our batters slid into first base as he was trying to beat out an infield hit. He turned a somersault over the bag and came up with his hands full of dirt. He was out about ten or fifteen feet.

"Don't you dare call me out," he yelled to the umpire.

"You're out three times!" exclaimed the umpire.

"Three ways?" queried the player. "How's that?"

"You're out at first; you're out $10; you're out of the game."

Lee Fohl, new pilot of the Red Sox, always has been a great friend of the sandlotters. George Uhle owes his present enviable position to Lee Fohl, who gave him his start.

Now Fohl believes he has found another Uhle in Charley Dornkott, another Cleveland sandlotter whom he has signed for a tryout next spring.

Dornkott made an enviable rep in semi-pro ball in Cleveland as a member of the Telling's team last season. He started the season with eleven straight wins and finished it with a run of thirty-six scoreless innings. He wound up the year with a ten-inning shutout victory against Larmsville, his team copping one run in the tenth. The victory gave the Clevelanders the intercity title in their class.

From France comes the word that that nation will look to one man, Andre Mourlon to carry the tricolor to victory in the dash events in the Olympic games at Paris next summer. His most enthusiastic supporters believe he will at least equal the world's records set by Charley Paddock.

In a 132-meter event this flash has set a mark of 19 4-5 seconds. This even is equivalent to the 200-yard dash although the time is not accepted as official for the 200.

The best time that had been made in this event in France before Mourlon toed the mark was 20 3-5 seconds, which gives probably the Pat Moran will handle the reins of the Cincinnati Reds for another year at least.

Once or twice during the last season when the Reds were in a slump or things were breaking badly for them, there were people out there who insisted that Pat be given the air and field captain. Jake Daubert, be appointed manager in his place. Jake has a number of friends in Red-land, so when the Cincinnati's late spurt fell a little short of their expectations there was another howl for Daubert. They presented the argument that "Cincy" should have won with their three pitching aces.

Had he heeded this howl, Herzmann would have been guilty of the meanest sort of ingratitude. Outside of John McGraw and Miller Huggins (who have big check books to back them up) there is no manager in baseball best idea of his speed. Leisour set the former record.

Speaking of the Athletics. They're going to try out one Chester Guppie, an outfielder. Guppie was getting his start with Moline when Carl Mack, Connie's son was managing that team. From son to father, so to speak.

Danny Frush, the husky little English feather who aspired to knock the featherweight crown from Johnny Kilbane's head four years ago, sends word from England that he is doing a real comeback. He has won three fights recently, two by knockouts. Figures he will be feather champ of England by the time he sails for the U. S. next spring. Believes he will then be ready to meet Johnny Dundee and get the title. Vain hope, of course. Frush lacks the fighting heart, for one thing. It must be said, however, that Sammy Harris wished Frush into the match with Kilbane and then deserted the kid—left him flat.

The Chicago Cub and White Sox owners have evolved a unique plan for cutting down the list of spring holdouts next March. This plan, simple in operation, is simply to refuse the adamant ones free board at the training camps while they are deciding to accept what is offered them in the line of salary.

Every year every big league club has one or two men who can't come to terms with the club bosses on salary. They wait until the last minute before accepting what they know weeks ahead to be the final answer. They report to camp unsigned and continue to dicker while working out—and eating three squares at the best hotel in town.

But the Cub and Sox holdouts will have to pay their own freight at camp until they sign.

Which means the holdout lists will fade rapidly a day or two before the teams start for camp.

The National A. A. U. is considering the barring of all foreign stars on the U. S. Olympic team next year. The officials are discussing the advisability of allowing only native born or naturalized athletes to carry Uncle Sam's colors.

For once I'm with the A. A. U. It is without the spirit of the games to allow men who hold no allegiance to the U. S. to represent this country in the Olympic contests. Honors won for the U. S. should be won by Americans.

Also any athletes who have a chance to compete should prefer to carry their own land's colors. The games should not be allowed to slip into the class of intercity meets now held by rival athletic clubs which gather stars from everywhere to build formidable teams.

OXY TOSSERS TO START SCHEDULE

Four Full Teams to Share In Northern Invasion At End of January

Basketball is now in full swing at Occidental. The conference season will open Saturday evening with the Tigers and Whittier clashing in the Franklin High gym. Coach Nichols is putting his men through some stiff workouts and he feels good over the basketball prospects for Oxy. The team is handicapped with the lack of a gym for practice but are overcoming this drawback by using the Kiteflyers' gym when possible.

The trip north is assured and Nichols is taking two full varsity teams and two full freshmen teams. Some real scrappy games have been scheduled and the fellows will be up against the best teams in Central California. Oat Smith, crack melon tosser on the Drake university basketball team and recently coach of that team, has been secured as exclusive frosh coach, enabling Coach Nichols to spend all his time on the varsity.

Arrange Schedule
Manager George Forden has been working hard. He spent the Christmas vacation traveling around arranging a complete schedule for the ten-day trip up to Stockton. The twenty players, coaches and manager leave January 31 after the final semester examinations and return February 10th. The varsity will play the athletic club teams, Legion teams and representative city teams. The Freshmen will limit themselves to high schools and play preliminary games for the varsity.

Following is the northern schedule:
Bakersfield, January 31.
Lindsey, February 1.
Fresno, February 2.
Merced, February 4.
Stockton, February 5.
San Jose, February 6.
St. Mary's, February 8.
San Anselmo, February 9.

GET CLASS RINGS
Members of the senior class of the Glendale Union High school will have their class rings fitted on Thursday, January 10. A representative of the company furnishing the rings will be on hand to do the fitting.

STANFORD'S CAGE PROSPECTS GOOD

Big Squad on Hand to Try For Places as Season's Schedule Opens

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 9.—Stanford's prospects for a good freshman basketball team are excellent this year, according to the preliminary tryouts in the basketball pavilion, where Coach "Huskey" Hunt has fifty freshmen competing for places on the 1927 basketball team. The size of the squad is one of the most promising aspects of the early season.

Last year Coach Hunt had a group of fifteen men out, from which to mold a basketball machine. It was a case of developing five men who could play together, as few had ever played basketball before, among them the captain of the team. There are thirty-five men of this year's squad who have had basketball experience and competition is on a more intense plane.

The freshmen will have their most important games of the season on February 13 and February 20, when they meet the five representing the University of California first year men. In case these two games result in tie standing, a third game will be played.

Police Probe Death of Hospital Patient

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Police started a probe late yesterday of the death of Bernard Beyer, who was said to have taken poison in a hospital here Monday night, where he was taken after a quarrel with Albert Kasch. Kasch, who is held on a murder charge, told police Beyer attacked him, Kasch wresting a gun from his assailant and hitting him over the head with it. A small bottle containing poison was found under Beyer's hospital cot, Coroner Leiland said.

Offer $100,000 Bribe to Official, Is Claim

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—General Smedley Butler, the new director of public safety here, in an address late yesterday at the Metropolitan opera house before 2,200 policemen, said he had been offered a bribe of $100,000 by a "race gambling ring" within twenty-four hours after his induction into office, to permit it to operate here.

GLENDALE TEAMS BEATEN BY U. S. C.

Local Casaba Tossers Put Up Game Battle Against Trojan Players

Although suffering a defeat, the Glendale Union High school squad of casaba tossers showed championship material when they met the U. S. C. frosh quintet yesterday afternoon and came home with the short end of a 24-to-16 count. The second team was more successful, losing 10 to 8.

Considering that the Trojanettes tromped over the Polytechnic five with a 38-to-8 score, the exhibition made by the locals was very good, as Poly is regarded as a strong contender for the City league pennant. Hardey was high point man for the locals, tossing in ten points. Hibbs and Elliott also proved capable of slinging the ball in the direction of the basket. Brucker and Swaney were forced to cover a lot of ground at guard, but they managed to hold the Cardinal and Gold down fairly well. Carver at center did his best to out-jump the frosh center, which was some job.

Hibbs was the only sub used in the first game, going in at both center and guard. If his eligibility can be cleared up, he will strengthen the team considerably. Elliott was on the job with his famed dribbling, and he proved a hard man for the Trojans to stop. Hardey showed rare ability in shooting long-range goals.

The second team, composed of Hyatt and Murphy as forwards, Fannon at center and Denny and Ryan guards, held the frosh to a tie score in the second fracas, 2-2. Three extra periods left the score at 8-8. Fearing that the game would continue for some time, the decision was left to the one who made the next score, which the enemy did.

Coach Hayhurst was very much pleased with the results, and expects to give Franklin High a drubbing when they hit them this Friday.

Couldn't Wait, Jailed on Burglary Charge

REDDING, Cal., Jan. 9.—Because he was too anxious to withdraw $40 which he had on deposit in a bank at Kennet, George Haines, 22, is in jail here facing a burglary charge. Haines, a Kennet smelter worker, visited the bank Saturday and, after finding it closed, waited until early Sunday morning, when he lowered himself into the institution through a skylight. A watchman found Haines hiding under a table. Haines, who was unarmed, had been drinking, the authorities said. Haines' home is in Winnipeg, Canada.

That's All
Ten to One Victory
Glendale Goes Ahead
Build For Future
What Editors Are Saying
By Gil A. Cowan

By a "ten to one" vote the citizens of Glendale have endorsed the sewer plans, including a $1,600,000 bond issue and a contract with Los Angeles to connect with the sewerage.

It is the greatest forward stride ever taken by this great and growing municipality. For it means four, five, six and ten story structures; it means hotels, apartments, industries and everything else which lack of sewerage disposal has retarded here.

Words utterly fail to express the appreciation of the public spirited leaders of the community at this hour, it seems, but they are to be congratulated and in turn they bow to the voters who made such a magnificent victory out of yesterday's election.

The heart and soul of the community was behind this project. It was not a political move. Neither can it be considered one in which the personal rights of objectors have been trampled upon, for they were such a minority as to merit defeat.

Glendale has decisively proved it can do things when awakened to the necessity. The vote of more than 50 per cent of the registered electors revealed a real interest in civic affairs. And the magnificent majorities accorded both the bonds and contract speak for themselves.

With the election over Glendale can settle itself to other big projects. The Chamber of Commerce program this year, under the leadership of W. E. Hewitt, should be made most extensive. Glendale has but begun to grow. More homes for more people; more streets, more highways, more apartments—more of everything. Remember, this is to be Greater Glendale's greatest year! Let's go.

The Santa Barbara Press editor speaks words of wisdom when he reiterates the worn, but useful phrase: "Stop, Look and Listen" in the following comment:

"Just because a driver of an automobile drove onto a railroad crossing without looking in either direction, a man and wife were hurled to instant death the other day.

"The state law requires all stages to come to a dead halt before crossing railroad tracks. Street cars are also required to stop at all grade crossings and see that the way is clear before crossing railroad tracks. It would be well for automobile drivers to follow the same rules.

"The death toll due to the wrecking of automobiles by trains is growing with alarming rapidity. Accidents of this type account for a large proportion of the automobile deaths.

"And yet these accidents are easily preventable. If the rules applying to stages and trolleys were applied to automobiles generally there would be marked shrinkage in the death toll of cars.

"Some of the fatal crossing accidents are the result of insane attempts to "beat the train" but probably far more are due to the carelessness of drivers who do not look before they cross the rails.

"The railroad injunction to 'Stop, Look and Listen,' is a good one. If only the drivers of automobiles would give heed there would be less work for the coroner and less grief in the homes of the nation."

Says the Chicago Evening Post: "Our favorite periodical, the Congressional Record, is reaching our desk again, and we hope soon to be able to quote from it for the entertainment of our readers. Its first issues are somewhat skinny and juteless."

BURBANK

Realty Board's Members
Turn Strong to Plan For Big Gathering

The Burbank Realty Board met last night for the first time in their new headquarters at the Women's clubhouse, when a large gathering was present. Plans were undertaken for the big meeting to come later.

Mrs. A. W. Reese is attempting to organize a literary section of the Women's Club and has been made temporary chairman of a committee comprising, in addition, Mrs. J. B. Davidson and Mrs. J. J. King. They met at 10 o'clock this morning at the home of Mrs. Reese.

It has been decided to keep the library open on weekdays from 7 until 9 o'clock each night, in addition to the afternoon hours of from 2 until 6 o'clock. Headquarters are now on the second floor of the Thompson building.

Both city parks and a public library have been under consideration of late by the city planning commission, which is of the unanimous opinion that these two things are badly needed in Burbank.

Fire Peril Stressed
H. L. Johnson, fire inspector, believes that the people of Burbank should exercise a great deal more care in incinerating their refuse and in other ways should be on their guard against a possible conflagration.

On the basis of his findings, Mr. Johnson has suggested amendments to the fire ordinance, covering the present defects. Among the suggested amendments are compulsory incineration and installation in all multiple residencies of fire extinguishers.

It is also suggested by Mr. Johnson that in time of fire two policemen be delegated to assist the firemen in protecting their apparatus from motorists who seek to drive across hose, and from other meddlers who get in the way and slow up action.

Masons Install
A large audience was on hand for Masonic installation last night, at the hall, with Samuel S. Burke, past grand master, as installing officer and Will S. Fisher, past grand orator, as installing marshal.

A banquet was served following installation ceremonies. Many visiting Masons were present. The following were placed in office: Ray Ludlow, worshipful master; Walter Lawrence, senior warden; Earl Dufur, junior warden; Ralph Church, treasurer.

EAGLE ROCK
BOOK VIOLINISTS
IN BIG CONCERT
Famous Musicians to Appear
With Church Choir
in Club's Program

Appearing with the Los Angeles First Congregational church choir Friday night, January 11, at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse, will be two of the finest artists in California, declares John Smallman, celebrated conductor, who will have the choir in charge. These artists are Sol Cohen and Morris Stoloff, both noted violinists.

Mr. Cohen was heard at the choir's last concert, and made many friends, not only with the superior quality of his playing, but with his engaging, gracious personality upon the platform.

Mr. Stoloff is a member of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra; and the newly formed Russian string quartet. Mr. Cohen and Mr. Stoloff will play some interesting compositions for two violins, and will also assist the choir in one of its finest specialties, "Fantasy on a Russian folk song" by Samuel Richards Gaines. This composition was awarded first prize in the international competition offered by the Schumann club of New York in 1920.

Another distinct attraction coming with the choir, is the criterion girls' trio, whose members are Erma De Mott, soprano, Rosalie Phillips, soprano, and Eunice Ross, contralto. These are charming young ladies with beautiful voices, and the numbers they will sing are sure to add much brightness to the program.

The trio was formed and is being coached by Mr. Smallman. They are making many professional appearances in southern California.

As before, Miss Lorna Gregg, a most reliable accompanist, will preside at the piano for the soloists and for the chorus.

Choir Widely Known
That this choir of 60 voices, which is rapidly becoming famous on the coast, has set high ideals for itself in its chosen field, is very readily appreciated when one glances at the program material being used. Besides the Russian fantasy, which has never before been sung on the coast, there appears on the program the "Hymn to Raphael the Divine," written by Enrico Bossi, the great Italian organist. It was composed for the fourth centenary of Raphael's death, and was first performed in the Pantheon, Rome, April 7, 1920. This number will be sung by the choir in Italian. Another novelty will be a Catalonian Christmas carol of the XV Century, entitled "The B'ds Praise the Advent of the Savior," and arranged after the setting of Don Luis Millet, by Kurt Schindler.

The fact that the concert will be conducted by John Smallman, will probably attract many Glendale music lovers, for he was recently engaged to conduct the newly organized oratorio section of the Glendale Music club, and he has also successfully appeared there in recital.

Mr. Smallman is best known through his work in developing the Los Angeles oratorio society of 200 voices. He has been at the head of that organization for five seasons, and has gradually brought it to the point where no less an authority than L. E. Behymer stated publicly at a banquet recently that the oratorio society was one of the three leading societies of its kind in the country.

The value of Mr. Smallman to the musical life of southern California becomes more apparent every year, and since his advent into the Los Angeles music world four years ago, he has become recognized as one of the most successful baritone, conductors and teachers on the west coast.

California Facing Influx of Quacks
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Addressing a meeting of the League of Conservation of Public Health here, Dr. W. T. MacArthur of Los Angeles warned that California faced an influx of several thousand "fake doctors" as a result of the campaign being waged in many eastern states against them. "Statistics show that there are more than 25,000 quacks using the name of 'doctor' in the United States, and of this number California is soon to have more than its share," he declared.

CAMPAIGN STARTS
DENVER, Jan. 9.—The Democratic political campaign in Colorado, was launched last night when former Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall addressed a gathering of state leaders at a Jackson dinner here.

Here's a Mean Thief!
A thief who steals from the police department certainly has his nerve, thinks Chief John H. Long. And when he steals a commodity that he has to use on the premises and cannot carry away, he is going some. (No, Cuthbert, it's not what you think!)

Long distance phone calls, over the police phone boxes, constitute, in short, the heinous offence. To obviate this nuisance, Chief Long has ordered the boxes to be padlocked with log chains—and if this individual persists and happens to fall into the clutches of the department, it is likely to go hard with him, judging by the chief's present humor.

Holds Clauses Legal in Transportation Act
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The supreme court of the United States has held valid the "recapture clauses" of the transportation act of 1920. These clauses require railroads to report to the Interstate Commerce Commission the amount by which their net railway operation incomes were in excess of 6 per cent of the value of the railway property. Under the law one-half of the excess income over 6 per cent must be paid over to the Interstate Commerce Commission to be used in assisting weak railroads whose earnings are below a reasonable return.
