

REPUBLICAN RALLY

HON. J. STUTESMAN OF INDIANA REVIEWS AND CRITICIZES DEMOCRATIC POLICIES

Quite a fair gathering assembled in the auditorium of the High School Thursday night to hear the exposition of the political situation by the Hon. James Stutesman of Indiana. Charles L. Chandler was chairman of the evening. He introduced the first speaker, W. Robinson, Assistant United States attorney, with appropriate phrase.

Mr. Robinson made a strong appeal for intelligent participation in the policies of the party on the part of the individual citizen. He said it was folly to leave the formulation of the platform to some vague group called "them;" to say "let 'them' form the platform; let 'them' choose the candidates and let 'them' be responsible for the organization; and if the weather be fine I may walk down to the polls and see if 'they' have left me any choice; if not I will not vote."

Mr. Robinson said that the Republican party was not a one-man party. It had never depended on one man. Lincoln was devoted to principle. It was the duty of the Republican party to devote itself to promote the principles of good government. The duty of the party now, he said, was to devote itself to reorganization. The party needed harmony. He severely criticized the "United Republicans" for putting a separate delegate ticket in the field, and closed with a strong appeal to the Republicans to support the ticket at the head of which stands the name of Judge Bordwell. To arrive at this result and make sure that the right parties were voted for he advised Republicans to begin at the bottom of the list and count up 26 names to Judge Bordwell's.

The chairman then introduced the Hon. James Stutesman of Indiana, former United States minister to Bolivia.

Mr. Stutesman, who, like the first speaker, spoke from the floor of the auditorium, said he had come there for a friendly discussion and would be glad to hear criticism. He made a glowing eulogy of the Constitution of the United States, stating that there had been 7000 attempts to amend it but that only seventeen amendments had ever been found necessary and that 12 of these arose almost immediately at the time of its formation and were really part of the original document. In 125 years there had been only five real amendments. This wonderful constitution was the bulwark of American liberties. He took it for granted that every man and woman in the United States desired to perpetuate the principles guaranteed by that document. That constitution guaranteed the right of free speech, the right of citizens to express themselves freely. The inherent right to vote and speak was accorded by the constitution. So that when any party of citizens differed from what we believed to be the principles of the constitution we should argue with them and seek to persuade them back into the right path.

The speaker urged the reorganization of the Republican party. He eulogized the 26 individuals selected by the regular Republican organization to go as delegates to the national convention. He said these 26 delegates were absolutely unselfish. Not one of them knew that he or she was to be selected. All finally consented to go and assessed themselves for the expense. They had no preconceived ideas of what they would do in the convention. They would submerge their personal desires for the general good. Nothing was of more importance than to rehabilitate and reorganize the Republican party and restore it to the control of national affairs and to the confidence of all in the United States. He urged the support of the 26 delegates nominated by the regular Republicans of California—the ticket headed by Judge Bordwell and Mrs. Cornelia Cole. He urged the voters to put California back of the Republican party, and to help bring back into operation the principles of Republicanism which have never failed when put into execution.

The speaker declared that every now and then the people of the United States got mad. They got mad in 1892 and in 1912. When they did get mad they usually did something which they afterward bitterly regretted. They were regretting now, he said. He had never hesitated when the split came in Chicago in 1912. He stood by the old organization. His principle was deeper than to be rooted out of him on a report of a committee on credentials.

Mr. Stutesman indicated that the old guard of the Republican party (Continued to Page Four)

METAL WAR PRICES

H. D. GOSS SAYS FIGHTING IN EUROPE INCREASED SHEET IRON 75 PER CENT

"It would astonish anyone who was not aware of the cause to learn that within the past year sheet iron has advanced 75 per cent in price. This advance has been kept pace with by the prices of other metals we use in our trade," said H. D. Goss, of the firm of Burket & Goss, sheet iron workers, 543 W. Broadway. A year ago the prices of sheet iron, copper and zinc were rising. The rise, however, has become more and more marked as time went on and by the close of 1915 it was so great as materially to affect prices of work done by the trade.

"Just at present the wholesale houses tell us that it is very difficult to get orders for material filled in the east. Before the war broke out an order would hardly be out of the mails before an advice would be on the way telling that it would be shipped immediately. Now a firm is lucky if it can get an order filled six months after giving it.

"The manufacturing houses in the east are so busy with war orders that they are very loath to take orders for ordinary metal. The profit made on war munitions is so great that the eastern firms, while taking western orders for domestic material, let it be plainly seen that they do so merely to retain the business after the war and not because they desire it just now. I look to see the prices on sheet iron, copper and zinc go much higher ere long. Just at present galvanized iron is 75 per cent higher than it was a year ago and zinc is from two to three times as high as it was at that time.

"Copper and zinc are in the very greatest demand for the manufacture of various war munitions. From my former connection with the Westinghouse company in Chicago where I worked for several years, I learn that the munitions factories are running night and day. Fortunes are being made and those who are making them are not desirous of stopping to take up ordinary work.

"Since opening up this business in Glendale in January, 1915, Mr. Burket and myself have been able to build up a very good connection. We get a competent share of the work that is going and as time goes on we get more and more. Since 1916 opened up I calculate that we are doing several times the volume of business we did in the opening of 1915. There is quite a deal of building going on in Glendale and this firm naturally is called on to do its part in the fitting up of the houses that are being built.

"We have a great deal of work in sheet iron cornice, gutters and sheet metal work in general. I expect that the general aspect of the building trade is going to improve greatly this year and naturally our business will improve along with it. There is every indication that Glendale is going to expand. On every hand we hear of prospective building and of people who have come here from the east who expect that their relatives and friends will come out on their recommendation.

"Those newcomers mean, of course, more building. Already there is a demand for houses in this vicinity that must be supplied. New building means more work for us."

UNITED REPUBLICAN PARTY

It is the wish of many men and women, who are chuck full of republican principles, that there might be a united party, which would result in a republican victory at next November's election. To bring about these results good judgment must be used by speakers and by leaders of the party. In 1912 the majority of the members of the republican party took issue with the stand-patters, and there must have been a cause for the uprising. Now the sensible way is for the stand-patters and those who differed with them, to come together forgetting the past and so conduct themselves that all can work in harmony for the best interests of good government. It is not an opportune time to criticize former Taft supporters or former Roosevelt supporters. The all-important present should receive our serious consideration.

GLENDALE VS. MONROVIA

Saturday afternoon at 2:30 the Glendale Union High School baseball team will play Monrovia High on the local diamond. This is the fourth league game which Glendale has played. Glendale is now leading the league and hopes to stay at the top. Monrovia is in second place and has a good team. Everybody come out and help the local boys hold their lead.

TEUTONS THOUGHT TO BE PREPARING FOR ANOTHER ASSAULT ON HILL NO. 304

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, April 14.—During the past week the German forces have made repeated attempts to storm the French positions on Douaumont heights. Advancing with flame projectors and poisonous gases they managed to get up to the first trenches, where those who did not flee perished. The Germans also heavily bombarded Hill 304, apparently in preparation for another attack.

AMERICAN SITUATION IN MEXICO CRITICAL

STRONG ANTI-UNITED STATES FEELING PREVAILS IN THE DISTRICT AROUND PARRAL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL PASO, April 14.—It is reported here that the American advanced troops near Parral are in a critical position. The feeling of the Mexicans is strongly anti-American and this feeling has been increased since the fight at Parral. Mexicans here learned today that the American troopers had succeeded in coming up with the Villistas at Troya, Monday. There was a brief but sharp encounter. The Villistas fled in the direction of Parral closely pursued by the American cavalry. There is a strong anti-Gringo feeling in Parral and its vicinity.

MEETING OF MOTHERS

MRS. C. H. TOLL AND PASTOR GIVE VERY INTERESTING ADDRESSES

The Mothers' meeting held at the Congregational church yesterday afternoon was largely attended. Mrs. W. D. McRae with her usual sweetness of voice sang two selections. Mrs. L. P. Abell was at the piano. Mrs. Gertrude Follansbee in a most charming and delightful manner read a selection from "The Bird's Christmas Carol," by Kate Douglas Wiggin, and "My Ships," by Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

The address on "Children's Reading," by Mrs. Chas. H. Toll, was most able and comprehensive. The speaker called attention to the many excellent books for children to be found in our public library. It was recommended that parents should begin to read to the child while it is young. Stories from the Bible were recommended, also fairy tales, stories of adventure, biography and history. As children grow older parents should know what the children read.

Dr. Willisford spoke on "Our Boys and Girls." He spoke particularly about the religious development of boys and girls. He stated that investigations by psychologists showed that at about 12 years of age many children show a decided religious interest and at 16 years of age this interest reaches its height. Parents were urged to watch religious manifestations and sympathetically and wisely encourage and direct the child at that time.

Mrs. George Adams was in charge of the refreshments. She was assisted by Mrs. Goldthwaite and Miss Ballenger. Mrs. H. W. Yarick had charge of the decorations, in which roses predominated. The pastor was assisted in receiving by Mrs. E. D. Yard and Mrs. H. W. Yarick.

P. E. O. "BRIDAL" PARTY

At the home of Mrs. J. G. Hunchberger, 344 S. Central, Wednesday, an all-day meeting of Chapter L, P. E. O., was held. Thirty-five members were present. The society enjoyed one of the best programs it has ever had. The program handled the subject of "American Women." The leaders were Mrs. Cora Ramsay, Mrs. Charles Temple, Mrs. Genevieve Goss and Mrs. Lyda Border. A three-course luncheon was served at noon. The rooms were decorated specially in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, who is to be married shortly to the Rev. Mr. Douglas. The dining room was decorated with orange blossoms and asparagus ferns. Mrs. Brown sat at the head of the table under a large wedding bell of white roses. In the center of the table was an immense wedding cake, ornamented with the colors of the sorority—yellow and white. The bride-to-be cut the cake.

On behalf of the sorority Miss Ruth Byram presented Mrs. Brown with a very handsome Rookwood vase. In a speech remarkable for its good taste and touching language Miss Byram expressed the deep regret felt by all the members at the loss they were about to experience by the departure of Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Brown and Miss Byram have both been presidents of the sorority.

After luncheon a very pleasant time was enjoyed in the large living room, which was charmingly decorated with red roses. Several members of the recently established chapter L, P. E. O., were present as guests. The meeting was one of the most largely attended and also one of the most enjoyable held in recent years.

MAY GET UNIVERSITY

The people of Santa Monica are jubilant over the fact that that city may become the site of the University of California. The school has been offered a site of 75 acres on a high plateau east and south of the Santa Monica High School grounds, lying between Pico and National boulevards. This site is offered to the University as a gift.

It is said that the University of Southern California now has an enrollment larger than Stanford and that it has recently been given $1,000,000, is raising a second million and is looking around for a site that will admit of expansion into one of the largest seats of learning in the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—Writing to leaders of the United Republicans today Gov. Johnson said: "I look forward to the possibility of an ultimate union between the Republican and Progressive parties by their selecting the same leader in their national conventions.

THEME OF ROMANS

DR. J. R. PRATT OF PASADENA EXPOUNDS EPISTLE AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

In the People's Bible Class at the Glendale Presbyterian church, Thursday night, Dr. J. R. Pratt brought the message from the sixteenth verse of the first chapter, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth."

This is the theme of the epistle. There are many religions and men are proud of their possessions. The Christians are the most backward of all peoples in the spread of their religion.

Paul was not ashamed of this gospel for it was from God and he had no reason to be ashamed. He realized the dire need of the world, Jew and Greek, of this gospel of Christ.

Paul was not ashamed because it had and has in it the power of God. Power spells success in any line of activity. There are standards and ethics in all religions, but this gospel alone has the power to enable men to reach these standards. The power comes by way of the cross. Here Jesus Christ obtained his power, as he gave his life on the cross, so he had life to give to others.

The effect of this power is salvation from the power, the penalty and presence of sin. Jesus Christ has a three-fold ministry, Prophet, Priest and King. Prophet, in his work up to the cross; Priest, from the cross until he comes again, and King, when he comes again.

This salvation is provided for everyone. The need being universal the provision was made universal. It is to be appropriated by faith alone. The Jew thought he should come in by the works of the law, but all must come by the same way, by faith in the Son of God.

The result of this salvation is God's righteousness imparted and then imputed to man, making him a living epistle read of all men.

ATTEND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

This Friday evening is the date of the regular monthly meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, 1011 West Broadway. The Chamber of Commerce is an organization that works for the best interests of the people of the community in which it exists. If properly managed such an organization serves as a balance wheel over the affairs of the city whose people perpetuate it.

It is the opinion of men of authority in all lands that when the Chamber of Commerce endorses a proposition, such proposition is one worthy of support. We as citizens of Glendale receive letters from congressmen, from railroad officials and from promoters, asking that certain public questions be placed before the Chamber of Commerce, and when the Chamber of Commerce endorses a project it is generally supposed a battle is half won.

A Chamber of Commerce is not an organization that should exist for the purpose of favoring any pet scheme, but it should be broad in the scope of work, and it will always be just as broad as the men who are its supporters. It is a people's organization, and men who do not participate in its doings have no excuse to offer criticisms. Come out to the meeting this evening and be an active participant.

GLEN EYRIE PARTY

One of the most delightful social functions of this week was the card party with which Glen Eyrie chapter Order of the Eastern Star, entertained in Masonic hall, Thursday evening. Under the artistic touch of Mrs. Lillian Beamon, associate matron, many beautiful and fragrant roses lent an added charm to the pretty occasion, when 500 claimed the attention of over one hundred guests.

Mrs. E. N. Bales scored for first prize, while Dr. James Flint received gentleman's first. Mrs. O. T. Walker and Mr. William E. Wells each received consolation. Mrs. Claud O. Pulliam was assisted in the entertainment of the guests by Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, Mrs. Fred Deal, Mrs. H. E. Betz, Mrs. Clarence M. Good, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Beamon, and Mrs. George Peterson. The reception committee consisted of Miss Cora Hickman, Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, Mrs. David H. Imler, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Parke and Mr. James Wyvell.

Glen Eyrie chapter will give another card party Thursday evening, May 11.

WORK FOR FLOOD PROTECTION

It may interest the citizens of Glendale to learn what is being done in the Miami valley for the prevention of such disastrous floods as that which devastated Dayton, Ohio, and in 1913 caused millions of dollars' worth of damage and destroyed hundreds of lives. Five mammoth detention basins, large enough to hold back the crest of a flood 40 per cent greater than the devastating flood of three years ago, are being erected. The cost of the materials will be about $24,000,000.

Five large dams will be placed at crucial points. The highest, at Englewood, will rise 120 feet above the surrounding country. The lowest will be 65 feet high and 5 feet across at the top.

Towns between Piqua and Hamilton, a distance of 100 miles, will be protected when the project is completed. The plan of the flood prevention system is to let the rivers carry off the water at their maximum capacity without doing damage. The retention basins are to take up excess water and then serve as feeders, allowing the run of a heavy rain to be distributed over several weeks instead of several days. The latter uncontrolled action is what caused the great damage done by the floods in 1913.

It is believed that the work will be completed in three years. Enough steel will be used to build a 175-story skyscraper; enough concrete to build a column ten feet square and thirteen high; excavation enough for more than 3000 miles of trenches and enough embankment to fill a train of cars reaching from New York to San Francisco.

What interests this locality is that it is possible to delay the rush of flood waters by means of dams. That principle, which was applied on a small scale in Haines canyon, will probably be applied to all the watershed back of Glendale before long. A few hours detention of a flood in the hills is often sufficient to prevent damage by the waters in the plains. The system is one that should be installed. It is the same principle as the detaining dams of the Ohio system and it is less expensive while the effect is practically certain to be beneficial. Coupled with proper treatment of the streets of this city it should enable Glendale to laugh at any rainy season no matter how heavy.

UNITED STATES PRIZE COURT

At the outset of the war it was not thought probable that the United States would be seriously troubled by the maritime phases of the struggle; but as time has gone on it has been found that some exceedingly troublesome questions have come for settlement in the United States. Apart from the sinking of the Lusitania in the beginning of the sea fighting to the most recent torpedoing of the Sussex, the United States has several difficult questions to settle, such as the seizing of German military men and civilians on American vessels by the British, and last the status of the Appam, brought in as a prize to a United States port by a German prize crew from the raider Moewe. The Appam case is about to be brought before a United States court. Representatives of England and Germany will appear before Judge Waddill to claim ownership of the prize, which is now in Hampton Roads.

Germany claims that the United States should surrender the Appam to it on the ground that the steamer was captured as a prize of war and was compelled to put in at the neutral port of Hampton Roads because she was in an unseaworthy condition.

Lieut. Berg, commander of the prize crew of the Appam, contends that making this port under these conditions leaves the vessel and cargo legally a German prize, entitled to be taken back to Germany and kept as German property. Berg cites a treaty of 1828 between the United States and Germany to uphold his contention.

The representatives of England claim that when the Appam touched Hampton Roads port the question of her legal possession automatically came under the jurisdiction of the neutral government, and that, because she was originally owned by British subjects, she should be turned over to the British owners by the neutral government.

The cargo of the Appam will be disposed of by auction and the proceeds turned over to the federal court to be held until the prize court has determined ownership. Palm oil, pisaava, shea butter, cotton seed, potash, maize and corn, coffee, rubber and copra constitute the cargo, which is quite valuable. The Germans claimed the cargo but the United States determined to sell it.

REASON FOR FIGHTING AT VERDUN

All the unthinking world wonders that the Germans should persist in endeavoring to break through the French lines at Verdun, yet there is a very strong reason for the attempt. As yet Germany has accomplished nothing of her war program. Her design to dominate France, crush Russia and then turn her attention to Britain has lamentably failed. France is intact and more vigorous than during the threatening days when the Teutons were going to march into Paris within ten days. Russia, beaten and driven back from Galicia and Russian Poland, is still at the front with new armies and a new aggressive. Britain holds the seas and keeps the kaiser's fleet bottled up in the Kiel canal. The Zeppelin raids have done no appreciable damage and caused no loss of life beyond that of a few hundreds of civilians—men, women and children.

Germany is getting impatient for results. The only tangible results her people see are the long trains of wounded coming back hourly from the fighting at Verdun. To break through at Verdun would be to satisfy German desires and quiet German fears. It is necessary to German plans that the Teuton armies march through Verdun to Paris. They have given out long ago that they are going to do so; that it is a matter of mathematical certainty and that it is only a question of time. They have now been two months at it and are very little more advanced than when they began. Yet they dare not cease their attacks. They must go on sacrificing more and more men; because the moment they give up there they have nothing else to show for all their nearly two years' fighting.

The moment also that they cease their attacks on the outlying positions at Verdun that moment the aggressive passes to the allies and the fate of the German campaign is decided. None know this better than the kaiser and his advisers. Famine is at hand in Germany. The people are getting impatient. The voices of those who have all along protested against the Teuton military program of conquest is being heard again. It is being found impossible to feed the people any longer with stories of imaginary victories in face of the fact that the German armies in France are farther back than at the beginning of the war, when they had everything their own way. Therefore the Teutons must continue their terrific assaults on the French lines. It is a matter of life or death to them.

MEXICANS WILDLY EXCITED

MEXICO CITY, April 14.—Wild excitement followed the announcement here today that American troops had shot down Mexicans at Parral. The news spread like wildfire. Immediately an infuriated mob was in the streets madly gesticulating and breathing forth threatenings and slaughter. The few Americans in the city kept close to their houses. Official accounts of the fighting state that at least 100 Mexicans were killed and wounded and that one American trooper was killed.

FOUND MYSTERY SHIP

One night about two months ago the bark Lobo from British Columbia came upon a derelict, in the south seas, around which is surrounded one of the strangest mysteries of the sea. The vessel, in perfect condition, was drifting with no one aboard.

According to cable reports from Australia, the Lobo's men boarded the strange craft off Minerva reef. Everything about the ship was in perfect order. In the galley stove a fire was kindled ready for lighting. In the crew's quarters tobacco pipes, some freshly filled, had been quietly laid aside and deserted. On the afterhouse the week's washing hung. Galley plates were spread out in preparation for a meal.

Every effort had been made to conceal the identity of the vessel. The name had been carefully obliterated. Everything about the ship was ship-shape. Every scrap of food, however, had been removed, as well as every ounce of cargo. The vessel was much too large to be taken in tow by the Lobo. And when the men clamored off and returned to their own ship, as the strange derelict was merging into a fog bank, the vessel's bell suddenly clanged, followed, some said, by a creepy shout of laughter.

SENT TO JAIL TO COOK

Neil Breslin is the best flapjack cook in the world, prisoners of the San Francisco jail say. "That's how I got here!" explained Breslin. "Two other fellows had ideas they were the best flapjackers in the world and I changed their minds. Then they brought me here. It took two shots to make 'em believe it, though."

BARACA BUSINESS MEETING

The regular business meeting of the Baraca class of the M. E. Sunday School was held last night and the following officers elected for the ensuing six months: President, Frank Matthiesen; vice-president, Clarence Edwards; secretary, Herbert A. Matthiesen; treasurer, Mark Francy; press agent, Fred W. Kille; Sargeant-at-Arms, Herbert Potter.

The proposition of establishing a Y. M. C. A. in Glendale was taken up and freely discussed and it was decided to appoint a committee to investigate the several plans and a special meeting will be called in a few days when it is expected that some definite line of organization will be worked out and it is hoped that Glendale will have a live Y. M. C. A. in the near future. The entire class was heartily in favor of the movement.

How about that harness? You can get it fixed at Glendale Implement Co., Third and Howard. 195t6.

Personals

Mr. F. H. Fish, 200 S. Louise St., returned from Chicago Wednesday, after a month's absence on business.

Mr. L. P. Abell, 315 N. Maryland, is confined to his bed with a bad cold.

A. L. Weaver of 235 S. Kenwood returned Thursday from a business trip to Bakersfield.

Rev. J. E. Storm, who has been residing at 142 S. Kenwood street for some months, is planning to move to Los Angeles within a few days.

Mrs. T. J. Keleher, 228 N. Louise street, was a guest Friday at the home of Mrs. W. Reid, 2418 S. Normandie avenue, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Lydia Smith of Logansport, Ind., who has been resident at the home of Mrs. Laura E. Whitney, 238 S. Isabel street, all winter, will start for her middle west home next Tuesday.

Among the guests at the home of Mrs. Russell Grundy, Rampart avenue, Los Angeles, Wednesday, at luncheon, was Mrs. T. J. Keleher, 228 N. Louise street. The party went to the Orpheum in the evening.

Mrs. Ruth Perrine and little daughter, Louise, have returned to their home in Berkeley, after a visit with their many friends and relatives here. Their visit here was much enjoyed by Mrs. Perrine and she intends to give Glendale a word of praise to her friends in the Northern city.

LINDSAY FUNERAL

The funeral services of Andrew Lindsay, whose death occurred at his home in Glendale Thursday, April 13, 1916, will be held from the Scovern-Letton-Frey Undertaking Company's chapel, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will take place in the Forest Lawn cemetery.

WORK AT KALEM STUDIO

Mr. Horne of the Kalem Picture company is exceedingly busy these days. He has just finished the eleventh episode of the serial "Social Pirates." This episode is entitled "The Fangs of the Tattler." Mr. Horne recently engaged Mr. Bradbury, formerly of the Lasky Feature Film company of Hollywood, to act leading parts. Mr. Davis is at Hollywood with his railroad company.

You ought to see all the horses being shod at C. M. Lund's Shop, Third and Howard. 195-t6.

Roses red, roses white, and roses pink were used profusely in the decorations that transformed G. A. R. hall into a veritable bower of beauty and fragrance, Wednesday, when Mrs. Myra C. K. Shuey was hostess for the Kensington club. The banquet room, where refreshments were served, presented a very pretty scene, when the ladies entered and found their places at the rose decked tables, by small cards, each with the month and day of birth, of each of the guests, on stork cards.

Mrs. Shuey, who so cleverly arranged the place cards, very wisely omitted the year of birth of each of her guests. Following the luncheon, each guest was requested to read, for the entertainment of all, the little birthday witticisms on her card. Brief and felicitous talks were made by Mrs. William Crawford, Mrs. David H. Imler, Mrs. Nickells and Mrs. George Peck. Mrs. Shuey was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. William Crawford, Mrs. Samuel A. Pollock, Mrs. David H. Imler, Mrs. Della Hapgood, Mrs. Jennie Phillips, Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, Mrs. Mae Burlingham, Mrs. George Peck and Mrs. Lewis Hoffman.

The marriage ceremony of Miss Caroline Helen Shivery, daughter of Mrs. Eliza R. Shivery of South Glendale avenue, and Mr. Charles C. Stillman of Los Angeles, was solemnized Wednesday morning, at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage, Rev. Don Ford officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Stillman will reside in Los Angeles, following a honeymoon trip.

Wayland Brown of Gardena avenue left for Wichita, Kansas, Wednesday evening, in response to a telegram announcing the serious illness of his father.

Tropico Thursday club will be represented at the first annual Free Flower show, which will be given in Glendale April 20-21-22, under the auspices of the Glendale Garden society. Mrs. Charles Wallace Kimberly, with Mrs. David H. Imler, Mrs. R. C. Kennedy and Mrs. Dwight Griswold, are arranging an exhibit that will do credit to the club as well as to the city of Tropico.

Tropico is to have a big mass meeting on Sunday night in the Presbyterian church at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. James S. McGaw, D. D., will speak on "The Bible in Our Public Schools." Dr. McGaw is General Field Secretary of the National Reform association and is leading a state-wide campaign for the use of the Bible in the public schools of California. Institutes and mass meetings are being held in the various cities and towns throughout the state and public sentiment is being aroused on this subject.

Dr. McGaw is having large audiences wherever he goes and the press has many excellent things to say of his addresses. In order that everyone may have the opportunity of hearing this talented speaker and that there may be a rally and demonstration of the Christian forces of the community on this important subject, the Methodist Episcopal and Presbyterian churches of Tropico have decided to dismiss their regular evening services and attend the mass meeting in a body. Every one is cordially invited and arrangements are being made to accommodate the large number who will want to participate in this public meeting. Special music, a live address, a good audience. Come and bring your friends.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

Jack Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Marsh of San Rafael street, who was so badly burned Thursday morning by the upsetting of a kettle of boiling water, is quite as well as could be expected, though suffering slightly from the shock.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wouters of N. Central avenue, who started Wednesday for San Francisco and Monterey by auto, wired Mr. Hewitt of the Glendale laundry this morning that they had reached their destination safely and had enjoyed the trip. The weather was fine all the way and the roads good. The party went first to San Francisco. Today they go to Monterey, where they will reside in the Del Monte hotel and enjoy the fine golf course.

Mrs. Arthur Fancher, of Berkeley, is visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell, of Kenneth road. She will be remembered by her old friends as Miss Ruth Mitchell. Mrs. Fancher and her baby will be guests at the Mitchell residence for some time.

THE CIVIC FEDERATION

"The Civic Federation of Central and Southern California," will be one of the most powerful organizations in the west if several civic committees' plans are realized. By-laws and a constitution are now being drawn up for the organization, which will weld all cities south of Bakersfield and Fresno into a group working for the welfare of all. Among those interested in pushing the plan to a successful conclusion are leaders in Los Angeles, San Diego, W. F. Lisenby, mayor Long Beach, G. H. Wilson, mayor San Bernardino, and S. L. Berkley, mayor Santa Monica.

Trajan, perhaps the greatest of all Rome's emperors, was the son of a common soldier, and began his career in the ranks.

REPUBLICAN RALLY

would be willing to hold out the olive branch to the Progressives if they would come in and acknowledge the errors of their ways. Unity of the two sections of the party was necessary for Republican success in the coming campaign. The Republicans, he said, were bound to follow the Democrats, just as the Red Cross ambulances followed the armies—to pick up the wounded and to bury the dead.

Speaking of Democratic policy and achievement Mr. Stutesman made a scathing criticism of President Wilson as having given the country a government the most baneful, most prejudicial and most dangerous to the best interests of peace, progress and prosperity the country had ever known. The Wilson government had broken the promises of its platform even in the matter of a second term; but he had to stand again. The democrats had no other candidate that would dare to stand or was willing to stand.

Mr. Stutesman also said that after having scored the Republicans for extravagance the democrats had given the country the most extravagant administration in the history of the United States. One of their own senators—Tillman of South Carolina—speaking of the rush of the southern democrats to get money for impossible Southern river and harbor improvements, said: "The wild asses of the desert are athirst. They have broken into the green corn and trodden it under foot." Advocating exemption of coastwise vessels from tolls Wilson had changed his mind and ordered congress to do the opposite. The high cost of living was scored in the democratic platform, but when had it ever been higher than now? They took the duty off sugar and then put it on again. As for tariff reform it had produced its usual results under the democrats and only the war in Europe with the money it had paid this country for munitions had saved the land from the soup kitchen.

The speaker roundly criticised Wilson for the inexperience, obstinacy, dislike of advice and for the general muddle he had made of affairs in Mexico and of the relations of the United States to foreign nations. To end all this which had brought the country into contempt everywhere he urged his hearers to send the regular Republican delegates to Chicago, and thus put California back on the political map.

The United States Public Health service maintains a loan library of stereopticon slides.

LITTLELANDS

Last Tuesday Dr. Frost left Littlelands for Detroit, Michigan, where he has accepted the position of manager for a drug company. The doctor has been here for about two and a half years and by his genial spirit and friendly ways has won many friends who, while regretting his departure, wish for him a safe journey and abundant success in this new undertaking, which indeed is but a return to his old work. Mrs. Frost and the two children will probably remain here till the close of the school year. We are sorry to lose this family.

Wednesday of last week Mr. Dick Hartranft and Miss Rosetta Johnson slipped quietly away to Los Angeles and were married. They returned the same day and are for the present at the home of the parents of the bride on Los Angeles street, Littlelands. Miss Johnson is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and is a beautiful girl. Mr. Hartranft is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Hartranft of Lazy Lonesome Rancho, near Sunland. Congratulations and best wishes of their friends throughout the valley are extended to this young couple.

Mrs. Clara Noyes of Pasadena was the guest last week at the home of her friend, Mrs. B. Zachau.

The first of the week Mr. Shiras met with a very painful accident. One of his fingers was badly cut while preparing feed for his poultry.

Dr. Maesel and his bride arrived in Littlelands last Monday. They have some property in the northern part of the colony.

There is a growing sentiment in this place to change the name of Littlelands to Vistaheights, a most appropriate and beautiful name. The other was never the choice of the majority of the residents of the town and because of certain associations has become quite obnoxious to almost every one and it daily growing more so. The sooner the name is changed the better. While the name is really two words it may be written as one in order to suit the Postal authorities, who of late object to a postoffice name of two separate words.

It is stated that there will be expended in Littlelands and vicinity this year $30,000 for homes built of the native stone. This material is growing in favor for buildings and when rightly handled makes beautiful structures.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade takes place at the club house next Monday evening. It is important that every member be present. The Board of Trade is the official factor of the community and should have the support of every resident.

Dr. White has become the owner of an Oldsmobile during the last week and she and her family are anticipating many pleasant trips and outings for the season.

Mrs. Humphries motored up from Tuna Vista one day last week. She was accompanied by her daughter, Anna Lou, who remained for a several days' visit with the Maygroves.

The following appeared in the squab items of the April Farm Journal, a nation-wide periodical: W. G. Paul, who gave soja or soy-beans a trial, says in the American Squab Journal that while they are richer in protein, the pigeons do not readily eat them, excepting in the case of the older birds; and he returned to the Canada peas as the more desirable.

Entertainment

As had been announced last Friday evening, instead of the Homecroft meeting the evening was given over to the Danish Musical club, consisting of Prof. Theodore Petersen, violin, cornet and mandolin, and Miss Alvina Petersen, soprano, violin and piano; Miss Gladys Petersen, contralto, cornet and reader. The entertainment was well patronized and was pronounced by those present to be of a high order, each participant being an artist in his and her special role. We noticed that this same company appeared last Sunday on the program of Dr. Brougher's church service in Los Angeles.

REDONDO HIGH SCHOOL DEDICATES PIPE ORGAN

The new high school at Redondo held open house on Tuesday evening of this week, the occasion being the dedication of the new pipe organ, the second pipe organ to be installed in any high school west of the Mississippi river, according to County Superintendent Mark Keppel, who made the dedication address. Mr. Keppel expressed himself as being proud of this fact and as being in full accord with the attitude of the Redondo board of education in giving this splendid opportunity to the students, and voiced the hope that there would soon be many pipe organs in high schools and grammar schools of California.

Dr. W. E. Wilson, principal of Manual Arts high school of Los Angeles, was the other speaker of the evening and voiced the congratulations of the educational world of Los Angeles and vicinity for the progressive step taken by Redondo.

A recital was given by Ernest Douglas, of Los Angeles, assisted by Miss Lenore van der Leith, lyric soprano, also of Los Angeles. The opening number was rendered by the girls' glee club of the high school. Prof. C. A. Langworthy, principal of the high school, presided.

WHALER DAYS RETURN

The days of the whaler, thought to be a thing of the past, have returned. The first whaler to leave San Francisco in five years, the "Hermin," will put to sea in about two weeks. Captain Thomas Peterson, veteran of the "oid days" when whaling was one of the most dangerous occupations of the sea, will be in charge of the vessel.

WYCLIFFE

"As a writer of English prose he came at a critical time," says Hector Craik of Wycliffe. "The older English was giving way to something which, when we strip off peculiarities of spelling and of verbal forms, approaches very nearly to our modern language. Comparing Wycliffe's style with that of the book of travels to which the name of Mandeville is attached, we see at once that the English is that of a scholar who has lost much of what may be called the childishness of archaicism, and who is ready to enrich his language with words borrowed freely either from a French or classical source. We recognize that we are in the hands of one who though he has nothing that could fairly be called a formed style, yet uses the direct and forcible English of a master, and whose example could not fail to influence the future of English prose."

Samuel Richardson, one of the first famous novelists, was a journeyman printer, the son of a carpenter.
