

SCANDAL SHAKES GERMAN EMPIRE

Prince Frederick Degraded and Banished—Emperor Slapped Cousin and Tore Decorations From His Breast.

(Special to the Times.)
Berlin, June 12.—The entire German empire has been shaken to its foundations by the disclosures in the Eulenberg scandal, the most recent development of which is the degrading of Prince Frederick Henry of Prussia by the Kaiser, who has banished him from Germany forever on account of his extreme immorality.

When undisputed guilt of the Prince's guilt was presented to the Kaiser, the Emperor summoned him to the palace, where the charges were read. Emperor William personally tore off his cousin's orders and decorations, slapped him, and ordered him never to return under penalty of imprisonment.

In tears Prince Frederick departed for Egypt.

The scandal is all the greater because Prince Frederick always posed as a pious man. He is a son of the late Prince Albrecht, Regent of Brunswick, and inherited seven millions.

Berlin is ringing with accounts of the black rites and excesses practiced at Eulenberg's "round table."

A number of dismissals, two divorces, a suicide and other entanglements have resulted on account of the affair.

ADVANCED WORK MAY BE TAKEN

APPLIED SCIENCE IN THE HIGH SCHOOL

Trustee Board Discussed the Question and Also That of Teaching Music.

Last evening in the city hall there were present at the school board meeting the following trustees: Mrs. Jenkins and Messrs. Jay, Lewis, Bishop, Riddle and McKeown. Trustee Jay was in the chair. Among other matters under discussion were the curfew question, school attendance, medical inspection of schools, the appointment of a competent teacher of music, and the possibility of inaugurating an advanced course of teaching in physics, including the higher mathematics and applied science supplemented by courses for advanced drawing. It was thought that these two latter would specially meet the peculiar conditions of the Island in its demand for more highly trained men.

The secretary, Dr. Eaton, said he had two communications to bring before the notice of the board: the first was from Bishop Perrin, drawing attention to a report submitted to him by the Friendly Help committee of the diocese of the urgent need of the curfew regulations being carried out, and of the urgent necessity of an official representative being appointed to deal with those children who through either the fault of the parents or their own and the force of their environments, were not attending school to their own detriment and moral loss.

The second communication from Mrs. Roberts of the Home Nursing Society, which society in their daily routine of duty in visiting the sick, were perpetually coming across children who did not attend school.

The secretary reported that he had, himself, approached the police who could not see their way to the appointment of an officer for the specific purpose of seeing that the curfew regulations were observed in Victoria. The police seemed to incline to the opinion that such a course was an unnecessary expense to the city because the good citizens of Victoria would themselves voluntarily act in such cases for the sake of those whom they desired to protect.

Mrs. Jenkins was of opinion that the curfew law should be enforced on account of the number of children who were at home living under very distressing conditions.

Dr. Eaton stated that he had previously moved the board to approach those philanthropic societies in this city who were specially interested in the present subject and was of opinion that the help of such societies as the Friendly Help and the Children's Aid together with the Nursing Society, should be secured with the object of getting them not only to collect all relevant facts bearing on the subject, but also for the interchange of thoughts as to the best course to pursue in attaining the object they all had so much at heart. These societies might deal with the cases of destitute children.

The chairman was desirous that the philanthropic societies should report all cases under their notice to the board.

Dr. Eaton urged that the Children's Aid Society should take charge of all boys who were not under the proper control of their parents.

Mrs. Jenkins approved of the chairman's view of the point under discussion and suggested that it might remain in force until the board could appoint its own officer, so as to prevent the boys' demonstrating and pulling away

NO ADDRESSES TO BE RECEIVED

ON THE VISIT OF PRINCE FUSHIMI

The Arrangements Are Almost Complete for His Entertainment in This City.

There will be no addresses presented to H. I. H. Prince Fushimi on his arrival in this city. This is owing to the fact that he is not receiving addresses during his visit to Canada. Official information to this effect has been received at Government House from Ottawa. In consequence of this information there will be no civic addresses presented nor will the native Japanese present one.

The official programme for the prince's visit to Victoria has been approved of at Ottawa and will be carried out thereupon upon the arrival of the Japanese visitor to the city.

He will arrive in Victoria at 5:30 on Sunday evening, June 23rd and will be met by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor. A guard of honor will be drawn up to receive him but it has not yet been decided how the guard will be constituted.

After inspection by the Prince he will be driven to Government House and the evening passed quietly.

On Monday he will be given a trip about the city as the guest of Mayor Morley. This will probably be made by automobile.

No arrangements have been made for the afternoon but at 8 o'clock in the evening, an official dinner in honor of the Prince will be given at Government House.

The arrangements for Tuesday are left open, it being expected that Prince Fushimi will leave by H. M. S. Monmouth some time during that day.

SENT TO PRISON FOR NINE YEARS

Tyo Men Convicted of Complicity in Attempt to Kill Spanish Rulers.

(Associated Press.) Madrid, June 12.—The court yesterday handed down judgment in the cases of Senor Forrer, director of the modern school of Barcelona, Joseph Naken, and others, charged with complicity in the attempt to assassinate King Alfonso and Queen Victoria on their wedding day, May 31, 1906. Naken and Mato Ibarra were sentenced to nine years' imprisonment while Forrer and others were acquitted.

A case in which the condition of a type-writer was the point in question was heard at the Westminster court. The typewriter was produced, Judge Woodfall laid it on his desk, operated it, and remarked: "That is all right. Judgment for the plaintiff."

WIRELESS FOR COAST POINTS

WILL BE INSTALLED DURING THE SUMMER

Hon. W. Templeman Informs Captain Troup of Government's Intentions—Making Arrangements.

Captain Troup, general superintendent of the Pacific Coast Steamship service of the C. P. R., returned to the city yesterday morning after a visit to Ottawa, where he went for the purpose of attending the meeting of the Light-house Board of Canada. Many interesting matters came up before the Light-house Board, but the matter of wireless telegraph stations upon which Captain Troup brings news to the city, is with reference to the erection of wireless stations along the coast.

"The acting minister of marine and fisheries, the Hon. William Templeman, informed me," said he, "that arrangements were in progress for the installation of several government wireless stations this summer along the coast of British Columbia. One of these will be situated at Pacheña Point and there will also be another on the west coast of the Island."

WILL PROSECUTE HARRIMAN.

Proceedings Are to Be Instituted Under the Anti-Trust Act.

Washington, June 12.—Developments since the cabinet conference at the White House last Friday evening make it probable that the government will begin proceedings under the anti-trust act against E. H. Harriman and his associates for violation of the law in connection with the so-called Chicago & Alton railroad deal, the Liaison and Southern Pacific transactions, and perhaps in connection with the Southern Pacific and the San Pedro traffic agreement.

Boise, Idaho, June 13.—It now seems probable that Harry Orchard will be allowed to leave the stand and make way for another witness in the Haywood trial by Saturday. The state will not take up much time with the re-direct testimony and this means the cross-examination will undoubtedly be disposed of.

To-day Orchard is expected to give the facts of the assassination of Former Governor Stuenberg. The harrowing tale that made a crowded court room shudder must once more be told and the murderer will be obliged to show the jury how Does Not Advocate War But Commercial Retaliation—Popular Indignation Growing.

(Associated Press.)
Tokyo, June 13.—Several papers this morning print photographs of Japanese restaurants in "Frisco. This appeals to the eye, coupled with the strong words describing sufferings of compatriots, has further influenced popular indignation.

The Nichi Nichi commenting on the photographs, says: "The situation is doubtless grave and calls for prompt measures by both governments."

The Hochi says: "The stage for negotiations has passed and therefore the time for action has been reached." The paper says further that it does not advocate war, but commercial retaliation.

The newspaper men of this city were summoned to appear before the home department to-day and were officially advised to abstain from the publication of any matter of an inflammatory or agitating nature on the American question.

MAN KILLED.

Met Death When Temporary Bridge in a Sky Scraper Collapsed.

(Associated Press.)
New York, June 12.—The collapse of a temporary bridge on the second floor of a sky scraper at Courtlandt and Church streets last night caused the death of one man and the serious injury of three others.

The accident was due to gross negligence on the part of employees of the contractors, and the foreman of the cement gang has been arrested charged with homicide. The dead man is James Fringle, 28 years. Had the accident occurred five minutes later the dead and injured might have been appalling, as more than 100 men were gathering to receive time checks when the crash came. The police authorities claim the bridge was overloaded with cement bags.

Craft Overturned and Two Men Lost Their Lives.

Montreal, June 12.—Two men lost their lives last night as a result of a drunken row in a boat opposite Longue Point. The victims are Alfred Focault, 18 years old, and Arthur Cote, 18. There were three in the boat, and Albert Goulette, the survivor, states that he and Cote were in a clinch when the boat capsized. Goulette managed to keep hold of the overturned boat, but the other two were carried down the river by the current.

NEW BUILDINGS.

A Busy Time in Towns in Western Canada.

Winnipeg, June 12.—Statistics gathered from 27 towns throughout the west show that the building actually under way therein amounts to $22,500,000. This is, of course, exclusive of Winnipeg. In Edmonton there is $4,000,000 to be expended in new structures. This wonderful development, great as it is, would be one-third more were it not for the prohibitive rates charged for lumber. Wages are uniformly high.

ENGINES COLLIDE.

Two Men Killed and Several Seriously Injured in Accident in California.

Santa Cruz, Cal., June 12.—An accident occurred yesterday on the big Three line of the Southern Pacific. Jas. Forester, an engineer, and Charles Caprell met death in a head-on collision between engines. M'BRIDE'S MISSION PROVES A FAILURE Subsidies Stand as Passed by Premier—Winston Churchill Introduces Bill in House of Commons.

(Special to the Times). London, June 12.—Winston Churchill has introduced in the House of Commons, the British North America Amendment Act, 1907, containing the essential portions of the resolutions of the Ottawa conference of last autumn. The new scale of federal subsidies was confirmed; but the words "final and unalterable" were omitted because no act of the British parliament is final.

There was no opposition to the bill which passed its first reading. Premier McBride, of British Columbia had many interviews with the colonial office about the inadequacy of his grant. Mr. McBride was complimented by Messrs. Churchill and Lytton, though the authorities declined to interfere with the substance of the Ottawa conference and Dominion parliament resolutions, but declined to lay down a rule that the opinion of the federal government was necessarily final. Attorney-General Foy, Ontario; A. G. Campbell, of Manitoba, and Mr. McBride were in the gallery during the debate. Mr. Churchill read a letter from Hon. W. Fielding, urging the immediate passage of the bill. The House greeted his speech with cheers.

GOOD EVENING'S WORK IN CAMP

WEATHER CONDITIONS WERE MUCH BETTER

Regimental Orders for To-day—Men Are Taking Interest in Their Drill.

Under brighter conditions than have hitherto prevailed the usual routine of training was satisfactorily gone through last evening at the Fifth Regiment's camp. The last of the recruits were passed last night. The colonel made an inspection of the different companies as to their appearance on parade, their general smartness and the condition of their uniforms. The equipments of the men, their dress and accoutrements were carefully examined. The men this year seem to be taking a pride in their appearance and in keeping their uniforms clean. Those forming number 1 company were especially signalled out and commended.

The men of number 1 company continued infantry and field gun drill; the men of number 2 company were exercised in infantry drill, while the men of number 3 company were on the guns in the fort. At the camp inspection each morning there is observable a marked improvement in the tidiness of the tents, so great is this improvement that it is now becoming a matter of considerable difficulty to pick out the most untidy ones to post on the regimental board. The camp will be inspected to-morrow afternoon by the P. M. O., Lt. Col. Grant.

The attendance at drill is much better than in previous years, and few defaulters are reported at parade. This is to be attributed to the disciplinary system in vogue. On Sunday next there will be the usual church parade in one of the churches, most probably at Esquimalt. In the afternoon the band concert will be held instead of on Saturday, the day when the sports should have been held, but which have been postponed. The camp will be thrown open on Sunday afternoon to the friends of the Fifth and the fair sex will have all the attractions of a military band to lend an additional enjoyment to the brilliant conversational powers of the gallant men of the regiment. The regimental orders for to-day are as follows: Orderly officer for June 13th, Lieut. P. T. Stern; next for duty, Lieut. R. P. Clark; next for duty, Lieut. H. Woodson.

B. H. Furness; No. 31, Gr. C. Parker; No. 42, Gr. C. P. Steen; No. 70, Gr. H. D. Curtis; No. 86, Gr. R. Rideout; No. 94, Gr. J. W. Fitch; No. 11, Gr. F. E. Anderson. To No. 2 company—No. 143, Gr. J. A. Casnavar; No. 152, Gr. J. West; No. 154, Gr. J. P. Wood; No. 157, Gr. H. King. To No. 3 company—No. 201, Gr. Fred. W. Savory; No. 244, Gr. S. R. Bell; No. 211, Gr. F. E. Roberts; No. 214, Gr. T. Barnes. The officer commanding regrets to have had at camp inspection this morning that there were rifles which were not in a satisfactory condition.

There will be a meeting of the secretaries' associations this (Thursday) evening after parade to discuss arrangements for an "At Home" on Sunday next.

—Death occurred at the family residence, Simpson street, off Cadboro Bay road, on Wednesday morning, of Katherine, the beloved wife of Alexander Simpson, aged 37 years. The deceased was a native of County Mayo, Ireland, and leaves besides her husband, one daughter and one son. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 10:30 from the family residence.

—At the regular meeting of the committee of the W. C. T. U. home, the following were cordially thanked for donations during the month: Mrs. Lester, Mrs. E. Grant, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Cochran, Mrs. McNaughton, Mrs. Seawright and the W. C. T. U. of Grand Forks. The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and adopted and Mrs. Humber appointed delegate to the convention. Mrs. Flett was appointed voting representative for the home.

—L. G. Burns, the proprietor of the Bee Hive saloon at the corner of Broad and Fort streets, died somewhat suddenly at his residence at 37 Haywood avenue yesterday afternoon. He was 35 years of age and leaves a wife and two children to mourn his loss. He is a brother of Mrs. Kinloch, of Victoria.

—The local members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew met in the St. Andrew's Institute last evening to complete arrangements for the big provincial conference which is to be held in Victoria on June 23rd and 24th. The final details were all attended to and everything is now in readiness for the gathering. About sixty visitors are expected to be present at the conference, among the cities to be represented being Tacoma and Seattle.

—The plans and petitions relating to the grading and macadamising of Washington avenue from the Gorge road to Burnside road and the straightening of Cook street, to define the street lines, upon the local improvement plan, are now lying upon the table in the city assessor's office. These works have been approved and, providing no counter petitions are filed against them, will be proceeded with after the expiration of the time set by law.

MANY AIDS FOR COAST LINE

PASSED AT MEETING OF LIGHTHOUSE BOARD

New Automatic Fog Alarm in Which Bell is Rung By Gas Explosions.

A long list of further aids to navigation has been passed by the lighthouse board of Canada and awaits the sanction of the minister of marine and fisheries.

Capt. Troup, who is the B. C. representative on that board, has returned to the city. He says that during the meeting of the lighthouse board the members were invited to witness a representation of what is an entirely new type of automatic fog alarm. The lighthouse board approved of the invention, which is of a very ingenious character and it will be seen in operation on this coast line within a couple of months' time.

The new alarm differs from the tide power signal inasmuch as it will not be subject to the action of the water. It will be therefore of great utility in inland seas and where it is necessary to have the sound carried over a wide expanse. In the new patent the bell is sounded by explosions of gas generated in the same tank as that which supplies the beacon. Inside the bell is a small cylinder in the office of which is placed a steel ball about five inches in diameter. The gas from the generator is forced into the cylinder and accumulates until it reaches a small hole, in the nature of a vent hole in cannons, where a small flame is continually burning. The flame ignites the accumulated gas. An explosion occurs, firing the steel ball from the cylinder against the side of the bell and thus sounding the alarm. The ball then falls back automatically into the cylinder, blocking it for the next accumulation of gas and the subsequent discharge. The interval between the sounds can be regulated.

Sufficient gas can be generated in the new automatic alarm so that it can be left untouched for either four or six months. The invention is evidently consequent upon experiments made with acetylene gas explosions. It has never hitherto been put in use at any point and will see its first service on the coast of British Columbia.

NORTHERN SURVEYS

Parties Are Leaving to Engage in Work in New B. C.

Gore & McGregor are sending a party at the end of this week under J. P. Templeton, B. C. L. S., to commence operations in the vicinity of Nechaco and the Fraser rivers. J. H. McGregor himself will go up at a later date. Gore & McGregor are very busy owing to the many operations they have on hand to arrange and carry through. At present they are waiting for Mr. Olmstead, the well known landscape designer, to complete his designs of the Uplands property.

Some of J. H. Gray's party are already at work on the ground in the Bulkley valley. J. H. Gray will join them as soon as the water on the Skeena permits. It is part of his plan to survey the southern portions of the Bulkley valley, and then, if possible, to carry on work on the agricultural sections of the adjoining lands.

THE ATTEMPT TO KILL PEABODY

HARRY ORCHARD TELLS HIS STORY

Says Pettibone Bought Him His Ticket When He Started From Denver.

Boise, June 12.—With the resumption of the Haywood trial at 9:30 o'clock this morning, the cross-examination of Harry Orchard by Attorney Richardson for the defence was continued.

Attorney Richardson began at once to question Orchard regarding his conference with Charles H. Moyer at the latter's home in Denver about April, 1906. Orchard testified yesterday that Moyer, Pettibone and Haywood told him at this time to go to Canyon City, Col., to "get" Peabody. Moyer's home was in the Aberdeen flats. Orchard said he went there at his own volition. He had not seen Moyer for a year or more before. The witness was not sure how the Peabody matter came up or who spoke of it first.

Moyer said he wanted to get rid of Peabody, so no one else would follow in his footsteps. Peabody had gone out of office at this time. They gave good reasons for wanting to get rid of Peabody.

Moyer also had a feeling of personal enmity toward Peabody. Orchard said, blaming him for being the cause of his arrest. Orchard said Pettibone asked him to get a position as life insurance solicitor before going to Canyon City. He got letters of recommendation from several persons, among them Mr. Hawkins, a law partner of Mr. Richardson.

Haywood later told Orchard he had made a mistake in getting a letter from Hawkins, for he might involve the attorney, who had been representing the Federation.

The casing of the Peabody bomb prepared at Canyon City has been placed in evidence. Richardson wanted to know to-day why Orchard said he had planned to place the bomb.

Outside the House and beneath the window, where Peabody often sat in the evening. The fact that the bomb might also kill Moyer and the children made no impression upon him, Orchard declared.

The witness said he made a pretense of insurance soliciting, but did not succeed in writing a policy, so he went into the Hall insurance business with a man named Vaughan.

"This insurance of farmers against hail storms was a fake, wasn't it?" "Yes."

"You just gave the farmers a piece of worthless paper and took their money?" "Yes."

Orchard said he had plenty of money out of the scheme. The plan to blow up Peabody meanwhile had been abandoned because Peabody had stopped sitting by the window.

Richardson tried to get the exact dates of Orchard's travels while in the hall insurance business, and being unsuccessful, he attempted to secure from the witness an admission that he had been coached not to permit the inquirer to pin him down to any place or date. In this he also failed. Orchard merely insisting that he had been admonished to "tell the truth."

When the hall insurance business gave out, Orchard returned to Denver and "went to work on Judges Gabbert and Goddard." Orchard said that he tried soliciting orders for his house specialties, such as carpet sweepers, clothes wringers, etc. These men sometimes solicited life insurance. Orchard told of talking with Pettibone about the Goddard and Gabbert Affairs in the basement of the Pettibone store. He said there was a tin box in the place, "which did not look good to me."

He made the Goddard and Gabbert bombs in the basement, he said, Pettibone having the powder for them buried in his yard. The Gabbert bomb eventually killed a man named Wally, the Goddard bomb never exploded. Orchard then told of attempts to "get" Sherman Bell, in which he said Pettibone participated. The plot miscarried, Orchard said, for lack of opportunity. Several times when he approached his house he was given away by the "barking of dogs."

On this occasion he said Pettibone was waiting for him down the street in a buggy. Moyer ordered him to "let up" on Bell as he (Moyer) said he was ill and did not want to risk being jailed again. Moyer said it would be a good thing to do some "outside work."

"He told me to get Johnny Neville," said Orchard. Neville had told him he knew about the Independence depot explosion and had demanded $1,200. Orchard intended to kill Neville, but the latter died a natural death. Moyer had nothing to do with the planning of the Independence station affair, Orchard said.

Orchard under cross-examination commenced to re-tell the history of the start from Denver to kill Steuenerberg. Pettibone, he said, bought his ticket. He saw Steuenerberg for the first time, in Boise. Steuenerberg was a guest at the hotel, and Orchard said he did not care if he blew up the whole hotel. He abandoned the plan because he was afraid he would be suspected and could not get away.

THE CROP OUTLOOK.

William Whyte Says the Prospects Are Excellent.

William Whyte, second vice-president of the Canadian Pacific, has returned to Winnipeg from Edmonton, where he conferred with the council in reference to the entry of the C. P. R. into that city. On the way west and again on the way east special attention was paid by Mr. Whyte to the condition of the growing grain in the three provinces.

"The area sown in wheat this year in the province of Manitoba," said Mr. Whyte, "is somewhat less than that of last year, but the decrease in this province will be fully made up by the increase in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan."

"The acreage in Manitoba, which would have been sown in wheat had the season been earlier was sown in coarse grains and the total acreage under crop in the province is in excess of last year."

"The weather throughout the three provinces is now all that could be desired. The rain has been general and it has been followed by warm days, very favorable to the growing of grain. I brought east with me in my car samples of growing plants of the fall wheat of Alberta. The samples which I have are fully nine inches high and the general prospect for the yield is excellent. The increase in the acreage of fall wheat this year over that harvested last year will amount to 300 per cent. North from Calgary to Edmonton I saw the entire country. All this country gives excellent promise for the harvest of the present year, the prospects for the spring wheat being quite equal to that of the fall wheat of the south."

"The extent of the loss of cattle in the west has not yet been ascertained. I met many of the ranchers and cattlemen and they agreed that it would be July before an exact estimate could be made. They are now engaged in making the count of the cattle on the ranges."

"The negotiations between the company and the city of Edmonton are proceeding in a satisfactory manner and I anticipate that within a short time a settlement will be reached which will be equally satisfactory to the city and the company."

A GRATEFUL MOTHER'S MESSAGE

ZAM-BUK CURED HER CHILD OF ECZEMA WHEN ALL ELSE FAILED.

In gratitude for the great benefit her child received from the use of Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm, Mrs. R. Gentlemen, of 1909 St. James' street, Montreal, gave the following details for publication. She says: "My little daughter Lydia (2 years) was troubled with eczema on her body and face for six months. During that time we tried several advertised remedies, but the disease had too well hold of the child for these to overcome, and finally we were obliged to consult a doctor. He treated her with prescriptions for various salves and medicines. We tried them, and tried well, but the child got no better. When she got warm the itching was terrible, and then the pain made her cry and be very restless. One day somebody strongly advised me to try Zam-Buk. We obtained a supply, and it was really wonderful how the Zam-Buk cooled the sores and gave almost instant relief. It stopped the itching, healed the sores, and in six weeks from first commencing it, the child's skin was as smooth as when born."

Zam-Buk is compounded from rich healing herbs, essences and is an ideal natural combination of power and purity, suitable for the delicate skins of infants.

For summer skin troubles, sore feet, insect stings, chafing sores, bruises, ulcers, abscesses, skin eruptions, scalp sores, Zam-Buk is unequalled. It also cures piles. All druggists and stores at 50c a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto for price, 6 boxes for $2.50.

PULAJANES CHIEF CAUGHT.

Capture Will Probably End Trouble on Island of Leyte.

Manila, June 11.—Faustino Abon, chief of the Pulajanes on the island of Leyte, was wounded and captured yesterday by Lieut. Jones with a detachment of eighty infantrymen and Philippine scouts. Under Chief Udarice, Rota and Lucia were also captured.

The military and civil authorities declare that the capture of these chiefs ends Pulajanes on the island of Leyte. For five months fourteen columns of troops with scouts and constabulary have been campaigning around the hiding place of the Pulajane leaders. The wife and family of Abon were captured May 25th.

It will now be possible to remove the campaign against the Pulajanes on the island of Samar. April 26, has been reported by bandits who were captured yesterday afternoon by the Santa Rita constabulary.

UNITED STATES SENATOR DEAD.

Washington, June 11.—United States Senator John Tyler Morgan, of Alabama, died here at 11:15 p. m.

Senator Morgan has been in bad health for a number of years, but had more or less regularly attended the sessions of congress. He suffered from angina pectoris, which was the cause of his death. At the death bed were his daughters, Miss Mary Morgan and Miss Cornelia Morgan, both of this city, and his secretary, J. O. Jones. Mr. Morgan's home in Alabama was at Selma, where the funeral will take place. The body will probably be taken there Thursday.

DR. FOSTER'S DEATH.

Coroner's Jury Censure Police For Having Placed Him in Cell.

New York, June 12.—A coroner's jury this day investigated the death of Chas. A. Foster, a noted alienist, confirmed the result of an autopsy by coroner's physician that the doctor died from uremia. At the same time the jury censured the police for having placed Doctor Foster in a cell when he was found acting strangely on the street on the night of May 11th.

In effect the verdict was that the police had made a blunder in arresting Dr. Foster and the jury recommended that whenever a prisoner was brought before police officials charged with intoxication a proper medical examination should be made to ascertain whether the condition of the person is not due to physical causes other than inebriation. The friends of Dr. Foster who demanded an investigation of his death, claim that his life might have been saved had the police called an ambulance.

London, June 12.—Caruso, the tenor, in an interview regarding his possible exclusion from the United States, as a result of his police court conviction in New York, said:

"Herr Conreid has engaged me for four years and my lawyers have assured him that I shall be able to return. I shall snap my fingers at the government's decision, if they will not let me land and I shall merely return to Europe and draw my salary at the same time."

QUEBEC IS RESPONSIBLE!

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier's future is in the hands of Quebec," consequently "British Columbia must be sacrificed in order that Quebec may be kept in line."

That is the latest logical deduction from the failure of Premier McBride to induce the Colonial Office to order all the pre-miers of the other provinces of Canada to grant British Columbia better terms. That is to say, Lord Elgin or Mr. Winston Churchill has joined in a conspiracy with Sir Wilfrid Laurier to "keep Quebec in line."

We have perused the record of the proceedings of the Conference of Premiers very carefully, and it is not apparent from that report that Quebec appeared to be more rapacious in her demands upon the Dominion than the other provinces. The Liberal Premier of that province was not conspicuous by his opposition to the claims of Ontario, a Conservative, who proposed the grant of one million dollars in full satisfaction of our claims.

CANDID; BUT NOT DISCREET.

While we sympathize sincerely with the Liberal government of Great Britain in the difficult task of reconciling the heterogeneous elements upon which it so largely depends in carrying out its policy of reform, we cannot say that all of its ministers are always prudent in their public utterances.

not have been prudent to create an impression that Great Britain is indifferent to the future status of South Africa. The "mere colonials" have proved themselves men ready to "take a dare."

In Harper's for June Prof. Pickering of Harvard writes of the origin of the moon. He holds that the moon was originally a part of the earth, and was cast off when in a nebulous condition from a point somewhere in what we now call the Pacific Ocean.

Another revised version of the better terms controversy has appeared from the Tory press. Yesterday it was Sir Wilfrid Laurier who was responsible for the failure of Premier McBride to move the "foot of the throne" to action.

There is one redeeming feature about this "foot of the throne" expedition. It has furnished the press of the Dominion with a topic for many a merry jest. Take the following from the Toronto Star as an example: "Shame, says the Telegram, that the unsuccessful candidates in the university examinations cannot appeal to the foot of the throne."

What Other People Think

DISHONEST AND DISCREDITABLE.

To the Editor—All intelligent readers will recall the incidents of the last provincial election campaign and will readily recognize the ridiculous position in which the Colonist places not only itself but also Premier McBride, in its present attempt to make it appear that if McBride fails in his mission to London the blame will fall on Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

unity he asked for, and he has availed himself of it, and does the Colonist now wish to say that the Imperial authorities will cause Premier McBride to eat his own words?

TRUTH AND JUSTICE.

PREMIER M'BRIDE'S MISSION.

To the Editor—The Colonist waxes desperate. Did it expect that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, out of deference to Mr. McBride, would advise the Imperial government to disregard the requests of the parliament of Canada?

There is also a Conservative contingent in parliament, consisting of Senator Macdonald. His attitude was not one of inaction, but of straight, outspoken opposition. In a published letter the Senator solemnly warned Mr. McBride against the course that he (Mr. McBride) had mapped out for himself.

Mr. Macdonald is a much older and wiser Conservative than Mr. McBride, and no doubt foresaw where the latter would land himself. The time in which the Imperial parliament could interfere in the internal affairs of Canada is gone forever.

BETTER TERMS.

(Special to the Times). Montreal, June 13.—At the Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday, Rev. Wardlaw Taylor, New Westminster, reported for the committee appointed last year to consider the matter of a theological college in British Columbia.

Dr. Campbell, of Victoria, made a long speech against the proposal. He was pessimistic regarding the outlook for the Presbyterian cause in the immediate future. Being a Victoria man he it was hardly to be expected that he could calmly contemplate establishing a college in British Columbia in any place but Victoria.

BASEBALL TEAM FOR VICTORIA

PLANS EFFECTED FOR SATURDAY GAMES

Seth J. Armstrong of Seattle Has Made Arrangements—Other Sporting News.

Seth J. Armstrong, the manager of the Superior Baseball Club, of Seattle, a strictly amateur organization, spent yesterday in the city completing arrangements whereby Victoria will have weekly exhibition ball games with the best teams procurable from the neighboring states across the line.

The plan upon which the team is to be operated is one of the greatest simplicity. Mr. Armstrong controls the fast Superior team, now second in the Puget Sound league, an organization which plays only Sunday ball, and it is his intention to strengthen this team with several local players, including Billy Blackbourne, Robertson and McQuade, and henceforth to let it be known as the Victoria team.

The superior team's uniform is blue with white trimmings, and the team is undoubtedly one of the fastest organizations on the coast.

The news that Victoria is at last to have a team will be hailed with delight by the local fans.

Although it is too late to get into organized ball this year, a movement is on foot for the formation of a Washington State league in which Victoria will in all likelihood have a representation.

The Oak Bay park diamond will be at once put into first class condition and the infield now rather rough, will be rolled out and put into its old time shape when it will be again as of old, one of the best, if not the best diamond on the coast.

LAWN TENNIS. ENGLAND'S OLDEST GAME. Many circumstances combined to lend special interest to the match which took place at Queen's Club, London, on April 27th, between J. Gould, of America, and Eustice Miles, of England for what was practically the amateur championship of the world in the Royal and ancient game of court tennis, a game which deserves those epithets far better than golf or than any other skilled variety of the multitudes of pastimes in which a ball is the chief factor.

Jay Gould is less than half the age of his opponent, who is not yet forty, and he comes from a new country where court tennis has generally been seriously played for a generation. Yet, by careful training, by assiduous practice and by that indefatigable and meticulous specialization which characterizes the American athlete, he has reached already a position which is higher than any save the highest among the great amateur players of the time.

Court tennis is the oldest English game which requires a high degree of skill, and some indications of its age may be realized from the survival of the famous tennis-court, which was built for the amusement of Henry VIII at Hampton Court Palace, and is still in use to-day.

At the next meeting of the corporation of Dublin a proposal to confer the freedom of the city on Mr. Croker will be discussed.

THE RIFLE. LIEUT. GOVERNOR'S CUP. The July meet of the British Columbia Rifle Association at the Richmond range near Vancouver will undoubtedly offer great attractions to riflemen all over the province.

TO BE GUESTS OF CANADIAN CLUB

Prominent Persons Who Are Expected to Visit This City During Season.

One of the foremost of Victoria's live institutions is the Canadian Club, the management of which misses no opportunity of securing the company of men of prominence and ability as guests at the club luncheons, and inducing them to address the members on subjects of public interest. The secretary, Frank I. Clarke, has received answers to invitations from the following gentlemen: E. M. Solens, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons; Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, postmaster-general of Canada; Sir J. A. Swettenham, ex-Governor of Jamaica; and W. P. Archibold, Dominion parole officer. Mr. Borden writing says:

Your letter of May 28th is at hand. The press reports of my proposed visit to the West are premature. As soon as my arrangements are definitely made I shall be glad to communicate with you.

Mr. Lemieux says: 'I have to thank you for your courtesy in extending to me, on behalf of the Canadian Club, of Victoria, an invitation to luncheon, should my proposed Western trip take place. In answer I beg to state that I shall have much pleasure in accepting the kind invitation of your club on the occasion mentioned. I cannot at present say, however, with any degree of certainty, when I shall be in Victoria, but should I go I shall be pleased to avail myself of the courtesy of your club.'

Sir J. A. Swettenham who, according to Associated Press dispatches, intended making a trip to China and Japan and returning to England by the C. P. R., writes as follows: 'I desire to thank the officers and members of the Canadian Club, of Victoria, for the kind invitation with which they have honored me.'

'I am not in a position at present definitely to promise to visit Victoria, B. C., much as I should like to do so. I have a very pleasant recollection of some days spent in Vancouver in 1901 and would like to visit your province very much. I thank you very much for the booklets you were so kind as to send me.'

Mr. Archibold's reply is more definite. As he accepted the invitation and named the subject of his address. In his letter he says: 'I have your letter of invitation to address the Canadian Club of your city, and deem it an honor to comply with your request. My dates for the Coast will be from June 27th to July 3rd or 4th, and any day you set I will endeavor to be in your city. My subject will be, 'Modern Treatment of the Criminal.'

On receipt of Mr. Archibold's letter, the secretary wired to him suggesting Thursday, June 27th, as the day of mutual entertainment, and this morning a reply was received agreeing to this arrangement. Mr. Archibold is recognized as an authority on criminology, his advice being frequently sought by United States officials dealing with paroled criminals, and his address will be deeply interesting. Mr. Clarke has also received a communication from Saini Natar Sing, a Hindu journalist of note, who will visit Victoria in the autumn, and will in all probability be the guest of the club.

Edward Eardley, school attendance officer of Tunstall, had lived with his sister for many years, and the two were devotedly attached to each other. On arriving home he found his sister ill and went to fetch a doctor, but when he returned she was dead. The shock was so great that Mr. Eardley had a paralytic stroke, from which he died. The two were buried together.

CONTENTMENT GET THE BEST—As Mark Twain once observed that people now-a-days were not content that the bread they cast upon the waters should after many days return to them, but that it should return buttered, the Recycle goes him one better by having the bread return buttered on both sides. Riders of the Recycle know there is 27 per cent less pressure on its self-oiling crank bearings than there is on the bearings of any other style of wheel, hence at every pedal stroke the Recycle rider is actually bottling strength, which means the rider only exhausts little over one-half the strength or energy to propel the Recycle that he does with any other bicycle. Try the Recycle and you will ride no other.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS CORNER

Binny and Joe Observe Memorial Day

BY HELENA DAVIS.

"Dear little girl," murmured the old woman, "I have no home."

Freddie's Essay on a Dog

A dog is a very funny animal. He has hair on the outside and Bark on the inside. He always has 2 pairs of legs and he uses all 4 at once. His head is long at the end where his mouth is, and it sticks out in front of his breast—his Head, I mean, not his Mouth.

A Dog loves to eat Bones, but he prefers to herry em for a weak first and then Dig em up an chaw on em to beat the Band. There is never any meet on the Bones, but he never seems to Mind that.

Dogs cant abide Cats, and I dont blame em for cats are such vishous animals and spit so. And cats have such sharp claws and scratch like the mischief. A fite between a dog and a Cat is most tremendous to behold.

Most dogs have tails, although ive seen some that had just stumps where their tails ought to grow. Every dog can Snarl and Groul when he gets riled, and he is shure to git riled 2 for he is like plain People and has a temper of his Own. But dogs are never kowards, ive seen a dog no Bigger'n my 2 fists what run right out and barked like all possessed at the worst looking tramp I ever set Eyes on. I run and hid under the Bed i was so scared. The little dog was more of a soldier than I was. That is, giving a good deal for him, for im no koward when it comes to holding my Own.

Dogs are necessary animals, boys couldnt git On without em. And they are pleasant to have round in the back yard for they eat up the scraps and keep the tramps and Cats Away. Dogs also git flees which keeps em biting very Much and is a Sorest torment. Ticks also git on dogs and suck much of their Blood away. So you See dogs has their troubles as well as Folks do. There is always the Bitter with the Sweet.

"Oh, mamma, what are you going to do with so many beautiful flowers?" cried Binny, as she ran into her mother's room the evening before Memorial Day.

"Tomorrow is Decoration Day, dearie," replied her mamma, "and we shall all go to the cemetery, as usual, and help to decorate the graves of our friends and the soldiers who are buried there. See, these little wreaths of white blossoms are for you and Joe. And you shall also have a basket of loose roses and ferns to statter over the graves."

"Oh, yes, just like we did last Memorial Day," said Binny. "I remember how many flowers we got, mamma, dear, for brother and me to take to the cemetery. And shall we decorate the same graves this year that we did last?"

"Of course, child, our dear dead ones are lying in the same places and are as dear to our memories now as a year ago. But why should you ask such a question, Binny?"

"Oh, I've seen so many graves down at one corner of the big cemetery that never have any flowers on them at all, and they are not nicely kept nor have they stones. Last year I wondered why they were forgotten, while all the other graves—those inside the high wall—were covered with flowers," explained Binny.

"That is the paupers' graveyard," said mamma, in a low tone. "The poor unfortunates buried there have no families nor friends to look after their last resting place. Of course, the sexton keeps the weeds cut and the trees trimmed, but otherwise, they go neglected and forgotten."

"That isn't right," declared Binny, a look of tender reproach coming into her heavenly blue eyes. "Everyone should spare a few flowers for the paupers, for if they were unfortunates they should be remembered kindly. I think it was hard enough to die so poor and have to be buried by strangers and it is worse to be neglected and forgotten on Memorial Day. Oh, I hope none of us shall ever become paupers."

"Dear, dear child!" said Binny's mamma putting an arm about the slim little form, and drawing it to her. "Of course, dearie, none of us ever will become so unfortunate. Heaven forbid!"

Then mamma kissed her little sunny haired girl and told her to run and call Joe, for there were some flowers to be gathered before nightfall, and Binny and Joe should take the basket and scissors and perform the delightful task. "Cut all the full-blown roses," mamma instructed, as the two children ran toward the garden. "Also get plenty of green to go with them. And make the stems a few more passies, too, that may be stolen from the bed to weave into a wreath."

Joe and Binny, laughing and singing, began their work of cutting great, drooping roses and branches of leaves. Their rose garden was a delight to the eye, and few persons passed that way without stopping to admire it. As the children worked they were too much occupied to hear the slow and soft footfall of an old woman who came along the sidewalk, that was separated from the flower-garden by a high paling fence. She paused under a tall tree, in whose shade she was almost lost, her garments being sombre like the shadows about her. An aged and careworn face looked from under a shabby bonnet that almost hid her thin gray hair, which was smooth and tidy. Everything about the old woman's attire pointed to her poverty. She stood looking through the fence palings at the profusion of flowers. Then Binny and Joe came out from a clump of rose bushes, their happy voices filling her ears. "Ah, beautiful flowers and children," the aged lips whispered, softly, "and a home of happiness and plenty." Tears dimmed the faded blue eyes and a trembling hand was raised to wipe them away. Just at that moment Binny looked toward the fence and saw the bent and solemn form standing there, half leaning against the tree for support. Instantly the little heart beat responsive to the sadness depicted in the aged face and bent form, and, throwing down her scissors, she ran to the fence, smiling kindly into the old woman's face.

"Are you tired?" Binny asked, in her sweet, sympathetic voice.

"Yes, a bit so," came the feeble answer. "I am far away from—from the place where I am going to live," she went on. "I caught a glimpse of your garden and stopped to admire it a moment. Then your voice, mingled with that of the little boy's came to my ears, an roused recollections. Oh, sweet child, it is sad to be old—and—poor."

Instantly Binny had opened a gate a few feet away and had gone to the aged woman's side. "Yes, I understand grandmamma," she said, her own little voice a- quiver with emotion. "But come into the garden and sit down on a bench and rest a bit. I'll send to the house and have mamma make you a cup of tea before you go on to your home."

"Dear little girl," murmured the old woman, "I have no home."

Binny could not reply to this for a moment, there was such a lump in her throat. She gently insisted on the old woman's entering the garden, to rest a minute or so. Once she had prevailed upon her doing this she sent Joe post-haste to the house for a cup of tea, although the old woman begged her to not do so, saying she did not want to put anyone to so much trouble.

Binny forgot her task and also that tomorrow was Decoration Day. She sat down on the bench beside the old woman and said:

"You say you are a long way from your place where you live? Well, mamma will have our coachman take you in the carriage. It is getting late and you are tired. You must not walk."

"I am going to a new stopping place," the old woman admitted somewhat reluctantly. "And a flush of shame came into her wrinkled cheek. "You see, child, I am getting very old and feeble and can not work as I used to do. Well, last week it came to an end with me—the trying to live alone and make my living. So I've given up and am—am going to ask for admittance to—"

But she did not finish the sentence. Her voice sunk to a whisper, dying away in a deep, muffled sob that shook her frame.

Binny batted her eyes very hard to keep back too great, big tears that made her blue eyes ache dreadfully. But she was a brave little soul and mastered her emotion enough to comfort the miserable old woman beside her. "Come, dear, old grandmamma," she said softly, "you must go into my own house and stay till you are stronger. Come with me."

"You are a dear little angel," sobbed the old woman, caressing the child's sunny hair. "Although I never had a grand-child I love to hear you call me by that precious name, grandmamma. But I had two boys—dear, good boys. One was delicate and died when a little lad. The other was killed in a mine. He was my only support. My husband had been called away soon after my first—my baby's death. All this has been hard to bear. And tomorrow the graves of the rich will be shrouded with flowers. The graves of my dear ones will not get a single blossom. I've been to the cemetery to look at their graves, for tomorrow I can't stand there when the crowd comes with so many flowers. Alas, tomorrow I must be at the—poorhouse. It is not my wish to be on the county—to live on charity, but I'm old now and am not strong enough to work. But, child, I must be going. I'm quite rested now, and feel so much better since having talked to you. God bless you, dear, and protect you from so sad a fate as my own." The old woman rose to go, kissing Binny's fair hair. But Binny was on her feet, her arms about the frail form, holding her. "No, no, grandmamma," she whispered, "you shall not go—to that dreadful place to live, not while Binny Day has a voice to plead for you."

"The old woman sat down again and sipped the refreshing tea. Binny on the bench beside her holding the tray, and Joe sitting on the ground at her feet, looking inquiringly into her face. Very tactfully Binny told her brother the poor old woman's sad story, taking pains to speak in a manner that could not possibly wound the breaking heart. "It might happen to any of us," Binny wound up with, "papa or mama or you and me. We'll all grow old some time."

"Sure," said Joe, his own sympathy enlisted with his sister's. "But, say, sis, we'll take all our flowers to—to her folks' graves, won't we?"

The next morning the carriage of Mr. and Mrs. Day was filled with people and flowers as it was drawn by a fine span of horses to the cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Day sat in the front seat, and in the Day sat in the front seat, and in the Day sat in the front seat. The previous evening the children had refused to allow the poor old woman to depart from their garden until their mother came home. And as soon as Binny and Joe—in their different ways—had whispered the case into the mother's ears she said fervently: "God bless my darling children. What hearts of gold! Indeed the dear old grandmamma shall not enter the poorhouse while we have so comfortable a home—and with room and food to spare. She shall take her place at our fireside, as well as in our sympathies. Your two blood grandmothers have good homes of their own, and this your adopted grandmother, shall fare as well as they. She has not many years to live, but those few years shall be filled with kindness and affection."

"And on each Decoration Day we'll take dead heads of flowers to the graves of her folks, won't we?" broke in Joe. "And to the graves of the paupers," said Binny in a low voice. "For, just think, this dear old new grandmother would have been in a pauper's grave—if—"

"If the best little girl in the world had not rescued her," said Binny's mother with a hearty kiss on her little daughter's rosy cheek.

And that is how it came to pass that all the flowers carried to the cemetery by Binny, Joe and "grandmamma" went to glorify the last resting places of "grandmamma's beloved dead and the unknown unfortunates that slept in the paupers' graveyard."

And as the Day family drove homeward from the morning's ceremony there were five happy hearts beating in their carriage instead of four. "Grandmamma's face wore a look of quiet peace and thankfulness."

other words, I want to make an investigation in the world of phenomena."

Snipe straightened up and determined to follow the boys. He noticed the cemetery, regardless of consequences. They followed a winding path that took them close to the grave of "Old Man Perkins." Here Ben signalled Snipe to be seated on the moss beneath a tall and thickly leaved tree that cast its dark shade about for many feet. Snipe, too, weak to stand, did as his companion ordered. Ben remained standing leaning against the tree. They spoke not a whisper, and Ben strained their ears for unusual sounds. The wind swept through the boughs of trees and rose bushes, making a low, solemn wail.

Just as the last stroke of the court-house clock struck the hour of 12 Snipe was on the point of declaring to Ben that the test satisfied him, and that he would admit that there was no such thing as spooks, and would willingly go home, when from an adjacent tree top came the most horrifying hiss, a hiss that made even Ben straighten up and turn his head. "Listen!" he heard the frightened cat. Then by the stray shafts of moonlight that filtered through the tree branches Ben could see that Snipe's face was as pale as white cloth. "Oh, don't be afraid," advised Ben. But Snipe trembled till his teeth chattered. "Say," he whispered, "stuttering beneath his breath, "that's the owl that heard the night went through here to granny's. It's a spook and no mistake. Let's get away, Ben, for the love of our mothers and fathers." While he spoke Snipe was tugging at Ben's sleeve trying to persuade him to go away with him.

"Listen!" said Ben in a severe tone. "I want to make a mental note of that sound. If it's superhuman it is worth recording. Oh, for a photograph cylinder! Then I'd capture it and turn it over to those interested in strange phenomena."

"Hang phenomena!" wailed Snipe under his breath. "Come, take me away from here before we are both killed. It's an evil spirit."

"See up there?" and Ben pointed to the top of the tree from which the hissing sound came. As Snipe looked the hiss turned into a strange sort of snore. Snipe, trembling till he was on the point of falling, looked up and beheld a sight that caused him to almost faint. There, perched on a limb in plain sight, was something white and small from which two great luminous eyes shone forth. "Oh, Lord, save me!" began Snipe. "Save me and take me home to mama."

Snipe's condition of mind was almost pitiful, and Ben being a good-hearted fellow could not let his companion suffer longer. "Say, Snipe, see here," he said in so loud a voice that Snipe nudged him as warning to be more quiet. "I must advise you to read a bit more in natural history. That hissing and snoring comes from a white owl. Now, what do you think about your spooks?"

"A WHITE OWL!" And Snipe almost sunk to earth at the information, so reduced he was. "Oh, Ben, can it be true?"

"Nothing truer," affirmed Ben. "But three dollars, in it and I leave my marbles and skates to Cousin Joe." Of course, this message was not given to Snipe's mother. Frank and Nixey only laughed over it as they went along the street. On knocking at the door of Snipe's home they merely told his mother who answered their knock—that Snipe was going to spend the night with Ben, as they—Ben and Snipe—were busy studying "phenomena." Snipe's mother, making no objection to her son's remaining with Ben, there was no message to carry back to Snipe, so after a hopeful half hour was passed by that young coward he resigned that he must give himself up to fate and the SPOOKS. He was very quiet as he sat with Ben waiting for the hour when they should start for the graveyard. Ben told many ghost stories of a character to curl poor Snipe's hair and freeze the blood in his veins. Of course, after each horrifying tale Ben would smile and say: "But I've my doubts about the truth of that story."

After what seemed a month the hands of the clock pointed to a quarter of 11. Ben put on his coat and hat and said it was time to go. Snipe rose reluctantly and went creeping out of the house with the big, brave Ben. When they had reached the gate leading into the cemetery Snipe halted and said in low tones that he felt a bit ill. "Ah, you're just scared," laughed Ben. "Come on."

"Say," said Snipe, "if you want me to I'll call that dare off."

"Not on your tinstype," emphasized Ben. "I'm in for finding a spook."

ny's all night, too" laughed Ben. "Now, if it had been yours truly there in that graveyard, that spook—or bad man—or whatever it was that made such a funny noise, would have been invited to step forth and give an account of himself."

Silence greeted Ben's brave speech, for none present wished to boast too much about his own bravery, fearing lest he might be challenged to go to the graveyard at night to prove his words.

"After a little," Snipe pursued: "I bet you don't want to go to the graveyard tonight and wait near old man Perkins' tombstone to hear if that funny noise is made. I'll bet you won't."

"Oh, I'm not anxious to stay out in a graveyard half a night," said Ben easily, looking about on the faces of his friends. "But if anyone present makes me a dare well, I never take a dare."

"I dare you," spoke up Snipe. "I dare you to go to the graveyard at 11 o'clock and to sit under the trees that are around old man Perkins' tombstone. Do you take it?"

"I certainly do," declared Ben, rising and stretching his arms and yawning. "And to satisfy your kids that I really go I shall appoint Snipe as a committee of one to bear me company. He shall see whether or not I am 'there at the time and place mentioned in the dare."

"Snipe's face went white and he felt a peculiar sensation on top of his head, just as though his hair were straightening up. But, fearing to call forth his companion's ridicule by refusing outright to accompany Ben to the uncanny place mentioned, he said:

snipe shuddered and wished he was at home with his mother and father.

TOMMY'S DILEMMA

A Sunday-school teacher was trying to make clear to his class of small boys the fundamental doctrines of the Declaration of Independence. "Now, class," he said, "I will give to each of you three buttons. Here they are. You must think of the first one as Life; of the second one as Liberty; of the third one as Pursuit of Happiness. Next Sunday I shall ask you each to produce your three buttons and I will tell me what they represent." The following Sunday the teacher said to one of the boys: "Tommy, produce your three buttons and tell me what they stand for."

"I ain't got 'em all," wailed Tommy, holding out two of the buttons. "Here's Life and Liberty, but my Pursuit of Happiness is on my pants."

WHEN BEN SAW A GHOST

By Maud Walker.

Ben was the bravest boy in town. Nothing, however scary, ever frightened him or made him turn a hair. And there had been plenty of times when things "most unnatural"—to use Ben's own way of expressing certain happenings that remained unexplained—had been witnessed by him; but to no avail. He had kept his head when other boys had become white through fear and had found difficulty in running fast enough to take them out of the way of danger. And still Ben, the brave, had stood his ground.

One evening when several of Ben's young friends were calling upon him the conversation turned to the subject of ghosts and spooks. "There're no such things," Ben declared vehemently. "People who believe in such phenomena are a bit weak in their upper story." And Ben looked important as he delivered himself of the big and high-sounding word "phenomena," the real meaning of which few of those present understood. Indeed, it was the familiar use of such unusual words that made Ben stand so high in the estimation of his comrades. "He's mighty deep feller," declared Nixey to Snipe in a whisper. "He reads the consarned big books that's filled with words a yard long. And he understands what he's reading, too. There's the rub."

"Yep; but all that don't signify that there's no such things as spooks," whispered back Snipe. "I, for one, have heard people who have seen 'em say that there are plenty of spooks—and to spare."

"Say, you fellers over there, quit your whispering," commanded Ben. "Say you've got to say in a loud voice, so that all present may have the benefit of your weighty observations."

"Snipe says 'at there are spooks—and to spare,'" explained Nixey. "Now, let's ask him to give us some proofs of this." And Nixey looked about on the faces of the assembled boys with a certain "show-offness" of expression, meaning to convey the idea that he—like Ben—scoffed at a whispering of spooks or ghosts.

"Well, I say there is—such phenomena," asserted Snipe, determined to forswear the debate and to use some of Ben's own large words as weapons, although his pronunciation was a bit at fault. But boys are not particular about trifles, and Snipe's "phenomena" went uncorrected, though a smile played about Ben's mouth for a moment.

"Well, let's have some proof that there are spooks," said Ben. "I've read of 'em, I've heard of 'em; but, be ginger! I've never seen one nor heard one. Now, henceforth, Injun, have you, Snipe?"

"N-o-o, I can't say I've really ever seen one—I'm quite certain. It was one night when I was going to granny's house, I cut through one corner of the graveyard to make the road shorter. Well, 'pon my word an' honor an' hope to die next month, if I didn't hear 's funny sound comin' from old man Perkins' tombstone. It made cold shivers run all over me—so it did. I told granny, and she said maybe it was the bad mice after some stiver. But you bet I didn't go home that way."

"And ill bet you stayed at your granny's all night, too" laughed Ben. "Now, if it had been yours truly there in that graveyard, that spook—or bad man—or whatever it was that made such a funny noise, would have been invited to step forth and give an account of himself."

"I certainly do," declared Ben, rising and stretching his arms and yawning. "And to satisfy your kids that I really go I shall appoint Snipe as a committee of one to bear me company. He shall see whether or not I am 'there at the time and place mentioned in the dare."

say, it's too bad for me to have to tell the boys tomorrow that you were so frightened at your spook that I had to recall certain descriptions in my natural history, and prove to you by my boldness that the thing we see and hear is no more than a plain white owl. In fact, I'm going to climb the tree and before your eyes frighten away the owl. Against Snipe's wish, Ben, was as good as his word and went up the tree like a squirrel. As he neared the limb on which the white thing sat there, was a quick flutter of wings, and away through the night went the owl, flying to another tree near by. Ben came down and asked Snipe if he were satisfied that his spook could fly, but not vanish into thin air.

"Yes, I've learned enough 'bout phenomena to know that spooks are snoring owls if you wait long enough in a graveyard to find 'em out," admitted Snipe. "And now let's go home. The joke is on me and tomorrow you can tell all the boys and have it over, at once. I don't like jokes coming up in your face long after they ought to be dead and buried."

"I'll keep this one for my own special property to laugh over by myself," promised Ben, as they wandered homeward. "But, Snipe, I'm glad you got a lesson on the snoring white owl tonight. I think you'll remember it, too."

RAIN WELCOMED BY FRUIT MEN

STRAWBERRIES HAVE BEEN BENEFITTED

Cereal Productions Have Advanced Slightly in Price--Local Quotations--Other Trade News

The rain of the present week has had a most beneficial effect upon the future of the strawberry crop in this part of the province. It is estimated that the result will be that the crop will be increased by at least fifty per cent. It came none too soon. A few days longer delay and the season for strawberries in this district would have been cut down to a very brief period, comparatively. The effect of the rain has been that there will be a very full yield.

The rain may have damaged some of the fruit which had ripened and had not been picked. The later crop, however, will feel the beneficial effects of the rain and the production at this centre may be expected to be up to the usual. The weather conditions during the week have also been such as to benefit the other small fruits.

The Brackman-Ker Milling Co. have advanced the price on all their products, rolled oats, rolled wheat flakes, oatmeal and white and graham flour. The cause is not far to seek. The advance in the prices of grain, the raw material from which the products of the company are made, have gone up in price to a very considerable extent, with the natural result that the output of the mills has advanced a little to meet it.

Columbia river packers have announced their opening values for salmon after many weeks' delay to see what the prospects were for the catch. The prices this year and last season show: 1907. 1906. One-pound tails $1.85 $1.50 One-pound flats $1.75 $1.50 Half-pound flats $1.95 $1.90 One-pound ovals $2.30 $2.30 Half-pound ovals $1.50 $1.40 Nominals $2.50 $2.40 Exports $1.75 $1.65

At the present moment the salmon market is the firmest in years. Never before have the world's markets been so thoroughly cleaned up on supplies as at this time. All the large markets are entirely sold out and the new pack enters the trade with most favorable prospects.

At this time the catch in the Columbia is showing a slight improvement, but little packing has been done as yet. The high water makes the catching of fish dangerous and more difficult, and where in ordinary water the nets puff have heavy hauls their present catch is nominal.

The local prices are as follows: Vegetables--Cabbage, per lb. 4 Potatoes (Island), 100 lbs. 2.50 Asparagus (local), per lb. 15 Cucumbers, each 15 Rhubarb, per lb. 2.50 Lettuce, per head 6 New Potatoes (Cal.) 6 Green Peas 12 1/2 Green Beans, per lb. 20 Radish, per bunch 5 Onions, per bunch 6 Onions (Bermuda), 4 lbs. 25 Onions (Australian), 4 lbs. for 25 Turnips, per lb. 15 Tomatoes, per lb. 20

WEEKLY WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Victoria Meteorological Office, 5th to 11th June, 1907. During the first few days of the week the weather remained fair on Vancouver Island, although on the first two days rains were reported on the Lower Mainland and between the ranges. Upon Saturday, 8th, the rainfall became general throughout the province, and in the form of showers continued on and off until the close of the week. These rains have saved a large proportion of the small fruit crop, and particularly on this portion of the Island where no rain has fallen since the 30th of May. These rains were caused by the passage of several ocean low barometer areas across this portion of the province to the prairie provinces. One of these disturbances caused a southerly gale on the Coast during the 11th, and as it spread inland fresh to high south and west winds prevailed on the Straits of Fuca and Georgia.

The weather in the prairie provinces was for the most part fair and warm, although upon several days showers and thunderstorms were general from the Rockies to Manitoba. Victoria--Total amount of bright sunshine recorded was 37 hours and 12 minutes; rain, 28 inch; highest temperature, 64 on 8th and 7th; lowest, 47.3 on 7th. Vancouver--Rain, .71 inch; highest temperature, 68 on 7th; lowest, 45 on 7th. New Westminster--Rain, .63 inch; highest temperature, 68 on 7th; lowest, 44 on 7th. Kamloops--Rain, .30 inch; highest temperature, 71 on 7th and 9th; lowest, 48 on 7th. Barkerville--Rain, 22 inch; highest temperature, 66 on 8th; lowest, 36 on 6th, 7th and 8th.

Atlin--No rain; highest temperature, 62 on 8th; lowest, 32 on 6th. Dawson--Rain, .38 inch; highest temperature, 70 on 7th; lowest, 40 on 8th and 9th. EVERY NON-BELIEVER CONVINCED. THE EXHIBITION

Arrangements are being advanced for the coming fair. At the last meeting of the exhibition executive in the office of J. E. Smart, chancery chambers, Langley street, the tender for exhibition privileges was awarded to W. R. Jackson. The new lithograph poster for 1907 was approved of and an order given for the printing of 2,000 copies of the same.

In the new prize list a new section has been added for commercial fruit offering $250 in prizes and also silver cups for the best display of commercial fruit east and west of the Cascades. This was done with the idea of keeping the Island fruit in a class by itself and distinctly separate from the Canadian product. In this way the Island fruit will receive a much greater prominence than it would otherwise obtain.

It was decided to purchase and install at the exhibition ground, several printed cow-stalls, invented by F. M. Logan, live stock commissioner of the province. This was done in order to demonstrate to farmers and cattle owners the best method of stabling dairy stock and to act, as it were, as an education.

It was reported that the new entrance gate to the grounds was just about completed. It contains four turnstiles and six wickets as well as the main carriage entrances. A new Judges' stand has been erected on the plan of the Woodbine stand at Toronto, which is considered one of the best in use at the present time. A resolution was carried that in the opinion of those present the new proposed experimental farm of the Island should be in the vicinity of Victoria. Copies of this resolution were sent to the Hon. Wm. Templeman and also the Hon. Sidney Fisher.

The fencing of the exhibition grounds is now completed and with the exception

EAT NEMO AND LIVE SUNSHINE FURNACE UNBREAKABLE FIRE-POT The lower portion of a fire-pot is usually nearly or partly filled with dead ashes, leaving the live, red-hot coals in the upper part. The result is that the upper portion expands much more than the lower. This uneven expansion causes a strain too great for a one-piece fire-pot to stand. Sooner or later it will split, allowing precious heat and sickening gases to escape. But the fire-pot of the Sunshine is constructed to meet this condition. It is in two sections. The upper half expands, as much as necessary, independently of the lower. When cool, it contracts back to its original size, fitting to the lower half perfectly. And this strong, unbreakable, gas and heat-tight, two-piece fire-pot is just one of the many superior features of the Sunshine. tion of the proposed addition to the grand stand, everything will be completed by the time of the June track meet. The grand stand would have been completed also, but for the difficulty in obtaining lumber, but it will also be finished before the exhibition commences. The official prize list has now been issued. It is in book form, similar to former years, containing about 100 pages and consists of 16 divisions of which the industrial portion is far the largest.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

Ottawa, June 12.—The newspapers published a story yesterday about Lord Edward Seymour being in jail at Clayton, Missouri.

As the crime which the prisoner now in jail at Clayton committed took place two years ago, it cannot be Seymour, who was well known at Alberta, having been in the ranching business and left last fall for England. The Ottawa man who claims to have identified Seymour as the man who was with him in South Africa, is evidently mistaken. The letters from the Clayton prison are signed F. A. Durrington Seymour.

Dr. Eaton was sceptical as to the burning qualities of slab wood. Coal in his opinion, at 47 a ton would go further, 200 tons costing $1,400, would be required.

Chairman Jay reported the result of a conference held with Dr. Tory, of McGill, on the subject of the education question as a whole. The chairman, continuing, said that at the last meeting on May 15th the question was raised of a medical inspector being appointed to the city to visit the children of the schools. The next morning the city council was interviewed. The Mayor only promised that the matter would receive the careful attention of that body. The chairman was of opinion that the dilatation shown was very much to be regretted on the part of the city council. It was a question requiring immediate attention. The immediate appointment of a medical inspector was required by the board. The epidemic of measles clearly indicated the necessity of the appointment of such an officer.

Dr. Eaton concurred and drew attention to the fact that the epidemic of measles had been exceedingly disastrous to the school system in this city; that since its commencement, beginning of last March, no consistent or satisfactory course of instruction could be carried on in the schools. In short, he remarked, the schools had been in consequence run at a great loss to the citizens.

The chairman suggested that the board of health should be asked to provide an officer.

On motion of Mrs. Jenkins, seconded by Trustee Riddle, it was resolved that the attention of the council should be drawn to the fact that nothing had been done in the matter of the appointment of a medical inspector of schools.

Trustee McKeown cited cases from the experience of the schools of Hamilton and St. John, in which through the appointment of medical officers a very large percentage amongst scholars were found to be suffering from defects in sight and hearing. He therefore moved that the board should point out to the city council the absolute necessity for such an officer to look after the welfare and health of our schools. In his opinion no child with a contagious disease nor an unfit nor improper person with any physical or mental incapacity should be allowed to enter the schools. This additional rider was duly put to the meeting and carried, together with the original motion.

Dr. Eaton presented the report of the musical committee, duly signed by Messrs. Bishop, Riddle, Brown, Kennedy and Hicks, upon the best system to be adopted in the teaching of singing in the schools. The result of their enquiries was that they found that in the majority of cases considered by them the following was deemed the proper arrangement to be followed, viz., a course of five years, three years being directed to the Tonic Sol Fa and two years to the staff notation. The object of this was to enable the pupils to get a thorough grounding in the value and intervals of music in order that they become proficient vocalists in the staff notation, because this was the universal language of music.

Trustee Riddle urged an objection for in his opinion a three years' course in the Tonic Sol Fa was too long a time, as it would be productive of more harm than good. By carrying on the Tonic Sol Fa system for three years the pupils would get into the system to the detriment of the other, which was in reality the true system.

Mrs. Jenkins suggested that it was the first duty of the board to appoint a competent musical supervisor to the schools, and then to attend to the system of teaching.

Trustee Lewis considered that a report should be drawn up embodying the consensus of opinion prevailing in other cities of the Dominion, and even other parts of the world, as to the best system to adopt. The "system" was, in his opinion, the primary, whereas the appointment of a teacher was necessarily a secondary consideration. He thought it advisable for the board to ascertain what opinion therefore prevailed in such places as Vancouver, Winnipeg, Montreal, Toronto or even in the Old Country. In their enquiries he proposed that the main points to be put to the different centres he here alluded to should be: "What class of musicians do your pupils become in after life? How long are pupils inculcated in the Tonic Sol Fa and when do they begin to learn the staff notation?"

The chairman was asked to give his views on the subject. He replied: "I am not acquainted with the Tonic Sol Fa."

Trustee Riddle stated that Winnipeg, Seattle and Tacoma combined both systems, using the Tonic Sol Fa first and the staff afterwards.

Mrs. Jenkins suggested that "teaching" qualifications were as necessary as musical.

Dr. Eaton was in no doubt as to which was the superior system of the two because the experience of the teaching of music in public schools all over the world for so long a time clearly demonstrated the advisability of inculcating a system so firmly established as the staff notation. All that remained for the board to do was to adopt such a system as would facilitate the rapid and perfect mastery of the universal system—a system which had stood the test of experience in the eastern United States in New England, in Massachusetts, the staff notation had held its ground. Again the introduction of the tonic sol fa in the Old Country was always the first stage in the teaching of music and because of its simplicity and adaptation to the youthful mind was always found necessary—not only for the beginner.

Dr. Eaton continuing, agreed that the qualifications of the teachers to teach was a point of supreme importance. He gave an illustration to bear out his assertion. He remembered a case where a great number of ladies applied for a good position as instructors in sewing. Of the many who could execute truly beautiful workmanship only one possessed the necessary gift of teaching, because the others had not been trained to organize or to develop a system of teaching in schools. As with the teacher of sewing so with the teacher of music, her natural gifts must be there to produce good results in the school. A brilliant musician and perfect in all technique was of no use unless he or she possessed teaching gifts. The board must have for a music teacher not one successful in teaching private classes, alone, but they must select from men and women trained in the organizing and teaching system of the public schools. Such a teacher will not rise at a must be sought for. The board should be prepared to give a good salary to exactly fill the position.

Trustee Riddle moved that the board should endeavor to get such a teacher. It was moved by Trustee Bishop and seconded by Trustee Lewis that the report be laid on the table until the time for appointment arrived, which was duly approved and carried.

Trustee Riddle moved that the board advertise for a teacher and that applications be sent in on or before the 8th of July.

This motion was carried.

The chairman remarked that through having a general music teaching in all the schools, Victoria, in ten years from now would appreciate the present action of the board in the effect of the training upon their successive pupils and the improved musical talent in the city.

Dr. Eaton suggested that advertisements be inserted in the English papers where every teacher has to pass in and be qualified to teach music.

Trustee Lewis moved that the matter be left in the hands of the musical committee with power to act, which was carried.

Dr. Eaton next reported that the question of applied science had become so simplified that it no longer presented an insurmountable difficulty. He saw no necessity for combining several qualifications in the same man, drawing and physics. Provision for drawing could be made locally. The board would have no difficulty in finding a suitable man for the appointment of teacher of physics. Then he thought that two large rooms in the High school buildings could be adapted for the teaching of drawing and applied science until the Royal Institution could take the matter up. The duty of the board clearly was to commence this branch as soon as possible. He proposed laying the matter before the board for consideration. He admitted it was costly in its inaugural stage, but it was absolutely necessary.

Trustee Lewis considered the question of the higher education of pupils in this city to be one of vital importance. He was of the opinion that in the initial stage the new undertaking should be on the lines of McGill university's course of applied science. A conference should be arranged between Dr. Tory and the board. He considered the superintendent's suggestion as a very good one about the use of the two rooms. We could begin in this manner to carry on the work of a High school curriculum and a McGill University curriculum combined.

Dr. Eaton told the board that to his knowledge the demand for young men specially trained on the island was very great and that such a course as they were considering would especially fit them for land surveying or civil engineering and that they would be readily able afterwards to complete their courses for P. L. S. The course, of study mapped out would be exactly in line with the regulation of the P. L. S. This was a most important point to bear in mind as the ordinary High school curriculum did not furnish the facilities such as the board was now considering, viz.: to specially qualify men for special work, such as would be in great demand.

Chairman Jay concluded the meeting by proposing that the superintendent either personally or by letter hold communication with Dr. Tory in regard to this matter, which was endorsed.

The meeting then adjourned.

REVOLUTIONISTS DEFEATED.

Reported to Have Been Routed by Salvadorean Troops.

Washington, June 12.—The Salvadorean minister here, Senor Mirjo, this afternoon received a cablegram from President Zelaya, dated to-day at Salvador, as follows:

"Government troops met the revolutionists at Sonsonata, a town forty miles from Acapulca, and routed them, driving them back to Acapulca, where they are now trying to embark."

The minister immediately communicated this dispatch to the state department here.

The United States gunboat Yorktown is expected to arrive at Acapulca to-morrow. No other vessels have so far been given orders to proceed to the scene of the trouble.

A Denial.

Managua, Nicaragua, June 12.—The government was questioned yesterday by the Associated Press concerning the report that Nicaragua had declared war upon Guatemala. The report was at once denied. President Zelaya vouched the information that General Prudencio Alfaro, leader of the revolutionary movement in Salvador, is an unconditional nationalist, and is backed by the whole country.
