During the past year the Library has had an exhibit of pictures on "Our National Parks", remaining for one month; also a very fine exhibit of pictures of Venice. With the views of Venice was a collection of over thirty books pertaining to Venice. We are grateful to the Woman's Educational Association of Boston for these loan exhibits. The Division of Public Libraries of the State Board of Education has presented the Library with over thirty volumes of worth while reading, mostly juvenile.

In the autumn Mr. Frank A. Carlton of Maple Street, presented the Library with a fine pair of andirons for the reading room fireplace. The cheeriness, as well as the warmth of the open fire on the hearth adds to this room. We are very grateful to Mr. Carlton for this gift.

The following magazines have been upon the reading table during the past year: American Magazine, American Boy, Atlantic, Century, Country Life, Harper's Monthly, McClure's, Munsey's, National Sportsman, Reviews of Reviews, St. Nicholas, Scribner's, Woman's Home Companion, Our Dumb Animals, Open Road, Independent Woman, Scientific American, Life, Outlook, Youth's Companion, Dearborn Independent, and National Republican.

Through the courtesy of the Library Commission, the librarian attended a three week's course in "Library Science" at Simmons College, Boston, during July.

It is pleasing to note that the circulation of books has been greater by 1,291 than that of last year.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the Trustees for their support and co-operation in the management of the Library during the past year.

EDITH L. FLETCHER, Librarian.

Report of the School Committee

To the citizens of the Town of Middleton :

In accordance with Section 6, Chapter 43 of the revised laws, relating to public instruction, your School Committee submit to you this report, together with reports of the Superintendent of Schools, the Principal and of the School Nurse.

In reviewing the work of the past year we are pleased to state that no changes in the teaching staff have been made. A supervisor of drawing, Miss Blanche A. Millard has been engaged. Mr. Roscoe G. Frame resigned August 1 and Mr. Ralph R. Barr of North Attleboro was elected by the joint committee to fill the office of Superintendent of Schools for the union district, comprising the towns of Wilmington, Middleton and Boxford.

It seems advisable to mention two large items of expense which have doubled during the last five years and over which the committee has little control. There are now twenty-five pupils attending high school, a list of whom is given with this report. The cost of tuition for these pupils amounts to about $2,500 during the year. The cost of transporting these pupils to adjacent towns amounts to another $1,000. We cannot accurately predict, at this time, how many additional pupils will attend high school next September, but we shall not be surprised if the number reaches thirty. Although the appropriation for the School Department may at first seem large, no less than $3,500 will be expended for high school tuition and transportation.

The recent State law regarding reimbursements to towns and cities must also be considered. During the last few years the School Department has received over $1,000 annually from the State. This year money received from the State must be placed in the Reserve Fund.

The educational policy of the School Department has been one of aggressive progress. In carrying out this policy, the Superintendent, Principal and teachers have worked faithfully and well. The hearty co-operation of the Board of Selectmen and the citizens of the town have made it possible for the School Department to maintain the unusually high standard which our schools enjoy.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR E. CURTIS,
MRS. RUTH M. HASTINGS,
GEORGE E. GIFFORD.

Report of the Superintendent

North Wilmington, Mass. January 10, 1922.

To the School Committee of Middleton:

Madam and Gentlemen:

I have the honor to submit the following report for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1921.

Upon assuming my duties as your superintendent, I found my work, outside the regular class room supervision, necessarily limited to plans already drawn and which called for the expenditure of money that would obviously exceed the appropriation voted. While the situation was much more embarrassing to you as committee members [than to me; it was altogether unnecessary and should not be allowed to occur again. The development of a state wide policy in public education has witnessed a vast amount of legislation involving minimum salaries for teachers, university extension, vocational education, continuation schools, public health, school attendance and state aid and reimbursement, the latter tending to equalize educational opportunities throughout the state. These recent statutes have forced many changes in school finance. The state now requires that towns appropriate for schools a definite sum of money, a "flat appropriation". The reimbursements cannot be given to the school committee but must be paid directly to the town. Moreover, the matter of reimbursement depending as it does upon the State averages cannot be determined accurately in advance.

The inevitable consequence is an enlargement of the school budget. Naturally the inclusion of so many new activities in our schools increases the expense as compared with that of even a few years ago but, in the main, we may congratulate ourselves that this budget increase is more apparent than real. The State reimbursement, on account of vocational education, salaries, and transportation is particularly generous to towns of the Middleton type.

In view of the above and so long as present conditions hold, it should seem well to continue our liberal attitude toward transportation and salaries.

Middleton is so situated that it has lent itself naturally to consolidation. Having only one school, there are no clashing sections, no district jealousies. With the best efforts of the community thus directed to a single purpose, the result has been the development of our present efficient and well conducted school. Middleton has no serious school problems, but there is ample room for improvement and progress. In the field of education, the past decade has witnessed the development of many ideas and scientific devices which already have begun to change educational practice and organization. It is necessary and desirable that we accept some of these helpful ideas. We should use more freely the Standard Scales by which the effectiveness of any kind of instruction can be measured and difficulties diagnosed, not only for schools and classes but for individual pupil as well. We should adopt one of the systems by which intelligence can be measured and thus clear away, in great part, the difficulties involved in the selection of studies, guidance to vocations, in promotions, and in the grading of pupils both gifted and otherwise. We should adapt to our needs the project method and some of the plans involving pupil activity which aim to help the pupil to help himself and to know himself.

Of these more recent achievements in education that have enabled the teacher to work so much more certainly and scientifically, one at least, the Junior High School, has gone beyond the stage of experiment.

The purposes of the Junior High School are well summarized by Inglis:

To correct the defects in our school system through the following provisions:

(1) "Provision for a better co-ordination and articulation between elementary and secondary education and provision for gradual transition from earlier to later grades. This demands: (a) the close relationing of each successive grade with the preceding grade as far as teaching material and teaching method are concerned; (b) gradual change from the one-teacher plan of the elementary school to the many-teacher plan of the secondary school; (c) gradual change from largely supervised work in the earlier grades to more independent work involving initiative, self-reliance, and responsibility in the later grades; (d) the gradual introduction of new subject matter and its relationing to old subject matter.

(2) Provision earlier in the school system to adapt the work of the school to individual difference among pupils in capacities, aptitudes, interest, and future activities, as well as to the differentiated needs of society. This demands: (a) the earlier introduction of some differentiated studies for different groups of pupils; (b) promotion of pupils by subjects rather than by grades; (c) increased flexibility in the administration of education in the intermediate grades; (d) provision for the introduction of some forms of instruction which may give pupils an opportunity to explore and test out their capacities, aptitudes, and interests; (e) provision for some forms of educational diagnosis and direction; (f) recognition of the needs of those leaving school early; (g) provision for economy of time in the case of brighter pupils.

(3) Recognition of the importance of the factors of retardation and elimination. This involves: (a) reorganization of the subject matter of the present seventh and eighth grades so as to provide a more contentful and effective form of education for those who must leave school early; (b) the introduction of some prevocational education for those pupils; (c) provision for the reduction of retardation and elimination by improved methods of controlling progress through the grades; (d) the encouragement of large numbers of pupils to continue their education into the Senior High School.

(4) Reorganization of teaching materials and teaching methods."

The possibility of a Junior High School in Middleton school should be considered because it provides so many obvious advantages:

First, a study of the summary of the purposes of the Junior High School already quoted reveals the educational opportunities which would come to our pupils especially to those who must leave school early.

Second, a Junior High would provide a common interest to the whole town; it would serve as a stimulus to the development of a spirit of town unity.

Third, the additional year in Middleton would give increased maturity and experience of inestimable value to our high school students. The dangers and difficulties that now beset our pupils entering for the first time the strange and complex environment of the modern high school would no longer exist for pupils trained in a Junior High School.

Fourth, so many of our neighboring towns and cities have adopted the Junior High School that already our eighth grade graduates are seriously handicapped.

Fifth, since our valuation per pupil in average membership is too high to enable us to receive reimbursement from the state a considerable saving would be effected in tuition alone.

Two additional facts must be considered in any discussion of a Junior High School in Middleton.

In a four room school system, considerable difficulty is found in the regulation of the work of special teachers. A half day each week is usually sufficient for their work but unfortunately it is seldom possible to secure a competent supervisor for a fraction of a day. The result is that in order to make profitable use of the supervisor's time this work has been extended somewhat beyond the usual limit. Such a condition is unavoidable but it should be noticed that with the establishment of a Junior High School, Middleton would require but one additional teacher; the special teachers already employed could easily do the work required for a Junior High School without increasing the expenditures for salaries.

Our school building is old and while remarkably well preserved, in many ways it is ill adapted to meet the demands of a modern school organization. The overcrowding is not yet serious but already the school has outgrown the building. The present arrangement whereby a part of the manual work is done in the town hall, is extremely awkward. Whether this condition is remedied by the erection of a new building or by the construction of an annex to the old, the establishment of a Junior High School well deserves your serious attention.

The present arrangement whereby the superintendent divides his work among three towns, forces upon individual members of the committee a large part of the clerical work, the issuing of employment and educational certificates and of car tickets. It would be more just and certainly less confusing if this work was assigned to one committee member, preferably a member residing near the school. Such a service would deserve compensation; certainly the member should be provided with a telephone.

I wish to express to the committee deep appreciation of their help and co-operation and to testify again to the loyal support and faithful work of our teachers.

Respectfully submitted,

RALPH R. BARR.

Report of the Principal

Middleton, Mass., February 2, 1922.

To the School Committee of Middleton:

In reply to the request of your secretary, I submit for your consideration the following summary of the last year's work.

The general work has been continued along the lines followed in recent years. The State Course of Study has been used as a basis for grades I—VI, and for the seventh and eighth, for which no course is issued, a plan in accordance with the continuation of the above course for two more years, and at the same time based on present requirements of the Danvers High School, has been in use. The time allotment for each subject is based on that prepared by the State, but necessarily this is adjusted somewhat to fit our conditions, as we have two grades in each room, and these vary in numbers.

The only change in text books during the year was the introduction of the Aldine Speller, for grades VIII and VII. This has been given a year's test in these classes and has proved the most practical speller I have ever used. I hope it will be possible to have this set for use in the lower grades in the near future.

The matter of text books has become acute, as the purchase of books not absolutely a necessity, has been discouraged during recent years on account of the high cost. Now some sets are completely worn out and must be replaced, while several classes are without suitable books.

As no Supervisor of Drawing was available this subject was continued by the grade teachers, using as a basis, outlines of former years. While the results were good, all felt the need of a Supervisor with a definite plan of work and the election of Miss Millard in September was appreciated.

In close connection with drawing comes manual work of any kind. In the lower grades a period is used weekly for this, consisting of construction work, knitting, raffia baskets, etc., under the regular teacher's direction. This is not only splendid training but also most practical, as sweaters, caps, scarfs, and useful baskets are the results.

The girls of the two upper rooms have sewing for a two hour period each week, under the supervision of Miss Hayward, while the boys have wood work for the same time under their regular teacher. In grades VI and V, these classes are held in the same room, which makes successful results much more difficult to secure.

These groups have been organized into clubs by Mr. De Quoy of the Essex Agricultural School, the girls for the sewing clubs and the boys for handicraft. In this, the regular work is continued with little change, except the organization necessitates meetings conducted by the officers chosen by the pupils. An exhibition will be held in late April under the direction of Mr. DeQuoy.

As no other place was available the manual work for boys of grades VIII and VII has been done in the lower Town hall. In some respects, this is the best "shop" we have had but much time is lost in setting up benches, etc. nearly every period as the hall is of necessity put to other uses during the week. Here our lack of equipment is a great hindrance for we have very few tools in comparison to the number of boys.

Basketry, as manual work, has also been taught in the boys' classes, and many useful articles have been made.

The classes in music have continued their usual good work. Folk dances have been used both for musical training and recreation, in the lower grades, but little can be done in the upper classes on account of lack of room. However an experiment is being made at present which we hope will prove successful and helpful. The assembly of the older classes for community singing has been most successful especially in creating active interest, and securing correct rendering of familiar songs. The value of our new piano has been most evident here.

The efforts of the School Nurse have been directed especially this year toward the children who were under weight. The purchase of the scales in September gave impetus to this movement, for accurate results are now obtainable. The enthusiasm of the pupils themselves is proof that the work is valuable and appreciated. The Health Crusade, instituted by the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League will be under way early in February and will we hope, improve the gains already made.

The Junior Red Cross was organized as usual, and assisted in financing the sale of hot cocoa, while at Christmas we filled twenty boxes for the children in devastated countries.

In closing, I wish to thank the members of the committee for their kindly assistance, and through them, the citizens of Middleton.

I feel that there are few towns in the state, which are more loyal in their support of the schools than Middelton.

Respectfully submitted,

C. ALICE MANNING, Principal.

Report of School Nurse

Danvers, Mass.

To the School Board of Town of Middleton :

I submit the following report of the School Nurse for the year ending December 31, 1921.

During the year Dr. Buck examined 165 pupils and found defects as follows: Diseased tonsils that should be removed 71; Enlarged tonsils 15; Cervical glands 40; Bad teeth 58; Systaltic murmur at apex 18; Malnutrition 30; Infected ear 1; Desmatitis 3.

Number of visits made to school by School Nurse 39; Tonsils removed 16; Teeth repaired 26; Surgical dressing 110; Home calls 60; Number of children weighed 165; Number of children under weight for height 30; Number of children gained in weight 19.

Hot cocoa served at noon from February 8 to April 5. Number of cups of cocoa served 3,000. One-half can of milk served from April 5 to May 1, daily.

In conclusion I wish to express my thanks to the principal and her assistants for their help in the health problem and serving of cocoa; to the Grange and Red Cross for their splendid co-operation, also to Mr. Richardson for his kindness in making a medicine cabinet for our new nurse's room.

We are about ready to start a health crusade movement among the children. If we can obtain the co-operation of all the parents the results will be surprising to everyone.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY E. ROUNDY, R. N.School Nurse.
