SUBJECT: Conference with Mr. Chikazawa File No. L

No.	Date	From	To
1	20 Nov 48	Econ	CO TMGR

In a conference between Mr. Lofthouse, this section and Mr. Chikazawa, Regional Food Office, concerning the general status of food in Tohoku Region, the question of diverting a small amount of rice or rice substitue from staple food stocks to implement the school lunch program was discussed.

1. Mr. Chikazawa stated that in his opinion rice should not be diverted but that other food could probably be used to better advantage because people of Tohoku have very little knowledge of nutrition. Traditionally they eat rice to the exclusion of other foods when possible. The use of vegetables, flour products, meat, fish, legumes etc. probably could be supplied and would provide an adequate supplement for the existing rice diet in the form of a thick soup which would have the advantage of easy preparation and would tend to educate the people to use wider variety of foods.

2. Vegetables, meat bones, legumes etc. could probably be made available by the prefectures more easly than other staple foods.

3. The Education section has been informed of this conference. It is believed that the Public Health and Welfare, Education and Economics sections could probably investigate the possibilities of the school lunch program from this viewpoint.

4,400 PUPILS HIT BY POISONED STEW

Nippon ~~Times~~ 22 Feb 9

No Serious Cases Reported in Kawasaki; Ired Citizens Demand Further Probe

Late investigations into the school lunch poisoning incident in Kawasaki, Kanagawa Prefecture, last Thursday revealed that some 4,400 school children of six primary schools were stricken instead of the 1,547 school children disclosed Saturday, reported Kyodo yesterday.

Beef stew prepared by the Sakura Food Manufacturing Company on Thursday was distributed to 8,774 school children of Takatsu, Oto, Shimo-Maruko, Nakahara, Sumiyoshi and Tachibana primary schools and out of the number, 4,400 pupils showed symptoms of food poisoning that night. The food poisoning cases however, were light and all except one were back at school on Saturday.

The Kanagawa Prefecture's Public Health Research Center is at present analyzing the stew, but the cause of the mass food poisoning is believed to be lactic fermentation due to changes in the atmospheric temperature. The prefectural and city governments, school authorities and PTA members, however, are demanding further investigations into the cause of the poisoning.

Yoshihisa Izumi, president of the Sakura Food Manufacturing Company, said the ingredients used in the stew were all provided by the prefectural government and there was no change in preparing the food. He said the stew may have fermented on the way to the schools as they are quite a distance from the factory.

DECLASSIFIED E. O. 12065 SECTION 3-402 / NNDG NO. 775013

Mr. Isaka: In every community there should be at least one citizens' public hall. At present it is under the sponsorship of Mombusho which provides reference books, radios, and NHK handbooks. We must keep straight the relationship between the PTA and the school. There are only basic materials available now from Mombusho. They hope to reorganize this program.

Question: School boards cite difficulties re physical education reports caused by the physical education section being placed under guidance of the social education section.

Mr. Austin: There is the problem of giving too much of the physical education money to the adult group.

Dr. Argo: I have several questions to ask the board members, then they will know my answer:

1. Have you provided a health education program in the elementary and lower secondary schools?
2. Do you have the proper kind of physical education for the pupils in the elementary and lower secondary schools?
3. Do you give the lower secondary people a chance to compete in the intermural athletics?

When you have provided all of that, then you can consider the adult physical education program.

Dr. Lewis: It must be remembered that the board does not have to maintain an independent division just to render reports to Mombusho. The board should spend no money on athletic associations. We are not preparing for the Olympics. Don't establish a physical education section. It cost too much money and promotes unneeded expense.

Mr. Austin: It is not wise for the Japanese to lay themselves open for the exploitation of their young men as happened in America. We had to cease the intermural games as promoted by the universities for it was not the best thing for the welfare of the young men.

Question: The problem of subsidies to the private schools.

Mr. Yamamoto: There are none except for war damage.

Question: To whom does the property of the public school belong?

Mr. Yamamoto: It belongs to the public but the board can make use of it until disolution of the board.

Question: What is the place of the research institutes?

Dr. Lewis: There is no need for an independent department for research. Mombusho doesn't require it and the prefecture does not need it. You do not need to pay a salary for something that you will get nothing out of.

Question: What about the institute as established by the teachers?
