Policy of Anarchists

One of Witnesses Before the Commission Admits Existence of Organizations.

He Says They Do Not, as a Rule, Question the Killing of Kings.

(Associated Press.)

New York, Oct. 9.—One of the men examined by Supreme Court Commissioner Trimble in the investigation into the alleged anarchist plots in Paterson, N. J., which resulted in the death of King Humbert, was R. Manetti, who is reported to be usually the secretary of anarchist meetings. When questioned as to his testimony, he said: "I told the commissioner that there were several anarchist organizations in Paterson, but they were divided on the question of killing the heads of government, although as a rule they do not question the killing of kings as a matter of policy. The purpose of our organization is to advocate the abolition of all government restriction and the substitution of individual liberty."

Letter From Ex-President

Led to Disorderly Scenes at the Meeting of Grand Trunk Shareholders.

Sir Henry W. Tyler Wrote Expressing Disapproval of the Re-Organization.

(Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 9.—The most dramatic scene which has ever marked a financial meeting in London occurred this afternoon, when the shareholders of the Grand Trunk railroad of Canada assembled to hear the half yearly report of the directors. A large number of persons were present, the assemblage consisting chiefly of city magnates and citymen, with a sprinkling of country investors and women. The meeting progressed smoothly while the president of the Grand Trunk railroad, Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, detailed the improvements made in the line, congratulated the shareholders on the increase in revenue, inflated on the rise in the cost of material and in the rates of wages, and explained the resolution of the day, which provided for the re-organization of the Chicago & Grand Trunk by the Canadian company. After outlining the proposition Sir Charles said he had received a letter from Sir Henry W. Tyler, formerly president of the road, expressing disapproval of the re-organization, and asking that the letter be read before the meeting. With passion, Sir Charles declared that the vile language employed by Sir Henry justified him in putting it in the fire. The resolution of the former president with the audience rose, crying "out in the fire," "burn it," "shame." There was a scene of great disorder, and then rose a cry, "Tyler is here." In a moment a dead silence reigned and between two rows of astonished shareholders the venerable figure of ex-president Tyler was seen walking towards the directors' rostrum. As soon as Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson recovered his composure, he said: "Tyler, stand up. You have vilified us and resent before us all the charges you have made." Cheers, mingled with roars, greeted Sir Henry Tyler, who maintained that the Chicago & Grand Trunk was owned and controlled by the Canadian Grand Trunk, and that, therefore, the directors were making false pretenses when they represented reorganization transactions between two independent concerns. Continuing, Sir Henry asserted that the scheme involved the repudiation by President Wilson of the Chicago second mortgage bond, which, he asserted, were cut down from 5 to 4 per cent. "Be honest," shouted Sir Henry Tyler, "don't repudiate them." Amidst a roar of hisses and jeers, the voice of Sir Henry was lost, but he continued waving his arms and shouting indistinct charges against Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson. The latter stood up and in equally heated language absolutely denied Sir Henry's allegations and blamed his administration. Half the time Sir Henry was on his feet endeavoring to interrupt, and the extraordinary spectacle was witnessed of the president and the ex-president of a great railroad, both well known financiers, standing before a bowling audience, both of them shouting at once and neither speaker being audible. It was only when several persons stepped forward with the intention of hustling Sir Henry Tyler out of the room that he subsided. The meeting then, by a large majority, approved the directors plan to reorganize the Chicago & Grand Trunk with a guarantee of the interest on the bonds to be issued by the new company. The meeting also gave Sir Charles a vote of thanks. During the course of the report the president urged the shareholders to persist in improving the line. He added that the surplus earnings of the Grand Trunk road would for the present be applied to this purpose. President Wilson also expressed the belief that the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo would greatly add to the business of the road, but he further said that he considered it doubtful if the expenses of the road, in view of the labor troubles in the United States, would be reduced during the coming year.

PLANS AGAIN CHANGED.

Chinese Emperor is Waiting a Favorable Opportunity to Return to Peking.

Paris, Oct. 9.—It is semi-officially announced to-day that the news received here from China is more reassuring than the English dispatches make out. An agreement between the powers will be arrived at on the basis of the French note. The expected arrival of Li Hung Chang at Peking has been confirmed, and that confirmation has also been received of the degradation of Prince Tuan.

DETECTIVE ARRESTED.

In Connection With Alleged Insurance Frauds—Has Made a Confession.

(Associated Press.)

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Frank M. Smiley, the detective of the Mooney and Boland agency, who was one of the men arrested yesterday in connection with the insurance frauds which ended with the death of Marie Defenbach on August 25th, has made a full written confession of his part in the crime. The confession, if true, implicates Dr. August Unger and Frank Wayland Brown, assistant manager of the Mooney and Boland agency. When the case comes on for trial, Smiley is announced, will turn State evidence.

State Attorney Densen expects that all the three men will be convicted of conspiracy to defraud the New York Life Insurance Company and two benevolent orders, the Canadian Order of Foresters and the Knights of Order of Security, but it is very doubtful whether any charge of murder can even formally be made on the evidence available. At least one other man connected with the Mooney and Boland agency is now under surveillance for suspicious actions at the time of Miss Defenbach's death. It is not improbable that several other conspirators may be connected with the crime.

Czar and Manchuria

It is Reported That the Russian Troops Are to Be Withdrawn.

Triads Defeat the Imperial Soldiers--Operations Under Von Waldersee.

London, Oct. 9.—A dispatch appears in the Times that Emperor Nicholas recently decided to recall the Russian troops from Manchuria after Mukden had been occupied. The Shanghai correspondent of the same paper, writing October 24, says: "It is reported that French troops hold Lu Ko Shiao, on the Lu Han railroad. The Russians and Germans hold the Pei Tang forts, and have also taken Tung Shan and the Kai Ping mines, thus monopolizing the coal supply in Northern China. It was expected that Count von Waldersee would maintain an even balance between the powers, whereas the actual result of the operations places all the strategic positions in the hands of other nations. A strong feeling prevails that the situation is daily becoming more gloomy."

Occupation of Mukden. St. Petersburg, Oct. 8.—The Russian general staff has received official dispatches confirming the occupation of Mukden. Lieut-Gen. Subbotich entered the city on October 1st. He advanced from old Nin Chwang on September 24th with 11 battalions of infantry, Cossack cavalry, and 40 guns, and after fighting two engagements routed the Chinese army on September 27th. Before withdrawing the Chinese burned and destroyed the city. The Russians captured many modern guns and immense stocks of war material.

The Japs. Peking, Oct. 8.—Gen. Yamaguchi will retain 10,000 Japanese troops at Mukden and along the line of communications. Eight thousand of these troops are at Peking, and 1,500 Russians. The number of British troops who will be retained has not been received. Sir Alfred Gaselee will probably keep a brigade. The allies are storing supplies for six months. Count von Waldersee's headquarters will be in the buildings in the imperial pleasure grounds, outside the Purple City.

THE CONSERVATIVE GAINS.

London, Oct. 9.—At 2.30 a. m. only four results out of the 21 constituencies polled yesterday in the parliamentary general elections have thus far been announced. These show that the Liberals have gained two seats—one in Carmarthen and the other, strangely enough, in the Radcliffe-Cum-Parnworth division of Southeast Lancashire, which had hitherto gone strongly Conservative. It looks, therefore, as if there might be a slight re-action in the country pollings, but this will be too late to affect the general result seriously. Mr. Herbert Henry Asquith, one of the Liberal leaders, last evening admitted that the Salisbury government would be returned to power with a majority of from 150 to 160.

TWO FARMERS MURDERED.

Winnipeg, Oct. 8.—A ghastly discovery was made on a farm near Boissevain yesterday, when the bodies of Charles Dow and Jacob Smith, farmers, were found buried in an old well beneath some earth. Both had been murdered, and have been missing since August 1st. A man named Walter Gordon, who purchased Dow's farm, and claims to have paid $5,000 therefor, is missing, and is suspected of the double crime.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

Montreal, Oct. 8.—Lord Strathcona, who arrived this morning, expressed his pleasure at once more being in Canada. He was glad the Strathcona House had made such a good showing in South Africa. The Pacific cable, Lord Strathcona stated, will be built within a couple of years.

PANIC IN A MONASTERY.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 8.—Five thousand pilgrims assembled at the St. Nikander monastery, in the Pskov district, for a religious festival. During the night one of the upper floors collapsed, and many of those sleeping there fell upon those below. A panic was caused by a false alarm of fire, and four men and thirty-six women were crushed to death, many others being seriously injured.

The first large iron bridge in the world was built over the Severn in 1777.

Merciless Boxers

Details of the Dreadful Massacres in the Shan-Si District.

Sufferings of Helpless and Defenseless at Hands of Cruel Persecutors.

Every line that completes the chain of communication between the Orient and the Occident by traversing across the Pacific is waited with more than ordinary interest at the present time. The Duke of Pife, which arrived at the outer wharf yesterday afternoon, was no exception to the rule, and the budget of news brought by her justified the general expectation in this regard. Notably interesting is the narrative of the outrages in the Shan Si district, which is vouched for as authentic by the Oriental exchange and gives an idea of the revolting cruelties practiced by the Boxers on their helpless victims. A recent issue of the Kobe Herald says: "A native Christian teacher, a graduate of the North China College at Tientsin, who has been employed as a teacher in the Boys' school at Fen-Chou-fu, Shan-si, arrived in Tientsin on Saturday evening, September 1st, 1900, having escaped from the general massacre. He left Shan-si on August 23rd, and after many vicissitudes arrived here safely. He is a very intelligent and energetic fellow of twenty-two, who, within the past two years, under the instruction of a missionary, has learned to speak English with great fluency and precision, and is well qualified to give an accurate and detailed report in that language. His story is as follows: "As far as is known at present it was on the 23rd of June that the first murders were committed. This was at Hsiao Yi Hsien, near Ping Yao, where two ladies living alone, Miss Whitechurch and Miss Sewell. Their death was reported long since by telegraph. On the day mentioned three hundred Boxers broke into the mission compound subsequent to the following incident. A few Chinese youths had attacked the front gate; the ladies sent to the district magistrate complaining, and asking for protection. The official came himself, and finding only the attack with his hand. This gave notice to the crowd that they could attack with impunity. The ladies began another appeal to the official, who replied that his underlings were intended to protect Chinese and not foreigners. Thereupon a large crowd entered the compound and attacked the two ladies. In their helplessness, they knelt before the crowd and begged for mercy. The only answer was to be beaten on the face and lacerated with clubs. Some of the crowd took glass bottles and with them beat the heads of the victims, breaking the bottles and going so. The ladies lived one hour after the attack. Their clothes were stripped off, their watches captured and their death sent over two boxes for coffins; these were placed in the new built baptistry in the court yard. "The next disaster in the order of time was upon the night of June 27th at Sheen Yang-Hsien, seventy miles from Tientsin. This is the Mission station of independent workers under Mr. T. W. Pigott. There were here at the time Mr. and Mrs. Pigott, their son, Mr. Robinson (a tutor in a school), and two daughters of the Rev. E. B. Atwater of Fen-Chou-fu. These seven persons were driven from their homes to the mountains not far away. They soon returned to their homes, however, and were arrested by the Boxers, who were compelled to go to the capital Tai Yuen. En route they were chained with handcuffs and iron collars, and the distance is about seven miles. The soldiers would not sell them rags even at a dollar a piece. On the 10th of the sixth moon (July 6th) they were taken on arrival at the provincial capital, where they were placed in separate rooms. Mrs. Pigott was allowed to communicate with her husband. The news was brought to Tai-ku by a photographer who had fled, and was forwarded to Pen Chow Fu by letter. On the 3rd of the foreign moon (July 20th) the bodies of the missionaries were burned as already reported by Mr. Saunders's party. The missionaries escaped to the house of Mr. Farthing, of the English Baptist mission, with the exception of Miss Coombs, who was unable to do so owing to the illness of her native school girls. Hundreds of Boxers and rough people had crowded into the houses, but several of the missionaries managed to fight their way through and escape, the one lady being left behind unnoticed. During the riots many fell and were trampled upon, two girls thus meeting their death. "Miss Coombs pleaded with the soldiers, who were sharing in the loot and helping in the burning, to save her life. Their reply was to seize her and throw her into the flames of the burning houses; later on nothing but a pile of ashes was found in the place where she fell. The refugees must have remained several days at the house of Mr. Farthing. On the 7th of July the governor sent for a complete list of the names of the foreigners. On the 9th of July, a Monday, he ordered them all to come to the station to ensure their safety to the coast. On entering the first gate of the station they were surrounded by a guard of soldiers. This being completed, about thirty Boxers with drawn swords were allowed to enter the circle and each foreigner was cut to pieces by these invited guests. They were all beheaded, and the heads were placed in baskets which were hung upon the four gates of the city. About forty native Christians were killed at the same time. Next day the Roman Catholic priests were killed in the same way; they were believed to be chiefly Frenchmen. The bodies of the thirty-three persons thus killed were placed in a cart and taken to the station party. They were escorted by the soldiers to the village of Kai Shih, as

Occupied by Burghers

They Now Have Three Towns in the South of the Orange River Colony.

In the North Gen. Buller's Force Is Giving Retreating Enemy No Rest.

London, Oct. 8.—It is reported, according to the Pietermaritzburg correspondent of the Daily Mail, that from 4,000 to 5,000 Boers have retreated from Pilgrim's Rest, northeast of Lydenburg, with four Long Toms and 22 other guns. The correspondent learns that their Long Tom ammunition is almost exhausted. Pursuing the Boers. Lydenburg, Oct. 8.—Gen. Buller's force has been pursuing the Boers through Pilgrim's Rest and Krugersport. He is now near Ohrigstad, and is still marching northward. The Boers nowhere have made a stand. In Orange River Colony. Capetown, Oct. 8.—The Cape House of Assembly to-day passed a second reading bill to raise a loan to insure the immediate payment of half the losses sustained by private persons through the war. The Boers now occupy Wepener, as well as Bontassie and Ficksburg, in the Orange River Colony, and the British are attempting to surround them. Sent for Home. Capetown, Oct. 7.—The City of London Volunteers sailed for England to-day, their departure being attended by a scene of tremendous enthusiasm. Sir Alfred Milner, in the course of an address, thanking them for their services to the Empire, told them that a still greater reception awaited them at home.

CANADIAN TIMBER.

Trade journals, representing every branch of the timber industry, have praised the Canadian forestry and timber exhibition at the Paris Exposition. The most important of these journals is the Timber News, of Liverpool, which has just issued a magnificent supplement entitled "The World's Timber Operations as Seen at the Paris Exposition." Four papers are devoted to Canada. The Canadian exhibits are described and a careful comparison is made between Canada and other timber producing countries. Though it is quite true that "Canada has a vast timber resource," it is also true, after Russia, the greatest timber-producing country in the world. Canada's undeveloped timber resources will place her even before Russia as the timber-producing country in the world. Referring to the specimens exhibited the Timber News says: "The reader will have gathered that there is much to see and much to learn concerning the Canadian timber trade at the exhibition. Cabinet makers will find this an interesting place, and Paris timber merchants have expressed their surprise at the beautiful varieties of wood displayed. In fact, almost all the varieties of birch, maple, spruce, pine, and other beautiful samples. The faultless specimens of some of the large plain and quarter-sawn white oak boards from Ontario have attracted much attention."

CURSE OF CANADA.

And the Only Way in Which It Can Be Surely Removed.

Dyspepsia is the Curse—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Are the Only Cure—They Are, Therefore, Canada's Greatest Blessing. What is the greatest curse of our country? There can be only one answer to this question. There cannot be a moment's hesitation in answering it. The answer is "Dyspepsia." Nine-tenths of the people of Canada suffer from it. The greatest blessing a country can have is something that will remove the greatest curse. Therefore, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are Canada's greatest blessing, for they, and they only, can cure Dyspepsia, the greatest curse. But the claim of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to this title rests on still stronger ground. Besides being the only medicine that can cure Dyspepsia, they positively cure indigestion, biliousness, catarrh of the stomach, sour stomach, and all other diseases caused by imperfect digestion. The action of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets is simplicity itself. They remove the cause of the trouble. Then the disease must vanish. They digest the food, they must do this. They cannot help doing so any more than heat can help melting snow. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the same substances that a healthy stomach applies to digest food. When you swallow a Tablet it melts, and reduces the food to a milky liquid, which passes to other organs, which separate the useless portions from the useful parts. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets stimulate the bowels and enable them to carry off the useless, poisonous matter. Thus, the stomach and bowels working properly together, digestion becomes perfect and Dyspepsia cannot exist.

WORK AND WAGES.

After Great Britain had commenced her legislation for the protection of child labor, nearly thirty years elapsed before France followed with the law of 1841. The necessity therefor was indeed urgent, if the industrial population was to be saved from utter degeneration. Of this no better proof was needed than the experience of recruiting officers for the army in 1840. Taking a dozen districts in which nearly the entire population was engaged in manufactures, and comparing them with the neighboring districts where the people labored in the fields or on the sea, it was found that for every 1,000 young men accepted as fit for military service, there were rejected as unfit 450 of the agricultural and marine population, while of the factory workers, for every 1,000 accepted, 1,032 were rejected. It is stated as a curious and cruel fact that for some time past many establishments where only men have been employed have adopted the 10-hour day, while the long days, reaching in some cases even 14 to 15 hours' work, have been imposed on the feeble element. Not least among the advantages of the present law is the provision that all workers in the same establishment, shall have their rest at the same time, thus putting an end to the system of "relays," which, by deceiving the inspectors, has opened the door of escape from the law of 1802, and, moreover, the union of family life will be thereby distinctly promoted. In fact, the law aims to be, in the words of Minister Millerand, "a work of social moralization, solidarity, and pacification."

HEART DISEASE.

is a symptom of Kidney Disease. A well-known doctor has said, "I never yet made a post-mortem examination in a case of death from Heart Disease without finding the kidneys were at fault." The Kidney medicine which was first on the market, most successful for Heart Disease and all Kidney Troubles, and most widely imitated is Dodd's Kidney Pills. The ratio of deaf mutes and blind persons in civilized countries rises much faster than that of the population.

REPLY.

Hot weather, says a London writer, has introduced a new drinking problem, in the shape of excessive indulgence in what are called temperance drinks, which is an obvious literal paradox. Temperance cannot be properly applied to drinks inordinately consumed. There is mischief in non-alcoholic as well as alcoholic beverages when taken to excess. It is a comparatively easy thing for people to reduce their habitual allowance of wines and spirits when a burning skin proves a powerful aid to abstinence from spirituous liquors. But to fly to non-intoxicants for the allaying of every visitation of thirst is bad, though perhaps the evil effects are not very apparent. A shrewd physician, being interviewed on the subject, advises people to be total abstainers from all sorts of bottled beverages, the gas in the one being as deleterious to the health as the alcohol in the other. He cited his own case in proof of the sincerity of his theory. "I never, under any temptation, drink between meals, and only take an occasional mouthful of very light wine to moisten the epiglottis while eating."

Drill Book On War

A Staff Officer Writes on the Cult of the Bayonet.

It Results in Men Crowding Together—Rifle Fire and Long Range Practice.

"A Staff Officer" discusses in the Contemporary Review, under the title of "The War and the Drill Book," some interesting aspects of the military questions involved by a comparison of drill book regulations with what has actually happened in his own experience in the battles before Ladysmith. Here are some extracts:

The cult of the bayonet is the outcome of the splendid traditions of the past; and memories of memorable battles, all over the world, bring visions of cheering, charging British infantry gaining victories at the point of the bayonet. The very phrase—"at the point of the bayonet"—expresses the national idea of force; and apparently to illustrate the national idea of force, and to convince its readers of the reality of the war scene depicted without the picture of a transfixed Boer. If we compare the being wedged in a crowd, striking out at whoever may be nearest, with being heavily stoned at a distance, we come nearer to appreciating how much warfare has changed under the influence of modern means of precision. Nevertheless, the dominant idea of the attack, deduced from the Drill Book, is still the happy dispatch of the foe with the bayonet. I maintain that the whole training of our infantry, as practised in peace, is an encouragement of the erroneous idea, traditionally present in the recruit's mind, that all that has to be done is to get to the enemy's position, and that then the supreme moment arrives, and the bayonet makes the victor's name. Watch a battalion manoeuvring in peace, and the same slight presents itself, namely, that of officers and men lying down and jumping up, like jacks-in-the-box, and then very soon, oh! how absurdly soon, the culminating moment arrives of secondary importance. The British soldier has been educated to think of his rifle too much as merely the object on which he fixes his bayonet.

That the bayonet has a value is admitted, such as for night attack, for scouting, against savages, etc.; but I am not aware of our having gained any advantage in the war up to date through its use. Though a fixed bayonet slightly affects the path of the projectile, yet on the other hand probably it gives some advantage in the use of its extra weight upon the muzzle, which tends to make fired or excited men keep their fire low. But this cult of the bayonet results in men crowding together, preparing for the charge, at those ranges which render the rifle fire most effective; it also entails men being closer together from start to finish than modern rifle fire will permit of.

By Fire Alone. The development of the fire effect is what must be striven after; and the employment of every available rifle in the firing line, so as to establish rapidly a superiority of fire, is the natural way for attacking infantry to overwhelm the defence. The drill book seems to place the advantage with the attack. The idea of getting every possible rifle into use in the firing line does not seem to be favored by our peace training, for it has been customary in Natal to see two battalions only of a brigade actually in use, the remainder being kept in reserve. The only successful battles were fought on broad fronts.

A source of unnecessary casualties is to be found in the habit of men passing over dangerous ground by dribbles. Although the target is smaller, dribbles give the enemy a better chance of scoring. Take an extreme case as an example, assume ten Boers awaiting the advance of ten soldiers; if there be but one rush, all the rifles may be emptied, perhaps fifty bullets in all; if the men go singly, each man gives a chance to each Boer, therefore the total of bullets fired may be five hundred.

A fruitful cause of inefficient extension and taking cover is the fetish of volley firing. Volley firing, controlled, means men kept together. Now I have shot big game in America and in the Himalayas, and consequently I thoroughly appreciate the difficulty of shooting straight when excited or tired, with an arduous climb, even though I select my own individual for pressing the trigger. Hand and eye working together can alone determine

A FAMOUS LIGHTHOUSE. The most famous lighthouse on the Pacific Coast is that of Tillamook Rock, seventy miles south of the mouth of the Columbia river, Oregon. The rock is almost two feet above the sea, yet at the time Mr. Lord made one of his photographs a wave was breaking through a crevice and hurled its spray higher than the summit. On this day it was too rough for the Columbia's boat to make a landing. Coal for the station had to be hoisted in a cage or basket, and suspended in midair over the sea, report on the condition of himself and his assistants, as they were short of provisions, most of the supply having been destroyed during a storm. From the side of the rock a heavy keel, at the height of this storm, tore off two pieces averaging six-three pounds and hurled them upon the roof of the keeper's dwelling. With the weight of the water, these fragments made a hole twenty-six feet in area in the roof, flooded the building to a depth of over five feet, and washed out two walls, throwing three rooms into one, an "improvement" for which the keepers were not especially grateful. Pieces of rock punctured the iron roof in thirty-five places. Although the focal plane of the lantern is 136 feet above the sea level, it punes of glass 3 feet long and three-eighths of an inch thick were knocked in by pieces of rock which went through the lantern, and the water put out the light. The building has now been raised six feet, and a thick concrete roof has been laid on heavy steel girders.—The Chautauque.

The progress of the bubonic plague in Glasgow may now be said to have been completely stopped. There has been but one fresh case in fifteen days. Twenty-one persons remain in the hospital; two cases are doubtful, while six persons who have been in contact with plague patients remain in the reception house.

Strange Facts Concerning Foreign Ministers in Great Britain.

No one, with the exception of the Queen, the Prince of Wales and the members of the Royal family, enjoys so many advantages and privileges as the various ambassadors, ministers, plenipotentiaries and consuls representing various powers in Great Britain.

In the first place, the legation of a foreign country does not exist under British law. It is free of taxes and other levies which go to make the life of the average citizen something of a burden to him.

The privileges extended to foreign representatives rank greater than those of the prime minister, greater than those of the duke, lords and the rest of the nobility. These privileges are, as a matter of fact, privileges of courtesy rather than of right, and it must be said that they are such that the ambassador in Britain exercises a power such as no other individual except the monarch can enjoy.

This is what the minister of the foreign power enjoys in Britain. If at any time he should be driving in any part of the city he is privileged to have the traffic stopped for him, and can further demand the protection of the police at any time.

But the strangest of all the privileges is with regard to the servants of the different legations. The police have absolutely no power over them except in the case of felony. Should a servant of any one of the legations commit a crime less than felony, the police must not lay hand upon the offender; and in the case of a crime, felony or worse, the police have only the right to hold the offender in custody until the next day when he belongs to him in hand and must on to him whatever punishment that legation may think fitting to the crime.

"FRIGHTENED TO DEATH." "I have interested myself somewhat in looking up unusual cases of death," said a well known physician, "and have met several well authenticated instances where fright was the cause. The English Surgeon-General Francis tells of a drummer in India across whose legs a harmless lizard crawled while he was half asleep. He was sure that a cobra had bitten him, and it was too much for his nerves and he died."

"Frederick I. Pavia was killed by fear. His wife was insane and one day she escaped from her keeper, and dabbling her clothes in blood, rushed upon her husband while he was dozing in his chair. King Frederick imagined her to be the white lady whose ghost was believed to invariably appear whenever the death of a member of the royal family was to occur, and he was thrown into a fever and died in six weeks."

"But perhaps the most remarkable death from fear was that of the Dutch painter Penman, who lived in the seventeenth century. One day he went into a room full of anatomical subjects to sketch some deaths' heads and skeletons for a picture he intended to paint. The weather was very sultry, and while sketching he fell asleep. He was aroused by bones dancing around him and the skeletons suspended from the ceiling clashing together."

"In a fit of terror he threw himself out of the window, and though he sustained no serious injury and was informed that a slight earthquake had caused the commotion among his ghostly surroundings, he died in a few days in a nervous tremor. I could cite many other cases where the shock to the nervous system which we know as fright has produced death."—Exchange.

A piece of lead piping was unearthed at Chester, Eng., bearing the words "Caneus Jilins Agricola," which complete an inscription on similar pipes discovered at the same spot last October. The pipes were probably used to convey water to a Roman camp during Agricola's occupation of Britain in 79 A.D.

THE NERVES RULE THE BODY.

Feeble Nerves Are Aroused to New Vigor and Life by the Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (Pills).

The movements, the functions and the very life of each and every organ of the body are under the direct control of that great organism—the nervous system.

Whether weakened and exhausted by overwork, worry or disease, the effect is always to produce derangements of the most serious order, and the result is usually paralysis, locomotor ataxia, prostration, epilepsy or insanity.

When nervous, irritable, sleepless and despondent, revitalize the wasted nerve cells by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (pills). Don't wait for neuralgic pains and nervous headache and dyspepsia to drive you to the use of the great nerve restorative.

The longer you delay treatment the more distant will be your recovery. Nervous diseases never wear away, but gradually get worse. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (pills) is the only preparation which is certain to cure you, and it is certain because it contains in condensed form the very elements of nature which go to form new nerve tissue.

It cures by building up the system. 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanison, Bates & Co., Toronto.
