2 COR. x. 3, 4.

(I)

Though we Walk in the Flesh, we do not War after the Flesh :

For the Weapons of our Warfare are not Carnal, but Mighty —

H E Unity, Order, Difcipline, and Force of a Company of Men imbodied in an Army, have given frequent Occafion to the Holy Spirit for Allufions that way : And fo, not to mention the Old Teftament, a Hiftory of commanded Wars under God the Lord of Hofts; in the New, the Chriftian Life is called a Warfare; we are Soldiers, and faid to Fight; in the Epiftle to the Ephefians, we are Armed at all Points; we have our Leader whom we are to follow, Fefus Chrift, the Captain of our Salvation; under whofe Banner we were, as it were, Lifted at our Admiffion into the Catholick Church.

So does the Chriftian Religion enter the World, under a Phrafe that is very Military in the Sound ; as if fome new Conqueror was to over-run the Earth, and a Fifth Temporal Monarchy to be advanc'd.

But

But we know all this to be but Figure of Speech, and that there is no other Ufe or mention in the New Teltament of the one Warfare, but only to help to Express the other: For as the Tenour of the Gospel, and this Text informs us, they are of perfectly Different Natures, and almost Opposite one to the other.

Though we walk in the Flesh, we do not war after the Flesh: For the Weapons of our Warfare are not Carnal, but Mighty—

That is, The War that is waged, is of another Kind; and the Weapons of another Make. They are too of greater Power, and more certain Succefs. And thefe are the Two General Confiderations which I defire first to prefent to you, intending afterwards to apply them to the particular Occasion for which we are now Affembled.

To Begin with the DIFFERENCE OF THE WARFARE, the FIRST Confideration. This Warfare, in the first place, declares none for its Enemies, whom God permits to dwell upon his Earth : not for being Wicked, or Infidel ; much less for being too Rich, or too Near; for being Possible's d Posses'd of a Fairer Territory, and which lies better for our Convenience.

Its Enemies are not Men, but Vices and Paffions; fuch Lufts as, according to Saint Fames, are the Common Caufes of Other Wars: and those too chiefly, as they are lodged in our Breasts, in the fame Body wherewith we are encompass'd. With these dwelling in the midst of us, (for others we are to overcome by Persuasion only) we ought to live in perpetual Hostility, subduing them to Reason, and bringing them into Captivity to the Law of Christ.

And as the Enemies are Different, fo is the Defign of the War: not a Foot of Earth is to be the Purchafe of the Victory : the Aim is not to gain a Name, by being a Peft and Terrour to the Neighbourhood ; by Ruine and Slaughter; to be Talk'd of by One part of the World, for having Deftroy'd Another.

The Intention of our Leader was, not to Conquer this World, but to Conduct us through it to Another; not to Deftroy, but to Save; not to Take away Lives, but to give his Own a Ranfom for Many.

According to the Enemies, and to the Defign of the Warfare; fo are its Orders :

not to refift Evil with Evil, but to overcome Evil with Good, to tarn the Other Cheek, to give up the Coat, to go the Other Mile; rather than be engaged in Revenge, or any Uncharitable Retaliation; or but Imitate the fame Violence or Injuffice : On the contrary, to forgive our Enemies; to blefs them that curfe us; to do good to them that bate us; and Pray for them that despitefully ufe us, and Perfecute us.

This is the Known Method and Duty of our Warfare. Those that observe not these Rules, walk Diforderly, transgress against the Discipline of their General, are not reputed the Soldiers, but the Enemies of Him and his Cross, and though under his Name, they fight against Him.

To the Manner of the War, the Weapons are fuited, they are not Carnal: none of those of Offence or Defence which the Flesh uses. The Covering is neither by Shield or Helmet, nor by false Pretences, and Hypocritical Difguises; the Attack neither by Sword, or Spear; nor by Malicious False Tongues, Poisoned Calumnies, and Murdering Accusations: all the Ambushments of False Promises, and Enfnaring Allurements, are against the Law of these Arms.

The

The Courage too, is not from Blood fermented with Anger or Revenge; not from any Impetuous, Unruly Paffions; all thefe it reftrains and fuppresses. Its Constancy and Refolution is founded upon Faith in God, animated by the Hope of Heaven, and difplays it self in Charity towards Men. Whatever Terrors or Temptations are offer'd, they are repell'd by the Shield of Faith, the Helmet of Hope, and the Breast-plate of Righteousness. Whatever Objections and Arguments are urg'd, they are cut afunder by the Sword of the Spirit, the Word of God. This is the Armour of Proof with which we may be able to stand, even against Principalities, and Powers, and the Rulers of the Darkness of this World.

This Warfare is not the Carnal : fo far Different, that it has been reputed not confiftent ; but that Swords were to be beat into Plough-fhares, and Spears into Pruningbooks, and the Noife of the Battle was to be beard no more. It has been prefum'd that thefe two forts of Armours could never fit the fame Perfon ; and that the Soldier Engaged in the one Service, must Defert the other.

This has been the Pious Error, even of fome Well-meaning Harmlefs Christians; expref-

fing their Good Wifhes, and Peaceful Difpofitions; not their Knowledge of Mankind, or of the Precept of our Saviour: an Error which may expose the Mistaken to Rapin and Murder; but is Dangerous only to the Followers of it: It felf making no Widows, or Orphans; and laying no Cities waste.

However, fo much is certain, that all Wars undertaken by Chriftians, are to be under the Direction of the Spiritual Warfare, and fubject to its Orders. Whatever other Arms we put on, thefe of the Spirit are never to be put off : they are ftill to be next us. He that fhall be found fighting without them, engages his Perfon rafhly to infinite Danger, and exposes himfelf to Eternal Death : runs a greater hazard than his Enemy intends him. For want of the one Armour, the Blow that wounds through the other, may be too Mortal, pierce to the Soul, and not only diflodge it, but difpatch it to Hell.

This likewife is certain, that as Our Saviour came not to Difband Armies, fo He gave out no new Commiffions : He Licens'd War, and Permitted a Profecution of Right, which the Violence and Injuffice of Man might continue to make neceffary ; but He Commanded manded none, nor will have any Levied in His Name. And therefore, that Dominion is founded in Grace, that the most Godly Man has the greatest Title to this World and its Empire; is a wide Mistake of Earth for Heaven; is the Doctrine of the Prince of this World; and whoever advances it, has as fmall a pretence to Grace, as he has to Dominion; and is no more a Chriftian, than he is a King. In like manner, that Heathen or Heretick Princes and Countries may be given up to the next Orthodox, and most Chriftian, Occupant; that then a Saint is to put on a Sword, and if he falls in the Quarrel he dies a Martyr; this is a Doctrine of the Crofs never taught by Our Saviour, nor thought of by his Apoltles, fince Saint Peter put his Sword up in its Sheath; it needs Indulgence and Remiflion ; a greater Herefie than any it goes to extirpate, and more becoming the Followers of Mahomet, than of Christ. War indeed has been levied upon fuch Pretences ; the Wooden Crofs carry'd in the Front of the Battle, and the Counterfeit of it borne in the Arms and Enfigns; but He that was Crucified, could not own the Caufe; it was a Holy War, against the Defign of his Holy Religion.

When-

Whenever Religion is pretended by One. Nation, for the Title of an Offensive War against Another, it is only put for the Colours : but Ambition, or Covetousnels, or Cruelty, has the chief Command. It may indeed be the Lawful Pretext of a Defensive War : but Occafionally only, and as it is a Poffession in which we ought not to be Difturb'd. Religion it felf is of too Pure a Nature for the Arm of Flesh to reach it; that Violence cannot come near to Hurt it ? when it is perfecuted it improves, purifies in the fire, and is Perfected by Suffering. But the free Profession of this Religion, as it may be Impeach'd, fo it is capable of being a Right and a Propriety; and a War against an Invading Neighbour, Just and Necessary in its Defence. But as a Propriety only, and to which we have a Civil Title, it gives an Occasion for War : it makes of it felf no. new, nor feparate, Pretence. And therefore in all those Cases, where the Laws of the Country prohibit the taking up of Arms generally, on the account of any Poffession; there Religion understands her Title to be included too, throws down her foreign Weapons, trufts only to her own, and practifes her proper Warfare. In fuch a Cafe, for a Chriftian ftian to be found Refifting, for the fake of the Gofpel; would be as incongruous, as for a Subject to Rebell, in defence of a Statute against Treason.

Where-ever the Humane Law has Eftablish'd Non-Resistance, the Divine does by no means Relax it : and where the Humane Law abfolves or releafes, the Divine does does not tie up or restrain. The Christian Religion encourages Paffive-Obedience, and enforces it, where it is due; as it must be thought due to the Legislative Authority : but what measure of Obedience is due to the Regent part, that the Law of the Country must prescribe; for who, fays Our Lord, made me a Judge and a Divider over you? As we are alfo left to underftand, not only that all Nations have not in this Matter the fame Law, but that the fame Nation is not always Govern'd by the Same; that even the Rules, fometimes reputed Funda--mental, are Mutable ; and it is in the Power of Men, and Time, to introduce and establish others : though this will be always true, That the Best Policy is not the Loofest; and that in Any, a Good Patriot, as well as a Good Chriftian, will be the leaft forward to Refift with Carnal Weapons.

Such is the True Warfare of a Christian, and these his Weapons : but Man would rather engage in the Carnal. He is ready to be Angry, and Revengeful, in the Caule of God; would be glad to have a Commission from Heaven to Kill, Wafte, and Deftroy. Such a Licenfe drew those vast Numbers to Mahomet's New Sect : all those Lawless Pilfering Saracens were ready to receive a Religion, that would make it their Duty to Rob, and accept of their Zeal to Murder. When too we read of those great Bodies of Men that marched from Christendom, on that their Jewish Expedition, for the Holy Land; we may imagine, the greatest part of them would not have went an unarmed Pilgrimage fo far, to Weep and Repent; nor would have ftay'd at Home and forfaken their Sins, taking upon them the True Crofs, and the Apostles Holy War. Had not Intemperance, Licentiousnels, Rapine, Discontent, Anger, and the rest of that train, been admitted to the Muster; fewer possibly wou'd have went Out, than ever us'd to Return.

So DOES THE CHRISTIAN WARFARE feem to the Carnal Man, Bafe and Ignoble, Degenerous and Effeminate : He would not with wish a Weaker Enemy, and an Easter Conquest : If the War be not after the Flesh, it is Contemptible : and if the Weapons are not Carnal, they are Feeble. But this Imagination the Holy Apostle prevents in a Word, and directs to the contrary Conclusion, which we are now in the SECOND PLACE to Confider. The Weapons, fays he, of our Warfare are not Carnal, but Mighty : were they Carnal, they ought to be defpiled, and would be weak; but they are Mighty: As the Flesh is Heavy, and Unactive; all Force, and Power, is from the Spiritual Part.

For First, The Spiritual Warfare is of it felf attended with a Courage, that does not deferve to be Contemn'd; that is, highly efteem'd on other Occafions: a Courage not Furious and Brutal, that fomes and rages, but calm and fedate, founded upon true Refolution, and accompany'd with Prefence of Mind; that bears the Choque, and receives the Charge, unconcern'd and un-mov'd; keeps its Post against the Affault, and against the Provocation of the Enemy; needs not to be heated, and chafed; can bear and endure, expose its Life in cool undiftemper'd Blood, and die without the Satisfaction of a Revenge. This is C. 2 the

the Chriftian, this is the True Fortitude; not always fafely Infulted, Dreaded rather than Defpis'd by a Wife Enemy. When fuch a Chriftian has Leave to put

When luch a Christian has Leave to put on Humane Arms, in Defence of his Country or Religion; it will not be found that his Saviour's Doctrine has Enervatd, or Intimidated his Natural Courage: Non Ille pro caris Amicis, aut Patria, timidus Perire. His Real Concern for his Religion, will out-do all Pretended Zeal; and his True Charity for his Friends and Countrymen, will make him not unwilling to be (in St. Paul's Senfe) an Anathema for them; little valuing This Life, which he fhall exchange for Life Eternal.

So Powerful will the Spiritual Weapons be in a Carnal Warfare: but they are of themfelves and in their own Paffive Nature Migbty: Powerful against those that are not Barbarous, Obdurate, and Infensible; Powerful over all that are Noble and Generous: Mighty to affwage Anger, and to reconcile Enmity; they are powerful over God himfelf, and Appease his Just Indignation.

Through God they are often mighty upon the Earth: He comes down to their Succour, and frequently in their Aid engages his his Almighty Arms : interposing in the Defence of those that obey his Word, and depend upon his Pleasure. They stand still, and see the falvation of God: they hold their Peace, and he Fights for them.

But whatever the Fate of this Warfare be in this World, however it may be made Paffive here by the Contumelies and Injuries of Men; yet then in that State, it fhines Brighteft towards Heaven, and finds the greateft Favour there.

The Court of Heaven, whole Princes and Nobles are thole who have been Afflicted and Tormented, ftript and Murder'd; has thole in greatelt regard, who are engag'd in the fame Warfare. The Great GoD, the Fountain of True Honour, whole Kingdom ftands not by the Arm of Flesh, nor by the falle Bravery of Humane Strength; requires of his the Courage to Suffer, the Daring to undergo Affliction and Difgrace, for his Sake : the Poor in Spirit, the Meek, the Defam'd, and the Persecuted, they are by God himfelf declar'd Bleffed, and proclaim'd Noble; theirs is the Kingdom of God, and their Title the Children of the most High.

For fo Mighty are the Honourable Weapons of this Warfare, that they must preyail, vail, and cannot be defeated of their Defign: after a little Oppofition here below, which too only increases the Reward and Glory of the Arms, a Victory will certainly be obtain'd, and Crown given. For who shall feparate us from the Love of Christ, thall Tribulation, or Distress, or Persecution, or Famine, or Nakedness, or Peril, or the Sword? Nay in all these things we are more than Conquerors.

This is the Warfare of the Chriftian Church, and thele its Weapons: nor fhall, they by the Grace of God be ever wrefted out of our hands: we in all things approving our felves as the Followers of Chrift, by Purenefs, by Knowledge, by Long-fuffering, by Kindnefs, by the Holy Ghost, by Love Unfeigned, by the Word of Truth, by the Power of God, by the Armour of Righteousnefs on the right hand, and on the left, in Honour and Disconver, in Evil Report and Good Report; ftill maintaining our Ground and our Duty, and fuffering no Man to take this Glory from us.

THIS WAS THE WARFARE OF THE Royal Sufferer of this Day, next under Chrift the Supreme Governour of our Church, its foremost and most Valiant Leader and most Illustrious before the HOUSE of PEERS.

Illustrious Example : who Excell'd as much in Christian Graces, as in Temporal Dignity; in his Life and by his Death, the Defender of the Faith.

On This Day the Carnal Arms receiv'd their Difgrace; and the Honour and Advantage of the Spiritual Warfare appear'd. The Carnal profper'd on the Wrong Side; The Weapons of the Flesh were the Weapons of the Rebels, and prevail'd in their hands; they fail'd the righteous, the Royal Caufe, and gave it up treacheroufly to the Iffue we now lament. But the Other Armour, which this Pious King receiv'd by fpecial Grace from the immediate Hand of God, and inwhich He Trufted, of that he could never be despoil'd; The Enemy could no more take it, than he would wear it: It remain'd all along with his Sacred Perfon, protected him from all the Harms of Earth and Hell, and brought him off fafe to his Heavenly Country and Eternal Manfion. The Sword of the Spirit, the Word of God, was always Successful in His Hand, in all Encounters against the Heretical and Schifmatical Adverfaries of our Church. Truth and Innocence were Mighty on his Side, against all the Frauds and Calumnies of his Enemies : and and his Faith in God and Hope of Heaven fecur'd Him against their Terrors: His Patience stood firm, and unshaken; and his Charity was absolutely Invincible.

The very Show and Appearance of this Spiritual Warfare, how Powerful it is even among Men, was too visible from the Favour the Rebels found by the Pretence, and from the Friends they drew in, deceiv'd by falle Colours and borrow'd Armour. But the True Weapons how Mighty they were, appear'd on this truly Christian Prince. They were able to reclaim many of his Enemies to their Duty to a loft Caufe, and fubdue them to Right and Reafon: but they were indeed Mighty with God; prevailing with him to confound the Councils of the Irreclaimable, to break their Force and open a way through their Bloody Combinations as through the Red Sea, for the Return of Peace and the Royal Family: God being pleas'd all along to difappoint the most Likely Attempts of Loyal Men, the most Probable Humane Defigns; to make Way for a Miracle, with which He intended to Honour the Royal Caufe, and eminently to own his Martyr.

For

For the fame Reafon too, may the fame Divine Providence be prefum'd to have defeated the Carnal Auxiliary Force of his Servant, that He might This Day fight alone His Own Battle for Religion and the Laws. He fought This Day alone fuccessfully, against all the Conquests of his Enemies : more Happy, and more Victorious, than if He had Trod them under his Feet in the First Battle.

They were able indeed often to Hinder his Paffage to his Forts, and Accels to his Royal City : but the Correspondence between Him and Heaven could not be fo barr'd, nor his Progress that way obstructed. But as the fame Soldiers, by the Wonderful Providence of God, willingly afterwards Guarded his Son to the Throne; fo did they now unwittingly Attend the Royal Father to a Nobler Triumph, and put him in Poffession of an Immarcessible Crown: making Him, effectually, by God's fecret Over-ruling Will, a more Glorious Prince, than the strain'd Phrase of their Hypocritical Leaders had ever promis'd or pretended to make Him.

For however the Profpect might appear, to his Rebels, that look'd through a Vizard of

of Religion; or to a Carnal Eye, that fees no farther than the Shadows and Pageantry of this World : a Christian will not doubt to affirm, That this his Last Day was the most Glorious of his Reign; and that He was more Happy when he ascended the Scassfold, than when he first mounted the Royal Throne.

For we are not to let our Carnal Imagination fo much deceive us, as to effimate the Glory of the Day by its Outward Appearance. Every Battle of the Warrier is with confus'd Noife, and Garments roll'd in Blood. The Victor is cover'd over with Sweat, and Duft, and Gore; and hardly to be difcern'd from his Conquer'd Prifoner. If we will take a View of the Conqueror, we must follow him to his Triumph: not fee Our Saint only mingled with the Enemy, and as he fights his Way out of This World; but as he is receiv'd into the Other: what Glories he then puts on, and what his Triumphant Entry into Heaven: How Bright he Rifes, the Morning after his Bloody Setting.

Other Conquerors, that have made the Earth to tremble, and have shaken Kingdoms, that have made the World as a Wilderness, and destroy'd the Cities thereof; when they receive their Irrecoverable final Overthrow,

throw, and go at last to those miserable Men, that they have fent with Complaints and Accufations, before them : Hell from beneath is moved to meet them at their coming ; it firs up its Dead for them, to receive them into the fame Mifery, and infult over their Darkness and Chains. Whereas the Victors of our Warfare alcend to Mount Sion, to the City of the Heavenly King; to the Innumerable Company of Angels; to the Army of Martyrs, Joying in their Society, and Congratulating their Success; to the Bleffed Jefu the First and the Great Sufferer, fitting ready with Lawrels and Crowns, to befow them on the Glorious Companions of the fame Arms.

The Seat of Honour in Heaven, at the Right-hand of God, is Poffeffed by Our Bleffed Saviour, as the Purchase of his Passion : and near Him, in Order, the Christian Soldier is Advanc'd : according to the Proportion of the Hardships they have Overcome, the Recompence of Reward is Affign'd, and the Rank is Given.

This View, the Faith of the Christian Church has always had; has ftill Congratulated the Deaths of its Martyrs; look'd upon the Days of their Paflion as their Birth-Days,

Days, as the Days of the Birth of Princes, and made them Times of Joy, and their chiefest Festivals.

Our Church is not Infenfible of the Glories of this Saint, and of the Luftre thence reflected on Her Self: She Congratulates to the Royal Blood that Portion of it fo Divinely Shed, and the Addition of a MARTYR, to Our Kings. Had He fell by Pagan, or by Foreign Hands; had He fell by the Treafon of his Other Kingdoms only; had Our Nation not had the Guilt, as well as the Honour, of the Martyr dom: this had been a Coronation-Day, in the Ecclefiaftical Calendar, a Perpetual Memorial of an Eternal Crown.

SUCH A DAY OF GLORY this was to that Royal Sufferer; of Honour to God, and to His Church among us: but to the Nation it was a Day of Guilt and Ignominy; for which they were then covered with Confusion; Assured before Men, and Humbled before God; as We now profess to be.

In the Stroke of This Day, the Guilt of the Carnal Arms, employ'd fo many Years against the Laws and the Prince, was Summ'd up and Compleated. All the preceding Thousands of Murders, were accomplish'd

in This ; and the Whole Kingdom, as it were, at once Beheaded by that Blow.

The Spiritual Wickedness too of that Warfare, the false zealous Profession for the Cause of God, and Laws of the Country, was fuitably concluded with that folemn Mockery of Justice : which rendering the Affassination more Criminal and Inexcusable, than if it had been done in private by Poisson or Dagger; Expos'd openly to the World, in their High Court, and on the Scaffold, the Hypocrisse of all their former Pretences.

In the Guilt of this Blow, all those too were to Confess their Share, who had but once lifted up their Hands against their now Dying KING. And many of those who had Strove for the Juster Side, but not Lawfully, (in the Apostle's Phrase;) and fought under the Colours, but not after the Example, of their Prince, might reflect upon themfelves also as not wholly Guiltles; and remembring now their Diforders, and breach of the Rules of the Christian Warfare, adore the Justice of God, in the Defeat of their Carnal Strength. They might with Trouble reflect, how much, by their Irregular Conduct, they had Difhonoured and Enfeebled

Enfeebled the Royal Caufe: recommending the Hypocrifie of the Enemy to the Undifcerning People, by the contrary too vifible appearance of Profaneness and Intemperance upon themselves; and fighting for their King, in the Breach of his Laws, and Spoil of his Subjects.

For all these Reasons, the Nation at that time was Effectually Afflicted, and very Senfibly Humbled before the Almighty : the far Greater, and much Better part of it, continuing alfo, for many Years, to groan under the Oppreflive Confequences of that Fatal Blow. And when afterwards God was gracioufly pleas'd to hear their Cry, and to take from their Necks that Intolerable and Shameful Yoke ; as they could not poffibly forget those Great, and Long Miferies; fo they could not but think it neceffary to fet aside One Day, that should represent those many past Years, and be to them an Annual Sad Memorial of those Calamities, and express Their Pious Sense of the Guilty Caufes, This was a Just and Humble Acknowledgment, Due for their Paft Deliverance; and their Sureft and Wifeft Prefervative, for the Future : that their Ingratitude might not be Punish'd by some New Worse Miferies :

before the House of Peers.

Miferies ; or that they might not, at leaft, be again Abandon'd to the Delufion of fuch Deftructive Impoftures.

This Remembrance therefore they Religioufly Inftituted, a National FAST, for National Crimes : always Senfibly Obferv'd by those who are of Age to Remember those past Calamities; but yet more Devoutly to be Kept by them, when they hear again the Sound of the Fore-runners of the Carnal Battle; and fee those Prin-ciples unhappily Reviv'd, and audacioufly Own'd, which brought on the now Lamented Excision. The Same Wicked Restless Spirit, returning to a Land once Swept and garnish'd, may well bring into its Remembrance in what manner it was formerly Posses'd : and will not fuffer a Time, no further Distant, to be forgot, by those who have but heard or read the Story. I may fay, That, had this Tearly Memorial Expir'd with the last Century; fuch Endeavours as These would have call'd loudly for the Revival and Re-eftablishment of it: as the too open Contempt, which fome have had the Boldness to express for this Religious Duty, may give the Lovers of their Country and Church a new Caufe for for a yet Stricter FAST; to Atone for the Plague of fo great a Guilt, fresh breakingout, and to Supplicate against its Direful Contagion. But,

2*dly.* THIS DAY, as it Religioufly express'd before our God, a Detertation of those feveral Sins which provoked bis Rigbteous Judgment; fo was it design'd to be further Serviceable, to keep-up this Abhor. rence in the Minds of the Coming Generation; that they might not be unawares engag'd in the fame Warfare, and perisp in the Gain-faying of Corab; that they might not, by the like Practices renew'd, have another Occasion for fuch a Fast; and be forc'd then Always to Keep it in Private, (as their Predecessions Long did) for want of another Restoration of the Crown and the Church.

For as It admonifhes the Government not to Exceed the Meafures of the Law, nor to give the leaft reafonable Occafion to the Subject of any Juft Complaint; fo it lets the Subject know the Bleffings and Advantages of an Ancient Regular Government, and of a Stated Fix'd Succeffion: that it is not to be Difturb'd, without out Absolute Evident Necessity; and that as the Prince is for the Sake of the People, fo are They, for their Own Sakes, to Guard his Person, and Maintain his Rights : That all Governments have their Inconvenience, and all Mankind their Imperfections; that Subjects are not free from inordinate Defire of Dominion and Riches, from Envy and Ambition ; and that Those often most vehemently Exclaim against Arbitrary Proceedings in Others, who would be the most Arbitrary Themselves : That They whofe Difcourfes pretend to teach the Subjects of any Lawful, not wholly Intolerable, Government, in what Cafes they may Refift ; are no better Catechifts, than those who should make it their chief Businefs to Instruct Children of Good Parents. in what Cafe they may lawfully Difobey their Fathers, and lay Violent Hands on their Perfons: that fuch Cafes, as they are not to be prefum'd, fo are not to be fuppos'd; and cannot be put without Impertinence, unlefs with this Implication; that they are likely to take Place, and of Prefent Use: Lastly, That a Civil War is the utmost Absurdity in Humane Policy, to be Prevented with all poffible Care by the whole. Com-- 5

Community; and that it is no more a State of Nature, than it is of Grace.

So will This Day, in order to teach the following, remember us of those that Preceded; and put us upon reflecting, by what Arts, and under what Popular Pretences, that Furious War was rais'd; how Unmanageable and Ungovernable it prov'd, to Those that first promoted it; how much They fail'd of their Designs, and the People of Their Promises: many at last as much Stripp'd, and all as much at Mercy, as their Sovereign on the Scaffold.

But, Laftly, Whether This Day inftructs us, or no, in this Ufeful, and not Foreign, Leffon; warning us against fuch Principles and Seeds of Mischief, as in this one Property are unhappily like the Good Seed of the Gospel, that though finall in the Grain, they may quickly take Root and grow a Tree; and like the little Leaven, may lie neglected, till they fowre and fwell up the whole Mass; however the Day, through our own Heedless, may fail of that good Effect: yet let it teach us that which is most proper to it, and which it south is most proper to it, and which it fpeaks-out Directly; what little Certainty there is in the the Poffession, Authority, and Force of This World; and where our Chief Trust and Main Confidence is to be plac'd.

If any One might have prefum'd himfelf Free from all Calamitous Events, this Prince well might: Indifputably Rightful Lord of a Great, Flourishing, and then Peaceful Country; himfelf of Unbyass'd Rectitude, and Exemplary Piety: and yet was God pleas'd to fuffer that Profound Quiet to be broke-up and harrass'd, and not to spare the Vertues of his Servant.

The Great Men of the Kingdom were then in the heighth of Honour and Power; by an undifturb'd Prescription of many Reigns, poffess'd of the Reverence and Ohedience of the People : no Enemy from Abroad, or Rebellion at Home, had interrupted that long Course of Authority and Prosperity. But in a little time They were brought Low; their Noble Blood mingled on the Earth with the Common ; their Eftates Confiscated, their Authority levell'd, and They diftinguish'd only by the Rudenels and Contempt of their New Equals. This was then the Portion of Princes, and Nobles : and now They have no greater Security against the Arm of Flesh, They have rather rather the Prefident of the laft Age against Them : and will therefore have the Example fo far at least before their Eyes, as to know the Armes of the Christian Warfare to be the Mightiest, and that Defence the Surest.

Men of all Ranks, the less Precaution they are able to take against the Warfare according to the Flesh, the more they are to Arm themfelves with the Weapons of the Spirit. And those that are forward to have Recourse to Carnal Arms, are to know, they must not boast of that Harness till they put it off; that those Weapons are Frail and Treacherous; a Spear, Brittle like the Reed of Ægyt, and Wounding the Hand of him that Leans too much upon it. Our Observance of the Orders of Our Lord, and Exercifing our felves by His Discipline, will best Secure our Present Safety; but will most certainly Affure us of Everlasting Salvation. - For That, we ought to be reftlefsly Sollicitous; And That may the Good Go D grant us, tlirough his Son JESUS CHRIST, adT 133
