Our City Comment & Discussion

by THOMAS D. WATSON

Preposterous Claims of Those Favoring Annexation Are Answered

IT IS to be regretted that annexation to Los Angeles should have been injected into the campaign now on for the sewer bond issue, which is to be voted on January 8th. They are two separate and distinct propositions and combining them only aids in beclouding the issue. Since, however, the proposition has been made the paramount issue, it might as well be fought out now and decided for all time.

WE HAVE tried to look at this proposition from an unprejudiced standpoint, recognizing that our readers would be more interested in facts than in advice. We believe we have done this, but the more study we give the matter the more convinced we become that the city's best interests lie, not in annexing and losing its identity, but in staying a separate municipality and working out our own problems in our own way.

SOME MANY claims have been made as to cause the average individual to become perplexed. A mass meeting was held to try and explain the different issues, but, as in such meetings held in past years, personalities were gone into and it became an arguing match, ending with the participants holding the same views and the average listener worn out by the arguments and with a confused idea of what it was all about.

AMONG the many claims made by one of the most ardent proponents of annexation we will notice a few. As the manner in which they have been presented is confusing we will take each one separately and try to make all of them appear in their true light.

FIRST, we find the following claim: "There are certain obligations of the city of Los Angeles in which Glendale would not share, and besides contributions from the municipal projects, the state of California contributes portions of the principal and interest of the water works election, 1905 issue, and a portion of the water works election, 1907 issue." The claim that Glendale would be relieved of a certain part of the Los Angeles indebtedness through the means of revenue-producing agencies is taking too much for granted. We admit that some reduction will be possible, but the amount is problematical and uncertain. It is true that the operative properties of the public service corporations of the city of Los Angeles do pay, through the state of California, a small proportion of the 1905 water works bonds and also the part of the 1907 bonds that were sold prior to November 8th, 1910. This amount is very small and would have no appreciable effect in a tax reduction in case Glendale was annexed.

A SECOND claim reads as follows: "I assume that Mr. Marshall (deputy city auditor and chief accountant for the city of Los Angeles) means to convey the idea that by reason of Glendale's exemption from portions of the obligations of Los Angeles her municipal tax rate, after consolidation, would be similar to that of San Pedro, Wilmington, Hollywood, etc., which have enjoyed rates of 12 cents to 13 cents for some years past." A comparison of probable tax rates, such as this, is unfair, to say the least. At the time San Pedro, Wilmington, Hollywood, Colegrove and East Hollywood (these last two being in the article as "etc.") were annexed to Los Angeles they were not asked to assume any portion of the outstanding bonded indebtedness of Los Angeles, nor did they assume any. This accounts for the tax rate of these portions of Los Angeles being lower than that of the old city, and they will continue to have a lower rate until the indebtedness contracted prior to their annexation has been retired.

SO WE say this is not a just comparison, for Los Angeles has already given us a list of her indebtedness she would like to have us help liquidate. Eagle Rock, having recently been annexed, makes a better comparison, but even in her case the rate the first year, while high, is consider-

BANDIT SHOWS BOTTLE, GETS $500

Teller Fears Explosive So Hands Over Money Demanded

(By Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—An unidentified man collected $500 from the cashier of the Citizens National Bank, Fifth and Spring streets, here today, with a small bottle of colorless liquid. Holding the bottle in one hand menacingly he thrust a brief note to the cashier demanding $500. The cashier, fearing the bottle might contain an explosive, handed out the currency and the man was swallowed up by the crowd before an alarm could be given.

GLENOAKS PARADE STARTS OFF RIGHT ON THE SCHEDULE

The steam shovel, which is to commence excavation Monday upon Glenoaks boulevard, arrived in the intersection of Brand boulevard and Broadway at 2 this afternoon and was observed with considerable interest. The parade was led north on Brand boulevard and east on Broadway by Motorcycle Officers L. L. Jones, George Devine and Glen Hemminger. "Glendale's Greatest Opportunity" was stated on placard upon the side of the huge excavating monster while another called attention to the scenic beauty of the route followed by Glenoaks boulevard. The grading and paving of this boulevard is being done by the Glenoaks Syndicate without cost to the city of Glendale.

ably lower than it will be next year.

ANOTHER claim covers the probable earning capacity of Los Angeles aqueduct and harbor projects as follows: "These investments could be sold today to private corporations for much more than they have cost Los Angeles, because these corporations know their permanent secured earning power." It is an open question what the earning power of any institution will be, even if it happens to be a public service corporation. So much depends on circumstances. Even these have been known to show a loss through the enactment of over-strict regulation.

THE case of the power development along the aqueduct might be considered as to the point, because it has fallen far short of realizing either the cost of installation or even the cost of maintenance. The power department was compelled to borrow $500,000 this summer from the city of Los Angeles in order to carry on. This was not a new procedure, however, as it has been done at other times, and the power department was not able to meet its obligations in accordance with agreements.

THE taxpayers of the city of Los Angeles and annexed territory have enjoyed lower taxes during the past few years than they can expect in the future. Prior to 1923, $1.00 on the hundred dollars valuation was the limit the city council was permitted to assess for general government purposes. By a vote of the people this limit was raised to $1.25. This was taken full advantage of the first year and it is fair to assume this practice will continue with additional advances as time passes and demand increases.

TWO AUTOS DAMAGED, LIGHT STANDARD RAMMED

Both automobiles were damaged about 2:30 p. m. yesterday in a collision near the heart of Glendale.

Martin Bueler of 1245 East Windsor road was driving a milk truck west on Broadway about fifteen miles per hour. When he reached Maryland, he started to turn south, giving the proper signal, he says. A touring car driven by William Grassan of Los Angeles was coming east. In the collision which followed, this car was pushed against an ornamental light standard on the southwest corner, breaking four globes. Both cars were damaged.

Another collision occurred between automobiles driven by Louis George Verdugo of 711 South Glendale avenue and E. G. Whitaker of Los Angeles. "The other driver did not see me coming," stated Mr. Verdugo. "I was making a left turn off San Fernando road into Doran street."

BURBANK KIWANIANS STAGE BRILLIANT INSTALLATION

The Palais Majestic ballroom in Burbank presented a scene of unsurpassed brilliancy last night when a gay throng of Kiwanians and their wives and sweethearts were gathered to witness the installation of officers. This was preceded by a delicious dinner served in the ballroom by the Florence Cafe caterers at 6:30, after which secretary Ted Covell read his report for the year as to the status of the club and a report on the Christmas fund. Frank Keen, international representative of the Kiwanis clubs of California, then took the meeting in hand and performed the ceremony of installing the new officers. These were W. P. Coffman, president; Chas. B. Fischer, vice-president; Clarence Thompson, treasurer; Bernice Loper, sergeant-at-arms; L. D. Davidson, song leader; H. W. Lewis, district trustee and Frank Attwood, R. B. Mullin, E. J. Jackson, Jack Isbell, Ezra Christensen, Dr. F. C. Tillson and C. W. Anderson as directors. Chas. B. Fischer, with an appropriate little speech, presented the outgoing president, H. W. Lewis, with a gift in the shape of a B. V. D. (Before Volstead went Dry), a silver cocktail mixer with the goblets. This was purchased from money raised by contributions from the members. Dr. C. E. Van Deventer was presented with a beautiful gold pin for being a one hundred per cent member for the full year, not having missed a single meeting for the fifty-two weeks.

An entertainment was then given. Cecelia Mae Fischer and Alberta Swall impersonated Rodolph Valentino and his wife in a clever tango, which was a beautiful sight indeed with the silk embroidered shawls and gorgeous costumes. Miss Swall gave several recitations and Miss Fischer several solo dances, all of which were cleverly given. Mrs. Gladys Fisher and Mrs. Eloise Kirkpatrick gave several of their famous vocal duets which deserve honorable mention, assisted by the well-known young pianist, Miss Frances Colburn. Dancing was enjoyed for the rest of the evening, the music being furnished by the Rainbow Melody Makers, the Palais Majestic orchestra. Every one declared it to be one of the most brilliant and successful affairs of the year.

SMALL DISTRICT NEXT TO BURBANK WOOS GLENDALE

Circulation of a petition requesting the calling of an election to annex to Glendale a small district south of the Southern Pacific and adjoining Burbank was approved this morning at a special meeting of the city council. A petition requesting this action was signed by J. J. Schnorr, Emma M. Schnorr, Gladys P. Schnorr, W. L. Russell, Hattie H. Russell, B. G. Rummell, Stella F. Rummell and William L. Copeland. The meeting was attended by Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman Sam Davis, Councilman Asa Hall and Councilman W. A. Horn and Assistant City Attorney Leslie R. Tarr.

POST AND CORPS HONOR AGED MEMBERS

Comrades Bock and Jones and Sister Zilpha Parker Are Feted

In quite a blaze of glory the present administration of N. P. Banks post and corps, Glendale, is terminating to make way for officers to be elected and installed two weeks hence. There are no heart burnings or bitterness, however, as the members are all loyal and true, as ready to serve in the ranks as in office.

At the joint all-day meeting held Friday, a complimentary chicken dinner was given the post by members of the corps, covers being laid for 150. It was also a celebration of three birthdays which have occurred since the last meeting, viz., the natal day of Comrade Bock of Eagle Rock, who is 95 years old, Comrade Jones who is quite blind, and Mrs. Zilpha Parker of the corps, who is 88 years old. In addition to these three it was featured as the annual celebration of all the birthdays of the year and a very handsome big flag-trimmed cake was out at the conclusion of the afternoon program which followed the dinner, and every person present was given a piece of the confection.

The main feature of the afternoon however, was the presentation of a beautiful silk flag remade by Mrs. Flora Pixley, president of the corps, who had taken the tattered "Old Glory" of the post and through the generosity of Mrs. Ella Richardson, purchased ribbon and remade the emblem, the original starchy field of blue being as good as new. She was assisted by Mrs. Chapuis, conductress.

It was a work of love by Mrs. Pixley and in her speech of 75

PAY LOVING TRIBUTE TO NOBLE WOMAN WHO IS GONE

Crowded to overflowing with friends and relatives who came to pay their last respects, the audience which filled the Central Avenue Methodist church on Friday afternoon to attend the funeral services for Mrs. Hattie Lewis Baker of 1819 South Brand boulevard was a testimony of the love and esteem in which she was held in the hearts of her many acquaintances. Reverend V. Hunter Brink, former pastor of the church, made a very wonderful address, giving a resume of the life of Mrs. Baker. The opening prayer was made by Rev. Munger, also a former pastor of the church. Rev. Kline, present pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church, paid a beautiful tribute to Mrs. Baker's life as a mother, wife and faithful member of the church.

During the services Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts sang "The Home of the Soul" and "No Shadows Yonder." The entire front part of the church was banked with beautiful floral tributes. Pallbearers were B. C. Baer, superintendent of the Sunday school; J. L. Brown, H. L. Mitchell, C. H. Muhlman, C. A. Bowen and R. J. Wallace. Funeral arrangements were in charge of L. G. Scovern Undertaking company and interment was held at Forest Lawn.

Mrs. Baer passed away suddenly at 7:30 o'clock Christmas night, at the age of 57 years. She had resided in Glendale for 14 years. Besides her husband, Lewis L. Baker, hardware merchant at 1413 South San Fernando road, Mrs. Baker is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. West and Mrs. Charles Klam, three sons, R. B. Baker, Allen Baker and Leiland Baker, and several grandchildren.

"BOB" GOWAN HAS HIS FAITHFUL FORD STOLEN

R. E. Cowan of 510 North Jackson street early last night had his 1923 Ford coupe stolen from in front of his home. It bore license number 1,096,425 and carried engine No. 857,112. It bore the coat of arms of the Glendale Evening News.

GLACIER PARK IN MONTANA TO LOSE OUT?

Scientist Declares Ice Mountains Are Disintegrating

(By Associated Press) CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 29.—The hot, dry seasons of the past few years have caused rapid disintegration of glaciers in Glacier national park in Montana, Professor W. G. Waterman of Northwestern university, declared in an address today before the geological society of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Sperry glacier, studied by Professor Waterman, has lost one-quarter or perhaps one-third of its ice in the past 18 years, he said. "If this rapid retreat should continue," the professor added, "the glacier would almost disappear in another 25 years, but the long dry season of the past few years is over, with probabilities of a lessening in the retreat."

Comparing studies made 18 years ago with those of last summer, Professor Waterman said that at one spot where identification of land marks was complete, the front of the ice has retreated 300 yards, leaving a huge ridge of clay and gravel. Ice in the center of the glacier has lowered from 50 to 100 feet.

Other evidence showed that this great retreat has taken place almost entirely in the last five years," he declared. "A photograph taken in 1915 showed the ice front in about the same place as 1905. Moreover a stretch of the underlying rock has been exposed and instead of being covered by a mantle of clay and gravel, the result of slow retreat, it is almost bare of such deposits. A striking ice cave 75 feet long and 30 feet wide was also found at this spot."

NEW BRANCH BANK ON EAST SIDE OPENS AUSPICIOUSLY

Moisture did not dampen the opening this morning at 612 East Broadway of the new branch of the Federal Commercial and Savings bank.

Despite the dampness, the bank was besieged by depositors this morning and Cashier Jesse V. Rea stated that the outlook is unusually promising.

First depositors were Miss Marie Warren of 1332 Barrington way and Charles J. Rittenhouse of 1125 East Maple street. Both were promised gold eversharp pencils.

Many compliments were paid to the officers of the bank upon the quality of its fixtures and the neatness of the new quarters. The establishment of this branch of a well-known and marvelously prosperous bank is a distinct asset to the fast-growing East Broadway section. It is just opposite the city hall and in the heart of a thriving business district. The management of the Federal commercial and Savings bank is to be commended for the foresight and business acumen which prompted the establishment of this branch institution. It will aid largely in the wonderful building program now on in this section.

Thirty-seven years ago Glendale clustered around the corner of Third street (now Wilson avenue) and Glendale avenue, extending south to Fifth (now Harvard), west but very sparsely to Isabel and east, also sparsely beyond Adams. Then in a few years the Pacific Electric line drew the population westward very largely until the old section seemed well-nigh deserted, as far as new building was concerned. Now all this is changed. The old section has become new and again old Glendale avenue with its railway line, now electric instead of steam is one of the busy arteries of a great city.

All success to the new bank in this new-old section of Greater Glendale.

FORMAL OPENING OF ENLARGED BANK THIS EVENING

Many interested residents of Glendale are attending the formal opening of the new and enlarged banking room of the Glendale avenue branch of the Pacific South-west Trust and Savings bank held today from 3 p. m. until 10 o'clock. Special music is being provided by the Hollywoodland orchestra, radio favorites who have been secured for the occasion. Refreshments will also be served during these hours and no banking business will be transacted.

Among the additions to the equipment of the enlarged banking room is a new and modern safe deposit department, including a new vault and individual private booths for the safe deposit patrons. Private booths have also been provided for those using the escrow service.

EAGLE ROCK'S YULE TIDE CELEBRATION WAS SUCCESS

Last night at the city hall the combined organizations of Eagle Rock put on what was probably the best entertainment and program in the history of Eagle Rock. There was a very large crowd and the people numbered well over a thousand. Machines were lined up for blocks around and special policemen were on hand to take care of the traffic and the people present. It was a Christmas program and it was put over with the approval of every man, woman and child. The choir singing was splendid, as well as the piano playing by Mr. Smith of Tujuanga. The school orchestra did itself proud and received considerable applause. To see a group of little kiddies sit down, play first-class music and do it perfectly, is an unusual experience. William Pfeiffer and Harold Lippold did beautifully in their cornet duet, "Silent Night." The community singing was led by Mr. Crawford, whose pep and enthusiasm made everyone want to sing. The invocation was given by Rev. Carry, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Renssion. Santa Claus was seen coming, fully a block away, about the time the benediction was finished, and in an old Ford with tin cans and other paraphernalia for making noise, attracted considerable attention. He drove up in front of the city hall and was surrounded in a flash by nearly all the youngsters in Eagle Rock. After pushing his way up to the doorway, he then gave a candy cane to every kiddie present, and also to a considerable number of grownups. Most of the children got two canes. Much credit is due the Kiwanis club in its interest in the work. A vote of thanks to the Fitzgerald Music company was conveyed by the president of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Root. Thanks were also expressed to the playground commission, which furnished the tree, the firemen who decorated it and everyone else who participated in making the affair a success. This was one big occasion when all of the organizations got together and showed that when something big is put over in Eagle Rock, all of the organizations are behind it.

GLANDALE BUILDING PERMITS STILL MOUNTING

Exactly $11,677 worth of building permits have been issued so far by the municipal building department in excess of the $10,000,000 goal.

December, which still has one full business day to go, has a total of $789,518 to its credit and is expected to reach the $800,000 mark. Permits issued recently include the following: R. D. R. Topf, garage, 327 Salem, $100; George Hartley, garage, 1150 Spazier, $300; Clara B. Landes, 6 rooms and garage, 1265 Oakridge, $5000; T. J. Hartman, garage, 400 South Lincoln, $300; C. S. Terpening, addition to garage, 428 North Jackson, $90; Charles Angus, 3 rooms, 1039 Elm, $1200.

SUNDAY WILL BE PRESBYTERIAN DAY OF DAYS

Wondrously Beautiful Church Edifice Will Be Dedicated

Sunday will be a great day in the annals of the Glendale Presbyterian church, a day to which it has been eagerly looking forward for the past 20 months or since ground was broken in April, 1922, for the beautiful edifice which has since lifted its gothic roof and tower to point the way to heaven. On Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock it is to be formally dedicated "to the glory of God, to the honor of Jesus the Christ, and to the praise of the Holy Spirit." But services related to and leading up to this dramatic climax, when J. W. Clendennin, chairman of the building committee, will present the keys of the new house of God to T. W. Preston, chairman of the board of trustees, will begin earlier in the day with the Bible school at 9:30, when hymns of praise will feature the program, and Rev. George L. Snively will give an illustrated address. At 10:30 will come a dedicatory service and a sermon preached by Rev. George L. Snively. At 2:30 a memorial service will be held when those who planted the vineyard and have gone to their reward, will be recalled. The leading address at this service will be made by Judge Robert L. Scott of Los Angeles. At evening worship at 7:30, as stated, will come the concluding ceremony of dedication, the sermon being preached by Rev. Stewart P. MacLennan, moderator of the Los Angeles Presbytery.

No greater day has occurred in the history of the church unless it was the day when this church was born, or in other words, in 1884.

CALIFORNIA HAS WELCOME FOR YOU SHIVERING FOLK

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—A cold wave, producing the coldest weather thus far this winter, with zero temperature as far south as Iowa and northwestern Illinois likely by Sunday night, is expected to spread over the entire Chicago district within the next few days, according to a special bulletin issued today by the weather bureau. The cold is expected to prevail generally over the Missouri and upper Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys and the western Lakes region.

ANNUAL MEETING OF C. OF C. POSTPONED TO JAN. 22

The annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce has been postponed until January 22, according to an announcement by Secretary E. F. Sanders. Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of the Temple Baptist church in Los Angeles, will be the speaker of the occasion. Tables will be reserved for the four luncheon clubs and each will be expected to furnish a portion of the entertainment.

ONLY A TRACE OF RAIN THIS MORNING

High hopes were entertained this morning of another good storm but only a brief shower denied our hearts. The prediction was so small that it was recorded on the rain gauge. However the lowering skies still tend rain and all are hoping some come down abundantly soon.

DAMAGED

LOS FELIZ RD. COMING THEATRICAL CENTER?

The suitability of Los Feliz road as a location for theatres and playhouses was taken up and enthusiastically explained by C. H. Royal, manager of the Royal Stock company, now playing such a successful engagement in Glendale, in an interview with the representative of the Daily Press.

Mr. Royal said: "Despite all that has been said of the wonderful future of Glendale I doubt if the residents of this city realize the great possibilities just ahead."

"Every day I am surprised at some new feature that is in itself a wonderful potentiality for development in the future. Yesterday, for instance, I was asked to count the automobiles from other cities, not from Glendale itself, that were passing the corner of Los Feliz road and Central avenue, and I was astounded to learn that on any Sunday, nearly fifty thousand autos pass this corner, and almost as many on week days."

"From a theatre manager's standpoint, think what this means to have fifty thousand autos a day, from towns tributary to Glendale, but not from Glendale itself, pass in front of your theatre where big day and night signs would announce the evening's attraction, and where the parking facilities would be free and ample, and where the accessibility of the theatre would make it preferable in every way to anything in Los Angeles. It would make advertising in the tributary towns unnecessary, and mean a saving in this way of over two thousand dollars a month, for a large theatre. It would mean that almost at once, theatres on Los Feliz road, other things being even, would become better known than Grauman's in Hollywood, where the front door advertising possibilities are but a fraction of what they would be in theatres on Los Feliz road. And the parking facilities now being planned for this section of Glendale will be unequalled anywhere within an equal distance of Los Angeles."

"In all my experience as a theatrical manager, I have never seen such a wonderful location for a great white way, theatrically speaking, as on Los Feliz road in Glendale. Its possibilities are, from a theatrical standpoint, almost beyond belief. Even now, autos from the center of Los Angeles can attend a theatrical performance in this section of Glendale more quickly and with more comfort than in the big Los Angeles theatres, where the traffic conditions are almost unbearable. It is no surprise to me to know that a such a large proportion of the attendance at the first theatre to be located in this district comes from outside of Glendale. Put me down as predicting that there will be at least ten theatres on Los Feliz road in five years, and all of them will draw most of their custom from outside of Glendale."

"Every member of my company shares my views. In fact some of them have already commenced to figure on buying homes here, so as to be near Glendale's great white way."

"The new Riverside drive, the new park entrance to the depot from Los Feliz road, the new depot itself where all through trains will stop and empty their passengers into Los Feliz road, the widening of your wonderful San Fernando road, of Central avenue, and the great arteries of Glendale, Brand boulevard and Glendale avenue, all focusing into Glendale's great white way—think what this must mean. It will be wonderful, superb. And it is sufficient glory for me to be the first theatrical manager to publicly proclaim it."

Mr. Royal is one of the most widely known theatrical managers in the country. He has just closed a six years' continuous season of his stock company at Vancouver, British Columbia, where his departure was the occasion for many presentations to him, showing the esteem in which he was held by the theatre-goers of that city. His company is said to hold the record for successful runs of the best-known plays, and has an enviable reputation for success.

Mrs. A. M. Wade and Miss Gertrude Wade of 425 North Louise are leaving today with a party to spend the week end in San Diego. Accompanying them are R. A. Chapman of Los Angeles, Mr. R. K. Lett and daughter Gertrude of Carman, Manitoba.

Deputy City Clerk Donnell G. Montgomery announces that there are quite a few changes in the Los Angeles city ordinance pertaining to licenses for the conduct of businesses. All business licenses expire December 31, 1923, and no new licenses for the year 1924 can be issued until January 2. In many cases the license fee has been reduced and in others collection discontinued entirely. The following list, it is believed, covers all businesses in operation within Eagle Rock limits which do not require a license fee. If you are not in this list be sure to call at the city clerk's office, balcony of Eagle Rock city hall, Maywood avenue and Colorado boulevard, for your 1924 permit to transact business:

Architect, artist, attorney, auditor, checkroom, chemist, chiropractor, broker (certain classes), dentist, designer, drug store, engineer, gardener, landscape, illustrator—designer, interpreter, landscape—architect, midwife, music teacher, nurse, oculist, optician, optometrist, osteopath, physician, public stenographer, real estate broker, sign painter, stenographer, stocks and bonds, surgeon, title companies and trained nurse.

Events of Interest to Glendale and Its People

J. C. Person of 1008 Kenneth road, and party of friends, spent the week hunting in Imperial Valley.

Mrs. Wilbur Lee of 1015 East Lexington is visiting in Missouri. She expects to be gone until the latter part of January.

Miss Ethel D. Land of 605 North Maryland, was a luncheon guest this afternoon of Mrs. Edward Geisler, at Hotel Darby, Los Angeles.

Mrs. C. R. McCulloch of 421 North Kenwood street entertained ten ladies at her home on Thursday afternoon, December 27. They brought their sewing and spent a very enjoyable afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William McMullan of 336 Milford street have been entertaining as their guests Mr. McMullan's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Oakes of Grand Haven, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Oakes have now taken an apartment in Glendale for the winter.

Mrs. Edward M. Lee of 345 North Belmont street entertained the following guests at Christmas dinner: Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Way, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Chesley and little daughter Virginia, of Los Angeles; Mrs. William Weller and Mrs. Jennie Steele of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Weller and Mr. Wilbur Lee, of Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. McCulloch of 421 North Kenwood street, entertained the following guests at Christmas dinner: Mr. and Mrs. M. Carter and their two daughters, who are from Toronto, Canada, and who are spending the winter in Los Angeles; Mrs. Harding and Miss Harding, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hovey and Miss Marcia Hovey, Mrs. M. A. Nichol, and the J. G. Peart family of Glendale.

EAGLE ROCK NOTES

The dinner dance, which the Twentieth Century Woman's club will put on Monday evening, is expected to be a very delightful occasion. All the reservations are expected to be filled, as there is only a limited number.

Any one in Eagle Rock wishing classified or display advertising in the Daily Press can have it inserted by dropping copy for same in the Press box which is in Sol Gan's store, the southwest corner of Eagle Rock boulevard and Colorado.

The Kiwanis club will hold its stunt day Monday at the Mountain View lodge. As each member will do something to amuse the others, a very good time is expected.

The city engineer is still issuing location notices for the sewer work. The connections are made where the city thinks it best, but if the people served desire another place they have a chance to get a change.

The Twentieth Century Woman's club house was the scene of a very delightful affair last Thursday. About twenty-five children were present, and a number of mothers. Games were played and refreshments served, and a very happy time was had by everyone.

Mr. O. L. Elvrum of 2552 Colorado boulevard reported to the police department this morning that some one had entered his garage during the night and carried off a 32x4 Fisk cord tire. The rim attached to it as well as a Willys-Knight cover was also taken along. Mr. Elvrum locked his machine and the garage last night, and on starting to take it out the theft was discovered.

Some boy delivers the Daily Press every day to my address: It's sometimes late, but I'm no kicker. I wouldn't know him if we should meet. Face to face out on the street. For her never loiters, but passes by. On business bent—same as you. I'll boost my boy for I know he tries. And I'm sure he will win the biggest prize.

Mr. Dwight Mitchell, Glendale Daily Press. Dear Sir: Having stepped over, around, and sometimes on, newspapers strewn haphazard on the sidewalk, I appreciate the fact that mine is always neatly folded and on my threshold out of the weather and am glad of this opportunity to commend the little man who is so careful, prompt, and courteous. —Mrs. Minnie Johnson, 134 1/2 N. Louise St.

The man was before the court on the charge of being drunk and disorderly on the previous evening. The policeman who had arrested him had given evidence and the magistrate asked the prisoner if he had any questions to ask the witness.

"Yes," said the man. "If you are so certain of the details of the case why don't you call your fellow policeman to corroborate you?" "There's only one constable in the village," replied the witness.

"But I saw two myself last night," said the indignant prisoner. "That is just the charge against you," retorted the policeman, with a smile.

Mrs. F. E. Munson of 357 West Broadway is confined to her bed with quite a severe case of influenza.

Mrs. F. S. Magill entertained 14 guests at 4 o'clock Christmas dinner. There were games, some old and some new, and music.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Stone and son of Glendale were in San Diego this week, registering at Hotel St. James.

Miss Madeline Love of 220 West Elk avenue entertained Miss Ina Jurden of Los Angeles yesterday at luncheon.

Alfred M. Land of 605 North Maryland left Christmas night for Sacramento in his car on a duck-hunting trip, and will return next Monday.

Glendale guests at a luncheon given Friday afternoon at the Santa Monica Beach club by Mrs. Robert Moody of Santa Monica included Mrs. M. Gage, Mrs. J. C. Person and Mrs. Hamilton Brown.

Livingston and Virginia Thomson and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Thom, 303 North Isabel street, attended a dancing party given at the Wilshire Country club on Friday night by a group of Los Angeles friends.

Mrs. Charles Glover of 414 Myrtle street entertained with a luncheon at her home on Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. T. Bills of Oakland, who is the house guest over the holidays of Mrs. Joseph Wagner. Those present included Mrs. Bills, Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Clarence Kaighin, Mrs. Hollenbeck and Mrs. J. Eckart. Chinese lilies were used for decorations. After luncheon a social afternoon was enjoyed.

DOES YOUR CARRIER GIVE GOOD SERVICE? THEN HELP HIM WIN

Do you want to make a carrier boy happy? Can you honestly compliment his efforts? If so, a word from you any time up to Wednesday, January 2, will help your Daily Press paper carrier win a $25 prize.

We are trying to determine which ones of our carrier boys are in good with their subscribers, so are asking that you be so kind, Mr. and Mrs. Glendalean, Burbank or Eagle Rockian to write our circulation manager, D. K. Mitchell informing him if the boy who serves you can pass muster on the following points:

Courtesy—While collecting. Speed—While delivering. Attention—On rainy days. This contest embraces the territory covered by the Burbank, Eagle Rock and Glendale Daily Press carrier force and will be judged entirely by the letters we receive from you, our subscribers.

If you want to help your carrier and make him happy and perhaps a better and more thoughtful carrier, please write us at once. Here are two letters that have come to us from patrons. Read them carefully, then write similar ones if you can conscientiously do so.

Some boy delivers the Daily Press every day to my address: It's sometimes late, but I'm no kicker. I wouldn't know him if we should meet. Face to face out on the street. For her never loiters, but passes by. On business bent—same as you. I'll boost my boy for I know he tries. And I'm sure he will win the biggest prize.

Four Fifteen West Stocker street, (Where Casa Verdugo and Glendale meet). Is my address, so turn and see. And credit my boy according-lee. —J. O. Bingham.

Mr. Dwight Mitchell, Glendale Daily Press. Dear Sir: Having stepped over, around, and sometimes on, newspapers strewn haphazard on the sidewalk, I appreciate the fact that mine is always neatly folded and on my threshold out of the weather and am glad of this opportunity to commend the little man who is so careful, prompt, and courteous. —Mrs. Minnie Johnson, 134 1/2 N. Louise St.

The man was before the court on the charge of being drunk and disorderly on the previous evening. The policeman who had arrested him had given evidence and the magistrate asked the prisoner if he had any questions to ask the witness.

"Yes," said the man. "If you are so certain of the details of the case why don't you call your fellow policeman to corroborate you?" "There's only one constable in the village," replied the witness.

"But I saw two myself last night," said the indignant prisoner. "That is just the charge against you," retorted the policeman, with a smile.

Easy Lessons in AUCTION BRIDGE

Copyright 1913 by HOYLE, JR.

ARTICLE No. 10

The popularity of Auction is largely due to two things: first, its element of unexpectedness, the fact that almost anything can happen to a hand and at the most unexpected times; second, to the fact that practically all Auction players, even the inexperienced, think they are pretty good players. For the first reason the game fascinates; for the second, it satisfies. Any discussion of a series of hands is apt to cause arguments and decided differences of opinion. If it were not for this difference of opinion, however, Auction would not be so interesting. The very arguments put a "kick" into the game and prevent it from ever becoming dull. A hand and its mechanical kind of game that proved the undoing of whist.

In making up the eight hands given in the preceding article, the writer purposely chose such as would justify an honest difference of opinion. Discussion adds to the interest of the game, and it is sure to be instructive to those who study the hands, in this article, will probably start some discussions all over again. Most of the hands are so close, that in some cases it is hard to say that one bid is sounder than another. In all of these hands, Z is the dealer, Y his partner and A-B his opponents. For example:

Y : A : Z :
B :
(dealer)

Hand No. 1
No score. Z bids one no-trump, A passes, Y bids two hearts and B passes. What should Z now bid with the following hand?

Hearts—A
Clubs—A, J, 10, 8, 7, 5, 3
Spades—A, 9

The problem in this hand is: Should Z pass, bid two no-trump or three diamonds over Y's two heart bid? It should be two no-trump for the sake of its effect on Y and his subsequent bidding. Two no-trump would encourage Y to rebid his hearts if he has nothing else in his hand, whereas a three diamond bid would just as surely discourage him. After two no-trumps, the next best bid is for Z to pass and let Y try for game in hearts.

Hand No. 2
No score. Z bids one no-trump, A and Y pass, B bids two hearts, Z doubles and A bids three spades. What should Z now bid with the following hand?

Hearts—Q, 6
Clubs—A, K, 10, 9, 6, 3
Diamonds—10, 8, 2
Spades—7, 4

The problem in this hand is: Should Y bid three no-trump or four clubs? The four club bid is the sounder bid; the three no-trump bid offers the better chance for game.

Hand No. 3
Score: Y-Z, A-B, 0. Z bids three diamonds. What should A now bid with the following hand?

Hearts—K, 7, 3
Clubs—None
Diamonds—K, J, 9, 6, 5
Spades—K, 10, 10, 7

The problem in this hand is: Should A double three diamonds or bid three spades? This hand is not so close as the first two. The writer thinks A should unquestionably double three diamonds. He is certain to defeat the contract and may not go game in spades. In case of

Problem No. 5
Hearts—J, 10, 9, 3
Clubs—A, 6, 5
Diamonds—8, 6, 5
Spades—A, Q, 8

Hearts—8, 4
Clubs—K, Q, 10, 8, 7, 6
Diamonds—J, 5
Spades—7, 6, 2

The final bid was four hearts by Z. A opened the jack of diamonds and B led two more rounds, Z trumping the third round with the queen of hearts. The problem is for Z to make game against any defense. Solution in the next article.

CENTRAL AVENUE WIDENING IN THE OPENING STAGES

The widening of the block in Central avenue between Los Feliz road and Cypress street, that is now attracting so much attention, is of interest to property owners, because the improvement is being done by private contract and will be completed within 30 days of the date of the special permit granted by the city council for this work—whereas the widening of the balance of Central avenue, for its entire length, which has been determined by the passing of the recent city ordinance, may not be entirely completed for two years or more. In this one block, the curbs are to be set back ten feet on each side, the trees in the parkway removed, and gravel placed and rolled on the new surface. The width of Central avenue at this point, will then permit of end-in parking on both sides of the street and provide unusual parking facilities for the new theatrical district, now being established on Los Feliz road. This is really the main reason for this improvement being rushed through, as is now being done.

H. Seal, the well-known real estate dealer, is in charge of the work for the property owners and every effort is being made to finish this work in record time. The selection of ornamental light posts and an unusually brilliant lighting doubt, play the certainty. Hand No. 4

Score: Y-Z, game; A-B, 6. Z bids one heart; A, two diamonds; Y, two hearts; B, two spades; and Z, three hearts. What should A now bid with the following hand?

Hearts—A, J, 7, 3
Clubs—A, K
Diamonds—Q, J, 9, 7, 4, 3
Spades—A

The problem in this hand is: Should A double three hearts or pass? The writer it seems obligatory for A to double three hearts. If his partner does not like the double he can bid three spades or four clubs, either of which suits he has hand is too strong to pass a three heart bid.

Hand No. 5
Score: Y-Z, 0; A-B, game and 20. Z bids one no-trump, A bids two spades, Y bids three hearts and B passes. What should Z now bid with the following hand?

Hearts—5
Clubs—A, K, J
Diamonds—A, Q, J, 10, 8, 4, 2
Spades—A, 7

The problem in this hand is: Should Z bid four diamonds, or pass and let Y bid three hearts? A three no-trump bid with only one stopper in the spade suit would be unsound. The better procedure here is undoubtedly to pass and try for game in hearts. Y should have about as good a hand in hearts as Z has in diamonds, and as hearts require one less trick for game they should be given the preference.

Hand No. 6
No score. Z bids one spade and A bids two hearts. What should Y now bid with the following hand?

Hearts—A, J, 10, 7, 2
Clubs—K, Q, 6, 3
Diamonds—9, 8
Spades—10, 4, 2

The problem in this hand is: Should Y double two hearts or bid two spades? The writer prefers the double of two hearts which should produce a certain penalty while on the other hand there is no certainty of game in spades. Play the certainties always.

Hand No. 7
Score: Game all and 20 all. Z bids one no-trump, A bids two hearts, Y passes, and B bids three diamonds. What should Z now bid with the following hand?

Hearts—K, Q, 6, 3
Clubs—K, J, 5, 2
Diamonds—A, J
Spades—K, Q, 8

The problem in this hand is: Should Z pass, double three diamonds or bid three no-trump? The fact that the rubber game is in danger makes Z's best bid three no-trump. If B makes three diamonds, he will score game and rubber; therefore Z must take a chance at three no-trump. The score in this hand is the deciding factor.

Hand No. 8
No score. Z bids one spade, A and Y pass, B bids two hearts, Z bids two spades, A bids three hearts and Y passes. What should Z now bid with the following hand?

Hearts—10
Clubs—9, 7, 2
Diamonds—A, K, 9, 5
Spades—K, Q, J, 5

The problem in this hand is: Should Z bid three spades or pass three hearts. This hand is not so close as some of the others and the writer thinks a three spade bid is obligatory.

Problem No. 9
Hearts—5
Clubs—J, 4, 2
Diamonds—A, K, Q, 10, 4, 2
Spades—K, J, 3

Hearts—A, K, Q, 7, 6, 2
Clubs—9
Diamonds—9, 7
Spades—10, 9, 5, 4

The final bid was four hearts by Z. A opened the jack of diamonds and B led two more rounds, Z trumping the third round with the queen of hearts. The problem is for Z to make game against any defense. Solution in the next article.

LITTLE FILIPINO SON OF AMERICAN SOLDIER HEIR TO $7,000,000 ESTATE

Dugal Carmichael died after extensive army service in the Philippine Islands. Oil was discovered on his farm in Oklahoma. A long search resulted in locating Gregorio Carmichael, declared to be the ex-soldier's son, and Mrs. Justa Vernasquez, the boy's mother. Gregorio is fourteen years old. It is said that his share of Carmichael's estate will be more than $7,000,000.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

A Brief History

By FRANK P. LITSCHERT

reaching the breaking point. Proposals to impeach the President had been discussed in Congress but up to this time no resolution of impeachment had been adopted. The Thirty-Ninth Congress in its closing hours, on March 2, 1867, did exact, passed a Tenure of Office act over the President's veto. This act provided that no officers subject to confirmation by the Senate could be removed by the President without the consent of the Senate. It was this law which furnished the rock on which the executive and legislative departments finally split.

Johnson and Stanton
President Johnson was desirous of getting rid of Mr. Stanton, the Secretary of War, toward whom he had shown animosity for some time. On account of the Tenure of Office Act the President could not remove Stanton accordingly asked Mr. Stanton to resign. Mr. Stanton refused to accommodate the President and Johnson removed him. On January 13, 1868, the Senate by a vote of 35 to 6 resolved that it did not concur in Secretary Stanton's suspension.

On February 24 the House of Representatives adopted a resolution impeaching the President for failure to obey the Tenure of Office act. The vote was 128 to 47, a strict party vote. The trial in the Senate proceeded from March 30 until May 16. The vote taken was 35 guilty, 19 not guilty. The President had escaped impeachment by one vote. Thirty-five Republicans voted guilty. All the Democrats and seven Republicans voted not guilty. Mr. Stanton then resigned and the Senate confirmed immediately the appointment of General Schofield to take his place.

The first state to fulfill the requirements of the Reconstruction act and to be readmitted to the Union was President Johnson's own state, Tennessee. Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, North Carolina and South Carolina were readmitted to the Union in 1868. Georgia, Mississippi, Texas, and Virginia were admitted in 1870.

Two further incidents in the closing weeks of President Johnson's administration, coming after the election of U. S. Grant to the Presidency, remain to be noted. On December 25, 1868, President Johnson issued a general, full and unconditional pardon to all persons who had taken part in the late rebellion. On February 26, 1869, the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution was reported out in Congress and recommended for passage. It gave to the new citizens the right to vote, and it passed the Senate 39 to 13. The House approved it 144 to 14. These were strictly party votes. The amendment was declared in force March 30, 1870, in President Grant's administration.

MASQUERADE PARTY FRIDAY NIGHT AT 923 NORTH BRAND

One of the prettiest and jolliest social affairs of the holiday season was the yule-time masquerade party given Friday night by Mrs. Florence G. Gately, Miss Vesta G. Gately, Miss Irma G. Gately and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Hardy Thompson at 923 North Brand boulevard. From the entrance to the grounds leading to the spacious home were hung numerous Japanese lanterns. The large porch had been enclosed with rugs and tapestry draperies and made a very cozy reception room. The stairway leading from the which hung tinsel icicles were stretched from the corners of the rooms to the central lighting fixtures, which were covered with snowy cotton from which hung Christmas tree ornaments. In one room was a beautifully decorated Christmas tree. Old fashioned square dances, stunts and old-time games added to the fun of the evening. The guests unmasked at an early hour and enjoyed much merriment when they discovered "who was who."

A pleasant surprise was in store for the guests when they entered the refreshment room. From the central lighting fixtures extending to four large floor lamps decorated as huge roses were hung pepper boughs and Christmas bells. Under this canopy was a large dining table centered with an Iceland scene. A miniature sleigh, drawn with reindeer, appeared to be coming out of a pine forest, driven by Santa Claus and filled with miniature packages. On this scene was thrown a spot light. A buffet supper was served here. Clever favors were distributed to the guests. Jester wands, with clowns' heads and peaked caps, and good luck wands, with horseshoe and star, were distributed to the men folk. The ladies received corsage bouquets of crepe paper flowers and American Beauty roses of crepe paper.

The invited guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brockman, Mrs. Mignon Hollingsworth, Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Richards Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Shively, Alan Shively, Harold Shively, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kirk, W. E. Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Molsted, E. Orf Slater, Dr. Joseph Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Harry R. Lamster, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. R. Holt by Myers, the Misses Myers, Ryder Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Copp, Mr. and Mrs. Newell W. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Rishforth, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goss, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Biehler, Jack Duff, Dr. and Mrs. James Flint, William Read, Misses Charlotte, Edith and Clara Read, Dr. and Mrs. Emil Tholen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Twining, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Lyster, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edmonds, Mr. and Mrs. James Ellison, Mrs. James Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Featherly, Miss Pearl Featherly, Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Young, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hubbard, Forest Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. C. Schweitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Garver, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bellmore, Miss Catherine Daniel and Boynton Smith of Glendale, Los Angeles and Hollywood, Mrs. Raynes Medin and Dr. Raynes of Butte, Montana, Mrs. Cross, the Misses Cross, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lowsley, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Porter, Miss Rebecca Porter and Miss Elizabeth Porter, all of Santa Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Bright of La Verne and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Pratt of Long Beach.

MRS. R. O. LUCAS GIVEN HAPPY BIRTHDAY SURPRISE
Thursday noon, December 26, was the occasion of a happy surprise to Mrs. P. O. Lucas, president of the Adelpian club, who just passed another milestone. The affair was a luncheon, given by the Adelpian club, surprising Mrs. Lucas. The table was elaborately decorated in Christmas greens, a small tree gaily lighted occupying the center of the table. Covers were laid for nine.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR T. A. CLUB NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY
A meeting was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. C. Cooper, 302 North Central avenue, of the committee from the Tuesday Afternoon club, to complete plans for the New Year's eve party to be held at the clubhouse. This is given in honor of the sons and daughters of the club members. There will be a grand march at 8:30, followed by dancing and all kinds of games. Music for dancing will be furnished by the Rainey bow orchestra. The committee in charge of this function includes Mrs. C. C. Cooper, Mrs. Frank Ayars and Mrs. Lillian Dow.

LAST SHOWING OF "POLLYANNA" IS THIS EVENING

All who love to see a real wholesome play well acted should see "Pollyanna" at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, for it will be presented for the last time tonight.

The Royal/Stock company could not have selected a prettier story for their holiday week's offering, and the "Glad Girl," as played by Edythe Elliot, will long be remembered. Next week Mr. Royal announces a sumptuous production of the famous comedy, "Peg O' My Heart," which is bound to draw big crowds every night.

DANCING PARTY FRIDAY FOR MRS. DOROTHY SYMS
About fifty young people were delightfully entertained with a dancing party at the Tuesday Afternoon club house Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Syms of Arden avenue, for their daughter Miss Dorothy Syms, who is a pupil in Glendale High. They were assisted in receiving the guests by their daughter Miss Flo Syms who is home for the holidays from San Francisco, and by Mr. and Mrs. Slick of Idaho, Mr. and Mrs. Slick of Idaho, Mr. and Mrs. Thomsen Wood, Mrs. Charles Guthrie and Mrs. C. H. Houston. Punch and wafers were served by way of refreshment and the Kelly Shrine Orchestra furnished the music for the dance program which lasted until midnight.

GET-TOGETHER MEETING OF LEGION POST OFFICERS
A get-together meeting was held last night by old and new officers of Post 127 of the American Legion. Although several subjects of interest to the post were discussed, no definite action was taken.

E. E. McWain of Los Angeles, new adjutant, was introduced. Old officers were represented by the retiring commander, Chalmers D. Day, George L. Kaeding, Dr. W. C. Mabry, Attorney James F. Mayr and Earl O. Kiefer. New officers were represented by the newly elected commander, Joseph Wilson, W. H. Raeglin, James H. Wittmyer, W. H. Reeves, J. D. Fraser, Ivan Crooker, D. M. Hammond and J. C. Padelford.

EXECUTIVE BOARD WOMEN'S UNION LABEL LEAGUE MEETS
Members of the executive board of Glendale branch of the Women's Union Label League, No. 400, met on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. H. Black, 122 South Orange street. Plans were made for the installation of officers, to be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, January 2, at the I. O. O. F. hall and will be followed by a banquet. Plans for the coming year were discussed informally.

MONTHLY ORGAN RECITAL WAS OF GREAT MERIT
Glendale music lovers are beginning to realize that the monthly organ recitals given by Miss Lila E. Litch at the First Congregational church on the magnificent Hinner's organ are affairs of great merit and decidedly well worth hearing. This fact was evidenced Friday night by the large crowd that attended. Her program was well selected to show the spirit of yuletide by beautiful numbers rendered with great artistry. Miss Litch is a master of the organ and brings forth fine contrasts in her modulation and control of manuals and pedals. She was assisted by Mrs. Helen Graham Cole, whose beautiful soprano voice was enjoyed by the large audience. She gave three numbers, the last being the solo from "The Elijah," "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." As a closing number of the program, Miss Litch played Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus." O. E. Von Oven, chairman of the music committee of the church, read the stories of the various numbers, which made it much more interesting. It is the plan of the committee to have these organ recitals, if possible, the last Friday night in each month. The public is invited.

NEW EASTERN STAR OFFICERS PRESIDED LAST NIGHT
Recently installed officers of the Glen Eyrle chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, conducted their first regular meeting at Glendale Masonic temple on Friday night in a most commendable manner. There were over 100 members present. Among the visitors was Mrs. James Oakes, past matron of Grand Haven chapter, O. E. S., of Grand Haven, Michigan. Plans were made for the official visit of the worthy grand matron of the grand chapter of the state of California, Mrs. Maude Bigelow Sibley of Los Angeles, who is to be here on January 11. San Fernando and Eagle Rock chapters are joining with Glen Eyrle for this visit. Mrs. Carvel, retiring treasurer who has served the chapter for several terms, was presented with a token of appreciation for the splendid work she has done.

At the meeting on Friday night the quilt made by the lodge members was awarded to W. E. Butler of 1063 Emerson street, Pasadena.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS WILL GIVE NEW PLAY
Rehearsals will be started Wednesday evening, January 2, on the next production of the Glendale Community Players, which is to be a lively musical comedy entitled "In Hot Tamale Land," at the club hall, 1428 South San Fernando road, at 7:30 o'clock sharp. Speaking parts are to be allotted and girls and young men will be assigned to three dancing groups for the chorus and ballets. Specialties will also be arranged.

SCOTS NOT TO MEET UNTIL FRIDAY, JAN. 4
Though it was their regular meeting night, no session of the Glendale Pyramid of Scots was held Friday night. No meeting will be held until January 4. A smoker for all Masons and Scots is being planned for January 18, and a big ceremonial is in prospect for the first part of February. The Scot band is very active and will participate in the parade to host for the sewer bonds and celebrate the $10,000,000 building permits issued in Glendale during the past year. It is also at work on a big minstrel show to be given in about a month.

EIGHT GUESTS ENTERTAINED BY PAINES LAST NIGHT
Eight guests enjoyed the hospitality of the Herman Paines last evening at their home, 339 North Maryland avenue. Mah Jongg was the feature of the evening. Refreshments were served.

PRESBYTERIAN EVENING SERVICE OF GREAT INTEREST
The evening service at the Glendale Presbyterian church tomorrow will be of unusual interest. It will be the closing service of the great dedication and will go down in history as one of the most important services ever held in the local church. The ceremony of dedication which is very impressive will be observed during this service. The pastor of the church, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, will be in charge of the services during the entire evening and will lead in the dedication service. Dr. Stewart P. MacLennan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Hollywood will be present and preach the dedicatory sermon. His subject will be, "The Church; Its Origin, Its Mission, Its Destiny." Dr. MacLennan is the moderator of the Presbytery of Los Angeles and is one of the rising young ministers of the Presbyterian denomination. It is expected that many visitors will be present at this service. The public will be cordially welcomed at this service which will be the culminating service of the entire dedication day.

MADRIGAL CLUB TO HOLD WEEKLY REHEARSAL MONDAY
The Madrigal club will hold its weekly rehearsal Monday afternoon at 1:30 at the Congregational church. The board of directors will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon, January 2, at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Paul Hoffman.

MANY WAYS TO GET TO PASADENA ON NEW YEAR'S DAY

In order to accommodate the large crowd of Glendale people who desire to attend the annual Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena, special transportation facilities will be provided. Extra buses will be run by the Pasadena-Ocean Park line. The Pacific Electric is planning to run Edendale cars to Glendale on a six-minute schedule all day, to connect with Pasadena cars at Sixth and Main streets, Los Angeles.

A special through train of Pacific Electric cars will leave Glendale for Pasadena, to run through without change, at 7:15 a. m. The trip will take about 1 hour and 15 minutes.

THE WEEK AFTER CHRISTMAS

By VIRGINIA UPHAM
My pa, he's awful mad today,
He says "Folks have no brains."
He knows it by the toys they give,
Like trumpets, drums and trains.
"What made you give your little son
"A gun" to ma, he said,
"For if he keeps this firing up
"I guess we'll all be dead."
"I didn't splain we're heroes
"A fighting in a war,
'Cause pa, he seemed so strong
"for peace."

He might get awful sore—
An' ma gave Fred a funny-graph
An' it plays ragtime airs.
An' pa he says he's learned 'em
all.
A sitting way up stairs—
About some crazy dago man
That sells bananas, too,
An' every other song it plays,
Some fellow's feeling blue,
An' so he eats and sleeps to rags
An' wakes up to some tune,
Of how some crazy animals
Dance by the Jungle Moon.
So that is just the reason why
My poor pa's nerves are torn,
He just now said, it was crut
To make December mourn.

EIGHT GUESTS ENTERTAINED BY PAINES LAST NIGHT
Eight guests enjoyed the hospitality of the Herman Paines last evening at their home, 339 North Maryland avenue. Mah Jongg was the feature of the evening. Refreshments were served.

PRESBYTERIAN EVENING SERVICE OF GREAT INTEREST
The evening service at the Glendale Presbyterian church tomorrow will be of unusual interest. It will be the closing service of the great dedication and will go down in history as one of the most important services ever held in the local church. The ceremony of dedication which is very impressive will be observed during this service. The pastor of the church, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, will be in charge of the services during the entire evening and will lead in the dedication service. Dr. Stewart P. MacLennan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Hollywood will be present and preach the dedicatory sermon. His subject will be, "The Church; Its Origin, Its Mission, Its Destiny." Dr. MacLennan is the moderator of the Presbytery of Los Angeles and is one of the rising young ministers of the Presbyterian denomination. It is expected that many visitors will be present at this service. The public will be cordially welcomed at this service which will be the culminating service of the entire dedication day.

MADRIGAL CLUB TO HOLD WEEKLY REHEARSAL MONDAY
The Madrigal club will hold its weekly rehearsal Monday afternoon at 1:30 at the Congregational church. The board of directors will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon, January 2, at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Paul Hoffman.

HOWARD E. CAVANAH TO INAUGURATE DANCE SERIES

A bright idea has come to Howard E. Cavanah, head of the Cavanah studio at 130 North Orange by which he proposes to inaugurate good times for a large element of the community which is still pleasure loving though it does not acknowledge allegiance to the regime of jazz ushered in by the world war and the reconstruction period which followed.

Beginning Tuesday evening, January 15, and continuing on that evening every week for ten weeks, he will give a series of informal dances under the auspices of the studio but in the Glendale Press hall, which is commodious and has a fine dancing floor. Music will be furnished by the Kelly Shrine orchestra, and each ticket will be good for one couple.

A novel feature of the enterprise is that each ticket will cost $5, which will be good for a series of five dances or which may be used at any one dance as the holders elect. This will make it easy for groups of friends to organize little parties of their own to attend the dances.

Another novelty will be the revival of some of the old dances—"The Prairie Queen," "Waltz Quadrille" and other square dances and the Rye waltz. Of course modern steps will be featured too and before the regular dance begins a lesson will be given by the dancing instructor of the studio, Mrs. Whittmore, to those who wish to brush up on either the old or the modern glides.

BURBANK NOTES

The election for the school bonds carried with an overwhelming majority yesterday. The bonds being voted for were a $100,000 issue for the grammar school and $20,000 for the high school. Steps will be taken immediately to relieve the congested conditions in the schools by beginning work on the additional buildings at once.

Through the courtesy of Harry Bertrand of Burbank, a booklet extolling the advantages and beauty of Burbank was sent from the chamber of commerce to M. Lott, a railroad man of Chicago, Ill., and an intimate friend of Mr. Bertrand. He was so favorably impressed by the booklet that he immediately took a vacation and came to Burbank to look the field over, and he says it more than comes up to his expectations. He is staying with Mr. Bertrand and will leave next week for Chicago, where he will dispose of his property and bring his family here to live.

It is reported that J. J. Stalker and Wm. Tish, who are factory men from the east, are about to purchase a tract of land in the Fawkes industrial trace on Olive avenue, for the purpose of building a fibre box factory, specializing on cigar boxes, although they will manufacture boxes for all purposes. After looking the field over for several days Mr. Stalker and Mr. Tish came to the chamber of commerce here and had quite a long talk with the secretary as to business conditions, future possibilities, etc. Mr. Tish stated that he had been favorably impressed with Burbank and that he had extolled Burbank so heartily to his friend, Mr. Stalker, by mail, that he finally became interested enough to make the trip here from the east and locate in a suitable and prosperous city for his plant. He states that he immediately "fell for Burbank." The factory will employ, when first in operation, about 200 men and women.

Macaroon Cream
Beat the whites of two eggs to a foam, add one pint of heavy cream and continue beating until stiff. Fold in one cupful of macaroon crumbs and four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, flavor with one teaspoonful of vanilla and one-half teaspoonful of bitter almond, place on ice until thoroughly chilled and serve in sherbet glasses with sponge or any kind of delicate cake.

Oatmeal Muffins
One cupful of rolled oats, soaked in three-fourths cupful of sour milk an hour or less, one-half cupful flour, one-fourth cupful of sugar, little salt, one egg, one-half teaspoonful of soda; makes six.

Pure Instant Heat, Circulating Heat to All Parts

Order a Ward Sealed 2-Burner Gas Floor Furnace. It will heat 8000 cubic feet, 3 to 5 rooms.

Kept in Condition and Guaranteed Ten Years

Why have unsightly heating appliances? Why have one that saps the oxygen from the rooms? Why have one that discharges carbon dioxide which kills people? Why have one that loses 50% of its heat before reaching where wanted? Why not have natural, healthful heat such as Ward gives? Why not one that will harmonize with nice furniture and rugs? Why have one which with every little windstorm goes out and leaves you without heat? Why not ask (one) of the 100,000 users of Wards? If you will, you will soon be a Ward user.

Truths in Epigram

THEIR HAPPY HOLIDAYS

Members of congress are back among their constituents. The making of explanations must keep them busy enough to mar the joys of the season. Probably it is hard to face constituents and have nothing to show them but a blank record. Congress wasted three weeks. The gentlemen who have the distinction to belong to that body could not have drawn pay for private service, declined to give the service, and escaped without being "called on the carpet." While in that uncomfortable station they would have been obliged to show cause why they should not be fired.

Many representatives seem to fail to grasp fully a conception of what it is they represent. The truth is that they represent the public. The welfare of the public to a certain extent is in their hands. This is an important trust. It transcends the success of any political clique or of personal aggrandizement. The idea behind each bloc seems to be that of rule or ruin. Every little group wants its own way, and, defeated in its purpose, interposes itself as an obstacle to the accomplishment of anything. Good legislation must wait upon acquiescence in bad legislation, or legislation that, if not vicious, is in behalf of isolated interests, and of small concern to the country at large.

Doubtless there are many members of congress whose purposes are high. Probably they feel the humiliation of being forced to be one of a crowd milling around in the manner of cattle in a corral; always moving and never getting anywhere.

EXCESS OF LITIGATION

Los Angeles county has thirty judges. To the assistance of these five judges have been called from other counties. The hope is indicated judicially that this will tend to keep the calendar at about its present stage of belatedness. So wild a hope as that of catching up with the business has not found expression. There has been mention of the need of adding ten judgeships.

In San Francisco county last year there were 13,640 suits filed; in Los Angeles county, 31,867. The fact will be admitted that the southern county is the more populous, but the difference, great as it is, is not enough to account for the overwhelming tide of litigation in Los Angeles. It would be interesting to have an explanation from an authoritative source. Perhaps people go to law over trifling causes. Perhaps lawyers are permitted to drag cases along, taking up the time of judges in consideration of demurrers or motions wholly devoid of merit. It might be better to have more minor judges to take care of small civil actions. It is absurd to force a case through court when the sum involved is less than the fee of any lawyer engaged. This is especially true when there is no principle at stake, and the litigation grows from the circumstance that the plaintiff is bull-headed. It has been a matter of common knowledge that the criminal calendar is overcrowded. In many instances the defeat of justice has resulted from delay, often from delay that seemed avoidable. That the civil calendar is in straits as desperate will strike the non-litigious as a bit of news.

HOW REPUBLICS ARE MADE

France is said to have "made" a new republic. This means that it terms the Bavarian Palatinate a republic, and sustains it in this position by the use of French soldiery. It is not in this way that republics are made. They are created from within and not from without. They represent the crystallized sentiment of those who desire such government and who expect to live under it. Alien hands do not set up a republic in a land where they are not welcomed, and where their authority is not recognized. The people who desire a republic of and for themselves attend to these matters. A government set up by a force from without would be likely to last only so long as the force remained to give potency to its mandates.

The United States affords the best example of the manner in which republics are made. The framers of the constitution knew that they were engaging in the work at the risk of their lives. The people fought for the principles the constitution set forth. But for this readiness there could have been no republic here.

If Bavarians wish to found a republic, and have the strength to carry out the plan, the carrying out of it is strictly their own affair. Foreign backing of one clique, or the other, might for a time be potent, not for the making of a real republic, but for devising a form bearing the label. But such backing could not be effective, for with its withdrawal, the structure would crumble.

MR. FORD'S WISDOM

In the letter by which Mr. Ford assured the public that he was not and would not be a candidate for the presidency, he said other sensible things. Among these was the statement that it was not necessary for a national campaign to have a depressing effect on business. It is as a business man that Mr. Ford commands respect, and his views as a business man carry weight.

With President Coolidge in the White House Mr. Ford believes the country is safe. Were he nominated, his election would so certainly follow that in this condition of safety there should be no impairment. The public could discuss the election, and look forward to it without apprehension. It feels the assurance that the country is safe now; the assurance naturally extends to take in the next four years, that period destined to be a continuation of the present.

Of course the fears of people are worked upon every four years. A feeling of timidity, touching now one field of industrial activity, and now another, is created deliberately as part of the scheme of manipulators. This is an evil that perhaps cannot be eliminated wholly, but it might be lessened much when circumstances are such as to betray the trickery. Exactly the circumstances conferring such benefit would be recognized following the nomination of Coolidge. This is for the reason that they exist already, and there could be no ground for expecting a change.

TRAGEDY OF UPPER AIR

The French dirigible, the Dixmude, giant of its type, seems at this writing to have been lost with finality. It has vanished and no hope is entertained that even if found, of the crew of fifty-two, one will be living. The uncertainty adds to the poignancy of the somber episode of the upper air. It is unlike any other event of record. Dirigibles have been destroyed in flight, causing fatalities; airplanes have dashed flaming to earth. But for a great dirigible to disappear into a raging storm to be seen no more, is a unique and terrible ending to adventure.

It is said that the storm was so fierce that there was no chance to descend. The occupants could not know whether the landing would be in the Moroccan mountains, or far in the inhospitable desert, or even the sea. The wind blew so savagely that no mechanism could have successfully pitted its own strength against it, nor could human skill prevail. Chance might have permitted a landing in a favored spot, but such chance was lacking.

On board there was food sufficient for two days. Christmas the Dixmude had been missing for a week. Had it been aloft all this time most of the crew must have perished of hardship and starvation. If it had come down in some barren and remote place, their fate could have been equally catastrophic. There could not be imagined a more thrilling theme for tragic tale than a huge balloon afloat with a crew of the dead far above the sight of humanity, the dirigible, unguided save by the elements, destined to float until these same elements had robbed it of buoyancy; then the rush, down, down, and the final crash.

Much of the charity that begins at home is too weak to travel.

THE STREAK OF GOOD

By JOHN CARLYLE

(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)
Three items in the day's news are strangely related. They focus upon the good that marks all men—the commonplace and the so-called bad.

Bill Lovett, New York gangster, shot to death as the logical result of a career on the borderland of crime, is buried with full military honors. For Lovett was a soldier distinguished for courage in the army of his country. He had won his cross in a machine-gun battalion, that snapping, cracking, death-dealing tornado of the service.

"Don't give away my uniform," he said to his mother a few days before his death.

"I might want to be buried in it." He was. A few days later five airplanes droned the tribute of the American Air Service over the grave of James Waller. In life he had held two jobs. He was a butler and a birdman. He served well in both—humbly as a butler, brilliantly as an aviator. Waller it was who brought down Immelmann, German ace, during the fighting days of France. A commonplace man, but a brave one. Right well he merited the military honors that were freely paid him.

And President Coolidge initiates the third of these strangely related bits from the swift current of the day's affairs.

"Your success demonstrates beyond anything else," says the President in a speech to the Salvation Army, "that no man has become so degraded, so lost to the better things of life, and to the inspiration that comes from implanting in his heart a knowledge of the better things, as to suppose that he is beyond redemption. You are holding out a great hope. You are demonstrating that there is in all of us, from the highest to the lowest, a hope that is never crushed out, a spirit that abides forever."

The President speaks not out of books but out of life. He senses man aright. Like the Salvation Army, he analyzes the human soul with insight and with understanding.

Bill Lovett was called a "bad man." But that was not all of Bill Lovett. The badness of this earth, no matter how sustained and cultivated, cannot encroach all the way upon the divinity in every man. Good land lay fertile in Bill Lovett, and the blossoms came when the spirit of service passed into him.

Jim Waller was a butler, but performing lowly tasks was not all of life for him. The streak of value lay in him and it dominated his soul when the great call and the great opportunity came.

We do not know a man and we cannot know a man unless we know and understand ALL of a man.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

It happened a year ago or more. I was on the slab and the professional thumper was shaking up my liver like a pillow. There came a tapping at the door of the maltreatment room and he declared a moratorium while he spoke to the caller.

"Then I'll have time to get breakfast," said a feminine voice.

"Haven't you had breakfast?" asked the Doc.

"No," said the unseen lady. "Our maid left us last week, and I'll tell the world I'll not cook for myself or any one else."

As I was dressing I heard the same voice again. She recited that she had had a cup of coffee and a sandwich, and neither was good, and she had had to stand up. But that was better than cooking. Her husband complained, she said, because he is one of the old-fashioned sort who wants something to eat in the morning.

"I tell him," she chirruped with a laugh, "that I'll cure him of that idea or kill him."

The Doc is a foreigner. He confided to me that his feminine caller kept house like Kelly kept hotel, although there were no children about to upset things. She played the piano a little—and badly. She could play bridge, if she could find others who care no more for the traditions of the game than she did. She had never been very pretty and she was no longer very young. She did not know how to wear her clothes. Her chatter made one think of breaking plates.

"Dot woman dot takes coffee standing up, she is divorced six weeks," the Doc told me this morning. He hit me a couple of dirty wallops on some of my tender places.

"Ofer in the Old Country, ve do not believe in divorce," he said heavily. "But here I dink sometimes it is good."

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

The worker passes.
But the work goes on.
That is the way of life.
For work must be done.

JAMES W. FOLEY must clang.

For we go.

And others come after us.
Others who need the labor of the smith.
Others who need the product of tool and iron.

If the forge grew cold with the passing of the smith then many persons would be in need.

So it is well to take account of ourselves.
Not to boast of our importance.
For after all it is little.

The poet sings.
And then the singer passes and another singer takes his place.

For the world has need of song.
And the singer has need of his work.
For it helps him live with happiness.
With self respect.

With gladness.

And his work is left to the world.

But other singers will come.

Come and go.

So it is not the singer but the song.

Not the smith but the implement.

Not the man but the deed and achievement.

The best workman serves because he delights in his work.

The reward that comes to him he takes, for it enables him to live.

If it be little, he can live simply.

If it be much, he can give much away.

So it is the work after all.

That is what education is for.

That is what religion is for.

That is what philosophy is for.

That is what all cultural growth is for.

To enable us to do the work of the world better.

To serve with spirit.

To give generously.

To love tenderly.

To have mercy for error.

Aid for need.

Comfort for sorrow.

Compassion for misfortune.

So the task is done.

The worker passes.

The song is sung.

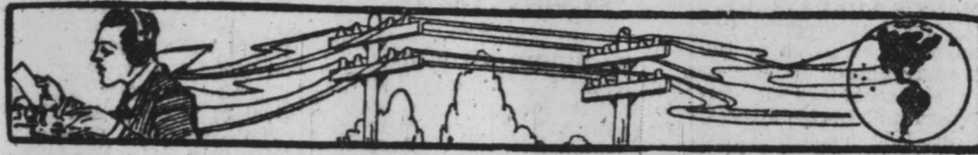

The singer passes.

The deed is done.

The doer passes.

But it is well that the song has been sung and the task finished and the deed done.

For of such is life.

Songs of the Poets

Early Death—By Hartley Coleridge

She pass'd away like morning dew
Before the sun was high;
So brief her time, she scarcely knew
The meaning of a sigh.

As round the rose its soft perfume,
Sweet love around her floated;
Admired she grew—while mortal doom
Crept on, unfeard, unnoted.

Love was her guardian Angel here;

But Love to Death resign'd her;

The Love was kind, why should we fear

But holy Death is kinder?

WHY THERE ARE NO MORE STORIES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE are no more good stories because we know too much.

The story tellers are not to blame. We readers are to blame. The age is to blame.

There is too much light. A thoroughly illumined Boston mind can no more enjoy a harrowing tale than an audience that knows how all the tricks are performed can enjoy a sleight of hand performance.

Almost any story will do, and the more artless the better, if you can find the right listener.

If you don't believe it, try it on your children. They are enraptured with Little Red Ridinghood, and hang breathlessly upon the adventures of Calpho Haroun Al-Raschid.

And you couldn't sell stories like that to a Broadway periodical for five cents.

Innumerable ladies, bubbling with creative instinct, and desirous of making a living some easier way than by housework, are engaged in the story-writing business. They come equipped with college educations and courses in literature; they know all the arts and tricks of introduction, development, and conclusion.

Every magazine editor in the United States stands knee-deep in their manuscripts; yet real stories are scarce as hen's teeth.

But Jack Marlinpike, seated on a coil of rope, smoking a short-stemmed pipe of unspeakable tobacco, while his ship wallows through the weedy Caribbean, squeezes the souls of his little circle of auditors who squat around him, as Bacchus pressed in his two hands the bleeding grapes.

Marlinpike is not so much of an artist as the last female analyzer of sexual problems in the Sunday supplement, but he has a better audience, an audience of virgin ignorance, beautifully superstitious, greedily credulous.

All the real thrillers in the way of fiction originated when the world was young and unspoiled by exact information.

There are, it has been estimated, but about five or six original stories in all the world. The rest are variations upon those themes. And all the original half-dozen date from the gray days of Melchisedek. Every new yarn you begin in this month's periodical you will find to be but a rewinding of the wool used by Sham, Ham and Japhet as they sat around in the ark and beguiled the long rain spell.

Preaching declined when the pew holders got to reading higher criticism. With the discovery of the "works" behind the marvels of miracles and wonders the congregation lost interest.

So with the rise of general education the story teller flounders pathetically. His readers will not gaze, except such a gaze as resembles suspiciously a yawn.

It is the children among us still untaught by knowledge, that keep us from going mad from boredom.

Driven from the fields and forests of adulthood by axe and tractor plough, and factory smoke, the fairies still dance in the child's garden.

The spooks who leave the knowing grownup in disgust still visit the little boy in his bed in the dark. The gods of Greece, starved out of modern manhood by arid incredulity, still come and play with the children; and in their blessed ears still sound the echoes of the pipes of Pan.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

Members of congress home for the holidays having a busy time explaining why it takes so much talk to accomplish nothing.

In a quarrel over five cents one man in Los Angeles killed another and his lawyer will want more than a nickel.

Christmas found Europe too busy oiling its army rifles to hang up its stockings.

Pedro, an illustration of industrial growth.

Captain Watson's loss of 100 numbers means that he never can rise above his present naval grade.

Naturally the Wall street speculator either goes broke or creates a lot of envy.

Five Christmas celebrants in Kentucky were killed by pistols. Good shooting, but no good will.

Radium was discovered twenty-five years ago, but a lot of people never have seen the stuff.

Mexico's revolution seems to be revolving with a reverse motion.

Los Angeles predicts a dry New Year, owing, perhaps, to the Christmas hang-over.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE SILVER PROBLEM

(Detroit Free Press)

The demand that congress do something for silver has been periodically before the country in one form or another for a long time; but though much has been done, nothing seems to take the silver mining industry off the government's hands. The Pittman act was the last stimulant administered and since that law is to expire soon, silver may be expected back in Washington asking for more aid.

The bureau of mines suggests that the way to make silver mining less dependent upon the government will be to make silver more useful. This sounds like an eminently sensible suggestion and the bureau thinks something may be done by discovering new alloys in which silver will be a component.

It is certain that other metals have found markets in that way. Solder and type metal are common illustrations of combinations that have made relatively useless metals useful.

Cobalt was long regarded as not much more than a chemist's curiosity, but it now is used in combination with other metals to produce rust-resisting and acid-resisting alloys of very high value. The stainless steel which blesses the housewife is a new alloy. Possibly there is a place where silver can play a new role.

If there is, and the metallurgists can find it, the discovery may rid the United States of a burden and settle the silver question right for the first time since long before '73.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Judge Gary, a force in both the industrial and financial worlds, and man of high attainment, says that the country is in need of sound thinking. This remark was suggested by two recent large gifts from women to educational institutions. Judge Gary, not long before, had made a similar donation.

Determination of what sound thinking is would be difficult. As a rule the thinker of whatever class would be likely to regard his own mental product as sound. To another it might appear as childish. It is possible that when Bryan storms at evolution, he believes his utterances based on sound thinking. That it is based on the absence of thought would be a theory quite beyond his grasp.

Great contributions of money to any cause should not be made by caprice. Yet soundness of thought on this subject could not be expected from persons not equally capable of reasoning in relation to all circumstances in life. Comparatively few individuals ever become qualified to give such vast sums that they need to fret about it much.

It happens often, as in the case of the women to whom reference has been made, that they have reached a state of wealth without having had to think at all. They had only to accept that which circumstances thrust upon them. Yet apparently, in the judgment of Gary, they had thought soundly enough. Perhaps they had sought counsel, and been guided by advice.

If it is a duty to think soundly about giving money away, equally should this be made to include the getting of money, in the first place; the real value of money; whether it is worth all the fuss made about it; or if effort that takes on the aspect of an intellectual process, might not be devoted to some better purpose than the heaping up of coin.

The rich folk of Germany seem to be piling up a pretty rotten record. Most of them appear to be profiteers of the baser sort. Their riches came suddenly, and unearned, and turned their heads. They indulged in wild extravagances, while neighbors go hungry or depend on the charity of distant peoples.

If the good people who are now seeking a blanket censorship to apply to all activities but their own, would accept a suggestion, it is that they lay off.

An ancient rebuke to meddling was in the information that a man once had been known to get rich minding his own business. There are many things in this world that are not exactly as they ought to be. These include certain subjects disliked by the professional reformer, and they include the professional reformer.

One trouble with the type mentioned is that their methods and manners incite to such sure indignation that their avowed allegiance to a good cause is to be deplored because it injures the cause.

House rent in New York is said to be going up steadily. It started the advance from a level already far too high. The worst of the matter is that many of the places for which rental is on a grand larceny scale, are not fit to live in, and wouldn't be at any price.

While the French dirigible Dixmude is lost on some region unknown, plans go on for exploration of the Arctic by a United States navy dirigible.

When nothing worse than the threat of death is in prospect for the explorer, he will continue to venture. The American plan if successful probably will reveal much for which search has been long and tragic.

There is a report that the outcome of the next war will depend upon poison. Of the most effective poison this government is said to have the largest supply. So it may preen itself as cock of the international walk, if in the humor.

What a glorious thing is war! How the mind is uplifted by the thought that should there be hostilities the armies of this free country will go after the enemy as a janitor hunts and exterminates rats in a warehouse.

It is possible to believe, and by such belief to be comforted, that most of this talk about killing people of any nation by use of poison is a slander on the human race. The rules of war prohibit the poisoning of wells. A modification that would permit the poisoning not only of water, but of the air could not be interpreted as signifying moral progress. It would mark the effort to set up hell on earth.

If there should be a great war—and peoples are crazy enough to create fear lest this may be the outcome of present circumstances—it will be horrid, of course, as all wars are. That it would take on the aspect predicted, is a prophesy that either does the race injustice, or argues the race unfit to survive.

The son of General Wood seems to have started something. He has been speculating on Wall street, and has made money. Not only has his success stirred up envy, but it has given the prying politician a chance to attack General Wood.

Ethically, it may be that an army officer should give all his time to military duties. Without neglect of these duties he is able to invest his money profitably, that would appear to be his own affair. Wall street gambling is not the highest of pursuits, but the chief demand upon the gambler is that he use his own money.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

ENVY

When there were but two children on earth, brothers who by all the laws of family should have loved one another and preferred one another, they fell out and one killed the other. The record shows that envy rose and swelled into wrath and Cain killed his brother.

And because of this evil deed, Cain was an outcast, a vagabond, for God turned his face from him. Poor Cain cried out that his punishment was greater than he could bear, but had to live out his time bearing the mark of his crime so that all men might know him and step aside leaving him to his loneliness and the justice of God.

Envy still lies in the souls of men; still rises to make brother cry out against brother; still urges to strike and spare not the one who has what the other has not. Wherever two children are growing side by side envy dwells waiting for the chance to raise its evil head. Every mother knows the signs and dreads them.

Marie in a burst of rage seizes Helen's loved picture book and tears it to pieces because Helen has a lovely face and people, as people always have done and as they will do again, halt in their way and pay homage to the beauty of a lovely child.

Poor Marie scarcely noticed by visitors or the strangers passing by, cherishes the feeling of loneliness and neglect, and strikes out against it in the only way she knows, in violence driven by fierce anger.

One brother has a quick responsive way of meeting folk. His face lights up with a wonderful winning smile and he sheds the radiance of his charming presence like a genial sunbeam, while his brother slower moving, grave, doubting, measuring each advance, studying the shades of expression on the faces of those about him, holds folk back.

He soon feels that he is almost friendless while his brother basks in the love that is showered about him. Cain rises again and envy drives him to hating his brother. The ties of the family are broken and one is again a wanderer among men, carrying a terrible pain in his heart, a fearful longing to be as other folk are, loved and admired and honored. Envy has driven him outside the circle of cheer that rings the family, high or low. What to do?

Remember that envy rises because one child believes himself inferior to the other child and that he is accordingly less beloved. Don't preach to him about his sin against his brother. You but feed the flame.

Cleverly put him in the position of doing something for his brother. As soon as he discovers that his brother has not all the graces, all the powers, all the position in the world, the gnawing will cease.

Envy ceases when service begins. If it has shown its ugly head among the children work day and night to smother it, but whatever you do, don't talk about it. Outflank it with service.

Modern Version of New Testament

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO LUKE

And they brought it to Jesus. And they threw their coats on the colt and mounted Jesus on it. And as he went on, people spread their coats in the road. Just as he was coming down the Mount of Olives and approaching the city, the whole throng of his disciples began to praise God loudly and joyfully, for all the wonders they had seen, and to say, "Blessed is the king who comes in the Lord's name, Peace be in heaven and glory on high!"

START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT

Now is the time to start the New Year right.

Insurance is the best protection that you can give your family.

The insurance that comes with a year's subscription to the Glendale Press and Los Angeles Express costs you but 75 cents to cover registration expense and 65 cents for both papers, monthly, by carrier.

Many a saddened family has been provided for during the past year simply because they had the protection of this policy.

The beauty of it is that you get two papers for the price of one. The initial 75 cents is within your means, you do not need a physical examination and your age is not questioned up to 70.

Many a man would willingly invest in insurance for his family, but cannot, as he has passed the last year that the company will insure him. Also he cannot pass the rigid examination.

This covers you against accident to the person while in an automobile or if you are hit by one.

Don't let 75 cents stand between you and the way to protection.

Get in on it today. Phone the Glendale Press, Glendale 96 or 97, and we will send a man to you at once to take your subscription and insure you.

Are You Next?

The Glendale Press today offers to its hosts of subscribers the most surprising comprehensive accident insurance policy ever placed at the service of the public. Its protection to the beneficiary is large and assured. It is given free, premium paid, to Glendale Press subscribers with but a nominal registry fee.

A bigger, better and broader policy even than that given applying subscribers by the Glendale Press and Los Angeles Express last year—and that is saying much, for tens of thousands of Angelenos and residents of outlying cities and communities testified by prompt subscription and application to the unusually liberality of this last year's Press-Express accident insurance policy.

The extraordinary insurance offer the Daily Press makes to its subscribers from today on covers the pedestrian, the man in the street, as well as the occupant of a conveyance. By taking out a policy with the Press now you will be financially protected in case you are struck, knocked down or run over by a vehicle and suffer any of the losses set forth in the policy.

The list of losses insured against is offered and the amount of insurance follows: Life, $1000; both hands, both feet, sight of both eyes, one hand and one foot, one hand and sight of one eye, or one foot and sight of one eye, $250; either hand, either foot, sight of either eye, $125.

In addition, if the insured shall during one year from the beginning of the insurance covering be immediately and wholly disabled and prevented from performing any and every duty pertaining to his or her business, $10 a week will be paid for a period not exceeding three months.

Another point: Each consecutive year's renewal of the Express and Daily Press policy will add 10 per cent to the amount payable until such addition reaches 50 per cent of the original amount.

The insured will also be protected in the same amounts in the case of sustaining the specified losses in the wrecking of conveyances.

All these are merely new features of the Press and Express insurance enterprise. The policy being issued from today will, of course, include all the protection offered in last year's policy in case of death or injury while a passenger in or occupant of a vehicle.

Regular subscribers may apply by mail, inclosing 75 cents for registry, if they desire coverage. If you are not now a subscriber to the Glendale Press and the Los Angeles Express and want to be covered, mail the Daily Press your subscription for a year and inclose 75 cents for registry.

Address Insurance Department, Glendale Daily Press, 333 North Brand.

SPORT - O - GRAMS

By FRANCIS W. READ
How far will Dick Ferris, Southern California sportsman, get with his "betless" horse racing?

Our question is not whether Ferris will succeed in making his track "betless." It is evident that he is going to do so as nearly as possible.

The question we ask, rather, is whether Ferris will be able to make a success of his "betless" races.

Will it be possible to stage races daily where no gambling is allowed and to make the venture a success from the box office standpoint?

There is no one who is prepared to answer that question. It is one that time alone will tell.

Dick Ferris will have to run his track a while to see whether he can make a go of it. The first day, that was Christmas, there was a crowd estimated at between 20,000 and 25,000 persons.

Day less than 2,000 spectators attended. Of course, that was to be expected because of the cloudy weather and the fact that it was the day after Christmas.

BRUIN HOOPSTERS WIN TWICE AT CLAREMONT

Twice last night the University of California basketball team of Berkeley, which is training at Claremont, emerged victorious in games of the hoop sport.

The Bruin college team defeated the La Verne college team 43 to 5 and the Pomona Y. M. C. A. outfit 34 to 11.

It was a big night for the Bruin casaba artists, who shot baskets almost at will.

Capt. John Tait, all-coast forward of last season, scored 16 points in the game against La Verne.

The second game of the evening found the Y. M. C. A. five of Pomona snowed under, Mr. Kyte doing his stuff as running guard, scoring no less than 19 points.

Coach Wright used all of his 13 men in the games. Kyte doing double duty. The lineups:

- CALIFORNIA (43) LA VERNE (5)
Tait (16) P. O. Brooks
Ladner (12) W. J. Studebaker (4)
Mecham (4) Davis
Carver (4) Dickey (1)
Kyte (4) J. Brooks
Substitutions: California—Clement (2), Belasco (5).

- CALIFORNIA POMONA Y. M. C. A.
Hoivonen (3) Kenting (5)
Ladner (12) P. O. Elder
Farrar (4) Horton (4)
Kyte (19) S. Elder (4)
Kibala (4) Bell
Substitutions: California—Holmes, Butts (3).

above board and that nothing unlawful or detrimental to the public morals is allowed. If this can be accomplished, it will be another step forward in the sporting world.

When asked where he had learned the game, Walsh said: "Well, I attended both Fordham and Georgetown colleges where I studied law, and naturally I got a little football mixed up with the law."

Walsh is now playing opposite White Sox, further rejuvenated by the appearance of George Walsh, famous film star, in their lineup.

Should George Walsh ever decide to leave photoplay work he undoubtedly will be able to make as great a name as he has achieved in the land of cinematics.

Walsh's specialty is football. He holds the records for both the punt and drop kick, and is probably the only man in the world who can boot the pig-skin from the middle of the field to the goal line.

On the day of a game between Penn State and California, played at Pasadena, George Walsh stepped blithely out on the gridiron and just for fun booted the ball twice as far as the best kicker on either team.

Other Three A league games tomorrow will be between the Shell Oil and Wilmington at Signal Hill, St. Louis All-stars and San Pedro at San Pedro, and Union Tool at Sawtelle.

GEORGE WALSH IN GLENDALE LINEUP IN GAME TOMORROW

K. C. BASEBALLERS TAKE ON VAN NUYS

Glendale Knights of Columbus basketballers will go to Van Nuys tomorrow to take on the aggregation of that city in a San Fernando Valley league game.

The Casey's were going strong for a while, but have taken a slump recently. In tomorrow's game they may snap out of it and hand the Van Nuys outfit a licking.

Van Nuys copped the championship of the San Fernando Valley league last year, and is putting up a hot fight for the honors this season.

Tomorrow's game should prove a fast one. Mary Pickford in her latest cinema triumph, "Rosita."

Announcement is forthcoming from the office of the White Sox that the game played with the Sawtelle aggregation will be played off on the afternoon of New Year's day at the local park.

The game last Sunday was a hot one and the two teams should furnish some real action when they meet again. They seemed to be very evenly matched in the first game.

The pastime tomorrow afternoon is expected to team with interest, due to the fact that several celebrities, such as Ping Bodie and others will play on the Palms-Culver City team.

On the Glendale nine will be the usual aggregation of stars that the combined efforts of owners Leishner and Kerwin are able to assemble.

This bunch of baseballers looks like a winning outfit, and if it plays in the proper style should clean up on the gang that comes from that section between the city and the sea.

Arnold Craundall will pitch for Glendale. Other Three A league games tomorrow will be between the Shell Oil and Wilmington at Signal Hill.

St. Louis All-stars and San Pedro at San Pedro, and Union Tool at Sawtelle. The Wilmington team holds first place and should the Signal Hill outfit upset the harbor crew a tie in the standings will result.

This afternoon the Pacific Electric and N. O. Nelson teams are playing at the local park for the championship of the Los Angeles Major industrial league.

The teams have met twice before, each winning once. The winner today will take the title. They are recognized as two of the fastest semi-pro outfits in the south.

The rival teams in the great east-west struggle at Pasadena on New Year's day are on their way to California for the great event.

At midnight last night the University of Washington gridders packed their grips and boarded a south-bound train at Seattle for Los Angeles. They are due to arrive in these parts Monday morning.

BOWLING LEGION BOWLERS AND K. P. WIN IN FRATERNAL GAMES

Last night they passed through Albuquerque, New Mexico, where they reported that the weather was slightly rough.

A stop is scheduled for this afternoon at the Grand Canyon and tomorrow afternoon the Middies will drop anchor at Pasadena.

Monday afternoon both teams will work out at the Rose Bowl preliminary to the big game. That will be their only public appearance until they oppose each other on the field of combat in the great ligitant-twisting-contest which it is customary to stage each year between teams representing the east and the west.

A few of the preliminaries to the big affair were announced yesterday. Among them is the statement of the first personages to be featured on the program of the day. These will be the Navy goat and the Husky dog from Washington, which will parade the field accompanied by suitable escorts.

These will be the Navy goat and the Husky dog from Washington, which will parade the field accompanied by suitable escorts.

A 200-piece Navy band will salute Admiral S. Robinson, commander-in-chief of the fleet bluffed upon his arrival.

A Marine guard will parade the colors onto the field and these will be hoisted with due ceremony.

No matter what the weather may be on the afternoon of January 1, the game will commence promptly at 2:15. Rain, shine, wind or anything else, the game will proceed at the scheduled time.

That means that those wishing to see the contest should start early, as the roads to Pasadena will be crowded.

PADDOCK SUPPORTED BY CONCLAVE OF COLLEGES

Charles Paddock, world-famed sprinter, resident of Pasadena and sometime student at the University of Southern California, won a victory yesterday at the meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association at Atlanta, Georgia.

The association made public correspondence concerning the debarment of Paddock from this year's Olympic team at the instance of the Amateur Athletic union.

Late in the day the meeting took action on Paddock's case, which was commended to consideration by Gen. Palmer E. Pierce, its president, in his opening address.

A committee was appointed to investigate the matter and it drew up resolutions, which were instantly adopted by the meeting. The resolutions declared that the association had been requested by the Paris University club to secure the attendance of American colleges in the international anniversary meet at Paris last May.

Paddock was invited and after receiving permission from his university, entered the meet as representative of the University of Southern California. Having competed in the event he was suspended by the A. A. U.

Under the rules of the international Olympic association he is ineligible to participate in the forthcoming Olympic games. The National College association recognizes the absolute jurisdiction of the American Olympic association in matters pertaining to American representation in Olympic games, the resolution said.

Many a man remains in the bachelor class because he is skeptical as to the ability of a woman to support him.

Curing your Golf Troubles

Dear Mr. Barnes: Can you suggest what may be causing me to consistently hit the ball up, in the air on my tee shots?

I am using a driver with very little loft and I tee the ball quite low, yet almost always I pop the ball up in the air, getting very little distance.

I will appreciate any advice you can give me that will help me to cure this fault.

Your trouble is probably due to the fact that you are hitting the ball what is called an ascending blow.

In other words, your club-head has reached the lowest point on its swing before it strikes the ball and is starting up at the moment of impact.

This is frequently due to keeping the weight too much back on the right foot, or it may be due to teeing the ball too nearly opposite the left heel.

Try teeing it further toward the right, say half way between the left foot and the right foot, and the other trouble is check up on the distribution of weight at the top of the swing.

While most of the weight should be borne on the right foot at this point, there should still be an appreciable amount on the inner side of the ball of the left foot and the left big toe.

If you get the weight too far back on the right there is an inclination to fall away from the ball as the swing is made.

This causes the club to start to rise too soon instead of following along after the ball, and of course sends the ball too much up in the air, and also robs the shot of distance.

Copyright, 1923, by Bell S. S. Inc. Mother was about to go into the garden to hang out some clothes.

By this sapient statement you will have gathered that it was wash day—Monday—which is also in most houses cold meat day.

Before carrying the basket out side she said to little Peggy, aged 5: "Now while I am gone don't let pussy jump up on the table and touch the cold meat. It's all ready for dinner."

"All right, mummy," replied the child. "I won't let her jump up."

On her return from the garden mother found the meat on the floor and pussy quietly enjoying herself with it.

BEGINNING TOMORROW!
THREE MIRTHFUL DAYS OF MATRIMONIAL MIX-UPS!

AT THE THEATERS

WHOLE TOWN IN MOB SCENE OF
VIOLA DANA FILM

The residents of Visalia assisted in the filming of "A Noise in Newboro," Viola Dana's new starring picture now at the Glendale Theatre.

Visalia was selected as the location for many of the exterior scenes. Miss Dana and her company of twenty people spent ten days in the town and found every one so cordial that it was decided to stage the big scenes for the picture there instead of doing them in and about Los Angeles.

One of the main episodes for "A Noise in Newboro" called for a spectacular mob scene. The town officials called a half holiday on Saturday so everyone who cared to do so could appear before the camera. The mob scenes were taken along the main street.

Snitz Edwards was chosen as one of the jailers in Miss Pickford's new photoplay "Rosita," opening Sunday at the Glendale Theatre, because he weighed only 100 pounds. When the property man handed him an antique key ring with six keys, the whole weighing ten pounds, Edwards remonstrated, saying he was sure it would cause him to lose his job. "Listen," he said, "I was hired for this part because I weigh 100 pounds. Now I have to carry around a key ring that weighs ten pounds, which makes me overweight. If Kerrigan, that Jesse James who manages the company, finds this out, he'll fire me." Whereupon Director Ernest Lubitsch took three keys off the ring.

APPALLING FACTS OF DIVORCE EVIL

Do you know that: Last year 150,000 new divorces parted 300,000 men and women and changed the lives of 1,000,000 children?

That in some states every third marriage is dissolved, and the average husband and wife live together only four years?

That in spite of the constitution some states do not recognize divorces granted in other states? That the 48 states have 48 divorce laws? South Carolina grants no divorces at all on any grounds; New York allows 1; New Hampshire 15. In the whole country there are 35 different grounds for divorce?

These are some of the interesting facts brought out in the new Goldwyn production, "Reno," which comes to the T. D. & L. Theatre on Sunday for a three days' engagement, with an all-star cast including Lew Cody, Helene Chadwick, Carmel Myers, Hedda Hooper, George Walsh, Rush Hughes, Marjorie Bonner, Dale Fuller, Kathleen Key and other leading players.

The story indicates the desperate need for a uniform divorce law, and considers what compromises are possible between those who believe that divorce is the fatal disease of our life, and those who believe it is the cure-all for many evils.

STUNNING BRIDAL
"HER REPUTATION"

Every bride-to-be, before planning her wedding costume, should see May McAvoy in "Her Reputation," Thomas H. Ince's newest screen production.

Miss McAvoy wears the latest word in bridal finery in one of the scenes of the picture. It is a gorgeous creation of white silk brocade with a tight "v"-shaped bodice and a very full skirt. The sleeves are long and close fitting with a little lace cuff at the wrist of each.

There is a "punch" in every scene of "Her Reputation," which will be shown at the Gateway Theatre today.

The cast of the Paramount picture, "His Children's Children," which comes to the Gateway Theatre on Sunday, includes Bebe Daniels, Dorothy Mackall, James Rennie and George Fawcett in featured roles. In the support are Hale Hamilton, Mary Eaton, Mahlon Hamilton, Warner Oland, John Davidson, Dora Mills Adams, H. Cooper Cliffe, Edwin Mills, Helen Rowland, Roger Lytton, Henry Sedley, Beth Merrill and Vera Sisson.

PRESS ANIMATED
WEEKLY, LAST ISSUE

The Glendale Press-Express Animated Weekly announces subjects for the current issue, running at the Gateway theatre on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, as follows:

Newsboys' Christmas Dinner. Depicts the annual dinner given by Fred Solomon, former newsboy, and present dance hall "king" to 2000 newsies. Four hundred turkeys with suitable "fixin's" were served. Following the dinner came the penny scramble in which $100 in pennies were thrown among the guests.

Reflections at the Zoo. Depicts the reactions of various birds and animals upon seeing their reflected images in a mirror. The grisley bear was pugnacious, the Australian bear was frightened, the Paradise crane attacked its image with great fury, a baby monkey was delighted with what it seemed to believe was a little playfellow come

Foley's Friendly Fancies

THE SUMMERY HEART

My red checked youngster, in the snow
As I remember you,
So many, many years ago,
With a bright sled and new,
How thick the snowflakes fell and light,
You hitched to "bobs" or cart,
While winter all around you white,
But summer in your heart.

When all the trees were gaunt and bare,
And all the bushes white;
When the field held a frosty glare,
And moonbeams shone at night,
I see you as in days gone by,
A run and cry and start,
A bright, bright sparkle in your eye
And summer in your heart.

That sled was Oh, so fine and new
With runners bright and red
And there was many a curleycue
Of paint upon it spread.
And down upon it how you leaped
To dash and slide and start,
With drifts of snow about you heaped
But summer in your heart.

Oh, lad of mine, what winds may blow,
What fury in the blast,
What whitening drifts may come and go,
From first of life to last;
Keep that bright sparkle in the eye,
That beauty beyond art,
Let winter winds go blowing by,
Keep summer in thy heart.

"HIS CHILDREN'S CHILDREN"

Featuring
Bebe Daniels, George Fawcett, Mahlon Hamilton and a Big Cast

The story of "His Children's Children" is not the mere weaving of an author's imagination. It's the amazing truth about New York's so-called "exclusive set." The story of a family from the first to the third generation—of human happiness—human weakness—human strength.

IMPERIAL PALACE
NOW DINING HALL

[By Associated Press] BERLIN, Dec. 28.—Mrs. Fritz Kreisler, the American wife of the Austrian violinist, and a number of other Austrian women have worked wonders in the kitchen of the old imperial palace overlooking the Spree in Berlin. This kitchen, where the food of the Hohenzollerns was prepared for many generations, has been converted into a cheery dining room where middle-class Berliners may buy a mid-day meal at small cost. Professors, actors, doctors, lawyers, scientists and writers now sit in the renovated rooms where Hohenzollerns used to give instructions about their food.

There is no air of charity about the middle class feeding establishment by the Austrian women. It isn't charity. They are merely assisting Berlin intellectuals to help themselves through a hard winter. Flowers stand on the dining tables in the great castle kitchen and volunteer workers assist in serving the food and giving an air of hospitality.

The meals are served only to persons who have tickets, and a small charge is made for these. Applicants are inspected by a committee to make sure that only congenial persons will be admitted to this meal center.

According to statistics nine-tenths of the female lecturers are married women. This may be news to bachelors.
