NEW MILITARY DICTIONARY.

DEDICATED BY PERMISSION TO H.B.H. THE DUKE OF CAMBRIDGE.

A MILITARY DICTIONARY,

Comprising TERMS, SCIENTIFIC AND OTHERWISE, connected with the SCIENCE OF WAR.

COMPILED BY

MAJOR-GEN. G. E. VOYLE, Retired Royal (Bengal) Artillery, Author of "The Gunner's Aid";

ASSISTED BY

CAPT. G. DE ST. CLAIR-STEVENSON.

THIRD EDITION, WITH SUPPLEMENT. Crown 8vo. Cloth, 10s. 6d.; post-free, 11s.

"The Officers' vade mecum; . . . in every respect adapted to the wants of those for whom it is intended. . . . The work extends to the duties of officers of every grade, and the knowledge essential to their successful execution. . . . Civilians as well as military will find it an extremely useful addition to their libraries."—Morning Post.

"The book is one which will be constantly useful to all who are engaged in any military studies."—Volunteer Service Gazette.

"It is a handy and useful book, and it is a substitute for the larger and more expensive works of the same description, quite sufficient for the purpose of battalions officers."—Army and Navy Gazette.

"It would be difficult to find, in so handy a shape, so much valuable information of this kind as is given in this book. . . . The authors have shown fitness for the task they have undertaken, and have produced as the result a most useful book."—Scotsman.

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocabularies fresh from the mist of camp or gossamer, and lively audacious turns de phrase ever-ready and ready of hand—"the forty"—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.

Civilians as well as military will find it an extremely useful addition to their libraries."—Morning Post.

By J. O. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocables fresh from the mint of camp or galaquet, and lively audacious turns pourvu overrevoir undreamt of by "the forty"—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.

PUBLIC LAW.

This Volume contains outlines of:—I. General Jurisprudence.—II. The Development of the British Constitution.—III. Public International Law.—IV. Public Municipal Law, including the Substantive Branch of the Criminal Law. The contents of this Volume is shown in Seven Analytical Tables.

NOTICES.

"Law books are usually repulsive to the general reader, but Mr. Nasmith has contrived to throw in so much interesting matter, in the shape of illustrations, that anyone may read this with the same interest that he would have in reading Buckle or Froude."—The Bookseller.

"The only bestiaion we should have in placing this portion of the work (the chapter on the British Constitution) in the hands of a law student, would be that he should discover that if he mastered the whole, he would inevitably be able to pass any of the examinations on constitutional law and legal history without reference to other histories The plan is superior to that pursued in the Institutes of Justinian, or by Blackstone and his followers."—Law Magazine.

"The chapter on Public International Law is, we have no hesitation in saying, the best popular, and yet strictly precise and technical, account which we have ever seen of the leading principles of a subject which, while it would require a laborious lifetime to master it, is yet one of which every intelligent reader feels himself compelled to learn something."—The Glasgow Herald.

PRIVATE LAW.

Book I., PERSONS; Book II., THINGS.

Book I. treats of:—I. The Province of English Private Law.—II. The Subjects and Objects of English Private Law.—III. Persons Classified.—IV. Status.—V. Intervention.—VI. Duties.—VII. Obligations.—VIII. Principal and Agent.—IX. Husband and Wife.—X. Master and Servant.—XI. Pecuniary Obligation and Negotiable Instruments.—XII. Warranty, Guaranty, and Insurance.—XIII. Corporations and Partnerships.—XIV. Bankruptcy.—XV. Imperfect Status.—XVI. Aliens.—Private International Law.

Book II. treats of:—I. Things, their Origin, Character, and Incidents.—II. Dominium.—III. The Legal Distribution of Things.—IV. Estates and Interests in Realty generally.—V. Tenure.—VI. Quantity of Interest.—VII. & VIII. Quality of Interest.—IX. Number and Relations of Tenants.—X. Time of Enjoyment.—XI. Incorporeal Tenements, &c.—XII. Interests in Personality.—XIII. Alienation ex Contractu Absolute.—XIV. Qualified Conditional Estates.—XV. Landlord and Tenant.—XVI. Qualified Interests in Personality.—XVII. Alienation in Trust.—XVIII. Succession.—Appendix A. History of the Assimilation of Real to Personal Property in Respect of its Alienability, &c.

The Contents of these Two Volumes is shown in Fifteen Analytical Tables.

NOTICES.

"The book is thoroughly worked out, so as to be of the utmost service in every respect to the reader. . . . We can confidently recommend this handbook to the public at large."—Law Journal.

"The author has the faculty of simplifying by a lucid analysis that which is both perplexing and complicated. He has also the art of illustrating both difficult and even repulsive subjects by the introduction of happy illustrations and interesting suggestions."—Record.

"It is an admirably arranged and most useful manual, and—what can certainly be said of few law books—is written with so much literary skill and felicity of illustration that it may be read with interest by others than law students."—Echo.

"By means of ingenious tables he brings clearly before the mental and the physical eye the manifold branches and twigs of the law and their mutual relations. In the same manner he indicates with much simplicity the rules of succession to real and personal property."—Scotsman.

ADJECTIVE LAW.

PROCEDURE IN COURT, EMBRACING AN OUTLINE OF THE LAW OF EVIDENCE AND MEASURE OF DAMAGES.

This Volume comprises an Introductory Chapter on "The Province of English Adjective Law: The Philosophy of its Fundamental Doctrines: The Legal Signification of Certain Terms." 865 Rules, with Illustrations. Appendix A, "Statutes of Limitations." Appendix B, "Pre-Appointed Evidence." The whole, excluding the Introductory Chapter and Appendices, is divided into XVII. Sections, i. e.:—I. Legal Fictions.—II. Conclusive Presumptions.—III. Inconclusive or Rebuttable Presumption.—IV. Facts of which no Evidence is Admissible.—V. Facts of which no Evidence is Necessary.—VI. Estoppel.—VII. Facts and Matters that prove themselves, or are Judicially noticed.—VIII. Matters that must be determined by the Judge.—IX. Facts that must be determined by the Jury.—X. Facts to which the particular Witness is not permitted to Testify.—XI. Facts to which he cannot be compelled to Testify.—XII. The Competency and Testimony of Witnesses.—XIII. Examination, Cross-Examination, &c.—XIV. Facts that must be Proved by whom and how.—XV. Documentary Evidence.—XVI. The Measure of Damages—General Rules.—XVII. Particular Rules.

NOTICES OF THE WORK AS A WHOLE.

"To us it appears admirably suited to become a text book, presenting to the student a task far less ponderous than Stephen's 'Commentaries,' and made as little repugnant and as easy of digestion as possible by Mr. Nasmith's style of treatment."—Law Journal.

"This work in four volumes is undoubtedly very pleasant and instructive reading, and may be safely recommended for the perusal of the intelligent layman as well as for that of the student of the principles which underlie our law. . . . The work contains quite a mine of information."—Justice of the Peace.

"Taking the whole four volumes together we know of no other work in which so vast a view of English law is presented in such short and simple language."—City Press.

"If the student of law reads and digests these four little volumes he will have laid a good and true foundation for his future reading, and will find himself master of the true principles of the law he is presumed to know, even if he should carry his reading no further."—Examiner.

"One of the most compendious treatises on English Jurisprudence ever offered to the student."—Bookseller.

"As completed the author's claim to have furnished an outline of the entire province of law, filled in with the leading principles of each section, is well justified both by the comprehensive nature of his work and by its excellent method and skillful condensation. Many of its features—the table of 'pre-appointed evidence,' for example—are as novel as they are important. Not the least praiseworthy feature of the work is its copious indices."—Daily News.

"By judicious compression he has presented to us in four not very bulky volumes not only an excellent manual for the law student; but such a general view of the course and leading principles of our legislation as every educated Englishman should be acquainted with."—Educational Times.

THE ROYAL PHRASEOLOGICAL

FRENCH-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-FRENCH DICTIONARY.

By J. O. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocabularies fresh from the mint of camp or guinguette, and lively audacious turns φωκαστε ουνοροισιν undreamt of by 'the Baty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.

THE ROYAL PHRASEOLOGICAL

FRENCH-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-FRENCH DICTIONARY.

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocables fresh from the mint of camp or galaquets, and lively audacious turns φωφάρτα συγερτοισιν undreamt of by 'the forty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.

A COMPENDIUM OF PRECEDENTS IN CONVEYANCING: COMPRISING THE FORMS REQUIRED IN ORDINARY PRACTICE.

By THOMAS KEY, one of the Editors of "Davidson's Precedents"; and HOWARD WARBURTON ELPHINSTONE, formerly Lecturer to the Incorporated Law Society; both of Lincoln's Inn, Barristers-at-Law.

"An examination of the work has convinced us that it really supplies a mass of fresh material which every conveyancer will find a most useful addition to his library. . . . We can thoroughly recommend the book to both branches of the profession, but more especially to solicitors, who will find it a valuable aid for ready use in all ordinary conveyancing practice."—Law Magazine.

"It is obvious that the book is intended primarily to meet the wants of the solicitor's office, and there can be no question that it constitutes one of the most elaborate and, at the same time, considering its range and character, the most handy books of precedents for this purpose which has appeared in recent times. . . . The strongest part of vol. I. seems to be that devoted to leases, which strikes us as very satisfactory. . . . The collection of forms is very extensive, and many are very carefully framed. . . . Thus there is a good form of underlease of business offices on p. 538; a very complete form of lease of public-house on p. 560; and a proviso, on p. 591, with reference to the sale under a distress of things covenanted to be consumed on the premises, with reference to Hawkins v. Walrond (22 W. R. 824, L. R. 1 G. P. D. 280). Of course nothing but actual use can effectually test the merit of a book of precedents; but, so far as we can judge from an examination of this work, we think it will stand the test and be found of very great value."—Solicitors' Journal.

"Many legal documents of considerable moment are prepared in solicitors' offices and never settled by counsel; and a trustworthy guide for work of this kind, sufficiently copious in its variety of matter and adequate to the modern standard of conveyancing style, was certainly a desideratum. The names of the editors are of themselves enough to warrant the quality of the work; and the expectation they naturally raise is confirmed by such examination as we have been able to make."—Saturday Review.

"This book might perhaps have been more aptly termed 'compendium of forms and precedents in conveyancing,' for the forms are the conspicuous features of it. The work is built on a different system to most conveyancing precedents, a very large number of forms being given in it, and the precedents being worked out by reference to and not by incorporation of the forms. . . . It has another advantage, viz., that concise as well as full forms are thus given; and as conciseness is, we are pleased to say, the fashion among conveyancers of the modern school, the abbreviations will be more appreciated. . . . Apart from other merits, the large variety and immense number of forms and precedents comprised in these two compendious volumes of Messrs. Key and Elphinstone, must make them valuable auxiliaries to the conveyancer; in fact, they are worthy to be placed by the side of Mr. Davidson's and Mr. Prideaux's standard conveyancing books."—Law Journal.

BROOM'S COMMON LAW. COMMENTARIES ON THE COMMON LAW DESIGNED AS INTRODUCTORY TO ITS STUDY. By HERBERT BROOM, LL.D., Barrister-at-Law, Professor of Common Law to the Inns of Court.

HEYWOOD'S PRACTICE OF THE COUNTY COURTS. THE JURISDICTION AND PRACTICE OF THE COUNTY COURTS.

Comprising the whole Practice, except in Admiralty and Bankruptcy.

The Sections of the Judicature Act applying to County Courts, and the whole of the County Court Statutes, and the Rules, Orders, Forms, and Scales of Fees and Costs, are printed in the Appendices.

SECOND EDITION, ENTIRELY RE-WRITTEN AND GREATLY ENLARGED.

By GEORGE WASHINGTON HEYWOOD, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law.

"We may say at once, as the result of the tests we have applied, that we have found the information full and accurate, and the statements cautious. The book, in fact, seems to have had unusual care and pains bestowed upon it; and, while increased in bulk, it has not lost the terseness of statement which characterised the former edition. The arrangement of the matter in the different chapters is, with few exceptions, excellent, and it is very easy to find your way in the book."—Solicitors' Journal.

"It is an extremely useful volume, comprehensive and compendious in form. In an introductory chapter, Mr. Heywood explains the operation of the Judicature Acts upon the County Courts, and in the body of his work he makes suggestions wherever they are likely to prove of value with reference to the working of the new system. Our examination has satisfied us that Mr. Heywood has done his work thoroughly."—Law Times.

"This second edition is fairly entitled to take rank as a complete treatise. The subject with which it deals is one in which a considerable portion of the community are interested. Those who have the misfortune to appear in County Courts, or rather their legal advisers, will find in this volume the information they require; and what is more unusual, they will find it without trouble.

"A glance through the table of contents will show the reader that he will find what he would naturally expect, and more too. After an introductory chapter on the effects of the Judicature Act, and the New Rules (which, though very brief, is suggestive), the question of jurisdiction is dealt with. It will be strange if the somewhat elaborate classification of statutes conferring jurisdiction on County Courts does not give the reader a clearer view of their province. Throughout the book we find the same effort to make matters plain, by grouping and otherwise conveying information in a striking way. The succeeding chapters are generally full, and decidedly practical. Among other instances of successful treatment, we may mention the chapters on the Trial, and that on Enforcing the Judgment."—Law Magazine.

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

I.—PRELIMINARY.

(3.) This Act, except where it is otherwise expressed, does not extend to Scotland.

Definitions.

2.—(1.) [Interpretation of conveyance, mortgage, &c.]—In this Act, unless it is otherwise expressed, conveyance includes a conveyance, assignment, appointment, or other assurance, made by deed on a sale or mortgage of any property, real or personal, or of any estate or interest in any property, real or personal, or of any debt or thing in action, or of any other right or interest whatever, and includes a demise for years by way of mortgage and a demise for years by way of lease at a rent.

(2.) In this Act income includes rents and profits, and possession includes receipt of income.

(3.) In this Act mortgage includes conveyance or charge for securing principal money or money's worth; and mortgage money means principal money, or money's worth, secured by a mortgage; and mortgagor includes all persons from time to time deriving title under the original mortgagor, or entitled to redeem a mortgage, according to their several estates, rights, and interests in the mortgaged property; and mortgagee includes all persons from time to time deriving title under the original mortgagee; and mortgagee in possession is for the purposes of this Act a mortgagee who, in right of the mortgage, enters into possession of the mortgaged property.

(4.) In this Act purchaser includes a lessee, mortgagee, or other person who, for a valuable consideration, takes or deals with or for any property, real or personal, or any estate or interest in any property, real or personal, or any debt or thing in action, or any other right or interest whatever.

(2.) Under a contract to assign a term of years derived out of a leasehold estate, the intended assign shall not be entitled to call for the title to the leasehold reversion.

(3.) A purchaser shall not require the production, or any abstract or copy, of any deed, will, or other document, although the same creates a power which is subsequently exercised by an instrument abstracted in the abstract furnished to the purchaser, if that deed, will, or other document is dated or made before the time stipulated for commencement of the title; nor shall a purchaser require any information, or make any requisition, objection, or inquiry, with respect to such prior title, notwithstanding that any such deed, will, or other document, or such prior title, is recited, covenanted to be produced, or noticed; and a purchaser shall be bound to assume that the recitals contained in the abstracted deeds of any deed, will, or other document, forming part of the prior title, are correct and give all the material contents of the documents so recited, and to assume that every instrument so recited was duly executed by all necessary parties.

(4.) Where land sold is held by lease or under-lease, the purchaser shall be bound to assume, unless the contrary appears, that the lease, or the lease and under-lease, as the case may be, was or were duly granted; and the receipt for the last payment due for rent under the lease or under-lease, as the case may be, shall be accepted as conclusive evidence that all the covenants and provisions of the lease, or of the lease and under-lease, as the case may be, have been duly performed and observed up to the date of actual completion of the purchase.

(5.) (5.) Every such lease shall be by deed, and be made to take effect in possession not later than twelve months after its date.

(10.) In any such building lease a peppercorn rent, or a nominal or other rent less than the rent ultimately payable, may be made payable for the first five years, or any less part of the term.

(11.) In case of a lease by the mortgagor, the lessor shall, within one month after making the lease, give notice in writing thereof, and of the nature and effect thereof, to the mortgagee, stating therein, if the fact be so, that he has received and retains a counterpart of the lease duly executed by the lessee.

(12.) In case of a lease by the mortgagor, the mortgagee shall be entitled, on taking possession, to have the counterpart thereof delivered to him, and, in the meantime and until he takes possession, to have, on his request, but at the cost of the mortgagor, the counterpart, or, at his own (the mortgagee's) cost, the lease, produced and shewn to him or his solicitor, or at any trial or elsewhere as occasion may require, for the manifestation and support of his title, and a true copy, attested or unattested, thereof furnished to him.

(13.) This section does not apply if a contrary intention appears in the mortgage deed.

(14.) Nothing in this Act shall prevent the mortgage deed from conferring on the mortgagor or the mortgagee, or both, any further or other powers of leasing or having reference to leasing; and any further or other powers so conferred shall be exercisable as if they were conferred by this Act, and with all the same incidents, effects, and consequences, unless a contrary intention appears in the mortgage deed.

(15.) Nothing in this Act shall be construed to enable a mortgagor or mortgagee to make a lease for any longer term than he could have created by virtue of his estate, or of any power, if this Act had not been passed.

(16.) This section applies only to the leasing of land comprised in a mortgage made after the commencement of this Act.

estates, rights, and interests over which the charge takes priority, but subject to all estates, rights, and interests which have priority over the mortgage; except that, in the case of copyhold or customary land the legal right to admittance shall not pass by the deed, unless the deed is sufficient otherwise by law, or is sufficient by custom, in that behalf.

(2.) Where a conveyance is made in professed exercise of that power, the title of the purchaser shall not be liable to be impeached on the ground that no case had arisen to authorize the sale, or that due notice was not given, or that the power was otherwise improperly or irregularly exercised; but any person damnified by an unauthorized, or improper, or irregular exercise of the power, shall have his remedy in damages against the person exercising the power.

(3.) The money which is received by the mortgagee, arising from the sale, after discharge of prior incumbrances, if any, shall be applied by him, first, in payment of all expenses incident to the sale or incurred in any attempted sale; secondly, in discharge of all principal money, interest, and costs, and other money, if any, due under the mortgage; and the residue of the money so received shall be paid to the person entitled to the mortgaged property, or authorized to give receipts for the proceeds of the sale thereof.

(4.) The receipt in writing of the mortgagee for money received by him, arising from the sale, shall be a sufficient discharge to the purchaser; and a purchaser shall not be bound to inquire whether any money remains due on the mortgage.

(5.) At any time after the power of sale has become exercisable, the person entitled to exercise the same may demand and recover from any person, other than a person having in the mortgaged property an estate, right, or interest in priority to the mortgage, all the deeds and documents relating to the property, or to the title thereto, which a purchaser under the power of sale would be entitled to demand and recover, and may require a conveyance of any outstanding legal estate, in the same manner and on the same terms as the mortgagor could have required a conveyance thereof at the time of his making the mortgage.

23.—(1.) [Appointment, powers, remuneration, and duties of receiver.—A mortgagee entitled to appoint a receiver under this Act may, at any time and from time to time after the power of sale conferred by this Act has become exercisable, by writing under his hand appoint such person as he thinks fit to be receiver.

(2.) The receiver shall be deemed to be the agent of the mortgagor; and the mortgagor shall be solely responsible for the receiver's acts or defaults, unless the mortgage deed otherwise provides.

(3.) The receiver shall have power to demand and recover all the income of the property of which he is appointed receiver, by action, distress, or otherwise, in the name either of the mortgagor or of the mortgagee, to the full extent of the estate or interest which the mortgagor could dispose of, and to give effectual receipts, accordingly, for the same.

(4.) A person paying money to the receiver shall not be concerned to inquire whether any case has happened to authorize the receiver to demand and recover income.

(5.) The receiver may be removed, and a new receiver may be appointed from time to time by the mortgagee by writing under his hand.

(6.) The receiver shall be entitled to retain out of any money received by him, in lieu of all costs, charges, and expenses whatever, a commission at such rate, not exceeding five per centum on the gross amount of all money received, as is specified in his appointment, and if no rate is so specified, then at the rate of five per centum on that gross amount.

(7.) The receiver shall, in case of land, if so directed in writing by the mortgagee, insure and keep insured against loss or damage by fire, out of the money received by him, any proerty comprised in the mortgage, whether affixed to the freehold or not, being in its nature insurable.

(8.) The receiver shall apply all money received by him as follows (namely):

- (i.) In discharge of all taxes, rates, and outgoings whatever affecting the mortgaged property; and
 - (ii.) In keeping down all annual sums or other payments, and the interest on all principal sums, having priority over the mortgage in right of which he is receiver; and
 - (iii.) In payment of his commission, and of the premiums on fire, life, or other insurances, if any, properly payable under the mortgage or under this Act; and
 - (iv.) In payment of all the interest accruing due in respect of any principal money due under the mortgage;
- and shall pay the residue of the money received by him to the person entitled to the mortgaged property.

not, include the fee simple in all mines and minerals which at the time of enlargement have not been severed in estate, or reserved by an inclosure Act or award, or usually worked or held separately from the surface.

By J. O. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocabularies fresh from the mint of camp or galaquette, and lively audacious turns phrasees eververous undreamt of by the forty"—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.

THE ROYAL PHRASEOLOGICAL
FRENCH-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-FRENCH DICTIONARY.By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocabularies fresh from the mint of camp or quaiquette, and lively audacious turns phrases savantes undreamt of by 'the forty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.

"The Officers' vade mecum; . . . in every respect adapted to the wants of those for whom it is intended. . . . The work extends to the duties of officers of every grade, and the knowledge essential to their successful execution. . . . Civilians as well as military will find it an extremely useful addition to their libraries."—Morning Post.

"The book is one which will be constantly useful to all who are engaged in any military studies."—Volunteer Service Gazette.

"It is a handy and useful book, and it is a substitute for the larger and more expensive works of the same description, quite sufficient for the purpose of battalion officers."—Army and Navy Gazette.

"It would be difficult to find, in so handy a shape, so much valuable information of its kind as is given in this book. . . . The authors have shown fitness for the task they have undertaken, and have produced as the result a most useful book."—Scotsman.

HEYWOOD'S PRACTICE OF THE COUNTY COURTS;

Comprising the whole Practice, except in Admiralty and Bankruptcy. The Sections of the Judicature Act applying to County Courts, and the whole of the County Court Statutes, and the Rules, Orders, Forms, and Scales of Fees and Costs, are printed in the Appendices.

Second Edition, entirely re-written and greatly enlarged. By GEORGE WASHINGTON HEYWOOD, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law.

"We may say at once, as the result of the tests we have applied, that we have found the information full and accurate, and the statements cautious. The book, in fact, seems to have had unusual care and pains bestowed upon it; and, while increased in bulk, it has not lost the terseness of statement which characterised the former edition. The arrangement of the matter in the different chapters is, with few exceptions, excellent, and it is very easy to find your way in the book."—Solicitors' Journal, May 20, 1876.

"Our examination has satisfied us that Mr. Heywood has done his work thoroughly."—Law Times.

In 2 vols., 8vo., price £2 10s., cloth.

A COMPENDIUM OF PRECEDENTS IN CONVEYANCING;

Comprising the Forms required in ordinary Practice. By THOMAS KEY, one of the Editors of "Davidson's Precedents;" and HOWARD WARBURTON ELPHINSTONE, formerly Lecturer to the Incorporated Law Society; both of Lincoln's Inn, Barristers-at-Law.

"It is obvious that the book is intended primarily to meet the wants of the solicitor's office, and there can be no question that it constitutes one of the most elaborate and, at the same time, considering its range and character, the most handy books of precedents for this purpose which has appeared in recent times. . . . The strongest part of vol. I. seems to be that devoted to leases, which strikes us as very satisfactory. . . . The collection of forms is very extensive, and many are very carefully framed. Thus there is a good form of underlease of business offices on p. 538; a very complete form of lease of public-house on p. 560; and a proviso, on p. 591, with reference to the sale under a distress of things covenanted to be consumed on the premises, with reference to Hawkins v. Walton (22 W. R. 524, L. R. 1 C. P. D. 280). Of course nothing but actual use can effectually test the merit of a book of precedents; but, so far as we can judge from an examination of this work, we think it will stand the test and be found of very great value."—Solicitors' Journal, Dec. 21, 1878.

"Many legal documents of considerable moment are prepared in solicitors' offices, and never settled by counsel; and a trustworthy guide for work of this kind, sufficiently copious in its variety of matter and adequate to the modern standard of conveyancing style, was certainly a desideratum. The names of the editors are of themselves enough to warrant the quality of the work; and the expectation they naturally raise is confirmed by such examination as we have been able to make."—Saturday Review, Dec. 14, 1878.

"An examination of the work has convinced us that it really supplies a mass of fresh material which every conveyancer will find a most useful addition to his library. . . . We can thoroughly recommend the book to both branches of the profession, but more especially to solicitors, who will find it a valuable aid for ready use in all ordinary conveyancing practice."—Law Magazine, Feb., 1879.

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The plan was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocables fresh from the mist of camp or guinguette, and lively audacious turns phrasees savantes undreamt of by the forty—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocabularies fresh from the mint of camp or galaquette, and lively audacious turns phrasees undreamt of by 'the Siry'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.

NOTICES.

"Law books are usually repulsive to the general reader, but Mr. Nasmith has contrived to throw in so much interesting matter, in the shape of illustration, that anyone may read this with the same interest that he would have in reading Buckle or Froude."
—The Bookseller.

"The only hesitation we should have in placing this portion of the work (the chapter on the British Constitution) in the hands of a law student, would be that he should discover that if he mastered the whole, he would inevitably be able to pass any of the examinations on constitutional law and legal history without reference to other histories The plan is superior to that pursued in the Institutes of Justinian, or by Blackstone and his followers."—Law Magazine.

"The chapter on Public International Law is, we have no hesitation in saying, the best popular, and yet strictly precise and technical, account which we have ever seen of the leading principles of a subject which, while it would require a laborious lifetime to master it, is yet one of which every intelligent reader feels himself compelled to learn something."—The Glasgow Herald.

NOTICES.

"The book is thoroughly worked out, so as to be of the utmost service in every respect to the reader. . . . We can confidently recommend this handbook to the public at large."—Law Journal.

"The author has the faculty of simplifying by a lucid analysis that which is both perplexing and complicated. He has also the art of illustrating both difficult and even repulsive subjects by the introduction of happy illustrations and interesting suggestions."—Record.

"It is an admirably arranged and most useful manual, and—what can certainly be said of few law books—is written with so much literary skill and felicity of illustration that it may be read with interest by others than law students."—Echo.

"By means of ingenious tables he brings clearly before the mental and the physical eye the manifold branches and twigs of the law and their mutual relations. In the same manner he indicates with much simplicity the rules of succession to real and personal property."—Scotsman.

NOTICES OF THE WORK AS A WHOLE.

"To us it appears admirably suited to become a text-book, presenting to the student a task far less ponderous than Stephen's 'Commentaries,' and made as little repugnant and as easy of digestion as possible by Mr. Nasmith's style of treatment."—Law Journal.

"This work in four volumes is undoubtedly very pleasant and instructive reading, and may be safely recommended for the perusal of the intelligent layman as well as for that of the student of the principles which underlie our law. . . . The work contains quite a mine of information."—Justice of the Peace.

"Taking the whole four volumes together we know of no other work in which so vast a view of English law is presented in such short and simple language."—City Press.

"If the student of law reads and digests these four little volumes he will have laid a good and true foundation for his future reading, and will find himself master of the true principles of the law he is presumed to know, even if he should carry his reading no further."—Examiner.

"One of the most compendious treatises on English Jurisprudence ever offered to the student."—Bookseller.

"By judicious compression he has presented to us in four not very bulky volumes not only an excellent manual for the law student, but such a general view of the course and leading principles of our legislation as every educated Englishman should be acquainted with."—Educational Times.

"By the aid of the four moderately-sized volumes provided by Mr. Nasmith, the student is enabled to attain a general knowledge of the whole scope of English law, analytically arranged, so as most easily to be grasped by the memory. . . . On the whole, we congratulate Mr. Nasmith on the completion of his labours, and the student on the possession of so useful a guide through the intricacies of the legal labyrinth as the 'Institutes of English Law.'"—Law Magazine and Review.

"Mr. Nasmith has added an important contribution to the legal literature of England in these several volumes."—British Quarterly Review.

By J. O. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocabularies fresh from the mint of camp or guinguette, and lively audacious turns phrasees overreuses undreamt of by 'the forty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.

ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1879.

A REPORT, with a financial statement for the year ending the 31st December, 1879, is submitted by the Council to the Profession.

It will be seen that the expenditure for printing and publishing during the year amounted to the sum of £12,265 15s. 4d., being £2885 9s. 11d. less than in the previous year. This difference arose in part from the account for 1878 being burdened with a considerable sum for reprinting THE LAW REPORTS of 1876, and the INDIAN APPEALS for the years 1874–8, and in part from the cost of the INDEX TO THE STATUTES given gratis to the Subscribers to the entire series for 1878. On the other hand, the expenditure of 1879 was burdened with the cost of the TRIENNIAL DIGEST, and also of printing an additional number of the Reports in order to meet any increased demand in future, and so avoid the large outlay which has been incurred in former years by reprinting them.

The subscriptions for the 1879 Series amounted to £23,837 15s. 1d. being an increase of £281 11s. 8d. over the previous year. The receipts for the TRIENNIAL DIGEST, 1876–8, amounted to £195 17s. 6d. The copies so sold are of course over and above the large number which were given to Subscribers gratis. The subscriptions for the Series of Reports prior to the year 1879, realised £1214 0s. 6d.

The salaries, including a bonus to the staff, amounted to £11,248 18s. 11d., and the office expenses were £187 8s. 5d.

The interest upon deposit and investments in Metropolitan Stock amounted to £745 4s. 9d. There was an increase, from a rise in the market value of the Securities, of £1262 4s. 3d.

The surplus revenue of the year, as made out by the Accountants, was £4178 5s. 9d., being an increase of £2950 4s. 6d.; but this includes the above increase in the value of securities, which ought not to be looked at as revenue.

The balance of the revenue account comes out at £9819 18s.; this includes, however, the sum of £6398 1s. 2d., being the balance brought forward from the previous year 1878. The unsold stock of Reports, &c., is valued at the further sum of £2847 17s. 2d.

The Council congratulate the Profession upon these proofs of the continued success of the Bar scheme, and propose out of the available balance in their hands to add another bonus to the salaries of the gentlemen engaged on the staff, and to devote a large sum of money to the preparation of an improved and more complete CONSOLIDATED DIGEST, such as will enable the Subscribers not only to find, without difficulty, any case reported in the fifteen years from 1866 to 1880 inclusive, but also, at the same time, to see what Statutes were passed in the same period effecting any material change in the Law. This will be a work of great labour and time, the details of which will be announced to the Profession at a later period, when the work is more advanced. They also expect to make arrangements with the Statute Law Committee, by which the Council will be enabled to supply a copy of a new Index to the Statutes brought down to the end of 1880, as soon as it is published by the Government next year, to the Subscribers to the entire series of THE LAW REPORTS for the same year.

The accounts have been duly audited.

A vacancy occurred on the Council by the retirement of JOHN PEARSON, Esq., Q.C., and the Honourable Society of Lincoln's Inn have appointed EDWARD E. KAY, Esq., Q.C., to succeed him.

The Council again desire to express their thanks to the Law Lords and Her Majesty's Judges for the ready and kind assistance given by their Lordships to the gentlemen engaged on the reporting staff, and to the profession generally for the facilities afforded by them in the loan of papers and otherwise.

By Order,
(Signed) JOSEPH BROWN,
Chairman.

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocabularies fresh from the mint of camp or guinguette, and lively audacious turns de phrase undreamt of by 'the forty'—which would have pleased Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.

A few more works equal to the present, should he have leisure to write them, would entitle Mr. Flood to rank among the foremost of our legal writers."—Saturday Review.

KEY AND ELPHINSTONE'S COMPENDIUM OF PRECEDENTS IN CONVEYANCING. Comprising the Forms required in Ordinary Practice. By THOMAS KEY, one of the Editors of 'Davidson's Precedents;' and HOWARD WARBURTON ELPHINSTONE, formerly Lecturer to the Incorporated Law Society; both of Lincoln's Inn, Barristers-at-Law.

"An examination of the work has convinced us that it really supplies a mass of fresh material which every conveyancer will find a most useful addition to his library. . . . We can thoroughly recommend the book to both branches of the profession, but more especially to solicitors, who will find it a valuable aid for ready use in all ordinary conveyancing practice."—Law Magazine, February, 1879.

"It is obvious that the book is intended primarily to meet the wants of the solicitor's office, and there can be no question that it constitutes one of the most elaborate and, at the same time, considering its range and character, the most handy book of precedents for this purpose which has appeared in recent times. . . . Of course nothing but actual use can effectually test the merit of a book of precedents; but, so far as we can judge from an examination of this work, we think it will stand the test and be found of very great value."—Solicitors' Journal.

The Sections of the Judicature Act, applying to County Courts and the whole of the County Court Statutes, and the Rules, Orders, Forms, and Scales of Fees and Costs, are printed in the Appendices. Second Edition, entirely re-written and greatly enlarged. By GEORGE WASHINGTON HEYWOOD, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law.

"It is an extremely useful volume, comprehensive and compendious in form. Our examination has satisfied us that Mr. Heywood has done his work thoroughly."—Law Times.

"The arrangement of the matter in the different chapters is, with few exceptions, excellent, and it is very easy to find your way in the book."—Solicitors' Journal.

By J. C. TARVER, LATE FRENCH MASTER, ETON COLLEGE.

"Most readily do we acknowledge the flood of light which has been thrown on French phrases by M. Tarver. . . . His work is really a valuable addition to our Dictionary shelf—the most important shelf in every man's library. The nice skill with which he has compared and contrasted the phrases of the two most influential of modern tongues can hardly be over-praised. Such a book might well deserve a distinct notice; but we are happy to take this opportunity, meantime, of saying that one of the volumes has now been in constant use with us for five years; and we should be at a loss to name another recent one of its class which we have found more useful. The idea was happy, and the execution has been most laudably careful. We have been infinitely obliged to it in reading the lighter French literature of this day—so full of vocabularies fresh from the mint of camp or garrison, and lively audacious turns de phrase supercaricatures undreamt of by 'the forty'—which would have puzzled Voltaire as much as Johnson."—Quarterly Review.
