

DYNAMITING CONSPIRACY IS STILL IN EXISTENCE AMONG THE IRONWORKERS

Man Wanted in Connection With the Trial of Union Officials a Year Ago is Arrested in New York; Confesses That He Was Concerned in Many Outrages and Projected Murders; Gigantic Crime Frustrated

New York, Oct. 3.—Dynamite outrages that rivaled those of the McNamara brothers and of Ortio McManis are confessed to-day by George E. Davis, a union iron worker. Davis, who was arrested here yesterday, was the George O'Donnell who figured in the trial at Indianapolis that resulted in the conviction of Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, and thirty-seven of his associates.

His confession runs up the work of the federal government started more than two years ago, when the dynamiting of bridges and steel frame buildings all over the country became a national scandal. Davis says he was the man chosen to kill Walter Drew, attorney for the National Erectors' Association, in December, 1911. It was suggested also that he try to "get" William J. Burns, the detective employed by Drew and his associates to unearth the dynamite conspiracy. The conspiracy thought to have been broken up by the conviction of Ryan and others still exists, according to Davis' confession. Davis said he had been an iron worker since 1890 and in the early days of the troubles between the union and the bridge builders he was a member of the entertainment committee, whose duty it was to assault non-union workers. He began his career as a dynamiter at Trenton, N. J.

SYNDICALISTS CITE SIR EDWARD CARSON AS EXAMPLE IN RESISTING AUTHORITIES

James Larkin Calls on Sympathizers to Send Ammunition and Fighting Men to Dublin; Will Thorne Speaks on Labor and Politics to Toronto Audience

London, Oct. 3.—Ben Tillett, secretary of the dockworkers, wharf, riverside and general workers' union, of Great Britain, addressing an international syndicalist meeting said that he thanked Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, for giving the working classes a lead. When they had courage enough to follow his example, Tillett declared, they were going to fight the government. James Larkin, one of the leaders in the Dublin strike, telegraphed from that city to-day: "I appeal to all comrades to send ammunition and bring fighters here. The masters admit they are on their marrowbones." Toronto, Oct. 3.—Addressing the trades and labor council last night Will Thorne, labor leader in the British House of Commons, said the Labor party had voted for the Home Rule bill to get it out of the way so that more attention could be given to matters affecting the working classes. He predicted a speedy collapse of the Ulster opposition to the bill, and said the news cabled over here regarding the determination of the people of the northeast to resist Home Rule was a mere bluff.

HIGHWAYMAN KILLED IN SEATTLE SALOON

Seattle, Oct. 3.—The body of an unidentified highwayman is at the city morgue his companion believed to have been wounded, is a fugitive, and J. L. Muldoon, proprietor of the O. & W. saloon, Sixth avenue, south and Charles street, is at the City hospital badly wounded as a result of a three-cornered revolver battle shortly before midnight when the two robbers attempted to hold up three men in Muldoon's saloon. Twenty-five shots were exchanged and at no time during the fusillade were the participants more than twenty-five feet apart. Muldoon's escape from death is miraculous. He was the target of a cross-fire from the highwaymen, who entered from different directions in the triangular-shaped building. He sustained a lacerated scalp and broken arm in the hall of lead.

Panama, Oct. 3.—Four West Indian laborers at Miraflores locks were drowned yesterday by the giving way of a barrier. Although only forty-eight hours have elapsed since the water first entered the Culobres cut, it is filling so rapidly that previous calculations have been upset, indicating that the cut will be filled to the level of Gatun lake by October 16, the date fixed for the destruction of the dyke by dynamite.

MILLIONS IN HARVEST FOR CANADIAN GROWERS

Saskatchewan Farmers Will Secure Over One Hundred Million Dollars as Share

THRESHING WILL BE OVER BY END OF MONTH

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 3.—That Minneapolis will get free Canadian wheat within a year is the opinion of the Chicago grain men, said Lloyd Canby, son of C. H. Canby, a prominent Chicago grain exporter, who was in Minneapolis to-day, and who declared that Chicago had figured out that Canada would take off the countervailing duty within that time, which will enable western Canadian shippers to send grain to Minneapolis if they wish. "There is a strong western sentiment favorable to free trade with Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago," went on Mr. Canby. "At the rate the Canadian wheat is moving down to Port Arthur and Fort William for lake shipment there is no doubt to be collected there before navigation closes, which, if history repeats itself, will again back up along the line to Winnipeg and there will be new and strong desires in the west for an outlet to the south."

AMERICAN VISITORS AT PARIS HOTELS ROBBED

Clever Thieves Are Committing Many Daring Thefts From Wealthy Guests

Paris, Oct. 3.—The hotels here are being systematically robbed, many American visitors being among the guests who have lost considerable personal property. Apparently the band of thieves is both daring and expert. At one hotel in the Place Vendome a Mrs. Kirkland, an American, has been robbed of a quantity of valuable jewelry.

GET ON THE LIST

All who desire to be put on the voters' lists for the province, which lists of course are used in the case of a federal election, are reminded that the first Monday in October is the last day upon which they can make application to be placed on the lists at the November revision.

BLACK EYES MARK HALF THE POPULACE

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 3.—Half the population of the little suburban town of Hayward are nursing black eyes, broken heads and barked shins to-day, as the result of a free-for-all fight last night in which the Haywards pavilion was partially wrecked by a thousand scrambling spectators of a wrestling match.

BULL DERAILED TRAIN

Olathe, Kas., Oct. 3.—Ten cars of a St. Louis and San Francisco freight train were derailed when the train struck a bull weighing 3,000 pounds near here yesterday. The engine and tender passed over the animal without being derailed, but when the empty cars struck it they were thrown from the track. A herd of cattle was crossing the track when the train approached and three were killed.

FLORISTS SUE GOVERNMENT FOR DESTRUCTION OF BULBS

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Florists of the city are to meet to-night to discuss suing the government and starting suits for damages against the provincial government and Thomas Cunningham, horticulture inspector, on account of the destruction of about two hundred cases of bulbs which, florists allege, were by the inspectors orders subjected to fumigation about two weeks ago. The monetary loss to the florists will amount to probably more than $12,000. They are more worried over the possible loss of customers who have already purchased Roman hyacinth bulbs, which, having been fumigated, will only rot and not grow. These spoiled hyacinths some of the florists unwittingly sold to their customers, and those credit customers, since the discovery that the hyacinth bulbs were worthless, have been busy notifying buyers.

AMERICAN VISITORS AT VANCOUVER CARMEN MAY GO ON STRIKE

Paris, Oct. 3.—The hotels here are being systematically robbed, many American visitors being among the guests who have lost considerable personal property. Apparently the band of thieves is both daring and expert. At one hotel in the Place Vendome a Mrs. Kirkland, an American, has been robbed of a quantity of valuable jewelry.

AGRICULTURAL LABOR FOUND TO NEED AID

London, Oct. 3.—A summary of the first part of the land inquiry report, on which will be based the next step of the government's programme of social legislation, has been made public and shows the pressing need of relief for rural laborers.

WAS WEALTHY MILL OWNER

Seattle, Oct. 3.—Cyrus Walker, reputed to be the wealthiest man in the Pacific northwest, is dead at San Mateo, Cal., aged 86 years. He had been in failing health for two years and had withdrawn from active business. Mr. Walker owned business property in Seattle valued at millions of dollars and was the principal stockholder and had been for many years the controlling spirit of the Puget Sound Mill Company.

MURDERER IN A FRENZY

New York, Oct. 3.—Hans Schmidt, the man who murdered Anna Amulder, became frenzied to-day at the coroner's inquest into the death of his victim, rose from his seat, ripped from his neck the rosary he had worn ever since his incarceration, tore it into many bits and hurled them at the newspaper reporters sitting half a dozen steps away. The jury found him responsible for the girl's death.

NEW SCALE OF DUTIES IN UNDERWOOD TARIFF GOES IN EFFECT TO-MORROW

President Will To-night Sign the Document Transmitted From Congress This Afternoon; Changes Made Are in the Direction of Benefitting the Consumer and Lightening the Burden of the Cost of Living

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—The House of Representatives agreed to the tariff bill conference report at 1.23 to-day, constituting the final action of that body on the tariff bill. Speaker Clark overruled all points of order made by members, who contended that further action by the House was necessary, and immediately afterward signed the bill, affixing his signature at 1.25 o'clock. Cheers and applause greeted the final action of the House. The completed bill was sent on its way to the Senate for the signature of Vice-President Marshall, who signed it at 1.34 p. m. It was transmitted at 2.30 to the White House, but the president will not sign it until 9 o'clock to-night, in the presence of the administration leaders. President Wilson's signing of the Underwood-Simmons bill will bring into effect to-morrow one of the most far-reaching revisions of tariff rates and revenue laws enacted for many years in the United States. A new income tax, applying directly to the incomes of citizens; the abolition of all tariff on scores of items of immense importance to American industry and American consumers; and a heavy reduction of tariff rates on most of the articles in general use are its chief features.

THAW OUGHT TO KNOW

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—Wood pulp manufactured in Sweden from wood grown in Russia is not entitled to free entry into the United States, according to a decision by the treasury. This is in keeping with the department's policy of denying favored-nation treatment to Russia in connection with wood pulp and paper because of the abrogation of the treaty of commerce between the United States and Russia.

A RAP AT RUSSIA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—Solicitor Volk of the state department, to-day postponed the announcement of his decision with respect to the petition which Harry K. Thaw lodged with the state department, asking that the British embassy be granted an exemption in the action of the Canadian authorities in forcing Thaw out of Canada.

OPPOSITION DEFEAT IN ALBERTA HOUSE
Amendment on Railway Policy is Voted Down After a Lengthy Debate

Edmonton, Alta., Oct. 3.—After a debate, which lasted till nearly 1 o'clock this morning, the opposition amendment to the premier's motion for a second reading of the Alberta and Great Waterways Bill, in which they asked for fuller information, was voted down. The count stood 26 to 17 against the amendment, every member being in his seat.
 The debate on the main motion will be resumed by Dr. Blow, south Calgary, this afternoon.
 Just before 6 o'clock Dr. Stewart, Lethbridge, submitted an amendment which he said embodied the policy of the opposition upon the subject.
 The amendment provided that the bill be not given a second reading until the government had laid before the House all correspondence, etc., setting forth the negotiations in any way affecting the difficulty in which the province is involved over the question, a draft copy of the proposed agreement with J. D. McArthur, a draft copy of the indemnity bond between the government and the banks, and all route maps, books, references and other material called for by the rules of the House when a private company applied for a city charter.
 The amendment also provided that before the second reading be given, Mr. McArthur appear before a select committee to explain in detail all the agreements entered into by him in any way affecting the settlement.
 The debate was confined chiefly to the opposition benches.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—A message was received by wire yesterday afternoon from Abbe Eugene Cramillon, who is in charge of the orphanage at Paspébiac, denying the statements of the officials of the Society for the Protection of Women and Children and declaring that there is not the slightest foundation for the stories that boys had been lashed for not knowing their catechism.
 The abbe also wired a certificate from Dr. E. Michaud, of New Carlisle, stating that on September 17 he examined all the children of the institution and found them all in perfect health and none bearing any signs of ill-usage or ill-treatment. Abbe Cramillon challenges the society to make good the allegations of its officers and threatens, if it fails to do so, to hold it responsible for slander in the courts.

AUSTRALIAN BUDGET INCREASES DEFENCE

Revision of Land Taxation is Foreshadowed by the Commonwealth Treasurer

Melbourne, Oct. 3.—Sir John Forrest, treasurer of the federal government, yesterday delivered his budget speech, which had been awaited with especial interest in consequence of his recently-reported intention of "drastically pruning the defence estimates." The facts are that he has increased them by over $1,000,000 bringing the amount per capita of population to 22¢. The precise amount now allotted to defence is $7,750,000.
 The budget is noteworthy for the decline shown in revenue and increment. There is annual excess expenditure of $200,000, which is met by a new taxation in lieu of the loan at one time proposed for railways, post offices and defence.
 Sir John called the attention of the House to the fact that during the last eleven years there had been an increased public debt of Australia. Loans amounting to £20,000,000 had been floated in London and £5,000,000 in the Australian Commonwealth. The treasurer alluded to the tendency now being shown to invest in government securities instead of industrial enterprises, and ascribed it to the friction between capital and labor in the industrial sphere.
 Sir John foreshadowed a future revision of the land taxation, the reforms proposed including a uniform valuation in the Commonwealth, both state and municipal.

SHOCKS LASTED FOR OVER FIFTEEN HOURS
 Panama, Oct. 2.—The official statement issued this afternoon concerning the earthquake shows that the first tremor was not noticeable except on the seismograph at the Ancon observatory. It occurred at 1.40 yesterday afternoon. The next and greatest shock was felt at 11.25 last night. Between then and 3.15 this morning eleven other tremors were recorded.

INTER-PROVINCIAL CONFERENCE DELAYED
 Toronto, Ont., Oct. 3.—Sir James Whitney, prime minister of Ontario, and Sir Lomer Gouin, prime minister of Quebec, who recently called the inter-provincial conference for October 29, have agreed to postpone the conference until October 27, and the various prime ministers have been notified to this effect.
 No official reason is given for the change of dates, but it is considered probable that the postponement was owing to the return to Canada in the early part of that week of the governor-general. The conference will be held in Ottawa.

LABOR DELEGATE'S OPINION.
 Brantford, Ont., Oct. 3.—At last night's meeting of the Trades Council, Delegate Foran disapproved of the attitude of the Dominion Congress towards the militia, saying: "The best thing for the men to do when the militia is out and shooting union strikers would be for each man to have a saved-off shotgun loaded with buckshot which would spread very wide, and they would scare the raw militia to the woods and there would be no scaring of the honest mechanic by an overbearing militia-man with a rifle."

WESTERN MAN MAY GET IT.
 Ottawa, Oct. 3.—When the term of Dr. Mills on the railway commission expires next winter it is believed that his successor is likely to be a Western man. Ontario now has four members on the commission, and when Commissioner Mills retires there will still be Messrs. Drayton, Scott, and McLean, while the prairie provinces at present have no representative on the commission.

CONCILIATION BOARD MEETS.
 Toronto, Oct. 3.—The board of conciliation and arbitration appointed by the Dominion government to adjust the wage dispute between the Grand Trunk Railway and the telegraph operators held its first meeting yesterday at the Union Station. The men are asking for an increase of about 20 per cent and shorter hours.

CHURCH WORK AMONG THE BLONDE ESKIMOS

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 3.—Rev. Bishop Lucas, the recently consecrated bishop of the Mackenzie River district, who is on a visit to the capital, in the course of an interview touching upon the famous Stefansson controversy, said that he could not agree with the explorer as to the effect of contact with white men on the Eskimo. He remarked upon the capacity of the Eskimo to reason out things for themselves, and went on to say:
 "The blonde Eskimo are within our diocese. We tried to reach them last summer, but the severe storms made us late in getting to the fishing grounds. Further, the presence of starying Eskimos at Cape Parry, who ate the food that was meant for the expedition, made further progress impossible. "The failure to reach them proves conclusively the need of a sailing vessel with an auxiliary, the season being so short that any heavy storms mean the abandonment of the trip for the season. So far as I am aware the Church of England is the only church that has tried to reach the blonde Eskimo, but the Roman Catholic church has sent in a priest by way of the Great Slave Lake, who may reach them or some other tribe."

EXPRESS DERAILED AT HIGH RATE OF SPEED
 Welland, Ont., Oct. 3.—Speeding at 45 miles an hour, the westbound New York to Toronto train was derailed on the T. H. & O. track at a curve near here yesterday. Although there were about 200 passengers on board, only one, William Hogz, Toronto, was injured. Scores of others were badly shaken up.
 The accident was caused by the tender leaving the track, carrying the rest of the train with it except the engine. A wrecking train and a relief train were hurried from Hamilton to the scene with doctors. The passengers were sent on to their destination as soon as possible.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?
 If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.
 When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore; doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally; has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.
 Keep it handy, Mother! A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other brand.

VOTE ON THE WATER BY-LAW.

The result of the vote taken yesterday on the question of water supply leaves no doubt as to the determination of the ratepayers to insist upon the completion of the work now in progress.

The people are determined to push the work now in progress at Sooke Lake to a conclusion, and that as speedily as possible.

HAS DISAPPEARED.

Where is the Attorney-General? Not a few people would like to know, notably the civic authorities, who are endeavoring to enlist the necessary support of his department in securing the presentment of an indictment of the promoters of the Willows meet before the grand jury in the present session.

The Times does not know where the Attorney-General has gone, but we do know what his purpose is.

operations. In this dazzling exploit it will be recalled that the allied army, under the impression that Napoleon was in camp at Boulogne, was preparing to make a raid upon France from the east.

There is a coincidence in the fact that the Attorney-General has mysteriously sped into the unknown just as the city was instituting proceedings against the Country Club.

LORD ESHER'S VIEWS.

A remarkable pamphlet has recently been published in England on "The Naval and Military Situation of the British Isles." The name of the author as given on the title-page is "Islander."

"Islander" applies the same process of thought with relation to naval problems. He has doubts about the dreadnought type and asks for a symposium of youthful minds on the tactical value of twelve light, swift vessels with oil engines, each carrying a 14-in. gun, employed against a super-dreadnought carrying twelve 14-in. guns.

It would be interesting to have his views on the eminent naval authorities in this country who branded a proposed organization of fast cruisers as a "tin-pot navy."

According to authentic reports the prairies constitute a bustling hive of activity these days. The wheat is being rushed to market with greater celerity than ever before and it is of a quality hardly ever equaled.

Our contemporary says it does not matter the reports of the meetings of the Political Equality League because they do not constitute news.

of conveyance. The staterooms on the C. P. R. steamers are quite comfortable, and we have our doubts respecting not only the rooms but about the service of meals on aeroplanes, or on aerodromes for that matter.

Some person "in another place" has, it appears, been complaining about the high price of beef. He is recommended to eat pork. That would be no remedy here. The owners of pigs, or rather the vendors of pork, in this part of the world, are also in clover.

We hope we shall be excused for heaving a sigh of relief at the thought that the problem of water supply has been finally and unalterably disposed of.

Successful Tea.—A very successful complimentary tea was given yesterday afternoon at the Victoria's Cooking school, 847 Fort street, when delicious teas and cakes were served to about 120 callers. Great interest was evinced by the heads of various schools and institutions, all of whom attended and expressed in most complimentary terms their satisfaction that there was now a school in Victoria where the culinary art could be successfully acquired and the problem solved of enabling young housewives to cater for their households in a more economical and effective manner than was possible hitherto.

Conductors Discharged.—Half a dozen conductors on the British Columbia electric railway have been discharged within the past few days as a result of investigations made by "spotters" who went about on the cars endeavoring to catch conductors doing what is known as "knocking down" fares. This gentleman of "knocking down" consists of some means or other putting the fare in one's pocket instead of the company's fare box, or else of getting it out afterwards. What system was being employed by the discharged men is not divulged.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN WERE CANAL CLOSED?

Gigantic Tie-Up Would Result If Earthquakes Disturbed Locks' Gates

What would happen, if after the Panama Canal is thrown open to navigation, a severe earthquake should upset the minute mechanism of the locks, or cause the Culebra Cut to slide in again?

This was the question discussed by shipping men yesterday after they had learned of the two severe earthquakes which visited the canal zone on Wednesday night.

It has been stated by engineers that if the locks are jarred out of position an eighth of an inch that the whole working of the canal will be out of working order.

Several years ago a serious tie-up was experienced at the Canadian and American Soo locks. A vessel in passing through the Canadian lock carried away the gates. In 24 hours no less than 125 steamships of different sizes were tied up at the entrance to the locks.

AMERICANA'S CREW NOT BELIEVED SAFE

'Frisco Shipping Men Think Reports Confused; Believe She Foundered

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—While there is no question as to the loss of both the schooner Americana and barquentine Amaranth in the South Seas, there is still some doubt here regarding the fate of the Americana's crew.

It is believed that the Americana was lost in mid-ocean and went down with all hands. The report that the crew of the Americana had reached Samoa in safety is doubted, and further news is awaited with interest.

The Tacoma Maru slipped into Yokohama ahead of the Canada and secured most of the cargo waiting there. As a result the liner cleared two weeks behind her schedule with very little freight in her hold and only a few passengers.

MARK KENNEDY AT 17 TO 1 SCORES WIN AT WILLOWS TRACK

Jockeys Hill and Riddle Star; Mandadeo Claimed for $410; Ladies' Days Announced

Magnificent riding by Pete Hill and the price that Mark Kennedy paid for winning the third race, $35.40, were the features of yesterday's racing bill at the Willows. One of the largest mid-week crowds of the meet turned out to see the ponies in action and they were given plenty of excitement. The races were all keenly contested and it was about an even break between the favorites and the long shots. The track was in perfect trim, with glorious weather greeting the race patrons. The large fields and exceedingly even horses in the different races, helped along the excitement.

Martin Suspended.

Jockey Martin, on Dr. J. B. Berry, almost carried Dotty, the favorite, off her feet in the seventh race and the judges immediately set down Martin for a week. His rough riding threw the speedy mare, to her knees and nearly threw Hill, and the officials gave him the limit. This was the only rough riding of the day, though the striking finishes brought out all that the jockeys had in their mounts. Riddle, Pauley and Wickland made their debut in the saddle, the former riding some nice races and starting off with a winner in Calcium, whom he put over in the second contest. Several of the finishes were heart-breakers. Jimmie, just nosing out Va-Va at the wire, while Oblivion would have beaten Daylight in another jump.

Mandadeo Claimed.

T. A. Davies claimed Mandadeo, after the latter had come from last to third position in the sixth race, paying $110 for the animal, which was owned by L. E. Bird. This gelding is one of the real cracks at the meet and looked a sure winner only to be left at the post. The judges also decided that Beda will have to improve upon her form at the barrier and told Trainer Gargan to have his mare at the schooling class for the next few days. Beda kept the field waiting about ten minutes, breaking the tape once, while Starter Tribe had finally to get down and get her in line. Several of the starts caught the field napping, no less than four being left in one race, while two were backing when the barrier was sprung in the sixth event.

Canada's Past Time.

There was no end of class in the entire card and in the sixth and seventh races no less than three winners on last performances faced the gate. Mark Kennedy's return to life in the third was the first eye-opener, while Canada came right back in the fifth with a clean-cut win. This old campaigner was never better and showed the fastest time of the day to a splendid field. There were six races at the six furlong distance, and the Patterson mare turned in the best time, covering the ground in 1:15 4-5, which is just one and two-fifths seconds off the track record by Monvina for the distance. The winner was not pressed, or she might have bettered this time. Dotty took one-fifth of a second more to win her race, while Beda won from a big bunch of good runners in 1:17. Mark Kennedy was but two-fifths more than Canada, so that the latter with 114 lbs. in the saddle, stepped the distance in grand time.

Ladies Free To-day.

This afternoon all ladies will be admitted to the track free and next week Tuesday and Friday have been set aside as Ladies' Days. To-morrow afternoon over a dozen of the horses now quartered at the track will go to the Saanich fair to take part in the running of the Saanich Derby, which is to be an annual event of the exhibition given by the Saanich Agricultural Association.

SOCCER SCHEDULE STARTS TO-MORROW

Arrangements have been completed for the opening of the Victoria and District Football Association to-morrow afternoon. The following are the Victoria West soccer teams for Saturday's games: Senior—Goal, Robertson; backs, Whyte and Prevost; halves, L. McDonald, Pettibrew, Thackeray; forwards, Baker, Stevens, N. ## STUDENTS BEATEN BY THE MASTERS

On Thursday the University School hockey eleven lost their second match 4 to 2 against a strong men's team gathered together by Mr. Collinson. The match was fast throughout and the boys were afforded every chance of picking up new points about the game and seeing what their chief weaknesses were. Mr. Hope, of the High School staff, again refereed. Teams:—Mr. Collinson's XI.—T. Corson, A. Hudson and O. Clouston; B. Sizer, C. Collinson (captain) and D. Stanley; W. Ford, A. Sparks, D. M. Grant, G. C. Grant, the Rev. Willis. University School—Henderson; Finlayson (captain) and Waldon; McInnes, Dobbie and Winch; Inverarity, Hudson, Balcom, Schofield and KilPatrick.

VANCOUVER DOGS WIN FIELD TITLE

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 2.—D. G. Macdonnel, the well-known local fancier, carried off both championships at the annual field trials of the Northwest Field Trials Club, which were run off yesterday at Ladner. The Derby stake was run off in the morning. Flo, owned by Mr. Macdonnel, was awarded first prize. Hamilton Abbott, of Vancouver, was second. Third prize went to Tonydon, owned by Mr. D. G. Macdonnel, Vancouver.

COLONIST TEAM EASILY BEATEN

Telephone Trundlers grabbed all three from the Colonist yesterday, winning by large margins. This evening the Outlaws and Colonist office will play. The scores:

NEW ZEALANDERS PLAY AT OAK BAY

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—The fourth invasion of New Zealand Rugby players occurred yesterday when two dozen husky men disembarked on the steamer Willochra for a six weeks' tour of the Pacific coast states and Canada. The visitors were feted throughout the day and evening. Informal addresses were made by representative Rugby players of the west, who had gathered to greet the visitors. The team is under the management of George H. Mason and the captain is M. McDonald. The first game will be played against the Olympic Club team here on Saturday.

THE GOLF CHAMPION

Francis Ouimet, the wonderful young golfer, who defeated Ray and Vardon, the English cracks, in the play-off for the world's championship. Ouimet was a former caddy and lives in Massachusetts, although his parents were Canadians from Quebec. He is said to have no nerves at all, and never showed a least bit of nervousness during the whole tournament.

EVEN MONEY BETS ON WORLD'S SERIES

New York, Oct. 2.—Outside of the home cities of the competing clubs in the coming world's series, wagering is an even money. In Philadelphia the Athletics are slight favorites over the New York team, and local supporters are quoting odds of 10 to 9 on the Giants.

Vancouver, Oct. 2.—The Vancouver team broke their losing streak when they came from behind in the eighth inning, bunched hits on Dell and finished on the long end of a 6-4 score. Kelly's erratic decisions helped Vancouver to win.

Score— R. H. E.
Vancouver ..... 6 5 4
All-Stars ..... 7 1 1
Batteries: Ingersoll and Griddle; Dell and Hannah.

VISITORS LOSE IN GOLF TOURNAMENT

Montreal, Oct. 3.—In a pelting rain and over a water-soaked course, the third round of the ladies' qualifying championship was played off yesterday. Two of the English players and the American champion, Mrs. Barlow, of Philadelphia, were eliminated from the first competition. The surprise of the day was the defeat of Mrs. Barlow by Miss Florence Scott, of Hamilton, who scored an easy victory with 7 up and 5 to play.

Miss Violet Pooley, of Victoria, B. C., was the only winner forced to play over the whole course to defeat her opponent, Miss Mabel Harrison, the Irish champion.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Judges Will Not Tolerate Rough Riding. For the second time since the Willows race meet opened, it has been necessary for the judges to discipline the riders for tactics which are against all rules of horse racing. The boys, it appears, have been losing their tempers too frequently, and after last week's sensational battle on the back stretch...

Will the N. H. A. Stand by its Agreement? While Sammy Lichtenhein and his brother club owners in the National Hockey Association conceded practically every point to the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, when the hockey commission was being formed, the test of their stand in this matter is still to come.

OCEAN SHORE IS BADLY INJURED

Another shipment of horses arrived to-day from Vancouver and the Willows stables are now filled to overflowing with thoroughbreds. The Country Club management are pleased with their entries and even faster racing is looked for next week. S. R. Richards arrived a few days ago from Helena with the first two-year-old Round Up, who will start in several of the local features.

WILLOWS RACES

EDWARD TRIBE Popular starter at the Willows, who is one of the most experienced gate-handlers on the Coast. He officiated at Minoru park all summer and was here last year.

FIGHTER LOOKING FOR A PROMOTER

Young Jackson, who styles himself the bantam champion of Canada, was in the city to-day. He is looking for a fight promoter by the name of S. H. Lawson, formerly of Victoria, who is lining up some padded mitt artists for a tour of South America.

TWO JUNIOR CLUBS.

At next Wednesday's meeting of the Victoria and District Football Association, steps will be taken to form a junior league for this season. Only two teams, the Victoria West and Y. M. C. A., have entered to date, and it is hoped that at least two other teams can be secured to organize a strong league for the juvenile soccer enthusiasts.

OVERNIGHT ENTRIES FOR TO-MORROW

Kennon, Handsome Ted, Plojo, Laura Clay, The Feller, Ernest H., Belle of Iroquois, Pontefract, Critic, Commendation, Adena, Ray Junior, Palaver, Florence S., Brack Bronta, Stare, Madeline B., Zinkand, Lady Renssler, Sadie Shapiro, Hazel G., Hazel G., Commerce, Bay handicap, Conjury, Hester, Big Lumax, Dusky Dave, May Buena, Sidney Peters, Gaty Pallen, Marsand, Doreington, Kid Nelson, Canapa, Palatable, Lambetha, Prince Winter, Mabel King, Trocha, Wild Fern, Lord of the Forest, Sapadra, Joe Frank, Meada.

PADDOCK PATTER

Mark Kennedy was certainly the big surprise of the day. Canapa covered the six furlongs in the fastest time of the day. A couple of new riders appeared on the track and the public showed their approval by backing these jockeys to the limit. Va-Va got away bad in the first race, and was only beaten a nose at the wire. Hill had a fine day, riding three winners, including Mark Kennedy. Dotty ran a game race in the seventh, making a show of her field after being bumped to her knees at the start. Mandadero was left at the post, but finished a bang up third after a remarkable run. O'Brien made a grand bid for the final race on Flying, but The Monk had too much in reserve and was an easy winner. Four horses were left at the post in the third race, Danfield, Commerce, Sporting Life and Sadie Shapiro being the sufferers. Claver did not make his run on Va-Va until entering the stretch head, and then he was a shade too late.

SHIPS OF THE AIR RIVAL THOSE OF SEA

Gigantic Zeppelin Dirigible Nearly as Long as Modern Atlantic Liner. Few sciences have demanded such a heavy toll as that of the air, while in addition the German aerial fleet has become quite notorious for its bad luck. Zeppelin craft being the principal sufferers, says the Glasgow News. The Li is the eighth Zeppelin to meet with disaster since the military and naval authorities of the Fatherland turned their attention towards aviation. Caught in a Storm. The naval airship Li was caught in a storm of considerable violence, which set in without warning to the north of Heligoland, and was hurled to the surface of the water and wrecked. She was in charge of Lieutenant-Commander Hanns. Torpedo boats hurried to the scene of the disaster, and although the ship remained afloat for an hour, only seven of the crew were saved, 18 of the men being lost. A Great Airship. Li was the only airship in the possession of the German navy, but she was a monster Zeppelin of the very latest type, and her wonderful flights by day and night had led the government to order a second and larger vessel of the same type to be known as the L2, which is now nearing completion. Just over 525 feet in length the L2 was only about 20 feet shorter than the huge Canadian liner Empress of Britain. In this huge envelope 77,500 cubic feet of gas were carried—nearly eight times as much as that used in the British army airship Delta. Her three powerful motors gave her a speed of over 50 miles an hour, and her two roomy cabs were capable of carrying 30 officers and men. She was fitted with wireless telegraphy, and in the early part of this year a searchlight of 40,000 candle-power was added to her equipment in readiness for the naval manoeuvres in the North Sea. This searchlight was of the same pattern as those used in the battleships of the German navy, and it was expected that it would enable the crew to make observations from a height of from 4,000 feet to 5,000 feet above the sea. Li's Wonderful Flights. The Li had many wonderful flights to her credit. For some time she was stationed at the Johannisthal ground near Berlin, and while there she made repeated journeys to the coast. After the addition of the searchlight to her equipment she flew to Hamburg, being stationed there during the April manoeuvres. At Heligoland, North Sea Island, 100 miles west of Hamburg, the German authorities are constructing a great naval base with an airship harbor and concealed revolving sheds of the latest type. The Li had more than once been housed on the island. The Li was the great airship which obtained some notoriety in England last year through the suggestion that she was the vessel sighted over Sheerness in the darkness of an October night. Previous German Disasters. The principal disasters to German aircraft since 1905 are: January, 1905—Zeppelin II. totally destroyed in a storm. August, 1908—Zeppelin IV. broke loose in a squall, took fire and was destroyed. April, 1910—Zeppelin II. (renamed) totally wrecked on the coast of England. June, 1910—Zeppelin-built Deutschland totally wrecked on forest trees. September, 1910—Passenger airship Zeppelin VI. completely burned. April, 1911—Ersatz Deutschland wrecked on five journeys. May, 1911—Passenger Zeppelin wrecked on top of its shed. Passengers and crew rescued. April, 1911—Passenger Zeppelin wrecked near Lauenburg. May, 1911—Zeppelin airship Ersatz Deutschland wrecked at Dusseldorf. May, 1911—Dirigible Ruthenberg wrecked near Krefeld. June, 1911—Ersatz No. 5 destroyed by fire at Munden. September, 1911—German military airship M2 destroyed by fire during manoeuvres. June, 1912—Airship Schwaben destroyed by fire. Several people injured. October, 1912—M3 and M4 destroyed by fire, and the M1 and M2 damaged. March, 1913—Ersatz M2 wrecked upon landing at Karlsruhe. July, 1913—Army airship Shuttelans wrecked near Scheldt, one soldier killed. The Japanese battleship Kongo is the largest in the world.

THIS YEAR'S WORLD SERIES MAY BE LAST

New York, Oct. 3.—This year may be the last to see a world's series, according to baseball gossip here. It is said that August Herrman, chairman of the national baseball commission and owner of the Cincinnati club, has broached the idea, with a plan that the regular league season be reduced to 112 games in each league, to be followed by an inter-league schedule of sixty-four games, by which each National League team would play four games at home and four abroad with each of the American League teams. The total winning percentage for the two schedules might determine the title of the world's championship. Those arguing for the abandonment of the big series point out that out of sixteen major league clubs only four have shared in the world's series spoils since 1903. TO MEET JOHNSON. New York, Oct. 3.—Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette, two leading colored heavyweights, will meet for ten rounds here to-night to decide which will box Jack Johnson in Europe next December. COCUS WOOD IS THE HARDEST KNOWN WOOD; oak is the strongest. The heaviest British wood is that of the box tree, which sinks in water.

UNITED STATES WINS.

New York, Oct. 3.—Frank Marshall, United States chess champion, beat the Bohemian champion, O. Duras, in the third game of the series of five at the Manhattan Chess Club to-day. The score to date is Marshall, 3; Duras, 0. STUDENTS PRACTICE. The Law Students Rugby Club will hold a practice at Oak Bay on Saturday, the 4th inst., at 2.30. All members are requested to be on hand. WHAT WAS THE PENANCE? A politician who prided himself on his British downrightness, and indeed affected that trait in excess, held an important office in the government when Mr. Justin McCarthy was a leader-writer on the Daily News. One day, writes the author of 'Collections and Recollections' in the Manchester Guardian, the minister passed McCarthy in the lobby, and without a word, thrust a paper into his hand. Great Britain has a longer sea coast than any other nation in Europe. It measures 2,755 miles, with Italy second, 2,472 miles. Russia ranks third, and France fourth.

"DEVIL'S FASHIONS." Cardinal John M. Farley, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of New York, has declared war on immodest fashions, declares the Mount Clemens, Michigan, correspondent of the New York Herald (European edition).

"The silk skirt and the diaphanous dress are products of the devil's industry," said Cardinal Farley. "The fashions of to-day are generally scandalous. These various forms of degrading creations are brought about by society women attempting to outdo one another."

PICKETING.

To the Editor: It is not always that a stray shot hits, and when I sent you those lines re Picketing last week I was not aware that my former opponent was within range, but there is no one I would sooner hear from on the subject than Mr. Freeman, as he so ably presents the opposite extreme. Mr. Freeman says: "The conclusive answer to 'McGregor's' contention that there is any analogy between the action of the strikers and that of the dentists, is found in the fact that the former violated the law and the latter did not." To admit of such a conclusion in view of the facts submitted is to place the acts of a provincial legislature above the decision of the Privy Council. There is an apparent difference between legalising and making law, the former can be done by an act of parliament, but, to quote Blackstone, "No man nor body of men can make or ever did make a law; it was made by a higher authority than man."

The liquor traffic is legalized by statute of every country, yet the supreme court of the United States has on several occasions declared it to be unlawful, re case of Bartemeyer vs. Iowa, Miller vs. Kansas, etc. There is no moral obligation compelling a person to recognize a statute that is constitutionally wrong, and in the opposition thereto lies the seed of reform.

Mr. Freeman further remarks: "The law requires that a dentist, before he undertakes to practice the very delicate functions of his profession, shall possess very satisfactory qualifications for his profession, to be attested by an authority duly appointed." The law has nothing to do with it. By a piece of the most nefarious legislation ever enacted outside of Mexico it handed the whole affair over to the tender mercies of the B. C. Dental Association. It is this association which requires a certain standard of a dentist before he can practice in British Columbia, and it is to this tribunal that the best dentist of any other land must bow before he can practice here for a living, as the case in court previously referred to clearly shows. What powers have been conferred upon them the annals of labor and all labor trouble will not furnish a more undisputed form of picketing than that given recently by the dentists of Victoria, yet Mr. Freeman says: "If the association does no more than to employ peaceful agencies in the enforcement of the law I cannot understand that they are obnoxious to criticism." Because they are immune from the arm of the law does not place them beyond criticism.

A miner goes before a board of examiners appointed by the government and if successful he receives a certificate qualifying him to go underground and mine coal. A further examination is required of a fire-boss or mine-manager. These examinations are as necessary to the miner as that of the dentist is to the public. A union man's card does not confer on the holder any special privileges. It is simply a receipt of one dollar, more or less, which he has paid towards advancing the conditions of his trade. That unionism has improved conditions and wages in the various trades is not disputed, and we all look with a certain contempt on the man who, while receiving the benefits of the labors of others, refuses to pay his share.

I agree with Mr. Freeman and the view he has taken re my remarks on the action of the hospital board, and if he would apply the same line of argument in conferring special powers to certain classes would they not stand equally condemned?

Dentistry means no more to the dentist than mining coal does to the coal miner; they both belong to the same labor class and follow their respective occupations for a livelihood. Yet we see the one feasting with his lord while the other is compelled to partake of the crumbs which fall from his master's table. Does the unsettled state of labor indicate an evolution in the condition of labor or is it the aftermath of our modern and present-day civilization?

There is no class to which a strike is more obnoxious than to the strikers themselves, yet what other means have we advanced towards the efficient settlement of labor troubles? The riots which followed the protracted strike of coal miners only emphasized the fact that human endurance cannot last forever. Would the special legislation which the professional classes of labor are enjoying, if extended to all alike, prove a remedy or is the presence of class legislation the cause of labor unrest? "M'GREGOR."

Victoria, October 1, 1913.

THEOSOPHY.

To the Editor: Would you kindly give me space in your paper to reply to the conglomeration of misstatements regarding Mrs. Annie Besant and the Theosophical Society?

I do not know the writer of the news item which appeared on page 10 of Wednesday night's Times, but I should say he is evidently prejudiced against Mrs. Besant and profoundly ignorant of the elementary teachings of Theosophy.

Mrs. Annie Besant is universally recognized as the most eloquent woman in the lecture field, and in all her lectures and writings emphasizes the spiritual or "life" side of Theosophy; she is certainly not given to worldliness or "black magic," as stated in the article mentioned. Mrs. Besant is one of the most potent spiritual forces in the world, and is regarded as the greatest woman of the age by a considerable number of people.

Regarding Theosophic teachings the writer contradicts himself; in one place the underlying unity of all the great world religions is pointed out, and in another comparative religion is referred to as "Asiatic muddle"; the very reason for teaching of reincarnation is ridiculed, and the natural law of Karma is confused with "fate"; all this simply for the purpose of attacking Mrs. Besant.

The writer speaks of orthodox Theosophists and of "heretics." I do not understand this, as Theosophy has no creed, but numbers in her ranks Christians, Hindus, Buddhists, Mohanists, and even Atheists, who are banded together in a universal brotherhood, and who study comparative religion, philosophy and science, and endeavor to find a satisfactory explanation of the unexplained phenomena of the universe, giving one another perfect and unrestricted freedom so far as the intellect is concerned.

Finally, as the article refers to Sir Oliver Lodge, it may perhaps surprise you to know that he is a member of the despised Theosophical Society.

CITY HALL TROUBLES.

To the Editor.—In your editorial of the 20th, under the above caption, you express an opinion based upon the circumstances as known to them from outside observation, and you draw the conclusion that reorganization is needed throughout the city service, and end by saying "If the mayor has a scheme of reorganization let us know what it is," etc.

It is not rather late in the day for the Times to ask what the mayor's "scheme" of reorganization for the year is, seeing that throughout the year radical changes have been made in the service by which the staff has been reduced by over fifty in number, representing a saving in the salary list of some $50,000 a year, and that the same work of reorganization is still going on?

The mayor's "scheme" is easily explained, viz., to attempt, under the most difficult circumstances of an obsolete system of government, with serious opposition on the part of certain members of the council and the want of assistance and encouragement on behalf of the press, to bring order in the service out of the chaos of 1912, and, in doing so, to make the city's business conform to the methods of efficiency and economy of private business.

May I ask the Times to consider what usually occurs when a new manager is installed to straighten out the affairs of a private company. Does he not immediately study ways and means of reducing expenses, and, taking one department at a time, reduce the staff as far as possible, retaining the services of those who are most energetic and up-to-date and eliminating those who are obsolete and less active? In other words, reducing to a minimum of staff with a maximum of efficiency and cutting out all dead-wood. The mayor's "scheme" has been just this, nothing more, nothing less, and, the opinion of the Times and others notwithstanding, has not and is not influenced by any personal likes or dislikes, forgetting the individual personality and figuring on each one as a unit of the service.

The Times is well aware of the impossibility of obtaining 100 per cent. efficiency in the city service under our obsolete system of irresponsible government, where influence from within and without and public and private sentiment and the consequent overruling of any attempt the mayor may make, however strenuous his efforts, he can only succeed in modifying inefficiency and loss to the service.

As I have many times before stated in the most emphatic manner, this loss will continue until the system itself is reorganized on the lines of a commission or some other form of civic government which will bring about direct responsibility and direct management.

If the public press would exert the same amount of energy towards the obtaining of an up-to-date system of government as it does in finding fault with existing conditions, it would be doing a glorious service for our city.

In the meantime, regardless of the Times's opinion of the mayor personally, he will continue as strenuously as attempts to bring about as great an efficiency and economy as the circumstances will permit up to the last day of his service.

Yours truly,
A. J. MORLEY, Mayor.

SOOKE AS A NAVAL STATION.

To the Editor:—Have the Canadian people ever seriously thought how incumbent it is that they should relieve the Mother Country at once from the burden of protecting them any longer? Surely it is time they began to stick up for themselves.

The day is coming when this unpreparedness is going to end badly for Canada, and British Columbia will get the first shock. Everybody knows how utterly unprepared we are, and if an enemy appeared at Victoria the "white flag" must at once go up in consequence of this cruel neglect.

That the government has never made use of Sooke Harbor, with Mount Maguire close beside it commanding the Straits of San Juan, is neglect of the worst kind, for it is culpable neglect.

What is the use of talking, or spending millions to defend Victoria, in Victoria? Victoria defences should begin near Cape Flattery, with a line of forts down to Sooke, whose inner harbor alone is larger than Esquimalt and Victoria put together. Nature has at Sooke provided such natural defences that to neglect them is absolute insanity.

Will any of your readers say who the Straits of San Juan belong to. Are they the joint property of Canada and the United States?

If war broke out between the United States and —, could — come down the straits to destroy Seattle, etc.?

The time for talk has long since passed by; let us move somebody to action.

IN MEMORY OF KING EDWARD.

A true story of charming devotion to the memory of the late King Edward has just come to the knowledge of a Marlenbad correspondent.

For the past four years the congregation of the English church there, at which King Edward worshipped during his many visits, have noticed each Sunday a bouquet of beautiful white roses on the seat that was always occupied by the late King.

King Edward, when Prince of Wales, went each day and bought a flower for a dear old lady, Mme. Kreig, and on becoming King, he commanded her always to bring the flowers herself to the Windsor hotel. There he himself took from the old lady's hands.

Each year since his death, says the Express correspondent, she has, on every Sunday morning during the season that the church is open, sent this bouquet to be placed on the seat as a token of her deep respect and gratitude. It was done during all this time unknown to a single soul save Mme. Kreig and her servant.

Mr. George Arthur, an author who has written popular verse for Mr. Wilkie Bard and for Mr. George Edwardes's productions, has just published a little volume entitled "Patterlogues." The following are some extracts:

Adam—The first man, who was born on the longest day—it had no Eve. Author of "Only One Girl in the World for Me."

Anne, Queen—An early English Queen, principally noted for being dead.

Anderson, Hans—The inventor of fairy tales and other excuses for being out late at night.

Burns, Bobbie—The only Scotch writer who stayed in Scotland instead of migrating to Fleet street.

Columbus—The discoverer of America. He died of a broken heart because he couldn't understand the slang.

Darwin—The man who discovered that his family tree was a cocoon tree.

POWERS SHOULD UNITE

Ex-Attorney-General of New Zealand Declares Pacific Powers Must Join Hands

A remarkable speech on naval defence policy was recently delivered in Wellington, New Zealand, by Sir John Findlay, ex-attorney-general of New Zealand, who accompanied Sir Joseph Ward to England, and took part in the deliberations of the Imperial Conference.

"What are the perils and what is the source of the perils that surround us?" was, he argued, the question we had to consider in determining what policy a country like New Zealand should adopt for naval purposes. In his judgment, we were not confronted by any serious risk of conquest or permanent possession by a European power. Two strong reasons could be advanced for that conclusion: First, the existence of the British navy in home waters; secondly, the distance from the naval bases of any naval European power.

"On the other hand, he wished to stress the point that we were confronted, and would be increasingly confronted, by a peril from the Orient, and that power was not only and essentially applicable to New Zealand, but every nation whose lands had a Pacific littoral shared our peril, and to almost the same extent. Courtesy, respect, demanded that we should treat Japan with the utmost civility one could command. She was, and probably for some years would be, a faithful ally of Great Britain. But we owed it to candor—we owed it even to something greater, our national freedom—that at this hour we should clearly see the perils that confronted us and boldly, in a British manner, state them and avoid them.

A Pacific Problem. "You and I know that the language of diplomacy," said Sir John Findlay, "is the last guide that a country like this should invoke as to the policy of the country in maintaining its national preservation." The naval defence of New Zealand was, he went on to say, involved in the larger naval defence of the whole Pacific; and the policy we should adopt was the one which most successfully protected the Pacific from Oriental invasion.

In twenty years Japan had risen from obscurity to be one of the world's greatest powers on land and sea, and she had placed herself in the forefront of military nations. In 1905 by adroit diplomacy she became an ally of Great Britain, and by a treaty, defensive and offensive, she protected herself from any combination of nations. Japan was now the supreme naval power of the Pacific. One must bear in mind her ambitions. She was a strong insular nation, flushed with recent successes, proud of her past and recent achievements, determined to show the world that she was not inferior either in military prowess or intellect to the leading countries of the world. She felt she had a destiny—the hegemony of the Pacific. She had many advantages; she lay strategically in the centre of the Pacific.

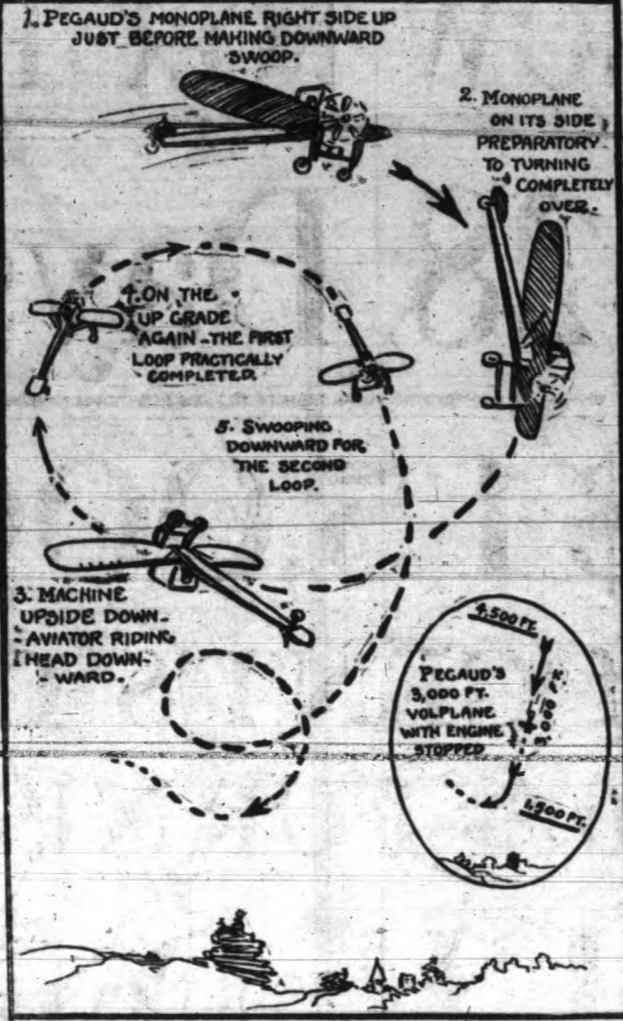

America's Attitude. The feeling against the Japanese in America was not merely one of color. The American people believed, as we did, that "east is east, and west is west," and that you could not have under the same government a large infusion of eastern blood. To-day, in the Hawaiian Islands, there were more men who had been trained in the Japanese army than the whole of the field force of the United States, and if war were declared to-morrow Hawaii would become almost at once a Japanese dependency. She could also take the Philippines, Pago Pago Harbor, and Alaska. These were important bases in the Pacific.

If Japan established herself in the great harbor of Pago Pago, New Zealand would be completely at her mercy. Japan did not come down in any spirit of aggrandisement, seeking by conquest to rob us of our lands. She said: "We open our ports to your people with respect to equality. We ask, under international obligations, that you treat us in the same way. We are entitled, as one of the foremost nations of the world, to be treated with the same respect as you when you enter Japan. And we shall insist that you treat us so." How are we to meet that?

The English View. In England, from what he found there, there was an utter absence of appreciation of the peril, and of the sentiment of the people of New Zealand, and of that of the people of Australia and Western America. In England they pointed to the British-Japanese alliance. There was no fear of Oriental invasion in England. The Labor government of Australia—one of the last, one might think, to place itself under obligations in respect to military and naval defence—had strained every nerve to push on its defence. We could not create and maintain a fleet necessary to meet in the hour of battle the Japanese navy.

The people of the mother-land must make self-preservation the first law of nature. They must look to their national existence first, and could not afford to send 12,000 miles away from their home bases, a sufficient number of the British fleet, which, if found with our local fleet, could meet in battle the strength of the Japanese navy.

What, then, was to be done? They had already the hand extended halfway to meet them from America. There were a hundred million people there, and 10s. a head from the people directly affected would provide a fleet strong enough to meet the Japanese navy at any time. Added to that would be such a portion of the British fleet as would come to our assistance in the time of trouble, partly by way of the Panama Canal and partly by Suez.

What he desired to stress mostly was this—that we could not rely upon the British navy for our defence when Japan had resolved to set herself to establish herself as the over-lord of this great ocean. The time was ripe for the united action of Canada, Australasia and America in respect to naval defence of the Pacific.

CHAIRMAN'S CHANGED TONE. In the land of the bens the estate factor still retains much of his old-time power and dignity, says the Glasgow News. This was exemplified by an amusing incident which occurred the other day at a meeting of an Inverness-shire parish council.

Shortly after the meeting was concluded, one of the members—a burly farmer—lighted his brier and began to puff away with complacency and evident satisfaction. "Obliged me by putting that pipe in your pocket, Mr. Mac," snapped the chairman, with some show of asperity.

"It is highly indecorous," he continued, "to smoke while disposing of parochial business." The abashed agriculturist instantly obeyed the peremptory behest, and looked as if he had been convicted of every crime in the calendar.

Shortly afterwards the local factor entered, and, being a confirmed devotee of my lady nicotine, his meerschaum was soon in full blast. He received no reproof from the chair.

When he was returning the pipe to its case the farmer, with a merry twinkle in his eye, asked for a "draw," and he was soon sending clouds of smoke up to the ceiling.

"After you, please," was now the watchword; and that pipe, after having, of course, been repeatedly replenished, was handed from member to member until all were satisfied.

The chairman discreetly pocketed his pride and took his share with the others out of the factor's cornucopia.

ACTOBAT'S THREAT. An amusing story told by the late Charles Warner at the time he was playing Coupeau in "Drink" is recalled in the Daily Chronicle, apropos of the doubles who do the sensational dives, etc., for the heroes and villains of melodrama.

The "actobat" who did the fall from the scaffold for Warner had been striking against his 2s. a night and wanting 3s. The risk, he thought, was worth an extra 1s.

Warner refused indignantly to give him more money; but the man won in the end. Perched up on the scaffold one night, ready for the fall, he held up three fingers to the actor and waited. Warner, standing in the wings opposite, shook his head firmly. The man gave a "very well, then," shrug of the shoulders and prepared to retreat into the scenery; whereupon Warner frantically signalled to him that he would give 3s., and from that night onwards this was his wage.

THE LORD PROVOST AND HIS TRAVELS

Chief Magistrate of Glasgow Gives His Impressions of Recent Tour of Canada

Lord Provost Stevenson returned to Glasgow recently after a short, but nevertheless enjoyable trip to Canada and some of the principal towns of the United States, says the Glasgow News. His lordship, who was discovered and disturbed in attending to a voluminous correspondence which had accumulated in his absence, granted a few minutes to a News representative, and gave some opinions which he had gleaned as a result of his extensive journeyings among the rising communities of the Farther West, Canada, municipally, has improved, according to the Lord Provost, since his last visit. Although it was impossible for him in his short stay to make a profound study of civic problems, he was impressed with the greater sense of municipal responsibility at the present time.

Street and Lighting Improvements. His lordship expressed himself as surprised at the particularly fine street lighting in the Canadian cities. On the matter of road-making, however, he was not satisfied. He pointed out that asphalt and other forms of smooth paving were being carried out on a much larger scale, and in smaller towns than they in Glasgow were accustomed to, though travellers in Canada must be shocked at the incongruity of a thoroughfare being splendidly paved, and the side streets being left little better than in a state of nature. The consolation, however, was that as soon as the side lots were taken up, the same would be continued.

Housing. The housing problem in Canada was totally different from that in Glasgow. The enormous immigration which had been going on had made accommodation both scarce and dear, and additional housing was not being supplied as fast as required. On the one hand, overcrowding resulted, and on the other, artisans connected with the building trades were earning unprecedented wages. Masons, he was told, were getting up to seven dollars (28s. 2d.) and even more per day, and the ordinary remuneration of unskilled labor was about 2 1/2 to 3 dollars. The same thing was apparent in Canada as at home—the tendency of labor to gravitate towards the town. This had produced over-supply in some instances, and consequent unemployment in big centres simultaneously with a scarcity of labor in agricultural districts and especially on farms at considerable distances from large communities.

Openings for Agriculturists. On undoubted authority he was assured that men of agricultural expertise could secure employment all the year round on farms to an almost unlimited extent. But even without such experience able-bodied men were in demand, especially for harvesting operations, for which there was a great dearth of labor, while for a long time there would be plenty to do in connection with the great railway operations in the West; the doubling of the Canadian Pacific track; the completion of the Canadian Northern, and the connecting of the Grand Trunk with the Pacific coast.

Rates and Taxes. On the point of a comparison of rates and taxes, his lordship confessed he was at a difficulty. "I was not able," he said, "to make a study of the relative cost of municipal services in Canada and America with Glasgow. The question is complicated by an entirely different form of rating, the charges being levied on capital value, and therefore being included in the rent where the occupier was not the proprietor. Of course, occupation and ownership often go together there. The problem of taxation of site values appeared to have been solved to a large extent in British Columbia, where the leading cities raise the bulk of their revenues from taxes upon urban land, buildings being exempted.

A STORY OF HICKORY WOOD. The late Mr. J. Hickory Wood, the pantomime librettist, used to tell a story of Dan Leno's part in a Drury Lane pantomime. It is here reproduced from the Daily Chronicle: "He took the part of Mother Goose, a very funny part, which had been specially written for Mr. Fred Emney, always so excellent in old woman characters. I had arranged for Dan Leno to play 'Idle Jack'; but the part was somewhat overshadowed by Mother Goose, and Leno refused to have anything to do with the pantomime unless he could play the old woman.

"Arthur Collins himself, who was playing Leno what was then a very big salary, was also anxious that Idle Jack should be handed on to someone else, so Herbert Campbell played it, and Fred Emney took the part of the Mayor. I remember Collins's very words when he saw the part. 'I had originally written for Dan Leno. 'Man alive!' he cried, 'I can't afford to have £250 sitting in the dressing-room half the evening!'"

REMINISCENCES OF THE LATE COUNT HAYASHI
Secret Chapter of Anglo-Japanese Alliance

London, Sept. 18.—The recent publication of the third instalment of the "Reminiscences of the late Count Hayashi," covering the latter stages of the negotiations for the conclusion of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, makes fascinating reading.

Germany's Suggestion.
The Reminiscences commence in April, 1901, at which time Count Hayashi was the imperial Japanese minister in London. On a date in that month Baron Eckartstein, the German charge d'affaires, called on him and suggested to him a triple alliance of Germany, Great Britain, and Japan for the maintenance of peace in the Far East.

On April 16 Count Hayashi telegraphed to Tokio suggesting that the proposal was worthy of serious consideration. On the same day he received a reply from the Japanese foreign office authorizing him to sound Lord Lansdowne.

In the course of the preliminary pourparlers which followed with the approval of Prince Ito the then premier (a fact important to note in view of the prince's subsequent attitude), Lord Lansdowne twice suggested that it should be permissible, and might be advisable to introduce a third power into the proposed treaty.

This, coupled with the fact that Baron Eckartstein had himself suggested a triple alliance, led the Japanese minister to believe for a time that some understanding already existed between Great Britain and Germany. It is, moreover, clear from the Reminiscences that, in the early stages of the negotiations, Lord Lansdowne was keeping Baron Eckartstein informed of their progress.

On July 15 Sir Claude MacDonald, the British minister at Tokio, who was at home on leave, called on Count Hayashi and said to him that King Edward had personally expressed to him the wish for a permanent understanding with Japan, while the premier, Lord Salisbury, was desirous of a definite alliance, as otherwise it was feared that Japan might get over her difficulties with Russia and form an alliance with that country.

"Indeed," said Sir Claude, "the German minister came to the foreign office and told me that there was a possibility of an alliance between Japan and Russia."

Now follows, perhaps, the most extraordinary part of Count Hayashi's recital—the story of the negotiations with Russia conducted parallel with those proceeding in London. When Count Hayashi telegraphed the first draft of the treaty to Tokio he received a reply instructing him to proceed to Paris to meet Prince Ito, who was on his way to Russia, and to obtain his views on the subject. The count had been informed by private advices from home that the marquis's journey was for the purpose of negotiating a convention between Japan and Russia.

Marquis Ito told Count Hayashi that in his opinion it would be no longer profitable for Japan and Russia to continue to look at each other "with crossed eyes," in reference to Korea, and it was urgent for some compromise to be made. The basis of compromise was that Japan should have a free hand in Korea, neither country should establish a naval base at Manampo, and Russia should have a free hand in Manchuria.

According to the Marquis Ito's diplomatic assistant, Mr. Tsubouchi, Mr. Kurino, afterwards baron, had accepted the post of ambassador to Russia on condition that he should be entrusted with the mission of effecting a compromise with Russia.

"Outrageous."
The Marquis Ito was much puzzled when he heard that the negotiations with Great Britain had progressed so far. I considered that if what the Marquis and Mr. Tsubouchi had told me was true, the action of my government in dispatching the marquis on a mission to Russia, and especially the Kurino part of the affair, was outrageous.

[The late Count Hayashi seems to have forgotten that in July, after his interview with Sir Claude MacDonald, he had telegraphed to Tokio advising that steps should be taken as if to conclude a convention with Russia, in order to bring the British government up to the mark.]

"After seeing the marquis I telegraphed home to get my government to reflect on the matter, and received the following telegram from the foreign minister, Komura: 'Government not changed its policy at all. Kurino not given any mission.'

"Then the Marquis Ito was even more puzzled. However, he saw that the Japanese government could not withdraw from the negotiations with Great Britain, and finally, as the result of my eloquence, I gained the marquis to support in principle the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

A British Warning.
"On the 20th I saw Lord Lansdowne, and he asked for the reply of my government to the draft. He added that if there was a delay then there might be a difficulty in concluding the treaty, as the news might leak out. He then referred to the Marquis Ito's trip to Russia, and warned me against any attempt to make a convention with Russia whilst the negotiations with England were in progress.

"I replied that a treaty of alliance, being a new thing to Japan we had to consider it very carefully. The Marquis Ito's visit to Russia, I assured him, had no special significance. I said that he could not come to London as the weather was bad. Lord Lansdowne, however, pointed out that he had recently crossed the Atlantic, landing in France, and if he was travelling for his health he surely would not go to Russia. Lord Lansdowne was not satisfied with my explanation; that was obvious.

"After leaving the Marquis I was met by the under secretary, Mr. Bertie, who was more outspoken. He said: 'If news of the Anglo-Japanese negotiations should get to the ears of Russia she might come to you with a more attractive proposal, and our course would thereby be blocked. I warn you, however, that the Russian pledges would be repudiated without compunction, and I advise you to be most careful.'

When Count Hayashi sent a copy of certain proposed amendments of the draft treaty to Prince Ito in St. Petersburg, the prince strongly objected both to the draft and the amendments, taking the view that the treaty as drafted gave Great Britain interests in Korea which she never before enjoyed. He also said that he was satisfied that there was reasonable ground for getting a pretty satisfactory Russo-Japanese convention, and pointed out that he had seen the Czar, who also wanted an agreement between the two countries.

Orders from Tokio.
The "Reminiscences" then deal with Count Hayashi's wonder at the attitude adopted by the Marquis, and relate how he telegraphed to Tokio and received imperative orders from the Marquis Komura to go ahead.

As the result of this telegram Count Hayashi on December 10 presented the Japanese amendments to Lord Lansdowne.

The remainder of the "Reminiscences" contain the details of the negotiations and the final drafting of the treaty. The question of the inclusion of India was got over by an exchange of communications that, whilst India was not mentioned in the treaty itself it should in case of necessity and by mutual consent be competent for the allies to extend the scope of the treaty to that empire.

The question arises why, if the original suggestion of the alliance came from Germany and she was, as seen, kept informed of the negotiations up to a certain point, she was not invited to participate in their further course. Count Hayashi points out that Lord Lansdowne's intention was to complete the negotiations between Japan and Great Britain, and previous to the signature, to invite Germany to participate. He even went so far as a couple of days before signature as to inform Count Hayashi that the Marquis Komura could show the draft treaty as decided to the German minister in Tokio. Count Hayashi telegraphed this to Tokio.

Telegram Too Late.
Late that night, however, Lord Lansdowne changed his mind and sent a messenger to the Japanese Legation requesting Count Hayashi to telegraph to Tokio that the treaty should not be shown to the German minister until after signature. A telegram was dispatched, but arrived too late, as the contents of the negotiations up to that time, Lord Lansdowne, therefore, showed the treaty to the German Ambassador in London. According, however, to Count Hayashi, Prince von Bulow refused to participate in the treaty owing to umbrage with Great Britain over other questions.

In a few comments on the events which he has narrated in the "Reminiscences," Count Hayashi remarks that when Count Lansdowne saw the text of the treaty he was the most astonished man in the world. He could not understand the use of the word "war," as in his opinion there never could be even the possibility of a war in the Far East.

The "Reminiscences" conclude with very bitter criticism of the Japanese government and the manner in which their writer was treated. Count Hayashi reiterates his protest against the dispatch of the Marquis Ito to St. Petersburg during the negotiations with Great Britain. He describes it as a breach of faith and a lack of honor. He sums the matter up by saying that Japan "won the support of England at the cost of the respect of Russia and other European countries."

How the Alliance Decided.
It is stated that the Marquis Ito's efforts to get the British negotiations thrown over were so persistent that Katura and Komura informed their colleagues in the cabinet that if the Emperor decided against them they would tender their resignation.

At the council a full report of the negotiations conducted by Hayashi was laid before the Emperor, and then a full report of Ito's conversations in St. Petersburg and his telegrams with regard to both the Russo-Japanese convention and the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The Emperor, having carefully studied both reports, called for a secretary, and ordered him to go to a certain compartment in the Imperial cabinet and get "the report made by the Marquis Ito on the proposal for an alliance with Great Britain."

When the report was brought the Emperor looked through it, and then turned to the council and said: "This is a report made by the Marquis Ito on a very important matter, and he advances most cogent reasons why an alliance with Great Britain should, if possible, be concluded." He then turned to the Marquis Komura and ordered him to telegraph to Marquis Ito in Berlin, where he then was, and instruct him that he should take no further steps in the matter of a Russo-Japanese convention.

The average rainfall for the whole of the British Isles is little more than one-third of that experienced in the summer of 1912, and is only 79 per cent. of the rainfall in the abnormally fine summer of 1911, the aggregate rainfall being less in each district.

TRUSTEES EXPECT RECORD ATTENDANCE

Secretary Says Twice as Many as Last Year Will Be at Convention

VICTORIA CITIZENS ARE AMONG SPEAKERS

Programme Includes Wide Variety of Subjects for "School Parliament"

"Double the attendance recorded last year at the Kamloops meeting which was a new high mark, is what we look for at the convention which opens in this city on October 21. Intimations we have from trustees who purpose attending indicate that the convention will be the most fruitful of all held in the history of the association."

This was the statement made this morning by J. J. Dougan, of Vancouver, secretary of the British Columbia Association of School Trustees. Mr. Dougan came over from the mainland city this morning in order to talk over the final arrangements for the big gathering in the George Jay School with Capt. D. McIntosh, of this city, who is president.

"All is in readiness now for the gathering," said Mr. Dougan. "The programme is complete, and all we want now is fair weather. The programme is the most varied and interesting ever compiled for an annual meeting of the association. The subjects of the addresses range from primary music to the organization of health protection, and an expression of the current opinion on all matters pertaining to the education of the young is anticipated from the various speakers from all parts of the province."

"The association, which has already held nine annual meetings, is often called the school parliament. The names fit extremely well when the personnel of the association is taken into consideration. Boards of school trustees are elected by the people. These boards send members to the association. Thus any expression of opinion by the association becomes the expression of a competent opinion of the people of British Columbia. Practically all our suggestions in the past have been embodied by the department of education, a fact which we contend indicates the soundness of our deliberations. We expect this year to make several new proposals which we anticipate will be incorporated in the law."

The convention opens on October 21 and concludes with the afternoon session of Friday, October 24. The members will be welcomed to Victoria in formal addresses by the mayor and president of the Board of Trade and the heads of other public bodies, at the opening session, 3 p.m., October 23. After this, morning, afternoon and evening sessions will be held until the end.

At least five citizens of Victoria will deliver addresses. Capt. D. McIntosh, the president, will give his official address at 8 p.m. on the opening day. On October 22 during the morning session Mr. Pollard, musical instructor, Victoria, will speak on primary singing in the public schools. On October 23, at the afternoon session, H. B. MacLean, principal of the George Jay school, will deal with school gardening. On Wednesday, at the evening session, Dr. W. E. Home, R. N., will speak on "Why Children Die." Besides these several other Victorians are expected to engage in the discussions following papers. On the same day Dr. H. J. Wasson will discuss "Physical Defects Arising Before the School Age."

"Last year," said Mr. Dougan, "150 attended the convention at Kamloops. It seems reasonably sure there will be 300 in attendance at Victoria. I wish particularly to call attention to the requirement that they obtain from the ticket agent at the time they purchase their first-class single tickets to Victoria a standard certificate which entitles the holder to free transportation home. This is particularly important, as at both the last conventions of the Alberta and Manitoba associations the members suffered from lack of certificates, and a great deal of money was unnecessarily spent. The British Columbia association has always handled such matters without a hitch and I hope no trouble will be experienced this year."

The complete programme just finally arranged is as follows:

Tuesday, Oct. 21.
Opening session—3 p.m.: Address of welcome by mayor and president of the board of trade and other public bodies; appointing of credential, resolution and auditing committee; resolutions.

Evening session—8 p.m.: President's address; report of the Saskatchewan convention; J. S. Gordon, B. A., municipal inspector Vancouver city schools; greetings from the Saskatchewan delegates; "Professional Pride in our Public Schools," Mrs. Ellen R. C. Webster, Maple Ridge Municipal Board; discussion; resolutions.

Wednesday, Oct. 22.
Morning session—9 a.m.: Secretary's report; "The Rural School: Its Problems and Some Suggestions," J. W. Dickinson, Duncan board; discussion; "Primary Singing in the Public Schools," Mr. Pollard, musical instructor, Victoria; resolutions.

Afternoon session—2 p.m.: Under auspices Royal Sanitary Institute (British Columbia branch), Capt. D. McIntosh in the chair, 2:30 p.m.: Opening address, "Work of the Royal Sanitary Institute," the Hon. H. E. Young, M. D., B. A., L. L. D., honorary president of the association; 3 p.m.: "Six Factors of Importance in School Hygiene," Miss Alice Ravenhill, F. F. San. I. 3:45 p.m.: "Physical Defects Arising Before School Age," H. J. Wasson, M. D., 4:30 p.m.: "Health as an Asset to the Student, and Our Methods of Protecting It," Mrs. Peter McNaughton; questions and discussion; resolutions.

Wednesday, Oct. 22.
Evening session—8 p.m.: "The Organization of Health Protection" and "The Scope of Public Health Legislation in B. C.," Miss Alice Ravenhill, F. F. San. I.; "Why Children Die," W. E. Home, R. N., M. D., B. S., D. P. H., M. R. C. P., Edinburgh; resolutions.

Thursday, Oct. 23.
Morning session—9 a.m.: Report on the Manitoba convention, Capt. D. McIntosh, president Trustees' Association; greetings from the Manitoba delegates; "School Administration from the Trustees Point of View," J. S. Gordon, B. A., municipal school inspector, Vancouver; report on the Alberta convention, J. J. Dougan, Vancouver; greetings from Alberta delegates, J. A. Jackson (Lethbridge) and T. O. King (Raymond); report of the auditing committee; discussion; resolutions.

Afternoon session—2 p.m.: Report of executive on revision of by-laws; "School Gardening," H. B. MacLean, principal George Jay school, Victoria; report re teachers' pensions; report of special committees, if any; resolutions.

Evening session—8 p.m.: Social evening.

Friday, Oct. 24.
Morning session—9 a.m.: Final report of resolution committee; unfinished business; election of officers; picnic of meeting.

Afternoon session—2 p.m.: Sightseeing Victoria and surrounding districts.

Mrs. M. Jenkins, Victoria, is chairman of the finance committee of the association, and W. F. C. Pope is a member. Of the entertainment George Jay, chairman of the Victoria school board, is chairman and P. J. Riddell is a member.

A new departure for the association is the session on Wednesday afternoon, which is under the auspices of the British Columbia branch of the Royal Institute. Hon. Dr. Young, minister of education, is to preside over this session. Dr. H. J. Wasson, of Victoria, is among the speakers listed.

The officers of the association are as follows: Hon. president, Hon. H. E. Young; president, Capt. D. McIntosh, Victoria; first vice-president, J. M. Wright, Armstrong; second vice-president, Capt. W. F. Stewart, Eburne; secretary-treasurer, J. J. Dougan, Vancouver. Executive committee—A. G. Perry and M. S. McDowell, North Vancouver; J. G. McArthur, South Vancouver; H. J. Barber, Chilliwack.

The finance committee is: Mrs. M. Jenkins (chairman), Victoria; Lieut. A. Mulcahy, Esquimalt; Wm. Campbell, Saanich; Thomas Ashe, Oak Bay; Reginald Haywood, Victoria; J. W. Rolson, Esquimalt; H. G. Lott, Oak Bay; J. Owens, Saanich; W. F. C. Pope, Victoria.

The entertainment committee is: Geo. Jay (chairman), Victoria; Leonard Tait, Esquimalt; Munro Miller, Saanich; His Hon. Judge Lampman, Oak Bay; P. J. Hidel, Victoria; Mrs. Birch, Esquimalt; James, Saanich; Dr. Calvert, Oak Bay.

All the sessions are to be held in the George Jay school.

During the last hundred years the average hours of labor in England have been reduced from sixteen to ten and in many cases to eight.

ALICE JOYCE AT KINEMACOLOR

Most Beautiful Actress in Motion Pictures Seen in Splendid Dramatic Portrayal

Miss Alice Joyce, queen of the photo-play stars, is being featured today and to-morrow assisted by Tom Moore and able Kalem cast in the two-act drama entitled "The Midnight Message" at the Kinemacolor theatre. There is a climax in this picture that is gripping in its intensity. An elderly widower marries a beautiful girl many years his junior. Later he unjustly suspects his son and the wife of being in love with each other. His suspicions apparently confirmed, he orders his son to expiate the offence, but all ends well.

Pathe's weekly is also shown, some events of interest being as follows:

West Point, N. Y.—Lord Haldane, Lord High Chancellor, of Great Britain, witnesses a drill by the cadets on his way to Montreal.

New York, N. Y.—Mayor Gaynor is seen accepting an independent mayoral renomination.

San Francisco, Calif.—Eight hundred orphan children attend a real wild west show.

Dunkirk, France.—Aviator Levasseur and a passenger, journeying from London, lose their way in a dense fog and are compelled to come to earth to get bearings.

Montreal, Can.—Viscount Haldane, Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, attends meeting of the American Bar Association.

New York, N. Y.—The Boston Nationals defeat the Giants by the score of 2 to 1, Connolly's triple scoring Tyler and Maranville in the fifth.

An amusing comedy is shown entitled "Easy Money," by the Pathe Co. and Kinemacolor is very much enjoyed in the subject chosen entitled "Curious Pets."

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

Over a century before Malsonneuve led his little band of religious enthusiasts to found "Ville Marie de Montreal," Jacques Cartier penetrated to the Indian village of Hochelaga, situated beneath the great hill which he named "Mont Royal." It was in the pleasant autumn days—the date of his visit was October 3, 1535—and fields of ripe maize surrounded the palisaded town. Its inhabitants, by the way, were not Algonquins, like the tribes whom Champlain afterwards found in the region; but were of the Huron-Iroquois stock—a people who were some degree practiced agriculturists and the art of fortification. The arrival of Cartier and his followers caused wild excitement, for, never having seen white men before, these Indians imagined that the French were celestial beings. Young and old, fierce warriors and timid squaws, stared at the newcomers as if they had been going to act a play. And Cartier's behavior was sufficiently strange. He touched and prayed over the sick and with some vague hope of benefiting his audience read aloud in his own tongue a portion of the Gospel of St. John. However, he followed this incomprehensible proceeding by something better understood—nothing less than a great blowing of trumpets and a general distribution of presents.

John Talon Lesperance, one of the greatest of Canadian critics, and a noted author and journalist, was born in St. Louis, Mo., of French-Canadian parents, seventy-five years ago to-day. He completed his education in Freiburg, Germany, and then returned to the United States, then on the verge of civil war. Throughout that conflict Lesperance fought valiantly on the side of the Confederacy. After the close of the war Lesperance returned to the land of his fathers, settling first at St. Johns, P. Q. In 1872 he joined the staff of a Montreal newspaper, and wrote brilliant literary criticisms and editorial articles, under the nom de plume of "Talon," and also of "Le Credo." Thirty years ago he assumed the editorship of the Illustrated Canadian News, and in that capacity he discovered many new writers of talent and genius. The early verses of Charles G. D. Roberts were passed upon and published by Lesperance, and he also gave the encouragement of print to several other Canadian authors who have since won fame. In addition to his critical and editorial work, Lesperance wrote many charming essays, much verse, and a novel, "The Bastonians." The latter, published in 1877, affords a picture of Canadian society of the latter part of the eighteenth century, and more particularly of that troubled period when Montgomery and Arnold, with their ragged continental troops, were attempting the conquest of Canada. Arnold's men were called Bostonese,

STEEL COMES IN FOR PERSISTENT SELLING

List Was Depressed Induced by Anticipated Signing of Tariff Bill

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.) New York, Oct. 3.—The list was depressed and leaders acted heavily more particularly steel, which came in for persistent selling.

Yesterday's resumption of bullish activity in the copper issues influenced by the strong metal situation was arrested this morning in sympathy with the rest of the list.

It was anticipated that President Wilson would sign the tariff bill at nine o'clock to-night and undoubtedly this fact did much to produce irregularity in the general market.

The advance in the English bank rate did not exert much influence either yesterday or to-day on domestic markets, although there has been some uneasiness abroad, particularly in Germany and Egypt are making heavy withdrawals of gold.

The continent is mildly disturbed over the Balkan imbroglio, although this has not been reflected to an appreciable extent by liquidation.

MAINTAINING QUALITY IN PORTLAND CANAL

Unsettling Factors in Foreign Centres Exert Their Influence Locally

The maintaining quality to be noted in Portland Canal daily although not such as to promote immediate activity in those shares nevertheless betoken a firm support. This morning the bid stood at 2 1/2% at the close of the exchange, and enquiry was well above the average.

The unsettling factors in foreign centres, particularly the other side of the line, are not favorable to permanent betterment in financial circles, so that the higher priced issues that have been the stay of the local market for some time past denote hesitancy. This applies particularly to Granby, R. C. Packers and Canada Consolidated, which have made substantial advances of late.

SITUATION REMAINS UNCHANGED IN WHEAT

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.) Chicago, Oct. 3.—There was a trifle less in wheat futures to-day. The market had good action, opening a little off due to lower Liverpool cables.

While the trade has some bullish features to consider the underlying situation is not changed. Cable news was mixed for the day. Liverpool reported Russian and Canadian offers very free and estimates on world's shipments for the week very large. The news was offset by bullish figures on final harvest in Hungary and France.

WILL BE GUEST OF CLUB

Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, Has Accepted Invitation to Address Canadian Club

Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice for the Dominion, will be the guest of the Canadian Club of Victoria at the Empress hotel on Wednesday next at luncheon.

The minister is on a tour of the west, and this will be his first visit to Victoria since he received a portfolio in the Bowden cabinet.

The acceptance of the invitation was conveyed to President R. W. Perry to-day in a wire from the minister's secretary. The club has been unable to secure the Alexandra Club on this occasion, hence the removal to the Empress hotel for this function.
