OCCIDENTAL HEAD GUEST OF LOCAL ROTARY CLUB

College President Tells of Recent Great Increase In Enrollment Over U. S.

Greater effectiveness in the training of the mind by colleges will soon be noticed, according to Dr. Remsen DuBois Bird, a member of the Pasadena Rotary club, who visited the Glendale club yesterday and was called upon by President Roy Kemp to speak. He is president of Occidental college.

"This will not affect the training of the body, or the social or fraternal features of higher education," he added, "but the training will be that the students may think rightly, see clearly and have correct judgment."

"All will rejoice with us that Occidental has been given a new library building to cost in the neighborhood of $150,000. Recently $100,000 additional has been placed in the endowment fund and upwards of $15,000 is being spent in campus plantation," he added.

Attendance Doubled

"It looks as if the whole generation of youth coming back from the war is trying to get into college," Dr. Bird declared. "In 1918 there were only 374,000 enrolled in American institutions of higher learning and today there are upwards of 600,000. The number of college students in the United States has doubled in ten years."

"Instead of soliciting scholars, the institutions are turning them away now and that immediately presents new problems. The day is past when those unfitted for continuing their work further will be carried on the rolls of the school. I think you will notice there is going to be a greater increase in the effectiveness in colleges for that which they have been founded—the training of the mind," he said in leading up to his point.

"The average cost per year for college education is $375 to $400 a student and if we have more than 500,000 enrolled, which is a conservative estimate, it is highly important that it be used in training people of the right mind," (Continued on Page 8)

The governor of the great state of California, William D. Stephens, has come to Glendale under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke before its forum, also the county Sunday school convention, and departed under the impression that this is the fastest growing city in America.

It gave the governor great pleasure, it seemed, to thank Glendale for winning the war, he made the ladies "feel at home" by a few kind remarks, told about his little granddaughter, dragged out the Japanese bogey, defended the expenditures of the state which have doubled recently, praised the highways which have been knocked to pieces, and he otherwise was performed according to expectation.

No one was disappointed by the governor. He told them who he was, and is, and adroitly failed to mention that he will run for re-election. However, that was evident in his words of praise for everything and everybody. The California, without pictures, of Glendale was indeed interesting to anyone who hasn't the time to go and see the waterfalls of Shasta county, the capital park at Sacramento, the virgin country in which Smith valley is situated, or the egg industry at Petaluma.

Man Knows Commandments Then Breaks Them, Claim Of Dr. M. A. Honline

"I love the state of California and I like to talk about it. And I do talk about it. I talk about it because I am a booster and so are you."

"I am not saying that I am a good governor, but I am saying that I am a better governor because I have visited every nook and corner of this great state of ours."

Governor Stephens spoke briefly in favor of the Wright Law Enforcement Act, the Soldiers' Welfare Act and against the repeal of the Syndicalism Act. He said that he was "bone dry" and that there had never been a drop of liquor in the governor's mansion since he had been in office.

Dr. M. A. Honline will address the convention at 8:35 tonight on "The Place of the Bible in Religious Education."

Yesterday's conferences seemed to be exceedingly well attended. Earnestness was the keynote.

"The young people of this day are not Godless and not indifferent to the religious appeal, but are waiting for a program that is strong to be worthy of their virility and strength."

Jesse L. Corley made this statement in his address on "The Church in Adolescent Life."

"The church must also provide in its buildings adequately for the young life," he continued. "They must largely manage their own affairs. They are no longer children and do not want to be treated as such."

"The work of the church has been less efficient in its relationship with boys and girls than at any other point. This is our weak sector on our battle front. We should throw into our ranks our best trained leaders."

Growing Boy and Girl

Charles R. Fisher of San Francisco, general Sunday school secretary for northern California, spoke upon the subject of "The Growing Boy and Girl."

"The growing boy and girl demand a confident leadership with plenty of life for through-the-week activities," he remarked.

"The greatest demand expressed by the young people themselves from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Gulf to the Canadian border is fellowship. Their real desire for companionship is the one which leads them for good or for ill. The right sort of a companion for a boy or a girl would keep everyone of them from going astray."

"The reason the organized class is literally holding thousands to the church and church school is that it is democratic. In the words of one of our young men when discussing the problem with a church board who remarked, 'If you want to hold us, give us something to hold on to.'"

"The key word for these days is service and young people like to do worth while things. Service just 'hatched up' to give a boy or girl something to do is not enough. It must be worth while to command their respect."

"Parental authority is taking many of our boys and girls to Sunday school, but when they are old enough they use their own

Thirty-Six Lots In Tract Quickly Sold

A particularly busy week is reported by the Edwards & Willey company at 139 N. Brand boulevard. With the commencement of the street work in their Glendale Foothill Gardens tract, the company started an active sales campaign, with the result that thirty-six lots have been sold since Sunday.

In commenting on this tract, MacMullin and MacPherson, the local representatives of the company, state their only regret is that they have only sixty-nine lots to offer in this splendid tract. They claim it to be the last of its kind as there is no more available acreage as close in as the Glendale Foothill Gardens and combining so many desirable features that can be subdivided and sold at such very low prices.

Dry Chief to Stay Till State Is Clean

WASHINGTON, May 19.—S. F. Haynes said reports of an impending change in the California directorship were unfounded. He said bootleggers and politicians have tried to undermine Rutter by circulating reports that he would be transferred or removed.

judgment and do not go. If parents would lead the way to the church school, it would be much easier for our boys and girls to find their way into the institution which stands for character building."

Rev. Cole Is Speaker

Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church, addressed the children's division on "The Churches of Our Country and Their Provision for Religious Education."

"I believe that a new day is dawning in religious education," he declared. "I believe that the churches in this country are seeing for the first time the need of the child for religious education."

Rev. Cole made an appeal for adequate leadership for daily Biblical classes and suitable accommodations in the churches for large classes from the public schools.

"One thing that a preacher should be able to do above all others is to follow the example of Christ and teach as well as preach. We are taught to preach but we are not taught to teach."

"We must build our churches around the child, not around the preaching service or the preacher. It should be around the child. He is the center of all our efforts and he is the one who is growing up to give the community its real attitude toward the church."

Returns on Investment

"When a man puts his life into anything, it is like investing himself," declared Rev. W. A. Brown in his speech on "Man Power in the Sunday School."

"In regard to an investment a person usually asks three things: What is my security? What are the chances for a reasonable return? Could I get my principal back? Of course, in California, you need not inquire about security because, whatever a man buys, he can always sell it at more than its cost."

"In the Sunday school what about the returns that a man receives for his investment? In a study of cities of America in a religious campaign we discovered that 80 per cent of those non-uniting with the churches come from the ages represented in the Sunday schools. More than 90 per cent of the present church leaders had their first opportunity for service in the Sunday school. More than 75 per cent of the present Sunday school superintendents had their first impulse to Christian service in the Sunday school. Ninety per cent of all the pastors had their first training in Christian service in the Sunday school. Sixty per cent of those producing only one-tenth of the spiritual returns."

"Should a man want his investment returned, he would find that those he has trained in the Sunday school will be rendering to the Kingdom even more efficient service than he himself."

Recommend Advertising

Rev. Alden Lee Hill, teacher of a men's Bible class of 300 at Highland Park, spoke on the subject of advertising the class. He recommended the generous use of printer's ink, display advertising, news articles in the daily papers, telephone messages, personal work and emphasized the importance of making the performance of the unusual a magnet for the increase in church membership.

Miss Cynthia Pearl Maus spoke upon the subject of "Utilizing Boy and Girl Power in the Church School."

"You must be fifty-seven varieties of a person every day of your life if you ever become an aggressive leader of young people," she remarked with a laugh. "You can develop young people if you are a static leader yourself. You cannot lead young people in the development of their prayer life unless you yourself are engaged constantly in intercessory prayer."

SOUTH IS DOING ITS PART TO HELP SUFFERERS

Financial Assistance Coming In at Rate of More Than $1,000 Daily, Report
Southern California generosity is responding nobly to the cry for food and clothing from the destitute and devastated regions of Asia Minor, according to Rev. R. W. Mottern, 211 North Adams street, district worker for the Near East Relief.
Financial contributions are now pouring into the headquarters in Los Angeles at the rate of $1,900 to $1,500 a day. As fast as it is received, this money is sent to the national headquarters in New York City.

Rev. Mottern, however, calls attention to the fact that thousands and thousands of dollars are needed to conquer starvation and to clothe and shelter the homeless people. He says that there is absolutely no danger of too much money being received.
Receives Contributions
E. E. Osgood, assistant cashier of the First National Bank, 1401 South Brand boulevard, is the Glendale treasurer for this movement. He is glad to receive contributions at all times in behalf of the Near East Relief.

A general bundle day will be held throughout the country on May 25 in all communities which did not have a recent field day. This excludes Glendale. However, attention has been called to the fact that there is no reason why families who have unneeded clothing and other goods should not wrap it up and mail it by parcel post to the district collecting station. The address is 504 Molino street, Los Angeles.

State Medical Men Offer Aid to Poor

Yosemite, May 19.—Through a resolution adopted by the State Medical society in session here, the office of every member of the society becomes a health center where any ill person can obtain treatment regardless of price.
The resolution was adopted unanimously by the 4,000 members of the society. This action gives California more health centers than all other states combined.
The resolution is virtually an order to members of the society as any ill person failing to find relief for any reason is requested to communicate with the society headquarters, which would take disciplinary action.
The first steps were taken toward "ending industrial warfare" between commercial insurance companies and the state insurance fund in which it is alleged the services of physicians have been "exploited." The society empowered its council, which is the governing body, to establish an industrial insurance department which would regulate relations of members of the society with insurance companies.
The resolution declared it was generally known that some members of the profession were guilty of fee cutting to obtain business and condemned this practice to obtain business.
Dr. T. C. Edwards, for forty years a practicing physician of Salinas, was elected president as he has contributed to the "country doctor's work for humanity."
San Francisco probably will be the choice as the next convention city.

Assets Southland Is Just Starting Growth

"Half of the more than one hundred million people of the United States have their faces and their thoughts turned westward and toward the Pacific slope," was the enthusiastic remark uttered yesterday by Philip W. Parker, who recently moved into his beautiful home in 624 North Brand boulevard.
"I have watched cities grow since I was 16 years of age and I have seen what the territory in and about Los Angeles has done for the last thirty-seven years and it is my prediction that Southern California, particularly that part embracing everything for miles around Los Angeles, will become the largest populated section of the United States in not many years to come."
"You won't have to wait many years until the San Fernando valley will become a suburb to Los Angeles and by that time our beautiful Glendale will have become a part of that wonderful city. I have seen so many changes take place in the last few years, particularly since the war, that I know we are living in a 'new world' and that only time will be necessary to cause my predictions to be fulfilled."
"As Glendale, let me insist that its growth still is in its infancy and nothing can stop it from going ahead until it becomes an immense city only then to become a part of that still greater city, Los Angeles."

Sea Chicken Catch Cargo Is Ten Tons

SAN DIEGO, May 19.—A big tuna season was presaged when the trawler, Red Wing, put into port here early today to ice her cargo of ten tons of the "chicken of the sea," which she caught off Lower California.
Ordinarily the fish do not start running until June 1 around Cape San Luis, where the catch was made.

Eighth Street Folk Ask Change of Name
Property owners along Eighth street in the Grand View district have petitioned the city council to change the name of that thoroughfare to Kenneth Road. A second petition would have opened Kenneth Road through the Rosal B tract from Grand View to Sonora avenue and a third petition asks that the street be improved with pavement, curbs and sidewalks, from Grand View boulevard to the west city limits of Glendale, being 150 feet west of Alameda avenue. The petition was signed by a large majority of property owners, it is said.

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL. For International News Service. GENOA, May 19.—"A most substantial advance has been made towards a European settlement," declared Premier Lloyd George, in an exclusive statement to International News Service, summarizing the results of the international economic conference. The British premier, who was chiefly responsible for the Genoa conference, is optimistic over the European outlook. For more than a month he has fought a vigorous fight to keep the conference going and to allay dissensions. "The most notable achievement," continued Mr. Lloyd George, "is the peace pact for eastern Europe. This is the first time we have been able to achieve this."

Called Encouraging
"Great Britain cannot and must not stop the great work so successfully started here. The fact that the conference continues its labor in another form after the perils it has passed through, is notable and encouraging." The premier looked tired after his long and constant labors in the conference. He will be glad to get back to England for a brief rest before tackling other problems. He and the other English delegates will leave at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Large Fish Canning Concerns Suspended

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—Licenses of several Long Beach and Los Angeles harbor fish canning companies have been suspended for thirty days by the state fish and game commission for alleged violation of commission regulations providing that canneries may use only twenty-five per cent of their total catches for reduction purposes. It was revealed today that the ruling hits two-thirds of the fish-packing concerns of southern California, which will be unable to resume operations until the next fishing season, scheduled to open in from four to five weeks is half over.

The first meeting of the congress in Washington, D. C., was on Nov. 17, 1890.

Exports of locomotives from the United States in 1920 totaled 1,711, valued at $53,629,847.

COLONIAL CONCERT IS APPRECIATED BY AUDIENCE

Thirty-five Members Appear In An Excellent Program by Madrigal Club

The second Colonial concert of the Madrigal club was given last night at the high school auditorium under the direction of Mrs. Charles A. Parker, with Mrs. J. A. Wright as accompanist, before a most appreciative audience of 400 friends and guests of the club. The thirty-five members of the club who took part in the program were all attired in Colonial costumes and hats, making a very attractive picture.

The soloists for the evening were Mrs. Harry N. McMullin, Mrs. Virginia Freeman and Mrs. John W. Cotton. The Madrigal club was also assisted by the Arion String Quartet, which includes Miss Neva Childberg, first violinist; Miss Mamie Smith, second violinist; Miss Marion Matthews, cellist; Mrs. Enona Hopkins, harpist.

- The program presented included the following numbers:
1. "A Madrigal in May" (Newton-Salter). By Madrigal Club.

"Ave Maria" (Schubert), by Mrs. H. N. McMullin, Mrs. Hopkins, Miss Childberg and Madrigal Club.

"Invocation to Life" (Spross), by Madrigal Club.

The "Ave Maria" number was especially pleasing to the audience and was repeated, as were also several of the other numbers. The solo artists, director and accompanist, were presented with old fashioned bouquets, in keeping with the Colonial atmosphere of the concert.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

A Run for Your Money Help Build Home Industry Better World Being Made All Clouds Are Silver Lined

By Gil A. Cowan

THERE were exactly 130 reasons for your taking and reading The Glendale Evening News in yesterday's edition.

That is, exclusive of the advertising, there were fifty-five local headed news stories and items, ranging from thrills to trifles; there were thirty-six personal notes about people you know gathered from about as many sources; there were twenty-five telegraphic bulletins coming over the International News Service leased wire which were carefully read and edited; and there were fourteen features, including pictures, radio information and sporting columns.

If you subscribe by the year, you get this wonderful array for less than 2 cents a day. Were the news to be compiled for you alone it would cost thousands upon thousands of dollars. The International News Service, with its transcontinental leased wires, ocean cables, radio messages and correspondents, costs more than a million annually to maintain. Undoubtedly, it is the greatest independent news-gathering organization in the world.

The sporting and radio features of The Glendale Evening News are prepared at an expense of several hundred dollars a week and only through co-operation with the New York Sun-Herald syndicate, and the Pacific Sports Service, and other agencies, are they presented here. Other features total equal by as much.

And local news—that which you wish to know about here at home—costs upwards of $50 per day. That is something to think about! The advertising, mechanical or circulation departments of this great and growing Glendale institution do not figure in this statement, for they are only a means to the end of serving you with the most possible for your money.

Something more to think about: The Glendale Evening News this week-end is installing a Neveland book-folding machine, a valuable and complicated piece of equipment for the most modern and complete printing office in Glendale. A new paper cutter also is being added to the plant while a great deal of new type and several new fixtures have been added.

When you have anything from a bill head to a booklet, you will get both the quality and service here in Glendale and some of the largest accounts come from Los Angeles. This should interest you because it is home industry. Remember it when you have printing to be done.

Now, to talk about something else than "shop talk," let it be said that Glendale is glad to have the Los Angeles County Council for Religious Education convening this week within the confines of this city. The Sunday schools of the nation, be they protestant or otherwise, are performing a great duty in lifting the spiritual, moral and mental plane of the young people, as well as the older folks.

Were you to listen to the earnest workers who this week are pouring out their experience to the teachers you would appreciate what a great movement it is—this business of religious education. All praise to those earnest souls who are sacrificing their lives to working out the problems for those of us who are so busy that we shirk the duty of making this a better world in which to live.

It was a happy group of California boosters at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce who greeted the governor last night. He is "sold" on the Golden State. So are they. So the admiration was mutual and the society delightful.

"I am selling California to its own citizens," said this former traveling salesman who now holds the highest office of the commonwealth of California can bestow on any man. And he proceeded to tell them some things which many did not know.

One bit of advice he gave which should be remembered is to this effect: Write the folks in the east about California and its problems. Tell them the truth. Give them the facts.

Such action will do more to build the state than columns of printed literature or tons of circulars, but the latter are mighty fine for those people who do not have intimate friends here.

Be a booster. The man who digs a cellar only clears the way for the man who builds the house. People who live in caves soon become extinct. Get in the sun. And when the sky is overcast, remember that every cloud has its silver lining.

GOVERNMENT DEFEATED

LONDON, May 19.—The British government met defeat in the house of commons late yesterday by a vote of 151 to 148 on a bill dealing with a question of teachers' pensions. Loud cries of "resign" greeted the announcement vote.

This is the third time that the present coalition government has been defeated in a tilt in the house recently. By tradition a government defeated on a major issue resigns to make way for the leader of the opposition to form a new cabinet. A defeat on a minor question is, however, not very serious, politically.

DENIES MILITARY PLANS

LONDON, May 19.—Austen Chamberlain, government spokesman, denied in commons this afternoon that France is preparing to extend her military occupation of Germany.

Comes Here on Visit, Decides to Remain

"I came to Glendale at the advice of a Chicago business man, who pictured the city as the beautiful spot of all southern California. When I arrived I decided only to look and later return to the Windy City, but the environment, people, climate and situation appealing to me as it did has caused me to decide upon remaining and within a few weeks I shall be rejoined by my family," was the comment of C. J. Stahlberg, who has opened a shoe-repairing establishment in 106 West Doran street.

"Recently, my son, C. Alver Stahlberg, has joined me here and he, too, feels like there is no place like Glendale to reside in."

"You can say to all my friends, east or west, that I have looked over many states where to spend the remainder of my life and that I have decided upon Glendale, the most beautiful spot I ever was in," concluded the shoemaker.

Children of Society Suffer New Disease

By HAZEL BLAIR For International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Children of New York City's 400 are seriously afflicted with "nursitis," which threatens to spread to middle-class children unless stopped in its course," Dr. Royal S. Copeland, city health commissioner, declared today to the International News Service.

He explained that the disease was caused by society mothers giving their children too much to the care of nursemaids.

"Three times as many youngsters die yearly in the region of Central park, Riverside drive and Fifth avenue as down on the East Side and the less fashionable sections," Dr. Copeland asserted. "I attribute this fact largely to the disease I have been telling you of, for no nurse in the world can take the place of a mother in caring for a child," he explained.

"Since so many society women have started to mother toy dogs instead of their children, it has been found that the children are the ones who suffer most as a result.

"Many of these mothers will deny my assertion," continued the doctor, "as false, but I know whereof I speak."

"Children who have much personal association with mothers are much brighter of intellect than those turned over to nurses for attention. Many of our middle-class mothers try to ape the society woman to the detriment of their children."

ALL WOMEN UPON JURY

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Although women jurors are quite common on San Francisco juries for the first time in the history of the hall of justice a full jury of women was drawn to try the case of William Smith, charged with violation of the state anti-narcotics law, before Judge Louis H. Ward. Both sides expressed satisfaction when the names of the twelve women members of the panel were drawn and the case proceeded for trial. They found Smith guilty in five minutes.

WARNING TO RADIO FANS REGARDING HOOKING UP

Should Give Heed to Fire Insurance Rules: Daylight Saving in Capital

By U. S. Press Association
WASHINGTON, May 19.—Radio fans should give heed to fire insurance rules in connection with the "hooking-up" of radio equipment, otherwise the rates on their properties may be raised or the insurance refused entirely, warns the bureau of standards of the department of commerce in calling attention to the fact that fire insurance regulations governing the installation of radio apparatus are to be revised.

According to the department of commerce the rule which has hitherto covered radio installation is known as Rule 86 of the National Electrical (Fire) Code and in connection with the general revision of this code a change in this rule has been decided upon. The matter is being considered by a committee of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The department of commerce has prepared a mimeographed circular containing tentative requirements which have been suggested for adoption.

Constantinople Market
Fine antique Persian and Turkish rugs are now very rare and bring almost any price in Constantinople, while cheap grades are 50 per cent above pre-war prices, say Consul General Ravndal and Consul Wadsworth, in a report to the department of commerce on the rug and carpet market in Constantinople.

Before the war it was estimated that annual arrivals on this market averaged about $2,000,000. About 80 per cent of these rugs were sold in transit for shipment to the United States and European countries. The war, unsettled conditions in the producing regions and the death of a large percentage of the weavers from famine, disease, and massacre, have, since the armistice, caused a great falling off in arrivals in Constantinople, estimated in 1921 at only 19 per cent of pre-war annual arrivals. Before the war regular stocks on hand amounted to about $3,500,000. Today there is something less than $1,000,000 worth of rugs and carpets in the local trade. Fine antique pieces are very rare and bring almost any price.

Hours of Labor
The department of commerce calls attention to the fact that the returns of the 1919 census of manufactures indicate a general and marked decrease in the prevailing hours of labor. Of the 9,096,372 wage earners reported by that census, 4,418,693 or 48.6 per cent were employed in establishments where the prevailing hours of labor per week were 48 or under, while in the previous census, covering the year 1914, the number employed in this class of establishments was only 833,339 representing 11.8 per cent of the total number of wage earners.

The establishments in which hours of labor were forty-eight per week in 1919 employed 32.6 per cent or about one-third of the total number of wage earners, and those in which the hours were less than forty-eight employed 16 per cent of the total. In 1914, 74.6 per cent of the total number of wage earners were employed in establishments where the prevailing hours of labor per week were not less than sixty hours per week. In contrast with this the census of 1919 reported 34.9 per cent employed in the former class of establishments (working not less than fifty-four hours) and 12.1 per cent in the latter (working not less than sixty hours).

Daylight Saving
The daylight saving experiment which is to be undertaken in the District of Columbia will, if successful, offer an opportunity for imitation throughout the country. It is an innovation which recognizes the value of the daylight-saving idea without recourse to the usual method of changing the clocks.

The Washington Post comments on the difficulty of putting the new system into operation, and says:

"Years and even centuries of habit have accustomed people to disregard the sun and rely entirely upon their timepieces. When all watches and clocks are changed at a given moment the community moves forward in unison with the altered time and there is no misunderstanding anywhere. On the other hand, the absence of a universal rule is apt to breed uncertainty and may result in chaos. Even now there seems to be no definite idea as to who will or will not observe the prescribed conditions. The fact that they are sanctioned by the government does not completely obviate their haphazard character or invest them with a logical foundation." The Post in going into the larger phases of daylight saving, observes: "If it were not for the antagonism of the farmer vote there would be a uniform daylight saving law for the entire country. The system has an acknowledged value, and it is in vogue in nearly all the large cities. Nowhere, however, has it been put into effect in the manner adopted in Washington, and the working of the local plan will be watched with great interest."

UNDERWOOD FIGHTS BILL

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Attacking the new republican tariff bill in a speech in the senate, Senator Underwood, Alabama, the Democratic leader, declared congress was being asked to exercise its power of taxation to "accomplish the end attained by the communists of Russia." "I am opposed to levying a tax so that the majority of the people may contribute money to build a special industry," Underwood said. "You would penalize the people for the benefit of the manufacturers. That is communism."

AN INDUCTANCE FOR THE SENDING SET
In a radio telephone or telegraph set an inductance coil is a necessity, and it is advisable to have means for quite close adjustment of the inductance values. In addition to flexibility, the coil must be rugged and be able to carry the current which will flow in the circuit.

The coil illustrated is composed of thirty turns of No. 12 B. & S. gauge copper wire wound upon a five-inch slotted bakelite form.

Says Soviet Russia To Meet Its Pledges

By GEORGES POPOFF
For International News Service.
MOSCOW, May 19.—Despite the outcome of the Genoa conference Russia will carry out all the international obligations to which she is committed, Leon Trotzky, commissar for war in the soviet government, declared today in an exclusive interview with International News Service. He said that Russia is anxious to enter into a commercial agreement with the United States.

"It looks as though Genoa will result in failure," said the military leader. "But, regardless of the outcome, Russia will carry out all the international obligations to which she is committed. Russia will assure guarantees for private economic initiative."
"The Moscow government will show American and European capital that the soviet republic is an established fact and that this republic, which is built in accordance with the methods and principles of its founders, must be reckoned with."

Asked if Americans would receive special consideration in Siberia to counteract Japanese activities in that country, Trotzky answered:
"In view of the large resources of the United States, Russia is most interested in reaching an economic understanding with that country. American expansion in Russia may be of a commercial or industrial nature. Japanese expansion tries to preserve its violent military character."

"We are anxious to reach a military understanding with the United States, not because of the economic benefits, but because it would be a guarantee against the rapacious Japanese ruling clique."
"If soviet initiative towards a reduction of armies grows out of the Genoa conference, there is no doubt that commercial and financial agreements will follow. We are anxious for a reduction in armaments in Europe."

"If Premier Lloyd George and the Italians would only disassociate the issue of Europe's pacification and the disarmament from the financial aspirations of the capitalists, it is quite possible that we would negotiate commercial agreements with both Great Britain and Italy."

FIGHTS VALUATION PLAN

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Denouncing the American valuation plan as a scheme threatening to plunge the country into economic demoralization, Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, chairman of the agricultural bloc, today defended the foreign valuation plan written into the McCumber tariff bill. Senator Capper warned against the American valuation as "fraught with untold dangers to the American farmer and the American consumer."

CANINE CATCHERS COMBING CITY FOR 'FIDO'

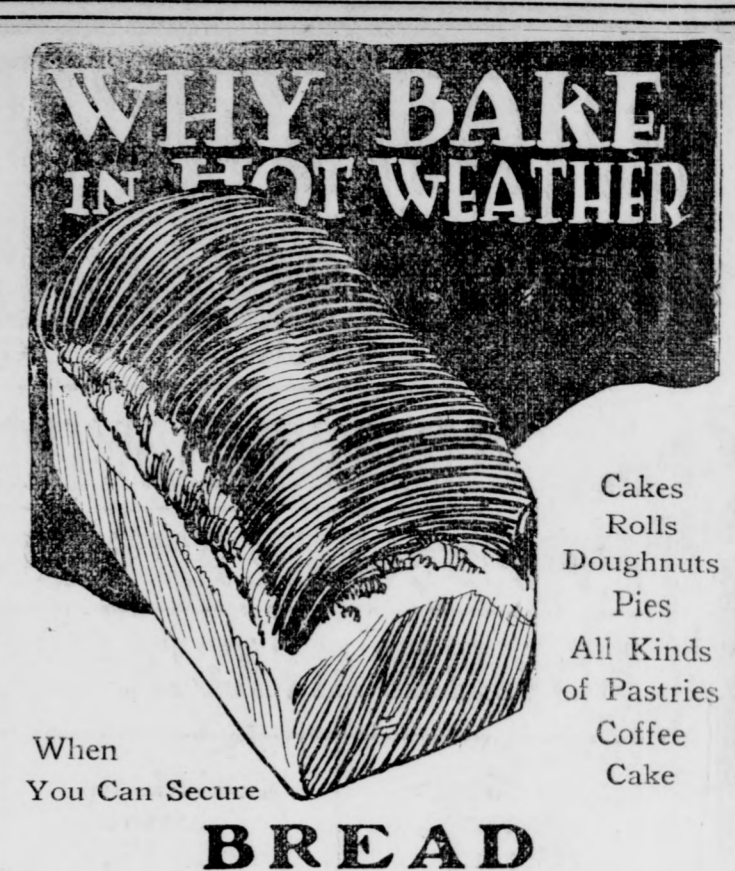

Dog Limousine Out to Take Up Tourists to Fill the Municipal 'Hotel'

Has your dog got its summer muzzle yet?
Canine pets are being arrested every day according to the report this morning from "dog headquarter" at the city hall.
Two new "catchers" were put on the job this week and they are now at large with their "dog Limousine." This is a Ford which has been refurbished to serve as a Black Maria for canine bolshievists.
Accommodations also have been added to the city's dog hotel and, according to report, this is capable of indefinite expansion on the unit system.
Meanwhile, Glendale dog owners are making daily applications at the city hall for dog licenses and are buying muzzles.
"The people of Glendale are law-abiding," remarked Dr. J. E. Eckles, city health officer, this morning. "Dogs must either be muzzled or tied up."

Prisoners Innocent, Two Jurors Assert

SEATTLE, May 19.—Seven members of the I. W. W. now serving terms of from twenty-five to forty years in Walla Walla state penitentiary are innocent, according to the affidavits made public here of W. E. Immon and E. E. Sweltzer, jurors in the trial at Montesano which found them guilty of second degree murder.
The Montesano trial took place in the spring of 1920 and the accused were I. W. W.'s charged with the killing of ex-service men preceding or following an attack on the I. W. W. hall in an Armistice day parade in 1919. Whether the paraders attacked the hall first or whether they raided it after shots were fired, was the moot question in the trial.
The two jurors declare that Harry Sellers, another juror, said during the progress of the trial that the defendants were guilty and should be hanged, and that they voted for a verdict of guilty on a second degree murder charge rather than risk the chance of a hung jury and an ensuing second trial with a possibility of hanging on the return of a verdict of guilty of first degree murder.

RADIO EXPLAINED

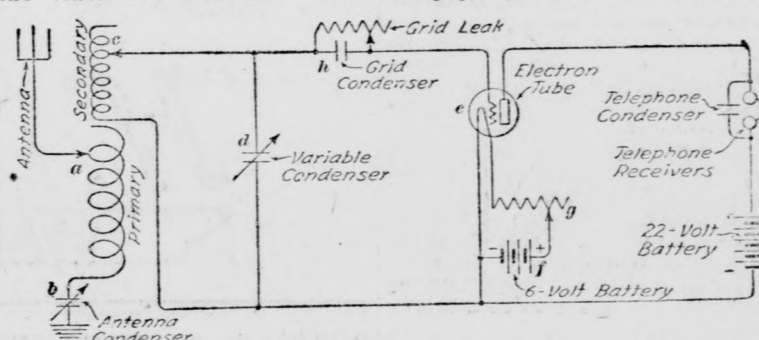

By E. H. LEWIS
INSTRUCTOR NEW YORK Y.M.C.A. RADIO SCHOOL.

OSCILLATORS IN RECEIVING ANTENNA
If a receiving antenna system is given an electrical shock oscillations will be created in it whose frequency is whatever the circuit may happen to be adjusted for. These oscillations will be free oscillations and may be compared with the mechanical vibrations of a tuning fork which is struck a sharp blow and allowed to vibrate at a rate dependent only upon the adjustment of the fork. They may also be compared to the vibrations of a piano string which is struck by the felt hammer connecting with the piano key hit by the finger. Every time that particular ivory key is struck the piano string vibrates at the same mechanical frequency and the same note is heard. Such free oscillations may be created in a receiving antenna when given an electrical shock by atmospheric electrical discharges. When oscillations are created in this manner they may seriously interfere with oscillations which are produced by the radio waves from a sending station.
If the receiving antenna is accurately tuned so that its frequency (or wave length) is the same as that of the sending antenna, and, therefore, the radio waves, oscillations are created in the receiving circuit, providing the resistance is not too great. In practice the resistance is almost never so great as to prevent oscillations, but it may frequently be so large as to materially cut down the strength of the oscillations. Energy is consumed in forcing the current to flow through the resistance, and this energy is a total loss insofar as the production of a signal is concerned. This loss has the effect of damping out the energy of the oscillations, and the receiving antenna may respond to radio waves whose frequency (or wave length) is greater or less than those for which the circuit is adjusted. The circuit is then said to tune "broadly." It is desirable that the response be only to those radio waves to which the circuit is tuned—that is, that the circuit tune sharply. If this is to be accomplished the resistance of the circuit must be kept quite low.
In cases where the receiving antenna circuit has much resistance there may be oscillations due to radio waves to which the circuit is tuned and other oscillations of different frequencies to which the circuit is not tuned, but to which it responds. There might then be serious interference with the signals from the station it is desired to receive from. The resistance of the circuit may, fortunately, be kept very low if the proper precautions are taken, and it is possible to obtain a very high degree of selectivity.

Instructions for Radio Phone Receiving Set

By Harry F. Dart, Compiler of the Radio Operator's Course for the International Correspondence Schools.
Article 3. An Electron-Tube Detector Receiving Set.

The crystal detector may be replaced by an electron-tube detector which then performs the same functions as did the crystal which it replaced. Under some conditions the electron-tube detector may be expected to give the stronger signals, but its additional cost and care in operation are against it.
The primary coil (a) and its accompanying short-wave condenser (b) are quite like those of the crystal detector set, as are also the secondary coil (c) and the variable condenser (d) across its terminals. Briefly stated, the electron tube (e) contains a filament which is heated by an electric current, a metal grid so named from its appearance, and a plate which is a solid piece of sheet metal practically enclosing the other two elements. These are contained in a glass tube which has been pumped to a very high degree of exhaustion.

The filament is usually heated by a definite current, as specified by the manufacturers, from a 6-volt storage battery (f), although the filament of at least one type of detector tube is heated by a small current from one dry cell. A rheostat (g) is included in the filament circuit to control the current and an ammeter is desirable to indicate when the proper current is established. This latter device is not shown in the figure, but could be inserted at any place in the local circuit between the 6-volt battery and the filament.
The negative terminal of the 6-volt battery is connected to one terminal of the secondary condenser (d). The other end of this condenser is connected to a small fixed so-called grid condenser (h) which is in turn connected to the grid, hence its name. Condenser (h) may be an air condenser of 0.0005 microfarad capacity, or may be made of two sheets of tin or copper foil of about two square inches, separated by two sheets of a good quality of thin paraffined paper. Radio Editor Will Help Set Aerial

By GEORGE VAN SANDS
Radio Editor The Evening News

Have you a little radiophone in your home? If not, you are most certainly missing untold pleasures. Do you know that these different broadcasting stations in and around Los Angeles start up about 9 o'clock in the morning and from then until about 9 in the evening there is something almost constantly in the air? Don't get the idea that these receivers cost a lot of money, and that there must be considerable difficulty in installing one in the home, because nothing could be further from the truth. Of course we can not all afford these high priced vacuum tube sets, and while they are a most wonderful machine for one who understands how to operate them, and has the inclination and money to spend on a receiver of this type, I want to tell you folks that, as a matter of fact, a beginner has no business with one of these vacuum tube sets anyway.
Now, on the other hand, if you are just becoming interested in radio and have as much as fifteen or twenty-five dollars that is doing you no immediate good, and you will invest it in a good little crystal set of practically any well known make, you will have bought something that will give you a constant, everlasting and unlimited supply of enjoyment, and if you do not consider that a bargain, then there is absolutely no such thing as value received.

It makes no difference whether you are sixteen or sixty, there is joy in it for everybody, and here is no one in radio, and while they are not advertising that "babies cry for it," nevertheless, it entertains old and young alike, and as far as the actual installing of a set in your home is concerned, there is nothing much to it at all; directions are most simple, and about the hardest thing is erecting the wire aerial, which generally means that you will have to climb to the roof of your home. Now if you happen to belong in the sixty class, and do not feel exactly like climbing around the roof tops, don't let a little thing like that keep you from getting a set, because if you can not find some boy in your neighborhood who would be tickled to help you put up the aerial, you just call the radio editor at The Evening News office, and I will come out and do it for you myself, and the smile of pleasant, wonderful amazement that will come over your face when you put the telephone receiver to your ear, will be more than enough to pay me in full.

Don't hold back simply because wireless sets you have seen working have appeared complicated, and were being operated by an expert, and that you have heard that the price runs up into the hundreds of dollars; just forget all about those complicated appearing sets, and look up one of these little crystal receivers that are not much bigger than a strawberry box; buy one of them, and just as sure as you do, you will have bought something that will immediately start returning to you in dividends of pleasure, enjoyment and education at a rate so fast that you won't have time to count them, and if you can afford one of these types of radiophones and you do not buy one, you are actually being cheated and swindled.
It is all up there in the blue heavens above you, free, gratis and without charge, a God-sent gift to humanity, and the little receiver that opens the door to your home to it, retails right here in the stores of Glendale at from $15 to $25.

FRANCE MAY NOT GO IN REJECTION ISN'T FINAL? IS NOT YET APPROVED

PARIS, May 19.—The possibility that France may refuse to participate in the meeting at The Hague was foreshadowed today by the newspaper L'Intransigent. Commenting upon the American note, this newspaper said: "Paris seems disposed to follow America's attitude."
LONDON, May 19.—Chairman Schanzer of the Italian delegation in the Genoa conference, does not consider the American rejection of the allies' invitation to The Hague final and will renew the invitation, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Genoa.

BURBANK IS AFTER REVENUE STATE GETS IN FINES

City Trustees There Adopt Peace Ordinance Which Covers Everything

At the last meeting of the Burbank city board of trustees a proposed ordinance entitled: "An ordinance promoting good order and public peace and punishing violation thereof," was introduced and read for the first time.

It was prepared by Judge A. A. Crawford and is designed to provide laws and punishment for the violation of same, these laws to relate to misdemeanors and minor offenses which are not covered by the state statutes or if they are, and are prosecuted under such, the fines and money accruing from the prosecution of the cases does not come to the city. By prosecuting under a city ordinance the city would collect all money arising from the prosecution of the case, the state getting nothing, and the judge said this was one reason why he was anxious to have a city ordinance covering the minor offenses. He wanted all money possible saved to Burbank.

Deal in Dairy Cattle.

The Burbank Dairy Cattle company is the name of a recent organization which is establishing an office in the Victory theatre building in the room formerly occupied by the Burbank Development company. The new company is incorporated with Ezra H. Christensen, president; M. A. McLean, vice president, and W. G. Simon, secretary-treasurer and general manager. They are the owners of the Burbank Sanitary Milk company and the C. & A. Dairy Cattle company, while the corrals are at the Jeffries ranch.

Pastor Urges Courtesy.

In his sermon Sunday, Rev. Waldo D. Parker, pastor of the Burbank Episcopal church, says that Southern California needs more gentleness, also more courtesy and kindly attention. "It is by our treatment of our parents, our children, our neighbors, that we express our true idea of faith in our Lord Jesus," he pointed out.

Chicago's Flappers Form Organization

CHICAGO—Resorting to the time-old maxim of "in union there is strength," because of the volleys of criticism threatening their purpose, the flappers here have laid foundations for the organization of a "Flappers' club."

Its sponsors—Margaret Pursell, a high school girl, seventeen, and pretty, and Yvonne Vigneault—vigorously deny that the proposed organization will be a model of the "Shiffers," which lately came to the fore in New York.

"We're going to be original," Margaret firmly announced today. "We're framing a constitution, by-laws and everything, and when we get through they'll let us alone."

Members of the club, Margaret added, will be allowed to smoke, dabble in paints, "roll their own," wear one-piece bathing suits and whatnot. In fact, she said, the constitution will permit everything that the "old fogies are condemning."

"We want to tell the world," Margaret continued, "that it's none of their business if we smoke, now and then, and it won't injure our health any more than it will the health of our fathers or big brothers."

"They say we shouldn't wear rolled stockings. And we just perfectly will if we want to. They say we musn't rouge. And we'll rouge and rouge and rouge. They say we musn't dance in this way or in that. And we'll just certainly find out the ways they have in mind and dance and dance and dance."

"The trouble is there are too many evil minds in the world. The boys go with don't keep looking at our legs if we wear short skirts. It's the old men who want to reform us who seldom look us in the face."

Margaret added that membership in the "Flapper club" will be open to all girls "out of their teens and slightly past twenty-one."

And—this, in passing, to the boys—there will be a male auxiliary.

Federal Agent Says Arrest Not Justified

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18. —Albert A. Elliott, special federal paratolic agent, charged upon his return here today that the arrest of himself and three other government agents at Fresno last Monday was a deliberate interference with the performance of their duty and prevented the consummation of important raids they had planned in Fresno Chinatown.

The federal agents were arrested by Police Sergeant Wickstrom and Patrolmen Durr and Blasingame who have been arrested charged with interference with government officers in the performance of their duty. Elliott said their cases had been presented to the federal grand jury and the government would press them to the limit.

Elliott and his fellow officers were finally released by the police lieutenant in charge after they had been taken to Fresno police headquarters.

'Six Bob in Pound' Tax Stirs Britain

LONDON—"Six bob in the pound." That is the answer to political unrest in Great Britain. "Six bob in the pound," a phrase which has almost achieved the status of an epithet with the average Englishman, means that every British subject is taxed on a basis whereby he pays six shillings to the government in taxes for every twenty shillings he makes in income.

Whether Lloyd George resigns or not, whether a new national party is formed or whether there be a new government formed by the old parties, it is virtually certain that future life for British statesmen is going to be unpleasant as long as British subjects can continue to storm about their taxation of "six bob in the pound."

Britishers are surfeited with taxation. There is little or no prospect of relief in sight for them. There have been promises of reductions of taxes, but while the war debts are heavy there seems little prospect of a lessening of the tax burden. The Washington conference will mean a reduction of approximately 11,000,000 pounds a year in British expenditures, and the Goddes Economy committee recommendations promised even greater reductions, but neither of these tentative reductions have brought definite promises of reductions in taxation.

The workingman in England protests against the tax upon his labor and his tobacco. The middle class business man protests against the income tax, and the wealthy man literally howls with rage every time the subject of taxation is mentioned. Everyone wants a government that can reduce taxes. There is no statesman who feels capable of making any rash promise in this direction. Hence, it seems certain that for some time to come the path of the British politician is to be a thorny one.

When "six bob in the pound" is no longer a British epithet, then there may come a period when politics in Great Britain will not be in constant turmoil.

SENATE PASSES PROTEST

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The senate has passed the McCormick resolution protesting against the use of the American transport Henderson to carry the class of 1881 of the Annapolis naval academy to a reunion in Japan, arranged by Admiral Uri, of the Japanese navy. The party, arranged by Senator Weller, republican, Maryland, would have included Secretary Denby, Secretary Weeks and General Pershing.

The Japanese tour was planned to honor Admiral Uri, who was a member of the class when it graduated from the academy. The resolution sponsored by Senator McCormick, republican, Illinois, protested against the use of an American naval vessel for a "pleasure cruise" at a time when the navy was compelled to reduce its necessary expenditures.

BURGLARS SCARE CO-EDS

OAKLAND, May 19. — In the early hours a colorful show was staged in front of the Sigma Kappa sorority house when many pretty co-eds rushed from the house clad only in flimsy raiment. The show started when the alarm spread through the house that a burglar on the roof was trying to enter through a skylight.

There was a furor. Screams resounded through the house; panic reigned supreme. A few of the girls donned dressing gowns and bathrobes; others didn't. The burglar jumped to the ground and ran. He was startled by what he saw.

SAVES TWO CHILDREN

OAKLAND, May 19.—Two children were rescued from death by fire when Mrs. Alesia Ghigliotto dashed into a burning house and snatched them from the bed in which they were covering from the flames. She was compelled to leap from a second story window into a net. The house was destroyed.

SHIPPING BOARD OLD GUARD HARD SEEKS AID OF U. S. BUSINESS

Looks Like It's Progressive Era, Belief Expressed by Number of Leaders

WASHINGTON, May 19.—American business is asked by Chairman A. D. Lasker, of the shipping board, to help the administration in its efforts to place the American merchant marine on a par with that of Great Britain through the establishment of a government subsidy. Addressing the convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Lasker dwelt upon the problems confronting the shipping board in providing facilities for carrying the overseas commerce of the United States and in liquidating the fleet which the government now owns. Because of the 5-5-3 naval ratio established by the Washington armament conference, Lasker said it was necessary for the United States to maintain a large merchant fleet in order to have equal naval power with Great Britain. Absolutely necessary, he said, is also necessary, Lasker said, for the United States to compete with other maritime nations for the undeveloped markets of the world. He called attention to 1500 ships of 10,000,000 tons which the United States owned at the close of the war, and said these vessels were now being operated by the government at an annual loss of $50,000,000. "Of its 1500 steel ships, the government has 1100 tied up," Lasker said. "Four hundred of the government's ships are today covering practically every trade route in the world. But American shipping is being killed in the burning. The shipping board is operating under a law which contemplated that the government would operate the ships until trade routes were established and private ownership should take it over. Defeats Own Purpose

"But the very carrying out of the law defeats its own purpose. Private owners wither and die under the competition of government operation of ships; there would be a very few successful operators who could take them over, because they would have been killed under the blighting competition of the unending funds the treasury belches forth to back the enterprise." Lasker said his experience as chairman of the shipping board had taught him government ownership and operation of ships was as "poison ivy in the garden of industry." Lasker outlined the terms of the ship subsidy bill now pending in congress, declaring it would reduce the burden of the treasury and put a larger merchant fleet on the seas for America.

Naked Couple Plans for Primitive Tryout

BOSTON, May 19.—Entering the Maine woods on Saturday, naked, and without food or weapons, Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Sutter announced here today that they will prove that they can live an absolutely primitive life, with none of civilization's aids, for a period of six weeks. Sutter, who is 27, and his wife, who is a slight but strong young woman of 23, have picked the wildest part of north central Maine for their experiment. Their first problem, in view of the coldness of the climate at this time of the year, will be to make themselves clothing from the inner bark of certain trees. Fish and game will be caught with crude implements of their own manufacture. The area selected is uninhabited and abounds with various wild animals, but the pair of nature lovers, skilled in woodcraft, express every confidence in success and scoff at the suggestions of danger. If they can live in the woods six weeks, they contend, it will be proof that man can return to primitive conditions and live so indefinitely. Mosquitoes 2,000,000 years old have been found in the Eocene rocks of Wyoming and Colorado.

Two Treaties Given Approval by Council

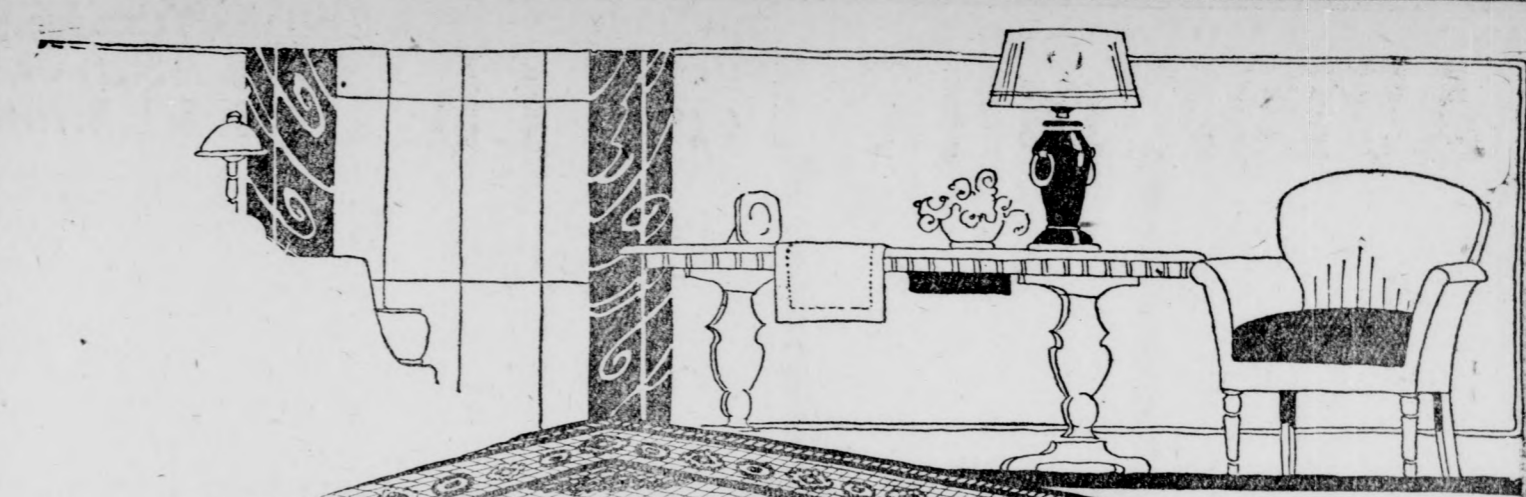

BY JAMES McCLAIN. For International News Service. TOKIO, May 19.—The privy council committee has approved the Shantung and Yap treaties negotiated by the Washington conference. The four power treaty is now under consideration with hope expressed for its official circles that all of the treaties will be disposed of in the next month. This appears too optimistic however, as it required more than a month for consideration of the first two. Premier Takahashi informed leaders of the Seiyu-Kai party today that he has not given up hope of reconstructing his cabinet despite the opposition he has been forced to suffer through rejection by the party of his first plans. He blamed defeat of his program on "too much newspaper publicity." The Seiyu-Kai leaders are determined to bring the matter to a head and if Takahashi insists upon his program it will likely mean the resignation of all members of the cabinet. The party leaders are seeking a suitable candidate to succeed Takahashi but do not desire his resignation until after the approval of all of the conference treaties.

Guard Buildings to Stop Bombing, Fires

CHICAGO, May 19.—Police "dead lines" were established today about buildings constructed under the Landis award to protect them against bombing and fires at the hands of terrorists. Guards were stationed at strategic positions. All persons unable to explain satisfactorily their presence in the vicinity are to be apprehended and the guards have orders to "shoot to kill" if resistance is offered. The situation has many of the aspects of martial law. The confession of John Miller, driver of the automobile from which two policemen were shot and killed a week ago in an outbreak of violence attributed to certain factions of the building trades union, was on record today. Miller said he had named Charles Dauzuskis and "Floater" Stanley as occupants of the car. "Charlie," he said, "did the shooting."

One Killed and Four Wounded in Fight

PINEVILLE, Ky., May 19.—Riley Ball, 30, was instantly killed, four men were wounded, two seriously, when members of the Colson and Ball families of Middlesboro, Ky., clashed in the offices of Clerk Wilson of the county court house. The families were in Pineville for the arraignment of Clay Colson for the murder of Ira Ball several months ago in Middlesboro. Those wounded are: Frank Ball, 50, not expected to recover; John Hurst, 24, not expected to live; Clay Colson, 45; Fred McDaniel, 40, a spectator. There was nobody present when the two factions met and it has not been determined who fired the first shot, or what the circumstances were. There was also a skirmish on the first floor. McDaniel and Hurst were shot while in the clerk's office. Colson was arrested on a charge of malicious shooting immediately after the fight. Floyd Alda and T. Ball were removed under guard to Middlesboro. Sheriff Martin Green was ordered by Judge J. G. Forrester to swear in sufficient deputies to keep order and Mayor L. L. McDonald issued similar instructions to Chief of Police Roberts. Within an hour after the trouble order had been restored.

New Campaign May Be Started in China

By EDNA LEE BOOKER. For International News Service. PAO TING FU, China, May 19.—That General Chang Tso-Lin, defeated war lord of Manchuria is on the eve of a new campaign against Wu Pei Fu was shown today by the following telegram received by Wu: "I am the victim of the press and of Han Shih Chang (President of the Chinese republic), who urged me to bring my troops into Chihli. Now I am defeated, but he urges me to make further fighting. I advise you to prepare since I shall fight like a trapped tiger. If I win, I will have vengeance upon the old Peking schemer. If I lose I will bring down upon him foreign complications by disregarding foreign lives and property and pointing international relations. I will fight to the finish." The telegram, which had been sent from Lanchow, was signed "Chang Tso-Lin."

GOT YOUR SHARE? $48.89 DUE ON DISTRIBUTION

If All Money In Circulation
Were Evenly Divided Up
—And Then What ?

WASHINGTON, May 19.—If the world keeps on piling up gold in the United States at the present rate it will not be long before America will possess three-fourths of the world's gold supply. The treasury today listed the gold assets of the country at $3,140,409,000. Of this stupendous sum only $286,165,000 represents gold coin, the rest being bullion. Net imports of gold since 1914 total $1,627,000,000. Considerable gold is coming from Scandinavian countries and from France.

Special to The Evening News
WASHINGTON, May 19.—Resources of the national banks of the country in March, amounting to $19,850,402, including rediscounts, showed a decrease of $1,601,326,000, compared with February, 1921, and a decline of $92,349,000 compared with December, 1921, according to the latest abstract of reports of conditions issued by Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger.

$48.89 Your Share
If all the money in circulation in the United States were equally distributed your share would be $48.89. The treasury department has announced that figure as the per capita wealth on May 1. It is 92 cents less than it was on April 1. Total money of all kinds in circulation is $5,352,255,730. On April 1, it was $5,446,161,844. On May 1, 1921, the total in circulation was $6,158,170,819. The per capita figures are based upon the estimated population of 109,468,000. In 1879 the total amount of money in circulation was $816,266,721. At that time the country with a population of 48,231,000 had a per capita wealth of $16.92.

Priceless Collection
The United States National Museum, Smithsonian Institute, has just issued an illustrated handbook and descriptive catalog of its collection of gems and precious stones. All the well-known gems prized by mankind, as well as many little known precious stones and beautiful examples of the semi-precious stones from all parts of the world are contained in the exhibits and described.

Of the 1200 kinds of minerals known to science, only about 100 are of sufficient beauty and durability to be classed as precious or semi-precious stones. Of these the diamond is the hardest of the gems and surpasses all others in the property of dispersing light, which creates its "fire." By far the greatest number of diamonds are mined in South Africa, others coming from India, Borneo, and Brazil. A few diamonds have been found in the United States, in North Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Ohio, Wisconsin, Colorado, Idaho, California and Virginia.

The world's largest diamonds, shown in the collection by glass models, are the "Cullinan," found in 1905, which weighed 3196 carats, or a little less than one and one-half pounds; and the "Excelsior," found in 1893, weighing 885 carats, or about one-half a pound. The largest diamond in America at the present time is the "Tiffany," weighing 125 1/2 carats.

Affecting American Trade
German production costs have been rising rapidly, according to a report to the department of commerce from Commercial Attaché Herring at Berlin, and the upward tendency continues, in spite of the partial recovery of the mark in comparison with the low level of last November.

Activity in Manufacturing
That the manufacturers of the United States are increasing their activities is evidenced by official figures of the importation of manufacturing material and also the official figures of the exports of manufactures. March importation of manufacturing material, says the Trade Record of the National City Bank of New York, showed a larger value than at any time in the past eighteen months, with the larger value than at any time in the past eighteen months, with the single exception of December, 1921, when the total was slightly greater than in March of the current year. The sharp decline which has characterized the recent importations of manufacturing material began in October, 1920, when the value of imports of manufacturing goods dropped from $192,000,000 in September to $85,000,000 in October, $29,000,000 in December, $63,000,000 in January, 1921; $61,000,000 in September, $59,000,000 in October, thence advancing to $70,000,000 in November, $81,000,000 in February, 1922, and $87,000,000 in March, the latest month for which figures are available.

The big advance in the total value of manufacturing material imported is the more striking because of the fact that the prices at which these materials are being imported are now far below those of a year ago, and therefore the increase in total values means a much larger increase in quantities than the simple value figures would indicate.

BACKED UP BY FARMERS
WASHINGTON, May 19.—Supported by the organized farmers of America, a new movement was launched by Senator Capper, republican, chairman of the agricultural bloc, to abolish gambling in futures on the grain markets. Capper told the International New Service that the bloc would not be robbed of "millions," despite the decision of the Supreme court invalidating the Capper-Tincher act. The Kansas senator declared he would have a new bill ready within a week or ten days which "would stand in the courts."

Constance Talmadge, In Political Story On T. D. & L. Screen

Public Given Protection by
Work of Committees, So
Says E. P. Hayward

Constance Talmadge, whimsical, tantalizing and captivating as ever, is the star of "Woman's Place," the First National attraction which will commence an engagement of two days at the T. D. & L. theatre today. In this production Miss Talmadge goes in for politics. As a society girl just back from abroad, she becomes a candidate for mayor of the town, running in opposition to Freddy Bleecker, a "swell."

The production is brimming over with amusing situations, and has a delightful romance, with a spicy dash of adventure, to add considerably to its entertainment value. "Woman's Place" is an original story written especially for Constance Talmadge by John Emerson and Anita Loos, who have prepared the scenarios for some of the star's most successful screen "highlights." They would indicate that "Connie" will be right at home in a picture of this type.

David Starr Comes Here to Make Home

"New York is a wonderful state, but the man who wants to get all there is out of life must come to California and to Glendale," was the statement made yesterday by David Starr, who will open a theatrical establishment tomorrow in 104 West Doran street.

"I lived in New York for a long time and, through friends, learned of California. Eight or nine months ago I arrived in Los Angeles. Since that time I have visited many of the surrounding communities and, if my observations amount to more than comment, I concluded that Glendale was the ideal business and residential section in which to establish myself and family. "I shall move my family here as soon as I can find suitable quarters. I am visualizing a pleasant business and a good home environment for my family in Glendale."

Loses His Eyesight, 'Feels' City's Charms

Injured in a mine blast back in Colorado some years ago and deprived of his eyesight has not prevented A. E. Reese, formerly of Denver, to see, intuitively, the beauties of Glendale as a place of residence. Mr. Reese with his wife, have moved into their new home in 532 Patterson street, where the former miner has entered the coffee, tea and spice business.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR
Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy
Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked, or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so natural, and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Advertisement.

GOVERNMENT HELP IN BUILDING IS APPRECIATED

Public Given Protection by
Work of Committees, So
Says E. P. Hayward

For several years there has been developing a feeling that some agency of the federal government should interest itself in building and housing. The Congress of the United States made an appropriation for such activities for the year 1921-1922. The act appropriating the funds says, among other things, "That as much of this sum as necessary shall be used to collect and disseminate such scientific, practical and statistical information as may be procured, showing or tending to show approved methods in building, planning and construction, standardization, and adaptability of structural units, including building materials, and codes, economy in the manufacture and utilization of building materials and supplies, and such other matters as may tend to encourage, improve, and cheapen construction and housing."

Accordingly, Secretary Hoover created the division of building and housing, which co-operates with all groups interested in housing and construction, such as architects, builders, building material producers and dealers, building trades labor contractors, builders' exchanges, realtors, building and loan associations, building inspectors, city officials and others.

The division has helped local communities in successfully solving their housing problems. It collects and publishes monthly prices of twenty-four items of building materials as paid by contractors in different cities. It also makes reports on building activity, such as building permits and contracts awarded, and on general building and housing conditions in the country.

Mr. Hoover has appointed two main committees which co-operate with the division of building and housing. The advisory committee on building codes, with a sub-committee on plumbing, is drafting minimum code requirements for building construction. The advisory committee on zoning is making studies of state enabling acts and zoning ordinances. Its reports should be of distinct aid to communities interested in the promotion of the public welfare and the protection of property values, according to E. P. Hayward of Hayward & McCarty, local representative of the Southern California Metropolitan Loan association with offices at 142 South Brand boulevard.

It is not often that big men who juggle the hammer, shot and discus are also phenomenal sprinters. In Glen Hartrant of Stanford University and Jack Merchant of the University of California the Pacific coast is sending two exceptions to the rule to the intercollegiate championships at Cambridge, Mass., to be run May 25 and 26.

Hartrant, who has put the shot better than fifty feet and the discus 147 feet, has time and again this season run the hundred in 10-5, and once has been officially clocked in ten flat. He stands 6 feet 1 inch in height, weighs 195 pounds and is 19 years of age. Jack Merchant has won the Pacific Association A. A. U. district hammer throw title—there being no hammer event in the Coast conference—with a throw of 171 feet, 4-1/2 inches, and he is also a good shot putter, javelin thrower and discus man. As a sprinter, he has negotiated the hundred in 10-1-5 seconds and is usually good for a place in the 220 yards in meets on the coast. Both these men will positively appear in the eastern sprints as well as their favorite weights.

Neither man, however, is a first string sprinter at either California or Stanford. Hutchinson is the California sprinter, while Stanford is sending the famous Morris Kirksey and a sophomore named Eddie Sudden. Kirksey today is not the Kirksey of the last Olympic games or of last year. It is the same old story of a iron muscle and Sudden beat him in the annual dual meet with California. While Kirksey a week later won the A. A. U. district 220 yards in 22-1-5, it is hardly likely that he will be able to cope with such stars as Allan Woodring of Syracuse, Robert Leoney of Lafayette or others of the eastern

NEW YORK.—The worthy Mr. Huggins may be all the varieties of "managerial sap" his critics say of him. He may be a poor "mixer," an indifferent executive, a bad tactician and a theorist of the most blithering sort, yet—

He wins one pennant while doing business with the most unruly, turbulent collection of ball players known to modern baseball and the odds are very good that he will win another within the course of a few months. If you have a fancy for results, not reasons, there is nothing in Mr. Huggins' major league life that could not be hung on the parlor wall between the diploma from the correspondence school and the picture of grandfather in his Civil war uniform.

The idea has been advanced that some managers are made by the ball clubs they boss. Some such thought is often expressed in connection with Huggins and the Yankees. It is one of the kindest things they say about him, for Huggins is an odd little "monkey wrench," and until very recently made few friends in New York.

But they are becoming more charitable in their attitude, first of all because there isn't much verbal dirt to be tossed at a manager who wins a pennant, and again, because his trouble with Carl Mays and Waite Hoyt was such as to excite popular sympathy for the harassed little nite of a man.

That very element of physical insignificance is one of Huggins' greatest liabilities. Sit him down on the bench beside Ruth, Mousel, Baker, Fipp, McMillan, Hoyt, Shawkey and other ample spect-

It is probable that outside of a club's greens committee few of even the regular golfers have any idea of the cost of laying out a proper course. Naturally, this cost will differ in accordance with the lay of the terrain, but the average golf course, no matter where it may be, represents no small outlay in cash. The aggregate of these sums, taken all over the country, represents cash into the millions. As an example, the first seven holes of the Seaside links near Portland, Ore., now in course of construction, will cost approximately $10,000. With the same at its present stage of proficiency, a course that is not laid out exactly according to the proper methods called for by the game, is merely that much money utterly thrown away.

That veteran pitcher of the New York Nationals, Jesse Barnes, still seems to have his old salary wing in working order and is giving the youngsters in the business more than a run for their money. In a recent game against the Philadelphia club, the only thing that marred an otherwise perfect pitching record was a single base on balls. When only 27 batsmen face a pitcher in nine innings, the ultimate has been reached. The man Jesse gave the walk to was doubled at second base.

The fact that sports added materially to the efficiency of troops, as discovered during the World War, is a lesson that has been headed by national guard organizations all over the country. Never before the war were sports given the consideration that now is being given them in these state militia units. In joining the militia nowadays, the young fellow not only gets his military training, but is in line for a lot of interesting organized competition in all branches of athletics. Track meets, tennis tournaments, swimming meets, and other events have been made annual events in many sections of the country and championship titles are carried with the winning of events.

When it comes to self-esteem and self-praise this fellow "Babe" Ruth is one of the most modest of America's athletes—I, e., regarding the relative ability of some of his rivals.

"If keeping to the subject comprises good story writing, Ruth should unquestionably receive the grapes for his journalistic efforts," declares I. M. Outlay, well-known wet blanket spreader. His subject? Why, "Babe Ruth," of course.

It matters not how clever you are in this day of realization. Your ability doesn't amount to a flip Without a reputation.

A few of the exceptions that serve to prove the rule in the foregoing masterpiece are Jack Johnson, Patsy Arbuckle and Peggy Joyce.

Sign observed today at the entrance of the Matrimonial Club's hall: LECTURE TONIGHT BY N. E. BODDIE? WELL KNOWN NEW YORK BACHELOR. HIS SUBJECT WILL BE "DO MARRIED MEN MAKE THE BEST HUSBANDS."

The good old sisters were having a chat.
All on a summer's day;
A man strolled by and listened a bit,
And then he went away.
He soon returned and presented a sign

To talkative Missus Bart;
But he didn't stop to receive any thanks,
For the sign said: "For Sale—Free Dirt."

Although practically all of us agree that the newspapers' closest rival at spreading gossip is a woman's tongue, still which one of us would choose to be the subject of discussion at a men's meeting?

Jim Corbett, former heavyweight champion of the world who is now traveling on a western theatre circuit, holds the distinction of being the most consistent fight prophet the boxing game has ever known. He has yet to pick his first winner.

Mrs. Mollie Blurstedt Mallory, America's national woman tennis champion, has shown that she is of true sporting blood by announcing two months ahead of time of her intention to enter the British championship tournament at Wimbledon, England. This forethought on the part of Mrs. Mallory will allow Mile. Suzanne Lenglen that much extra time to plan her alibis and excuses.

In his series of lectures on the system of play used by the California Bears on the gridiron during the past two seasons, Andy Smith somehow or other fails to say much about the methods carried out by his men in the Washington-Jefferson game of January 1.

LOCAL SQUAD AND L. A. TIGERS TO CLASH SUNDAY

Glendale's New Formed Ball Team to Stage Game on Gateway Grounds

Glendale's newly formed baseball team, which has been entered in southern California's ever growing semi-professional ranks, is rapidly rounding into shape under the careful tutelage of Manager John Cobb, who, with Charles H. Houck, has just put the squad on the field. The grounds, located at the corner of San Fernando road and Park avenue, have been scraped and re-modeled, a grand stand is being erected, a large backstop is being installed and all arrangements are being made to have one of the best semi-pro diamonds in the south.

The Merchants' opening game was staged last Sunday on the local grounds when they trimmed the Allstars of Los Angeles in a snappy contest. Next Sunday's game will be played with the L. A. Tigers, who have not lost a contest in the last five starts. The general public is invited to attend the affair, which will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

How They Line Up
The locals' lineup will consist of the following players: Cobb, King, Kerns, Bell, Acosta, Angerson, Dutcher and Kincaid. Several new candidates for positions on the team will be on hand to fill in. Any one desiring to try out for the squad should get in touch with Mr. Houck at the Sport Shop, 146 South Brand boulevard. An offer of thanks and appreciation has been extended through this paper to the numerous Glendale merchants who have and are supporting the new team. The support has been given in advertising and donations of supplies and equipment.

Ruth Vs. Williams Big Event Saturday

By DAVID J. WALSH
Sporting Editor International News.
NEW YORK, May 19. — Can Babe Ruth hit sixty home runs in 121 games this year where he smote but fifty-nine in a matter of 154 games in 1921?

That, boiled down to pay dirt, is the question before the house as the Babe prepares to return from exile tomorrow in time to appear in the Yank line-up against the Browns.

Many lean toward the belief that the ex-piano mover element in the Babe's triangular make-up can do anything and that is one reason the Yank offices were stormed by fans yesterday in quest of the reserved seat coupons. Another is Ken Williams, who has staked himself to eleven homers thus far and although now in a slump in this respect, is far enough in front to make a race of it with any one, Ruth included. The man-to-man element, Ruth vs. Williams, at the Polo grounds tomorrow, has caught the fancy of the merry villagers just as much as the mere fact that Ruth is returning to baseball just thirty-eight days later than anybody else, barring Bob Meusel and Bill Piercy, his partners in the barnstorming enterprise that brought down upon them the official wrath of Judge Landis.

Everybody seems to take it for granted that the suspension will be lifted as soon as the players' application for reinstatement is presented to the commissioner tomorrow, but the judge himself has made no promise.

The application will be made by long distance telephone and Ruth has every confidence that the judge will be in a benign mood. "It is strictly up to Judge Landis as to whether I'll be allowed to play tomorrow," Ruth said today. "but I don't think I'll get the worst of it from the judge."

"I'm in first-class condition and ready to go out after a new record, if that is possible within the short time allotted me. If I play tomorrow, I'm going to start shooting for that right field stand right away."

Although Ruth's chances to establish a new record this year seem to be negligible, he undoubtedly has kept himself in better condition than is his wont while lying idle. He seems to have entirely recovered from the operation for the removal of his tonsils several weeks ago and right now bears less striking resemblance to a hoghead mid-riff than ever before.

RUTH AND MEUSEL DUE TO APPEAR ON SATURDAY

New York Yankee Stars to Get Into Box Score for First Time Tomorrow

By HOWARD M'GILLIS
Sporting Editor The Evening News
Baseball fans all over the country are eagerly waiting for Saturday afternoon to roll around, as that is the date when Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel, the two suspended New York stars, will become eligible to appear in the lineup for the first time this season. It is possible that the fence-wrecking duo may not play on their initial day of freedom, but hardly probable.

One of the most interesting angles connected with Ruth's return to the game will be the handicap for home-run honors which he will have to overcome to catch up with Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns, his latest rival in either league. To date the Mount City "find" has poled out eleven circuit wallops, and if his present rate of batting is held up to any reasonable degree from now until next October he is likely to come dangerously near "The King of Swats" 1921 record.

And to make the event even more spectacular, Saturday afternoon will find the Yankees playing against the Browns on the former's lot, with Williams and Ruth appearing on the same field. Of the thirty or forty thousand Gotham fans who will crowd the stands it is highly probable that a large proportion of them will not know which squad wins the game, so eager will they be in watching the inception of what promises to be the most sensational duel for hitting supremacy in the history of either league.

Boost For Southland
Through the efforts of its duet of star tennis players the University of Southern California is this season receiving more advertising in the eastern and middle western states than at any time in the history of the Cardinal and Gold institution. The "two-man-power" squad, which is composed of Captain Welsh and Paul Greene, left Los Angeles several weeks ago on a "barnstorming" expedition which was scheduled to have them meet about thirty of the country's leading colleges and universities. To date the Trojan stars have played ten matches, all of which they have won by comfortable margins. Their latest victory, which was won on Tuesday, was accomplished against the fast Lehigh college of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania team, which had not previously lost a single match this year.

Among the more important teams which the U. S. C. men are to face in the remainder of their tour are the squads representing Princeton, Dartmouth, Columbia, University of Pennsylvania, Boston college and several others.

Big Meet Is Planned
John T. McGeover, well known sportsman of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, has recently announced plans for the staging of the most gigantic schedule of international college athletics that has yet been made public. The plan calls for a series of track and field meets between Oxford and Cambridge universities, England's leading institutions of higher learning, and Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Cornell of this country.

The schedule calls for a series of single and combined meets in England during the summer of 1923, with return matches to be played in the United States in 1925. Other well known American and English schools may be entered into the arrangement before the meets take place.

American Railroad Interests In Europe

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service.
LONDON, May 19.—American railroad interests, backed by American capital, contemplate widespread railway development in the Balkans (southeastern Europe), it was learned today by International News Service.

One projected railway is 350 miles long and is to be constructed between Belgrade, capital of Jugoslavia and the Adriatic coast, giving Serbia a sea outlet. Dewitt Cutler, chairman of the American Association of Railway executives, who has just returned to London from a three months' tour of the continent, refused to confirm the Balkan deals, but stated positively Americans were not seeking any railway concessions in Russia or Siberia. "Americans do not want any such concessions," said Mr. Cutler. "The economic outlook in Europe is bright, but depends largely upon cessation of these interminable conferences which result in little and merely hinder the path to normalcy. The United States has taken the right attitude in keeping out of the conferences."

"Russia has not got anything to offer us at the present time and we should give her a wide berth. I am sure that, if the people of Europe are left alone, they will find their own salvation."

NEW OFFICERS OF THURSDAY CLUB ARE SELECTED

Mrs. William Mabry Chosen President; Demonstration On Home Products

The club women to buy "home products" as they are in a position to start a strong movement toward great results.
Can Create Demand
"With our 100 per cent climate, hydro-electric energy, our white coal, black gold, and with two-thirds of the population bordering on the Pacific coast producing raw material," she said, "simply by trading at home, we can create a demand for the finished product."
Permanent population is due to industrial prosperity, a fact that is more true of the west than the east. Los Angeles is now the largest city on the west coast and has the greatest industrial outlook. This last is equally true of the county.
"The industrial development depends largely on the home people buying the home product."
"Home Products" were next demonstrated, in a very entertaining manner. Bert Perkins, representing frocks made in the county, was accompanied by a very pretty model, Miss Mayo, who displayed a number of fascinating creations, appearing first one and then another, as the demonstrator described them. First a cretonne sport dress for the beach, then simple, dainty frocks for the house, a dressy afternoon gown and a flame-color creation for evening.

Mrs. Haidee Clarkson, a demonstrator, brought to the attention of the women in a most entertaining manner the surprisingly large number of home-grown and home-prepared products that are being placed on the market by the firm with which she is connected. Her display was very complete and attracted much interest. It included everything in the coffee, teas, spices and on down to the home-grown mustard, and was arranged in an attractive manner. With modern appliances for display, she demonstrated them by making the delicious coffee that was served with the luncheon.

From Old Virginia
Mrs. Marion Jack of Hollywood told the story of her salad dressing, which she originated from combinations of old recipes that were handed down in her family in Virginia, from old family cooks, and which she made first for her own table, next, to sell for the Red Cross during the war and has had such a demand for the product that she is now operating a small factory, as she found her kitchen inadequate to make production equal the demand.

Mrs. Charlotte Clark, representing a baking company, gave a very clever talk descriptive of the 300 varieties of crackers and cookies that are now made by one firm at home. Her display included 100 varieties.
The rooms during the social hour presented the appearance of a small exposition, for which the rooms made a beautiful setting, with decorations of handsome roses.

A delicious plate luncheon was served with fruit salad, cheese wafers, cookies and coffee, which effectively demonstrated the quality of the "home products," as each article of food was prepared by the demonstrator or taken from the stock on display. Nothing was for sale, and each member of the club was presented with a package of tea as a souvenir. The affair, which had been held in anticipation for some time, was a greater success than the officers expected. Merchants may well be prepared to meet the demand for "home products," for the movement will undoubtedly grow, many club members declared.

scholarship and character for public service and better citizens who will lead this country to the greater field that is ahead of us."
Laws and Legislation
Judge Owen C. Emery spoke on the law profession and briefly outlined the California code, which was compiled first by Chief Justice Field and now has become the model for many western states, after tracing the enactment of laws back through the ages.
"Legislatures," he said, "seem to vie with one another on how many laws each can pass and the reason so many laws are declared unconstitutional is that not law-makers, but people who cut meat or cut hair or cut cloth are sent to represent their districts."
"A lawyer's life is one of service to the community and a person who goes into public life for the honor will not get very far. But those who do it for service will get the most out of it."
William A. Howe, V. M. Hollister and F. J. W. Henry were called upon for reports on the Boys' Week activities, which were very successful.

Mr. Hollister stated that the "On to Los Angeles" committee for the International Rotary convention intended to have 200 cars at the parking space allotted Glendale on Monday of the convention week to bring visiting Rotarians from all over the world to the fastest growing city in America.

Kidnap Bride, Also Husband and Guests

A very pleasant surprise was staged at 10 o'clock Wednesday night, following the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Turck, account of which appeared in "The Evening News" yesterday, when nine automobiles, driven by members of the Master Plumbers' association of Glendale, kidnaped the bride and bridegroom and invited the guests who had attended the wedding to enter the other machines.

A tour of the principal streets of Glendale followed, after which the party was taken to the K. of P. hall on South Brand boulevard, where the members of the Master Plumbers' association, of which F. S. Hanniford of Eagle Rock is president, and of the Women's auxiliary, of which Mrs. Stice is president, had prepared a big "feed." Dancing continued until the wee sma' hours of yesterday morning. Mr. Turck was the organizer of the local association. Mrs. Turck was formerly Miss Meta Livingston Hogan of Schenectady, N. Y.

J. N. Stuckey Says This Beats Alabama

"Alabama is a delightful state in which to reside until—until one has come to California and Glendale," was the way J. N. Stuckey put it yesterday, when he related that he had purchased the grocery formerly conducted by J. S. Bland & Son at 543-545 North Brand boulevard.
"I have been in Glendale for some months and the longer I stayed here the more I decided this was the place for me. But I had to have something to do and I didn't know of anything with greater interest for me than the grocery store I have just purchased. With me will be associated my son-in-law, L. D. Childers, who at present, is employed at the First National bank."
J. S. Bland is planning a trip to the east and, of course, to return here to make his home.

Over 2,500,000,000 parcels are handled annually by the parcel post.

California for thirty-five years, living in Los Angeles. "Your neighbors can be proved. I am glad to have you say, and prove it, too, that Glendale is the fastest growing city in the world. When I heard of your president, and your secretary, and heard your assistant secretary, Mr. Sanders, speak at Burbank recently, he had us all coming his way. He is a spell-binder."
The governor told of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce member who went to New York and decided to thrill the people there with a fairy tale. He drew upon his imagination, and when he got back to Los Angeles three weeks later, the story he told was not big enough.
Talks About Highways
"Everything you say about California can be proved. If it is good," he declared, in drawing to a conclusion, "California highways are the best of any state in the world," he declared, in patching them up against attack by the Automobile club. "In ten years' time the number of licensed motor cars has increased from 40,000 to 800,000. And now we have the heavy trucks and motor busses tearing up the old highways which ten years ago were sufficient."
Speaking of the $38,000,000 budget, the governor pointed out that $45,000,000 of this goes to education, and that the tax collected by the whole state is but a little more than the tax bill in Los Angeles county. California grows at the rate of 250,000 people a year now, he said, and we must meet the demands of these newcomers.

M. B. Jones Presides
Attorney Mattison B. Jones, who presided, is a Democratic possibility for the gubernatorial nomination, and he made a speech both fore and aft the governor. In the frontispiece, he told how he taught the then Congressman Stephens ethics at the University of Southern California. He also told several stories about rectors and lawyers. In his closing talk, Attorney Jones alluded to the situation in Chicago as necessary for support of the constitution. Seems that the Chicago city council voted, 47 to 12, against the enforcement of the Volstead act. "Now they are paying the penalty of their lawlessness," concluded Attorney Jones, who echoed many sentiments expressed by the governor.

Mayor Spencer Robinson made the address of welcome, a very well worded speech which he read, and Supervisor Henry W. Wright responded for the new members who were introduced by Mr. Jones. V. M. Hollister, president of the Chamber of Commerce, called the meeting to order. Miss Hazel Linkogel was the feature of the musical program, her violin playing completely winning the hearts of the 200 people present. Pearl G. Curran accompanied her. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cavenagh also contributed several vocal numbers which were highly appreciated and the governor praised them, too. Mrs. Calvin Whiting accompanied the Cavenaghs.

"If I could blow a horn like that little lady plays the violin," said the state's chief executive of Miss Linkogel, "I wouldn't tire you by speaking."
The dinner, served by the Glen Inn, not only was delicious, but was worth more than the money. The service was good, the food hot and the quality excellent. Everybody was satisfied they had had their fill, both in food and speeches. F. J. W. Henry led the community singing of America.

body."
Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, 612 East Broadway, stated that she did not believe many citizens would object to allowing the lumber yards to remain on Glendale avenue under those conditions.
Favors Lumber Yard
"I think it would be a great mistake to remove the only manufacturing interest that we have on the east side over to the west side," remarked C. E. Stanley of 108 North Everett street. "We have given them quite enough already. The lumber is being used by the building which is going on around here. The industries certainly are not damaging property interests."
Frank L. Fox, president of the Fox-Woodsum Lumber company, 714 East California avenue, stated that his firm would be only too glad to "tidy" up its premises and remove the objectionable pile of lumber from the vacant lot across the street from its yard as soon as the city council would grant it permission to make the necessary improvements to take care of it inside its yard. This statement was received with applause.
C. W. Ingledue of 503 East Wilton avenue, who presided, stated his opinion that it would be a serious mistake to permit the lumber yards to leave the east side. He estimated that the employees and their families numbered approximately 200 people.
Payroll Is Something
C. U. Mandis, manager of the Glendale Mill company, 216 Howard street, reminded those present that the payroll of the lumber companies amounts to $16,000 or $18,000 a month. He called attention to the fact that a large number of purchases would not be made on the east side if the families should move away.

Instead of paying a cash bonus for the electrification of the line, several alternatives are being considered, according to Mr. Nelson. He said that it had been suggested that the railroad company should not be compelled to pave its right of way.
An important influence in securing the electrification is the attitude of the citizens of the east side, in the opinion of Mr. Nelson. He said that, if a willingness to co-operate was exhibited, the matter probably would be brought to a focus in the next few weeks.
"I don't know whether you know it or not," asserted Mr. Ingledue, "but the Glendale & Montrose line has been operating at a loss ever since it was established. I have it on good authority that last year was the best one that it has ever had and yet it lost $7,000. Naturally, it wants to know what's ahead before it goes any further."
Says Investment Assured
Difficulty in making property owners on the east side "sign up on the dotted line" pledged to subscribe to hotel stock was commented upon by both Mr. Ingledue and Mr. Nelson.
"With the improvements that we have already, such as the high school and sanitarium, there is no doubt but that our investment in the hotel is assured," declared Mr. Nelson. "I haven't had the time to meet with the whole hotel committee. They have quite a number signed up on subscriptions or pledges for the stock. As usual, a large number of people are holding back. It is up to you to explain that unless they do sign up the matter will be dropped because the subscription must be large enough to put up a respectable building."

Mr. Nelson commented upon the foresight of property owners around Seventh and Grand avenue subscribing to stock in the J. W. Robinson building and moving the business district in their direction. He said that the increase in their property values had more than paid them. He believes that the erection of a creditable hotel on the east side will operate in the same manner.

J. D. Brown Realty Co. Reports Sales
The J. D. Brown Realty company of 117 South Central avenue, Eagle Rock, reports the sale of a $12,500 property, 254 Ridgeway, to Mrs. Nellie A. Binney, who will take possession in the near future. They also report the sale of a $6,000 property at 123 East Adams street to Mrs. Grace L. Raymond, who expects to move in soon. Another sale reported by this firm is that of the Candee property on North Rowland street to Page Noll, who will make his home there.

NON-UNION MEN ASKED
WASHINGTON, May 19.—Only operators of non-union coal fields are being invited to attend the conference called by the government to halt soaring prices of coal at the mines, it was announced today by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who will preside.
It is the non-union fields, Hoover said, that are showing from 40 to 50 per cent increase in prices. These are located mainly in West Virginia, with a few in Tennessee, Kentucky and Pennsylvania. A definite date will not be fixed for the conference until responses have been received from those invited.
