WE DEFEND BY J. MATOR.

WE DEFE he same gentlemen who have now saled them, when a demand helthest proviously made on him at the period of his conditation for the U. S. senate.

When we utilisted to this metics, we did it salely for the purpose of remembring against any perceeding which would effect whole officies of individuals; and produce discondist facilities in the community; but as the gentlement do not mean to dealt the citizenship of those who wastested inhabitabilit Louisians at and anterior to the treaty of MFS; they occupy less debate-ble ground. "Diff, fifteening the quanties offices but one individual at present, is ready calculated to effect. as it states that flary-shall be admisted into the Union, and become eithern of the Union flary shall be admisted into the Union, and become eithern of the Union flary shall be admisted into the Union, and become eithern of the Union states, and seemed the principles of the flatest constitution, that is, can regardle eithern laws of maturalization, actablished by congress. It may then be added, that Bereins as regards her cotte rights and severeleptly, becomes an an equality with the original severeleptly, becomes an an equality with the original severeleptly, becomes an an equality with the original severeleptly states, at the first spherical part of the Union. It has been calculated that there are shout $500,000.

If he been calculated that there are shout $500,000 allowed the union of Massachusetts, Tennessee and South Carolina should be a sho al estees, efficient ighthistents had to pake the position onery seem of illumination for eitheauthip of the United States, even after helps admitted jose the Union; or admitting a state into the Union, does not measure; yinclude the rights of eitheauthip being confused on its inhabitants, etherwise then by the uniform have of inhabitants, which are operative effice us all inhabitants. A state into the Union.

I state into the Union, a state into the Union, and it is the Union in the state government, but which in its well known that they are sold assally from the other into the united that it is the united the customery prime of course near but much when it is well known that they are sold assally from 800 to 1600 and sometimes 3000 dollars each in this state. We have then 3 millions of slaves at 400 dollars and itsee and of course near but such when the united in state property is that all free white male citizens of itse-and of course near but such when the united in state property is gal qualifications of voters, shell suitatives, etc. progra the inhabitants of Louisiana to form an and state government; but which in its pecifys that all free white male citizens of lating in a ratio of compound interest at 5 per cent; or of 60 millions yearly being added to the principal and interest. When property to such a vast amount is lavelyed in any kind of interference with the slave inve the negentary legal qualifications we choose representatives, etc.

It might then be accord that none who were not eitice of the United States when Legaleians was admitted into the Union were entitled twick to the right of question by the netional legisleture, even if it had suffrage by the not of compress and that certainly those who may meet administed another to that not, were not eliteratived another to that not even in the power of the national treasury be sufficiently great to pay shall the national treasury be sufficiently great to pay question the national treasury be sufficiently great to pay question the national treasury be sufficiently great to pay question the national treasury be sufficiently great to pay question the national treasury of the paylor the interest of 60 millions amount of paylor the on this property? And even if enabled to pay for the on this property? And even if enabled to pay for the manumission of slaves at such enormous draughts on the treasury, would it be convenient or accoptable?

Yet this fersooth is the design of the abolitionists, in its most approved aspect. But is it possible? Why then attempt to 'surmount insurmeentable diffi and fathom the bottom of the bottomless pit? The abolitionists argue that as England has emand prudent for the legislatures of the six-sholding states themselves to interfere in the annihilation of their own property to the amount of 1200 or 1500 millions.

The necessity of legislature action on the part of Congress and the legislatures of the nonsiaveholding states, to protect this property which cannot be aliensted nor destroyed, must therefore be evident to all disinterceted persons who value the Union and the constitutional rights in liberty, life and property of all the states and citizens of our whole republic.

A voney method for throwing down the truth. In Germany, machine and the constitutional rights in liberty, life and property of all the states and citizens of our whole republic. chartrain has been very encreus and expensive; and the treat issued as the Lake Bent the treat issued as been about from 160 to 120,000 dollars—it has been about from the construction and the constitutional rights in liberty 150.

Prench Prench Minister.

Cortespondent of the New York Daily Ad. Wasmeron, October 19, 1825.

There is a very variety rumor hore that the proposed of a specific settlement of our difficulties with the Court of France has of late become considerably darksmed. I am took that the advices received from Mr. Barton are of a character to sponent this apprehension, and whether the diplomationality of Mr. Barton will be found adequate to conduct the pending negotiations to a favorable issue may be somewhat problematical. There is a story going the round of our fashionable soires which shows flat either through ignorance or intention, he has not paid that deference in ciquette which is expected at an European Court, and a breach of which is considered no where in a more serious light than in the selected as as European Court, and a breach of which is considered no where in a more serious light than in the selected of Paris. At one of the balls one of the daughters of Paris. At one of the balls one of the daughters of Paris. At one of the balls one of the faring replied that he would dance with her, and Mr. Barton replied that he did not dance. As the associous icirculating in the parties at which our Cubinet members show themselves, and constitutes part of conversaions in which they take part, twee no reason to doubt is correctness, although it has not; as far as I have seen, appeared in the public prims. The accident is in itself too trifing to have any visible effect on the relations existing between the two countries, but it may be one among a thousand others tifus which may combine to produce a feeling of less kindness towards us than has heretoforeed and the services which is developed to fail.
