NEW PREMIER HAS PARTY OF THIRTY-SEVEN

Baxter Will Lead Conservative Government in New Brunswick

Eleven Liberals Elected; Premier Veniot Returned in Gloucester

St. John, N.B., Aug. 11—The ninth Legislature of New Brunswick will be composed of thirty-seven Conservatives and eleven Liberals, it was shown to-day by practically complete returns from the general election held yesterday.

The new Premier will be Hon. J. B. Baxter, who was Federal Minister of Customs from September 21, 1921 until the retirement of the Meighen Government December 29, 1921, and who resigned as member of the House of Commons for St. John and Albert in the latter half of July last.

In the contest yesterday Premier Veniot himself, with his colleagues, won a conclusive victory in Gloucester, but Hon. A. A. Dyrart, Minister of Lands and Mines, and Hon. J. E. Michaud, Minister without portfolio, were the only other Ministers re-elected.

NINETY-EIGHT CANDIDATES Ninety-eight candidates competed throughout the province, and of those three lost their deposits. M. McEllan Balkam, running as a Liberal candidate in St. Stephen, Miramichi; C. H. LeBlond, running as an Independent candidate in Beauséjour, and John B. McAuley, running as an Independent in King's County, were the only candidates who failed to obtain half the number of votes recorded by their lowest successful opponents.

STATEMENT AWAITED Premier Veniot, who intimated last night that the election in Northumberland might be protested on the ground of an alleged irregularity at one of the polling booths, it having been reported to him the booth had been entered forcibly, the voting held up and the ballot boxes destroyed, stated over the long distance telephone this morning that he had received no additional details and preferred not to comment further on the matter. He suggested he might have a statement to make in connection with the situation generally.

The Conservative Government will take power following eight years of Liberal rule. Hon. P. J. Veniot has been Premier since February 1, 1923. (Concluded on page 2)

Amsterdam, Aug. 11—Four persons are reported to have been killed and about 100 injured in the small village of Borculo, in Eastern Holland, near the German border, when it was struck last night by a typhoon which lasted several minutes.

The village is a mass of ruins. Both its church buildings were demolished and not a single house escaped damage. In the eastern part of Gelderland province seriously damaged by last night's storm are Didam, Oldensaal and Benegelo. Only a few details are available, as communications have been interrupted.

PLANE KILLED THREE During the hurricane an aeroplane crashed on the Catholic asylum at Ruero, killing three people. The centre of the storm was at Borculo, which has 5,000 inhabitants. Two thousand of them are homeless in their homes.

DUNNING'S OTTAWA VISIT REVIVES REPORTS OF CHANGES IN CABINET

Ottawa, Aug. 11—Conversations between Premier King and Hon. C. A. Dunning, Premier of Saskatchewan, are in progress.

Mr. Dunning arrived here yesterday and, it is understood, saw Premier King at his country home a few miles from Ottawa, Mr. Dunning shortly afterward left Ottawa, but to-day he is back and the probabilities are that he will be here for a few days.

Mr. Dunning's name has been repeatedly mentioned as a probability in the next Cabinet reorganization, the portfolio of Immigration and Colonization being suggested. That portfolio would become vacant were Hon. J. A. Robb appointed to succeed Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding as Minister of Finance on the latter's retirement. Mr. Robb is now Minister of Immigration and Acting Minister of OTTAWA OPINION

Although there has been so far no official indication as to the nature or result of the conversations between the two Premiers, some doubt is felt in political circles if Mr. Dunning would be prepared to accept a portfolio in the Federal Cabinet. During the last Liberal-Progressive election in January 1924 Mr. Dunning accompanied Hon. T. A. Crerar to Ottawa and they interviewed Premier King together. Subsequently both Mr. Crerar and Mr. Dunning announced they had not been invited to join the Cabinet, although Mr. Crerar stated he had submitted certain policies to Premier King and that a reorganization of the Government had been discussed.

TALK OF ELECTION Whether Mr. Dunning decides to join the Federal Government or not, the impression is that the present conversations are preliminary to a reorganization of the Cabinet, with a subsequent appeal to the people, in October.

At present there is a surface lull in political activities. Few Cabinet Ministers are in town and the Cabinet is not scheduled to meet again until next Monday. Apart from the presence of Mr. Dunning, there is no sign of the many comings and goings which usually mark the making or reconstruction of a Cabinet. But in the seclusion of his country home, it is rumored, Mr. King has started conversations.

NEW YORK PEOPLE SOON TO NAME MAYOR FOR NEXT TERM New York, Aug. 11—Three candidates stood forth to-day for the position of Mayor of New York City, two Democrats and one Republican. They all cast big shadows—Mayor J. F. Hylan, Democrat, nominated by the Mayor Hylan and Senator Walker will fight it out for the nomination in the Democratic primary. Both state they want the people of New York to travel by subway for five Tammany and famous for the

FLAMES SWEEP ACROSS MOST OF QUADRA ISLAND WHILE INHABITANTS HUDDLE ON SHORE, FEARING DEATH IF WIND CHANGES

KEATING TO GET ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER SUPPLY

Within one month Keating district will be served with electric power for lighting and small motors, Manager S. J. Hall of the light and power division of the B.C. Electric Company this morning announced.

The extension of the power lines will serve at least fifty homes in Central Saanich, and will be brought through the district from the West Road at Sluggsda, following the Keating Cross Road and Central Road. The extension now to be made will stop at the East Road, serving the residents adjacent to the Temperance Hall and Telephone Exchange.

Three miles of extension is required to give the new service, the cost being estimated at slightly less than $10,000. With the recently completed East Road extension to Elk Lake, and the inauguration of the Gordon Head extension last year, the British Columbia Electric Railway Company will have invested almost $50,000 in major Saanich extensions in the past few months.

DOMINION GOVERNMENT WILL HAVE BIG ATTRACTION AT PROVINCIAL FALL FAIR

The Dominion Livestock branch will have an extensive exhibit of commercial livestock at the provincial Fall fair opening at the Willows August 17.

The object of the exhibit is to stimulate interest in better breeding, feeding and marketing and to show types suitable for average farm conditions. Men from the department will be on hand to discuss with visitors every phase of this important part of farming. The exhibit includes horses, cattle, sheep, goats, swine and poultry.

The horse exhibit will be of special interest as indicating where there is an available supply of good quality and at reasonable prices. A beautiful saddle mare is at the head of this section.

MONEY IN CATTLE In British Columbia the area suitable for dairying is more negotiable than that suited to beef production than in any other province of the Dominion, it is pointed out. This is a decided advantage, as crossing dairy and beef breeds has always resulted in cattle unsuited for either purpose. A Jersey bull and a grade cow with two calves, the gets of the bull and progeny of the cow, show the valuable work this branch is doing by its free bull loaning policy.

Two Men Are to Serve Long Terms Thompson and de Paula Not Allowed Appeal in Vancouver

Vancouver, Aug. 11—Leave has been refused by the Supreme Court of Canada to C. C. Thompson, alias Albert T. Hollywood, and Frank de Paula to appeal convictions reported at the Spring assizes here for the Vancouver city payroll and Capitol Theatre robberies.

No further appeal is possible, and the prisoners, therefore, must prepare to serve the sentences imposed by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald, fourteen years by Thompson for the City Hall payroll robbery, and $75,000 was stolen, and twelve years by de Paula, for robbing the Capitol Theatre, of approximately $2,500. Thompson was also found guilty with de Paula for that crime and was sentenced to a concurrent term of twelve years.

One Man Known Dead and Numerous Homes Destroyed as Fire Sweeps Through Timber; Settlers Race for Lives Leaving Belongings Behind; Situation on Vancouver Island Easier To-day

Forest fire swept across the northern end of Quadra Island off Campbell River yesterday, destroyed numerous farms and settlers' houses in its path, was responsible for at least one man's death and to-day threatens to engulf the rest of the island which has escaped so far.

Long-distance telephone reports received by The Times from Heriot Bay, on the island to-day, indicated that the damage caused by the fire will be extremely heavy, but so far it is impossible to estimate it. How many homes were destroyed, is not yet known as the settlers who escaped the flames are huddling together at the southern end of the island, fearing that an unfavorable wind may sweep the fire down upon them at any moment.

Henry Thomas died as the result of injuries received while fighting the fire. It is feared, however, that others may have perished in the conflagration which whipped by a fresh breeze, raced down the island at terrific speed. Only a lull in the wind prevented it from destroying every stick of timber and every building on the island.

The damage was serious at the Heriot Bay settlement from which telephone reports were received this morning. Many houses were burned and the little town is still in serious danger. Granite Bay settlement also suffered seriously, while many outlying homes were destroyed before their owners could remove any of their belongings. The settlers rushed through the woods ahead of the fire to seek shelter in the southern position of the island where the area of safety is gradually growing smaller.

EXPECT RAIN TO RELIEVE FIRE MENACE

British Columbia at last is nearing relief from its forest fire situation, now the worst in the history of the Province, according to weather reports received by the forestry service to-day from the Gonzales Observatory.

These reports predicted general showers in the southern portions of British Columbia during the next thirty-six hours. These showers are forecast to-day by a sudden drop in temperature on the coast and a corresponding rise in humidity. Last night the dampness became so marked that rain seemed imminent.

Already this change in the weather has eased the situation everywhere. Under present conditions the chance of serious new fires breaking out is small while existing fires will not travel so fast as during the dry, hot weather which has parched the Province for weeks. Fire fighters all over British Columbia are taking advantage of the lull in the heat to consolidate their positions and prepare for a possible return of hot weather.

Rain to-day or to-night would save millions of feet of valuable timber on Vancouver Island and on the Mainland. Probably many homes and lives also would be saved if the forests became really soaked. Nothing but rain can extinguish some of the big fires which are still raging through the woods of the Island and the Fraser Valley and sweeping on toward settlements.

Reports received at forestry headquarters this morning indicate that the fire which threatened to burn the city's Sooke Lake watershed is well under control now. The fires around Courtenay, however, are still in a serious condition.

EASTERN STAR MEETING IN TORONTO Replica of Liberty Bell in Philadelphia Presented to City

Toronto, Aug. 11—The triennial assembly of the Grand Order of the Eastern Star was formally opened here to-day.

The meeting in point of business to be handled and representatives present is one of the largest in the history of the order. Delegates are here from every part of the United States and every Canadian province except British Columbia.

MORNING FIRE IN NEW WESTMINSTER Old City Market Buildings Destroyed While Thousands of Citizens Watched

New Westminster, Aug. 11—In a spectacular blaze that brought thousands of citizens from their beds at 3 o'clock this morning, the Royal City Market was razed and equipment of the city electric light department destroyed. The loss is estimated at $30,000, mainly covered by insurance.

The New Westminster Market was recognized as the oldest farmers' market in the province.

On July 25 the ratepayers rejected a by-law asking for $60,000 to erect new market buildings, the ones being used having been declared inadequate.

A close investigation is now being made to ascertain, if possible, the cause of the blaze, though it is believed to have been caused by carelessness of hobo bunking there for the night.

Neither the wharf on which the buildings stood nor adjoining buildings were damaged badly, though for a time grave anxiety was felt for the warehouse and elevator of the Vancouver Milling & Grain Company Ltd., adjoining. The flames caught light buildings, and only after valiant efforts by the fire brigade were they extinguished.

At a special meeting of the City Council to-day it was decided new market buildings would be erected immediately. Discussion regarding the site and financing of the project was deferred. Arrangements are being made to provide temporary market quarters.

Keating News

Special to The Times
Keating, Aug. 11.—Although the heat was intense the members of the Young People's Club of the South Saanich Union Church had a joyful time at their first picnic which was held at Mr. MacDonald's beach, North Saanich, on Saturday afternoon. The party met at the church at 2:30 o'clock, and after arriving at the beach at 3 o'clock the majority of the crowd made a rush for the water spending a pleasant hour in swimming while others indulged in a game of tennis.

A bounteous picnic supper and ice cream was served on tables spread under the trees at the beach to which about 30 were seated. After moving a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. MacDonald and his sister, Mrs. Wilkerson, for their kindness in throwing open their grounds for the picnic the party again repaired to the tennis court, where, in the cool of the evening, a keenly contested tournament was held. Although there are no fires in the immediate neighborhood, the air is dense with smoke and a fine white ash is falling. Mr. Knight, who with his family, is camping at Horseshoe Bay, happened to be crossing Bay Point when he noticed a fire among the dry moss and undergrowth. He hurriedly returned to the camp for buckets and together with Mrs. Knight worked until it was under control. A strong

WIDER "BLUE SKY" LAWS NOW URGED

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—Thomas Mulvey, Under-Secretary of State, while attending the Canadian Bar Association convention which is to open in Winnipeg August 26, will confer with the Attorney-General of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta on the question of a uniform "blue sky" law throughout Canada. Mr. Mulvey will leave for Winnipeg August 23.

The conference, it is understood, follows demands of the Attorney-Generals of the prairie provinces for the passing of legislation by the Federal Parliament which will have the effect of making "blue sky" laws apply to Dominion incorporated companies. "Blue sky" legislation is in effect in the three provinces.

A film star, asked whether she was single, married, or divorced, is understood to have replied, "Naturally."

Why is ENO sold the world over?

- Because ENO is internationally known as the great aid to good health.
No other corrective has the world-wide fame that ENO has.
- Because ENO for over 50 years has maintained its original standards of absolute purity.
Do you know any other corrective of which this is true?
- Because The regular morning use of ENO keeps the system clean by eliminating the waste materials that clog and poison.
It has therefore won a place in every well ordered household.
- Because ENO purifies the blood, and thus relieves the liver and enables the digestive organs to function efficiently.
No other corrective does this so perfectly.
- Because ENO possesses many of the beneficial and refreshing qualities of fruit in a concentrated and convenient form.
No other corrective possesses these qualities in such pure and convenient form.
- Because ENO does not contain flavouring matter or sugar, or purgative mineral salts, and forms no undesirable habit.
Ask your Doctor the importance of this feature.

These, briefly, are some of the reasons why men, women and children of all classes throughout the world take "a dash" of ENO in a glass of water each morning.

These also are the reasons why ENO is always foremost in the minds of those who demand quality—purity—value.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 12

According to the predominant lunar figures this day may be one of discord and contention, since Mars is under the square with Luna. This is likely to incite to quarrels and litigation which might result in an unfortunate or unsatisfactory verdict. An adverse position of Jupiter would also tend to heighten misfortune, both financially and as to the fulfillment of the ambitions. Speculation might be hazardous and news or change not bring benefit. These should be deferred for the present. Those whose birthday it is are liable to encounter a troublesome year, especially as regards finance and fulfillment of the ambitions. They should avoid speculation and postpone change and travel. Employment is under a fairly fortunate ray. A child born on this day may have a tendency to be rash and headstrong and may not be disposed to conserve its fortune. It may be fond of travel and change, but should succeed best by being kept in employment.

PROFESSOR WOOD MARRIED TO-DAY IN VANCOUVER

Former Victorian Takes Miss Beatrice F. Johnson as Bride at Pretty Ceremony

Vancouver, Aug. 11.—The charm of simplicity characterized the wedding this afternoon of the eldest daughter of one of the Province's old-established families to a prominent member of the Faculty of Arts at the University of British Columbia. Friends of the bride had transformed the chancel of St. Paul's Church into a green and white floral background of cytotium fern and palms, massed with quantities of virgin white aspers, roses and sweet peas. For the ceremony which united in marriage Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson, the Creecent, Shaughnessy Heights, and Mr. Frederick Gordon Campbell Wood, son of the late W. H. Wood of Victoria, and Mrs. Wood, now of this city, The Rev. Harold King officiated and the nuptial music was rendered by the church organist, Mr. Robinson.

The stately beauty of the bride was enhanced by an exquisite wedding robe created of sheerest white crepe chiffon passed over a slip of crystal satin. A duo of rare Limerick lace apron flounces fell from a pearl encrusted girdle fastening with a jeweled bodice. Seed pearls traced delicately massed motifs on the bodice and the long sleeves were held by pearl wristlets. The bride carried with panels of white and millions of the Limerick lace, and medallions of triple hands of orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was a shower of orchids, white roses and lilies of the valley, while roses of the latter were suspended from the flowing tulle streamers. Miss Helen Fordham Johnson, as her sister's maid of honor, made a charming figure in a diaphanous frock of blue and white chiffon. Over her shoulders a deep scarf berthe skirt front and a deep scarf berthe were clasped by a large rhinestone fastener. White silver lace fashioned her picture hat, whose broad, brimline was softened by a composed of roses and sweet peas that shaded from deep rose to faint dawn. Her bouquet, which gave his daughter in marriage, Mr. George Fraser was Mr. Wood's groomsmen, while acting as ushers were Mr.

The Great Newspaper Serial at Last in Pictures! "CHICKIE" With a Tremendous All-star Cast, Including Dorothy Mackaill, Hobart Bosworth and Gladys Brockwell

Those who see Dorothy Mackaill in the title of "Chickie," which opens last night at the Dominion Theatre, will agree that she has done the best work of her screen career in this adaptation of Elinor Meherin's sensational newspaper serial of the same title.

Miss Mackaill is surrounded by an all-star cast that is rarely seen in one picture. Included are John Bowers, Hobart Bosworth, Myrtle Stedman, Gladys Brockwell, Olive Tell, Paul Nicholson, Lora Sonderson and Louise Mackintosh.

The story, deals with Chickie Bryce, a poor typist who wanted a millionaire husband and the luxuries he could provide. She meets a dissolute millionaire, but the trials and experiences of Chickie from then until the end of the picture, when she finally marries a poor young lawyer, make up a story that is thrilling, exciting and gripping and incidentally very true to life.

PATTULLO DEFENDS FORESTRY SERVICE IN HANDLING FIRE

QUOTES FIGURES "In the four states to the South of us, viz.: Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, we find that within Federal reserves is 67,500,000 acres and outside forest reserves, but under patrol 25,000,000 acres or a total of 92,500,000 acres. On this the average annual expenditure for forest protection is $2,320,000 or just under 2 1/2 cents per acre. In British Columbia we are patrolling 125,000,000 acres at an average expenditure of $500,000, or just under one-half cent per acre. The United States Forest Service compared a staff of four to one as maintained with British Columbia.

LOSSES HERE LESS "A glance at the average annual losses from fire will also bear comparison. In the four states mentioned the annual area burned over reached 550,000 acres and 746,000,000 feet of timber destroyed as compared with British Columbia 456,000 acres burned and 270,000,000 feet of timber destroyed.

"The present hazardous situation is not peculiar to British Columbia, and conditions are as bad in Washington as they are in British Columbia. This is indicated not only by press dispatches, but by official communications.

"British Columbia is not lagging behind Washington and Oregon either in framing regulations or in enforcing them. Consultation and close co-operation has been the keynote of the various organizations and joint meetings are held annually. In many instances British Columbia has been in the lead as in the development of the fire pump, registration of spark arrestors and equipping of donkeys with fire fighting tools, pumps, hose, etc.

ACCIDENTS CAUSE FIRES "What regulations, it may be asked, can prevent a fire such as occurred in the Comox Logging Company operations Saturday when the snapping of a steel cable caused a fire which destroyed twenty dwellings and now covers some 3,000 acres? Again, sixty-two fires were reported from one lightning storm, and some of these are causing the greatest difficulty in control.

"The truth of the matter is that in British Columbia we patrol a larger area with a smaller staff at less cost with smaller losses than the states to the South."

JAPANESE BOAT SINKS A TUG AT VANCOUVER TO-DAY

The Hustler, 30-Ton Motor Tug Struck and Goes Down

Vancouver, Aug. 11.—The Hustler, a thirty-ton motor tug, was struck and sunk by the Japanese freighter Kalkya Maru of Kobe at 6.40 this morning while entering Vancouver Harbor. The owners of the tug H. and J. R. Hodder had narrow escapes from drowning among the debris following the wreck. H. Hodder was cut about the eye when gasoline ignited with a small explosion just before the tug sank.

Three eighteen-inch water mains supplying Point Grey and South Vancouver districts were broken. It is believed the freighter scraped her bottom on the piping. Divers are at work endeavoring to ascertain the damage.

Dense fog and smoke prevailed at the time of the collision. The tug, which was valued at $7,000, was sandwiched between two boats and buckled when the Japanese boat struck the port scow amidships.

Seems Reasonable

Since people read newspapers every day, and People read newspaper advertising every day, and People buy merchandise every day, Why isn't it good business to advertise every day? Or, at least, to advertise frequently, and persistently? If every day is a good day to try to sell goods, then All days are good days to advertise your store—your service—your merchandise.

SERIAL STORY "THE LOVE CYCLE" BY MILDRED BARBOUR

Completely ignoring Jane's presence, she departed.
Mansfield turned to Jane.
"I won't detain you any longer today, Mrs. Haynes."
"There are still some letters to sign, Mr. Mansfield."
He made an impatient gesture.
"Never mind, they can wait till to-morrow, or better yet, leave them and I will sign them before I go."
She gathered up the letters, put them in the wire basket and laid them on his desk, when with a murmured "Good Night," she went out, conscious of the fact that Davidson was smiling in a satisfied way and that Mr. Mansfield was white about the lips. She knew that he was in trouble—what she could not guess, but her heart yearned over him.
When the door had closed behind her, Mansfield turned to Davidson.
"Well," he asked.
The former took a cigarette from an elaborately monogrammed case and lit it with a careless air.
"Aren't you going to ask me to sit down?"
"That's hardly necessary," Mansfield replied, grimly. "We can be very brief, you and I. What I told you in my letter and what I repeated over the phone, I must say again. I can't pay what you ask—that's all there is to it. You have had all my surplus for years. Now I am done! You have asked too much. I can't meet it."
"But you can get it," Davidson swung himself onto the corner of the desk. "You're a rich man, getting richer every day, and your father-in-law is filthy with money and remember you can't say no to this baby. I am wise to your finances."
"If you were as wise to my expenses," you would understand," Mansfield replied hopelessly.
"Cut them down," the other returned with a shrug.
"And have my wife question me for the reason. She might as well have known the whole thing at the start."
Davidson slid off the desk and tossed away his cigarette.
"Well, she will, if you don't pay up," he announced decisively. "She has asked me to come to one of her tea parties, don't forget that. Suppose I show up with Dora and we drop little hints about where and how you knew my sweet little wife before. You won't see the finish? That would start something. You wouldn't like that, now, would you?"
Mansfield made a weary gesture.
"Get out, I must think."
"Be sure you think right, brother," Davidson advised.
That night Mansfield went to his father-in-law to ask financial help for the first time in his life.

and a single gas jet in the kitchen. Weston practiced economy rigidly despite his millions.
Mansfield had to wait for a long time after his ring before a rather old and fat after years in Weston's employ, and so privileged that she admitted the visitors with his very good grace over having been disturbed.
"He's in there," she said shortly in response to Mansfield's question, and motioned toward the library door.
Mansfield felt his way through the semi-darkness of the hall and entered the library which had not changed in a single detail since his childhood. It was an austere, high-ceilinged room, with an atrocious black marble mantel and an open grate in which no fire had ever burned to Mansfield's recollection. There were plenty of good books, rather musty with age and disuse behind the glass doors of the old bookcases. Above them were hung, on the same nails of thirty years ago, dismal pictures which had been fashionable in the early nineteenth century. There was "The Return of the Prodigal," "In Disgrace," and three or four others.
Weston was sitting in a decrepit chair under the reading lamp. His suit wore was untrimmed and he still wore side-burns.
"Strange to see you outside of business hours," he greeted his son-in-law without enthusiasm. "As they say in books: 'To what am I indebted for the honor of this visit?'"
"I wanted to talk to you privately," Mansfield told him.
"Well, have a chair. There is a cigar in the humidor on the table, I'd rather you'd smoke one than those cigarettes. Even the smell of them gives me a headache."
Mansfield declined with a gesture, drew up a chair and leaning forward with his elbows on his knees, said earnestly:
"I have come to you, sir, as a last resort; I need some money badly."
Weston removed his cigar from his lips frowningly.
"What for?" He asked bluntly.
Mansfield hesitated.
"May I ask you to trust me, sir, when I say that it is essential without telling why?"
"Certainly not," his father-in-law replied decisively. "Where has all your money gone? You make a good salary. You ought to have saved a lot."
"I haven't saved anything," Mansfield replied wearily.
"Why not?"
"Well, my expenses are pretty heavy. Helen wants nice things; there is the education of the children and the cars. It sets into my resources pretty far."
"Then cut them down," was the cold advice. "Live within your means, young man, and you won't be in trouble."
"But I can't ask Helen to give up the things she loves," Mansfield insisted, "and you wouldn't want her to be deprived of anything yourself, sir."
"Humph—I guess she does not need more than her mother had, and let me tell you this, her mother would turn in her grave if she knew the way Helen throws money away."
"But Mrs. Weston on made sacrifices to give Helen everything she wanted when she was a girl."
"My wife made sacrifices all her life; she was a real woman, not a dressed-up doll. And I made sacrifices, too, don't forget that! Let me tell you this, young man; at your age, I was making $200 a month and glad to get it. I had a wife and a child and a home, and we lived well."
"But times have changed, sir. The high cost of living—"
Weston brushed aside his son-in-law's protest.
"The high cost of being a fool," he grunted. "No!" his clenched fist came down on the arm of his chair with a bang. "You get no money from me for your foolish extravagances. Live within your means. You make enough to support ten families, and if you want to squander it on cars and servants and liquor and clothes and all the flubdub that you call society, none of the money you're hoarding goes into it! That's final!"
Mansfield was silent for a long time. He felt the net closing about him. It had taken all his pride to come to his father-in-law for a loan. He had expected it to be a difficult ordeal, but he had hardly anticipated a flat refusal.
He realized now that the Davidson woman and her so-called husband actually had gained entree to his home, he dared not temporize, but he saw the futility of further conference with his father-in-law.
"I'm sorry, sir," he rose and pushed back his chair. "I'll just have

THE REFUSAL
Weston was alone in his library when Mansfield called.
The house was in darkness except for the reading lamp over the table.

PAINS ACROSS THE BACK

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Mitchell, Ontario.—"I have taken your medicine for a number of years. I do not take it steady all the time, but I am never without it. I always keep it in the house. I took it first for pains in the abdomen and bearing-down pains, headaches and pains across the back. I have my home to look after and many a day I could not get up at all. I saw the advertisement in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Mrs. John Miller told me about it, too. Every time I take it, it makes me feel better and I always recommend it to my friends. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about this medicine and you may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. F. J. WARMANN, Mitchell, Ontario.
The merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is told by women to each other. Many women know by experience what this medicine will do and they are anxious for others to know. Such testimony should cause any woman suffering from the troubles so common to her sex to give this well-known medicine a fair trial.
Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 98 per cent. replied "Yes." This means 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

BRINGING UP FATHER

to try elsewhere and I'd rather have kept it a family matter."
Weston only granted a "good night."
THE STRENGTH OF THE WEAK
When his father-in-law refused his request for a loan, Mansfield tried several other sources reluctantly. But it was a bad year financially. Money was tight and the only persons to whom Mansfield dared appeal were in almost as bad a way as himself.
One had his money tied up in a new investment; another had lost badly in a business venture and had nothing to spare; a third friend advised as Weston had done: "Cut down your expenses—there's nothing else to it."
Mansfield smiled grimly over this. He wondered what the man would do if he was in the same position as himself—what he would say if he knew why Mansfield had to have the money.
Falling in this second attempt to raise the sum demanded by his blackmailer, Mansfield turned every available asset he had into cash and borrowed money on certain investments. At home, he suggested tentatively to Helen:

"What do you think of the idea of selling the country house? You must be tired of going the same place every Summer. Perhaps we could buy somewhere else."
But Helen was so emphatically opposed to the plan that he had to drop the very subject least some suspicion be aroused.
"It would be ridiculous to sell the house unless we'd already bought something bigger and better," she declared. "People always think one's getting poor when one begins to sell things."
When the day came for the payment to be made to Davidson, Mansfield couldn't make it.
It was hideous waiting for the man to come at the appointed hour, with his malicious little smile, his air of triumph and cunning. It seemed to Mansfield that the day dragged endlessly.
Jane, busy at her desk, found time to watch him nevertheless, and her heart ached for him and his trouble, which she did not comprehend.
She was troubled herself, for she had received a long, pleading letter from her husband that morning. It begged piteously for money. She steeled her heart and took an oath with herself that she would ignore it.

Toward late afternoon, Mansfield pushed the work back from his desk and, springing up, began to pace the floor restlessly. His eyes followed the clock and his face was grim and harassed.
A dismal rain had begun to fall outside and the room was becoming grey. Jane switched on the light above her desk, but when she would have reached out a hand to do so the same for him, he stopped her with a gesture.
"Not yet, please. I'm going to rest for a minute or two. The greyness is pleasant. It fits my mood."
He went to the window and stood looking out into the rain. His hands thrust deep into his pockets, jingled the coins there nervously.
"Hal," Jane ventured. "What is the matter? Something's troubling you deeply. Wouldn't it help some to talk about it?"
He turned about slowly.
"Yes, Jane, something is troubling me deeply. It's sweet of you to bother. No one else has your sympathy and discernment, I believe, but I can't talk about it."
"Not even to such old friends as we?"

VICTORIAN ORDER WANTS LARGE SUM

Saanich Health Centre Committee Amazed by Ottawa Demand for $2,728

The Ottawa headquarters of the Victorian Order of Nurses has presented to the Saanich branch a demand for refund of $2,728.70, advanced to the Saanich War Memorial Health Centre in instalments going as far back as 1917.

Some weeks ago, when first notified that such liabilities to the Victorian Order exist, the members of the Saanich Health Centre Board were amazed, could find no evidence supporting such loans in the official records, and wrote for detailed information.

At last night's session of the Health Centre Board, held at the Municipal Hall, a letter was received from the Ottawa headquarters of the order, stating that advances were made as follows: 1917, $578.70; February, 1919, $150; September, 1919, $1,900; January, 1920, $1,096. Repayment of this $2,728.70 is now expected, in view of the impending winding up of the Saanich branch, V.O.N.

The board decided that so such loans had been contracted, but if any similar amounts should be discovered, believed they would prove to be straight grants. To decide this matter, Secretary Hawkins was instructed to ask the Victorian Order headquarters for particulars of the reasons for the grants or loans.

ACCOUNTS BALANCE

The accounts for 1925, to July 31, showed an income of $7,349.93 on general operations, of which $4.95 remained on hand after paying all expenses.

The special district nursing service, started last year by co-operation of the Provincial Health Department, which annually contributes $1,500 for an additional nurse, showed a balance on hand of $338.44.

Provincial Government grants during the year had totaled $2,397.60. Saanich Council grants had amounted to $2,497.17. School Board contributions were $1,150. Metropolitan Insurance fees—welfare, nursing and other fees brought in $514.

Expenses in the seven months included salaries of $4,303, the remaining $1,990 under this head including ordinary household and maintenance charges of a nursing institution.

MONTH'S WORK

Superintendent Mrs. Lucas reported that in July the nurses made 1,443 visits, while patient hospital days at the centre totaled seventy-six, with nine patients admitted and seven discharged during the month. In July the staff of nurses included three regulars, one student nurse and two student nurses, who between them served 1,625 hours of duty during the month.

The cash receipts from patients had been $325.95, while many donations of fruit, eggs and jam were acknowledged.

INDIGENT CASES

Councillor Hagan asked why indigent patients were being accepted at the Health Centre, when Saanich is paying substantial monthly fees to the Victoria hospitals for such services.

Superintendent Mrs. Lucas explained that the cases sent to the city required night nursing, while the Health Centre handled such cases as required only day-time attention, a net saving to Saanich resulting from the division.

MILK SUPPLY

When discussing accounts some of the delegates expressed criticism of the competition with Saanich Commercial Dairy by the Sidney Experimental Farm, which daily supplies Jersey milk to the institution.

Dr. R. L. Miller was present and was asked to have any comments to make upon the relative value of Jersey, Holstein or goats' milk as a diet for children, but declared, "I am not going to commit myself."

DELEGATES ATTENDING

Delegates present included Councillors Hagan and Murphy, Trustees Holland and Mrs. Beckett, Mrs. George Watson representing the Saanich Women's Institutes, J. M. Paterson and Mrs. W. Foster, Saanich branch of the Victorian Order, and W. Jeanne, Central Parents' Teachers' Association.

The thanks of the committee were voted to Mr. Sweeney of Rock Street, who has equipped the health centre with a large and well designed locker cabinet for children's clothing. "Such public service should be acknowledged, it is all too rare these days," remarked Trustee Holland, in moving the vote.

NEW EMPIRE TRADE PLANS DISCUSSED

London Papers Express Views on Recommendations of Economic Committee

London Times Urges Research; "Age of Subsidies" Says Manchester Guardian

London, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press Cable)—The London morning newspapers are unanimous in their views of the Imperial Economic Committee, whose report to the British Government urges national efforts to stimulate the consumption of Empire products in the markets of Great Britain and whose scheme would rest on legislation by the British Parliament for the identification of Empire products and on financial assistance for comprehensive educational work and publicity.

The papers generally agree on the soundness of the principle involved therein, but the practicability of the committee's schemes is questioned by them.

PROGRESS RECORDED

The London Times says the Imperial Economic Committee's report affords gratifying and tangible evidence of definite progress toward the great ideal of co-operation of the various parts of the Empire in evolving a trade policy for the benefit of the whole Empire, but it warns the Dominions and colonies to foster no illusions that "the Empire brand" enable goods to be sold in these islands unless they are comparable in quality and price with those obtainable elsewhere.

The Times emphasizes the importance of research work in connection with the Imperial Economic Committee's scheme; for instance, further experiments in cold storage, investigation of diseases of animals and inquiry into the quality of fruits.

The London Daily Mail says the idea embodied in the committee's report is thought fairly feasible, and would work for everybody's good.

FAMILY BUDGETS

The London Daily News points out that the British housewife, despite mountains of patriotic labels and countless broadcast injunctions to think imperial, will first consider the family budget. If the Empire producers can beat the foreign competition by improved marketing methods and more enterprising and more intelligent cultivation, so much the better.

The Westminster Gazette declares that "it is absurd for the report to suggest that the Empire is a better customer for our manufactured goods than the rest of the world, and that we can therefore afford to put all our trade into the Empire by subsidies and preferences and other ingenious imperial devices. The Dominion tax on competition by manufacturers on a high scale of tariffs, and there is no indication they intend to do otherwise. If we do business with them let us do it on strict business lines and cut out the 'tosh' of imperial tariff reform."

"AGE OF SUBSIDIES"

The Manchester Guardian says that "we live in an age of subsidies" and wants to know why, if the British people should subsidize the Empire, they should do so at this particular moment and why when they limit the coal subsidy to nine months, they should give the Empire a subsidy without limit.

LARGE OUTLAY

An educational publicity campaign by the Government calling for the expenditure of £2,000 daily for a period of one year or more, to stimulate the marketing and consumption of Empire food products, was recommended by the committee, which represented all parts of the Empire.

The Government appointed the advisory committee for the purpose of finding alternative means for promoting the consumption of Empire products after the country, at the general election in December, 1925, had refused to consent to the imperial preference plan through the operation of import duties on food products.

PRODUCTION METHODS

A considerable amount of the proposed expenditure would be devoted to research into methods of production, preservation of foodstuffs and promotion of fruit growing in tropical parts of the Empire and to supply the Dominions with pedigree stock.

The committee's inquiry into the marketing of meat and fruit showed there was "room for improvement, and that the Dominion Governments should encourage better packing, grading and presentation of goods so they might secure full advantage of identification.

EARLY CONSIDERATION

London, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press Cable)—In a letter to Sir Halford Mackinder, secretary of the Imperial Economic Committee, Premier Baldwin promises that the Government will give full and prompt consideration to the report of the committee, just made public.

JOINT OPERATION OF RAILWAYS URGED

Albertans Suggest C.N.R.-C.P.R. Action on E.D. and B.C. Line

Edmonton, Aug. 11.—Joint operation of the Northern railway lines, with both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific as interested parties instead of one or the other of them alone, is the latest scheme suggested for solving the problem of the Peace River railway angle. An effort is to be made by the Alberta Government at once to work out such a solution.

Premier Greenfield has already wired to Sir Henry Thornton, who is now at the British Columbia coast, asking him to stop off in Edmonton for a conference on his way East and it is thought this can be arranged for in about a week or ten days. D. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will be asked to attend, as it is expected either President Beatty or Grant Hall will be in the West at that time.

The purpose of the meeting will be to have a round-table discussion between the two companies on the possibility of effecting a joint agreement with both of them participating in the operation of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia and Alberta Central lines.
