I. W. W. GANG TAKES POSSESSION OF TRAIN—NOW GUESTS OF SAN BERNARDINO

Over a hundred hoboes, members of the I. W. W., took possession of a Salt Lake freight train on the desert Sunday night and compelled the train crew to bring them to San Bernardino.

Most of the itinerants, of I. W. W. persuasions, came originally by way of Milford, Utah. Later they moved to Las Vegas, N. M., and were run out, after mobilizing. Then they started winging their way to the Sunny Southland by small detachments. Unfortunately, their itinerary was well known to the Salt Lake trainmen and the alighting of one of their number on a train was the signal for warfare.

As a result of this difficulty, a concentration camp grew up at the little desert town of Otis. The commissary of the place was sorely taxed. Resistance by the townspeople was roused. Then the motley crew filled a restaurant and dined at the expense of the proprietor.

Then, Sunday night, they boarded a slow-moving freight and forced the crew to pull out for San Bernardino. They broke the seals of boxcars and converted them into "side-door Pullmans."

But they did not reckon on Special Agent Bright of the Salt Lake, who was also on board. At the proper moment he opened up with a fusillade directed discreetly about a foot above sundry tousled heads that projected from open boxcar doors. Thereafter the heads stayed inside.

A telegram dropped off at a little mountain station, telling of the happening, resulted in giving the train a clear track to San Bernardino and also in an imposing reception of blue-clads at that place. Clubs were freely used in subduing the show of resistance made by the travelers.

According to Salt Lake officials, four cars were broken open, but no damage done.

The ringleader of the gang stated that they would plead guilty. The army will probably learn something about county road work for a few weeks.

EAGLE ROCK HOLD-UP MEN ARE CAUGHT

The men who held up the Eagle Rock car at the end of the line on the night of October 30 and robbed the passengers, have been apprehended. Joseph Rogers, a twenty-three-year-old chauffeur, has confessed. He says that he, with Jesus Ramirez and another Mexican, lay in wait on Lyon street, near Aliso, for prospective hold-up victims. When nothing appeared, they boarded an Eagle Rock car at the Plaza and when near the end of the line they commanded the motorman to stop and the clean-up of passengers began. Twenty-five dollars in cash and a quantity of jewelry was taken. Two passengers escaped in the darkness and the hold-ups made their get-away. They reached Elysian park early the next morning and divided the loot before separating.

Rogers was identified by several of the passengers by a scar on his face.

MEN WITH HORSE SENSE

The finance committee of Los Angeles refuses to appropriate money for band concerts in parks, when there are hungry, unemployed people to be fed. The committee proposes to use the money to buy food with. That's the idea. The committee says: "The unemployed need food, not music." Isn't it the truth? Music is a luxury; food a necessity. There you have it plain as the nose on your face. A ragtime, tango, waltz or operatic selection will not appease the craving for food by a man, woman nor child. Music is a mockery when starvation is gnawing one's stomach. The money used in feeding the hungry, the unemployed in Los Angeles, contains the pleasing, entrancing, seductive harmony of the tantalizing, savory stew, for the hungry people, and after they have eat their fill, the applause for the finance committee will be far stronger, of greater volume, more appreciated and sincere, away down deep in the hearts of those fed, than all the outward hand-clapping bestowed on the musicians for their artistic work, emanating from the well-fed, well-groomed folk who loiter or stroll in the parks while "listening to the band."

The men composing the finance committee of Los Angeles, in my opinion, are those with common, every-day horse sense.

LUE F. VERNON.

The map of Europe will look like an interrogation point for some time yet.

FOR BELGIAN RELIEF

PHILANTHROPIC COMMITTEE TO RECEIVE CONTRIBUTIONS FOR STARVING PEOPLE

Clubwomen of Los Angeles have been stirred by the addresses of Mrs. Herbert C. Hoover, wife of the head of America's commission for the relief of the Belgian people, who are starving in their own country. Mrs. Hoover will leave today to return to England, having through her informal and unofficial pleas on behalf of the Belgians created a tremendous wave of enthusiastic anxiety to help the Chamber of Commerce in its work of adding to the promised relief.

Mrs. Hoover said in part: "Upon the United States rests for the most part the burden of maintaining the life of the strongest of the Belgians, that the national life may not become extinct. The babies, the weak and the aged cannot survive the winter on the one meal a day, and that of coarse food containing the greatest nourishment. Germany absolutely refuses to care for the Belgians, saying that she can scarcely supply her own army. France is caring for several hundred thousand Belgian refugees, as well as her own refugees from Northern France. Little Holland is sheltering, clothing and feeding 800,000. England is caring for 200,000. But no action involved in war can feed the millions still in Belgium, because the food would be declared contraband of war. It therefore rests with the people of the United States to preserve the lives of the millions still in Belgium."

Glendale is not content to do nothing in this awful crisis. A local center for Belgian relief has been established in the Jones & Evans building at Second and Brand by the philanthropic committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Contributions for non-perishable foodstuffs to be sent in the California food ship are urgently requested. California is the first state in the Union to come to the relief of the Belgians, and her food ship sails Nov. 27th from Los Angeles. Contributions, therefore, must reach the committee at once, and not later than Nov. 25th. Further information may be secured from Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, chairman of the philanthropic committee, and her assistants, Mesdames Freeman Kelly, P. S. McNutt, Frank Grosvenor, J. W. Stauffacher, G. W. Frank, C. F. Archer, David Gregg, D. W. Hunt, Martha Morris, C. D. McCoy, Joseph Shropshire and Henry Ward. Members of Mrs. Sinclair's committee will receive contributions of foodstuffs and money every afternoon from one to five o'clock at the above mentioned store-room. Among the foodstuffs asked are all kinds of foods in tins, such as meats, vegetables, peas and beans; also flour, meal, potatoes, bacon and all staple non-perishable food.

Jams and jellies for the Children's hospital of Los Angeles will also be received at the above place. A local committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Yard is caring for the Glendale poverty conditions, so our home work is not being neglected, and this other work will not interfere with the home work along philanthropic lines.

P. T. A. TOMORROW

The Broadway school Parent-Teacher association will hold their third meeting of the new year at 3:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon of this week at the schoolhouse. It is desired that all parents be present, whether members of the association or not, as the program will be a most interesting one. Mrs. R. E. Chase will speak on the "Mother of Today." Mr. J. W. Pearson will speak on "The City Beautiful for the Year 1915." Mrs. Mary Ryan, principal, on "Beautifulizing the School-grounds for Next Year." There will be music by pupils of the school. There will also be a question box, and refreshments will be served by Mrs. George Allen, assisted by the ladies of the hospitality committee.

DR. BURROWS

Dr. C. A. Burrows, a specialist in the diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, with offices in the Consolidated Realty building, Sixth and Hill streets, Los Angeles, is a resident of Glendale and maintains an office at his residence, 218 South Jackson street, also.

Dr. Burrows has been a resident of Glendale for over a year. He was formerly eye, ear, nose and throat specialist for Glendale and Loma Linda sanitariums, and is clinical professor of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat of Loma Linda Medical college.

Switzerland must feel lonesome up there on her Alpine heights, with the roar of heavy artillery reverberating on three sides of her.

MARSHAL IS SHOT

BURBANK OFFICER MURDERED WHILE DRIVING HOBOES OUT OF TOWN

Glendale friends early this morning received the news of the death of Marshal Luther Coulson of Burbank, who was shot by hoboes while attempting to drive them out of town Monday night. Burbank and the surrounding country is greatly exercised over this outrage and if these fellows are caught it will go hard with them.

The marshal had a nightly habit of breaking up a camp of hoboes near the S. P. tracks, and it was while engaged in this duty that he received his death wounds. It is believed he aroused the anger of some of these fellows and that they opened fire on him when they saw him approaching the camp. Five shots penetrated Mr. Coulson's abdomen. The wounded man emptied his own revolver and it is believed that one of his shots took effect.

Citizens heard the shooting and ran to the scene, where they found the wounded man and conveyed him to the hospital, where he lay on the operating table for four hours in a vain attempt to save his life. He passed away about two o'clock this morning.

His assailants escaped, but about twenty-five officers and citizens, headed by Constable Purrier, took up the hunt. Several burrs unable to give an account of themselves were rounded up, but the officers are still on the lookout.

The murdered man was about thirty-two years of age. He was a man held in highest esteem among those who knew him. He took the responsibilities of his office seriously and was fearless in the pursuit of his duty. He leaves a wife and children, a mother and several sisters, all living in Burbank.

The remains are at the Pulliam undertaking parlors in Glendale, awaiting the coroner's inquest, which will likely be held tomorrow afternoon. No definite time can be set until the coroner receives information from the sheriff in regard to progress made in the search for the criminal.

MACDONALD GAS TANK

RESCIND MOTION ORDERING THE TANK OFF BROADWAY—MUCH DISCUSSION

The gasoline standpipe near the corner of Broadway and Brand boulevard in front of the Macdonald Transfer's place of business has been the subject of considerable discussion the past few weeks. The tank was installed some six or eight months ago by the permission of the board of city trustees. All was peaceful until other applications recently came in for similar privileges from other dealers. The trustees thinking it not best to have these standpipes given a place along the curbing, refused to grant permits to new applicants and at a board meeting on Nov. 9 ordered that the one now installed be removed within sixty days from date.

As the tank had been installed at considerable expense, and as it seemed quite evident to the one operating it that there should be no valid objection to its being there, Attorney Oliver Clark was employed to represent the interests of the owners of the tank. Attorney Clark appeared before the board of trustees Monday evening and offered a resolution that the action of the board ordering the gasoline tank taken out be rescinded. At the close of his remarks Mr. Clark presented the names of thirty-two petitioners, most of whom represented business men doing business on Brand and Broadway, near the location of the gasoline tank, asking that the tank be allowed to remain in place for the benefit of the public.

After a half hour's discussion pro and con a motion prevailed that the order at a previous meeting concerning removing the tank be rescinded.

DEATH OF BABY FAACKS

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Faacks of 1510 Vine street have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of their baby son, little Arthur William Henry Faacks, who passed away on Monday night at half past ten after only a few days' illness. This little one had been the life and joy of the home since June 25 of this year, when he came to make his home on earth. Besides his parents, one little sister, Dolly May, mourns his death. Funeral services will be held at the Pulliam chapel tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

LEAGUE DEBATES FRIDAY

On Friday evening of this week all of the debates among high schools in the Southwest Debating league will be held. There are thirteen schools in the league, including Manual Arts and Polytechnic high schools of Los Angeles and Glendale Union high school. Debates will be held simultaneously in these thirteen schools on Friday evening, the question being:

Resolved, That the congress of the United States at its next session should pass a law providing for the compulsory arbitration of industrial disputes in which corporations engaged in interstate business are a party to the controversy.

Be it further resolved, That the principles of the Canadian "Lemieux act" of 1907 be embodied in this law.

Students from South Pasadena, Mary Black and Wallace Weldon, will contend on the affirmative side of this question at Glendale, their opponents being J. Purman Bennett and Gilbert A. Cowan. H. Darwin Kirschmann and Samuel Durand go to Huntington Park to support the affirmative.

It is good to use attention tomorrow, how much better is it to do so today. If tomorrow it is in your interest to attend, how much more is it today, that you may be able to do so tomorrow also, and may not defer it again to the third day.

Angeles, formed a merry party who filled two autos that motored to Redlands and Riverside, enjoying dinner at Glenwood Mission Inn, last Sunday. A most delightful trip was the report of the occasion.

Mrs. Oliver E. Wright of 1649 Ruth street spent the week-end in Florence, Cal., as house guest of Mr. Wright's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Wright of Roseberry avenue.

Mrs. J. E. Eckles of 920 North Central avenue was a Los Angeles visitor Monday, enjoying the day with Mrs. Omar Sharp of West First street.

NON-PARTISAN VOTE

CONTRIBUTOR THINKS ELIMINATION OF PARTY IS NOT DESIRABLE

Editor News: The returns of the recent election are now in and some illuminating facts are disclosed by their analysis. The principal thing that I wish to call attention to is the part played in the campaign and in the election booths by the "non-partisan." Fortunately for my purpose the situation in Glendale was such that it can well be used as an object lesson to show the workings of this theory of the desirability of non-partisanship. We will take the vote on assemblyman. The count just completed by the supervisors shows the following result:

Wishard (Prog).....	5082
Lindsey (Soc).....	3634
McDonald (Rep).....	3421
Muhleman (Dem).....	2609

The following is the vote in Glendale on this office:

Wishard (Prog).....	838
Lindsey (Soc).....	399
McDonald (Rep).....	443
Muhleman (Dem).....	751

These figures show that Mr. Wishard received nearly a hundred more votes in Glendale than did Mr. Muhleman, Mr. Wishard being practically unknown, while Mr. Muhleman is certainly well and favorably known to the people of this city. Mr. Wishard's vote was certainly obtained in bulk from the voters who did not inquire into the merit of the candidates, but who put the voting stamp on their ballots only after having made sure that the party designation followed the candidate's name. As a matter of fact in a campaign carried on as earnestly as was the one just brought to a conclusion, the individual candidate, however irreproachable in character or transcendent in ability, has no earthly chance of being elected (unless he spends a large amount of money and energy in his own promotion), as against a party candidate backed by an efficient organization and (or) an influential newspaper. More than one candidate was elected on Nov. 3 whose individual record was far from spotless, simply because he was wise enough politically to get into the "band wagon." It may be remarked further that a curious idea is prevalent that the fact that a candidate gets his name on two or several party tickets, is proof positive that he is a "non-partisan." It is greatly to the credit of Mr. Muhleman that he was willing to risk defeat rather than resort to this cheap but successful device. Non-partisanship is an old political scheme long resorted to by politicians of a minority party for the sake of securing office. In local affairs where the electors can become acquainted with the candidates, there is no use for political parties, but in elections comprising larger units than the mere home precincts, the elimination of parties is undesirable and chimerical.

MR. PAULIN ENTERTAINED

Monday evening Mr. J. B. Paulin was the guest of the officers of the Glendale Choral club at a Spanish dinner given at La Ramada. The following officers were present: Mr. C. E. Ringquest, president; Mr. H. H. Martin, Mrs. Helen I. Campbell, Mrs. J. H. Orth and Mr. W. S. Harrison. Also Miss Gertrude Champlain, accompanist, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Peckham, Mr. Peckham being chairman of the publicity committee for the coming concert. Plans are well under way for the concert, which is to be held Monday evening, Dec. 7th, and the club will be assisted by a male quartet from Los Angeles, as well as other Los Angeles talent. After dinner Monday evening the party went to the Intermediate school for the regular Monday evening rehearsal.

GLENDALE'S PARK

Someone has remarked that Glendale's getting a public park is all talk, and that at the meeting this evening there will be so many propositions presented that the citizens will differ as to which is the best proposition and the meeting will adjourn without accomplishing any definite work.

Thus far the writer has heard three sites mentioned. One is bounded by Broadway, Kenwood, Third and Jackson. Another is bounded by Sixth, Louise, Fifth and Kenwood. The third comprises all or a portion of the sanitarium grounds and might be available in two years' time.

Citizens who really favor the city's owning a park should come to the meeting this evening with a willingness to make a reasonable compromise. Glendale will never get a park so long as individual citizens are determined to "rule or ruin."

MISS LEARNED HOME

MISSIONARY HAS INTERESTING EXPERIENCES IN AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND

Miss Mary Learned, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Learned of 308 Jackson street, has just returned home after an absence of fifteen years as a missionary, principally in sanitarium and conference work. She was for six years in New Zealand, then went to Melbourne, Australia, for a few months. Leaving there, she was for a year in Hobart, Tasmania, and was then sent to Brisbane, Queensland, for a year and a half. Queensland is considered the hottest part of Australia and Miss Learned says that after one of the heavy summer rains which are prevalent, the steam arising from the ground when the sun comes out is almost unendurable, much worse than the rain itself.

After leaving Brisbane she went to Perth, West Australia, remaining there until about a year ago, when she decided to return to America. On reaching Sydney she found work awaiting her and has been for some time at the Coorambong sanitarium, about eighty miles from Sydney.

Miss Learned sailed from Sydney Oct. 24th on the American liner Ventura, and when they were two or three days out saw smoke on the far distant horizon. Many questions arose, and as the vessels came into view it was seen they were three warships. One came quite close and in answer to signals, the Ventura stopped and an officer from the Australia, an English cruiser, came aboard. While he was conferring with the captain the sailors who accompanied him were loaded with papers and fruit and eagerly questioned by the passengers.

The next stop was made at Pango-pango for a few hours only, and then to Honolulu, where they remained one day. They passed three Japanese warships, which were patrolling outside the three-mile limit to the harbor. This was at the time the German cruiser Geier was at Honolulu, where she interned a few days later because of the impossibility of escaping these Japanese cruisers.

Miss Learned states they had a remarkably smooth, pleasant voyage, with fine weather until they left Honolulu, after which it was cloudy, but with little rain, though they landed in San Francisco in a heavy fog. She expects to remain here, but admits that her long residence in the island continent has made it seem very much like home and that some things here seem strange to her.

GET-ACQUAINTED AFTERNOON

The "Southern afternoon" at the home of Mrs. Frederick Baker, 109 North Maryland avenue, tomorrow afternoon, promises to be a great social and financial success. A splendid Southern program has been arranged and flaky hot biscuits, honey and coffee will be served. Auto conveyances, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the clubhouse fund, may be secured by telephoning Mrs. Clinton Booth, Glendale 932, or Mrs. H. Lee Clotworthy, Home 2116—two bells.

Mesdames E. D. Yard, H. H. Martin and A. L. Weaver are a committee to assist the hostess. A number of ladies assisting the hostesses will appear in costume and the following program will be given:

Readings in negro dialect, Miss Bertha Jackson.

Popular music and Southern melodies, Miss Alice Patterson.

Negro melodies and dialect music, Mrs. Geo. H. Melford.

Miss C. E. Anderson, accompanist.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

And there is great food for thought in this simple wish of a humane woman. Here we are, a flock of animals, normally merciful, kind and considerate, now become human slaughterers, killing and maiming men who are just as honest, just as sincere, just as intelligent as ourselves, bringing privation, hardship and untold suffering upon the helpless, destroying, as naught, property and wealth which for ages we have carefully protected.

5000 MEN AGAIN AT WORK

The good word comes from Gary, Indiana, that five thousand men went to work Monday at the Gary steel mills after an idleness of several weeks. One of the mill officials said: "The bottom has dropped out of the business depression in the United States. From now on we expect an upward trend in the business thermometer all over the nation."

QUARANTINE AGAINST DISEASES

Governor Hiram Johnson has issued a proclamation quarantining the state against the contagious foot and mouth disease which now exists among cattle in the states of Massachusetts, New York, Rhode Island, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Michigan and Wisconsin, and which is more feared by stockmen in the United States than any other disease or plague.

Governor Johnson is determined to keep the disease out of California and the quarantine is effective immediately and precludes the entry of stock into California from the East and Middle West unless examined and permitted entry by the state veterinarian, even from the exempt states, unless the cars in which stock are carried are thoroughly disinfected and inspected. Let us hope that the stock of California does not contract this awful disease.

Face your deficiencies and acknowledge them, but do not let them master you. Let them teach you patience, sweetness, insight. When we do the best we can, we never know what miracle is wrought in our own life, or in the life of another.—Helen Keller.

SCENES THAT PRECEDE FEASTING

In a certain country a native woman who has just bought a live chicken may be seen plucking it all the way home from market. On arrival at her home the fowl may be naked. There she wrings its neck.

American men and women would not permit plucking of live fowls on the public streets. But American men and women have been told many times that turkeys and chickens are plucked alive. Humane officers have presented proof in court.

People who kill animals as a business want to make plucking easy. It is easy to pull feathers out of warm flesh and hard to pull them out after the flesh is cold. A few are considerate even among butchers, but the average butcher handles animals as carpenters handle lumber.

The buyer likes to see the heads of fowls on sale in the market, and a certain spot in the mouth is knifed with the object of cutting off consciousness, the knife hitting or missing the mark as it happens.

If the public can't be stirred by reports of cruelty connected with the slaughter of animals for food, possibly it may awake to the danger of eating flesh poisoned by suffering just before death.

A live humane society backed by public approval and supported, at least in part, by regular appropriations from the public treasury, is a necessity in every community. The mere existence of a humane society, and common knowledge that there are humane officers with authority, and humane headquarters to which complaints may be sent, prevent a great deal of cruelty every day and every hour.

Moral: Give adequate support to the humane society.

WHY THE "DRYS" FAILED

The recent election confirmed and emphasized the Socialist contention that man's greatest incentive to action is his material interest or what he thinks is his material interest, which amount to the same.

Taking Pomona as an average community, there were between four and five hundred that signed to vote "dry" before election who violated their pledge and voted "wet." That last letter sent out by the "wets" on the eve of election turned the trick with them. It was as direct and powerful an appeal as the "wets" could make to the material interest of the voter. It was an appeal to the dollar standard, to put the dollar above life happiness and every moral consideration. No other standard or argument had they to offer, and yet it was more effectual with the average voter than any moral or humanitarian appeal that could be made.

We were told by the Rev. Hughes that the corporations and heads of railroads were the real prohibitionists. True, and it is but another proof of the supreme rule of material interest, for who will contend that they take their stand from any moral consideration? And this is not taking a pessimist's, but an optimist's view, for time is going to prove to everyone that it does not pay to make "booze," sell "booze" or drink "booze."

R. GILHOUSEN.

If the case isn't outlawed, the Boston Braves might be prosecuted for assault with battery upon the Athletics.

The longer I live, the more deeply I am convinced that that which makes the difference between one man and another—between the weak and the powerful, the great and the insignificant—is energy and invincible determination.—Powell Buxton.

SOUND NEWS SENSE HAS ITS REWARDS

The periodical known as the Fourth Estate, which is edited for and by journalists, calls attention to the fact that newspapers editing and printing the war news in a constructive, proportionate and non-sensational way have held their advertising when the journals with other methods of news display and other ideals of their public duty have lost customers. In other words, preachers of chaos, inciters of fear, prophets of gloom, have had their logical discipline. Their readers among business men seem to have taken them at their word, and apparently there are none to comfort them.

If the lesson thus taught so early in the history of the war is taken to heart by the sensational journalists of the United States, the effect will be wholesome, and possibly it may have an influence beyond the period of the war. An editorial and news policy that is not constructive, reassuring and emphatic in its preference for the normal word and deed cannot, as we see it, develop in either readers or advertisers any affection or loyalty that in turn may become a journal's best asset.

Advertisers, whose return on their investment in newspaper space must depend on the good will and trust of readers, not only in their veracity as advertisers but also in the soundness of society, are not, we believe, likely to invest steadily with either "yellow" or "red" journals. It does not pay, putting it on no higher basis than that.

A war, involving ten or more nations, with a population of hundreds of millions of persons, makes legitimate demands on a newspaper's space which must be heeded; but even at such a time it is best to see things in their true proportions. News of such character need not exclude all else. A medium of truth after all is better than imagination plus rumor. Politics, industry, commerce, education, literature, art and religion are none the less worth while, and demand fair play in the apportionment of space.

NOTHING TO OFFER

"Have you," asked the judge of a recently convicted man, "anything to offer the court before sentence is passed?"

"No, your honor," replied the prisoner. "My lawyer took my last farthing."—London Mail.

Because of the war in Europe, we in America may suffer from a tea famine, is the latest. The receipts of tea for August were very low and unless they are larger this month, we are in danger of having to do without the vivifying beverage in most cases.

THIRTEEN THRILLS IN THIRTEEN SCENES OF "THE WHIP"

"The Whip" (a play—not a moving picture), the great Drury Lane melodrama which enjoyed a two years' run at the hands of an enthusiastic public on the other side, and a year's stay in New York at the Manhattan opera house, is just chuck full of thrills. In this sensational melodrama, which comes to the Majestic theater Thanksgiving week, commencing Sunday evening, Nov. 22nd, there is a continuous sequence of excitement.

In the first scene the handsome hero is thrown out of an automobile, suffering a compound fracture of the memory.

In the second scene, when he has been nursed to health by Lady Diana,

In the seventh scene the villain sneaks down the side of his coach, glides along the side rail to the rear, throws away the signal lights and uncouples the box car.

In the eighth scene the trainer reaches the scene of action just in time in a high-power automobile and leads the horse down and across the track.

In the ninth scene the 12:37 express crashes into the box car and there is a dreadful wreck.

In the tenth scene only two men can ride "The Whip" and one of them is arrested through the plotting of the villain.

In the eleventh scene Lady Diana appeals to the sporting feeling of the crowd. Are they going to stand by and see injustice done? No! With a rush, they brush the sheriff aside

Scene in "The Whip," World's Greatest Melodrama, at the Majestic Theater, Beginning Sunday, Nov. 22. Matinee Wednesday, Saturday and Thanksgiving Day he is unjustly accused of having embraced marriage and the adventures at one and the same time.

In the third scene Lady Diana assures him that she still believes in him and advises him to bet his all on "The Whip," the fleetest mare in the Beverly stables.

In the fourth scene the villain, who would like to marry Lady Diana, plans to wreck the train which is bringing the horse to the race course.

In the fifth scene his plot is overheard by a trainer, who is impersonating Dr. Crippen, the murderer, in Mme. Tussaud's wax works.

In the sixth scene "The Whip" is brought down and placed in the box car, which is hitched to the rear of the midnight express.

TROPICO

Mrs. R. E. Hewes of Los Angeles, a former resident of Glendale, was the guest Monday of Mrs. O. Earl Clements of Eulalia street.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rice of Central and Tropico avenues returned Monday morning from a few days' visit at their ranch property near Lindsay.

An all-day meeting of Chapter A-H, P. E. O., was held at the home of Mrs. Andrew Stephenson on Central avenue Friday. A delicious luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, after which the business session occupied the time of the officers and members. Mrs. A. E. Trabue, president of the Hollywood chapter of the P. E. O., read a most interesting paper on the object and aim of the P. E. O. Several musical numbers closed the afternoon program.

The ladies of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon club are quite fortunate in having obtained the Star theater, through the courtesy of Mr. Charles W. Eudemiller, proprietor, in which to hold their regular semi-monthly meeting Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Harry Bowman, chairman of the program committee, has secured Mrs. Harriett Williams Myers, secretary of the State Audubon society, who will deliver a lecture, "The Birds of California," with stereopticon illustrations Thursday afternoon at this theater. Mrs. Charles A. Barker, the president of the club, has extended an invitation from the club to Mrs. Martha McClure, principal of the Ceritos street school, the corps of teachers and to the pupils of the fourth to the eighth grades inclusive.

The following was taken from the Los Angeles Times and affords rather an amusing letter of queries which not only a thirteen-year-old is asking for, but older boys and girls, too:

I am thirteen years old and I am studying all I can about the United States of America. Our teacher explained on the map that Great Britain was not near as large as San Bernardino county, and Germany is not near as large as Texas, and France, I forget what state she said France wasn't half as large as. She said the United States of America was so large and so productive and so well governed that we are absolutely independent of all the rest of the world in every way. I heard papa read that all kinds of taxes are being put on the people of the United States on account of the war in Europe, and now people going abroad have to pay $5 extra for their tickets to make up on account of the war in Europe. I asked papa why that was, if we are so independent of all the world, and he said it beats me. I asked mamma and she said ask your teacher, and I asked teacher and she said I'm a teacher, Freddy; I'm not a politician. So I asked Mr. Parker in the meat market and he said I'm a Republican, Fred, and Republicans don't understand these things; you'll have to ask a Democrat; write to the secretary of state. Can you please tell me why we have to pay all this and toss the jockey into the saddle. In the twelfth scene the race is on—twelve horses straining at their bits. "The Whip" slowly forges ahead and wins by a head.

In the thirteenth scene much is proved and the rest is forgiven. Lady Diana wins her man.

Matinees will be given Wednesday, Thanksgiving Day and Saturday. The prices for evenings, 50 cents to $2; Wednesday matinee, 50 cents to $1; Thanksgiving day and Saturday matinee, 50 cents to $1.50. Mail orders received now.

Curtain rises evenings at 8 o'clock sharp; matinees 2:15. As the story of the play starts at rise of curtain, patrons are requested to be seated at rise of curtain.

extra taxes if we are so well governed that we are always independent of all the world? I shall be much obliged and if you don't know, do you think the secretary of state does, and where does he live?
Yours respectfully,
FRED WILCOX.

UNRIVALED CIRCUS PROGRAM

"The show that's different" is an expression appropriately descriptive of the Al G. Barnes big three-ring wild animal circus. The show is different; in fact, it is an entirely new idea among tented amusement purveyors and stands unrivalled for the originality and uniqueness of its program.

The Barnes show occupies a "different" position for the reason that the entire entertainment is given by a troupe of educated wild and domestic animal-actors numbering over six hundred—animals of almost every known species, the greatest collection ever assembled in one troupe.

Big, thrilling, sensational wild animal acts are the principal features of the show. Young women train-

BRILLIANT CEREMONIES AT THE DEDICATION OF THE CALIFORNIA BUILDING ON NOV. 21

WHOLE STATE INVITED TO BE PRESENT --- CALIFORNIA WOMEN WILL PRESIDE

This Superb Structure Is Second Largest Building on the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Grounds. First Big Celebration by Woman's Board of the Exposition and Its Affiliated Bodies Throughout the State

The most brilliant ceremonies in the history of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will take place on the exposition grounds in San Francisco on November 21, when the California Host Building, in which the women of California in 1915 will extend the greeting of the Golden State to the whole world, will be dedicated.

Advance preparations predicate an unprecedented attendance from all parts of California.

The greatest gathering of representative women that has ever been assembled in San Francisco and probably that has ever been brought together within the State will give the occasion an epoch-making character. Among the notable women who preside will be the members of the County Auxiliaries of the Woman's Board of the exposition. It is these women who with the members of the Woman's Board have assumed the duty of dispensing the hospitality of the Golden State to California's visitors in 1915.

This will be the first function of the Woman's Board and its Auxiliaries in the capacity that they will fill in 1915. The women of California will act as hostesses to visitors to the dedication and a celebration worthy of the occasion and of the dedication of the California Building at the exposition is in preparation.

The California Building, the second largest and easily the most palatial upon the exposition grounds, will contain the displays of her wealth and resources that California will make to the world; it will also be the temple of California hospitality, for here, in addition to the county exhibits and the administrative headquarters of the exposition, will be found the center of social entertainment and the ball-rooms and banquet halls and gardens where Californians, and particularly California women, receive official visitors to the exposition.

Here will be held great social and ceremonial functions, in which dignitaries and diplomats and notables from all parts of the world will be welcomed to the Golden State by the women of California. Here will be met noted personages who attend the three hundred great congresses and conventions that have voted to meet in San Francisco and who will participate in the social life of the exposition.

The California Building for this reason is in a certain sense to be the particular property of the Woman's Board and of the County Auxiliaries of the Board organizations, through which the women of every section of the state are given the opportunity to assist in a campaign of varied usefulness for which the Woman's Board is making preparations; a campaign that will be a revelation to visitors from less favored parts of the world where women take a less active part in affairs than they have come to do in California.

For this reason the dedication of the California Building is of particular interest to women everywhere in California and many members of women's clubs throughout the state engaged in the study of the architecture, art and sculpture at the exposition are preparing to attend this great event, which will herald its social and intellectual life.

Governor Hiram Johnson has been invited to speak at the dedication ceremonies and it is expected that he will there make his first public appearance following his re-election. Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, President Charles C. Moore of the exposition and others of prominence in the affairs of the city, state and exposition will make addresses.

The formal dedication ceremonies will begin at one o'clock in the afternoon and will be held in the gardens that surround the California Building. Following the dedication there will be an informal reception, dance and tea, under the auspices of the Woman's Board in the counties display section of the building, which affords a floor space of over four hundred feet square that cannot be surpassed for dancing purposes.

Governor and Mrs. Hiram Johnson, Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Moore, Mayor and Mrs. Rolph, and Mrs. Sanborn, will head the receiving line. The wives of all the county and state exposition officials, the wives of the exposition directors and the members of the Woman's Board and the chairman and vice-chairman will assist as hostesses.

In addition to the reception and dance, a number of special entertainment features are being arranged. The dancers of the season's most popular dances will perform, and there is to be a pageant of the carnival queens from the cities of the state that have annual festivals. Each young woman will be in the royal costume of her festival court and each will carry the banner of her county. The carnival queens were chosen by popular vote from among the most comely young women of the various communities and their presence at the reception and dance will furnish an unequalled representation of beautiful California womanhood.

To make attendance at the dedication convenient for people in all parts of the state, the railroads have fixed special excursion rates for the occasion, making a return trip fare of one and one-third the usual one-way fare. Special rates have also been fixed for the steamers Harvard and Yale, running between San Francisco and Los Angeles, and several other transportation companies have made special concessions in the matter of rates for the celebration. The San Francisco trans-bay ferries will be operated on special schedules direct to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition grounds.

Tickets for the reception and dance are sold for $1.50 and will admit to the exposition grounds at any time of the day so that visitors may have an opportunity to inspect the wonders of the exposition and observe the progress that has been made in putting the finishing touches to the city of palaces that constitute the exposition.

The proceeds from the sale of tickets will be devoted to the fund for furnishing the social division of the California Building; a task which has been left in the hands of the Woman's Board, and which, in its completion, will be a model interior decoration, California talent, and that of California women particularly, is being employed almost exclusively in the work. This is in pursuance of the same policy that supplied a typically Californian design for the building itself.

For its entertainment at the exposition New York State will expend the sum of $900,000, or $100,000 a month, and while the women of California cannot have so great a fund at their disposal, they are still determined to raise as large a fund as possible. Many courtesies will be extended by California women to visitors, who will be directed to interesting localities throughout the state and who will be put into communication with the bodies with which the Woman's Board is in contact. It is expected that among the thousands of visitors to the exposition there will be many who wish to see different sections of California and that every part of the state will be thus visited by the different travelers from all parts of the world.
