

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

MRS. W. E. EDMONDS COMPLETED BY PRESBYTERIAN LADIES

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the Glendale Presbyterian church held its regular monthly meeting Thursday afternoon in the Lecture room of the church. There was an unusually good program, the main feature of which was an inspiring talk by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, on "Living on the Higher Spiritual Plane," which was followed by an able address by Mrs. Potter, returned missionary from Persia, on "Some Phases of Life in Persia," both of which talks inspired the eager listeners to greater zeal for the cause of Jesus Christ.

Immediately following the adjournment of the meeting, Mrs. John Horsch arose, and as mistress of ceremonies, suggested to Mrs. C. C. Widney that if there was any particular woman in the audience whom she thought needed any special "talking to" to please bring her forward. Mrs. Widney smilingly wended her way in and out among the pleased spectators, all of whom knew beforehand what was coming excepting the one most concerned, and from an obscure corner brought forth Mrs. W. E. Edmonds, upon whose face blank astonishment was written, to the great amusement of all present, the great concern of the ladies of the church for the past week being that she would hear nothing of the matter.

Mrs. Edmonds was seated, with great ceremony, before a low table, and Mrs. Horsch in a few brief and appropriate words stated that the guest of honor had passed another mile stone in her career, in fact had had a birthday the day previous, and that all of the ladies of the church wanted her to have such pleasant memories of this particular birthday that she would never forget it, and to that end, three fairies would appear in rapid procession; and as Mrs. Horsch called them forth, first Mrs. Widney appeared, bearing a box of snowy table linen, which was placed before the astonished gaze of the honored guest; then followed Mrs. W. J. Smith, carrying a miniature chest, which contained a "purse of gold and silver" which was also placed before her with much ceremony and an elaborate bow, amid the smiles and suppressed merriment of the crowd, and last, entered Mrs. Lyons of Cedar street, a vision of loveliness in pink and white, bearing a huge cake, beautifully ornamented in pink and white and with the words "Birthday Greeting" in large letters. This ended the procession.

But with all her surprise, Mrs. Edmonds was equal to the occasion, and in a few well chosen and appropriate words, told of how much she appreciated the love and esteem which prompted the showering of these gifts. The women felt there was but one thing needful to complete the happiness and success of the occasion and that was the presence of the loved pastor, and he was hurriedly sent for over the church phone, and appeared shortly after, mingling with the happy throng.

The ladies pressed forward, offering congratulations and gazing at the gifts. Dainty refreshments were immediately served, the iced tea being very popular. Mrs. F. J. Adams "poured" hot tea for those who wished that beverage. The "birthday" cake was then cut by the recipient, and beside those present, the "shut in" and the sick were also given a part in it.

The ladies then gathered at the various small tables scattered throughout the large room, which was made like a beautifully decorated home room by the dexterous arrangement of seats, piano and huge jars of potted plants, ferns, asparagus and cut flowers, the whole being a large circle.

There was much happy conversation and enthusiasm over the fact that the entire affair had been kept a complete secret from Mrs. Edmonds, the highly esteemed wife of the much loved pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church.

PLAYGROUND REPORT

THREE RECREATION CENTERS SHOW ATTENDANCE OF 3312 IN JULY

Principal Richardson D. White, who has been acting as supervisor of the summer playgrounds during the vacation season, has tabulated some interesting facts regarding the use that has been made of those recreation centers during the vacation. There can be no doubt, in the light of these figures, of the beneficial work the summer playgrounds is accomplishing among the youth of Glendale.

The Intermediate school playground was opened July 1 with an attendance of two boys in the morning and two girls in the afternoon. From that start of four the attendance ran up to 110 on the Fourth of July. It ranged as high as 55 on July 17 and showed an average daily attendance of 38.79 for the month. The average morning attendance was 10.69 and the average afternoon attendance was 28.1. Total attendance 1009.

Pacific Avenue playground started on July 1 with an attendance of 12 boys in the morning and fifteen boys and twelve girls in the afternoon. That was a total of 47. The highest attendance throughout the month was 85 on July 7 and the lowest was 6 on July 4 when the children were over at the Intermediate entertainment. The average morning attendance was 21.54 and the average afternoon attendance was 34.66. The average daily attendance was 56.58. The total number of boys' attendances was 951; girls' 520, and the total attendance for July was 1471.

Central Avenue playground shows an attendance on the opening day of 12 boys and 3 girls in the morning and 15 boys and 5 girls in the afternoon—a total of 35. The lowest attendance was on the morning of July 4 when there were 12 boys and two girls present and none in the afternoon. The highest attendance was 64 on July 17. The total attendance for the month was 832—674 boys and 158 girls. The average morning attendance was 14.72; the average afternoon attendance was 18.56 and the average daily attendance 33.28.

The total attendance for the month of July at all the grounds was: Boys, 1441; girls, 655; total, 3312. The playgrounds continue to be well patronized and have proved a means of keeping the children under proper supervision and of giving intelligent direction to their play.

KENT & SON GET CONTRACT

Chas. W. Kent and Son have secured the general contract for the Culver City grammar school, to be erected on Washington Blvd., Culver City. This building will cost complete about $50,000.

Mr. Kent states that they will move their equipment down next week and proceed with the work at once. The bid submitted by this firm was not the lowest by several hundred dollars but they were awarded the contract as being the lowest responsible bidder.

This firm just recently completed the construction of the Owensmouth Union High School, which cost complete $110,000.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

John Berry of 537 Orange street, attained his sixteenth birthday Friday, Aug. 11. Adorned with sixteen yellow candles this handsome confection was sent to the Berry residence and John's relatives and friends who were present offered him their congratulations and wished him many happy returns of the day. Ice cream was served and the cake was pronounced delicious.

MEDIATION FAILS IN RAILROAD CRISIS

GENERAL RAILWAY STRIKE IS NOW ALMOST CERTAIN—PRESIDENT WILSON IS ANXIOUS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—All attempts to settle the dispute between the railroad managers and the Brotherhoods have failed. At 10 a. m. today there had been no plan set forth by the Board of Mediation and Conciliation that was agreeable to them, so the Brotherhoods, as they had previously stated they would do, called off the negotiations. Hope is still entertained that mediation may be successfully invoked. The transportation lines are preparing an appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

This was especially the case with Russian orders.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PETROGRAD, Aug. 12.—After battering his way through many obstacles for more than a week Gen. Letchizky, the Russian commander, managed to enter Stanislaw, the great Galician railway center, Friday. CONDITION OF WASH

GLENDALE CITY TRUSTEES ADDRESS SUPERVISORS ON FLOOD CONDITIONS

Recently the city trustees have been considering the ever-present problem of the Verdugo Wash. There are three specially dangerous points along Verdugo Wash, one at the bend of the Wash channel, near the junction of Glendale avenue and Verdugo road; another at the bend in the Wash near Howard street and a third at Brand boulevard. The danger at the third mentioned point is caused partly by the bridges over the Wash at that point being supported on piling which forms a partial barrier to the free course of the water. The acute angle in the channel at that point also enhances the danger.

About 1500 feet of very substantial protection work has been placed at each of the first two points mentioned. This protection consists of 6x8 redwood piling placed ten feet apart. Upon this is placed barbed wire three inches apart. This is reinforced with brush and rock placed back of it. This has greatly lessened the danger at those points.

The letter published herewith shows what is proposed to be done to obviate the danger at Brand boulevard, the third point named. This communication has been received by the Board of Supervisors and has been referred by them to the Los Angeles county road engineer, Mr. Joiner, with instructions to confer with the engineer of Maintenance of Way of the Pacific Electric Railroad company, Mr. Johnson, and also with Mr. Ed Lynch, city engineer of Glendale, in order to prepare a report in regard to the plan outlined in the letter.

It is evident that the protection outlined is not complete and that a great deal more of such work will have to be done before Glendale is fully protected from the flood waters of Verdugo Wash, but the work outlined will greatly lessen any immediate danger. Following is the letter:

August 7, 1916.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County, Gentlemen:

The attention of your Honorable Body is most respectfully and earnestly called to the dangerous condition along Verdugo Wash in the vicinity of Brand boulevard just north of the City of Glendale. A large amount of sand and debris has lodged in the channel at this point during the last two years, raising the bed of the wash to within three feet of the girders of the wagon bridges at Brand boulevard. A sharp turn in the channel at this point also enhances the danger and is, no doubt, one of the causes of the filling in of the channel. The storm waters of the Verdugo Wash carry a great amount of sand and debris during the winter and another large flood is likely to complete the fill of the channel at this point allowing the water to overflow the banks at the bridge, which will result, no doubt, in a great deal of damage to adjacent property, and in fact there is great danger in such an event of all, or at least, a part of the flood waters going down Brand boulevard through the business district of the City of Glendale.

A thorough investigation will, no doubt, convince your Honorable Body that the wash channel should be rectified, if possible, at Brand boulevard so as to obviate the sharp turn at that point, and that the present wooden bridges should be replaced with single span reinforced concrete structures. The banks of the wash channel should be protected in a substantial manner for a considerable distance on each side of the new bridges.

Deeds have been secured from Mr. L. C. Brand to the wash channel from Central avenue to a distance of 550 feet or more east of Louise St., and it will be necessary to acquire very little additional land in order to make the proposed change in the alignment of the channel.

The Pacific Electric Railway company has two bridges over the wash at Brand boulevard which are also wooden structures supported on piling. We have interviewed the officials of that company, who express a willingness, should the plan herein proposed be carried out, to replace these wooden bridges with a single span reinforced concrete structure at the new location, which will enable them to eliminate altogether their wooden bridge which crosses the wash channel diagonally between Brand boulevard and Central avenue.

From the diagram submitted herewith, you will note the proposed change in the channel alignment, also the land already acquired. We believe that this is a very ur-

ON THE ROAD TO FAME

TERESE VAN GROVE OF GLENDALE ATTRACTS NOTICE OF DAVID BELASCO

Terese Van Grove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Grove, 639 Lincoln avenue, who at the age of eleven years has developed into a dramatic reader and dancer of extraordinary merit, returned with her mother this week from a three months' residence in New York city, where she has been under the observation of David Belasco, the world-famed impresario. Belasco thinks so highly of the natural ability and dramatic qualifications of Terese that he has determined to put her on the stage when she shall have attained an age suitable for entering on that arduous profession.

Meantime Terese is to go on with her studies and to visit Mr. Belasco once a year in New York, so that he can observe the progress she is making. When she attains the age of 16 Belasco will take her entirely under his own charge and will take her to reside in his own house that she may be constantly under his care. When she has been thoroughly trained he will write a play for her.

Terese is a student at the University of Southern California. She is also a pupil of Ruth St. Denis. During her residence in New York she appeared at various important social functions where she danced and gave dramatic entertainments. She also appeared in performances at Ravinia park, Chicago.

FAREWELL PARTY

Miss Marjorie Singleton of 1418 West Third street entertained a number of young friends Thursday evening in honor of Miss William Hobbs, who left yesterday for Hanford, California, to make her home. Decorations of pink and white flowers lent their beauty for the occasion, the same color scheme being carried out in the dainty refreshments that were served during the evening. Games and a jolly good time generally were enjoyed by the young people, the only regret being that Miss Hobbs was to leave the circle so soon. The guest of honor was the surprised recipient of a beautiful snap shot album and a number of pictures that will be greatly treasured by her in the days to come as mementoes of her Glendale friends.

The guests were Misses Eva Gould, Helen Bott, Tessa Bott, Lulu Powell, Ruth Spafford, Helen Gould, Helen Powell, Marcella Orff, Anabelle McClellan, Lela Whitehead, Mildred Singleton, Alda Gervais, Irene Gervais, Mrs. Pixley and the hostess; Messrs. Guy Pixley, Frances Hoopes, Dean Schurman, Warren Woods, Ellis Thomas, John Losh and George Mott.

On the evening prior to this affair Miss Singleton entertained with a slumber party in honor of Miss Hobbs. Misses Eva and Helen Gould, Lela Whitehead, William Hobbs and Mildred and Marjorie Singleton were the members of the happy party that enjoyed games and music and a jolly good time at the Singleton home that evening.

KODAK PARTY

Miss Nora Smith gave a kodak party on the lawn at the residence of her parents, 722 N. Louise street, to a party of her young friends. The entertainment consisted of games, music and of looking over the large collection of interesting kodak pictures taken by Miss Smith at Sturtevant camp, Mt. Wilson. Miss Smith then took pictures of the whole party on the lawn. Miss Mary Hunt won the first prize in the games and was presented with a beautiful photo album with a picture of Sturtevant camp on the cover. Those present were: Vera McPherson, Margaret McPherson, Mary Hunt, Lela Siple, Dorothy Stanton, Myrtle Tummel, Elsie Tyler, Ruth Sanford and Miss Ethel Mondon, the guest of honor of the occasion.

Mrs. Margaret D. Longley and two daughters, Murray and Margaret D., recently of St. Louis, Mo., are at the home of Mrs. Longley's brother, Principal Richardson D. White, 1431 West Third street. They have come to Southern California to make their home and will likely locate in Glendale.

gent matter and most earnestly hope your Honorable Body will give it favorable consideration.

Most respectfully submitted on behalf of the Glendale Board of Trustees,

T. W. WATSON,
City Manager.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, AUGUST 12, 1916

THE AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK

In view of the crisis caused by the alleged failure of the wheat crop of the United States and the destruction by rust and other causes of a large portion of the Canadian crop there is a demand all over the country, not only for governmental control of bread prices, but also for government compulsion of proper farming methods and of the extended use of fertilizers so that there may be no danger of a future famine.

Acid phosphate is the base of nearly all commercial mixed fertilizers. It is made by the action of sulphuric acid on phosphate rock. There should be no trouble in obtaining plenty of this fertilizer as the United States has more phosphate rock than any other nation. The main supply for domestic consumption and for exportation comes from Tennessee, South Carolina and Florida. The United States government, however, owns vast deposits of phosphate rock in Utah, Wyoming, Montana and neighboring states. These deposits have been withdrawn from private use pending legislation for their utilization, and no supply has yet been developed from this source.

In 1914 2,734,000 tons of phosphate rock was produced in this country. Up to that year about one-half the quantity mined was exported to Europe. The rock in its natural state is not readily absorbed as a plant food. It is made available for that purpose by treatment with sulphuric acid. About one ton of acid is used for one ton of phosphate rock.

Most of the sulphuric acid which enters into the manufacture of acid phosphate is made by fertilizer companies. Practically every fertilizer company having a plant capable of producing more than 15,000 tons of fertilizer has a sulphuric acid plant of its own. The demand for the acid is so strong at present on account of the war that every effort is being made to utilize old and abandoned establishments and to erect new plants.

The erection of a new acid plant is slow and costly. It is necessary to build acid chambers into the construction of which a large amount of lead enters. Difficulty is also being experienced in securing an adequate supply of pyrites, which is the principal source of sulphur.

Under normal conditions the limited market for the acid and the long haul necessary to reach the market have made it commercially impracticable to convert the fumes into sulphuric acid.

In view of the great difficulties in the way of manufacturing and using sulphuric acid the Bureau of Soils of the United States has endeavored to develop a commercial method involving the use of the electric furnace for manufacturing phosphoric acid, which can be used as a substitute.

During the coming season there is certain to be manufactured a great deal of fertilizer as it is seen that there is danger in running the risk of a crop failure with which the country is faced at present. When the full report of the wheat crops has been published it will remain for the country to take measures to make the ground produce twice as much as it usually does. Intensive methods of farming must be used and every square inch of soil so fertilized that it will bring forth double.

That this is not difficult can be seen in the fact that a great deal of land in the United States has been forced to produce for years without fertilization of any kind.

U. S. TOPOGRAPHIC ATLAS

No department of the United States government is more useful or less expensive than the United States Geological Survey. This well-equipped department is doing some of the most valuable work that has ever been done for the country, without ostentation and with but little reward. When the first rush to Alaska began in 1900, experts from the United States Geological Survey were sent up to that vast land. Had the men who were on the spot at first heeded their reports they would have staked the hinterland, which was afterward known as the "Third Beach Line." The Geological Survey reports stated in unmistakable language that rich deposits would be found there at considerable depth.

In like manner the experts surveyed and detailed all of the occupied sections of Alaska and many of the unoccupied sections, until now about 30 per cent of the vast territory has been surveyed and mapped. It would be impossible to exaggerate the value of this work. One-third of the area mapped, or 10 per cent of the Territory, has been covered only by reconnaissance work, the results of which have been mapped on a scale of about 10 miles to an inch. The maps of nearly all the remaining two-thirds of the surveyed area have been published on a scale of four miles to the inch. A few areas that are of economic importance, aggregating about 3000 square miles, have been surveyed in greater detail and mapped on a scale of a mile to the inch.

This is part of the great work of mapping the United States. The Geological department intends to make a complete topographic atlas of the country. The work has been in progress since 1882 and more than 38 per cent of the area of the country, excluding outlying possessions, has been mapped. The areas mapped are widely distributed, every State being represented, as shown on the progress maps accompanying each annual report of the director.

This atlas of the United States is being published in sheets of convenient size, about 16½ by 20 inches. The four-sided area of land represented on an atlas sheet is bounded by parallels and meridians and is called a quadrangle. The size of the area mapped depends on the scale used. Several scales are employed.

The features shown on these atlas sheets or maps may be classed in three groups—water, including seas, lakes, rivers, canals, swamps and other bodies of water; relief, including mountains, hills, valleys, and other elevations and depressions; culture (works of man) such as towns, cities, roads, railroads and boundaries. These are indicated by conventional signs.

How immensely valuable a work of this nature must be can be seen in the scope of its subjects. On these large-scale maps the

ARTISTIC FLOWER ARRANGEMENTS

(By MARGARET MASON)

A most aesthetic maid is Jenny. For she had but a single penny; Yet she spent it for a rose; What she'll eat now goodness knows.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—What Wordsworth wrote of Peter Bell: "A primrose on a river's brim a yellow primrose was to him and it was nothing more," applies just as truly to all the Peter Bells of today and most every Tom, Dick and Harry besides, to say nothing of a few Janes and Bettys. Stick that yellow primrose in a low blue bowl in one of those Japanese bronze flower holders, add a handpainted paper butterfly tremblingly poised and vibrant on a long slender wire, fasten a china bluebird on the one edge of the bowl with a bit of your chewing gum and a painted glass butterfly on the other, with the rest of your gum stick and lo! even Peter Bell would see something more to the jaundiced primrose.

These new Japanese flower arrangements certainly are attractive. They make more effective a flower or two than a huge mass of them. Even the humblest of flowers becomes raised to as decorative heights as her most costly and exotic sisters. In fact a loose cluster of field daisies and red clover arranged in a shallow bowl of green or mauve becomes the acme of beauty. Wondrous in variety, coloring and shape are the lovely shallow dishes for the flowers. Not the least of these are those of glass painted in some one solid color. Black perhaps is the most effective.

The many accessories that go to make up the perfect whole of an artistic flower arrangement are indeed startling. In the old days of stiff set bouquets, if we had the flowers, the vase and the water we said "sufficiency." Now at least one handpainted bird of glass or china is a necessity to poise deftly and gummily on the edge of the bowl. A butterfly of like manufacture is also almost indispensable and then the ones quivering on wire do add so much. There are also waxed paper pond lilies to float on the water, tiny green and red glass fish to gleam on the bottom of the bowl. The fish and the lilies are really more effective in the bowls of crystal or transparent colored glass.

The pottery bowls and Chinese porcelains of deep yellows, purples, greens and old blues show up the gorgeously painted birds and butterflies. If you want something truly lovely try some purple iris in a bowl of turquoise blue or nasturtiums in a bowl of brass. From the Japanese influence in our decorations we leap lightly to Chinese influence in our other home furnishings. Whole bedrooms and dining rooms done in Chinese lacquer furniture are pleasing and artistic to a high degree. Chinese lacquer lamps, either floor or table lamps, are stunning in black or red lacquer with gold decorations and pagoda shaped shades.

Mirrors round, oblong, or square are framed in lacquer and some more ornate have inset panels of gilded Chinese wood carving with gorgeous Chinese tassels dangling from their corners. Pieces of Chinese brocade and embroidery deck pianos, tables and chairs and over all gleams a golden glow of lights in handpainted Chinese lanterns of oiled silk. All we need to do further is to light a punk stick or two and we have the real Oriental atmosphere as well as immunity from mosquitoes.

EXCHANGELETS

In the heat of argument: Crawford—"Say, are you a human being?"

Jerry—"No, I am a democrat."

There being nothing permanent but change, it is necessary to keep abreast of the times in all lines of manufacture.

topographical features of any section of the country mapped can be seen at a glance. The contours are carefully detailed and the maps are invaluable to those who are taking automobile trips through parts of the country in which they have never been before.

Ireland is a much more densely populated country than the State of California and the soil is not naturally so productive. It has been worked for centuries and has been saved from absolute impoverishment by the constant addition of kelp from the sea on the western coast and by farm and artificial manures on the east coast and in the central counties. Yet more farms have been bought in Ireland during the past five years than in California. The British government has been pursuing the plan of land settlement which involves buying up thousands of acres of land formerly in the hands of owners and rented to tenants, and selling them to the peasants on long time and at a low rate of interest. Nothing of the kind has been done in California.

LEARN CONCERNING CANDIDATES

The date of the primary election, August 29, is near at hand and on that date the voters will be called upon to nominate candidates for the various county, district and state offices. Among the list of candidates are worthy men who are deserving of the support of the voters. There are other candidates who are nothing more than cheap politicians and the only way to learn as to the character and qualifications of the candidates is to make thorough inquiries about them. Street reports cannot be depended upon. Make an effort to meet the candidates personally and after engaging in conversation for a few minutes with them if you are a good judge of human nature you may be able to determine as to the fitness of the candidate for the office which he seeks.

GUARDING AGAINST DARKNESS

A new rule of the United States Steamboat Inspection Service requires that ships must carry lights furnished with electricity from a source independent of that which propels the ship. This is to keep vessels carrying passengers from being in darkness in case of accident to the regular propelling power.

A number of vessels are now using the power supplied primarily for wireless telegraphy on board to furnish such lights. In the event of an accident lights are always found burning where most needed, especially around the lifeboats.

WOOLWINE MEETING

Glendale people are invited to a meeting at Glendale Union High School, Tuesday evening, August 15, at 8 o'clock, when District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine will speak upon the duties of the district attorney and the qualifications necessary for one who can fill the office acceptably to the people. Mr. Woolwine is a very pleasing speaker and every voter should avail himself of the opportunity to hear this address as the primary election is so near. There will be other good speakers also.

ROBERTS TO ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts of 707 West Seventh street will entertain with a picnic lunch at Griffith park tomorrow, the following guests: "Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Archer, Mr. and Mrs. George Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. D. Peck of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gilchrist and daughters, Primrose, Mabel and Gladys, of El Monte; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lodge and daughter Gertrude of Van Nuys, Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Archer and son Lisle of La Canada and Dr. and Mrs. Simeon Young and daughter Winona of Los Angeles.

Mr. J. H. Redman, 450 W. Broadway, spent a few days at Switzer's camp on Mt. Wilson, returning Friday. He says that it would be difficult to conceive any place more restful and peaceful and free from all objectionable features. The camp attracts refined and reverent natures and there is no frivolous element. Mr. Redman says that the natural scenery is astonishing. Innumerable ravines and canyons deep and cool traverse the mountain in every direction. A favorite trip is to Strawberry Peak, which is within 500 feet of the summit. From this point an unrivaled view is obtained of the setting sun. Then night falls and the party which intends to spend the night on that altitude beholds stretched out in a vast panorama the lights of the big city and its adjacent towns. On a fine night the view takes in a vast stretch of territory. Sunrise finds the enraptured visitors waiting for the first faint rays of the coming day trembling on the billows of clouds and the full glorious advent of the mighty orb itself.

SAVING THE SITUATION

In his recently published memoirs, Lord Redesdale has a story, altogether delectable, of a reception that was accorded him by the famous Tsar Alexander II. Lord Redesdale tells how when it came to his turn to be named, the Tsar asked him where he had been educated. He told him at Eton and Oxford. "Ah," said His Majesty, "I was once at Oxford. The public orator pronounced a Latin oration in my honor." "Then I am sure," Lord Redesdale replied, "that Your Majesty did not understand a word of it, b—." The clouds, the writer continues, gathered on Jupiter's brow. "Who," he said as plainly as speech itself, "is the whippersnapper who dares to say that I, the Emperor of all the Russias, am an ignoramus that does not understand Latin?" "Because," Lord Redesdale hastily added, "because of our barbarous pronunciation." And all was immediately well again.

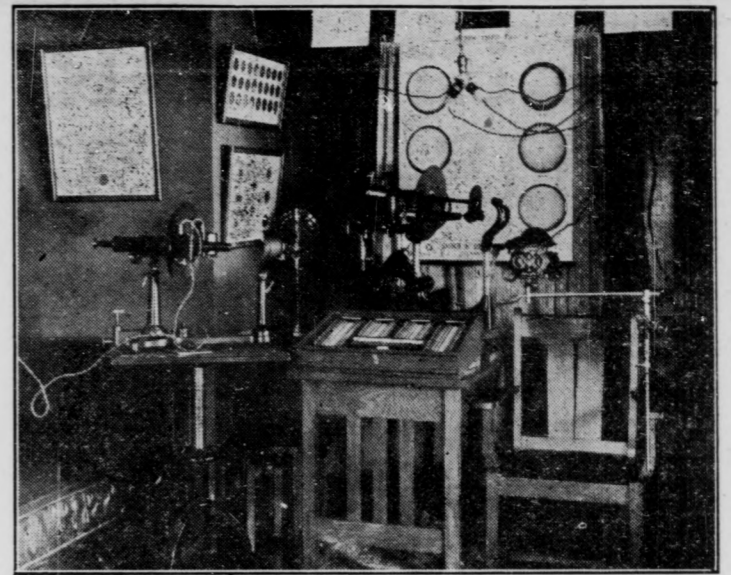

The story inevitably recalls another one of a similar nature told of a certain judge and a certain counsel. There had been a disagreement between the bench and the bar. The bench had been irritable, not to say short. The bar had spoken often "with profound respect." It once again addressed itself to the task. "With profound respect," it said, "I am not such a booby as your lordship—" The bench gathered itself for an outburst, but the bar was just in time. It rushed forward to salvation with the words, "seems to think."—C. S. Monitor.

END-O-THE-SUMMER SHOPPING

As the summer season begins to wane, and the early fall models are beginning to replace lighter garments in the shops, it is a good time to pick up a few dainty wash frocks, at very low prices, with which to end the present warm season and serve as a starter for next spring. The stores are beginning to clear out their stock, and are willing to dispose of charming dresses at considerably less than the amounts asked for them earlier. White net frocks and simple silk dresses, picked up at this time, may be worn in the house all winter, if chosen with this idea in view. Even if the styles should change materially by next year, the present full-skirted modes will permit of almost any alteration one may wish to make. Sport shoes, pumps, white slippers, sweaters, motor coats and other paraphernalia, especially designed for summer, may also be gotten now for wear another season, and if a conservative model is chosen, in nine cases out of ten it will be appropriate next season without any altering.

PROTECTION AGAINST MOTHS

An inventive genius in one of the Eastern States has hit upon a plan by no means insignificant although of a homely order. He is manufacturing white tar moth bags, as the last word in preparedness against the moths and dust that corrupt the furs and woolen goods, which weigh so heavily upon the housewives' mind each spring and fall.

The garment may be hung up inside, and the whole bag hermetically sealed against air, dust and insects. The bags are made in four sizes ranging from twenty-four to thirty inches wide and thirty-seven to seventy inches long. There are four varieties—pine tar, cedar, lavender and odorless, to suit the taste of nearly every one.

THE SHARK'S PREDECESSOR

Once upon a time, 1,000,000 years ago, so the archaeologists say, there lived in the ocean a family of sharks so gigantic that Jonah's whale, by comparison, would be only a little larger than bait. Their gaping jaws opened as wide as garage doors, and were fully nine feet across, with an opening more than six feet in height.

This leviathan, called the Carcharodon Megalodon, is one of the latest additions to the hall of fossil fishes of the American Museum of Natural History in New York, reports the American Boy. In the phosphate deposits off the coast of South Carolina were found a number of teeth ranging in size from two to six inches, and similar in shape to those of the great white shark.

The teeth, of which a vast number were found, have been arranged at the museum in the same manner as they are found in the present shark. Comparing the size of the teeth of the restored Carcharodon with those of the largest living shark, whose teeth are three inches high, and whose length is 40 feet, it is estimated that the Carcharodon was at least 80 or 90 feet long.

CLEAN HANDS

Disease germs lead a hand to mouth existence. If the human race would learn to keep the unwashed hand away from the mouth many human diseases would be greatly diminished. We handle infectious matter more or less constantly and we continually carry the hands to the mouth. If the hand has recently been in contact with infectious matter the germs of disease may in this way be introduced into the body.

Many persons wet their fingers with saliva before counting money, turning the pages of a book, or performing similar acts. In this case the process is reversed, the infection being carried to the object handled, there to await carriage to the mouth of some other careless person. In view of these facts the U. S. Public Health Service has formulated the following simple rules of personal hygiene and recommends their adoption by every person in the United States.

- Wash the Hands Immediately Before eating;
- Before handling, preparing or serving food;
- After using the toilet;
- After attending the sick, and
- After handling anything dirty.

"The Milk You Will Eventually Buy"

A Dairy That Needs No Sanitary Legislation

Long before laws and ordinances were passed in regard to sanitary conditions of dairies and the handling of milk, MacMullin's had a sanitary dairy in every sense of the word, and all sanitary requirements were courted.

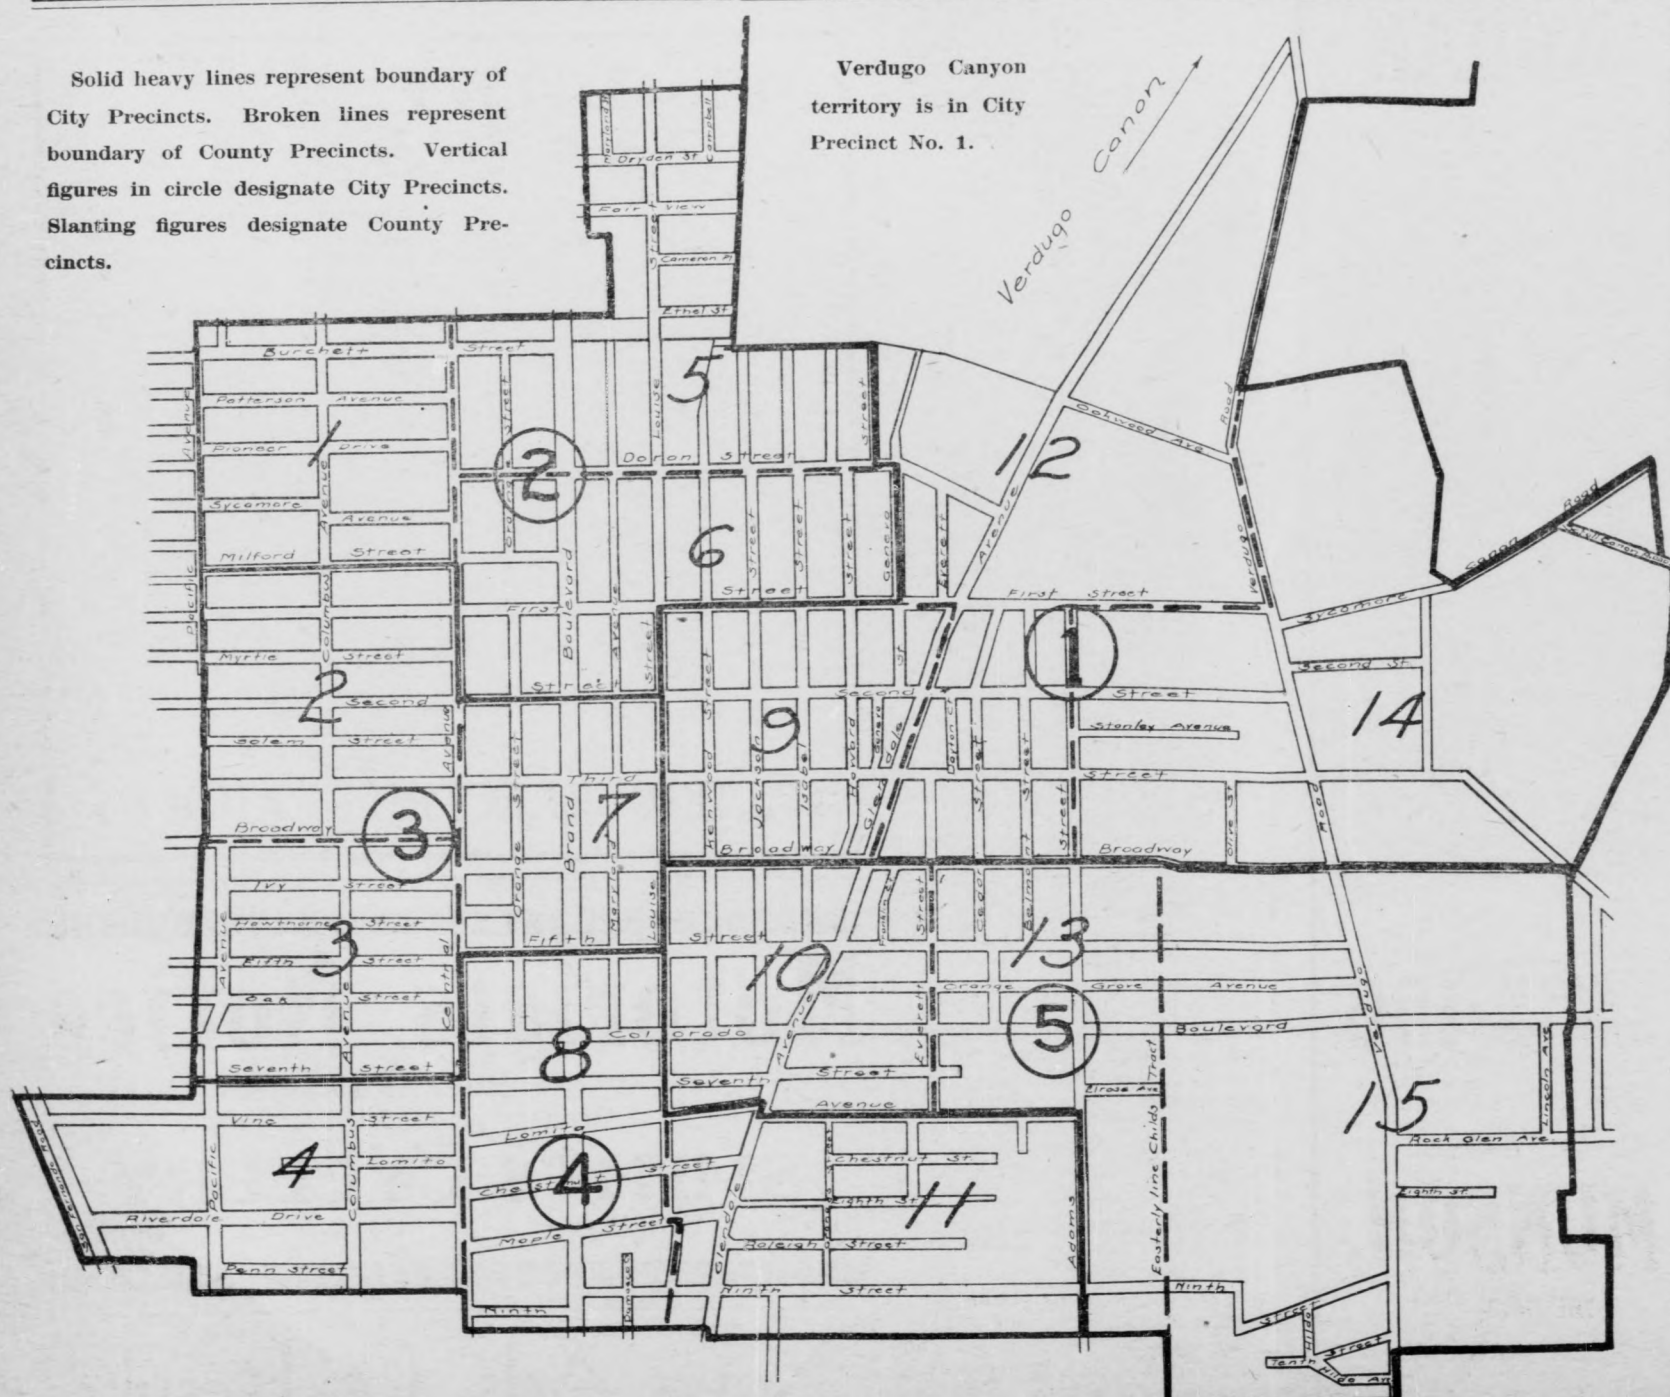

MacMullin's dairy not only complies with all laws and ordinances, but meets more sanitary conditions than are required, and has justly won the reputation of being "the Most Sanitary Dairy in the San Fernando Valley."

HATS OF PURPLE VELVET

Her hat will be purple velvet. Fashion dictators at the Chicago Garment Manufacturers' Fall Style show at Bismarck said so today. If it isn't purple velvet it will be brown velvet, or black velvet. There will be a great deal of velvet in women's hats this fall, especially for the milliners.

Women's fall apparel continued the center of attraction today for Chicago visitors attending the show. Not the least of this show was the display of hats. The purple ones seemed to attract the most attention, probably because the wholesalers had whispered that "Women will like the purple ones," and "They're all the rage," and a few other well directed remarks that make "this year's styles" always the prettiest. After the purple velvets, buyers planned to take home with them for their trade brown velvets, black velvets and a lot of chic, wide brimmed, white hats with a bright colored crown and a narrow ribbon to match the crown, on the brim. The sport hat this fall is a floppy felt affair with not much of anything on it but a band. "They'll take, though," wholesalers said.
