MAY'S BUILDING SETS ANOTHER RECORD!

HOUSE LAYS FARM BILL ASIDE

Program for Last Days of Session Adopted; Tax Bill Up Monday

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 24.—The conference report on the compromise tax reduction bill, carrying the Simmons-Longworth income tax rates, was adopted by the Senate this afternoon and now goes to the House for final action.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Farm relief legislation—the McNary-Haugen bill—was scheduled to be laid aside in the House late today while a week is consumed in acting on other matters.

The tax reduction conference report is scheduled for adoption by the House Monday.

The legislative appropriation bill and an urgent deficiency bill providing money for making effective the soldier bonus will be considered Tuesday and Thursday.

The $150,000,000 bill for new naval construction will occupy the House Wednesday.

Substitute Looms
The farm relief bill is to be given consideration, although it may require three or four days to complete it. This is in deference to the wishes of the congressmen with farmer constituents, and a general belief that some legislation to help the wheat and other farmers is urgent and imperative.

The McNary-Haugen bill may not be the legislation adopted. A hasty Democratic poll of the House is reported to have developed 215 members opposed to the bill. There was talk today of an attempt to kill the bill at once and make way for other measures that have less opposition. Republican Leader Longworth said he did not think this could be done. Many congressmen would vote against such action, although they are unfriendly to the bill as drawn.

No Other Measure
Defeat of the McNary-Haugen bill in the House would leave that body without an alternative farm relief measure which had been considered in the agricultural committee.

BROKERS RAIDED IN STOCK PROBE

Doble Steam Motors May Face Grand Jury Over Sale Of Shares, Belief

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—A grand jury investigation of the sale of stock in the Doble Steam Motors corporation by the F. G. Fox company, Inc., loomed today, following a raid on the offices of the Cox company in which all of their stock selling records were seized.

Assistant District Attorney Robert Fitzgerald, who secured the search warrant for the seizure, said the grand jury would be asked to investigate alleged sale of a considerable amount of stock in excess of the permit issued by the state corporation commission.

The permit, according to the commission, was for $1,000,000, while the claim is made by the authorities that in excess of $1,250,000 worth of stock has been sold to 10,000 investors.

The Democratic minority recommended the Swanson plan for American participation under the reservations laid down by Secretary of State Hughes. This plan, endorsed by the president, was defeated ten to eight.

'Graduate' of San Quentin Sought After Deaths of Two 'Patients'

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southern News Service.
LOS ANGELES, May 24.—The startling story of a "graduate" of "the San Quentin school of surgery" treating the sick of Southern California was made public this afternoon by Albert Carter, special agent of the state medical board, who launched a search for Louis D'Angoise, ex-convict.

Mrs. F. J. Peak of 1624 South Hoover street is dead. She was one of the patients in whom D'Angoise injected goat glands and gave other medicines without the necessary credentials, it is alleged. Sam Hensley, a tubercular victim of the fake doctor. He also has had goat gland injections and other spurious treatments for his incurable condition, Carter declares.

In addition to his quackery D'Angoise has left a trail of bad checks in Los Angeles for which the police are seeking him. He rented a suite of rooms for a clinic and ordered $2000 worth of furniture. The downtown store discovered his check fraud in time to drive him from his new location.

It is reported by Special Agent Carter that D'Angoise obtained his "medical education" as a nurse in San Quentin penitentiary where he worked with the expert who renewed the youth of prisoners.

KISS STORY ENRAGES SOLON

Senator Cries 'Blackmail' as Woman Witness Recalls Alleged Incident

WASHINGTON, May 24.—An angry quarrel between Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, chairman of the Senate agricultural committee, and Mrs. E. A. Edmundson of Decatur, Ala., whom he accused of bringing a blackmail plot against him because she testified he had kissed a girl at Muscle Shoals, nearly broke up the committee's hearing here today.

Norris arose from his chair and became so angry that Mrs. Edmundson left the witness chair and took up a position behind it. "That story of yours is a falsehood," Norris shouted, his face made scarlet by the laughter of the other senators of the committee. "I know a blackmail plot when I see it. If you were not a woman this would not be the end of this."

"I didn't kiss that girl," Norris added, his words coming in a torrent that Mrs. Edmundson's protests could not be heard.

The incident which Mrs. Edmundson related occurred during an inspection visit made by Senator Norris and others.

"Do you remember that fine barbecue we had there, senator?" the witness asked. "I asked you if you might not favor the Ford (Turn to Page 10, Column 7)

Police Guard Franks' Home As Anonymous Menace Is Brought to Family

CHICAGO, May 24.—Police today were rushed to the home of Jacob Franks, father of 13-year-old Robert Franks, who was found slain and his nude body stuffed into a suburban culvert Thursday, following receipt of a letter and applied epithets to the elder Franks.

At the same time it was reported about police headquarters that a valuable clue had been discovered and that an important arrest "might be made soon."

Coroner's physicians and other experts said today they had practically decided that no poison was used to kill the boy. Tests for mineral substances have failed, they said, and they expect tests for alkalis and acids to also prove futile. They are practically certain, they said, that the boy's death was caused by suffocation or internal hemorrhage.

MAIDEN TRIP FOR LOCAL AIRSHIP

Dr. T. C. Young's 'Argonaut' To Be Launched Sunday At Glendale Airport

The "Argonaut," the new five-passenger aerial limousine built by Kinmer Airplane & Motor corporation for Dr. T. C. Young, will take the air tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. The take-off for the maiden voyage will be made at the Glendale Airport, and will be marked with appropriate ceremonies.

The ship, which was started on February 1 and finished on May 1, was entirely built in Glendale with the exception of the motor and the landing wheels. H. H. Kinmer, head of the corporation which bears his name, was the chief designer and builder, and will have the honor of piloting the "Argonaut" on its maiden flight.

The construction of the ship set a new world's record in the designing and building of a new type of airplane, for there is not another plane in the world in which the many features are incorporated as are to be found in the "Argonaut."

Winner of Contest
While the ship was being constructed, Dr. Young asked for a name. He offered a prize of $10 in merchandise or a 60-mile ride for the most suitable name.

The winner was W. W. Worley of Holland & Worley Rug company, Los Angeles, whose title, "Argonaut," was selected from more than a hundred names submitted. Mr. Worley informed Dr. Young today that as his prize

Evening News Will Not Be 'Clubbed' Into Line

The Glendale Evening News today does not carry ANY advertisement from ANY Glendale motion picture theatre, BUT—

The Glendale Evening News continues to carry the advertisement of Murphy's Comedians, the tent show at Brand and California that seems to be making such a big hit with thousands of Glendale people.

The managements of the Glendale and the Gateway theatres have this week informed the management of The Glendale Evening News that they do not desire to further use the advertising columns of this newspaper. That is their business. The Glendale Evening News has nothing but advertising space for sale and if the three motion picture theatres of this city do not wish to purchase that space we submit, again, that it is their business. BUT—

The management of The Glendale Evening News DOES object to any attempt to "club" or boycott this newspaper into refusing to take legitimate advertising, for the conduct of the newspaper is OUR business.

The fact that Murphy's Comedians advertise in The Glendale Evening News and their shows are pleasing the crowds should not, in our opinion, cause any picture theatre to withdraw its advertising from this newspaper. On the contrary, if a theatre is NOT drawing the crowds it should INCREASE its advertising space and present a BETTER show, it seems to us.

However, that's the worry of the theatre management. In the meantime, The Glendale Evening News will continue to carry the advertisements of Murphy's Comedians, and, incidentally, this newspaper will present to its readers each day in its news columns the attractions being offered by the three local moving picture houses. These stories of the attractions at the theatres will not, however, be the offerings of the theatres' press agents, but will be written by members of The Glendale Evening News staff.

Please do not call The Evening News by phone for information as to hour and particulars of these three shows. For such information call:

Glendale theatre, Glendale 30; T. D. & L. theatre, Glendale 1161; Gateway theatre, Glendale 1791, and get information first hand.

If you have not a phone, probably your neighbor has one and will accommodate you. If the theatre phone does not answer you may be able to get the nearest store or office to serve as your messenger.

However, you will not be deprived from the opportunity to attend a good show. Read the daily announcement of Murphy's Comedians on the last page of this issue.

FEDERAL AGENTS IN BLAST PROBE

Government Takes Charge Of Aque duct Inquiry; Arrests Delayed

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—The federal government has taken entire charge of the investigation of the dynamiting of Los Angeles aqueduct, city officials announced today.

Federal marshals from the Fresno district are being rushed to Bishop, Cal., near the scene of the dynamiting which Wednesday threatened the water supply of the city of Los Angeles.

Entrance of the federal government into the probe was said to be due to putting out of commission by the dynamiters of telephone wires between California and Nevada, thus interfering with interstate communication.

Arrests in the dynamiting planned by local investigators have been postponed owing to the government's entry into the bombing plot.

DEATH AND RUIN IN STORM'S WAKE

Eight Killed, Many Injured As Freak Tornado Hits Mid-West States

ST. LOUIS, May 24.—Eight persons were known to be dead in Missouri today, at least a dozen injured and great property damage done by a freak tornado that crashed through southeastern Missouri and southern Illinois last night.

Essex, Mo., reported seven dead; Caruthersville, Mo., one dead, while Sikeston, Mo., and vicinity reported seven injured.

Owing to disrupted communications it was feared today that the storm toll would be increased by later reports.

Towns Are Damaged
Waterloo, Ill.; Mount Vernon, Ill.; Centralia, Ill.; Irvington, Ill., and McLeansboro, Ill., all reported more or less property damage done by a freak tornado that crashed through southeastern Missouri and southern Illinois last night.

The storm was followed in St. Louis by the coldest May 24 weather in the history of the St. Louis weather bureau, a mark of 47 degrees being recorded. Many basements were flooded in the city, hundreds of telephones put out of commission and much damage done by lightning.

ANOTHER SERIAL by the Most Popular American Writer of Mystery Stories

"The Case of Jennie Brice"

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

An exciting story that catches the attention with the first paragraph and holds it to the last word. The Pittsburgh rooming house and the sullen, handsome woman who disappears—the rising water that creeps up inch by inch—the stealthy sound of a boat in the night and the white-faced woman peering down from the stairs—the broken knife and the bloody rope and the unaccountable loss of an onyx clock.

Manila Suburbs Fear Revolt of Colorums

MANILA, May 24.—Residents of the villages of Calocan, Novales and Pasongluma, on the outskirts of Manila, have appealed to the authorities for protection against a possible outbreak among the bands of Colorums, religious fanatics, which are at present in these localities.

Colorums in northeastern Mindanao and some of the other southern Philippine islands have of late been on the warpath against the government authorities, having killed forty constabulary soldiers and necessitated the sending of the United States gunboat Sacramento to help restore order.

The Manila Colorums, however, deny they contemplate violence and have assured Brigadier-General Crame, through their leaders, they will remain peaceful.

CHOOSE SPEAKERS FOR TWO FINAL HI-Y MEETINGS

Dr. N. C. Paine Will Address Boys Monday Night at First Methodist

Glendale Hi-Y boys have but two meetings remaining before the close of their year's program and special speakers have been secured by Rex C. Kelley for the meeting Monday night and the meeting a week from that date.

On next Monday night at the First Methodist church the boys will have as guest and speaker Dr. N. C. Paine, a newcomer to Glendale and one of the physicians conducting the clinic on North Orange street.

Dr. Paine is unusually qualified to speak to boys and the Hi-Y members are looking forward to hearing him tell about "Choosing a College."

Football Coach
 When in the University of Chicago Dr. Paine was a member of the football team and later was assistant to Coach Alonzo Staggs. He also served as coach at Ames university, Iowa.

A week from Monday night, W. B. Kirk will be guest and speaker at the annual Hi-Y steak fry. Mr. Kirk has addressed the Glendale Hi-Y many times in the past and the boys are anxious to hear him tell of his recent European trip.

Andrew Carnegie was very fond of music and had fine organs in his homes when he became able to afford them.

OLD GRADS TURN OUT STRONG FOR SCHOOL PROGRAM

Homecoming Day Draws Many Former Students Back for Celebration

With its halls crowded by throngs of graduates returning to visit their high school alma mater, the new Glendale High school buildings on East Broadway were yesterday the scene of a most successful reunion. The crowds in attendance exceeded the expectations of those who planned the day, and the Home-Coming program was run through without a hitch.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the graduates began to assemble at the new plant, to inspect the buildings, and the crowds increased as the afternoon wore on. Everyone welcomed everyone else, and the affair was a joyous occasion. Even the babies that made up a large part of the crowd gleefully attempted to get into the spirit of things.

In fact, the babies held the limelight during the afternoon, when the children and their parents were the guests of the Girls' League at a party that soon overgrew the proportions of the room in which it was being held. Dozens and dozens of babies were brought by proud parents to mingle with those of their schoolmates.

Recall Old Days
 The program given in Room 215, from 3 to 4 o'clock, was interspersed with joyous outbursts from infant throats, and was enjoyed the more because of it. Some spent the afternoon in dancing, and others preferred

He Wasn't Invited To Attend The Party! Ah-Ha!

Gradually light is being let into the reasons why the local representative of the Los Angeles evening newspaper that was NOT included in Glendale's advertising budget is striving to upset the apple cart. The Glendale Evening News, in order to provide the public with a hearty laugh, hastens to rescue the following gem from oblivion and takes great pleasure in giving it the publicity it deserves:

"When the matter of placing the manager of the Glendale paper (The Glendale Daily Press) on the board of control was discussed, for some mysterious reason it was decided not to do so. We were good enough to be used in raising the money, but when it came to spending it we were not wanted."—From The Glendale Daily Press, which is owned by the publisher of The Los Angeles Evening Express, the paper NOT included in Glendale's advertising budget.

Isn't that rich! The local representative of the Los Angeles paper wasn't invited to the party and now he's on the outside throwing sticks and stones and calling bad names! Naughty! Naughty!

E. F. Sanders, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, informs The Evening News that a corrected list of the Board of Control of the Glendale advertising fund is:

Famous Quartet To Sing

THE ORPHEUS FOUR, quartet of the Orpheus club of Los Angeles, whose nation famed talent will be enjoyed Sunday night during the music hour at the Oakmont Country club. Reading from left to right, Samuel Glasse, tenor; Paul Adams, second tenor; H. M. Dudley, bass; V. A. Campbell, baritone.

The Orpheus Four, the quartet of the Orpheus club of Los Angeles, is coming out to Glendale Sunday night to greet a large company of their many Glendale friends during the music hour at the Oakmont Country club.

Samuel Glasse, Paul Adams, V. A. Campbell and H. M. Dudley, who compose the quartet are all talented vocalists. In their work together they have developed a repertoire of literally thousands of compositions. This repertoire is probably the most extensive of any male quartet in the world. An outstanding feature of every appearance of the four is that every selection discloses clarity of individual tone, delicate blending of voice compass, thorough command of tonal contrast and coloring.

Ovations have been accorded these singers in their many concerts, which have been given in forty-five states in the union.

On Sunday night from 6:30 till 8:30 o'clock they will be heard in solo and ensemble numbers at the Oakmont Country club.

Four hundred of these certificates are being offered, and the price of the ten settings is one dollar. Mr. Dolberg declares that the purchaser is in no way obligated to order additional photographs at any time.

Mr. Dolberg has been established in Glendale for several years and the consistently high standard maintained by him in his photographic work is well recognized.

MIRADERO SHOWS CARNIVAL SCENE AT GARDEN FETE

Clubwomen's Party Success as Crowds Throng to Brand Estate

Gray skies did not daunt the courage of the Tuesday Afternoon club women, and those who were members of the committee arranging the garden fete for this afternoon and tonight at the L. C. Brand foothill estate were on hand at an early hour this morning.

Booths were placed in assigned locations, gay decorations put up and by noontime all was in readiness for the big crowd that stood at the gates at 1 o'clock.

"Miradero" gardens presented a gay carnival scene throughout the afternoon as club members and friends thronged about the booths, engaged in bridge and Mah Jongg games, enjoyed the entertainment program and took a plunge in the swimming pool.

Fete Is Success
 There was something for old and young on every hand, and the current opinion was that the fete was the most successful benefit affair ever given by the club.

Festivities will continue tonight until shortly before midnight. The booths will be full of many desirable things, there will be a program presented by Pearl Keller pupils and dancing on the tennis court.

CONSERVATION OF HEAT EXPLAINED

Principle of Insulation Is Applied in Chambers Fireless Ranges

The principle of insulation used for years in the saving of cold in a refrigerator is now being applied to the saving of heat. By means of the latest type of gas range, it is possible to cook for hours after the gas is turned off. This newest development of culinary science, known as the Chambers Fireless Gas Range, is now being demonstrated by the Pasadena Furniture Company.

In most respects, it is like any good gas range, but with the important exception of two special patented features that enable it to utilize the principle of cooking on "retained heat." One of these, known as the "Thermodome," is a device whereby boiling may be done with only a few minutes' burning of gas. It is a dome-shaped hood, heavily insulated, which is suspended by a chain over the top of the range and is easily operated by a convenient lever. It employs the retained heat principle for cooking vegetables, stews, cereals, pot roasts, soups and similar foods.

How to Operate
 When the gas is lighted, the Thermodome is lowered to within two inches of the top of the range. After a few minutes it has accumulated enough of that heat which usually passes up the sides of the utensil and escapes. The gas is then turned off, Thermodome lowered and the heat sealed in. The rest of the cooking is then done with the gas turned off and is done as quickly as if the gas were burning all the time.

On the other special feature, the Chambers oven, there is also a construction which seals the heat in after the gas is turned off. Heavy insulation on all sides and the door makes it possible to cook for as many as six hours at a time with the gas turned off.

With these features, it is possible for a housewife to start a meal with a few minutes' gas, go away for the entire afternoon and return to find the meal completely cooked. So, besides saving gas, it also economizes time and effort. The confining nature of these features also keeps in the juices and flavors which ordinarily escape in the form of steam and vapor.

Traffic Problem Not Confined to America

LONDON, May 24.—"London," said Herbert Morrison, Labor Member of Parliament, at a housing conference, "is an absolute disgrace to the foresight of men. "It should never have been allowed to exist, and if it could be conveniently blown up it would be the better for civilization. Ninety per cent of it is dull, dreary and miserable.

"The daily struggle to get to and from work in crowded vehicles results in nervous strain and enormous loss of time and has its effect on the industrial efficiency of the people. We are transferring an industrial population through a narrow neck down which it cannot pass with comfort and ease. No traffic bill can deal with this problem.

"The remedy must be gradual. It rests in the building of new satellite towns and new industrial centers around London.

Predicts Production Of Food Artificially

WASHINGTON, May 24.—A future when a large part of the world's food supply will be artificially produced, emancipating man from absolute dependence of the soil, was depicted in an address before the American Chemical Society convention here recently by Dr. Carl Alsberg, director of the food research bureau of Leland Stanford university. There is every reason to believe, Dr. Alsberg declared, the three basic groups of foodstuffs—carbohydrates, fats and amino acids—can or shortly will be producible by artificial means.

Experts Will Probe Underwear Shrinkage

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The department of commerce has instituted a sweeping investigation into the shrinkage of underwear. Assistance of the bureau of standards and makers of underwear were enlisted to help solve the mystery. The effect of improper soap, laundry machines, wringing, pressing and finishing, as well as the tension of knitting machines, will be studied by the experts at a meeting to be called soon, in an effort to reduce the shrinkage.

Building Conditions Found More Stabilized in All Leading Cities

Reports of the volume of building permits and plans filed in April in important cities and towns throughout the country give evidence of the approach of activities which will more adequately reflect normal demand.

April totals in 333 cities were $337,822,461 compared with $361,849,492 in April, 1923, a loss of $24,027,031 or 7 per cent, according to the national monthly building survey of S. W. Straus & Co. With the elimination of New York City, where the volume of plans filed was excessive, the country as a whole lost nearly 12 per cent compared with April 1923.

Buildings Pending
This exhibit of losses is in sharp contrast with 1923 conditions, for April of that year showed a gain of more than 50 per cent.

Since building permits and plans filed with the building departments in substantially all centers of importance in the United States comprise an infallible indication of what may be expected in the industry as a whole, the curve of activities may be expected now to show a downward tendency as compared with 1923.

However, it should be borne in mind, the Straus survey points out, that large volumes of building work now in progress and much still is pending. Up to May 1st the total volume of plans filed and permits issued this year in the 25 most important cities (from a building standpoint) was $927,000,000, which compares with $849,000,000 in the same cities for the same period in 1923, and with $563,000,000 in 1922. The amount of pending constructions on May 1 this year was substantially 9 per cent greater than on May 1, 1923, and more than 60 per cent greater than on May 1, 1922, judged from the standpoint of contemplated construction officially declared.

Stabilized Conditions
April 1924 in these twenty-five leading cities accounted for pending construction of $204,000,000

White Spot Of Nation Is Here

Help Out Great Prosperity Program

Federal Official Presents Some Facts

"The first quarterly payment of income taxes in the United States showed an increase of $17,000,000 for 1923 over 1922. Of that amount Los Angeles contributed more than $3,600,000, or 25 per cent of the entire increase for the nation. In other words, we contributed seven times or more our proportion of the general increase for the United States, based on our number of taxpayers.

"The sale of documentary stamps in my office for the months of January and February, 1924, proved that they were the greatest two months in the history of Los Angeles in the sale of real property."—From the address of Rex B. Goodcell, Collector of Internal Revenue of the District of Los Angeles, at the Biltmore Hotel before the Greater Los Angeles Association.

"The railroads tell us that there are 15,000 people a month coming into this section of the state to make their permanent homes. In the district which comprises the ten southern counties of California, the exact ratio between income tax returns for 1920 and the returns filed for 1923 shows an increase in the three-year period of 713,000 people. The figures show an increase in the city of Los Angeles of over 534,000 people. The city of Los Angeles now has a population, according to our estimates, of 1,110,000, and for the Greater Los Angeles area, 2,116,000.

"The reason for this is not only that we have the finest climate in the world. The reason largely lies in the fact that here there are more opportunities; here there is a combination of conditions under which man can work most favorably and the maximum production be obtained. Here it has been demonstrated that goods may be manufactured more cheaply in any other place in the United States. From 1918 to 1922, for instance, the manufacturers' excise tax in this district increased 800 per cent. And notwithstanding that we have in this district but ten southern counties of the state, and notwithstanding the years in which the northern district has been building up its industrial enterprises, yet the southern district pays more to the federal treasury from tax on manufactured goods than does the whole northern district of the state of California.

"We have power, water, climate, soil, water and rail transportation—everything that seems to make this an ideal community. The only thing that we have lacked, in my judgment, is a concrete expression of that great, inclusive spirit which has made Los Angeles the great metropolis of the southwest in years gone by. But we are growing. We are expanding. We are now beginning to see and understand that, as great as Los Angeles is, it has an interest in the welfare and the prosperity and the happiness of its neighbors; to see and to understand that we must unite with all of the communities and outlying districts that go to make up the Greater Los Angeles. Here we must have that well-balanced community that does not depend on the great tourist travel to keep up the stores, to keep open the theatres.

"Here we must build up that great community into which flows the great general prosperity, not depending alone on the selling of real estate and the building of new homes, but depending upon that solid foundation with a variety of industries, giving employment to hundreds of thousands of men. Here we must have that great, inclusive spirit of this great

Los Angeles area, and I conceive that it reaches from the Colorado river to the Pacific ocean. Here we must have an inclusive spirit that recognizes that when a factory is built in Pomona or San Fernando, or down at Long Beach, it adds much to and contributes to the general prosperity of this great economic center of the southwest. I find myself entirely in harmony with the organization of this great industrial financing corporation. On that one point we are weak—money. That one point where we have failed to measure up is financing of industries and getting them to come into this community; industries that would take advantage of the cheap power, water, climatic conditions, with which the Almighty has blessed us.

"We are trying to express a community spirit, not only in business, but to insure for the stability of business; to insure for the continued prosperity and happiness of a great people. That means more labor, it means more wealth and prosperity, and consequently more happiness for all the people in the Greater Los Angeles area. This same inclusive spirit, indomitable and convincing, shall continue to keep Los Angeles financially, economically, spiritually, intellectually and morally the white spot of all the United States of America."

Fifty-one Cities Sending Speakers To Realtors' Meet

Fifty-one cities entered the national home town five-minute contest to be held June 4 at the seventeenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Twenty cities were selected by lot, and all California cities were eliminated. Pasadena, winner of the California contest in 1923; Glendale and Los Angeles had entered the contest. The following boards will be represented:

Buffalo, Birmingham, Charlotte, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Council Bluffs, Dallas, Erie, Grand Rapids, Louisville, Lynchburg, Nashville, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Tulsa, Wheeling, Wichita, Winston-Salem, Clearwater, Florida, and Charleston, W. Va. Alternates: Denver, Fort Wayne, Orlando, Baton Rouge and Akron.

The successful cities represent every census classification, according to National Secretary Herb U. Nelson in a letter to the California Real Estate Association.

Fred E. Reed, representing Oakland, won the national cup last year, and was barred from the contest this year. The winner in 1922 was Pittsburgh and in 1921 Cedar Rapids.

Candy Tax Receipts Show Large Increase

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Cigarette production in April totaled 5,232,249,000, nearly a billion more than April, 1923, the bureau of internal revenue announced today. Production of all other tobacco articles fell off. The candy tax showed an increase from $932,000 to $1,006,000.

CITY ACCEPTS INVITATION TO PARTICIPATE IN UNIQUE BEVERLY HILLS CEREMONY

Glendale To Furnish Bridesmaid, Chosen By Popular Vote, To Take Part; Local Clubs To Arrange For Contest

Glendale has accepted an invitation from Beverly Hills to be present at that community on the night of June 17, when her daughter, Miss Beverly Hills, will be given away in marriage to Holsum the Third, of Los Angeles, thus uniting beauty and industry in the further service of Southern California.

The wedding will take place at Holsum House, with a parson, music, an ensuing banquet and elaborate program, states F. C. Brewer of Beverly Hills, through whom the invitation came. Motion pictures will be taken of the big event and it will be broadcasted out over the state.

Bridesmaid From Here
It is to be a symbolic ceremony, Mr. Brewer points out, and will be participated in by all the leading communities of this section. The maid of honor will be from Beverly Hills' dearest sister community, Hollywood. Glendale is to furnish a bridesmaid, nominated by vote, in a contest that will stimulate the friendly rivalry of certain local civic organizations.

The Kiwanis, Exchange and Optimist clubs have been invited by Mr. Brewer to join in this good-natured contest, and will nominate candidates to be presented to the public for final vote, which he states will be by newspaper ballot. The details of the contest will be decided at a meeting of the joint committee from the three clubs above named.

Bride to Receive
A similar contest will be staged in each of the invited communities, to select their respective bridesmaids, thus engendering an inter-community feeling of sociability and good-will that will have its climax on the wedding night, and continue for several days thereafter, when the bride will hold open house at Holsum House, to Mr. Brewer.

Beverly Hills.
Each day will be in honor of one of the communities furnishing a bridesmaid, Mr. Brewer states, including a Glendale day, when all the other guests will pay special homage to this city, thus strengthening the inter-community idea and spreading the gospel of industrial development.

Miss Beverly Hills marries Holsum the Third with the full consent and approval of her father and mother and all her friends, the City Trustees, Chamber of Commerce, Realty board and many other civic organizations and local institutions. In fact, it is a match of which all Beverly Hills thoroughly approves, according to Mr. Brewer.

Glendale must decide whether the bridesmaid to represent this city at the wedding will be a Kiwanian, Exchangeite or Optimist—and each of these three local clubs is certain that it will annex the honor.

Buildings Erected Faster Than Lots Placed on Market

Contrary to general belief, the number of unimproved lots in Los Angeles county has declined instead of being increased by the extraordinary subdivision activity of the last two years. This is shown by figures compiled in the county assessor's office. During the tax year ended March 1, 1923, 102,000 buildings were erected, while subdivisions containing 81,000 lots were opened. For the year ended March 1, 1924, reports show 125,000 buildings were erected, while 84,800 lots were added in new subdivisions. In the two years 227,000 buildings were built, while 165,800 lots were added, so the number of unimproved lots decreased 61,200 on the face of these figures.

However, the decrease in the number of unimproved lots was less than indicated by these figures, for many houses were built on the rear of lots already improved and two or more were erected on a single lot in many instances. No figures are available showing the actual number of lots so improved, but the figures will run into thousands.

FINANCING HOMES

Creation of a great reservoir of capital for the financing of home construction in Florida through the National Association of Real Estate Boards, is the object of a state-wide movement for the formation and encouragement of building and loan associations which is being fostered by the Florida Association of Real Estate Boards.

The Florida plan organizes on a state-wide scale work for widening the possibilities of home ownership now being carried on by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. It centers in building and loan associations the effort of real estate boards of the state to enlarge and make available the capital fund for financing home ownership, provision for which has become a large part of the service which real estate boards in a number of cities are rendering to their communities.

LONG BEACH MEET

The board of directors will hold their third quarterly meeting at the home town of President Henry P. Barbour in Long Beach next August. This is the custom of the association to have one of its director meetings at the home of its president.

ATTORNEY LAUDS REALTY COURSES

Trained Man Has Confidence Of Prospective Buyer In Making Sales

At a lunch of the Artesia Realty board Chester D. French, an attorney of Long Beach, addressed the board on the professionalization of the real estate business. French, incidentally, is the son of F. D. French, one of the pioneer members of the Long Beach Realty board. Pointing out that the legal profession before Blackstone wrote his commentaries on English Common law, was in the same position as the real estate broker of today, Mr. French saw in the beginning of the real estate courses which have been endorsed and conducted by the California Real Estate Association the first move in the professionalization of real estate.

He pointed out that the stable and solid real estate broker is one who should advise his client as to wise investments. Many come to California to speculate, and with the great activity in the business of real estate, speculation will become increasingly dangerous, while investments will become increasingly safe. Therefore, when the prospective purchaser goes to a real estate broker in the future he will go to him with the same feeling he now has when consulting his attorney and his banker. He will look for the man with "a real estate mind," to advise, and with success crowning the advice given by the realty broker he will have a client who will come to him again and again, gladly paying commissions and not quibbling over minor matters. For the client will feel he is receiving professional services, and not merely a desire to complete a sale on the part of the broker.

REALTY BLUE BOOK

The report of Chairman William H. Akin of the Realty Blue Book committee, appointed by the California Real Estate Association, was submitted to the board of directors and formally accepted. Chairman Akin said that the forthcoming volume would be one of the most representative works on real estate yet issued, and that it is going to have a wide circulation among the real estate brokers and salesmen of the west. The book is being issued as a compendium of the essential steps in real estate transaction, as related to California, and a large number of noted men, authorities on real estate matters, have written articles for this standard work.

FAIR SLEUTHS STIRRED TO FUR BY LOW SLANDER

Bootlegger's Charge That Her Ankles Are Thick Is Blow to Pride

By L. C. OWEN Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924. SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—There is a vindictive gleam today in the eyes of pretty, petite Miss Daisy Simpson, "under cover" federal prohibition enforcement agent, and if she can locate a certain member of the bootlegging fraternity, who, she says, has grossly libeled her, things will go hard with him indeed.

The way Miss Simpson feels today, hanging would be too good for him.

What did he say? Why the scoundrel went and broadcast a story that Miss Simpson had thick ankles and big feet!

Others Are Injured

Incidentally, Miss Simpson is not the only young woman hereabouts who has a just grievance against the libel spreader. For, in fashionable restaurants, where it used to be easy to get a cocktail, fair scottilans now have to pass a Cinderella test before they can get a little something. If they can display a pair of dainty feet and trimly turned ankles, all well and good. They can have anything the place affords. But if they are a bit heavy on the hoof, near beer is the best they can get.

For the unallant bootlegger spread his story in the places where it would do Miss Simpson the most harm professionally. "Daisy," as Miss Simpson is better known to those who like her best at a distance, is one of Uncle Sam's best little evidence gatherers. She has sixty bootlegging convictions to her credit, and she is anathema to all purveyors of illicit hooch. She was the subject, recently, of a solemn convocation of bootlegging restaurateurs.

"It's easy to spot her," volunteered one of the bonifaces who had known trouble at Daisy's hands. "She has big feet and thick ankles. Just look at the nether extremities of your customers over and you can't miss her."

Slander Isn't True

When news of the vile slander reached the lady hooch hunter, she got mad clear through. "I'll hang the bootlegger who said that," she declared vehemently. "Look—is it true, what he said?"

In justice to Miss Simpson, it must be said that it is not true. Her feet are not big. One of her ankles, it must be admitted, is a bit thick, but that is only temporary. The other one is passably chiseled, and as soon as the thick one recovers from the effects of a sprain acquired in line of duty, it should be slim again, too.

Survey Shows Conditions More Stabilized in All Leading Cities

as compared with $140,000,000 for the same month 1922.

The April 1924 loss, therefore, would seem to indicate only a change in tendencies—the dawn of a new era of more normal, substantial and better stabilized conditions throughout the industry, than has existed during the recent periods when the dangers of a too great expansion have been apparent.

During the past five years approximately 20,000,000,000 has been spent in new buildings and alterations throughout the United States, substantially half of this sum being the product of the last two years work. Many cities and towns are now supplied with enough buildings to meet present needs and this last will be added from month to month, thus gradually and healthfully restoring activities to a basis of actual demand and supply.

The general tendency of labor during the month of April was toward higher wages, the S. W. Straus & company survey reveals. In more than fifty cities definite increases were granted to members of the various crafts. With a general slowing up of business in many lines of industry, it was not apparent during April that these conditions made for the greater part of the country, activities in New York City, as judged from the standpoint of April plans filed, show no indications of immediate slowing up. In the five boroughs $48,994,589 of building plans were filed against $35,772,391 in April 1923, a gain of 37 per cent. New York City's April figures were 14 per cent of the total of the other 332 cities included in the month's survey.

Los Angeles Holds Fifth Place In National List For New April Buildings

Los Angeles was fifth among the cities of the U. S. in building for April, 1924. Detroit, with a gain of nearly ten millions over April, last year, moved up to third place and Philadelphia was fourth. San Francisco was eighth in the list. Portland twentieth, Oakland twenty-third and Seattle twenty-eighth.

There was a general recession of building activities throughout the country in April. Two hundred and thirteen cities reported a total of $3,299 permits, with a valuation of $309,764,689, as compared with $2,115 permits with an estimated valuation of $334,160,016 for the same month a year ago. Compared with March, 1924, the April figures show a loss of about 25 per cent. The March total was $419,043,491.

From the astounding total of $188,627,232 in March, New York City (with five boroughs) dropped to $47,990,296 in April. This latter total is more than twelve millions greater, however, than for April a year ago. Chicago gained nearly seven millions compared with March, but her total of $33,493,605 was twenty-eight millions less than for April last year.

Forty-two cities report a total of more than a million dollars for April, 1924. Following is a list of these cities reporting to the American Contractor, supplemented by a list of Pacific coast cities not heretofore reported by Southwest Builder and Contractor:

PREPARING SITE OF MURPHY'S TENT

Comedians' New Location to Be Ready Wednesday In Casa Verdugo

Real estate is "moving fast" on North Brand boulevard in the Casa Verdugo section, as Peter L. Ferry's crew gets under way excavating the northeast corner of Stockton street and the boulevard, where Murphy's Comedians will pitch their tent Thursday night, May 23, reports J. A. Menard of the fun-makers.

The management is highly pleased with the location, which is said to offer exceptional parking facilities. One enterprising merchant, quick to see the possibilities of increased business, according to Mr. Menard, has an elaborate sign in his store window, reading:

WELCOME TO CASA VERDUGO Move on Wednesday

After the performance in their present location on Wednesday night, May 28, the tent will be moved to the new corner without loss of a single performance. Mr. Menard states that when once they are settled in their new location, an extensive advertising campaign will be launched, which will have the effect of stimulating business in general and of bringing many visitors to Glendale from surrounding points.

Nothing but the Truth, which opens Sunday night, will continue at the new location, it is stated.

About one-sixth of the United States army in the world war were foreign born.

reported a loss over last April of 19 per cent. Sixty-seven Pacific Western cities reported a loss of 2 per cent. In the South 55 cities gained 8 per cent. The Eastern situation was dominated by New York; 102 cities reported a gain of 4 per cent, but with New York City eliminated the loss in the Eastern section was 12 per cent. The twenty-five leading cities, in volume of permits, reported 60 per cent of the total shown in the 333 cities, while New York City accounted for nearly 25 per cent of the total volume of the entire twenty-five.

Detroit, the third city in the list showed a gain of nearly 82 per cent, placing it ahead of Los Angeles and Philadelphia. Philadelphia, the fourth city, showed a small loss from last April, as did also Los Angeles. Boston, the sixth city and one of the few large cities which reports a loss, showed instead of permits issued, showed a slight gain over last April. Substantial gains also were reported from Newark, Cincinnati, Toledo, Providence and Louisville.

CHINESE DISHES WILL BE SERVED

Oriental Cafe Opens Doors To Public Today at 712 East Broadway

The Oriental cafe opens its doors at 712 East Broadway at 5 o'clock this afternoon, announces the management, and gay Chinese lanterns will swing overhead, while Oriental waiters glide silently to and fro, bearing chop suey, chow mein and other Chinese dishes to patrons from Glendale and surrounding communities.

Mah Jong parties will also be catered to at the Oriental cafe, it is announced. And all who eat here may rest assured that the dishes are truly Oriental, prepared by an expert Chinese chef. Parties may order special dishes in advance, as there are certain elaborate items on a Chinese menu that require quite a while to prepare. Or they may play Mah Jong, as their orders are being filled.

Inspection Urged

"Glendale has needed such a place as the Oriental cafe," says Manager Barrett of this unique establishment. "I believe the location is ideal, and it is my desire to make a party stand out as a real event. I believe the people of Glendale and the surrounding communities will appreciate such an institution, and will come in large numbers."

The management of the Oriental cafe extends a special invitation to the public to be present at 5 o'clock this afternoon, when the unique institution will throw open its doors.

Accused Slayer Dies By Suicide in Cell

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., May 24.—Strangling himself to death with a rusty old chain found in his cell, Fred Smith, charged with the murder of Herbert Bennett, his brother-in-law, committed suicide in jail here Friday after writing notes to his friends and officials.

The man's body was found lying on the floor, one end of the chain fastened to bars of the cell and the other looped around his neck. Smith said he killed Bennett because he mistreated his sister.

If the sun should cool, all life would be extinguished and the earth would become a cold, dead mass like the moon. Cooking demonstration on Wedgwood gas ranges. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Glendale Hardware Co., 601 E. Broadway, Glendale.—Advertisement, 24/1.

What Few Changes Do

Transposing rooms is an easy matter in a new house, as shown in the floor plan below. Some novel ideas are incorporated in the building, the plans of which are furnished by the LOW BUILDING COMPANY, authorized agents in Glendale for PACIFIC READY-CUT HOMES.

On this page last week we showed a home very similar to this house, but with the plan reversed. This week we are showing a plan with several changes. The position of the breakfast nook and rear screen porch is transposed. French doors are shown leading from the living room to the dining room and a new type of buffet is shown in the dining room. This buffet is of attractive colonial design, resting upon Sheridan legs and it is finished in enamel to conform with the woodwork. This home is known as style 397 and plans can be inspected at the office of the local distributors of Pacific Homes.

IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS NOTED

Technical Training Is Help To Realtors Handling Important Deals

"I was recently told," said Harrison Lewis, chairman of the State Educational committee of the California Real Estate association, "by one of the heads of one of the well known Title Guaranty companies, that he had noticed a most marked improvement in the carrying on of real estate business, especially in conducting escrows, since the inauguration of the technical training of those engaged in the real estate business."

"This statement carries with it much significance for the experience which this man has had indicates what is really being accomplished in our state, brought about through our educational program."

"It is hard to realize any constructive movement that would be more beneficial to the public than that of training those engaged in the real estate profession to understand the technique of that business and thereby avoid causing errors and unsatisfactory dealing."

Helps All Around

"The benefit of educating those engaged in the real estate profession not only proves helpful to those who are taking advantage of this educational course, but affects also those with whom these men and women transact their business. A man or woman who is trained along ethical and technical lines in the real estate profession realizes the responsibility of their position in consummating a transaction."

"With classes being held in many cities throughout the State of California the results of this constructive educational program are simply immeasurable. The effects of such training cannot be estimated."

"The State educational committee of the California Real Estate association has every reason to believe that when the second semester of their classes throughout the state are opened in the fall that the number of students enrolled will be several thousand and one can form his own conclusion as to the extent of good that this work is now accomplishing."

FIRST BOARD TO ACT

Action, viewed by officers of the National Association of Real Estate Boards as perhaps the most advanced step yet taken by a local real estate board toward the establishment of the work of the realtor on a professional basis, has just been taken by the Madison, Wis., Real Estate Board. The board has voted that an out-and-out educational qualification shall be made for admittance to its membership.

The action was taken in view of the fact that the board is now offering a course in real estate practice which will be followed in due time by similar courses, under the auspices of either the board or of the University of Wisconsin, which is located in Madison.

WHITE HOUSE VISIT

A visit to the White House and a trip by special car to Arlington national cemetery have been arranged for the delegates from 493 real estate boards over the United States and Canada who, with their parties, will visit Washington, D. C., June 3-6, for the seventeenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The visit to the White House will be made Thursday noon, June 5.

REALTY DIRECTORY

The state real estate department will issue its 1924 real estate directory July 1, 1924, according to a communication received by the California Real Estate association from State Real Estate Commissioner Edwin F. Keiser. The preliminary work for the new bulletin is well under way. President Henry P. Barbour has been invited to prepare a brief article for the bulletin. It will contain about 45,000 names of real estate brokers and salesmen.

There are more than 300,000 Sunday schools in the Americas, Europe, Asia, Africa and Oceania.

LAND ECONOMICS CIVIC PROBLEMS

Land problems underlying the whole of our modern economic life and having a basic relation to real estate as a market commodity, are the subject of a treatment on "Elements of Land Economics," by Dr. Richard T. Ely, of the University of Wisconsin, director of the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities, and Edward W. Morehouse, which was issued this week by the Macmillan company.

Problems of home ownership, forestry, agricultural credit and tenancy are among the most fundamental of our economic problems, Dr. Ely and Mr. Morehouse point out, yet people are prone to accept solutions for them which are for the most part quick remedies, because of the lack of an adequately systematic and scientific study of the place of land in our economic life, of the services rendered by land, or of the principles governing the use of land.

There is more hafnium, a new chemical element, in the earth's crust than there is gold, say Danish scientists.

"HERE COMES THE BRIDE"

When June comes 'round, Dan Cupid takes a vacation. His work is done, well done. All through the long winter months he toiled faithfully with bow and arrow, aiming honey-tipped darts at all couples found dreaming among the orange blossoms or sighing by the blue Pacific—but with June his labors are over, for June is the month of brides, the consummation of his archery.

And oh, such a time as the brides have, getting together their bridal gowns and trousseaus! Whether rich or poor, slim or—well, not so slim—there are always problems. And this is equally true of those who wish to give presents, either to the bride or groom. To find just the right thing, at the right price!

It may safely be said that never before has the choosing of bridal things been less a task in Glendale than this season, owing to the numerous splendidly appointed and intelligently conducted local shops where these articles are found.

Does Milady plan the traditional, the beautiful and formal wedding her mother before her planned? Then from bridal veil to gorgeous, trailing gown of cream silk, she will find it in the modish Glendale shops. And be it said right here that this season the traditional features of the old-time wedding have returned in full force, fashion having stirred from the lethargy imposed first by the war and then by the informal vogue of sportswear.

Geraldine, tall, evelte and blonde; Marjorie, petite and brunette; Imogene, of medium size and brune as to complexion,—all are able to find the very things their separate features and tastes dictate, in the distinctive Glendale shops.

And gifts! In these days of artistic creations ranging the whole gamut of manufactured goods, from cutlery to the sheerest boudoir garments, one is afforded an opportunity to perpetuate one's self and commemorate friendship in a beautiful, artistic and lasting way. Gone is the generation when ice-water pitchers and butter-spreaders galore marked the givers' lack of imagination. Modern shops are at the service of those who wish to give, with extensive stocks of appropriate articles, and with suggestions that save useless racking of the brain.

The bridal shower has done its share toward solving the unwelcome "repeat" in gifts; groups of friends take pains to consult as to gifting and many stores make a point of learning the pattern in silver, in china or other articles to be given, so that donors may combine in buying sets or complementary objects.

The fact that silver is so decidedly in vogue, simplifies the gift problem and the many lovely designs, evolved from times historic, afford a varied choice.

Since gems are, of course, the first gifts from the groom, one's thought turns first toward jewels for the bride.

The betrothal ring is usually a diamond solitaire, paved in platinum-set diamonds caliber. If the choice is for combining with the white gem the birth stone, this may be achieved by using it to frame the diamond, caliber being the choice and the range of stones thus used being confined to sapphires or emeralds.

Wedding rings may be gem-set throughout the entire circle, the diamonds being either round or caliber. Occasionally, a ring of sapphires or of emeralds is selected for this ring, these cut square, and, of course, set in platinum.

Bracelets without number may enrich the dowry chest, since these, however set or wrought out in designs, need not conflict; nor can a girl have too many of these ornaments. From the plain slave links, or love links, of gold in white, yellow, green or natural, to the hinged or jointed bracelet, gem set and quaintly designed, the latitude is great and the gift may embody the wealth of a king's ransom, or may be of modest cost.

Linens for table and for bedroom use are a never-ending source of bridal gifting and those of today are so luxurious, so infinite in variety that no taste need be violated in their selection. Plain damask of fine quality; pliant linens for refectory, for luncheon and for supper table, lace trimmed and handsomely hand-embroidered; laces foreign and laces domestic—the choice is beyond description upon a single page. The same is true of bed linens. Whether of cotton in the better class, monogrammed, hemstitched, lettered; or of imported linens, the bridal chest can never be replete. Downy blankets in colors such as our forebears did not dream possible, silken quilts and comforters, feather-light, yet warm as though shone upon by summer sun—anyone might well be pleased with a selection from among such luxuries.

Should one decide on silver for the bride, there is a choice almost limitless in the many period patterns such as Hepplewhite, D'Orleans, Colfax, Versailles, Virginia Lee, chased St. Dunstan, Wedgewood, Mythologique and many others. Mythologique is, as the name suggests, a pattern derived from the old Greek, and having a finish antique and interesting. These patterns in flat service ware, may be supplemented by patterns similar, if not matching, in the larger objects for table use and for decorative purposes. Vases, candlesticks, flower bowls, platters, plates and entire services are developed in silver now; while dressing-table articles without number come also in this ware. Dst sets, too, picture frames and many small objects for personal use have come forth in new and interesting shapes and decorative effects. Any of these are appropriate for wedding gifts.

Lamps, also, are among the gift possibilities of now, since many a home might be described as a "house of a thousand candles" principally in the form of lamps. Lamps for bridge, lamps for table and for floor, lamps for the dressing-table, for the dinner-table, for every nook and corner of the well-furnished home. What more effective in bringing out a color scheme in furnishing than the lamp with its many possibilities in shades and decorative effects? Of giving many lamps there is no end, at wedding times and at any time, in fact.

Odd pieces of furniture, incidental pieces, as they are called, enable the donor to express himself in terms of excellent taste, while adding to the sum of the bride's home happiness. The console, with its overhanging mirror; the candelabra, the candlesticks and console fruit bowl; the odd mirror for illuminating some dim corner, the end table, the davenport table; the phono-cabinet; the quaintly individual chair—the list is without end.

To one practically inclined, the kitchen need not be overlooked, when choosing gift articles for the modern bride. There is scarcely an object utilitarian which has not come into the rank of artistry, even kitchen cabinets and ranges being now as beautiful as enamel and nickel mountings can render them. Cooking utensils, in aluminum or enamel, white or blue, are quite bridal in effect and many a word of thanks will go up from the lips of the girl who does her own work in some daintily equipped bungalow or apartment, when the more ephemeral gifts have been forgotten.

From members of the family, and from girl to girl, the intimate articles for personal wear and use, may properly find a place. Hand-made camisoles, entire sets of lingerie, handkerchiefs, colorful and lacy, hemstitched or embroidered; hosiery, boudoir articles for dress and for dressing-table are not inappropriate.

Even those useful and beautifying sets comprising the appliances of beauty—compacts, single or double; sets of cream, lotions, powders, hair applications, bath salts, soaps and talcums, need not be scorned by any girl or woman, and since these come in containers so artistic as to add a touch of loveliness to any boudoir or bathroom, they will be placed upon the bridal-gift list.

Just for fun, Geraldine, Marjorie and Imogene got together the other night for a dress rehearsal at Geraldine's home.

Geraldine's wedding gown is as almost unlimited in length as the purse from which she will pay for the articles of her selection and of a fabric so elegant as to prove of heirloom worth, to correspond with the family lace. The veil, of finest French bridal tulle, is full and long, serving to enfilm the gown and is fashioned into a visor-like cap edged with the lace. Orange blossoms are posed above one ear and form a restrained wreath where crown and brim are joined. Natural orange blossoms and a huge shower bouquet of lilies of the valley will be used on the happy occasion. The wedding gown, depending upon quality for elegance, is enhanced only by the bridal jewels, of which I shall tell you later.

Marjorie has selected her gown with an eye to practicability, the undergown of crepe being wearable for afternoon or evening, after the wedding, when the sleeveless tunic may be put aside. Her veil is of tulle, innocent of lace, the filmy fabric brought down plainly over

Happy Suggestions For The June Bride

Bridal Group Shown In Store Window Displays Handsome Wedding Gowns

In a beautiful scene arranged in one of the windows at Pendroy's department store on South Brand boulevard at Harvard street, a pretty bridal group stands as bearers of Dame Fashion's happy greetings for the coming of June, the "Month of Brides."

The charming bride is gowned in white georgette and lace, made bouffant and worn with flowing veil edged with rose point lace.

Opposite her stand her two attendants. One wears a lovely frock of canary yellow georgette, cleverly made with narrow ruffles of black lace. Her hat is a straw in harmonizing shade. Above the brim are saucy yellow daisies, white beneath one catches glimpses of black lace ruffles to match those on her gown.

The other maid wears a pouch blue georgette, made on simple lines. Her hat is the final touch to an intriguing outfit.

Honeymoon Special
The bride and two maids stand on either side of a black plush rug, leading to an improvised altar banked with fern. Behind the fern is a black velvet curtain, with futuristic design done in white satin ribbon.

Soft light from two hand-painted parchment shades glimmers on either side.

Hinting of the "Honeymoon Special" that soon will leave for parts unknown, is a roomy wardrobe trunk in one corner of the picture. Within the drawers and on the hangers of the trunk one sees lovely things that go to make up the bridal trousseau.

On the other side of the room is a table laden with wedding gifts, that would delight the heart of any bride.

Bewildering Assortment for Bride's Needs Is Told By Executive

To enumerate the various kinds of cloth used in fashioning the wardrobe of the June bride would appear almost like the annual inventory of the store, according to Miss Minnie Holzman, of the Glendale Dry Goods company, 115 East Broadway.

"Beginning with the silks and woolen fabrics, there are the twills with their various trade names such as Poiré, Rodier and numerous others, these are used for tailored suits and wraps. Navy is declared to lead in this type of yardage," she said.

"Crepes in wool, in silk and other mixtures are popular for separate skirts usually done in fine pleats or knife pleats, and are usually for wearing with sweaters, or blouses."

Variety in Silks
"In silks there is almost no end to the list, almost every conceivable kind of pattern lending itself admirably to the dress requirements of the bride.

"Flannels of attractive shades in pastel or bright colors are liked for the plainly tailored frocks and for tailored blouses. Alpaca, under new trade names such as "Tussage," fashion summer suits and tailored dresses.

"Yardage and piece goods of all kinds and descriptions as well as many other necessities for the June bride are to be found in profusion at the Glendale Dry Goods Store," declares Miss Holzman, "and always plenty of obliging sales people to serve you."

STOCKS REFLECT FASHION'S WHIMS

C. J. Hatz Selects Stock of Season's Latest Styles For His Patrons

To please the modern bride, C. J. Hatz, 132 South Brand, has made a very careful selection of Fashion's latest whims. Dresses for evening wear, morning, afternoon or street wear, in smart, likeable styles and colors and excellent fabrics, present an attractive array to choose from. Scarcely two models are alike, and all are attractively priced and decidedly new and different.

Bridesmaids' costumes are almost always chosen with as much care as the bride's gown, and the frocks at Hatz's are especially smart, and the various shades of pinks, rose and blues, which are Fashion's choice this June, are among those to be found on the second floor. The bride will want to choose her going-away hat, the designed straps and gussets cunningly hidden by buckles in all the countless shades of tans, greys and browns which can be purchased to match each costume.

Centenarian Must Not Marry for Two Years

SEYMOUR, Ind., May 24.—Last December Frank Rislar celebrated his ninety-ninth birthday anniversary and now he is celebrating his freedom. In granting the divorce from the woman half his age he married in 1917, Judge Cox ruled that Rislar may not remarry for two years.

Exquisite Lingerie
The June bride will find the lingerie section worth exploring. Here may be found all the exquisite new lingerie in crepe de chine and crepe back satin trimmed with real filet Valenciennes and Irish laces which are so very smart. The discerning bride will also be interested in the sheer nainsook lingerie which launders so beautifully. Another phase of undergarmentry is that materials now have been so perfected as to be actually washable rather than merely said to be.

Even the tinted silks and satins are unfadeable, or, in case they are, the qualities which do lose color may easily be restored, so no one need hesitate in her choice. The bride will also appreciate the slightly tailored tendencies of the newer lingerie.

Record Maple Crops Expected In Quebec

QUEBEC, Quebec, May 24.—The Province of Quebec, which produces more than half of the total maple crop of the world, is getting ready for a record production this season, according to the director of the maple sugar service bureau. The weather conditions last fall and at present, both of which had a great influence on the sugar crop, point to a better quality of sap and a bigger crop than last year.

her bobbed hair and bound closely to her head by means of a fine wreath; enhancing her petite and slender appearance. Her gown bears no train.

Imogene has chosen to be moderate in every feature of her costume, without, however, becoming commonplace. Her veil is medium in length, but somewhat voluminous and is worn in a high puff, offsetting from the coiffure at the back—a favorite mode of now—the bridal blossoms coiled into discs set above each ear and enwrathing the fullness at the back. Silken embroidery, interspersed with beads of pearl, enrich the coat-like tunic which may be doffed when a plainer dress is wanted. Tassels of pearls beads complete the panels of the coat.

Each girl has selected her trousseau with reference to her proposed bridal tour, as well as for use thereafter. Hence Geraldine's equipment includes the paraphernalia for foreign travel, along lanes of world traffic; Imogene has outfitted for a stay at popular resorts in California and Marjorie will prepare her wardrobe for motoring and general outdoor wear, as well as for practical use upon her return.

Eyelids Grafted on California Patient

LONDON, May 24.—A wonderful piece of surgery has been accomplished by surgeons at the Liverpool Hospital, who have successfully grafted two eyelids onto a man's face with skin taken from his arm.

Even eyelashes have started to grow, and the man, a Californian, who wishes to remain anonymous, is able to close his eyes and blink as well as any ordinary person.

In England one patent or design has been issued for every 1188 of population.

DAINTY SLIPPERS DELIGHT BRIDES

Romantic Keynote Sounded In Beautiful Design of Today's Styles

A world of delight awaits this year's June bride when she begins shopping for her wedding slippers, according to R. E. Brown, manager of the Glendale Bootery, 221 North Brand boulevard.

"Shoe manufacturers everywhere have experienced a rush of romance and the symbols of the June bride are reflected in the styles for the June bride. For instance, one of the daintiest designs in white satin boasts of a heart-shaped cutout on each side and well toward the back, so that in a measure the bride's heart will literally be in her feet."

"The slipper has no other trimming than a tiny bit of stitching which outlines the arch and runs up on the single strap."

Patent Leather
"Whether her going-away outfit be gown or suit, silk or wool, the June bride slips out after the wedding in footwear of patent leather. It is the dictate of the season. Patent leather is also extremely popular for afternoon dress use."

For evening wear the present season affords the June bride many opportunities for the wearing of bright colors. Trimmed in different combinations, many models in various colors are offered for her selection, with, of course, colored hosiery to match. The famous I. Miller line of shoes for women, with a complete line of sizes and styles, is always carried in stock by the Glendale Bootery, declares Mr. Brown.

Locate Stairway of Railroad President

BOSTON, May 24.—When wreckers dismantled the old station of the Boston & Maine railroad, built here in 1870, they discovered a secret stairway which led from the president's office to a blind alley. Carefully concealed behind false walls, thousands of employees of the company did not suspect the stairway's existence. Its purpose, presumably, was to enable the railway executives to escape unwelcome callers.

June the Month of Brides

Beautiful Gifts For the Bride

Gifts The June Bride Will Appreciate

Appeal Of Dainty Linen Emphasized By Striking Beauty Of New Designs

In all the varied assortment of gifts for the bride there is none, perhaps, that finds more ready acceptance and surely none that breathes such true romance as linen. It is one of the few gifts that has maintained its place of favor down through the years. Its popularity, even with the most prosaic housewife, has never waned, and to the June bride it is the foundation of her new home.

Hair may be bobbed or it may be long, gowns may be worn loosely draped or they may cling closely, hats may be small or they may be large, materials, patterns and colors may come and go, but—linen—always. The maid who does not exclaim with delight at the sight of some beautiful piece or set of linen does not exist, or if perchance such a maid does exist it isn't likely that she is soon to appear in the role of bride.

Period Designs
"Tablecloths are severe in pattern this season and floral effects are not permitted to appear about the table. The designs are following the period styles and the latest patterns depict the insignia of the Tudors, William and Mary, and Louis XVI. One style that is unique and popular is the victor's wreath with its laurel and ribbons forming the center adornment," says W. G. Lauderdale of the Irish Linen store, 117 North Brand boulevard.

"Snowy white damask is still favored by many who entertain formally, but color has attained much popularity for luncheon and home use. Yellows, pinks and blues add much to the attractiveness of the dining-room. The new crash cloth with dainty stripes of creamy yellow and artichoke green acts as a splendid tonic to the appetite in the breakfast room. The napkins, too, are striped, but in a narrower fashion.

Monogram Styles
Sheets of soft percale are in great demand, although the June bride is delighted with embroidery. If the sheets are initialed it is the diamond monogram that is correct and this style of monogram is popular also for tablecloths and napkins," continued Mr. Lauderdale.

Few things can give the bride the thrill of satisfaction that she gets when she observes the shining surface of her new dining table. Linens are her treasures. She guards them zealously. They are a constant and pleasing reminder of their donors.

Cape Is Adaptable
"The cape, or the cape-like effect, is popular, for the reason that it is adaptable for almost any type of gown. Many of the formal wraps have the appearance of sleeved capes. Some, however, have set-in sleeves, giving a more trim effect, but it must be conceded that such a style is less convenient."

The fur collar is a charming feature of nearly all the new wraps designed for formal wear. The furs selected are usually the short-haired ones, such as summer ermine, mink, racoon, ermine, real or artificial, and seal."

The Melba Jean Shop, asserts the proprietress, makes a specialty of wraps for the June bride and has already booked numerous orders for forthcoming June weddings.

Complete Brewery Is Installed on Liner
BREMEN, Germany, May 24.—A complete brewing plant has been installed in the North German Lloyd Stutzart. The vessel will carry German beer for the outward trip, but as new stocks cannot be taken on, owing to prohibition, the beer will be brewed on ship for the passengers during the return trip from New York.

Big Lumber Shipment Is Made Each Month
VANCOUVER, B. C., May 24.—An average of approximately twenty million board feet of logs were shipped monthly from British Columbia to the United States last year. The total for the year was 230,000,000 feet. The logs are worth approximately $16 per thousand, so that the value of the monthly exports was about $230,000.

BARBER WANTS WIFE
COSHOCTON, Ohio, May 24.—A wife is wanted by Remick Curran, 72-year-old Coshocton barber. Inasmuch as no woman, so far, has taken advantage of her "leap year" prerogative, he resorted to the advertising columns of the local newspaper.

That he can jump a rail fence, uphill—a feat which might do credit to one many years his junior—is a claim made by Curran in his "ad," announcing his desire for a mate. He states he doesn't drink whiskey nor parade the streets. He stipulated that his would-be helpmate be a "good-looker—either a widow or maiden lady—and able to cook."

SAN DIEGO, May 24.—Approximately 76,800 gallons of laughing gas will be used at the naval hospital here during the coming year, Capt. F. W. F. Weiber, commandant, told the Eleventh Naval District headquarters. Besides this, 27,600 gallons of oxygen gas will be required for anaesthetics, he said.

MANY MATERIALS USED FOR WRAPS

Melba Jean Shop Filling Orders for Weddings As June Nears

Dinner wraps and for formal evening wear, required to complete the trousseau of the June bride, are made from velvets, heavy brocades, or plain silken fabrics, asserts Melba Jean of the Melba Jean Gown Shop at Jensen's Palace Grand Shops.

"The more individual, the more unusual, and consequently the better. The linings are as fine and in many instances are much more ornamental than are the exteriors," she says.

Philippines to Make Survey of Education
MANILA, May 24.—A complete educational survey of the Philippines is about to be undertaken by the Philippine government under the direction of Vice Governor and Secretary of Public Instruction Eugene A. Gilmore, who has just visited the United States to engage the foremost American educators for the task. The government has appropriated $20,000 for the work. The idea back of the survey is that the Philippine public school system needs alteration so as to make it more in line with the actual practical needs of the country. There are at present more lawyers than the islands need and hundreds of young men and women with degrees who cannot find useful employment. On the other hand, there is a lack of physicians, engineers and scientific agriculturists.

Plane Killed Husband, So Seeks Double Pay

CHICAGO, May 21.—A unique point in life insurance was raised in a suit for $10,000 against the New York Life insurance company, filed in the superior court by Mrs. Valentine Gits, of Oak Park.

Mrs. Gits' husband, Alphonse, a wealthy Oak Park manufacturer, was killed in an airplane fall last August in Estes Park, Colorado, and Mrs. Gits received $10,000 insurance from the company. Now she is suing for $10,000 more under a double indemnity clause which was to take effect if death were instantaneous.

The company claims that the policy stated that the insured was not to operate a submarine nor an airplane. Mrs. Gits holds that her husband was a passenger, not an operator.

FEZ IS ABANDONED

LONDON, May 24.—Following the example of Angora, the Iraq government has issued a decree abolishing the fez, which marks the passing of an ancient Moslem institution. The fez is to be superseded by a folding cap, similar in appearance to the army forage cap, locally called the sidara. The change is regarded as significant, in that the Mosopotamians, having disowned the Turkish sultanate, decline henceforth to wear its badge.

COONSKIN LIBRARY

AMESVILLE, Ohio, May 24.—Although local residents admit that the Ohio University at Athens, near here, was the first college west of the Alleghany Mountains, they insist that the first public library was established here. New England pioneers, settling here in the early days, established the "Coonskin Library" which is historically famous. Boy Scouts are erecting a log cabin in the center of the village to commemorate the library.

GIRLS ARE STRONGEST

SACRAMENTO, May 24.—Girl babies combat the perils that menace existence much more successfully than their infant brothers according to statistics for 1923 just compiled by the state board of health. During the year 132 boys died for every 100 girls according to state records, even though the male infants usually outweigh those of the opposite sex. Births during 1923 were at the rate of 105 males for every 100 females.

Coltskin, because of its firm, solid texture, makes the most satisfactory patent leather, it is said.

Claims Marajuana Is Raised From Birdseed

ONTARIO, Mal., May 24.—Mexicans in this vicinity often get marajuana or Indian hemp, the "loco weed," by growing it from bird seed, according to Ashby H. Powell, local resident. He has written to the Department of Agriculture in an effort to learn more of the weed. Growth or sale of Indian hemp in the United States is forbidden by law, but Mexicans have often been found in possession of it, it is said. The hemp is considered a dangerous habit-forming drug. Powell is in favor of prohibiting the sale of birdseed containing marajuana seed.

Charges Alcohol Was Put In Rabbit Gravy

WHEELING, W. Va., May 24.—Accused of possessing "rabbit gravy" containing 8 per cent alcohol," Mrs. Pearl Rickman was fined $100 and costs in federal court. Arresting officers claimed that when they raided her home they saw Mrs. Rickman pour the contents of a bottle into a skillet.

The Natural History Survey of New York was founded in the year 1836.

Twenty-two Fortune Tellers Are Nabbed

VIENNA, May 24.—Fortune telling has become such a pest in many large Austrian cities that the authorities have begun to take action for its suppression. Twenty-two prisoners, who included many women of the court, were haled into court at Budapest charged with making too much profit at an illegal occupation.

They were all weeping and during the proceedings amazing confessions were made as to the high charges extorted from women.

Women Traveling by Day to See Country

CHICAGO, May 24.—Most women travel today for sight-seeing purposes—or at least travel so that they may see as much of the country as possible, according to a survey made of passenger transportation conditions by John Maloney, assistant general passenger agent of the Wabash railroad.

Few women now travel on trains at night. Three-fourths of the feminine tourists of the country ride by daylight. The investigation attributes the big shift of women travelers from night to day as being due to the extra conveniences of day travel and the opportunity for sight-seeing.

It was not so long ago that night travel was about evenly divided between men and women.

WILLS WOODEN LEG

NEW YORK, May 24.—When S. Harry Smith of 681 North avenue Westfield, N. J., dies, the wooden leg given to him by the Government for the loss of his own leg at St. Mihiel on September 18, 1918, will be sent to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

That strange bequest was revealed when the contents of the war veteran's will were made public. Smith resented the recent action of the Government in reducing his compensation. Smith has had three artificial legs.

COMMISSION TO HEAR PLEAS IN WIDEN COLORADO

Set Date for Meeting When Question of 100-Foot Street Is Argued

A public hearing on the petition asking that Colorado street be widened ten feet on each side from Glendale avenue to the Eagle Rock city limits, making it a 100-foot boulevard, will be held by the City Planning Commission next Friday night, May 30, at 7:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made by H. J. Hay-selden, secretary of the commission, this morning.

At the present time Peter L. Perry, contractor, is engaged in widening this street to a width of eighty feet, and if the widening is approved by the planning commission, and their recommendation adopted by the Council, it will necessitate the initiation of further proceedings before the present work is completed.

The commission set the same date, May 30, as the time for a hearing on the petition presented by G. E. Harrison, 405 West Pioneer drive, and sixteen other property owners on that street, asking that Pioneer drive between Columbus and Pacific avenues be made a first-class residential district.

Change Meeting
The meeting next Friday night will be the last one to be held on that day of the week by the commission. Commencing Monday night, June 2, the commission will meet every Monday night, instead of Friday night as heretofore.

CHANGE REALTOR LAW IN NEW YORK

Applicant for License Must Be Citizen of U. S. or Have Filed Papers

Amendments to the New York real estate license law stiffening its restrictions have been passed by the legislature and have received the governor's signature. Provisions giving the state administrative force the right to exact a competency test of applicants for a real estate broker's license is the most important addition made to the state's license law.

Another provision requires the applicant to be a citizen of the United States or have declared his intention of becoming a citizen. Failure to become a citizen within five years after having declared his intention to do so is made cause for revocation of the license.

The commission of a single act prohibited by the law is considered a violation of the law.

Sponsored by Board
The New York State Association of Real Estate Boards and the Real Estate Board of New York initiated the amendments. Movement for stiffer license laws is a general policy of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Leading law libraries and bar associations of the United States have been furnished with copies of the brief, argument and pleadings prepared for use in injunction suits to protect the rights of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in the term "Realtor."

COMMENT

That's All Eric's Judgment Better Love Is About All Prosperous Summer Good Business Ahead

By Gil A. Cowan

Prince Eric of Sweden has taken up his abode in southern California. While he is camera shy, there is no question but what Eric has better judgment than most scions of royalty.

Love in an Arcadia, or Glendale bungalow, is much sweeter than life in a European capital these days.

When you get down to the infinitesimal fineness of things, love is about all there is to life, although few find true love.

Money, power, even reputation, stand on a little less. Friends many times are false. But true love lives forever. Others have said that. We repeat it.

Day in and day out—some days out—we write this column of Comment. We could talk about current events of the day but there are of little consequence when judged by history of all time.

It seems so futile to talk of the World Court, to argue the League of Nations, to write about the acts of Congress.

Of course, all this is interesting. Food for thought, but that is about all.

Here is a thought which comes to us today really worth-while: Conditions in southern California are favorable to a most prosperous summer if people will only aid in the program.

The foot-and-mouth disease is pretty thoroughly squelched and everything is opening up in a most satisfactory economic manner.

Thousands of tourists are in our midst, crops are quite good despite the late rains, industry is forging ahead, and the laboring man is finding more and more work.

Builders had better heed the signs of the times and contract for their materials now and organize crews for summer building. Otherwise, they will pay the penalty of procrastination.

Merchants, also, will be prepared to meet the trade late in the season for people who have reserved buying now find that they need the very articles which have been sold for 50 cents on the dollar to date.

Yes, business is going to be good. That's a sure thing.

NORTH CAROLINA SENATOR OPPOSES PARTY LEADERS

F. M. Simmons Outgenerals Entire Crowd, Puts Own Ideas in Tax Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright 1924.

FAIRFAX, Va., May 24.—A little general from North Carolina—Senator Furnifoli McLendel Simmons—has outmaneuvered the entire Republican leadership, including President Coolidge, Secretary Mellon and the legislative managers of the Republican party in Congress.

For though the Republicans are in control of Congress, a tax bill written by the minority—the Democrats—will become law.

Senator Simmons, perhaps the most experienced man on tax matters in the upper house and one who has served long on the finance committee in the preparation of the revenue acts of previous years, was assisted by the strategy of Representative Garner, Democrat of Texas, in the house.

Altogether they have put through a bill that President Coolidge will sign, chiefly because he cannot afford to veto it.

The objectionable features—the publicity of tax returns and the undistributed profits tax—have been eliminated, and one aspects why they were put in there in the first place for trading purposes so as to insure the retention of the Simmons rates when the conference committee acted.

Is Most Amazing
It is one of the most amazing legislative developments in a generation. The Democrats, of course, are aided by the insurgent Republicans, without whose votes the Simmons rates would not have prevailed, but the Republican leadership had the same opportunity as did the Democrats to win those insurgents. The regular Republican leaders privately are disappointed, for they could have written the type of bill Senator Simmons offered, but they were restrained by the desire of the president and the secretary of the treasury that a record vote be obtained on the Mellon plan.

The chief difference between the Mellon proposal and the Simmons rates is that the latter increases running up to $86,000 a year will get a greater reduction in taxes under the Mellon scheme. Above $86,000 and running to $100,000 the reductions would have been greater under the Mellon plan, though the latter would only a slight difference. Above $100,000, however, the differences are material.

The Mellon plan would have cut the taxes of the persons of larger income, the theory being that such a procedure would help business by stimulating capital to go into productive enterprises.

Senator Simmons introduced as a counter proposal the idea that under his plan more individuals would benefit—some 6,000,000—and argued that the persons of larger income were not suffering loss between the two plans, the insurgent Republican group chose to follow Senator Simmons.

Agree on Reduction
All parties were agreed on the plan to give the taxpayers a flat 25 per cent reduction on taxes payable this year on 1923 incomes. It has been retained in the bill approved by the conference committee which will become law. This provides that a taxpayer on June 15 next will not pay the same quarterly installment which he paid on March 15. Instead he will be obliged to pay much less.

For instance, if his total tax bill for 1923 was $1,000 and therefore he paid a fourth on March 15 he will subtract the one-fourth reduction granted by the new law which makes a final tax of $750 and he will credit himself with the $250 already paid in March so that the balance due the government will be $500, which can be paid in installments of $166.66 each on June 15, September 15 and December 15.

Here is a table which shows what taxes will be payable during 1924 on incomes received during 1923:

CHILDREN STAGE CLEVER PROGRAM

Dances and Play Praised by Audience; Vaudeville Numbers Please

Amid a brilliant whirl of color and song, the recital given by the pupils of the Woods' School of Klever Kiddies, in the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre last night, presented an attraction of luxe, and elicited almost a continuous burst of applause as each little pupil came into the limelight in his or her turn. Success seems linked with child prodigies of Glendale and vicinity.

Proceeding in presentation of the play, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," a vaudeville program was given by juvenile artists. Elaborate costumes, specially designed sets, and beautiful lighting effects, combined with careful training and talent exhibited by those taking part, presented a program far above the average.

The following program was presented under the personal direction of Mrs. Nanno Woods:

GLENDALE PLANE TO BE LAUNCHED

Dr. T. C. Young's 'Argonaut,' Made by Kinner Firm, To Rise Tomorrow

Mrs. Worley will take the 60-mile aerial journey.

The name is based on the ships used by the Greeks in their attempts to conquer the world, and mention of the name is found in many places in books on Greek mythology.

Plenty of Power
The engine used to carry the "Argonaut" to dizzy heights and over long spaces is a 200-horsepower French Renault motor.

The large supply tanks of the ship will permit a flight of 600 miles without having to land for refueling or additional supplies. The plane is capable of making a speed of 90 miles an hour, and can climb to a ceiling of 20,000 feet.

The passenger compartments are enclosed, so that persons taking a flight will be just the same as seated in a limousine. The dual control system is used, making it possible to operate and handle the craft from two cockpits.

Movie camera men will be on hand to record the maiden voyage of the big ship, and when it lands, Mayor Spencer Robinson will officially welcome it to Glendale. Dr. Young will use the plane exclusively for pleasure purposes, he said.

simply to mix with the crowd and single out acquaintances of former days to discuss the years spent under the roof of a different and much smaller Glendale High school.

The Girls' Glee club provided the first number of the afternoon program and responded to several encores. Velma Bolen delighted with a humorous reading which was followed by selections by a high school orchestra.

The Hunt sisters closed the program with a dancing number, the meeting, which was enthusiastically received. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in dancing and visiting.

Business Meeting

After supper another crowd assembled for the business meeting and program in the auditorium. Donald Parker, president of the alumni association for the past year, presided. The meeting was opened with a roll call of classes starting with the year 1904. No one responded until 1906 was reached, and the two people standing as representatives of that class received a big hand.

Two people stood for the year 1907, three for 1910, and the numbers gradually increased with the years, until a group of nearly fifty responded for 1922 and 1923. The election of officers for the coming year followed the roll call, the following being elected: President, Ray Morrow; vice-president, Allan Pollock; recording secretary, Mrs. Helen Mosier McBride; corresponding secretary, Jane Snyder; treasurer, Walter Beach.

After considerable discussion of the scholarship fund, founded by the alumni several years ago, the meeting was turned over to Archie Neal, who led the grads in a high school yell and songs. At first a little weak, they gradually increased in volume as the old-timers recalled the days when they were cheering their teams with the same old yell.

An elaborate program arranged by the alumni in the faculty was put on following the business meeting. The opening number consisted of selections by Deane, Hugh and Albert Bryant and Russ Tammell, all former students of Glendale High. Albert Bryant then rendered a vocal solo, and received several encores.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CHOCOLATE BUNNY

Once upon a time a little boy was given, for Easter, a large, brown chocolate bunny. It was very large—almost as large as a real rabbit, like Uncle Wiggily, and the little boy was quite proud of his chocolate bunny.

So in his auto Uncle Wiggily took the chocolate bunny to the hollow stump. Nurse Jane made the new candy rabbit welcome. Uncle Wiggily helped the chocolate bunny out of the auto, and he was given a bed on the couch in the dining room.

"I'm going to put him on the window sill, where he can look out," said the little boy to his mother, as he hugged his chocolate rabbit. "Maybe he'll see a real bunny some time—maybe my chocolate bunny will."

"Maybe," said mother with a smile. "Aren't you going to eat your chocolate bunny?" asked the little boy's sister. "Chocolate rabbits are good to eat, you know," and she looked hungrily at the brown candy rabbit.

"Eat my chocolate bunny? No, never!" cried the little boy. "I am just going to let him sit on the window sill, where he can look for a real rabbit."

Now the little boy's little sister was very fond of candy. She did not intend to do wrong, but when, day after day, she saw that chocolate Easter bunny sitting on the window sill, staring out, that little sister girl just couldn't help it.

"I feel like I must take a bite of him!" she whispered. "The chocolate bunny heard and shivered."

"Oh I don't want to be eaten!" he thought. But being unable to talk girl language, he couldn't tell little sister not to eat him. Nearer and nearer she tiptoed toward the chocolate rabbit, looking at him hungrily.

"Oh, I could just eat you all up!" she sighed. Again the chocolate rabbit shivered.

Now the little girl's mother had told her she must not touch brother's chocolate bunny, but the little girl forgot. Not only did she touch the candy rabbit, but she lifted him up and she touched her red tongue to the tip of her chocolate nose.

"Oh, she's kissing me!" thought the chocolate rabbit. Well, that is better than being eaten!"

"I'd like to eat you, but I don't dare," whispered the little girl. "But I can taste of you with my tongue." And this she did. She kissed off a little bit of sweet chocolate. "Oh, that's good!" sighed the little girl. Then she heard her brother coming, and away she ran.

Each day after that, when she got the chance, the little girl went on tiptoe to the chocolate bunny and kissed a little bit off his nose. Until, at last, the little boy began to see that the nose of his candy rabbit was growing smaller.

"I wonder what makes it?" he said, but he couldn't guess.

Smaller and smaller grew the nose of the chocolate rabbit, as the little girl kissed it each day, taking off teeny-weeny bits of candy, until the Easter toy could stand it no more.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear. Oh, dear! What shall I do?" exclaimed the chocolate bunny one night. As it happened Uncle Wiggily was hopping past, just then, and he heard what the chocolate rabbit said, for the window was open.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Are you in trouble?"

"Trouble? I should say so!" cried the chocolate bunny, and he told about the little girl kissing away his candy nose.

"This must never be!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Come with me to my bungalow! You can't hop, I know, but I'll get my automobile and give you a ride."

"Ah, there is Uncle Wiggily sleeping in brown pajamas! I'll carry him up off to my den!" The Fox caught up the chocolate bunny and ran away with him, but had not gone far before he met the Wolf. "I've got Uncle Wiggily!" cried the Fox.

"Nonsense!" laughed the Wolf. "That's only a chocolate Easter bunny! He's no good!" Then the Fox saw that he had been fooled and he dropped the chocolate rabbit down near a mud puddle. And some brown mud splashed up on the candy bunny's nose, making it the same size as it was at first. Then, leaving the chocolate bunny there on the ground, the Fox and Wolf ran away.

In the morning the little boy looked out of his house and saw his chocolate rabbit, for the Fox had dropped him just there.

"Oh, my chocolate bunny fell out of the window!" cried the little boy and he picked up the candy toy and put him back on the sill. "And his nose is bigger, like it used to be," laughed the boy. For the mud had hardened on the chocolate.

Now, when the little girl went later that day, to kiss the bunny on his brown nose, she got brown mud on her tongue.

"Ugh!" she cried. "This rabbit is only part chocolate! I'm not going to kiss him any more!" And she never did, for which the Easter bunny was very glad, for then he knew he would always stay as he was. And he did, and when Uncle Wiggily hopped past the next night, wondering what had become of the chocolate bunny, the candy rabbit sitting on the window sill, told what had happened.

"I guess you'll be all right now," said Uncle Wiggily, and the chocolate rabbit lived for many years with the little boy. And if the hammer doesn't accidentally hit the nail on the head and make it jump over the back fence, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily feeding the robbins.

The only difference you will note in the work is that Dan's pupils speak with an Irish brogue, while George has an "Israelitish" accent.

DIPLOMATIC SERVICE OF U. S. NEEDS SHAKE-UP, DECLARES HUGH GIBSON

The American foreign service is "rickety." It is today "limping along" with a totally inadequate equipment. The inducements offered are not such as to attract qualified men of moderate means. There are now in the service a "noisy minority" of trouble-makers—that is, "boys with white spats, tea drinkers and cookie pushers," who are a reproach to the American foreign service, and because it is almost impossible to get rid of these undesirable it is a very difficult matter to maintain the discipline necessary to make the service the all around efficient machine it should be, if it is properly and efficiently to represent the United States in the capitals of the world.

These were some of the observations made before the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives by Hugh Gibson, the American minister to Switzerland.

What follows is taken from the official stenographic report of Mr. Gibson's testimony. "Nobody," said Mr. Gibson, "can be more anxious than we are for a complete shake-up in the diplomatic service. Our reasons are not far to seek. There are a lot of us who have been in the service for a long time—fifteen to twenty-five years—and each year we realize more and more just how costly it is to our country, to our interests, and to our citizens not to have the very best diplomatic service that can be created.

"We have a lot of good material, but our whole structure is rickety, and it will never be up to the standard we want until it is completely rebuilt. This is a pretty good reason for wanting reorganization and for favoring legislation that is calculated to get it. . . . We have been told that we must offer rewards to men who are doing good work for the government, that they must be protected against destitution in their old age, and that they must have what is termed 'recognition' in various forms. We must, it is true, offer inducements of various sorts if we are to attract men of high calibre to the foreign service; but I do not believe that these measures should be considered on any grounds of recognition or reward. Our only problem is to secure for the government the best foreign service.

"In order to do this, we must strive to secure the widest possible choice of ability and brains, in order that we may build up a foreign service which can protect our country, our citizens and our interests better than can be done by our present defective equipment. Once these men have

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By GERALD MILLER, For International News Service.

CHICAGO, May 24.—The latest improved models to permanent waving machines look more than ever like something out of a Spanish torture chamber. Face clay still has to be applied to potato-planting depth to get the best results.

The handy rolling pin is the most convenient flesh reducer. There should be one in every boudoir.

But these are matters of secondary importance nowadays—with the bob in the spotlight. Hairdressers are now sitting up nights trying to be "up" on the latest of bobs. There are shingle bobs and pineapple bobs, and there is always a new one coming in.

The burning question is whether the shingle shall be the retousse riz or the lowly banana.

All day marcellers, water wavers and shampooers moil up and down among their beauty clays, rouge jars, creme de la cremes, trying to decide what to do with their customers next year.

Men, beauty experts say, are unbelievably ignorant on the subject of bobs. Bob, say they, to a man, means nothing more than a woman getting her hair cut short.

That isn't the way it is at all. One has to be an expert before bobbing. First, a woman consults her hairdresser. The expert studies her, watches her walk, observes her carriage, her complexion and entity, and then decides. It may be any of ten or fifteen different kinds of bobs that will suit the type of beauty at hand best. And that is just the start. When the newly victimized lady arises in the morning, instead of shaking her head, she has to start all over again.

She has it curled, waved, marcelled, gridroned, corrugated or manipulated. Two days later it has to be done all over again. The process is repeated until long hair comes again.

Charles Nestle, who invented the permanent-wave machine in 1905, is strong for the "bob," with her hair all waved like to have a permanent wave; long hair may be worn straight," he explained.

It has been nineteen long years since the invention was perfected, and the process has been speeded up somewhat. Now one steps into that Spanish torture chamber and comes out in an hour, with her hair all waved like an ocean. But this will not, Nestle emphatically states, reduce the price of a permanent wave.

Permanent complexions are also being invented. There is the permanent lip-stick, for instance. It is kissproof. It is guaranteed to leave the imprint of a Cupid's bow on the kissed one's cheek.

With mothers and grandmothers today becoming young and chic like their daughters, the beauty experts are expecting a rushing season.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

EFFECTS OF CERTAIN TREATMENTS
Not many of my readers know that one of the best ways to have a clear, fresh face is to take a daily bath. Why, asks one girl, should washing the body make the skin on the face clear? Won't washing the face do that?

It will help. But my young correspondent must remember that the whole body, every day, throws off a surprising amount of waste matter, and that the skin all over, from head to feet, is constantly changing and making itself new again.

If you do not readily believe that daily bathing of the body clears the face of blackheads, you'll less readily believe that too starchy a diet often causes dandruff and poor hair. But remember that everything acts upon the health of the scalp; a bad diet, bad digestion—result, bad hair.

Mary A. W.—The only way to prevent blackheads is to remove all soil from the skin at least every day, and be particular about all avenues of elimination. The pores will become enlarged if the skin is overworked to keep the system clear, and black heads follow such a condition.

ROSELLE—Witch hazel is mildly astringent and it will be all right for you to use it as base for powder when you find the skin is in need of an astringent. The suspicion and rancor resulting from a powder to stay on it is just as well to omit it, and rub the skin all over with a piece of chamomile to remove any shine.

L. C. M. C.—For the wart on your hand, rub oil or salt into it. If it does not soften and drop after a week or so of these daily applications, tie a white silk thread around the base of it and leave it to dry up without any further attention. If you reduce all over you will not have a double chin.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. If a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

From Book Of Life

ON THE DISADVANTAGES OF INTELLECTUAL SUPERIORITY TO WILLIAM HAZLITT, the Englishman who realized his powers in the familiar writing that was almost talking, the chief disadvantage of knowing more and seeing farther than others, is not to be generally understood.

"Intellectual is not like bodily strength. YOU HAVE NO HOLD OF THE UNDERSTANDING OF OTHERS BUT BY THEIR SYMPATHY. Your knowing, in fact, so much more about a subject does not give you a superiority, that is, a power over them, but only renders it the more impossible for you to make the least impression upon them. Is it then any advantage to you?"

"It may be, as it relates to your own private satisfaction, but it places a greater gulf between you and society. It throws stumbling-blocks in your way at every turn. All that you take most pride in is lost upon the vulgar eye. What they are pleased with is a matter of indifference or of distaste to you."

"There are no people who have no pretensions; or the fewer their pretensions, the less they can afford to acknowledge yours without some sort of value received. "The more information individuals possess, or the more they have refused upon any subject, the more readily they can conceive and admit the same kind of superiority to themselves that they feel over others. FOR GAME'S SAKE DENIES DEMPSEY AFRAID OF WILLS

NEW YORK, May 24.—Eddie Conlin, the tennis umpire and leader of the Tilden-fair-play society, has addressed a letter to various offices of the United States Lawn Tennis Association in which the hint is dropped that a rival national tennis organization may be formed unless the United States Lawn Tennis Association crowd sees the light of reason, justice, fair play, equity, etc.

Champion Will Fight, Kearns Says, If Public Wants Battle Staged

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Harry Wills will be duck soured for Jack Dempsey if he ever crawls into the ring with the heavy-weight champion. That was the comment made here today by Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, in discussing reports that Dempsey was about to take a workout pill on the negro battler.

"Wills would be a lot sadder for Dempsey than either Gibson or Firpo," said the champion's manager, as he smooths his "Hollywood Blues" shirt with a he-diamonded hand.

"It will take a lot of 'smoking up' to make the Wills-Dempsey affair go over big, but if it can be done, Dempsey is ready to go through."

DOPE FROM DUGOUT

NEW YORK, May 24.—More than thirty games have been postponed in the two big leagues this month because of weather, with a loss of income to the clubs involved of between $250,000 and $300,000.

Part of the monetary loss may be recouped when the double-headers are played. But not all of it. Now and then conditions are such that double-headers draw huge crowds.

Greater than the financial loss, however, is the effect on the teams involved. A team that has none too many good pitchers is likely to suffer by the piling up of games. Take Cincinnati for instance.

The New York Yankees have been hard hit by the weather. Just as they were forging to the front and beginning to go good, they were rained upon.

Philadelphia, Washington and Boston also have suffered badly in the postponement column.

The double-header cannot be avoided if the schedule is to be made compact. Last year there were many vacant dates had been left in the program, for which there was no need because the weather happened to be favorable.

SOX ANXIOUS TO MAINTAIN THEIR WINNING STREAK

Kerwin's Crew Eager to Add Gilmore Oilers' Scalps to Collection

CECIL CRUCE Long winning streak, last Sunday, has Kerwin's crew eager to add Gilmore Oilers' scalps to collection.

The White Sox go after their fourteenth consecutive win tomorrow afternoon when they tackle the Gilmore Oil crowd at the San Fernando road park, and if the weather is fair Frank Kerwin expects to play host to even a larger crowd than was on hand last Sunday.

All the victories registered by the Sox in their long winning streak, last Sunday, has Kerwin's crew eager to add Gilmore Oilers' scalps to collection.

It's a fact that Cruce's hook was not working last Sunday. He found it out in the second inning, but, although he tried it several times later, he had to give it up and rely on his straight fast ones with good control.

Ennis will do the backstopping as usual tomorrow, with Shellenbach, Sawyer, Hirigoyan and Shields in the infield. Dorman, Young and Orslatt will get the outfield berths.

Charge Teacher Beat Boy with Auto Tire

SERIOUS MOMENTS

Many people would like to be present at Philadelphia when McGraw, known among a limited few as being connected with baseball, meets Mr. Baker, boss of the Phillies, in the Quaker town.

Baker started the row when he accused McGraw of tampering with his players and making them unsatisfied with their lot in the division club. McGraw would not give out any statement for publication, but stated that he would have something to say when the Giants invaded the neighboring city.

McGraw has a forceful way about him, as evidenced by his scarp outside of the Lambs' club in New York a year ago. Mr. Baker had better wear an asbestos suit or he is liable to catch fire when McGraw tears loose.

Heretofore McGraw has always sown the seeds of discontent by arranging a fat purchase price in front of the owners. Naturally none of the players were averse to playing in where worlds' series melons have been cut with such regularity.

Despite columns of publicity given to their threats, Billy Gibson and other eastern promoters seemed to have settled down and will accept as a fact that Carpenter and Gibbons are to meet at Michigan City, May 31, as scheduled.

Gibson based his objections on an alleged contract he had with the Frenchman calling for his first American appearance to be with Gene Tunney in New York on June 16.

It appears now that William was talking to hear his head rattle. He was to have the verified prize fights turn out to be poor boxing exhibitions, and vice versa.

On the whole he ought to be safe in letting the May 31 fight go ahead. The chances are that it will be a boxing exhibition and not a prize fight.

The Eastern teams have had most of their games away from home and the western teams have pastured in their own pastures to a large extent, so the tale may be different when the Cubs have finished their swing around the Atlantic.

Worth much to the Cubs, who have been willing for a long time to meet him more than half way. The playing of Grantham and Friberg has shown a distinct improvement since the holdout saw the light, and everybody concedes that the odds are going to be hard to beat.

With Alexander in wonderful form, and Aldridge turning regular wins, Chicago looks to be a one, two, three bet right now.

This afternoon at the Los Angeles Coliseum 235 of the best athletes in the southwest are competing for places on the team that will make the trip to Boston, where the finals will be held to decide who goes to Paris to represent the United States.

RUTH DOING HIS STUFF DAILY NOW

Band Wagon Accompaniment Of Other Days Missing But Babe Is Not

By DAVIS J. WALSH For International News Service. NEW YORK, May 24.—Without the band wagon accompaniment of other seasons, our Mr. Ruth is slowly but inexorably compiling the ingredients of what may prove to be a new home run record for professional baseball.

He smote his tenth of the season yesterday during the course of the Yankees' victory over the Tigers, making his average for twenty-seven games something like .370 per game. A slight acceleration of this pace would permit our hero to ease beyond his world's record of fifty-nine, culled during the free days of 1921.

Yet our Mr. Ruth's efforts no longer attract the attention that once was his, with or without the asking. Local papers no longer chronicle the ball by ball record of the great man; they no longer use their headlines for blaring announcements of his activities.

Quickly but efficiently, our George has set out to do something bigger and finer, as they say in Hollywood. He continues at his present pace he will have amassed a total of fifty-seven home runs at the conclusion of the current campaign. This is three more than he made in 1922 and a round dozen beyond his effort for last season.

AMERICAN LEAGUE WASHINGTON, May 24.—A scratch single by Hooper in the first inning all that prevented Walter Johnson from pitching a no hit game here yesterday, when Washington beat Chicago, 4 to 0. Johnson struck out fourteen of the visitors, twice fanning three men in one inning, and from the second to the fourth innings earned six in succession. It was the one hundred and third shut out of Johnson's career.

Tigers 6; Yankees 7 NEW YORK, May 24.—The Yankees won a 7 to 6 victory over the Tigers yesterday in a game replete with thrills. Ty Cobb made four hits and picked up a home run, but off of the center field bleachers after a long run. Ruth had previously made his tenth home run in the sixth, was called out on strikes and threw his bat away. Hank Greenberg, who had been striking Hoffman, was put out of the game. Pratt, hitting next, struck out. The second run, which Dugan hit a home run inside the foul line. Score: Yankees 7, Tigers 6.

Indians 1; Red Sox 5 BOSTON, May 24.—Howard Ehmke, the Glendale, Cal., star, turned in another great game yesterday when he beat the Red Sox, 5 to 1. The visitors made four errors which were costly. Score: Indians 5, Red Sox 1.

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—Roy Meeker, Athletic recruit, held the Browns to three hits yesterday. ANSWER—He is not compelled to do so, but it is good policy to remain outside. It must be borne in mind that the pitcher is not playing until he has been returned to the mound and the umpire has announced play. When that happens the runner must protect himself, although the umpire should not call play until he sees that the runner has returned.

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—New York regained the lead in the National league yesterday by beating Cincinnati, while Chicago had a day off. Mays and McMillan until the ninth when the visitors scored five runs in four hits and three errors. The defeat showed the Reds down to fourth place.

Robins 3; Pirates 1 PITTSBURGH, May 24.—Grimes' masterful pitching enabled Brooklyn to win the second game of the series yesterday, 3 to 1. Zach Wheat celebrated his thirty-sixth birthday by hitting a home run. Score: Robins 3, Pirates 1.

HERE'S HARD LUCK SALT LAKE CITY, May 24.—Work started yesterday on a 20 foot screen above the right field and left field fences of the Salt Lake ball park. President Bill Lane said that this will eliminate the freak home runs at Bonneville park, in the opinion of engineers. Next season, Salt Lake will either have a new ball park or new stands at Bonneville.

GOOD OLD WALT Aged Walter Johnson, who has been turning them back for eighteen seasons, fanned fourteen, yielded one hit and won his 103rd shutout from Chicago for the Senators, 4 to 0.

Surprise?

SENORITA E. de ALVAREZ may prove a surprise on the tennis courts at the Olympic games. She is 18 years old, and is acclaimed the net marvel of her native land—Spain.

Senorita E. de Alvarez, 18, is acclaimed the net marvel of her native land—Spain.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—A scratch single by Hooper in the first inning all that prevented Walter Johnson from pitching a no hit game here yesterday, when Washington beat Chicago, 4 to 0.

Chicago 4; Yankees 0 NEW YORK, May 24.—Chicago's victory over the Yankees was the first since they met at St. Louis. Score: Chicago 4, Yankees 0.

BASEBALL QUESTION BOX If you have some question to ask about baseball—or if you want a question interpreted—write John B. Foster, the man who helped make the rules under which the game is played today. If you want a personal reply, enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column.

QUESTION—If the batter hits the ball high in the air and reaches first base before the pitcher catches the ball, is the batter safe? ANSWER—The batter is out if the ball is caught. It doesn't matter how far he has run.

QUESTION—Can a batter, after three strikes, be heckled to the ball by the pitcher and then get back in the box? ANSWER—No, a batter who has three strikes and is out must remain out. It is not permitted to do so, but it is good policy to remain outside. It must be borne in mind that the pitcher is not playing until he has been returned to the mound and the umpire has announced play. When that happens the runner must protect himself, although the umpire should not call play until he sees that the runner has returned.

OAKLAND, May 24.—Three fast double plays by the Beaver infielders helped Pillette to beat Oakland, 5 to 3, yesterday. The locals filled the bases in the eighth with none out, but the Beaver defense strengthened, and only one run was scored.

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Jack Silver, San Francisco's star lightweight, was a step nearer the Pacific coast title today, following his bout at Hollywood stadium last night with Dode Beroc, Seattle slugger. After four hectic rounds the judges called it a draw, but Silver had an edge in three cantos. Beroc was the aggressor, but every time he came in the San Franciscan poked him with vicious jolts.

ERRORS ARE COSTLY Four errors by the Indians helped make another Boston victory, 5 to 2. Uble yielded only six hits.

INDIANS DRIVE CHRISTIAN OFF MOUND IN FIRST

Seattle Wins Fourth Game Of Series, 7-4; Bowman Gets Another Homer

By R. C. FRANKLIN For Southland News Service. LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Seattle duplicated their feat of Thursday afternoon, scoring five runs in the opening inning of yesterday's game at Washington park, and again the margin proved enough for them to take the fourth contest from the Vernon Tigers by a score of 7 to 4.

The Indians ran wild, and so did Jimmy Christian, in the first canto, and they tallied their five runs on two hits, three men being given free transportation in that frame. Christian faced but three batters before he was yanked, and after that Sellers and Lefty Thomas took up the mound duties with but a pair of markers being scored, but the damage had been done and the Tigers could not overcome the lead.

Elmer Bowman, Seattle first sacker, who got five hits in as many times up in Thursday's game, continued his hefty slugging by poling a homer over left field fence in the fifth, scoring Eldred, who had doubled ahead of him.

Three Writers Of National Prominence Added To The Staff Of The Glendale Evening News

The Glendale Evening News takes special pride in calling attention to the fact that it has added three writers of national prominence to its already strong sports department staff. They are WALTER CAMP, LAWRENCE PERRY and JOHN B. FOSTER.

There is no greater authority on professional baseball today than John B. Foster, who has joined the staff of The Glendale Evening News, rounding out the "Big Four" of special writers engaged in producing the best all year round sporting service ever rendered to newspaper readers.

John B. Foster knows baseball from every angle. He has studied and criticized the game as a newspaper writer of distinguished attainments. He has been a part of the very fabric of baseball as secretary of the Giants in New York for seven years, and as a maker and interpreter of original rules he has helped to build up the game to its present eminence.

Mr. Foster not only knows the ins and outs of the game itself, but he knows the men who play and the men who direct and manage. He had his baseball beginnings as a very young man under Henry Chadwick, known to every fan as the "father of baseball," and under "Uncle Nick" Young, who for so long was president of the National League.

For six years Walter Camp played on the Yale University football team and was captain of the varsity eleven for two years. Just as expert at baseball, he served as captain of the varsity nine for four years in the positions of left field, shortstop and pitcher. He rowed on the class crew, won high honors in the Yale college games and represented Yale in the first intercollegiate tennis tournament.

Lawrence Perry organized and edited "Yachting," a successful New York magazine, in "Who's Who in America" he is credited with being the author of such novels as "Dan Meriwether," "Holmes of the Navy," "Prince or Chauffeur," "The Romantic Liar," "The Fullback" and "The Big Game."

With remarkable ability as a writer and with a background of baseball experience second to none in the country, Mr. Foster's articles in The Glendale Evening News will stand alone in their particular field.

Patents on a new type of helicopter that has two fuselages and four engines have been obtained by Alcide J. Bernier of 205 North Glendale avenue, who recently moved here from Los Angeles.

The inventor is a day laborer with a cement contractor in this city and wishes to interest someone with capital in his invention, so that he can build a working model of the plane and test its practicality.

Bernier says that he has followed with interest the attempts of various inventors to construct an airplane that would rise vertically from the ground, believing that if such a plane could be produced it would revolutionize the industry.

Larry Murphy and Johnny Adams may also appear and there will also be a couple of semi-windups and curtain raisers that will supply plenty of fun.

Every turquoise worn in a ring will in time change color from the perspiration of the hand. "Why did you do it?" the judge asked. "She bobbed her hair," Smith replied. Smith will be sentenced.

DYNAMITERS WIN FROM MONROVIA

Glendale High School Team Has Easy Time Copping Contest 11 to 3

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR. Of The Evening News Staff.

The Dynamiters finally won a ball game by defeating the Monrovia Wildcats yesterday on Broadway Field, 11-3.

The game was riddled for the first four and a half innings. In their half of the fourth the home boys put across one run.

The Dynamiters cinched the game in the seventh when they scored five times on four hits.

Lavelle started the inning off with a bad push, fanning out on four pitched balls. Stump got his second hit of the day, a single through second base.

The five runs in the eighth were made on only three hits, which were poked out by Deery, Stump and Osborne.

The new Glendale line-up was the first of two reasons. Both Pete Keogh, second sacker, and Johnny Lovell, shortstop, were absent and the line-up had to be shifted on that account.

Lawrence Perry organized and edited "Yachting," a successful New York magazine, in "Who's Who in America" he is credited with being the author of such novels as "Dan Meriwether," "Holmes of the Navy," "Prince or Chauffeur," "The Romantic Liar," "The Fullback" and "The Big Game."

LAWRENCE PERRY

Lawrence Perry, recognized authority on professional and amateur sports, will write several dispatches each week exclusively for The Glendale Evening News.

Every game played in America interests the man who plays it. There is one man in America who is tremendously interested in every game played and he has the gift of interesting everybody else in what interests him. He is Lawrence Perry. In all college sports, Lawrence Perry writes with a vitalizing touch—because he played in them and later studied them scientifically.

Mr. Perry loves and lives sports. As a writer he was trained by Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun. Have you ever sailed a yacht? May be no? But you have played baseball or paddled a canoe. You will be surprised how much there is in every man's favorite sport to interest the other fellow, if the right man tells him about it. Lawrence Perry is an authority on both professional and amateur sports. He is a trained observer and an interesting writer. Not only are his articles invariably quoted in the college press, but coaches, graduate managers of athletics and even college presidents have often sought his advice when decisions of moment had been pending.

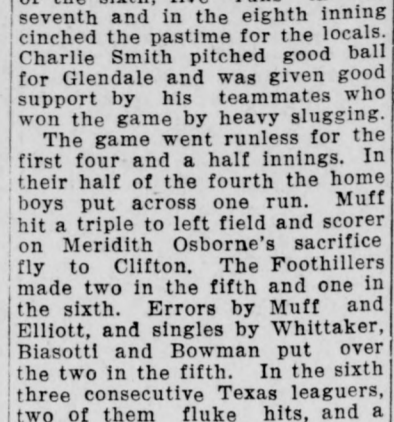

A leading coach last season said, "When Lawrence Perry has served as captain of the varsity nine for four years in the positions of left field, shortstop and pitcher. He rowed on the class crew, won high honors in the Yale college games and represented Yale in the first intercollegiate tennis tournament."

CONVERT GASES OF WAR USE TO PEACEFUL HELP

Army Has Proven Chlorine, Slayer of Many, Will Cure Disease Now

By WILLIAM C. LYON Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924. WASHINGTON, May 24.—President Coolidge, back on the job in the executive office today, is the latest testimonial to the efficacy of the army chemical warfare service plan to turn the death-dealing chlorine gas of war-time to a peacetime mission of curing colds and certain respiratory diseases.

Suffering from a severe cold, the president, at Secretary Weeks's suggestion, drove to the army dispensary and sat for forty-five minutes in the gassing chamber. He emerged greatly improved and today his cold was practically gone.

Simultaneously the chemical warfare service let it be known that its discovery of curing colds and certain respiratory diseases is beginning to be accepted throughout the country by physicians. The medical profession usually is slow to accept new "cures" but this one, it was stated, has been taken up by many physicians since its discovery was announced a few months ago.

Already demand for apparatus for the administration of chlorine gas resulted in the manufacture by three large chemical houses of instruments for measuring and releasing chlorine gas under pressure.

Apparatus Simple The apparatus which has been tested and approved by Brig.-Gen. Amos A. Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service, is so simple and so inexpensive that no clinic need be without it. A small cylinder contains the liquid chlorine. A valve at the top is opened and the chlorine as a gas passes through a tube into a glass cylinder filled with a salt solution.

Thence it is charged into the atmosphere, in pulsations, by means of a simple syphon. To obtain best results in an ordinary room, the experts place an electric fan beside the syphon in order to distribute the gas uniformly about the room. The apparatus for measuring and releasing the gas can be set to release the exact quantity desired by the physician.

Wherever it is possible, the experts advise a specially prepared gas chamber, although experiments in ordinary rooms have proven successful.

Trying on Animals Having successfully demonstrated the curative qualities of the gas on human beings, Uncle Sam now is seeking to apply it to the animal kingdom. The bureau of animal industry is making tests of the gas a prophylactic among the California cattle herds, which have been decimated by the epizootic of hoof and mouth disease.

The tests were suggested by R. N. Ballard, California engineer, who claims a complete cure of a cold from one sitting in the gassing chamber in the capital here. Through friends, Mr. Ballard interested Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in his idea and the result was a test of seven herds of cattle, under the direction of Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal industry. Three herds "broke" with the disease despite the gas treatment, but the other four escaped.

Mr. Mohler declined, on this showing, to say whether he regarded these tests as a success. "We are proceeding with the tests," he said, "and I can say I believe the plan has its possibilities. It is too early, however, to make any claims one way or the other."

VETS HOLD FLAG DAY CELEBRATION

Members of G.A.R., W.R.C. Observe Occasion in Joint Meeting

Flag Day, June 14, was anticipated yesterday at the joint meeting of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. by a flag program, arranged by a flag program, arranged by the state encampment June 9 to 13 in San Diego will probably prevent recognition of Flag Day on June 14, so the program was given yesterday.

Members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. spent all day at the hall on South Glendale avenue. In the morning the G. A. R. met and made plans for the Memorial Day observance in Glendale and nearby communities.

Program in Afternoon
At noon luncheon was enjoyed, and later the flag program, opened with singing "The Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshell and Mrs. Flora Pixley paid fitting tribute to the flag.

Especially enjoyable was the musical entertainment by Nana King Custer, who played many of the old-time favorites and also the newer patriotic airs. The old soldiers gathered around the piano to sing the old-time war songs.

A special guest was W. H. Reeves, Spanish War veteran, who talked on legislation and concluded with a clever recitation, "Hard Tack."

Mrs. Dixon and Miss Alpaugh of Los Angeles contributed sketches from the Lincoln play and a reading "California." During the program tribute was paid to the memory of Mrs. Mary Milligan, past president of the W. R. C., who died suddenly last week. Rev. C. R. Norton spoke of Mrs. Milligan's life and personality and the company sang "The Vacant Chair."

POLICE WILL AID INJURED COMRADE

Benefit Dance Planned for Officer Collins, Hurt in Auto Smash

The motorcycle officers of the Glendale police department have completed plans for a benefit dance to be given Thursday night, May 29, in Hahn's hall, 109-A North Brand boulevard. The affair will be given as a benefit for Officer Merle G. Collins of 326 North Adams street, who is in the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital suffering from injuries recently sustained while on duty.

Dancing will begin at 8:30 o'clock, the music for which will be furnished by the popular Kelly Shrine Club orchestra. The committee in charge of the affair includes Lieut. Wm. J. Royle and Officers K. F. Butler and R. Ball. They have arranged for several specialty features and favor dances.

A cordial invitation is extended to all Glendaleans to attend. Admission of $1 per couple will be charged.

Water Carnival Will Feature Dedication

RIVERSIDE, May 24.—Chamber of Commerce directors have approved the plans for the Fourth of July water carnival as the big feature in the dedication of Greater Fairmount park lake. The advertising committee, headed by Charles Rouse, will plan the float for the chamber.

PLANS TO SELL HAY DIRECT TO DAIRYMEN HERE

Archie Donaldson Bringing Alfalfa From Imperial Valley to City

A hay market centrally located in Glendale, to distribute Imperial valley alfalfa to the entire San Fernando valley dairy and cattle interests, is the proposal of Archie Donaldson, who has arrived in this city from his 640-acre ranch six miles east of El Centro, and is spending the week-end with his family at 810 East Colorado street, where he contemplates locating the market.

Three months ago Mr. Donaldson sold out his holdings in Glendale and associated himself with H. C. Suttle of El Centro in the ranching business, taking over the above section, one year old in alfalfa. The stand was coming strong and they were cutting a crop about every six weeks that averaged nearly a ton to the acre, when suddenly the foot and mouth disease crippled the local market, sending hay from $23 down to $16 a ton.

As alfalfa hay is bringing in the neighborhood of $26 a ton in the San Fernando valley at the present time, Mr. Donaldson and Mr. Suttle concluded that they would establish a hay market in Glendale, to serve this market with the product of their own ranch. They propose to bring the hay in by motor truck.

Want Milk Train
With a crop of 500 tons coming on every few weeks, Mr. Donaldson points out that they have the product to supply a number of large dairies. Ever should the Imperial valley market return to normal, they figure the profit is larger by selling through a Glendale hay market, as it eliminates the middleman.

Hard hit by the slump in the hay market, Imperial valley ranchers are agitating for a daily milk train to Los Angeles. Such a train would stimulate the dairy business, which would immediately create a strong hay demand, Mr. Donaldson states. There is no foot and mouth disease in the valley, he says, and the establishment of such a train would cause the importation of thousands of cows.

Prospects Bright
Outside of the temporary lull in hay, the valley is booming, reports Mr. Donaldson. The cantaloupe crop looks like a record-breaker and cotton production is expected to reach a new high level this year. He predicts the Imperial valley as the future agricultural center of California and declares prices of acreage will practically double in the next two years.

Mr. Donaldson declares that it is not necessary to be a farmer to succeed in the Imperial valley. He has been an interior decorator by trade and never dreamed in his life, before he associated himself with Mr. Suttle three months ago. The chief thing for the novice is to get in with a man who knows how, he advises.

Sons on Ranch
Archie, Jr., and Frank, Mr. Donaldson's two sons, are at present in the valley, assisting Mr. Suttle with the ranch while their father is in Glendale, arranging to launch the hay market and visiting with his wife and two daughters. Later, if things work out as planned, the family will spend their time between the two places.

There is plenty of heat in the valley, Mr. Donaldson admits, but there is also plenty of water. At Heber, which is three miles north-east of the Donaldson-Suttle ranch, it was 118 degrees Fahrenheit last week. Water, however, is available without limit and even though the Boulder Canyon dam project continues to hang fire, the ranchers are all satisfied.

What the dam would do, according to Mr. Donaldson, would be to make available tens of thousands of additional acres for cultivation, thus speeding up the inevitable destiny of the great Imperial valley, California's greatest hot-house and future feed-bin.

Roscenta Chorus Has Sing Without Leader

MONTROSE, May 24.—The regular weekly meeting of Roscenta Chorus Community sing was without a leader for the first time since its organization at this week's meeting. Director Prosper was unable to be present, so Mrs. A. F. Hopkins, directed for a time, then inviting members to do so. A great deal of fun was the result of the impromptu directing. As Miss Hauber was unable to be present, Arthur Crowell gave two beautiful piano solos. Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald also gave some artistic solos. Mrs. MacDonald, who is an accomplished musician, also directed two songs, giving instructions in correct breathing. Mrs. Imogene Smith accompanied the chorus, while Mrs. MacDonald directed.

The expense per pupil figured on the whole country's public school system is $64.16 annually.

Why I Am In Glendale

To forget the scowling, jostling crowds and live in the smiling country of "Noblesse oblige." To ease the grinding press of competition and work in the Land-of-Lots-of-Room, where men achieve a strange paradox—linking happiness and leisure with activity and success. To dwell amid clean people, to see clean habitations and walk upon clean streets; to breathe the salt sea air, spiced with the bloom of hillside groves and orchards. To rest my soul in this garden-valley, nestling between the Mother Mountains' snowy peaks and the golden sands of the Pacific. To learn what magic secret of mind or matter here puts hope in the discouraged and starts life blood coursing anew. To master this new alchemy of the Pacific Southwest that overnight turns loam and sand and rod and bough to gold.

VALLEY FREE OF CATTLE SCOURGE

Rigid Adherence to Rules Helps Authorities to Stamp Out Plague

SAN FERNANDO, May 24.—The foot and mouth disease has been practically wiped out in this valley, due to rigid adherence to regulations, it is announced by the authorities. No new cases have been discovered in the past ten days.

Recently discovered infection on premises between Norwalk and Hynes is contiguous to the large dairy center and authorities in charge of the situation there are laboring to prevent any spread of the malady.
The loss of animals by slaughtering in the checking of the foot and mouth disease is infinitesimal as compared with the loss that would follow the curtailment of the sale of California products abroad, the authorities state, and until such time as science has devised a better method of eradication, the government will continue to use the slaughter method.

REACHES GREEK CAPITAL ON TRIP

Former Valley Resident Is Back at Scene Where She Once Labored

EAGLE ROCK, May 24.—Mrs. Cora R. Conklin has arrived in Athens, Greece, according to letters received by friends. Mrs. Conklin formerly resided here and is widely known in this section. She is a Near-East Relief worker and was for a number of years secretary of the International institute of the Y. W. C. A., with headquarters in San Francisco. She resigned to return home, where she was engaged in work for the Red Cross and Near East Relief.

Held Track Meet
Yesterday was field day for the pupils of the Eagle Rock school, in preparation for the city track meet which is to be held in the Los Angeles coliseum in June. A number of track and field events were held under the supervision of Coach Brooks.

The Eagle Rock Realty board has endorsed the proposed school bond election of June 3. A committee comprising K. W. Hunt, L. B. Wilson and J. B. Brown have been appointed to assist in furthering the cause of school bonds.

SIXTY-ONE WILL FINISH STUDIES

Graduates to Hear Address by Head of Whittier College June 5

BURBANK, May 24.—The high school will graduate sixty-one young people this year. Last year thirty-two were graduated. The commencement exercises will be on the night of Thursday, June 5. Dr. Dexter of Whittier college will deliver the commencement address. Going about the high school these days, one hears nothing but commencement. It is in the air. In some way, every thought is linked up with graduation. It is a momentous time for the young people.

PLAN SECOND OF POPULAR DANCES

La Crescenta School House To Be Rallying Point For Jolly Affair

VERDUGO CITY, May 24.—Tonight Verdugo City will give another of its popular dances. This time there will be no program, but H. N. Fowler, president of the Verdugo City Association of Commerce, announces the innovation of the evening will be a Paul Jones, as this dance is most popular with every one. Singing Jim and his orchestra will be here from Tujunga to furnish the music.

The first dance given by the Verdugo City Association of Commerce will long be remembered as one of the jolliest and most popular of this year's affairs. This evening's dance will be held as usual in the La Crescenta school auditorium, and the nominal admission fee customary at all dances here, will be charged. The association extends a cordial welcome to every one in the entire valley to come and have an enjoyable evening.

Druid Delegates Seek To Land Convention

BURBANK, May 24.—The four delegates who go to the state convention of Druids at Chicago on June 15 go committed to bring back with them the big plum of the state convention for this city in 1925. They will take invitations from the City Trustees, Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies, inviting the Druids to pow-wow here next year. Pietro Romeo, chairman of the committee of delegates, has received a letter from the state secretary, saying there as appeared little opposition to Burbank as the place for the 1925 convention, with the exception of Bakersfield. But another communication received by the secretary here asks for the support of the Burbank delegates for Eureka as the place of the convention. The delegates are Pietro Romeo, H. B. Wolfe, Rev. A. Buccell and Fred Collins. The alternate is H. L. Sinclair.

Tujunga P.T. A. Elects Executive Officers

TUJUNGA, May 24.—Mrs. H. B. Lynch was elected president of the Tujunga Parent-Teacher association Wednesday to succeed Mrs. B. B. Reynolds, who has served the last two years. Mrs. Lynch was vice-president the past year and, by her earnest and untiring efforts in behalf of the association, merited the honor bestowed upon her in placing her at the head of the organization. Other officers elected are: Mrs. M. F. Gilmer, first vice-president; Mrs. George Barnaby, recording secretary; Mrs. H. W. Huntington, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. A. Doane, treasurer; Mrs. Alice Carr, historian.

Veterans to Attend Memorial Services

LA CRESCENTA, May 24.—Sunday, May 25, will be observed at La Crescenta with Memorial Day services, when all the members of Verdugo Hills post, No. 288, of the American Legion, will attend in a body. The Boy Scouts of La Crescenta will also be present, and reserved seats will be held for all veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American wars. Reverend Kelso, pastor of the Community church, invites every one to come to this service, held in honor of the departed. The church is just off Los Angeles avenue on Montrose avenue, west. Services are to be held at 11 a. m.

Hold First Meeting In Church Addition

Women Will Borrow Funds for Building

TUJUNGA, May 24.—The first public gathering in the new addition to the Tujunga Community church was held Thursday night when the Boy Scouts gave an exhibit of scout work there. Speeches were made by Rev. Pasko and others, and ice-cream and cake were served the guests. Increasing interest is being taken in scout work in the Verdugo hills and has made necessary the organization of a second troop in Tujunga. A committee from the Sunland Chamber of Commerce is making plans to organize a troop there and are seeking a suitable man to take charge of the boys. Deputy Scout Commissioner M. F. Gilmer attended the last meeting of the Sunland Chamber of Commerce and spoke in the interests of the organization.

Women Will Borrow Funds for Building

TUJUNGA, May 24.—Resources and scenic beauties of California was the subject of discussion at the last meeting of the Tujunga Woman's club. At a special meeting the club decided to borrow the necessary funds to complete its new clubhouse which has already been started. The members have raised $1500 during the past year and need but $1200 more to finish paying for the building. At a request made by the club they are renting the Ashby building on Sunset for their meetings and the interest on the borrowed money would amount to less than the rental now paid, so the members consider it a good business move to obligate the club for the sum needed. The money will probably be borrowed from the Tujunga Valley bank.

Asks Survey of New Foothill Boulevard

LA CRESCENTA, May 24.—Definite action on a survey for the proposed foothill boulevard is expected to follow a request made by Harvey S. Bissell to the county authorities for information regarding the course the boulevard will follow. This request was made for the purpose of adjusting improvements which Mr. Bissell contemplates on some of his property that is said to be along the proposed route that will run from Pasadena through the Verdugo hills toward San Fernando. Mr. Bissell has informed the county authorities that he is willing to deed a right-of-way through his ranch, and Supervisor Wright has promised to have a survey made soon to determine the lines.

Patriotism Will Be Keynote at Services

LA CRESCENTA, May 24.—A patriotic sermon will be preached at the La Crescenta Community church Sunday morning. In the evening a delegation from the Christian Endeavor society of the Church of the Open Door of Los Angeles will give a program of music and addresses. The public is cordially invited.
