CHAIRMAN AVERTS WRATHY OUTBURST
Esquimalt School Board Ends Abruptly When Verbal Flails Fall in Shower

At a special meeting of the Esquimalt School Board held last night in the Lamson Street School with Trustee Bert Manrop in the chair the 1923 body welcomed its second session with traces of the divergences of opinion developed at the last meeting still in evidence. The chairman exercised considerable restraint in his control of the meeting and finally accepted a motion to adjourn when a rift seemed inevitable. Will Investigate Schools. A reply was read from the Superintendent of Education, S. J. Willis, advising the Board that its request for an official to conduct an investigation into school affairs in the district had been granted. Inspector A. C. Stewart will make the survey of the school situation at an early date, the Board was informed.

Asks Salary Increase. A request from Miss Dorothy Boyden, secretary of the Teaching Staff Association of Esquimalt, asking for an outline of the policy of the Board on the 1921 teacher salary agreement was received and filed until the estimates are under review at the next meeting of the Board. The communication asked if the Board was going to make the increases suggested in the 1921 schedule.

School Wins Trophies. Principal Leonard Tait reported outstanding successes of the boys and girls of Esquimalt in athletics. The school had won the soccer and lacrosse trophies last year and stood high in all branches of athletics, he said. Mr. Tait asked the Board for financial aid to carry on this side of the work. The Board received the communication with pleasure and estimated the request for aid until the estimates are considered. A request from Janitor Elliston for an increase in salary was likewise tabled.

Premise Inquiry. The complaint voiced at the last meeting of the Board by a lady whose daughter had been sent home from school for being untidy, it was asserted, is to be re-opened and a full investigation made of the circumstances. The inquiry is to be held at the next meeting of the Board, when all concerned will be notified to be on hand. The child was still absent from school, it was stated.

Breeze Begins. At times throughout the meeting an undercurrent of feeling bubbled up into cauldrons of recrimination. Trustee Mrs. Isbister fired the first shot by asking why a motion commending the discipline of Principal Tait had been excluded from minutes. Trustee Sisman, Secretary R. P. Matheson and the chairman, Trustee Manrop, stated they understood the motion had been mutually allowed to drop, and had not been out. Trustee Mulcahy reverted to the point later in the meeting and moved that the action of the principal be commended. Trustee Sisman held that the conduct of the principal was not called in question and the motion was unnecessary. The motion lost.

Challenges Chairman. Turning to the chairman, Trustee Mulcahy asked Mr. Manrop with starting that conditions in the Esquimalt schools "were in a disgraceful condition." "You did say that. Now be a man and answer me," continued Trustee Mulcahy with considerable heat. "There is nothing on the minutes to that effect," returned Trustee Parkinson.

Is Explained at Luncheon by Secretary of Committee. At the 100 per cent weekly luncheon meeting yesterday the case in favor of the Greater Victoria Water Act was presented by Harry Langley, secretary of the Greater Victoria Committee, in the unavoidable absence of Alderman A. E. Todd. The speaker stressed the point that if Victoria was to develop it must grow from within, rather than from without, and the sooner Victorians recognized that Saanich and the other municipalities adjacent were part of the City of Victoria, the sooner would that development and prosperity come.

The most important item to be considered in connection with that development, Mr. Langley said, was to ensure an adequate supply of water, both for industrial and agricultural development. It had been demonstrated that given a sufficient supply of water, Saanich could treble its crops, and that with this increased production, the larger market could be secured, as had proved to be the case in California.

G.W.V.A. ASKS FOR LIBERAL AID TO SECURE GREAT CONVENTION HERE IN AUGUST

The City Council was addressed by a delegation from the Great War Veterans' Association yesterday who asked the city to advance $10,000 as a guarantee to assume the holding of a great soldiers' reunion here from July 29 to August 4. Some 25,000 people would attend this reunion from all parts of Canada and neighboring districts of the United States, leaving $500,000 here, the Council was told. A spectacular programme of field and other sports as well as a national beauty contest would be staged in connection with the reunion, it was explained.

HUNDRE PER CENT CLUB MEMBERS OF WATER BOARD PLAN

The subject matter was relevant to the business of the board.

The speaker invited members of the club to read the Act for themselves and come to their own conclusions, copies of which, in any quantity, could be secured from the office of the Greater Victoria Committee, 393 Pemberton Building.

Furniture, Crockery and Hardware Sale

An important event is to occur in our business during this sale. For the past two or three years we have been endeavoring to get a larger store in a central location to care for our increasing furniture and upholstery business. Being unable to find a suitable location we have planned to eliminate our hardware and crockery departments and use this and our warehouse space for furniture display. This necessitates considerable alteration—hence drastic reductions before work commences.

St. Andrew's Nose Out Harmony Five in Close Finish by Two Points

Most of the games last night at the Trades Hall in the Sunday School Basketball League were rather one-sided with the exception of the junior girls' game which provided all the excitement of the evening.

St. Andrew's Blue Stripes met in a very evenly matched game with the Harmony Five from First Presbyterian. The harmonious ones won from St. Andrew's several weeks ago, so the Blue Stripes were rather opposed to reverse the decision.

"Slim" Halderson Is Shaping Up Like a Second Edition of Les Patrick, Peer Defence Man

Harold Halderson, better known across the continent as just plain "Slim," due to Nature stretching him all in one direction, is blossoming out as a second Lester Patrick, regarded by critics of ice capers as one of the greatest defence players that ever existed.

"Slim" is one of those haughty Icelanders from Winnipeg who helped bring the world's amateur hockey laurels to Canada in 1920. At the present moment he is as busy as a king bee trying to place the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's pro championship, within the sunny confines of Victoria.

There is no gainsaying the fact that "Slim" is busy. His showing since he was converted from a utility forward into a defence man has made all the difference in the world to Victoria's chances of getting into the world's series.

Look Like the Same As a result of his sensational showing "Slim" is being hailed as a second Lester Patrick. In make-up, appearance, stick-handling, brains and cunning "Slim" conforms with Lester. Every day in every way the resemblance, especially from the hockey angle, becomes more and more uniform for the simple reason that Lester is coaching the tall boy.

There is a slight difference in their skating. Lester was quicker on the break and skated with a shorter stride. He also had a little more power on his shot.

When Halderson first broke into the headlines he was a forward, being part of Steamer Maxwell's famous combination, Goodman, Frederickson and Halderson. He was a right-wing man and a good one. When the Falcons rattled to Saskatoon, where he had a fairly good season. The next year he shifted to Victoria, but his early starts made him look like a false alarm.

Perhaps Halderson will be the means of pulling Victoria through to a championship and duplicating the feat of the man who hands him his pay cheques. He is the most popular player that has ever performed in Victoria, and any rough opponent who dares touch "Our Slim" is liable to have several thousand wild-eyed fans clawing at his shirt.

England's Famous Internationals to Retire This Year

London, Jan. 27.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The famous pair of rugby international half-backs, Lieut.-Commander Davies, Captain of the England international team, and Lieut. Kershaw, announce their retirement from the game at the end of the season.

Saskatoon Missed Boat But Special Steamer Will Bring Team Here In Time For Game

In order that there should be no disappointment here over to-night's hockey game, Frank Patrick, president of the P.C.H.A., chartered the steamer Charming to bring the Saskatoon players to the city.

The train carrying the Saskatoon team to the Coast was delayed four hours. When it was known that the train would be three hours late, arrangements were made to hold the regular morning boat from Vancouver, but when an extra hour was added to the delay these arrangements fell through.

Record Crowd to Watch Game To-night's game will draw a record house. The fact that the one and only "Neway" Lalonde will perform in the Capital has aroused much interest, and many fans are anxious to see Canada's premier athlete perform.

Another star is Joe Matte, formerly of the Hamilton club. As a defence player he has few equals, and his deceptive way of fooling the opposing defence when boring in has been labelled the "falling leaf." He appears about to fall, but recovers his balance and gets in a shot. This movement causes his opponents to ease up on him.

The Colonist-V. I. game proved to be a really close contest, as up till the latter part of the second half the score was tied. The V. I. boys, however, began to improve in their combination, and shooting with the result that they succeeded in scoring several baskets, which gave them a good lead, the score being V. I. A. A. 28, Colonist 16.

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 27.—Wilfred Ryan, the youthful pitcher who has been star of several seasons for the Giants last season, has refused to sign the contract tendered him for this year. It became known to-day, Ryan returned the preferred contract with a request for more money.

Royal Oak, Jan. 27.—Two fast games were played at the West Road Hall between the Elk Lake and Saanichton "A" and "B" teams on Tuesday evening. The Elk Lake boys even with their rivals by winning the "B" game 27-23, losing the senior game 31-27.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—Discussing the prospects of New York and Boston coming into the National Hockey League (Canadian) The Star says: "The proposition to add New York and Boston to the N. H. L. circuit, which will be discussed at Saturday's meeting here, is not a new one by any means. It has been discussed for the last ten years. The chief drawback is the lack of high class players. The N. H. L. has barely enough to go around now. If the present clubs can't induce the star athletes to turn professionals, how can New York and Boston ever complete teams?"

Sarazen Warns of Over-Golf Before Entering Tourneys

After four weeks of practice at Miami Beach, Florida, and after playing steadily for two weeks on the public course at San Antonio, I felt that I was ready for the tournament there. This was the first big competition of the winter season of 1921-22 and my first tournament since the professional championship at Inwood, Long Island.

There are various opinions as to the proper way of conditioning one's self for a tournament. Some say you shouldn't play much golf or more than is necessary. Others believe that the most one should do is to prepare one's mind for the contest.

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 27.—Harold Deaton, the hockey referee, met his first defeat of the Edmonton bonspiel when Johnson, also of Edmonton, won nine to eight in the final for the Hudson's Bay cup. It was Deaton's twelfth game of the 'spiel. The Johnson rink has now won this event four years in succession.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Pal Moore, of Memphis, conceded five pounds to Tommy Murray, of Philadelphia, who easily earned a ten-round newspaper decision over him here last night. Moore boxed at 116 pounds.

Brandon Wins Over Falcons. Brandon, Man., Jan. 27.—Brandon tightened up the race in the Manitoba Hockey League here last night by trimming the Winnipeg Falcons, 5 to 2, in a game which Brandon held the upper hand throughout.

H. G. WELLS FAMOUS OUTLINE OF HISTORY The Romance of Mother Earth TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT NO. 120 THE ROMAN EMPIRE Riding Blindly to a Fall

Problems in History

Do You Know— In what respect historians consider the China of ancient days superior to world-conquering Rome?

Do You Know— What relation the great wall of China had to the invasion of Rome by the Goths?

Answers to to-morrow's installment of H. G. Wells' "Outline of History."

The first of these is the extraordinary spathy of the population to political events. They saw an upstart pretender to empire succeed another with complete indifference. Such things did not seem to matter to them.

To the slaves and common people the barbarian probably seemed to promise more freedom and less indignity than the pompous rule of the imperial official.

And as a second symptom that points to the same conclusion, the slaves and the majority of people had long been satisfied with their lot.

A third indication that this outwardly flourishing period was one of deep unhappiness and mental distress is to be found in the spread of religious movements throughout the empire.

Let us note here the main factors in its failure. The chief of all its failures lies in the absence of any free mental activity and any organization for the increase, development and application of knowledge.

It is a strategic oversight, because it was blankly ignorant of geography and the conditions of Russia, Central Asia and the East.

Moreover, this neglect to push up boundaries northward to the Baltic left that sea and the North Sea as a region of experiment and training for the invasion of the North.

The same unimaginative quality made the Roman Empire a dead end of the Mediterranean undeveloped. When presently the barbarians pressed down upon the empire from the north, they were able to transport armies from Spain of Africa or Italy to the rescue.

At the end of the meeting the W.A. served refreshments to all. The Ladies' Guild of Holy Trinity, Patricia Bay, are getting up a cabaret to be held in the Deep Cove School Club Hall on February 12, starting at 8 p.m. Tickets for reserved tables can be obtained from Miss Wynne Ardmore.

To produce a large quantity of literary work down to the last weeks in his life. He also performed his duties with an exacting regularity and faithfulness until consumption laid him low.

The surprising thing is that Burns showed as much self-control as he did for like many men of genius, he inherited not only his marvelous brain, but also neurotic tendencies.

Although a remarkable man in many respects and deeply religious, his father had a "headlong, ungovernable impulsiveness," and died of tuberculosis.

Three things in particular may be cited to sustain the opinion that this period, the height of the Roman power, was a period of widespread unhappiness.

PROHIBITION TO SWEEP ENGLAND, MAN WHO BEAT CHURCHILL DECLARES

London, Jan. 27.—By the Associated Press—Great Britain's one Prohibitionist member of Parliament, Edwin Scrymgeour, now universally known as "the man who beat Churchill," to-day predicted that in the next general election, assuming it will be five years hence, the cause which he represents will sweep the country.

This sanguine prophecy was made by Dundee's newly-elected dry champion soon after his maiden speech in the House of Commons, not in the tones of a dreamer flushed with his first burst of victory, but in the cool, deliberate manner of a man who thoroughly believes he knows the workings of practical politics.

Mr. Scrymgeour made his statement to a representative of the Associated Press. He is a kind-faced Scotchman, slightly bald, and apparently about fifty-five years of age. His rather large though well-formed nose "speaks" his kind manner, although there is a definite suggestion of firmness in the long, drooping gray moustache which covers his upper lip. Earnest, unpretentiousness is perhaps the outstanding description of his general appearance. Clad in an ordinary unadorned Scotch tweed business suit, with a large watch-chain stretched across his breast, from which a well-worn crucifix is suspended, Mr. Scrymgeour at once gives the impression that ostentation is certainly one characteristic entirely alien to his nature.

"America has been intensely interested in your victory," said the correspondent, grasping the large, rough hand of the Scotchman.

"So I hear," he replied in an unmistakable Scotch accent.

"On what basis do you predict a dry victory in the next general election?" asked the correspondent.

"Well, in the first place," he answered, "since my election I have received every day a stack of letters that high—and he measured with his hands held up to his waist—"congratulating men on my victory. The writers of virtually all these letters say they are going to bring pressure to bear on the members from their several constituencies to support the bill I intend to introduce. If that does not work the people of this country at the next election, taking a lesson from Dundee, are going to nominate avowed prohibitionists, and my prediction is that there will be enough elected to force a prohibition bill through Commons."

"The people of this country are learning that it's no good supporting temperance candidates on the promise to do anything to stop, or even regulate, the liquor traffic. We don't want temperance; it never amounts to anything. What we want is absolute eradication, and no other programme will satisfy us."

"We may not be able to pass a bill through this House, but we're going to make a start. One of the first

STEVENSON POSTER REVEALS VENDETTA, NOTE TELLS FIGHT

Broadsheet Recalls Attack on "Padre of Monterey" in California

Writer Then $2 a Week Reporter, Describes Plot With Three Others

London, Jan. 27.—Robert Louis Stevenson once waged a handbill vendetta against the "Padre of Monterey," a little-known incident in his California reportorial career, which was brought to light by a copy of the identical handbill to be sold at Sotheby's, February 4-7. The broadsheet, 6 by 4 1/2 inches, on brownish paper, one corner slightly torn but otherwise in good condition, reads:

"Padre Dos Reales."

"On the night of Sunday, the 16th of November, Biagini, an Italian Swiss from the same village as that of the Padre of Monterey, and born in the house opposite that of the Padre's family, came to the latter's door for charity. He told Biagini he had only to reach San Luis Obispo, where he was welcome and work was ready for him. He was now penniless, but naturally he thought all would be well, since he had found his countryman. The Padre gave him two bits, and sent him for further help to the Italian fishermen. It will not be forgotten that the Apostles were fishermen. How long, O Lord, how long? People of Monterey: have you not a bishop? Let us be done with Padre Dos Reales!"

Stevenson explains the feat in a letter to Sir Sidney Colvin:

"I am a reporter for the Monterey Californian, at a salary of $2 a week. Comment trouvez-vous ça? I am also in conspiracy with an American editor, a French restaurant man and an Italian fisherman against the

LONDON WOMEN DINE BETTER THAN MEN

London, Jan. 27.—London women are better at dining out than men, according to the head waiters of fashionable West End restaurants and of the Soho table d'hotes. In ordering their dinner and wine either when dining with women friends or with men, they order more than the men do. They still haunt the French and Italian resorts in the Soho district but with the difference that whether they are alone or with friends of either sex they begin with cocktails and end with a glass of port.

"Time was," said one West End maître d'hôtel, "when a woman seeking relaxation from home cooking was content with tea or ices, but not any more. They now dine out as a habit, ignore the regular dinner, pick out elaborate dishes, and show a real knowledge of wines."

LIBERALS SEEK $10,000,000 LLOYD GEORGE PARTY FUNDS

London, Jan. 27.—The Asquith-Grey Liberals are casting a covetous eye upon the Lloyd George party funds, which are said to amount to more than two million pounds sterling.

Their arguments is that the subscribers to the Lloyd George fund as Liberal propaganda, and not for the use of any one section of the party. This is said to be one of the impelling motives for a reunion of the two branches of the party.

The Asquith-Grey Liberals have turned down the suggestion made by some of the subscribers to have the matter taken into court.

ENGLISH WRITERS SAY LITERATURE NEEDS BIG LEADER

Novelists Exclaim, However, "Why the Dickens Go Back to Scott"

Bishop Wakefield Urges Writing to Give Noble Conceptions to the Young

London, Jan. 27.—"Why the Dickens go back to Scott?" is a question being asked by novelists, most of whom are indignant over a statement by Dr. Russell Wakefield, Bishop of Birmingham, at the Authors' Club, on literature's dire need of a twentieth century Dickens or Scott. Dr. Wakefield was writing along semi-historical lines, with a romantic touch which will move young people to a nobler conception of romance. He said he did not want any more war novels, particularly stories of German spies; and he deplored the absence of what he called wholesome English. He said:

"If present day proposals of marriage are made in a second-rate sort of slang, I rather pity the novelist who is to bring us back to something which is a little above the rather coarse and very unintelligent conversation of the moment."

If Dickens were born again, and tried to write to-day "Oliver Twist," "Nicholas Nickleby," and "David Copperfield," he would be regarded as prolix and tiresome, and couldn't sell his stuff. That is the general opinion here. Gilbert Frankau said we certainly do not want any more Dickens or Scott, adding:

"The novel is an expression of its age and cannot go back. Modern novelists writing about the war are interpreting the greatest thing in history. In my opinion, the best modern novelists write better than English novelists have ever written before. They are graphic, they paint character well and they are true to life. We do not want to grub back into history at this time of day. We of this generation have the experience of a life which is bigger than anything Dickens or Scott ever portrayed. We are infinitely superior to the old writers. What it took Dickens ten pages to tell us do better in ten lines. The only thing the older writers did better was that they got superior stories; but in the telling of them they were not in it with the younger writers."

W. J. George says: "The idea of the twentieth century does not demand a nineteenth century Dickens and will not get it."

Max Pemberton said that the chief fault of present literature was lack of imagination. "We get simply imitation, not imagination," he declares. "I doubt whether any one could produce to-day a work of the nature of 'The Lyons Mail.'"

Mme. Albanesi supports the bishop. "I think there would be quite an opening in time for a novel resembling those of Dickens and Scott, but I do not suggest it would gain the public immediately," she says. "If the ideals and ideas of such writers could permeate the minds of young people, immense good might be done."

W. B. Maxwell also thinks literature to-day needs some great figure.

DUTCH EEL BOATS ON THAMES TO GO

London, Jan. 27.—One of London Port's most picturesque features will be discontinued. The Dutch eelboats which have been moored off the Custom House since Queen Elizabeth's time—double beamed cutters rigged with double lee boards hoisted like the fins of a flying fish—will be replaced by motor craft.

The origin of the mooring rights is shrouded in misty tradition, but the Dutchmen never gave them up. Most of the craft have been handed down from father to son for 300 years, changing little in type. They have always believed that they had to maintain their rights by keeping two boats moored constantly in the Thames. The custom was to moor two of them for long periods and replenish their stocks from oars. Often steam and motor craft brought oars from the Zuyder Zee alive in tanks and they were kept aboard the moored vessels until sold.

PUBLIC GAMING URGED ON ERIN FOR REVENUES

Plans Under Way World Make Free State Rival of Southern France

Promoters Boom Grand National Sweepstake Testing British Post Laws

Immediate Action Seen on Scheme to Launch Another World Gambling Centre

London, Jan. 27.—Ireland soon may go into business to rival the South of France as the world centre of the gaming industry if the plans now afoot and powerfully supported in the Free State can be brought to fruition. The Free State Government, which faces a most difficult financial situation, with a big deficit in the national treasury to be made up, is being urged in influential quarters to sanction a state-controlled system of public gaming.

It is thought that when the guerrilla war is over and peaceful conditions can be guaranteed, such a system would be a great inducement looking toward the revival of an increase in the flow of tourist traffic which was an important source of Irish prosperity before the war.

Consider British Post Laws.

The promoters of this movement are taking time by the forelock and are not waiting until peace is secured. An indication of their activity is the big sweepstake which is being boomed in connection with the Grand National, the most famous English steeplechase, to be run at Aintree, track on March 23. The promotion of this sweepstake at the same time is a test of the attitude of the British Postoffice toward such undertakings in Ireland so far as the distribution of circulars through the mails is concerned.

The Irish promoters of the sweepstake are offering £50,000 in prizes and at the same time are placing an equal sum in the hands of the Lord Mayor of Dublin for the benefit of the cancer hospital.

The tickets are priced at $2.50 each, and at this price the promoters reckon on a most handsome profit—provided they are able to use the mails. The anti-gaming laws here are most strict, though not so strict, or example, as those in the United States, and legally the mails are closed against gaming business.

The enforcement of these laws, however, is rather a different story, and, as a matter of fact, a good deal of this class of business goes through the mails on the side. The position is somewhat anomalous, as the post office refuses to circulate mails in connection with lotteries to be drawn in France and Geneva. On the other hand, the Danish state lottery circulars are carried in the British mails, and a special exception has always been made in favor of the Irish Government in the British controversy with the Free State over the mailing of circulars.

Casinos with gaming tables at the Irish resorts, as well as lotteries, also figure in the plans being drawn up for the approval of the Free State Government. Here Great Britain would have nothing to say, for there is nothing in the treaty to prevent the Irish Government from doing what it likes in this respect.

It is certain that such a development, aside from its probable financial benefits to the country, would be most popular with the Irish people, who are known, as born gamblers in bigger things than money, as the present state of the country suggests. Ball games have never become commercialized in Ireland, but the smallest countryside points-to-point meeting, aside from the big horse-racing events in normal times, is illustrative of the Irishman's love of gambling, as well as for the sport the cock-fighting, which is staged remote from the eyes of the police.

Nor would the Catholic Church be likely to raise an objection, for it has conducted lotteries for the big sweepstakes for various good objects for years, and it is certain that the promoters of the Casinos would follow the custom of allotting a proportion of the profits to philanthropic objects.

LONDON STARTLED BY AFRICAN KING

London, Jan. 27.—King Sobuzwa II, differed not the slightest from other statesmen when he called on the Duke of Devonshire in the Colonial Office, save that his Majesty was just as black as his shiny silk hat or his glistering patent leather boots. He is the chief of the Swazi tribe in South Africa, bearing a complaint against the South African Government, and attended by a collection of his Ministers and counsellors, likewise top-hatted and likewise black, he called in person in Downing Street.

The King spoke amiably in fluent English. One of his aids, who described the interview as pleasant, said: "The Duke was glad to see us and we said we were glad to be there. He said he had heard we had something to say. We said yes. He said 'Say it,' and we said it like that—with an eloquent pantomime of handing over a lot of documents. Detailed discussion of the complaint is to take place next week. Meanwhile the gentleman of color is lodged in a modest West End hotel, where he has a suite. On the way to England only the dusky monarch traveled first class, his coteries going second. All of them kept away from other passengers. Sobuzwa has a voracious appetite, the ship's steward reporting that he has eaten two chickens one day and three rabbits the next."

The Last Xmas Partner of Lady Strathcona

Dr. James L. Hughes is very proud of the only photograph she ever signed.

LADY STRATHCONA invited Dr. James L. Hughes several times to visit him at the estate of Lord Ytton, which Lord Strathcona rented for several years as his country home.

When she had presented the picture, she handed the doctor three photographs of Lord Strathcona and told him to keep the one he liked best.

"My photograph is in Jericho," she replied. Dr. Hughes said: "Good-bye; I'm off to Jericho," and started for the door.

"Come back," called Lady Strathcona, taking two of her photographs, which she had behind her on the sofa, and offering the doctor his choice.

After choosing one the doctor said, in fun, to Lady Strathcona: "I suppose you never learned to write."

She replied: "I never was foolish enough to write my name on a photograph anyway."

Dr. Hughes said: "Thank heaven; I'll have the only one."

He is very proud of that photograph.

When he had thanked her for the signed photograph, he said: "Did you not know that the first Sunday morning that I met you, and you and I breakfasted together, that I liked you."

"I thought you did," she replied. "But I knew I liked you."

Dr. Hughes in 1912 spent Christmas Day with Lord and Lady Strathcona and their daughter's family at Dehden, Lord Strathcona's own estate.

He sat beside Lady Strathcona at dinner. During the dinner she whispered to him: "You are the last man who will ever sit with me at a Christmas dinner."

"Oh, thank you!" said the doctor. "I will come every year for that honor."

Lady Strathcona said: "You know what I mean. I will not be here next year."

She was right.

Court Fears Prince Will Not Take Bride

Outdoor Life and Making Money seem to Engröss the "Most Attractive Bachelor in the World."

While the engagement of the Duke of York is announced, it is officially intimated that the Prince of Wales is glad his heart's own yet. Lord Stamfordham denied the latest rumor naming Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon as the prospective bride of the prince.

Prince of Wales

England is beginning to believe that there is some foundation for the repeated rumors that the prince has said he will never marry.

England is worried. Society circles already have woven yards of romance. For confirmation, besides, there is the same perturbing rumor in nearly every corner of Europe.

This is a whole scale of reasons. The prince is excessively shy. Or he has already bestowed his heart where marriage is impossible.

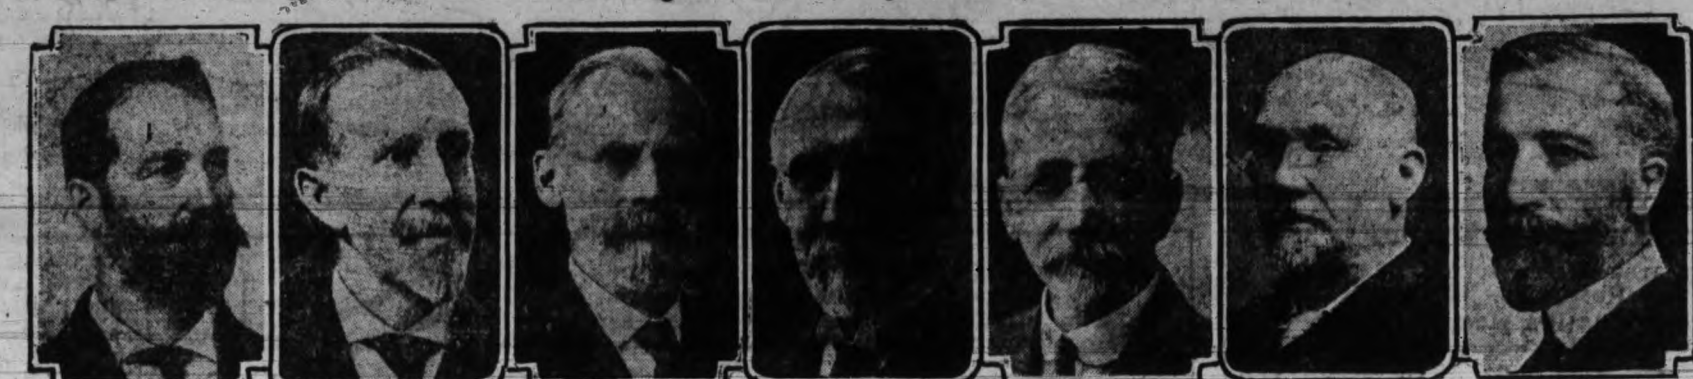

Perhaps, did you ever think of this, the prince has no heart? Although the prince's health is now robust, there is the report that he believes that he will never succeed to the throne.

Gossip must gossip, and romance must romance.

Meanwhile the prince seems to go on his way quite unconcerned. Reports are remarkably unanimous that he is giving little thought to women or domesticity.

Mainly About People

Where Are Whiskers of Yesteryear? Only 7 Beavers Left in Ontario Legislature

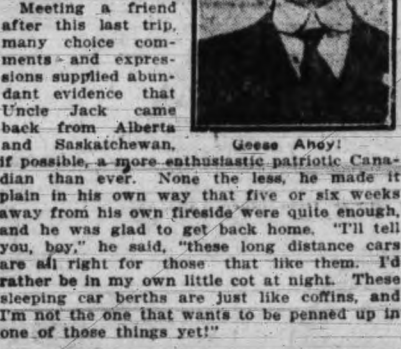

Here are the seven of the hundred and eleven members of the Ontario Legislature who wear vandykes and goatees. From left to right, they are: W. A. Crockett, Labor member for South Wentworth; A. T. Walker, U. F. O. member for South Oxford, who boasts a beautiful red beard; Reginald A. Fowler, Conservative of Lennox; H. H. Dewart, K. C. Liberal, of Southwest Toronto; Hon. W. E. Raney, attorney-general; Hon. Thos Crawford, Conservative and father of the House; and James A. Mathieu, Conservative, of Rainy River. Do you know that every farmer member of the cabinet is clean-shaven?

Tuck Miner to Sleep In His Own Tucky Home

Sleeping-car Berths are Like Coffins, and Jack Miner Hates Being Pinned Up in Them.

JACK MINER, familiarly known as "Uncle Jack" wherever he has been, is a man and a boy, has recently returned from his first extended lecture tour in Western Canada. He found his audiences in the middle west just as keen for his first-hand nature stories, particularly those about the wild geese, as those in Ontario and the nearer points in the States have become in recent years.

Meeting a friend after this last trip, many choice comments and expressions supplied abundant evidence that Uncle Jack came back from Alberta and Saskatchewan, if possible, a more enthusiastic Canadian than ever.

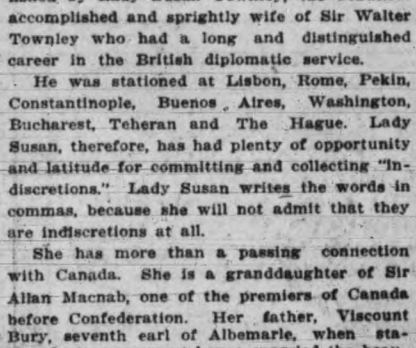

Oscar E. Cesars, the distinguished artist of The New York Times, sees Leon Trotsky like this, dressed in the khaki cloth helmet of his new armies, resembling in many ways the pickelhaube of the German hordes.

Princess Mary is evidently one of those chosen people who are going to receive wedding presents for the rest of their natural lives.

Scotch-Canadian Strain in Lady Susan May Account for Dear "Indiscretions"

The Granddaughter of Sir Allan MacNab, Lady Susan Townley, Comes of a Fortright, Spirited Race—Even If the Diverting Koppels Were Not Part of the Strain. It Kept Her Husband From an Ambassadorship.

Margot has a rival. There is a new book of "Indiscretions" published by Lady Susan Townley, the beautiful accomplished and sprightly wife of Sir Walter Townley who had a long and distinguished career in the British diplomatic service.

Lady Susan Townley made up her mind by hook or crook to witness that historical event. And she did. But, unfortunately, there was a reporter of The Daily Mail who recognized her, and the resulting enquiry in the British House of Commons led to Sir Walter Townley's resignation from the British diplomatic service.

The official interviews, in which even Arthur Balfour had a hand, revealed the fact that there were reasons "into which it is unnecessary to enter." These, it was circumspectly stated, were Lady Susan.

Lord Curzon's sudden resurrection to power and popularity has few parallels. When he resigned from India he seemed as forever fallen as Lucifer.

Clock-Winding Complex Evinc'd by Col. Biggs

"Wait Till Biggs Comes, He'll Fix It," Said the Motor Vehicles Committee.

Now that the question of complexes is occupying such a large position in our minds, thoughts, conversation and newspapers, let us introduce a new and peculiar one—the clock-winding complex.

Col. S. Percy Biggs, solicitor for the Ontario Department of Highways, is the possessor of this phenomenal characteristic.

Leacock Dislikes Parents' Camouflage Uses His Humor to Discourage Parents Who Make a Practice of Doing Their Children's Home Work.

There is a line in Ian Hay's latest play, "The Happy Ending," to the effect that the most important things in life are slightly more work than one can get through and a sense of humor.

Leacock has also, beautifully scored off parents and grandparents who insist on helping their offspring with their homework, thereby denying the offspring the value of having its unaided work seen and criticized.

Your Policeman Keeps His Eyes Wide Open

Sherlock Holmes on the Beat Knows a Surprising Number of Things.

You would be surprised if you knew how much the police know about you.

If there is anything fishy or mysterious about you, or you are an unnatural foreigner, they know a great deal more.

Whence Comes Virtue of Real Cod-Liver Oil

The food value of cod liver oil, long recognized by the medical profession, is now known to be chiefly dependent on its richness in that vitamin distinguished by the first letter of the alphabet.

It is obviously of great importance to know the origin of any product that is indispensable to human or animal welfare.

New Stephen Leacock Tells Priests to Marry

It Was a Humorous Mistake—Dr. Porter Did Not Know That His Audience Were Priests.

DR. PORTER is one of the very able and popular lecturers chosen by Toronto University for work in connection with the University Extension Courses.

Like most real humorists, Dr. Porter can appreciate a joke even though it is on himself.

He had accepted an invitation to Ottawa, where he was to give his favorite lecture on Social Hygiene.

His address received the rapid attention of the students until the doctor, in closing, gave them some advice as to how they should live if they would live long lives.

They probably know your dog, and if he is licensed, it is more than likely your dog knows them.

If you are a law-abiding citizen he dissembles what he hears as ordinary gossip.

People are often surprised at the rapidity with which the police lay their hands on swindlers.

It is amusing to find that after being with you these months, Robert knows no Latin?

Lord Beaverbrook is writing a series of articles on careers for young men.

"If G. Wells is as deep as ever," says a reviewer. And G. K. Chesterton says—London Opinion.

Lord Beaverbrook is writing a series of articles on careers for young men. We have always thought there was room for a postal course on Millionaire Training.

• SIDNEY SMITH •

IT'S AFTER FOUR O'CLOCK AND THAT KID'S NOT HOME YET- HE DROVE OVER TO JOHN DE LONG'S HOUSE- I JUST CALLED UP THERE AND THEY SAID HE LEFT OVER AN HOUR AGO- I WONDER WHERE HE COULD BE- I TOLD HIM TO GET HOME BEFORE DARK-

I'M SORRY I LET HIM BUY THAT PONY AND CART- I KNOW THE PONY IS GENTLE BUT THERE ARE SO MANY RECKLESS AUTO DRIVERS- YOU CAN'T TELL WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN-

I'LL GO OUT AND GET THE CAR AND TAKE A SPIN AROUND AND SEE IF I CAN FIND HIM- AND IF IT IS THE LAST THING I DO I'M GOING TO GET RID OF THAT PONY- IF ANYTHING HAPPENED TO CHESTER I NEVER COULD FORGIVE MYSELF-

MAYBE HE'S HURT AND LYING IN A HOSPITAL SOME PLACE- I'M SO NERVOUS I CAN HARDLY DRIVE THE CAR- I'D GIVE ANYTHING IF HE WAS SAFE AT HOME-

THIS IS THE WAY HE DROVE BUT I DON'T SEE A SIGN OF HIM ANY PLACE- I WONDER IF HE DROVE ACROSS THE RAILROAD TRACK- I TOLD HIM NEVER TO DO THAT-

NOW WHAT'S THAT? THIS OLD BOILER STOPS JUST WHEN I NEED IT MOST- THAT'S ALWAYS THE WAY- IF I WAS JUST TAKING A RIDE AND HAD NO SPECIAL PLACE TO GO IT WOULD RUN ALONG LIKE A TOP AND THIS IS THE FIRST TIME IT'S MISSED IN SIX MONTHS-

IT ISN'T BAD ENOUGH THAT I AM WORRIED ALMOST TO DEATH ABOUT MY LITTLE BOY- BUT THIS OLD CAN HAS TO STOP- AND A MILE FROM NO PLACE- IT'S FULL OF GAS, OIL AND WATER- IT'S GOT EVERYTHING BUT A GOOD DISPOSITION-

AND JUST BECAUSE I BUY HIM A PONY HE CAUSED ME ALL THIS TROUBLE- IF IT WASN'T FOR THAT PONY AND CART I'D BE TOASTING MY SHINS IN FRONT OF THE FIRE PLACE RIGHT NOW- WAIT TILL I SEE THAT PONY AGAIN- I'LL SHIP HIM TO AFRICA WITH A ONE-WAY TICKET AND PRAY THAT THE SHIP GOES DOWN- THIS OLD ENGINE IS SO DEAD IT WOULD MAKE A MUMMY. LOOK LIKE A DANCING DERVISH-

TALK ABOUT LUCK- STALLED OUT HERE- CAN'T START THE CAR- ALMOST FROZEN TO DEATH- GUESS I'LL HAVE TO WALK HOME- NO ONE EVER TOOK THIS ROAD BUT ME, AND THE GUY WHO BUILT IT- COME ON- THROW ANOTHER TON OF TROUBLE ONTO ME- I'M STILL STANDING UP-

HO- NO! WHAT IS THIS? A SAIL- A SAIL TO A MAROONED SAILOR- A ROAST TURKEY TO A STARVING GUY- THERE COMES CHESTER- AS I LIVE AND BREATHE-

GIDDAP!

HELLO DADDY- DID YOU GET STUCK? TIE IT ONTO MY CART- I'LL TAKE YOU HOME- I WAS OUT IN THE COUNTRY AND BOUGHT SOME NICE FRESH EGGS FOR MAMA- SALVADORE WILL FILL YOU IN ALL RIGHT-

CHESTER, YOU'RE A LIFE SAVER-

IF THERE EVER WAS A SIGHT FOR SORE EYES, CHESTER, IT WAS YOU AND THAT PONY- I DON'T KNOW HOW I EVER WOULD HAVE GOTTEN HOME WITHOUT YOU-

BE CAREFUL WHEN YOU GO AROUND THE CORNER, PAPA- DON'T HIT THE CURB STONE- GIDDAP, SALVADORE-

OH MINI!

PART III
-000-

WOULD THINK THE NEW GIRL IN THE BLOCK HAD DONE ENOUGH MISCHIEF FOR ONE DAY.
GETTING AGGIE RILEY SO JEALOUS THAT WAY, AND WHAT A REIGNING BEELE WONT DO WHEN A NEW PANSY PIPES INTO THE BUNCH
AGGIE RAINED A BUCKET OF WATER ON THE BOYS AND THE GOATS ATE THEIR CLOTHES.
WHO SWIPED THEM RAGS, WHAT? WELL FIX HIM, THEN FOR AGGIE REVEN-N-N-GE!

WE'VE BEEN USED TO EATING IN THE VERY FINEST GARBAGE PAILS IN OUR NEIGHBORHOOD! BUT I NEVER ENJOYED SUCH A MEAL IN MY LIFE! THANK YOU!

THE OVERALLS AND SWEATER JUST MELTED IN MY MOUTH EVEN THE BUTTONHOLES WERE DELICIOUS

IF I EVER KETCH THE FELLER WONT SWIPED THEM CLOTHES I'LL GIVE IM TWO BLACK EYES AN' A BROKEN NOSE AN' TWO COLLIFLOWER EARS 'NEVERYTHING BOO HOO!

IF I KETCH IM I'LL GET A STICK WITH A GREAT BIG NAIL IN IT AN' OH WHAT I'LL DO TO HIM OW-W-W

JUST LET ME KETCH IM AN' I'LL RUN HOME AN' BORRY MY MOTHER'S MEAT CLEAVER AN' ICE PICK FOR A FEW MINITS! BAH-H!

POLICE! POLICE! OFFICER! HELP! MURDER!

THERE ARE KIDNAPPERS IN THAT LITTLE SHACK OVER THE HILL. I COULD HEAR THE CHILDREN SCREAMING! THEY'RE PROBABLY TORTURING THEM TO DEATH!

I ONLY HOPE YOU GET THERE IN TIME!

THERE'S A BAND OF KIDNAPPERS IN THAT LITTLE SHACK OVER THE HILL! IT'S UP TO US TO DO OUR DUTY!

YOU KNOW WHAT THAT MEANS BOYS! LIFE OR DEATH

COURAGE MEN! NO MATTER HOW FAST THE BULLETS FLY

THE WAY I'LL SWING MY CLUB AT THOSE FELLERS WILL MAKE BABE RUTH LOOK SICK

THERE'S NUTHIN I ENJOY AS MUCH AS A GOOD GUN FIGHT BEFORE SUPPER

BLA BLA BLA

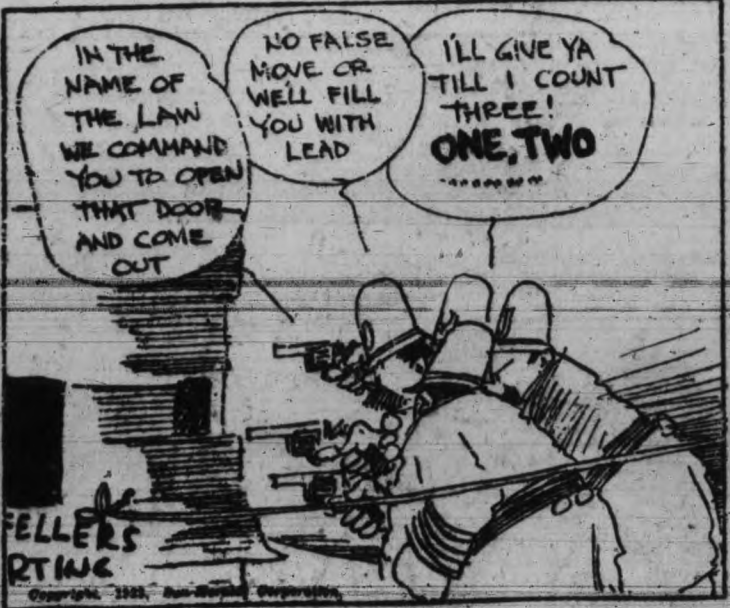

SNIF SNIF

BOO HOO

SURE ENOUGH! I CAN HEAR THE CHILDREN'S VOICES!

GET YOUR PISTOLS READY BOYS AND DON'T BE AFRAID TO USE EM!

IN THE NAME OF THE LAW WE COMMAND YOU TO OPEN THAT DOOR AND COME OUT

NO FALSE MOVE OR WE'LL FILL YOU WITH LEAD

I'LL GIVE YA TILL I COUNT THREE! ONE, TWO

NOW I'M A DISGRACE ON THE FAMILY BOO HOO

SOMEBODY SWIPED OUR CLOTHES! IT WASN'T OUR FAULT! BOO HOO!

MY MOTHER SAID SOME DAY I'D END UP IN JAIL BAH-H
