

PATRIOTIC SPIRIT

MRS. LILLIAN WELLS SEES SILVER LINING FOR WORLD IN DARK WAR CLOUD.

The following letter from Mrs. Lillian S. Wells will be of interest not only because of the high patriotic spirit displayed, but it also shows a continued interest in Glendale, where the writer resided for several years at her beautiful suburban home, Canyon Crest. During her residence here, Mrs. Wells was identified with all movements for public betterment, and stood for progress in its best sense, being a frequent contributor to the Glendale News. Mrs. Wells is living at present at Baldwin, Fla., where her son, James Wells, has a pecan orchard.

Baldwin, Fla., May 12, 1917.
My dear Mrs. Bartlett—

From a recent Glendale paper I have received a clipping concerning your vacant lot campaign in which I am in hearty sympathy and wish to offer a couple of my unused lots for this purpose.

It is gratifying to note the response with which the appeal to cultivate vacant land has been met throughout all the country—even parts of parks and golf grounds of Greater New York are being given over to the culture of much needed food products.

It was my hope that America might remain out of this terrible war, but America's transcending power and influence, born of our traditions and past accomplishments in making for freedom, is, I see and believe necessary for the liberating of the nations of the earth.

Gloomy as does the condition of the world appear, I believe that underneath the cloud is an exceedingly bright light shining for the uplift of the world. May the days of trial be shortened.

P. S.—I am enclosing some Italian watermelon seed raised from a melon, a fly-specked, dust-covered slice of which I bought on Sunday, August 16, 1914, at a fruitstand in Genoa, around the corner from the building upon which was a tablet, stating it to be the birthplace of Columbus.

The melons are not very sweet here, but may be better in California, as I have observed the soil and climate of Italy to be similar to California. Perhaps I should add that the piece of melon I gave to an astounded dark-eyed urchin, who thought it a queer appetite to prefer the seeds.

I am gardening—vegetable gardening, vigorously myself, both personally and by proxy. I do wish that every boy felt a tenth of the patriotism which I do—if so there would not be an uncultivated lot in our nation. Very truly yours, LILLIAN S. WELLS.

Parks, Mrs. E. Hasti, Mrs. M. H. Goss, Mrs. A. Rountree, Mrs. W. Pafford.

TROOP NO. 4 GLENDALE BOY SCOUTS Scoutmaster, Chas. Guthrie

These good scouts are on a couple of days' hike at San Dimas canyon near Glendale, off Foothill boulevard. Their friends are invited to call on them at their camp to-morrow, Sunday, afternoon and a number of them would appreciate an invitation to ride home. They have not secured autos enough to bring them all back. They are doing fine work and Glendale is proud of them.

BIRTHDAY MUSICALS

MR. MOYSE IS COMPLEMENTED AT SURPRISE AFFAIR FRIDAY NIGHT.

Superintendent George U. Moyses of Glendale High school, had a birthday, Friday, June 1. Mr. Moyses did not consider this a matter of great moment however, and went to a Shrine meeting in the evening as if it were an ordinary day. When he was summoned home early in the evening he feared some accident might have befallen some member of the family, but when he discovered that a number of his friends had taken possession of his home he woke to the situation and proved as solicitous a host as if he had really invited the guests himself.

The uninvited guests had not forgotten to provide entertainment for the evening. This took the form of a musicale, and our talented young violinist, Cecil Crandall, with Mrs. Eugene Murman, as accompanist, delighted the guests with several selections, including some of his own compositions.

A dainty and delicious lunch had been prepared and was enjoyed by all.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Weaver and Miss Fernora and Miss Laurene, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ira Moyses, Mrs. Laura May and Miss Laura Leigh May, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Weaver, Rev. and Mrs. B. D. Snudden, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Bryant and sons, Dean, Hugh and Albert; Mrs. Agnes F. Kelly, Miss Charlotte Davis, Mrs. Eugene Murman, Cecil Crandall, Hollis, Doris and Laura Moyses.

ROBINSON'S MOVE

OCCUPY NEW FIREPROOF BUILDING, CORNER BRAND AND COLORADO.

Among the new buildings recently completed in Glendale is Robinson Bros. Transfer and Fireproof Storage building on the corner of Brand boulevard and Colorado street. Robinson Bros. have been doing business at 1111 1/2 West Broadway the past few years, and have just moved into this handsome new structure, where they will be greatly facilitated in carrying on their business by the convenience of the new quarters.

The new building is 50x50 feet, two stories in height, made of reinforced concrete, brick and tile, and is absolutely fireproof. There is an elevator and stairway in connection. In addition to the main building there is a 25x50-foot garage in the rear for housing their large auto trucks. The main building includes a nicely furnished office and many private lock rooms for storage.

This innovation will be greatly appreciated by the people of Glendale, who have occasion to store their household goods. The patron may feel perfectly safe with his goods in a fireproof private room, he carrying the key.

Robinson Bros. have built up a good business in Glendale in the transfer line, as well as crating, packing, storing and shipping, and their substantial methods have made possible the enlargement of their business.

A MELON WORTH CUTTING.

August 16, 1914, a globe-wandering former resident of Glendale, Mrs. Lillian S. Wells, happened to become melon hungry in Geneva, Italy, very near to the house in which Columbus was born. She obtained a fine watermelon, which was deliciously ripe and delightful in flavor. It was so unusually good, even for a perfect watermelon that she saved some of the seed and gave them to her friends, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett and Mrs. Blackburn.

Those precious seeds were all disposed of but one, which lately fell to the lot of the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who has planted it in the sunniest nook of his small garden, and is watching every morning when he leaves home, and each evening as he returns, to see if the little green cap has forced its double head up through the earth to the sunlight.

When those Columbus melons get ripe there will be rare patriotic doings, for the secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce has the secret of flavoring each one according to taste before it leaves the vine.

Mrs. Lillian Wells, now of Baldwin, Fla., has a vacant lot on Louise street, near Broadway, in block 48, which she would like for someone to cultivate and have the proceeds.

P. S.—Some friend suggested that Father O'Neill would like one of those "Columbus Melons." If so, he will be welcome to it.

FIVE STOREROOM BUILDING.

Charles W. Kent and Son, Contractors and Builders, will begin at once to erect a business building at the site of their present office at 429 South Brand boulevard. The size of the new building will be 75-foot front and a depth of 50 feet, one story. While this building will be substantially built of brick, yet Mr. Kent explains it is only for temporary purposes and will be replaced in a few years by a more commodious structure.

PRE-NUPTIAL DINNER.

Jacob Cohn of Elrio, Cal., and Miss Winnie Cohn of Los Angeles, who are to be married at the Alexandria hotel on June 14, were entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cohn of 110 Orange street, Glendale. A six course dinner was served and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all present.

BAND CONCERT.

The Glendale Municipal band will give its regular weekly band concert this evening at 8 o'clock, at the corner of Broadway and Louise streets, on the lot west of the Evening News building. Everybody welcome.

REGISTRAR NOTICE.

I have been appointed registrar, and will register all men who are sick or who are going away before the fifth of June, at the Crystal Tea Company, 126 E. Third street.—Ethel F. Wilde.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

STUDENTS PREPARING FOR FINAL EXAMINATIONS — GLENDALE FOURTH IN CONTEST.

As the end of the present school term is drawing near the students are happily looking forward to the annual half-day examinations, which are each year the delight of every member in school. They will start Thursday morning, June 14, and end Tuesday of the following week. The remainder of that week will be turned over to the Seniors, one day to be class day.

The last two or three days has been spent by the Physics department in cleaning out the laboratory and available apparatus. Every piece of apparatus must be put on an itemized list, and it is causing the two classes to work a little overtime. Mr. Houdyshel says that practically all of the year's work has been completed, and that the remainder of the time will be spent in making up back work. However, there are several experiments with the spectroscope which have not yet been completed, and they will take about a week to finish.

The Southern California Championship Oratorical Contest, which took place last night at the South Pasadena High school auditorium, did not come out as well as we hoped for, for the simple reason that our representative, Frank Balthis, was not himself at all, coming out in last place. Quite a large number of students went over to witness the affair, but they were sadly disappointed when the judges rendered their decision. The winner was Mr. Pedro Diolio, Polytechnic's candidate, his subject being "Russian Democracy." His delivery was excellent, as was also his subject, and he fully deserved the honor which was bestowed upon him. The Santa Ana speaker was second, with the subject "Modern Democracy," the Manual Arts' representative third on "Our Duty to Belgium," and Frank Balthis, fourth, with the subject "Woodrow Wilson, the Man of the Hour."

INFORMAL WEDDING.

One of the most beautiful ceremonies of its kind ever held in Glendale was the marriage last evening of Mr. Harold Lyman Cooke of Los Angeles, to Miss Bessie Lucille Manson, at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Manson of 1537 Dryden street. The affair took place at about 9:30 o'clock in the presence of about 60 invited guests. The front rooms were most exquisitely decorated with pink and white carnations, imbedded in a solid green background of asparagus fern. In one corner of the room there was a beautiful electrically lighted arbor in which the couple was to take the oath of wedlock. This was also decorated in white carnations and ferns, with a large white wedding bell hanging majestically from the center.

When Mr. Roy Kibbee, the able pianist of the occasion, sounded the first notes of the celebrated "Wedding March," the bride appeared from one room, accompanied by the bridesmaid, Miss Villa Kjellman, and the groom from another, supported by his brother, Mr. John Cooke. The bride resembled nothing less than an angel in her beautiful gown of white chiffon taffeta. The veil was of white silk tulle, with a wreath of orange blossoms tastefully adorning the front. The beautiful bridesmaid was absolutely charming in her dress of pink crepe de chine over pink silk. Both the bride and the bridesmaid carried bouquets, the former of white roses and maiden-hair ferns, and the latter of pink roses and the same kind of ferns. It was a tossup as to which was the prettier of the two.

Immediately after the ceremony had been performed by the Rev. A. Ray Pettit, and just as the bride and groom were about to kiss each other for the first time as man and wife they were suddenly greeted with a deluge of rice. A clever contraption had been previously made by the bride's brother, Mr. Lee Manson, and placed directly above the couple. At the pressing of a button across the room the box gave way, and the newly-married couple were greeted with the first of many teasings. They then attempted to leave the house by machine, but the clever pranks of some of their mischievous friends prevented such action until almost 2 o'clock, when they cleverly evaded the last of the spies and left for an extended honeymoon in San Diego. The couple will probably make their home in Los Angeles.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JUNE 2, 1917

THE CAUSE AND THE OBJECTIVE POINT

Next Tuesday, June 5, is an important day for every citizen of the United States. The law requires that every male person between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive, register. There are thousands upon thousands of men over that age who would be glad to have an opportunity to take the place of these young men, and stand their chance of being drafted into the service of their country. May it be the disposition of every citizen to feel kindly toward the men whom the law says must place themselves on record next Tuesday as being ready and willing to serve their country.

These young men have been reared under a reign of peace. They know nothing about war more than they have heard related by their parents who lived through the years of the Civil War.

There is not one of these men who are eligible for registration but are of a patriotic make-up and most dearly love their country. Is it not the duty of every citizen to explain so far as it is possible to the young men who have not been giving heed to the military conditions of the world the necessity of engaging in war at this time, and is it not the duty of the head of this nation to make clear to these intelligent men what is to be gained by engaging in this world war?

If young men have a lack of patriotism it may be on account of a lack of reliable information. Boys nowadays inquire as to the cause and the effect of what is going on about them. It will be a satisfaction to them if some one who is capable will explain fully and logically as to the cause and effect of the present war.

We are a patriotic people and who is there that is not ready to fight for his country? But patriotism is greatly aided when the fight is an intelligent one, and that is what it must be in the present war that is being waged with Germany if the people are to engage in it with a war winning spirit. From the press and from every other source should come forth logical reasons why the country is engaged in war and what are the objective points to be gained by engaging in the present war.

There is never anything to be lost and always a great deal to be gained by conducting all projects from an educational standpoint. Educate the people as to the needs of the nation and the people will respond nobly. There is no better way of educating them than through the public press. Keep the press clean and unuzzled and all will go well.

FRIENDSHIP FESTIVAL IN SAN DIEGO

As a demonstration of the new friendly feeling between the United States and Mexico, a Mexican-American celebration starts in San Diego to-morrow. Governor Cantu of Lower California plans to attend, accompanied by his staff and the band of the 22nd Mexican Infantry. Before an invitation was extended to Cantu, the permission of the war and navy department was obtained. Governors of 10 states are also invited. The celebration, called "The Friendly Fiesta," will last all week.

It is a good plan not to believe all you hear related about others, whether it be good or bad, until the reports you have heard have been carefully verified. It is so easy to hear misrepresentations even from persons who aim to be truthful. Be slow therefore to believe reports you hear about others.

WHEN "SUNDAY" COMES.

It is pretty generally known that "Billy" Sunday is to be in Los Angeles during September and October of the present year. This fact is of considerable importance to Glendale, and already the general committee of 75 has been appointed, and our city is represented by Mattison B. Jones. Glendale is included in all the various activities of the campaign. Blanks have been sent to the local pastors, asking for names from the different churches for the make-up of the different committees. There will be committees on finance, men's Bible classes, personal work, choruses, ushers, secretaries, automobiles, woman's work, etc. Neighborhood prayer meetings will be in charge of the different pastors.

The writer of this article went through an entire campaign with Mr. Sunday, and knows from first-hand the great and lasting good resulting from such a series of revival meetings. Sunday is the greatest living evangelist. He delivers sledge-hammer blows against sin, and makes everyone count. He will remain eight or 10 weeks in Los Angeles, and will preach daily at a tabernacle at Grand avenue and Washington street. His powerful appeals to "hit the trail" will reach thousands in this county. It will be by far the greatest religious gathering ever held in the west.

In Decatur, Ill., where the writer lived, a city of 31,000, Mr. Sunday made, in six weeks, 6,209 converts, many of them among the leading people of the city. This was nine years ago, and today the city is a better city in every way because of the campaign in which the entire city was interested. The great outstanding result was, the city went "dry." "All heaven is shouting and the devil is glum," is the way "Billy" summed up his work in one city recently. One of his telling utterances which made a profound impression was: "The father who crawls under the blankets at 9 p. m., and allows his son to lead the cops a merry chase 'till the cocks crow, will need a four-section fireladder to get a look into heaven." "There is so much organization in the church that you can hear the machinery squeak, but we haven't got enough oil of the Holy Ghost to grease one axle of God's chariot."

Mr. Sunday will not be on trial in Los Angeles, but the people will be on trial. He does not ask anyone to endorse his methods. God has used this man as perhaps no other man has been used since the days of the Apostle Paul. Southern California should thank God that this firebrand for righteousness is coming this way. REV. W. E. EDMONDS, Glendale Presbyterian Church.

PADUA AND MILAN.

Mrs. Charles Turck gave the following interesting description of these Italian cities at a recent meeting of the art and travel section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

The city of Padua (Ital. Padova) is the capital of a province and the home of a bishop. It has a population of about 48,000. It lies on the banks of the Bacchiglione river, and some of the numerous bridges crossing this stream date from the Roman period. Our time is limited and since Padua differs little from many other Italian towns we have seen, we will confine ourselves to a visit to the Church del Santo, which contains the tomb of San Antonio, who is the patron saint of this city. The Cappella del Santo (Chapel of the Saint) is a renaissance edifice (rather florid), begun in 1500, with four columns in front and two elegant corner pillars, with reliefs by Matteo and Gauro. The walls are embellished with nine reliefs, representing scenes from the life of St. Antonio. The bones of the saint, whose passionate love of children is so well known, lie under the high altar, and I shall never forget the day of our last visit to the little chapel.

It was the anniversary of the birth of this good man, June 13, and the chapel was filled with sorrowing mothers and heart-broken fathers, each in turn striving to touch this tomb, while pouring out their hearts in prayer to this saint, begging his help for the recovery of their ailing little ones, or his spiritual intercession for the eternal welfare of those who were lost to them, for a time at least.

The sanctuary contains some fine work of the Goldsmiths of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, the baton of General Gattamelata, a censer, and a small casket containing the tongue of St. Anthony.

In the front of the church you will find the equestrian statue of Gattamelata, general of the army of the republic of Venice, 1438-41. This is the first great specimen of bronze-casting of the modern Italian period, and is by Donatello, the wooden model, copied from the ancient horses of St. Marks in Venice, may still be seen in the Salone or Great Hall of the Palace of Justice. We will stroll back to the station, through the narrow winding streets, flanked with low "portico" or arcades. Let us buy some fruit, cherries preferably, and the picturesque Italian woman with her bright-colored headdress, from whom you have made your purchase, will wash them in wine and arrange them artistically on a green cool-looking grape leaf before handing them to you. Could anything be more tempting? And now on to Venice, of which city Mrs. Braun has kindly consented to tell us:

Milan is a beautiful city of about 500,000. Tradition tells us it was founded by a Celtic prince about 600 B. C. Be that as it may Milan can be ranked today as among the few cities of Italy, which have, I will not say escaped, but rather risen superior to the devastation of ages, wars and revolutions, and brought down to modern times the greater part, if not the whole, of their ancient celebrity. She is today the second largest city in the kingdom and second in point of commercial importance, being noted for her manufactures of silk, woolen goods, furniture, gloves and machinery. It is also an educational, musical and theatrical center.

Its wonderful cathedral begun in its present form in 1387, is considered by the Milanese as the eighth wonder of the world, and is the third largest church in Europe. The general style is gothic, but shows many peculiarities. The church, like most of those in Italy, is cruciform in shape. It covers an area of 14,000 square yards, and holds 40,000 people. The interior is 486 feet long, 288 feet wide, and the dome 220 feet in height. The tower is 360 feet above the pavement. The entire building is of marble, even the roof being made of thin slabs of that material. The roof is adorned with 93 turrets and the exterior is adorned with more than 2,000 statues in marble. The facade was uncompleted within 1805, when Napoleon (whose marble statue, in antique costume, is among those on the roof), caused the work to be resumed, according to Tibaldis plan, modified by Amati. The stained glass windows in the choir are said to be the largest in the world. There are the usual number of tombs, rich and ornate. The beautiful high altar, the sacristy, and the underground sepulchre of San Carlo Borromeo. A fee of 1 L. is charged for a view of this tomb, and 5 L. for a view of the relics of this saint.

If you wish to do so, you may ascend to the roof and tower of the cathedral by the staircase, which is in the corner of the right transept (tickets 25c). There are 194 steps inside and 300 outside the edifice. We will leave the cathedral by the main entrance, which will bring us out upon the Piazza del Duomo, on the north side of which is the palatial facade of the Galleria Vittorio Emanuele, connecting this piazza with the Piazza Della Scala. This is the most imposing structure of its kind in all Europe, and is said to have cost 8,000,000 L. or $1,600,000. It is in the form of a Latin cross with an octagon in the center, over which there is a cupola 180 feet in height. The arcade contains handsome shops and is brilliantly lighted.

On one side of the Piazza Della Scala rises the imposing Teatro Alla Scala or Opera House, the largest in Italy, except the San Carlo theater in Naples. It is here that most of our noted artists have made their debut. It was here that poor Verdi's first opera was shown, and met with such a chilling reception when its success meant bread for the little family, and its failure killed the poor little, patient, starved wife, who in her cold garret room was waiting anxiously for the news of the verdict of the critical audience, who condemned it and made of Verdi an aimless wanderer unfitted for work of any kind for many years. This same opera was afterwards revived and became very popular. This theater is now used only occasionally for operas, ballets and spectacular pieces, and is always closed during the summer season, but can be visited by the payment of a fee.

Let us now take the electric tramway to the Palazzo di Brera, built in 1651 for a Jesuit college. It is now called the Brera gallery, Palace of Science, Letters and Art. The picture gallery contains works by Correggio, Giotto, Tintoretto, Paul Veronese, Tiltan, Bellini, Leonardo da Vinci and other artists of note, but our time will be given to a study of Raphael's far-famed posalizio, or the marriage of the Virgin, painted in 1504 for the Church of San Francisco in Citta di Castello, where it remained until 1798. The central part of the foreground is occupied by a long-bearded high priest, who joins the hands of the bridal pair. Mary is attended by a group of graceful virgins, while near Joseph stand the rejected suitors, the most passionate of whom breaks his shriveled wand.

We will now take a cab to the west quarter of the city, where is located the Church of Santa Maria delle Grazie, an abbey church of the fifteenth century. In the refectory of this suppressed monastery (now a cavalry barracks), is to be seen Leonardo da Vinci's Cinacola or Last Supper, which is unfortunately in a deplorable condition, having been painted on this wall in oils before 1499 during the artist's stay in Milan.

SOLDIERS OF LOST PROVINCES NOT TRUSTED BY GERMANS.

(By Henry Wood.) WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, June 2.—German prisoners declare the inhabitants of Alsace and Lorraine, who are enrolled by force in the German army, are treated with the utmost suspicion and severity, especially on the western front. They are kept under strict surveillance, and for the most part employed behind the lines, as it is feared they would desert if sent to the front trenches. The Alsacian soldiers, as well as those from Lorraine, are only granted leaves of absence to visit their homes after a very strict investigation of their sentiments as regards France. As fast as possible these soldiers are being withdrawn from the French front and sent to the Russian front. One German prisoner recently stated that while he was at Hildesheim he saw 70 Lorraine soldiers brought in enclosed wagons and under armed escorts. They had belonged to the 231st German Regiment of Reserves then stationed at Vitry-les-Reims, but had been withdrawn as the result of constant desertions amongst their comrades from Alsace and Lorraine.

BONDS TRANSFERABLE.

Investors in Liberty Loan bonds need have no fear that they will not be able to realize upon them in case of financial stress. The bonds will be transferable, thus enabling the purchaser to dispose of them in the market at any time. This privilege of transfer is particularly important to the small holder who may be called upon to realize at any time.

It is pointed out that the transfer clause gives the bonds absolute marketable value, and that this value will be protected by the government at or above par is the belief of the men who are conversant with the financial plans of the administration.

Of all the distinguished visitors to Grant's Tomb, probably there have been few that the silent soldier would more have enjoyed meeting in the flesh than Marshal Joffre.

Personals

Dr. Henry R. Harrower and family motored to Riverside Thursday and returned Friday. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. G. S.
Smith of 814 W. Broadway.

Mr. R. Z. Shively, who formerly lived at his home on West Fifth street, but who now resides in Los Angeles, was a visitor in Glendale Friday evening. He attended the Cooke-Manson marriage in Casa Verdugo last evening.

Thursday noon, Mrs. G. H. Herald of West Ninth street, entertained at luncheon Mrs. R. B. Bancroft and Mrs. John Dancy of Los Angeles, and Mrs. W. M. Crawford of Glendale.
After lunch the ladies enjoyed a general social time and musical program.

Mr. P. C. Guthrie, who is scoutmaster of the Congregational church boy scouts, left late yesterday afternoon with his troop of 32 scouts for San Dimas Canyon, where they will enjoy a camping trip. They will probably return to Glendale Sunday evening.

Ever alert to serving the library patrons, Mrs. Danford has collected all the books of the library on the subjects uppermost in the minds of people just now, Red Cross and Military Training, as well as books on the peace movement. These books have been placed on a rack where they are easily accessible.

The many friends of Mrs. Kizzie Sterling of Tropic avenue, Tropic, will be pleased to hear that she has slightly improved from her recent serious illness. However, she is still very sick, and as she is quite an old lady the doctors state that it will be some time before she will be up and around again.

BROKE THE RECORD.

"When Tuesday comes on Friday, prognosticate prodigies." The deep wisdom in that bit of occult prophecy was made manifest yesterday in Glendale, the home city of wonderful things. But what less could one expect when Little Mary Pickford played "A Poor Little Rich Girl" in the Palace Grand theater, three times, Friday afternoon and evening, for the Tuesday Afternoon club, giving a Red Cross benefit.

Why cyclones and earthquakes could hardly prevent such a lucky combination as that from achieving the highest success possible. But the sun by day, and the stars by night, with wind and weather all the time, were propitious.

Hence that prodigal smile of pro-motors, producers, pleased patrons and proud possessors of the pollidollar proceeds. Far be it from us to predicate such pre-eminent prosperity on the practical, poetical, priceless publicity provided for the popular proposition in this profoundly persuasive publication, the Glendale Evening News. That wonderful picture play, "A Poor Little Rich Girl," combines every essential to paramount success in one entrancing, irresistible result, which will live long and prosper in the hearts of the people; without regard to sex, nationality, political, social or other previous condition of mental servitude.

It is a triumph of fact, fiction and fancy—whether in the realm of science or fairydom; with the best of "Alice in Wonderland," so realized as to seem "truly true."

How can such a play ever die, when it has concreted the basic universal in human nature.

Unless human nature undergrows itself, the great, great grandchildren of the legion of children who thronged the Glendale Palace Grand yesterday, will still be joying or sorrowing, fighting and triumphing, with the living shadow of Little Mary Pickford as "A Poor Little Rich Girl," a wonderful sower who went out to sow good seed in the heart-gardens of childhood. It will live like a parable.

THE GREAT AWAKENING.

(Delivered by Olive Taylor, freshman, at interclass oratorical contest.)

The Revolution, which gave to America her independence, thus allowing her to become one of the greatest nations on the face of the earth; the Civil war of the sixties, which freed forever this country's slaves, and the universal struggle to outlaw the liquor traffic, constitute the three great awakenings that through the train of ages have come to the American people.

The greatest and most far-reaching of these awakenings is, without doubt, the present nationwide movement to totally eliminate the usage of liquor for beverage and so-called medicinal purposes.

The liquor traffic, like other vices, began with the world, but, unlike others, it has grown until it has become not one of the vilest, but the vilest and most repulsive curse a human being can possibly have. Its abolition forms the greatest question for the people of today to solve, and although many have tried to evade it, it is an omnipresent thought in nearly every mind, and we feel that something ought to be done. When we arrive at this realization we are arising to the awakening through which we shall doubtless go, when we understand what the liquor traffic has done in the past for us, and it is doing at the present.

California will have to play her part in this great awakening upon whose dawn our country now hovers.
The United States is not going to wait much longer for us to proclaim ourselves soldiers in the ranks of the free. Is California, land of perpetual sunshine and flowers, California, the Golden state, going to wait until, by national law, she is forced to come under the snow-white banner of liberty? Or is she going to awaken in time and take her stand in the cause of right, alone and unaided?

We call ourselves free, but while our country lies helpless in the clutches of this mighty demon, we are bound hand and foot, and every day is a step nearer to our almost inevitable ruin.

Intemperance is the most pronounced, outstanding menace that confronts civilization today. It affects us as a nation, state, community, and—as individuals. Into every branch of life, be it business, duty or pleasure, intemperance has crawled, and it has ruined and pil-laged all, stripped people of their honor and self-respect, and when they lose their self-respect they lose everything. So, in short, intemperance deprives man of everything, yea, even his life.

As would be expected, the moral devastation of this demon exceeds all others. It is not necessary, I hope, for me to depict the awful picture of immorality as created and laid bare by the liquor traffic. We all know, or at least we should know, that the cabarets, cheap theaters, gambling dens, pool halls, dance halls—all these, and many more, are the habitations of the drink fiend, and that the inmates are satan's own tools, put there for the downfall of our young people. In these times of strife and bloodshed we talk of war robbing us of our dearest and best.
But oh! The war of whiskey. The awfulness of it! Beside such a picture that of the war of nations pales.

When a great fire occurs and hundreds of lives are lost the world ex-claims in horror. But when we say that nearly 2,000,000 souls form the annual sacrifice to the Drink Moloc, the citizens of America receive it calmly and do nothing. The drink trade is our shame, sin and scandal and if it is not brought before the will of the people soon, and very soon, and furthermore, if these people who have been casting their votes to the wrong, do not cast them to the right, it will be our beautiful California's downfall.

As a financial blight the drink trade comes now before us. It deprives the woman and her children of their just due and keeps them poor. The amount of intoxicating liquors consumed by the United States per year is positively astounding, and yet we do not seem to be realizing what this greatest of all evils is robbing us of. Listen!

California helps the United States
each year to spend as much money as would build six Panama Canals, each at the colossal sum of $400,- 000,000. And again, California helps the United States each year to spend as much money as would make a belt of dimes reaching four times around the globe. And yet, again, California helps the United States
each year to spend as much money as would compile a column of $20 gold pieces 136 miles in height.
Think of it! Think of what the United States could do with such an amount of money. And then, think of the thousands of poor, pitiful little ones, who, year by year die of starvation while we are selfishly expanding this vast sum of money. And for what? The downfall of our nation.

But the brewers and distillers say:
"There are a great many men in California who are absolutely dependent upon our business for their means of existence. What is the poor man to do who raises nothing but wine grapes?"

When our state goes dry, then will come that man's supreme chance to right the wrong he has been doing humanity for so many, many years.
He will then have a chance to raise something which is of real benefit to mankind. By the method of grafting he may convert his vines into raisins and other grapes and also produce pure, unfermented grape juice that even a tiny child might drink without harm.

But, again, they turn to us and
say:
"Liquor is a source of immense revenue to the nation. If we don't have the liquor traffic, where shall we get the money with which to run our country?"

In the first place, the amount of revenue derived from liquor does not begin to measure up to the amount of crime, sin, shame, sorrow, poverty, and the awful expense of the liquor trade as carried on by us year after year. And, again, people of Glendale, is the answer to that from a far deeper source. Listen to it!

The nation that places a support-yielding price on the heads of its people into everlasting bondage for its own financial gain is neither Christian, nor great, but it is ignoble, and unworthy of the name it bears, and the curse of the eternal God whom we all fear is upon it!

Everyone is against the saloon. The church, the home, the scientific world, the military world, the business world, everything and everybody, with the exception of the underworld, and the world of crime.
They stand by it, and in their weak way offer excuses and arguments, and oh! the pity of it is that the majority of the people accepted such and allowed such to sway their minds and guide their hands on such days as November the seventh of last year.
Columbia hung her head in shame that day for California, that most promising child of hers, who once more deliberately turned her back on the right and persistently wended her journey down the Great White way.

But with that done away with, there is still a great argument faces us. For long years the human race has firmly believed that alcohol was invaluable in the sick room. Great men of medicine have favored it, and have recognized it as one of the greatest blessings that could possibly assist them in their profession.

But of late this belief is being called into question. Experiments of scientists are proving that alcohol is a deception and are disclosing startling facts concerning this.

Over 800 of the world's leading physicians have placed their signatures to a statement denouncing alcohol and stating that it is not a food as was once supposed but a deadly poison taken into the system at the peril of one's life.

The military heads of all the nations have long since thrown aside even a question of the usage of liquor among the men. All agree that whether in a hot or a cold climate, the soldier is 100 per cent better off without it.

And yet we are told that had it not been for the alcohol bottle near at hand in cases of emergency many lives would have been lost. Many people of today believe it to be an unfailing remedy as a stimulant. As we speak of it, what is a stimulant?
The dictionary tells us that it is a quantity which increases vital action in the organism or in any of its parts. Now!

That delicate mechanism which is distributed over the body, and which has for its center the brain, is called the nervous system. The brain is extremely delicate and susceptible to any narcotic or drug, and should at all hazards be protected from such.
Therefore, when alcohol is taken it goes directly to the brain, deadening the senses and thus paralyzing the body. It then removes all of its victim's power to control his faculties in any way whatever. A coma comes on which never departs and death is shortly forthcoming. Sometimes the effects are not so rapid as at other times, but still alcohol is trying to class itself as a stimulant when the process of decay is as follows:

After a night of revelry a man is never himself. He is nervous, has a headache, and is, as we say, generally "below par." A stimulant never gave that effect. A stimulant is something which sends new life coursing through the veins and puts a rod of iron at the back. 'Tis true alcohol does give a feeling of exhilaration, but that is caused by a paralysis of the delicate nerves around the heart, thus causing the necessary restriction to relax, and the action to become quicker. The blood beats faster, suffusing the cheeks with a glow. This is mistaken for a glow of health, which it certainly isn't. It can only be compared to the hectic flush on the cheek of the consumptive. Is that health? I leave you to your own conclusions.

Alcohol is trying to force its way into the world of medicine. It has killed thousands where it has cured one. This in short.
Scientists have proven that it is a narcotic drug whose effects are even more deadly than morphine, bella-donna, or opium. Like the latter, taken in small doses, it causes death.
Taken more than once or twice it is your ruin for like a drug it becomes impossible to resist.
It has been long since, by a great many, banished from the operating theater, stripped even of antiseptic values. When once the great white doors of the hospital close upon alcohol they are closed forever. And the verdict is not to be deferred for long.
You will notice that I have seemed to spend most of my time upon the scientific phase of the problem. I have done this, because to me this part of the liquor question seems to be the strongest retort that the "wets" have to offer. The financial and moral questions have been long since settled, but the scientific question is one that has been open for argument to the world for years.

There is absolutely nothing good to be said of the liquor traffic. It is responsible for all that is evil and bad at the heart. What robbed our country of that dearest and best beloved of American presidents, Mr.

Abraham Lincoln? Liquor. Whiskey was responsible for that awful crime.
It comes like a thief in the night, steals away our loved and cherished ones, and then, chuckling hideously at its triumph, slinks away while men blame the poor victim of its terrors.

My only advice to you is "Touch not, taste not, handle not the accursed thing! But rather take a corner of the snow-white banner of liberty and wipe from America's past the dark scenes painted by the cruel brush of the God of Drink. We have done it. We have taken the step.
Now come with me into the future.

Imagine, if you can, a grassy hill, the summit of which is crowned by a lofty palace, the home of King Whiskey. Kept by us all these years, it has stood over California's progress, impeding it. At the foot of the hill lies sleeping a fair apparition, California, kept there, sleeping through the long, long years.

As I said before, we have taken the step. We have voted California dry. Crash after crash echoes as the home of this tyrant comes tumbling to earth. As we gaze the figure of John Barleycorn fades slowly from our view.
At the sound of the falling California stirs, rubs her eyes. California awakens! The Great Awakening has come at last! And we are free!
The sun rises in the rosy east after such a long, long night, and it glints on our chains as they lie broken at our feet. Turning our faces to the hills, whence cometh our help and then to the glorious spirit, California, who stands radiant, beckoning us to the future, we lift our voices in notes of exultation and cry:
All hail to California, this glorious

Mrs. Foller and daughter have returned to Glendale.

Mrs. W. H. Wieman attended Decoration services at Inglewood, where her father is buried.

Mrs. Charles Dean and Miss Emma Kraft are spending the week in Los Angeles.

Hansel & Gretel, a German playlet, will be presented by the school children at Bolton Hall, Thursday eve, May 31.

This week finishes the school year.

Mr. Stewart moved Mr. Havenstick to Fullerton, and is now engaged in moving into his new home on Monte Vista.

A Rural Credits meeting was held at the post office on Monday evening, but aside from three who come over from La Canada, but a few of our townpeople were present. The matter is well worth looking into, even if we are so fortunate enough not to have to borrow.

Miss Bingle Maygrove celebrated her ninth birthday Tuesday. A number of her school friends helped in the good time as well as to partake of the nice little lunch served by her mother. Many little gifts helped to make the day a remembered one.

Mrs. Parmalee of Los Angeles was a caller on Miss Peck Sunday and remembered her with a substantial gift.

The Bee Club held its meeting Monday evening at the home of Ensign Woodruff. It was decided to purchase an extractor to be the property of the club members, and to be kept in a centrally located place. There has been much swarming of bees during the past week, and many amusing experiences were related. The club will meet again the fourth Monday eve in June, at the same place.

Charles W. Dean is putting some of the Eureka lemons, grown on his place on Walnut Drive, and all who have sampled them pronounce them the best lemons they have ever used.

If the weather man will give us a little sunshine, and some warm weather, it will surely be appreciated by all those who have put their land into gardens. We can manage the gophers, squirrels and rabbits, but not the weather.

Simon Havenstick and wife have moved on a ranch near Fullerton for the summer. We are always sorry to lose the old residents, and trust they will soon return.

Mrs. Mendenhall and Mrs. Skayner attended the Ladies Auxiliary of the Episcopal church in Los Angeles, and were surprised to receive from them a donation of one hundred and forty dollars for the Tujunga Episcopal church. This, with money on hand will nearly complete the church so it can be used for services. The Guild will hold an all-day sewing bee on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Eckhart on Sunset boulevard.

Mrs. Powell and three children who resided on Los Robles avenue some three years ago, have again returned to their home and will reside there for the summer.

Mrs. Calburn has rented her home on Stephens Way to Mr. Porter and sister of San Diego, who will remain some time.

The children of Glorietta Heights school rendered a fine patriotic program Tuesday afternoon at the school house. The program was as follows:

Song—"My Country 'Tis of Thee," by children.

Song—"Battle Cry of the Republic."

Mr. W. H. Wieman then followed with a talk on patriotism.

Mr. Leo Lang followed with "Decoration Day; What it Means."

Music—"Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," by Muriel Osborne on the saxophone, accompanied by Miss Salstrom on the piano.

Mr. Worman spoke on "What the Flag Means."

Recitation—"My Captain," by Walt Whitman, recited in unison by all the children.

Last but not least a song—"The Star Spangled Banner."

These numbers were all fine, and it is to be regretted that so few of the parents were able to attend.

Miss Newton, housekeeper for the Alexandria Hotel of Los Angeles, is spending the week at Tujunga. Miss Newton owns a lot in the village and we hope at some future time she may be induced to become one of us.

Mr. Charles Frey and daughter of Los Angeles spent the week end in Tujunga.

Judging from the number of yucca blossoms carried through the valley on Decoration day, surrounding towns must have them, yet there is nowhere that they show.

On last Monday evening a representative meeting of water users was held at the residence of Mr. Wieman to discuss the matters to come before the Railroad Commissioners on June 8. It was the opinion of all present that the recent action of the Board of Trade did not really represent the users of water here and that some statement should be prepared to be put before this Commission that would give a fair representation of those who find rates and service satisfactory and are opposed to further changes.

A committee was appointed to prepare a statement for those present and others and present the same at a public meeting to be held at the School House Saturday evening, June 2nd.

Among those present were holders of ranch land as well as owners in the townsite and all were agreed that the extension of the double pipe system would be unreasonable and unnecessary. They also were strongly in favor of continuing the charge to non-users of water and even increasing it for it appears only reasonable to charge something to those who are holding land idle when there are pipes to maintain for their use.

The meeting on Saturday is open to all and from indications it will represent a majority of the users of water which the Board of Trade certainly has not done in this case.

The Secretary of the Board of Trade by direction of the directors has asked the Western Empire Suburban Farms association to join with them in asking of the railroad commissioners to change the place for the hearing on the water question from Los Angeles to Tujunga, because so many desire to hear the presentation.

The secretary speaking for himself, because the directors as such have declined to enter into any controversy, newspaper or otherwise, that printed broadside may follow circular letter and meeting follow both; that hysteria may develop on any or all sides, but the hearing will be heard, it is hoped, in a friendly manner, and that it will "clarify the question for all time."

People interested in forming a Farm Loan association met at the post office Monday night and much progress was made. A delegation from La Canada was present and was agreed to call the organization the Foothill Valley Farm Loan Association.

Signatures representing loans to the amount of $14,300 was secured and very shortly the minimum amount of $20,000 will be secured. It was voted that the district should include Hansen Heights, Sunland and Tujunga, La Crescenta and La Canada. Any further information can be secured at the post office.

Miss Zoe H. Gilbert is visiting friends in Pasadena and Los Angeles.

A letter from Captain P. J. Blake, Quartermaster Officers' Reserve Camp, U. S. Army, says he arrived safely in Seattle, Wash., and is now on duty at the quartermasters depot. Captain Blake has a home in Tujunga.

A SLICE OF BREAD.

A single slice of bread seems an unimportant thing. In many households one or more slices of bread daily are thrown away and not used for human food. Sometimes stale quarter, or half, loaves are thrown out.

Yet one good-sized slice of bread—such as a child likes to cut—weighs an ounce. It contains almost three-fourths of an ounce of flour.

If every one of the country's 20,000,000 homes wastes on the average only one such slice of bread a day, the country is throwing away daily over 14,000,000 ounces of flour—over $75,000 pounds, or enough flour for over a million one-pound loaves a day. For a full year at this rate there would be a waste of over 319,000,000 pounds of flour—1,500,000 barrels—enough flour to make 365,000,000 loaves.

As it takes 4½ bushels of wheat to make a barrel of ordinary flour, this waste would represent the flour from over 7,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Fourteen and nine-tenths bushels of wheat on the average are raised per acre. It would take the fruit of some 470,000 acres just to provide a single slice of bread to be wasted daily in every home.

To produce this much flour calls for an army of farmers, railway men, flour-mill people. To get the flour to the consumer calls for many freight cars and the use of many tons of coal.

But some one says, a full slice of bread is not wasted in every home. Very well—make it a daily slice for every 4 or every 10 or every 30 homes—make it a weekly or monthly slice in every home—or make the wasted slice thinner. The waste of flour involved is still appalling—altogether too great to be tolerated when wheat is scarce.

Any waste of bread is inexcusable when there are so many ways of using stale bread to cook delicious dishes.

The United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., or your state agricultural college will tell you how to use stale bread in many ways.

Many persons are unaware that the green and tender tops of many vegetables, such as radishes, turnips, celery, and beets, contain valuable mineral and other food substances, and are excellent cooked as greens, or even as additions to salads.

Scraps of left-over meat or fish can be combined with cereal or other mild-flavored food, both to give flavor and to add nourishment to the total dish.

UNRELATED POTATOES.

Sweet potatoes have not much in common botanically with their more familiar namesakes. They have long been cultivated as food in tropical and subtropical countries and were actually introduced into England at an earlier date than the common potato. The two tubers were often confounded by writers of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, but the sweet potato won more popularity than its rival. Made into a sweetmeat it was regarded as an excellent invigorator. Sweetish and agreeable to the taste, its flesh forming qualities are considered equal at least to those of the common potato.—London Chronicle.

The early American colonies made several attempts to grow alfalfa, but without great success. George Washington grew trial plots of alfalfa on his Virginia farm, and Thomas Jefferson gave considerable attention and care to its cultivation. Their efforts, however, proved unsatisfactory, since they did not understand all of the requirements for the successful growth of the plant.
