LES FEMMES A NEW YORK

LE GOUVERNEMENT A PRIS CHARGE

Nouvelles de guerre.— Femmes factrices et conductrices.— Guerre de guerre.

La guerre a fait entrer les femmes dans les carrières autrefois réservées aux hommes. Les Etats-Unis n'échappent pas à cette loi générale et, pour commencer, New-York a des femmes factrices et conductrices de tramway.

Le bureau des postes de New-York a envoyé lundi, en tournée pressante, deux "factrices" qui, par dix-sept jours de zèle et de compétence, peuvent ouvrir la carrière à d'autres New-Yorkaises dont les demandes d'emploi sont déjà nombreuses. Daniel 35 sous de l'heure pour un travail de 8 heures du matin à 6 heures du soir, avec repos hebdomadaire le midi, passe mal. Sans échapper quinze éléphants matin, une papa et sa poupée, plusieurs rebousse la grande de la "factrice". La casquette réglementaire, au moins masquée, siège peut-être mal au visage de la factrice, mais la satisfaction complète est difficile à obtenir d'une administration sur le point de guerre.

Tes conductrices de tramway ont également fait leur apparition sur les avenues de Broadway. Elles

Par une proclamation lancée par le Président Wilson, le gouvernement fédéral a pris charge des chemins de fer de la nation pendant la guerre depuis vendredi 28 décembre. M. William G. McAdoo, retraité sa place dans le cabinet comme secrétaire de la trésorerie, et a été nommé directeur général des chemins de fer.

Chaque ligne de chemin de fer engagé dans le transport général, y compris les lignes de vapeurs, sont en possession du gouvernement, et seront sous la direction du directeur général.

La direction des lignes de chemins de fer restera entre les mains des officiers des compagnies et du Railroad War Board, composé de cinq chefs sous la surveillance général du Secrétaire McAdoo.

B'est difficile au gouvernement d'obtenir assez de bateaux, bateaux et télescopes, pour les vaisseaux de guerre.

Ses bateaux sont destinés à leur condition.

Envoyez immédiatement si vous partez pour l'Europe, à Honfleur, Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant Secrétaire de la marine, ou à l'Observatoire Naval, Washington, D. C., qui accusera réception de toutes les lunettes acceptées par la Marine, et renverra celles qui ne pourront servir.

En vertu de la loi le Gouvernement est requis de payer un dollar pour chaque lunette acceptée par le pain régulier comme aspect il peut également un peu plus se
