CARMEL'S OPPORTUNITY

Tomorrow a majority of the voters of Carmel will render an important decision affecting the future of the town. Much will depend upon this first strictly municipal election.

A majority for incorporation will mean that the people of this community are willing and eager to take upon themselves the obligations and responsibilities of organized and efficient city government.

It will mean that hereafter this community will stand squarely and independently upon its own feet, depending upon no person or corporation for ordinary community requirements.

It will mean that the people themselves will take into their own hands the laying out of streets, the making of adequate provision for fire and police protection, the annexing of additional territory, and, best of all, the expenditure of their own tax money.

It will mean that this beauty spot will advance and thrive artistically and materially, maintaining always its cultural atmosphere. Not a single element of beauty will be sacrificed. On the contrary, all our natural attractions and resources will be enhanced and preserved and protected—which is not the case now.

This incorporation plan can be carried through if every true lover of Carmel will embrace the opportunity to vote tomorrow.

If you are in favor of incorporation, go to the polls and say so. It is confidently believed that incorporation will carry. Make it certain.

The fear that the city-to-be will be mismanaged is dispelled by the nomination of men and women of business acumen to fill the official positions.

Do it now. Opportunity is at the door.

The Kelloggs in Belgium

The relief situation in Belgium is so serious that the presence of Professor Kellogg is imperative. Such is the statement of United States Minister Brand Whitlock, who gives an idea of the magnitude of the labor which Dr. Kellogg is doing. Whitlock writes:

"While we know how greatly the Kelloggs will be missed in California and how greatly their services are needed there, we need them much more, and if they in California knew how well the work goes on here with Dr. Kellogg in charge, I am sure that they would all request to have him remain here. For my part, I dread to think of his going until the work is all done."

The Other Side Cooperation or Incorporation?

By Maude Lyons

The exclamation, "Improve our streets!" is jolted out of us after we leave the highway on our road home. If the machine gets stalled a block away from the house, we are apt to add, "The fellow who wont improve his street ought to go to jail."

We tried hard to improve our street but no one would help us. That again suggests a use for a constable and a justice of the peace and a jail—but after all, what we need now is something simpler than incorporation: the hearty cooperation of our citizens. Suppose we do save a lot of money that goes to the county for roads, and win the right to repair our share of the county road ourselves, and to maintain two salaried officers in Carmel? Then, when we mention streets, the treasurer standing before an empty cash-box will remind us that a year must pass before a city tax can be levied. Bonds can be issued. It is all fair and above-board, and every one can vote who has the right. We are already committed to the expense of incorporation and we find that it is too late to draw the line at more expense. Some towns are so poor, although incorporated, that their allotted space of highway is still unbuilt. But we have our highway, and the county is obliged to keep it in repair, unless we incorporate.

We do not mention the proposed boundary line for the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea; we have been informed that there is "a good and sufficient reason, which we are not at liberty to divulge," for believing that the city should not be bounded on the south by the Carmel river.

We want better streets and we want good sewerage more than we want a city treasurer or a city clerk. If the idea of cooperation could take root, even at this late hour, it might save us the needless expenditure of much effort, time and money. Some of us stand ready to help with substantial subscriptions for better streets. Few of us want another sewer such as we have, but we want good drainage.

We don't all ride in automobiles. Some are paying for their homes, some have mortgages to meet. Most of us have a sense of relief when the taxes are paid.

Cooperation or incorporation? It is up to the voters. The census has nothing to do with it now because the census included children under 21 years of age, and some kindly folk who do not own property in Carmel, but who desire to see Carmel improve at any cost.

Carmel will never have a better list of nominees from which to choose trustees than now. Do we want it now!

If your business is in Carmel have your Printing done at the Pine Cone Press.
