Received

From Nikolaevsk, headquarters of the Army District, of the Red Army N F.190 3/III.4.

To all offices concerned

February 29, we occupied the town of Nikolaevsk after the Japanese, having accepted our following demands, concluded peace. The first — unconditional implementation of the Lieutenant-General Siromidzu's declaration by the Japanese command. The second — the disarmament of the white-guard detachment of the town of Nikolaevsk and the handing over of all its armament and equipment, the place for the handing over may be indicated by us additionally. The third — all the posts before our entry into the town and their replacement must be held by the Japanese. The fourth — after having fulfilled the above-mentioned the Japanese troops will deliver everything to our units and occupy the quarters that were indicated to them; the question of the quarters may be jointly solved by the Japanese and our command, the white guard detachment has completely laid down arms; so far about 300 rifles, 4 three-inch guns and shells for them, 3 searchlights belonging to the rest of the surrendered battalion, companies are being formed, important counter-revolutionaries and all officers have been arrested, three of them shot themselves, colonel Medvedev the one who was most guilty, poisoned himself, the mutilated body of the bearer of the flag of truce comr. Orlov, who was tortured to death by the Japanese and the whiteguards, was found with his eyes put out, his nose and heels burnt, his back slashed; autopsy performed in the presence of the representatives of foreign consulates in order to establish the atrocity act of the Japanese committed in violation of the International law concerning the bearing of a flag of truce; an investigation is being conducted as to the participants in the atrocity act.

EXCERPT FROM JOURNAL OF BATTLE ACTIONS
OF THE UNITS, WHICH MAKE UP THE AMUR FRONT

August 6,

Report of the Chief of the Operations Office
August 4, 1920

EVENTS IN NIKOLAEVSK ON AMUR

In the early days of March the guerrilla fighters took the fortress Chinarakh, and all available guns and ammunition were removed, after which the town of Nikolaevsk was under gunfire for three days; on the third day representatives came out, bearing a flag, and signed a treaty; then the guerrilla fighters entered the town. Upon their entrance into the town the guerrilla fighters demanded from the whiteguards and the Japanese the delivery of guerrilla prisoners, who, as it proved later on, had been tortured to death.

Upon the indication of the Japanese, scores of tortured guerrilla fighters were dug out. A medical examination of the tortured men took place in the presence of the Japanese and representatives of foreign consulates, and facts were established; after a report was made there was an intention to bury the bodies, but the guerrilla fighters demanded the disarmament of the Japanese troops before the burial. The Japanese tried to dodge the issue for the time being and on the night of March 14 made an attack against the headquarters of the guerrilla detachment. The civilian population joined the guerrilla fighters, and jointly they beat off the attack of the Japanese; 136 Japanese men were taken prisoners and the others, since they resisted to being taken prisoners, were killed.
