

GERMANS IN LODZ

MOST IMPORTANT BATTLE OF WAR ENDS SUNDAY WHEN CITY IS OCCUPIED

The European war goes on without any chance for an end in the near future. A statement that the war will close with the year 1914 would seem as inconsistent from the present outlook as though a statement were to be made that the greatest river in the land would at the close of the present year cease to obey the law of gravity and instead of continuing its course toward the ocean, flow in the direction of its source.

The countries of Europe have no systematic plan of warfare. The position of all of them is largely defensive. Following is an account of the Germans occupying Lodz:

BERLIN (via London), Dec. 7, 2:03 a. m.—It is officially announced that the Germans occupied Lodz on Sunday.

Lodz, a city of some 350,000 population, is the chief manufacturing center of Russian Poland. It has numerous textile mills, the majority of them for the manufacture of cotton goods. In addition, it has flour mills, dyeing establishments, brick-yards, machinery plants and breweries. The population is made up of Poles, Germans and Jews.

GENEVA (via London), Dec. 6, 5:26 p. m.—The Journal de Geneve publishes a dispatch from Bucharest, which says that Roumania has definitely decided to enter the war on the side of the allies. This decision, according to the dispatch, is in accordance with the wish of the entire country, including King Ferdinand, and all the Roumanian statesmen, with the exception of the minister of finance, M. Marghiloman.

The question of when Roumania will make her entry into the conflict is still being discussed, however. The attitude of Bulgaria still remains doubtful.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The battle, or series of battles, for the possession of Lodz and the railways leading through Northern Poland to Warsaw, continues without abatement, but the reticence of the German and Russian headquarters staffs and the meagerness of telegraphic communication which is interrupted by storms prevent a clear view being obtained of the progress of the fighting.

The German official report dismisses tonight the struggle in a single sentence—"The battles of Lodz are developing according to our expectations"—while the last Russian report, sent from Petrograd last Friday, simply recorded that the battle was in progress.

From unofficial sources, however, it is gathered that on Thursday last the Germans, having failed in their attempt to pierce the Russian center, commenced, with the aid of reinforcements, another attempt to envelop the Russians on both flanks. This is indicated by the fact that there is fighting near Piotrkow, to the north of Lodz, and at Hlowka, to the south. Both of these places are in advance of the positions at which the Germans previously have been reported in their second invasion of Poland, and like Lodz, they are situated on the main roads to the Polish capital.

There is no news from South Poland, beyond a German denial of a success reported to have been achieved by the Russians at Czenstachowa.

The capture of one of the advance positions at Przemysl is reported as conferring a valuable advantage to the Russians in their attack on the fortress. Leaving this city to the attentions of the besieging armies, the Russians are pushing in small bodies steadily across the plains of Hungary, and fugitives are said to be pouring toward Budapest.

In the face of the Austrian advance in Serbia, there has been talk of the removal of the capital from Nish to Mitrovitz, but Serbia denies that this step actually has been taken.

The allies continue to push forward in Flanders and in Northern France, but the Germans explain that they are giving ground for tactical and strategical reasons. The advance as far as Flanders is concerned seems to have been checked on the outskirts of Langemarck.

There has been a recrudescence of hard fighting in the Argonne district, where the French claim they are making progress. On the whole, however, in the siege operations, these successes or reverses only mean a loss or gain of a few hundred yards and a slight readjustment of positions.

Seemingly more important is the unofficial statement that the French have seriously interfered with the Germans' communications between Metz and the Woerre district in France, for here, as elsewhere, command of the roads is of the greatest

STABBING AFFRAY

Late Saturday night police officers were called to Montrose, where some Mexicans were brandishing knives and cutting each other rather promiscuously, a stunt which they pull off every so often. Patrolman Lawrence of Burbank responded to the call and about 3 o'clock Sunday morning escorted Guscape, Melandy and Danaciano Lopez to the Glendale police station, where they had time to become sober before being called before Judge Melrose this morning, the charge against them being drunkenness and assault with a deadly weapon.

Mrs. Helen Boyd of 1453 Ivy street entertained at lunch on Monday Mrs. Etta Jackson of Lubeca and Mrs. Lindley of Los Angeles.

Importance to the army. It was officially announced tonight that during his visit to France King George conferred the order of merit on Field Marshal Sir John French and also pinned the Victoria cross on the first Indian soldier to win that decoration.

A LARGE ASSEMBLAGE AT LODGE OF SORROW

LOCAL ORDER OF ELKS HOLDS BEAUTIFUL AND IMPRESSIVE SERVICES IN HONOR OF DEPARTED MEMBERS AT NEW BRAND BOULEVARD THEATER SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Wm. Herman West, Exalted Ruler Elks' Lodge, No. 1289

Nearly a thousand people filled the new Jensen theater on Brand boulevard Sunday, composed of Elks, their wives, families and friends, to participate with this lodge in their annual memorial services for those members who have passed on.

By 1:45 o'clock that portion of the theater which had been reserved for the general public was practically filled. Members of the lodge, and officers, led by the Patrol, marched from the clubrooms with bare heads and each coat lapel showing a beautiful white carnation. The body filed in and occupied the remaining seats that had been reserved for them.

William Herman West, the exalted ruler of Glendale lodge, presided over the services in a most worthy manner. First on the program was the hymn, "The Lost Chord," by the Glendale Choral club, and he it said that this organization has endeared itself to all Elks and the public in general by the sweet music rendered.

Introductory remarks by the exalted ruler and singing of the "Vacant Chair" by officers and members, then followed, with opening services by the lodge, and invocation by Rev. C. Irving Mills, D. D.

The ritualistic work was most impressive. All officers were grouped on the stage, centered by the Choral club, and beautiful flowers adorned the pedestals of officers and were here and there placed most effectively. A solo by Bro. Spencer Robinson, sacred in its sentiments, preceded the eulogy by Bro. W. E. Evans. As the names of departed brothers were mentioned in Brother Evans' remarks lighted stars appeared individually on a large flag in the rear of the stage. Brother Evans said:

Exalted Ruler, Brother Elks, Ladies and Gentlemen: This day is hailed as the greatest day in the life and work of all Elksdom. It is regarded as such because it is the time set apart by this order to do homage and respect to the memory of those of our dear brothers who have passed from the cares and joys of this life to a better life in the great beyond. On this day universal charity and brotherly love, which are the foundation principles of this order, are glorified and re-plant more steadfastly in the hearts of all our members.

On the first Sunday in December of each year it is our custom to call the roll, welcome to this service all our brothers and friends, and bid them join us in a tribute to those whose voices have been silenced forever by the all-staying power of death.

Within the year which is just past this lodge has thus been deprived of three of her most devoted followers, whose names are as follows:

Bro. C. B. Cunningham—Born Jan. 2, 1863; died March 6, 1914.

Bro. Henry G. Pettitt—Born April 1, 1885; died August 2, 1914.

Bro. Hans Grass—Born March 25, 1881; died September 20, 1914.

We realize, my friends, how insufficient and how inadequate is any word of comfort which we may be

CHRISTMAS BOOKS

THE PARENT-TEACHER FEDERATION GIVES VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS

Now that the gift season of the year is approaching and everyone who makes gifts is more or less disturbed by the perplexity of choosing wise and suitable gifts, as well as those suited to the length of the purse, some suggestions may not be amiss.

As a body of persons who stand for education, progress and purity, we are naturally interested in all things that contribute to these ends. We believe that every home should try to have a library. It may contain only a very few volumes; indeed, we know that a thorough acquaintance with a very few good books is far more to be desired than a superficial knowledge of many books of questionable value.

Mothers are constantly inquiring for information relative to the best books to be obtained for the home library, which, of course, will be much read by the younger members of the family. Perhaps the best suggestions to be given are those which follow, quoted from "The American Bulletin of Child Life" for December.

1. Buy old rather than new books; that is, books that have stood the test of years. The standard books are safe purchases, for several reasons. They were not hastily written; they were expressed in good English; they dealt in sound ideas; they were not ephemeral in subject; they gave, for the most part, true views of life, and they remained good companions. If to the sound old virtues of style and matter may be added large type, good paper and binding and lovely illustrations, we are adding to our homes friends of permanent welcome.

2. Buy some imaginative books. You do not want your child to become a mere money-grubber. He will not enjoy, nor be immeasurably improved by, the popular books of advice, which, as someone has wittily said, are presented to children by their fathers and read chiefly by their grandmothers. Buy stories, fairy stories and myths, and stories of adventure; and buy poetry, too. But do not forget the first recommendation as given above. Buy books that are illustrated by poetic artists, such as Maxfield Parrish, Arthur Rackham, Dulac and Tenniel.

3. Buy books that are good to read aloud. The habit of reading aloud is one of the finest of all home arts. It binds the family together with mutual feelings and aspirations. Get books that everybody in the home may enjoy and enjoy together. "Uncle Remus" is such a book, and so is the poetry of Kipling, and so is Howard Pyle's "Men of Iron."

Very little children are, of course, partial to picture books. Unfortunately, the stores are flooded with cheap, poor books of this type. A picture book, to be good, must be good art. This implies correctness in representation, skill in detail and a selection of what is characteristic and essentially related.

The picture book, to attract a child, must have simplicity. It must make a distinct impression. A very little child would pass by indifferently some gorgeous child portrayal, but cling with passion to a simple black and white sketch of "I Love Little Pussy," because only one thing was shown, and that one of immediate interest and love.

A little child likes color in his picture book. He likes broad, simple outlines, combined with flat color, the poster style. This is the way he himself would draw his outline and fill in his color. In developing his color sense naturally, the feeling for bright color need not be frowned upon; it is his child heritage; but it can be trained by showing him harmonious combinations of bright color.

Action is another interest that appeals to the child. He loves things that go.

Humor appeals to the little child. He loves the funny book. The picture book to be avoided is the one that caricatures, that shows sport at someone's misfortune and gains a laugh at someone's expense. This is the cruelty taught by the faulty come supplement of the Sunday newspaper.

Children are interested in animals and the animal picture book is one of their chief sources of delight. Arthur Rackham, perhaps the foremost living English artist working for the children, has brought to his treatment of animals humor, and a certain emphasis of the symbolic, which is a highly imaginative quality. Beatrix Potter's books also have excellent illustrations, interesting to all ages of children.

Mrs. R. G. Payne of 325 South Central avenue will entertain this evening in honor of Mr. Holman Midcall, who will leave tomorrow for the Hawaiian islands to be gone about six months.

ROYAL ENTERTAINERS

SONS OF VETERANS' OPEN MEETING AND ENTERTAINMENT—FINE PROGRAM

Evidence of activity on the part of the N. P. Banks camp, Sons of Veterans, was shown by a successful open meeting and entertainment given by the members and their friends at the G. A. R. hall Tuesday evening of last week, at which the following program was rendered:

Instrumental solo, "Whispering Leaves," Miss Florence Chadwick. Recitation, Miss Ruth Spafford. Vocal solo, "Tell Her I Love Her So," Mrs. Robert M. McGee. Recitation, "California as I See Her" (written by himself), M. D. Chamberlain.

Song, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Danner. Instrumental solo, "Second Hungarian Shaperey" and "The Rosary," Miss Allena A. McGee.

Reading, Arthur J. Van Wie. Instrumental solo, "Moonlight at the Cliff," Miss Florence Chadwick. Song, Joseph V. Griffin.

Patriotic address, W. J. Hibbard. Each participant on the program received enthusiastic encores and the large gathering of Women's Relief Corps members, Veterans, Sons of Veterans and their friends pronounced the entertainment most creditable, indeed.

Following the entertainment seventy-five persons were seated at the sumptuously laid tables in the banquet hall.

Many expressed surprise and pleasure over the rapid growth of the Sons of Veterans' camp, which is hardly one year old. New applications for membership are continually being received and it is predicted that within a short time the local camp will be one of the largest in the state.

BAPTIST WEEKLY PROGRAM

Two powerful services came to the Baptist church Sunday and the future is hopeful of a genuine revival of old-fashioned Bible religion. The prayers of all God's children everywhere are requested, especially that the power of the living God may control and prevail in this important field. Special prayer meetings will be held at the meeting-house of the Baptist church Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, commencing at 7:30. Thursday evening a class for the study of Spanish under the instruction of Prof. Smart. A rare opportunity for bright, progressive young people. Saturday night the choir will meet under the leadership of Prof. Cunningham. Something every night is the rule of the Baptist church.

WHY YOU should do your business with the Bank of Glendale

California laws regulating this bank are among the strongest in the United States. In these laws are defined just what loans a bank may make. Regular examinations are made by the state banking superintendent and the Los Angeles Clearing House examiner. The funds are protected by a good screw door safe in a vault fortified with electric burglar alarm, in addition to being insured against burglary—or hold-up. All officers are bonded.

The Bank of Glendale makes no loans to any of its officers or directors. Disinterestedness in those having care of your money is thus assured.

Keep in mind that we do a COMMERCIAL AND SAVINGS bank business, that we are provided with all that is to be desired in safety and service. We invite your business.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Bierbower of 922 Fairview avenue were members of a merry party of sixteen who motored to Brea on Saturday, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hearst, returning to Glendale on Sunday.

Mr. J. H. Shugart of 224 Belmont street, who came here from Omaha more than a year ago to make his home, was formerly a resident of Shenandoah, Iowa, for a long time and like most of us, is loyal to the old home. Mr. Shugart now comes forward with a suggestion in which this loyalty is manifest. He says there are so many clubs and societies being formed among the girls and women of Glendale and he thinks "Shenandoah," which means "daughter of the stars," would be a pretty and appropriate name for one of these many clubs.

The Good Templars met on Friday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall. The Christmas social was planned, and two members were initiated. There were a number of visitors present and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

Mr. James A. Newton of the Superior Electric company is wearing the smile that won't come off today since a little son arrived early this morning at Thornycroft hospital. The young man weighs six pounds but is a lusty youngster and promises to be bigger soon.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 from the undertaking parlors of Scovern, Letton and Frey and interment will be in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery of 117 South Kenwood street spent the week end at Hotel Coronado. Mr. Emery went to San Diego on business and Mrs. Emery accompanied him for a little rest. While there they visited the exposition grounds and were much surprised and pleased at the beauty of the grounds and the buildings, which are nearly completed. Nature has provided San Diego with a perfect place for their fair, which greatly adds to what man can do.

On Saturday evening the University of Southern California Spanish club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Brown, 1313 Milford street. The decorations were of red, green and yellow; the menu was Spanish and all conversation was in that tongue. About twenty-two guests were present and a most enjoyable as well as beneficial evening was spent. Miss Huet, one of the Spanish teachers of the U. S. C., was present and gave the story of the Christ child in Spanish and a number of Spanish songs were sung. This is a regularly organized club of people who have studied the Spanish language and meet once a month at the homes of the different members.

Saturday evening about thirty young people met at the home of Holman Midcalf to bid him "bon voyage," as he leaves Tuesday for the Hawaiian Islands. ### QUEEN HAS PEACE DESIRES

Holland hopes for peace soon, says Dr. Henry Van Dyke, American minister to the Netherlands, now in this country on a month's leave. Dr. Van Dyke told Secretary Bryan on Tuesday of the earnest desire of Queen Wilhelmina and the people of Holland for the early ending of the war. However, after talking with Secretary Bryan, Dr. Van Dyke indicated clearly that the present did not seem the right moment to put forward definite proposals of peace.

"The desire of the United States for peace," he said afterward, "is a well-known fact. The decision as to the proper moment for us to act is in the hands of my chiefs. The president and the secretary of state can be trusted to determine when the moment arrives."

Dr. Van Dyke was forced to take a rest because of the state of his health, being completely worn out because of overwork caused by the war. He will return to Holland December 12th.

NORTH GLENDALE

Master Theodore Haig, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Haig of 1008 San Rafael street, met with a serious injury last Saturday evening while delivering papers on North Pacific avenue. The lad fell off his bicycle and broke his arm at the elbow. Dr. Thompson was called to set the bone and Theodore is now resting as easily as can be expected.

Mr. Charles H. Josselyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Josselyn of 1641 Ruth street, surprised his relatives and friends by getting married last Saturday morning, his bride being Miss Olive Welsh of Los Angeles. The ceremony was performed in Los Angeles and the happy couple immediately notified their relatives and are now enjoying their honeymoon in places unknown.

Mr. E. W. Dunn of Los Angeles, who with his family have been guests of Mrs. Dunn's sister, Mrs. K. M. Hall of 1633 Ruth street, expect to leave today for Coachella valley, where Mr. Dunn has purchased one hundred and sixty acres of land that he will farm and upon which he will make his home.

Mrs. Carrie Murphy of 1648 Ruth street spent the week-end in Los Angeles, where she was the guest of relatives.

Mr. Fordyce Hunter of 1004 San Rafael street is having an addition built onto his attractive home, making a very substantial improvement.

Miss Ellen D. Williams of Dryden street motored to Sierra Madre one day last week and was the house guest of Dr. Cornell, rector of the Episcopal church, and his family, while there.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Rich of 1500 Burchett street entertained as their guests at a beautifully appointed dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Varney Meadows and children, also Miss Mary English and mother, Mrs. J. English, all of Los Angeles.

Mrs. J. C. Dennerlen of 1304 North Central avenue has sold to Mrs. Nora Waldon a very pretty bungalow home located at 1219 Randolph street, which she has moved into and with her daughter are very cosily domiciled.

DEATH OF TOM COX

The many friends of Tom Cox, the young man who has been ill with tuberculosis for several months, will be saddened indeed by the news of his death, which occurred Sunday morning at La Crescenta, where he had been living for some time in the hope that the high altitude and pure mountain air would benefit him.

The young man was born at Redding, California, twenty-one years ago and is a son of Mrs. Adelaide Wise, formerly of the Kalem company, who mourns the loss of a dear and dutiful son. Many in the younger social circles of Glendale also mourn his death.

Funeral services will be held at the Pulliam undertaking parlors on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The remains will be shipped to Oakland, Cal., for burial.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

The intermediate piano pupils of Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan gave a recital at the studio, 1550 Myrtle street, on Saturday evening. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the studio was crowded with parents and friends and a beautiful time was enjoyed by all. After the program dainty refreshments were served. In a program of which every number was so perfect, it would be impossible to single out anyone as being better than the others. However, there were one or two numbers not given by the intermediate pupils, but which were very fine. Among these were the two beautiful classic dances by Miss Bodo Knapp, sister of Miss Ruth Knapp, one of Mrs. Sloan's pupils. Another number that was not down on the program at all was a comical reading given by little Dorris Packer, who had come to the recital in company with one of the other pupils. She read "An Inquisitive Customer," by Mark Twain, in a way that made the audience laugh till they cried. Waldo Yard sang "It Ain't No Cinch." Waldo is a little boy only nine years old and was not down on the program, but his song was greatly enjoyed.

The program was as follows: Selections from "Il Trovatore," for four hands, Miss Ethel Schramm and Mrs. C. H. Sloan; "Cradle Song," by Schwalm, Waldo Yard; "The Flatterer," by Chaminade, Miss Ruth Knapp; "Peer Gynt Suite," Grieg, Miss Ethel Schramm; vocal solo, "My Laddie," Thayer, Miss Helen Bettis; "The Minuet," Paderewski, Miss Lilah Livingston; Spanish dances, Moszkowski, Miss Marion Lane, Miss Knapp and Mr. Hitchin; two selections by Schubert, Miss Lillian Mason; vocal selections from "The Prince of Pilsen," Miss Dorothy Hunt; "Berceuse," Cinadori, Miss Dorothy Bonnell.

Mr. Hitchin gave a charming example of the use of the metronome in connection with Czerny's velocity studies and Kullak octavo studies, in which he has become very proficient. There was also a tenor solo by Mr. George Lyons, "The Garden of Dreams." There was an element of absolute informality and merriment throughout the evening, which greatly added to the pleasure of the occasion.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Members of the Tuesday Afternoon club are busy with numerous activities during the holiday season. Tomorrow evening the club contemplates to notice "mere man" and a program of unusual excellence has been prepared for the entertainment of the husbands. Miss Margaret McKee, the wonderful whistler; Miss Helen Adams, the remarkable girl cornetist, and our own Miss Martha Porter, the talented violinist, will give musical numbers.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell and her committee have a surprise for the members and guests in the way of social entertainment. The hospitality committee, with Mrs. H. H. Martin as chairman, is planning to care for the inner man. Decorations in holiday colors will be in charge of Mrs. Chas. Homer Temple and her capable committee. Husbands' night comes but once a year and the ladies are hoping for a large attendance, as they naturally wish their husbands to share in their festivities.

On the afternoon of December 22, the club will give their annual Christmas party for the children of the members. This program is in charge of Mrs. E. D. Yard and her committee and the afternoon promises to be a delightful one for the children. Each child is asked to bring a toy to be left for some child less fortunate than themselves.

On the evening of December 15 the members of the music section will give a delightful program, the proceeds to be used for Glendale's needy and for the Children's hospital.

The club is trying to observe the Christmas spirit in remembering others less fortunate than themselves. They hope all the children of members will be present at the Christmas party, bringing toys and Christmas cheer, and that the public generally will patronize the Christmas concert generously.

"DAVID COPPERFIELD," SEVEN-PART PICTURE, AT MAJESTIC THEATER WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY EVENINGS

David Copperfield, shortly after the death of his beloved father, becomes aware of the attention of one Mr. Murdstone to his mother. His displeasure at such attentions is markedly evidenced, and as a result he is dispatched on a visit to Aunt Peggoty's home in Yarmouth, which has been made of an upturned boat by the side of the sea. Here he meets little Emily.

Upon his return to his home, "The Rookery," he finds his suspicions were true, and Murdstone has become his stepfather. Revolted against the tyranny and cruel treatment accorded him at the hands of his stepfather, David is sent to school at Salem House. While there he is advised of the death of his dear mother. After his mother's death, David is apprenticed to serve in the Murdstone brewery and there becomes a lodger at the home of Mr. Micawber. The Micawbers, in straightened circumstances, are evicted from their humble dwelling, and David, mourning the loss of his new found friends, resolves to run away from his brewery apprenticeship and seek the home of his Aunt Betsy Trotwood at Dover. Murdstone, learning of his disappearance and whereabouts, calls at the Trotwood home and demands David's return. This is denied, however, and David is sent to Canterbury to continue his education.

Before he has completed his course however, David is compelled to seek means of earning his own livelihood, because of the financial condition of his aunt, and in consequence is apprenticed in the law office of Mr. Spenlow. There he meets Dora Spenlow, who becomes his wife, only to die ere his happiness has begun.

While in the employ of Spenlow, David meets the villainous Uriah Heep, and subsequently he arranges after a chance meeting with his old friend, Mr. Micawber, that Micawber is to become an employee of Spenlow. Then follows the detection by Micawber of the thefts of Uriah Heep and comes the restoration of Aunt Betsy's belongings. David chances to meet his old school friend, James Steerforth, and together they plan a trip to Yarmouth, where they visit the Peggotys. Steerforth persuades little Emily to leave with him, and later deserts her.

David Copperfield's rise to fame and fortune follows. The wrongdoing of little Emily is detected and she is finally found by David after she attempts suicide in the Thames.

This is the final vindication for old Peggoty, when the lifeless body of Steerforth is found by Ham as it is washed ashore after a terrible wreck.

In the closing scenes the Micawbers, who have gone to follow their fortunes in Australia, seated around their Yuletide table, rise in toast to the Copperfield family, and in far-off England, David and his wife, who was Agnes Wickfield, respond. It is a beautiful and heart-throbbing finale.

A GREAT DAY

Sunday was a great day at the Christian church. In the morning Mrs. Grant of San Francisco gave a fine missionary address to a large audience. In the evening Evangelist Bruce Brown delighted the people with his able presentation of gospel truths. He will preach every evening this week. His subject this evening is "What is Christianity?" and will be illustrated. Come and bring your friends. We will do you good.

FOREST NOTES

White pine and yellow pine are the woods most used for boxes, and each contributes more than a billion feet to the box industry annually.

The annual cut of British Columbia timber is approximately two billion feet. There are 420 mills and 790 logging camps in the province, employing about 60,000 men.

The Massachusetts forestry association offers as a prize the planting of fifty acres of white pine to the town which gains first place in a contest for town forests.

The Boise national forest in Idaho had thirty fires during the past summer, yet twenty-eight of them were held down to less than ten acres, and of these fifteen were less than one-quarter of an acre. The supervisor says this success was due to a lookout tower, and to efficient telephone and heliograph service.

Because of the war, English manufacturers and consumers of wood pulp have been caused considerable uneasiness. Production is at a standstill in the countries at war, and in Norway and Sweden, the principal sources of supply, mills have been greatly hampered because of a lack of coal and of chemicals. England has practically no domestic sources of pulp.

PARK AVENUE SCHOOL

Mrs. T. E. Larkey, supervising principal of the agricultural department of the Los Angeles public schools, announces that there has been $200 worth of trees and shrubbery purchased by the trustees of the Park avenue school, and they are now being planted. The trees in the parkings will be of black acacia variety, and the grounds are being well planted with California poppy seeds in order that they may be beautiful for the 1915 exhibit.
