MRS. HUNCHBERGER WRITES OF WANDERINGS IN BEAUTIFUL BY-WAYS

Mrs. J. G. Hunchberger who, with Mr. Hunchberger and their daughters, Misses Evangeline and Virginia, are enjoying a motor tour with Yosemite National Park as their objective, writes interestingly to friends of their journeyings. The following extracts from a letter from Mrs. Hunchberger will be enjoyed by her numerous friends among the readers of the News:

We left Glendale late in the afternoon of July 1st, drove up to Santa Barbara in time for dinner and remained over night. The next morning bright and early we started out and drove to Paso Robles, stopping at Pismo Beach for lunch and taking in Missions and all points of interest along the way. The next day drove from Paso Robles to Monterey in time for lunch. This is one of the most interesting places we have ever visited. As the first capitol of California it is teeming with historic interest. Del Monte, the famous resort, Monterey and Pacific Grove the chautauqua center of the state, lie almost side by side, 125 miles from San Francisco.

Monterey Peninsula is the southern arm of the Bay of Monterey. This bay was discovered in 1602 by Sebastian Vizcaino. The padres came and took up their peaceful pursuits, and the old adobe town became the first capitol of the Spaniards. In 1864 Commodore Sloat raised the American flag over the custom house, and September 1, 1849, the first constitutional convention was held, and the foundation of California's statehood was laid.

Colton Hall (as the old capitol building is now called) is one of the many interesting buildings in Monterey. Others are the residences of Gen. Alvarado and Gen. Castro, the old custom house, built a hundred years ago, the old Washington Hotel built in 1832, the first theatre in the state, where Jenny Lind sang in 1847 (tickets were $20.00 each that night), the first postoffice in California, the first frame building of the state, built of lumber brought from Australia, the monument erected by Mrs. Leland Stanford in honor of Father Serra, the ruins of a convent built in 1797 and the Presidio, a Spanish garrison built a century ago, now one of the most important military posts in the country. Along the 17 mile drive (of which scarcely a pleasure-seeker does not know) there are many attractions. From Pacific Grove one soon reaches points of more than passing interest, among which are seal rocks, the ostrich tree, a pair of cypress trees twisted by the wind into the shape of an ostrich, Cypress Grove and Midway Point. At Cypress Grove the road leads through the narrow restricted grove of the Monterey cypress.

The cypress tree is unique in that it is of a species found only in Monterey and at Palestine. The marine life in Monterey is said to be the most abundant and as wonderful as found anywhere in the world.

Carmel-by-the-Sea, a beautiful spot in a forest of pines. Over 60 per cent of the residents of this town are poets, artists, writers and professional men, who find the location conducive to their work. The Mission of Carmelo is at the foot of the town, one of the best preserved of the California Missions. Near Carmel is the Carnegie Botanical Institute, one of the foremost institutions of its kind in America. Near Carmel and about 4 miles from Monterey is the favorite Mission of Father Serra, and also his last resting place, the Mission of El Carmelo. It was founded at the end of the Father's long overland journey to find Monterey Bay in 1770 and dedicated to King Carlos. Restored in 1881, upon the original plans, the beautiful tower is a faithful copy of the first, and the splendid furnishings of the original edifice have been preserved. Its architecture is superb. This Mission is generally referred to as Carmel Mission, because of its location on the banks of the little stream Carmelo. This Mission was Father Serra's own charge. There he spent all his time when not called away by his duties as president of the Missions. On August 28, 1784, he died at the Mission. His last expressed wish was to be buried by the side of Father Crespi, his friend and associate in the administration of Mission Carmel. He was laid to rest in the sanctuary of the Mission. The church was restored in 1868. The guide told us an average of 50 people a day visit this Mission.

OVERTON IN GLENDALE

FORMER GLENDELIAN ENTHUSIASTIC OVER PROSPECTS IN YUCAIPA.

H. M. Overton who was a resident of Glendale ten years or more but who left here three years ago with his family to make his home in the Yucaipa valley where he purchased an apple orchard has been spending a few days in Glendale and vicinity on business. Mr. Overton is an enthusiastic booster for the "evergreen valley" and sees wonderful prospects for that favored spot.

The valley boasts an elevation of 3000 feet and the wonderfully clear atmosphere peculiar to high altitudes is one of the attractive features of that section. The Yucaipa valley is especially known as an apple valley there being 6000 acres in apples but many pears, peaches and cherries are raised there also. The apple crop this year is expected to approximate eighty carloads. The winesap, Rome Beauty, King David and Jonathans are the principal varieties of apples raised in the valley. Mr. Overton has a ten and one half acre orchard of seven-year old trees just coming into bearing and expects his trees to yield 350 or 400 boxes of fine fruit this year. Yucaipa, a village of 300 or 400 is the center of business in the valley and is very thriving for its age. Last year an apple show that would do credit to a much larger and older place was financed and carried to a successful conclusion by the people of the valley. There is an apple association with a packing house and all facilities for handling a large amount of fruit.

The Yucaipa valley is the home of Cherrycroft, the largest cherry orchard in the state. Sixty acres of cherries when in bloom or laden with luscious fruit is a sight worth going miles to see and one that many do go miles to see. Last summer at the height of the cherry season, 2000 people visited the orchard in one day while 750 autos were parked at Cherrycroft at one time.

At the present time Rivers Brothers and the Kline-Simpson Fruit company are hauling out Red-bird Cling peaches for which the growers are receiving $1 per box.

One of the chief assets of the valley is the freedom from early frosts which are so apt to menace the apple crop in other sections that are otherwise favorable to apple culture. There is an unlimited supply of good, cold water. Three hundred fifty inches have been developed so far and the pressure is all that could be asked. The climate in the valley is delightful. During the winter there is usually a foot of snow falls and the temperature in the summer is rarely more than 90 degrees. There is no poor land in the valley and none without an abundant supply of water. Land is selling now at $285 per acre.

There is a splendid highway into the valley from Redlands and surveys are now being made by the Santa Fe and the Pacific Electric companies with a view of building railroads into the valley.

Mr. Overton sees many changes and improvements in Glendale in the comparatively short time that he has been away from here.

EXEMPTION BOARD MEMBERS

The members of the exemption board of the 7th registration district of Los Angeles county are John T. Wilson of San Fernando, Mattison B. Jones of Glendale and F. D. Lanterman of La Canada. The main office of the board will be in San Fernando, but as occasion demands there will be a branch office in Glendale, probably the Chamber of Commerce room, 1010 West Broadway, will be chosen as a convenient location. Men residing in the eastern part of the San Fernando Valley and in Eagle Rock will be allowed to present themselves for medical examination at the Glendale branch office of the board.

EVELYN APPLE'S BIRTHDAY

Evelyn Apple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Apple of 146 Orange street, Glendale, celebrated her thirteenth birthday Sunday in a very unique and enjoyable manner. Mr. and Mrs. Apple invited as Miss Evelyn's guests Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Buchanan, son Robert and daughter Helen of 204 Orange street, and Mrs. A. L. Burson and niece, Mary Nuttall, of 771 S. Louise street, and Miss Gertrude Hutchinson of 200 Orange street. The Apple and Buchanan touring cars conveyed the joy seekers to the Santa Monica Canyon where a well prepared picnic dinner was enjoyed, and then to Venice. The latter part of the day was spent in Venice visiting the many attractions and enjoying a cooling bath in the ocean.

RUSSIAN COALITION CABINET APPROVED

ALL FACTIONS UNITE IN GIVING SUPREME AUTHORITY TO PREMIER KERENSKY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PETROGRAD, July 24.—The "supreme authority" delegated to the Russian provisional government has been unanimously approved by the representatives of all the Russians. Sanction to all measures taken by the new Socialists coalition cabinet, to suppress mutiny at home and in the army is thus given. A pitiless policy of extermination will be prosecuted against all mutineers and German spies. All will be shot as traitors. The existence of a huge German plot for the overthrow of Russian democracy has been proven in wholesale arrests here. Out of the shock of Germany's perfidy Premier Kerensky emerged stronger than ever, clothed with the power of absolute authority. The Russian people are hoping that he will again perform a miracle on the battle front, restore the spirits of the fighting troops and hurl Germany's line back.

McADOO SUBMITS $5,000,000,000 BUDGET

TREASURY OFFICIALS SAY LARGE SUM IS NEEDED TO COVER NEW ESTIMATES OF ARMY NEEDS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo submitted to Congress the new $5,000,000,000 revenue budget five minutes before Chairman Simmons of the Senate Finance committee was to have introduced the $1,672,000,000 revenue bill. The latter is now expected to be held up indefinitely. At the treasury it was stated that the larger sum is needed to cover new estimates of war needs.

CHANGES IN SHIPPING BOARD

PRESIDENT DETERMINED TO HAVE IMMEDIATE ACTION IN AMERICA'S MERCHANT MARINE CRISIS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Sweeping steps have been taken by the president to compose the row delaying America's merchant marine fleet. The resignation of Col. Goethals, general manager of the emergency fleet, and Capt. White of the shipping board have been accepted. Chairman Denman has been asked to resign and the president has announced his intention of appointing Edwin R. Hurley to succeed him. Admiral Capps will succeed to Goethals' position and Brainbridge Colby has been named as White's successor. "We will start with a clean slate," the president declared.

WOMEN MAY STRIKE

FROM ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY COMES DEMAND FOR UNCLE SAM TO ATTEND TO HIS KNITTING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, July 24.—An organized uprising by the women of the nation against knitting mufflers, mittens, etc., for the navy seems to be fomenting. Why are not these garments part of the equipment furnished by the government, ask the women. Why is slow hand knitting resorted to in such a time of immediate need? These are a few of the hundreds of questions women from all parts of the country are hurling at the government every day.

UNCLE SAM HAS WORLD'S GREATEST SECRET SERVICE

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Uncle Sam doesn't make much noise about his secret police agents as Kaiser Bill does about his Wilhelmstrasse, but the star spangled sleuths get there just the same. The United States has one of the biggest secret police systems in the world. It centers in Washington. The biggest job right now is war work. The Secret Service throws its tentacles in every direction feeling for plotters against the President. The Bureau of Investigation musses disloyalist schemes. The army and navy sleuths dig into enemy war plans.

ELKS' CORNER STONE

ELKS OF GLENDALE SOON TO LAY CORNER STONE OF NEW $60,000 BUILDING

Plans have been completed for the laying of the cornerstone of the beautiful new home of the Glendale Elks, at the corner of Colorado street and Brand boulevard.

The ceremony will take place August 11 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Elk delegations from Los Angeles, Santa Monica, Long Beach and other Southern California lodges will be present.

The Glendale lodge, which has a membership of about 750, are to be the hosts of the occasion, and they are planning to entertain with characteristic good fellowship. They expect a crowd of about 5000 people on this occasion to help celebrate the event.

Albert D. Pearce, exalted ruler, will have charge of the work of the lodge at the ceremony and will deliver the address of the occasion. Fellow committeemen will be Bert Woodward and Cameron Thom. Grand Exalted District Deputy Brown of Santa Monica will speak and there will be several other interesting features on the program, among them music by the Glendale Elks' Band and an exhibition by the drill team.

The Universal Film Company will be on hand to film the ceremonies. Films will also be placed in the receptacle of the cornerstone. This is the first time in the history of Elkdom that their ceremonies have been attended by such a feature.

The new building will cost $60,000 and will be one of the finest in the state. The laying of the cornerstone follows long and hard services rendered by the building committee, composed of J. W. Usilton, chairman; Robert M. Jackson, Peter L. Ferry, A. L. Weaver, L. C. Forest of Fillmore and James W. Pearson.

Following the ceremonies at the site of the new building a banquet will be served at the old club house in the Central Building, on West Broadway near Brand.

ITEMIZED BUDGET STATEMENT

On page four of this issue is published the annual itemized budget appropriation as adopted by the board of trustees at a meeting of the board Thursday evening, July 19. There is no law requiring this very important news to be made public, but the management of the Evening News is of the opinion that every taxpayer and resident of the City of Glendale should familiarize themselves with the contents of this annual budget, and therefore publishes the same without charge.

CHILD'S COME TO GLENDALE

C. C. Childs of Portland, Oregon, who with his family spent the past winter here, residing on Kenwood street, has returned to Glendale. Mr. Childs has spent considerable time since leaving here the first of May looking for a location for a home and was unable to find any place that suited him so well as Glendale. Mrs. Childs and little son are expected to arrive to-morrow from the north and Mr. Childs is looking for a suitable furnished house that will be convenient for his six-year old son to attend school. The family will be warmly welcomed by the many friends they made here last winter and by many new ones.

THREE THOUSAND MEN

At a meeting of representatives of men's Bible classes of the Christian churches of Los Angeles county held at the First Church in Los Angeles last night, it was agreed to make a drive for 3000 new men in the Bible classes of the Christian churches of the county by September 1.

Fifteen men from the local church attended last night. The meeting was addressed by Dr. Geo. Dowe and Al Saunders. The Glendale church has set its aim at 100 men by August 12. They propose to have 75 out next Sunday. Thirty-two were present last Sunday morning.

AL SAUNDERS COMING

A great treat is in store for the citizens of Glendale to-morrow night when Mr. Al Saunders of Scranton, Pa., addresses a union meeting of all the evangelical churches in the First Methodist church. Mr. Saunders is perhaps the most famous "trail hitter" of all the campaigns held by Mr. Sunday, and makes an impression where he speaks second only to the great evangelist himself. Be sure and plan to hear him.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Wednesday. Westerly winds.

ADVENTIST MEETING

PREPARATIONS ARE WELL UNDER WAY FOR BIG ANNUAL EVENT.

Throughout Southern California, Seventh-day Adventists are preparing to attend the annual camp-meeting for this section of the State, which is to be held at Pacific avenue and West Washington street, Los Angeles, August 2 to 12. Already preparations are well under way, and when the opening day comes, a tent city of more than 200 tents will have been erected. A mammoth canvas pavilion, with three center masts, and accommodating an audience of more than three thousand persons, will then be in readiness.

An immense two-mast tent will be used for the cafeteria, and will be equipped with modern appliances, including two large hotel ranges, dish-washing machine, an ice vault, in which several tons of fruit and vegetables can be stored. A well-stocked grocery store and book store will be operation on the grounds.

A large circular tent also has been pitched in which will be held special services for the young people. Another large pavilion will be used for the children's meetings. Hundreds of tents will be used for the many families who will attend the 10-day session from various parts of Southern California. Among the cities which will be represented by the delegation will be Pasadena, Pomona, Whittier, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Los Angeles, Tropic, Glendale, Burbank, Santa Paula, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, Paso Robles, Ventura, Oxnard, Lancaster, San Fernando, Ontario, Inglewood, La Crescenta, Oakland, Riverside, Loma Linda and others.

The meetings will continue daily throughout the entire session, 12 meetings a day being held. Special services will be held at 11 a. m., 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. To all the meetings the public is cordially invited by Pastor M. M. Hare, president of the Southern California Conference. Good music will be provided, and everything possible done to make all visitors feel at home.

The plans now on foot give promise of the largest gathering of its kind which has been held by the Seventh-day Adventists in this section of the State since the creation of the Southern California Conference, covering San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, San Diego and Imperial counties, several years ago. Seventh-day Adventists are growing in numbers rapidly, and the fact that Pastor Arthur G. Daniells, of Washington, D. C., president of the General or World Conference, will be one of the speakers, will draw an unusually large attendance. President Daniells returned May 24 from an extended tour of Adventist mission stations in the Philippines, Malaysia, South China, the Statow, Amoy and Foochow districts, Korea, Manchuria and Japan. Since many of the Adventists missionaries in the Orient formerly were residents of California, Pastor Daniells' narration of their interesting experiences will be of particular interest to their friends here. He is the author of a work on "The World War," and probably will speak on that subject from the standpoint of Bible prophecy.

Pastor Daniells is well known on the Pacific Coast, having made frequent trips here. He has been in charge of the entire world-field of the Seventh-day Adventists since April 2, 1901; when he succeeded Pastor G. A. Irwin to that position. Previous to that he was for 14 years in Australia, and has traveled throughout the world.

Other well-known ministers who will be in attendance will be: E. E. Andross, of Glendale, president of the Pacific Union Conference; including the states of California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah and western Colorado; G. W. Reaser, of Glendale, field secretary, Pacific Union Conference; M. E. Cady, Oakland, Cal., educational secretary, Pacific Union Conference; F. E. Painter, Tropic, field missionary, Pacific Union Conference; J. L. McElhany, Oakland, Cal., president, California Conference; W. F. Martin, Riverside, president Southeastern California Conference; G. A. Snyder, Glendale, J. R. Patterson, Arroyo Grande; Alexander Ritchie, Los Angeles; Phillip Knox, Los Angeles; J. H. Rogers, San Fernando; F. R. Shaeffer, Savelle; G. A. Rauleder, Los Angeles; V. H. Lucas, Pasadena; Celian E. Andross, Glendale; H. Z. Davis, San Luis Obispo; G. G. Brown, Los Angeles.

Seventh-day Adventists believe the world is now living in the great day of God, the hour of judgment for all mankind. They believe individuals everywhere can do no better (Continued on Page 3)

ADOPTING AUTOCRACY

It may be necessary for a democracy in war time to become autocratic. Even in a fight against autocracy it may be necessary for democracy to adopt the plans and methods of the enemy it fights. But it must keep in mind that these are expedients and not principles.

We are granting, or considering the grant of, powers to the president of the United States, which, when they have been extended in full, will make him the most powerful dictator of human action in the world.

He will say, if the full scheme proposed to be carried through, what people may buy, what they may read, what their habits shall be, what service they shall give, how they shall live, when they shall offer themselves for death, and how in every circumstance they shall order their lives.

This is a tremendous power which the American republic never thought would be placed in the hands of any one man in the republic. It may be necessary to strengthen central direction and control and make one man dominant in order that all men in the nation may be secure, but it is to be considered that these processes of government are not the processes to which America has committed itself.

Congress, if it follows out the administration program, obliterates itself as an agency in government. It will not be asked to consider legislation, but to grant complete powers of executive action which will make legislation unnecessary.

As a desperate expedient designed to bring about the co-ordination and co-operation necessary for the winning of the war, the conferring of power may be justified, but it may also remain as a dangerous precedent in our national life.

We doubt if the United States can ever completely rid itself of the new processes it is adopting. They will be adopted for emergency. Some of them will remain to govern in normal times.

Autocracy will prove itself efficient, and some of its methods will remain, modified and changed, in normal times from what they were in abnormal times, but nevertheless remaining in sufficient strength to modify our ideas of government.

There are many ironies in this war, but none would be greater than that of a change in the American democracy caused by the necessity if found in meeting in war a great autocracy.—Chicago Tribune.

WHERE GRAMMAR CAME FROM

The world reached its highest known stage of intelligence before grammar was ever invented, much less studied. I have had some curiosity to find out where and why it ever became a school study, and I find that the Greeks knew it not, that their triumphant literature and their matchless oratory came to flower before grammar was ever dreamed of. That it was not in any sense one of the great arts which they wrought out and with which they armed the human race. That after Greece had declined, a barbarous Macedonian made himself the owner of all Egypt, and in order to surround himself with the most spectacular form of ostentation of which his vain mind could conceive, he set to collecting not only all of the rare and precious objects and books and manuscripts there were in the world but he capped it all by making a collection of the living men of the world who had any reputation for knowing and thinking; take them from their homes where they had some relation to the daily necessities of human beings, and had really been of some use, he shut them up for life in one of his palaces at Alexandria, which the folks there were in the habit of calling "the hencoop of the muses." And out of sheer desperation, since they could do nothing better to amuse themselves, they counted the words in the books which real men had written, and prepared tables of the forms and endings which the users of words employed. The lifeless dregs of books which their distilling left we now call grammar, and study instead of books and even speech itself. In their lowest depth of indifference to the moving, pulsing life of man not even the Alexandrians sank so low as that.—Ernest C. Moore in Yale Review.

FITTING MEN FOR JOBS

If every man who works for a living could choose for his life's work what he liked best to do, and what he can best do, this would be a happier world than it is; and a more productive world, too.

So many are forced to do uncongenial work. They go out looking for a job, and they must take what offers, and so we have bookkeepers, for instance, who would make good architects, or doctors, or mechanics; but go through life, square pegs in round holes, never getting a chance to do what they can do best. The world is full of misfits; and the misfit suffers because of it, and so does the business which employs him.

Some of the bigger businesses in this country are recognizing the fact that a workman will do best what he is best equipped to do, and what he likes most to do. It is a poor investment to pay a man to do work which is uncongenial, and for which he is unfitted, and some employers have experts whose business is to study the workmen employed. If a man is willing to work and fails at the job he is doing, instead of discharging him and experimenting with another man in that place, the vocational guide talks with him, studies him and tries to fit him into a job for which he is fitted; and puts another man in the old job who is fitted for that.

The vocational guide tries to have every workman so fitted to his work that he is enthusiastic about it. Then every worker is doing his best.

This system has been profitable to those employers who have carried it out consistently. It has resulted in the highest possible efficiency on the part of workmen; and amazing stories are told of men with executive ability of a higher order who were found operating some machine, or doing some other kind of routine work.

Napoleon used to tell the soldiers of his armies that each one of them carried a marshal's baton in his knapsack; meaning that any soldier who showed that he was qualified could become a marshal under him. The "vocational guide" system is along the same line, except that it helps discover for the workman the latent possibilities within himself and tries to place him where he may develop them.

Every young man starting out in the world should carefully choose the work he can do his best at. If it is his ambition to become a locomotive engineer he will make a poor bookkeeper. Let him not always take the first job that offers, if it is not congenial; but rather let him wait, and starve, and even suffer, in order that his life work shall be congenial.—Kansas City Star.

CASE FOR OCULIST

The oldest inhabitant of Little Cocketown possesses a telescope which he never uses.

"Why don't you make use of it sometimes, James?" inquired a neighbor.

"It used to be a good 'n," James replied sorrowfully, "but it's broke now."

"Broken?" the neighbor asked; "how's that?"

"Well," said James, "It was such a good 'n that I could see the old church steeple five miles away quite plain, but Joseph, the scoundrel, got the lens of it and tried to make out the steeple of the Methodist chapel more'n ten miles away. He tried and tried and couldn't, so that he strained my glass, and it's never been right since. Drat Joseph!"—Buffalo News.

TOURING THE STATE

 would have enjoyed this locality for the summer, but after 5 days we felt we must move on, so journeyed to Santa Cruz, along a wonderful drive through the mountains to "Big Basin" (a place similar to Camp Curry, Yosemite). The next day about noon we left for Palo Alto, visited the University and around the grounds and into San Francisco in the evening. Remained there two days, then Oakland, Berkeley and to Sacramento; visited the State Capitol and other points of interest, then to Lake Tahoe. It rained every day we were there. Thunder and lightning and heavy rain, reminded me of the east. Lake Tahoe is one of the largest and most beautiful mountain lakes in the world. It is noted for its crystal clearness and its wonderful colorings, a zone of brilliant emerald encircling a heart of deepest indigo. Its altitude is 6,240 feet. It is 23 miles long, 13 miles wide, and its sounded depth 1800 feet, beyond which instruments have failed. Most of the lake is in California. The eastern and part of the northern shores are in Nevada. It is completely hemmed in by snow capped mountains, their peaks varying in height from 8,250 to 11,120 feet above sea level. I cannot find words to describe this magnificent place; it must be seen to be appreciated.

We are now nicely located at the Yosemite, our favorite spot, and when we leave here will go direct to Glendale. The road to Crater Lake, Oregon, is not open, also the Tioga road will not open until August 1st, so we were obliged to change our plans. We are having a wonderful trip. I feel like writing a book, am so full of scenery.

I forgot to tell you that Pacific Grove is a wonderful place. In talking with the city marshal he told us the police department expense for for the past 13 months had been $1.00 (for 4 meals) furnished. They have a wonderful Y. W. C. A. camp there and were expecting 650 girls there the next week. This spot is called "Asylomar." It is a quiet restful, beautiful little residence town right on the ocean and with beautiful forests.

She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Love of Florida, who are visiting her for a time. While gone they encountered several thrilling experiences. On their return Sunday they encountered a very severe rainstorm and witnessed a collision between a Buick and a Packard; also another accident in which a man was killed when his car went over an embankment.

DEATH OF OTTO BYLOFF

On Monday at 2 p. m. at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Allan E. Boyce, 506 South Brand boulevard, Tropic, occurred the death of Otto Byloff, aged 77 years.

The deceased was born in Sweden and came to the United States when 40 years of age. He lived in Galesburg, Illinois, for many years, and came to Tropic, California, six years ago, residing at 679 Gardena avenue.

He is survived by a wife, two sons and four daughters. The sons, Conrad and Gotfred, reside in Chicago. The daughters are Mrs. Charles Stuart, Gardena avenue, Tropic, Mrs. Victor Peterson, Denver, Mrs. J. H. Williamson, Nebraska, Mrs. Hilma Boyce, 506 South Brand boulevard, Tropic. The funeral services will be held at the Boyce home, Thursday forenoon at 10 o'clock under the direction of Scovern-Letton-Frey, undertakers.

An old hand car may be transformed into a motor-propelled vehicle by installing thereon a "power top." The power top, which uses kerosene as fuel, is a gas-engine outfit. With this equipment, the car will draw a crew of eight men; it will also draw a supply car.

ALLIES' FIESTA

COMMITTEES IN GREAT GARDEN FETE HOLD JUBILEE MEETING IN C. OF C. ROOMS

Last night in the Glendale Chamber of Commerce there was a general "jubilation" meeting of the committees whose discriminating, efficient, faithful work had made the Allies' Fiesta such a marked success, socially, patriotically, financially and otherwise. The meeting had been called by and was in charge of the Glendale British Ambulance Society, under whose auspices the great Allies' Fiesta had been initiated, planned and brought to such satisfactory termination.

In the absence of the secretary, Miss Ina Whitaker, who had inaugurated and managed the undertaking till within two or three days of the eventful date, when she broke down from over-enthusiastic work, Dr. Henry R. Harrower was chosen chairman of the meeting and Mr. Edward Malley secretary. It was strictly a business meeting, with a mutual congratulatory annex.

Reports from numerous booths were received, with several yet to hear from. The financial returns are not all in, though eminently satisfactory, so far as received. It is understood that the treasurer, Mrs. Harrower, will soon be able to publish a full and detailed report, so the contributors and the workers for the various booths and concessions may have the satisfaction of knowing just what was accomplished by that highly meritorious, well conducted patriotic enterprise, which has so widely advertised in a most desirable way not only the Glendale British Ambulance Society and the Glendale Red Cross Chapter, but also the City of Glendale itself.

Pay all moneys due the Allies' Fiesta to Mrs. Harrower, Treasurer British Ambulance Society, Glendale.

That meeting last night was a most delightful occasion. Every one, individual, corporation or society, who had done or donated anything worth while, was formally and punctiliously appreciated by a standing vote of thanks, and the secretary instructed to write a whole sheaf of grateful letters. So all went merrily as marriage bells, and everybody seemed patriotically and personally contented and happy over the good work well done for our soldier boys who must bear the final brunt.

The absence of Miss Ina Whitaker was deeply regretted, but her many friends were rejoicing over the news that she was rapidly improving and would be able to leave the Thornycroft Hospital (104 East Ninth street, Glendale) some time this week. Miss Whitaker will have good reason to be proud of the work accomplished by those on whom her mantle fell.

The publicity committee had expected to give full names and details of the faithful and efficient workers at the various booths; but there seemed to be a feeling that as it was a purely patriotic work and everyone's duty patriotically is limited only by ability, it would be more in keeping with the grave occasion and the great issues involved, for the whole undertaking to remain largely impersonal—each helper content with knowing what individual part he or she had personally done or attempted, remembering that "They also serve who stand and wait."

The realization grows that such work has barely begun and that the dolorous onus is yet to be born of dire necessity, garbed in deepest mourning. But since our brave soldier boys are freely offering their bodies for sacrifice in the trenches, where death is so often preferable to life it is up to those of us barred from fighting to work as we may to soften the horrors and the terrors of our friends at the front "somewhere."

Fiesta Notes

Among the many beautiful and appropriate costumes noted were those of Mrs. Charles Temple as Liberty; Mrs. Horace Wing of Los Angeles, formerly of Glendale, Russian noblewoman; Mrs. J. C. Sherer (wife of Glendale's city clerk) as Martha Washington; Mrs. Josephs, a Colonial dame; Mrs. Harry Duffield, Priscilla; the picturesque Belgian, the gorgeous Russian and Polish, the tall, black-hatted Welsh, the bonny Scotch lassies, the shamrock-decorated Irish colleens, the quaint Italian, the winning French, the clever Canadian, the oriental Japanese and Indian, the independent Anglo-Saxon, the "White Australia," and the up-to-date American matrons and maidens made enchanting pictures which will be long remembered.

A large number of unsold donations will be reserved for disposal at a splendid Allies' Bazaar, to be materialized somewhere about Christmas. A wonderful scarf-pin of quaint and original design was made by Harry Walker, one of Glendale's jewelers. Mr. H. H. Faries, who had not disposed of it, turned it over to Mrs. England, who will give opportunity to compete in some financial way for its possession. It contains the arms and colors of half a dozen or more of the Allies, and it would be a very desirable possession. Duplicates can be ordered. Why not everybody wear one?

Those who failed to see Alex. Mitchell of Glendale dance the Highland Fling, in truly Scotch Highlander costume, missed something great. That treat was given in the afternoon and ought to have been repeated in the evening.

Harry Duffield announced the numbers on the program and also most creditably read "Somewhere," a poem written by a Glendale merchant, H. H. Faries, who turned into the treasury of the Red Cross Chapter $7.25, and as much to the Belgian Relief Fund, proceeds of the sale of copies of that meritorious little poem.

In the afternoon, also, little Davina Wood danced Scottish to the Kilties' bagpiping. The Kiltie Pipers also led the impressive Fiesta advertising auto-parade, displaying Red Cross and Fiesta banners in a way which drew many people to La Ramada Park who would not otherwise have come.

Miss Gertrude Champlain, one of Glendale's most accomplished pianists, did fine and faithful work as accompanist in many numbers.

Mrs. S. C. Leppelman wore an elegant old bridal dress more over a hundred years ago.

Also in the American booth Misses Lillian Leppelman and Alpha Clement served in Colonial costumes which were very fetching.

The dancing pavilion was most enthusiastically patronized. Ask manager Harry Glazier and accompanist Frank Liddell.

Captain Waterman Florence, victim of "shell shock," in the French trenches, spent the afternoon and evening at the Fiesta. He could not speak from the platform, as advertised, but he will tell his thrilling story at the High School Thursday evening, this week. If you would like to really know what is doing in the trenches, why not go to hear him, a hero of the famous "Princess Pat" Canadian regiment?

Captain Leverage is serving with the British expeditionary force in France, and his wife served in the Australian booth at the Fiesta. Those "White Australia" costumes attracted much well-deserved attention. The tiny Jap baby carried off the beautiful doll, "Young Australia," one of Hamburger's numerous donations.

The lovely "slender Polish heroine" who so sweetly sang the tear-compelling Polish song, was Miss Tedora Wisniewska.

Mrs. Murman wishes to particularly thank all who aided in and for the Russian booth, including Harry Bullinger.

The Home Guards were very martial in appearance and deed, particularly when firing salutes. That, more than the good drill, made us realize they are real soldiers, ready for action.

All admit that Doris Snowdon, Rennie Wilson and Douglas Lang are artistic models as Highland dancers. Mr. A. C. Way, of the Los Angeles First National Bank, is treasurer of the British Patriotic Fund, to help the wives and children of British subjects who volunteered from California. Their fruit punch bowl was well patronized.

Among all the vegetables for sale in the Scotch-Irish booth, the Irish potato was conspicuous by its absence. "But possibly a large stock of "standbys" was sold out before this scribe appeared in that bower of shamrock-thistle attractions.

Mrs. Wilson's white bull dog, "Patch," never "passed the basket" or the hat till about two weeks ago, at the Long Beach tennis tournament. But from the first time there requested, he took up a collection as soberly and effectively as any old deacon.

Early in the evening the crowd was informed from the stage that a purse containing Red Cross money had been lost from the Canadian booth. But it was promptly found and returned. That was the only involuntary loss reported.

Did you see those handsome laces made by Russian peasants, or the beautiful antique articles loaned to the Russian booth by Mr. Powers of Los Angeles?

That was "The War Song" from the Barber of Seville, sung by Miss Clara Seymour.

Did you let Mrs. Hornsey sell you a "White Elephant"? If not, why?

It is customary to pay the piper—but nothing doing when patriotic pipers like the Kilties insist on donating their music to the Allies' Fiesta. Bully good pipers. Some bagblowers.

Tin foil guessing contest, first prize donated by Mrs. Braly, handsome sweet grass work basket, Mr. Van Alan. Second prize, one pound box of chocolates donated by Dolly Varden confectionery, Miss L. Moisant. Third prize, lavender sachet donated by Mrs. James Neill, Mrs. Van Alan. Consolation, red, white and blue megaphone donated by Mrs. Braly, Miss Moisant.

Mr. Harry Glazier managed the dancing pavilion which netted a very nice sum for the society.

The Casa Verdugo Home Guards gave a camp fire drill and salute to the flag under command of acting captain E. K. Barnes.

Mrs. Hornsey as an Indian lady with two little Indian boys as attendants was an attractive feature.

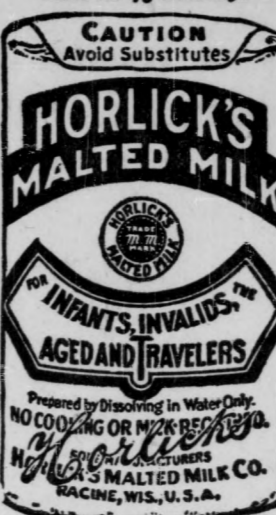

Mrs. Zetta Gibbons gave a charming rendering of the Star-Spangled Banner, the entire audience joining in the chorus.

Taken by and large, Fortuna and the Good-luck Fairy smiled on the Allies' Fiesta.

"May every dollar so earned or donated, bring comfort to some brave than heed the injunction of Revelation 14:6, 7, "Fear God and give glory to Him, for the hour of His judgment is come, and worship Him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of water."

In 1904 a prominent Seventh-day Adventist leader wrote: "The world is a theater; the actors, its inhabitants, are preparing to act their part in the last great drama. * * * God is looking on. His purposes in regard to his rebellious subjects will be fulfilled. The world has not been given into the hands of men, though God is permitting the elements of confusion and disorder to bear sway for a season. A power from beneath is working to bring about the last great scenes in the drama.—Satan coming as Christ, and working with all deviousness of unrighteousness. * * * Transgression has almost reached its limit. Confusion fills the world, and a great terror is soon to come upon human beings. The end is very near."

SUFFRAGE WHITE HOUSE DISTURBANCES REHEARSED

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Every militant suffrage disturbance in Washington is planned, rehearsed and staged by the National Woman's Party like the big scene in a movie melodrama. Then it is "put across" on schedule time, when the suffragist captains are sure the newspaper correspondents and camera-men are out in force, when advance notices have drawn a crowd to the spot and when the vote hunters are sure they will get their money's worth in world-wide publicity.

Miss Alice Paul and Miss Lucy Burns are the stage-managers. They write the scenarios. Mrs. Abbey Scott Baker, Queen of Press Agentesses, commands the army of fair scribes which spreads the startling details and makes sure all newspapers and press associations are kept informed.

When a riot is planned the hour is usually set for 12:30 p. m. or 4:30 p. m., when the necessary spectators and participants will be supplied by crowds of clerks coming from the State, War and Navy building. The militants' "show" is planned at their headquarters near the White House. Volunteers crowd around the leaders, anxious to be cast in prominent roles. Mrs. Baker's brigade gets busy. Telephones tinkle in all newspaper offices. The event is announced. The rehearsal completed, out sally the women, do their stunts, get arrested, get released and return to headquarters.

Then rings the clatter and clash of typewriters. They batter forth sarcastic descriptions of the scene.

And when the dust settles, the patrol wagons cease their clangor and the angry cries of the mobs die away, staring headlines in the newspapers mark the end of the militants' perfect day.

"The scrap was over in a jiffy," said the witness. "Why, it was all done as quick as an old married man kissing his wife good-bye."—Transcript.

In the daily routine of life you ask of those with whom you come in contact both honesty and fairness of treatment.

More so, than ever, do you need such help during the sorrows of bereavement. Then, as at no other time, you ask and have a right to expect conscientious service—the kind "you" yourself would give were you able to do so.

You ask and expect an impressive service, free of needless expense, yet fitting the occasion.

In using Scovern-Letton-Frey Co. service either in our mortuary, at the church or in your own home, you will find all these requirements met—quietly, restfully and in good taste.
