Nineteen Forty Two

" Tar Heels . . . BORN AND BRED "

LAST September most of us were looking forward to a good year. It looked like a gay year—with dances and week-ends and football games. It seemed to be a hopeful year—because business was good and the chances of our getting jobs next summer were better than ever. But most of all, it was a carefree year—because few if any of us looked on the war as more than "that fight on the other side of the ocean."

December 7 changed that, changed it with overpowering force and suddenness. For within the space of one day a relatively bright future became a dark one. Uncertainty, confusion, unawareness of what we as students could do or should do—these were the thoughts which jolted us from our complacent world into a more sober reflection of what lay ahead. We found ourselves forced for the first time to face the issue squarely, to think it out . . . to decide just where we stood.

Carolina students were as confused as anyone else; we admit it. But the year didn't end in December. Actually that was its real beginning—for out of the maze of changed plans and uncertain futures there arose a feeling of unity which none of us will forget. The same feeling which makes us yell hardest at a football game when the going looks worst, the feeling we symbolize in the Old Well or Davie Poplar or the spire of the Bell Tower, the feeling which makes us proud to say we're Tar Heels—that feeling pulled us together in the face of the hardest struggle any of us had ever confronted.

As you read this, the school year will have almost ended. Seniors, perhaps Juniors and others, will be leaving for the last time. But the spirit which has been ours will not end. For that spirit is born of all of us—and so long as we let it live, it will remain our heritage and our challenge.

SHOULD BE AN EASY STEP, REGISTRATION TO GRADUATION, BUT LOOK AT WHAT'S IN BETWEEN—

... AND WHAT A Year WE HAD "

REGISTRATION lines, sore feet, enthusiastic greetings and forgotten names, a new crop of coeds (improving all the time, too!)—that's how the year began. Since then, do you remember—the nightly pep rallies in the lower quad, beginning any time after midnight—the Dook game and the prematurely lit bonfire—and as if that weren't enough, the shaved heads the devils gave several of our over-enthusiastic students. And how about Sadie Hawkins day—when Al Capp came down and the coeds did the chasing for a change—and Life magazine did us up all wrong. Another big day—when comprehensives were abolished, and over 500 seniors breathed easier as they saw the odds on graduation getting better. And we can't forget the long lines of army trucks grinding down Franklin Street.

There are other things we remember—10:30 at the Book Ex—Sunday nights at Dr. Frank's—quiet walks through the campus—the times we cheered together and sang Hark The Sound.

We Dedicate

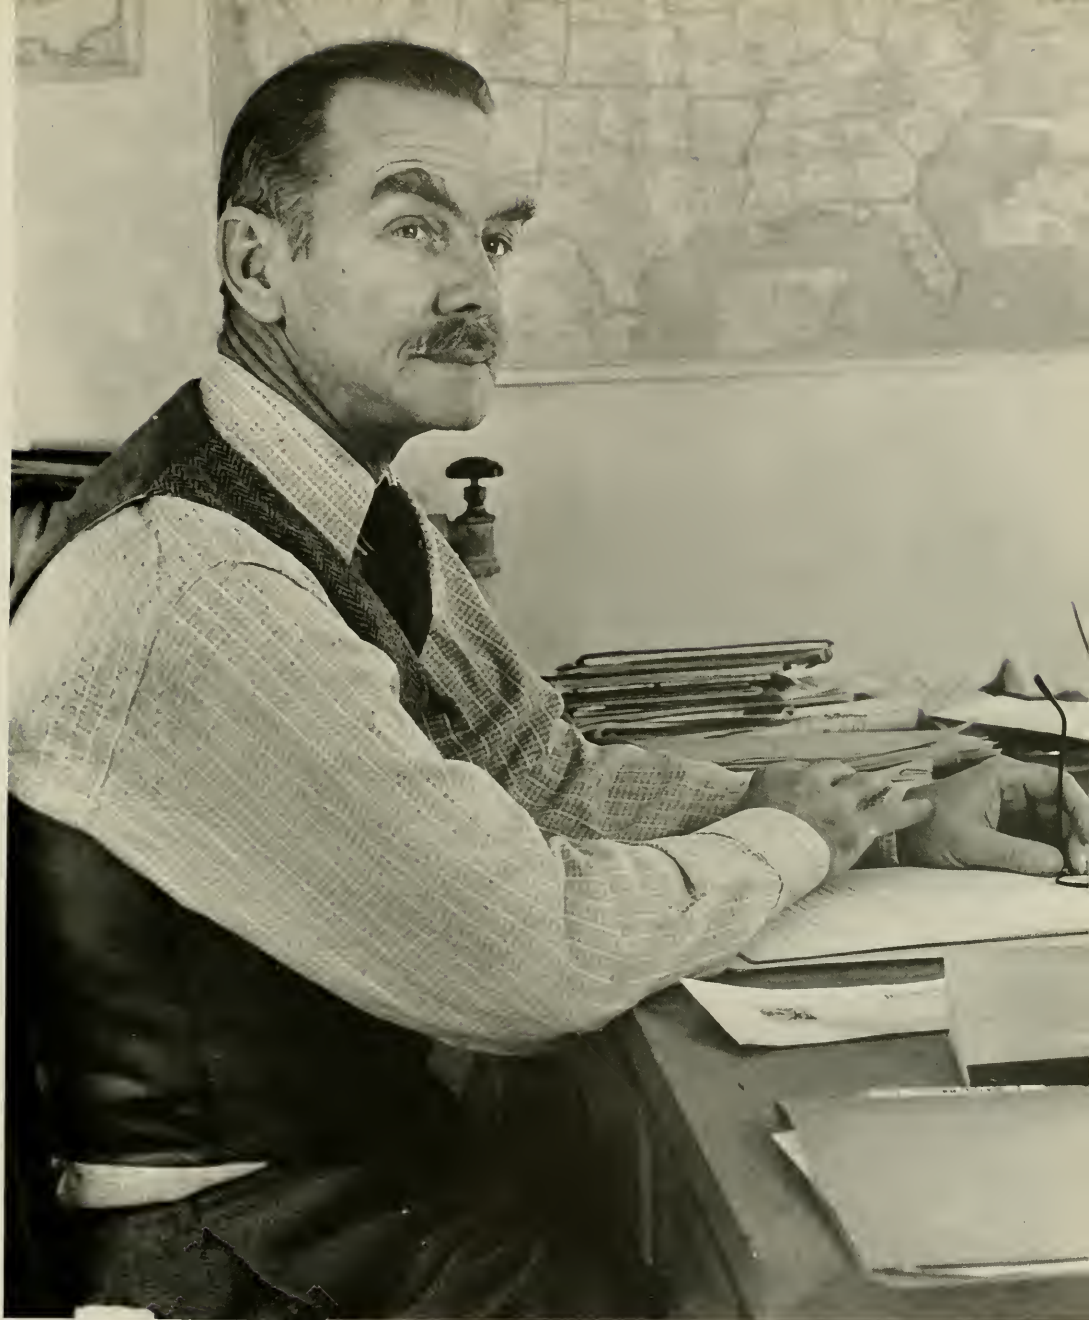

*N*OT to Phillips Russell the teacher, though his classes might well serve as models of the pithy, thought-provoking experience that classes should be.

Nor to Phillips Russell the writer, though his biographies of Franklin and Emerson are warm and human, and mark him for his real ability.

Rather to Phillips Russell the Man, because his character and strength somehow work their way to the hearts of his students, because his open-mindedness and fairness exemplify so beautifully the spirit of our University—

We dedicate this the 1942 YACKETY YACK.

FROM OUR

President ...

HERE in the University American air of freedom, traditions become robust with obligations upon American men and women to help make the world freer and fairer to all men; to have deep and intelligent concerns about the human beings who are stumbling toward the light of a better day. It is the personal and social responsibility of University American men and women to give all sides a fair hearing; to interpret and champion the freedom and right of despised minorities, regardless of race, creed, color, or class; to offset vested powers with social justice; to bring economic drift under social mastery; and to organize peace among nations.

Though the international structure, as erected by nations, seems to be falling into ruins, the flag of international organization must be kept flying at Geneva for the better day of our human hopes. By the tragedies and lessons of the last peace we must be resolute to prepare now to help organize justice and peace after this war.

In the present unutterable woes of the world, we deplore now the clearly terrible fact that the allies repudiated Woodrow Wilson's fourteen points, that America threw down the League of Nations, that the League failed to revise the Treaty of Versailles, and that Britain and France failed to lend a hand to the struggling German democracy upon whose tragic fall Hitler rose to totalitarian power. His successive conquests emphasize the collapse of international order now in tragic retreat across the earth. Without collective security, there can be no national security, no enduring peace, freedom and democracy in this modern world whose vast dynamic economic structure picks up wars and depressions anywhere and enmeshes people everywhere.

America, a continental storehouse of vast and vital resources and a mighty powerhouse for stupendous agricultural and industrial production, fronting on both the wide waters and high responsibilities of the two great oceans, is, in the geographic, economic, historic, and spiritual midst of it all, east and west, past and present, and yet to be. We cannot be geographically isolated from the oceans around or the air above or the technological framework girdling the globe and embracing all the peoples and continents of the world. We cannot be isolated from our heritage and history, from freedom, democracy, and spiritual faith that made us what we are. We cannot be isolated from the suffering and hopes of people oppressed anywhere in the world. We cannot be isolated from democracy, for democracy hurt anywhere in the world is democracy hurt everywhere in the world. We cannot, with all our hatred of war, be isolated from a war endangering the very freedom which gave us birth and by which we hope to live and struggle for justice and peace in the world. By the responsibilities of the Lease-Lend Act and by Nazi attacks, we are in the Battle of the Atlantic. America will not retreat from that responsibility or from those attacks. By the attack on Pearl Harbor we are now in the Second World War. We are in to stay through the war and, pray God this time, through the peace. We must win the war and we must win the peace.

For this fairer hope the men and women of this old, yet young University will do well their day's work and, under God, hold dearer than their lives the American dream of freedom, culture, democracy, and peace in the ever venturesome human pilgrimage toward a more decent world.

Frank P. Graham

"Dr. Frank"

With the work and responsibility of two men on his shoulders, Dr. Frank this year has served both his country, through his work on several important governmental commissions, and his state, by upholding the freedoms of thought and action on the University campus. His sincerity, his courage, his strength, his boundless energy—these are why his name and that of the University have continued to grow and flourish, together.

Robert B. House

I AM WRITING this greeting in November, 1941, to be read somewhere around June, 1942, at a time when circumstances are changing so fast that no one knows what will apply to conditions at that time, but I am sure of one thing; namely, that the Class of 1942 of the University of North Carolina will be as ready to face conditions as any group of men and women anywhere. I think this is a great thing and grows out of your character, intelligence, and spirit as a class.

You have done good work individually to graduate in the excitement and interruptions attending your college generation. In this you have done the best possible service for your day and generation to date, and your national government specifically requested this sort of growth and development from you.

DEAN HOUSE

Thorough and efficient as Dean of Administration, but never too busy for a friendly greeting . . . a splendid personality . . . warm devotion to the University . . . a harmonica and "Oh Suzannah" . . . Miss Sue and the Sheriff . . . as much a part of Carolina as 8:30's and the Old Well.

" A WORD TO THE

You have made individual friendships with your classmates and the faculty, and you have developed together a class spirit which will remain a permanent part of the richness of Carolina. Your University has gone forward through your growth as students and by your contribution to the texture of its life as you have represented it in your college generation.

It is a happy result of our day of quick communication and easy transportation that no class ever says farewell to alma mater with such finality as used to be the necessity. You will be in and out of Chapel Hill constantly. I think you will find many changes in the forms of things but you will find nothing changed for the worse in the spirit and purpose of the University. I urge you to keep your friendships through the University alive and growing, and to consider yourselves always as a part of what is going on here.

*F*OR all the years ahead your history and the history of your University will know you as members of one of the "war classes"—just as are known classes of '17 and '18. What a historic period your life has spanned!

Many of you are sons of the "First World War". Some are from homes affected by the hectic prosperity of the twenties or scarred by the crash of Nineteen Twenty-nine, the worst, and the first, world-wide depression.

During your youth an American president has broken precedent and for three terms led the attack of the nation upon the colossal problems of our age. The New Deal, the American Way, Social Security, and the Four Freedoms are the familiar terms of a world-wide and "blitz" speed drama.

You have seen the quiet grooves and pleasant ways of Chapel Hill gradually transformed with student pilots overhead, naval and military units on the fields, physical fitness programs for all, "acceleration", "speed-up", civilian defense, and "post-war planning"—until Alma Mater has become "the home front".

Now you go out to your duties—combat, supply, or civilian service; and Carolina goes with you. In your youthful vigor, in your civic conscience, in your mental alertness, in your liberal culture she will live and breathe all over the world and throughout our nation's historic destiny.

And then when the victory comes, she will stand with you at the polls and in the peace conference, and she will pray that you may have learned something here which shall enable you so to feel and think and act that the class of 1967, your sons, will be known as a great class but need not be called, once again, a "war class".

With pride and affection your University grips your good right hand just before you go out upon the field!

Francis F. Bradshaw

Class OF 1942 "

DEAN BRADSHAW

As Dean of Students, he has handled well the difficult job of easing friction between faculty and students . . . quiet and soft-spoken . . . a keen, penetrating mind . . . anxious to help in solving problems, large or small . . . a philosopher, but always a man . . . highly respected by students and faculty alike.

DEANS OF THE

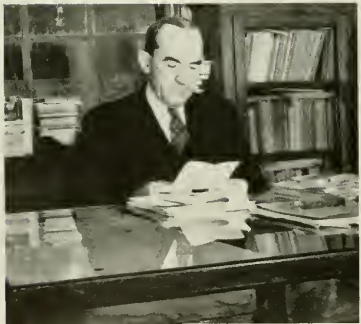

ALLAN WILSON HOBBS

Dean Hobbs, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences and Professor of Mathematics, is perhaps best known for his sympathetic help in untangling schedule difficulties and for his love of hunting and fishing. On his shoulders rests the responsibility of keeping up with some 1,100 juniors and seniors who major in one of the liberal arts or sciences—and he does a good job.

CORYDON PERRY SPRUILL

As Dean of the General College, Dean Spruill has the none-too-easy task of keeping tab on every freshman and sophomore in the University. An able Professor of Economics in addition to being dean, he carries out the tremendous amount of work which his office requires with thoroughness, with fairness, and always with a desire to see the student's point of view.

DUDLEY deWITT CARROLL

Dean of the School of Commerce, Head of the Department of Economics, and Professor of Economics, Dean Carroll is also President of the Board of Trustees of Guilford College. Not content with founding the Commerce School, he has watched it grow, under his guidance, into one of the "toughest" schools on the campus and one of the best undergraduate schools in the nation.

SUSAN GREY AKERS

The School of Library Science, one of the smallest schools on the campus, is nevertheless one of the best; and the work of Dean Akers has been responsible in large measure for its success. Her energy, patience, and perseverance command the respect of her students, and have become as much a part of the school as has she, herself.

UNIVERSITY

JOHN GROVER BEARD

A crack horseman and one of the foremost men in his field of study, Dean Beard heads the School of Pharmacy and is Professor of Materia Medica and Pharmaceutical Latin. A firm believer in pharmacy as a profession, he is particularly interested in encouraging the growing of drug plants on a commercial scale here in North Carolina.

WALTER REECE BERRYHILL

Until this past year, Dean Berryhill has been Director of the Infirmary and Assistant Dean of the School of Medicine. With his elevation as Dean of the School of Medicine he continues to be one of the hardest working men on the campus. He has inaugurated this year a plan whereby medical students at the University may receive clinical training.

ROBERT HASLEY WETTACH

With the School of Law since 1921, and former Assistant Attorney General of North Carolina, Dean Wettach was elevated to the deanship in Manning Hall only last year. Interested in his students and well-liked by them, he is Professor of Constitutional Law and Torts in addition to his many duties as dean.

WILLIAM WHATLEY PIERSON

Dean of the Graduate School and Head of the Department of Political Science, Dean Pierson finds time to give several courses in political theory. His intense interest in Latin American relations has led him to lengthy visits to South American nations; and while in Venezuela last summer, he was made a member of the National Academy of Venezuela. He is now writing a history of that nation.

“HATS OFF”

*T*HE men and groups below are representative examples of the excellent work the University is doing in fields other than pure scholarship. For their fine work despite the fact that they have received comparatively little recognition, we say hats off—

To Bill Mann and the University of North Carolina Flying School for a vital and necessary contribution to our University and our nation. The School has trained some two hundred students without injury since January, 1939, giving them each forty hours of flying and a private operator's license.

To Mr. Ed Lanier in whose hands rests the immense responsibility of administering pecuniary aid to some 730 students through the Student Aid Office. Over a thousand applications must be reviewed by the Self-Help and Scholarship Committees before these positions and scholarships may be given.

Top to Bottom: MANN, LANIER, ALLCOTT

A CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT DEFENSE CLASS

To the Art Department and its head, John Allcott, who have brought to the University a growing and vital appreciation of art. Exhibitions of varied schools in both architecture and painting, and evening sketching classes which are open to all, have been presented in addition to the general courses of the department. It's a distinct contribution to education at Chapel Hill.

To the Chemistry Department for a real contribution to national defense. The department began a course in October, open to anyone in the state, designed to give specialized training in Instrumental Methods for Analysis. As the war makes further expansion of the chemical industry necessary, the men who have taken this course will be prepared to do more important work in the industry.

To Dr. Ralph McDonald and Director Earl Wynn who have given the University one of its most recent advances in educational facilities, a well-organized radio station. The station has been a means of keeping the state informed about the University, an outlet for the talents of students, and an opportunity for the training of students interested in radio.

To Dr. W. C. Coker for his splendid work in the University Herbarium. The largest of its kind in the southeast, the Herbarium is a collection of plant life which has been pressed, treated against insects, and mounted on cardboard, to be classified by family. The collection numbers 92,000 in round numbers, the oldest single plant of which was collected in 1849.

To the Southern Historical Collection's enthusiastic director, Dr. J. G. de Roulhac Hamilton, Kenan Professor of History and Government. The only all-southern collection in existence, it is made up of about two million manuscripts which have been amassed in the University library since 1927, including letters, documents, newspapers, diaries, plantation and slave records, Confederate War material, and other data from over the South. It is an invaluable contribution to source material of American history.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

TO THE 500 or more seniors who are graduating this spring, and to others who may be leaving for the last time, the Alumni Association will begin to assume a position of importance. For the Association is the only organized means of keeping in touch with the University and with other alumni. Under the capable guidance of Executive Secretary "Spike" Saunders, who, it is said, knows more about most alumni than they do themselves, the Association does an invaluable service—including maintaining up-to-date addresses of and information about more than 25,000 living alumni, receiving numerous alumni visitors to the campus, and servicing the work of 50 organized classes and 60 local club groups. And for the dues-paying members, a monthly magazine, The Alumni Review, is published and distributed. The Review, in addition to presenting up-to-date information about the alumni and the University, appeared several times last fall in the form of a seasonal weekly football edition.

An interesting part of the Association's work this year centered around plans for the celebration in 1943 and 1945 of the 150th anniversary events of the founding of the University. Highlights of the year were two important gifts made to the University by alumni—a professorship endowed by Burton Craige, '97, and scholarships established by Kay Kyser, '27.

With the outbreak of war in December the Association joined with the University to gear its efforts to the nation's war-job. War-time has necessitated the curtailment of some activities, but more than ever the Association, its leaders, and its members have sought to stress to other alumni and to the State the importance of maintaining the University as an instrumentality not only of winning the war, but of providing trained leadership for the post-war period as well.

Officers for the past year were: W. A. Dees, President; Kay Kyser, First Vice-President; D. B. Teague, Second Vice-President; G. Watts Hill, Treasurer; and J. Maryon Saunders, Executive Secretary.

THEY WENT TO CAROLINA

*T*HE men below represent more than 25,000 living University alumni. They have been selected on the basis of their achievement in widely different fields.

HERSCHEL V. JOHNSON, A.B. '16: Dramatics dominated his campus career and he played a role as a captain of infantry in World War I. But Mr. Johnson since 1920 has trod the diplomatic boards in American embassies in Europe and Mexico, particularly from 1934 to 1941 in London. Now as U. S. Minister to Sweden, he is one of the top-flight career diplomats of the State Department.

BURTON CRAIGE, A.B. '97, LL.D. 1939: Senior member of the state's oldest law firm—Craig & Craig, of Salisbury and Winston-Salem, he is a scholar of history and jurisprudence as well as an able counsel. Six generations of his family have attended the University. In 1941 Mr. Craig endowed the Craig Chair of Jurisprudence and History at the University.

NORMAN CORDON, '26: At Chapel Hill he sang in the glee club and after two years left college to seek his musical career. Musical comedy, radio performances and concert work preceded his becoming a leading basso of the Metropolitan Opera—the only alumnus ever to sing in grand opera.

Top to Bottom: JOHNSON, CRAIGE, CORDON

HUGH H. BENNETT

LINDSAY WARREN

COL. EARLY DUNCAN

COL. HUGH HESTER

HUGH H. BENNETT, B.S. '03, LL.D. 1936: Wadesboro native, he entered federal agricultural service upon graduation. In a long career of crusading against the ravages of soil erosion, he has made America conscious of the necessity for soil defense. He now heads the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and is chief soil chemist of the nation.

LINDSAY C. WARREN, '10: Washington, N. C. and Washington, D. C., are the homes of Mr. Warren. He was elected to Congress from the N. C. town in 1925, served until November, 1940, when he resigned to become Comptroller-General of the United States. In Congress he was known as a splendid parliamentarian and presiding officer. Now he supervises the auditing of all federal government expenditures.

EARLY E. W. DUNCAN, A.B. '17: When America entered World War I, he was a Chapel Hill senior. He left the campus to take officer training and has been in the army ever since. First in the cavalry, he transferred to the Air Corps in 1920. Now he is a colonel and last fall was named to command the great Lowry Air Field at Denver, Colorado.

HUGH B. HESTER, A.B. '16: Colonel Hester left law studies in the spring of 1917 to join the army. In France he won citations for gallantry in action. Since the war, he has gone through various army graduate schools—cavalry, field artillery, quartermaster, chemical warfare, and industrial. Stationed now in Washington, he is one of the Army's highly trained staff experts.

JONATHAN DANIELS, A.B. '21, A.M. 1922: Editor of the Tar Heel in his student days, he has gone on to become a distinguished newspaperman, magazine writer, editor, author, and lecturer. Perhaps his books, A Southerner Discovers the South and Tar Heels, have brought him widest renown, but his day in and out job is Editor of the Raleigh News & Observer, a post his distinguished father, Josephus Daniels '85, occupied before him.

STUDENT ADMINISTRATION

"Weary lies the Head..."

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

on the honor system. That was just one part of a large program to make the campus "honor-conscious". The Council, in addition, had talks with new faculty members showing how they, too, might help in making student government more constructive. They began plans for having small groups, such as fraternities, talk over the honor system. And groups of campus leaders, including members of the Grail and Golden Fleece, were encouraged to discuss the problem, were invited to suggest ways of improvement.

TRUMAN HOBBS, Student Body President

*M*OST of us think about student government once a year—when spring elections roll around. We talk about it, because there's a lot of tradition behind it; and we brag about it, because we probably have more freedom as students to handle our own affairs than has any other school in the South. But as far as really thinking about it goes—trying to understand why we have it, and how we can give it a boost—most of us, seniors included, will have to admit that we can't say much for ourselves. Willingness to let things get along as they always have is pretty much of a "hand-me-down" from past student generations.

New this year has been a spirit on the part of the Student Council to fight against the indifference of the students. Their theory has been: we have good student leaders, we have sound principles for them to work with, and we have a lot of real cooperation from the faculty; why can't we get more enthusiasm from the students? And so they set out to give us all the proverbial "kick in the pants".

Most of us remember "Honor Emphasis" week at the end of the fall quarter, during which discussions were held

W. T. MARTIN, Vice-President
JOHN MCCORMICK, Sec.-Treas.

GOVERNMENT Nineteen Forty - Two

Probably the most encouraging part of the Council's work has been their effort to do away with much of the secrecy which has shrouded their work in the past. If there is laxity in reporting violations of the honor system or the campus code, the fault may not be entirely that of the students. And so the Council has taken this attitude: remind the students that members of the Council are students, too, and realize that honor code violations aren't cases of black and white, in which offenders should be categorically cleared or expelled; publicize the conditions of actual cases and the decisions reached (without names, of course), showing that the Council is fair in its trial of students; let everyone know that the Council is neither too severe to risk doing an injustice, nor too lax to jeopardize the system. Make public these facts, and students will take pride in upholding the honor system and in reporting violators.

How much progress has been made in student government this year no one can say. Trying to measure the increased interest in the campus code and honor system would be obviously impossible. But full credit goes to the Student Council for a spark which may burst into a real flame. They've been working with something intangible, trying to make it more understandable. And if even a small step has been made forward, then this year's work will not have been in vain.

The WOMEN'S GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

COED government is a subject on which the Carolina students as a whole are rather vague. To the men students at least, the "Women's Government Association" implies little more than: "Oh yes, what time does Spencer close tonight?" But to the coeds their government is an opportunity to regulate their own lives and set their own standards to a liberal degree that is unequaled by that of almost any other woman's student body.

Pampered darlings the coeds may seem to some; prom-trotters or party girls they may appear to others; but for whatever they are, the credit or blame is mainly their own. At U.N.C. the coeds, like the men students, are considered capable of making their own decisions, and they have set-up their own self-enforced government for that purpose.

MARY CALDWELL, President

HELEN MACKAY, Secretary; MARY LIB NASH, Vice-President; JUNE LOVE, Treasurer

The various branches of the women's government are brain-children of the coeds. Perhaps you remember the spring of 1941 when Thursday Tar Heel headlines read, "New Officers Elected for Women's Association"; and on Friday, the headlines were, "New Coed Officers to Abolish Women's Association."

This governmental upset indicated no Bohemian trends. It merely meant that 700 coeds could not comfortably function under the governmental plan set up when there were but fifty girls on the campus. So the present, "revised" form of government was born.

Voted into effect by the women students during the spring of 1941, the Women's Government Association is almost a twin to the student body government, in which the coeds take part by means of the student legislature. Corresponding to the Student Council, the Student Legislature, and the Interdormitory Council, the women students have an Honor Council, a Senate, and an Interdormitory Council of their own. Through these groups of 9, 16, and 10 girls respectively, the coeds govern themselves, make their rules, conduct their orientation program, finance their undertakings and organizations, and support the Campus Code and Honor System.

Seated: MACKAY, CALDWELL, NASH

Under our rather unusual system, the coeds take part in two governments—their own, in which the boys do not take part; and the student body government, in which they have been taking more and more part since “woman suffrage” was extended to the first coeds on the campus. In the beginning the girls merely voted for the student body officers—boys all. Now, however, they have begun to participate more actively, with several coeds holding elective offices in the student legislature and in the various classes.

What the future holds for coed government we don't know. But if present trends are any indication, then coeds should not only extend the scope of their own government, but should become more dominant in student body government. Perhaps as the war begins to exact a heavier toll on the male part of the University, the girls will assume proportionately greater responsibilities. In fact, those who come to Carolina in the years after the war may find things reversed, and the coeds debating over whether the boys should be allowed to stay out after eleven. It would be just like a woman!

Members of the Honor Council this year were: Frances Allison, Ditzie Buice, Mary Caldwell, Elizabeth Campbell, Marsha Hood, June Love, Helen MacKay, Mary Elizabeth Nash, and Betty Woodhouse.

STUDENT LEGISLATURE

ON A CAMPUS weighty with inactive organizations, the Student Legislature has come into its own. Skeptical students two years ago saw Speaker Bill Cochrane, backed by a constitution giving power to legislate for the student body, begin to resurrect the dying assembly. In its first year, the Legislature abolished the Buccaneer, established in its place Tar 'n Feathers, and took over the review of campus organization budgets.

Into Cochrane's shoes last spring stepped Terry Sanford, new speaker, to lead the Legislature for a fall quarter full of enactments before he was called into the F.B.I. service.

TERRY SANFORD, Speaker

A reorganization bill forestalled prohibition of student-owned cars and gave an inactive Safety Council the power to curb reckless campus drivers. Reviewing budgets, the Legislature refused to authorize student activities keys and increased the engraving appropriation for the Carolina Magazine—one of the few ever appreciated by the campus—to $1000 over the protest of the P. U. Board.

Just after Christmas, the Legislature by acclamation elected Ferebee Taylor, finance chairman, as new speaker to replace Sanford. In quick succession, the assembly passed a bill reorganizing and injecting life into a long defunct Debate Council, revised the campus "Hatch Act" to cut down political expenditures, and passed a new elections rules bill to eliminate inefficient conducting of the polls.

The end of the Legislature's second year shows increased utilization—not abuse—of its wide powers, and marks a still greater gain in prestige and campus respect.

Officers of the Legislature were: Speakers, Terry Sanford and Ferebee Taylor; Reading Clerk, W. J. Smith; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Ike Taylor.

WOMEN'S SENATE

SPEAKING of girls who watch their figures—and we mean financial figures!—we can't forget the Women's Senate. Formed in the spring of 1941 as part of the revised women's government, the senate has as one of its important duties the drawing up of the Women's Government Association budget.

In this, its first year, the Senate has been unusually active. Taking from the shoulders of the W.G.A. president much of the work formerly required of her, it has set up standards for coed elections, revised social rules such as the coed curfew, and taken over supervision of the coed handbook. Probably its most commendable work has been the beginning of a training school for hopeful coed officers. Aspirants must attend at least three meetings of the school before being eligible for office.

Officers this year were: Jean Hahn, Speaker; Eleanor Bernert, Speaker pro-tem; Dorothy Cutting, Secretary; and June Love, Treasurer.

WOMEN'S INTERDORMITORY COUNCIL

*D*ID you go to an Alderman dorm "social", or get a bid to a Spencer tea dance?—then it's the Women's Interdorm Council you want to thank. This hard-working group of coeds has become quite "professional" at arranging social affairs.

But "partying" is far from their most important work. On their serious side, they are concerned with such worth while projects as providing study rooms on each floor of every dormitory, helping promote Red Cross drives, holding receptions for soldiers, and temporarily setting such rules as closing hours. Perhaps more intangible, but no less important, have been their efforts to better relations between the various dormitories and sororities. Composed of a representative from every woman's dormitory and sorority, they've done a lot to lighten the work of other campus organizations.

Officers were: Elizabeth Campbell, President; Mary McCormic, Secretary.

INTERDORMITORY COUNCIL

*T*HERE'S no more bowling in the halls of the Lower Quad, no more singing contests at midnight, and no more "pitched battles" in the Upper Quad—the Interdormitory Council is here to stay. No "joy-killers", Council members nevertheless take to heart their main purpose—"making the dormitories a better place to live". And this year, under the leadership of George Hayes, they've done a good job.

With members on each floor of every dormitory, the Council is probably one of the most representative groups on the campus. For that reason, it has been able to do an invaluable service in promoting Red Cross, N.Y.A., and other drives. Perhaps a more important part of its work, however, has been in boosting spirit between the various dormitories. Competition in athletic contests and in homecoming decorations has been one of the means of accomplishing this. Important, too, has been its efforts to get a social room for each dormitory. In this it has worked hand in hand with the Tar Heel and the administration.

The power of the Council is more than that of mere persuasion. Under a revised constitution this year, its members were given full power to remove any boy from a dormitory whose conduct did not conform with the campus code. This power, seldom invoked, has nevertheless been an important means of keeping noise at a minimum. In the event removal were considered necessary, the Council of Dormitory Presidents has been set up as an appeal board.

Members of the Council this year were: Alexander—Sam Sherman, Sam Beavans, Robert Hamburger, Julian Miller, L. D. Burkhead, Russell Davis; Aycock—Boston Lackey, Walter Williams, Harold Pope, David Barksdale, James N. Edwards, Hayes Johnson; B.V.P.—George Paine, Kenneth Dingler, Louis Scheinman, John M. Moore, Martin Barrier, William Witkin; Everett—Tommy Sullivan,

*T*HERE were crowds on fraternity row, and the usual grins and handshaking and backslapping: rushing had begun—and so had one of the Interfraternity Council's biggest tasks. With about 800 freshmen as prospective rushees and with some 22 fraternities to deal with, the council had its hands full last fall. But it found time to add needed trimmings to the usual procedure of rushing.

One of the most commendable changes appeared in the form of a fraternity handbook, which contained, in addition to information about rushing and fraternities in general, pictures of the members of all of the Greek-letter houses. Freshmen were thus able to start out fortified with a few facts and figures. The over-a-thousand copies of the booklet have had a further use as fraternity guide and information books throughout the year (and incidentally, the coeds find them useful). Another important change was the addition to the membership of a Junior representative from each house. With a full year of experience behind them, these boys will be in a position to assume future leadership in the council and in their own fraternities as well. And then, regarding rushing rules, restrictions on fraternity men during the pre-rushing silence period were made less severe.

JOHN THORP, President

Perhaps one of the most interesting parts of the council's work, and the part which accounts for some of its most tangible good, is its assistance to the Scholarship Fund. A specific amount of its income each year is set aside to be donated to some worthy student designated by the Scholarship committee. The offering of a cup to the fraternity which has the highest scholastic average has likewise been an encouraging force in removing the stigma of "all play and no work" from fraternities on the campus.

Somewhat in conjunction with the council has been the Interfraternity Council of House Managers and Dining Room Managers. The boys who work under this imposing nomen are trying to help the fraternities through cooperative buying and through joint discussion of mutual problems which crop up when a bunch of fellows go house-keeping.

Officers were: John Thorp, President; Robert Hutchison, Vice-President; William Pettway Jones Peete, Secretary; Stuart Richardson, Treasurer.

IF YOU WERE to walk into a conference room in Graham Memorial some afternoon, you might find the Publications Union Board in session. Affectionately known as the P. U. Board, it has the financial supervision of the four publications without influencing their editorial policies in any way.

Composed of three members elected by the student body, two members appointed from the faculty by the Dean of Administration, and a financial adviser, it sets the salaries of all paid publications workers; makes all contracts with printers and engravers; and with the advice of the Student Legislature controls all financial expenditures. It also appoints all business managers and the managing editor of the Daily Tar Heel.

The source of much worry and head-scratching for the various editors and business managers, the Board has kept the publications on a financially sound basis.

GRAHAM MEMORIAL BOARD OF DIRECTORS

*M*EETINGS and dances, typewriters and publications, hair-cutting and eating, a thousand and one activities, or just plain lounging—that's Graham Memorial. From the basement to the top floor it's the students' building—and more things go on in it at the same time than on any crowded street anywhere!

Governing Graham Memorial Student Union is a Board of Directors, composed of both faculty members and students, who determine policy, suggest programs, fix fees and salaries, and select the Director. But rather than the Board, it is the Director whom the students identify with the building. It is the director who becomes as much a part of Graham Memorial as the columns themselves, who plans the dances, who arranges the programs, and who brings together a far-flung campus for purposes both serious and social.

" REMEMBER THE Classes ?

... OR DID YOU STUDY ? "

“Seniors... at Last!”

“CLASS OF '42”—it seemed a long way off back in 1938 when 800 green freshmen showed up in Chapel Hill. But four years have come and slipped away without anyone much knowing where they've gone. Some have made it via the library, a Phi Beta key, and extra-curriculars. Some have struggled along via Sweetbriar, Prof. Smith's 1:30, and Harry's. All of us who stuck it out, whether we breezed along or had tough going, can pride ourselves on a common experience of four of the finest years we've ever spent.

Biggest news for everyone was the war, brought close to home as we saw classmates leave in mid-year and knew it wouldn't be long before we'd be there too. But we can't forget a lot of other things—the struggles to pass the budget, which finally succeeded after a man to man campaign; the day comprehensives were abolished, and we suddenly saw that we might get to shake the governor's hand after all; Juniors-Seniors week-end, the highlight of the spring; Senior week, when we stormed the campus barefoot.

As graduation approached, there were few tears. Fourth year men, with their dignity to uphold, couldn't appear to be ruffled even by sentiment. But there were lumps in the throats of many a senior, as he looked at places and people he might not see again. After graduation? One thing was certain—if luck held out, we'd all come back.

Yackety Yack

"Three years of wear....

But we're almost there!"

PAST the half-way mark, rounding the turn—and we suddenly realize that the far-off day of judgment isn't so distant after all. With the novelty of our first year worn off, and the "superiority complex" of our second fast disappearing, we settle down to the serious business of being a Junior—and begin to wonder how anyone could get so far behind in so short a time.

First big event for all of us was the day we met our new dean, and found ourselves confronted with the problem of what to major in. We can't forget how we stewed and brewed over it—and finally ended up taking just what we started out to take. For those who chose Bingham Hall and the ways of commerce, the year held the threatening prospect of Commerce 71. For those who buried themselves in Venable, organic loomed high, ready to pounce on would-be idlers. For the rest, there were other "Jonah" courses (and "crips" too) that made the year seem different. By-words by the middle of the year were the names of Mrs. Sally and Mrs. Stevens, who were the only reasons for many of us struggling to keep up the old "C" average.

Somewhat forgotten in the rush of September registration, but quite apparent ever since the day we went to our first classes were the newest additions to our number—the coeds. And it didn't take us long to welcome them into our ranks: witness the "new coed" ball. Skeptical Juniors who frowned on coeducation were forced to step into the background as they saw girls toeing the mark as well as (and better than) the boys.

Came spring . . . and Junior-Seniors . . . and spring elections. The Class of '43 stepped into its own.

"You can tell a Soph...

But you can't tell him much

SOPHISTICATED sophs! That second year—when you're on the top of the world, and don't mind letting everyone know it . . . when college is still new enough to spring surprises on you . . . when the frosh seem the meekest bunch you've ever seen, and the juniors and seniors don't seem to be so high and mighty after all. You're not worried about such far off things as graduation; and you've been here long enough to know your way around. So really you've got every right to be satisfied with yourselves.

For athletes there's the chance to make a varsity letter—and show the folks back home a thing or two. For the politicians there's the first real introduction to party conclaves and intrigues—and if you're lucky, think of having your best girl up to be in the class dance figure. For the scholars, there's the chance to make up for those freshman "C's" and head for Phi Beta. And then for the soph frat men, there's a brand new shiny pin perched on your vest—just waiting to be transferred to the sweater of your one and only.

Do you remember—plans for a bigger sophomore class day, record-breaking trouble in passing the budget, the crazy antics of the soph social organizations? Can you forget—Ec. 41, the saddle shoes and gray flannels you've broken in by now, end of spring quarter—the half-way mark?

Wickett Book

"Fresh for Short... but not for Long!"

SOMEWHAT overawed, more than a little nervous, some expectant, some curious, all feeling as if they were a small part of something mighty big—that was the class of '45, 850 strong, when it showed up in Chapel Hill last fall. As green as freshmen always are but willing to learn, they waited in the same long lines, puzzled while doctors found out about every scratch they'd ever had, bought books which seemed for all the world like Greek, spent days trying to figure out which was Saunders and which was Murphey and where the fire horn came from.

Then the varnish began to wear off. New faces and new places began to become familiar, and the dorm room began to seem like home. And they began to find out that the professors who addressed them as "Mr.," and seemed to be in a world of their own, weren't the impersonal intellectuals they had thought but pretty good guys. Freshman assembly, despite the wise-cracks of upperclassmen, gave them some good tips on adjusting themselves to college life; fall elections brought them together as a class; and pretty nearly every one of them could remember the day that an upperclassman had mistaken him for a sophomore or junior—and he first began to realize that at Carolina freshmen are as much a part of things as anyone else.

The class dance, in the spring, rounded the year out. And as the annual came out, they could point to the fact that theirs was the first freshman class to have individual pictures in it. One year was gone, one notch in the belt—and the beginning of an ambition to make the class of '45 the best in years.

PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS

"Burning the Midnight Oil"

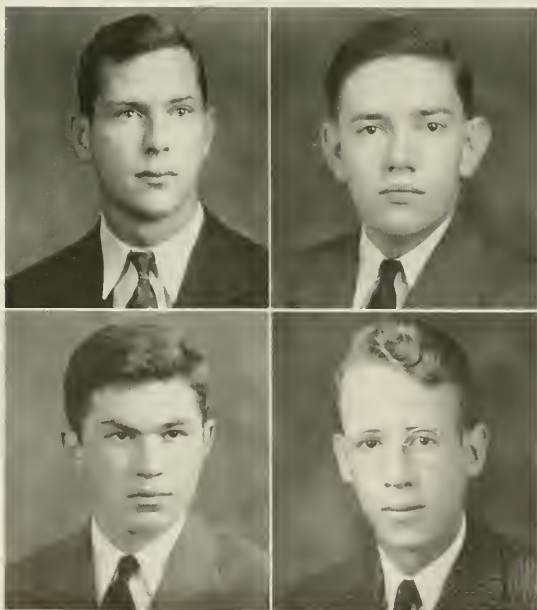

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

A PART OF the University of North Carolina—a very special part to the 141 (a new record) who are quietly absorbing the professionally steeped air that enshrouds Howell Hall—is the School of Pharmacy.

Here in Chapel Hill we find the only Pharmacy School in North Carolina. It represents and strives to carry forward one of the oldest professions known to mankind. It has been the work of our own Dean Beard, and Dean Howell before him, to build and maintain professional standards for this unit of U.N.C. education. These men have devoted heart, soul, mind, and sweat to the advancement of Pharmacy in North Carolina. If it cost $50,000 to determine that Pharmacy is a profession and not a trade, then it should be with pride—and it is—that graduates in Pharmacy say "I am a Pharmacist".

The trade needs to know only the methods; the profession needs to know the principles upon which the methods are established. To maintain a high professional standard, it has been necessary for a Pharmacy curricula to include fundamental knowledge of the basic law, theories, principles and applications of Botany, Chemistry, Physiology, Pharmacology, Physics, Psychology, and Zoology. Naturally, an accumulation of this knowledge, with reasonable understanding, has a positive and favorable effect upon the regard which the people, as a whole, hold for the Pharmacist.

The faculty consists of picked men which have come from places ranging from North and South Carolina to Minnesota and Oregon. Some of them are even nationally known for their work in Pharmacy. The rather small but very efficient professorially endowed group consists of Dean J. G. Beard, Dr. H. M. Burlage, Dr. M. L. Jacobs, Dr. I. W. Rose, and Dr. E. A. Brecht. Also, this year we again have with us Mr. C. K. "Cy" Wheeler as laboratory instructor of the various fields of Pharmaceutical Chemistry.

As regards Pharmaceutical Organizations: first to be mentioned is, without question, the Honorary Fraternity of Rho Chi—"few attain but many strive for."

Secondly, mention must be made of the student branch of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association—"looking to a future in state pharmaceutical activities."

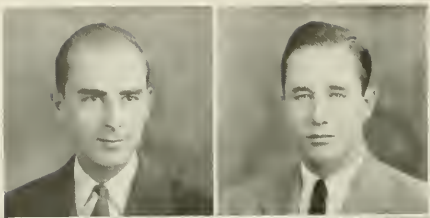

Thirdly, we are proud of our Senate organization, which though only in its second year, can already talk as loud and as well, and which is heard with as much respect, as its older brother, the N.C.P.A. "Stand up and speak" seems to summarize its purpose. Proof positive of this is the requirement enforced that each one of the thirty members must be heard at every meeting.

We have fun—there are parties at the first of the year for better acquainting first-year students with the old members of the school; there will be remembered the annual Banquet and Dance which is always successful; there will be remembered a Barbecue and Square Dance given by the Dean and his wife; there will be remembered the "turn-about" partying between Phi Delta Chi, Kappa Psi, and Kappa Epsilon; and there will always be fun at the State Convention meetings of the N.C.P.A.

Come war—come peace—we as future Pharmacists stand ready.

Officers this year were: David McGowan, President; Sam Dulin, Vice-President; Otto Matthews, Secretary-Treasurer; L. E. McKnight, Student Council Representative; John Terrell, Student Legislature Representative. Class Presidents were: William Sheffield, Senior; Harry Allen, Junior; Ed Beddingfield, Sophomore; Sammy Koonce, Freshman. North Carolina Pharmaceutical officers were: Al Mattocks, President; Margaret Lloyd, Vice-President; Marsha Hood, Secretary; MacPhail Herring, Treasurer; and Fred Dees, Chairman of the Executive Committee.

SCHOOL of LAW

HARVEY JONAS, President
FRANK HOLTON, Vice-President
WILLIAM ALLEN, Secretary-Treasurer
CLIFFORD PACE, Student Council Representative

THE close of the present academic period marks the first year of the Law School under the deanship of Robert H. Wettach. Mr. Wettach, an active member of the faculty during the preceding twenty years, was elevated to that position following the resignation of Dean M. T. Van Hecke. Mr. Van Hecke resigned, after ten years of excellent service, in order to devote more of his time to writing and teaching, and to accept a Presidential appointment.

Student affairs in the Law School are regulated by the elected officers of its student government—the Law Association. This association promotes all student activity. Outstanding in its program for the current year were the Law School Reception in the fall, the Law-Med Dances in the winter (sponsored jointly with the Medical School), Student-Faculty Day in the spring, and the Law School Banquet at the end of the year.

Some of the distinctive features of our Law School are its well-known Summer School, which presents recognized authorities on various subjects of law; its student publication, The North Carolina Law Review; and its chapter of the National Honorary Society of "Order of the Coif."

Since the outbreak of the war, the Law School has followed the trend of the whole University in seeking to do its bit toward the National Defense effort. For the duration of the emergency, the period of study may be shortened by attendance throughout the entire year; and new students are being admitted with less preparation than three years of college work. During the past year the School has contributed a large part of its student body to the armed forces of the nation and to the F.B.I. Among students leaving for that reason were the entire executive staff of the Law Association, elected in the spring of 1941: Charles Edwin Hinsdale, President; Hyman Phillips, Jr., Vice-President; and Kenyon Wilson, Jr., Secretary-Treasurer.

The following students were also forced to leave: Class of 1942—David Armstrong, Arthur Greene, Henry Harkey, James Joyner, Hunter Marshall, Marion Parrott, Terry Sanford, John Umstead. Class of 1943—S. B. Bradley, John Briggs, B. M. Edwards, Beverly Faison, Louis Gaylord, Francis Heazel, J. B. Hubbell, James Lawrence, Thad Moser, Thomas Nordan, Robert Rutter. WILLIAM HARRIS, President of Whitehead Society

*I*N the span of years between the first World War and the present conflict, the University Medical School has made remarkable strides forward and now stands well equipped to give two years thorough training in a profession vital to the war effort.

At the close of the last war, the Medical School faculty was composed of one part-time and four full-time professors. Now the staff comprises sixteen full-time professors, together with a number of part-time instructors in the clinical subjects, a larger number of laboratory and research assistants, and a librarian.

The physical equipment has been immensely improved with the construction of a spacious medical building which houses classrooms, well-equipped laboratories, and the medical library. The building was first occupied in June, 1939.

Dr. W. R. Berryhill, formerly Assistant Dean under Dr. W. deB. MacNider and Acting Dean after Dr. MacNider's return to teaching and research in 1940, was made Dean of the Medical School in the autumn of 1941. Young, capable, and energetic, Dr. Berryhill took office with the applause of faculty and students alike.

To keep pace with the current trend toward the inclusion of clinical training in the second year of medical school, and to facilitate the transition from the classes and laboratories of this school to the wards of the four year schools, the clinical courses are now receiving more time and emphasis in the curriculum. This is largely possible through the cooperation of Watts Hospital in Durham, which provides a source of invaluable clinical and pathological material. This affiliation, valuable in the past, has been lately strengthened: Dr. C. E. Brown, a member of the Medical School Pathology Department, is now director of the laboratory at Watts, being supplied to the hospital by the University.

With the completion of the term now in progress, the Medical school will begin operating on a year-round basis with new classes entering every nine months. This new schedule, adopted by the majority of medical schools in the country, will presumably be maintained for the duration of the war.

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

A RELATIVELY young part of the University, but well-advanced despite its youth, is the School of Public Health. Established in 1936 as the Division of Public Health, it has grown rapidly, and in 1940 was given the full status of a school. The School concerns itself primarily with providing training for careers in Public Health. Graduates in medicine, engineering, and nursing are given courses designed to prepare them for the many branches in this wide field; and college graduates are also prepared for such specialized pursuits as public health education, public health laboratory, parasitology, and malarology. A student body drawn from all sections of the United States as well as a number of foreign countries finds available for study field demonstration units in many of the surrounding county and city health departments; for those so fitted, special opportunity for research or field investigation is offered. Of particular interest is the fact that this school has been designated by the government as the center for training public health workers for eight southeastern states.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING

The newest development of the School of Public Health is the Department of Public Health Nursing. This department was organized in 1940, and the first class, which numbered more than fifty by the year's end, was accepted only last fall. Students in public health nursing are all registered graduate nurses. The regular course, which lasts an academic year, is designed to prepare them for the special work of the public health nurse. Graduate nurses who complete the year's work in public health nursing and also two years of college work are eligible for the Bachelor of Science degree in Public Health Nursing.

Class officers for the past year were: Myra Goodman, President; Betty Ficquett, Vice-President; Julia Willette, Secretary; Nan McCall, Treasurer.

JUST ANY OLD

*T*YPICAL days never are really typical for everybody. But there are some things that are as much a part of the Carolina day as saddle shoes and gray flannels. The reach for the Tar Heel always starts the day off—crossword puzzles, gossip columns, and all. Then comes our 8:30, beginning any time from 8:45 on. Two classes drag by and bring the climax of the morning at 10:30. Frosh trek to Memorial Hall midst the ridicule of upperclassmen, politicians meet the voters, coeds flaunt their charms, while plain old Joe College sits back and watches the world go by.

DINNER TIME BRINGS ANOTHER CAROLINA TRADITION—LONG LINES.

IF THE AFTERNOON CALLS FOR A MOVIE, IT'S USUALLY FOLLOWED BY A TRIP TO THE DURHAM DAIRIES.

SOME PREFER TO SIT AND TALK (ABOVE), WHILE OTHERS (BELOW) TAKE IN A GAME OF HORSESHOES.

DAY AT U.N.C.

There's the rush for lunch at 1:00—plus the mile-long line. And if the afternoon doesn't hold the prospect of a lab, the 1:30 show is sure to be next. Somewhere along the line is the long hike to the gym, where Mr. Durham always good-naturedly complains about us making him work overtime.

Night brings studying for some, dating for others, bull sessions for all—it's the wee small hours before we know it.

AT NIGHT THE NONE-TOO-POPULAR LIBRARY HAS A FEW HARD WORKERS SLAVING AWAY.

MIDNIGHT FINDS THE CAMPUS DESERTED.

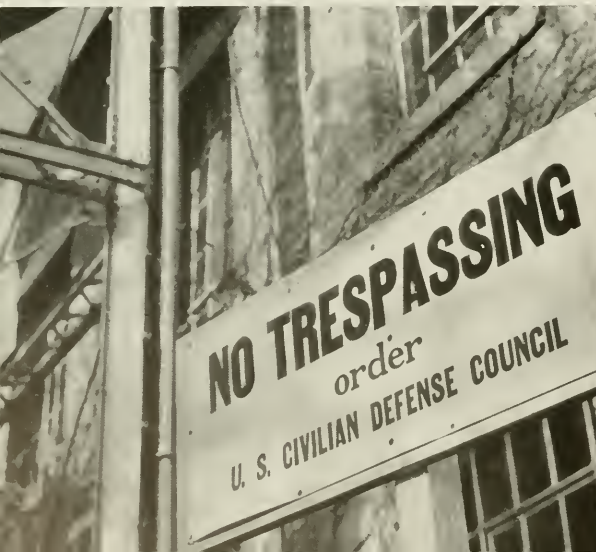

"KEEP ALERT" WARNED POSTERS AND SIGNS IN THE LIBRARY INFORMATION CENTER.

THE FEB. 16 REGISTRATION SERVED NOTICE ON OVER A THOUSAND STUDENTS THAT THEIR TIME WAS NEAR. AND SIGNS LIKE THE ONE BELOW REMINDED EVERYONE THAT ALL MONKEY BUSINESS WAS OUT.

WHEN war came, Carolina students reacted in many different ways. Some followed an initial impulse to "join up". Some remained typically complacent, and didn't much give a darn. Most of us listened to the advice of Dr. Graham and others—"don't be rash, don't rush into anything, think things over". Long remembered will be the way the news spread over the campus like wildfire, the way students stayed up until the small hours of the morning listening to news broadcasts, the Monday morning speeches of Dr. Graham and President Roosevelt following in quick succession.

The effects of the war weren't long in appearing on the campus. Students soon found an information desk set up in the library with up-to-date material about the war—plus the wise admonition to "be alert". Important campus buildings were tagged with "keep off" signs, which because of the contrasting note they struck remind us constantly of the war. The Carolina Volunteer Training Corps gave students a chance to learn the fundamentals of military drill; an Office of Student Civilian Defense was set into motion—with trial black-outs and all; and upper quadrangle residents found themselves giving up their rooms at the close of the winter quarter for the use of the Navy.

There was a lighter side too. The campus fight over the dance expenditure cut kept Tar Heel columns buzzing for days and kept leaders of both camps on their toes thinking up pros and cons. Student ingenuity appeared as boys attempting to get into V-7 and other branches of the service resorted to memorizing eye charts, taking stretching exercises, and undergoing all sorts of weight-losing and weight-gaining diets, in order to pass physical exam requirements.

As year's end approached, the usual talk of vacations was missing. But if the army got us, there was one consolation—we wouldn't have to worry any more about our draft board.

DORMITORY LIFE

*M*EN'S dormitories, where the plebians, the sophisticates, and the politicians live, have long been recognized as the stronghold of democracy at Carolina. But now that the Navy has invaded the campus, they may become just another memory in our thoughts. Gone for most of us will be the dorm store bull sessions, the poker parties, political "visits", the telephone yells, the guy next door with the loud radio, the 8:00 rush for wash basins. Take it away, sailors!

AT CAROLINA

*S*ANCTUM sanctorum of the Carolina coeds, the women's dormitories are the most popular buildings on the campus for the roving Carolina male—for locked behind their protecting doors at night are the main reason why some of us manage to flunk out periodically. And while the men stare longingly at shade-covered windows, the girls tear their suitors apart, open doors for late arrivers, iron dresses, look hopelessly at their books, and wait for the telephone to ring.

PEP RALLIES

*T*HE pep rally has long been the major event of any football week-end. Often the question of who wins the game pales into insignificance beside the success of the giant torchlight parade and the hour of hoarse roars and songs which threaten to shake down Memorial Hall. After the long parade, the mad scramble for seats; then the curtain pulled back to reveal coaches with their tearful predictions and the equally optimistic players; the cheerleaders going stark raving mad before the night is over; the guy behind you whose over-enthusiasm prompts him to beat hell out of your head. Boy, what a pep rally! I wonder who won the game, though.

WHEN GREEKS

*S*ORORITIES are comparatively new at Carolina, but it hasn't taken them long to make up for lost time. The girls have their share (and then some!) of teas, dances, socials, and just plain dating; and few are the men students who haven't held down sofas in sorority parlors waiting for a date to make up her mind to come down.

Most girls remember their sorority for the Sunday teas, for dressers lined with pitchers, for the rush to get to the iron, for those endless games of bridge—and last but far from least, for the air of expectancy whenever the phone sounded.

"WHERE HAVE I SEEN THAT GUY BEFORE?" ASKS A QUIZZICAL SISTER.

ON ORDINARY WEEK DAYS A GAME OF BRIDGE IS USUALLY ON DECK AT THE PI LAMBDA PHI HOUSE. (BELOW) THE SIGMA NU BATHROOM QUARTET WARMS UP.

GET TOGETHER

ONE of Carolina's oldest traditions, fraternities mean many different things. To some they mean social life. To others they mean an entrance into politics. To most they mean a combination of things—Saturday night beer parties, a ready fourth, a ride to the gym, the never-ending ping-pong game, horseshoes in the spring, brotherhood. Highlight of fraternity activity is the Wednesday night chapter meeting. Brothers orate, suggest, wax poetical, or just bull, while, midst cries of order, the president calls for more spirit and the treasurer calls for more money.

The parties are fun, but the brotherhood is what we will remember.

AFTER DANCES MOST FRATERNITIES GIVE SMALL "OPEN HOUSES". ZETES HERE SERVE LIGHT REFRESHMENTS AND UNSPIKED PUNCH.

INITIATIONS

*I*NTIATIONS are important events in Chapel Hill. The fun of being initiated is all which some organizations can offer to its members—but in most cases that is plenty.

Most spectacular is the darkened Golden Fleece ceremony, when hooded members stalk among the hushed crowd in Memorial Hall to pounce on electees. More amusing is the Grail initiation in the spring when potential B.M.O.C.'s don a weird array of costumes and parade through the campus. The Sheiks, Minataurs, and 13 Club succeed rather poorly in embarrassing their members, but the campus always gets a big laugh anyway.

"HELL WEEK" INITIATE CURSES THE FIRST CHICKEN THAT EVER LAID AN EGG.

SOPHOMORE SOCIAL ORGANIZATION CANDIDATES PERFORM TO THE TUNE OF CUCKOOS, "ALLAH IS ALLLL-MIGHTY" AND "13 SIR THE MISSING LINK."

PHI DELTA CHI PLEDGES (TOP) INDULGE IN AN ENTHUSIASTIC MOTH-BALL-PUSHING RACE. BETAS (BOTTOM) SEE WHAT IT'S LIKE TO EAT BLIND-FOLDED AND WITH FORKS TIED TOGETHER.

Last but not least are the deep dark fraternity initiations, long a sore spot among campus crusaders. To the tune of splintering paddles and the anguished cries of the wounded, the Greek societies; despite numerous cries of barbarism, initiate their candidates into the devious ways of brotherhood.

HERE'S ONE REASON WHY THE SEATS OF PANTS WEAR OUT. STUDENT COLUMNISTS CRUSADED AGAINST PADDLING, BUT FORGOT TO ASK INITIATES IF THEY MINDED.

THE BALL STARTED ROLLING WHEN COEDS DREW NAMES OF THEIR DATES OUT OF A FISH-BOWL. "FISH" WORLEY DROVE THE FIRST FEW GIRLS TO SOUTH BUILDING IN GRAND STYLE.

THE TUG-OF-WAR WAS GREAT FUN FOR THE LOSERS—WHO WERE PULLED THROUGH A PIT OF MUD.

THE WHEELBARROW RACE PUT WOULD-BE STRONG ARM MEN ON THEIR METTLE.

WHEN SADIE HAWK

WHEN Sadie Hawkins day rolled around, the Carolina campus went true Dogpatch style. With Mr. and Mrs. Al Capp as guests of honor and Mayor "Fish" Worley presiding, students dressed to fit the occasion and didn't miss a trick. Coeds who hardly ever got up the energy to get to class went streaking across the campus in search of male talent. And boys who never dreamed of entering a coed dorm found themselves tagging along attached to the arm of some buxom miss. The afternoon saw all sorts of contests from wheelbarrow races

AND THE GIRL-CARRYING RACE WAS FUN FOR ALL CONCERNED.

MR. AND MRS. AL CAPP, GUESTS FOR THE DAY, WEREN'T LONG GETTING INTO THE SPIRIT OF THINGS.

NS CAME TO TOWN

to a tug-of-war, with winners getting prizes close to the heart of any good Dogpatcher—turkeys, calves, and pigs.

Big event of the day was the Sadie Hawkins Ball, when the gals did everything from calling for their dates to paying expenses. Prizes were given to the snazziest dressers, and music was played in the best square-dancing style. It was a great occasion. And when it was over, Carolina men were amazed: they had seen a coed foot the bill one night.

CAMERA FIENDS WERE IN THEIR ELEMENT. AL CAPP POSES FOR A PERSISTENT FAN.

UNIVERSITY CLUB

*T*ORCH-LIGHT parades . . . pep rallies . . . cheers . . . that twelfth man . . . BEAT DOOK—the University Club. A stiff test faced the club this year, boosting a team that somehow couldn't get started. But for those of us who went to the pep rallies (and that was just about everyone!), or took part in the yells, or got up in the dead of the night to meet a team that hadn't won, we know that club members did a fine job of holding up that twelfth man, the Carolina spirit. It might have been the torches that lit the enthusiastic parade to the doors of Memorial Hall; it might have been the spontaneous cheering of two thousand students; it might have been a real desire to win all of our games and particularly to "Beat Dook"—but whatever the reason, we can't forget the full-hearted support of the student body backing the team in Kenan Stadium. Thus through its pep rallies and parades and the spirit of its own members, the University Club did a real service again this year.

The club wasn't content to confine its work to the fall quarter and football. Last spring it sponsored a pep rally for the Duke baseball series—the first baseball pep rally in Carolina history. And at the end of one of the most successful baseball seasons in years, it set the spark for a drive to raise enough money to give gold baseballs to team members. On its more serious side, it was vitally interested in augmenting the decreased N.Y.A. fund—and its members did much to aid in the drive to keep self-help students in school.

Composed of a Junior representative from every dormitory and fraternity, and a Senior member from each woman's dormitory and sorority, the club is probably the most representative group on the campus. The quick contact which it has with almost every undergraduate in school, plus the hard work of its members, give teeth to its motto—"for the University."

Officers this year were: Steve Peck, President; Frances Tilley, Secretary; Steve Kares, Treasurer.

NAVAL R.O.T.C.

*I*N the fall quarter two years ago a campus long accustomed to the easy-going ways of Chapel Hill saw events abroad have their first apparent effect on the University—the establishment of a Naval Reserve Unit. For a while the attitude of the average student was one of curiosity; but as events abroad grew worse and as December 7 came and passed by, the Unit began to assume real significance. It became Carolina's first concrete effort, and one of its most effective, in furthering national defense.

Starting in 1940 with less than a hundred students, the Unit has grown this year to 188; and in the coming scholastic year enrollment will be raised to 230. For the picked students who join the Unit, a comprehensive four-year course lies ahead—with graduation offering an Ensignship in the Naval Reserve or a Second Lieutenancy in the Marine Corps Reserve. On the scholastic side, they cover the fundamental courses in seamanship, marine engineering, and navigation in addition to more broadening courses in naval tradition and international law. Physical training takes the form of a drill held for a full hour on two mornings each week. At various other times students have an opportunity to learn the principles of “shooting the sun,” flag signalling, knot tying, and handling a large naval gun which has been assembled in their armory. For those so inclined, the facilities of a well-equipped rifle range are available—plus the chance to take

As the country enters into full war-time stride, and as the Class of '44 signs up for the Advanced Course in the Unit, firm chins go up a degree or two and young jaws set a trifle harder. Y. M. C. A.

*T*WO especially important facts stand out about the "Y". The first — no student organization can boast nearly so large a membership, 1548. The second — probably no other group does as much real service with so little appreciation. There is hardly a student who does not use the Student Directory countless times during the year; yet few realize that the "Y" is responsible for its publication and distribution. Almost every freshman gets his first impressions of Carolina from the Freshman Handbook—and yet not many know that the "Y" selected its editor and made sure that he did a good job. No one who is at all interested in current affairs, whether they be social, economic, or political, can forget the biennial Institute of Human Relations, with the wealth of stimulating discussion which it presents—yet this too is often attributed to the work of any group other than the "Y". The list of other and lesser known services could be extended almost indefinitely. In the field of religion the "Y" promotes frequent programs of worship, lectures, conferences, and special features of which Religious Emphasis Week is but one. It also performs such invaluable services as the maintenance of a rooming bureau, a travel bureau, the self-help service, the well-known Pre-college retreat, publication of a weekly bulletin of events, and a host of other personal and community services.

Credit should not be given where it is not deserved. But to an organization which does its work in the face of much unjustified criticism as a "do-nothing" group, and, more important, an organization which speaks through its service rather than by flaunting publicity, the highest kind of praise is due. With a tradition of unselfish service which began in 1859, the "Y" is setting the example which it seeks to stimulate in others.

THE touchdown play, the strains of "Hark the Sound"—the band comes into its own. There's a huge U.N.C. on the field, the cymbals clash, it dissolves into formation—and the band steals the show again.

On a football afternoon, the band steps into the limelight as far as most of the campus is concerned. But appearance at football games, despite the painstaking hours of practice it necessitates, is only one part of the band's program. Open air concerts under Davy Poplar make many a Sunday afternoon in the spring quarter enjoyable for the students; and broadcasts over the Tar Heel Network give U.N.C. alumni and friends a taste of the musical talent at the University. In a tour of high schools throughout the state, the Band seeks to encourage local bands and orchestras, while here on our campus it sponsors a swing-band concert among student orchestras.

Not least important among the activities of the Band is the annual Band-Glee Club baseball game which the Band won again last spring.

HILLEL FOUNDATION

*T*HE B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, a national collegiate organization which has for its purpose the coordination of cultural and religious life among the Jewish students of sixty-five colleges and universities, was established at Chapel Hill in 1936.

Under the supervision of Rabbi Samuel Sandmel, its director, the Foundation offers Orthodox and Reformed services, weekly coffee hours, Sunday morning discussion groups, freshman bull-sessions, and open forum discussions. The women students maintain their own organization within the Foundation.

These activities are directed by the Cabinet, a group of elected students, who formulate and execute the actions of the Foundation. Meetings, informal gatherings, and services are held at the Hillel House, adjacent to the campus, which is open at all times for the use of the students. The Foundation also maintains offices at the Y.M.C.A. Building. The Hillel Foundation participates in the work of the University Religious Council and cooperates with other campus groups.

DELTA SIGMA PI

DELTA Sigma Pi is an international professional fraternity in the field of commerce. Chapters are maintained at commerce schools of many of the leading colleges and universities, and Carolina's chapter, Alpha Lambda, has been on the campus since 1925. Its purpose is to promote closer affiliation among students of commerce and closer relations between commerce students and the business world.

MEMBERS ARE: Faculty: Dr. M. D. Taylor, Dr. J. G. Evans, Dr. H. D. Wolf, Dr. E. W. Zimmerman, Mr. R. L. Stallings, and Mr. D. F. Martin.

CHI DELTA PHI

CHI Delta Phi was organized on this campus to provide a means for girls with literary inclination to meet for the purposes of informal study and entertainment, and to raise the standards of literary work among the women of the University. The group criticizes the work of its members, hears outside speakers in various literary fields, and urges contribution to campus and current magazines. The campus chapter, Tau, was formed in June, 1941.

President this year was Constance Mason.

MEMBERS WERE: Seniors: Dorothy Jackson, Elizabeth Bell Jackson, and Mary Nackos. Juniors: Elaine Berg, Doris Bierman, Martha Davenport, Lydia Munroe, Betty Perry, and Ann Seeley.

MODERN DANCE CLUB

THE Modern Dance Club was founded in 1940 with Elsie Earle as faculty adviser and Charles McCrow as President, and with the purpose of stimulating interest in modern dancing and dance composition. Its most notable work this year was a dance conference held in the fall with fifteen schools attending (the second such conference to be held in North Carolina). In addition, trips were made to Charlotte, Farmville, and Winston-Salem for conferences and demonstrations.

MEMBERS WERE: Anice Garmany, President; Shirley Brimberg, Vice-President; Harris Hooks, Secretary-Treasurer; Elsie Earle, Faculty Adviser; William Klentz, Music Adviser; Amelia Anderson, Accompanist; Byrd Green, Earlene Clayton, Frances Erwin, Mary Lou Edwards, Lou Alice Georges, Bill Myers, and Charles McCrow.

SOUND AND FURY

*T*O the Carolina campus, Sound and Fury has been a muddle of grease paint, oriental sets, and frantic ticket selling—all culminating in George Latshaw's Bagdad Daddy. No one can forget the Sultan with his three hundred and sixty-six wives—one for every day in the year and an extra one for leap year, or star Tom Avera and his smiling exuberance, or the many new songs and dances. And members of the cast will long remember the whirling dervishes who whirled too much when the curtain got stuck, and the fine trip to W.C. It meant a lot of hard work, and at times more than a little exasperation—but a lot of fun, too, for the two hundred students who got together to write, plan, produce, and act the show of the year.

From its beginning three years ago Sound and Fury has had a definite place in student activity, but this year it took a step forward as it gained the recognition of the administration as a bona fide campus group. Membership is open to all, depending on ability alone; and its chief purpose is to serve as a medium for light drama, comedy, and talents which are offered no other outlet.

OFFICERS WERE: Randy Mebane, President; St. Clair Pugh, Vice-President; Joe King, Business Manager; Bob Richards, Director; and George Grotz, Producer.

UNIVERSITY RELIGIOUS COUNCIL

THE University Religious Council has, until last spring, long been on the campus as the Interfaith Council. This cultural group has as its main purpose the promotion of religious thought and activity here on the campus. Their program this year included three series of lectures which were open to all students and members of the faculty.

In the Fall Quarter, Dr. Julian Morganstern, President of Hebrew Union College, gave a series of three lectures on "The Development of Religious Thought in the Old Testament." Dr. Harvey Branscomb of Duke Divinity School gave the series in the Winter; and Dr. Conrad Noehlman of Colgate Rochester College was the lecturer during the Spring Quarter.

Council members meet once a month when they are often addressed by a member of the faculty or a visiting speaker. The group is composed of two student representatives of each denominational group on the campus; these are chosen by the sectarian groups.

OFFICERS THIS YEAR: Betty Eaton Dixon, President; Wellington Lewis, Vice-President; Aaron Raisin, Secretary; Mr. Harry Comer, Treasurer; and Dr. Samuel Sandmel, Executive Adviser.

TOWN GIRLS ASSOCIATION

*N*O more lost coeds, no more girls not knowing what to do with their spare time, no more Town Girls up before the Honor Council because they don't know the rules. In its second year of functioning the Town Girls Association has taken care of most of the problems of the 175 coeds who live in off-campus houses.

Chief objectives of the members are to give Town Girls their proper place in student government and extra-curricular activities, and to make sure they understand the rules under which they must live. The group also seeks to help Town Girls meet Town Boys and others through social programs and dances, and to further the University's program of "Friendly Feelings Toward Duke" by entertaining and meeting with the Duke Town Girls.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

“UNITED we stand” might well be the pass-word of the Pan-Hellenic Council, for most of its work is directed at keeping relations between the three sororities on a friendly and cooperative basis. Most important task this year, its second, was the drawing up and enforcing of rushing rules, with revision where necessary; and past rules were clarified and simplified. There was also discussion of the mutual problems which come up in connection with regulation of sorority life with suggested improvements and solutions.

OFFICERS THIS YEAR WERE: Jennie Wells Newsome, Pi Beta Phi, President; Ann Peyton, Chi Omega, Vice-President; and Bea Withers, Alpha Delta Pi, Secretary-Treasurer.

*T*HE sound of C on the tuning fork and ninety voices of the Women's Glee Club stream from the windows of Hill Hall. It might be practice for one of their radio concerts, or for their joint Christmas concert with the Men's Glee Club. But if the adage "practice makes perfect" holds true, you can be sure of one thing—that their music's good. Might we point out—that any group which demands the time of so many girls, and gets it, is bound to "have something there."

In addition to numerous radio programs throughout the year, the Club probably has its biggest quarter in the spring. A Spring Concert here on the campus is presented for students and townfolks, and in June, as a part of the Commencement Program, the club sings Elijah. At various times club members take trips to towns both in North Carolina and elsewhere and present a variety of songs.

Y. W. C. A.

*T*HE Young Women's Christian Association was organized at Carolina six years ago to serve the needs and interests of women students. Here and throughout the world it is a fellowship of women students whose two-fold purpose is the development of persons with a philosophy of life based on Christian principles and convictions and with a deep social passion for building a social order providing equal opportunity for all people.

The Y.W.C.A. provides opportunity for students to discover a living philosophy through programs of discussion, study, work, and worship.

Through work with Public Health Clinics, minority groups, student relief, community recreation programs, and other services members express their sense of social responsibility.

These religious and social objectives take on new meaning and urgency now when students, disillusioned and baffled, are recognizing the necessity for deepening their spiritual strength and power if they are to meet the present situation adequately.

WOMEN'S GRADUATE ASSOCIATION

KENAN Dormitory was the scene of teas, open houses, and dances this year as the Women's Graduate Association became more active than at any time since its beginning. Frances Cooke and her committee, made up of Mary Alice Puckett, Carol Seeley, Mary Winslow, and Julia Barnwell, planned the open houses for the soldiers, the Sunday afternoon open houses, and the dormitory teas. There was also a formal faculty tea and two formal dances.

These various functions, as well as the government system, have brought the women graduates in closer contact with the undergraduates and the various campus organizations. The dormitory house council was made up of: Harriet Angier, House President; Nancy Howard, Publicity Chairman; Roberta Coles, Secretary-Treasurer; and Frances Cooke, Social Chairman.

May

AT THE UNIVERSITY

CHAPEL HILL in the spring . . . the first Saturday in May . . . and the University's coeds and men students alike assembled in the Forest Theatre to see Marjorie Johnston crowned Queen of the May. In 1941, for the first time in Carolina's history, the men students voted with the women to select the most beautiful coeds, choosing in addition to the queen, two maids-of-honor and eight attendants.

With a ceremony somewhat less pretentious than in previous years, the colorful May Day pageant offered a brief musical and dramatic interpretation of Milton's L'Allegro . . . with spritely music setting the mood and a maypole dance of rainbow colors immediately preceding the enthronement of the vivacious, blond queen. On either side of her on the stone platform stood the maids-of-honor, Frances Dyckman and Roberta Winton, and the attendants: Frenchy Gibson, Mary Hawkins, Julia McConnell, Eunice Patten, seniors; Peggy Lou Futrelle, Huldah Warren, and Hortense Kelly, juniors; and Kitty Wicker, graduate student.

Sponsored annually by Valkyries, women's honorary, May Day marks the only time that the coeds as a whole pay homage to their most beautiful members—and certainly Queen Margie Johnston made a charming Queen of Coeds.

DEBATE COUNCIL

“*M*R. Chairman, Honorable Judges, Worthy Opponents, Ladies, and Gentlemen”—and so the debate is on. The place might be our own Gerrard Hall or as far away as Chicago. Issues from right to left, from peace to war make up the subjects of the debates.

Debating in 1941-42 will be remembered for several reasons. The highlight of the year came during spring holidays as four students, Elsie Lyon, Tom Gibian, Richard Railey, and Mac McLendon, took a tour which touched some nine colleges and universities and was climaxed by entry in the National Debating Tournament in Madison, Wis. In the Nationals the team showed up in excellent form with three of the four reaching the finals; and although none of our contestants won, it should be noted that there were well over fifty schools in the contest and that several schools entered as many as fifteen students in the contest. In route, the team entered, and took second place in, the Tau Kappa Alpha tournament in Columbus, Ohio.

The year also saw the squad return to tournament debating and to participating more often in decision debates. The Rock Hill tournament and the Dixie tournament gave our debaters a chance to show their mettle against southern teams. Dual meets were held with Pennsylvania, N.Y.U., Erskin, Richmond, Johns Hopkins, and others.

Reorganization took place as debaters sought to make the Council more representative. The Council now includes members from both the Di and the Phi, two members elected from the general campus, and two from those members of the Debate squad who have attended eight meetings and participated in at least two "try-out" debates. As in the past, three faculty sit as Council members. It is the Council which forms the real hub of debating. In addition to selecting the debate teams from those participating in the try-out debates, its members seek to aid debating activity in other ways. Various organizations such as the C.P.U., the I.R.C., the Di, and the Phi are given financial assistance in the hope that they will thus be better able to stimulate discussion and debate on the campus.

Differentiated from the Council is the Squad, membership in which is open to all students of the University. The squad meets weekly for discussion, and any squad member is eligible to tryout for one of the many debates.

INTERNATIONAL

*T*HERE was a capacity audience in Memorial Hall for the International Relations Club's opening presentation by Gaston Henri-Haye, Ambassador of France. Here was an able diplomat, a wily speaker who presented Vichy's plea for food. Following Henri-Haye, were Dr. Hu Shih, Ambassador of China, Netherland Minister Dr. Alexander Loudon, Mexican Ambassador Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, Dr. Jan Masaryk, Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Czechoslovakian government in exile, and various other Allied diplomats who made up the I.R.C.'s "Victory Series". In the presentation of these distinguished men, the Club brought to the Carolina campus all sides of the many-faceted international scene.

Under the auspices of the Gallup Poll, the I.R.C. initiated a personal opinion poll of some two hundred, scientifically chosen students to compare campus opinion with that of the nation at large.

MANN

BRYAN

Appearing on I.R.C.'s Forum in Gerrard Hall were both students and faculty members who demonstrated a conflict in well-informed opinion. Following Pearl Harbor was an all-faculty panel on "The Importance of National Unity in War Time". These monthly platforms brought to the campus an opportunity to hear able members of both the student body and faculty discuss questions of immediate interest.

Equally important on the I.R.C.'s three point program have been the bi-monthly "bull sessions". These encourage active participation and thought by the members and guests who delve into the important issues of the day.

Often these sessions were opened by some member who had done research work on the topic in order that facts and figures might be available for the discussion.

The International Relations Club is a non-partisan, non-political organization of forty members whose purpose is to bring to the campus a first-hand view of the world scene. They have endeavored to lay the groundwork for a far-sighted understanding of the immense problem of post-war readjustment.

PHARMACY SENATE

THE Pharmacy Senate is a brainchild of Dr. E. A. Brecht, Professor of Pharmacy at the University. His slow, easy-going personality, and a seemingly brilliant aptitude for all things Pharmaceutical, have won the respect and friendship of all Pharmacy Students. When he called for thirty students to be members of this senate, there were thirty over thirty applications.

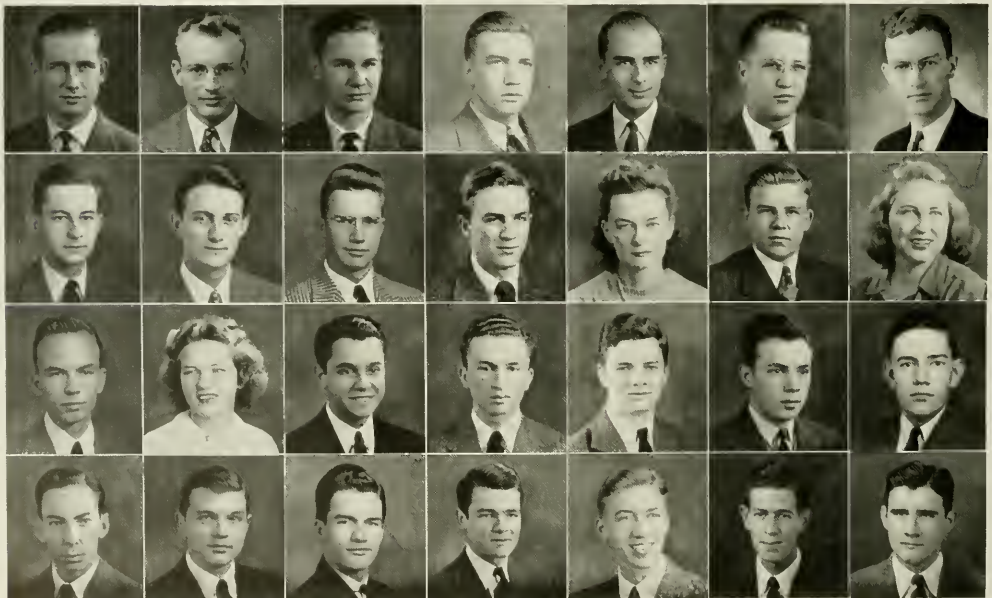

Because we as Pharmacy students are somewhat segregated in a professional sense from the rest of the University, we have founded a speaking group of our own to discuss our own profession, its problems, its antipathies, its failings, its successes, its hopes. Thirty members are required to stand, to address the chair, and to speak at each meeting. So it is that thirty members must be thirty actives.

From this loyal group there might spring a champion or champions of a crusade for Pharmacy. "To stand, to think, to speak" might well be our motto.

CAROLINA POLITICAL UNION

IT was a year of intense activity and many crises in world affairs. Realizing this, the Carolina Political Union stressed the national wartime economy by presenting in the Fall Quarter William Batt, of the War Production Board, and Wayne Coy, Liaison Officer for Emergency Management. Also appearing were Gerald P. Nye, leading Isolationist Senator, and Joseph Martin, Chairman of the Republican Party.

The Winter Quarter brought the C.P.U.-I.S.S. Conference on "Youth's Stake in Peace Plans and War Aims". This conference, to which some forty schools sent delegates, saw many fine speakers, among whom were Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Jonathan Daniels, Miss Harriet Elliot, Arthur Sweetser, Jim Carey, and Dr. Frank Graham. Senator Josiah Bailey, Senate Committee Chairman Harry Truman, Roger Baldwin, Chairman of the American Civil Liberties Committee, and Price Administrator Leon Henderson also spoke on the Union platform during the year.

The C.P.U., non-partisan and non-political group, has brought to the campus since 1936 men qualified to present varying sides of national and international issues. In addition to this main function, it conducts several campus opinion polls during the year and has many interesting "bull sessions" at which faculty members often speak.

DIALECTIC SENATE

*T*HE gavel crashes and silence reigns supreme in the hall of the oldest campus organization, the Dialectic Senate. The golden way of silence gives way to the silvery order of speech as vital questions of the campus, of the nation, and of the world are brought forward for examination. Post-war reorganization, selective-service in peace time, the place of the labor union, or the question of farm price and wage regulation are only a few of the vital issues that are battered about in "hot" discussion. These questions are brought up as resolutions, with voting at the end of discussion, and student opinion is thus recorded for the campus.

The annual debate with the Philanthropic Assembly is a big night as all Di members turn out to cheer their team on to verbal victory. Interesting too, but not an easy job, is the time each spring the Di aids Mr. E. C. Rankin in bringing to the campus the annual triangular debates between the state high schools. On various occasions, members get together for small "socials".

THE DI IN SESSION

SENATOR GRETTER PUTS FORTH AN ARGUMENT

Through the use of Robert's Rules of Order the Senate seeks to train its members in legislative procedure as well as in speaking and debating. Students not accustomed to speaking on their feet are encouraged to air their views on questions brought up for discussion. The resolutions presented are drawn up by a special committee, and by keeping the topics unannounced until meeting time, the Senate gives its members the added training of speaking on questions for which they are relatively unprepared.

Since June, 1795, the Di has existed as the oldest extra-curricular organization in the State of North Carolina. Among its distinguished presidents have been James K. Polk, Frank P. Graham, Phillips Russell, and Dr. A. R. Newsome. The Senate was reorganized in 1924, and was modelled after the upper house of the North Carolina State legislature.

MEMBERS OF THE PHI ASSEMBLY

PHI ASSEMBLY

*T*HERE must be magic in words. Otherwise, how could seven words quiet the talking, laughing, and shuffling of fifty students? The magic is the words, "The Phi Assembly will come to order". The business of the evening may include the candlelight initiation ceremony—ever impressive to the members, discussion of the radio programs which the Phi sponsors, debates with the Di Senate, or reports of the various working committees.

The central interest of the Phi revolves around the bills for discussion. Each week, the members of the Ways and Means Committee meet to select the topic to be discussed at the Assembly's meeting. The subjects for debate range from campus questions to those of national and international significance, and during the "heat" of the discussion, the meeting often runs well beyond its allotted time. At times, the arguments become too lively, causing the Sergeant-at-Arms to call for order with a tap of his mace. An entire meeting may be taken up with discussion of a single question; or, if time permits, as many as three or more proposals may be put before the House.

GLADYS BARNES

There was once a time when the Philanthropic Assembly was a part of student government. With the growth of the University, however, the functions of the Phi have ceased to be concerned with actual administration. Membership is open to every student, with emphasis on interest and active participation; and the Phi has turned to the function of serving as an outlet for the expression of student opinion. It seems fitting that one of the oldest literary societies in the nation should uphold this function.

THE DAILY

EVERY morning except Monday, just after you have gotten to bed and very shortly before the alarm goes off, there's a "plop" in the doorway—it's the Daily Tar Heel. Opening it during your eight-thirty, you'll always find something of interest—sports, columns, editorials, articles, UP News, or maybe just the cross-word puzzle. Yet, never have the services of our daily paper been of more value than during the crises of the past year.

Tying the campus together like a Gordian knot, the Daily Tar Heel has been the channel through which the activities of the campus have been sent to the students spread over the Hill. It brought a well-planned front page backed up by a featured editorial page, all contributing to a sound policy—that of service to the University and the students. Stressing the importance of a safety council, dormitory social rooms, the Honor System, the need for less expensive dances, added monies for the continuation of the N.Y.A., and at all times dealing with pertinent student problems, the Tar Heel this year kept well apace of the campus. At times there was criticism of its views, yes. But never criticism that it failed to take a positive stand.

TAR HEEL . . . "Oldest College Daily in the South"

This was a year of personalities—all combining to publish a paper homogeneously welded into four newsy pages. Editorials channeled student opinion in the days after Pearl Harbor, and news pages clarified developments in revised curricula, the armed services, and civilian defense organizations. This was the Tar Heel's fiftieth year of service to the Carolina student body.

TAR AN' FEATHERS

*I*N its second year on campus, the new humor mag did a complete about-face from the old line of gossip columns and fashion pages. The Tar an' Feathers staff stuck to its promise of "satire spiced with cheezecake, cartoons and comedy"—with emphasis on screwball whackiness.

There were plenty of coeds strewn through the issues, but the editors tried to stay away from obscenity altogether. The best cartoon and camera work ever turned out on the campus was mixed with articles satirizing life on the campus, and stories about that happy far-away land where dwell the gnomes and the floogies.

Editor Bill Seeman was forced to drop out of school after three issues, and Hunt Hobbs became the big-boss during the Winter and Spring Quarters.

Tar an' Feathers never tried to set the world on fire with literary genius. Its object was to be whacky enough to get a laugh out of the fellows who were waiting for the drill sergeant. Originality in satire and jokes, plus continual cracks at the Carolina Mag, accomplished the difficult task of creating humor without dirt.

In a world torn by strife and war, Tar an' Feathers' floogie trademark seemed to say, "What the H—".

The CAROLINA MAGAZINE

HENRY MOLL, Editor

“ . . . Came 1941-42, Came a ‘New’ Carolina Mag”

BRIGHT covers . . . Jabberwocky . . . cartoons . . . picture spreads . . . short stories . . . long stories . . . that's the Carolina Mag. It's a new Carolina Mag, one torn away from the staid precedent set by previous editors for ninety-seven years. It is a Mag that is neither a humor nor a literary magazine, but a publication covering the fertile field of campus life, previously ignored and unexplored.

Walking into the amazing labyrinth that is the Mag office, one sees the neat pigeon holes that are the desks for the staff members and the many sheafs of paper that litter the floor. Betting is going on as to whether the February issue of the Mag will be out in February. Yet, among all this, the editors are busy scanning paragraphs for “Jabberwacky”, criticizing picture spreads which are to accompany some pertinent article on campus questions, drawing humorous and significant cartoons, and doing the many essentials that go into the dummy—which Editor Moll is busy pasting together.

Thus was born the magazine which combined all things to give the campus the mag which they wanted to read. It was no longer a mag for the literary, but a mag for the campus. Of note to all was the Mag-Tar an' Feathers daily, weekly, and monthly fight for campus favor. Characterized by cryptic remarks, humorous cartoons, and lots of fun, the battle royal kept the campus amused and both mags on their toes.

The 1942 YACKETY YACK

FRANKLY, we don't know what to say. For the better part of six months now a staff of over twenty has worked and played and found time to stick together the thousand odds and ends which go to make up an annual. It's been funny at times—such as the wild search we had for a top hat. At times it's been rather exasperating—when pictures didn't turn out and ideas just wouldn't seem to click. But always it's been quite satisfying, knowing that the end was a good one even if the path seemed a little difficult.

We've tried most of all this year to be true-to-life. College life isn't stiff; why should the record of a year of college life be that way? So write-ups have been lightened; captions have been added; pictures have been taken of students doing things the way they ordinarily do them; we've tried to record the year as it was, not as we might have liked it to be.

CHARLES TILLETT, Editor

We've worked since the war with pretty much of a sense of responsibility. If indications hold true, annuals for the next few years will have to be cut to the bone. And that means that this may be the last large yearbook our present college generation will own—the last which has the little trimmings and additions which make it considerably more than an oversized catalogue.

We hope that you can look back over the annual and recall a year which has affected the lives of all of us pretty deeply, and that the faces and places you see, and the pictures of things you did, won't be forgotten.

There's not much else to say. Time wrote the year—we've only tried to record it. If we've done that much, we're satisfied.

THE SEASON IN REVIEW

*T*HE team that somehow couldn't get started." We watched our team go down in defeat a number of times this year. But we never gave up on them. We knew they were doing their best, and we were certain that they tried harder than many past Carolina teams that have won more games. There were lags in spirit—but no more than any team has.

COACH WOLF WITH CO-CAPTAINS DUNKLE AND SUNTHEIMER

And for the first time in years a Carolina coach had a bad season without being severely criticized. As Billy Carmichael said at the pep rally before the Duke game: "Ray Wolf is Carolina's Robert E. Lee. Although his football team has gone down in defeat, he is now and will always be known as one of the greatest Carolina coaches in this school's outstanding sport history."

The season opened against little Lenoir-Rhyne, and the team won, 42 to 6 . . . Then the following Saturday and the first great blow, a 13 to 7 defeat at the hands of South Carolina . . . A trip to Davidson produced a 20 to 0 victory . . . Followed by the best played game of the season, against Fordham, with the score 27 to 14 against us . . . After Fordham the long train ride to New Orleans, and the crushing 52 to 6 defeat at the hands of Tulane . . . Worth repeating here is the great pep rally held for the team on its return . . . To Wake Forest, and another defeat—this time 13 to 0 . . . Up to Richmond and the final win of the season as the University of Richmond fell 27 to 0 . . . Duke, the big game and the tough defeat, 20 to 0—with the Tar Heels playing another fine game only to lose to the Rose Bowl Blue Devils . . . The end on Thanksgiving as the University of Virginia won, 27 to 7 . . . Wins were few, but it can never be said that the team gave up . . . Co-Captains Dunkle and Suntheimer saw to that. . .

TAR HEELS ROLL OVER LENOIR-RHYNE, 42-6

THE first game—and a good beginning. Carolina's so-called "first string", all veterans of previous campaigns, had lacked precision and poise in its maneuvers, but the second team, composed mainly of sophomores, had come through much better than expected. This meant that a good season was in the books.

At half-time the score was 28 to 0. Ray Jordan scored first on a line plunge from the one-foot line. Dunkle converted. Then Croom scored on a four-yard plunge through center, and O'Hare scored on a 17-yard off-tackle play. Touchdown four came on a 45-yard pass from Leo LeBlanc to Craven Turner.

Shot Cox scored the last two touchdowns on respective runs of 15 and 75 yards. He also completed two extra points during the afternoon. Rudisill raced 65 yards late in the final period for the visitor's score. Suntheimer, Faircloth, and Austin, all veterans, saw the contest from the bench due to injuries.

Things to remember: The first game. Greeting old friends. The warm weather. Cox's 75-yard punt return. A first glimpse of the new coeds. The 18,000 high school students present.

BUT DROP NEXT GAME TO GAMECOCKS

SOME of the sweetness of that first victory was lost on the following Saturday afternoon when the South Carolina Gamecocks came to Chapel Hill, upset the dope, and went home with a 13 to 7 victory. The sophomores who starred the previous Saturday couldn't get started; the veterans seemed a little slow and sluggish. There should be no alibis, though, for South Carolina deserved to win. The visitors gained 292 yards rushing to 81 for Carolina.

Early in the second period South Carolina intercepted one of O'Hare's passes on U.N.C.'s 31. Stasica picked up 12 to the 19; Arrowsmith got six yards off left tackle; and then a Stasica-to-Clary aerial carried to the 12 and set up the touchdown. Clary scored around left end.

The Wolfmen scored in the third period on a 10-yard pass from Roy Connor to Johnny Pecora. The latter ran fifteen yards for the score. Dunkle converted, and the Tar Heels were ahead, 7 to 6.

But South Carolina was not to be denied. Stan Stasica, on an off-tackle play, ran 66 yards to score the winning touchdown. Dutch Elston converted. Joe Austin, Ray Jordan, and Shot Cox performed best for Carolina in the backfield; Co-Captain Suntheimer was outstanding in the line.

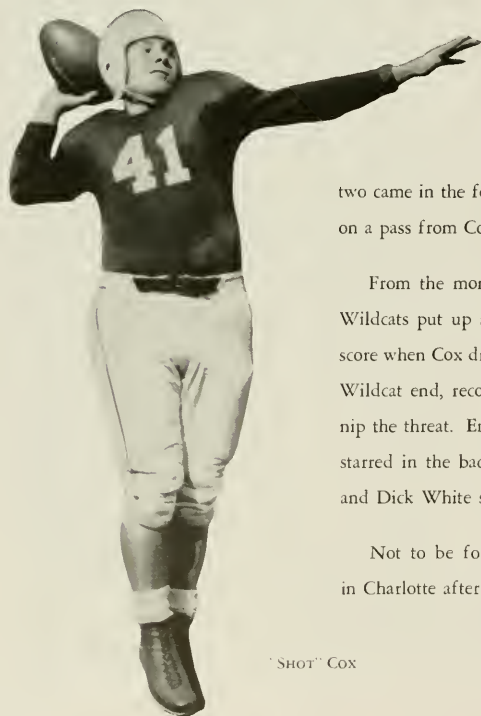

Don't forget: All four sponsors were coeds. It was South Carolina's first victory over U.N.C. in football in fourteen years. 11,000 were present.

NOBLE OF FORDHAM BARELY MISSED THIS ONE

WILDCATS SCRAP, BUT LOSE OUT, 20-0

'SHOT' COX

NEXT it was Davidson and a 20 to 0 victory. The game was played at night at Davidson, and Carolina scored all three touchdowns on passes. The first came in the first period on a 7-yard pass from Pecora to Hodges. The last two came in the fourth, one on a pass from Cox to Hodges for 7 yards, and the other on a pass from Cox to Serlich for 25.

From the moment Carolina scored early in the first period until the fourth the Wildcats put up a stubborn fight. In the second period it looked as if they would score when Cox dropped a punt on his 24 after signaling for a fair catch. Buck Archer, Wildcat end, recovered, but on the next play Barksdale intercepted Spencer's pass to nip the threat. Emil Serlich, Shot Cox, Frank O'Hare, and Co-Captain Harry Dunkle starred in the backfield while Co-Captain Suntheimer, Howard Hodges, Dick Sieck, and Dick White starred in the line to hold Davidson to 25 yards running.

Not to be forgotten: The fireworks at half-time. The 10,000 soldiers we saw in Charlotte after the game. The Davidson spirit. The long ride home.

RAMS EDGE OUT HEELS, 27-14 THRILLER

WHEN Fordham came to Chapel Hill the following Saturday, Carolina played its best game of the season although it lost, 27 to 14. The Rams, who later played in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, were heavy favorites, but had Lady Luck been with Carolina, the boys from Rose Hill would have gone home on the short end of the score.

After the opening kick-off and one first down, Dunkle punted to the Fordham 15 where Filipowicz to Noble produced a visitor score midway the first period. Piculewicz on a 47-yard run, and Filipowicz on a 20-yard dash gave Fordham two touchdowns in the third period. A 93-yard drive with Pecora scoring on a 17-yard dash off-tackle gave Carolina its second touchdown. An exchange of punts and Carolina marched to Fordham's 25. With Pecora back to pass, Lansing tore in and upset his equilibrium, the ball shooting straight up out of his hands into the arms of Hudacek, a tackle, who raced 76 yards to pay-dirt.

You'll always remember: The 10,000 soldiers present, many of whom were Fordham fans. The Carolina spirit. The never-say-die-spirit of the team. The satisfaction even in defeat.

FAIRCLOTH

RICHARDSON

EVIDENTLY the Fordham game took plenty out of the team. For next came Tulane at New Orleans, and the Tar Heels suffered their worst defeat since 1923, losing 52 to 6.

The lone Carolina touchdown came early in the final period. Hugh Cox, Emil Serlich, and Leo LeBlanc—all sophomores—sparked the drive which started at the Carolina 35-yard line. Cox was hurt on the Tulane 33 and Leo LeBlanc took over. Leo tossed an 18-yard pass to Serlich who dashed 14 yards to score. Tulane did everything to perfection. Lou Thomas took Dunkle's opening kick-off and behind perfect blocking raced 100 yards for a touchdown. The winners scored 20 in the first, 7 in the third, and 25 in the fourth.

As if you could forget: Gay New Orleans. The many young Carolina alumni—stationed in camps and air bases of the area—who came to see the team play. The 1,500 students and townspeople, including President Frank Graham and Dean Francis Bradshaw, who welcomed the team on their return late Sunday night.

FRUIT OF WAKE FOREST LOST 3 YARDS THIS TIME

AND SO DO THE DEACONS, 13-0

*W*AKE FOREST won its second game in as many years. Again our boys lacked the scoring punch necessary to cope with Baptist power. The winners scored both touchdowns on passes—one from Cochran to Herb Cline and the other to John Perry. The latter ran 45 yards after he caught his. Those two tosses tell the story of defeat. They tell how Wake Forest defeated Carolina at its own game—passing.

Had it not been for the excellent punting of Co-Captain Dunkle, the defeat might have been worse. Co-Captain Suntheimer, Faircloth, Sieck, and Hodges made tackle after tackle. Shot Cox and Dunkle were the offensive stars. Carolina never did get started. It was the saddest of several sad days.

Forget if you will: The lack of Carolina spirit. The "I wonder what's the matter" attitude. The sluggishness of the team.

TAR HEELS NOSED OUT BY STATE, 13-7

*B*ACK to Chapel Hill and N. C. State and Homecoming—and the scrappiest game of the season. Our brothers won, 13 to 7, for their first victory over Carolina in fourteen long years.

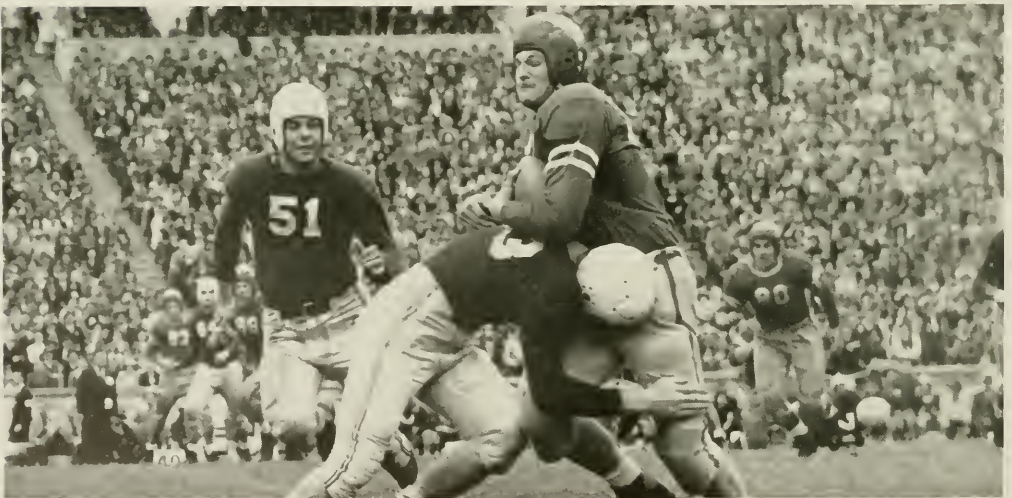

Carolina scored in the opening period with Cox engineering a drive from State's 40 after the Tar Heels recovered a State fumble. Cox, who shared Carolina's backfield honors with roommate Johnny Pecora, pushed over left tackle from the State 1, and Co-Captain Dunkle place-kicked the extra point. Art Faircloth scored first for State, going over from the one to climax a 57-yard drive. Woody Jones, a hard-working tackle, blocked Bill Sigler's kick and recovered for State on Carolina's 16 to set up the winning touchdown. After a pass missed its mark, Cathey sneaked through center for the score. Dave Barksdale, Gwynn Nowell, Harry Dunkle, and Johnny Pecora were best for Carolina.

Homecoming memories: The rain, as usual. The fight for the goal posts after the game. The cheering before the game. Governor Broughton's speech. The rain.

BUT BOUNCE BACK TO TROMP RICHMOND, 27-0

*B*ACK in the victory column after four straight defeats came the Tar Heels the next Saturday night. The game was at Richmond against the University of Richmond, and the score was 27 to 0. Good news for Carolina supporters who had come to know nothing but defeat.

There was never any doubt as to the outcome. Johnny Pecora's 97-yard return of Richmond's opening kick-off loosened the tension that Carolina had felt in recent weeks. Pecora's pass to O'Hare produced another score five minutes later, and with four minutes left in the first period Cox went over from the one for a third score. Corn, on a reverse from Jordan, raced 12 yards for the final touchdown early in the second period. After that, the two teams played on even terms as Coach Wolf substituted freely. The blocking, tackling, and running of the team was the best it had been at any time during the season. There were no individual stars; Coach Wolf praised the entire team.

Try to remember: The cold weather. The smiles that always come with victory. The Sunday night pep rally for the Duke game the following Saturday. Sadie Hawkins Day.

DEVILS WIN—EVERYTHING CLOSE BUT THE SCORE

*A*gainst Duke Carolina did everything as well as the Dukes except score points. The Blue Devils made 13 first downs to 11 for Carolina, and gained 186 yards rushing to 172 for the Tar Heels. The final score: Duke 20, Carolina 0.

Led by Steve Lach, their great All-American, Duke scored early in the second period, and twice in the third. The first score was made by Lach on a reverse from the 12. After Carolina had held for three downs on its own five, Siegfried went over from the one for the second score after nine minutes had been played in the third period. A pass from Davis to Morgan was good for 34 yards and the final Duke score. Prothro converted the extra points.

The Tar Heels were inside the Blue Devil's 20-yard line on five occasions, but failed to muster a scoring punch. After Duke scored in the first period, Carolina took the ball on its own 35 and with Joe Austin and Frank O'Hare alternating the ball carrying the Tar Heels drove to the Duke 8-yard line only to lose the ball on downs. But the 45,000 fans present will not soon forget the stellar play of Carl Suntheimer, Dick Sieck, and Gwynn Nowell in the line, the punting of Harry Dunkle, the blocking and tackling of Dave Barksdale, and the ball carrying of Joe Austin.

Remember: Fall Germans with Al Donahue. The hair cutting two days before the game. The Friday night pep rally. The freshman victory on Friday afternoon. The feeling that the team had not let us down.

DUNKLE KICKS OUT OF TROUBLE AGAINST DUKE

CAVALIERS AND DUDLEY WIN OUT IN CLOSING GAME

TOO MUCH of Bill Dudley, Virginia's All-American, gave the University of Virginia a 28 to 7 victory over the Tar Heels on Thanksgiving Day. It was the final game of the season, and Mr. Dudley put on one of the finest shows ever seen in Kenan Stadium.

Dudley left the ball game twice, for a total of some 5½ minutes. He scored three touchdowns himself, on trips of 67, 79, and three yards. He passed for the other score (21 yards to Bill Preston)—and kicked all four points to have a hand in every bit of Cavalier business.

Carolina scored late in the first period when Cox's bullet pass intended for Craven Turner hit a Virginia man and bounced into the arms of Dave Barksdale for the score. Dunkle converted.

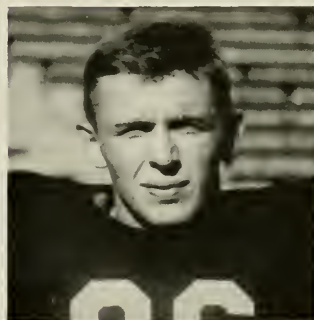

The game wrote "30" to the collegiate gridiron careers of 14 Carolina seniors: Co-Captains Carl Suntheimer and Harry Dunkle, Bill Faircloth, Frank O'Hare, Dick White, Dick Sieck, Gwynn Nowell, Stu Richardson, Roy Connor, Pinky Elliot, Fred Stallings, Red Benton, Charlie Baker, and Jimmy Crone.

Thanksgiving memories: The end of a most disastrous season. The play of Bill Dudley. The unexpected crowd of 22,000. The play of Bill Dudley. The surprised Carolina student body. The play of Bill Dudley.

MONOGRAM CLUB

NINETEEN FORTY-ONE-FORTY-TWO brought more work, and more progress, to the Monogram Club. Early in the fall it sponsored another of its "Know Your Coaches" smokers, where freshmen and transfer students were given a change to meet both coaches and prominent athletes. Later, it presented the gridgraph of the Carolina-Tulane game, at which a play-by-play enactment of the game, over a thousand miles away, was shown.

Probably less well known was some of the other work of the club. Efforts were made to secure a general trophy room in Woollen gym for displaying awards won by university teams and athletes. A beginning was made on doing away with the differentiation between major and minor sport letters. And a file was drawn up on the scholastic grades of all athletes.

Placing more stress on internal development, club officers urged, and got, wider use of the social room in Fetzer fieldhouse. A formal initiation for the first time in club history, and a "play night", which club members and dates attended, were further means of bringing members closer together.

Officers this year were: Robert Gersten, President; James Barclay, Vice-President; George Paine, Secretary; Mike Wise, Treasurer; and Bo Reynolds, Representative to the Athletic Council.

CHEERLEADERS

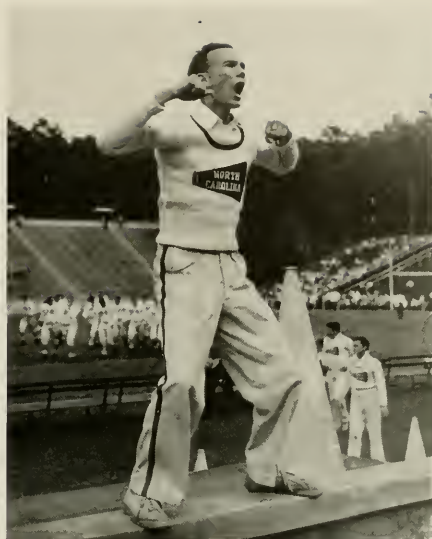

CAME fall 1941 — and Carolina students saw cheerleading highlighted by acrobatics and coeds. A squad of nine—the largest yet—had three coed cheerleaders among its number, and four boys with agility enough to keep the stands on edge.

Work for the squad usually began long before the game as members worked out their routines, and did their part to whoop things up at Friday night pep rallies. Efforts to increase the already capacity attendance at the rallies took shape as the squad, in conjunction with the University club, arranged for groups of coeds to go to the various fraternities and dormitories shortly before rally time to arouse would-be idlers.

Of note this year was the fact that no game, including those away from Chapel Hill, was attended by fewer than five Tar Heel cheerleaders. The far away Tulane game had six members present.

New this year was the popular "chant". Other much used yells included the old stand-by, "Let's Go Carolina", and "Blue and White".

AROUND THE LOOP WITH

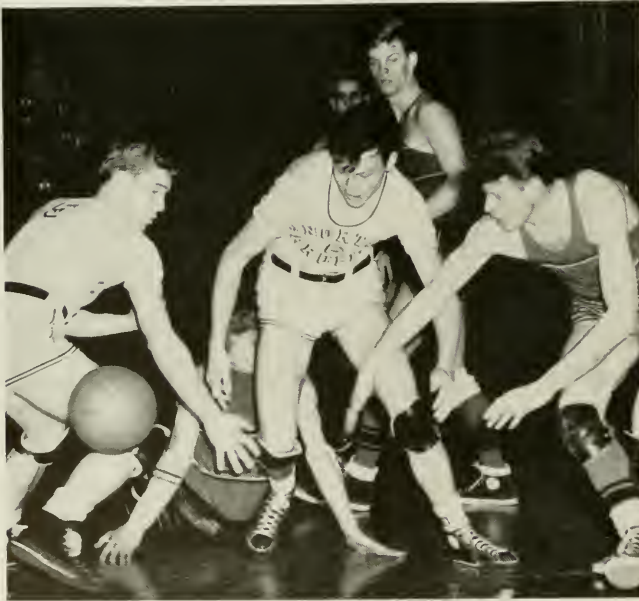

THERE was no one man scoring machine to pace the 1942 edition of the White Phantoms. Neither did the team lead the Southern Conference race or participate in a national tournament as the one the year before had done. But it did do several other things: it gave Carolina students one of the speediest teams ever to don a White Phantom uniform. To go with that speed went fight from the ten boys that made up the squad. This latter factor proved invaluable, and caused close followers to comment that had last year's team had this year's spirit they would have been unbeatable.

The season record doesn't look so good. The team budded out slowly, then came into full bloom, and as the season ended it faded. The record for the regular schedule shows eleven wins against seven losses, and in the conference tournament at Raleigh the Phantoms dropped their first-round game to Wake Forest, 32-26.

It was at Charlotte against Davidson that the team opened its season, and the result was a 35-22 victory. The scoring was well-divided, and the game indicated that Don Wilson and Hayworth, rising sophomores, would see plenty of service throughout the season. Christmas vacation followed, as did the first loss when St. Joseph won 33-28 in Philadelphia.

THE WHITE PHANTOMS

A near capacity crowd saw heavily-favored Fordham University come to Chapel Hill and drop a 34-25 game to the Langemen. Bob Rose and Julian Smith were the stars. The score was the smallest Fordham made during the entire season. Back in the conference, Wake Forest and Clemson fell, 51-30 and 54-34. Then came a 38-36 loss at the hands of South Carolina, followed by a 41-28 win over N. C. State. Wake Forest then caught the team on its first really off night and won 36-20. Two more victories against mediocre opposition followed, Virginia Tech falling 49-28, and Davidson 45-38. Captain Rose paced the scoring in the Davidson game with 16 points. A capacity crowd saw Carolina lose to Duke 52-40 on the home court. The White Phantoms were in the ball game until the closing minute of the first half when Duke scored three field goals in quick succession. After that it was all Blue Devil as the score indicates.

Still suffering from the Duke loss the team lost to N. C. State at Raleigh, 32-30, in an over-time clash. Then back to Chapel Hill for the biggest score of the season, a 62-26 win over W. & L. Following W. & L. came the biggest surprise of the season in the form of a 32-31 victory over the Goodyear Wingfoots. George Glamack, last year's star, was high scorer for the losers with nine points. Rose played his best game of the season, and scored 13 points.

A trip to Maryland produced a 34-30 victory over the University of Maryland and a 42-39 loss to Navy in an overtime game. Back home for a 47-30 win over Richmond, and then came a 41-40 loss to close the season. The second Duke loss was also an overtime clash, with the White Phantoms coming from behind to tie up the game.

The Southern Conference tournament saw Carolina lack the spark and lose its first round to Wake Forest. The team had previously defeated the Baptists on one occasion and been beaten by them on another.

Captain Rose led the season's scoring with 188 points in 18 games for an average of 10.4 per game. As expected, Rose was the outstanding player on the team, but all who played gave a commendable showing. Only two—Rose and Reid Suggs—were over six feet, and during the season sports writers throughout the South nicknamed them the White Bantams. Those who followed the team won't soon forget Bobby Gersten's speed and defensive play, Julian Smith's uncanny shooting, Ed Shytle's dribbling, George Paine's crisp shot, and Reid Suggs' coolness. Along with these add the play of Don Wilson and Hayworth, two sophomore aces, and you can account for the success of the team—that is when you give Coach Bill Lange a pat on the back. No coach could have produced a better team under the circumstances.

on the campus—and gets the least amount of publicity. This year was no exception, with the team winning seventeen games against no defeat. This gives Coach John Kenfield's teams the amazingly high percentage of 188 wins against only four defeats since 1929.

Opening the season against Yale, the netmen took the invaders from the North three straight times, and during the entire series Carolina dropped only one single and one doubles match. Haverford followed and was defeated 12-0. Williams was next and in two matches the Tar Heels gave up just one doubles match. Two successive meetings with Cornell brought two more victories.

Virginia, N. C. State, Duke and Wake Forest fell easy prey for Carolina. None of these southern foes were able to so much as scratch against the Tar Heels. Michigan snatched one doubles victory in her 8-1 defeat at the hands of Carolina, but Georgetown was unable to tally, being shutout 9-0.

On the regular northern trip the team opened against the Yale Bulldogs and won, 6-3, to make it the fourth victory of the season over this foe. At Princeton the Tigers took three matches before losing 6-3. In passing it might be said that these were the only two teams who were able to score as much as three points on Coach Kenfield's men. Cornell won two, and the others gained either one or were whitewashed.

Stopping by Annapolis on the homeward trip Carolina met and sank the Navy in the season's finale by the decisive margin of 8-1. In recognition let it be said that Captain Zan Carver extended Middie Joe Hunt, who ranks among the first five in the country, to three long sets before stubbornly going down.

In finishing the season undefeated Carolina extended its winning streak to 51 consecutive victories, the last lost being in May, 1938. North Carolina won the North-South singles and doubles championships as well as both championships in the Southern Conference. Captain Carver won both singles titles just mentioned, while Harris Everett and Ham Anthony teamed together to capture the two doubles crowns.

THE University of North Carolina's 1941 track team won three of its five dual meets, captured the State A.A.U. title, and finished second to Duke in the Southern Conference meet at Williamsburg, Virginia. In the season's opener Carolina's twenty-eight points ran Duke, who scored thirty-four, a close second in the Florida Relays.

Led by Warren Mengel, who topped the team's scoring with seventy-two points, the Tar Heels won their next three dual meets before being conquered by the Duke Blue Devils in the final contest of the season. First the blue and white won a one sided victory from Maryland 93-33 and then defeated the Princeton Tigers, 71-55. The U.N.C.-Virginia meet at Charlottesville was a thriller with Carolina coming out on top 65-61.

Duke took revenge for its defeat at the hands of Carolina in the Southern Conference Indoor games by downing U.N.C. 72 7/12 to 53 5/12. Advantage in the weights and sprints gave Duke the victory.

Carolina ran away with the Carolina A.A.U. meet piling up a total of eighty-two and one-half points. N. C. State, the nearest contender, was far down the line with twenty-nine and three-quarter points followed by Duke and Wake Forest.

The last dual meet of the year saw Navy outclass the Tar Heels 75 2/3 to 50 1/3. Cathey, Branch, Co-Captain Morrison, Lewis, and Mangum each earned a first place to give the losers thirty of their fifty odd points.

In the Southern Conference meet Duke was pushed to the limit before winning. Carolina had 58 $\frac{5}{6}$ points to 66 for the winners. Maryland was next with 26 points. Individuals who won firsts in the Conference meet were Co-Captain Morrison in the mile, Mengel in the broad jump and high hurdles, and Jim Vawter in the two mile event. Groves, Cathey, Baker, and Haigh teamed together to take the mile relay.

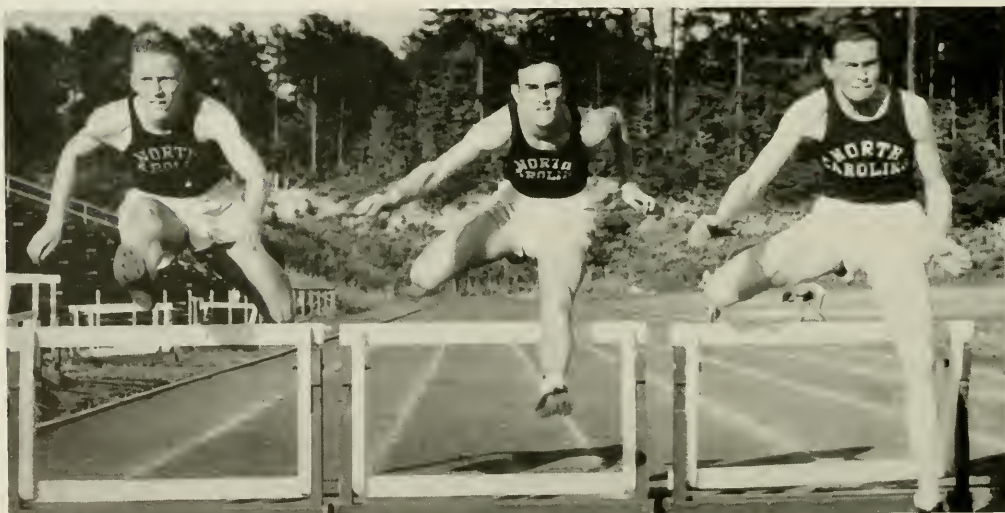

Next to Warren Mengel in total scoring for the season was Mike Mangum, hurdler, who amassed 48 $\frac{1}{4}$ points followed by middle and long distance runners Dave Morrison, Roy Cathey, and Henry Branch. Dick White led the scoring among the weight men with a total of 26 points.

ARED HOT Carolina quarter-mile relay team, consisting of Mike Wise, Larry Holzman, Jim Kelly, and Ike Taylor, set a new meet record of 3:28.5 and thus gave a fitting climax to the fourth consecutive Southern Conference Indoor Track Championship won by the Tar Heels. Although they took only three firsts, the Blue and White gave a fine example of team cooperation by practically monopolizing the second, third, and fourth places. Carolina's 54 points more than doubled the 22 tallies racked up by Duke, the next closest competitor.

Rich Van Wagoner finished strong in the mile to bring the Weil Trophy to Carolina. Warren Mengel's win in the 70-yard high hurdles, and Percy Ashby's triumph in the broad jump gave the Blue and White their only other first place points. Mengel also earned a second in the broad jump and a third in the 70-yard low hurdles.

Following Carolina and Duke came Maryland with 16 points, and the rest of the conference teams were strung out behind.

"The Mighty Casey"

BASEBALL

A CAROLINA baseball team that was given little chance of winning either the Big Five or Southern Conference crowns brought both to Carolina in 1941.

Opening the season with a 5-2 victory over Springfield, the team went on to mark up thirteen wins, six losses, and one tie in a twenty game schedule.

Following the Springfield game Carolina suffered a 4-2 loss at the hands of Cornell in an inter-sectional clash. Then followed five conference games, four of which produced victories for the Tar Heels. The first was a 15-6 pounding over W. & L. A close 2-1 set-back by William and Mary followed, and then came a 10-0 defeat over Davidson. Five hit pitching on the part of Red Benton was responsible for another victory over W. & L., this time 9-5. The next game saw Mike Bobbitt collect four hits, one a home run, and Carolina defeated V.M.I., 12-8.

Michigan was able to gather but three hits, but the Tar Heels made six errors and lost 6-3.

The first real test of the season followed when Wake Forest met Carolina, and lost, 5-3. This game put Carolina in the limelight, and made it a favorite to capture the Big Five crown. Davidson was played in another game, and again Carolina won by a shutout, 9 to 0.

Then the only tie game of the season was played. The opponent was N. C. State; the score was 9-9. Another set-back followed as Maryland won a Conference game, 5-4. Some timely hitting on the part of the Midshipmen gave the Navy a 7-4 victory, and a three game streak with two losses and a tie caused no little concern among the students.

It was short-lived, however, as Lefty Cheshire pitched a 2-0 shutout over Wake Forest. The Cavaliers from Virginia became the next victims, 8-6, in a contest that saw a total of twenty-four hits. Mathes was the hero at bat getting three hits in four tries, one of which was a home run.

A return game with N. C. State was won 5-3, avenging the 9-9 tie game played earlier in the season.

After N. C. State came Duke and three games, and the Tar Heels broke a standing jinx when it defeated its arch rivals for the first time in a night game at Greensboro. Led by Co-Captain Ben Browning and Bo Reynolds who got four hits apiece, Carolina collected sixteen hits to win 14-7. Cheshire and Benton were on the mound for Carolina, allowing only seven hits. Two days later the Tar Heels won again turning in an er-rorless 6-4 performance. Duke won the final game of the series, 6-1, thereby handing Carolina its third and last Southern Conference defeat.

The Southern Conference Championship was cinched in the final game of the season. The opponent was V. M. I., the score was 3-2. Bobbitt and Co-Captain Rich led the hitting with two hits apiece and both drove in one run. Lefty Cheshire went the distance on the mound for the Tar Heels.

As champions of both the Big Five and Southern Conference Carolina had a state record of seven wins and only one set back, and a conference record of eleven wins against three losses.

John "Lefty" Cheshire led the individual pitching record with seven wins and two losses followed by "Red" Benton with four wins and one loss. Hank Feimster won two and lost one. Co-Captain Charlie Rich was the leading hitter followed closely by Al Mathes, Tom Oswald, and Bo Reynolds, all of whom hit .300 or better. Co-Captain Ben Browning will be remembered for his exceptionally fine fielding.

As spring 1942 came into view, prospects for this year's team seemed none too bright. Of the fifteen lettermen who bore the major part of the burden for the 1941 Tar Heels, only four were returning, and Coach Hearn was faced with the prospect of building from the ground up. Biggest losses were pitchers Cheshire and Feimster, due back this year but both of whom decided to go into professional baseball.

On the basis of their experience Reynolds, Benton, Hearn, Honan, and Myers seemed to be ahead.

Bob Ousley, defending champion, bettered his own mark in the breaststroke event; and Johnny Feuchtenberger finished a few points ahead of defending title-holder Don Nicholson to take the conference diving crown.

After their first meet, the Blue Dolphins downed Virginia 61-14, N. C. State 59-16, V.M.I. 46-29, Rider College 53-22, V.P.I. 60-15, W. & L. 63-12, and Duke 54-12, in that order.

Because of their fine showing through the entire season and in the conference meet, a five-man team, composed of Co-Captains Jim Barclay and George Coxhead, Truman Hobbs, Bob Ousley, and Denman Hammond, was sent to compete in the Eastern Intercollegiate at Yale and the National Intercollegiate meet also in Cambridge, Mass. Denman Hammond, the outstanding backstroke performer, placed sixth in his event.

At the season's close, George Coxhead was selected as the winner of the Dick Jamerson swimming trophy for leadership, service, and desire and effort to improve. Bob Ousley was elected new captain.

CROSS COUNTRY

*I*N CAPTURING the Southern Conference Championship, the Carolina cross country team put the finishing touches on an undefeated eight meet schedule. The 1941 victory in the Conference Meet gave the Tar Heels their sixth straight championship and made it their twelfth crown over a period of eighteen years. Duke was able to take second place and individual honors, but could not overcome the well-balanced U.N.C. harriers led by Van Wagoner who garnered third. Moody placed fourth, Truxes tenth, Hardy twelfth, and Wise sixteenth, giving Carolina a low score of 45 points. Duke was runner-up with 55 points followed by Maryland, V.M.I. and William and Mary.

During the regular season U.N.C. turned back Guilford, N. C. State, Roanoke Athletic Club, Maryland, Navy, Guilford, Wake Forest, and Duke in that order. Perfect scores were recorded against State and Maryland. The victory over Navy, who possesses one of the country's leading teams, was especially significant.

CAPTAIN DAVANT

*A*CAROLINA wrestling team which began its season with little hope of glory, upset the dope and brought the Southern Conference Tournament crown to Chapel Hill for the first time in history.

The dual meet record was only fair. Starting off against powerful Navy, the Tar Heels met their first defeat, 11-23. Redfern, McKeever, and Frank Mordecai turned in victories, but Navy's top notch team was too much. The following week it was Duke, and the grapplers hit their stride, 22-8, as McKeever, Robinson, Davant, both Mordecais, and Sasser easily won. When State came to Carolina, Sam Mordecai led the way to another win, 17-11.

The next two matches saw the Tar Heels slip and barely lose out to both V.M.I. and W. & L. by scores of 14-16 and 11-17, respectively. But revenge came against V.P.I. and Davidson and Carolina lost only two matches in each meet and chalked up scores of 20-8 and 28-6. The defeat over the Wildcats gave them the state crown.

The climax of the season came at Greensboro at the Southern Conference Tourney. Hobart McKeever and Sam Mordecai earned first places; John Robinson, Gene Davant, and Frank Mordecai took seconds; and Bill Redfern won fourth to give the team 30 points and sew up the title. V.M.I. and W. & L. followed with totals of 28 and 22 points.

GOLF

CAROLINA'S golf team, led by Captain Frosty Snow, finished the season with a record of six victories against three defeats.

After suffering an opening set back at the hands of Ohio State the team came back to defeat Hampden-Sydney and Pennsylvania.

In spite of Captain Snow's fine victory over Dixon Brooks, National Inter-collegiate Champion, Virginia edged out the Tar Heels, 15-12, in perhaps the most interesting match of the year.

Carolina won the next four matches handily by shutting out Boston College 18-0, crushing Fordham 25-2, whipping Navy 7-2, and whitewashing Franklin and Marshall 27-0.

Duke again proved too strong, but the match was undecided until the last scores were in with the Blue Devils finally winning 15½-11½.

Captain Snow, Paul Severin, Hayes, Liles, Peete, Rumph, and Neese formed the backbone of the squad. Of these all but the first three have returned to school. "Shookie" Neese, a junior this year, was elected to captain the 1942 team.

FENCING

ALTHOUGH unable to carry out a full-sized schedule due to transportation difficulties, the 1942 fencing team met four opposing teams and downed two of them. Led by Co-Captain Larry Hutton and Bob Tolmach and varsity regulars of last year, Howie Imbrey and Harry Vinokur, the fencers out-pointed V.M.I. 9½-7½ at Lexington, Va., to open the season for the Tar Heels. Two days later the Blue and White team was barely nosed out by the Washington and Lee Generals 9-8.

On February 14, Co-Captain Hutton paced the swordsmen to a 16-11 win over Virginia when he took all three bouts in the sabre. The next week the Tar Heel fencers made a creditable showing by taking seven points from Seton Hall, National Intercollegiate Champions and undefeated in two years. The final score left Seton Hall with twenty tallies. This match completed the dual meet season.

The South Atlantic Fencing Tournament, begun here two years ago, was held at Chapel Hill on April 3 and 4 with Bob Tolmach and Howie Imbrey turning in the best individual performances for Carolina. Imbrey won a first place and a second, while Tolmach won two seconds. The team as a whole did not place as well as might have been expected, finishing fifth behind V.M.I. and Virginia, third and fourth place winners, whom Carolina had previously beaten. However, the Tar Heels did out-strip sixth place W. & L. who had downed them in a close dual match. William and Mary won the tournament followed by Georgia Tech.

GYMNASTICS

CAROLINA gymnasts have been preparing since last fall for a tournament to be held this spring, which will probably be attended by representatives from Duke, Davidson, State, and Appalachian. Handicapped by the loss of several mainstays from last year's team, Dr. R. B. Lawson's charges nevertheless have hopes of a fine showing.

LACROSSE

CAROLINA'S lacrosse team won the Dixie League Championship and finished the season with a record of seven victories against four defeats. Victories were won over Springfield, Virginia twice, W. & L., Cherokee Indians, Duke, and West Chester of Pennsylvania, while Coach Al Cornsweet's team bowed to Springfield, Navy, Duke, and Loyola. Coleman Finkel, captain, was the team's most outstanding player.

FRESHMAN COACHES

PICTURED below are Ralph Casey, Jim Tatum, and "Doc" Siewert, who with the aid of several assistants bear the brunt of freshman coaching duties. Their teams so far this year have met with fine success.

COACHES CASEY, TATUM, AND SIEWERT

First Row: SPARGER, BASS, O'SHEA, FERNICE, FAIRCLOTH, GOODMAN, MOORE, JORDAN, HAMILTON, BIGHAM, KIMSEY.

Second Row: (kneeling) MANAGER CARR, HIGSMITH, ELLIS, WHITE, HART, FOWLER, BRUTON, WHITFIELD, KEMP, BRYAN, SECREST, LEE.

Third Row: KARRES, HAMMOND, WRIGHT, A. SMITH, JONES, FANNY, SINGER, SIMPSON, V. SMITH, MONEYHAN, TANDY, FRAZIER, THOMASON, MYERS, TENDLER, PUPA, GREGORY, BURRIS.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

STARTING out slowly and gaining momentum as the season progressed, the Tar Babies defeated the Blue Imps from Duke 33 to 13 in the final, and most anticipated, game of the season. N. C. State defeated the freshmen by a one touchdown margin, 19-13, to open the 1941 campaign. Next was Wake Forest, as this time Carolina lost 12-2. Back home against Mars Hill, every member of the team played excellent ball, and the Tar Babies won 56-0. Against the University of Virginia came a surprising victory by a 26-0 score.

Sam Arbes who racked up forty-two points and Billy Myers who amassed thirty-four tallies are the leading back-field prospects for varsity material for next fall. Arbes netted an average of six and a half yards in carrying the ball on fifty-two occasions. Outstanding players in the forward wall come from the center of the line. Guards Strayhorn and Karres, and center Highsmith, are expected to see much varsity service next fall.

First Row: CLARK, WINKLE, LANCE, HARTLEY, HART, LEE.

Second Row: COACH SIEWERT, HAYWORTH, W O M B L E, WILLIAMS, SEXIAS, WARD, HENSON, AND MANAGER.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

COACH SIEWERT'S freshman quintet turned in a very successful record of thirteen wins marred by only two losses for the 1942 campaign. Both defeats came at the hands of the Wolfcubs of N. C. State—56-45 and 39-31. The two bright spots of the season were the 58-25 and 53-49 victories over the Duke Blue Imps. In the next to last game, the Tar Babies ran wild in swamping Raleigh High 84-13. Hart, Warren, and Hartley, forwards, Hayworth and Captain Henson, guards, and Altemose, center, make up the group most likely to see service for the varsity in 1943.

FRESHMAN BASEBALL

DESPITE lack of experienced material, the 1941 freshman baseball team under the direction of Coaches Jim Tatum and Hammond Strayhorn, ended its season with a record of 8 wins and 3 defeats. Wins were over Durham, N. C., State twice, Raleigh, Charlotte, E.M.I., Hillsboro, Wake Forest, and Morganton. Losses were to Duke twice, and to Wake Forest once.

Monk Whiteheart on the mound and Clay Croom behind the plate form a battery combination that shows promise. Leon McCaskill developed into a heavy hitting outfielder, and Mack Morris, second baseman, displayed class both afield and at bat.

First Row: MANAGERS.

Second Row: WHITEHEART, CANTRELL, HUSSEY, C ROOM, TURNER, BOSEMAN, JOHNSON, MORRIS, WATERS, HAYWORTH VAN KIRK.

Third Row: GOODMAN, LEE, HARRIS, CANADY, CHEEK, HACKNEY, COACH TATUM, FITZGERALD, PATTERSON, PATY, MCCASKILL, ASSISTANT COACH STRAYHORN.

First Row: RANKIN, DOESCHLER, STODDARD.

Second Row: STEIN, BRIGGS, FULLER, GRAY.

FRESHMAN GOLF

COACH ERICSON'S freshman golf team, led by George Case and Dick Doeschler, had a successful season and produced several men with varsity promise. Bahnson Gray, David Rankin, Jack Stoddard, and Stanley Briggs rounded out a squad which threatened at times to give the varsity competition. The frosh won victories over Pedy Prep School, Davidson, and Duke.

FRESHMAN CROSS COUNTRY

DROPPING a meet to Duke and winning an engagement with Jefferson High of Roanoke, the yearling cross country squad broke even in its two encounters this year. Marvin Fairchild and Arnold Pestronk were the two outstanding freshman runners.

First Row: MEWBORNE, EDWARDS, WEBB, LEWIS, HUBBARD, GILBERT, WOLF.

Second Row: FAIRCHILD, GOLDRICH, WILLIAMS, BREAKSTONE, BELL, PESTRONK, GRINSTEAD.

First Row: MORGAN, BLUETHENTHAL, GRIFFIN, KEMP, ZIRPEL.

Second Row: JOHNSTON, NACHAMSON, WINN, HEARN, SNOW, WEINTRAUB.

Third Row: MANAGER WEST, STRICKLAND, GOODMAN, HOBBS, PALMER, NEBLETT, COACH ZINK.

FRESHMAN WRESTLING

LED by Bill Griffin, Arthur Bluethenthal, Bill Kemp and Irving Zirpel, Coach Zink's yearling matmen marched successfully through all competition, winning every match by a large margin. The Tar Baby team, one of the best in many years, scored triumphs over Duke 33-5, State 33-5, V.M.I. 17-11, W. & L. 21-5, V.P.I. 27-5, and Davidson 28-6. Other standouts on the team included Tommy Hearn, Dick Weintraub, John Davis, and Grimsley Hobbs.

FRESHMAN SWIMMING

DUPLICATING the varsity's feat of an unbeaten season, the Baby Dolphins overpowered N. C. State 52-14, Duke 54-12, V.P.I. 44-12, Massanutten 52-14, and Duke again 54-12 to turn in a most successful record. Warner Mallison in the free style and George Whitner in the breast stroke broke innumerable records, including national marks to set the pace in individual scoring. George Montague, free stylist, and Buddy Crome and Mac Earle, divers, are also promising candidates for next year's varsity. Whitner and Mallison were elected co-captains for the year.

First Row: CASEY, W., HOLBROOK, CRONE, GRAY, ERLE, ALMAN.

Third Row: JOHNSTON, THOMPSON, EDWARDS, MANLY, CRANE, LENTZ, HALL, DAVIS.

Fourth Row: SIMMONS, SMITH, OTT, CORN, PARKER, STOCKTON, REAVIS, WINSLOW.

Fifth Row: COUNCIL, PRITCHETT, HIGDON, McDOWELL, BRANTLEY, CRAVER, JONES, NEYHAUS.

FRESHMAN TRACK

FRANK HARDY, Art Truxes, and Tom Jewett, all strong in the distance events, led the freshman track team through an undefeated season. Duke was defeated twice, and the team had little trouble winning the Junior Carolina A.A.U. title.

FRESHMAN TENNIS

THE freshman tennis team dropped only two matches during the season—one to Charlotte High, and the other to Scarboro Prep. Marshall Chambers, Harold Maas, Bardeen Winstead, and Milton Cash, freshman stand-outs, will add much strength to the 1942 varsity.

S

Second Row: COACH KENFIELD, MARTIN, KING, GRIFFIN, FAIRBAIN, RUTLEDGE, BARBER.

First Row: MUSLER, MOORE, COLONES, MEMBRINO, AND GUNTHER.

Second Row: COACH RONMAN, DAVIS, GREGORY, BENCINI, ATKINS, AND ASSISTANT COACH FARRIS.

FRESHMAN BOXING

HARD struck by influenza and other unpredictable jinxes, the freshman boxers struggled through the 1942 season unable to muster full strength for any single match and unable to garner a single victory. Losses were to V.P.I. 3-5, S.M.A. 2-6, Virginia $3\frac{1}{2}$ -4 $\frac{1}{2}$ and A.M.A. $2\frac{1}{2}$ -5 $\frac{1}{2}$. John Davis, Haynes Gregory, Bob Bencini, and Dick Young will be sure-fire starters for the 1943 varsity, as will probably be John Membrino.

REVIEW OF TEAMS

FRESHMAN teams for spring, 1941, and fall and winter, 1942, showed up unusually well. Of the ten sports represented by first year squads, all but one came out with at least a fifty-fifty record, and four teams, wrestling, swimming, track, and golf, went undefeated. Following in order came tennis, basketball, and football, which lost but two encounters for the season; baseball, which lost three; and cross country, which broke even.

INTRAMURALS

NINETEEN years is a long time. But in terms of intramurals at Carolina, it represents the period of growth from a small beginning in 1923, when intramurals were first introduced, to the present expansive program under which some 2100 Carolina students each year participate in interdormitory or interfraternity athletic competition. A total of thirteen sports make up our intramural program which, though surpassed by some schools in actual number of sports offered, can boast as much interest by the students and as much active participation as any other college in the nation.

Back of the Carolina intramural program is Mr. Herman Schnell, director for ten years, under whose supervision

HERMAN SCHNELL, DIRECTOR

TAG FOOTBALL ACTION

THE CRUCIAL TRY FOR THE EXTRA POINT IN THE TOWN BOYS-KAPPA SIGMA CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

the number of students participating in intramurals has almost doubled. Under his direction the campus intramural set-up was first reorganized (1938-39) into two divisions — dormitory and fraternity. Dormitory teams, somewhat at an advantage over many of the fraternity teams because of the larger number of boys dormitories could draw upon, were thus matched with teams on an equal footing. Similarly, fraternity teams were matched against one another. Other changes inaugurated have been the setting up of a new point system based on achievement — and the awarding of challenge trophies on the basis of points to the teams, both fraternity and dormitory, which have accumulated the highest totals during the year.

Assisting Mr. Schnell have been: a Faculty Administrative Board, composed of Floyd Siewert, R. E. Jamerson, Johnny Vaught (from the Physical Education Department), and Dr. W. G. Morgan (from the University Health Service); a graduate assistant, William Avrette; and a council made up of all fraternity and dormitory intramural managers. The Administrative Board determines matters of policy. The intramural council is consulted in matters regarding rule changes and the inclusion or exclusion of sports.

Though active in stimulating interest in intramurals, the Director and other intramurals officials encourage student initiative as much as possible. The intramural office schedules games, furnishes equipment, and supervises competition—but the students do all the rest. Probably that—plus the enthusiasm of Mr. Schnell—has been the big reason for intramurals being the major extracurricular activity on the campus.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

DIDDY KELLEY, PRESIDENT

*T*HIS was a year of firsts for the Women's Athletic Association. Growing coed enrollment, increased interest of the women students in athletics, and the desire of the coeds to do their part in carrying out the nation's "physical fitness" program—all of these combined to make for greater emphasis on women's sports, expansion, "more sports for more girls". Under the capable hands of Diddy Kelley the association for the first time made physical education compulsory for all junior coeds. For the first time publicity was featured as the Daily Tar Heel here on the campus covered women's sports, and as state papers were informed through the cooperation of the University News Bureau of the athletic events of the coeds. For the first time men and women students alike began to sit up and take notice—and to give long over-due praise to the W.A.A.

In the fall quarter hockey and tennis were the predominant sports, as the former finished probably its most popular season on the campus (75 participants) with the latter not far behind. Later in the fall a so-called "play day" held at Salem College was attended by several Carolina hockey players. Good playing soon landed berths for three of our girls on the mythical All-state team: Mary McCormic, goalie (and incidentally the only player unanimously chosen); Grace Hicks, halfback; and "Peanut" Wire, center half. The tennis tournament was captured by Kitty Wicker.

Later in the fall quarter a modern dance symposium was held. Colleges in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia were invited down to Chapel Hill for the day.

A successful intra-league basketball tournament stimulated interest in a "play day" here. At the end of the winter quarter entries from Peace, Meredith, and Duke were contacted, and arrangements were made for the program.

Swimming was topped by Captain Ellen Wimberly, whose team was the first ever to enter varsity swimming competition. Placing second in the A.A.U. meet in Bowman-Gray pool, the coed dolphins the next week showed up splendidly as they barely lost a 35-31 dual meet to William and Mary.

SCRAMBLING FOR THE BALL

HOCKEY TEAMS IN ACTION

Other sports were scheduled for the spring quarter. The varsity fencers met both William and Mary and South Carolina. The modern dance group took several exhibition trips featuring tap and folk dancing. The schedule was rounded out by golf.

In keeping with its progress in other lines, the council set out to standardize the system of awards. Interest and skill were given primary consideration as a system of major and minor awards was set up—with the recipients of awards being the winners and runner-ups of tournaments, and the members of All-Carolina first and second teams. For the most outstanding girl athlete of the year, plans were laid for the awarding of a Carolina blanket—again a "first" in W.A.A. history.

Varsity award winners this year were:

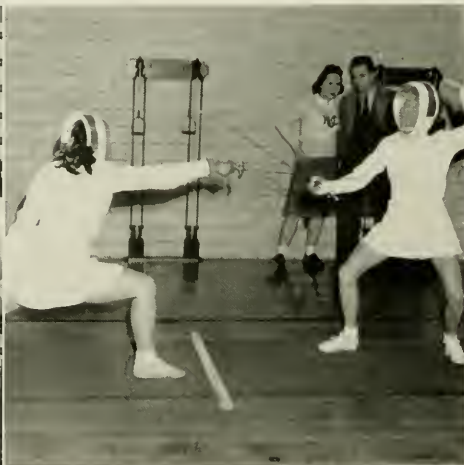

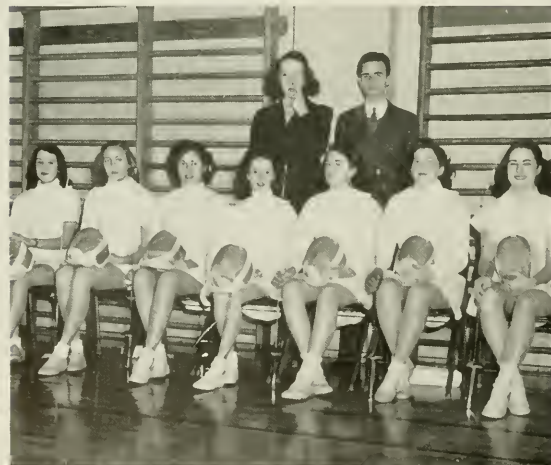

Tennis: Winnifred Rosenbaum.

Archery: Kitty Wicker.

NEW? Yes. The A.D.Pi's are the newest sorority on the campus, and this year they moved into a newly decorated house. But the novelty of it all hasn't stumped them. For the third consecutive year they won the cup for best home-coming display, which makes it theirs for keeps. The social calendar saw a dance at the Carolina Inn given in honor of the twenty-four pledges, exchange suppers with five fraternities, Tuesday night suppers at the house for all sorority members, and Sunday afternoon coffee. The chapter played Santa Claus to twenty-five underprivileged Chapel Hill youngsters.

Honors held by members are: Muriel Mallison, President of Y.W.C.A.; "Breazy" Breazeale, Vice-President of the Athletic Association; Lib Campbell, President of the Interdormitory Council; Frances Allison, Junior Representative to the Honor Council; and June Love, Treasurer of the Woman's Government Association. Jackie Ray will be remembered for her leading role in Sound and Fury, as will Pat Johnson for her excellent job as cheerleader.

President WILLIAM JENNINGS SWINK, WERT RHYNE
Vice-President ROBERT FORSTER, JOHN LINDSAY

Treasurer ROGER W. KING

THE school year of '41-'42, starting out with twenty-two pledges, was a banner year for Chi Phi.

Brother Steve Siddle headed one of the best entertainment committees we've ever had, while Brother Donovan managed some darn good intra-mural teams—most of which met our Duke chapter. After showing Duke that Carolina might not be able to win, but sure could play football, Brother O'Hare left in the winter quarter to join the Army Air Corps. Brothers Epple and Shalett did their best to raise our scholastic average by studying—well, one night, anyway. And all of us downstairs studying for exams together was more fun than that sort of thing usually is.

Brother "Orson" Grotz and Pledge "Cecil B." Richards, respectively, produced and directed Sound and Fury's Bagdad Daddy—in spite of Truth and Vicki. Ex-Alpha Swink politicked, as did Pledge Oles. Brother Smedberg YACKETY-YACKED, while Brother Tepper took care of dates—everybody else's.

It was a swell year and the war coming when it did made us appreciate it even more. We lived, worked, and grew together in the freedom of America, with the eagerness of youth and under a fraternity tradition ancient and honorable. Here, where it will be on the record, one and all we want to say: "Thanks, Dad!"

Vice-President ROBERT HEITZBERG
Secretary HOWARD DAWSON
Treasurer CALE BURGESS

A HUNDRED and one years of Chi Psi! Yes, and remember the Centennial Convention in Schenectady last spring—nineteen of us there, and we all lived like princes. Then the house parties were lots of fun too, needless to say. Wonder where Dick Young meets all those beautiful women he has?

Lettermen Gwyn Nowell and Jun Gugert, along with John Nicholls, helped bolster Coach Wolf's forces all last autumn. We watched Vic Seixas hit those tennis balls this spring, and think maybe he's got something there. It might be his proficiency with those tricky card tricks that helps him.

We really miss Bill Neely and Ed Keator, two of the chosen called this year by Uncle Sam from among our brothers. But, on the other hand, the Chipsies still feel they have a well-rounded group here, hailing from Massachusetts to Texas, and from Montreal and Minnesota to New Orleans. It's the juice boy's last stop out here, but we feel our seclusion tends to make for a closer living and brotherhood among our members.

BETA Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon was established on the Carolina campus on April 5, 1851, the first fraternity of the first state university in the nation. From its earliest days on the Hill the Dekes held undisputed leadership in scholastic and social activities; but in 1860 the War Between the States forced the fraternity to disband, and of its 103 living members, 87 served under the Confederate flag.

The University was long in recovering from the effects of the War, and it was not until 1887 that DKE reappeared on the campus. The revived chapter set to work, and was soon the first fraternal group in the state to own a house.

From its origin DKE has done its best to serve the campus, from whence its members have gone forth to make names for themselves throughout the State and the South. The goal of every Deke is to be a well-rounded gentleman, and in this development the chapter seeks to combine good fellowship, genuine scholarship, and campus attainment. The success of this movement, which proclaims DKE's preeminence, has been embodied in the lives of the many prominent members who have been outstanding in life as Carolina gentlemen and as Dekes.

DELTA PSI

*T*HE year 1941 will be long remembered in the annals of St. Anthony Hall, for it was the year that saw the Delta Psi panzer division roar to the aid of the democracies. After Selective Service had chosen those of us who were mentally, morally, and physically fit to pick up trash at Fort Bragg, the remainder of us gathered in solemn conclave to best determine our future plans to serve. The following positions were created and filled: A night patrol for the Arboretum was set up with Pete Childs and Jack Emack gallantly volunteering. A special Malt-surplus Reduction Board was taken over by Jesse Nalle and Blizzard Laurens. Ben Taylor decided to become a seventh-columnist in McIver Dorm, truly a ticklish assignment. In line with general war economy, Frank Pilling and George Peabody completely gave up buying cigarettes, and Erny Jenkins cut himself down to seven suits and six pairs of shoes. Russell decided he would serve on an Army Morale Improvement Board and sang "You are My Sunshine" 3,862 times in one U.S.O. canteen. By unanimous vote, Barney was appointed Ambassador Extraordinary to Chattanooga and Pinehurst. Skip pooled his resources and became a Naval Radio announcer, broadcasting risqué dramas from a wildcat station floating on Hogan's lake. Little D took it upon himself to see that Harry shut off his lights every night, even if it required a six hour wait. Dudley undertook to raise funds for Bonds by continuous operation of a black-jack game with all profits over 99.5 per cent going to the government.

KAPPA Psi Pharmaceutical fraternity was founded at the Medical College of Virginia on December 15, 1879. The organization was the first Greek-letter society established in the colleges of Pharmacy in the United States. It is the one and only strictly Pharmaceutical fraternity which limits its chapters to colleges of Pharmacy holding membership in the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.

This, the Beta Xi chapter, was established at the University of North Carolina in 1915, embodying the following charter members: Dean J. G. Beard, R. A. McDuffie, E. D. Kyser, R. H. Andrews, J. L. Beach, F. N. Patterson, R. H. Mann, and G. G. Blackwelder.

Kappa Psi since its origin, has sought to attain the highest ideals in the profession of Pharmacy, and surrounds its members in an atmosphere of companionship, congeniality, and integrity.

THESE Kappa Sigs . . . on week-ends, the house usually looks like either U.S.O. headquarters or a branch of W.C. You'll find Brother Henry, Alpha Mu's ebony-hued Major Domo, over eighty and still spryer than a freshman, waiting there to greet you. You'll meet Mrs. Ross, the gracious chapter mother whose loving care makes the place a real home.

These Kappa Sigs . . . members are encouraged to follow the time-honored tradition of being BMOC's, and they point with pride to grid stars Faircloth, Sigler, Le Blanc, and Serlich; Carolina Mag tycoon, Jack Holland; German Club Fuhrer, Taylor Vernon; Basketball captain, Bob Rose; Sound and Fury director, Ben Hall; Baseball captain, Bo Reynolds; Graham Memorial attache, Bill Alexander; Golf Captain, Shooky Neese; and Dance Committeemen Rose, Taylor, Reynolds, and Alexander.

These Kappa Sigs . . . drop in for supper some night (make it Tuesday—it gives steak and Miss Agnes' home-made rolls) and you're apt to hear Buddy-to Gregg enthusing over his Jane, Billy Webb telling Tar Heel gossip, Lan Donnell asking if you want your potatoes, Mr. Mercer Parrott discussing his symptoms, Shindy Norman whinnying, Ferris Stout defending the damnyankees, and Haskell Porcher griping.

These Kappa Sigs . . . they're quite a bunch.

*P*HI Alpha this year is enjoying the most successful of its thirteen years on the Carolina campus. Socially, scholastically, and athletically we are setting a new high for future Phi Alphans to shoot at.

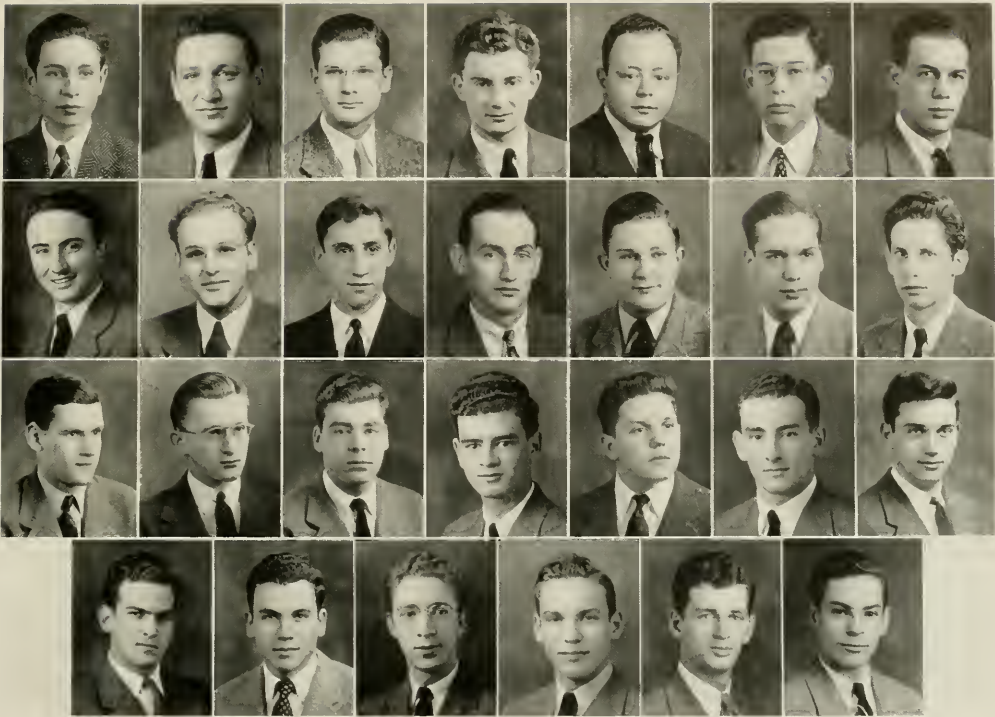

Situated this year atop the McCauley Street hill, Phi Alpha boasts the largest membership and pledge class in its history. A well-rounded brotherhood has always been our aim, and this year it has been attained.

Socially speaking, the feature of our annual fall house-party was a formal in the softly-lighted Carolina Inn ballroom to the music of the Carolinians. Dim lights, sweet music, beautiful imports—an event that no Phi Alphan will ever forget. The winter house-party followed the tradition of past social successes.

Making fullest use of the facilities of our newly-acquired dining room, many faculty members were our guests. They had a chance to enjoy our hospitality, and we had the enjoyment of their leadership in vigorous discussions of subjects from Sex to Socrates.

Phi Alphans are active in varsity and intramural athletics, publications, class affairs, and numerous miscellaneous groups. We're proud of this year's bunch of boys. Those who follow them will find their shoes hard to fill.

McGowan, the cosmopolitan from Hyde County. Don't let us forget McKnight, Matthews, and McCrimmon who were also with us for this last year.

*L*AMBDA of Phi Kappa Sigma had one of its most enjoyable and useful years with several outstanding events taking place.

Lambda Lite (the first chapter publication) was published. The annual pledge banquet was held at the Carolina Inn. Guest speakers were Dr. I. H. Manning, Dr. English Bagby, and our chapter visitor, Mr. J. M. Lear. The pledge dance followed a week later, featuring the orchestra of Ted Ross. In December the annual Christmas party was held, and during the holidays Brother Dick Carter was married. In February the Executive Board of Phi Kappa Sigma met in Chapel Hill. The following week-end found us enjoying a most delightful Winter house-party and our own dances. The Alumni Reunion was held and then came the "never to be forgotten" Spring house-party.

Mrs. Andrews, the chapter's house mother, added that extra touch to all our social events. All in all we enjoyed ourselves this year.

A BRILLIANT year for the Pi Phi's what with Jean's and Helen's gold and plaid room, red paint all over the third floor—even a telephone that turned red. A musical year, too, with the quartet of Kayser, Harrison, Lupton, and Hartt greeting the world at 7:30 every morning. Incidentally, it was a talented year—Pi loaned Jane his trained fleas, and Cornelia did a beautiful balancing act. Guy made the year exciting by blowing a fuse every time she ironed, Eleanor made it surprising as a "wholesale" fashion plate, and Dot made it picturesque with rolls and rolls of film no one ever saw. Last of all it was a crowded year with eleven Pi Phi's piled in one blue car every morning at 8:30.

THERE'S a liberal education to be had from the "Lammy-Pies" (as the girls call us)—though not much is known about us on the campus except perhaps our stronghold on the swimming team and irrepressible Dube's activities on the publications.

Our scholastic and athletic standings on the campus will compare with any, but there's a varied school of thought at our house:

There's "Swiftly" and "Murphey" to set the styles
 There's "Firpo" and "Doc" to shuffle the pack
 There's "Hunt" and "Whit" for feminine wiles
 There's "Jason" and "Golb" to put the gals back
 There's "Bud" and Jackson to wax esthetical
 There's "Don" and "Bob" to keep the "reds" out
 And then there's the neophytes—eager and learning to "party"
 And Gordon to lead them to eminence—we hope, hale and hearty . . .

The boys will all be pitching throughout the year as they have in the past, and operations, both military and otherwise, will find the Pilams right in the thick.

Highlights of Sig Sessions

RUSHING got us off with a "bang" with everyone doing his job well. A swell bunch of boys came in and helped us a lot, especially in intramurals (as our Beta friends realize).

Fall Germans saw the brothers and pledges alike drag some gorgeous dames. The times after the dances with the Freeman and Tucker teams in seclusion, the Hollands' wolfery, and the rest—oh well! Three shots for a cold is two and a half too many. Ahem, I "wanda."

Yes, good old exams and a week of rest. Homeward bound with "Malcolm" O'Neil. Crash! Too bad. Joe and Ruby did get there though. Was New York as nice as Bob and Ed said, girls? So the army wants "Slick"; what for—a sentry "post"?

Briefs:

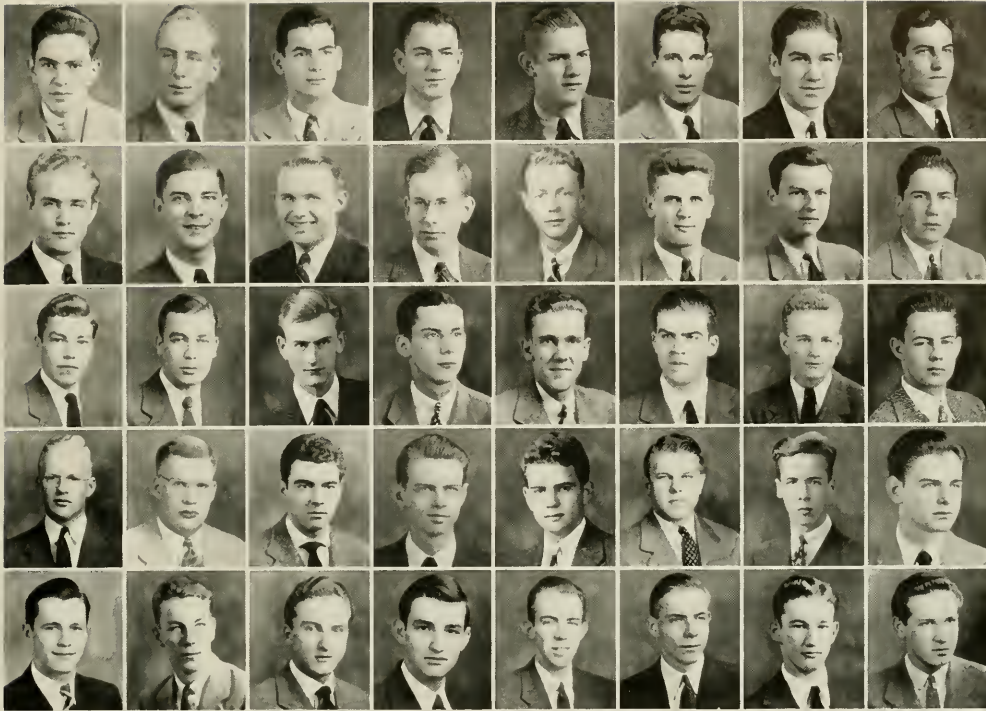

It is rumored that "Bobo" is tied down—How long?

What great "band" on the campus has three of our boys?
 J. S. of course.

"Willie" is down "pat" in the Georgia league.

It is "tongued" that "Bertie" has an attraction in Raleigh.

 Bound tied and twisted together
 Together in friendship and honor are we
 A happier crew there never will be

There is Cocke, Dunkle, and Forehand too
 The original "nigger" of Sigma Nu
 And many coats of many colors has Look
 But to the coeds a prima-donna fluke

To Joe and Austin, the Bingham Boys,
 Accounting and finance are mental toys
 "Rat-face" Coxhead, our temperance man
 A gallant lad—a flash in the pan

"Flywheel" Park tolled the wedding bell
 And Hinkle's meals stink like hell
 The pledges are a husky lot
 They worship the actives—and why not?

 Dodged Duke, the draft, but not the maid
 Proud of the star that shines for Psi
 Our love for Sigma Nu will never die.

*J*UNE is here, and once again from our "Circle" of brotherhood are departing the group that formed the hub, the focus, the revolving force of destiny of the Zeta Psi. This has been one of our greatest classes. To those departing, it is a time of mingled joys and sorrows, but throughout them courses the silent feeling of satisfaction at the record they leave behind. The years will pass swiftly, but long will linger on the memories of this year. We'll never forget our quiet and competent "Prez" Taylor of Phi Beta fame; "the guiding genius of the Greeks" — "Lover" Thorp; our stellar "Bass" and "Goop" on the athletic fields; those two unforgettable roomies — "Stud" and "Prof"; the "Agitator" and his "Zete Beach" parties; the unpredictable "Big Shot"; and Damon and Pythias — "Boob" and "Ironpants"; "Damn Yankee Marty" from Nao Joisey; and, natcherly, not "Sass" of "O.L.H." fame!

BEAUTY QUEENS

"Vanity Fair"

SELECTING THE BEAUTIES

THIS year we went democratic—every dormitory, fraternity, and sorority on the campus was asked to submit a picture for the contest. Out to Los Angeles and under the scrutinizing eye of our "Ole Professor" Kay Kyser went some forty beauties. Here are the ones selected.

Dear Charles:

I certainly appreciate the honor you have conferred upon me, but you surely gave me a tough assignment to choose the eight most beautiful girls.

I have had the privilege of selecting the beauties from many colleges, but I can truthfully say that as a whole, this is the prettiest collection I have had to judge, and, therefore, it was almost impossible to narrow the selection down to eight. However, with much deliberation I've done so, and I certainly hope my choice meets with everyone's approval.

I hope all the students will realize that the eight selections were made entirely on the basis of the photographs submitted. Seeing the girls in person no doubt would make quite a difference as I'm sure some of the pictures do not do justice to the girls, and others are probably quite flattering.

After looking at all the pictures for a long time, here are my eight preferences:

- 33 - Miss Claire Courtney
- 4 - Audrey Hamblen
- 11 - Dorothy Webb
- 35 - Ethel Driscoll
- 21 - Carol Caldwell
- 20 - Betty Baumberger
- 2 - Virginia Klages
- 10 - Peggy Lou Tutrelle

Thank you again for the honor of judging the beauty selection of the 1942 "YACKETY YACK" and as always, my love and best wishes to the University.

Sincerely,

Kay Kyser

UNIVERSITY DANCE COMMITTEE

*I*N addition to its efficient maintenance of order at all University dances, the Dance Committee this year sponsored two progressive steps. A pamphlet was prepared to give to girls coming to Carolina dances for the first time. It contained suggestions and information, such as the fact that flowers are not permitted at our dances. Also, a committee was formed to collect information about bands and to help in getting big name bands as cheaply as possible. Although the campus Emergency Act curtailing dance expenditures did away with much of the committee's importance, the work it did while in existence promises that it will be of great value later.

GEORGE COXHEAD, CHAIRMAN

TAYLOR VERNON, PRESIDENT

GERMAN CLUB

LEFT with an organization which stood on a sound financial basis, the German Club Executive Committee this year continued to put on excellent dances such as characterized in the past, and, just as important, to stay out of the red. Responsible for three dances a year, the club has presented so far Al Donahue for Fall Germans and Charlie Spivak for Midwinters.

Most colorful and interesting of all the matters attended to by the committee was the enthusiasm they aroused leading opposition to the Emergency Curtailment Bill. And though they went down, be it said that they did their best to put on good dances at reduced cost.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

OFFICERS OF THE GERMAN CLUB FOR 1942 WERE: Taylor Vernon, Kappa Sigma, President; Hubert Walston, Zeta Psi, Vice-President; William Look, Sigma Nu, Secretary; Frank Laurens, Delta Psi, Treasurer; and John Diffendal, Alpha Tau Omega, Chairman.

OTHER MEMBERS OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WERE: Hugh Hole, Beta Theta Pi; Robert Vail, Sigma Chi; Emmett Barnes, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Cyrus Hogue, Delta Kappa Epsilon; Emmett Sebrell, Kappa Alpha; and Charles Neaves, Kappa Sigma.

Fall Germans

*F*ALL Germans came the week-end of the Carolina-Duke Football Game, and served to neutralize many depressed spirits of the week-end. With the exception of the hot weather, loss to Duke, and an overcrowded dance floor the week-end was a great success. Al Donahue played for the dances, and put on a good show at Friday's concert.

"Bob" Davis with Miss Evelyn Brown led the figure Friday night and with them were: Malone Parham with Miss Elizabeth Topleman; Taylor Vernon with Miss Florence Royal; John Diffendal with Miss Mary Lewis Millis; Hubert Walston with Miss Jack Gravelly; Frank Laurens with Miss Lucy Brown; William Look with Miss Ruth Barnes; Hugh Hole with Miss Betty Cordon; Robert Vail with Miss Wanda Johnson; Austin Carr with Miss Peggie Beattie; Emmett Sebrell with Miss Millie Brenizer; Cyrus Hogue with Miss Elizabeth Jones; and Charles Neaves with Miss Rosamund Neaves.

In Saturday's figure were: Robert Stockton with Miss Mary Louise Rousseau; Robert Cowan with Miss Katherine Watkins; Robert Ettenger with Miss Virginia Martin; Wade Denning with Miss Nell Denning; Tyndall Harris with Miss Mary Bardman; Jack Eshelman with Miss Eleanor Shaub; James Harrell with Miss Katherine Sparks; Edmund Tisdale with Miss Elsie Trulove; Junie Peele with Miss Katherine Legg; and Jack Emack with Miss Marie Watters.

Midwinters

*W*HEN the week-end of February 14 and 15 rolled around, the big dance of the winter was here. The music of Charlie Spivak's orchestra was a feature of the set, and it could hardly have been enjoyed more had the persons attending the dance realized that his music was to be the last a big-name band would play at Carolina for some while. The concert will be remembered for Spivak and his trumpet, and for the singers with their "This is no laughing matter". Beautiful weather the entire week-end was highlighted with basketball, swimming, and wrestling events, while numerous parties and social events topped things off.

The Senior figure Saturday night was led by Edmund Forehand and Miss Sophia Redwood. Participating with them were Henry Burgwyn with Miss Billie Gibbons, Charles Tillett with Miss Mary Caldwell, William Howard with Miss Gertrude Jones, William Peete with Miss Anna Wood, Hugh Hole with Miss Mary Ann Paschal, George Long with Miss Mary Bell Marsh, John Church with Miss Tommie Rose, Pete Childs with Miss Agnes Martin, and Warren Simpson with Miss Grace Everhard.

The customary Friday night figure was eliminated as a war time economy measure.

Interdormitory Dance

BARRINGER HAYES MANLY
SHERMAN SPARROW

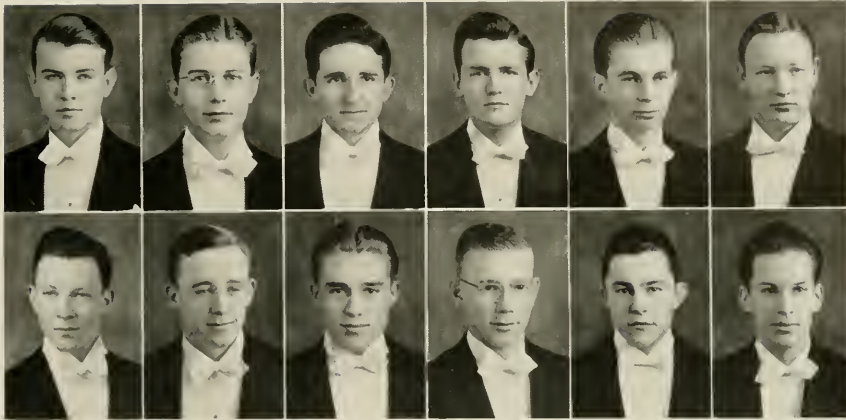

ALMOST putting spring with its gay dances to shame, Will Bradley and Freddy Johnson joined hands the first week-end in February to put on a swell set of Interdorm dances. Freddie Johnson opened the set, and Will Bradley with his "boogie woogie" band played for the concert and the final dance. Initiating a new custom, Aycock Dormitory helped everyone get into the spirit of things by holding open house in its newly-acquired social room, and Graham Memorial did its bit by opening its doors after the Friday night affair to dormitory men and their dates. Saturday night fraternity men offered their houses plus refreshments to dormitory dance-goers. Highlighting the week-end were several dormitory house parties.

There was no figure, but there was a no-break dance honoring the officers of the Interdormitory Council, the President of the Dormitories, and the dance committee which was responsible for putting on the dance. This committee was: Charles Colby, Mike Carr, Larry Berluti, Sam Beavans, Dave Barksdale, James Newsome, Martin Barringer, Sell Culp, "Bo" Reynolds, Richard Jones, Joe Leslie, Bill Witkin, George Harrelson, and Tommy Sparrow.

Dormitory Presidents were: Tommy Sparrow, Mangum; Ernest Skillman, Manly; Claude Myers, Ruffin; "Pinky" Elliot, Grimes; Sam Sherman, Alexander; Charles Colby, Stacy; Charles Baker, Lewis; Boston Lackey, Aycock; Jim Manly, Graham; Tommy Sullivan, Everett; Mac Norwood, Steele; George Paine, B.V.P.; Moyer Hendrix, Old East; and Jonas Owens, Old West.

OFFICERS WERE: George Hayes, President; "Oskie" Johnston, Vice-President; Pat Witherington, Secretary; and Robert Komegay, Treasurer.

*T*HE first big dance of the spring quarter was touched off when the Sophomore class joined with the Freshman class for the Frosh-Soph dance on the week-end of April 10 and 11. Freddy Johnson started things off on Friday night for the "Frosh" half of the dance, and Lang Thompson took over on Saturday at both the tea and night dances for the "Soph" half. The week-end marked the first time the first and second year classes had jointly sponsored a dance.

As an added attraction, Graham Memorial held open house immediately following the dances on both nights. Soft lights, roaring fires, and recorded music created an atmosphere which was maintained by the barring of any and all stags.

Members of the Sophomore Dance Committee and their dates were: Joe Ferguson, Chairman, with Miss Anice Garmany; John Byers with Miss Margaret Byrd; Art Lavine with Miss Mary Lou Taylor; J. G. Carden with Miss Mary Bohannon; Tom Smith with Miss Mary Lloyd Glidewell; Wiley Long with Miss June Bourne; Sonny Boney with Miss Mildred Lee; Bob McClary with Miss Wynema Honeycutt; Hill Wolf with Miss Sally Orr; Bobby Stockton with Miss Peeny Bernhardt; Bud Evans with Miss Patsy Miller; Hugh Cox with Miss Mollie Ellis; and Dewey Dorsett with Miss Allie Bell.

Freshman Dance Committeemen and their dates were: Ned Mewborn, Chairman, with Miss Mary Jane Mewborn; Joe Wright with Miss Juliette La Borde; Jeff Bynum with Miss Edith Taylor; George Henderson with Miss Dottie Groom; George Whitner with Miss Virginia Klages; and Ken Todd with Miss Elizabeth Gudger.

COATS SWARM PAST THE DOORMAN, THEN SHED COATS AND GET DOWN TO BUSINESS.

WHEN studies are left undone and forgotten, when coeds start looking left-out, when dance committeemen suddenly become very unpopular—Carolina Gentlemen, the dance week-end has begun. Gone from the dance floor now are the big names, the Dorseys, Miller, and Casa Loma; but though dances are in the financial doghouse, still the campus throbs all week-end—and heads throb all the next week.

Biggest struggle of the week-end is getting to the dance. First the rush for the showers, the hunt for collar buttons, and the fight to get into evening clothes; the search for the friend with the vacant back seat; the long wait while the date sits upstairs reading Esquire. Then the trip to the Tin Can as couples swarm in looking uniformly uncomfortable but still pleased at the thought that they got by the doorman. Jitterbugs soon steal the floor, never seem to get tired. Smooth dancers pick out quiet corners to whisper sweet nothings.

“AT THE DANCES

Meanwhile, wolves prowl around looking for late dates, and dance committeemen try to look unobtrusive in their sniffing.

Intermission comes like the 10:30 recess. There's always the fight for cokes and the scramble for seats as couples enjoy a moment's rest, look to see who came with who, watch the fashion show, and spread the latest gossip.

SOME JITTERBUG, SOME STICK TO SMOOTH DANCING, EVERYONE AVOIDS THE DREADED BLUE AND WHITE BOUTTONNIERE.

AT INTERMISSION THE CROWD GROUPS OFF TO SOCIALIZE . . .

. . . OR FIGHTS FOR A CHANCE TO ENJOY A COKE. (BELOW) THE SWING LOVERS HOUND AROUND THE BANDSTAND.

WHEN WE WENT

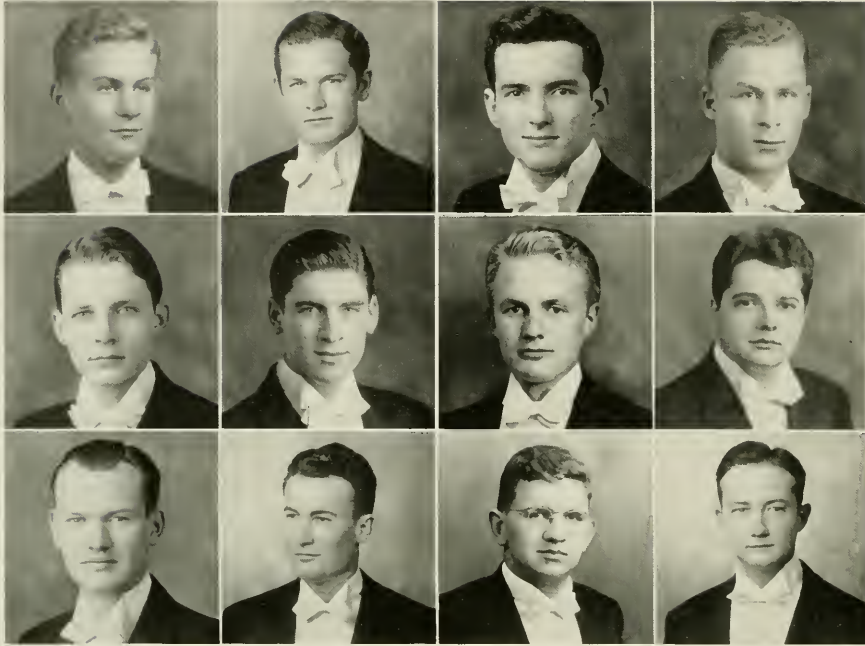

Back to the dance floor again. Music sweet and music hot, while girls' feet hurt and Carolina men start planning for their campaign after the dance. Up at the stand the orchestra is surrounded by the lovers of swing, the couples too tired to dance, and the stags who don't know any girls.

At the stroke of midnight or one A. M. or two, the strains of the theme song end the dance—and then the week-end begins.

SOME TIME DURING THE NIGHT THE CHOSEN FEW GO THROUGH THEIR PACES IN THE FIGURE.

AT THE END OF THE DANCE COMES ANOTHER MAD RUSH FOR THE COAT STAND—AND OFF TO THE WARS.

As a fitting climax to the hilarities and subtleties of Senior Week came Junior-Seniors on the week-end of May 15th and 16th. Falling in line with the dance expenditures cut, the Junior and Senior dance committees held expenses within the appropriate limits, and used the surplus $1,375 to buy defense bonds for setting up a loan fund.

It would have taken more than reduced expenditures to dampen the spirits of dance-goers. The "music under the stars," saddle-shoe stomp, Senior banquet, and other features of Senior Week touched things off; and when the week-end came everyone was rarin' to go. House parties and hayrides set the pace as Juniors and Seniors, imports and coeds, and everyone else took in the best of spring quarter week-ends.

Lt. Stanley Brown with his "big-name" musicians from Fort Bragg did the honors at the Friday night shin-dig; and on Saturday Red Norvo took the reins. Saturday's festivities featured a Norvo concert spiced with slap-stick comedy presented by the Carolina Playmakers. There was also a tea dance and a night dance highlighted by the singing of Kay Allen and "Wood-chopper" Norvo on his xylophone.

Full credit goes to Senior Co-chairmen Dean Williams and Roger Matthews, Junior Chairman Steve Peck, and the members of their respective committees for the real highlight of the spring. The only disheartening note of the whole week-end (beside the dread of Monday morning 8:30's) was the thought that exams were just around the corner.

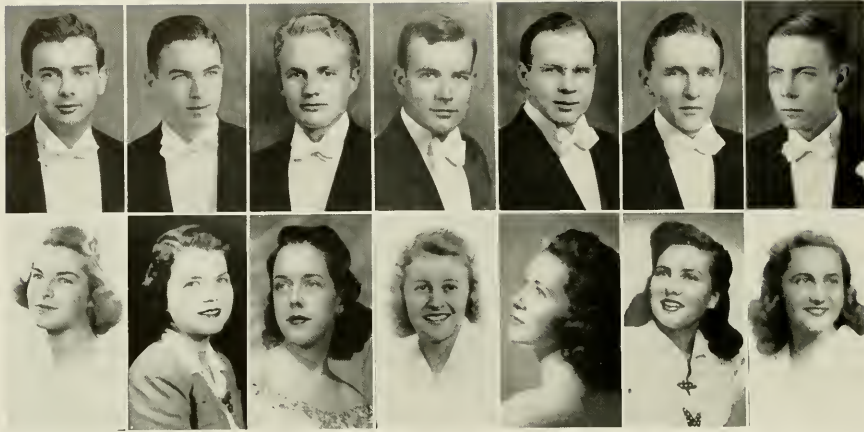

Members of the Senior Dance Committee were: Vincent Arey, Haywood Bland, Jack Connelly, Scrappy Gay, Wesley Gooding, Brooks Griffin, Braxton Ingram, Goodman Jones, Boston Lackey, Sam Means, Henry Moll, Clayton Moore, Pete Owens, Jim Shaw, and Dave Silver.

May Frolics

THOUGH there was no "big-name" band for May Frolics this year, the fraternities which put on the set of dances welcomed spring with a bang. Held in April, as usual, the dance came the week-end of the 24th and 25th and brought enough imports to the campus to make any loyal coed shudder. Freddie Johnson and his orchestra took the place of the big-name band which the dance-expenditure act made impossible, and did himself proud with a fine selection of music and novelties.

Highlight of the week-end was the endless string of parties. Heading the list were the Beta Tenny's Meadow "outing" and the Kappa Sig "waffle" party. But there were others which included breakfast parties, noonday parties, afternoon parties, night parties, and just plain old parties.

Members of the committee and their dates were: William Peete, D.K.E., President with Miss Louise Bahnson; Sam Means, S.A.E., Executive Secretary with Miss Betty Chapman; James Thorp, Zeta Psi, with Miss Carol McDaniel; "Bo" Reynolds, Kappa Sigma, with Miss Helen McGee; Bill Vail, Sigma Chi, with Miss Carol Caldwell; Bill Felts, Beta Theta Pi, with Miss Jane Kirkpatrick; and Dudley Cocke, Sigma Nu with Miss Peggy Thompson.

Finals

WITH Jimmy Dorsey offering rhythm for the occasion Finals, 1941, mingled joyous and happy moments with the sad thoughts of leaving Chapel Hill. For many the week-end preceding commencement became as unforgettable as the graduation exercises.

In the figure Friday night the outgoing officers of the German Club symbolically turned their duties and honors over to the incoming. Ike Grainger with Miss Spotty Coan, Jick Garland with Miss Caroline Miller, Frank Robinson with Miss Ruth Applewhite, Henry Gross with Miss Felicia Chisholm, Bill Dees with Miss Marjorie Johnston, Bill Vogler with Miss Frances Dyckman, Clark Bartlett with Miss Martha Anne Speight, Tom Long with Miss Margaret Johnston, and Britt Beasley with Miss Emily Smith were the old officers and their dates. Incoming were Taylor Vernon with Miss Mary Lib Beasley, John Diefendal with Miss Mary Lewis Millis, Hubert Walston with Miss Julia McConnell, Frank Laurens with Miss Lucy Brown, Austin Carr with Miss Bob-Ed Lassiter, Cyrus Hogue with Miss Elizabeth Jones, Bob Vail with Miss Barbara Burroughs, and Emmett Sebrell with Miss Millie Brenizer.

THOUGH orchestras and dancing are the main reasons for any big Carolina week-end, to the initiated many they hardly begin to tell the story. The real story of a week-end begins long before the band arrives, and continues well after the last clarinet has squeaked in the Tin Can.

The first sign that a dance week-end is in the offing is the increased mail from the girls, who usually get wind of the affair before we do. Then comes the long fight of getting a date: the steady back home, the party-girl promtrotter from boarding school, or the willing coed. Last-minute telegrams get anxious attention as enthusiasm grows, or drops, with acceptances or "I.C.C.'s". And there's always the unlucky fellow who asked two girls and both decided to come.

At last the date arrives, decked out in an oversized sweater and the latest collegiate chit-chat, and accompanied by enough baggage to load a small-sized army truck. The affectionate greeting "Sooooo glad to see you" and "How ya been"—and off you go. All week-end last the parties—in fraternity houses, Harry's, the Pines, Tenney's Meadow, in rumble seats. The girls keep all their big guns in action while their dates herd them around; and the wolves prowl ever-watchful on the outskirts.

"THE WEEK-END..

The dance intervenes to give a slight let-up from the week-end. Then it's over, and once more

MOST POPULAR INDOOR SPOTS OF THE WEEK-END ARE HARRY'S (left) AND DANZIGER'S (right) WITH ITS VIENNESE DISHES AND PASTRIES.

Top: "BIG SHOTS" OF THE WEEK-END ARE GERMAN CLUB HEAD DIFFENDAL AND BAND MAESTRO SPIVAK. Bottom: COUPLES LOOSEN UP AT THE AFTERNOON TEA DANCE.

AT FRATERNITY HOUSES SOCIALITES SIT ON FLOOR, REMOVE STIFF COLLARS, AND IN GENERAL GET COMFORTABLE.

SOME ADVENTUROUS SOULS RAID THE ICE BOX. OTHERS (BELOW) SIT AROUND SUFFERING THE EFFECTS OF TOO MUCH "WEEK-END".

BEFORE and AFTER the dizzy pace accelerates. We're off to pick up a snack, to wolf, to talk, to park, to—uhh, engage in amorous diversion. And so on till the morning, while fatigue and the beverages take their effect. A couple of hours of sleep, and we're off again, on Saturday for more parties, on Sunday for the bus station, and then—we hate to end it this way—back to the books. But a real Carolina Gentleman, ten minutes after that girl has gone, will be in bed!

Gentlemen, the dance week-end.

IF BOTH PARTIES ARE SO INCLINED, A GOOD-NIGHT KISS IS USUALLY ON DECK. AS DATES LEAVE AND THE WEEK-END CLOSES, CAROLINA GENTS MAKE A BEE LINE FOR THE LONG-FORGOTTEN BED.

fellows”

IT'S yours now. All's over but the shouting, or the frowning, as the case may be. But before you put this volume on the shelf and write finis to another YACKETY YACK, we'd like to say a few more words.

First of all, we'd like to pay tribute to the loyal souls who made this book possible. To Hugh Morton in particular for his excellent photography and sound advice our hats go off; if you like some of the pictures as much as we hope you will, the credit is his. There are others to whom thanks are due—Jim Loeb for his work on extra-curriculars; Hunt Hobbs for his ready supply of ideas and humor; "Scoop" Campbell and John Robinson for sports; Bobby Crawford, George Smedberg, and Irwin Henderson for the difficult class sections; Bill Taylor and Tyler Nourse for photography; Rudy Faircloth for the color pictures; Bahnsen Gray and Bobby Stockton for their work on advertising; and Bill Watkins, Stuart McCoach, and many of the office staff for their assistance and advice.

Real appreciation is due Mr. Frank Fleming of Lassiter Press and Ray Bailey and Buck Shelton of Charlotte Engraving Co., all of whom seemed determined that the 1942 YACKETY YACK should come out even though the editors made them fight most of the way. The cooperation of Wootten-Moulton should not go without mention.

And a vote of thanks should go to our advertisers, who year in and year out give us a mighty big boost. Please do us, and yourselves, a favor—read the ads.

We hope you enjoy the book. We haven't tried to set the world on fire, but we have tried to make this year at Carolina live in your memory. If you can flip back the pages ten years from now and still get a kick, our job will have been complete.
