NARBERTH LIBERTY BOND CAMPAIGN

The Main Line Committee of the Liberty Bond Campaign, under direct instructions from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, is conducting a vigorous campaign to raise the Main Line quota of sales before the expiration of the time, Saturday evening, October 27. Hon. Fletcher W. Stites has been requested to take charge of the work in Narberth, and in pursuance of his duties, called a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening of this week, which resulted in restricting the town, and appointing canvassers for a house to house visit.

Remember that it would be a national disgrace to have this second issue of Liberty Bonds fail of its purpose. The eyes of German leaders are focused on us, and their spies and agents in this country are doing their utmost to discredit the loan. In Germany, another large loan has been successfully floated, and the failure of ours would revive their waning hopes of ultimate victory.

Every dollar invested now is worth two to our Government. There is no loan ever made that is safer than this, guaranteed as it is by the enormous wealth of 110 millions of thrifty people. The bonds are gilt-edge security for borrowing money at any time; they pay 4 per cent., and may be bought in small denominations, namely, $50 and $100. Payments may be made at the rate of $1 per week, if preferred, or in two or three installments, to suit the convenience of buyers. This may be arranged through the Narberth Branch of the Merion Title and Trust Company, Mr. Daniel Leitch, manager.

Do not forget that you are making a splendid investment, and that by making it now, you will be saving the lives of thousands of our brave boys. You are safeguarding all that you possess. God help this country, if the Allies are not victorious. The inhuman cruelties visited on the people of Belgium, France, Serbia, Armenia and Rumania will be our portion, unless Germany is crushed. Do not be misled by false hopes of an early peace, but invest every dollar you can spare. Only four days remain; if you have not yet bought bonds, act quickly when the canvassers call. If they do not find you at home, do not wait, but report to Mr. Stites or Mr. Leitch before the end of the week.

In Nearly Every Issue of Our Town

some appeal is made by our various local organizations for your personal assistance to aid in their work which they have undertaken for the welfare of our country.

It is impossible to measure the good work that has been done in our little borough,—impossible to measure what could have been done had more help been given. But one thing is certain,—as we read, week by week, the various appeals, some, seemingly, so small, and easily within our reach, and some so large and beyond our power and means, that it cannot be said that each one of our readers does not know whether or not he has done his best, or whether or not some sacrifices have been made.

It is a time for sacrifice, and sacrifice means self-denial of our many personal wants.

NEW NARBERTH PLAN WILL ACTUALLY REDUCE THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Movement Started Last Thursday Night at Meeting of Borough Residents—Suggested by State Expert—Committee Already Busy

A definite, practical plan—calculated to actually reduce the high cost of living, has been launched right here in Narberth, and just as soon as the preliminary details can be perfected, a complete announcement will be made to every resident.

The movement was started last Thursday night at a meeting of citizens, at the home of W. R. D. Hall, at 226 Dudley avenue. A committee is now at work on the plan, and Narberth folks may look for news of this movement in every issue of "Our Town" for many weeks to come.

Thursday night's meeting was attended by a representative group of citizens, called together by Councilman Hall, to meet Mr. A. B. Ross, listen to his suggestions and, if they approved, act. Mr. Ross, who is a new resident in Narberth, is now connected with the Pennsylvania State Committee of Public Safety, and is one of the most active men in the State, working day and night helping the people meet and solve the many problems arising from the high cost of living and the scarcity of certain foods. He is an expert agriculturist long attached to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and in addition, has a keen knowledge of wholesale and retail merchandising methods, particularly in relation to groceries and garden produce.

"You are all fully aware of the high cost of living," said Mr. Ross, "but I am not so sure that you realize, or I should say, can visualize, what is ahead of us! If the war stops before New Year's Day many people imagine that all their troubles about the high cost of living will be over. But they're mistaken! Peace will not save us—not for several years, at least. When the war stops there are going to come even greater demands for food. These demands will come from all parts of the world, and they will come in staggering quantities! And there's only one way to meet the situation."

And then Mr. Ross unfolded his plan. He was listened to with the closest attention, and at the conclusion of his talk there was a general discussion.

Finally the following committee was selected to prepare a concrete statement outlining the basic principles involved in the suggested plan: Mr. Ross, chairman, and C. Howard McCarter and W. R. D. Hall. Others present at the meeting were: A. J. Loos, A. P. Redifer, W. Arthur Cole, Charles E. Humphreys, Carden Warner and E. A. Muschamp.

As soon as the committee has completed its work it will report back to the main body and a general public announcement will be made.

In the meanwhile the residents of our borough may rest assured that a determined movement is on foot to assist them in the hardest of present day problems, and they in turn must be prepared to co-operate to the fullest possible extent. You can't solve this problem alone and the sooner we all learn this lesson the nearer we'll all be to actually getting the best of the high cost of living. And if we don't get together the high cost of living is going to continue to "get us," as it has been doing for the last ten years, and particularly during the last three years.

Be on the look out for the new plan. Look for further news in "Our Town."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Too much red meat while doing little body work in the outdoor is harmful. Yet we hear many say who live indoors and take little or no body work that they could not keep up their strength if they did not eat meat three times a day. It would be better for such people if they only ate red meat once a day and took moderate outdoor work for an hour or two every day and a graded bath down to cool; they would soon grow stronger and healthier, in place of feeling weak and half sick all the time and have to depend upon stimulants and narcotics for temporary help. The best and safest stimulant is daily body work till perspiring, and a graded bath. Medical experts tell us that too much red meat eating lies at the root of many of our physical ills as it develops uric acid which in its turn is said to produce cancer, gout, rheumatism, nerveless-ness and its kindred ills. Too much meat eating is NO GOOD. Another hint to follow to help cleanse the blood of some of its impurities is to drink pure water in small quantities (say half a glass or so every other hour during the day). Drinking cool pure water slowly and often will, like taking body work a little and often each day, do much more good with no danger, as drinking large quantities of water may, or taking overdoses of exercise often does. Let little and often be your rule in drinking water and taking body work.

NARBERTH SETS PACE IN PUPILS' TREATMENT

School Teachers Take Up Each Case Individually After Hours

GET PERSONAL ATTENTION

Main Line's Rapid Growth Due in Part to Its Education Facilities

(From Sunday's Ledger)

An hour and a half after school was supposed to have closed in Narberth the other afternoon eight High School teachers were found grouped around the table in the principal's office. They were discussing William Smith and Mary Brown and Thomas Jones.

"He's good for me," said one. "Only fair for me," said another. "Excellent for me," vouchsafed a third.

That's the way they talk over each pupil at the Narberth school. Every one is treated individually, and each teacher knows each pupil, for they pride themselves on the personal attention given each child in the school.

Narberth is growing rapidly. One reason is its excellent school system. It seems that on a certain day last week a parent came in from Chicago, another from Pittsburgh.

"We're settling in Philadelphia," they said to William T. Melchoir, the superintendent. "We're coming to Narberth because we understand you have a fine school out here and our children will get individual attention."

Indefatigable School Welfare Worker
Perhaps the most indefatigable worker for the welfare of the school is C. Howard McCarter, president of the Narberth School Board, who has been a member of that body since its organization twenty-two years ago.

The new building, connecting with the old, was opened for this term, and now houses the elementary grades. The old building has the high school, which offers a full college preparatory course. There are twelve grades in all, the first six being elementary, the next three junior high school and the last three senior high school. This is called the 6-33 plan, now becoming the popular throughout the country. The

AN IMPORTANT MOVE

The Men's Bible class of the Methodist Church always on the alert to take advantage of every opportunity of advancing the interests of the church and community, has taken a step which bids fair to play an important part in the religious life of Narberth. The services of the Hon. Fletcher W. Stites have been secured, as teacher, and he will devote the energy and enthusiastic effort for which he is noted, to making the meetings of the class interesting and instructive.

The sessions of the class are held in the church at 10 o'clock on Sunday mornings. The time will be occupied, not necessarily in any set plan of study as laid down in the international or other series of lessons, but will be devoted, to some extent, to the discussion of current sociological problems, from a religious standpoint.

All men of the community, who are not associated with some other similar line of work, at the same hour, will find the meetings of this class very attractive and interesting and are cordially invited to attend.

Before seeing the vast and substantial "Heavenly Twins," at the School Fair on Saturday, we imagined heaven peopled by very ethereal beings. Now we "hae our doots."

The Beauty Show at the School Fair again demonstrated that one must travel far to find prettier girls than those of Narberth. We maintain their supremacy against all contestants.

It has never been definitely settled whether it is better to live with an optimist who believes everything to be right, or with a pessimist who believes that all is wrong, and that he has the only remedy.

When you purchase Liberty Loan Bonds you do your country good, you do the cause of liberty and justice over the whole world good, you do yourself good, you do harm to the enemies of liberty and justice and civilization, and harm to the enemies of your country.

On Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings of this week, all friends and well-wishers of the Y. M. C. A. will have an opportunity to help its finances, and incidentally help themselves, by purchasing all kinds of useful articles, including food products, at very attractive prices. Most of the articles have been donated, or purchased at inside prices, so that there need be no fear of being overcharged. Incidentally, there will be "lots of fun," and opportunities for social interchange. A good supper will be provided each evening for a limited number. Tickets for this should be secured without delay. The Y. M. C. A. is a necessity in our town that merits the support of all. Those who have not yet taken membership should do so without delay.

Mr. A. P. Ross, an expert agriculturist, long attached to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and now connected with the State Committee of Public Safety, has a plan for economic marketing in Narberth that is worthy of the most serious investigation by our housekeepers. He has made an exhaustive study of the retail grocery business, and believes it can be much more economically carried on with the active co-operation of buyers. He forecasts continually advancing prices, owing to the enormous demand for food products from all parts of the world, and it becomes imperative to cut out all unnecessary expenses in connection with the buying and distribution of food supplies.

This is a matter that appeals particularly to the women of Narberth, who, in most households, do the buying. They know how important it is to make every dollar go as far as possible. Many of them are very expert buyers, and will have to be shown very clearly that other methods will enable them to do better. A change of method may necessitate some sacrifices of their individuality, but if it can be demonstrated that the new plan will effect a saving of fifteen to twenty per cent. these sacrifices will be well worth while.

A clear statement of the new plan is in course of preparation, and will be submitted to the people of Narberth in the very near future. We commend it to their careful consideration.

To the Editor of Our Town:

What was the cause of the demise of the "Cub"? Was it "infantile paraly" or just ordinary measles or mumps? Our Town surely lacks something without his (or her) column. Mayhap there was no demise, possibly he only went away with his pa and ma for a summer vacation. Won't the editor ask him to "get busy" again?

"Yearner."

ECONOMY AT HOME

"We're a tollable economical family, at our house," admitted Mr. Gap Johnson, of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "Wife, she cuts hair, and me and her take turns at cutting the hair of the children, except Rip and Coonrod and Jeff'son Davis, the three oldest boys. They're going with the girls considerable, and say it hurts their social standing to have their heads look as if they had been mingling in a fight with wild cats.

"Wife also tries to cut down my clothes to fit the children in regular rotation, but it hain't altogether a success. You see, there's fourteen of our young Oliver branches, nine of 'em boys, all of which are continually hollering for more clothes. till, if I didn't assert my authority occasionally, wife would shore have me reduced to faith and gooseshin in her zeal to keep the kids covered. And, at that, by the time a garment of mine has gone down the line to Bearcat, my least boy, what with the cutting down and wearing out as it came along, the child ain't much better off than if his whereabouts was photographed on to him. But, anyhow, we do middling well, with the aid of economy and a sense of humor.

"Aw, yes! I forgot to say, speaking of cutting one thing and another, that the children have always cut their own teeth as they came to 'em."

MARY JANE GAVE NOTICE

Mary Jane's master is a slightly eccentric habit. He has one most irritating habit. Instead of telling her what he wants done by word or mouth he leaves on his desk, or on the kitchen table, or anywhere else where she is likely to see it, a note curtly directing her to "Dust the dining-room," or "Turn out my cupboard," and so on.

The other day he bought some newspaper, with the usual die-sunk address imprinted upon it, from the stationer, and ordered it to be sent home.

Mary Jane took it in, and the first thing that caught her eye was a note attached to the package. She read it, open-eyed.

"Well," she said, "he's asked me to do a few things in his blessed notes, but this is the limit. I won't stand it no longer!"

For the note read:
"Die Inside This Package."

One of the shortest summings-up on record is believed to be that delivered by the late Commissioner Kerr at the Old Bailey in a case where a man was charged with being in the unlawful possession of a gold watch and chain.

The appearance of the prisoner certainly did not correspond with the legitimate possession of such costly ornaments, but he asserted his innocence of the charge, and declared that he had found the watch and chain on the pavement.

The judge looked at the man in the dock, and then at the men in the box.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he said, "I have walked over the pavements of London during the last forty years, and I've never found a gold watch and chain there yet. Consider your verdict."

LIBERTY BOND CAMPAIGN

Main Line Committee Wants a Bond Sold in Every Home—Captains of District Teams Working Hard

The Liberty Bond campaign along the Main Line is in full swing, and within the next few days every house will be visited by the workers on the different committees.

The returns already reported are very satisfactory and it is hoped that when the final reports are made next week that a bond will have been sold in every home along the Main Line.

The local banks and trust companies are ready and willing to help every person to buy a bond and will gladly accept small payments until the full amount has been paid, without any charge for their services.

It is the duty of all to help their government at this critical time, and those who can remain at home should be quick to accept this opportunity of showing their patriotism and desire to do their share by giving their financial aid at this time.

The Main Line has been divided into districts, and the captains of each district have appointed a sub-committee to help them in their canvass. The captains and their districts are as follows:

Overbrook, T. A. Snyder; Bala, A. W. Pickford; Merion, William De Kraft; Cynwyd, R. Horace Griggs; Narberth, Fletcher W. Stites; Wynnewood, James V. Ellison; Ardmore, Edwin A. Pitts, Horace W. Smedley; Haversford, Frank Tenney, Allen Wagar; Bryn Mawr, Philip A. Hart, J. E. Dougherty, Kane S. Green, Clarence E. Wilson; Villa Nova, Rev. Charles Townsend; Gladwyne, Parker Worrell; Wayne, W. idea is that a pupil who cannot continue throughout the high school course can stop at the end of the junior. However, it is found in Narberth that most pupils do continue right through, they like their school so much.

There are now some 500 children in the school, all one big family, as it were. The teachers, it seems, are most carefully selected, and are expected to live in the town, though preferably not to have been selected there. They are expected to live there so as to become well acquainted with the parents, and the parents with them, although they are natives of the suburb.

Many Parents Consult Teachers

Parents, too, come to the school in large numbers, consulting with teachers about their children, and every day after school an hour is set aside for children to consult with teachers. School ends early, by 2:30 o'clock, and this gives the backward children a chance to stay after hours and receive special attention.

There's a luncheon, too, a feature of the school, in charge of an expert dietitian who knows just what children should and should not eat. Cost prices are charged and all the children eat their noon meals there, even the little ones of six and seven ordering their food, under the direction of teachers. Parents may rest assured the little ones are being well cared for, both mentally and physically. Narberth may take pride in its school system, especially since the opening of the up-to-date new building just put in use, which now gives plenty of room for work and play to the children of the towns.

The adult Bible class for men has been re-organized under the leadership of Mr. St. John. The class is now studying "The Social Principles of Jesus."

Beginning with Wednesday evening prayer meeting and continuing through the month of November for all the church services, the subjects will be some phase of the five-year program of the Northern Baptist Convention.

On Wednesday evening, November 7, this church will worship with the M. E. Church in their twenty-fifth anniversary.

At the morning service last Sunday the hand of fellowship was given to new members.

If you are not regularly attending church elsewhere, come and worship with us. You will be made welcome.

VALUE TRUE FRIENDSHIP

There is perhaps nothing so precious in friendship as the divine influence of sympathy. One way to display intelligent sympathy is to make full and kindly allowances for a friend's peculiarities. It is a sign of the real affection you have for your friend that you learn the nature of his little idiosyncrasies and that you respect them.

To take a liberty with a friend is one of the means by which you can most promptly and effectively alienate his affections, and to cherish your friend wisely and well you must respect his reserves and never thoughtlessly outrage his delicately sensitive amour propre. Brief indeed will you find possible an intimacy and association with any one, however charming, kind, and sweet tempered she or he may be, who is yet hopelessly indifferent to your preferences and tastes.

No matter then how tried and true your friend may be, do not borrow belongings without first asking permission, or fail to return the thing that has been loaned promptly and in good condition.

Do not intrude on your friend during his busy hours, break engagements with him recklessly, criticize a member of his family, or repeat anything that he has said to you in confidence. Because you have known your friend long and intimately. You are by no means warranted in constantly testing and trying his patience and affection. His good will is to be enjoyed by you but not abused.

BEDOUIN HOMES IN ARABIA

The home of the Bedouin is made of goats' hair cloth spun and woven by the women. It is very durable and portable, and forms a good protection in all kinds of weather. The tent is spun from an accumulation of many years, and it serves for many generations.

Each camp, has its chief, part of whose tent is set apart as the guest room, in which visitors are entitled to three days' hospitality. The Bedouin pities the city dweller because fate has decreed that he must pass his days in the confinement of a house or enclosed city, while the city man congratulates himself on his good fortune on his being spared the dangers, inconveniences and exposure that are the lot of the tent dwellers.

The Bedouins at Tunis have utilized the old cisterns that look like great caverns that were built by the Romans and make houses out of them. The Bedouins who cannot find room in these cisterns use tents, that they pitch under the shelter of some prickly pear hedge to break the sharp wind that sweeps over Carthage in the winter months.

THE FIRESIDE

Postmaster Edward S. Haws writes from Middleboro, Mass., as follows: "New England is most beautiful in its lovely autumn garb."

Names of Y. M. C. A. boys who have joined the colors, together with their rank, present address, age, etc., will be appreciated, as same are to be placed on Honor Roll to be placed in association lobby.

Due to the lockers being repaired members of Narberth Y. M. C. A. are requested to take away their belongings and hold them for one week, at which time the repairing of the lockers will be completed.

The entertainment at the Narberth Public School given last Friday, for the benefit of the school, was a success in every way. Over $100 was cleared. The several booths were very interesting and the entertainment unique and up-to-date in every particular. Details will be given in next week's issue of Our Town.

The Evening Lodger of October 17 contained the following concerning two of Narberth's boys: "The Humphries brothers, Owen and Collyn, aided by splendid team work and a great fighting spirit, led the Haverford School foot ball team to its second successive victory of the season, defeating Episcopal Academy. Owen is also a member of the base ball and basket ball teams. He expects to finish at Haverford this June and will try to obtain an appointment to Annapolis. His brother, Collyn, is one year his junior, and is also an all-around athlete, being captain of the soccer and base ball teams, and will most likely be elected leader of the basket ball five. The brothers inherit their athletic prowess from their father, who was well-known sportsman, being captain and catcher in his senior year at Princeton."

HE COULDN'T LOSE HIS CASE

One of the Justices of the Supreme Court tells of a young lawyer in the West who was trying his first case before the late Justice Harlan. The youthful attorney had evidently conned his argument until he knew it by heart. Before he had consumed ten minutes in his oratorical effort the Justice had decided the case in his favor and told him so. Despite this, the young lawyer would not cease. It seemed that he had attained such a momentum that he could not stop. Finally, Justice Harlan leaned forward and in the politest of tones, said:

"Mr. Smith, despite your arguments, the court has concluded to decide this case in your favor."—Harper's Magazine.

Nation-Wide Preparedness

North, South, East, West—all working to put the Nation in fighting trim!

Army and Navy departments and districts, camps, yards, coast-guard stations, light houses, munition, construction and textile plants—all co-ordinating to mould the vast organization into an effective homogeneous force! And in this enormous task the country's telephone network has been and will continue to be the great indispensable agent of communication.

The Bell System has enlisted every resource at its command and offered all unreservedly to the Government.

This, together with the immensely increased commercial demand for service, the general shortage of materials, and the enlistment and draft of a large number of technically trained employes who cannot be replaced, will, it is hoped, be borne in mind by every loyal American if there should later result the necessity for subordinating private convenience to the pressing needs of the Government.

UNCLE SAM NEEDS 10,000 STENOGRAPHERS AND TYPEWRITERS AT ONCE

Washington, D. C., October 15, 1917.—Now that Uncle Sam has the young men of the country in training for military service, he finds that he needs 10,000 typewriter operators and stenographers and typewriters, both men and women, for the departments at Washington. The Civil Service Commission has notified all of its 3000 boards of examiners that they should put forth their best efforts to secure these urgently needed workers. While examinations are now held weekly in 450 cities, the Commission states that arrangements will be made to have an examination held at any accessible place where a small class of applicants can be secured. The entrance salaries range from $1000 to $1200 a year. Promotion is reasonably rapid to those whose services prove satisfactory. No appointments can be made to these or other positions in the Federal classified civil service unless authorized by the Civil Service Commission under the civil service law. Any information to the contrary is unauthorized. This is a splendid opportunity to serve your country. Full information may be secured from the secretary of the board of civil service examiners at the post office in your city.

SCHOOL NOTES

A week's vacation!

The Senior class through the courtesy of Aileen Needham, Ross Howenstein and Kenneth Walton, entertained the nine new members of the faculty on Thursday evening from 3 to 6 o'clock, in a rather unique way. The faculty found automobiles awaiting them at the school curb. They were taken on a trip up and down the Main Line, stopping at the various educational institutions and other places of interest, and then across the City Line, through Wissahickon and Fairmount Park.

The reports for the first month were handed to all pupils at the end of the week. It is hoped parents will carefully analyze them.

Reports from the high school and elementary departments pertaining to the work of the pupils is far better than it has been any month during the past three years. But why shouldn't it be? All pupils now have proper accommodation. Teachers can work without handicap. Thanks to the directors, who backed by progressive citizens, provided the new building.

CHRISTMAS MAIL FOR AMERICAN FORCES ABROAD

Washington, D. C., October 3, 1917. To the Public:—

The time is approaching to give thought to bringing Christmas cheer to the American soldiers and sailors abroad.

Arrangements have been perfected whereby the Christmas mail to the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe is to be delivered by Christmas morning. Without the fullest cooperation on the part of the public, it will be impossible to accomplish this result.

The three essential respects in which the public can aid in assuring a happy Christmas at the front are: Mail early, address intelligently, and pack securely. For this reason it is urgently requested that all persons having Christmas mail for the soldiers and sailors and the civilian units attached to the army in Europe, observe closely the following directions:

1. Mails to reach the soldiers in France by Christmas morning must be posted not later than November 15.
2. Every package must bear conspicuously the words "Christmas Mail," the complete address of the person for whom it is intended, and, in the upper lefthand corner, the name and address of the sender.
3. Every parcel must be so packed and wrapped as to admit easy inspection by the postmaster. No parcel will be dispatched to France which has not the postmaster's certificate that it contains no prohibited articles.

A. S. Burleson,
Postmaster General.
Newton D. Baker,
Secretary of War.
Josephus Daniels,
Secretary of the Navy.

TWO-CENT POSTAL CARDS AND THREE-CENT STAMPS AND STAMPED ENVELOPES

Under the Act of Congress approved October 3, 1917, changing the rates of postage, the department will begin issuing two-cent postal cards and three-cent postage stamps and stamped envelopes as soon as a supply can be manufactured. It will not be possible, however, to provide them in sufficient quantities to exchange stamps or one-cent postal cards, two-cent stamps or two-cent envelopes held by the public or by postmasters. It will, therefore, be necessary, beginning November 2d, 1917, when the new postage rates become effective for postmasters to continue the sale of one-cent post cards and two-cent envelopes while their stock lasts and for the public to affix additional stamps to envelopes and cards to the amount of increase of postage.

"Well," replied the father, "if I have it, it's pure laziness; but if your mother has it, it is nervous prostration."

The above department should be of the greatest use to the community, the list contains the name of every professional man, tradesman, mechanic, shopkeeper, etc., who does or can in any way serve his fellow-townsmen, and who is progressive enough to add name to list of Register.
As it is difficult for those contributing their time and efforts to the production of "Our Town" to personally either know or interview all such, it would be most helpful if those not now found in the printed list would send in a memo of their names, address, phone numbers and businesses or professions for listing. This will cost as follows: 10 cents each issue for 2 lines; 5 cents for each additional line.
