

PUBLIC SERVICE DEPARTMENT SHOWS PROFIT

REPORT MADE TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE BY THE PUBLIC SERVICE DEPARTMENT FOR THE HALF YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1914.

Gentlemen: I present herewith report showing the condition of the public service department of the city of Glendale for the half year ending December 31, 1914.

Glendale Municipal Electric Light System

The electric light system for that period shows:

FIRST—Total revenue six months electric light department.....	$25,640.08
Out of which should be deducted the following expenses:
Total operating expenses.....	$15,664.26
Interest.....	2,472.21
Depreciation.....	4,210.98
	$22,347.45
Leaving a net profit for the six months, after deducting operating expenses, interest and depreciation of.....	$3,292.63
SECOND—The amount invested in the electric light system after making allowance for depreciation is.....	$128,096.95
With current assets of.....	12,018.30
	$140,115.25
Against this we have a bonded debt of.....	$92,500.00
And current liabilities of.....	8,545.05
	$101,045.05
Making the surplus of the system from its acquisition to the present date.....	$39,060.20
THIRD—Earnings from street lights.....	$3,823.55
This is for the installation and maintenance of 540 fifty and seventy-five candle-power bracket street lights at 65c each per month, and maintenance of 164 five-light standards at 75c per standard per month, and 53 one-light standards at 50c per standard per month. This is the lowest street lighting rate of which I have knowledge.
FOURTH—During the six months we have expended for additions and betterments to the system.....	$10,856.98
FIFTH—We have reduced our bonded debt during this period.....	$1,500.00
SIXTH—During the period we have installed 185 new services.....

Glendale Municipal Water System

The water system shows the following:

FIRST—Total revenues Oct. 1, 1914, to Dec. 31, 1914.....	$6,599.97
Out of which we have the following expenses:
Total operating expenses.....	$1,668.17
Interest.....	1,732.98
Depreciations (4% per annum).....	1,253.07
Taxes.....	76.01
	$4,730.23
Leaving a net profit for the three months, after deducting operating expenses, interest and depreciation of.....	$1,869.74
SECOND—The amount invested in the water system after making allowance for depreciation is.....	$130,292.93
With current assets of.....	10,069.92
	$140,362.85
Against this we have a bonded debt of.....	$114,000.00
And current liabilities of.....	24,493.11
	$138,493.11
Making the surplus of the system from its acquisition to the present date.....	$1,869.74
THIRD—During the three months we have installed 59 new services.....

Both the water and light systems have shown from the beginning a satisfactory profit, but it has not been the policy to pile up excessive profits, but rather to reduce the rates from time to time to such a figure as will keep profits at a normal point.

All profits, as well as the depreciation reserve, have been reinvested in the system, as the growth of Glendale has demanded a steady large amount of extensions and betterments.

The electric light system is in excellent physical condition, but there is much to be done yet toward removing pole lines from streets to less conspicuous positions. This is an improvement that means a large expense, but a great deal has been done along that line, with more planned for the future.

Financial conditions have delayed the acquisition of some of the water systems, and improvements contemplated, but the statement of revenues and expenses for the three months during which we have operated the system shows that this department will be no less profitable than the light, and that we may confidently expect as great an improvement in this service as there has been in the electric service.

The plans of the department call for additions to water supply, reservoir capacity and pipe lines that will mean a great improvement in pressure and quantity of water available at all times.

Electric light rates have been reduced to a very low figure. Water rates have been placed at 20 per cent lower than last year. We have no reason to believe that either water or light rates have even approached a bottom figure, but it has not been the policy to reduce rates below the point where satisfactory service can be given or sufficient provision can be made for growth.

The rapid growth of the system has made the present office so inadequate that the congestion has greatly hampered the work of the department, and required a larger force than would otherwise be needed. This, however, will be overcome with the completion of the new office in March. It is the intention to make a rental charge against the department for the use of the office.

Respectfully submitted,

H. B. LYNCH, Manager

Public Service Dept. of City of Glendale.

RACING NOTES

NOTABLE ENTRIES FOR THE BIG EVENT COMING IN AT LAST MINUTE

The speed boys are still lining up and the officials are receiving the last few entries. These last few are the professional record-breakers, too, which means the local affair will be a real road classic.

Glendale is getting well advertised through the race. Besides getting the accounts of the affair in the papers all over the country, cards on all local autos and other means of publicity are being used extensively.

A Thriller, Sure

Now Barney Oldfield Will with honor wield The gun that starts 'em away: The Marmon, the Gordon, the Chevrolet Deussenberg, Isotta, Renault, And then till they finally halt, O'er the long hard grind they will Have on thrill after thrill (Or maybe a spill), In Glendale's century mill.

The Venice Daily Vanguard says in regard to the Venice race:

"Southern California is destined to become the winter home of automobile racing. In no other section are conditions so favorable. By making its events big league stuff in the start and heaving strictly to the line of the legitimate and refusing to sanction side-show attractions that would detract rather than promote, automobile racing within a few years can be put on a plane comparable only to that maintained by the Indianapolis speedway."

The same is very applicable to the Glendale race, too, and the Elks are to be commended for conducting their event under the rules of the American Automobile association, which puts it in the same class as Indianapolis, Corona, Venice and San Francisco.

SPORTING NOTES

BASKETBALL, BASEBALL AND TENNIS—EHMKE CONSIDERING FEDS

The Glendale Independent light-weight basketball team held a dandy little work-out in the high school gym Tuesday evening in preparation for their coming series in the A. A. U. that begins at the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night. Their first set to will be with the Orange Athletic club and the boys feel confident that if they win this game, they win the championship of the Southland. Ed Sadler will be substitute player for the midgets.

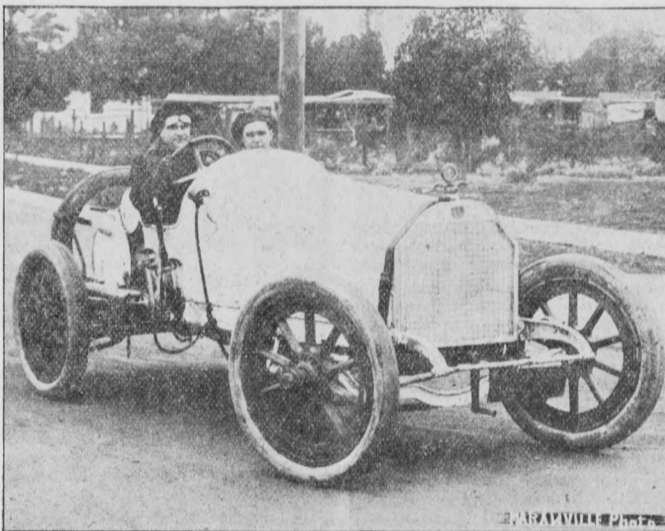

Considerable discussion is being printed in the Los Angeles dailies as to what will happen to Howard Ehmke. Seems as though Tom Darmody of the Angel club is inclined to think that Ehmke will be with his team, but Ehmke has told the newspaper reporters he expects to go with the Feds. Whatever he does, all we can say is success to the Glendale boy.

Even though the Glendale high school regular basketball team lost its championship chances in the game last Saturday, Coach Wight is going to enter a cracking little 110-pound team in the A. A. U. contests. The series will be played round robin between Glendale and its two opponents.

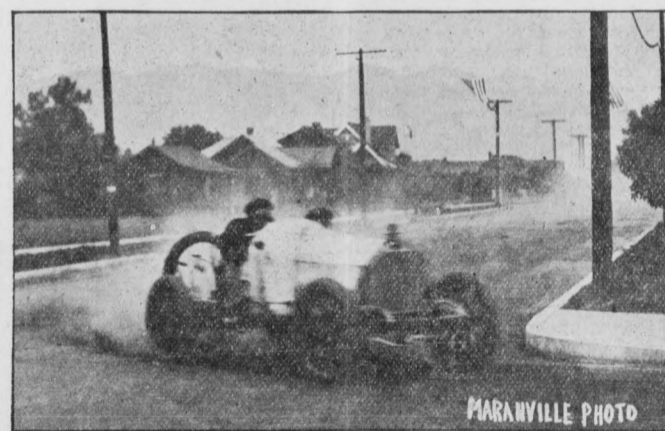

The men's club tennis court at the northeast corner of Louise and Fifth streets is in fine condition and the club invites every person in Glendale to use it.

Girls at the high school are forming a girls' basketball team.

Billy Taylor, who finished in the money in both the Vanderbilt at Santa Monica and the San Diego road race, is expected to make a good showing Saturday.

CLUB LADIES JUBILANT AT CONCERT SUCCESS

The Tuesday Afternoon club had things all their own way Tuesday. In the afternoon there was an attendance of nearly three hundred at the club meeting and in the evening the high school auditorium was crowded with those who wished to hear the entertainment given under the auspices of the club by the Tuskegee singers.

The program from beginning to end was well received by the large audience and the club members are proud of the result of the concert. In addition to having a neat sum, to be added to the clubhouse fund, they will be able to forward to the Booker T. Washington school at Tuskegee a sum sufficient to support a student at that school for a year. They feel that they are promoting a worthy philanthropy, as well as adding to their own funds.

The ladies of the club wish to extend their sincere appreciation to all who assisted in making a success of the entertainment, to the merchants who supported the affair, to those who allowed the advertising matter placed in their windows, and to those who kept it there, to those who handled the tickets, to the newspapers for write-ups, to the ushers and to the public for the splendid attendance.

The Tuesday Afternoon club never does anything but what is worth while and they say the next thing they give is going to be just as good.

OBSERVE PRESS DAY

LOCAL CLUB ENTERTAINS ITS GUESTS WITH OUT-OF-THE-ORDINARY PROGRAM

Members of the Tuesday Afternoon club and their guests enjoyed an unusually interesting and unique program Tuesday afternoon. After the regular business meeting, Mrs. Helen I. Campbell, chairman of the press committee, and her very efficient committee—Mrs. C. H. Bott, Mrs. Colin Cable and Mrs. L. W. Bosserman—presented a press day program. Mrs. Riffa Layton charmed all present with her contralto solo and generously responded to the hearty encore.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the club, announced that Mrs. Graham, a Los Angeles newspaper woman who was to have been present, was detained, and introduced Miss Dorothy Willis of the Los Angeles Tribune, whose name also appeared upon the program. Miss Willis chose her own subject and spoke on "The Newspaper as It Really Is." She said many of us have the habit of ignoring those things we know all about and attempt to talk about the things of which we know nothing. As she is intensely interested in the daily work of others, she felt that those not initiated in the mysteries of newspaper work would be interested to know something about that.

Miss Willis made some suggestions which, if accepted by the public, would be mutually helpful to newspaper and people alike. She brought out a point which many seem not to realize, that is, that a newspaper is a business institution. It is not a medium for the airing of personal grievances. The completed newspaper is sold at a price infinitely less than the cost of the white paper, but the publisher reaps his benefit from the advertising space which he sells. His advertising space is valuable in proportion to his circulation, hence the newspaper wants that kind of news matter that can and will interest the greater number of people. She said: "Truth is stranger than fiction. A newspaper needn't be dull because it is accurate." She closed with a humorous little telephone dialogue illustrating the way the club reporter likes to have news reported and the way she doesn't like to have it reported.

Mrs. Haines Reed, press chairman of the state federation, was next introduced, and like Miss Willis, chose her own subject. She chose one very near to her heart, "The National Marketing Movement." Mrs. Reed was the woman who two years ago while a member of the Tribune staff inaugurated the municipal markets in Los Angeles, hence she is able to speak on that subject. She said she should speak from the standpoint of the consumer, but she found out that the consumer had no standpoint. She did not explain the proposed national marketing system, which the Outlook association is fostering, but only tried to show the need of such a system. She said the system has entirely overlooked the item of vacation homes for middlemen. A mere man was heard to remark that the Outlook association had a big conceit to undertake such a big thing as this national marketing system, and Mrs. Reed replied that it is better to have that big conceit that pushes ahead and does things than that sweet humility that meekly folds its hands and remains sought.

The speaker said that this system could be carried out in no state to better advantage than in California. We have all the conditions necessary to the production of all kinds of foodstuffs; we have the consumer, and we have the initiative to go ahead and do things. The Los Angeles municipal markets are only accomplishing on a very small scale what could be done under the national system. At Hollywood, where the market is open three days each week, the grocers lower the prices of fruits and vegetables and raise them again on alternate days. Two years ago while on the Tribune staff Mrs. Reed was given the commission of creating public sentiment in favor of the establishment of municipal markets. During that campaign conditions that took on the nature of spoiled fruit or vegetables were unearthed. For instance, fish was displayed in the markets as fresh which had been in cold storage six months or longer and prehistoric eggs were common. Mrs. Reed hopes to have a law passed permitting the consumer to return these ancient eggs to the commission men, who shall be compelled to eat them. She found out during her campaign for municipal markets that good foodstuffs were being burned that might have been sold at a reasonable price, simply to keep these things scarce and keep the price up. At the same time there were little children keeping body and

A PLEASANT EVENING

REBEKAH OFFICERS INSTALLED—SPEECHES MADE AND ENJOY BANQUET

Quite a crowd gathered at I. O. O. F. hall Tuesday evening to witness the installation of officers of Carnation Rebekah lodge. D. D. P. Anna D. Nunn and suite of Hollywood performed the ceremony very creditably. The new officers are:

N. G., Anna Current; V. G., Bertie Smith; Rec. Secy., Zada Sprinkle; Fin. Secy., Earl LaRowe; Treas., Winnie Hartley; Warden, Ida Smith; Conductor, Maude Allen; Chaplain, Rev. C. R. Norton; I. G., Louise Patterson; O. G., Preston Fanest; R. S. to N. G., Martha Klamm; L. S. to N. G., Laura Jones; R. S. to V. G., Mary Arbuthnot; L. S. to V. G., Maude Ingledue.

Under "good of the order," the district deputy president gave an interesting and instructive talk, and there were many other good speeches from visiting members. Eva Gilson, retiring noble grand, was presented with a past noble grand's pin by the members of the lodge, the presentation being made by Martha Klamm with a few well-chosen words. The gift was a complete surprise to Sister Gilson. After closing, the lodge and guests were invited to the banquet-room, where sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

THE TUSKEGEE SINGERS

The Tuskegee Institute jubilee singers, under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon club, highly entertained a large audience at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening. In introducing the singers, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, thanked the people for the interest they had taken in getting out such a large attendance.

The negroes, five in number, sang southern songs which, although old, never lose their inspiring melodies. Some of the songs which brought forth special applause from the audience were "Kentucky Home," "Old Black Joe" and "Swanee River."

Charles Winter Wood gave several readings which were well received. Mr. Wood gave a brief explanation of the work that has been done by Booker T. Washington in the past thirty-four years at Tuskegee, Alabama. All of the school buildings have been erected by the negro boys and girls. There are 198 teachers employed and the influence of these schools, in which forty-seven trades are taught, has done wonders for the negro race of the South.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

A very pleasant occasion was the birthday dinner and family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Lane, Jr., in Burbank, on Sunday, at which Mrs. S. J. Lane and Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Lane and little son John of Glendale were guests. It was a happy company that gathered around the board and partook of the birthday viands. Besides the Glendale guests there were seated at the table Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Lane and daughters, Mildred and Mary, and Miss Martin of Burbank; Mr. Frank Breen of Los Angeles, Mr. W. G. Morse and Miss Minnie Hobbs of Lenington, Ontario, Canada.

NEW TAXICAB AND AUTO SERVICE FOR GLENDALE

That Glendale now has an up-to-date metropolitan auto and taxi service is proven by the fact that A. F. Stoffel has just entered the field. At the start Mr. Stoffel has procured one seven-passenger and two five-passenger cars and will add new autos as soon as they are needed. The headquarters of the Stoffel Auto Service has been located at J. W. Lawson's realty office, 1111 West Broadway, and all passengers will be given a prompt, efficient service and courteous treatment. A specialty will be made of beach trips and long jaunts, such as San Diego, etc., in addition to the local Glendale and Tropic service.

RACERS TO PRACTICE

City Marshal George H. Herald has authorized us to state that permission has been granted those who will enter the auto races Saturday to use the course Thursday and Friday mornings between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock for practice runs. During this time the course will be patrolled by twenty special officers, nevertheless pedestrians should exercise great care and motorists should not cross the track nor stand their cars on the course. Those who wish to park their autos should use the west side of Brand and the east side of Glendale avenue.

"GLENDALE"—AS SEEN BY JAMES W. PEARSON

Beneath the hills,
Beside the stream,
A city of one's fondest dream,
Glendale.

Abreast the times,
Awake with life,
Recompense for greatest strife,
Glendale.

Where comfort comes,
Where dullness flees,
Where health comes jumping by degrees,
Glendale.

A place of homes,
With joys complete,
A place where fortune you will meet,
Glendale.

A city clean,
A suburb—true,
But just the very place for you,
Glendale.

Where flowers abound,
Where sunshine dwells,
From ocean's shore to peaceful dells,
Glendale.

Where you will come,
If you are wise,
To dwell beneath these balmy skies—
Glendale.

Rev. E. H. Willisford, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Adams attended the annual meeting of the Los Angeles Congregational Extension society Monday evening. The meeting was held in the First Congregational church of Los Angeles. Following the dinner the annual report of the superintendent, Rev. Dr. George F. Kennigott, was read. Much progress was made during the past year. Mrs. Adams was elected a director.

Mr. Kendrick will have charge. Pastor's Berean Bible class Friday evening. A course extending over three years for earnest Bible students. Choir practice Saturday evening at 7:30. Mr. Cunningham in charge.

WONDERFUL EXHIBITION COMING HERE—MAJESTIC THEATER PRESENTS FILM SENSATION

For months a corps of men selected from the engineering department of our leading universities and technical schools have been studying the making of the Maxwell motor car and embodying its construction in the elaborate $40,000 feature film, "From Molten Steel to Automobile." One of these fifty men accompanies each production of the great film. He delivers a simple, understandable lecture or "story" explaining each important process in an extremely entertaining and finished way. He tells the audiences what the pictures prove. He points out the unusual, the infinite care, the many, many tests that go into the making of a modern automobile from the great blast furnaces in Pittsburg to the finished car as she traverses beautiful California and other well-known beauty spots of nature.

The glamor and romance displayed in this industry reveal a hitherto unknown world to the average theatergoer. In many cities the performances have been repeated by request. Don't miss this chance of adding to your education. Tickets to this exhibition are free if secured from the local Maxwell dealers, Pirtle and Walker. The exhibit takes place at the Majestic theater tomorrow.

THAT POSTPONED MEETING

At the last meeting of protest against some irregularities which are claimed to exist in the management of our city government, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Butler's hall Tuesday night, January 26th. Owing to the fact that the chairman of the meeting, Mr. E. M. McClure, who is engaged in business in Los Angeles, could not be reached, a number of members of the organization who became aware of the fact that the meeting having inadvertently been set for the same date as that which had previously been set by the Tuesday Afternoon club for an entertainment to be given at the high school auditorium by the Tuskegee singers, hurriedly called a meeting and in deference to the above named ladies decided to postpone the meeting. Notice of the postponement appeared in the Glendale News under date of January 25th. Notwithstanding this fact, about one hundred persons gathered at the hall Tuesday night only to be very much disappointed. While we desire to extend every reasonable courtesy to other organizations, the fact that the prosperity of such organizations depends upon the fundamentals for which this body was organized, raised the question in the mind of many whether the postponement was well timed. However, if anyone is congratulating himself that a dissension has arisen or that interest in the movement is flagging, he can have them corrected with a jolt by attending the postponed meeting at Butler's hall on Thursday, January 28th, at 8 p. m., at which time committees of investigation will report, a permanent president will be elected and the people be given an opportunity to have a voice as to whether our city government is being conducted on an extravagant basis, and if so, initiate a plan of remedying the same.

J. F. TATLOW,
Rec. Secy.
By order of E. M. McClure, vice-president.

SARAH HOOKER WOODBURY

Mrs. Sarah Hooker Woodbury died at her home, 1545 Myrtle street, at 10:45 a. m. Saturday, January 23, 1915, at the age of 78 years, two months and six days.

The deceased was born November 17, 1836. She was a descendant of Admiral Hooker of the United States navy and her father was Adjutant-General F. W. Hopkins, who served during the Mexican war and was also adjutant-general of the state of Vermont. This worthy lady leaves two sons, one of them being Carl L. Woodbury of 927 Orange street, Los Angeles.

Prospective provisional presidents seem to be standing in line down in Mexico awaiting their turn.

President Wilson is wearing the grandfatherly smile that is not evanescent.

We may tell our troubles, but we can never loan them.

HOW LIME IMPROVES SOIL

Entirely aside from the chemical properties which lime exercises on the solubility of soils and fertilizers, is the question of its action on the physical condition or tilth of the soil, says P. L. McCreary.

A heavy soil, in the agricultural sense of the word, means the clay adobe, or adobe types, soils that puddle in sticky, gummy masses, when wet, and run together. On drying, they bake quickly into a crust on the surface, crack and form into compact hard chunks which do not break down readily under cultivation. Such soils do not allow a free circulation of either air or moisture, and are generally designated as "cold."

Lime has the power of shrinking clay soils of this type, and making it previous to air and moisture, thus bettering not only the tilth, but also the soil temperature. It does this by making a large number of crumbs from the large, sticky masses. Of course, the effect is to loosen these kinds of soils, preventing their packing, baking and crusting—making plowing and cultivation more efficient, and the soil itself a healthier medium for feeding the plant.

On light, sandy soils its effect is just the opposite, since it causes a cementing together of the fine particles. This causes the better retention and circulation of moisture. In this way it also prevents a too free circulation of air with the consequent burning out of the organic matter.

In general, it may be said, that whether the soil be light or heavy, the addition of a good agricultural lime improves its physical condition, and since it is usually comparatively cheap, is well worth the money for this purpose alone.

After all, the soil is but the medium through which our crops are fed, and if we want large crops we must keep the soil in such a condition that our trees may eat heartily.—Pacific Fruit World.

CONSERVE GOODNESS

It is becoming too much of a maudlin 'fad to coddle brutal criminals. Let's shower our bouquets upon the men and women who do the square thing and lead honorable lives, albeit in the face of great adversity and great temptation. Let's not be continually killing fatted calves for unrepentant prodigals, while those who lead upright lives under difficulty are given no testimonials of appreciation, no words to encourage them to a continuance of right living. We need to conserve goodness as well as to reclaim badness.—Pasadena Star.

EUROPEAN WAR SHATTERS KING COTTON'S THRONE

FLEECY STAPLE MUST PAY RANSOM INTO THE COFFERS OF WAR.

Nation Rings With Cries of Stricken Industry.

By Peter Radford
Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

King Cotton has suffered more from the European war than any other agricultural product on the American continent. The shells of the belligerents have burst over his throne, frightening his subjects and shattering his markets, and, panic-stricken, the nation cries out "God save the king!"

People from every walk of life have contributed their mite toward rescue work. Society has danced before the king; milady has decreed that the family wardrobe shall contain only cotton goods; the press has pleaded with the public to "buy a bale"; bankers have been formulating holding plans; congress and legislative bodies have deliberated over relief measures; statesmen and writers have grown eloquent expounding the inalienable rights of "His Majesty" and presenting schemes for preserving the financial integrity of the stricken staple, but the sword of Europe has proved mightier than the pen of America in fixing value upon this product of the sunny south. Prices have been bayoneted, values riddled and markets decimated by the battling hosts of the eastern hemisphere until the American farmer has suffered a war loss of $400,000,000, and a bale of cotton brave enough to enter a European port must pay a ransom of half its value or go to prison until the war is over.

Hope of the Future Lies in Co-operation.

The Farmers' Union, through the columns of the press, wants to thank the American people for the friendship, sympathy and assistance given the cotton farmers in the hour of distress and to direct attention to co-operative methods necessary to permanently assist the marketing of all farm products.

The present emergency presents as grave a situation as ever confronted the American farmer and from the viewpoint of the producer, would seem to justify extraordinary relief measures, even to the point of bending the constitution and straining business rules in order to lift a portion of the burden off the backs of the farmer, for unless something is done to check the invasion of the war forces upon the cotton fields, the pathway of the European pestilence on this continent will be strewn with mortgaged homes and famine and poverty will stalk over the southland, filling the highways of industry with refugees and the bankruptcy court with prisoners.

All calamities teach us lessons and the present crisis serves to illuminate the frailties of our marketing methods and the weakness of our credit system, and out of the financial anguish and travail of the cotton farmer will come a volume of discussion and a mass of suggestions and finally a solution of this, the biggest problem in the economic life of America, if, indeed, we have not already laid the foundation for at least temporary relief.

More Pharaohs Needed in Agriculture.

Farm products have no credit and perhaps can never have on a permanent and satisfactory basis unless we build warehouses, cold storage plants, elevators, etc., for without storage and credit facilities, the south is compelled to dump its crop on the market at harvest time. The Farmers' Unions in the cotton producing states have for the past ten years persistently advocated the construction of storage facilities. We have built during this period 2,000 warehouses with a capacity of approximately 4,000,000 bales and looking backward the results would seem encouraging, but looking forward, we are able to house less than one-third of the crop and warehouses without a credit system lose 90 per cent of their usefulness. The problem is a gigantic one—too great for the farmer to solve unaided. He must have the assistance of the banker, the merchant and the government.

In production we have reached the high water mark of perfection in the world's history, but our marketing methods are most primitive. In the dawn of history we find agriculture plowing with a forked stick but with a system of warehouses under governmental supervision that made the Egyptians the marvel of civilization, for who has not admired the vision of Joseph and applauded the wisdom of Pharaoh for storing the surplus until demanded by the consumer, but in this age we have too many Josephs who dream and not enough Pharaohs who build.

CLOSE QUARTERS

An Alaskan pioneer was telling how crowded a certain ship was during the gold rush. One day a man came up to the captain and said:

"You will have to give me some place to sleep."

"Where have you been sleeping?"

"Well," replied the passenger, "I have been sleeping on a sick man, but he's getting better now and he won't stand for it."—St. James Gazette.

MECHANICAL DETECTIVES

Confidence in the living detective sometimes is not implicit. Perhaps it would be a good thing could a mechanical device supplant him. Already there is the dictograph, and yet one is inclined to suspect the probity of this instrument, on the ground that a person mean enough to employ it might tamper with its records. Now a scientist has contrived something he declares can detect a lie, provided it catches the lie in the act of issue. It could not be stirred to activity by a stale fabrication, but is inspired by one straight from the bat, as it were.

This lie-finder is attached to the wrist of the suspect in such a manner as to register the pulse, and then the subject is urged to converse. If the truth follows, the lie-finder remains calm, but if an untruth, then it wobbles and quivers and gives away the whole business. The theory is that one cannot tell a lie without his inwards being stirred, his heartbeats quickened, and then the machine catches him with the goods. Doubt at once arises as to the integrity of the theory.

Regrettable as the fact may be, there are people who lie habitually, blithely and unblushingly. To lie is a fixed habit with them. That on any specific occasion, a practice that must have lost all power to thrill them, would cause their pulses to flutter, hardly seems reasonable. On the contrary, to feel under obligation to tell the truth just once might rattle such a person a little, and his heart, going pit-a-pat, cause him to be accused of falsehood for the very reason that he was fighting shy of the customary fib.

Doubtless a machine may determine how fast a pulse is beating, but when it can determine also what makes the pulse do this, it will cease to be a machine and stand forth as a miracle.

USES FOR LEMONS

Two or three slices of lemon in a cupful of strong tea will cure a nervous headache.

A tablespoon of juice in a small cupful of black coffee will relieve a bilious headache.

The juice of half a lemon in a cupful of hot water on awakening is an excellent liver corrective and successful substitute for calomel and other alterative drugs.

A dash of lemon juice in plain water makes a cleansing tooth wash, not only removing the tartar, but sweetening the breath.

A lotion of lemon juice and rose-water will remove tan and whiten the skin.

Lemon juice with olive oil is far superior to vinegar for a salad dressing—equal parts used for blending.

Lemon juice and loaf sugar are good for hoarseness.

Outward application of the juice allays irritation caused by insect bites.

If when boiling sago or rice a teaspoonful of lemon juice is added, the kernels will be whiter and a delicate flavor is imparted.

An old fashioned remedy for croup is honey, alum and lemon juice.

Salt and lemon juice remove iron rust from white goods.

After the juice is extracted, the rind dipped in salt cleanses brass well.

BOOST WHAT NEEDS BOOSTING

Every citizen of Glendale should join in boosting what is to be boosted. This week we have the automobile races and everybody should boost for the races. In two or three weeks there will be a chance to boost the Brown & Curry meetings and then all citizens should boost the meetings.

To boost the auto races you need not be able to drive a racing car or you need not be able to serve as starter, but you can decorate your building, you can have a pleasant smile for strangers, and you can say kind things about the event.

Just so with the Brown & Curry meetings. You may not feel able to participate in the meetings, you may be unable to attend the meetings, but you can speak well of them and encourage others to attend.

Glendale needs events that will attract the attention of the outside world. Her citizens should work in harmony at all times.

Let it be hoped that the martial spirit of the world is being shot to death on the bloody fields of Europe.

How many California cities and towns are standing still, or losing population? Such municipalities in this state are rare as serpents in Erin's isle.
