

En el Journal du Haere, del 26 de abril, se lee lo siguiente:

PARIS, 29 de abril.

La Europa en la actualidad presenta un aspecto singular; una multitud de grandes cuestiones tienen suspenso a los gobiernos...

De uno de los números del Constitutionnel de Paris extractamos los párrafos siguientes:

Se dice ya que el rey de España ha dado orden a su ministro en Lisboa para suspender toda relación con el gobierno de Du-Miguel...

Se asegura además que la Dama de la llamada de este ministro no pen le mas que en la llegada de la comitiva de un conde de S. M. Carolina...

En el corto periodo de cinco meses transcurridos desde el memorable 4 de diciembre de 1829, la república mejicana, sin haber pasado en un poder limitado...

Todo presenta en la actualidad un aspecto singular: las leyes recobraron su natural energía; surgió el espíritu de verificación...

El comercio, la industria y las artes florecen a la sombra pacífica del día y de la paz. Desde los años de 26 et 27 no se ha visto...

Se han hoy algunos ofrecidos en favor de la pasada administración, que comparen el actual estado de cosas con el de aquella época...

El Señor A. BEAUVAIS, candidato a la plaza de Gobernador del Estado de la Luisiana, será sostenido en Julio próximo por un gran número de electores.

From the New York Gazette, Extra, June 7.

Foreign.—We are indebted to Captain Suglen, of the British barque Diana, arrived here a few days since, for the Hull Advertiser of the 30th of April, which he accidentally found among his papers...

The morning Chronicle of the 27th holds the following language:—The reports respecting the King's health are very unfavorable. No reliance whatever is placed on the bulletins...

The Morning Journal of the next day (the 28th) says:—That the King is in an extremely dangerous state it would be weakness and even puerility to conceal or deny. His disorder is reported, and that by those who have an opportunity of knowing the fact...

What attracts notice in the Bulletins, is the extraordinary silence of them all, except the first, as to the nature of the disorder. It was in the first called a "bilious attack" accompanied by an "embarrassment of breathing"...

A private letter from London, dated on the evening of the 28th, states that the King himself had become alarmed at the obstinacy of the attack and that Sir Asstley Cooper was to be called in addition to the other medical advisers.

The great extent of the business before the House of Commons, was, on Tuesday night, the 27th, put in a striking light by the difficulty of finding a day for Mr. Grant's motion on the occurrence at Terceira.

India Question.—In presenting a petition on Monday night, the 20th, in the House of Peers, Lord Durham said he understood Ministers intended to renew the Company's charter.

At the Jews new Western Synagogue, on the 24th, prayers were offered for the restoration of the health of his Majesty.—This was the first time that the prayers have been offered in the synagogue of the Jews for any member of the royal family.

Reform.—In consequence of the utmost necessity that exists in Parliament to induce Ministers to enforce economy and reform in every Department of the State, the intention to build a National Gallery, for the reception of the works of art, at the expense of the country, is relinquished. We learn, however that the King determines himself to erect a splendid establishment, the expense of which is to be defrayed from his Majesty's privy purse.

Capt. T. Garth, since the death of Gen. Garth, has left his cottage in the neighborhood of Calais, and is now living at Windsor. Negotiations for the final settlement of differences relating to a delicate affair have, we understand, been resumed.—Morning Paper.

A newspaper, one half in Turkish and the other half in French, is about to be started in the Turkish capital.

The Hull Advertiser says:—Negotiations are said to be going on between this country and Turkey, the object of which is to place the trade of Britain on a more advantageous footing; and it is also stated, that the arrangements respecting Greece are completed with the concurrence of the Sultan, and that a private despatch on the subject, agreed upon at the Privy Council was transmitted from this country to Prince Leopold, on Tuesday.

New-York, June 4. The West India Trade.—The laws lately passed, reducing the duties on coffee, cocoa, salt and molasses, will be attended with other beneficial consequences besides the mere diminution of taxes and the relief of commerce.

In the mean time, however, we should feel no surprise to hear of the recovery of the West India trade at an earlier period. Congress have not passed the act authorizing the President to open our ports to vessels from the West Indies, without the best grounds.

The Sandwich Islanders.—A friend who has received a letter from an officer of the U. S. ship Vincennes, dated Oahu, Nov. 21. 1829, informs us that ship was to sail thence the next day for New York, to touch at Canton, Manila, the Cape of Good Hope and St. Helena, and may be hoped for in all future.

A Celebrated Artist of Boston, has commenced a painting of the burning of the vessel, of that name. He works rapidly, for its exhibition was announced to take place by the 14th inst.

A new paper called the "Guillotine," and wholly satirical in its character, has been published in Philadelphia. An engine which does to take from men, the benefit of their heads, is properly a "Guillotine," we think.

By a gentleman just from the scene, we are informed that the gold hunters in the Cherokee Territory were all removed last week by the United States troops. He saw the smoke of their wigwams, and shanties ascending to heaven on Thursday last, in all directions. They were so numerous all over the country, that the conflagration resembled a world on fire.

the course of the Chastotee river, in order to hunt its bed. As the whites moved off the Indians who had been driving off marched in, with great joy and exultation, amidst the hearty curses of their disappointed predecessors.—Augusta Courier, June 10.

Brazilian Slave Trade.—It is stated in the last accounts from Rio Janeiro, that between the 15th and 30th of April, 7000 slaves had arrived at that port. According to the Report of the African Institution, London, June, 1827, the Treaty between Great Britain and Brazil was to go into effect in three years after the exchange of ratifications, which exchange is stated, on the same authority, to have taken place in March, 1827. Consequently, unless there is some mistake in the dates, the said Treaty went into operation in March, 1830; and yet, in the month of April, we are told the trade was as flourishing as ever.

At the expiration of three years, to be reckoned from the exchange of the present Treaty, (in March, 1827) it shall not be lawful for the subjects of the Emperor of Brazil to be concerned in the carrying on of the African slave trade, under any pretext, or in any manner whatsoever, and the carrying on of such trade after that period, by any person subject to his Imperial Majesty, shall be deemed and treated as Treason.
