

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

ENGLAND

CHAP. I.

*Of its Name, Climate, Dimensions, Division, Air, Soil, Commodities,
Buildings.*

England, the better part of the Name.
best Island in the whole World, anciently with Scotland called Britain, and sometimes Albion, was about 800 years after the Incarnation of Christ (by special Edict of King Egbert, descended from the Angles, a People of the Lower Saxony, in whose possession the greatest part of this Country then was) named Angle, or Engle- land, thence by the French called Angleterre, by the Germans Engeland, and by the Inhabitants

It

C.imate. It is situated between the Degrees 17 and 22 of Longitude, equal with Britany and Normandy in France; and between 50 and 57 of Northern Latitude, equal with Flanders, Zealand, Holland, Lower Saxony, and Denmark.

The longest day in the most Northern part is 17 hours 30 minutes, and the shortest day in the most Southern parts is almost 8 hours long.

Dimensions. It is in length from Barwick to the Lands End 386 miles, in breadth from Sandwich to the Lands End 279, in compass (by reason of the many Bays and Promontories) about 1300 miles; in shape triangular, contains by computation about 30 Millions of Acres, about the thousandth part of the Globe, and 333d. part of the habitable Earth; almost ten times as big as the United Netherlands, five times as big as the Spanish Netherlands; less then all Italy by almost one half, and in comparison of France is as 30 to 82.

Division. That part of Britain, now called England, was in the time of the Romans divided into Britannia Prima, Britannia Secunda, and Maxima Caesariensis. The first of these contained the South part of England, the second all that Western part, now called Wales, and the third the Northern parts beyond Trent.

When the Britains had received the Christian Faith, they divided the same (for the better Government Ecclesiastical) into three Provinces or Archbishopricks; viz. the Archbishoprick of London, that contained Britannia Prima; the Archbishoprick of York, which contained that part called Maxima Caesariensis; and the Archbishoprick of Caerleon, an antient great City of South-Wales, upon the River Uske, under which was Britannia Secunda. Afterward the Heathen Saxons over running this Countrey, and dividing it into seven Kingdoms, the King of Kent being first Converted to the Christian Faith by St. Austine, who lived and was buried at Canterbury, the Archiepiscopal See of London was there placed, and the other at Caerleon was translated to St. David's in Pembrokesbire; and at last subjected to the See of Canterbury: the North part of England and all Scotland, was put under the Archbishop of York, and all England divided into Dioceses; and in the year 630 it was for better Order and Government, distinguished into Parishes, by the care and pains of Henoria, Archbishop of Canterbury, almost 200 years before it was divided into Counties or Shires by King Alfred: by whom also those Shires (so called from the Saxon word Scyre, a Partition or Division) were subdivided into Hundreds, which at first contained ten Tythings, and each Tything ten Families.

At present, England, according to its Ecclesiastical Government, is divided first into two Provinces or Archbishopricks, viz. Canterbury and York; these 2 Provinces into 26 Dioceses, which are again divided into 60 Archdeaconries, and those into Rural Deaneries, and those again into Parishes.

According to the Temporal Government of England, it is divided into 52 Counties or Shires, and those into Hundreds, Laths, Rapes, or Wapentakes (as they are called in some Counties) and those again into Tythings.

England without Wales is divided into 6 Circuits, allotted to the 12 Judges to hold Assizes twice a year (whereof more in a Treatise apart.) It is also divided by the Kings Justices in Eyre of the Forest, and by the Kings at Arms into North and South; that is, all Counties upon the North and South side of Trent. B 2 There

There are in all England 25 Cities, 641 great Towns, called Market-Towns, and 9725 Parishes; under many of which, are contained several Hamlets or Villages, as big as ordinary Parishes.

Air.

The Air is far more mild and temperate (if not more healthy) than any part of the Continent under the same Climate.

By reason of the warm vapors of the Sea on every side, and the very often Winds from the the huge Western Sea, the Cold in Winter is less sharp than in some parts of France and Italy, which yet are seated far more southerly.

By reason of the continual blasts from Sea, the very often interposition of Clouds betwixt the Sun and Earth, and the frequent showers of Rain, the Heat in Summer is less scorching than in some parts of the Continent, that lies much more Northward, where neither Rain nor Clouds appear for some Months, and not much Wind.

As in Summer the gentle Winds and frequent Showers qualify all violent Heats and Droughts, so in Winter the Frosts do onely meliorate the cultivated Soyl, and the Snow keep warm the tender Plants. In a word, here is no need of Stoves in Winter, nor Grotta's in Summer.

Soyl.

It is blessed with a very fertile wholesome Soyl, watered abundantly with Springs and Streams, and in divers parts with great Navigable Rivers; few Barren Mountains or Craggy Rocks, but generally gentle pleasant Hills, and fruitful Valleys, apt for Grain, Grass, or Wood. The Excellency of the English Soyl may be learn'd (as Varro advised of old) from the Complexion of the Inhabitants, who therein excel all other Nations: or else from the high value put upon it by the

Romans

Romans and the Saxons, who look'd upon it as such a precious spot of ground, that they thought it worthy to be fenced in like a Garden-plot with a mighty Wall of fourscore miles in length, viz. from Tinmouth on the German Sea, to Solway-Frith on the Irish Sea (whereby the Caledonian Bores might be excluded) and with a monstrous Dike of fourscore and ten miles, viz. from the mouth of the River Wy to that of the River Dee (whereby the Cambro-Britain-Foxes might be kept out :) Lastly, the Excellency of her Soyl may also be learn'd from those transcendent Elogies, bestowed on her by Ancient and Modern Writers, calling England the Granary of the Western World, the Seat of Ceres, &c. That her Valleys are like Eden, her Hills like Lebanon, her Springs as Piscab, and her Rivers as Jordan. That she is a Paradise of Pleasure, and the Garden of God. O fortuna & omnibus terris beator Britannia! te omnibus cæli ac soli ditavit Natura, tibi nihil inest quod vita offendat, tibi nihil deest quod vita desideret, ita ut alter orbis extra orbem poni ad delicias humani generis videaris. O happy and blessed Britain! above all other Countreys in the World, Nature hath enrich'd thee with all the blessings of Heaven and Earth: Nothing in thee is hurtful to Mankind, nothing wanting in thee that is desirable; insomuch, that thou seemest another World placed besides, or without the great World, meerly for the delight and pleasure of Mankind.

As it is divided from the rest of the World, so by reason of its great abundance of all things necessary for the life of Man, it may without the contribution of any other part of the World, more easily subsist than any of its neighbouring Countreys.

Commodities.

Terra

First, for wholesome substantial Food, what plenty every where of Sheep, Oxen, Swine, Falow-Deer, Coneys, and Hares: It wants not Red-Deer, Goats, nor Roes. What abundance of Hens, Ducks, Geese, Turkeys, Pigeons, and Larks? Of Partridge, Pheasants, Plovers, Teales, Thrushes, Merles, Field-fares, Owls, or Black-birds, Wild-ducks, Wild-geese, Swans, Peacocks, Buntings, Snipes, Quails, Woodcocks, Lapwings? It wants not Sandlings, Knot, Curlew, Bayning, Dotterel, Roe, Ckur, Ruff, Maybit, Stint, Sea-Flower, Pewits, Redbanks, Rayles, and Wheat-ears, Herons, Cranes, Bitterns, Bustards, Puffins, God-wits, Heath-cocks, More-Poules, or Grouse-Thrushes, and Thrustles: What plenty of Salmon, Trout, Lamperns, Gudgeons, Carps, Tench, Lampreys, Pikes, Perches, Eeles, Brenes, Roch, Dace, Creefish, Flounders, Plaice, Shads, Mullers? What great abundance of Herrings, Whittings, Mackerel, Soles, Smelts, Pilchards, Sprats, Oysters, Lobsters, Crabs, Shrimps, Thornback, &c. It wants not Prawnes, Ruffes, Muscles, Cocles, Conger, Turbots, Cod, Scate, Mades, Escalops, &c. What great plenty of Apples, Pears, Plums, and Cherries? How doth England abound with Wheat, Barley, Rye, Pulse, Beans, and Oats; with excellent Butter and Cheese; with most sorts of Edible Roots and Herbs, &c. It wants not Apricocks, Peaches, Nettavens, Grapes, Mulberries, Figs, Melons, Quinces &c. Walnuts, Small Nuts, Filberts, Chosnuss, Medlers, Wardens, Raspices, Strawberries, Currans, Gooseberries, &c. Lastly, for Drinks, England, abounds with Beer, Ale, Sider, Perry, and in some parts with Methaglin or Mead. Now

Now of all these things there is such a constant continuance, by reason of the Clemency of the Climate, that scarce the least Famine which frequenteth other Countries, hath been felt in England these 400 years.

Then for Raiment, England produceth generally not onely very Fine Wool, which makes our Cloth more lasting than other Countrey Cloth, and better conditioned against Wind and Weather; but also such great abundance of Wool, that not onely all sorts from the highest to the lowest are clothed therewith; but so much hath been heretofore transported beyond the Seas, that in honour of the English Wool, that then brought such plenty of Gold into the Territories of Philip, surnamed Bonus, Duke of Burgundy, (where the Staple for English Wool was in those days kept) he instituted (as some write) that famous Military Order of the Golden Fleece; at this day in highest esteem with the whole House of Austria. This abundance and cheapness of Wool in England, proceeds not only from the goodness of the Soyl, but also from the freedom from Wolves, and from excessive Heats and Colds, which in other Countreys create a Charge of a constant guarding their Sheep, and housing them by night, and sometimes by day. Also, for advancing the Manufactures of Cloth, that necessary Earth called Fullers Earth, is no where else produced in that abundance and excellency, as in England.

It wants not Linnen for all uses, at least not ground to produce Flax and Hemp, although there be at present much Linnen imported, to the shame and damage of the Nation.

Beside, there is in England great plenty of excellent Leather for all sorts of uses, in so much that the poorest people wear good Shoes of Leather; whereas in our Neighbouring Countreys, the poor generally wear either Shoes of Wood, or none at all.

For Building, it wants not Timber nor Iron, Stone nor Slate, Brick nor Tiles, Marble nor Alabaster, Mortar nor Lime, Lead nor Glass.

For Firing, either Wood, Sea-coal, or Pit-coal, almost every where to be had at reasonable rates.

For Shipping, no where better Oak, no where such Knee-timber as they call it; or Iron to make servicable and durable Guns.

For War, for Coach, for High-way, and Hunting, no where such plenty of Horses; also for Plough, Cart, and Carriages; insomuch as Mules and Asses, so generally made use of in France, Italy, and Spain, are utterly despised in England.

For Dogs of all sorts, sizes, and uses, as Ma-stiffs, Grey-bounds, Spaniels for Land and Water, Hounds for Stag, Buck, Fox, Hare, and Otter; Terriors, Tumblers, Lurchers, Setting-dogs, Curs, little Lap-dogs, &c.

Moreover, England produceth, besides a mighty quantity of Tinne, Lead, and Iron, some Brass and Copperas; much Alome, Salt, Hops, Saffron, Liquoris, Honey, Wax, Tallow, Cbney-Furrs, Salt-peter, Wood, and divers other beneficial Commodities: It wants not Mines of Silver, yielding more in their small quantities of Ore, and so richer than those of Potosi in the West-Indies, whence the King of Spain hath most of his Silver; those yielding usually but one Ounce and an half of Silver, in one hundred Ounces of Ore; whereas these in Wales, Cornwal, Lancashire, and the Bishoprick of Durham, yield ordinarily 6 or 8 Ounces per Cent. but these lying deep, are hard to come unto, and Workmen dear, which is otherwise in Potosi.

It

It wants not Hot Baths, and abounds in Medicinal Springs.

Vineyards have been heretofore common in most of the Southern and Middle parts of England; and Silks might be here produced, as it was once designed by King James; but a great part of the Natives, prone to Navigation, supplying England at a very cheap rate, with all sorts of Wines, Silks, and all other Foreign Commodities, (according to that of an ancient Poet, Quicquid amat luxus, Quicquid desiderat usus.

Ex te proveniet vel aliunde tibi.)

It hath been found far better Husbandry to employ English ground rather for producing Wool, Corn, and Cattel, for which it is most proper. In a word, though some Countries excell England, in some things, yet generally, there is no one Countrey under Heaven whose Air is better stored with Birds and Fowls; Seas, Rivers, and Ponds with Fishes; Fields with all sorts of Corn, the Pastures with Cattel; the Forrests, Parks, Warrens, and Woods, with Wild Beasts, onely for Recreation and Food; the Mines with Metals, Coals, and other Minerals; where are fewer ravenous and hurtful Beasts, fewer venemous Serpents, or noisome Flies and Vermin, fewer Droughts, Inundations, or Dearths; fewer unwholsome Serenes, Pestilential Airs, Tempestuous Hurricanes, or destructive Earthquakes? In a word, where there is a greater abundance of all things necessary for mans life, and more especially for all kind of Food; insomuch that it hath been judged that there is yearly as much Flesh and Beer consumed in England by over-plentiful Tables, as would serve three times the number of People. Add to all this, That being encompassed with the Sea, and well furnish'd with Ships, and abundance of commodities and excellent Havens and Ports, it excels for safety and security (which is no small praise) all the neighbouring Countreys; if not all the Countreys in the World, and needs not much to fear any neighbouring Nation, but onely that which grows potent in Shipping, for they onely can deprive us of our main security, and of an Island can make us a Continent.

Money.

At first all Nations bartered and exchanged one Commodity for another, but that being found troublesome, by a kind of custom, good liking, or usage, amongst all Civiliz'd Nations, Silver and Gold, as most portable, pliable, beautiful, and less subject to rust, hath been as early as the days of Abraham, chosen to be the Instruments of Exchange and Measure of all things, and were at first paid onely by Weight, till the Romans about Three hundred years before the Birth of Christ, invented Coyning or Stamping of Gold and Silver.

When Julius Caesar first entred this Island, here were current instead of Money, certain Iron Rings; afterwards the Romans brought in the use of Gold, Silver, and Crafs Boyns.

In the time of King Richard the First, Moneys coyned in the East parts of Germany, being for its purity highly esteemed, some of those Estlings were sent for over, and employed in our Mint, and thence our Money, called Easterling or Sterling Money, as some think: (as the first Gold coyned in England was by King Edward the Third, and those pieces called Florenses, because Florentines were the first Coyners thereof (though others say of the Saxon word Ster, Weighty,

King Edward the First, since the Norman Conquest, established a certain Standard for Coyns in this

this manner: Twenty four Grains made one Penny Sterling, 20 Penny weight one Ounce, and 12 Ounces, or 5660 Grains made a pound Sterling, consisting of 20 Shillings. Of these 12 Ounces, 11 Ounces two Penny weight Sterling; was to be of fine Silver, and the weight of 18 Penny Sterling in allay the Minter did add: So that antiently a pound Sterling was a pound Troy weight, whereas now a pound Sterling is but the third part of a pound Troy, and a little more than a fourth part of Avoirdupois weight.

The Money of England was abused and falsified for a long time, till Queen Elizabeth in the year 1560, to Her great praise, called in all such Money; since which time, no base Money hath been coined in England, but onely of pure Gold and Silver, called Sterling Money; onely of latter times, in relation to the necessity of the Poor, and exchange of great Money, a small piece of Brass, called a Farthing, or Fourth part of a Penny, hath been permitted to be Coined, but no man enforced to receive them in pay for Rent or Debt; which cannot be affirmed of by any other State or Nation in the Christian World; in all which, there are several sorts of Copper Money as currant with them for any payment as the purest Gold or Silver.

No Moneys in any Mint are made of pure Silver; because Silver in its purity; is almost as flexible as Lead; and therefore not so useful, as when hardened with Copper.

Gold minted pure, would also be too flexible, and therefore is in all Mints alloyed with some Copper; and most Mints differ in more or less allay.

In the time of the aforesaid King Edward the First, the Coins were onely 4 pence, 3 pence, 2 pence, 2 pence, 1 penny, the half-penny, and the farthing all of Silver.

The pound weight Troy of Silver, since the Reign of Q. Elizabeth, hath been cut at 62 Shillings; and the several silver Coynes now currant in England, are the Crown, or 5 Shillings, which is almost the Ounce Troy, then Half-Crowns, Shillings, 6 pence, 4 pence, 3 pence, 2 pence, and 1 penny.

For the Coyrage, there was till of late allowed two shillings in the pound Troy of Silver, so that the Merchant who brought in the Bullion, received onely 60 shillings for each pound Troy, which made the Ounce to be just 5 Shillings; But, by an Act of Parliament 1665. for encouraging of Coyrage, the charge of Coyrage is defrayed by an Imposition on Brandy, and nothing payed by the bringer in of the Bullion, so that now the Merchant receives 62 Shillings for every pound Troy of Bullion.

The pound weight, or 12 Ounces Troy of Gold is divided into 24 parts, which are called Carrats, so that each Carrat is 10 penny weight Troy, or half an Ounce; and this Carrat is divided into four parts, which are called Carrat Grains; so that the Carrat Grain is two penny weight, and an half, or sixty ordinary Grains, and the Carrat Grain is divided into divers parts. The Standard of Crown Gold is 22 Carrats of fine Gold, and two Carrats of Allay in the pound weight Troy. The Allay of some Gold Coynes is all Silver, as the Guinea Gold, and some all Copper, which renders the Gold Coyns, some more white, some more yellow.

In England; at present the pound weight Troy of Gold is cut into 44 parts and an half, each part is to pass for Twenty Shillings; and the half part for Ten Shillings; there are also Coynted some pieces pieces of Forty Shillings, and some of One hundred Shillings, which hold proportionably in weight and fineness to the Twenty Shilling piece.

The English Gold was Coyned at 44 l. 10 s. the pound Troy, whereof Fifteen Shillings were taken by the King for his Seignorage and charge of Coynage; and then the Merchant for a pound of Gold received but 43 l. 15 s. whereas now he receives since the said Act of Parliament 44 l. 10 s.

The Standard of Sterling Silver in England is Eleven Ounces, and Two Penny weight of fine Silver, and Eighteen Penny weight of Allay of Copper out of the Fire, and so proportionably; so that 12 Ounces of pure Silver, without any Allay, is worth 3 l. 4 s. 6 d. and an Ounce is worth 5 s. 4 d. 1 ob. but with allay is worth but 3 l. and the Ounce 5 s.

The Spanish, French, and Flemish Gold is almost of equal fineness with the English.

The English Silver Money hath less Allay than the French or Dutch.

The Moneyers divide the pound weight into 12 Ounces Troy.

The proportion of Gold to Silver in England, is as 1 to 14, and about one third; that is to say, one Ounce of Gold is worth in Silver, 14 Ounces, and about one third, or 3 l. 14 s. 2 d. of English Money.

That the English Coyne may want neither the purity nor weights required, it was most wisely and carefully provided, that once every year, the Chief Officers of the Mint should appear before the Lords of the Council in the Star-chamber at Westminster, with some pieces of all sorts of Money coined the foregoing year; taken at adventure out of the Mint, and kept under several Locks by several persons, till that appearance, and then by a Jury of 24 able Goldsmiths, in the presence of the said Lords, every Piece is most exactly essayed and weighed.

Since the happy Restauration of His Majesty, now Reigning, the Coining or Stamping of Money by Hammers hath been laid aside, and all Stamp'd by a Mill or Screw; whereby it comes to pass, that our Coyns for neatness, gracefulness, and Security from counterfeiting, do surpass all the most excellent Coyns, not onely of the Romans, but of all the Modern Nations in the World.

Weights and Measures.

For Weights and Measures at present used in England, there are very many Excellent Statutes and Ordinances, and abundance of care taken by our Ancestors, to prevent all cheating and deceit therein.

By

By the 27th. Chapter of Magna Charta, the Weights and Measures ought to be the same over all England, and those to be according to the Kings Standards of Weights and Measures, kept in the Exchequer by a special Officer of His House, called the Clerk or Comptroler of the Market.

Of Weights there are two sorts used at present throughout all England, viz. Troy Weight, and Avoirdupois. In Troy Weight, 24 Grains of Wheat make a Penny Weight Sterling, 20 Penny Weight make an Ounce, 12 Ounces make a Pound, so there are 480 Grains in the Ounce, and 5760 Grains in the Pound.

By this Weight are weighed Pearls, Precious Stones, Gold, Silver, Bread, and all manner of Corn and Grain; and this Weight the Apothecaries do or ought to use, though by other Diversions and Denominations, their least Measure is a Grain.

20 Grains	}	make	{	a Scruple,	}	mark'd	{	3
3 Scruples				a Drach.				3
8 Drachm				an Ounce,				3
12 Ounces				a Pound.				16

Avoirdupois hath 16 Ounces to the pound, but then the Ounce Avoirdupois is lighter than the Ounce Troy by 42 Grains in 480, that is near a 12th. part; so that the Avoirdupois containeth but 438 Grains, and is as 73 to 80. that is, 73 Ounces Troy is as much as 80 Ounces Avoirdupois, and 60 pound Avoirdupois is equal to 73 pounds Troy; and 14 Ounces Troy and an half, and the tenth part of a Troy Ounce makes 16 ounces Avoirdupois.

By

By this weight are wayed in England all Grocery Ware, Fleſh, Butter, Cbeeſe, Iron, Hemp, Flax, Tallow, Wax, Lead, Steel, alſo all things whereof comes waſte; and therefore 112 l. Avoirdupois is called a Hundred weight, and 56 l. Half a hundred, and 28 l. a Quarter of a Hundred, or a Tod. Eight pounds Avoirdupois among the Butchers is called a Stone.

Note, That when Wheat is at 5 s. the Buſhel, then the Penny Wheaten Loaf is by Statute to weigh 11 Ounces Troy, and three Half Penny Wheaten Loaves to weigh as much, and the Household Penny Loaf to weigh 14 Troy Ounces, and two third parts of an Ounce, and ſo more or leſs proportionably.

Note alſo, That here, as in other Countreys, Silkinen-men uſe a Weight called Venice Ounce, which is 13 Penny Weight and 12 Grains; ſo that 12 Ounces Venice is but 8 Ounces 4 Penny Troy, and nine Ounces Avoirdupois; but of this there is no Standard, nor doth the Magiſtrate allow of it.

Meaſures All Meaſures in England are either Applicative or Receptive.

The ſmalleſt Mensura applicatiõis, or Applicative Measure, is a Barley Corn, whereof three in length make a fingers breadth or Inch, 4 Inches make a Handful, 3 Handfuls a Foas, 1 Foot and a half makes a Cubit, 2 Cubits a Tard, 1 Yard and a quarter makes an Ell, 5 Foot makes a Geometrical pace, 6 Foot a Fathom, 16 Foot and a half make a Perch, Pole, or Rod, 40 Perch make a Furlong, 8 Furlongs, or 320 Perch make an English Mile; which according to the Statute of 1285. ought to be 1760 Yards, or 5280 Foot, that is, 280 Foot more than the Italian Mile; 60 Miles, more exactly 69 English lish Miles and a half make a Degree, and 360 Degrees, or 25020 Miles compass the whole Globe of the Earth.

For measuring of Land in England, 40 Perch in Length, and 4 in Breadth, make an Acre of Land (so called from the German word Acker, and that from the Latine word Ager) 30 Acres ordinarily make a Yard Land, and One hundred Acres are accounted an Hide of Land; but in this, and also in some Weights and other Measures, the custom of the place is otherwise, yet must be regarded.

In France about Paris 12 Inches make a Foot, 22 Foot make a Perch, and 100 Perches make an Arpent.

Mensura receptionis, or the Receptive Measures, are two-fold, first, of Liquid or Moist things; secondly, of Dry things.

About a pound Avoirdupois makes the ordinary smallest Receptive measure, called a Pint, 2 Pints make a Quart, 2 Quarts a Pottle, 2 Pottles a Gallon. 8 Gallons a Firkin of Ale, 2 such Firkins make a Kilderkin, and 2 Kilderkins, or 32 Gallons, make a Barrel of Ale, 9 Gallons a Firkin of Beer, 2 such Firkins or 18 Gallons make a Kilderkin, 2 such Kilderkins, or 36 Gallons, make a Barrel of Beer, 1 Barrel and a half, or 54 Gallons, make a Hogshead; 2 Hogsheads make a Pipe or But, and 2 Pipes a Tun, consisting of 1728 Pints or Pounds; a Barrel of Butter or Soap is the same with a Barrel of Ale.

The English Wine Measures are smaller than those of Ale and Beer, and hold proportion as 4 to 5; so that 4 Gallons of Beer Measure are 5 Gallons of Wine Measure, and each Gallon of Wine is 8 pounds Troy weight. Of these Gallons, a Rundlet of Wine holds 18, half a Hogshead head 31 Gallons and a half. A Tierce of Wine holds 42 Gallons, a Hoghead 63 Gallons, a PUNCHION 84 Gallons, a Pipe or But holds 126, and a Tun 252 Gallons, or 2016 Pints.

To Measure dry things, as Corn or Grain, there is first the Gallon, which is bigger than the Wine Gallon, and less than the Ale or Beer Gallon, and is in proportion to them as 33 to 28 and 35, and is counted eight pounds Troy weight. Two of these Gallons make a Peck, 4 Pecks a Bushel, 4 Bushels the Comb or Curnock, 2 Curnocks make a Quarter, and 10 Quarters a Last or Weigh, which contains 5120 Pints, and about so many Pounds; so that in a Garrison of 5000 Men, allowing each but a pound of Bread per diem, they will consume near a Last or 80 Bushels every day; and 250 Men in a Ship of War, will drink a Tun of Beer in two days, allowing each Man but his Pottle per diem.

Buildings Churches throughout all England, and all publick Edifices, are generally of Solid Stone, covered with Lead; Cathedral and Collegiate Churches every where ample and magnificent; and the Churches in Market-Towns and Opu- lent Villages spacious and solid enough, beautified either with very high Pyramids, or Steeples; or at least with stately high Towers. Houses in Cities, that were heretofore usually of Wood, are now built of good Stone or Brick, and covered with Slate or Tile; the Rooms within formerly Wainscoted; are now hung with Tapi- stry, or other convenient Stuff; and all Cie- led with Plaster, excellent against the rage of Fire, against the Cold, and to hinder the pas- sage of all dust and noise.

The Modern Buildings have been far more slight, and of less continuance than the Ancient.

The

The Houses of the Nobles and Rich are abundantly furnished with Pewter, Brass, fine Linen, and Plate; The mean Mechanicks and ordinary Husbandmen want not Silver Spoons, or some Silver Cups in their Houses.

The Windows every where glazed, not made of Paper or Wood, as is usual in Italy and Spain.

Chimneys in most places, no Stoves, although the far more Southern parts of Germany can hardly subsist in the Winter without them.

CHAP. II.

Of the Inhabitants, and therein of their Law, Religion, Manners, and Punishments; of their Number, Language, Stature, Dyet, Attire, Recreations, Names, and Surnames; of their computation and manner of Numbring.

England hath been posses'd by five several Nations, and coveted by many more, and no wonder so fair and rich a Lady should have many Lovers, it being a Countrey (as was said of the Tree in the midst of Paradise) good for food, pleasant to the eyes, and to be desired. Whereas in the High-Lands of Scotland, Wales, Biscay, Switzerland, and other like Countreys, continue still in the possession of their Aborigines: of the first that laid claim to them, none since judging it worth their pains to dispossess them.

The

The first Inhabitants in England are believed to be the Britains, descended from the Gauls; whose Language was once almost the same; subdued afterward by the Romans, who, by reason of their troubles nearer home, were constrained to abandon this Countrey, about 400 years after Christ; whereupon the Picts, Inhabitants of Scotland, invading the Britains, they call to their aid the Saxons, who chasing away the Picts, soon made themselves Masters of the Britains; but these not able to endure the heavy yoke of the Saxons, after many Battels and Attempts to recover their lost Liberties and Countrey, retired, or were driven, some of them into Britain in France, from whence some think they first came, but most of them into the two utmost Western barren and Mountainous parts of this Countrey, called afterwards by the Saxons, Walishland, instead of Gaulishland; as the Germans still call Italy, Walishland, because inhabited by the Cisalpine Gauls; and the French call our Countrey of Britains, Le pais de Gales.

The Saxons solely possess'd of all the best parts of this Isle, were for a long time infested, and for some time almost subdued by the Danes, and afterwards wholly by the Normans, who drove not out the Saxons; but mixed with them, so that the English Blood at this day is a mixture chiefly of Norman and Saxon, not without a tincture of Danish, Romish, and British Blood.

Their Laws.

The English, according to several matters and parts of the Kingdom, are governed by several Laws, viz. Common-Law, Statute-Law, Civil-Law, Canon-Law, Forrest-Law, and Martial-Law; besides particular Customs and By-Laws: Of all which in brief, intending in a Treatise apart to speak more largely of them in the parti-particular Government of England, Ecclesiastick, Civil, and Military, together with all the Courts and Officers thereto belonging.

The Common-Law of England is the Common Common-Law. Customs of the Kingdom, which have by length of time obtained the force of Laws: It is called Lex non scripta (not but that we have them written in the old Norman Dialect, which being no where vulgarly used, varies no more than the Latine) but because it cannot be made by Charter or Parliament, for those are always matters of Record; whereas Customs are only matters of Fact, and are no where but in the Memory of the People; and of all Laws must be the best for the English: for the Written Laws made in England by Kings or Priyy-Councils, as anciently; or by Parliaments, as of later times, are imposed upon the Subject before any probation or trial, whether they are beneficial to the Nation, or agreeable to the nature of the People; but Customs bind not the people till they have been tried and approved time out of mind; during which time no inconvenience arising to hinder, those Customs became Laws; and therefore when our Parliaments have altered any Fundamental points of our Common Law, (as sometimes hath been done) those alterations have been by experience found so inconvenient, that the same Law by succeeding Parliaments hath soon been restored. This Common Law is the Quintessence of the Customary Law of the Mercians, prevailing before the Conquest in the Middle Countreys in England, called the Kingdom of Mercia, and of the Saxons among the West and South parts, and of the Danes amongst the East Angles, all first reduced into one body by King Edward the Elder, about the year 900; which which for some time almost lost, were revived by the good King Edward the Confessor, and by Posterity named his Laws. To these the Conqueror added some of the good Customs of Normandy, and then his Successor King Edward the First, having in his younger years given himself satisfaction in the glory of Arms, bent himself (like another Justinian) to endow his Estate with divers notable Fundamental Laws, ever since practised in this Nation. The excellent conveniency and conaturalness of the Common Law of England to the temper of English Men, is such, that the serious consideration thereof induced King James in a solemn Speech to prefer it as to this Nation, before the Law of Moses.

Statute-Law.

Where the Common-Law is silent, there we have excellent Statute-Laws, made by the several Kings of England, by, and with the Advice and consent of all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and with the Consent of all the Commons of England, by their Representatives in Parliament, whereunto the English easily submit, as made at their own earnest desire and request.

Civil-Law.

Where Common and Statute-Law take no Cognizance, use is made of that Law of Laws called the Civil-Law; wherein is to be had what all the Wisest and Noblest Men of the most flourishing and puissant State that ever was in the World, could in the space of many hundred years by their own Wisdom or Reason devise, or from any other People learn: so that this Law may be lookt on as the Product of the Common Reason of all Mankind, and fitted for the Interest and welfare not of one Nation onely, but contemplating and taking care for the general affairs of all people. Of this Law use is made made in all Ecclesiastical Courts of Bishops, Arch-Deacons, Vicars-General, Chancellours, and Commissaries, when ever Cognizance is taken of Wills and Testaments, of Tythes, Oblations, Mortuaries, of Matrimony, Divorce, Adultery, Incest, Fornication, Chastity attempted; Of Sacred Orders, Institutions to Church-Livings, Celebration of Divine Offices, Reparation of Churches, Dilapidations, Procurations; of Heresie, Apostasie, Atheism, Schisme, Simony, Blasphemy, &c. So of this Law is made use in the Court of Admiralty, in all affairs immediately relating to the Royal Fleets, to all other Vessels of Trade, and to their Owners, to Mariners, to Commanders at Sea, to Reprisals, to Pyracies, to Merchants Affairs, to all Contracts made at Sea or beyond Sea, in the way of Marine Trade and Commerce; to all matters touching Wrecks, Flotsam, Fotsam, Lagam, Marine Waifs, Deodands, &c. Moreover, use is made of the Civil-Law in the Court of the Earl Marshal, taking cognizance of Crimes perpetrated out of England, of Contracts made in Forreign parts; of Affairs of War within and without England; of Controversies about Nobility and Gentry, or bearing of Coats of Arms; of Precedency, &c. Of this Law much use is made in Treaties with Foreign Potentates, where many points are to be determined and concluded, according to the direction of this most excellent and general approved Law; and for this cause Forreign Princes take especial care to chuse such persons for their Ambassadors as are skilled in the Civil-Law; and this policy was heretofore duly observed by our English Princes with very good success; Lastly, the two Universities of England serve themselves of the Civil Law; for by their Pri-

Priviledges no Student is to be sued at Common-Law, but in the Vice-Chancellors Court for Debts, Accounts, Injuries, &c.

Canon-Law.

The Canons of many Antient General Councils of many National and Provincial English Synods, besides divers Decrees of the Bishops of Rome, and Judgements of Antient Fathers had been received by the Church of England, and incorporated into the Body of the Canon-Law: by which she did ever proceed in the exercise of her Jurisdiction, and doth still by vertue of the Statute 25 Hen. 8. so far as the said Canons and Constitutions are not repugnant to the Holy Scripture, to the Kings Prerogative, or the Laws Statutes and Customs of this Realm, and those are called the Kings Ecclesiastical Laws, which have several proceedings, and several ends from the Temporal Laws; these inflicting punishment upon the Body, Lands and Goods, and to punish the outward Man; but those pro salute animæ, to reform the inward Man, both joyning in this, to have the whole Man outwardly and inwardly reformed.

Forest-Law.

The Forests Laws are peculiar Laws, different from the Common-Law of England. Forests in England are exceeding antient, and before the making of Charta de Foresta, Offences committed therein, were punished at the pleasure of the King, in so sharp and grievous a manner (as still in Germany) that both Nobles and Commons did suffer, many horrible inconveniences and oppressions, and even in that Charter, were some hard Articles, which the Clemency of gracious Kings have since by Statute thought fit to alter per Assis Forestæ. In the time of Edward 3. Voluntas reputabitur pro facto;

so that if a Man be taken hunting a Deer, he may be arrested, as if he had taken a Deer. The Forester may take and arrest a Man, if he be taken either at Dog-draw, Stable-stand, Back-bear, or Bloudy-band; for in these four, a Man is said to be taken with the manner, though three of them may be but presumptions.

Lex Castrensis Anglicana, is that Law that dependeth upon the Kings Will and Pleasure, or his Lieutenant, in time of actual War; for although in time of peace, the King, for the more equal temper of Laws towards all his Subjects, makes no Laws, but by the consent of the three Estates in Parliament: yet in times of War, by reason of great dangers arising suddenly and unexpectedly upon small occasions, he useth absolute Power, in so much as his word geth for a Law. Martial Law extends onely to Soldiers and Mariners; and is not to be practised in times of Peace, but onely in times of War, and then and there, where the Kings Army is on foot.

Martial Law.

By the Kings Royal Charter granted to divers Cities of England, the Magistrates have a power to make such Laws as may be beneficial for the Citizens, and not repugnant to the Laws of the Land; and these are binding onely to the Inhabitants of the place, unless such Laws are for general good; or against a general inconvenience; for then they bind strangers.

Peculiar, and By-Laws.

Because Humane Laws can promote no other good, nor prevent any other evil, but what is open to publick cognizance, it is very necessary for the society of Mankind, and it is the great Wisdom of God so to ordain, That by Religion a Tribunal should be erected in every mans Soul, to make him eschew evil and do good, when no humane Law can take notice of either.

Of all Religions in the World, antiently only the Jews worshipt the true God, in the true manner.

The Jews Religion in proccs of time by Traditions and Superstitions much corrupted, was partly abrogated, and the rest reformed, refined, and sublimated by our Saviour Christ, and since called the Christian Religion; which was planted in England, Tempore ut scimus (saith Gildas) summo Tiberii Caesaris, which by computation will fall to be five years before S. Peter came to Rome, and about five years after the death of Christ.

It is also affirmed by Antient and Modern grave Authors expressly, that in the 12th year of the Emperor Nero, S. Peter preached here, Baptized many, and ordained Bishops, Priests, and Deacons: That immediately after S. Stephen's death, and the Jews dispersion, Joseph of Arimathea, with 12 others, here Preacht and dyed: That the first Fabrick of a Christian Church or Temple, in all the World, was at Glastenbury in Somersetshire, 31 years after Christ's death, and that S. Paul was permitted to Preach here, before he was suffered so to do at Rome. Afterwrds Anno 180. the Christian Faith was here first professed by publick authority under King Lucius, the first Christian King in the World, and with Christianity no doubt, came in the Episcopal Government, as may be seen in the Catalogue of British Bishops, and it is certain, that at the Council of Arles, Anno 347. there were three British tish Archbishops, viz. of London, York, and Caerleon, whereof the first had for his Province under him, the South, the second all the North, and the third, all beyond Severn, or the West part of this Island, afore-mentioned. Under these three Archbishops, there were reckoned about that age, 28 Bishops, all which did observe the Customs and Orders of the Greek, or Eastern Churches, and particularly that of Easter, different from the Latine custom, or Western Churches: nor did they acknowledge Rome to be the Mother-Church of the Britan-nick-Church. Britain was then a Patriarchal Jurisdiction in substance, though perhaps not in name, and so continued, until about the year 596. when Austin the Monk, assisted by the fraud of 40 other Monks, and by the power of the then Heathen Anglo-Saxons, (who had long before driven the Britains into Wales) constrained the British Bishops to submit themselves to the Bishop of Rome, after which, by the convenience or condescensions of the successive Saxon and Norman Kings, this Church was in some things subjected to the Bishop of Rome, as its Patriarch or Primate; until Henry VIII, by his Royal Authority (as he and all other Kings might remove their Chancellors or other Officers, and dispose of their Offices to others) did remove the Primacy, or Metropolitanship from the Sec of Rome to the Sec of Canterbury; as being far more agreeable to civil Policy and Prudence; that such a high Power should be placed rather in a Subject of our own Nation, than in a Sovereign Prince (for so is the Pope over several Territories in Italy) and he far remote beyond the Seas: which ejection of the Popes authority was not done, as in other Nations, by popular Fury and Faction, but by the mature deliberate Counsel of Godly and Learned Divines Assembled in Convocation, with the express Authority of the King, and ratified by the three States in Parliament.

The minds of English Christians thus delivered from the Spiritual Tyranny of the Bishop of Rome, and the Dignity of English Kings from the Spiritual Slavery under him; the King and Clergy took this occasion to reform the many abuses and errors crept into the Church, in length of time, by the great negligence and corruption of Governors; wherein the wisdom of the English Reformers, is to be admired to all posterity, which is briefly thus:

First, care was taken, lest that (as it oft happens in indiscreet Purges, and wherever only the People hath been the Reformer) the good should be taken away with the bad; care was taken to retain all that could lawfully and conveniently be retained in the Romish Liturgy, or Mass-Book, in their Ceremonial and Canons; to take out all the Gold, and to leave only the Dross, and this according to the example of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, who, in his Reformation of the Jewish Religion, that the Jews might be the less offended, and more easily won, thought fit to retain divers old Elements; as their Washings, he converted into the Sacrament of Baptisme, and so their custom of Bread and Wine in their Passeover, he turned into the other Christian Sacrament, &c. In a word, it was resolved not to separate farther from the Church of Rome in Doctrine or Discipline, than that Church had separated from what she was in her purest times. For Doctrine, they embraced that excellent excellent Council of the Prophet, Stare super vias antiquas & videte quam sit via recta & ambulate in ea; they made a stand, and took a view of the purest Primitive Christian times, and thence saw which was the right way, and followed that. For the Discipline of this Reformed Church, they considered what it was in the purest times of the first good Christian Emperors; for the times of persecution (before Temporal Princes embraced the Christian Faith) as they were most excellent times for Doctrine and Manners; so very improper and unfit for a Patern or Example of outward Government and Policy. And had this Justice, Prudence, and Divine Policy, been used in our neighboring Reformed Churches, doubtless, they had seen a far more plentiful Harvest.

The Doctrine of the Church of England is contained in exprefs words of the Holy Scripture, in the 39 Articles, and the Book of Homilies.

The Worship and Discipline is seen in the Liturgy and Book of Canons, by all which, it will appear to impartial Forreign eyes, that the Church of England may warrantably be said to be the most exact, and perfect patern, of all the Reformed Churches in the World; and whosoever shall be so happy, as to be a true Son of that Church, must confess, that it is the most Incorrupt, Humble, Innocent, Learned, the most Primitive, most Decent, and Regular Church in Christendom; that her Doctrine is built upon the Prophets and Apostles, according to the explication of the antient Fathers; the Government truly Apostolical, and in all essential parts thereof, of Divine Institution; the Liturgy, an extract of the best Primitive Forms ; the ceremonies few, but necessary, and such as tend only to decency and increase of Piety ; That she holds the whole truly Catholick Foundation, according to the Scripture, and the four first general Councils, that she adheres closely to Tradition truly Universal, that is, doth willingly receive, quod ab omnibus, quod ubique, quod semper receptum fuit ; which is the old Rule of Catholicisme ; so that none can say more truly with Tertullian, than the English, in ea regula incedimus quam Ecclesia ab Apostolis, Apostoli a Christo, Christus a Deo accepit. Search all the Religions in the World, none will be found more consonant to Gods Word, for Doctrine, nor to the Primitive example, for Government. None will be found that ascribes more to God, or that constitutes more firm Charity amongst Men ; none will be found so excellent, not only in the Community, as Christians ; but also in the special Notion, as Reformed, for it keepeth the middle-way, between the pomp of Superstitious Tyranny, and the meanness of Fanatick Anarchy.

In two Points, the Church of England is truly transcendent ; First, it hath the grand Mark ~~of the~~ of the true Church, which most European Churches seem to want, and that is, Charity towards other Churches ; for it doth not so engross Heaven to its own Professors, as to damn all others to Hell. Secondly, it is the great Glory of the English Protestant Church, that it never resisted Authority, nor engaged in Rebellion ; a praise, that makes much to her advantage, in the minds of all those who have read or heard of the dismal and devilish effects of the Holy League in France, by Papists ; of the Holy Covenant in Scotland

Scotland, by Puritans; and of the late solemn League and Covenant in England, by Presbyterians.

As for the scandal begotten by the late Troubles, and Murder of the late King, which some of the Romish endeavour to throw upon the English Religion; it is sufficiently known, that not one person that was a known Favourer, and Practiser of that Religion by Law establisht in England, was either a beginner or active prosecutor of that Rebellion; or any way an Abettor of that horrid Murther; for that our Religion neither gives such Rules, nor ever did set such examples; nor indeed can that be truly said to be an Act, either of the Parliament or People of England, but only of a few wretched Miscreants, Sons of Belial, that had no fear of God before their Eyes.

About the year 1635 or 1636. the Church of England, as well as the State, seemed to be in her full Stature of Glory, shining in Transcendent Empyrean Lustre and Purity of Evangelical Truth: her Religious Performances, her Holy Offices, ordered and regulated agreeable to the expedient of such sacred Actions; her Discipline Models, suitable to the Apostolick Form; the Set and Suit of her Holy Tribe renowned for Piety and Learning; and these all in so Super-eminent a Degree, that no Church on this side the Apostolick, can hardly, or ever could compare with her in any one. And in this felicity she might probably have continued, had she not been disturbed by a Generation of Hypocritical, or at least blind Zealots; whose Predecessors in Queen Elizabeth's time, began to oppose that excellent begun Reformation, and then to contrive contrive the alteration of Government; beginning first very low at Caps and Hoods, Surplices, and Episcopal Habits; but these flew higher, proceeding at length to the height of all impiety, subverted even Liturgy, Episcopacy, and Monarchy it self; all which our most Gracious King, upon his Restauration, hath most Wisely and Piously restored; after the example of that good King Hezekiah, 2 Chr. 29. 2. 3. Since which, we are able to render this joyful account of the Religion and Church of England, viz. That there is nothing wanting in order to Salvation: We have the Word of God, the Faith of the Apostles, the Creeds of the Primitive Church, the Articles of the Four First General Councils, a Holy Liturgy, Excellent Prayers, Due Administration of Sacraments, the Ten Commandments, the Sermons of Christ, and all the Precepts and Councils of the Gospel. We teach Faith and Repentance, and the Necessity of Good Works, and strictly exact the severity of a Holy Life. We live in obedience to God, ready to part with all for His sake; we honour His Most Holy Name; We worship Him at the mention of His Name; We confess His Attributes; We have Places, Times, Persons, and Revenues, Consecrated and set apart for the Service and Worship of our Great God, Creator of Heaven and Earth; we honour His Vicegerent the King, holding it damnable to use any other Weapons against him or his Army but Prayers and Tears: we hold a charitable respect toward all Christians: we confess our sins to God, and to our Brethren, whom we have offended, and to Gods Ministers the Priests, in cases of a Scandal or of a troubled Conscience; and they duly absolve the Penitent Soul.

We

We have an uninterrupted succession of Reverend, Learned and Pious Bishops, who Ordain Priests and Deacons, Consecrate Churches, Confirm the Baptized at a due age, Bless the People, Intercede for them, Visit oft their respective Diocesses, taking care of all Churches, that they be served with as good and able Pastors as the small maintenance can invite; they defend the Church Liberties, confer Institutions, inflict Ecclesiastical Censures, dispence in certain Cases, keep Hospitality as St. Paul admonisheth; and Preach as oft as necessity requireth. Hodie enim neque Concionatorum paucitas uti olim, neque infidelium multitudo hoc exigere videtur, For now neither that scarcity of Preachers which was amongst the Primitive Christians, nor multitude of Heathens which dwelt amongst them doth seem to require it, but rather that like good Pilots, who sitting still at the Helm, (while others labour and toyl at the Ropes and Sayles) they should make it their whole business (by considering the Winds and Tides, the Rocks and Shelves, the Seasons and Climates) that the Ship may keep her right course, and be safely brought to her desired Haven; for, it hath been unluckily observed, that as a Ship is then in most danger when the Pilot shall quit the Helme to pull at a Rope; so those Diocesses have commonly been worst governed, whose Bishops have been most Bookish, and most frequent in the Pulpit.

Even since the beginning of our Reformation, there are some few Families in several parts of England, have persisted in the Romish Religion, and are usually called Papists from Papa, the old usual name of the Bishop of Rome. Against these there are divers severe Laws still in force, but their number being not considerable, nor their Loyalty of later years questionable, those Laws are more rarely put in execution besides the Clemency and gentle usage shewn them here, begets in Romish States and Potentates abroad the like gentle treatment of their Protestant Subjects, and of the English living within their Dominions.

As for those other Perswasions, whose Professors are commonly called Presbyterians, Independents, Anabaptists, Quakers, Fifth-Monarchy-Men, Ranters, Adamites, Antinomians, Sabbatarians, Perfectionists, Family of Love, and the rest of those Mushrooms of Christianity; as most of them sprang up suddenly in the late unhappy night of Confusion, so it is to be presumed that they may in a short time, vanish in this blessed day of Order; and therefore not worthy to be described here as Religions professed in England; for as the State of England doth account them no other Members than the Pudenda of the Nation, and are ashamed of them, Quippe ubi cetera Membra moventur ad arbitrium hominis, hæc sola tam turbida, inordinata ac effrænata sunt. ut præter & contra voluntatem commoveri solent; so neither doth the Church of England look upon those Professors as Sons but Bastards: or make an account of any other interest in them than a Man makes of those Vermin which breed out of his excrementitious sweat, or those Ascarides which come sometimes in his most uncleanly parts.

Touching the Jews which by the late Usurper were admitted at London, and since continued by the bare permission of the King and suffered to hire a Private House, wherein to hold their Synagogue; they are not considerable either for Number, making not above 30 or 40 Families nor for their wealth or abilities, being for the most part Poor and Ignorant.

As

As some years before the late Troubles, no People of any Kingdom In the World enjoyed more freedom from Slavery and Taxes, so generally none were freer from evil tempers and humours, none more devoutly Religious, willingly obedient to the Laws, truly Loyal to the King, lovingly hospitable to Neighbors, ambitiously civil to Strangers, or more liberally charitable to the Needy.

No Kingdom could shew a more valiant, prudent Nobility, a more Learned Pious Clergy, or a more contented Loyal Commonalty.

The Men were generally honest, the Wives and Women chaste and modest, Parents loving. Children Obedient, Husbands kind, Masters gentle, and Servants faithful.

In a word, the English were then according to their Native Tempers, the best Neighbours, best Friends, best Subjects, and the best Christians in the World.

Good Nature was a thing so peculiar to the English Nation, and so appropriated by Almighty God to them (as a Great Person observed) that it cannot well be Translated into another Language or practised by any other People.

Amongst these excellent Tempers, amongst this goodly Wheat, whilst Men slept, the Enemy came and sowed Tares, there sprang up of later years a sort of People sower, sullen, suspicious, querulous, censorious, peevish, envious, reserved, narrow-hearted, close-fisted, self-conceited, ignorant, stiff-necked, Children of Belial, (according to the genuine signification of the word) ever prone to despise Dominion, to speak evil of Dignities, to gain-say-Order, Rule, and Authority; who have accounted it their honor to contend with Kings and Governors, and to disturb the Peace of Kingdoms, whom no de-

jeris, no clemency could ever oblige, neither Oaths or Promises bind, breathing nothing but Jedition and calumnies against the establishd Government, aspiring without measure, railing without reason, and making their own wild fancies the Square and Rule of their Consciences; hating, despising, or disrespecting the Nobility, Gentry and Superiour Clergy, &c.

These lurking in all quarters of England, had at length with their pestilential breath infected some of the worse Natural and worse Nurture'd Gentry, divers of the inferiour Clergy, most of the Tradesmen, and very many of the Peasantry; and prevailed so far, as not only to spoil the best governed State, and to ruine the purest and most flourishing Church in Christendome, but also to corrupt the minds, the humours, and very natures of so many English; that notwithstanding the late happy Restauration of the King and Bishops, the incessant joint endeavors and studies of all our Governors to reduce this people to their præstine happiness, yet no man now living can reasonably hope to see in this time the like blessed dayes again, without a transplantation of all those Sons of Belial (as King James in his grave Testament to his Son did intimate) without an utter extirpation of those Tares, which yet the Clemency and Meekness of the Protestant Religion seems to forbid; unless they are such who believe themselves obliged in Conscience to take all opportunities, occasions and advantages to extirpate and destroy the present Church Government by Law establishd in England, and in pursuance of the same to venture their Lives and Estates, and constantly to continue in that belief all the days of their Lives; against all opposition whatsoever, as the Words of their

their SOLEMN LEAGUE and COVENANT are. To such no Prince nor Potentate in Europe will ever indulge, so far as to suffer them to breathe the same Air with them: And yet such is the Mercy of our Gracious King, and the Lenity of our Reverend Bishops, and of our two Houses of Parliament, that they thought fit hitherto not to banish any one person for entering into that IMPIOUS COVENANT, not to exclude any of them from any Office of Church State, who have been willing to abjure the same.

The Nobility and chief Gentry of England, have been even by strangers compared to the finest flower, but the lower sort of common people to the coarsest bran; the innate good nature joyned with the liberal education and converse with Strangers in Foreign Countreys, render those exceeding civil; whereas the wealth, insolence and pride of these, and the rare converse with Strangers, have rendered them so distastefull, not only to the few Strangers who frequent England, but even to their own Gentry, that they could sometimes wish that either the Countrey were less plentiful, or that the Impositions were heavier; for by reason of the great abundancc of Flesh, and Fish, Corn, Leather, Wool, &c. which the Soyl of its own bounty with little labor doth produce, the Peasants at their ease and almost forgetting labour, grow rich, and hereby so proud, insolent, and careless, that they neither give that humble respect and awful reverence, which in other Kingdoms is usually given to Nobility, Gentry, and Clergy; nor are they so industrious or so skilful in Manufactures, as some of our Neighbor Nations; so that in England it is no Paradox to affirm, that as too much indigency in the inferiour sort of People doth depress the spirits and dull the minds of them, so too plentiful and wanton a fortune, causeth in them a laziness and less industry; that State commonly enjoying most peace and order and happiness where either the moderate barrenness of the Countrey, or want of ground, or multitude of Imposts (as in Holland) do necessitate the common people to be industrious in their Callings, and so to mind their own, as not to disturb the State and Church affairs.

Moreover, of the English, especially of the Peasantry, it hath been formerly and unhappily observed, that then it is happiest with them, when they are somewhat pressed in a complaining condition, according to that old Rhiming Verse,

The English Common people antiently were, and at this day are very apt to hearken to Prophecies, and to create Prodigies; and then to interpret them according to their own extravagant conceits; to invent and then maintain any the most prodigious Opinions and Tenets in Divinity: some of the inferiour sort of late holding abominable opinions, unworthy even of Men, and such as in no age was ever broacht before.

The English National Vices were antiently Gluttony, and the effects thereof Lasciviousness (when they made four Meals in a day, and most excessive Feasting, with great plenty of French Wine) when Women of professed Incontinency were permitted to profer their Bodies to all Comers, in certain places called Stews or Stoves, or Bathing places; because Men were wont to bathe themselves there (as still in other Countreys) before they address themselves to Venerous Acts. But immediately before the late Rebellion (that unhappy Fountain, from whence is evidently derived whatsoever is almost now amiss in Church or State, in Court, City, or Countrey) no People, unless perhaps the High Germans, were more modest and chaste, more true to the Marriage Bed, whereby was produced a healthy strong Race, fit for all Arts and Sciences, for Agriculture, for Traffick, for War and Peace, for Navigation, and Plantation, &c.

Another English National Vice was Pride in Apparel, wherein they were antiently so extravagant and foolish, so superfluous and obscene, that divers Statutes before our Reformation in Religion, and Homilies since, have been made against that Excess; and an English Man was wont to be pictured naked with a pair of Taylor's Sheers in his hand, a piece of Cloth under his arm, and Verses annext, intimating, that he knew not what fashion of Clothes to have.

Ut bibat arbitrio pocula quisque suo,*

The Danes in the time of King Edgar first brought in it, but it was afterward banisht hence, so that we find no antient Statute since the Conquest against it; for though the Statutes heretofore made against Excess in Apparel and Dyer are antient, yet those against Drunkenness are but of late date.

As the English returning from the Wars in the Holy Land, brought home the foul disease of Leprosie, now almost extinct here, though not yet

yet in our Neighbouring Countreys: so in our Fathers days the English returning from the service in the Netherlands, brought with them the foul Vice of Drunkenness, as besides other Testimonies, the Term of Carous, from Gar auz, All out, learnt of the Hig-Dutch there, in the same service; so Quaffe, &c. This Vice of late was more, though at present so much, that some persons, and those of quality, may not safely be visited in an afternoon, without running the hazard of excessive drinking of Healths, (whereby in a short time twice as much Liquor is consumed as by the Dutch, who sip and prate) and in some places it is esteemed a piece of wit to make a Man drunk; for which purpose some swilling insipid Trencher Buffoon is always at hand.

However it may be truly affirmed that at present there is generally less Excess in Drinking (especially about London, since the use of Coffee) less Excess in Dyet, but principally in Apparel than heretofore; insomuch, that the poor Tradesman is much pincht thereby; for as it is expedient for the benefit of the whole Commonwealth, that divers unnecessary and superfluous Commodities should be allowed, as Tobacco, Coffee, Spices, Sugars, Raisins, Silks, Fine Linnen, &c. so some less hurtful excesses (as in Apparel, Diet, Building, Rich Furniture of Houses, Hangings, Beds, Plate, Jewels, Coaches, Lacques, &c.) must either be connived at, or much of all the money of the Nation must lie dead and unmployed (as now it doth in the private, sullen, discontented, niggardly, Non-Conformists hand) and Tradesmen must either starve or be sustained by Alms.

The Sin of Buggery brought into England by the Lombards, as appears not onely by the word Bugeria, but also by Rot. Parl. 50 Ed. 3. N. 58. is now rarely practis'd amongst English, although sometimes discovered amongst Aliens in England, and then punish'd by Death without any remission.

Imprisonments, so ordinary in Italy, are so abominable amongst English, as 21 H. 8. it was made High Treason, though since repealed; after which the punishment for it was to be put alive into a Caldron of Water, and there boyled to death: at present it is Felony without benefit of Clergy.

Stabbing in England is much more seldom than in Italy, the English being easie to be reconciled, to pardon and remit offences, not apt to seek Revenge; the true well bred English have more of inclination to goodness, which the Greeks called Philantropia, than other Nations; the Nobility and well bred Gentry delighting to be gracious and courteous with Strangers; compassionate to the afflicted, and grateful to Benefactors, when their Purse or Estate not diverted by other extravagant expences, will give them leave to remember them.

Duelling so common heretofore, is now almost laid aside here as well as in France.

The English according to the Climate, are of a middle temper. The Northern Saturnine, and the Southern Mercurial temper meeting in their Constitutions, render them ingenious and active, yet solid and persevering, which nourisht under a suitable liberty, inspires a courage generous and lasting.

Their Ingeniuty will not allow them to be excellent at the Cheat, but subject in that point rather to take than give, and supposing others as open-hearted as themselves, are many times in Treaties over-matcht by them whom they

over-matcht in Arms and true Valor: which hath been very eminent in all Ages, and almost in all Lands and Seas too of the whole World.

The English since the Reformation are so much given to Literature, that all sorts are generally the most knowing people in the World. They have been so much addicted to Writing, and especially in their own Language, and with so much licence or connivance, that according to the observation of a Learned Man, there have been during our late Troubles and Confusions, more good and more bad Books printed and published in the English Tongue, than in all the vulgar Languages in Europe.

For solidity of Matter, for elegancy of Style and Method in their Sermons, Comedies, Romances; as also in their Books of Divinity, Philosophy, Physick, History; and all other solid Learning, no Nation hath surpassed the English, and few equall'd them.

The English, especially the Gentry, are so much given to Prodigality, Sports, and Pastimes, that Estates are oftner spent and sold, than in any other Countrey: They think it a piece of frugality beneath a Gentleman to Bargain before-hand, or to Count afterward, for what they eat in any place, though the rate be most unreasonable; whereby it comes to pass, that Cooks, Vintners, Innkeepers, and such mean fellows, enrich themselves, and begger and insult over the Gentry. In a word, by their prodigality it comes to pass, that not only those, but Tailors, Dancing-Masters, and such Trifling Fellows, arrive to that Riches and Pride, as to ride in their Coaches, keep their Summer-Houses, to be served in Plate, &c. an insolence insupportable in other well-govern'd Nations.

Because the several Punishments inflicted for several crimes; are different in most Countreys; and those of England much different from those of all other Countreys; a brief account of them, may probably not be unacceptable, to Forreigners especially.

Punishment of Criminals.

All crimes in England, that touch the life of a Man, are either High-Treason, Petty-Treason, or Felony. Although some High-Treasons are much more heinous and odious than others; yet the punishment by Law is the same for all sorts (except for Coyning of Money) and that is, That the Traitor laid upon a Hurdle or Sledge, be drawn to the Gallows, there hanged by the Neck, presently cut down alive, his Entrails to be suddenly pulled out of his Belly, and burnt before the face of the Criminal, then his Head to be cut off, his Body to be divided into four parts; and lastly, that the Head and Body be hung up, or impaled where the King shall command.

Besides all this, he shall forfeit all his Lands and Goods whatsoever, his Wife shall lose her Dower, his Children their Nobility, and all their right of inheriting him, or any other Ancestor: Our Law thinking it most reasonable, that he who endeavoured to destroy the King, the breath of our Nostrils, and thereby to rend er the Majesty of Government; his Body, Lands, Goods, and Posterity, should be rent, torn, and destroyed. For Coyning of Money, though adjudged High-Treason, the Punishment having been onely Drawing and Hanging, before the Stature of 25 Ed.3. it remains so still.

Petit

Petit-Treason, is either when a Servant killeth his Master or Mistriſs, or a Wife killeth her Husband; or a Clergy-man his Prelate, to whom he oweth obedience; and for this crime the Punishment is to be drawn (as before) and to be hanged by the Neck, till he be dead. The punishment for a Woman convicted of High-Treason, or Petit-Treason, is all one; and that is, to be drawn and burnt alive.

Felonies, are all other capital Crimes, for which antiently there were several sorts of Punishments, till Hen. 1. ordained, that the Punishments for all Felonies, should be to be hanged by the Neck till they be dead.

But if a Peer of the Realm commit High-Treason, Petit-Treason, or Felony, although his Judgement be the same with that of common persons: yet the King doth usually extend so much favour to such, as to cause them onely to be beheaded with an Ax, upon a Block lying on the ground, and not as in all other Countreys, by a Sword, kneeling or standing.

If a Criminal Indicted of Petit-Treason or Felony, refuseth to answer, or to put himself upon a Legal Tryal; then for such standing Mute, and Contumacy, he is presently to undergo that horrible punishment, called Paine forte & dure; that is, to be sent back to the Prison from whence he came, and there laid in some low dark room, upon the bare ground, on his back, all naked besides his Privy parts, his Arms and Legs drawn with Cords, fastened to the several quarters of the room; then shall be laid upon his Body, Iron and Stone, so much as he may bear, or more: the next day he shall have three Morsels of Barley Bread without Drink; and the third day shall have have Drink of the Water, next to the Prison-door, except it be Running Water, without Bread; and this shall be his Diet till he dye, Which grievous kind of death, some stout fellows have sometimes chosen, that so not being tried and convicted of their Crimes, their Estates may not be forfeited to the King, but descend to their Children; nor their Blood stained.

But, in case of High-Treason, though the Criminal stand Mute, yet Judgement shall be given against him, as if he had been convicted, and his Estate confiscated,

After Beheading or Hanging, the Criminals friends usually interr the Body decently, where they please; onely if the Crime be very enormous, as for Murdering and Robbing any person, then by Order is the Criminal usually hanged by the Neck, till he be dead, and afterwards hanged in Chains till the Body rot; and in some cases his right hand is first cut off, and then hanged.

In all such Felonies, where the Benefit of Clergy is allowed (as it is in many) there the Criminal is to be mark'd with a hot Iron, with a T. or M. for Thief or Man-slayer, on the left Hand; and wandring Rogues are to be burnt on the Shoulder with an R.

Antiently in the time of the Saxon Christian Kings, and sometime after the coming of the Norman Kings, Men were rarely put to death for any Crime, but either paid grievous Fines, or for the more enormous Crimes, to lose their Eyes, or their Testicles; and so remaining living Monuments of their Impieties, as punishments far worse than death; which among Christians, is believed to be but a passage, for all all truly penitent, from this life to a far better, and so more a Reward than a Punishment.

For Petit Larceny, or small Theft, that is of the value of 12 d. or under, the punishment antiently, was sometimes by loss of an Ear, sometimes by Cudgelling; but since Edw. 3. only by Whipping; but if such Pettit-Thief be found by the Jury, to have fled for the same, he forfeiteth all his Goods.

Perjury, by bearing false Witness upon Oath, is punish'd with the Pillory, called Collistrigium, burnt in the Forehead with a P. his Trees growing upon his ground, to be rooted up, and his Goods confiscated.

Forgery, Cheating, Libelling, False Weights, and Measures, Forestalling the Market, Offences in Baking and Brewing, are commonly punish'd with standing in the Pillory, and sometimes to have one or both Ears nailed to the Pillory, and cut off, or there bored through the Tongue with a hot Iron.

The punishment for Misprison of High-Treason, that is, for neglecting, or concealing it, is forfeiture of the Profits of his Lands during life, and of all Goods, and also imprisonment for life.

For Striking in the King's Court, whereby Bloud is drawn, the punishment is, that the Criminal shall have his right Hand stricken off, in most sad and solemn manner; as more at large may be seen, in the Chapter of the King's Court.

For striking in Westminster-Hall whilst the Courts of Justice are sitting, is imprisonment during life, and forfeiture of all his Estate.

For one found in a Premunire, that is, one who incurs the same punishment which was inflicted on those who transgressed the Statute tute of 16 Rich. 2 cap. 5. commonly called the Statute of Præmunire, corruptly, as some think, from the Writ Præmunire, for Præmonere factus, &c. for such an one, the punishment is forfeiture of all his Estate, to be put out of the King's Protection, and imprisonment during the King's pleasure.

The punishment of Petit Furors attainted of giving a Verdict contrary to Evidence, wittingly, is severe and terrible; they are condemned to lose the Franchise or Freedom of the Law; that is, become infamous and of no credit, uncapable of being a Witness, or of a Jury; their Houses, Lands, and Goods, shall be seized into the King's hands, their Houses pulled down, their Meadows ploughed up, their Trees rooted up, all their Lands laid waste, and their Bodies imprisoned.

The like Punishment is also for those who shall conspire to Indict an Innocent falsely, and maliciously of Felony.

Any Man or Woman convicted in the Bishops Court of Heresie, is to be delivered over to the Secular Power, and to burnt alive.

Felo de se, that is, one, who wittingly killeth himself, is to be buried out of Christian Burial, with a stake driven through the Corps, and to forfeit his Goods.

Drunkards, Vagabonds, &c. are punished by setting their legs in the Stocks for certain hours.

Scholding Women are to be seated in a Trebuchet, commonly called a Cuckingstool, perhaps from the French Coquine, and the German Stul, the Leams Chair, placed over some deep water, into which they are let down, and plunged under water thrice, to cool their choler and heat.

Other

Other misdemeanors are commonly punished with Imprisonments or Fines, and sometimes with both.

As for breaking on the Wheel, and other like torturing Deaths, common in other Christian Countreys, the English look upon them as too cruel for Christian Professors to use.

For putting any to the Rack, (unless perhaps in some cases of High-Treason) it is by the English believed to savour of too much slavishness; besides, they contemning and despising death, and yet not enduring Torture, will sooner acknowledge themselves guilty of any the foulest Crimes whatsoever, than be put to the Rack, and then the people not accustomed to such cruelty, would be apt to pity the party tortured, and abominate the Sovereign and his Judges, for introducing such a Custom, the Jury would easily quit the Prisoner of whatever Confession should be thus extorted.

To give the Reader an exact account of the number of people in England, will be very difficult, but a near conjecture may be thus made.

England contains 972 Parishes, now allowing to each Parish one with another 80 Families, there will be 77800 Families, and to each Family 7 persons, there will be found in all Five Millions four hundred forty six thousand souls, and amongst them One Million of fighting Men.

Their Language

The English Tongue being at present much refined, exceedingly copious, expressive, and significant (by reason of a liberty taken by the Natives of borrowing out of all other Languages, whatever might conduce therunto) is as their Bloud) a mixture chiefly of the old Saxon) a Dialect of the Teutonic) and the old Norman) a Dialect of the French) not without some favour of the Britains, Romans, and Danes, Languages.
(as

The Romans possessing England, caused their Tongue, the Latine once, to be generally used in this Countrey.

The Saxons succeeding, introduced their Language, wheresoever they seated themselves.

The Normans afterwards getting possession of England, caused the Norman or French Tongue to be learnt at School, by the Saxons, and for a long time, had all Laws, Pleadings, Sermons, &c. in French.

The Latine Tongue at present is made use of in Court-Rolls, Records, Processes of Courts, in Charters, Commissions, Patents, Writs, Bonds, and some Statutes, are still kept in that Language.

The names of Shires, Cities, Towns and Villages, Places, and Men in England, are generally Saxon, and so are most Nouns Appellative, and a great part of the Verbs.

In French, or rather Norman, are still written the Common Laws, and learnt by young Students thereof. Also some Pleadings, and all Moots, and Law-Exercises, are wholly French. Declarations upon Original Writs, and all Records are written in French, some old Statutes are still in that Tongue. In Parliament, the assent, or dissent to Bills made by the King, Lords, or Commons, is in French. Almost all our Terms in Hunting, Hawking, Dicing, Dancing, Singing, &c. are still French.

The Natives of England, by reason of the Stature.
Temperate Climate, mild Air, not rendered unequal by High Mountains, and unhealthy by many Marves, plenty of wholesome food, and the use of Beer rather than Wine) Pour la belle taille & le beau teint au visage, as the French say, for a just, handsome, large proportion of a Body, for clear complexions and pleasing features, do surpass all the Nations in the World. And perhaps for some of the same reasons, most other Animals, as the Horses, Oxen, Sheep, Swine, Dogs, Cocks, &c. are observed by Strangers, to be generally better shaped, than in any other Countrey of Europe.

Diet.

The English are generally great Flesh-eaters, although by the nearness of the Sea, and abundance of Rivers and Fish-Ponds, there is no want of Fishi. In former times, their Table was in many places, covered four times a day: they had Breakfasts, Dinners, Beverages, and Suppers, and every where Set Dinners and Suppers, until the time of the late Troubles; where in many eminent Families, being much impoverished, a custom was taken up by some of the Nobility and Gentry, of eating a more plentiful Dinner, but little or no Supper; as on the contrary, the Romans and Jews anciently, and the hotter Climates at this day, have little or no Dinners, but Set Suppers.

The English are not now so much addicted to Gluttony and Drunkenness, as of late years, but unto Tobacco more.

Feasting also is not so common and profuse, as anciently; for although the Feasts at Coronations: at the Installation of Knights of the Garter, Consecration of Bishops, Entertainments of Ambassadors, the Feasts of the Lord Mayor of London, of Sergeants at Law, and Readers Feasts in the Inns of Court, , are all very sumptuous tuous and magnificent in these times yet compared to the Feasts of our Ancestors, seem to be but niggardly and sparing: for Richard, Earl of Corwal, Brother to Henry 3d. had at his Marriage Feast, as is Recorded; Thirty thousand Dishies of Meat; and King Richard the Second, at a Christmas, spent daily 26 Oxen, 300 Sheep, besides Fowl, and all other Provision proportionably: so antiently at a Call of Sergeants at Law, each Sergeant (saith Fortescue) spent Sixteen hundred Crowns in Feasting, which in those days, was more than 1600 l. now.

The English that feed not over liberally (whereto the great plenty and variety of Viands entice them) nor drink much Wine, but content themselves with small Ale or Sider, (but especially the latter) are observed to be much more healthy, and far longer lived, than any of our neighboring Nations.

Since the late Rebellion, England hath abounded in variety of Drinks (as it did lately, variety of Religions) above any Nation in Europe. Besides all sorts of the best Wines from Spain, France, Italy, Germany, Grocia; there are sold in London, above 20 sorts of other Drinks, as Brandy, Coffee, Chocolate, Tee, Aromatick, Rum, Sider, Perry, Beer, Ale, many sorts of Ales, very different, as Cock, Stepony, Stichback, Hull, North-Down, Sambidge, Betony, Sourvy-gyses, Sage-Ale, &c. a piece of Wantoness, whereof none of our Ancestors were ever guilty.

For Apparel or Clothing, the French Made Attire hath been generally used in England of late years: In the time of Queen Elizabeth, sometimes the High-Dutch, sometimes the Spanish, and sometimes the Turkish and Morisco Habits were by the English, worn in England, when the Women wore Doublets, with Pendant Cod-pieces on the Breast, full of Tags and Cuts; moreover, Gallygascons, Fardingales, and Stockings of divers colours; but since the Restoration of the King, now Reigning, England never saw, for matter of Wearing Apparel, less prodigality, and more modesty in Clothes, more plainness and comeliness, then amongst her Nobility, Gentry, and superiour Clergy; onely the Citizens, the Countrey People, and the Servants, appear clothed for the most part, above, and beyond their Qualities, Estates, or Conditions, and far more gay than that sort of People was wont to be heretofore. Since our last breach with France, the English Men (though not the Women) have quitted the French Mode, and taken a grave Wear, much according with the Oriental Nations, but that is now left, and the French Mode again taken up.

For variety of Divertisements, Sports, and Recreations, no Nation doth excel the English:
 Recreati-
 ons, The King hath abroad, his Forests, Chases, and Parks, full of variety of Game; for Hunting Red and Fallow Deer, Foxes, Otters; Hawking, his Paddock Courses, Horse-Races, &c. and at home, Tennis, Pelmeil, Billiard, Enterludes; Balls, Ballets, Masks, &c. The Nobility and Gentry have their Parks, Warrens, Decoys; Paddock-Courses, Horse-Races, Huntings, Courseing, Fishing, Fowling, Hawking, Setting-Dogs; Tumblers, Lurchers, Duck-hunting, Cock-fighting, Guns for Birding, Low-Bells, Bat-Fowling; Angling, Nets, Tennis, Bowling, Billiards, Tables, Chess, Draughts, Cards, Dice, Catches; Questions, Purposes, Stage-Plays, Masks, Balls, Dancing, Singing, all sorts of Musical Instruments, ments, &c. The Citizens and Peasants have, Hand-Ball, Foot-Ball, Skittles, or Nine-Pins, Shovel-Board, Stow-Ball, Goffe, Trol-Madams, Cudgels, Bear-baiting, Bull-baiting, Bow and Arrow, Throwing at Cocks, Shuttlecock, Bowling, Quoits, Leaping, Wrestling, Pitching the Bar, and Ringing of Bells, a Recreation used in no other Countrey of the World.

Amongst these, Cock-fighting seems to all Forreigners, too childish and unsuitable for the Gentry, and for the Common People; Bull-baiting, and Bear-baiting, seem too cruel; and for the Citizens, Foot-Ball, and Throwing at Cocks, very uncivil, rude, and barbarous within the City.

Nomina quasi Notamina, Names were first imposed upon Men for distinction sake by the Jews, at their Circumcision, by the Romans at the ninth day after their Birth, and by the Christians at the Baptisme; of which signification for the most part that might denote the future good hope, or good wishes of Parents towards their Children.

English Names.

The English Names of Baptisme are generally either Saxon, as Robert, Richard, Henry, William, Edward, Edmund, Edwin, Gilbert, Walter, Leonard, &c. which are all very significative, or else out of the Old and New Testament, as Abraham, Isaack, Jacob, Fohn, Thomas, James, &c. Or sometimes the Mothers Sirname, and rarely two Christian Names, which yet is usual in other Countreys, especially in Germany.

Names super-added to the Christian Names the French call Sirnames (i. e.) super Nomina.

Sirnames.

The Hebrews, Greeks, and most other ancient Nations had no Sirnames fixt to their Families, as in these days, but counted thus, for example example among the Hebrews, Melchi Ben Adai, Addi Ben Casam, &c. So the Britains, Hugh ap Owen, Owen ap Rbese; So the Irish Neal, mac Con, Con mac Dermoti, &c.

As Christian Names were first given for distinction of Persons, so Surnames for distinction of Families.

About Anno 1000 the French Nation began to take Surnames with de prefix of a place, and le prefix for some other qualifications; as at this day, is their usual manner. The English also took to themselves Surnames, but not generally by the common People, till the Reign of Edward the First.

Great Offices of Honour have brought divers Surnames, as Edward Fitz-Theobald, being long ago made Butler of Ireland, the Duke of Ormond and his Ancestors descended from him, took the Surname of Butler; so John Count Tanquerville of Normandy, being made Chamberlain to the King of England, above 400 years ago, his Descendants of Sherborn Castle in Oxfordshire, and of Prestbury in Glocestershire, bear still the same Coat of Arms, by the name of Chamberlain.

At first, for Surnames, the English Gentry took the name of their Birth-place, or Habitation, as Thomas of Aston, or East-Town, John of Sutton, or South-Town; and as they altered their Habitation, so they altered their Surname. After, when they became Lords of places, they called themselves Thomas Aston of Aston, John Sutton of Sutton.

The Saxon common People for Surnames, added their Fathers Name with Son at the end thereof, as Thomas Foknson, Robert Richardson. They also oft took their Fathers Nick-name, or Abbreviation with addition of s. as Gibs,

the Nick-Name or Abbreviation of Gilbert, Hobs of Robert, Nicks of Nicholas, Bates of Bartholomew, Sams of Samuel, Hodges of Roger; and thence also Gibson, Hobson, Nickson, Batson, Sampson, Hodson; and Hutchinson, &c. Many also were surnamed from their Trade, as Smith, Foyner, Weaver, Walker, that is Fuller in Old English; and Goff, that is, Smith in Welch, &c. Or from their Offices, as Porter, Steward, Shepherd, Carter, Spencer that is, Steward, Cook, Butler, Kemp, that in Old English, Soldier: or from their place of abode, as Underwood, Underhill also Atwood, Atwell, Atbill; which three last, are shrunk into Wood, Wells, Hill; Or from their Colour or Complexion, as Fairfax, that is Fair Locks, Pigot, that is Speckled, Blunt or Blund, that is Flaxen Hair; so from Birds, as Arundel, that is, Swallow, Corbet, that is Raven, Wren, Finch, Woodcock, &c. so from Beasts, as Lamb, Fox, Moyle, that is Mule.

The Normans at their first coming into England, brought Surnames for many of their Gentry, with de prefixt, as the French Gentry doth generally at this day, and their Christian Names were generally German; they being originally descended from Norway, Inhabited by Germans. And some for about 200 years after the Conquest, took for Surnames, their Fathers Christian Name, with Fitz, or Fils prefixt, as Robert Fitz William, Henry Fitz Gerard, which is as much as Williamson, Gerardson, &c.

The Britains or Welsh more lately refined, did not take Surnames till of late years, and that for the most part onely, by leaving out a in ap, and annexing the p. to their Fathers Christian Name; as instead of Evan ap Rice, now Evan Price, so instead of ap Howel, Powels ap Hugbe, Pugbe, ap Rogers, Progers, &c.

The most antient Families, and of best account for Surnames in England, are either those that are taken from places in Normandy, and thereabouts in France, and from some other Transmarine Countreys, or else from places in England and Scotland, as Evreux, Chaworth, Seymour, Nevil, Montague, Mobun, Biron, Bruges, Clifford, Berkley, Arcy, Stourton, Morley, Courtney, Grandison, Hastings, &c. which antiently had all de prefixt, but of latter times generally neglected, or made one word, as Deve-reux, Darcy, &c.

English
tion.

In England, at the beginning of Christianity they counted, as all other Christians, according to the then Roman account, by Olympiads, or space of five years. Afterwards (in the Reign of Constantine, the First Christian Emperor) by Inditions, or Fifteen years; at length in the Reign of the Emperor Justinian, 532 years after Christs Incarnation (and not before) all Christians generally began to count ab Anno Christi incarnati, at which time one Dionysius Exiguus or Abas, a worthy Roman, had finisht a Cycle for the observation of Easter, which was then generally received, and is still observed by the Church of England, the ground whereof is this. The Vernal Equinox at that time was accounted to be the 21 of March, and by consequence, must be the earliest Full Moon, and then March the 8, must be the earliest New Moon, and April the 18 must be the latest Full Moon; which happening on a Sunday (as it will when the Dominical Letter is C. and the Golden Number 8.) then Easter that year, will be April 25. So when the New Moon shall be on March 2. (as it will when the Dominical Letter is D: and the Golden Number 16.) then 16.) then Easter will be on the 22 of March, as was in the year 1668:

But the Romish Church inventing new Rules, for finding of Easter, it happens sometimes, that their Easter is full five weeks before ours, and sometimes with ours, but never after ours, for Pope Gregory the 13th: in the year 1582. having observed, that upon exact account, the year contained above 365 days, not full six hours (as had been from the time of Julius Caesar hitherto reckoned) but only 5 hours 49 Minutes, and 16 Seconds, and this difference of almost 11 Minutes, in the space of about 134 years, maketh one whole day, which not considered since the regulation of Easter, had brought back the year at least 10 days; in so much, that the Vernal Equinox, which was at first on the 21 of March; was now on the 11 of March; by reason whereof, sometimes two Full Moons past between the Equinox and Easter, contrary to the Primitive Institution thereof, which was, that Easter should always be observed on the Sunday following the first Full Moon after the Vernal Equinox. Pope Gregory then having observed these Inconveniences, resolved at once to take away ten days, and that out of the month of October, by calling the 5th day thereof the 15th, and that for that year those Festivals which fell in those ten days, which, by reason of the Vintage time, were but few, should be celebrated upon the 15, 16, and 17 days of that month. And that the Equinox might never retrocede for the future. it was then provided, that every 400 years, three Bissextile years should be left out, that is, in the years 1700, 1800, and 1900, and so again in 2100, 2200, and 2303, leaving the year 2000. to have its Bissextile, and so every 400th year.

The English Nation, as all other States, that withdrew themselves from under the Bishop of Rome's usurped Authority, before the said year 1582, except Holland and Zealand, observe still the ancient account made by Julius Caesar, 43 years before the birth of Christ: and is therefore called the Old Style, or Julian Account: the other observed by those still under the Romish Yoke, is called the New Style, or Gregorian Account: and is, (by reason of the aforesaid ten days taken away) 10 days before ours, for the beginning of Months, and for all fixt Festivals; but various for all moveable Feasts, Easter, and the other moveable Feasts in England, are most certainly thus found. Shrove-Tuesday, is always the first Tuesday after the first New Moon after January, and the Sunday following, is Quadragesima; and the sixth Sunday after is Easter-day, and the fifth Sunday after Easter is Rogation Sunday; and the Thursday following, being 40 days after the Resurrection, is Ascension day; Ten days after which, or 50 days after Easter, is Pentecost, or Whit-sunday, and the Sunday following, is Trinity-Sunday; which computation of the Church of England, agrees with all the Eastern Christian Churches; for they and we find Easter by the Rules which were generally received by all Christendom, An. 332. and ever since, till 1582. it was altered by the Pope, as aforesaid. Yet cannot it be denied, but that this old computation is become erroneous; for by our Rules, two Easters will be observed in one year, as in the year 1667. and not one Easter in another year, as in 1668. as this Author observed formerly in his Proposals to the Parliament.

But

But to reduce all to the same order, as it was at the Birth of Christ, that so the Annunciation or Conception of our Saviour, may be at the Vernal Equinox, his Nativity at the Winter Solstice, and St. John his fore-runner at the Summer Solstice, as it ought to be, may easily be effected, if His Majesty pleased to Command, that from this year, 1672. forward, there may be omitted 15 Leap years: that is, let there be no more Dies intercalares, for the next 60 years to come, but that every year may consist of 365 days only, for thereby would the year be brought back, just 12 days, 12 hours, 6 Minutes, and 8 Seconds: for the year consisting of 365 days, 5 hours, 49 Minutes, and 16 Seconds every 4th year, putting in a whole day, or 24 hours, there is put in too much by 42 Minutes, and 56 Seconds, which by 418 Leap years now since Christs Birth, have thrust back our year just 12 days, 12 hours, 6 Minutes, and 8 Seconds.

Advent-Sunday hath a peculiar Rule, and is always the 4th Sunday before Christmas-day, or the nearest Sunday to St. Andrews day, whether before or after.

The year in England, according to the Cycles of the Sun and Moon, and according to Almanacks, begins on the first of January, but the English Church and State begins the year from the day of Christs Incarnation, viz. on the 25th of March, which is also observed in Spain; yet the Portuguese (as in divers Countreys in Africa) begin their year on the 29th of August, the Venetians on the first of March, according to the Epall; the Græcians on the longest day, as the old Romans did on the shortest day; which two last seem to have most reason, as begin.

ning just at the Periodical day of the Suns return.

The Natural day consisting of 24 hours, is begun in England, according to the Custom of the Egyptians and antient Romans, at Midnight, and counted by 12 hours to Mid-day, and again by 12 hours to next Midnight, whereas in Italy, Bobemia, Poland, and some other Countreys, their account is from Sun-setting by 24 of the clock to the next Sun-setting, and at Noremberg, and Wittenbergh in Germany, according to the old Babylonian account, they begin at the first hour after Sun-rising, to count one of the clock, and so again at the first hour after Sun-sett. But Astronomers accomodating their calculations to the most noble time of the day, begin their Account from Noon to Noon, as do still the Arabians and some other.

ning.

There was a time when those Names of Number amongst all civiliz'd Nations were unknown to them, and probably they then applyed the Fingers of one, and sometimes of both Hands to things, whereof they desired to keep Account, (as is yet done among the illiterate Indians) and thence it may be, that the Numeral words are but Ten in any Nation, and in some Nations but Five; and then they begin again, as after Decem, Undecem, Duodecim, &c.

The Hebrews and the Greeks instead of Numeral Words used the Letters of their Alphabets, beginning again after the tenth Letter.

The Latines made use onely of 7 of their Capital Alphabets, viz.

MDCLXVI, all comprehended in this Figure, and all made use of in the same order, in the fatal year, 1666, which never did happen before, nor ever will happen again: and therefore in memory thereof for the future

ture it might be expedient, especially for the Londons to count thus (X) VI. 1672. (X) VII. 1673. &c.

The English (as all the Western Christian World till about 400 years ago) used onely Numeral Words in all Writings; but since use the Figures, 1, 2, 3, &c. which the Christians learnt first of the Maures, or Arabs, and they of the Indians.

CHAP. III.

Of the Government of ENGLAND in general.

OF Governments there can be but Three Kinds, for either One or More, or All, must have the Sovereign Power of a Nation. If One, then it is a Monarchy; If More (that is an Assembly of Choice Persons) then it is Aristocracy; If All (that is, the Assembly of the People) then it is a Democracy.

Of all Governments the Monarchical as most resembling the Divinity, and nearest approaching to perfection (Unity being the perfection of all things) hath ever been esteemed the most excellent.

Ἦν αὐτῶν πολυκοιτητῶν· εἰς κοίτην ὁ ἕως,
"Εἰς βασιλεὺς—

For the transgressions of a Land, many are the Princes or Rulers thereof, Prov. 28.2.

Of Monarchies, some are Despotic, where

the Subjects like Servants, are at the Arbitrary Power and Will of their Sovereign, as the Turks and Barbarians. Others Political or Paternal, where the Subjects like Children under a Father, are governed by equal and just Laws, consented and sworn unto by the King; as is done by all Christian Princes at their Coronations.

Of Paternal Monarchies, some are Hereditary, where the Crown descends either only to Heirs Male, as in France, hath been long practised; or to the next of Blood, as in Spain, England, &c. Others Elective, whereupon the death of every Prince, without respect had to their Heirs or next of Blood, another by Solemn Election is appointed to succeed, as in Poland and Hungary, and till of late in Denmark and Bohemia.

Or Hereditary Paternal Monarchies, some are dependent; and holden of earthly Potentates, and are obliged to do homage for the same; as the Kingdoms of Scotland (though this be stiffly denied by Scotch Writers) and of Man, that held in Capite of the Crown of England, and the Kingdom of Naples, holden of the Pope; others independent, holden only of God, acknowledging no Supreme Superiour upon Earth.

England is an Hereditary Paternal Monarchy, governed by one Supreme Independent and Undeposable Head, according to the known Laws and Customs of the Kingdom.

It is a Free Monarchy, challenging above many other European Kingdoms, a freedom from all subjection to the Emperor, or Laws of the Empire; for that the Roman Emperors obtaining antiently the Dominion of this Land by force of Arms; and afterwards abandoning the same,

same, the Right by the Law of Nations returning to their former Owners pro derelicto, as Civilians speak.

It is a Monarchy free from all manner of subjection from the Bishop of Rome, and thereby from divers inconveniences and burdens, under which the neighbouring Kingdoms groan: as Appeals to Rome in sundry Ecclesiastical Suits, Provisions, and Dispensations, on several cases to be procured from thence; many Tributes and Taxes paid to that Bishop, &c.

It is a Monarchy free from all Interregnum, and with it from many mischiefs whereunto Elective Kingdoms are subject.

England is such a Monarchy, as that, by the necessary subordinate concurrence of the Lords and Commons in the making and repealing all Statutes or Acts of Parliament, it hath the main advantages of an Aristocracy, and of a Democracy, and yet free from the disadvantages and evils of either.

It is such a Monarchy, as by most admirable temperament affords very much to the Industry, Liberty, and Happiness of the Subject, and reserves enough for the Majesty and Prerogative of any King that will own his people as Subjects, not as Slaves.

It is a Kingdom, that of all the Kingdoms of the World, is the most like the Kingdom of Jesus Christ, whose yoke is easie, whose burden is light,

It is a Monarchy that without Interruption hath been continued almost 1000 years, (and till of late) without any attempts of change of that Government: so that to this sort of Government the English seem to be naturally inclined, and therefore during the late Bouleversations, or overturnings, when all the Art that

Art that the Devil or Man could imagine was industriously made use of to change this Monarchy into a Democracy, this Kingdom into a Commonwealth, the most and the best of English Men; the general Spirit and Genius of the Nation (not so much the Presbyterian or Royalist) by mighty, though invisible, influence, concurred at once to restore their exiled Sovereign, and re-establish that ancient Government.

C H A P. IV.

Of the KING of ENGLAND; and therein of His Name, Title, Arms, Dominions, Patrimony, Revenue, and Strength: Of His Person, Office, Power, Prerogative, Supremacy, Sovereignty, Divinity, and Respect.

Name.

THE King is so called from the Saxon word Koning, intimating Power and Knowledge, wherewith every Sovereign should especially be invested.

The Title antiently of the Saxon King Edgar, was, Anglorum Basileus & Dominus quatuor Marium, viz. The British, German, Irish, and Deucaledonian Seas; and sometimes Anglorum Basileus omniumque Regum, Insularum, Oceanique, Britanniam circumjacentis, cunctarumque Nationum quæ infra eam includuntur, Imperator & Dominus.

The

The Modern Title more modest, is, Dei Gratia, of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith.

The King is only Dei Gratia simply (i.e.) from the favor of none but God; and the Archbishops and Bishops, to whom that Title is given, must understand, Dei Gratia & Regis, or Dei Gratia & voluntate Regis.

Defender of the Faith, was anciently used by the Kings of England, as appears by several Charters granted to the University of Oxford; but in the year 1521, more affixt by a Bull from Pope Leo the Tenth, for a Book written by Henry the Eighth against Luther, in defence of some points of the Romish Religion; but since continued by Act of Parliament for defence of the Antient, Catholick, and Apostolical Faith.

Primogenitus Ecclesie belongs to the Kings of England, because their Predecessor Lucius was the first King in the World that embraced Christianity.

Christianissimus was by the Lateran Council under Pope Julius the 2d. conferred on the Kings of England, in the fifth year of Henry the 8th. though before used by Henry the 7th. and since onely by the French King.

The Title of Grace was first given to the King about the time of H. 4. to H. 6. Excellent Grace, to Ed. 4. High and Mighty Prince; to Hen. 8, first Highbness, then Majesty, and now Sacred Majesty, after the Custom of the Eastern Emperors, that used 'Αγία Βασιλεία.

The King of England in his publick Instruments and Letters, styles himself Nos, We, in the Plural Number. Before King John's time, Kings used the Singular Number; which Custom

Stom is still seen in the end of Writs, Teste me- ipso apud West.

In speaking to the King is used often (besides Your Majesty) Syr, from Cyr, in the Greek Κύς, an Abbreviation of Κύριος and Κύριος. Dominus, much used to the Greek Emperours; but Syr or Domine is now in England become the ordinary word to all of better rank, even from the King to the Gentleman. It was antiently in England given to Lords, afterwards to Knights, and to Clergy-men, prefixt before their Christian names; now in that manner onely to Baronets and Knights of the Bath, and *Knights Bachelor*s; yet in France, Syr, or Syre, is reserved onely for their King.

About the time that our Saviour lived on Earth, there was a Jewish Sect, whose Ring-leader was one Judas of Galilee, mentioned Acts 5. 37. that would not give this Title of Sir or Dominus to any man; affirming that it was proper onely to God, and stood (not unlike our new Fanaticks, called Quakers) so per-versely for such Nominal Liberty (being in other points meet Pharisees) that no penalties could force them to give this Honorary Title to any man, no not to the Emperor: Uti videre est apud Josephum & alios. Sed hoc obiter.

Arms.

Arms are Ensigns of Honour born in a Shield for distinction of Families, and descendable as hereditary to Posterity; but were not fixed generally in England nor France, till after the Wars in the Holy-land, about 400 years ago, unless it were in the Kings of Europe.

The Saxon Kings before the Conquest bare Azure a Cross Formy between four Martlets Or.

And, bare Or Semi de Harts Gules, 3 Lyons Passant Gardant Azure.

After the Conquest the Kings of England bare two Leopards, born first by the Conqueror as Duke of Normandy, till the time of Henry the Second, who in right of his Mother annexed her Paternal Coat, the Lyon of Aquitaine, which being of the same Field, Metal, and form with the Leopards, from thenceforward they were joyntly Marshalled in one Shield, and Blazoned 3 Lyons, as at present.

King Edward the Third in right of his Mother claiming the Crown of France, with the Arms of England quartered the Arms of France, which then were Azure, Semy Flower-de-luces Or; afterwards changed to three Flower-de-luces; whereupon Henry the Fifth of England caused the English Arms to be changed likewise: King James upon the Union of England and Scotland, caused the Arms of France and England to be quartered with Scotland and Ireland, and are thus blazoned.

In the first place Azure, 3 Flower-de-luces Or; or the Regal Arms of France, quartered with the Imperial Ensigns of England; which are Gules three Lyons Passant Gardant in Pale Or. In the second place, within a double Tressure counterflowed de lis Or, a Lyon Rampant Gules, for the Royal Arms of Scotland. In the third place, Azure, an Irish Harp Or, stringed Argent, for the Royal Ensigns of Ireland. In the fourth place as in the first. All within the Garter, the chief Ensign of that most Honourable Order; above the same an Helmet, answerable to His Majesties Sovereign Jurisdiction; upon the same a rich Mantle of Cloth of Gold doubled led Ermin, adorned with an Imperial Crown, and surmounted for a Crest by a Lyon Passant Gardant Crowned with the like; supported by a Lion Rampant Gardant Or, Crowned as the former, and an Unicorn Argent Gorged, with a Crown, thereto a Chain affixt, passing between his fore-legs, and reflex'd over his back Or; both standing upon a Compartment placed underneath, and in the Table of the Compartment His Majesties Royal Motto, Dieu & mon Droit.

The Supporters used before the Union of England and Scotland, were the Dragon and Lyon.

The Arms of France placed first, for that France is the greater Kingdom, and because, from the first bearing, those Flowers have been always Ensigns of a Kingdom; whereas the Arms of England were originally of Dukedoms, as aforesaid, and probably because thereby the French might be the more easily induced to acknowledge the English Title.

The Motto upon the Garter, Honi soit qui mal y pense; that is, Shame be to him that evil thereof thinketh, was first given by King Edward the Third, the Founder of that Order; and that none might believe his design therein was any other than just and honourable, he caused those words to be wrought in every Garter that he bestowed; whereof more in the Chapter of the Knights of the Garter.

The Motto Dieu & mon Droit, that is, God and my Right, was first given by Richard the First, to intimate, that the King of England holdeth his Empire not in Vassallage of any mortal Man, but of God onely; and afterward taken up by Edward the Third, when he first claimed the Kingdom of France. The devise of a Portcullis of a Castle, yet to be seen

In many places, was the Badge or Cognizance of the Beauforts, Sons of John of Ghaunt, Duke of Lancaster, because they were born at his Castle of Beaufort in France.

The antient Dominions of the Kings of England, were first England, and all the Seas round about Great Britain and Ireland, and all the Isles adjacent, even to the Shores of all the Neighboring Nations; and our Law saith, the Sea is of the Liegeance of the King, as well as the Land; and, as a mark thereof, all Ships of Forreigners have antiently demanded leave to Fish, and pass in these Seas; and do at this day lower their Topfails to all the Kings Ships of War; and therefore children born upon those Seas (as it sometimes hath hapned) are accounted natural born Subjects of the King of England, and need no naturalization, as others born out of his Dominions.

To England, Henry the First annex Normandy, and Henry the Second Ireland, being styled onely Lord of Ireland, till 33 H. 8. although they had all Kingly Jurisdiction before.

Henry the Second also annex the Dukedoms of Guien and Anjou, the Counties of Poitou, Tourain, and Mayn; Edward the First all Wales, and Edward the Third the Right, though not the possession, of all France.

King James added Scotland, and since that time there have been super-added sundry considerable Plantations in America.

The Dominions of the King of England are at this day, in possession (besides his just Right and Title to the Kingdom of France) all England, Scotland and Ireland, three Kingdoms of large extent, with all the Isles about it, above 40 in number, small and great, whereof some very very considerable; and all the Seas adjacent. Moreover the Islands of Fersey, Guernsey, Alderney, and Sark, which are Parcel of the Dutchy of Normandy; besides those profitable Plantations of New-England, Virginia, Barbados, Jamaica, Florida, Bermudas, New-Netherlands, with several other Isles and Places in those Quarters, and some in the East-Indies, and upon the Coast of Africa; also upon the North parts of America, by right of first discovery to Estrait land, Terra-Cortoriana, New-found-land, and to Guiana in the South, the King of England hath a Legal Right, though not possession.

Patrimony.

King William the Conqueror getting by right of Conquest all the Lands of England (except Lands belonging to the Church, to Monasteries and religious Houses) into his own hands in Domesday, as Lawyers speak, soon bestowed among his Subjects a great part thereof, reserving some Retribution of Rents, or Services, or both, to him and his Heirs Kings of England; which reservation is now, as it was before the Conquest, called the Tenure of Lands; the rest he reserved to himself in Domesday, called Corona Regis Dominica, Domains, and Sacra Patrimonia, Prædium Domini Regis, Directum Dominium, cuius nullus est Auctor nisi Deus: all other Lands in England being held now of some Superiour, depend mediately or immediately on the Crown, but the Lands possessed by the Crown being held of none, can escheat to none; being Sacred, cannot become Profane, are or should be permanent and inalienable. And yet they have been (by Time, the Gift and Bounty of our Kings, and some Necessities for the preservation of the Weal Publick) much alienated. However there is yet yet left or was lately, almost in every County of England, a Forest, a Park, a Castle, or Royal Palace belonging to the King; and in divers Counties there are many Parks, Castles, or Palaces, and Forests, still belonging to His Majesty, for to receive and divert Him, when he shall please in his Royal Progresses to visit those parts: A Grandeur not to be parallel'd perhaps by any King in the whole World.

land, were antiently greater, than of any King in Europe, they enjoying in Revenues Europe, they enjoying in Domains and Fee- Farm Rents, almost enough to discharge all the ordinary expences of the Crown, without any Tax or Impost upon the Subject.

Upon the happy Restauration of our present King, the Lords and Commons assembled in Parliament, finding the Crown Revenues much alienated, and the Crown Charges exceedingly increased, by reason of the late vast augmentation of the Revenues, and strength by Sea and Land, of our two next neighbor-Nations abroad, and of the many Factious, Mutinous, and Rebellious spirits at home, did unanimously conclude, that for the Peace and Security, for the Wealth and Honour of the King and Kingdom, It would be necessary to settle upon His Majesty a yearly Revenue of Twelve hundred thousand pounds; and accordingly, with the Kings consent, at the humble request of the Lords and Commons, there was establish'd by Imposts, upon Imported, and Exported Goods, upon Liquors drank in Eng-land, and upon Fire-Hearths, so much as was judged, would bring up the former impaired Crown Revenues to the said sum. Notwithstanding which, the whole yearly Revenues of the the King of Eng'and, are not above the twelfth part of the Revenues of his Kingdom; whereas the King of France, hath yearly above one hundred and fifty Millions of Livres, that is, above Eleven Millions of pounds Sterling, and above a Fifth part of the whole Revenues of France. And the publick Revenues of the United Neiberlands coming all out of the Subjects Purfes, are near Seven Millions of pounds Sterling.

If this Revenue of our King be truly paid to the King, and brought into the Kings Exchequer (that great Sea, whereinto so many Rivers and Rivulets empty themselves, and from whence are exhald by the Sun, those kind vapors, wherewith it watereth this whole Land; and whereby all His Majesties Land and Sea-Forces (by whose vigilance we sleep quietly in our Beds) are maintained; and whereby do subsist the several Courts of the King, and Royal Family (by which the Honour and splendor of this Nation is preserved) the several Ambassadors abroad, Great Officers of the Crown, and Judges at home, &c.) If this Revenue be truly paid, and brought into the Exchequer, it is sure, that in all Europe, there is no one Treasury, that with les-deceit, or les-charge of Officers, proportionably, doth re-imburse the same;

It was complained by H. 4. of France, Que les despens que faisoient les Officiers de l'Espargne montoient a plus que la Taille; That the charges of the Exchequer-Office exceeded the Income; and that there were then Thirty thousand Officers to collect and wait on the Revenues; whereas there cannot be any other just complaint in England, but onely that the necessary Charges of the Crown, are of late so great; that the Kings settled Revenue cannot defray them; and yet too many of his Subjects grudge to have those Revenues augmented, looking upon every little payment through a Magnifying-Glass, whereby it appears a great grievance, and never making use of those Prospective Glasses (Moral and Civil Science) whereby they might see afar off the Calamity, that is coming on like an armed man, and cannot without such payments be prevented.

The King of England's Revenues were never raised by any of those sordid, base ways, used in other Countreys, as by sale of Honours, sale of Magistracies, sale of Offices of Justice and Law, by Merchandizing, by a general impost upon all manner of Victuals, and Clothes, by Puertossecos, or Impost upon all Goods, at the entrance into any Inland County, or Inland City; by Pensions from Confederates, upon pretence of Protection &c.

But the Revenues of the King of England consist either in Demesnes, (as afore) or in Lands belonging to the Principality of Wales, Dutchy of Cornwal, and Dutchy of Lancaster, in Tenths, and First-Fruits, in Reliefs, Fines, Amercements, and Confiscations; but more especially of late, in those few Imposts aforementioned.

The mighty power of the King of England before the Conjunction of Scotland, and total subjection of Ireland, which were usually at enmity with him, was notoriously known to the World, and sufficiently felt by our neighbour-Nations. What his Strength hath been since, was never fully tried by King James or King Charles the First, their Parliaments and People, having upon all occasions been refractory, and thwarting those Good Kings designs: but now, that the Parliaments of all the three Kingdoms, seem to vie, which shall more readily comply with their Sovereigns Desires and Designs; it is not easy to comprehend what mighty things His Majesty now Reigning, might attempt and effect. But let him be considered abstractly, as King onely of England, which is like a huge Fortress, or Garrisoned Town, fenced, not only with strong Works, her Port-Towns, with a wide and deep Ditch, the Sea, but guarded also with excellent Out-works, the strongest and best built Ships of War in the World; then so abundantly furnish'd within with Men and Horse, with Victuals and Ammunition, with Clothes, and Money, that if all the Potentates of Europe should conspire, (which God forbid) they could hardly distress it. Her home-bred Wares are sufficient to maintain her, and nothing but her home-bred Wars enough to destroy her.

This for the defensive strength of the King of England; now for his Offensive Puissance. How formidable must he be to the World, when they shall understand, that the King of England is well able, when ever he is willing, to raise of English-men, two hundred thousand, and of English Horse, Fifty thousand, (for so many, during the late Rebellion, were computed to be in Arms on both sides) yet (which is admirable) scarce any miss of them in any City, Town or Village; and when they shall consider, that the valiant and martial Spirit of the English, their natural Agility of Body, their patience, hardiness, and stedfastness is such, and their fear of death so little, that no neighbor-Nation, upon equal Number and Terms, scarce durst ever abide Battel with them, either at Sea, or at Land: when they shall consider, that for transporting of an Army, the King of England hath at command 160 excellent Ships of War; and can hire 200 stout English Merchant Ships, little inferiour to Ships of War; that he can soon Man the same with the best Sea-Soldiers (if not the best Mariners) in the whole World. And that for maintaining such a mighty Fleet, sufficient Money for a competent time may be raised onely by a Land-Tax, and for a long time by a moderate Excise, and that upon such Commodities onely, as naturally occasion Excess or Luxury, Wantonness, Idleness, Pride, or corruption of Manners.

In a word, when they shall consider, that by the most commodious and advantageous scituation of England, the King thereof (if he be not wanting to himself, or his Subjects wanting to him) must be Master of the Sea, and that as on Land, whosoever is Master of the Field, is also said to be Master of every Town, when it shall please him; so he that is Master of the Sea, may be said, in some sort, to be Master of every Countrey, at least bordering upon the Sea; for he is at liberty to begin or end a War, where, when, and upon what terms he pleaseth, and to extend his Conquests even to the Antipodes.

Rex Anglia est Persona mixta cum Sacerdote, say Person.
our Lawyers. He is a Priest as well as a King.

He is anointed with Oil, as the Priests were at first, and afterward the Kings of Israel, to intimate that his person is Sacred and Spiritual: and therefore at the Coronation, hath put upon him a Sacerdotal Garment, called the Dab-

matica, of Colobium, and other Priestly Vests; and before the Reformation of England, when the Cup in the Lords Supper was denied to the Laity, the King, as a Spiritual Person, received in both kinds: He is capable of Spiritual Jurisdiction, of holding of Tytbes, all Extra Parochial Tytbes, some Proxies, and other Spiritual Profits belong to the King, of which Lay-men, both by Common and Canon-Law, are pronounced incapable.

He is an External Bishop of the Church: as Constantine the Emperor, said of himself, Ἐγὼ δὲ τῶν ἐκτὸς ὑπὸ Θεοῦ καθιεσομένῳ Ἐπίσκοπος εἰμι. But I am constituted Bishop for External things of the Church, Rex idem hominum Pæbique Sacerdos.

He is, as the Roman Emperors, Christian as well as Heathen, stiled themselves, Pontifex Max. He is the Supream Pastor of England, and hath not onely Right of Ecclesiastical Government, but also of exercising some Ecclesiastical Function, so far as Solomon did, 1 Kings 8. when he Blessed the People, Consecrated the Temple, and pronounced that Prayer which is the Pattern now for Consecration of all Churches and Chappels; but all the Ministerial Offices are left to the Bishops and Priests, as the Administration of Sacraments, Preaching, and other Church-Offices and Duties.

Of this Sacred Person of the King, of the Life and Safety thereof, the Laws and Customs of England are so tender, that they have made it High Treason, onely to imagine, or intend the death of the King. And because by imagining, or conspiring the death of the King's Councillors, or Great Officers of His Household, the destruction of the King hath thereby sometimes ensued, and is usually aimed at (saith Stat. 3. H. 7.) that also was made Felony, to be punish'd with death, although in all other Cases Capital, the Rule is, Voluntas non reputatur pro facto; and an Englishman may not in other Cases be punish'd with death, unless the Act follow the intent.

The Law of England hath so high esteem of the King's Person, that to offend against those Persons, and those Things that represent his Sacred Person, as to kill some of the Crown-Officers, or to kill any of the King's Judges, executing their Office, or to counterfeit the King's Seals, or his Moneys, is made High-Treason; because by all these, the King's Person is represented: and High-Treason is, in the Eye of the Law, so horrid, that besides loss of Life, and Honour, Real and Personal Estate of the Criminal, his Heirs also are to lose the same for ever, and to be ranked amongst the Peasantry and Ignoble, till the King shall please to restore them. Est enim tam grave crimen (saith Bracton) ut vix permittatur heredibus quod vivant. High Treason is so grievous a crime, that the Law, not content with the Life, and Estate, and Honour of the Criminal, can hardly endure to see his Heirs survive him.

And rather than Treason against the King's Person, shall go unpunish'd, the Innocent in some Cases shall be punished; for if an Idiot or Lunatick (who cannot be said to have any Will, and so cannot offend) during his Idocy or Lunacy, shall kill, or go about to kill the King, he shall be punish'd as a Traytor; and yet being Non compos mentis, the Law holds, that he cannot commit Felony or Petit-Treason, nor other sorts of High-Treason.

Moreover, for the precious regard of the Person of the King, by an antient Record, it is declared, that no Physick ought to be administered to him, without good Warrant, this Warrant to be Signed by the advice of his Council; no other Physitians but what is mentioned in the Warrant, to Administer to him; the Physicians to prepare all things with their own hands, and not by the hands of any Apothecary; and to use the assistance onely of such Chyrurgeons, as are prescribed in the Warrant.

And so precious is the Person and Life of the King, that every Subject is obliged and bound, by his Allegiance, to defend his Person in his Natural as well as Politick capacity, with his own Life and Limbs; wherefore the Law saith, that the Life and Member of every Subject, is at the Service of the Sovereign. He is Pater Patriæ & dulce erit pro Patre Patriæ mori, to lose Life or Limb, in defending him from Conspiracies, Rebellions, or Invasions; or assisting him in the execution of his Laws, should seem a pleasant thing to every Loyal hearted Subject.

Offic.

The Office of the King of England in the Laws of King Edward the Confessor, is thus described, Rex quia Vicarius summi Regis est, ad hoc constituitur ut Regnum terrenum & populum Domini & super omnia Sanctam Ecclesiam ejus veneretur, regat & ab injuriosis defendat; and (according to the Learned Fortescue) is, Pugnare bella populi sui & eos rectissime judicare. To fight the Pattels of his People, and to see Right and Justice done unto them.

Or (according to another) it is to Protect and Govern his People, so that they may (if possible) sible) lead quiet and peaceable lives, in all Godliness and Honesty under him.

Or more particular (as is promised at the Coronation) to preserve the Rights and Priviledges of the Church and Clergy; the Royal Prerogatives belonging to the Crown, the Laws and Customs of the Realm, to do Justice, shew Mercy, keep Peace and Unity. &c.

The King for the better performance of this Power great and weighty Office, hath certain Jura and Pre-Majestatis, extraordinary Powers, Preeminences, and Priviledges inherent in the Crown, called antiently by Lawyers, Sacra Sacrorum, and Flowers of the Crown, but commonly Royal Prerogatives; whereof some, the King holds by the Law of Nations, others by Common Law, (excellent above all Laws, in upholding a free Monarchy, and exalting the Kings Prerogative) and some by Statute-Law.

The King onely, and the King alone, by his Royal Prerogative, hath Power without Act of Parliament, to declare War, make Peace, send and receive Ambassadors, make Leagues and Treaties with any Foreign States, gives Commissions for levying Men and Arms by Sea and Land, or for Pressing Men if need require, disposing of all Magazines, Ammunition. Castles, Fortresses, Ports, Havens. Ships of War, and publick Moneys; appoint the Metal, Weight, Purity, and Value thereof, and by his Proclamation make any Foreign Coyn, to be lawful Money of England.

By his Royal Prerogative may of his meer Will and Pleasure Convoke, Adjourn, Prorogue, Remove, and Dissolve Parliaments; may to any Bill passed by both Houses of Parliament, refuse to give (without rendring any reason) His Royal Assent, without which, a Bill is as a Body without a Soul. May at his pleasure encrease the Number of the Members of both Houses, by creating more Barons, and bestowing Privileges upon any other Towns, to send Burgessees to Parliament. May call to Parliament, by Writ, whom he in His Princely Wisdom, thinketh fit, and may refuse to send His Writ to some others that have sate in former Parliaments. Hath alone, the choice and nomination of all Commanders, and other Officers at Land and Sea; the choice and nomination of all Magistrates, Counsellors, and Officers of State; of all Bishops, and other High Dignities in the Church, the bestowing of all Honours, both of Higher and of lower Nobility of England; the Power of determining Rewards and Punishments.

By His Letters Patent, may erect new Counities, Universities, Cities, Burroughs, Colledges, Hospitals, Schools, Fairs, Markets, Courts of Justice, Forrests, Chases, Free-Warrens, &c.

The King by his Prerogative, hath power to Enfranchise an Alien, and make him a Denison, whereby he is enabled to purchase Houses and Lands, and to bear some Offices. Hath power to grant Letters of Mart or Reprisal, to grant Safe Conduits, &c.

The King, by His Prerogative, hath had at all times, the Right of Purveyance, or Pre-emption of all sorts of Victuals near the Court; and to take Horses, Carts, Boats, Ships, for his Carriages, at reasonable rates; also by Proclamation, to set reasonable Rates and Prices upon Flesh, Fish, Fowl, Oats, Hay, &c. which His Majesty now Reigning was pleased to release, and in lieu thereof, to accept of some other recompence.

Debts

Debts due to the King, are in the first place to be satisfied, in case of Executorship, and Administration; and until the Kings Debt be satisfied, he may protect the Debtor from the Arrest of other Creditors.

May distrain for the whole Rent upon one Tenant, that holdeth not the whole Land; may require the Ancestors Debt of the Heir, though not especially bound, is not obliged to demand his Rent as others are. May sue in what Court he please, and distress where he list.

No Proclamation can be made, but by the King.

No Protection for a Defendant to be kept off from a Suit, but by him, and that because he is actually in his Service.

He onely can give Patents, in case of losses by Fire, or otherwise, to receive the Charitable Benevolences of the People, without which, no man may ask it publickly.

No Forrest, Chase, or Park to be made, nor Castle to be built, without the Kings Authority.

The sale of his Goods in an open Market, will not take away his property therein.

Where the King hath granted a Fair, with Toll to be paid, yet his Goods there shall be exempted from all Toll.

No Occupancy shall be good against the King, nor shall Entry before him, prejudice him.

His Servants in Ordinary are priviledged from serving in any Offices that require their attendance, as Sheriff, Constable, Churchwarden, &c.

All Receivers of Money for the King, or Accomptants to him for any of his Revenues, E 5 their

their Persons, Lands, Goods, Heirs, Executors, Administrators, are chargeable for the same at all times; for, Nullum tempus occurrit Regi.

His Debtor hath a kind of Prerogative remedy by a Quo minus in the Exchequer, against all other Debtors, or against whom they have any cause of personal Action; supposing that he is thereby disabled to pay the King, and in this Suit, the King's Debtor being Plaintiff, hath some priviledges above others.

In Doubtful Cases, Semper presumitur pro Rege.

No Statute restraineth the King, except he be especially named therein. The quality of his Person alters the descent of Gavelkind, the Rules of Foynt-Tenancy; no Estoppel can bind him, nor Judgement final in a Writ of Right, Judgements entred against the King's Title, are entred with a Salvo. Fune Domini Regis, That if at any time the King's Council at Law, can make out his Title better; that Judgement shall not prejudice him, which is not permitted to the Subject.

The King by his Prerogative might have demanded reasonable Aid-money of His Subjects, to Knight his eldest Son at the age of Fifteen and to Marry his eldest Daughter at the age of Seven years: which reasonable Aid is Twenty Shillings for every Knights Fee, and as much for every Twenty pounds a year in Soccage. Moreover, if the King be taken prisoner, Aid-money is to be paid by the Subjects, to set him at liberty.

The King upon reasonable causes, Him thereunto moving, may protect any man against Suits at Law, &c,

In all Cases where the King is Par.y, His Officers with an Arrest, by force of a Process at at Law, may enter, and (if entrance be denied) may break open the House of any man, although every Man's House is said to be his Castle, and hath a Priviledge to protect him against all other Arrests.

- A Benefice or Spiritual Living is not full against the King by Institution only, without Induction, although it be so against a Subject.

None but the King can hold Plea of false Judgements in the Court of his Tenants.

The King of England by His Prerogative, is Summus Regni Custos, and hath the custody of the Persons and Estates of such, as for want of understanding, cannot govern themselves, or serve the King; so the Persons and Estates of Idiots and Lunatics, are in the custody of the King, that of Idiots to his own use, and that of Lunatics, to the use of the next Heir. So the Custody or Wardships of all such Infants, whose Ancestors had their Lands by Tenure in Capite, or Knights-service, were ever since the Conquest in the Kings of England, to the great Honour and Benefit of the King and Kingdom; though some abuses made some of the People out of love with their good, and the right of that part of his just Prerogative.

The King by His Prerogative, is Ultimus Heres Regni, (and is (as the Great Ocean is, of all Rivers) the Receptacle of all Estates when no Heir appears; for this cause, all Estates for want of Heirs, or by Forfeiture, Revert or Escheat to the King. All Spiritual Benefices for want of Presentation by the Bishop, are lapsed at last to the King: All Treasure-Trove, (that is Money, Gold, Silver, Plate or Bullion, found, and the owners unknown) belongs to the King; so all Wayfs, Stray, Wrecks, not granted away by him, or any former Kings; all waste Ground or Land recovered from the Sea; all Land of Aliens, dying before Naturalization, or Denization, and all things, whereof the property is not known. All Gold and Silver Mines, in whose Ground soever they are found; Royal Fishes, as Whales, Sturgeons, Dolphins, &c. Royal Fowl, as Swans not markt, and swimming at liberty on the River, belong to the King.

In the Church, the Kings Prerogative and Power is extraordinary great. He only hath the Patronage of all Bishopricks; none can be chosen but by his Conge d'Eslire, whom he hath first nominated; none can be consecrated Bishop, or take possession of the Revenues of the Bishoprick, without the King's special Writ or Assent. He is the Guardian, or Nursing Father of the Church, which our Kings of England did so reckon amongst their principal cares, as in the Three and twentieth year of King Edward the first, it was alledged in a Pleading, and allowed. The King hath power to call a National or Provincial Synod; and with the advice and consent thereof, to make Canons, Orders, Ordinances, and Constitutions; to introduce into the Church, what Ceremonies he shall think fit; reform and correct all Heresies, Schisms, punish Contempts, &c. and therein, and thereby to declare, what Doctrines in the Church, are fit to be published or professed; what Translation of the Bible to be allowed; what Books of the Bible are Canonical, and what Apocryphal, &c.

The King hath a Power, not only to unite, consolidate, separate, enlarge, or contract the limits of any old Bishoprick; or other Ecclesiastical Benefice; but also, by His Letters Patents, may erect new Bishopricks, as Henry 8th. did fix at one time; and the late King Charles, the Martyr intended to do at St. Albans, for the honour honor of the first Martyr of England, and for contracting the too large extent of the Bishoprick of Lincoln; may also erect new Archbishopsricks, Patriarchates, &c.

In the Twenty eighth of Elizabeth, when the House of Commons would have passed Bills touching Bishops granting Faculties, conferring Holy Orders, Ecclesiastical Censures, the Oath Ex Officio, Non-Residency, &c. The Queen much incensed, forbade them to meddle in any Ecclesiastical Affairs, for that it belonged to her Prerogative, &c.

The King hath power to pardon the violation of Ecclesiastical Laws, or to abrogate such as are unfitting or useless; to dispence with the rigor of Ecclesiastical Laws, and with any thing that is onely Prohibitum & malum per accidens; & non malum in se. As for a Bastard to be a Priest, for a Priest to hold two Benefices, or to succeed his Father in a Benefice, or to be Non-Resident, &c. For a Bishop to hold a vacant Bishoprick, or other Ecclesiastical Benefice in commendam or Trust.

Hath Power to dispence with some Acts of Parliament, Penal Statutes, by Non-Obstantes, where himself is onely concerned, to moderate the rigor of the Laws according to Equity and Conscience, to alter or suspend any particular Law, that he judgeth healthful to the Commonwealth; to grant special Priviledges and Charters to any Subject, to pardon a Man, by Law condemned; to Interpret by his Judges, Statutes, and in Cases not defined by Law, to determine and pass Sentence.

And this is that Royal Prerogative, which in the Hand of a King, is a Scepter of Gold; but in the Hands of Subjects, is a Rod of Iron.

This is that Fus Corona, a Law that is parcel of the Law of the Land; part of the Com- mon-

non-Law, and contained in it; and hath the precedence of all Laws and Customs of England; and therefore void in Law, is every Custom. Quæ exaltet se in Prærogativam Regi.

Some of these Prerogatives; especially those that relate to Justice and Peace, are so essential to Royalty; that they are for ever inherent in the Crown; and make the Crown; they are like the Sun-beams in the Sun, and as inseparable from it; and therefore it is held by great Lawyers, that a Prerogative in Point of Government, cannot be Restrained or bound by Act of Parliament, but is as unalterable as the Laws of the Medes and Persians: Wherefore the Lords and Commons (Rot. Parl. 12. Ed. 3. Numb. 7.) declared, that they could not assent in Parliament to any thing, that tended to the dispersion of the King and the Crown; whereunto they were sworn; no, though the King should desire it. And every King of England, as he is Debitor Justitiæ, to his People, so is he in Conscience, obliged to defend and maintain all the Rites of the Crown in possession, and to endeavor the recovery of those; whereof the Crown hath been dispossessed; and when any King hath not religiously observed his duty in this point, it hath proved of very dreadful consequence; as the first fatal blow to the Church of England, was given when Henry the Eighth, waving his own Royal Prerogative, referred the Redress of the Church to the House of Commons (as the Lord Herbert observes, Hist. Hen. 8.) So the greatest blow that ever was given to Church and State, was, when the late King parting with his absolute Power of Dissolving Parliaments; gave it (though only Pro illa vice)

to the Two Houses of Parliament. And indeed, it greatly concerns all Subjects (though it seems a Paradox) to be far more solicitous, that the King should maintain and defend his own Prerogative and Preeminence, than their Rights and Liberties; the truth whereof will appear to any Man that sadly considers the mischiefs and inconveniences that necessarily follow the diminution of the Kings Prerogative, above all that can be occasioned by some particular infringements of the Peoples Liberties. As on the other side, it much concernsevery King of England, to be very careful of the Subjects just Liberties, according to that Golden Rule of the best of Kings, Charles the First, That the Kings Prerogative is to defend the Peoples Liberties, and the Peoples Liberties strengthen the Kings Prerogative.

Whatsoever things are proper to Supream Supremacy Magistrates, as Crowns, Scepters, Purple Robe, Golden Globe, and Holy Unction, have as long appertained to the King of England, as to any other Prince in Europe; he holdeth not his Kingdom in Vassallage, nor receiveth his Inheritance or Instalment from another. Acknowledgeth no Superiority to any, but God onely. Not to the Emperor, for, Omnem potestatem habet Rex Angliæ in Regno suo quam Imperator vendicat in Imperio; and therefore the Crown of England, hath been declared in Parliaments long ago to be an Imperial Crown, and the King to be Emperor of England and Ireland, and might wear an Imperial Crown, although he chooseth rather to wear a Triumphant Crown: such as was antiently worn by the Emperors of Rome, and that, because his Predecessors have triumphed; not only over Five Kings of Ireland, Ireland, but also over the Welsh, Scotch, and French Kings.

He acknowledgeth onely Precedence to the Emperor, Eo quod Antiquitate Imperium omnia Regna superare creditur.

As the King is Ἀυτοκράτωρ in the State, so he is Ἀρχιεπίσκοπος in the Church. He acknowledgeth no Superiority to the Bishop of Rome, whose long arrogated Authority in England was, One thousand five hundred thirty five, in a full Parliament of all the Lords Spiritual as well as Temporal, declared null, and the King of England declared to be by antient Right, in all Causes, over all Persons, as well Ecclesiastical as Civil, Supream Governor.

The King is Summus totius Ecclesie Anglicanae Ordinarius, Supream Ordinary in all the Diocesses of England, Ἐπίσκοπος ἢ Ἐπισκόπος, and for his Superintendency over the whole Church, hath the Tenths and First Fruits of all Ecclesiastical Benefices.

The King hath the Supream Right of Patronage through all England, called Patronage Paramount, over all the Ecclesiastical Benefices of England; so that if the mean Patron as aforesaid, present not in due time; nor the Ordinary, nor Metropolitan, the Right of Presentation comes to the King, beyond whom it cannot go. The King is Lord Paramount, Supream Landlord of all the Lands of England; and all Landed Men are mediately, or immediately his Tenants, by some Tenure or other: For no man in England, but the King hath Allodium & directum Dominium, the sole and Independent Property or Domain in any Land. He that hath the Fee, the Fus perpetuum, and Utile Dominium, is obliged to a duty to his Sovereign for it:

to it is not simply his own, he must swear Fealty to some Superior.

The King is Summus Totius Regni Anglicani Justiciarius, Supream Judge, or Lord Chief Justice of all England. He is the Fountain from whence all Justice is derived, no Subject having here, as in France, Haute Moyenne & basse Justice. He alone hath the Sovereign Power in the Administration of Justice, and in the execution of the Law; and whatsoever Power is by him committed to others, the dernier resort is still remaining in himself, so that he may sit in any Court, and take Cognizance of any Cause (as anciently Kings sat in the Court, now called the Kings Bench; Henry the Third in his Court of Exchequer; and Henry the Seventh; and King James sometimes in the Star-Chamber) except in Felonies, Treasons, &c. wherein the King being Plaintiff, and so Party, he sits not personally in Judgment, but doth perform it by Delegates.

From the King of England there lies no Appeal in Ecclesiastical Affairs to the Bishop of Rome, as it doth in other Principal Kingdoms of Europe; nor in Civil Affairs to the Emperor, as in some of the Spanish, and other Dominions of Christendom: nor in either to the People of England (as some of late hath dreamed) who in themselves, or by their Representatives in the House of Commons in Parliament, were ever Subordinate, and never Superiour, nor so much as co-ordinate to the King of England.

The King being the onely Sovereign, and Supream Head, is furnished with Plenary Power, Prerogative, and Jurisdiction to render Justice to every Member within his Dominions; where-

some Neighbor Kings do want a full Power

er to do Justice in all Causes, to all their Subjects, or to punish all Crimes committed within their own Dominions, especially in Causes Ecclesiastical.

In a word, Rex Angliæ neminem habet in suis dominis Superiorem nec Parem, sed omnes sub illo, ille sub nullo nisi tantum sub Deo, à quo secundus, post quem primus, ante omnes & super omnes (in suis ditionibus) Deos & Homines.

Divinity. The Title of Dii, or Gods, plurally is often in Holy Writ, by God himself, attributed to Great Princes; both because as Gods Vicars or Vice Dei upon Earth, they represent the Majesty and Power of the God of Heaven and Earth, and to the end, that the people might have so much the higher esteem, and more reverend awfulness of them; for if that fails, all order fails and thence all Impiety and Calamity follows in a Nation.

Frequently in the Civil-Law those Divine Titles, Numen, Oraculum, Sacratissimus, &c. were given to the Emperors: moreover the substance of the Titles of God was used by the Antient Christian Emperors, as Divinitas nostra & Eternitas nostra, &c. As imperfectly and analogically in them, though essentially and perfectly onely in God; and the good Christians of those times, out of their excess of respect, were wont to swear by the Majesty of the Emperor (as Josepb was wont to swear by the life of Pbaraoh) and Vegetus, a Learned Writer of that Age, seems to justify it, Nam Imperatori (saith he) tanquam presenti & corporali Deo fidelis est præstanda Devotio & pervigil impendendus famulatus; Deo enim servimus cum fideliter diligimus eum, qui Deo regnat Autore: For a faithful Devotion to the Emperor, as to a corporeal god upon Earth, ought to be performed, and a very diligent service to be paid; for then we truly serve God, when with a Loyal affection we love him, whom God hath placed to Raigh over us.

So the Laws of England looking upon the King, as God upon Earth, do attribute unto him divers Excellencies that belong properly to God alone, as Justice in the Abstract, Rex Angliæ non potest cuiquam injuriam facere. So also Infallibility, Rex Angliæ non potest errare. And as God is perfect, so the Law will have no imperfection found in the King.

No Negligence or Laches, no Folly, no Infamy, no Stain or Corruption of Blood; for by taking of the Crown, all former, though just Attainders (and such Attainder made by Act of Parliament) is ipso facto purged. Nonage or Minority; for his grant of Lands, though held in his Natural, not Politick capacity, cannot be avoided by Nonage: Higher than this the Law attributeth a kind of Immortality to the King, Rex Angliæ non moritur; his Death is in Law termed the Demise of the King, because thereby the Kingdom is demised to another. He is said not subject to Death, because he is a Corporation of himself, that liveth for ever all Interregna being in England unknown, the same moment that one King dies, the next Heir is King fully and absolutely without any Coernation, Ceremony, or Act to be done Ex post facto.

Moreover, the Law seemeth to attribute to the King a certain Omnipresency. That the King is in a manner every where, in all his Courts of Justice; and therefore cannot be non-suited, (as Lawyers speak) in all his Palaces; and therefore all Subjects stand bare in the Presence ſence Chamber, whereſoever the Chair of State is placed, though the King be many miles diſtant from thence. And His Majesties good Subjects uſually bow towards the ſaid Chair, when they enter into the Preſence Chamber, or into the House of Lords in Parliament.

He hath a kind of Universal Influence, over all his Dominions, every Soul within his Territories, may be ſaid to feel at all times, his Power and his Goodness, Omnium Domoſ Regiſ Vigilia defendit, Omnium Otium illius Labor, Omnium delicias illius Industria, Omnium vacationem illius Occupatio, &c.

So a kind of Omnipotency, that the King can, as it were, raiſe Men from Death to Life, by pardoning them whom the Law hath condemned, can create to the Hiſheſt Dignity, as Lord Chancellor, Lord Treasurer, &c. and annihi- late the ſame at pleaſure.

Divers other Semblances of the Eternal Dei- ty belong to the King. He, in his own Do- minions (as God) ſaith, Vindicta eſt mihi; for all puniſhments do proceed from him, in ſome of his Courts of Juſtice, and it is not lawful for any Subject to revenge himſelf.

So he only can be Judge in his own Cauſe, though he deliver his Judgment by the mouth of his Judges.

And yet there are ſome things that the King of England cannot do. Kex Angliæ nihil injuſte poteſt, and the King cannot divest himſelf, or his Succeſſors, of any part of his Regal Power, Prerogative, and Authority, inherent and annexed to the Crown: Not that there is any defect in the Kings Power (as there is none in Gods Power, though he cannot lye, nor do any thing that implies Contradiction:). Not but that the King of England, hath as abſolute a Power over all all his Subjects, as any Christian Prince, rightfully and lawfully hath, or ever had: Not but that he still hath a kind of Omnipotency, not to be disputed, but adored by his Subjects, Nemo quidem de factis ejus præsumat disputare (saith Bracton) multo minus contra factum ejus ire, nam de Chartis & Factis ejus non debent nec possunt Justiciarii, multo minus privatae personæ, disputare, Not but that the King may do what he please, without either opposition or resistance, and without being questioned by his Subjects; for the King cannot be impleaded for any crime; no Action lieth against his Person, because the Writ goeth forth in his own Name, and he cannot Arrest himself, (If the King should seize the Lands (which God forbid) or should take away the Goods of any particular Subject, having no Title by Law, so to do; there is no remedy; Onely this, Locus erit (saith the same Bracton) supplicatione quod factum suum corrigat & emendet, quod quidem si non fecerit, sufficit ei ad pœnam quod Dominam Deum expectet Ultorem. There may be Petitions and Supplications made, that His Majesty will be pleased to Rule according to Law, which if he shall refuse to do, it is sufficient, that he must expect that the King of Kings will be the Avenger of oppressed Loyal Subjects.

His Counsellors may also dissuade him, his Officers may decline his unlawful Commands, the persecuted may fly, all may use Prayers and Tears, the only Weapons of the Primitive, and best Christians, and (rather than resist by force and Arms) meekly to suffer Martyrdom, the Crown whereof, is utterly taken away by all resistance.

But there are also divers things which the King cannot do, Salvo Jure, Salvo Furamento, & Sal-

Et salva Conscientia sua ; because by an Oath at his Coronation. and indeed without any Oath, by the Law of Nature, Nations, and of Christianity, he holds himself bound (as do all other Christian Kings) to protect and defend his People, to do Justice, and shew Mercy, to preserve Peace and Quietness amongst them ; to allow them their just Rights and Liberties ; to consent to the Repealing of bad Laws, and to the enacting of good Laws. Two things especially, the King of England doth not usually do without the consent of his Subjects, viz, make New Laws, and raise New Taxes, there being something of odium in both of them, the one seeming to diminish the Subjects Liberty, and the other to infringe his Property ; Therefore, that all occasion of disaffection towards the King, (the Breath of our Nostrils, and the Light of our Eyes, as he is Stiled in Holy Scripture) might be avoided ; it was wisely contrived by our Ancestors, that for both these, should Petitions and Supplications be first made by the Subject.

These, and divers other Prerogatives, rightfully belong, and are enjoyed by the King of England.

Nevertheless the Kings of England usually Govern this Kingdom, by the ordinary known Laws and Customs of the Land, (as the Great God doth the World, by the Laws of Nature) yet in some cases, for the benefit, not damage of this Realm, they make use of their Prerogatives, as the King of Kings doth of his extraordinary power of working of Miracles.

Lastly, to the Kings of England, Quatenus Kings, doth appertain one Prerogative that may be stiled Super-excellent, if not Miraculous, which was first enjoyed by that pious and good King

King Edward the Confessor, that is, to remove, and to cure the Struma or Scrofula, that stubborn disease; commonly called the Kings Evil.

Which manifest Cure is ascribed by some Malignant Nonconformists, to the power of Fancy, and exalted Imagination; but what can that contribute to small Infants, whereof great numbers are cured every year. The manner of the cure is briefly thus.

Upon certain days almost every week, so long as the cold Seasons last, His Majesty is Graciously pleased to permit all the sick of that Disease, to be brought into his Royal Presence, after they have been carefully viewed and allowed by His Majesties Surgeons; then there is an appointed short Form of Divine Service, wherein are read (besides some short Prayers, pertinent to the occasion) two portions of Scripture, taken out of the Gospel, and at these words (They shall lay their hands on the sick, and they shall recover) the King gently draws both his Hands over the sore of the sick person; and those words are repeated at the Touch of every one.

Again, at these words (That Light was the true Light, which Lighteth every Man that cometh into the World) pertinently used, if it be considered, that that Light did never shine more comfortably, if not more visibly, than in the healing of so many leprous and sick persons. At those words, the King putteth about the neck of each sick person, a piece of Gold, called (from the impression) an Angel, being in value, about two Thirds of a French Pistol,

In consideration of these, and other transcendent Excellencies, no King in Christendom, nor other Potentate, receives from His Subjects

jects more Reverence, Honour and Respect, than the King of England. All his people at their first Addresses kneel to him; he is at all times served upon the Knee, all Persons, (not the Prince, or other Heir apparent excepted) stand bare in the presence of the King, and in the Presence-Chamber (though in the King's absence) all Men are not only bare, but also, do, or ought to do reverence to the Chair of State. Onely it was once indulged by Queen Mary, for some eminent Services performed by Henry Ratcliff, Earl of Suffex, that (by Patent) he might at any time be covered in her Presence, but perhaps, in imitation of the like liberty, allowed by King Philip her Husband: and other Kings of Spain at this day, to some of the principal Nobility, there called Grandees of Spain.

Any thing or Act done in the Kings Presence, is presumed to be void of all deceit, and evil meaning; and therefore a Fine levied in the Kings Court, where the King is presumed to be present, doth bind a Feme Covert, a Married Woman, and others, whom ordinarily the Law doth disable to transact,

The Kings onely Testimony of any thing done in his Presence, is of as high a nature and credit, as any Record; and in all Writs sent forth for the dispatch of Justice, he useth no other witness but himself, viz. Teste meipso.

C H A P. V.

Of Succession to the Crown of England, and of the King's Minority, Incapacity, and Absence.

THe King of England hath right to the Crown by Inheritance, and the Laws and Customs of England.

Upon the death of the King, the next of kindred, though born out of the Dominions of England, or born of Parents, not Subjects of England, as by the Law, and many examples in the English Histories, it doth manifestly appear, is, and is immediately King, before any Proclamation, Coronation, Publication, or consent of Peers or People.

The Crown of England descends from Father to Son, and his Heirs; for want of Sons, to the eldest Daughter, and her Heirs; for want of Daughter, to the Brother and his Heirs; and for want of Brother, to the Sister and her Heirs. The Salique Law, or rather custom of France, hath here no more force, than it had antiently among the Jews, or now in Spain, and other Christian Hereditary Kingdoms. Among Turks and Barbarians, that French custom is still, and ever was in use.

In case of descent of the Crown (contrary to the custom of the descent of Estates among Subjects) the Half Blood shall inherit, so from King Edward the Sixth, the Crown and Crown-Lands descended to Queen Mary of the Half-Blood, and again to Queen Elizabeth of the Half-Blood, to the last Possessor.

At

At the death of every King, dye not only the Offices of the Court, but all Commissions granted to the Judges durante beneplacito, and of all Justices of Peace.

Minority, During the Minority of the King of England, whatsoever is enacted in Parliament, he may, afterwards, at the age of 24 revoke; and utterly null by His Letters Patent, under His Great Seal, and this by Stat. 28. H. 8. c. 17.

If the King be likely to leave His Crown to an Infant, He doth usually by Testament, appoint the person or persons that shall have the tuition of him; and sometimes for want of such appointment, a fit person of the Nobility or Bishops is made choice of, by the three States assembled in the name of the Infant King, who, by Nature or Alliance, hath most interest in the preservation of the Life and Authority of the Infant, and to whom least benefit can accrue by his Death or Diminution; as the Uncle by the Mother-side, if the Crown come by the Father, and so vice versa; is made Protector; so during the Minority of Edward the Sixth, his Uncle, by the Motherside, the Duke of Somerset, had the Tuition of him, and was called Protector; and when this Rule hath not been observed (as in the Minority of Edward the Fifth) it hath proved of ill consequence.

Incapacity. If the King of England be Non compos mentis, or by reason of an incurable Disease, Weakness, or old Age, become incapable of Governing, then is made a Regent, Protector, or Guardian to Govern.

King Edward the Third, being at last, aged, sick, and weak, and, by grief, for the death of the Black Prince, sore broken in Body and Mind, did of his own Will, Create his Fourth Son, John John, Duke of Lancaster, Guardian, or Regent of England.

If the King be absent upon any Forreign Absence.
Expedition, or otherwise, (which antiently was very usual) the custom was to constitute a Vicegerent by Commission, under the Great Seal, giving him several Titles and Powers, according as the necessity of affairs have required; sometimes he hath been called Lord Warden, or Lord Keeper of the Kingdom. and therewith hath had the general power of a King, as was practised, during the absence of Edward the First, Second, and Third; and of Henry the Fifth: but Henry the Sixth, to the Title of Warden or Guardian, added the Stile of Protector of the Kingdom, and of the Church of England, and gave him so great Power, in his absence, that he was tantum-um Rex, swaying the Scepter, but not wearing the Crown; executing Laws, summoning Parliaments under his own Teste, as King, and giving his assent to Bills in Parliament, whereby they became as binding as any other Acts.

Sometimes, during the King's absence, the Kingdom hath been committed to the care of several Noblemen, and sometimes of Bishops, as less dangerous for attempting any usurpation of the Crown; sometimes to one Bishop: as Hubert, Archbishop of Canterbury, was Vice-Roy of England for many years; and when Edward the Third was in Flanders, though his Son then, but nine years old, had the name of Protector; John Stratford, Archbishop of Canterbury, was Governour both of the Kings Son, and of the Realm; so King Henry the First, during his absence (which was sometimes three or four years together) usually constituted constituted Roger, that famous Bishop of Salisbury, sole Governor of the Realm, a Man excellently qualified for Government,

C H A P. VI.

The Queen of England.Name.

THE Queen so called from the Saxon Koningen, whereof the last Syllable is pronounced by Forreigners, as gbeen in English, it being not unusual to cut off the first Syllables, as an Almes-house is sometimes called a Spital from Hospital; and Sander from Alexander.

She hath as high Prerogatives, Dignity, and State, during the life of the King, as any Queen of Europe.

Prerogative.

From the Saxon times the Queen Consort of England; though she be an Alien born, and though during the life of the King, she be Feme Covert, (as our Law speaks) yet without any Act of Parliament for Naturalization, or Letters Patents for Denization, she may purchase Lands in Fee-Simple, make Leases and Grants in her own Name without the King, hath power to give, to sue, to contract, as a Feme-sole may receive by gift from her Husband, which no other Feme-Covert may do.

She may present, by her Self, to a Spiritual Benefice; and in a Quare impedit, brought by her, plenary by the presentation of another, is no more a Bar against her, than it is against the King.
is

She shall not be amerced, if she be Non-suit-ed in any Action, &c.

Had antiently a Revenue of Queen-Gold, or Aurum Reginae, as the Records call it, which was the tenth part of so much, as by the name of Oblata upon Pardons, Gifts, and Grants, &c, came to the King.

Of latter times, hath had as large a Dower, as any Queen in Christendom; hath her Royal Court apart, her Courts and Officers, &c.

The Queen may not be impleaded till first petitioned, if she be Plaintiff the Summons in the Process need not to have the solemnity of 15 days, &c.

Is reputed the second Person in the Kingdom.

The Law setteth so high a value upon her, as to make it High-Treason to conspire her death, or to violate Her Chastity.

Her Officers, as Attorney and Solicitor, for the Queens sake, have respect above others, and place within the Bar with the Kings Council.

The like Honour, the like Reverence and Respect that is due to the King, is exhibited to the Queen, both by Subjects and Forreigners; and also to the Queen Dowager, or Widow-Queen, who also, above other Subjects, loseth not her Dignity, though she should marry a private Gentleman; so Queen Catherine, Widow to King Henry the Fifth, being married to Owen ap Theodore, Esquire, did maintain her Action as Queen of England; much less, doth a Queen by Inheritance, or a Queen Sovereign of England, follow her Husbands condition, nor is subject as other Queens; but Sovereign to her own Husband, as Queen Mary was to King Philip.

C H A P. VII.

Of the Sons and Daughters of ENGLAND.

THe Children of the King of England, are called the Sons and Daughters of England; because all the Subjects of England, have a special interest in them, though the whole power of Education, Marriage, and Disposing of them, is onely in the King.

Eldest Son.

The eldest Son of the King, is born Duke of Cornwall; and as to that Duchy, and all the Lands, Honours, Rents, and great Revenues belonging thereunto, he is upon his Birth-day presumed, and by Law taken to be of full age, so that he may that day, sue for the Livery of the said Dukedom, and ought of right to obtain the same, as if he had been full 21 years of age. Afterwards he is created Prince of Wales, whose Investiture is performed by the Imposition of a Cap of Estate, and Coronet on his Head, as a Token of Principality, and putting into his hand a Verge of Gold, the Embleme of Government, and a Ring of Gold on his Finger, to intimate, that he must be a Husband to his Countrey, and Father to her Children. Also to him is given and granted Letters Patent, to hold the said Principality, to him and his Heirs, Kings of England, by which words, the separation of this Principality is prohibited: his Mantle which he wears in Parliament, is once more doubled, , or hath one Guard more than a Dukes, and his Coronet of Crosses

Crosses and Flower-de luces, and his Cap of State indented.

Since our present King's happy Restauration, it was solemnly ordered, that the Son and Heir apparent of the Crown of England, shall use and bear his Coronet of Crosses and Flower-de luces with one Arch, and in the midst a Ball and Cross, as hath the Royal DiaDEM. That the Duke of York, and all the immediate Sons and Brothers of the Kings of England, shall use and bear their Coronets, composed of Crosses and Flower-de-luces only, but all their Sons respectively, having the Title of Dukes, shall bear and use their Coronets, composed of Crosses and Flower-de-luces, such as are used in the composition of the Coronets of Dukes, not being of the Royal Family.

From the day of his Birth, he is commonly stiled the Prince, a Title in England, given to no other Subject. The Title of Prince of Wales is antient, and was first given by King Edward the First, to his eldest Son; for the Welsh Nation, till that time, unwilling to submit to the Yoke of strangers, the King so ordered, that his Queen was delivered of her first Child in Caernarvan Castle, in Wales, and then demanded of the Welsh, as some affirm, If they would be content to subject themselves to one of their own Nation, that could not speak one word of English, and against whose life they could take no just exception. Whereunto they readily consenting, the King Nominated this his new-born Son, and afterwards created him Prince of Wales, and bestowed on him all the Lands Honours and Revenues, belonging to the said Principality.

The Prince hath ever since been stiled Prince of Wales, Duke of Aquitain and Cornwal, and
 Earl

Earl of Chester and Flint, which Earldoms are always conferred upon him by Letters Patent. Since the Union of England, and Scotland, his Title hath been Magna Britannia Princeps, but more ordinarily the Prince of Wales. As eldest Son to the King of Scotland, he is Duke of Rothsay, and Seneschal of Scotland from his Birth,

The King of England's Eldest Son (so long as Normandy remained in their hands) was always stiled, Duke of Normandy.

Antiently the Princes Arms of Walee, whilst they were Sovereigns, bare quarterly Gules, and Or, four Lyons passant gardant counterchanged,

The Arms of the Prince of Wales at this day, differ from those of the King of only by addition of a Label, of three Points, charged with nine Torteaux, and the Device of the Prince is a Coronet, beautified with three Ostrich Feathers, inscribed with Ich dien, which in the German, or old Saxon Tongue is, I Serve, aluding, perhaps to that in the Gospel, The Heir whilst his Father liveth, differeth not from a Servant. This Device was born at the Battel of Cressy, by John, King of Bobemia, as serving there under the King of the French, and there slain by Edward the Black Prince, and since worn by the Princes of Wales, and by the vulgar, called the Princes Arms.

Dignity.

The Prince, in our Law, is reputed, as the same person with the King, and so declared by a Statute, of Henry the Eighth, Cornscat enim Princeps (say our Lawyers) Radius Regis Patris sui, & censetur una persona cum ipso, And the Civilians say, the Kings eldest Son may be stiled a King.

Priviledges.

He hath certain priviledges above other persons.

To

To imagine the death of the Prince, to violate the Wife of the Prince, is made High-Treason.

Hath therefore had priviledge of having a Purveyor, and taking Purveyance as the King.

To retain and qualify as many Chaplains, as he shall please.

To the Prince, at the age of 15, was a certain Aid of Money from all the Kings Tenants, and all that held of him in Capite, by Knights-Service, and Free-Socage, to make him a Knight.

Yet as the Prince in Nature is a distinct Person from the King; so in Law also, in some Cases, he is a Subject, holdeth his Principalities and Seignories of the King, giveth the same respect to the King, as other Subjects do.

The Revenues belonging to the Prince, since much of the Lands and Demesnes of that Duchy, have been alienated; are especially out of the Tinn-Mines in Cornwall, which with all other Profits of that Duchy, amount yearly to the sum of 14000 l. Revenues

The Revenues of the Principality of Wales, survey'd 300 years ago, was above 4680 l. yearly, a rich Estate, according to the value of Money in those days.

At present his whole Revenues may amount to about 20000 l.

Till the Prince come to be 14 years old, all things belonging to the Principality of Wales were wont to be disposed of by Commissioners, consisting of some principal Persons of the Clergy and Nobility.

The Cadets, or younger Sons of England, Cadets are created, (not born) Dukes or Earls, of what Places or Titles the King pleaseth,

They have no certain, Appanages as in France, but only what the good pleasure of the King bestows upon them.

All the King's Sons are Conſiliarii nati, by Birth-right, Counsellors of State, that so they may grow up in the weighty affairs of the Kingdom.

The Daughters of England are stiled Princesses, the eldest of which had an Aid; or certain Rate of Money paid by every Tenant in Capite, Knights Service, and Socage, towards her Dowry or Marriage-portion; and to violate her unmarried, is High-Treason at this day.

To all the King's Children belong the Title of Royal Highness; All Subjects are to be uncovered in their presence, to kneel when they are admitted to kiss their hands, and, at Table, they are (out of the Kings Presence) served on the Knee.

The Children, the Brothers and Sisters of the King, if Plaintiffs the Summons in the Process, need not have the solemnity of 15 days, as in case of other Subjects.

All the Kings Sons, Grandsons, Brothers, Uncles, and Nephews of the King, are, by Stat. 31. Henry 8. to precede others in England; It is true, the word Grandson is not there in terminis, but is understood, as Sir Edward Coke holds, by Nephew, which in Latine being Nepos, signifies also, and chiefly, a Grandson.

The Natural or illegitimate Sons and Daughters of the King, after they are acknowledged by the King, have had here, as in France, precedence of all the Nobles, under those of the Bloud Royal.

They bear what Surname the King pleaseth to give them, and for Arms, the Arms of England, with a Baston, or a Border Gabionne, or some other other mark of Illegitimation. Some Kings of England have acknowledged many, and had more illegitimate Sons and Daughters.

King Henry the First had no fewer than Sixteen illegitimate Children.

Henry the Eighth, amongst others, had one by Elizabeth Blount, Named, Henry Fitzroy, created by him, Duke of Somerset and Richmond, Earl of Nottingham, and Lord High Admiral of England, Ireland, and Aquitaine.

C H A P. VIII.

Of the present KING of ENGLAND, and therein of His Name, Surname,
Genealogy, Birth, Baptisme, Court,
Education, Restauration, Marriage, &c.

THE King now Reigning, is CHARLES, Name.
the Second of that Name. His Name of Baptisme, Charles, in the German Tongue, signifies one of a Masculine strength or Vertue.

The Royal, and also the most Princely and Surname.
antient Families of Europe, at this day, have properly no Surnames; for neither is Bourbon the Surname, but the Title of the Royal Family of France, nor Austria of Spain, nor Stuart of England, since the coming in of King James, nor Theodore or Tudor, for his five immediate Ancestors in England; nor Plantagenet, for eleven Successions before; as some vainly think for although Geoffrey, Duke of Anjou, was surnamed Plantagenet, from a Broom stalk, commonly worn in his Bonnet, yet his Son, Henry the Second King of England, was surnamed Fitz-Empress, and his Son
Richard, Cœur de Lyon

Lyon; So Owen, Grandfather to King Henry the Seventh, was ap Meridish, and he ap Theodore, pronounced Tyder, Surnames being then but little in use amongst the Cambro-Britains. So Walter, Father to Robert, King of Scotland; from whom our present King is descended, was, only by Office, Grand Seneschal, or High Steward, or Stuart of Scotland; though of latter times, by a long vulgar error, it hath so prevailed, that it is accounted the Surname of many Families, descended from him.

Steward is a Contraction from the Saxon word Stedeward, that is, in Latine, Locumtenens in French, Lieutenant, because the Lord High-Steward was Regis Locum-tenens, A name not unfit for any King, who is Dei locumtenens, Gods Stuart, or Lieutenant; or Vice-Gerent upon Earth.

Genealogies

Our Sovereign Lord the King now Reigning, is Son to King Charles the Martyr, and the Princess Henrietta Maria, Daughter of King Henry the Great, of France; from which two Royal Stocks, he hath in his veins, some of all the Royal Bloud of Europe concentred.

Is descended lineally and lawfully from the British, Saxon, Danish, Norman, and Scottish Kings and Princes of this Island.

From the first British Kings, the 139th Monarch, from the Scottish, in a continued succession, for almost 2000 years, the 109th, from the Saxon, the 46th, and from the first of the Norman Line the 26th King. So that for Royal Extraction, and long Line of just descent, His Majesty now Reigning, excels all the Monarchs of all the Christian, if not of the whole World.

Is the first Prince of Great Britain so born, and hath, in possession, larger Dominions, than any of His Ancestors.

He was born the 29 of May, 1630, at the Royal Palace of St. James's, over which House, the the same day at noon, was by thousands, seen a Birth.

 Star, and soon after, the Sun suffered an Eclipse;
 a sad presage, as some then divined, that this Prince's Power, should for some time, be eclipsed, as it hath been; and some subject, signified by a Star, should have extraordinary splendor.

Was Christened the 27 of June following, by the then Bishop of London, Doctor Laud.

Had for his Godfathers, his two Uncles, Lewis Baptisme.
 the 13th, King of France, and Frederick, Prince Palatine of the Rhine; then called King of Bohe- mia, represented by the Duke of Richmond, and Marquis Hamilton; his Godmother being his Grandmother, then Queen-Mother of France, represented by the Dutchess of Richmond.

 Wife to Edward Earl of Dorset. In May, 1638.
 he was first Knighted, and immediately after, he was made Knight of the Garter, and installed at Windsor.

About this time, by Order, not Creation, Court.
 he was first called Prince of Wales, and had all the Profits of that Principality, and divers other Lands annexed, and Earldom of Chester granted unto him, and held his Court apart from the King

At the Age of Eight, he had for Governour, Educati- the Earl, afterwards Marquis, and now Duke on.
 of Newcastle, and after him, the late Earl of Berkshire; and for Tutor, or Preceptor, Doctor Duppa, then Dean of Christ-Church, after Bishop of Salisbury, and lately of Winchester.

At the age of 12, was with the King his Father, at the Battle of Edgehill, and soon after at Oxford, was committed to the care of the Marquis of Hertford.

About 14 years old was in the Head of an Army, in the West of England,

At the Age of 15 a Marriage was proposed

between him, and the Eldest Daughter of the King of Portugal, the Infanta Joanna since deceased.

Two years after was, from Cornwall, transported to the Isle of Scilly, and after to Fersey, and thence to his Royal Mother to St. Germain near Paris.

In 1648. was at Sea with some Naval Forces, endeavouring to rescue the King his Father, then in the Isle of Wight, out of the wicked hands of his Rebellious Subjects. Not many Months after, upon the sad news of the horrid murder of his Royal Father, he was, in Holland, first saluted King, and soon after proclaimed in Scotland, being not yet 19 years of age.

At the Age of 20 from Holland he landed in Scotland, June 1650, and in January following was Crowned at Edinburgh.

The third of September 1651 fought the Battle of Worcester, whence, after the unfortunate loss of his whole Army, wandering in disguise about England for six Weeks, and most wonderfully preserved, he was at length, transported from a Creek near Sherburn in Suffex, to Excoen near Heure de Grace in France: in which Kingdom with his Royal Prothers and divers English Nobility, Clergy, and Gentry, he was, for some years received and Treated as King of England, and, by his Mediations and Interest with the Prince of Conde, and the Duke of Lorrain, then in the Head of two Great and Mighty Armies against the French King, quenched the then newly kindled fires of a great and universal Rebellion against him, much resembling that of England; and was a means of recalling the then fled and banished Cardinal Mazarine: After which in Germany, Flanders, Spain, &c. he passed the residue of his time in the Studies and Exercise most most befitting a Prince ; in Solliciting the Aid of Christian Princes, and in advising and vigorously promoting the several attempts of his Friends in England, until the year 1660, at which time being at Brussels, within the Spanish Territories, and perceiving a general inclination and disposition of all England to receive him, he providently removed himself to Breda, within the Dominions of the United Netherlands, in the Mouth of April, thence, in May, to the Hague, from whence, after a magnificent Entertainment, and an humble invitation by English Commissioners, sent from the then Convention at Westminster, he embarkt at Schevelin, the 23 of May 1660, and with a gallant English Fleet, and a gentle gale of Wind, landed, the 25 at Dover, and on the 29th following, being his Birth-day, and then just 30 years of Age, he entred into London, was there received with the greatest and most universal Joy, Acclamations, and Magnificence that could possibly be expressed in so short a warning.

On the first of June following, his Majesty sat in Parliament, and on the 22 of April 1661 rode in triumph from the Tower to Westminster, on the next day, being St. Georges, was Crowned with great Ceremony.

On the 28 of May following, declared to his Parliament his Intention to Marry the Infanta of Portugal, who accordingly in May 1662, being Landed at Portsmouth, was there espoused to the King, by the then Bishop of London, now Archbishop of Canterbury.

His Majesties life hath been full of wonders, but three passages especially seem miraculous. First, at his Birth a bright Star to over him at Noon-day, by many thousands. Secondly his escape, in, and after the, Battle of Worcester, chester, when being in the very heart of England forsaken by all, a sum of Money, by publick Act, promised to those that should discover him, and penalty of High-Treason to any one that should conceal him; when he was seen and known to many persons, of all sorts and conditions; whereof divers were very indigent, and so very subject to be tempted with the proposed Reward, and divers of the Female Sex, and so most unapt to retain a Secret; when he was necessitated to wait so many weeks, and appear in so many places and companies, before a fit opportunity of Transportation could be found. Thirdly, His Majesties Restauration (quippe impossibile fuit Filium tot Precationum, tot Lacrymarum, & tot Miraculorum periisse) that after so many years dispossession, his most inveterate, potent, subtile enemies, in full and quiet possession, on a suddain, the desire of him, should, like Lightning, or a mighty Torrent, run over all England in such a manner, that he should be solemnly invited, magnificently conducted, triumphantly received, without Bloud, Blows, Bargain, or Obligation to any forreign Prince or Potentate.

This was the Lords doing, and must for ever be marvellous in our Eyes.

Of the Queen-Mother.

THe third Person in the Kingdom, was the Queen-Mother, or Dowager, Henrietta Maria de Bourbon, Daughter to the Great King Henry the Fourth, Sister to the just King Lewis the 13. Wife to the Glorious Martyr, King Charles the First, Mother to our Gracious Sovereign King Charles the Second, and Aunt to the present Puissant King, Lewis the 14th.

She was born the 16 of November, Married first at Nostre Dame in Paris, by Proxy, 1625. and shortly after, in the month of June, arriving at Dover, was at Canterbury, espoused to King Charles the First. In the year 1641, her Majesty foreseeing the ensuing storm of Rebellion, and seeing the groundless Odium raised already against her Royal Person, timely withdrew her self, with her eldest Daughter (then newly Married to Prince William, onely Son to Henry, Prince of Orange) into Holland, whence in 1643, after a most furious storm; and barbarous fierce pursuit of the English Rebels at Sea, she landed at Burlington-Bay, with Men, Money, and Ammunition, and soon after with a considerable Army, met the King at Edge-Hill, and thence was conducted to Oxford.

In April 1644. marching with competent Forces from Oxford, towards Exeter, at Abbingdon, took her last farewel of the King, whom she never saw again.

In July following, embark'd at Pendennis Castle, she sailed into France, where entertained, at the charges of her Nephew, the present King of France, she passed a solitary retired life, until the month of October 1660, when upon the Restauration of her Son to the Crown of England, she came to London, and having settled her Revenues here, she went again with her youngest Daughter, the Lady Henrietta, into France, to see her Espoused to the then Duke of Anjou, now of Orleans; and in the month of July, 1662. being returned into England, she settled her Court at Somerset-House, where she continued till May, 1665, then crossed the Seas again, and hath ever since continued in France, her Native Countrey, till her death.

Of the present Princes and Princesses of the Blood.

THE first Prince of the Blood (in France, called Monsieur sans queue) is the most Illustrious Prince, James Duke of York, Second Son to King Charles the Martyr, and only Brother to the present King our Sovereign,

He was Born, Octob, 14. 1633. and forthwith proclaimed at the Court Gates, Duke of York, the 24 of the same month was Baptized, and afterwards committed to the Government of the then Countess of Dorset.

The 27 of July, 1643, at Oxford was Created by Letters Patent, Duke of York (though called so by special Command from his Birth) without those Solemnities (the Iniquity of the times not admitting thereof) that were used to the King his Father, 1605, when being Second Son to King James, and so Duke of Albany in Scotland, was created Duke of York, with the preceding solemn Creation of divers young Noblemen, to be Knights of the Bath, and the Robes of State, put upon him, the Cap of State on his Head, and the Golden Rod into his hand, the Prime Nobility, and the Heralds assisting at that Ceremony.

After the surrender of Oxford, his Royal Highness was in 1646, conveyed to London, by the then prevailing disloyal part of the two Houses of Parliament, and committed, with his Brother Glocester, and Sister Elizabeth, to the care of the Earl of Northumberland.

In

About the age of 20 in France, went into the Campaigne, and served with much Gallantry, under that Great Commander, the then Protestant Mareschal de Turenne, for the French King, against the Spanish Forces in Flanders.

Notwithstanding which, upon a Treaty between the French King, and Cromwel, in 1655. being obliged with all his Retinue to leave the French Dominions, and invited into Flanders, by Don Juan of Austria, he there served under him, against the French King, then Leagued with the English Rebels against Spain, where his Magnanimity, and Dexterity in Martial Affairs, (though unsuccessful) were very eminent.

In the year 1660, came over with the King into England, and being Lord High Admiral, in the year 1665. in the War against the United States of the Neatherlands, commanded, in person, the whole Royal Navy on the Seas, between England and Holland, where, with incomparable Valour, and extraordinary hazard of his own Royal Person, after a most sharp dispute, he obtained a Signal Victory over the whole Dutch Fleet, commanded by Admiral Opdam, who perisht with his own, and many more Dutch Ships in that Fight.

In the year 1672. in a Second War against the United Neatherlands, he again commanded the whole English Fleet, and put the Dutch to flight,

Of the Prince of Orange.

NExt to the Duke of York and his Issue, is William of Nassau, Prince of Orange, only Issue of the late deceased Princess Royal Mary, Eldest Daughter to King Charles the First, and Wedded 1641. to William of Nassau, the only Son to Henry, Prince of Orange, then Commander in Chief of all the Forces of the States-General, both by Land and Sea.

His Highness the present Prince was born 9 days after his Fathers death, on the 14 of November, 1650, had for Godfathers, the Lords States-General of Holland and Zealand, and the Cities of Delft, Leyden, and Amsterdam,

His Governess was the English Lady Stanbope, then Wife to the Heer Van Hemuliet.

At eight years of age was sent to the University of Leyden.

His yearly Revenue, is about 60000 l. Sterling, besides Military advantages enjoyed by his Father and Ancestors, which amounted yearly to about 3000 l. Sterling more.

He is a Prince, in whom the High and Princely Qualities of his Ancestors already appear.

Of the Princess Henrietta.

THe next Heir (after the fore-named) to the English Crown, was the Princess Henrietta, youngest Sister to the present King of England.

She was born the 16 of June, 1644. at Exeter, during the heat of the late Rebellion; after the Surrender of Exeter; conveyed to Oxford, and thence 1646, to London, whence with her Governess the Lady Dalkeith, she escaped into France, was there educated, as became her high Birth and Quality, but being left wholly to the care and maintenance of the Queen her Mother at Paris, embraced the Romish Religion.

At the age of 16 years, came with the Queen Mother into England, and six months after, returning into France, was married to the only Brother of the French King, the Illustrious Prince Philip, then Duke of Anjou, till the death of his Uncle, and now Duke of Orleans, whose Revenue is 1100000 Livers Tournois, besides his Appanage, not yet settled.

Her Portion was 40000 l. Sterling, her Joyniture was to be the same with the present Dutchess Dowager of Orleans.

This Princess left Issue two Daughters, she was usually stiled Madame onely, as being the first Lady in France, she dyed suddainly in June, 1670.

The Elder called Mademoiselle onely, or sans queue κατ' ἐξοχήν, because she is the first Gentlewoman of France.

The younger Sister is called Mademoiselle de Valois; if she had had a Son, the French King was to allow him 50000 Crowns yearly, and the Appanage after the death of the present Duke, reverts to the Crown.

Of the Prince Elector Palatine.

There being left alive no more of the offspring of King Charles the First, the next Heirs of the Crown of England, are the Issue and Descendants of Elizabeth, late Queen of Bobemia, onely Sister to the said King, who was married to Frederick, Prince Palatine of the Rhine, afterwards stiled King of Bobemia, whose Eldest Son living, is Charles Lodowick, Prince Elector Palatine of the Rhine, commonly called the Palsgrave, from the High Dutch, Pfalszgraff, Palatii Comes, was born the Two and Twentieth of December, 1617. at Heidelberg; and afterwards at the age of Three or Four years, conveyed thence into the Countrey of Wittenbergh, and Brandenburgh, then into Holland, and at the Hague, and the University of Leyden, was Educated in a Princely manner. At the age of 16, was made Knight of the Gar-ter, and at the age of 18 years came into Eng-land, about two years after, fought a Battel at Ulot in Westphalia. In the year 1639. passing incognito thorow France, to take possession of Brisack upon the Rhine, which the Duke of Saxon Weymar intended to deliver up unto him, together with the Command of his Army, he was by that quick-sighted Cardinal Richlieu, discovered at Moulins, and thence sent back Prisoner to the Bois de Vincennes, whence after 23 weeks imprisonment, he was by the Mediation of the King of England, set at liberty. In the year 1643, he came again into England, and with the Kings secret consent (because the King could not continue unto him the wonted Pension, whilst the Rebels possess the greatest part of His Majesties Revenues) made his Addresses to, and abode with the disloyal part of the Lords and Commons at Westminster, until the Murder of the said King, and the Restauration of the Lower Palatinate, according to the famous Treaty at Munster, 1648. for which he was constrained to quit all his right to the Upper Palatinate, and accept of an Eight Electorship, at a juncture of time, when the King of England (had he not been engaged at home by an impious Rebellion) had been the most considerable of all other at that Treaty, and this Prince his Nephew, would have had the greatest advantages there.

In 1650, he espoused the Lady Charlotte, at Cassel, Daughter to William the Fifth, Landgrave of Hesse, and of Elizabeth Emilia of Hannover, by whom he hath one Son, named Charles, born 3^d March 1651, to whom is lately married the Sister of Christiern, the present King of Danemark, and Fifth of that Name; and one Daughter named Louise, born in May, 1651. now Married to the Duke of Orleans, only Brother to the French King.

Of Prince Rupert.

Next to the Issue of the Prince Elector Palatine, is Prince Rupert, born at Prague, 17 December, 1619. not long before that very unfortunate Battel there fought, whereby not only all Bobemia was lost, but the Palatine Family was, for almost 30 years, disposselt of all their Possessions in Germany.

At 13 years of age, he marcht with the then Prince of Orange, to the Siege of Rhynebergh.

C H A P. XII.

Of the Great Officers of the Crown.

NExt to the King, and Princes of the Bloud, are reckoned the Great Officers of the Crown, whereof there are Nine, viz. the Lord High Steward of England, the Lord High Chancellor, the Lord High Treasurer, Lord President of the Kings Council, the Lord Privy Seal, the Lord Great Chamberlain, the Lord High Constable, the Earl Marshal, and the Lord High Admiral.

The first Great Officer of the Crown, according to the account of our Ancestors, was the High Steward, Lord High Steward of England, or Viceroy, for so the word Steward imports, in the Saxon Tongue, from Stede and Ward, Locum tenens, in French, Lieutenant, and was the same Officer with the Reichs Drozet, that is Regni vice Rex in Sweden, and the Stadtholder in Denmark, who is also called Vice-Roy, or Lieutenant du Roy. Our common Lawyers stile him Magnus Angliæ Senescallus, of Sen, in Saxon, Justice, and Schalls, a Governor or Officer.

He was antiently the Highest Officer under the King, and his Power so exorbitant, that it was thought fit, not longer to trust it in the hands of any Subject; for his Office was, Supervidere & regularé sub-Rege & immediate post Regem (as an antient Record speaks) Totum Regnum Angliæ & omnes ministros Legum infra idem Regnum temporibus pacis & guerrarum.

The last that had a State of Inheritance in this High Office, was Henry of Bullinbrook (Son and Heir to the Great Duke of Lancaster, John of Gaunt, afterwards King of England) since which time, they have been made onely pro hac vice, to officiate either at a Coronation, by vertue of which Office, he sitteth judicially, and keepeth his Court at the Kings Palace at Westminster, and there receiveth the Bills and Petitions of all such Noblemen and others, who by reason of their Tenure, or otherwise, claim to do Services at the new Kings Coronation and to receive the Fees and Allowances, due and accustomed; as lately at the Coronation of King Charles the Second, the Duke of Ormond was made for that occasion, Lord High Steward of England, and (marching immediately before the King, above all other Officers of the Crown) bore in his hands St. Edwards Crown: Or else for the Araignment of some Peer of the Realm, their Wives or Widows, for Treason or Felony, or some other great Crime, to Judge and give Sentence, as the antient tient High Stewards were wont to do: which ended, his Commission expireth: so at the late Araignment of the Lord Morley for Homicide; the Earl of Clarendon, then Lord High Chancellor of England, was made Lord High Steward, pro illa vice: during which Trial, he sitteth under a Cloth of Estate, and they that speak to him, say, May it please your Grace, my Lord High Steward of England. His Commission is to proceed Secundum Legem, & Consuetudinem Angliæ. He is sole Judge, yet doth call all the 12 Judges of the Land to assist him. Is not sworn, nor the Lords who are the Tryers of the Peer arraigned.

During his Stewardship; he bears a white Staffe in his Hand, and the Trial being over, openly breaks it, and so his Office takes an end.

Next, The Lord High Chancellor, Summus Cancellarius, so called, because all Patents, Commissions, Warrants, coming from the King; and perused by him, are Signed, if well; or cancelled, if amiss; or else, because antiently he sate intra concellos, that is, such a partition as usually now separates the Church from the Chancel.

He is after the King and Princes of the Bloud in Civil Affairs (there being now no Lord High Steward) the highest Person in the Kingdom, as the Archbishop of Canterbury is in Ecclesiastical Affairs,

His Office is to keep the Kings Great Seal, to Judge, not according to the Common Law, as other Civil Courts do, but to moderate the rigor of the Law, and to Judge according to Equity, Conscience, or Reason. To bestow all Ecclesiastical Benefices in the Kings Gift, under 20 l. yearly in the Kings Books, and for this and other causes, he was ever till of late years a Clergy-man.

Oath.

His Oath is to do right to all manner of People, poor and rich, after the Laws and Customs of the Realm, and truly counsel the King, to keep secret the Kings Council, nor suffer so far as he may, that the Rights of the Crown be not diminished, &c.

From the time of Henry the 2. the Chancellors of England, have been ordinarily made of Bishops, or other Clergy-men, learned in the Civil Laws, till Henry the 8. made Chancellor first, Sir Thomas More, and after him, Thomas Audeley. After whom also was made Lord Chancellor, Sir Richard Rich, Knight, Lord Rich (a Common Lawyer) who had been first the said Kings Solicitor, and afterwards Chancellour of his Court of Augmentation, from whom is descended the present Earl of Warwick, and the Earl of Holland, since which time there have been some Bishops, but most Common Lawyers.

Salary.

The Salary from the King is 848 l. per Annum, and when the Star-Chamber was up, 200 l. per Annum more, for his Attendance there.

Creation.

The Lord Chancellor and the Lord Keeper are the same in Authority and Power and Precedence, yet they differ in Patent, in Height and Favor of the King, they are created per Traditionem magni Sigilli sibi per Dominum Regem, gem, and by taking an Oath, only the Lord Chancellor hath besides a Patent.

This Great Seal, is at present in the Custody of a Lord Chancellor, who is Heneage Lord Finch, Baron of Darenty, advanced by His Majesty to that High Office, in the place of the Earl of S Shaftsbury, late Lord High Chancellor of England; for his eminent Abilities and good Services performed in the discharge of the places of both Solicitor and Attorney-General.

The third Great Officer of the Crown, is the Lord High Treasurer of England; who receives this High Office by delivery of a White Staffe to him by the King, and holds it durante beneplacito Regis. Lord Treasurer

Antiently he received this dignity by the Delivery of the Golden Keys of the Treasury.

His Oath is little different from that of the Lord Chancellor. Oath

He is Præfectus Ararii, a Lord by his Office, under whose Charge and Government is all the Kings Revenue kept in the Exchequer. He hath also the Check of all the Offices any way employed in collecting Imposts, Customs, Tributes, or other Revenues belonging to the Crown. He hath the gift of all Customers, Controlers, and searchers in all the Ports of England. Office

The Antient Annual Salary of the Lord High Treasurer of England, was in all 383 l. 7 s. 8 d. but the late Salary was Eight thousand pounds per Annum.

This Office hath been executed by a Commission granted to three eminent Persons, viz. The Lord Ashley. now Earl of Sbaftsbury, Sir Thomas Clifford, late Lord Clifford, and Sir John Duncomb, until the last day of Michaelmas Term, 1672. when by His Majesties especial favor, the said Lord Clifford, was created Lord Treasurer of England.

The present Lord High Treasurer of England, is Thomas Earl of Danby: created upon the Resignation of the late Lord Clifford since deceased.

sident.

The Fourth Great Officer named in the Statute 31 H. 8. is the Lord President of the Kings Privy-Council, an Officer as antient as King John's time, was usually called Consiliarius Capitalis. His Office is to attend upon the King, to propose business at Council-Table, and then to report to the King the several Transactions there. It hath been always granted by Letters under the Great Seal durante beneplacito.

This Office of later times is grown obsolete, the last that had this honour, was the first Earl of Manchester. Now the Lord Chancellor usually supplies his place.

Lord Privy Seal.

The Fifth, the Lord Privy Seal, who is a Lord by his Office, under whose hands pass all Charters

ters and Grants of the King, and Pardons signed by the King, before they come to the Great Seal of England; also divers other Matters of less concernment, as for the Payments of Money, &c. which do not pass the Great Seal.

He is by his Place of the Kings Privy-Council, and Chief Judge of the Court of Requests, when it shall be re-continued; and besides his Oath of Privy-Councillor, takes a particular Oath as Lord Privy Seal.

His Salary is 1500 l. per annum.

His place according to Statute is next to the Lord President of the Kings Council.

It is an Office of great trust and skill, that he put not this Seal to any Grant without good Warrant under the Kings Privy Signet; nor without Warrant if it be against Law or Custom, until that the King be first acquainted. Dignity.

This great Office is mentioned in the Statute of 2 Rich. 2. and then ranked amongst the chief Persons of the Realm.

And it is at present enjoyed by by Arthur Earl of Anglesey. But now He Marquis of Halifax

The Sixth Great Officer of the Crown, is Cham- the Lord Great Chamberlain of England; an Officer of Great Antiquity, to whom belongs Livery and Lodging in the Kings Court, and certain Fees due from each Archbishop or Bishop when they do their homage or fealty to the King, and from all Peers of the Realm at their Creation, or doing their Homage or Fealty; and at the Coronation of every King, to have Forty Ells of Crimson Velvet for his own Robes; and on the Coronation day before the King riseth to bring his Shirt, Coyse, Wearing Clothes; and after berlain.

This Honour was long enjoyed by the Earls of Oxford, from the time of Henry the First, by an Estate Tail or Inheritance; but in the two last Coronations by the Earls; of Lindsey, and that by an Estate of Inheritance, from a Daughter and Heir General claimed and controverted.

The Seventh Great Officer is the Lord High Constable of England, so called, some think, from the Saxon, Cuning, by contraction King and Stable, Quasi Regis Columen, for it was anciently written Cuningstable, but rather from Comes Stabulis, whose Power and Jurisdiction was anciently so great, that after the death of Edward Bagot or Stafford, Duke of Buckingham, 1521, or the last High Constable of England, it was thought too great for any Subject.

But since, upon occasion of Coronation (as that of King Charles the Second, was made the late Earl of Northumberland) and at Solemn Tryals by Combat, (as that which was intended between Rey and Ramsley 1631. was made Robert Earl of Lindsey) there is created Pro illa Vice, a Lord High Constable. His Power and Jurisdiction is the same with the Earl Marshall, with whom he sits Judge in the Mar-

Marshalls Court, and takes place of the Earl Marshall.

The Eighth Great Officer of the Crown, is Earl the Earl Marshal of England, so called from Marshal. Mare in the Old Saxon (i. e.) Horses, and Schal, Præfectus. He is an Earl, some say by his Office, whereby he taketh as the Constable doth, Cognizance of all matters of War and Arms, determineth Contracts touching Deeds of Arms, out of the Realm upon Land, and Matters concerning Wars within the Realm, which cannot be determined by Common-Law.

This Office is of Great Antiquity in England, and antiently of Great Power.

The last Earl Marshal was Henry Howard Earl of Arundel, who died in 1652, his Father Thomas Earl of Arundel, and he enjoying that Office onely for the term of their Lives by the Kings Letters Patent.

At the Coronation of His Majesty now Reigning, the present Earl of Suffolk for that Solemnity only was made Earl Marshal.

Lately that Great Office was executed in part by a Commission granted by His Majesty to John Lord Roberts, Lord Privy Seal, to Henry Pierpoint Marquis of Dorchester, and to Charles Howard, Earl of Carlisle, &c. until 1672, when the Lord Henry Howard, Brother to the present Duke of Norfolk, was first created Earl of Norwich, and then Earl Marshal of England, but at present executes the said place by a Deputy, who is the Right Honorable James Earl of Suffolk.

The Ninth and last Great Office of the Crown, Admiral. is the Lord High Admiral of England, whose Trust

Trust and Honour is so great, that this Office hath usually been given either to some of the Kings younger Sons, near Kinsmen, or to some one of the highest and chiefest of all the Nobility.

He is called Admiral from Amir in Arabic, and ἀμιρ in the Greek, that is Præfectus Marinus, a word borrowed from the Eastern Empire, where such kind of Compounds were much in request, and introduced in England, after the Wars in the Holy Land by King Richard, or as some say by King Edward the First.

The Patent of the Lord Admiral did anciently run thus, Angliæ, Hiberniæ, & Aquitaniæ Magnus Admirallus; but at present thus, Angliæ & Hiberniæ ac Dominiorum & Insularum earundem, Villæ Castellæ & Marchiarum ejusdem, Normandiæ, Gasconiæ, & Aquitaniæ, Magnus Admirallus & Præfectus Generalis Classis & Marium dictorum regnorum.

To the Lord High Admiral of England, is by the King intrusted the management of all Maritime Affairs, as well in respect of Jurisdiction as Protection. He is that High Officer or Magistrate, to whom is committed the Government of the Kings Navy, with Power of decision in all Causes Maritime, as well Civil as Criminal; of all things done upon or beyond the Sea in any part of the World, all things done upon the Sea Coasts, in all Ports and Havens, and upon all Rivers below the first Bridge next towards the Sea.

The Lord Admiral hath the Power to commissionate a Vice-Admiral, a Rear-Admiral, and all Sea Captains, also Deputies for particular Coasts, Coroners to view dead bodies found on the Sea Coasts, or at Sea, Commissioners or Judges ges, for exercising Justice in the Court of Admiralty, to imprison, release, &c.

He hath sometimes a Commission to bestow Knighthood to such as shall deserve it at Sea.

To the Lord Admiral belongs, by Law and Custom, all Penalties and Amercements of all Transgressors at Sea, on the Sea-Shore, in Ports, and from the first Bridge on Rivers towards the Sea; also the Goods of Pyrates, Felons, or Capital Faulters, condemned, outlawed, or horned. This High Dignity is at present enjoyed by the Kings onely Brother, the Illustrious Prince James Duke of York,

C H A P. XIII.

Of the Kings Court, the Ecclesiastical, Civil, and Military Government thereof, with a Catalogue of the Kings Privy-Councillors, of the Kings Judges, Sergeants, &c.

THE Court of the King of England is a Monarchy within a Monarchy, consisting of Ecclesiastical, Civil and Military Persons and Government.

For the Ecclesiastical Government of the Kings Court, there is first, a Dean of the Kings Chappel; who is usually some grave Learned Prelate, chosen by the King, and who as Dean acknowledgeth no Superiour but the King; for as the Kings Palace is exempt from all inferiour Temporal Jurisdiction, so is his Chappel from all Spiritual; it is called Capella Dominica, the Demean Chappel, is not within the Jurisdiction or Diocess of any Bishop, but as a Regal Peculiar exempt and reserved to the Visitation and Immediate Government of the King, who is Supreme Ordinary, and as it were Prime Bishop over all the Churches and Bishops of England.

By the Dean are chosen all other Officers of the Cappel, viz. a Subdean or Præcentor Cappelle; 12 Gentlemen of the Chappel; whereof 12 are Præsts, and one of them is Confessor to the Kings Household, whose Office is to read Prayers every morning to the Family, to visit the Sick, to examine and prepare Communicants, to inform such as desire advice in any Case of Conscience or point of Religion, &c.

The other 20 Gentlemen, commonly called the Clerks of the Chappel, are with the aforesaid Priests to perform in the Chappel the Office of Divine Service in Praying, Singing, &c. One of these being well skilled in Musick, is chosen Master of the Children, whereof there are 12 in Ordinary, to instruct them in the Rules and Art of Musick, for the Service of the Chappel. Three other of the said Clerks are chosen to be Organists, to to whom are joyned upon Sun-dayes, Collardays, and other Holy-days, the Saick-buts, and Cornets belonging to the Kings private Musick, to make the Chappel Musick more full and compleat.

There are moreover 4 Officers called Vergers, from the Silver Rods carried in their hands, also a Sergeant, 2 Yeomen, and a Groom of the Chappel.

In the Kings Chappel thrice every day Prayers are read, and Gods Service and Worship performed with great Decency, Order, and Devotion, and should be a Pattern to all other Churches and Chappels of England.

The King hath also his private Oratory, where some of His Chaplains read Divine Service to the King on working dayes every Morning and every Evening.

Twelve dayes in the year being high and Principal Festivals, his Majesty after Divine Service, attended with his Principal Nobility, adorned with their Collars of the Carter, together with some of the Heralds in their rich Coats, Coats, in a grave solemn manner at the Alter Offers a sum of Gold to God, in signum specialis Domini, that by his Grace he is King, and holdeth all of him.

All Offerings made at the Holy Altar by the King and Queen, did antiently belong to the disposal of the Archbishop of Canterbury, if his Grace were present, wheresoever the Court was, but now to the Dean of the Chapel, to be distributed amongst the poor.

Those 12 days are, first Christmas, Easter, Whitsunday, and All Saints, called Household-days; upon which the Besant or Gold to be offer'd, is delivered to the King by the Lord Steward, or some other of the principal Officers: then New-years-day, Twelf-day, upon the latter of which, Gold, Frankincense, and Myrrbe, in several Purfes are offered by the King: Lastly, Candelmas, Annunciation, Ascension, Trinity-Sunday, St. John Baptist, and Michaelmas-day, when onely Gold is offered. Upon Christmas, Easter, and Whitsunday, his Majesty usually receives the Holy Sacrament, none but two or three of the principal Bishops, and some of the Royal Family communicating with him.

The Gold offered by the King at the Altar when he receives the Sacrament, and upon high Festivals, is still called the Bizantine, which anciently was a piece of Gold, Coyned by the Emperors of Constantinople in Latin Bizantium. That which was used by King James, was a piece of Gold, having on the one side the Pourtrait of the King kneeling before an Altar with Four Crowns before him, and with this Motto circumscribed. Quid retribuam Domino pro omnibus quæ tribuit mihi; and on the other side was a Lamb, 1, 116, 1, 2

The King hath also (besides many Extraordinary) 48 Chaplains in Ordinary, who are usually eminent Doctors in Divinity; whereof four every Month wait at Court to Preach in the Chappel on Sundayes and other Festivals before the King, and in the Morning early on Sundayes before the Household, to read Divine Service before the King, out of Chappel daily as aforementioned, twice in the Kings private Oratory, to give Thanks at Table in the Clerk of the Closets absence.

In the time of Lent, according to Antient Laudable Custom, the Divine Service and Preaching is perform'd in a more Solemn manner.

Antiently at Court there were Sermons in Lent onely, and that in the afternoon, in the open Aire, and then onely by Bishops, Deans, and principal Prebendaries: Our Ancestors judging that time enough, and those persons only fit to Teach such Auditory their Duty to God and Man. Antiently also the Lent Preachers were all appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury: Now on the first Wednesday called Ashwednesday, in the Morning, begins the Dean of the Chappel to Preach, on each Wednesday after one of his Majesties more eloquent Chaplains, every Friday the Dean of some Cathedral or Collegiate-Church: on the last Friday called Good-Friday, is alwayes to Preach the Dean of Westminster; in every Sunday in Lent some Right Reverend Bishop Preacheth, and on the last Sunday of Lent, called Palm-Sunday, is to Preach an Archbishop, and upon Easter-day the Lord High Almoner, who is the Bishop of London for the time being, and who disposeth of the Kings Alms, and for that that use receiveth (besides other Moneys allowed by the King) all Deodands, & bona Felonum de se, to be that way disposed, whereof more afterwards,

In France, the Grand Aumosnier is Principal of all Ecclesiastiques of the Court, and all Officers of the Kings Chappel, he receiveth their Oaths of Allegiance, and himself swears onely to the King for that Office; he hath the disposition of all Hospitals, the Charge for delivering Prisoners, pardoned by the King, at his coming to the Crown, or at his Coronation, or first entrance into any of his Cities.

Under the Lord High Almoner, there is a Sub-Almoner, two Yeomen, and two Grooms of the Almonry, Besides all these, the King hath a Clerk of the Closet, or Confessor to His Majesty, who is commonly some Reverend, Discreet Divine, extraordinarily esteemed by His Majesty, whose Office is to attend at the Kings right Hand, during Divine Service, to resolve all doubts, concerning Spiritual Matters, to wait on his Majesty in his private Oratory or Closet, whereof the Keeper is, William Chiffinch, Esq; whose Fee is 5 l.

The present Dean of the Chappel, is Dr. Compton, Bishop of London, whose Fee is 200 l. yearly, and a Table; his Sub-Dean, is Dr. Colbrand, whose Fee is 100 l yearly.

The Fee of each Priest, and Clerk of the Chappel, is 70 l. yearly.

The Clerk of the Closet is Dr. Crew, Bishop of Durham receives 20 Nobles Fee per Annuit.

The Lord High Almoner is Doctor Dolben, Bishop of Rochester, hath no Fee, his Sub-Almoner, is Doctor Parenthes, whose Fee is 6 l. 6 s. 10 d.

For

For the Civil Government of the Kings Court, the chief Officer is the Lord Steward, called also in the time of Henry the Eighth, The Great Master of the Kings Household, after the French Mode, but prima Mariæ, and ever since called, The Lord Steward of the Kings Household.

The State of the Kings House is committed to him, to be ruled and guided by his discretion and all his Commands in Court, to be obeyed and served. And as his Power is great, so is his Dignity, State, and Honor. The Steward and Treasurer within the Kings House, saith an old Manuscript, Represent the State of an Earl.

He, hath Authority over all Officers and Servants of the Kings House, except those of His Majesties Chappell, Chamber, and Stable, &c.

He by his Office, without any Commission, judgeth of all disorders, as Treasons, Murders, Felonies, Bloudsheds, committed in the Court, or within the Verge, which is every way within 12 miles of the chief Tunnel of the Court (onely London by Charter is exempted) for the Law having an high esteem of the Dignity of the Kings settled Mansion-House, laid out such a Plot of Ground about his House (as a Haut Pass, or Foot-Carpet, spread about the Kings Chair of State, that ought to be more cleared and void, then other places) to be subject to a special exempted Jurisdiction depending on the Kings Person, and Great Officers, that so where the King comes, there should come with him, Peace and Order, and an awfulness and reverence in Mens hearts: besides, it would have been a kind of eclipsing of the Kings Honour, that where the King was, any Justice should be sought, but immediately from the Kings own Officers; and therefore from very ancient

antient times, the Jurisdiction of the Verge, hath been executed by the Lord Steward, with great ceremony, in the nature of a Peculiar Kings Bench, and that not only within, but without the Kings Dominions: For so it is recorded, that one Engleam, of Nogent in France, for stealing Silver Dishes out of the House of Edward the First, King of England, then at Paris (after the matter had been debated in the Council of the King of France, touching the Jurisdiction; and ordered, That the King of England should enjoy this Kingly Prerogative of his Household) was condemned by Sir Robert Fitz-John, then Steward to the King of England, and hanged in St. Germain's Fields:

The Lord Steward is a White-Staff Officer, for he in the Kings Presence carryeth a Whits-Staff, and at other times going abroad, it is carried by a Footman bareheaded. This White Staff is taken for a Commission; at the death of the King, over the Herse made for the Kings Body, he breaketh this Staff, and thereby dischargeeth all the Officers, whom the succeeding King, out of his meer Grace, doth re-establish each one in his former Office.

This eminent employment is now enjoyed by James, Duke of Ormond, whose Fee is 100 l. yearly, and Sixteen Dishes daily each Meal, with Wine, Beer, &c.

The next Officer, is the Lord Chamberlain, who hath the oversight of all Officers belonging to the Kings Chamber, except the Precincts of the Kings Bed-Chamber, which is wholly under the Groom of the Stole; and all above Stairs; who are all sworn by him, (or his Warrant to the Gentlemen Ushers) to the King.

King. He hath also the oversight of the Officers of the Wardrobe, at all His Majesties Houses; and of the removing Wardrobes, or of Beds, of the Tents, Revels, Musick, Comedians, Hunting, and of the Messengers, of the Trumpeters, Drummers, of all Handicrafts, and Artisans, retained in the Kings Services.

Moreover, he hath the oversight of the Heralds and Pursuivants, and Sergeants at Arms, of all Physicians, Apothecaries; Surgeons, Barbers, &c. To him also belongeth the oversight of the Chaplains, though himself be a Layman; contrary in this particular, to the antient custom of England, and Modern Custom of all other Kingdoms, where Ecclesiasticks are never under the ordering of Lay-men.

Also of the Charges of Coronations, Marriages, Entries, Cavalcades, Funerals, &c.

The Fee of the Lord Chamberlain of the Kings House, is 100 l. yearly, and Sixteen Dishes each Meal, with all the Appurtenances.

This Office is now in the hands of Henry Bennet, Earl of Arlington.

Most of the above-named Offices and Places, are in the Gift and Disposal of the Lord Chamberlain,

The third Great Officer of the Kings Court, is the Master of the Horse, antiently called Comes Stabuli, or Constable. to whom a higher employment and power was then given, and this taken from him.

Kings Court.*

AS in a Kingdom, because Civil Governours proposing Temporal' and Ecclesiastical Governours, Eternal Rewards and Punishments, are not sufficient to secure Peace; therefore a Military force is always in readiness: So in the Kings Court, besides Civil and Ecclesiastical Officers, it is thought necessary always to have in readiness, Military Officers and Soldiers, to preserve the Kings Person; whereupon depends the Peace and Safety of all his Subjects.

Belonging peculiarly to the Kings Court, (besides, above 4000 Foot, and above 500 Horse, who are always in pay and readiness, to assist upon any occasion) there are Guards of Horse and Foot.

The Horse-Guard, which the French call Garde du Corps,, the Germans, Lieb-Guardy, we corruptly, Life-Guard, that is, The Guard of the Kings Body, hath consisted of 500
Horse-

Horse-men, all or most Gentlemen, and old Officers, commanded by the Captain of the Guard, now James, Duke of Monmouth, whose pay is 30 s. a day, and each Horseman 4 s. a day. The Horse have been divided into three parts, whereof 200, under the immediate Command of the Captain of the Guard, 150 under le Marquis de Blanquefort, Baron of Holdenby, and 150 under Sir Philip Howard, whose Pay to each is 20 s. a day.

Under the Captain of the Guard, are now onely two Lieutenants, Sir Thomas Sandis, and Major-General Egerton, the Coronet is Mr. Villars, Son to the Lord Grandison, also a Guidon, Mr. Griffin, a Quartermaster, and four Brigadeers.

The Office of the Captain of the Life-Guard, is at all times of War or Peace, to wait upon the Kings Person (as oft as he rides abroad) with a considerable number of Horsemen, well Armed, and prepared against all dangers whatsoever.

At home, within the Kings House, it is thought fit, that the Kings Person should have a Guard, both above and below Stairs.

In the Presence Chamber, therefore wait the Honourable Band of Gentlemen-Pensioners, first instituted by King Henry 7, and chosen usually, in all times since, out of the best and most antient Families of England, not onely for a faithful Guard to the Kings Person, but to be as a Nursery, to breed up hopeful Gentlemen, and fit them for employments, both Civil and Military, as well abroad as at home, as Deputies of Ireland, Ambassadors in Forreign Parts, Counsellors of State, Captains of the Guard, Governors of Places, and Commanders in the Wars, both by Land and Sea ;

Sea; of all which, there have been examples as George Lord Hunsden, Captain of the Pensioners, at the death of Queen Elizabeth, intimated in a Letter to King James, before he came to England.

Their Office is to attend the Kings Person to and from his Chappel, onely as far as the Privy-Chamber; also in all other Solemnities; as Coronations, Publick Audience of Ambassadors, &c. They are 40 in number, over whom there is a Captain, usually some Peer of the Realm, a Lieutenant, a Standard-bearer, and a Clerk of the Checque, who are at present, as followeth.

The Band of Gentlemen-Pensioners,

Sir John Bennet, Knight of the Bath, Lieutenant,

Their Standard born in time of War, is, A Cross Gules in a Field Argent, also Four Bends.

Again, In the first Room above Stairs, called the Guard-Chamber, attend the Yeomen of the Guard of His Majesties Body; whereof there were wont to be, two hundred and fifty Men; of the best quality, under Gentry, and of larger stature then ordinary (for every one of them was to be Six Foot high,) There are at present One hundred Yeomen in daily waiting; and Seventy more not in waiting; and as any of the One hundred shall dye, his place to be filled up out of the Seventy. These wear Scarlet Coats down to the knee, and Scarlet Breeches, both richly guarded with black Velvet, and rich Badges upon their Coats, before and behind. The Kings Palace Royal (Ratione Regie Dignitatis) is exempted from all Jurisdiction of any Court, Civil, or Ecclesiastical, but onely to the Lord Steward, and in his absence, to the Treasurer and Comptroller of the Kings Household, with the Steward of the Marshalsey, who may, by vertue of their Office, without Commission, hear, and determin all Treasons, Felonies, Breaches of the Peace, committed within the Kings Court or Palace. The most excellent Orders and Rules for the Demeanor, and carriage of all Officers and Servants in the Kings Court, are to be seen in several Tables, hung up in several Rooms at the Court, and Signed with the Kings own Hand, and worthy to be read of all Strangers.

The Kings Court or House, where the King resideth, is accounted a place so Sacred, that if any man presume to strike another within the Palace, where the Kings Royal Person resideth, and by such a stroke onely, draw bloud, his Right Hand shall be stricken off, and he committed to perpetual imprisonment, and fined. By the ancient Laws of England, onely striking in the Kings Court, was punished with death, and loss of Goods.

To make the deeper impression and terror into mens minds, for striking in the Kings Court, it hath been ordered, that the punishment for striking should be executed, with great solemnity and ceremony, in brief, thus:

The Sergeant of the Kings Wood-yard, brings to the place of Execution, a square Block, a Beetle

Beetle, Staple, and Cords, to fasten the Hand thereto; the Yeoman of the Scullery provides a great fire of Coals by the Block, wherein the Searing Irons, brought by the chief Farrier, are to be ready for the chief Surgeon to use. Vinegar and cold Water, brought by the Groom of the Saucery; the chief Officers also of the Cellar and Pantry, are to be ready, one with a Cup of Red Wine, and the other with a Manchet, to offer the Criminal, after the Hand cut off, and the Stump seared; the Sergeant of the Ewry is to bring Linnen to wind about, and wrap the Arm. The Yeomen of the Poultry, a Cock to lay to it; the Yeomen of the Chandry, seared Cloaths, the Master Cook, a sharp Dresser Knife, which at the place of Execution, is to be held upright, by the Sergeant of the Larder, till Execution be performed by an Officer appointed thereto, &c. After all, shall be imprisoned during life, and Fined, and Ransom at the Kings Will.

In the Kings Court, not only striking is forbidden, but also, all occasions of striking: and therefore the Law saith, Nullas Citationes aut Summonitiones licet facere infra Palatium Regis, apud Westm. vel alibi ubi Rex residet.

The Court of the King of England, for Magnificence, for Order, for Number, and Quality of Officers, for rich Furniture, for Entertainment and Civility to Strangers, for plentiful Tables, might compare with the best Court in Christendom, and far excel most Courts abroad; of one whercof see the Description made by an ingenious Person beyond-Sea, writing to a friend of his at Court there, *Annon in infernoes emico > qui es in Aula ubi Daemonum habitatio est, qui illic suis artibus, (hu-*mana licet effigie) regnant, atque ubi Scelerum Schola est, & Animarum jactura ingens, ac quicquid aspiciam est perfidiæ ac doli, quicquid crudelitatis ac inclementiæ, quicquid effrenatæ superbiæ & rapacis avaritiæ, quicquid obscenæ libidinis ac fœdissimæ impudicitia, quicquid nefanda impieta-tis & morum pessimorum, totum illic acervatur cumulatissime; ubi stupra, raptus, incestus, adulteria; ubi inebriari, jurare, pejerare, Atheismum profiteri palam principum & nobilium ludi sunt; ubi fastus & tumor, ira, livor, fœdaque cupi-do cum sociis suis imperare videtur; ubi criminum. omnium procella, virtutumque omnium in-

But the Court of England, on the contrary, hath been (and is hoped ever will be) accounted, as King James adviseth (in his Basilicon Doron) a pattern of Godliness, and all Honesty and Virtue, the properest School of Prowess and Heroick Demeanor, and the fittest place of Education, for the Nobility and Gentry.

The Court of England hath for a long time been a Pattern of Hospitality and Charity, to the Nobility and Gentry of England. All Noblemen, or Gentlemen, Subjects or Strangers, that came accidentally to Court, were freely entertained at the plentiful Tables of His Majesties Officers. Divers Services, or Messes of Meat, were every day provided extraordinary for the Kings Honor. Two hundred and forty Gallons of Beer a day, were at the Buttery Barr allowed for the Poor, besides all the broken Meat, Bread, &c. gathered into Baskets, and given to the Poor at the Court-Gates, by two Grooms, and two Yeomen of the Al-monry, who have Salaries of His Majesty for

Moreover, the Lord Almoner before-mentioned, hath the priviledge to give the Kings Dish, to whatsoever poor man he pleases, that is, the first Dish at Dinner which is set upon the Kings Table; or instead thereof four pence per diem, (which antiently was equivalent to 4 s. now.) Next he distributes to 24 poor Men, Nominated by the Parishioners of the Parish adjacent to the Kings place of Residence, to each of them four pence in Money, a Two penny Loaf; and a Gallon of Beer; or instead thereof three pence in Money, equally to be divided among them every morning, at 7 of the Clock at the Court Gate, and every poor man before he receives the Almshouse is to repeat the Creed, and the Lords Prayer, in the presence of one of the Kings Chaplains, deputed by the Lord Almoner to be his Subalmoner, who also is to scatter new coyned Two pences in the Towns and Places where the King passes through in his progress, to a certain Sum by the year. Besides there are many poor Pensioners to the King and Queen below Stairs, that is such as are put to Pension, either because they are so old, that they are unfit for Service, or else the Widdow of such of His Majesties Household Servants that died Poor, and were not able to provide for their Wives and Children in their life times; every one of these hath a competency duly paid unto them. Lastly, there are distributed amongst the poor the large Offerings which the King gives in Collar-dayes.

The Magnificent and abundant plenty of the Kings Tables hath caused amazement in Foreigners; when they have been informed that in the last Kings Reign before the Troubles, there there were daily in his Court, 86 Tables well furnished each Meal, whereof the Kings Table had 28 Dishes, the Queens 24; Four other Tables, 16 Dishes each; Three other, 10 Dishes each; Twelve other had 7 Dishes each; Seventeen other Tables had each of them, 5 Dishes; Three other had 4 each; Thirty two other Tables had each 3 Dishes, and Thirteen other had each 2 Dishes: In all about Five hundred Dishes each Meal, with Bread, Beer, Wine, and all other things necessary. All which was provided most by the several Purveyors, who by Commissions, legally and regularly authorized, did receive those provisions at a moderate price, such as had been formerly agreed upon in the several Counties of England, which price (by reason of the value of Money, much altered) was become low, yet a very inconsiderable burthen to the Kingdom in General, but thereby was greatly supported the Dignity Royal in the eyes of Strangers, as well as Subjects. The English Nobility and Gentry, according to the Kings example, were incited to keep a proportionable Hospitality in their several Countrey Mansions, the Husbandman encouraged to breed Cattle, all Tradesmen to a chearful industry, and there was then a free Circulation of Monneys throughout the whole body of the Kingdom. There was spent yearly in the Kings House of gross Meat 1500 Oxen, 7000 Sheep, 1200 Veals, 300 Porkers, 400 Sturks or young Beefs, 6800 Lambs, 300 Fitches of Bacon, and 26 Boars: Also 140 dozen of Geese, 250 dozen of Capons, 470 dozen of Hens, 750 dozen of Pullers, 1420 dozen of Chickens; for Bread 36400 Bushels of Wheat, and for Drink, 600 Tun of Wine, and 1700 Tun of Beer; Moreover, of Butter, 46640 pounds, together with with the Fish and Fowl, Venison, Fruit, Spice proportionably. This prodigious plenty in the Kings Court, caused Foreigners to put a higher value upon the King, and caused the Natives who were there freely welcome to increase their affection to the King, it being found necessary for the King of England this way to endear the English, who ever delighted in Feasting; as for the Italian Princes by sights and shews to endear their Subjects, who as much delighted therein.

Therefore by special Order of the Kings House, some of His Majesties servants, Men of Quality, went daily to Westminster-Hall, in Term-time, between Eleven and Twelve of the Clock, to invite Gentlemen to eat of the Kings Acates or Viands, and in Parliament time, to invite the Parliament Men thereto.

Moreover, the Court is an eminent Pattern of Charity and Humility to all that shall see the performance of that antient Custom by the King and the Queen, on the Thursday before Easter, called Maundy Thursday, so called from the French Mande, in Latin Sportula, when the King or his Lord Almoner first washeth the Feet of as many poor Men, as are the years His Majesty hath Reigned, and then wipes them with a Towel (according to the pattern of our Saviour) and then gives to every one of them two yards and a half of Wollen Cloth, to make a Sute of Cloths, also Linnen Cloth for two Shirts, and a pair of Stockings, and a pair of Shoes, three dishes of Fish in Wooden Platters, one of Salt Salmon, a second of Green-fish, or Cod, a third of Pickle-Herrings, Red Herrings, and Red-Sprats, a gallon of Beer, a quart Bottle of Wine, and four four Sixpenny loaves of Bread; also a Red Leather Purse, with as many single pence as the King is years old, and in such another Purse as many Shillings as the King hath Reigned years.

The Queen Consort also doth the like to divers poor Women.

Finally, the Court of England may, for Government and exact Accounts, be a Pattern to all the Courts in the World.

The Form of Government is, by the Wisdom of many Ages, so contrived and regulated, that it seems to such as seriously consider it, almost impossible to mend it, if the prescribed Rules of Government be duly and impartially executed. The Account (which is of many Natures, and is therefore very difficult, must pass through many hands; and is therefore very exact) is so wisely Contrived and Methodized, that without the Combination of every one of these following Officers, viz. the Cofferer, a Clerk of the Green-cloth, a Clerk Comptroller, a Clerk of the Kitchen, of the Spicery or Avery, or a particular Clerk, together with the Conjunction of a Purveyor and Waiter in the Office, it is impossible to defraud the King of a loaf of Bread, of a pint of Wine, a quart of Beer, or joynt of Meat, or Money, or any thing else.

C H A P. XVII.

Of the Three States of England, and first of the Clergy, and therein of their Dignity, Name, Degrees, &c.

Clergy
nity.

ALL the Subjects of England, are divided into Clergy and Laity: the Laity subdivided into Nobility and Commonalty. These are called Ordines Regni; or the Three States, and first of the Clergy.

As Heaven is more honourable than Earth, the Soul than the Body; so is the Spiritual Function more excellent than the Civil, and the Sacerdotal Dignity, higher than the Secular: And therefore in England, the Clergy, Cæteris paribus, hath ever had (according to the practice of all other Civilized Nations, since the world began) the preference and precedence of the Laity, and hath in all times been reputed the first of the Three States.

Names.

The Clergy so called, because they are Gods $\text{Κλῆρ}\text{\textcircled{C}}$ or Portio; for although all Christians may be stiled Gods Portion, as well as Gods Servants, yet amongst Christians, those Persons whom God hath set apart, and separated from common use to his Service, to be, as it were his Domestick Servants, are more peculiarly the Lords Portion: And therefore from the first age of Christianity, the Persons so set apart, have been called Clerici, Clerks.

Degrees.

As in the State, so in the Church, the Laws and Constitutions of England, would not, that there should be a parity and equality of all persons, sons. Quippe in Ecclesia nihil magis inaequale quam aequalitas. And therefore in conformity to the first Times and Places of established Christianity, so soon as the Christian Faith, was by Authority received into England, one of the Clergy was in every City ordained a Bishop; who hath (to avoid Confusion, which usually springs from equality) a pre-eminence over the rest of the Clergy, within certain Precincts. Bishops.

Afterwards the Bishops being necessitated to meet about Publick Affairs of the Church, as Consecrations, Consultations, for remedy of general disorders, for Audiences Judicial, when the Actions of any Bishop should be called in question; or Appeals from Bishops, &c. It seemed requisite to our Ancestors (according to other Christian Churches (ever since the first Nicene Council) to have amongst a certain number of Bishops, one to be chiefest in Authority over the rest; from thence named Archiepiscopus, Arch or Chief Bishop. Archbishop.

For easing the Bishop of some part of his burthen, as the number of Christians waxed great, or the Diocesis was large, there were ordained in the Primitive Times, Chorepiscopi, Suffragan, or Subsidiary Bishops. Accordingly, in the English Church, of a long time, there have been such ordained by the name of Bishops Suffragans, or Titular Bishops, who have the Name, Title, Stile, and Dignity of Bishops, and (as other Bishops) are consecrated by the Archbishop of the Province; each one to execute such Power, Jurisdiction, and Authority, and receive such Profits, as are limited in his Commission by the Bishop or Diocesan, whose Suffragan he is. Suffragan Bishops.

Suffragan

Suffragan Bishops, by an Act of Parliament, of Henry the Eighth, still in force, are to be onely of these Towns following.

The Suffragan Bishop for the Diocess of Canterbury, must be at Dover onely; for York, at Nottingham and Hull; for London at Colchester; for Durham; at Berwick; for Winchester, at Guilford, Southampton, and the Isle of Wight; for Lincoln at Bedford, Leicester, Grantham, and Huntington; for Norwich, at Tetford and Ipswich; for Salisbury, at Saftsbury, Melton, and Marleborough; for Bath and Wells, at Taunton; for Hereford, at Bridgenorth; for Coventry and Lichfield, at Shrewsbury; for Ely, at Cambridge; for Exeter at St. Germans; for Carlisle, at Perith. These onely to be the Sees of Bishops Suffragans, and no more Suffragans allowed, then so many to each Diocess, as above-mentioned. In publick Assemblies, they were to take place next after the Temporal Peers of the Realm. In the absence of the Bishops, imployed oft upon Embassies abroad, or residing at Court, to advise the King, these did usually supply their places. A Suffragan Bishop is made, in case the Archbishop, or some other Bishop, for the better Government of his Diocess, desire the same; and in such case, the Bishop is to present two able Men for any one place afore-named, whereof his Majesty chuseth one.

For a supply of able and fit persons to assist Bishops, or to be made Bishops, it seemed good, to reverend Antiquity, that in every Diocess, a certain number of the more prudent and pious Pastors, should be placed in a Collegiat manner, at every Cathedral, or Episcopal Sea; where they might not only be ready to assist the Bishop, in certain weighty Cases fes; but also fit themselves by gaining experience, (and losing by little and little, their former familiarity, with the inferior Countrey-Clergy) for Government and Authority in the Church. Accordingly in every Cathedral Church in England, there are a certain number of Prebendaries or Canons, and over them a Dean, in Latine, Decanus, from $\Delta\iota\kappa\alpha$; because antiently set over Ten Canons at the least; who is sometimes stiled Alter Episcopi Oculus, the other being the Archdeacon, who (though a Presbyter himself) is so named, for his charge over the Deacons; who are to be guided and directed by him, under the Bishop.

Dean.

Arch-Deacon.

Next, is the Rural Dean, so called, because he had usually charge over Ten Countrey Parsons. He was antiently called Archi-Presbyter, because he had the guidance and direction of other Presbyters.

In the last place, are the Pastors of every Parish who are called Rectors, unless the Predial Tythes be impropriated, and then they are called Vicars, Quasi vice fungentes Rectorum.

In England are two Archbishops, Two and twenty Bishops, no Suffragan Bishops at present, twenty six Deans of Cathedrals, and Collegiate Churches, Sixty Archdeacons, Five hundred forty and four Prebendaries; many Rural Deans, and about Nine thousand seven hundred Rectors and Vicars, besides Curates, who, for certain stipends, assist such Rectors and Vicars, that have the care of more Churches than one.

These (if it be considered, of what great Learning and Abilities they are; what great Authority and Sway, they usually bear over the Laity, to incline, lead, and draw them; what great Priviledges, and Immunities they do, or ought to enjoy, and how much means they pos-Priviledges of the Clergy. fess) may well be reputed the first Member of the Three States of England. It hath been provided, not without singular wisdom, that as the ordinary course of common affairs is disposed of by general Laws, so likewise, Mens rarer incident Necessities and Utilities, should be with special equity considered; Hence it is, that so many Priviledges, Immunities, Exemptions, and Dispensations have been to the Clergy of England, granted at all times. Our Ancestors thinking it very reasonable, that as Soldiers were wont, by the Roman Emperors, to be endowed with certain Priviledges, for their Warding and Fighting, to preserve the State from External Enemies, so the Clergy ought to have certain Immunities and Priviledges, for their Watching, and Spiritual Warfare, to preserve the State from Internal Enemies, the World, the Flesh, and the Devil.

Ut serventur immunes Clerici, quo Castris suis sedulo commorantes, & vigiles excubias ducentes summo cæli Imperatori illæsos populos representent. Legibus effectum est, ut quam plurima iis Privilegia concessa sint, tum ad eorund personas, tum bona ac res spectantia.

Of Priviledges, some belong to Archbishops, some to Bishops, as they are so, and some belong to them, and the inferior Clergy, as they are Ecclesiasticks or Churchmen.

Archbishop.

Before the coming of the Saxons into England, the Christian Britains, had three Arch-Bishops, viz. of London, York, and Caerleon, an ancient great City of South-Wales, upon the River Uske (as afore-mentioned.) Afterward, the Archiepiscopal See of London, was by the Saxons placed at Canterbury, for the sake of S. Austin the Monk, who first preached the Gos.

pel there, to the Heathen Saxons, and was there buried. The other of Caerleon was Translated to St. Davids, in Pembrookshire, and afterward, subjected wholly to the See of Canterbury; since which, all England and Wales reckon but two Archbishops, Canterbury and York.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, antiently had Canterbury Primacy, as well over all Ireland, as England, and the Irish Bishops received their Consecrations from him; for Ireland had no other Archbishop, until the year One thousand one hundred fifty and two; and therefore in the time of the two first Norman Kings, it was declared, That Canterbury was the Metropolitan Church of England, Scotland, and Ireland, and the Isles adjacent. He was therefore sometimes stiled a Patriarch (and Patriarcha was a Chief Bishop over several Kingdoms or Provinces (as an Archbishop is of several Diocesses) and had several Archbishops under him; was sometimes called Alterius orbis Papa, & orbis Britannici Pontifex; and Matters done and recorded in Ecclesiastical affairs ran thus, Anno Pontificatus Nostri primo, secundo, &c. He was Legatus Natus, that is, a perpetual Legantine Power, was annexed to that Archbishoprick, near One thousand years ago; whereby no other Legat, Nuncio, or Ambassador from the Bishop of Rome, could here exercise any Legantine Power, without special Licence from the King. He was so highly respected abroad, that in General Councils, he was placed before all other Archbishops, at the Popes right Foot. He was at home so highly honoured by the King of England, that according to the practice of Gods own people the Jews, where Aaron was next in Dignity to Moses, and according to the practice of most other Christian States, where the next in Dignity and Authority to the Sovereign, is usually the chiefest person of the Clergy) he was accounted the second Person in the Kingdom, and named and ranked, even before the Princes of the Blood. He enjoyed some special Marks of Royalty, as to be Patron of a Bishoprick (as he was of Rochester) to Coyn Moneys, to make Knights, and to have the Wardships of all those who held Lands of him Fure Hominii (as it is called) although they held in Capite, other Lands of the King:) a Princely Prerogative, even against the Kings written Prerogative.

In an antient Charter, granted by William the Conqueror, to Lanfranc, Archbishop of Canterbury, he is to hold his Lands with the same freedom, in Dominico suo (as the words are) as the King holdeth his in Dominica suo, except onely in two or three Cases, and those of no great importance.

It is an antient Priviledge of the See of Canterbury, that wheresoever any Mannors, or Advowsons, do belong unto that See, that place forthwith becomes exempt from the Ordinary, and is reputed a Peculiar, and of the Diocess of Canterbury.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, by the favour of our King, is judged fit to enjoy still, divers considerable pre-eminences. He is Primate over all England, and Metropolitan; hath a Supereminency, and some Power, even over the Archbishop of York; hath Power to summon him to a National Synod, and Archiepiscopus Eboracensis venire debet cum Episcopis suis, ad nutum ejus, ut ejus Canonicis dispositionibus obediens existat.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, is, at this day, Primus par Regni, the first Peer of England, and next to the Royal Family, to precede; not onely, all Dukes, but all the Great Officers of the Crown,

At the late solemn Coronation of our present Sovereign, it was expressly ordered, in doing Homage to the King, that according to antient custom, the Archbishops, and Bishops, should precede, even the Duke of York, and all the Lay Lords,

He is stiled by the King, in His Writs, directed to him, Dei gratia Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi, and writes himself, Divina Providentia, whereas other Bishops write Divina Permissione; and he is said to be Inthroned, when he is Invested in the Archbishoprick,

To Crown the King, belongs to him, and it hath been resolved, that wheresoever the Court shall happen to be, the King and Queen are Speciales Domestici Parochiani Domini Arcant. and had antiently the Holy Offerings made at the Altar by the King and Queen, wheresoever the Court should happen to be, if his Grace was there present; also the Power of appointing the Lent-Predchers, which was thought, by our Ancestors, much more fit for a Prelate, or Spiritual Person to do (as in all other Christian Courts) than for any Lay Lord, at hath been used in England, since one Cromwel, was, by Henry the Eighth, made Vicar-General, and placed above the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The Bishop of London is accounted his Provincial Deqn, the Bishop of Winchester his Chancellor, and the Bishop of Rocheſter his Chaplain.

In

In writing and speaking to him, is given the Title of Grace (as is to all Dukes) and Most Reverend Father in God.

He hath the Power of all Probate of Testaments, and granting Letters of Administration, where the Party dying, had Bona Notabilia, that is, Five pounds worth, or above, out of the Diocess wherein he died; or Ten pounds worth within the Diocess of London; or if the Party dying, be a Bishop, though he have no Goods out of the Diocess where he dyed. Also to make Wills for all such as dye Intestate within his Province, and to Administer their Goods to the Kindred, or to Pious Uses, according to his discretion: Which most transcendent Trust and Power, is so antiently in England, belonging to Bishops, that the best Antiquary cannot find the first Original thereof.

By Stat. 25 H. 8. he hath the Honour and Power to grant Licenses and Dispensations in all Cases heretofore sued for, in the Court of Rome, not repugnant to the Law of God, or the Kings Prerogative: As to allow a Clerk to hold a Benefice in Commendam or Trust; to allow a Son, (contrary to the Canons) to succeed his Father, immediately in a Benefice; to allow a Clerk, rightly qualified, to hold two Benefices with Cure of Souls; to abolish irregularity gotten without a Mans own default, as by defect of Body or Birth, or by accidental killing of a Man, &c. to abolish the guilt of Simony; to allow a Beneficed Clerk, for some certain Causes, to be Non-resident for some time; to allow a Lay man to hold a Prebend, &c. whilst by study, he is preparing himself for the service of the Church, to grant Dispensations to Sick, to Old People, to Women with Child, to eat Flesh, on days

whereon it was forbidden; to constitute Publick Notaries, whose single Testimony, is as good, as the Testimonies of any two other persons. All which fore-mentioned Licenses, Dispensations, &c. the said Archbishop grants by himself, or by his Deputy, called the Master of Faculties, in all his Majesties Dominions, except Scotland; for all the new late Acquisitions to this Crown, as Virginia, New-England, Barbados, Bermudos, &c. were heretofore added, by due authority, to the Province of Canterbury, and put under the Diocess of London. He hath also the Power to grant Literas Tutorias, whereby any one that brings his Appeal may prosecute the same, without any molestation; to bestow one Dignity or Prebend, in any Cathedral Church within his Province, upon every Creation there of a new Bishop; who is also to provide a sufficient Benefice for one of the Chaplains of the Archbishop, or to maintain him, till it be effected.

By the Stat. primo Eliz. it is provided, That the Queen, by the advice of the Archbishop, might ordain and publish such Rights and Ceremonies, as may be for Gods Glory, for edifying of the Church, and due Reverence of the Sacraments.

He hath the Prerogative to Consecrate a Bishop (though it must be done in the Presence, and with the assistance of two other Bishops (as every Bishop gives Ordination, but usually with the assistance of Presbyters) to assign Co-adjutors to infirm Bishops, to confirm the Election of Bishops within his Province; to call Provincial Synods, according to the Kings Writ, always directed to him; to be Moderator in the Synods or Convocations, to give his Suffrage there last of all, to visit the whole Province; to appoint a Guardian of the Spiritualities, during the vacancy of any Bishoprick, within his Province; whereby all the Episcopal Rights of that Diocess belong to him, all Ecclesiastical Jurisdictions, as Visitations, Institutions, &c.

to

The Archbishop may retain, and qualify eight Chaplains, which is two more than any Duke, by Statute, is allowed to do.

The Archbishop of Canterbury hath, moreover, the power to hold divers Courts of Judicature, for deciding of differences in Ecclesiastical affairs, as his Court of Arches, his Court of Audience, his Prerogative Court, and his Court of Peculiars; all which shall be handled, particularly and apart in the Second Part of The Present State of England.

These and other Prerogatives and Privileges, the Wisdom of our first Reformers thought fit to be retained and added to the chief Person (under the King) of the Church of England.

York

The next Person in the Church of England is the Archbishop of York; who was antiently also of very high repute in this Nation, and had, under his Province, not only divers Bishopricks in the North of England, but all the Bishopricks of Scotland for a long time, until the year 1470. when Pope Sixtus the Fourth, created the Bishop of St. Andrews, Archbishop, and Metropolitan of all Scotland.

He was also Legatus Natus, and had the Legantine Office and Authority annex'd to that Archbishoprick,

He hath still the Place and Precedence of all Dukes, not of the Royal Bloud, and of all Great Officers of State, except onely the Lord Chancellor; hath the Title of Grace, and Most Reverend Reverend Father; hath the Honour to Crown the Queen, and to be her perpetual Chaplain.

He also is stiled Primate of England, and Metropolitan of his Province, and hath under him the Bishopricks of York, Durham, Carlisle, Chester; and that of the Isle of Man, onely Durham hath a peculiar Jurisdiction, and in many things, is wholly exempt from the Jurisdiction of the Archbishop.

He had the Rights of a Count Palatine over Hexamshire in Northumberland; may qualify also eight Chaplains, and hath within his Province, divers other Prerogatives and Privileges which the Archbishop of Canterbury, hath within his own Province.

The next in place amongst the Clergy of England are the Bishops, so called from the Saxon word Biceop, and that from the Greek Ἐπινοω, Speculator, Explorator vel Superintendens, an Officer among the Heathens so called, Quia præerat pani & victui quotidiano, Episcopus enim apud Christianos præest pani & victui spirituali.

All the Bishops of England are Barons and Peers of the Realm, they are Barons by a threefold manner, (which cannot be said of the Lay-Lords) they are Fædal, in regard of their Lands and Baronies annext to their Bishopricks, They are Barons by Writ, being summoned by the Kings Writ to Parliament; and they are created Barons by Patent, which, by their Consecration, is always exhibited to the Archbishop. They have the Precedence of all Temporal Barons under Vicounts. In the Parliament, have place in the Upper House, in a double capacity, not onely as Barons, but as Bishops; for before they were Barons, they had in all times, place in the Great Council of the Kingdom, and there ever placed on the Kings right hand, not onely, to give their Advice as the Judges do, but ad tractandum, ordinandum, statuendum, desiniendum, &c. They have their Title of Lords, and Right Reverend Fathers.

All Bishops in England have one or two transcendent Priviledges, which seem almost Regal; as, in their own Court, to judge and pass Sentence alone by themselves, without any Colleague or Assessor; which is not done in other of the Kings Courts, for the Bishops Courts (though held by the Kings Authority Virtute Magistratus sui) are not accounted to be properly the Kings Courts, and therefore the Bishops send forth Writs in their own Names, Teste the Bishop, and not in the Kings Name; as all the Kings Courts properly so called, do.

Moreover, Bishops have this other transcendent Privilege, to depute their Authority to another (as the King doth) either to their Bishops, Suffragans, to their Chancellors, to their Commissaries, or other Officers, which none of the Kings Judges may do.

All Bishops have one Priviledge above, and beyond all Lay Lords, viz. That in whatsoever Christian Princes Dominions, they come, their Episcopal Dignity and Degree is acknowledged; and they may, quatenus Bishops confer Orders, &c. whereas no Lay Baron, Viscount, Marquis, nor Duke, is, in Law acknowledged such, out of the Dominions of the Prince, who conferred those Honours.

The Laws and Customs of England, are so tender of the Honour, Credit, Reputation, and Person of Bishops, our Spiritual Fathers, that none might (without special License from the King King first obtained) be indicted of any Crime before any Temporal Judge.

Upon severe penalty, by our Laws no Man may raise reports, whereby scandal may arise to the person of any Bishop, or Debate and Discord, between them and the Commons of England.

In Civil Trials, where a Bishop is Plaintiff or Defendant, the Bishop may, as well as any Lay Lord, challenge the Array, if one Knight at least, be not returned of the Jury, and it shall be allowed unto him as a privilege, due to his Peerage.

In criminal Trials for life, all Bishops by Magna Charta, and Stat. 25. Edw. 3. are to be tryed by their Peers, who are Barons, and none under; notwithstanding, the late conceit of some Lawyers, that because Bishops may not be on the Criminal Trial of a Peer, therefore are not to be tryed by Peers; for so neither may Bishops be tryed by a Common Jury, because they may not be on the Trial of such Men. Moreover, Noble Women, may not be on the Tryal of Peers, and yet they are to be tryed by Peers of the Realm. And there is no Legal President in England of a Bishop remaining a Bishop, that ever was tryed for his life, but by Peers of the Realm. Antiently indeed Bishops were so exempted, as not at all to be tryed by Temporal Judges, till after deprivation, and degradation, and then being thereby rendred no Peers, but common persons, they might be tryed by common Juries.

Since the Reformation, the English Protestant Bishops have been so constantly Loyal and True to the Crown (to the envy of Nonconformists) and so free from all Capital Crimes, that there is yet no President in England, for their manner of Trial for life; As for that common Assertion, That no Lords of Parliament are to be tryed by their Peers, but such as sit there, Ratione Nobilitatis, and that all Lay Lords have place in Parliament for that reason; It is not onely false, but frivolous, in the judgement of very many judicious Men. And indeed, how absurd and unreasonable must it needs be (let all men judge) that an Arch-bishop of Canterbury, who is acknowledged to be Primus Par Regni, should be tryed by a common Jury of Free-holders; when as the meanest Lay Baron, though created but yesterday, may not be tryed by any under Barons?

In Parliament, Bishops, as Barons, may be present and vote at the Tryal and Arraignment of a Peer of the Realm, onely before Sentence of death, or loss of Member be pronounced, that they may have no hand in Bloud, no hand in destroying, but onely in saving; they have by Canon-Law, the Priviledge and Injunction, to absent themselves; and by Common Law, to make Proxies to vote for them.

Primo Eliz. cap. 2. It is expressly declared, that all Lords of Parliament (without any exception of Lords Spiritual) should be tryed in that particular, by their Peers,

The Bishops of England enjoy at this day, many other Priviledges, as freedom from Arrests, Outlawries, Distress per Equitaturam, or in a Fournie; Liberty to Hunt in any of the Kings Forests or Parks, to kill one or two Deer, going from, or coming to the King upon his Order; to have certain Tuns of Wine free from Impost, &c.

The

The Persons of Bishops may not be seized, upon Contempt (as the Persons of Lay-Lords) but their Temporalities onely, may be seized.

Every Bishop may by Statute-Law, qualify as many Chaplains as a Duke, viz. Six.

The Law of England attributeth so very much to the word of a Bishop, that not onely in the Tryal of Bastardy, the Bishops Certificate shall suffice, but also in Tryal of Herese, which toucheth a Mans life: Upon the Bishops bare Certificate, that any man hath been convicted before him of Herese, the Secular Power puts him to death, without any Trial by his Peers.

The Persons of the Spiritual Governours of the Church of England, are of such high and tender respect in the Eye of the Law, that it is thought fit to exact the same from a Clergy-man to his Bishop, or Ordinary, as from a Child to his Father, and therefore made the offences of Paricide, and Episcopicide equal, viz. both Petty-Treason.

Next to the two Archbishops of England, the Bishop of London, amongst all the Bishops, hath the Pre-eminence, Episcopus Londinensis, (saith an antient Record) speciali quadam Dignitate ceteris anteponeendus, quia Ecclesia Cantuariensis Decanus est Provincialis. Being Bishop over the Imperial and Capital City of England, it is by a Statute of later times, expressly provided, that he should have the preference and precedence of all the Bishops of England, whereby he is become (as heretofore, the Lord Prior of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem)

Primus Baro Regni, as the Lord Abergavenny is Primus Baronum Laicorum.

Next amongst those of the Episcopal Colledge, is the Bishop of Durham, within the Province of York, who hath been a Count Palatine 6 or 700 years: Wherefore the Common Seal of the Bishoprick, hath been of a long time an Armed Knight, holding in one hand a Naked Sword, and in the other a Church.

He hath also at this day, the Earldom of Sadberg, annexed long ago to this Bishoprick by the King.

In the Fifth place, by vertue of the fore-mentioned Statute, is the Bishop of Winchester, reputed antiently Earl of Southampton, and so stiled in the Statutes of the Honourable Order of the Garter, by Henry the Eighth; though soon after, that Earldom was otherwise disposed of.

After these afore-named, all the other Bishops take place, according to the Seniority of their Consecration, unless any Bishop happen to be made Lord Chancellor, Treasurer, Privy-Seal, or Secretary of State; which antiently was very usual, as reputed for their Piety, Learning, Single life, Diligence, &c. far more fit for the advantage, and service of the King and Kingdom, than any Lay-men: And in such case, a Bishop being Lord Chancellor, had place next to the Arch-bishop of Canterbury, and above the Archbishop of York, and being a secretary of State, had place next to the Bishop of Winchester.

All the Bishops of England now living, take place, as they are ranked in this Catalogue.

Dr. Peter Mews, Consecrated Bishop of Bath and Wells, 1672.

The present Bishops of England, for Gravity, Learning; and Piety, equal, if not exceed, any of their Predecessors.

These are all Barons and Peers of the Realm; these have place in the Upper House of Parliament, and in the Upper House of Convocation; and these are the Lords Spiritual: Next follow the Commons Spiritual, consisting of Suffragan Bishops, Deans, Arch-Deacons, Prebendaries, Rectors, and Vicars; to whom also belong divers considerable Priviledges.

All Suffragan Bishops, all Deans, Arch-Deacons, Prebendaries, Rectors, and Vicars, have Priviledges, Priviledges, some by themselves, others by Proxy, or by Representative, to Sit and Vote in the Lower House of Convocation.

No Subsidies, or other Tax to the King, may legally be laid upon them, without their own consent, first had in Convocation.

The Clergy (as appears by the Words of the Writ, as also by Modus tenendi Parliam. which doubtless is very antient, although less by 200 years than Sir Edward Coke thought. And 21 Rich. 2. cap. 12.) hath, Per Procuratores Cleri, Place and Suffrage in the Lower House of Parliament, as was antiently practised in England, and of latter years in Ireland, (though now not used in either) and as the Bishops still have, and use in the Higber House of Parliament.

No Clergy-man may be compelled to undergo any Personal Functions or Services of the Common-wealth, or to serve in War. If any man, by reason of his Land, be subject to be elected to any Servile Office, if he takes Orders, he is free, and there is a Writ purposely to free him.

All Clergy-men are free from the Kings Purveyors, the Kings Carriages, the Kings Posts, &c. for which they may demand a Protection from the King, Cum clausula nolumus.

If a Clergy-man acknowledge a Statute, his body shall not be taken by vertue of any Process thereupon, for the Writ runs, Si Laicus sit, &c.

Clergy-men are not obliged to appear at Sheriffs Tourns, or Views of Frank Pledge, there to take their Oath of Allegiance, the antient Laws presuming, That those, whose principal Care and Office should be to teach the People Loyalty, and Allegiance to their King, could not themselves want Loyalty. By

By Magna Charta, no Clergy-man is to be Fined or Amerced, according to his Spiritual means, but according to his Temporal Estate, and according to the Crime committed.

The Goods of Clergy-men are discharged by the Common-Law of England, from Tolls and Customs (si non exercent Marchandizas de eisdem) of Average, Pontage, Mirage, Pavage; for which they have the Kings Writ to discharge them.

The Glebe Lands, and Spiritual Revenues of Clergy-men, being held In pura & perpetua Ecclesiam (i. e.) in Frankalmoine, are exempted from Arraying and Mustering of Men, or Horses for the War, as appears in a Statute still in force, viz. 8. H. 4. Numb. 12. in the unprinted Rolls of that Parliament.

The Clergy being by their Function, prohibited to wear a Sword, or any Arms (their Coat alone being their defence) cannot serve in Person in War. They serve their Countrey otherwise; and for that service, have always been thought worthy of their Spiritual Profits and Revenues, and of the Kings Protection.

The Clergy paying to the King, First-years profits, of all Spiritual Benefices, called First-Fruits, and yearly, the Tenth of all the said Benefices, are, with great reason, thought fit to be exempted from all other Taxes; though to give the Laity good example, they often lay Subsidies, or other great Taxes upon themselves.

It was an ancient Maxim in England, Nullus pro decimis debet onerari de aliqua reparatione Pontis seu aliquibus oneribus temporalibus.

These, and other Immunities of the Clergy, the great Aquinas thought agreeable to Natural Equity, or the Law of Nature; thence it was, that King Pharaoh, Gen. 47. when all the Lands

Lands of his Subjects, were Mortgaged to him for Bread, yet spared the Lands of the Priests. So EXTRA, 7. 24. and so in our antient Laws, we find, De Danigeldo libera & quæta erat omnis Ecclesia in Anglia & etiam omnis Terra quæ in proprio Dominio Ecclesie erat, ubicunque jacebat, nihil prorsus in tali redditione persolvens; and the reason thereof is added, Quia magis in Ecclesie confidebat Orationibus quam in Armorum defensionibus.

Many more Priviledges, Immunities, Liberties, and Franchises, there are rightly belonging to the Clergy of England, so many, that to set down all, saith Sir Edward Coke, upon Magna Charta, would take up a whole Book.

The Priviledges of the Clergy, and Franchises of the Church, were (with the Liberties of the People) granted, confirmed, and settled by the King in full Parliament, Anno, 1253, in such a solemn manner, as no story can parallel it: The King stood up with his Hand upon his Breast, all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, stood with burning Tapers in their hands; the Archbishop pronounced, as followeth, By the Authority of God Omnipotent, of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, &c. We Excommunicate, Anathematize, and Sequester, from Our Holy Mother the Church, all those, who henceforth knowingly, and maliciously deprive and spoil Churches of their Right, and all those that shall, by any Art or Wit, rashly violate, diminish, or alter secretly, or openly, in Deed, Word, or Counsel, those Ecclesiastical Liberties, &c. granted, by Our Lord the King, to the Archbishops, Bishops, Prelates, &c. For everlasting memory whereof, We have hereunto put Our Seal. After which, all throwing down their Tapers, extinguish'd and smoking, they all said, So let all that shall go against this Curse, be extinct, and sink in Hell.

Since which, all Kings of England at their Coronations, have by Solemn Oaths, promised to preserve the same, and they have been confirmed by above 30 successive Parliaments, commanded to be read once a year in Churches; and if any Act should be made to the contrary, it is to be held for null and void, by the Statute of 4 Edw. 3.

Antiently, Men were very tender and fearful to do any thing that might make them incur the said dreadful censure; but of later times, especially since our Reformation, many men pretending to more Christianity, and to more knowledge, have made little Conscience of infringing, and violating any Rights; Privileges, or Franchises of the Church or Churchmen; whilst the Liberties of the people (though very little violated) have been exacted, even to Sedition and Rebellion.

Revenues of
gy.

To the end, that Men of the best rank and abilities, should in all times, be encouraged to embrace the most painful and severe Profession of a Clergy-man, and that the people, should the more willingly be Guided and Conducted by them, our most Christian Ancestors, according to the pattern of Gods antient People the Jews, and of all other Christian Commonwealths, judged it expedient to allot large Revenues, and a most plentiful maintainance to the English Clergy, having observed with Solomon, That a Wise man, for his poverty, is too oft contemned and despised, and that there is nothing more contemptible and ridiculous, than a poor Clergy-man.

The

The first Kings of England had all the Lands of England in Demefne. The second sole Monarch among the Saxon Kings, Eibelmolphus, by the advice of his Nobles, gave for ever, to God and the Church, both the Tythe of all Goods, and the Tenth part of all the Lands of England, free from all secular Service, Taxations, or Impositions whatsoever; the Charter of Donation is to be seen in Ingulphus, and other Authors; which Charter thus ends, Qui augere voluerit noſtram donationem (as many pious Kings and Nobles ſince have done) augeat. Omnipotens Deus dies ejus proſperos; ſi quis vero mutare vel minuire præſumpſerit, noſcat ſe ad tribunal Chriſti rationem redditurum.

Befides the Tenth of Lands, and the Husbandmans profits, Merchants alſo, and Shopkeepers paid to their Spiritual Paſtors, the Tenth of their Gain, Servants, in divers places, the Tenth of their Wages, (as Soldiers in the Kings Armies do now a part of their Pay) and in ſome places, Aleſellers, the tenth Flagon. Alſo Handicrafts-men, and Day-Labourers, paid the Tenth of their Wages upon their Oaths, if required.

Per Affiſas Foreſta, and other Records, it doth appear, that Tythes have been paid, even of Veniſon, in divers parts of England, Men making conſcience, in thoſe days, as amongſt the antient Jews, to pay Tythes of all they poſſeſſed.

Befides all thoſe, in ſome places were paid to the Paſtor, Obventions, Oblations, Penſions, Mortuaries, &c, ſo that the Engliſh Clergy were the beſt provided for, of any Clergy in the whole World, except onely, the Nation of the the Jews, amongst whom, the Title of Levi, being not the fourth part of the Twelve Tribes, as appears in the Book of Numbers, yet had, as Mr. Selden confesseth, and that by Gods own appointment, three times the Annual Revenue of the greatest of the Twelve Tribes: insomuch, that the poorest Priest in the Twenty four Courses, might be reputed a wealthy person.

And as amongst the Jews, the 24 Chief Priests, for the better maintainance of their Authority and Dignity, had means, far exceeding those of the inferior Clergy, and the High Priest had a maintainance as far exceeding any of the said 24 Priests: So in England, the Bishops, by the great Piety and Bounty of several English Kings, had, in Lands and Revenues, Temporal and Spiritual, a maintainance, far more ample, than those of the Inferiour Clergy; and the two Archbishops, more ample than the Bishops.

William the Conquerour, at his coming into England, found the Bishopricks then in being, so richly endowed with Lands, that he erected them all into Baronies, and every Barony then consisted of 13 Knights Fees at the least.

Besides, there belonged to Bishops, several Perquisites and Duties for the Visitations of their Diocesses, for Ordinations, Institutions, Census Cathedralicus, subsidium Charitativum, which, upon reasonable Causes, they might require of the Clergy under them; also other Duties, called Decimarum quarta, Mortuariorum & Obolationum pensitatio, Fus Hospitii, Processio, Litania, Viatici vel Commeatus collatio; which upon a Journey to Rome, they might demand. Tents and First-Fruits were antiently paid (as is believed) to the several Diocesans, and was

continued to the Bishop of Norwich, till Hen. 8. deprived him thereof, and deprived the Pope of all the rest. Moreover, all Cathedral Churches were, by divers Kings and Nobles richly furnished with Lands, for the plentiful maintenance of a Dean, and a certain number of Prebendaries; insomuch, that together, with the Lands given to Monasteries, a third part of the Lands of England belonged to the Church and Churchmen; whereby did accrue much benefit to this Nation, great Hospitality was kept, many Hospitals, Colledges, Churches, Bridges built, and other Publick, Pious, and Charitable Works. All Leases held of them by the Laity, were not onely much more easy than other Tenures, but so unquestionable, that there was little work for the Lawyers; so much peaccableness, that 140 sworn Attorneys were thought sufficient to serve the whole Kingdom.

At present the Revenues of the English Clergy, are generally very small and insufficient, above a third part of the best Benefices of England, being antiently by the Popes Grant, appropriated to Monasteries towards their maintainance, were upon the dissolution of Monasteries, made Lay-Fees; besides what hath been taken by secret and indirect means, through corrupt Compositions, Compacts, and Customs in many other Parishes; also many large Estates wholly exempt from paying Tithes, as Lands belonging to the Cistercian Monks, to the Knights-Templers, and Hospitallers. Those Benefices that are free from these things, yet (besides First-Fruits and Tenths, to the King, and Procurations to the Bishop) are taxed towards the Charges of their respective Parishes, and towards the publick Charges of the Nation, above and beyond the proportion of the Laity. The

The Bishopricks of England have been also, since the latter end of H. 8. to the coming in of King James, most miserably robbed and spoiled of the greatest part of their Lands and Revenues; so that at this day, a mean Gentleman, of 200 l. Land yearly, will not change his Worldly Estate and Condition, with divers Bishops: an Attorney, a Shop-keeper, a common Artisan, will hardly change theirs with ordinary Pastors of the Church.

Some few Bishopricks do yet retain a competency, amongst which, the Bishoprick of Durham is accounted one of the chief, the yearly Revenues whereof, before the late troubles, were above 6000 l. of which, by the late Act, for abolishing Tenures in Capite, was lost above 2000 l. yearly. Out of it, an yearly Pension of 880 l. hath been paid to the Crown, ever since the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, who promised in lieu thereof, so much in Impropriations; which was never performed. Above 340 l. yearly paid to several Officers of the County Palatine of Durham. The Assizes and Sessions duly kept in the Bishops House, at the sole charges of the Bishop. The several Expences for keeping in repair certain Banks of Rivers, in Owdenshire, belonging to that Bishoprick, and of several Houses appertaining to that See. Moreover, the yearly Tenths, the First-Fruits, and publick Taxes being deducted, there did remain communibus annis to the Bishop, to keep Hospitality, (which must be great) and to provide for those of his Family, but about 1500 l. yearly. It is true, that for the future, whilst First-Fruits and Subsidies cease to be paid, this Bishops Revenue will be raised to 500 l. more per annum, and then the afore-mentioned 880 l. being very lately.

lately, by His Majesties Gracious Letters Patent, under His Great Seal, begun to be released for all times to come; and about 400 l. more per annum being added to that Revenue, in divers Rents lately improved by the late Bishop, Dr. John Cosins, by the abatement of Fines (which otherwise he might have taken to himself) the whole yearly Revenues of this Bishoprick began in the year 1670 to be 3280 l. per ann.

Of other principal Bishopricks, the Revenues have been much diminished, some enjoying not a fourth part of their antient Rights.

The great diminution of the Revenues of the Clergy, and the little care of augmenting or defending the Patrimony of the Church, is the great reproach and shame of the English Reformation, and will one day prove the ruine of Church and State.

Judicious Mr. Hooker (who in the Preface of his Works, foretold our late Troubles 40 years before they came to pass) observing in his time how the Church was every day robbed of her Dues, and that it was then an opinion rise [That to give to the Church, smelt of Judaism and Popery, and to take from the Church what our Ancestors had given, was Reformation] declared, That what Moses saith in the 90th Psalm, was likely to be verified of Religion and Gods Service amongst us; The time thereof may be Threescore years and ten, if it continue till Fourscore it will be but small joy to those that shall then behold the condition of the English Church; nor can the best read Historian produce one example of a happy State, where the Clergy hath been exposed to the Peoples contempt; which must happen where their Benefices, their maintainance is scandalous, and thereby their persons despicable.

It

It is the last Trick, saith St. Gregory, that the Devil hath in the World, when he cannot bring the Word and Sacraments in disgrace by Errors and Heresies, he invented this project to bring the Clergy into contempt and low esteem, as it is now in England; where they are accounted by many as the dross and refuse of the Nation. Men think it a stain to their Blood, to place their Sons in that Function, and Women ashamed to marry with any of them; whereas antiently in England (as among the Jews, the Tribe of Levi was counted Noble above all other Tribes, except that of the Royal Tribe of Judah) the Function of the Clergy was of so high account and esteem, that not only the best Gentry and Nobility, but divers of the Sons and Brothers of several English Kings since the Conquest and before, disdained not to enter into Holy Orders, and to be Clergy-men, as at this day is practised in most other Monarchies of Christendom. Ethelwolph, Son and Successor to Egbert, first sole King of England, was in Holy Orders, and Bishop of Winchester at his Fathers death. Odo Bishop of Bayeux in Normandy, was brother to William the Conqueror. Henry de Blois, Brother to King Stephen, was Bishop of Winchester. Geofry Plantagenet, Son to Henry the Second, was Bishop of Lincoln. Henry de Beaufort, Brother to Henry the Fourth, was Bishop also of Winchester. And of later times, that most prudent Henry the Seventh had designed his Second Son to be a Clergy-man, to omit many others of Noble Blood. Which Policy is still observed even amongst the few Families of the Romish Religion in England, wherein are to be found at this day, some Brothers or Sons of Dukes,

Dukes, Marquises, Earls, and Barons in Holy Orders, and all the rest of the Stock of Baronets, Knights, or Gentry: and for this cause find respect not onely amongst those of their own Opinions, but even of the most sober, moderate, and best civilized Protestants. Whilst this Policy lasted in England) which by the favor, and to the high honor of the King now Reigning, is in some hopes to be revived; for a Brother of the Earl of Northampton, another of the Earl of Bath, a Son of the Lord North, another of the Lord Crew, another of the Lord Brereton, have been lately encouraged to enter into Holy Orders) the Clergy were judged the fittest Persons to execute most of the chief Offices and Places of the Kingdom (according to the Divine Policy amongst Gods Peculiar People, where the Priests and Levites were the Principal Officers and Judges in every Court; to whom the People wereto be obedient, on pain of death) and the Laity did, with much Reverence and Respect, submit to them. And as then, Os Sacerdotum, Oraculum erat plebis (according to that of Malach. ch. 2. 7.) So, Os Episcopi, Oraculum erat Regis & Regni, & Rex amplectabatur universum Clerum leta fronte, & ex eo semper sibi eligebat primos a Consiliis, primos ad Officia Regni obeunda. Primi igitur sedebant in omnibus Regni Comitibus & Tribunalibus Episcopi, in Regali quidem palatio cum Regni Magnatibus, in Comitatu una cum Comite, in Turno cum Vicecomite, & in Hundredo cum Domino Hundredi, sic ut in promovenda Justitia usquequaque gladii gladium adjuvaret & nihil inconsulto sacerdote vel Episcopo ageretur. And this Union of Civil and Ecclesiastical Persons, Authority, and Courts of Judicature, did did continue, as Selden, l. 2. de Synedrīs, makes apparent above Four thousand years, amongst Gods own People, till Pope Nicholas the First, about the eighth Century, to exclude the Emperor from meddling in the Ecclesiastical Government, began to exclude the Clergy from meddling with the Civil, Vide Grat. Distinc. C, Cum ad Verum. And it is certain, that for 4 or 500 years, during the Reign of our Saxon Kings in England, our Ecclesiastical and Secular Magistrates sat lovingly together, with all Sweetness and Candor, determining in the Morning Ecclesiastical Affairs, and Civil in the Afternoon, whereby it came to pass, that the Subject had no cause to complain of Prohibitions, issuing out of one Court of Judicature, to obstruct the Justice of another, to the great cost, and sometimes ruine of the poor Client, as hath been done ever since William the Conqueror made that unhappy Division in this Church and State.

But to return to our Bishops, upon whom the Weal of this Kingdom, and service of the King so much depended, and their presence for that end so much required at London, that it was judged expedient that every Bishoprick should have a Palace or House belonging to it in or about London; and it is known at this day where stood the Houses of every one, except that of St. Asaph, which also might probably have had one, but more obscure than some other; that Bishoprick, having been as still very mean.

Great was the Authority of the Clergy in those days, and their Memory should be precious in these days, if we consider that they were the Authors of so great Benefits and Advantages to this Kingdom, that there are few things of any importance for promoting of the welfare of this Church and State, wherein the Bishops and Prelates, under God, have not been the Principal Instruments. The excellent Laws made by King Ina, King Atbelstan, King Edmund, and St. Edward the Confessor, from whom we have our Common-Laws, and our Priviledges, mentioned in Magna Charta, were all made by the persuasions and advice of Archbishops and Bishops, named in our Histories. The Union of the Two Houses of York and Lancaster (whereby a long and bloody War was ended) was by the most wise Advice and Counsel of Bishop Morton, then a Privy Counsellor. The Union of England and Scotland, that inexpressible advantage to both Nations, was brought to pass by the long foresight of Reverend Bishop Fox, a Privy Counsellor, in advising Henry the Seventh to Match his eldest Daughter to Scotland, and his younger to France. Most of the great Publick Works now remaining in England, acknowledge their antient and present being, either to the sole Cost and Charges, or to the liberal Contributions, or at least to the Powerful Perswasions of Bishops, as most of the best endowed Colledges in both our Universities, very many Hospitals, Churches, Palaces, Castles, have been founded and built by Bishops; even that famous chargeable, and difficult Structure of London-bridge stands obliged to the Liberal Contributions of an Archbishop; and it was a Bishop of London, at whose earnest request, William the Conqueror granted to the City of London so large Priviledges, that in a grateful remembrance thereof, the Lord Mayor and Aldermen, to this day, upon some solemn days of their resort to St. Pauls Church, do go in Procession about the

Grave-Stone where that Bishop lies interred.

But above all the Converting England to the Christian Religion, the Reforming that Religion when Corrupted; and since that, the maintainance of the Doctrine thereof against all Romish Writers, and of the Discipline thereof (none of the least good Offices) against all the practises and Power of the Puritan and Presbyterian Factions, and all those other Sectaries, lineally descended from them: All this, and more, is owing (if not solely, yet principally) to Bishops and Prelates: By the late want of whom to sit at the Stern, how soon was this goodly Vessel split upon the Rocks of Anarchy and Confusion?

Even since the late Restauration of Bishops, to set down the many considerable publick Benefits flowing from them, and other dignified Clergy, would tire the Reader.

What sums of Money have been by them expended in Repairing Cathedral Churches, Episcopal Houses, in founding and building Hospitals, in Charity to poor Widows, of Clergymen utterly ruined by the late Rebels, for redeeming of a great number of poor Christian Slaves at Algier, what publick and private Sums for supplying the Kings Necessities at His Restauration, what expences in Hospitality, &c. above and beyond the Charity and Bounty of others, who have ten times their Wealth and Riches?

To instance in a few; whereof certain information hath been given.

Dr. William Fuxon, Archbishop of Canterbury, deceased, augmented to poor Vicariges to the value of 11000 l. paid for Redemption of Captives, in Subsidies, Poll-mony, Benevolences, First-Fruits, &c. 10000 l. Repairs, 16000 l. Besides, Besides for repairing of St. Pauls Church, 2000 l.

 To St. John's Colledge in Oxford 7000 l. ¶ In other Charitable uses 2000 l. In all, 48000 l. Besides all this, he was so kind to his Tenants, as to abate

Dr. Gilbert Selden; late Bishop of London, now Archbishop of Canterbury, gave for Redem- ption of Captives, and other Charitable Uses, in Subsidies Benevolences, Purchase of London- house, Repairs, Buildings at Oxford; First-Fruits;
 &c. 40000 l. and abated to his Tenants 17000 l.

Dr. Brian Duppa, late Bishop of Winchester, gave for Redeeming Captives, Building and En- dowing Alms-houses, with other Charitable Deeds, in Benevolences, Repairs, &c. 16000 l. and was so good to his Tenants, as to abate 3000 l. in their Fines.

Dr. Frewen, late Archbishop of York, disbursed in Publick Payments and Repairs onely, besides Abatements to Tenants, 15000 l.

Dr. Cosins, the formentioned Bishop of Dur- ham, having from his first entrance, to the
 he expended it all, and 5000 l. more, either in rebuilding and repairing the houses and Castles belonging to that See, or in rebuilding the Chappel at Aukland, and Free-Schools at Dur- ham; all which had been ruined by the late Rebels; in founding two Hospitals and a publick Library: in founding Eight Scholarships in Cambridge: Of which Pious and Charitable Works, the whole expences came (according to most certain information) to above 22000 l.
 Besides, he hath expended in two Benevolen- ces to the King, in Redeeming of Christian Captives at Algiers; for his Consecration, &c.
 for the Furniture of the new Chappel at Auk-
 land,

land with Plate and other decent Ornaments; for relieving the distressed Loyal Party, and other Publick and Pious uses, above 44000 l. All which is declared here more particularly, than the designed brevity of this Treatise would handsomely allow, onely thereby to put a stop to the clamour of many persons against this Bishop and many others; as if they had received vast Sums of Money, and put it all in their private purses.

Dr. Warner, late Bishop of Rochester, though his Fines were but small, yet besides abatements to Tenants, he gave in Royal Presents, Penevolences, Subsidies, Redeeming of Captives, &c. above 25000 l. The Deans and Chapters were proportionably as liberal: To mention in some of them.

Ely 14000.

Exeter near 26000.

Lincoln 11000.

Rochester 10000.

Worcester 9000.

The rest doubtless parted with their Money proportionably, and then all Accounts cast up, up, the remainder could not be great. For instance, in one of the best Churches, Canterbury, out of their clear Remainder of all the first four years, viz. at the end of the year 1664, they had no more than every Prebend 1100 l. and the Dean a double share.

As they have then been beneficial to this Kingdom, above and beyond other ranks of Men, so they have had the highest respect, reverence and esteem.

In all Ages; amongst all Nations, amongst Turks as well as Jews and Christians, it was judged fit, that the Principal Domestick Servants of the King of Heaven and Earth, either should be of the Chiefest and Noblest upon Earth, or at least should be so esteemed.

Such reverence our Ancestors bare to that Function, that (as Selden observes) to fall down and kiss the feet, was a Ceremony usual towards other Bishops and Principal Prelates, besides the Bishop of Rome. Divers of our Saxon and Norman Kings and Nobles so respected them, that they constrained them in publick Grants yet to be seen, to sign before the highest of the Lay-Nobles, and sometimes before the Kings own Sons and Brothers, &c. to take precedence of them, &c.

In the year 1200. Three Kings, viz. of England, Seotland, and of South-Wales, to express their pious and Courteous respect to Hugh Bishop of Lincoln, disdained not, with their own Royal Shoulders, to bear his dead Corps to the Grave.

And yet it hath been observed, even by Strangers, That the Iniquity of the present times in England is such, That the English Orthodox Clergy are not onely hated by the Romanists on the one side and maligned by the Presby- verian on the other side, (as the English Liturgy hath also been for a long time by both of them (a sure evidence of the excellency thereof; and as our Saviour was crucified between two Theeves) but also that of all the Christian Clergy of Europe (whether Romish, Lutheran, or Calvinian) none are so little respected generally, nor beloved, obeyed, or rewarded, as the present Pious, Learned, Loyal, Orthodox Clergy of England, even by some of those who have always professed themselves of that Communion.

C H A P. XVIII.

Of the Second State or Nobility of England, and therein of their Degrees, Priviledges, States, Revenues, &c.

Nobiles quasi viri nobiles, or Notabiles. Name.
 In all Christian Monarchies, Men that have been notable for Courage, Wisdom, Wealth, &c. have been judged fit and worthy to enjoy certain Priviledges, Titles, Dignities, Honours, &c. above the common People, to be placed in an higher Orb, and to be a Skreen Use. between the King and the inferiour Subjects, to defend the one from Insolencies, and the other from Tyranny; to interpose by their Counsel, Courage, and Grandeur, where common persons dare not, ought not to be so hardy; to support the King, and defend the Kingdom with their Lives and Fortunes.

The Nobility of England is called the Peerage of England, because they are all Pares Regni; that is, Nobilitate Pares, though gradu impares.

The Degrees of the English Nobility are Degrees. onely five, viz. Duke, Marquis, Earl, Vicount, and Baron. These are all Peers, but the four first are for State, Priviledge, and Precedence, above and before those who are Barons onely.

M 4.

A Duke

Duke.

A Duke in Latine, Dux, a Ducendo, Noblemen being antiently either Generals and Leaders of Armies in time of War, or Wardens of Marches, and Governours of Provinces in time of Peace; afterwards made so for term of life, then held by Lands and Fees, at length made Hereditary and Titular.

The first Duke, since the Conquerour, was Edward the Black Prince, created so by Edw. 3. in the 11 year of his Reign. A Duke is at this day, created by Patent, Cincture of Sword, Mantle of State, Imposition of a Cap, and Coronet of Gold on his Head, and a Verge of Gold put into his Hand.

Marquis.

Marchio, a Marquis, was so first called from the Government of Marches, and Frontier Countreys. The first that was so created, was Robert Vere, Earl of Oxford, made Marquis of Dublin, in Octavo of Richard 2.

A Marquis is created by a Cincture of a Sword, a Mantle of State, Imposition of a Cap of Honour, with a Coronet, and delivery of a Charter or Patent.

Earl.

Earls, antiently called Comites, because they were wont Comitari Regem, to wait upon the King for Council and Advice. The Saxons called them Ealdormon, the Danes, Eorlas, and the English Earls. They had antiently for the support of their State, the third penny out of the Sheriffs Court, issuing out of all Pleas of that Shire, whereof they had their Title: but now it is otherwise; for whereas heretofore Comes and Comitatus were Correlatives, and there was no Comes or Earl, but had a County or Shire for his Earldom; of latter years, the number of Earls increasing, and no more
Counties

Counties left, divers have made choice of some eminent part of a County; as Lindsey, Holland, Sunderland, Cleveand, Craven, &c. Others, have chosen for their Title, some eminent Town, as Exeter, Bridgewater, Bristol, &c. And some of late, have taken for their Title, the name of a small Village or a Park, &c.

An Earl is Created by the Cincture of a Sword, Mantle of State put upon him by the King himself, a Cap, and a Coronet, put upon his Head, and a Charter in his Hand,

All Earls are stiled by the King, Consanguinei nostri, Our Cousins; and they antiently did, and still may use the stile of Nos.

All the Earls of England are local, or denominated from some Shire, Town, or Place, except two, whereof one is Personal, as the Earl Marshal of England, who is not onely Honorary, as all the rest, but also Officiary. The other is Nominal, viz. Earl Rivers, who takes his Denomination from an Illustrious Family, as the rest do, from some noted place.

Viccomes, quasi Vice-Comitis gubernaturus Vicomat. Comitatum. This Title was first given, say some by Hen. 6. in the 18 year of his Reign, to John Beaumont, though it may be found, that 5 H. 5. Sir Robert Brent was by the King, created a Vicount, Vicounts also are stiled by the King, Consanguinei Nostri, Our Cousins.

A Vicount is so made by Patent.

In the Laws of the Longobards, and of the Normans, this word Baron was used for Vir, as at this day, Baron, or Varon, in the Spanish Tongue, is used for the same; so that a Baron, is Vir κατ' ἐξέχον; Vir Notabilis, & Principalis; so the chief Burgeses of London antiently, and still those of the Cinque-Ports, are called Barons. Bracton.

Brasson saith, they were called Barones, quasi Robur Belli, in time of War, the safety of the King, and of all his People, did depend upon their Courage, Wisdom, Conduct, and skill in Martial affairs.

Antiently those Barons onely, were accounted Peers of the Realm, that held of the King Per integram Baroniam, which consisted of 13 Knights Fees, and one third part (each Knights Fee being 20 l.) which makes in all, 400 Marks; and whoever had so much, was wont to be summoned to Parliament. Now to hold Per Baroniam, is to hold Per hereditatem Baronis, whether greater or less.

Barons, in the beginning of the Reign of H. 3. were not of so much repute, as afterwards, when that King, (after that great rebellion against him, was suppressed) called by Writ unto Parliament, onely such great men as had continued Loyal; which the succeeding Kings observing, they onely were accounted Peers of the Realm, that were called by the Kings special Writ, and the others lost their Peerage.

The Earls Palatines, and Earls Marches of England, had antiently also their Barons under them; as in Cheshire there are yet such Barons: but as no Bishops but those that hold immediately of the King, are Peers of the Realm (for the Bishop of Man, holding immediately of the Earl of Derby, is no Peer) so no Barons, but those that hold immediately of the King, are Peers of the Realm.

Caput Baronie is some Castle, or chief Seat of a Nobleman, which is not to be divided amongst Daughters (if there be no Son) but must descend to the eldest Daughter, Ceteris filiabus aliunde satisfactis.

Land

Land holden by Barony, doth not make the Purchaser, that is ignoble, to be noble, although the charge of such Tenure doth lye upon him, in respect of the Service of the Realm; no more then Land by Villain-Service, doth make the Purchaser, that is a Freeman, a Villain, though he shall thereby be bound to his Villain-Service, due for his Lands.

Barons are sometimes made by Writ, being thereby called to sit in the Higher House of Parliament, but most usually by Patent.

All the fore-mentioned Degrees have the Title of Lord, from the Saxon word Laford, Dominus.

All the Lords of England, both Spiritual and Temporal, are Feudataries to the King, and in their Creation, and also in their Succession, do swear an Oath of Fealty, and do homage to the King their Sovereign, and pay certain Duties, as Signs and Symbols of their subjection to their Prince.

All Honours in England are given by the King, who is the sole Fountain of Honour.

The Laws of England prohibiteth all Subjects of the Realm; to receive any Hereditary Title of Honour, or Dignity, of the Gift of any Forreign Prince, King, or Emperor. Est enim jus Majestatis, & inter Insignia summa potestatis.

None of these Honours bestowed by the King on a Family, can be lost, but by want of Issue Male, except where the Patent extends to Issue Female, as sometimes it doth; or else by some heinous crime: and then that Family cannot be restored to their Bloud, but by Parliament.

ALL

All Noblemen at their Creation, have two Ensigns, to signify two Duties: Their Heads are adorned, ad consulendum Regem & Patriam tempore pacis; and they are girt with a Sword, ad defendendum Regem & Patriam tempore belli.

The several Degrees of the English Nobility, are differenced and distinguish'd one from another by their Titles and Ensigns of Honour.

A Duke hath the Title of Grace, and being written unto, may be stiled, Most High, Potent, and Noble Prince. A Marquis, Most Noble, and Potent Lord. An Earl, Most Noble, and Potent Lord. A Vicount, Right Noble, and Potent Lord. And a Baron, Right Noble Lord.

Their Coronets are all different: A Baron hath six Pearls upon the Circle, given to that Honour by the present King. A Vicount hath the Circle of Pearls without number. An Earls Coronet hath the Pearls raised upon Points and Leaves low between. The Marquis, a Pearl, and a Strawberry-leaf round, of equal height. And a Dukes Coronet, only Leaves without Pearls. Note, That the Dukes of the Bloud-Royal, bear a Coronet of Crosses, and Flower-de-luce, which is the same with that of the Prince of Wales, and his is the same with the Kings, excepting the Arches Globe, and Cross on the top of the Kings Crown. All the Nobles are more especially distinguisht by their Robes of Parliament, by their several Guards on their Mantles, or Short Cloaks about their Shoulders, A Baron hath but two Guards, a Vicount two and a half, an Earl three, A Marquis three and a half, and a Duke four: Also the Mantle of a Duke, Marquis, and Vicount, is faced with Ermine, that of a Vicount and Baron, faced with plain white Fur.

The

The Nobility of England have in all times enjoyed many considerable Priviledges.

All Peers of the Realm being look'd on, as the Kings Hereditary constant Counsellors, their Persons, out of Parliament time, are priviledged (as others in Parliament time) from all Arrests, unless for Treason, Felony, or breach of Peace, Condemnation in Parliament, or Contempt to the King. No Supplicavit can be granted against them; No Capias, or Exigent sued out against them, for Actions of Debt or Trespas. No Essoin lies against any Peer of the Realm. In Criminal Causes, Treason, or Felony, they cannot be tryed by any other Jury, but by a Jury of Peers of the Realm; who are not as other Juries, to be put to their Oath, but their Verdict given in upon their Honour, sufficeth. In Civil Causes, they are not to be impannelled upon any Jury, nor upon any Inquests, de facto, though in a Matter between two Peers. In case any Peer be returned upon any such Jury, there is a special Writ for his discharge. Upon no Case, to be bound to their good behaviour, nor put to swear they will not break the Peace, but onely to promise it upon their Honour; which was ever accounted so Sacred, as upon no terms to be violated. A Peer of the Realm may not be put to the Rack, or Torture to discover the Truth, though accused of High Treason. Every Peer of the Realm, called to Parliament, hath the Priviledge in his lawful absence, to constitute a Proxy to vote for him, which none of the Commons may do. Also in places of Trust committed to them, they are allowed to make Deputies, by reason of the necessity, supposed in the Law, of their Attendance on the Person of the King, though neither

neither Civil-Law nor Common-Law, allow any other testimony to be valid, but what is given upon Oath; yet the testimony of a Peer of England, given in upon his Honour, without any Oath, is esteemed valid; and they were wont to be examined upon their Allegiance, and the Loyalty of their Chivalry, and to put in their Answer to a Bill super honorem, without taking an Oath; though of latter times, that Priviledge, by the neglect of some Lords, hath been infringed sometimes. A day of Grace, by the favour of the Court, is not to be granted to the Plaintiff, in any Suit or Action, wherein a Peer of the Realm is Defendant; and this by Statute-Law, because the Law presumes, that a Peer of the Realm, must always be ready to attend the Person of the King, and the Service of the Common-wealth, and therefore it is not to be delayed longer than the ordinary use of the Court, but to have expedition of Justice. At the beginning of Parliament, when the Oath of Supremacy is exacted of all those of the House of Commons, yet it is not required of any of the Lords, because the King is otherwise assured of their Loyalty and Fidelity, as is presumed. In all Cases, wherein the priviledge of Clergy is allowed to other Men, and also in divers Cases, where that priviledge is taken away from other Men, every Peer of the Realm, having Place and Voice in Parliament, shall, upon his Request by Stat. 1 Edw, 6. without burning in the Hand, loss of Inheritance, or corruption of Bloud, be adjudged for the first time, as a Clerk Convict, though he cannot read. The Title of Lord is due to all that are Barons of England, and to none other besides Bishops, and some great Officers of the Kingdom.

Onely

Onely of courtesie, the Title of Lord is given to all the Sons of Dukes and Marquesses, and to all the eldest Sons of Earls, and to none under.

All Barons of England are exempted from all attendance at Sheriff Tourns, or any Leets, where others are obliged to take the Oath of Allegiance.

A Peer cannot be Outlawed in any Civil Action, because he cannot be Arrested by any Capias; and by the same reason lies no Attachment against him.

By the custom of England (as is by the Law of the Empire) Nobiles non torquentur in quibus plebei torquerentur, & Nobiles non suspenduntur sed decapitantur: Yet this by the meer favour of the King, and in some cases, especially of Felony, hath been otherwise sometimes.

For the suppressing of Riots and Routs, the Sheriff may raise the Posse Comitatus; that is, all able Men are to assist him; yet may not the Sheriff command the Person of any Peer of the Realm, to attend that Service.

A Baron of Parliament being sent for by the Kings Writ or Letter, or by His Messenger, to come to Court, or to Parliament, or to appear before the Council-Board, or in his Court of Chancery, may, both coming and returning, by the Kings Forest or Park, kill one or two Deer.

In any Civil Trial, where a Peer of the Realm is Plaintiff or Defendant, there must be returned of the Jury, at least one Knight; otherwise the Array may be quasht by challenge.

The Laws of England are so tender of the Honour, Credit, Reputation, and Persons of Noblemen, that there is a Statute on purpose, to hinder all offence by false Reports, where-
by

by any scandal to their Persons may arise, or debate and discord between them and the Commons; and because it is to defend, not onely Lay-Lords, but Bishops, and all Great Officers of the Realm, it is called Scandalum Magnatum.

The House of a Peer cannot, in some Cases (as in search for Prohibited Books, for Conventicles, &c.) be entred by Officers of Justice, without a Warrant, under the Kings own hand, and the Hands of Six of His Privy Council, whereof four to be Peers of the Realm.

No Peer can be Assessed towards the standing Militia, but by six or more of themselves.

The Law allowing any one of the Comonalty to be arraigned for Felony or Treason, in favorem vite, to challenge Thirty five of his Jury, without shewing cause, and others by shewing cause; yet allows not a Peer of the Realm, to challenge any of his Jury, or to put any of them to their Oath, the Law presuming, that they being all Peers of the Realm, and judging upon their Honour, cannot be guilty of Falshood, Favor, or Malice.

All Peers of the Realm have a Priviledge of qualifying a certain number of Chaplains, who (after a Dispention from the Archbishop (if to him it seem good) and the same ratified, under the Great Seal of England) may hold Plurality of Benefices, with Cure of Souls: In this manner, every Duke may qualify six Chaplains, every Marquis and Earl five apiece, every Viscount four, and every Baron three.

A Peer of the Realm may retain six Alliens born, whereas another may not retain above four.

In case of Amercements of the Peers of the Realm upon Non-suits, or other Judgements;

a Duke is to be amerced onely Ten pounds, and all under onely Five pounds; and this to be done by their Peers, according to Magna Charta, although it is oft done now by the Kings Justices, instead of their Peers.

All Peers of the Realm being constant Hereditary Counsellors of the King, in His Great Council of Parliament, and being obliged upon the Kings Summons, to appear, and attend in all Parliaments upon their own charges, are priviledged from contributing to the expences of any Member of the House of Commons; for which no Levy may be made upon any of their Lands, Parcel of their Earldoms or Baronies. any of their antient Demefnes, Copibold, or Villain-Tenants.

The Estates of all Peers of the Realm, being judged in the Eye of the Law, sufficient at all times, to satisfy all Debts and Damages, satisfaction is to be sought by Execution taken forth upon their Lands and Goods, and not by Attachments, Imprisonments of their Persons, (those are to be always free for the Service of the King and Kingdom) nor by Exigents, or Capias Utlagatum, &c.

Other Priviledges belong to the Peers of England, as Eight Tun of Wine Custom-Free to every Earl; and to the rest proportionably, &c.

Notwithstanding these great Priviledges belonging to the Nobility of England, yet the greatest of them (no not the Brother or Son of the King) ever had the Priviledge of the Grandees of Spain, to be covered in the Kings Presence, except onely Henry Ratcliffe, Earl of Surrey, as before. Nor had ever that higher Priviledge of the Nobility of France, whose Domain Lands, and their Dependants. holding them, them, are exempted from all Contributions and Tallies, by which favour they are tyed to their King, and so enabled to serve him; that although Rebellions are frequent, yet seldom of long continuance, and never prosperous; whereas the highest born Subject of England, hath herein no more privilege, than the meanest Ploughman, but utterly want that kind of reward for Antient Virtue, and encouragement for future Industry.

dence.

Touching the Places or Precedences amongst the Peers of England, it is to be observed, That (after the Kings and Princes of the Bloud, viz. the Sons, Grandsons, Brothers, Uncles, or Nephews of the King, and no farther) Dukes amongst the Nobility, have the first place, then Marquesses, Dukes eldest Sons, Earls, Marquesses eldest Sons, Dukes younger Sons, Vicounts, Earls eldest Sons, Marquesses younger Sons, Barons, Vicounts eldest Sons, Earls younger Sons, Barons eldest Sons, Vicounts younger Sons, Barons younger Sons.

Here note, that it was decreed by King James, That the younger Sons of Barons and Vicounts should yield place and precedence to all Knights of the Garter, Quatennis tales, and to all Privy Counsellors, Master of the Wards, Chancellor; and Under-Treasurer of the Exchequer, Chancellor of the Dutchy, Chief Justice of the Kings Bench, Master of the Rolls, Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, Chief Baron of the Exchequer; and all other Judges and Barons of the degree of the Coif of the said Courts, and that by reason of their Honourable Order and Employment; and also to all Bannerets, made under the Kings Banner or Standard displayed displayed in an Army Royal, in open War, and the King personally present.

Moreover, observe, that all Nobles of the same Degree, take place, according to the Seniority of their Creation.

But the Princes of the Blood, the Great Officers of the Realm, and the Bishops are to preceed, according to an Act of Parliament, 31 Hen. 8.

The Lord Chancellor, Lord Treasurer, Lord President of the Kings Council, Lord Privy-Seal: These being Barons, or above, shall, in Parliament, sit above all Dukes, except the Son, Brother, or Nephew of the King.

The Lord High Steward of England is not here named, because it was intended, that he should not continue beyond the occasion, for which he should be made.

Next hath place, the Lord Great Chamberlain of England, then the Lord High Constable, the Earl Marshal, the Lord High Admiral, Lord Steward of the Kings Household, Lord Chamberlain of the Kings Household: These shall sit after the Lord Privy Seal, above all of their Degree onely. And if the Kings Principal Secretary be a Baron, he takes place of all Barons, that are not of the Offices before-mentioned; but if he be a Vicount, or higher Degree, he shall take place onely according to his Degree. Also if the Kings Secretary be a Bishop, as antiently was usual, he takes place next to the Bishop of Winchester, before all other Bishops, that have none of the Offices aforesaid.

All Dukes, Marquesses, Earls, Vicounts, and Barons, not having any of the said Offices, shall take place according to the antientry of their Creation.

All

All Dukes Eldest Sons have the Title of Earls and the Eldest Son of an Earl, hath the Title of the Earls Barony, and sometimes of the Vi-county, according to the Patent.

State. There are certain marks of State that be-long to each Degree amongst the Nobility, which they may practise, or not practise at pleasure.

Duke. A Duke may have in all places out of the Kings presence, a Cloth of Estate hanging down, within half a yard of the ground; so may his Dutchesse, and her Train born up by a Barone-ness; and no Earl to wash with a Duke, without the Dukes pleasure.

Marquis. A Marquis may have a Cloth of Estate, reach- ing within a yard of the ground, and that in all places out of the presence of the King, or a Duke; and his Marchioness to have her Train born by a Knights Wife; and no Vicount to wash with a Marquis, but at his pleasure.

Earl. An Earl also may have a Cloth of Estate without Pendants, but onely Fringe, and a Countess may have her Train born by a Gen- tlewoman, out of the presence of her Supe- riors, and in their presence by a Gentle- man.

Vicount. A Vicount may have a cover of Assay hol- den under his Cup while he drinks, but no Assay taken, as Dukes, Marquises, and Earls may have, and may have a Travers in his own house. And a Vicountess may have her Gown born up by a Woman out of the presence of her Superiors, and in their presence by a Man.

A Ba-

A Baron may also have the Cover of his Baron. Cup holden underneath whilst he drinketh, and a Baroness may have her Gown born up by a Man in the presence of a Vicountess.

All Dukes Eldest Sons are born as Marqui- Title. ses, and the younger as Lords, with the addition of their Christian Names, as Lord Thomas, Lord John, &c.

A Marquises Eldest Son is called Lord of a Place, and the younger Sons, as Lord Thomas, Lord John, &c.

An Earls Eldest Son is born as a Vicount, and shall go as a Vicount, and shall have as many Powdrings as a Vicount, so their younger Sons are said to be born as Barons, but shall go after all Barons, and before all Baronets.

An Earls eldest Son is called Lord of a place, and all his Daughters Ladies; but his youngest Sons not Lords.

A Vicounts eldest Son is no Lord, nor his Daughters Ladies; and therefore the eldest Son, and the eldest Daughter of the first Vicount of England, is said to be the first Gentleman and Gentlewoman without Title in England. Yet a Vicounts eldest Son is said to be born as a Baron.

Number.

Of Temporal Lords or Peers of England, there are at present about One hundred fifty six, whereof therein are Eleven Dukes, Three Marquisses, Sixty six Earls, Eleven Vicounts, and Sixty five Barons; whereas within Seventy years last past, there was not one Duke, but one Marquis, about Nineteen Earls, Three or Four Vicounts, and Forty Lords.

The Laws and Customs of England, always willing that Decorum and Conveniency should be every where observed, and considering the Charges and Expences appertaining to the several Degrees of Honour, as they belong to Men of Principal Service to the King and Realm, both in time of War and Peace, expected that each of them should have a convenient Estate and value of Lands of Inheritance, for the support of their Honours, and the Kings Service. Therefore antiently when the intrinick value of a Pound Sterling was worth 30 l. of our Money now, as appears by the then Price of all things, every Knight was to have about Eight hundred Acres, reckoned at 20 l. yearly in Land; that is, about 600 l. of our Money at this day. A Baron to have Thirteen Knights Fees, and one third part, which amounted to about 267 l. which multiplied by 30, was as much as 8000 l. a year at this day. An Earl Twenty Knights Fees, a Duke Forty. And in case of decay of Nobility, or that they had so far wasted their Revenues, that their Honours could not decently be maintained (as the Roman Senators were in such case removed from the Senate) so sometimes some English Barons have not been admitted to sit in the Higher House of Parliament, though they kept the Name and Title or Dignity still.

For the better support of these Degrees of Honour, the King doth usually upon the Creation of a Duke, Marquis, Earl, or Vicount, grant an Annuity or yearly Rent, to them and their Heirs, which is so annexed to the Dignity, that by no Grant Assurance, or any manner of Alineations can be given from the same, but is still incident to, and a support of the same Dignity; contrary to that Principal in Law, That every Land of Fee-Simple may be charged with a Rent in Fee-Simple, by one way or other.

To a Duke the King grants 40 l. heretofore a considerable Pension; to a Marquis 40 Marks, to an Earl 20 l. and to a Vicount 20 Marks. To Barons no such Pensions are ordinarily granted, onely the late King creating Montjoy Blount (the late Earl of Newport) Lord Montjoy of Thurlstone, granted him a Fee of 20 Marks per annum, to him and his heirs for ever.

As the King of England hath ever had the repute of the richest in Domains of any King in Europe; so the Nobility of England have been accounted the richest in Lands of any Neighboring nation; some having above 20000 l. yearly, others 15000 l. and so many of them above 10000 l. that if one with another they have but 8000 l. yearly, it will amount to in all amongst the 154 Lords, above Twelve hundred thousand pounds a year, about the Eleventh part of the yearly Revenue of all England, which upon computation is found to be about Fourteen Millions yearly.

The English Nobility for Valour, Wisdom, Integrity and Honour hath in all former Ages been equal to any in Christendom.

Every Lords house was a kind of well-disciplined Court, infomuch that the Gentry, Males, and Females, were wont to be sent thither, for vertuous breeding, and returned excellently accomplished.

At home, their Table, Attendance, Officers, Exercises, Recreations, Garb, was an honour to the Nation.

Abroad they were attended with as brave, numerous, and uniform Train of Servants and Followers, as any in Europe, not thinking it consistent with their Honours to be seen walk the Streets almost in Cuerpo with one Lacquey, or not that, much less to be found drinking in a Tavern, &c.

If some of the English Nobility, by a long continued Peace, excessive Luxury in Diet, want of Action, &c. were before the late Wars, born more feeble in body than their Ancestors, and by too fine, and too full Diet, afterwards were rendred weaker in mind; and then during the late Troubles, by much Licentiousness and want of fit Education, were so debauch'd, that it was lately difficult to find as some (are bold to affirm) the Courage, Wisdom, Integrity, Honour, Sobriety, and Courtesie of the Antient Nobility; yet it is not to be doubted, but that under a Warlike Enterprising Prince, all those Vertues of their Forefathers may spring afresh.

C H A P X I X

Of the third State, or Commons of England, and therein of Baronets, Knights, Esquires, Gentlemen, Yeomen, Citizens, Handicrafts, &c.

THE Law of England, contrary to the Laws and Customs of other Countreys, calleth none Noble under a Baron; so that not onely all Baronets, all sorts of Knights, all Esquires and Gentlemen, but also the Sons of the Nobility, are by our Law reckoned amongst the Commons of England; and therefore the Eldest Son of a Duke though, by the Courtesie of England, styled an Earl, yet shall be arraigned by the style of Esquire onely, and may be tryed by a Jury of Common Freeholders; and in Parliament can sit onely, in the House of Commons, if Elested, till called by the Kings Writ to the Lords House. Yet doth it seem very absurd, that all Noblemens Sons, with all Knights, Esquires, and Gentlemen, should be esteemed Plebeians, but rather, as in Rome, they were in a middle rank, inter Senatores & Plebem; or else, as in other Christian Kingdoms, they should be considered as Minor Nobilitas Regni: So that as Barons, and all above may be styled, Nobiles Majores so from a Baron downward to the Yeoman, all may be not unfitly styled Nobiles Minores.

The Lower Nobility then of England consists of Baronets, Knights, Esquires, and Gentlemen.

The

The next Degree to Barons are Baronets, which is the lowest Degree of Honour that is Hereditary. An Honour first instituted by King James, Anno 1611. given by Patent to a Man, and his Heirs Males of his body lawfully begotten; for which, each one is obliged to pay in the Exchequer so much Money as will, for three years, at Eight pence per diem, pay 30 Foot Soldiers to serve in the Province of Ulster in Ireland; which sum amounts to 1095 l. which with Fees doth commonly arise to 1200 l.

Baronets have precedence before all Knights, except Knights of the Garter, Knights who are Privy Counsellors, and Knights Bannerets, made under the Kings Banner or Standard, displayed in an Army Royal in open War, and the King personally present, or the Prince of Wales. Prince Henry by particular mention had liberty to create Bannerets. See Mr. Seldens Titles of Honour.

Baronets have the Privilege to bear in a Canton of their Coat of Arms, or in a whole Scutcheon, the Arms of Ulster, viz. In a Field Argent a Hand Gules: Also in the Kings Armies to have place in the gross near the Kings Standard, with some other particulars for their Funerals.

The whole number of Baronets in England are not to exceed Two hundred at one and the same time; after which number compleated, as any one for want of Heirs come to be extinct, the number shall not be made up by new Creations, but be suffer'd to diminish; as appears by their Patent.

No Honour is ever to be created between Baronets and Barons.

The first Baronet that was created, was Sir

Knights. This word Knight is derived from the German word Knecht, signifying originally a Lusty Servitor.

The Germans (as the ancient Romans gave their young Men Togam Virilem) by publick Authority bestowed on their young men able to manage Arms, a Shield and a Javelin, as fit for martial Service, and to be a Member of the Common-wealth, accounted before but a part of a Family; and such a young Man publickly allowed, they called Knecht; whence we had our Institution of Knighthood.

The thing Knight is at this day signified in Latin, French, Spanish, Italian, and also in High and Low Dutch Tongues, by a word that properly signifies a Horseman, because they were wont to serve in War on Horseback, and were sometimes in England called Radenbys, id est, Riding Servitors, yet our Common Law styles them, Milites, Soldiers, because they commonly held Lands in Knights Service, to serve the King in his Wars as Soldiers.

The Honour of Knighthood is commonly given for some personal desert, and therefore dies with the person deserving, and descends not to his Son.

of the

In England there are several sorts of Knights, whereof the chiefest are those of the Order of St. George, commonly called Knights of the Garter.

This Order is esteemed the most Honourable: and most Antient of any now in use in Christendom. It began, as appears in the Statute of this Order, in 1350, and the Three
and

and twentieth year of the Warlike and Puissant King Edward the Third; who triumphed several times over France and Scotland; who held Prisoners at one time in England, King John of France, and King David of Scotland; who expelled the Rebels of Castile, and Inthroned Don Pedro their lawful King. He that did these mighty and glorious Exploits, was the Founder of this most Noble Order of the Garter, and at first made choice of the most Illustrious Persons of Europe to be of that Royal Society (no doubt) upon a Martial, and not upon any such Amorous account, as a Garter falling from a Ladies Leg; which ridiculous Story, to the dishonor of the Order, was first fancied by Polydore Virgil; and since upon his credit taken up by many late Authors.

It was since commonly called, The Order of the Garter, because this onely part of the whole Habit of the Order was made choice of at first, to be constantly worn, and that to put in mind the Companions of the Order; that as by this Order they were joined in a firm League of Antity and Concord, so by their Garter, as by a fast tye of affection, they were obliged to love one another. Now lest this strict Combination might seem to have any other aim or end, but what was honourable and just, Ad obviandam malam interpretationem, (as the Antient Records of Windsor speak) the said King commanded that Motto or Impress to be wrought on the Garter, viz. Honi soit qui mal y pense.

The reason why this Motto was put in French, was, because then the King of England being possessed of a great part of France, not onely our Laws, Pleadings, and Sermons were in French

French, but that was the ordinary Language in the Court of England.

It appears by antient Writings, that this Honourable Company is a Colledge or Corporation, having a Great Seal belonging to it, and consisting of a Sovereign Guardian (which is always the King of England) and of Twenty five Companions, called Knights of the Garter; of Fourteen Secular Canons, that are Priests; of Thirteen Vicars, who are also Priests; of Twenty six Poor Knights, who have no other maintenance but the allowance of this Colledge, which is given them in respect of their Prayers, to the Honour of God and St. George, who is the Patron of England, and of this Order in particular; and none of those Fabulous St. Georges as some have vainly fancied; but that famous Saint and Soldier of Christ, St. George of Cappadocia: A Saint so universally received in all parts of Christendom, so generally attested by the Ecclesiastical Writers of all Ages, from the time of his Martyrdom till this day, that no one Saint in all the Calender (except those attested by Scripture) is better evidenced.

There be also certain Officers belonging to this Order: as the Prelate of the Garter, which Office is settled on the Bishoprick of Winchester: A Chancellor of the Garter, which Office did antiently belong to the Bishops of Salisbury, and is now by His Majesties favor reannexed to that See; A Register, who of later times hath been constantly the Dean of Windsor, though antiently it was otherwife. The Principal King at Arms called Garter, whose chief Function is to manage and marshal their Solemnities at their Installations and Feasts. Lastly, the Usher of the Garter.

There

There are also certain Orders and Constitutions belonging to the Society, touching the Solemnities in making these Knights, their Duties after Creation, and their high Priviledges, too long for this place.

The Colledge is seated in the Castle of Windsor, with the Chappel of St. George, there erected by King Edward the Third, and the Chapter-House.

The Order of the Garter is wont to be bestowed upon the most excellent and renowned Persons for Honour and Virtue, and with it a Blew Garter deckt with Gold, Pearl, and Precious Stones, and a Buckle of Gold, to be worn daily on the left Leg; also at High Feasts they are to wear a Surcoat, a Mantle, a high Black Velvet Cap, a Collar of pure Gold, composed of Roses enamelled Red, within a Garter enamelled Blew, with the usual Motto in Letters of Gold; and between each of these Garters, a Knot with Tessels of Gold, together with other stately and magnificent Apparel.

They are not to be seen abroad without their Garter upon the left Leg, upon pain of paying Two Crowns to any Officer of the Order, who shall first claim it; onely intaking a Journey, a Blew Ribbon under the Boot doth suffice.

Upon the left Shoulder, upon Cloke, Coat, or Riding Calstock, in all places of Assembly, when they wear not their Robes, they are to wear an Escutcheon of the Arms of St. George, that is, a Cross with a Garter, and this by an order made April 1626. That Ornament and Embellishment about the said Escutcheon now worn, and called The Star, or rather, The Sun in its Glory, was at the same time enjoined.

The

The greatest Monarchs of Christendom have been enrolled, and have taken it for an honour to be of this Order.

There have been of this Order since the Institution, Eight Emperors, Seven and twenty or Eight and twenty Foreign Kings, besides many Sovereign Princes, &c.

Note, That none can be of this most Honourable Order, that have been convicted of Hereſie, of Treſon, or of Cowardiſe.

The

The Fellows and Companions of the Most Noble Order of St. George, are at present these that follow, ranked according as they are seated in their several Stalls at Windsor.

IN the first Stall on the Right hand is the Sovereign of the Order, King Charles the Second, who is Patron. and sole Disposer of the Order.

In the other Stalls on the Sovereigns side, are thus placed these that follow, 2 Christian, the Fifth, King of Denmark: 3. Elector Palatine: 4 Prince of Orange: 5 Elector of Saxony: 6 Duke of Buckingham: 7 Earl of Bristol: 8 Count Marsin: 9 Duke of Richmond: 10 Duke of Monmouth: 11 Duke of Lauderdail: 12 Earl of St. Albans: 13 Earl of Arlington.

On the other side opposite to these aforementioned, are placed in this order these that follow: Charles the Eleventh of that Name, King of Sweden: 2 Duke of York: 3 Prince Rupert: 4 Elector of Brandenburgh: 5 Duke of Ormond: 6 Duke of Newcastle: 7 Prince of Tarente: 8 Earl of Oxford: 9 Earl of Strafford: 10 Duke of Albemarle: 11 Marquis of Worcester: 12 Earl of Bedford: the 13 Stall on this side is now the Earl of Ossory.

Note, That antiently Kings and Sovereign Princes were placed according to their Creations; but now those onely are placed according to their degrees.

The

The whole number of Fellows of this Order is not to exceed Twenty six.

Bannerets.*

In the next place are Knights Bannerets, Equites Vexilliferi, antiently a high Honor, now obsolete, there being at this time none of this Order in England.

These may bear their Arms with Supporters, and none under this Degree.

*Knights
Bath.*

Knights of the Bath, so called of their Bathing, used before they were Created. The first of this sort were made by Henry the Fourth, Anno 1399. They are now commonly made at the Coronation of a King or Queen, or Creation of a Prince of Wales. They wear a Scarlet Ribbon Belt-wise. They are still made with much Ceremony, too long here to be described.

Batchelors.*

Other Knights called Equites Aurati, from the Gilt Spurs usually put upon them, and Knights Batchelors, Quasi Bacheliers, Knights of low degree. So Batchelors in Arts or Divinity, quasi Low Knights or Servitors in Arts. These were antiently made by girding with a Sword and Gilt Spurs, and was bestowed onely upon Sword-men for their Military Service, and was reputed an excellent and glorious Degree, and a Noble reward for courageous Persons; but of late being made more common, and bestowed upon Gown-men; contrary to the nature of the thing (as degrees in the University are sometimes bestowed upon Sword-men) it is become of much less reputation. Yet amongst Gown-men it is given onely to Lawyers and Phy-

Physicians, and not to Divines whomay as well become that Dignity, and be Spiritual Knights as well as Spiritual Lords.

These are now made with no other Ceremony but kneeling down, the King with a drawn Sword, lightly toucheth them on the Shoulder; after which, heretofore the King said in French, Sois Chevalier au nom de Dieu, and then Advance Chevalier.

When a Knight is to suffer Death for any foul Crime, his Military Girdle is first to be ungirt, his Sword taken away, his Spurs cut off with an Hatchet, his Gauntlet pluckt off, and his Coat of Arms reversed.

Next among the lower Nobility are Esquires, Esquires. so called from the French word Escuyers, Scutigeri, because they were wont to bear before the Prince in War, or before the better sort of Nobility a Shield, or else perhaps because they bear a Coat of Arms as Ensigns of their descent: and by our Lawyers are called Armigeri.

Of this Title are first all Vicounts eldest Sons, and all Vicounts and Barons younger Sons; and by the Common-Law of England, all the Sons of Earls, Marquesses, and Dukes, are Esquires and no more. Next are the Esquires of the Kings Body, mentioned among the Officers of the Kings Court; after these are reckoned the eldest Sons of younger Sons of Barons, and of all Noblemen of higher degree than Knights eldest Sons, and their elder Sons for ever: Next Esquires created by the King, by putting about their Necks a Collar of Esses, and bestowing on them a pair of Silver Spurs. Lastly, divers that are in Superiperious publick Office for King or State, are reputed Esquires, or equal to Esquires, as Sergeants of the severall Offices in the Kings Court, and other Officers of rank and quality, so Justices of the Peace, Majors of Towns, so Councillors at Law, Batchelors of Divinity, Law or Physick, although none of them really are so.

The Knights and Esquires of this Nation, for Valor and Courage, for Wisdom, good, Hospitality, Literature, and other Gentile qualities, might compare with any Kingdom in Christendom, nor might any justly say here, as a grave Writer did to those of our Neighbor Countrey, Ni sitis boni Aleatores, probi Chartarii, Scortatores improbi, Potatores strenui, Profusores audaces, Decoctores & Conflatores aeris alieni, Scabie Gallicâ denique ornati, vix quisquam vos credet Equites vel Armigeros.

Gentry.

In the last place, among the lower Nobility are accounted the Gentry of England, that have no other Title, but are descended of Ancient Families, that have always born a Coat of Arms.

This kind of Honour is derived from the Germans, to the rest of Christendom; and was never known in any Countrey where the German Customs were unknown, as in Asia, Africa, and America. The Germans anciently oft warring among themselves, painted their Scutcheons with the Picture of some Beast, Bird, or other thing for distinction, and put some eminent and visible Mark upon the Crests of their Helms; and this Ornament both of Arms and Crest, descended by the inheritance of their Children, to the eldest pure, and to the rest, with

with some note of distinction, such as the Old Master of Ceremonies; in High Dutch Herwalt, now Herald, thought fit.

Gentlemen well descended and well qualified, have always been of such repute in England, that none of the higher Nobility, nor the King himself have thought it unfitting to make them sometimes their Companions.

The Title of Gentleman in England (as of Cavalier in France, Italy, and Spain) is not disdained by any Nobleman. All Noblemen are Gentlemen, though all Gentlemen are not Noblemen.

The State of Gentry was antiently such, that it was accounted an abasing of Gentry, to put their Sons to get their Living by Shop-keeping, and our Law did account it desparagement of a Ward in Chivairy, to be married to a Shop-keepers Daughter, or to any meer Citizen; for Tradesmen in all Ages and Nations have been reputed ignoble, in regard of the doubleness of their Tongue, without which they hardly grow rich (for nihil proficiunt nisi admodum mentiuntur, as Tully observes: to the son of Sirac, Eccles. 26. 29. A Merchant shall hardly keep himself from doing wrong, and an Huckster shall not be freed from Sin :) and therefore amongst the Thebans, no Man was admitted to places of Honour and Trust, unless he had left off Trading ten years before: So by the Imperial Laws, a Tradesman is not capable of any Honourable Estate, nor to be a Commander over Soldiers; and therefore the English Nobility and Gentry till within late years, judged it a stain and diminution to the honour and dignity of their Families, to seek their Childrens

Childrens support by Shopkeeping, but only (as in all great Monarchies) by Military, Court, State, or Church Employments, much less to subject their Children to an apprenticeship, a perfect Servitude, for during that time, whatever they gain by their Masters Trade, or their own Wit, belongs all to their Master, neither can they lie out of their Masters House, nor take a Wife, nor Trade of their own, but subject to all Household Work, all Commands of their Master, undergo what punishment, and eat and wear what their Master pleaseth; which Marks of Slavery considered, Heralds are of opinion, that a Gentleman thereby loseth his gentility for ever, till he can otherwise recover it; and yet, to the shame of our Nation, we have seen of late not only the Sons of Baronets, Knights, and Gentlemen, sitting in Shops, and sometimes of pedling Trades, far more fit for Women and their Daughters, but also an Earl of this Kingdom subjecting his Son to an Apprentisage and Trade; but the folly of the English in swerving from their Ancestors herein (as in other things) is now apparent, for those young Gentlemen possessing more noble and active spirits, could not brook such dull slavish lives, and being thereby unfitted for other employments, have generally taken ill debauch'd courses.

The true English Nobility and Gentry have in all times made it their main aim to endow their Sons with such accomplishments, especially as might render them capable to defend their Countrey in time of War, and to govern it in time of Peace; for which two things, all Gentlemen seem to be born, and therefore their chief Studies have ever been that of the Great Em-

Priviledges.

The lower Nobility of England have fewer and less Priviledges than those in other Monarchies.

Some few Priviledges belong to Knights, quatenus Knights. If a Knight be a Minor, yet shall he be out of Wardship both for Lands, Body, and Marriage; for though the Law doth judge him not able to do Knights Service till the age of 21 years, yet the King being Sovereign and Supreme Judge of Chivalry, by dubbing him Knight, doth thereby allow him to be able to do him Knights Service.

Knights by Magna Charta, cap. 21. are so freed, that no Demesne Cart of theirs may be taken.

The Son and Brother of a Knight by Statute Law, are capacitated to hold more than one Benefice for the cure of Souls.

By the Stat. Primo Jacobi it seems that Knights and their Sons (though they cannot spend 10 l. per annum, nor are worth 200 l.) may keep Greyhounds, Setting-dogs, or Nets to take Pheasants or Partridges.

Some

Some Priviledges also belong to Gentlemen. Antiently if an ignoble Person did strike a Gentleman in England, he was to lose his hand.

A Gentleman by Stat. Quint, Eliz. may not be compelled to serve in Husbandry.

The Child of a Gentleman brought up to sing, cannot be taken without the Parents and Friends consent to serve in the Kings Chappel, as others may.

The Horse of a Gentleman may not be taken to ride Post.

Note, That as there are some great Officers of the Crown, who for their Dignity and Worth of their Places, although they are not Noblemen, yet take place amongst the highest of the Higher Nobility, so there are some persons, who for their Dignities in the Church Degrees in the University, Offices in the State or Army, although they are neither Knights nor Gentlemen born, yet take place amongst them, so all Deans, Archdeacons, Chancellors, Prebends, Doctors, of Divinity, Law, and Physick, Heads of Houses in the Universities, usually take place next to Knights, and before ordinary Esquires and Gentlemen.

Yet in other Christian Countreys where the Civil Law hath its due Credit in such Acts as concern Learning, a Doctor of Law hath precedence of a Knight; as also at Court in Foreign parts, those Doctors that wait on the Prince, precede the Knights who are servants to the Prince; but otherwise Knights usually take place of Doctors.

Like-

Likewise all Judges of Courts, Justices of the Peace.

All Commissionated Officers in the Army, as Colonels, Master of Artillery, Quarter-Master-General, &c.

All higher Officers in the Kings Court or State.

All Sergeants at Law, &c. These are wont to precede Esquires.

All Batchelors of Divinity, Law, and Physick, all Doctors in Arts, commonly called Masters of Art, all Barresters in the Inns of Court, all Captains, divers other officers in the Kings Household, &c. may equal, if not precede Gentlemen, that have none of these qualifications.

In England, Gentry (as in Germany, all Nobility) and Arms are held in Gavelkind, descending to all the Sons alike, only the eldest Son beareth Arms without difference, which the younger may not.

Of the Lower Nobility in England, the number is so great, that there are reckon'd at present above 500 Baronets, more than the first intended number; that is, in all, above 700, who are possest, one with another, of about 1200 l. a year in Lands. Of Knights, above 1400, who one with another, may have about 800 l. Lands a year. Of Esquires and Gentlemen, above 6000. each one possest one with another, of about 400 l. a year in Lands, besides younger Brothers, whose number may amount to about 16000, in all England, who have small Estates in Land, but are commonly bred up to Divinity, Law, Physick, to Court, and Military Employments, but of late, too many of them to Shop-keeping.

The Lands in the possession of the Lower Nobility, will amount to about four Millions, and sixty thousand pounds yearly.

Next to the Lower Nobility, and the first degree of the Commons or Plebeians, are the Freeholders in England, commonly called Yeomen, from the High Dutch, Gemen or Gemain, in English Common; so in the Kings Court, it signifieth an Officer, which is in a middle place between a Sergeant and a Groom, or else from the Low Dutch, Yeaman, Some body, as the Spaniards call a Gentleman Hidalgo, Hijo d'algo, that is, The Son of some body.

The Yeomanry of England having Lands of their own, to a good value, and living upon Husbandry, are lookt upon, as not apt to commit, or omit any thing that may endanger their Estates and Credits, nor apt to be corrupted or suborned, &c. wherefore they are judged fit to bear some Offices, as of Constable, Churchwarden, to serve upon Juries, to be Train-Soldiers, to vote in the Election of Knights of the Shire for Parliament, &c.

In Cases and Causes, the Law of England hath conceived a better opinion of the Yeomanry that occupy Lands, than of Tradesmen, Artificers or Labourers, Husbandry, hath in no Age rendred a Gentleman ignoble, nor incapable of places of Honour.

Amongst the Romans, some of the greatest Dictators and Consuls, had been once Husbandmen, and some of them taken from ploughing their Ground, to bear those Highest Offices and Dignities; so divers Princes, Kings, and Emperors, have exercised Agriculture; and the Grand Scipio, and the Emperor Dioclesian, left their Commands to enjoy Husbandry.

By

By the Statutes of England, certain Immunities are given to Free-holders and Landmen, though they are not Gentlemen: Vide Stat., 1 Jacobi, cap. 27. & alibi,

Of the Free-holders in England, there are more in number, and richer, than in any Country of the like extent in Europe, 40 or 50 l. a year apiece is very ordinary, 100 and 200 l. a year in some Counties, is not rare, sometimes in Kent 1000 l. and 1500 l.

Besides these Freeholders, (which are so called, because they hold Lands or Tenements inheritable by a perpetual Right to them and their Heirs for ever) there are in England, a very great number of Copyholders, who hold Lands within some Mannors onely by Copy of Court-Roll of the said Mannor, &c. and have, Fus perpetuum & utile Dominium, though not Allodium & directum Dominium, which Freeholders, may improperly be said to have, but properly none in England, but the King hath.

Amongst the Commons of England in the next place, are reckoned Tradesmen, among whom, Merchants of Forreign Traffick, have, for their great benefit to the publick, and for their great endowments, and generous living, been of best repute in England; and although the Law of England look upon Tradesmen and Chapmen, that live by buying and selling, as a baser sort of people, and that a Ward within Age, may bring his Action of Disparagement against his Guardian, for offering any such in Marriage; yet in England as well as Italy, to become a Merchant of Forreign Commerce, without serving any Apprentisage, hath been allowed no disparagement to a Gentleman born, especially to a younger Brother.

Amongst

Amongst Tradesmen, in the next place, are Wholesale-men, then Retailers; lastly, Mechanics, or Handicraftsmen. These are all capable of bearing some Sway or Office in Cities and Towns Corporate.

The lowest Member, the feet of the Body Politick, are the Day-Labourers, who, by their large Wages given them, and the cheapness of all Necessaries, enjoy better Dwellings, Diet, and Apparel in England, than the Husbandmen do in many other Countreys.

Liberties and Priviledges.

AS the Clergy and Nobility have certain Priviledges peculiar to themselves, so they have Liberties and Properties common to the Commonalty of England.

The Commons of England for Hereditary Fundamental Liberties and Properties, are blest above and beyond the Subjects of any Monarch in the World.

First, No Freeman of England ought to be imprisoned, or otherwise restrained, without cause shewn for which by Law, he ought to be so imprisoned.

Secondly, To him that is imprisoned, may not be denied a Writ of Habeas Corpus, if it be desired.

Thirdly, If no cause of imprisonment be alledged, and the same be returned upon an Habeas Corpus, then the Prisoner ought to be set at liberty.

Fourthly, No Soldiers can be quartered in the House of any Freeman, in time of Peace, without without his Will ; though they pay for their Quarters.

Fifthly, Every Freeman hath such a full and absolute propriety in his Goods, that no Taxes, Loans, or Benevolences, ordinarily and legally can be imposed upon them, without their own consent, by their Representatives in Parliament. Moreover, They have such an absolute Power, that they can dispose of all they have, how they please, even from their own Children, and to them, in what inequality they will, without shewing any cause ; which other Nations, governed by the Civil Law, cannot do.

Sixthly, No Englishman may be prest or compelled (unless bound by his Tenure) to march forth of his Countrey, to serve as a Soldier in the Wars, except in case of a Forreign Enemy invading, or a Rebellion at home. Nor may he be sent out of the Realm against his will, upon any Forreign Employment, by way of an honourable Banishment.

Seventhly, No Freeman can be tryed, but by his Peers, nor condemned, but by the Laws of the Land, or by an Act of Parliament.

Eighthly, No Freeman may be Fined for any Crime, but according to the merit of the offence, always Salvo sibi contentemento suo, in such manner, that he may continue, and go on in his Calling.

Briefly, if it be considered onely, that ordinarily they are subject to no Laws, but what they make themselves, nor no Taxes but what they impose themselves, and pray the King and the Lords to consent unto, their Liberties and properties must be acknowledged to be transcendent,

dent,

dent, and their worldly condition, most happy and blessed; and so far above that of the Subjects of any of our Neighbour Nations, that as all the Women of Europe, would run into England (the Paradise of Women) if there were a Bridge made over the Sea: so all the Men too, if there were but an Act for a general Naturalization of all Aliens.

C H A P. XVI.

Of the Women of England.

Touching the Women of England, there are divers things considerable in the English Laws and Customs. Women in England, with all their moveable Goods, so soon as they are Married, are wholly in potestate viri, at the Will and Disposition of the Husband.

If any Goods or Chattels be given to Feme-Covert, to a Married Woman, they all immediately become her Husbands. She cannot Lett, Sett, Sell, give away, or alienate any thing without her Husbands consent.

Her very necessary apparel by the Law, is not hers in property. If she hath any Tenure at all, it is in Capite, that is, she holds it of and by her Husband, who is Caput Mulieris; and therefore the Law saith, Uxor fulget radiis Mariti.

All the Chattels personal, the Wife had at the Marriage, is so much her Husbands, that after his death, they shall not return to the Wife, but go to the Executor or Administrator of the Husband, as his other Goods and Chattels, except onely her Parapherna, or Præterdotalia, which are her necessary Apparel, which, with the consent of her Husband, she may devise by Will; not otherwise by our Law, because the property and possession, even of the Parapherna, are in him.

The Wife can make no Contract without her Husbands consent, and in Law-Matters. Sine viro respondere non potest.

The Law of England supposes a Wife to be in so much Subjection and Obedience to her Husband, as to have no Will at all of her own: Wherefore if a Man and his Wife commit a Felony together, the Wife, by the Law, can be neither Principal nor Accessary; the Law supposing, that in regard of the Subjection and Obedience she owes to her Husband, she was necessitated thereunto.

The Law of England supposes in the Husband a power over his Wife, as over his Child, or Servant, to correct her when she offends; and therefore he must answer for his Wives faults, if she wrong another by her Tongue, or by Trespass, he must make satisfaction.

So the Law makes it as high a Crime, and allots the same punishment to a Woman that shall kill her Husband, as to a Woman that shall kill her Father or Master, and that is Pessi: Treason, to be burnt alive.

So that a Wife in England, is de jure, but the best of Servants, having nothing her own, in a more proper sense then a Child hath, whom his Father suffers to call many things his own, yet can dispose of nothing.

The Woman upon Marriage, loseth not onely the Power over her Person, and her Will, and the property of her Goods, but her very Name; for ever after she useth her Husbonds Sirname, and her own is wholly laid aside; which is not observed in France, and other Countreys, where the Wife subscribes her self by her Paternal Name; as if Susanna, the Daughter of R. Clifford be married to E. Chamberlain, she either writes her self Susanna Clifford, or else Susanna Clifford Chamberlain.

Notwithstanding all which, their condition de facto, is the best of the World; for such is the

the good nature of Englishmen, towards their Wives, such is the tenderness and respect, giving them the uppermost place at Table, and elsewhere, the right hand every where, and putting them upon no drudgery and hardship; that if there were a Bridge over into England, as aforesaid, it is thought all the Women in Europe would run thither.

Besides, in some things, the Laws of England are above other Nations, so favourable to that Sex, as if the Women had voted at the making of them.

If a Wife bring forth a Child, during her Husbands long absence, though it be for some years, yet if he lived all the time within this Island, he must Father that Child; and if that Child be her first-born Son, he shall inherit that Husbands Estate, if Entailed, or left without Will.

If a Wife bring forth a Child, begotten by another, before Marriage, but born after Marriage with another Man; this latter must own the Child, and that Child shall be his Heir at Law.

The Wife after her Husbands death, having no Joynture settled before Marriage, may challenge the third part of his yearly Rents of Land, during her life; and within the City of London, a third part of all her Husbands Moveables for ever.

As the Wife doth participate of her Husbands name, so likewise of his Condition. If he be a Duke, she is a Dutchess; if he be a Knight, she is a Lady; if he be an Alien, made a Denison, she is ipso facto, so too. If a Freeman marry a Bond-woman, she is also free, during the Coverture; whereof also it is said, as before, Uxor fulget radiis Mariti.

All Women in England are comprised under Noble or Ignoble.

Noble-Women are so three manner of ways, viz. by Creation, by Descent, and by Marriage.

The King, the Fountain of Honour, may, and oft hath created Women to be Baronessees, Countesses, Dutcheffes, &c.

By Descent, such Women are Noble, to whom Lands holden by such Dignity, do descend as Heir; for Dignities and Titles of Honour, for want of Males, do sometimes descend to Females; but to one of them onely, because they are things in their own nature entire, and not to be divided amongst many (as the Lands and Tenements are, which descend to all the Daughters equally;) besides, by dividing Dignities, the Reputation of Honour would be lost, and the Strength of the Realm impaired; for the Honour and Chivalry of the Realm, doth chiefly consist in the Nobility thereof.

By Marriage, all Women are Noble, who take to their Husbands any Baron or Peer of the Realm; but if afterwards they marry to Men not Noble, they lose their former Dignity, and follow the condition of their latter Husband; for eodem modo dissolvitur earum Nobilitas, quo constituitur. But Women, Noble by Creation, or Descent, or Birth-right, remain Noble, though they marry Husbands under their Degree; for such Nobility is accounted Character indelebilis. Here note, that by the Courtesy of England, a Woman, Noble only by Marriage, always retaineth her Nobility; and so the Widow of a Knight, married to any inferior person, retaineth by courtesy, the Title and Name gotten by her former Husband; but but if the Kings Daughter marry a Duke or an Earl, illa semper dicitur Regalia, as well by Law as Courtesie.

Note also, that any Woman, who is Noble by birth, if she be married to a Baron, takes place according to the Degree of her Husband, though she be a Dukes Daughter; but if she marry to one under those of the higher Nobility, as to a Knight or a Gentleman, then by Courtesy, place is given according to her Birth, and not her Husband.

Noblewomen, in the Eye of the Law, are Peers of the Realm, and are to be tried by their Peers, and to enjoy most other Privileges, Honour, and Respect, as their Husbands: Onely they cannot, by the opinion of some great Lawyers, maintain an Action upon the Statute, De Scandalo Magnatum, the Makers of that Statute meaning onely to provide in that case for the Great Men, and not for the Women, as the Words of that Statute, seem to import. Likewise, if any of the Kings Servants within his Check-Roll, should conspire the death of any Noble-Woman, this were not Felony, as it is, if like Conspiracy be against a Nobleman.

None of the Wives Dignities can come by Marriage to their Husbands, although all their Goods and Chattels do; onely the Wives Dignities with her Lands, are to descend to her next Heir: yet is the courtesie of England such, that as the Wife for her Dower, hath the third part of her Husbands Lands, during her life; so the Husband, for the Dignity of his Sex, and for getting his Wife with Child, (which must appear, by being born alive) shall have all his Wives Lands (for his Dower, if it may be so called) during his Life.

By

By the Constitutions of England, Married persons are so fast joyned, that they may not be wholly separated by any agreement between themselves, but onely by Sentence of the Judge; and such separation is either a Vinculo Matrimonii, and that is, ob præ contractum, vel ob contractum per metum effectum, vel ob frigiditatem, vel ob affinitatem, sive Consanguinitatem, vel ob Sævitiã; or else such separation is a Mensa & Tboro, and that is, ob Adulterium.

The Wife in England, is accounted so much one with her Husband, that she cannot be produced as Witness, for, or against her Husband,

CHAP.

C H A P. XXI.

Of Children.

THE Condition of Children in England, is different from those in our neighbor-Countreys.

As Husbands have a more absolute Authority over their Wives, and their Estates, so Fathers have a more absolute authority over their Children. Fathers may give all their Estates untailed from their own Children, and to any one Child, and none to the rest; the consideration whereof, keeps the Children in great awe.

Children, by the Common-Law of England, are at certain Ages, enabled to perform certain Acts.

A Son at the age of 14, may chuse his Guardian, may claim his Land, holden in Socage, may consent to Marriage, may, by Will, dispose of Goods, and Chattels.

At the age of 15, he ought to be sworn to his Allegiance to the King.

At 21, he is said to be of full age, may then make any Contracts, may pass, not onely Goods, but Lands by Will, which in other Countreys may not be done, till the Annus Consistentiæ, the age of 25, when the heat of the Youth is somewhat abated, and they begin to be stayed in mind, as well as in growth.

A Daughter at 7 years is to have aid of her Fathers Tenants to marry her, for at those years she may consent unto Marriage, though she may afterwards dissent.

At 9 she is Dowable, as if then, or soon after she could virum sustinere, and thereby Dotem promereri.

At 12, she is enabled to ratify and confirm her former consent given to Matrimony, and if at that age she dissent not, she is bound for ever; she may then make a Will of Goods and Chattels.

At 14, she might receive her Lands into her own hands, and was then out of Wardship, if she was 14 at the death of her Ancestor.

At 16 (though at the death of her Ancestor, she was under 14) she was to be out of Wardship; because then she might take a Husband, who might be able to perform Knights-Service.

At 21, she is enabled to Contract or Alienate her Lands, by Will, or otherwise.

The eldest Son inherits all Lands, and to the younger Children are disposed Goods and Chattels, and commonly the eldest Sons Wives portion; and besides, they are carefully Educated in some Profession or Trade.

If there be no Son, the Lands, as well as Goods, are equally divided amongst the Daughters.

C H A P. XXII

Of Servants.

THe condition of Servants in England, is much more favourable than it was in our Ancestors days, when it was so bad, that England was called the Purgatory of Servants, and it was, and is still, the Paradise of Wives, and the Hell for Horses,

Ordinary Servants are hired commonly for one year, at the end whereof they may be free (giving warning three months before) and may place themselves with other Masters; only it is accounted discourteous and unfriendly, to take another mans servant, before leave given by his former Master; and indiscreet to take a Servant without Certificate of his diligence and of his faithfulness in his Service to his former Master.

All Servants are subject to be corrected by their Masters and Mistresses, and resistance in a Servant, is punished with severe penalty; but for a Servant to take away the life of his or her Master or Mistress, is accounted a Crime next to High Treason, and called Petty Treason, and hath a peculiar punishment Capital.

Foreign Slaves in England are none, since Christianity prevailed. A Forreign Slave brought into England, is upon Landing, ipso facto, free from Slavery, but not from ordinary Service.

Some Lands in England are holden in Villanage, to do some particular Services, to the Lord

Lord of the Mannor, and such Tenants may be called the Lords Servants.

There is a two-fold Tenure called Villanage, one where the Tenure onely is Servile, as to plough the Lords Ground, sow, reap, and bring home his Corn, dung his Land, &c. The other, whereby both Person and Tenure is servile, and bound in all respects, at the disposition of the Lord; such persons are called in Law, Pure Villains, and are to do all Villanous Services, to improve the Land he holds to the Lords use, themselves to be wholly at the Lords service, and whatever they get, is for their Lord: Of such there are now but few left in England. The nearest to this condition are Apprentices, (that signifies Learners) a sort of Servants that carry the mark of pure Villains or Bond-slaves, (as before in the Chapter of Gentry is intimated) differing however in this, That Apprentices are Slaves, onely for a time, and by Covenant; the other are so, at the will of their Master.

C H A P. XXIII.

Of the R O Y A L S O C I E T Y.

HAVING in this small Treatise, had occasion to make known to the World, by Name, our Princes, Prelates, Nobles; Great Officers of State, Privy Counsellors, Principal Courtiers, our Judges, Sergeants at Law, Civilians, &c. all now living; it will not be altogether impertinent to add hereunto, not onely the Names of all those worthy Governors, and eminent Professors, in our two famous Universities, but also all those who of late have listd themselves, for promoting that admirably ingenious design, for bettering the condition of Humane Life, by a vigorous advancement of real Knowledge, and a speedy improvement of Arts and Sciences: of whose Institution, Progress, and many very useful Discoveries, take this brief Account, extracted, in part, out of that excellent History, written by Dr. Sprat.

The first Assembly, which laid the Foundation of this Royal Society, was (some years before the happy Restauration of our dread Sovereign CHARLES the Second), at Wadham Colledge in Oxford, in the Lodgings of Dr. Wilkins, late Lord Bishop of Chester, where did then usually meet, Dr. Seth Ward, now Lord Bishop of Salisbury, the Honourable Robert Boyle, Sir William Petty, Mr. Matthew Wren, Dr. Wallis, Dr. Goddard, Dr. Willis, Dr. Barburst, now Dean of Wells, Dr. Christopher Wren, now His Majesties Surveyor; Mr. Rook, and some others others; all persons of incomparable worth. Afterwards, about the year 1658, many of them living in London, had a meeting at Gresham-Colledge, and this Meeting was augmented, by the accession of the Lord Vicount Brounker, Lord Brereton, Sir Paul Neil, John Evelyn, Esq; Mr. Thomas Henshaw, Mr. Henry Slingsby, Dr. Timothy Clerk, Sir George Ent, Mr. Will. Ball, Mr. Abraham Hill, Dr. Croon, and divers other eminent persons, till that wonderful pacifick year 1660; then the design being favoured by some ingenious worthy Persons, who, to their immortal Honour, had followed the King in his Exile; at length, His Majesty taking notice thereof, was Graciously pleased so far to favour and encourage it, as to grant a large Charter, bearing date the 22 of April, 1663, whereby they were made a Corporation, to consist of a President, of a Councell, and of Fellows, for promoting the knowledge of Natural Things, and useful Arts, by Experiments, wherein His Majesty declares himself to be Founder and Patron, granting them power to purchase Lands and Houses, to have a Common Seal, a Coat of Arms, two Secretaries, two or more Curators of Experiments, one or more Clerks, and two Sergeants at Law: to make Laws, Statutes, Orders, and Constitutions among themselves, to have one or more Printers and Gravers, with a power to Print what they shall see good, to take and Anatomize dead bodies of Persons, who have been put to death, by order of Law, to erect Colledges, &c.

The Office of the President, is to call, and dissolve the Meetings, to propose the Matter whereon to consider, to put Questions; to call for Experiments, to admit the Members, that that, from time to time shall be elected, &c.

The Treasurer receives and disburses all Moneys.

The Secretary reads all Letters and Informations, replies to all Addresses and Letters from Forreign parts, or from others, takes notice of the Orders and Material passages, at the Meetings, Registers all Experiments, all certain Informations, all Conclusions, &c. Publishes whatsoever is ordered, and allowed by the Society.

The Curators, or Experimentors, are to receive the directions of the Society, and at another Meeting, bring all to the Test, and the Society judges thereof, whereby the World may have the Concurring Testimony of many Persons of undoubted credit, for the Truth of whatever they shall publish.

Their manner of Electing Fellows, is according to the Venetian way, by Balloting. At one Assembly, the Candidate is proposed by some that know him well; the next he may be put to the Scrutiny, for which the Candidate must have the major number of 21 Suffrages at the least, and then at that, or the next Assembly, he may be introduced, and solemnly admitted by the President. At his admission, he subscribes this promise following, viz. That he will endeavour to promote the good of the Royal Society of London, for the Improvement of Natural Knowledge. After this, he may at any time, free himself from this Obligation, onely by signifying under his hand to the President, that he desires to withdraw from the Society.

When any one is admitted, he pays to the Treasurer onely, 40 s. and then 13 s. a quarter, so long as he continues a Member of the Society.
Their

Their Meeting was before the dreadful Fire at Gresham Colledge in London, every Wednesday at three of the clock in the afternoon; and since, by the favour of the present Lord Henry Howard, Earl Marshal of England, at Arundel-House, the same day and hour.

The design of the Royal Society is in brief, to make faithful Records of all the Works of Nature, or of Art, which can come within their reach, so that the present Age and Posterity, may be able to put a mark on the Errors, which have been strengthened by long Prescription; to restore the Truths that have been neglected, to push on those which are already known to more various uses; to make the way more passable to what remains unrevealed, &c.

The business of their weekly Meetings, is to order, to take account, consider, and discourse of Philosophical Experiments and Observations; to read, hear, and discourse upon Letters from all Parts, Reports, and other Papers, containing Philosophical Matters; to view and discourse upon the Productions and Rarities of Nature and Art; to consider what to deduce from them, how they may be improved for the benefit of Mankind, which is their main aim.

In their discoursing, they lay aside all sett Speeches, and eloquent Harangues, (as fit to be banisht out of all Civil Assemblies, as a thing found by woful experience, especially in England; fatal to Peace and good Manners) and every one endeavours to express his opinion, or desire, in the plainest, and most concise manner.

But the greatest Question amongst some Men at present is, What hath this Royal Society

ety done all this while? which for the satisfaction of those Men, shall here receive such an Answer, as the intended brevity of this Book will allow.

The Royal Society then, since their first Institution, hath made a vast number of Experiments, in almost all the Works of Nature; they have made particular enquiries into very many things of the Heavens, as well as of the Earth, Eclipses, Comets, Meteors, Mines, Plants, Animals, Earthquakes, Fiery Eruptions, Innundations: Of Lakes, Mountains, Damps, Subterraneous Fires: Of Tides, Currents, and Depths of the Sea, and many hundred other things. They have composed many excellent short Histories of Nature, of Arts, of Manufactures, and of Works, whereof some are extreme curious. In a word, the Discoveries and Inventions, made by but three Persons of this Society, viz. the Honourable Rob. Boyle, Dr. Christopher Wren, and Mr. Rob. Hook, if well considered, seem to surpass the Works of many foregoing Ages.

But, what advantage and benefit appears after so many Meetings? It is true, they have made many Experiments of Light (as the Excellent Lord Bacon calls them) and perhaps, not so many Experiments of Fruit or Profit, yet without doubt, some may hereafter, find out no small use and benefit, even in those experiments of Light, which now seem onely curious and delightful: but it is also as true, that the Royal Society hath made a great number of Experiments and Inventions, very profitable and advantageous to Mankind. They have mightily improved the Naval, Civil, and Military Architecture. They have advanced the Art, Conduct, and Security of Navigati-

ea. They have not only put this Kingdom upon Planting Woods, Groves, Orchards, Vineyards, Ever-Greens, but also Ireland, Scotland, New-England, Virginia, Jamaica, Barbados; all our Plantations begin to feel the Influences of this Society: They have awakened the whole Civilized, Lettered, and Intelligent World, so that in all Countreys they begin to be much more intent upon experimental Knowledge, and Practical Studies, upon new Inventions and Discoveries, which the Authors of them always recommend to this Society, to be examined, approved, or corrected; so that if any of the present English Nation be so blind, as not to see the usefulness of this Society, Posterity and Foreigners, will, to their shame, acknowledge it with gratitude.

To conclude, They have Registered Experiments, Histories, Relations, Observations, &c. reducing them into one common Stock, and laying them up in publick Registers, to be nakedly transmitted to the next Generation of Men, and so to all Posterity, they have laid a solid Ground-work for a vast pile of Experiments, to be continually augmenting thorow all future Ages. A thing, if begun, in time of the Learned Greeks or Romans, nay, if it had been begun but in the very last Resurrection of Learning, in this last Age, what wonders it would, in all probability, by this time have produced? what depth of Nature would now have been unfathomed? what faculty of the Soul would be now in the dark? What part of Humane Infirmities would not have been provided against?

Moreover, The Royal Society, for the advancement of this Noble Design, hath begun

a Library, to consist onely of such Authors, as may be serviceable to that Designe; toward which, the present Earl Marshal of England, hath been pleased to bestow on the Society, the whole Arundelian Library, with a free permission of changing such Books, as are not proper for their Work, whereby in a short time, they will be able to shew a complete Collection, of all that hath been publisht in Antient and Modern Languages, which either regard the Production of Nature, or the Effects of all Manual Arts.

At Gresham Colledge (in the custody of that most ingenious Discoverer, and Indefatigable Experimenter, Mr. Robert Hook) is their Repository, the free and bountifull Gift of Daniel Colwal, Esq; the present Treasurer of the said Society, wherein are to be seen many thousands of great Rarities, fetched (some of them) from the farthest corners of the Habitable World, as Beasts, Birds, Fishes, Serpents, Flies, Shells, Feathers, Seeds, Minerals, Earths, some things Petrified, others Ossified, Mummies, Gums, &c, Divers of which have been since added by other worthy Members of that Society, and by other ingenious Persons; and in a short time, is like to be (if not already) one of the largest and most curious Collections of the Works of Nature in the World.

The Coat of Arms granted by His Majesty to the Royal Society, is a Scutcheon with three Lyons of England, in chief, intimating, That the Society is Royal; the Crest is an Eagle, and the Supporters Hunting Hounds, Emblems of the quickest Sight, and Smelling, to intimate the Sagacity, employed in penetrating and searching after the Works of Nature.

Angliæ Notitia,

The Second Part.

Of the Government of England, in particular; and First, of the Kings most Honourable Privy-Council.

THE Government of England in particular, is either Ecclesiastical, Civil, or Military, wherein the King is Supreme Governor in all Causes, and over all Persons; from him is derived all Authority and Jurisdiction. He is quasi Intellectus Agens, Forma formarum, vel potius Mundi Anglici Deus. And the Primum Mobile thereof, from whence, all the Inferiour Orbs, derive their Notion, is that Noble, Honourable, and Reverend Assembly, called Concilium secretum, privatum vel Continuum Regis Concilium, which is a Court of such Antiquity and Honour, that it may be said to be higher than the highest Court of England (as the Parliament is usually called) for our Parliaments are not only much younger, but also may truly be said to be the Productions of the Kings Privy-Council, as appears by the words of the Writ, for summoning of a Parliament. This is the highest Watch-Tower of the Nation, wherein the King, with all his good Sentinels, and Watchmen about him, takes a careful survey of all his Dominions, and sometimes of all the Dominions of the World, as any of them have any Relation to his: where he consults and contrives, how to protect his numberless Subjects, not onely from Injuries amongst themselves, but from the wrongs and violences of all other Nations; where he doth consult and watch for the publick Good, Honour, Defence, Profit, and Peace of all his People.

Before the later end of Henry the Third, Quod provisum fuit per Regem & Consilium suum Privatum sigilloque Regis confirmatum, proculdubio legis vigorem habuit, saith Spelman.

The Primitive and ordinary way of Government in England, was by the King and his Privy-Council, and all our Kings have acted much by it, determining Controversies of great importance, sometimes touching Lands and Rights between party and party, whereof there are very many Precedents, and the Judges of England, in some difficult cases, were not wont to give Judgement, until they had first consulted the King or his Privy Council. Moreover, the Lords and Commons assembled in Parliament, have oft-times transmitted Matters of high moment to the King and his Privy Council, as by long experience and wisdom, better able to judge of, and by secrecy and expedition, better able to transact some State-affairs, than all the Lords and Commons together.

At present, the King, and his Privy-Council take Cognisance of few Matters, that may well be determined by the known Laws, and ordinary Courts of Justice, but onely, as aforesaid, consult for the publick Good, Honour, Defence, Safety, and Benefit of the Realm, not meddling with Matters that concern Freeholds, but matters of Appeal, and suddain Emergencies.

The Lords of the Privy-Council, are, as it were, apart of the King, incorporate with him and his cares, bearing upon their Shoulders that great weight, that otherwise would lye wholly upon his Majesty, wherefore of such high value and esteem, they have always been, that if a Man did but strike in the House of a Privy-Counsellor, or elsewhere in his Presence, he was grievously Fined for the same, and to conspire the death of any of them, was made Felony, in any of the Kings Servants, within the Cheque-Roll, and to kill one of them, was High-Treason.

A Privy Counsellor, though but a Gentleman, shall have Precedence of all Knights, Barons, and younger Sons of all Barons and Viscounts.

The substance of their Oath is, That they shall, according to their power and discretion, Truly, Justly, and Evenly, Counsel and Advise the King, in all matters to be Treated in His Majesties Council; that they shall keep secret the Kings Council, &c.

By force of this Oath, and the custom of the Kingdom of England, a Privy-Counsellor is made without any Patent or Grant, and to continue onely during the Life of the King, that makes him, nor so long, unless the King pleaseth.

Heretofore, there hath been usually a Lord President of the Kings Privy Council; a Dignity of so high a repute, that, by a Statute of Henry the Eighth, he is to take place in publick, next to the Lord High Treasurer of England: his Office was to speak first to business, to report to his Majesty, the Passages and state of businesses, transacted at Council-Table. The last Lord President, was the Earl of Manchester, Father of the late Lord Chamberlain.

To his Privy-Counsellors, the King of England, may declare or conceal from them, whatsoever he alone judgeth fit and expedient, quæ in re (saith the excellent Sir Tbo. Smith) absolutissimum est hoc Regnum Angliæ præ Venetorum Ducatu aut Lacedemoniorum Principatu.

The King with the advice of his Privy Council doth publish Proclamations, binding to the Subject, provided, that they are not contrary to Statute, or Common-Law.

In cases where the publick Peace, Honour or profit of the Kingdom, may be endangered for want of speedy redress, there the King with his Privy Council, usually make use of an absolute power, if need be.

The

The Members of this most Honourable Council, are such, as his own free-Will, and meer Motion, shall please to choose, and are commonly Men of the highest rank, eminent for Estates, Wisdom, Courage, Integrity, &c. And because there are few cases of moment so temporal, but that they may some way relate to Spiritual affairs, therefore, according to the general Rules of Policy and Government, which God himself ordained amongst his chosen people the Jews, the Privy Council, (as well as the great Council of Parliament) is composed of Spiritual, as well as Temporal persons, some of the principal Bishops of England, have in all times been chosen by His Majesty, to be of his Privy Council.

The

The Lords of His Majesties most Honourable Privy Council, are these that follow.

His Royal Highness the Duke of York,
His Highness Prince Rupert.
Gilbert, Lord Archbishop of Canterbury.
Heneage, Lord Finch, Lord Chancellor of England.

Henry Coventry, Esq; one of the Principal Secretaries of State.

Sir Joseph Williamson, Kt. the other Principal Secretary of State.

Ralph Montague, Esq; Master of the Great Wardrobe.

Sir John Duncomb, Kt. ~~Chancellor of the Exchequer.~~

Sir William Morice, Kt.

Sir Thomas Chichesty, Kt. Master-General of the Ordnance.

Edward Seymour, Esq; Speaker of the House of Commons.

These are all to wait on His Majesty, and, at Council-Board, sit in their Order, bare-headed, when His Majesty presides.

At all Debates, the lowest delivers his opinion first, that so he may be the more free, and the King last of all declares his Judgement, and thereby determines the Matter in debate.

The time and place of holding this Council, is wholly at the Kings pleasure, but it is most commonly held in the morning, on Wednesday and Friday, out of Parliament time, or Term time, and in the Afternoon, in times of Parliament or Term.

A Council is seldom or never held without the Presence of one of the Secretaries of State; of whose Office and Dignity, much more considerable in England, than in other Nations, take here this brief Account.

The Kings of England had antiently but one Secretary of State, until about the end of Henry the Eighth, his Reign, it was thought fit, that weighty and important Office should be discharged by two Persons, both of equal Authority, and both stiled Principal Secretaries of State. In those days, and some while after, they sat not at Council-board, but having prepared their business in a room, adjoining to the Council-Chamber, they came in, and stood on either hand of the King; and nothing was debated at the Table, until the Secretaries had gone through with their Proposals. But Queen Elizabeth seldom coming to Council, that Method was altered, and the two Secretaries took their places as Privy Counsellors, which Dignity they have retained, and enjoyed, ever since: and a Council is seldom or never held, without the presence of one of them at the least.

Their

Their employment being of extraordinary Trust and Multiplicity, renders them most considerable, both in the eyes of the King, upon whom they attend every day, as occasion requires; and of the Subjects also, whose Requests and Desires, are for the most part lodged in their hands, to be presented to the King, and always to make dispatches thereupon, according to His Majesties Answers and Directions.

As for Forreign Affairs, the Secretaries divide all the Kingdoms and Nations, which have intercourse of business with the King of England, into two grand Provinces: whereof each Secretary, taketh one to himself, receiving all Letters and Addresses from, and making all dispatches to the several Princes and States comprehended within his own Province.

But in all matters of home-concern, whether they relate to the publick, or to particular persons, both the Secretaries do equally and indistinctly receive and dispatch whatsoever is brought to them, be it for the Church, the Militia, or private Grants, Pardons, Dispensations, &c.

They have this special Honour, that if either of them be a Baron, he taketh place, and hath the Precedence of all other persons of the same degree, though otherwise by their Creation, some of them might have right to precede him; and a Knight in like manner, if he hath no other qualification.

They have their several Lodgings appointed them in all the Kings Houses, as well for their own Accommodation, as for their Office, and those that attend upon it. They have also a very liberal Diet at the Kings charge, or Board-wages in lieu of it.

To

To shew how considerable their place is, their settled allowance from the King in Salary and Pension, is little less than Two thousand pounds Sterling per annuo, to each of them.

The Secretaries and Clerks, whom they employ under them, are wholly at their own choice, and have no dependance upon any other power or person, besides themselves.

They have the custody of that Seal of the King, which is properly called the Signet; the use and application whereof, gives denomination to an Office, constantly attending the Court, called the Signet-Office, wherein there are four Clerks, who wait alternately by Months, and prepare such things as are to pass the Signet, in order to the Privy Seal, or Great Seal.

The present Secretaries of State, are,

Henry Coventry, Esq; who, for his great Abilities, and successful Negotiations, had that Trust and Honour conferred upon him, immediately after the decease of Sir John Trevor.

Sir Joseph Williamson, whom for his eminent Services at home and abroad, both in War and Peace, His Majesty was pleased to advance into the place of the Earl of Arlington, Waiting on the Privy Council, there are four Clerks in Ordinary, who wait by Months: each one, he that comes in, is always a week before and a week after his Month, to assist there.

Their Office is to read what is brought before the Council, and draw up all such Orders, as the King and Lords shall direct, and cause them to be Registered.

They

Sir Edward Walker, Sir John Nicholas, Sir Robert Southwel, Sir Philip Lloyd, Kt. Salaries to each 250*l.* besides Fees for Orders and Letters, &c.

Besides the forenamed Officers, there is a Keeper of the Records, Anthony Rider, Esq; no Fee.

Two Keepers of the Council-Chamber, Fee to each, 45 l.

These, upon occasion, are sent by Warrant of the Lords of the Privy Council, to fetch any Person, under the degree of a Baron, and to keep him prisoner in his House till farther Order.

Attending on the Secretaries, are the Clerks of the Signet, or Little Seal, which is always in the custody of the Secretaries, for sealing the Kings Private Letters, and for all such Grants as pass His Majesties Hands by Bill assigned.

Of these Clerks there are four, Sir John Nicholas, Knight of the Bath, Sir Philip Warwick, Kt. Trumbull, Esq; and Sidney Bear, Esq;. These have no Fee from the King, but onely Diet, which at Pension is 200 l. yearly; their Office is in Whitehall, they wait by month, each of them, three months in a year. One of them always attends the Court, wherefoever it removes, and by Warrant from the King, or Secretaries of State, or Lords of the Council, prepare such Bills or Letters for the King to sign, as not being matters of Law, are by any Warrants directed to them to prepare. In their Office, all Grants, either prepared by the Kings Learned Council at Law, or by themselves, for the Kings Hand, when Signed, are returned, and there transcribed again, and that transcription is carried to one of the Principal Secretaries of State, and Sealed, and then it is called a Signet, which is directed to the Lord Privy Seal, and is his Warrant for issuing out a Privy Seal upon it, which is prepared by the Clerks of that Seal, is sufficient for the payment of any Moneys out of the Exchequer, and for several other uses; but when the nature of the Grant requires the passing the Great Seal, then the Privy Seal is an authority to the Lord Chancellor, to pass the Great Seal, as the Signet was to the Lord Privy Seal, to affix that Seal to the Grant, but in all three Offices, viz. Signet, Privy-Seal, and Great Seal, the Grant is transcribed. So all which passes from the King, hath these several ways of being considered before perfected.

There are also four Clerks of the Privy-Seal, viz. Sir Charles Bickerstarffe, Kt. John Matthews, Esq; Tho-Watkins, Esq; John Richards, Esq;

More of their Office is to be seen in Stat. 27 of Henry 8. worthy to be noted.

To this Office, (in time when the Court of Request is in being) belongs the Sealing of all Commissions, and other Processes out of that Court.

Moreover, depending on the Secretaries of State, is an antient Office, called the Paper-Office, the Keeper whereof hath in his charge, all the Publick Papers, Writings, Matters of State, and Council; all Letters, Intelligences, Negotiations of the Kings publick Ministers abroad, and generally all the Papers and Dispatches that pass through the Offices of the two Secretaries of State, which are from time to

to time transmitted into this Office, and here remain, disposed by way of a Library, within His Majesties. Palace of Whitehall.} This considerable Officer hath a Fee of 160 l. per annum, payable out of the Exchequer, and is at present, that very worthy person, Sir Joseph Williamson, Kt. since, one of the Principal Secretaries of State.

After the Kings most Honourable Privy Council, that Primum Mobile, or rather that Resort or Spring, may be considered the Great Wheels, first moved by that Spring, which are the Convocation for the Ecclesiastical Government and the Parliament for the Civil.

But for the better understanding of the Ecclesiastical Government, it will be expedient to premise somewhat of the Ecclesiastical persons in England.

CHAP.

IN the Government of the Church of England, among the Ecclesiastical persons governing in the English Church, is, First the King of England, who is, as the Lawyers say, Persona sacra & mixta cum Sacerdote. The King is the supreme Bishop of England: And at his Coronation, by a solemn Consecration, and Unction he becomes a Spiritual Person, Sacred and Ecclesiastical, for, as he hath put upon him Corona Regni, as an Emblem of his Kingship and Power in Temporals; so hath he Stola Sacerdotis, commonly called Vestis Dalmatica, as a Levitical Ephod, to signify his Priesthood and Power in Spirituals. He is Supreme Governor in all Causes and over all persons Ecclesiastical as well as Civil, is Patron Paramount of all Ecclesiastical Benefices in England, to whom the last Appeals in Ecclesiastical Affairs are made, who alone hath Power to nominate Persons for all Bishopricks; and chief Dignities, as Deaneries, and some Prebends in the Church, &c. as more at large may be seen in the first Part of the Present State of England.

Next to the King in the Church-Government are the Bishops, whereof two are called Primates, Metropolitans, or Archbishops, that is, Chief Bishops, the one of Canterbury, the other of York, each of which have, besides their peculiar Diocesses, a Province consisting of several Diocesses, and therein by Common Law, a Prerogative of proving Wills, and granting Administrations, where the person dying had bona notabilia, that is, above 5*l.* in divers Diocesses or Jurisdictions. Also by Grants of several Kings, they have each one certain Priviledges, Liberties, and Immunities in their own Estates.

Under,

Under these two Archbishops are 26 Bishopricks, whereof 23 are reckoned in the Province of Carterbury, and four in the Province of York. So that there are besides the two Archbishops, Twenty four Bishops, all which have the Title of Lords by reason of their Baronies annexed to their Bishopricks, and have precedence of all other Barons both in Parliament and other Assemblies: amongst these presides always the Bishop of London, who by ancient right is accounted Dean of the Episcopal Colledge of that Province, and by virtue thereof, is to signify the pleasure of his Metropolitan, to all the Bishops of the Province, to execute his Mandate, to disperse his Missives on all emergency of affairs, to preside in Convocations of Provincial Synods during the necessary absence of the Metropolitan. Next to London, in Parliament, precedes Durham, and then Winchester: all the rest of the Bishops take place according to the Seniority of their Consecrations.

The Function of an English Bishop consists in what he may act, either by his Episcopal Order, or by his Episcopal Jurisdiction.

By this Episcopal Order he may Ordain Deacons and Priests, he may Dedicate Churches and Burying Places, may administer the Rite and Ceremony of Confirmation, without whom none of these things may be done.

The Jurisdiction of a Bishop is either Ordinary or Delegated; the Ordinary, is what by the Law of the Land belongs to each Bishop, in his own Diocess; the Delegated, is what the King is pleased to confer upon him, not as a Bishop, but as he is a Subject; and a considerable Member of the Kingdom: For all Clergymen gimen are in England (as antiently among Gods own the People the Jews, and amongst the Primitive Christians, so soon as they were under Christian Emperors) judged fit to enjoy divers Temporal honours and employments: as,

First, To be in the Commission of the Peace, for who so proper to make and keep Peace as they, whose constant duty it is to Preach Peace? who so fit as they, whose main business and study is to reconcile those that are at variance? and therefore since His Majesties happy Restauration, as well as before, divers grave discreet Divines have been made Justices of Peace, and thereby not onely the poor Clergy-men have been protected from the oppression of their causeless Enemies, but many differences have been composed without any Law-suit; in a more Christian and less expensive way.

Secondly, To be of His Majesties Privy-Council, where frequently Cases of Conscience may arise, relating to State Matters, that will admit neither of delay nor publication: and therefore after the pattern of that excellent Christian Emperor Constantine the Great, our good Kings both before and since the Reformation, have always admitted some Spiritual persons to their Council-Tables, and Closet-Debates.

Thirdly, To be employed in publick Treaties and Negotiations of Peace, and this both the Ancient and Modern Practice will justify, that none have been more frequently and successfully used in such Messages, than the Ambassadors of Christ.

Fourthly, To enjoy some of the Great Offices of the Crown, as be to Lord Chancellor; Lord Treasurer, &c. And it hath been observed, ved, that in the late Kings Reign, when the Bishop of London was Lord Treasurer, that Office was executed with as much diligence, faithfulness, dexterity, and content to the Subject, as well as to the King, as ever it had been by any of his Lay-Predecessors.

In the ordinary Jurisdiction of a Bishop, as a Bishop may be considered, either the Jurisdiction it self, or what is instated in him by the Law of the Land, for the better execution of that Jurisdiction.

The Jurisdiction it self is established partly by Statute Law, as to Licence Physitians, Surgeons, and School-Masters, to unite and consolidate small Parishes, to assist the Civil Magistrates in execution of some Statutes concerning Ecclesiastical Affairs, to compel the payment of Tents and Subsidies due from the Clergy to the King.

Partly by Common Law, as upon the Kings Writ to certifie the Judges touching legitimate and illegitimate Births and Marriages; to require upon the Kings Writ, the burning of an obstinate Heretick; also to require the Kings Writ for imprisoning the Body of one that obstinately stands excommuicated Forty dayes.

And partly by Common and Ecclesiastical Law together, as to cause Wills of the Deceased to be proved, to grant Administration of Goods of such as die intestate, to give order for the gathering and preserving of perishable Goods, where none is willing to administer, to cause account to be given of Administrations, to collate Benefices, to grant Institutions to Benefices upon Presentations of other Patrons, to command induction to be given, to order the collecting and preserving of

of the Profits of Vacant Benefices, for the use of the Successors, to defend the Franchises and Liberties of the Church, to visit their particular Diocesses once in three years; and therein to inquire of the Manners, Carriages, Delinquencies, &c. of Ministers, of Church-wardens, of the rest of the Parishioners, and amongst them, especially of those that profess themselves Physicians, Surgeons, School-Masters, Midwives; of Wardens of Hospitals, how they perform their several Duties and Trusts; also of all other professing Christianity, and offending either against Piety, as by Blasphemy, Idolatry, Superstition, Perjury, Heresie, Errors against the 39 Articles, Schism, Conventicles, absence from Divine Service, unlawful abstinence from the Sacraments; or else offending against Justice, as the delaying the Legacies given to the poor or pious uses, Dilapidations of Buildings, or Goods belonging to the Church; taking the Usury beyond the rate allowed by Statute, Simony, Perjury, &c. or by offending against Sobriety, as Drunkenness, Incest, Adultery, Fornication, filthy Speech, tempting of any ones Chastity, clandestine Marriages, as for want of thrice publishing the Banes, the want of Parents consent, the want of Witnesse, which must be above two, or marrying in a private place, in an undue time, before eight in the morning, and after twelve of the clock in the day, &c.

Now for the better executing of this Jurisdiction, the Law of England hath furnished the Bishops with a power of Ecclesiastical Censures, whereof some may be inflicted both upon Lay-men and Church-men, as Suspension from entering into the Church, or else from receiving the Sacrament, or greater Excommunicati-ons, &c. Others may be inflicted only upon Ecclesiastical persons, as Sequestration of their Ecclesiastical Profits, Suspensions, sometimes ab Officio, sometimes a Beneficio, Deprivation, and Deposition, which is sometimes verbal, by sentence pronounced against them; and sometimes real by Degradation. Here note, That of all these Censures, Excommunication is never to be inflicted but only for Contumacy, as when a person being duly summoned, will not appear, or appearing, will not obey the Orders of the Bishop.

The Solemn manner of making a Bishop in England, is as followeth,

When any Bishops See becomes vacant, the Dean and Chapter of that Cathedral giving notice thereof to the King, who is Patron of all the Bishopricks in England, and humbly Requesting, that His Majesty will give leave for them to choose another; the King hereupon grants to the Dean His Conge d'Esire, which in French (wherein it was antiently penned) signifies leave to elect; then the Dean summons a Chapter or Assembly of the Prebendaries, who either elect the person recommended by His Majesties Letters, or shew cause to the contrary. Next, the Election is certified to the party Elected, who doth modestly refuse it the first and second time, and if he refuse it a third time, then that being certified to His Majesty, another is recommended; when the Election is accepted by the party, it is certified to the King, and the Archbishop of that Province, whereupon the King gives His Royal Assent under the Great Seal of England; which which is exhibited to the Archbishop of that Province, with command to confirm and consecrate him ; hereunto the Archbishop subscribes Fiat Confirmatio, and gives Commission under his Archiepiscopal Seal to his Vicar-General, to perform all the Acts required for perfecting his Confirmation.

The Vicar-General then in the name of the Archbishop sends forth a Citation, summoning all Opposers of the said Election or Person Elected, to appear at a certain time and place especially assigned to make their Objections. This done by an Officer of the Arches, usually at Bow-Church in Cheap-side, London, by Proclamation three times, and then affixing the said Citation on the Church door, for all people to read, the said Officer returns an Authentick Certificate thereof to the Archbishop and Vicar-General. At the day and place assigned for the appearance of the opposers the Vicar-General sits, then the Proctor for the said Dean and Chapter, exhibits the Royal Assent; and the Commission of the Archbishop; which read and accepted by the Vicar-General, the Proctor exhibits the Proxy from the Dean and Chapter, and then presents the Elected Bishop, and returns the Citation, and desires the Opposers to be publicly called three times, which being done accordingly, he accuseth their contumacy, and for penalty thereof, desires that the business may proceed, which the Vicar-General in a Schedule by him read and subscribed doth order. Next the Proctor giving a summary Petition, wherein is deduced the whole Process of Election and Consent, desires a time to be assigned to prove it, which the Vicar-General admits and decrees. After which, the Proctor exhibits the Royal Assent, with the the Elected Bishops Assent, and the Certificate to the Archbishop, and desires a term presently to be assigned to hear final Sentence, which the Vicar-General decrees. Then the Proctor desires that all Opposers should again be called, which being thrice publicly done, and none appearing, nor opposing, they are pronounced contumacious, and a Decree made to proceed to Sentence, by a Schedule read and subscribed by the said Vicar-General. Then the Elect person takes the Oath of Supremacy, Simony, and Canonical Obedience.

Next the judge of the Arches reads and subscribes the Sentence, after which, usually there is an entertainment made for the Officers and others there present, which being once done at the Sign of the Nags-head in Cheap-side, near the said Bow-Church, gave occasion to our Adversaries of the Romish Church, to affirm that Fable, that there our first Bishops after the Reformation were Consecrated.

When a Bishop is Elected, and the Election confirmed, he may give Institution, and do his ordinary Jurisdiction; and may sit in Parliament as Lord thereof, according to Sir Edward Cook 4 Instit. p. 47.

After the Confirmation, then according to the Kings Mandate, is the solemn Consecration of the Elected Bishop, which is done by the Archbishop, with the assistance of two other Bishops, in manner following.

Upon some Sunday or Holiday after Morning Service, the Archbishop beginneth the Communion Service; after a certain Prayer appointed for this occasion, one of the Bishops there present readeth the Epistle, 1 Tim. 3. another readeth the Gospel, John 21. Then after the Nicene Creed and some Sermon, the Elected Bishop vested with his Rochet or Linnen nen Garment, is by two Bishops presented to the Archbishop, or some other Bishop commissioned by him, sitting in his Chair, who demands the Kings Mandate for the Consecration, and causes it to be read; then the Elect Bishop takes the Oath of Supremacy and of Canonical Obedience to the Archbishop; and after divers Prayers and several Interrogatories put to the Bishop, and his Answers, the rest of the Episcopal Habit is put upon him, and after more Prayers, the Elect Bishop kneeleth down, and the Archbishop and Bishops there present, lay their hands on his head, and by a certain Pious grave form of words, they Consecrate him. Afterwards the Archbishop doth deliver to the Bishop Elect a Bible, with another set form of words, and so all proceed to the Communion Service, and having received the Sacrament, and the Blessing, they repair from Church to Dinner, which is at the charge of the Bishop Elect, and is usually very splendid and magnificent, the greatest of the Nobility, Clergy, Judges, Privy Counsellors, &c. honouring it with their presence; the expences hereof with Fees of Consecration amounting to Six or commonly Seven hundred pounds.

This Form and Manner of Consecrating Bishops, is according to the Rule laid down in the fourth Council of Carthage, about the year 470, generally received in all the Provinces of the Western Church.

Note, That by our Order of Consecrating Bishops, it is evident, Bishops are lookt upon as a distinct Order of themselves, and not onely as a different degree from the rest of the Presbyters, as some would have it.

Next goes forth a Mandate from the Archbishop bishop to the Archdeacon of his Province, to install the Bishop Elected, confirmed and consecrated; which Instalment is almost on the same manner in all Cathedrals, and is usually thus,

Upon any day between the hours of 9 and 11, in the presence of a publick Notary, the Bishop Elect or his Proxy which is usual, is introduced into the Cathedral Church by the Archdeacon of Canterbury, by whom all the Bishops of that Province are installed, (or else by his Proxy sometimes) and first he declares his assent to the Kings Supremacy, and swears, that unless he be otherwise dispensed with, he will be Resident according to the Custom of that Cathedral, and observe the Customs of the said Church, and cause others to observe the same, Then the Archdeacon, with the Petty Canons and Officers of the Church, accompany the Bishops up to the Quire, and there place him in the Seat prepared for the Bishops, between the Altar, and the right side of the Quire, and then the Archdeacon pronounces these words in Latin, Ego autoritate mihi commissa induco & intronizo Reverendum, in Christo Patrem Dominum N. N. Episcopum, & Dominus Custodiat suum introitum & exitum ex hoc nunc & in Seculum, &c. Then the Subdean and the Petty Canons sing the Te Deum; meanwhile the Bishop is again conducted from his own place to the Deans Seat, and there intoken of taking real possession, he stands till Te Deum is ended, together with other Prayers, the Archdeacon reading some Versicles, as, O Lord save this thy Servant N. our Bishop, (the People answering) And send him health from thy holy place, &c. Then the Archdeacon reads a short Collect for the Bishop by Name; After ter Prayers, the Bishop is conducted into the Chapter-house, and there placed on a high Seat; the then Archdeacon and all the Prebends and Officers of the Church come before the Bishop, and acknowledge Canonical Obedience to him: Finally, the publick Notary is by the Archdeacon required to make an Instrument declaring the whole matter of fact in this affair.

Then the said Bishop is introduced into the Kings presence, to do his homage for his Temporalities or Barony, by kneeling down, and putting his hands between the hands of the King, sitting in Chair of State, and by taking of a Solemn Oath to be true and faithful to His Majesty, and that he holds his Temporalities of Him.

Lastly, the new Bishop compounds for the First-fruits of his Bishoprick, that is, agrees for his first years profits to be paid to the King, within two years, or more, if the King please.

The Translation of a Bishop from one Bishoprick to another, differs onely in this, from the manner of making a Bishop, that there is no Consecration.

The Translation of a Bishop to be Archbishop, differs onely in the Commission, which is directed by His Majesty to four or more Bishops to confirm him. Note, that the difference between an Archbishop and a Bishop, is, that the Archbishop with other Bishops doth Consecrate a Bishop, as a Bishop with other Priests doth Ordain a Priest: The Archbishop visits the whole Province, the Bishop onely his Diocess; the Archbishop can Convoke a Provincial Synod, the Bishop onely a Diocesan Synod; the Archbishop is Ordinary too; and hath Canonical Authority over all the Bishops of his Province; and as the Bishop hath over all the Priests of his Diocess.

Several Bishops of England having Diocesses of a large extent, it was provided by Stat. 26. Hen. 8. that they should have a Power to nominate some to the King to be, with his approbation, Suffragan or Subsidiary Bishops, whereof see more in the first Part of the Present State of England. Of these there are none at present in the Church of England, but the next to the Bishops are now the Deans of Cathedral Churches.

Antiently Bishops did not ordinarily transact Dean and Chapter. matters of Moment, sine consilio Presbyterorum principalium, who were then called Senatores Ecclesie, and Colleagues of the Bishops, represented in some sort by our Cathedrals; whereof the Dean and some of the Prebends are, upon the Bishops summons, to assist him in Ordinations, in Deprivations ab Officio & Beneficio, in condemnation of obstinate Hereticks, in the great Excommunications, and in such like weighty affairs of the Church. Upon the Kings Writ of Conge d'Eslire (as before-mentioned) the Dean and Prebendaries are to elect the Bishop of that Diocess. Cathedral and Collegiate Churches are as it were Seminaries or Seed-Plots, whereout, from time to time may be chosen fit persons to govern the Church, for having left the Countrey; and living here in a Society together, they learn experience, they read men, they, by little and little, put off the familiarity of the inferiour Countrey Clergy; and thereby render themselves more fit to be set over them in Government. The Dean and Prebendaries, during their required residence in their Cathedral or Collegiate Churches, are to keep Hospitality, upon all Festivals to read Divinity in their turns, which is now turned to Sermons, or set Speeches in the Pulpit, at due time to administer the Lords Supper; to frequent the publick Divine Service; to instruct the Countrey Clergy, and direct them how and what to Preach, whereby they may best profit their Auditors: In a word, as they excel others in Dignity, and are therefore styled Prelates, so by their more eminent Piety and Charity, they are to be examples and patterns to the inferiour Clergy.

In every Cathedral or Bishops See there is a Dean, and divers Prebendaries, or Canons, whose number is uncertain.

Deans of the old Foundations, founded before the suppression of Monasteries, are brought to their Dignities much like Bishops, the King first sending forth his Conge d'Esire to the Chapter, they electing, and the King granting his Royal Assent, the Bishop confirms him, and gives his Mandate to Install him.

Deans of the new Foundations (upon suppression of Abbeys or Priories, transformed by Hen. 8. into Dean and Chapter) are by a shorter course installed by vertue of the Kings Letters Patents, without either election or confirmation.

Among the Canons or Prebendaries in the old Foundations, some are Canonici actu, having Prebendam sedile in choro & jus suffragii in Capitulo; others are Canonici in Verbis (as they are called) having right to the next Prebend that shall become void, and having already a Stall in the Quire, but no vote in the Chapter.

A Prebend is properly the portion which every Prebendary of a Collegiate or Cathedral

Next in the Government of the English Church may be reckoned Archdeacons, whereof there are 60 in all England: Their Office is to visit two years in three, and to enquire of Reparations and Moveables belonging to Churches, to reform abuses in Ecclesiastical matters, and to bring the more weighty affairs before the Bishop of the Diocess; and therefore he is called, Alter Episcopi Oculus, (the other being the Dean, as is mentioned in the first Part of the Present State) Moreover, the Office of an Archdeacon is upon the Bishops Mandate to induct Clerks into their Benefices, and thereby to give them possession of all the Profits belonging thereto.

Many Archdeacons have by Prescription their Courts and Officials, as Bishops have; whereof more hereafter.

After Archdeacons are the Archipresbyteri, or Rural Deans, so called perhaps at first for his oversight of some Ten Parish Priests; their Office is now upon Orders to Convocate the Clergy, to signify to them, sometimes by Letters, the Bishops pleasure, and to give Induction for the Archdeacon living afar off.

Next are to be considered the Priests of every particular Parish, who are commonly called the Rectors, unless the Predial Tythes are Impropriated, and then they are stiled Vicars, quasi vices fungentes Rectorum. Their Office is to take care of all their Parishioners Souls, and like good Shepherds, to handle every particular Sheep apart; to Catechise the ignorant, reduce the straying, confirm the wavering, convince the obstinate, reprehend the wicked, wicked, confute Schismatics, reconcile differences among Neighbors, to exercise the power of binding and loosing of Souls as occasion shall offer, to read duly Divine Service, to administer the holy Sacraments, to visit the Sick, to Marry, to Bury, to render publick Thanks after Child-bearing, to keep a Register of all Marriages, Christnings and Burials that shall happen within the Parish, to read Divine Sermons or Homilies appointed by Authority (and if the Bishop think fit) to read or speak by heart their own Conceptions in the Pulpit.

Lastly, Deacons, whose Office is to take care of the Poor, Baptise, Read in the Church, assist the Priest at the Lords Supper, by giving the Cup onely.

After this brief account of Ecclesiastical Persons, somewhat may here, not unfitly, be added, touching those persons, who, though not in Holy Orders, yet have a peculiar Relation to the Church, and are quasi semi-Ecclesiastici, as, first, Patrons of Churches, who by first building of Churches, or first endowing them with Lands, have obtained for them and their Heirs a Right of Advowson or Patronage, whose Office and Duty is to impose a fit Clerk (when the Church is void) to the Bishop, to be by him Canonically instituted, and to protect the said Church, as far as he can, from all wrong; and in case his Clerk prove unfit for the place, to give notice thereof to the Bishop.

But the several inconveniences of this right of Presentation, hath been of late years so great, that it is to be wished that all the Advowsons in England, not now in the Crown, were by some publick Tax purchased and settled led for ever in the Crown, that so all Parsons and Vicars (as well as Bishops, Deans, and Prebendaries) may have their dependence upon the Kings bounty onely, (as all the Clergy in some Reformed Churches now have) and not upon any mean, covetous, illiterate, factious, heterodox, simoniacal, or sacrilegious Patron: by which one means, all the English Clergy must soon become Loyal, Orthodox, and Unanimous.

Next are the Oeconomi vel Ecclesie Guardiani, the Churchwardens, whose Office is to see that the Church be in good repair, fitly adorned, and nothing wanting for Divine Service, Sacrament, and Sermons; that the Churchyard be sufficiently mounded or inclosed; that there be an exact Terrier of the Glebe Lands, and if any thing belonging to the Church be detained, to sue for the same; to observe that all Parishioners come duly to Divine Service, to require the penalty for absence, to enquire after, to admonish, and to present to the Bishop scandalous livers, to collect the charity of Parishioners for the poor Strangers, to declare and to execute the Orders of the Bishop, to see that none presume to vent his own conceptions in the Pulpit, unless he hath a special Licence so to do. The Churchwardens are elected every Easter-week, usually by the Parson and Parishioners, if they so agree; if not, then one by the Parson and the other by the Parishioners.

There are also in greater Parishes joined with the Churchwardens, Testes Synodales, antiently called Synods-men, now corruptly called Sides-men, who are to assist the Churchwardens, in inquiries into the lives of inordinate Livers, and in presenting Men at Visitations.

Lastly, the Sacristan, corruptly the Sexton or Clark, who is ordinarily to be chosen by the Parson onely: he ought to be Twenty years old or above of good life, that can Read, Write, and Sing: his Office is to serve at Church the Priest and Churchwardens.

In the Church of England, there are, as in the antient Primitive times, three Orders, Bishops, Priests, and Deacons. None may be admitted Deacons before the age of 23 years, unless he hath a Dispensation to be admitted younger: None may be made a Priest till he be completely 24 years old: None may be admitted a Bishop till he be full 30 years old.

The Ordination of Priests and Deacons is four times the year, upon four several Sundays in the Ember or Fasting Weeks, first introduced by the holy Martyr Calixtus Bishop of Rome, about the year of our Lord 220, that so all the Nation may at once in their joint Prayers to God, recommend them that are to receive Ordination, which is performed, by a Bishop, in a solemn grave devout manner, thus for Deacons. After Morning Prayer there is a Sermon, declaring the Duty and Office of Deacons and Priests; then they being decently habited, are presented to the Bishop by the Archdeacon or his Deputy, whom the Bishop asks, if he hath made due inquiry of them, and then asks the people if they know any notable impediment or crime in any one of them: After follow certain godly Prayers, then a Collect, Epistle and Gospel: but before the Gospel the Oath of Supremacy is administered to every one of them, and the Bishop putteth divers godly questions to them, which being answered, they all kneel, and he laying his hands upon them severally, doth ordain them Deacons;

cons; then delivers to every one of them the New Testament, and gives them authority to read the same in the Church: Then one of them appointed by the Bishop reads the Gospel, and then all with the Bishop proceed to the Communion, and so are dismissed with the Blessing pronounced by the Bishop.

§ The Ordination of Priests is partly in the same manner, onely the Epistle and Gospel are different; and after the questions and answers made, the Bishop puts up a particular prayer for them, and that ended, he desires the Congregation to recommend them to God secretly in their prayers, for doing of which there is a competent time of general silence: Then follows Veni Creator Spiritus, in Meeter to be sung; then after another Prayer, they all kneeling, the Bishop, with one or two of the grave Priests there present, layeth his hands upon the head of every one of them severally, and gives them Ordination in a grave set form of words, different both from that of Bishops; and that of Deacons; the rest as in the Ordaining of Deacons.

Of the Ecclesiastical Government of England; and first, of the Convocation.

FOR the Church Legislative Power, or the making of Ecclesiastical Laws, and consulting for the more weighty affairs of the Church, the King, by the advice of his Privy Council, usually convokes a National Synod, commonly called the Convocation, which is summoned in manner following.

The King directeth His Writ to the Archbishop of each Province, for summoning all Bishops, Deans, Archdeacons, Cathedrals, and Collegiate Churches, according to their best discretion and judgement, assigning them the time and place in the said Writ; whereupon the Archbishop of Canterbury directeth his Letters to the Bishop of London, as his Dean Provincial, first citing himself peremptorily, and then willing him to cite in like manner all the Bishops, Deans, Archdeacons, Cathedral and Collegiate Churches, and all the Clergy of his Province to that place, and at the day prefixt in the Writ; but directeth withal, that one Proctor sent for each Cathedral and Collegiate Church, and two for the Body of the inferiour Clergy of each Diocess may suffice. The Bishop of London accordingly directeth his Letters to the Bishops of every Diocess of the Province, citing them in like manner to appear; and to admonish the Deans and Archdeacons to appear personally, and the Cathedrals, Collegiate Churches

Ches, and inferiour Clergy of the Diocess, to send their Proctors to the place; and at the day appointed to certifie also to the Archbishop, the names of all so summoned by them.

The place where the Convocation of the Clergy in the Province of Canterbury hath usually been held, was St. Pauls Church in London, but of later times in St. Peters in Westminster, in the Chappel of Henry the Seventh, where there is (as in Parliament) a Higher and a Lower House, or a House of Lords Spiritual, and a House of Commons Spiritual.

The Higher House of Convocation in the Province of Canterbury consists of 22 Bishops, whereof the Archbishop is President, sitting in a Chair at the upper end of a great Table, and the Bishops on each side of the same Table, all in their Scarlet Robes, and Hoods, the Archbishops Hood Furred with Ermin, the Bishops with Minever.

The Lower House consists of all the Deans, Archdeacons, one Proctor for every Chapter, and two Proctors for all the Clergy of each Diocess, in all, 166 persons, viz. 22 Deans, 24 Prebendaries, 54 Archdeacons, and 44 Clerks representing the Diocesan Clergy.

The first day, both Houses being assembled, the Higher chooseth a Bishop for their Prolocutor, and the Lower being required by the Higher, choose them a Prolocutor, or Speaker; which done, they present him to the Upper-House by two of the Members, whereof one makes a Speech in Latin; and then the Elect Person makes another Speech in Latin. Lastly, the Archbishop answers in Latin, and in the name of all the Lords approves of the Person.

Both Houses debate, and transact onely such matters as His Majesty, by Commission, expressly alloweth.

In the Upper-House things are first proposed, and then Communicated to the Lower-House.

The Major Vote in each House prevails.

Out of Parliament time they usually assemble every day about Nine of the clock, and first the Junior Bishop says Prayers in Latin, beginning with the Litany, and then for the King, &c. And in the Lower House the Prolocutor says Prayers.

In Convocation are debated onely matters concerning Religion and the Church, and sometime of giving His Majesty assistance in Money; for as the Laity cannot be taxed without their own consent, signified by their Representatives in Parliament, so the Clergy cannot be taxed without their own consent, signified by their Representatives in Convocation.

The Clergy in Convocation might antiently, without asking the Royal Assent, and now may with the the Royal Assent, make Canons touching matters of Religion, to bind not onely themselves, but all the Laity, without consent or ratification of the Lords and Commons in Parliament.

Till the late Rebellion, the Parliament did not at all meddle in the making Canons, or in matters Doctrinal, or in Translation of Scriptures, or Annotations thereon, onely by their Civil Sanctions (when they were thereto required) did confirm the results and consultations of the Clergy, that so the people might be the more easily induced to obey the Ordinances of their Spiritual Governors.

The Clergy of England hath antiently their Repr-

Representatiyes in the Lower-House of Parliament as appears by that antient Record so prized, by the late Lord Coke; and as the Upper-House had, and still hath Lords Spiritual as well as Temporal; so in the Lower-House there were always Commons Spiritual as well as Temporal; for that Record saith expressly, that the Commons in Parliament consist of 3 degrees or kinds; First, Ex Procuratoribus Cleri; Secondly, Militibus Comitatum; Thirdly, Ex Burgensibus: And the words of the Writ directed now to the Procuratores Cleri, seem to give them the very same right to sit in that House, as the Words of the Writ to the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeses do give to them.

All the Members of both Houses of Convocation have the same Priviledges for themselves and Menial Servants, as the Members of Parliament have, and that by Statute.

The Archbishop of York at the same time holds at York a Convocation of all his Province in like manner, and by constant correspondence doth debate and conclude of the same matters as are debated and concluded by the Provincial Synod of Canterbury.

Now for the Executive Power in Church-matters throughout the Kingdom of England, there have been provided divers excellent Courts, whereof the highest for Criminal Causes was the High Commission Court; for Jurisdiction whereof, it was enacted, Primo Elizabethæ, that Her Majesty and Successors should have Power, by Letters Patents under the Great Seal, to nominate Commissioners to exercise Jurisdiction throughout the whole Realm; to visit, reform, and correct all Errors, Heresies, Schisms, Abuses, and Delinquen-

ces, that may, by any Ecclesiastical Power, be corrected or reformed.

This Court consisted of the Highest Persons of England in the Church and State, and was the Principal Bulwark and Preservative of the Church of England against the practices and assaults of all her Adversaries, whether Romanists, Puritan, or Atheist; yet, for some pretended abuses, the use thereof was taken away in the late seditious long Parliament; whereupon followed a deluge of Errors in Religion, Apostacy, Atheism, Blasphemy, Sacrilege, Incest, Adultery, impious Libels, Schisms, Conventicles, &c. all which so overwhelmed the manners of Englishmen, and occasioned at length so many professed Atheists, that until the re-establishment of this or the like Court, there cannot a Reformation be easily hoped for.

For Civil Affairs that concern the Church, the highest Court is the Court of Delegates, for the Jurisdiction whereof it was provided, 25 Hen. 8. That it shall be lawful for any Subject of England, in case of defect of Justice in the Courts of the Archbishop of Canterbury, to appeal to the Kings Majesty in his Court of Chancery, and that, upon such Appeal, a Commission under the Great Seal shall be directed to certain Persons, particularly designed for that business; so that from the highest Court of the Archbishop of Canterbury, there lies an Appeal to this Court of Delegates, and beyond this to none other.

Next to the Court of Delegates are the Courts of the Archbishop of Canterbury, where any Ecclesiastical Suits between any persons within his Province may (waving all inferior Courts) be decided; amongst them the highest Court

Court is the Court of Arches, so called from the Arched Church and Tower of S. Maries in Cheapside, London, where this Court is wont to be held, the Judge whereof is called Dean of the Arches, having Jurisdiction over a Deanery, consisting of 13 Parishes within London, exempt from the Jurisdiction of the Bishop of London. Hither are directed all Appeals in Ecclesiastical Matters within the Province of Canterbury. To this Court belongs divers Advocates, all Doctors of the Civil Law, two Registers, and ten Proctors: the Dean at present is Doctor Sweat.

In the next place the Archbishop of Canterbury hath his Court of Audience kept within the Archbishops Palace, and medleth not with any difference between parties, but concerning Elections and Consecration of Bishops, Admission, and Constitution of Benefices, dispensing with Banes of Matrimony, &c.

The next Court, is called the Prerogative Court, which judgeth of Estates fallen by Will, or by Intestates, so called, because the Archbishop jure Prerogativa sue hath this power throughout his whole Province, where the Party at the time of death had 5 l. or above in several Dioceses, and these two Courts hath also the Archbishop of York.

Lastly, the Court of Peculiars, which dealth in certain Parishes, lying in several Dioceses, which Parishes are exempt from the Jurisdiction of the Bishops of those Dioceses, and are peculiarly belonging to the Archbishop of Canterbury, in whose Province there are 37 such Peculiars.

Besides these Courts serving for the whole Province, every Bishop hath his Court held in the Cathedral of his Diocess, over which he hath hath a Chancellor, termed antiently Ecclesiasticus & Episcopi Ecclicus, the Church-Lawyer, who being skill'd in the Civil and Canon Law, sits there as a Judge; and if his Diocess be large, he hath in some more remote place a Commissary, whose Authority is onely in some certain place of the Diocess, and some certain causes limited to him by the Bishop in his Commission. and these are called Consistory Courts.

Moreover, every Archdeacon hath his Court and Jurisdiction, where smaller differences arising within his limits are pleaded. Also the Dean and Chapter hath a Court, and take Cognizance of Causes happening in places belonging to the Cathedral.

Lastly, there are certain peculiar Jurisdictions belonging to some certain Parishes, the Inhabitants thereof are exempt sometimes from the Archdeacons Jurisdiction, and sometimes from the Bishops Jurisdiction.

Causes belonging to Ecclesiastical Courts, are, Blasphemy, Apostasie from Christianity, Heresies, Schisms, Ocdinations, Institution of Clerks to Benefices, Celebration of Divine Service, Rights of Matrimony, Divorces, general Bastardy, Tythes, Oblations, Obventions, Mortuaries, Dilapidations, Reparation of Churches, Probate of Wills, Administrations, Simony, Incests, Fornications, Adulteries, Solicitations of Chastity, Pensions, Procurations, Commutation of Pennance, &c. the cognizance whereof belongs not to the Common Law of England.

The Laws and Constitutions whereby the Ecclesiastical Government doth stand, and the Church of England is governed, are first general Canons made by general Councils; also the Arbitria sanctorum Patrum, the opinion of Fathers, the grave Decrees of several holy Bishops of Rome, which the Kings of England from time to time have admitted.

Ar-

Next our own Constitutions made antiently in several Provincial Synods, either by the Legats Otho and Othobon, sent from Rome; or by several Archbishops of Canterbury; all which are by 25 Hen. 8. of force in England, so far as they are not repugnant to the Laws and Customs of England, or the Kings Prerogative. Then the Canons made in Convocations of later times, as Primo Jacobi, and confirmed by his Royal Authority. Also in some Statutes enacted by Parliament touching Ecclesiastical affairs: And lastly, divers Customs not written, but yet in use beyond the memory of Man: and where these fail, the Civil Law takes place.

The manner of Trials by these Laws and Customs are different from the Trials at Common Law, and are briefly thus. First goes forth a Citation, then a Bill and Answer, then by Proofs, Witnesses, and Presumptions, the Matter is argued pro and con, and the Canon and Civil Laws quoted, then without any Jury the Definitive Sentence of the Judge passeth, and upon that execution. And this is the manner of trying Ecclesiastical Civil Causes; but Ecclesiastical Criminal Causes are tryed by way of Accusation, Denunciation, or Inquisition. The first, when some one takes upon him to prove the Crime: the second, when the Churchwardens present, and are not bound to prove, because it is presumed they do it without any Malice, and that the Crime is notorious. Lastly, by Inquisition, when by reason of Common Fame, inquiry is made by the Bishop Bishop, ex officio suo, by calling some of their neighborhood to their Oaths, or the Party accused to his Oath ex officio, so called, because the Ecclesiastical Judge doth it, ex officio suo, which is very antient, and was usual among the Jews; so Ioshua to Acan, Fili mi tribue gloriam, &c. So God himself to Adam, upon his first transgression; and likewise afterward to Sodom; but by the prevailing Faction in the long Parliament, this Power was extorted from the Church, the want whereof, is one main cause, of the great Libertinisme, and Debauchery of the Nation.

Now the punishments inflicted by these Spiritual or Ecclesiastical Courts, according to these Spiritual or Ecclesiastical Laws, proceed in this manner. First, the party delinquent, is admonished; next, goes forth Minor Excommunicatio, whereby he is Excommunicated, or excluded from the Church; or if not from the Church, yet from the Communion of the Lords Supper, is disenabled to be Plaintiff in a Law-Suit, &c. and this commonly for stubbornness shewed, by not appearing in the Ecclesiastical Court, upon Summons, or not obeying the Orders of the Court, which though in smallest matters, yet may be a very great crime; for, Res precepta quo facilior est observatu eo precepti violatio est gravior cum sit magis spontanea, as S. Austin observes of the first Sin of Adam; Any Command, by how much the easier it may be observed, by so much the more grievous is the breach thereof, because it is the more voluntary; besides, in contempts, it is not so much the violation of the Law, as of the Authority, which ought to be resentted. And herein the Church of England proceedeth no otherwise, than the State of England; for so odious odious, in the eye of the Common-Law of England, is the contempt thereof, that not only for Felonies, but even in an Action of the Case, in an Action of a small Debt, Account, or Detinue, if a Man will not appear, and submit himself to a Tryal at Law, a Proceſs of Outlawry is grounded againſt him, and he being once Outlawed, he is out of the protection of the Law. Caput gerit lupinum, ſaith Bracton, an Outlawed was antiently lookt upon as a Wolf, lawfully to be killed by any Man that ſhould meet him, as moſt juſt, that he who contemned the Law, and therein the King, ſhould not have benefit by the Law, nor protection from the King, and at this day, he is to loſe all his Goods and Chattels. The Reader will eaſily pardon this Digreſſion, when he conſiders the general cry againſt Excommunications at this day.

This power of leſſer Excommunication, the Biſhop may delegate to any grave Prieſt with the Chancellor.

Excommunicatio major, is not only an excluſion from the company of Chriſtians in Spiritual Duties, but alſo in Temporal Affairs; and this commonly for Hereſy, Schiſm, Perjury, Inceſt, and ſuch grievous Crimes; and that it may be done with the more ſolemnity and terror, it is to be pronounced by the Biſhop himſelf in his proper perſon; and being ſo Excommunicated, a Man cannot, in any Civil or Eccleſiaſtical Court, be Plaintiff or Witneſs. And in caſe any man be ſo ſtubborn, as to continue 40 days Excommunicated, the Kings Writ, de Excommunicato capiendo, is granted forth of the Chancery againſt him; whereupon on he is cast into prison, without Bail, there to lye, till he hath satisfied for his offence.

Next, there is Anathematismus, to be inflicted onely upon an obstinate Hereeick. whereby he is declared, a publick Enemy of God, and rejected, and cursed, and delivered over to Eternal Damnation: and this to be done by the Bishop also, in his own Person, assisted by the Dean and Chapter, or twelve other grave Priests.

Lastly, there is Interdictum, whereby is prohibited all Divine Offices, as Christian Burial, Administration of Sacraments, &c. in such a Place, or to such a People, and if this be against a People, it follows them wheresoever they go; but, if against a Place onely, then the People of that place, may go to Divine Offices elsewhere.

Besides, these general Censures of the Church, which respect Church Communion; there is another, which toucheth the Body of the Delinquent, called Publick Pennance, when any one is compelled to confess in publick, his fault, and to bewail it before the whole Congregation in the Church; which is done in this manner: the Delinquent is to stand in the Church-Porch, upon some Sunday, bare Head, and bare Feet, in a white Sheet, and a white Rod in his Hand; there bewailing himself, and begging every one that passes by, to pray for him; then to enter the Church, falling down and kissing the ground; then in the middle of the Church, placed in a higher place, in the sight of all the People, and over against the Minister, who declares the foulness of his Crime, odious to God, and scandalous to the Congregation, that God can no way be satisfied

sted, but by applying Christs sufferings; nor the Congregation, but by an humble acknowledging of his sin, and testifying his sincere Repentance and sorrow, not in words only, but with Tears, and promising there in the sight of God, and his Holy Angels, that by God's assistance, and by Prayer, Meditation, and daily Works of Piety, he will endeavour hereafter, more carefully to watch against the temptations of the World, the allurements of the Flesh, and the snares of the Devil: which being done, and the Priest in Christs Name, pronouncing the remission of Sins, the Penitent humbly beseeches the Congregation to pardon him that great scandal against him, and receive him into their Holy Communion, and account him again, a Member of their Church; and in testimony thereof, out of their Christian Charity, to vouchsafe to say with him aloud, the Lords Prayer. And this way of the Church of England, appears, by divers Writers; to be the antient way used by the Primitive Churches.

Note, That it is ordained by the Canons of the Church of England, that in case the crime be not notorious and publick, the forenamed penance, may at the parties request, be commuted into a pecuniary mulkt for the poor of the Parish, or some Pious Uses; provided, that for the Reformation of the Delinquent, that may appear to be the more probable way; for some Men will be thereby reclaimed, who by publication of their offence, would become more impudent and hardened, when they perceive their Reputation to be lost.

There remains one more punishment, or Ecclesiastical censure, which toucheth the Body dy, and that is denial of Christian Burial, which is inflicted, not in pœnam mortuorum, but in terrærem viventium, who naturally desire, that after their death, their bodies may be decently interred. And Christian burial is wont to be denied by the Church of England, to persons dying Excommunicate, to perjurd persons, to such as are hanged for Felony, or that wilfully kill themselves, and to Apostates, Hereticks, and Extortioners.

To these fore-named Censures and Punishments, both Laity and Clergy are subject; but besides these, there are punishments, whereunto the Clergy onely are liable; as first, Suspensio ab Officio, when a Minister for a time is declared unfit to execute the Office of a Minister.

Then Suspensio a Beneficio, when a Minister for a time is deprived of the profits of his Benefice; and these two Censures are wont to be for smaller Crimes.

Thirdly, Deprivatio a Beneficio, when, for a greater Crime, a Minister is wholly, and for ever, deprived of his Living.

And Fourthly, Deprivatio ab Officio, when a Minister is wholly, and for ever, deprived of his Orders, and this is Depositio, or Degradatio, and is commonly for some heinous crime, meriting death, and is performed by the Bishop, in a solemn manner, pulling off from the Criminal, his Vestments, and other Ensigns of his Order; and this is in the presence of the Civil Magistrate, to whom he is then delivered, to be punished, as a Lay-man for the like offence. And herein Bishops are to take special care, to behave themselves Μηδ' ως κατακλεισθέντες τ̄ κλήρων, not as Lording over Gods.

Gods Heritage, not as absolute Masters over Servants, to gain by their punishments, but as Fathers over Children, for their amendment, and as being Ministers in Spiritual Affairs, to use their power for the good of Christians, and to conduct that power by moderation.

Of

Of the Parliament of England, and therein of the Person summoning, the manner of the Summons, the Persons summoned, their Privileges; the Place and Manner of Sitting, the passing of Bills in either House, the passing of Acts of Parliament, of Adjourning, Proroguing, and Dissolving of Parliaments.

A Brief Account of the Ecclesiastical Government, having been given, next follows the Civil Government, towards which, the first great Wheel that moves, is the Parliament of England.

Before the Conquest, the Great Council of the King, consisting onely of the Great Men of the Kingdom, was called Magnatum Conventus, or else, Prelatorum Procerumque Concilium, and by the Saxons in their own Tongue, Michel Gemot, the Great Assembly; after the Conquest, it was called by the French word, Parlementum, from Parler, to talk together, still consisting onely of the Great Men of the Nation, until the Reign of ~~Henry the Third~~, the Commons also were called to sit in Parliament, for the first Writs sent forth to summon them, bears date 49 H. 3. about 400 years ago.

None

None but the King hath authority to summon a Parliament: In the Kings absence out of the Realm, the Custos Regni, in the Kings Name, doth summon a Parliament; and during the Kings minority within the Realm, the Protector Regni doth the same.

No Parliament can begin without the Kings Presence, either in Person, or by Representation by Commissioners.

When the King of England is with his Parliament in time of Peace, he is then said to be in the height of his Royal Dignity, as well as when he is at the head of His Army, in time of War. There is then, scarce any thing that the King cannot do, his Power cannot be confined for Causes or Persons within any bounds. He can, with the concurrence of his Lords and Commons, legitimate, one that is born illegitimate, bastardize one that is born legitimate, that is to say, one begotten in Adultery, the Husband being then within the four Seas. He can make an Infant of full Age, make an Alien or Forreigner an Englishman, can attain a man of Treason when he is dead, when he is no more a man, &c.

A Parliament is summoned in manner following; About forty days before the Parliament doth Assemble, the King issues out his Writ, Cum Advjsamento Consilii sui, and the Warrant is, Per ipsum Regem & Consilium.

The Kings Writ (which is a short Letter or Epistle) is directed and sent to every particular person of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, commanding the Lords Spiritual, in Fide & Dilectione; and the Lords Temporal, per Fidem & Allegiantiam, to appear at a certain time and place, to Treat, and give their Advice in some certain certain important Affairs, concerning the Church and State, &c.

Other Writs are sent to the High Sheriff of each County, to summon the people to elect two Knights for each County, two Citizens for each City, and one or two Burgeſſes for each Burrough, according to Statute, Charter, or Custom.

In these Elections, antiently, all the people had their Votes, and most Votes carried it; but for avoiding of tumults and trouble, it was Enacted by H. 6. that none should have any Suffrage in the Election of Knights of the Shire, but such as were Freeholders, did reside in the County, and had yearly Revenue, 40 s. (which till the discovery of the Gold and Silver in America, was as much as 30 to 40 l. now) whence it came to pass, that the Lay-Commons were then elected as the Clergy-Commons, the Procuratores Cleri were, and ever have been, viz. sine Proce, sine Pretio, sine Poculo, &c.

The Persons elected for each County, are to be Milites Notabiles, or at least, Esquires, or Gentlemen, fit to be made Knights, as it is in the Statutes of H. 6. They ought to be de discretioribus Militibus, & ad laborandum potentioribus, as the Words in some Writs have been: they ought not to of younger years, for then it would be Juvenatus (si sic loqui liceat) potius quam Senatus, not lazy Epicures, but Men of years, vigorous, active, and abstemious Men, that will be content to give their constant attendance in Parliament, or else to enjoy neither Priviledge nor Expences allowed to every Member of the Commons-House. They ought to be Native Englishmen, or at least, such as have been Naturalized by Act of Parliament. No Alien or Denizen, nor of the Twelve Judges Judges, no Sheriff of a County, no Ecclesiastical Person that hath cure of Souls, may be chosen a Parliament Man, to serve for any County, City, or Borough.

Two things are said to be requisite to the legality of sitting in Parliament; first, That a Man should be of full age, that is, 21 years old, at least; for if no man under that Age, can dispose of his Estate, nor make one legal Act to that purpose, then much less may he bear any power in the Supreme power of the Nation, to Judge, Vote, or dispose of the Estate of the whole Realm: yet the practise in the House of Commons (though never in the House of Lords) hath sometimes been otherwise.

All Members of Parliament, both Lords and Commons, that they may attend the publick Service of their Countrey, are priviledged, with their Menial Servants, attending on their persons, together, with all their necessary Goods, brought along with them, from all Attachments and Imprisonments, for Debts, Trespasses, Account or Covenant, all the time that they are on the way to the place of Parliament, all the time they are on the way home again, Empto, Morando, ad propria Reduendo, (for so were the old words) but they are not priviledged from Arrests for Treason, Felony, or breach of the Peace.

The place of Meeting for this High and Honourable Assembly, is in whatsoever City, Town, or House, the King pleaseth; but of later times, it hath been usually held at the Kings antient Palace, and usual Residence at Westminster, all the Lords in a fair Room by themselves, and the Commons not far from them in another fair Room, which was heretofore the antient free Chappel of St. Stephen.

D

The manner of sitting in the Lords House, is thus.

The King as oft as he comes (which hath usually been, onely at the opening of Parliaments, or at the passing of Bills, or at some solemn Debates, as the present King hath frequently done) is placed at the upper end of the Room in a Chair of State, under a Cloth of State, under which, on either hand, none but the Kings Children.

On the Kings right hand is a seat, antiently for the King of Scotland, when he was summoned to Parliament, as he sometimes was, in Fide & Legiantia; but now it is for the Prince of Wales. On the Kings left hand is a Seat for the Duke of York.

On the Kings Right Hand, and next the Wall, are placed on a Form, the two Archbishops, next below, on another Form, the Bishops of London, Durham, and Winchester; then upon other Forms on the same side, all the rest of the Bishops sit, according to the priority of their Consecration.

On the Kings left Hand, upon Forms, are placed the Lords Chancellor, Treasurer, President of the Kings Council, and Lord Privy Seal, if they are Barons, above all Dukes, except those of the Royal Family; if they are not Barons, then they sit uppermost on the Woolfacks.

On the same side sit the Dukes, Marquises, and Earls, according to their Creations.

Upon the first Form, a cross the House, below the Woolfacks, sit the Viscounts, and upon the next Forms the Barons, all in order.

The Lord Chancellor, or Keeper (if the King be present, stands behind the Cloth of Estate, otherwise sits on the first Woolfack, thwart the Chair of State, his Great Seal and Mace by him; He is Lord Speaker of the Lords House.

Upon

Upon other Woolsacks sit the Judges, the Privy Counsellors, and Secretaries of State, the Kings Counsel at Law, the Masters of Chancery. These being not Barons, have no Suffrage in Parliament, onely sit to give their advice when it is required. The reason why these Sages are placed upon Woolsacks, may probably be to mind them of the great importance of Wool and Sheep to this Nation, that it never be neglected.

On the lowermost Woolsack, are placed the Clerks of the Crown, now Henry Barker, Esq; and Clerk of the Parliament, at present John Brown, Esq; whereof the former is concerned in all Writs of Parliament, and Pardons in Parliament; the other recordeth all things done in Parliament, and keepeth the Records of the same. This Clerk hath also two Clerks under him, who kneel behind the same Woolsack, and write thereon. Without the Bar of the Lords House sits the Kings first Gentleman-Usher called the Black Rod, from a Black Staff he carries in his hand, under whom is a Yeoman-Usher that waits at the door within, a Crier without, and a Sergeant at Mace, always attending the Lord Chancellor.

The Judges stand, till the King gives them leave to sit.

When the King is absent, the Lords at their entrance do reverence to the Chair of State, as is, or should be done by all that enter into the Kings Presence-Chamber.

The Judges then may sit, but may not be covered, till the Chancellor or Keeper signify unto them the leave of the Lords.

The Kings Council and Masters of Chancery sit also, but may not be covered at all.

The Commons in their House sit promiscuously, onely the Speaker hath a Chair placed in the middle, and the Clerk of that House, near him at the Table, They never had any Robes (as the Lords ever had) but wear every one what he fancieth most, which to strangers seem very unbecoming the Gravity and Authority of the Great Council of England: and that during the attendance on Parliament, a Robe, or Grave Vestment would as well become the Honourable Members of the House of Commons, as it doth all the Noble Venetians, both young and old, who have right to sit in the Great Council of Venice, and as it doth the Senators of Rome at this day, &c.

The time of sitting in Parliament, is on any day in the morning, or before dinner, onely it hath antiently been observed, not to assemble upon some high Festival days, but upon ordinary Sundays oft-times, as days accounted by all Christians, less solemn then divers other Festivals, which are celebrated but once a year.

When the day prefixt by the King in his Writs of Summons is come, the King usually cometh in person with his Crown on his Head, and clothed with his Royal Robes, declares the cause of the Summons in a short Harangue, leaving the rest to the Lord Chancellor, who then stands behind His Majesty; the Commons in the mean time standing bare at the Bar of the Lords House, are afterwards in the Kings Name, commanded to choose them a Speaker, (which without the Kings command, they may not do) whereupon they, returning to their own House, make choice of one of their own Members, whom afterwards upon another day, they present to the King, and being approved of by His Majesty, sitting in His Chair, and all His Lords,

Lords, both Spiritual and Temporal in their Robes of Scarlet, he makes a modest refusal; which not allowed, he petitioneth His Majesty, that the Commons may have, during their sitting; First, A free access to His Majesty. Secondly, Freedom of Speech in their own House. Thirdly, Freedom from Arrests.

Before any affair be medled with, all the Members of the House of Commons take the Oath of Allegiance and Supremacy in the presence of an Officer appointed by the King.

By that old Manuscript, called Modus tenendi Parliamentum, though it be not so old, as some learned Men have imagined, it doth appear, as afore-mentioned, That the House of Commons did antiently (as the House of Lords at this day) consist of Clergy-men as well as Lay-men; there sate the Procuratores Cleri, two for each Diocess, representing all the Clergy-Commons of the Diocess, as the Knights of the Shire do all the Lay-Commons of the Shire; for it was then judged expedient, that every Freeman of England, as well Clergy as Laity, should in passing of all Laws, touching propriety, wherunto they were to be subject, give their consent personally, or immediately by themselves, or else by some, that by their Election, should immediately undertake for them; and the words of the Writ for summoning the Procuratores Cleri, as aforesaid, seem to warrant the same at this day.

The Power and Priviledges of both Houses of Parliament, are divers and distinct one from another.

The Lords House hath a power, not onely in making and repealing Laws, but also in trastando & constituendo impendenda, as the words of the Writ are; also in judging of Controversies, judging in the Arraignment of any Peer of the Realm, putting Men to their Oaths, especially in matters of importance, as the corruption of Judges and Magistrates, in Error, Illegal proceedings in other Courts, in Appeals from Decrees in Chancery.

The Lords that in their Religion conform not to the Church of England, may yet sit and have Suffrage in the Lords House.

All the Lords Spiritual and Temporal have this privilege, That if by reason of Sicknes, or other business, they cannot appear, they may make their Proxies to Vote in their stead, after Licence obtained by a Letter, under the Kings Signet, to be excused for their absence: so that in every Parliament, every Person in England, either by himself, Proxy, or Representative, is said to be there, and to have his Suffrage for making or repealing any Law.

The Commons have also a power in making & repealing Laws, they also have their negative voice; for levying of any Money upon the Subject, the Bill begins in the Commons-House, because from them doth arise the greater part of Moneys.

The Commons have the privilege to supplicate and propose Laws, to impeach publick Delinquents, even the highest Lords of the Kingdom, both Spiritual and Temporal.

The House of Commons is the Grand Inquest of the Realm, summoned from all parts, to present publick Grievances, Delinquents to the King and Lords, to be redressed and punished by them; and to this purpose, the Lords sit in their Robes on the Bench covered, as Judges do in other Judicatories; they swear and examine Witnesses, and at length, pass Sentence, whilst the Members of the Commons House, stand bare at the Bar of the Lords House, produce Witnesses, manage Evidence, &c.

Note, that although every Member of the Commons-House is chosen to serve for one particular County, City, or Burrough, yet he serves for the whole Kingdom, and his voice equal to any other, his power absolute to consent or dissent, without ever acquainting those that sent him, or demanding their Assent, as the States-General of the United-Netherlands, are obliged to do in many Cases.

Yet are they to make it their special care; to promote the good of that County, City, or Burrough, for which they serve.

Although the Lords of Parliament are to bear their own charges, because they represent there only themselves; yet all the Commons, both Lay and Clergy, that is, the Procuratores Cleri, are to have rationabiles Expensas (as the words of the Writ are) that is, such allowance as the King, considering the Prices of all things, shall judge meet to impose upon the people to pay. In the 17 Edw. the 2. it was Ten Groats for Knights; and Five Groats for Burgessees, but not long after, it was 4 s. a day for dubbed Knights, and two shillings for all others: which, in those days, as appears by the prices of all things, was a considerable sum, above 20 times more than it is now; for not onely their expences were considered, though that was great, by reason of the sutable attendance, that then every Parliament-man had, but also their pains, their loss of time, and necessary neglect of their own private affairs, for the service of their Countrey; and when the Counties; Cities and Burroughs, paid so dear for their expences, they were wont to take care to chuse such Men as were best able, and most diligent in the speedy dispatch of affairs, by which means, with some other, more business in those times was dispatched in Parliament in a week, than is now perhaps in ten: so that the Protections for Parliament-Men, and their Servants from Arrests, were not then grievous, when scarce any Parliament or Session, lasted so long as one of the four Terms now at Westminster.

In the Reign of Edw. 3. the Parliaments sate sometimes but eight days, and sometimes less, as may be seen in the Records of the Tower, and yet transacted several and weighty affairs of the Nation, many things being prepared before hand, (as some think) by the King and his Privy Council, as they are at present in Sweden, and that commonly they then debated only upon such things, as the King did propose, which is now done by the Convocation of the Clergy of England.

The afore-mentioned expences being duly paid, did cause all the petty decayed Burroughs of England, to become humble Suitors to the King, that they might not be obliged to send Burgesses to Parliament; whereby it came to pass, that divers were unburgessed, as it was, in particular, granted to Chipping, or Market-Tonson, upon their Petition, and then the number of the Commons House, being scarce half so many as at present, their Debates, and Bills were sooner expedited, no faction among them, nor distinction of parties, but altogether, by a blessed unanimity amongst themselves, and compliance with the Lords, rarely denied any thing to the King, and as rarely were denied any thing by the King.

The maner of Debates of passing of Bills and Acts, is thus,

It

It is the practice of each House, to debate, not onely what the King hath proposed, but of any other Lay-matters, unless their Sovereign shall expressly forbid the same, as heretofore hath sometimes been done.

It is free for any man of the Parliament, or not of the Parliament, to get a Bill drawn by some Lawyer, and give the same to the Speaker, or Clerk of the Parliament, to be presented at a time convenient, and this Bill may be put first, either in the Lords House, or the Commons House.

Whatever is proposed for a Law, is first put in Writing, and called a Bill, which being read commonly after nine of the clock, in a full Assembly, it is either unanimously rejected at first, or else allowed to be debated, and then it is committed to a certain number of the House, presently nominated, and called a Committee. After it hath been amended, and twice read two several days in the House, then it is engrossed, that is, written fair in a Parchment, and read the third time another day, and then, if it be in the Lords House, the Lord Chancellor; in the Commons House, the Speaker demandeth, if they will have it put to the question, whether a Law or no Law: if the maior part be for it, there is written on the Bill by the Clerk, Soit baille aux communes, or, Soit baille aux Seigneurs, retaining still, in this, and some other things about making Laws, the custom of our Ancestors, who were generally skilled in the French Tongue.

Note, That when the Speaker finds divers Bills prepared to be put to the question, he gives notice the day before, that to morrow he intends to put such Bills to the Passing, or Third Reading, and desires the special attendance of all the Members.

Note also, That if a Bill be rejected, it cannot be any more proposed, during that Session.

A Bill sent by the Commons up to the Lords, is usual (to shew their respect) attended with 30 or 40 of the Members of the House; as they come up to the Lords Bar, the Member that hath the Bill, making three profound reverences, delivereth it to the Lord Chancellor, who, for that purpose, comes down to the Bar.

A Bill sent by the Lords to the Commons, is usually sent by some of the Masters of the Chancery, or other person, whose place is on the Woolfacks (and by none of the Members of that House) and they coming up to the Speaker, and bowing thrice, deliver to him the Bill, after one of them hath read the Title, and desired it may be there taken into consideration: if afterwards it pass that House, then is written on the Bill, Les Communes ont assentez.

When any one in the Commons House will speak to a Bill, he stands up uncovered, and directs his Speech onely to the Speaker, then if what he delivers, be confuted by another, yet it is not allowed to answer again the same day, lest the whole time should be spent by two talkative persons. Also if a Bill be debating in the House, no man may speak to it in one day, above once.

If any one speak words of offence to the Kings Majesty, or to the House, he is called to the Bar, and sometimes sent to the Tower. The Speaker is not allowed to perswade or disswade in passing of a Bill, but only to make a short and plain Narrative, nor to Vote, except the House be equally divided.

After

After Dinner the Parliament ordinarily Assembles not, though many times they continue sitting long in the afternoon.

Committees sit after Dinner, where it is allowed to speak, and reply, as oft as they please.

In the Lords House, they give their Suffrages or Votes, beginning at the Puisne, or lowest Baron, and so the rest Seriatim, every one answering apart [content or not content.]

In the House of Commons, they Vote by Yea's and No's altogether, and if it be doubtful whether is the greater number, then the Yea's are to go forth, and the No's are to sit still (because these are content with their present condition, without any such addition or alteration of Laws, as the other desire) and some are appointed to number them: but at a Committee, though it be of the whole House, as is sometimes, the Yea's go on one side, and the No's on the other, whereby they may be discerned.

If a Bill pass in one House, and being sent to the other House, they demurr upon it, then a Conference is demanded in the Painted Chamber, where certain deputed Members of each House meet, the Lords sitting covered at a Table, the Commons standing bare with great Respect, where the business is debated, if they then agree not, that business is nulled, but if they agree, then it is at last brought (with all other Bills which have passed in both Houses) to the King, who comes again with his Crown on his Head, and clothed with his Royal Robes, (sometimes before his Pleasure is, to Prorogue or dissolve them) and being Seated in His Chair of State, and all the Lords in their Robes, the Clerk of the Crown reads the Title of each Bill, and as he reads, the Clerk of the Parliament llament, according to his Instructions from the King, who before hath maturely considered each Bill, pronounceth the Royal Assent. If it be a publick Bill, the Answer is (Le Roy le veut) which gives Life and Birth to that Bill, that was before but an Embrio. If a private Bill, the Answer is, (Soit fait comme el est desire) If it be a publick Bill, which the King likes not, then the Answer is (Le Roy s'avisera) which is taken for an absolute denial, in a more civil way, and that Bill wholly nulled. So that it is as true in England, in some sence, as in any Monarchy in the World, Quod Principi placuit legis habet vigorem, Not that whatever the King of England Wills, becomes immediately a Law, nothing, except what the King Wills, hath the force of a Law.

Note, That the King without his personal Presence, can, by Commission granted to some of His Nobles, give His Royal Assent to any Bill that requires haste.

If it be a Bill for Moneys given to His Majesty, then the Answer is (Le Roy remercie ses loyaux sujets, accepte leur Benevolence, & aussi le veut) which antien ceremony, of thanking the Subject for parting with their Money, some think might better be spared, because it intimates a distinct interest between the King and His Subjects, which is not only false, but very dangerous to be allowed of. The King is Pater Patrie, the Money given to him, is for our use and Benefit, if we are niggardly to him, we injure our selves, &c. The Bill for the Kings general Pardon, hath but one Reading in either House, for this reason, because they must take it, as the King will please to give it; so the Bill of Subsidies granted by the Clergy, Assembled in Convocation for the same reason.

son. When the Bill for the general Pardon is passed by the King, the Answer is thus (Les Prelats Seigneurs & Communes en ce Parliament assemblez au nom de tous vos autres Sujets, remercient tres humblement votre Majeste & prient Dieu vous donner en sante bonne vie & longue.)

All Acts of Parliaments before the Reign of Hen. 7. were passed and enrolled in French, now in English.

Most of our antient Acts of Parliament, run in this Stile: The King, at the humble Request of the Commons, with the Assent of the Prelates, Dukes, Earls, and Barons, hath Ordained, or Enacted. After it was thus, The King, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and with the Assent of the Commons, doth Enact: Of latter times it hath been thus, Be it Enacted by the Kings most excellent Majesty, by, and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons: although the words, of the Writ for summoning the Commons, (which ought to be the main Rule) is onely ad Consentendum, and not ad Concilium impendendum, as it is in the Writ to the Lords, and it is evident, that the Commons, in the late Long Parliament, made that an advantage, for justifying their Usurpations against the King in that point; and so in another Parliament, the Commons endeavoured to maintain, that the Concurrence of the Lords was not always necessary in an Act of Parliament, because 1 Edw. 6. cap. 5. in passing that Act against Transportation of Horses, the Lords were casually omitted, yet by the Register of the Lords House, it appears, that that Bill began first in the Lords House, and there passed, before the Commons took it in debate, and therefore, the the Kings Council at Law is very curious in wording rightly, all Acts, before they are brought to the King, and the Clerks of the Parliament, are careful in Transcribing and Registering them: However, it is to be wished, that to prevent future mischief to this Nation; some Clauses in the late Act of Oblivion and Indemnity, might be amended, or at least explained, and more especially, about the beginning of that Act, these words, That all manner of Treasons, &c. since January 1637, and before June 1660. by vertue of any Authority from His late Majesty King Charles, or His Majesty that now is, be pardoned, &c.) which words might possibly be foisted in designedly, to insinuate, as if (according to that most absurd, and Traiterous position of some of the Rebellious Members of the Long Parliament) the Kings Person, or any Commissionated by him, could be guilty of Treason, against the Kings Authority, or against His two Houses of Parliament, by pursuing of Rebels, to bring them to Justice, according to the Laws of the Land. It were also to be desired, that to prevent the great dishonour of making additional, and explanatory Acts of Parliament, so frequently, as hath of late been done, all considerable Bills of Publick concernment, once read in either House of Parliament, may, before they be passed, be exposed to the view of all comers (as antiently among the Romans was usual) to the end, that any other person (besidesthose of the two Houses) may, within the space of certain days, freely propose, in Writing, or otherwise, his Exceptions, Additions, Alterations, or Amendments.

When those things, for which the Parliament was summoned, have been sufficiently treated and brought to a conclusion, then the King doth usually Adjourn, Prorogue, or Dissolve the Parliament, in manner following.

The Adjournments are usually made in the Lords House, by the Lord Chancellor, in the Kings Name, to what other day the King pleaseth, and also to what other place, if he think fit to remove them, as sometimes hath been done; and then all things already debated and read, in one or both Houses, continue to the next Meeting in the same state they were in before the Adjournment, and so may be resumed.

In the like manner, the Parliament is Prorogued, but by a Prorogation there is a Session, and then the Bills that were almost ready ~~in both Houses for the Royal Assent~~, not having it, must, at the re-assembling of the Parliament, begin anew.

The Speaker of the House of Commons upon notice given that it is the Kings pleasure, that House shall also Adjourn, doth say, with the Assent of the House, This House is Adjourned.

When the Kings Pleasure is to Prorogue or Dissolve the Parliament, His Majesty commonly cometh in Person, with His Crown on His Head, sendeth for all the House of Commons, to come to the Bar of the Lords House, and after the Kings Answer to each Bill signified, as afore-mentioned, His Majesty usually makes a Solemn Speech, the Lord Chancellor, another, and the Speaker of the House of Commons a third, then the Lord Chancellor by the special Command of the King, doth pronounce the Parliament Prorogued or Dissolved.

Note,

Note, That the King being Head of the Parliament, if his death doth happen, during the sitting of the Parliament, it is, ipso facto, dissolved.

Antiently, after every Session of Parliament the King commanded every Sheriff to proclaim the severall Acts, and to cause them to be duly observed; yet without that Proclamation, the Law intended, that every one hath notice, by his Representative, of what is transacted in Parliament: of latter times, since Printing became common, that custom hath been laid aside.

The

The Number of Persons that have Place and Suffrage in both Houses.

TO the Lords House belong now two Dukes of the Royal Bloud; 7 other Dukes, 3 Marquesses, 56 Earls, 9 Vicounts, and 67 Barons, in all, 154. Then there are two Archbishops, and 24 Bishops; ~~so that the Total is about 180.~~ But many being under Age, some sick and infirm, others abroad in the Kings Service, the ordinary number, is about One hundred.

To the House of Commons belong first for the 40 Shires of England, two for each, in all 80 Knights; then one for each of the 12 Counties of Wales, 12 Knights. For 25 Cities in England, two to each, and London four, in all 54 Citizens. For the Cinque-Ports, 16 Barons, for the two Universities, two Burgeses for each: For 168 Burroughs, there are about 330 Burgeses, but some few of those Burroughs send but one Burgess apiece: Lastly, in each of the 12 Counties of Wales, there is one Burrough that sends onely one Burgess; so the total number of the House of Commons, is a little above 500 persons, whereof commonly, near 200 are absent upon business or sickness, &c.

Note, That the Barons of the Cinque-Ports, are, at this day, onely as other Burgeses in Parliament, but are still called Barons, after the antient manner, because heretofore they got renown by their exploits at Sea, in defending the Kingdom, in Memory whereof, they have yet the privilege to send Burgeses, to bear the Cloth of State over the Kings Head on the day of His Coronation, and to Dine that day in the Kings Presence.
their

Of the Executive Power in Temporal Matters.

A Brief Account of the Legislative Power in Temporal Affairs, having been given, next may be considered the Executive Power in those Affairs, and that is generally in the King, he is the Fountain of Justice; he is the Lord Chief Justice of England; and therefore as all the Laws of England are called the Kings Laws, because he is Caput, Principium, & Finis Parliamenti, by which the Laws are made, and that nothing can have the Force of a Law, but what he wills; so all the Courts of Judicature are called the Kings Courts, and all the Judges of those Courts, are called the King's Judges.

The highest Court of Judicature in England is the House of Lords in Parliament; so that the Parliament is not onely Concilium, but Curia, a Court of Judicature, consisting as aforementioned, of all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, as Judges; and these assisted with the most grave and eminent Lawyers of England, both in Common and Civil Law.

To the Judicature of this Supreme and most Honourable Court, all other Courts and Persons that are Subjects of England, are subject and accountable for all Crimes not properly tryable, remedial, or punishable in other inferiour Courts of Justice; and to this Court all last Appeals are to be made, and

from whose Sentence there lies no Appeal, but to a succeeding Parliament; and this supreme Judicatory or Judicial Power lies only in the King and House of Lords; and at the Bar of this High Court may the House of Commons, as the grand Inquest of the Nation, impeach the highest Subject of England, whether of the Clergy or of the Laity, as aforesaid, and prosecute them till it come to a Sentence, after which, there can be no farther proceeding, till the King be informed of the the whole matter, gives his Royal Assent for the execution of the said Sentence, or grant his gracious pardon.

In the late Long Parliament, the House of Commons pretended to be also a Court of Judicature, and at length usurped a most exorbitant power, to the total ruine of Monarchical Government, and it is worth observing. by what Gradations they arrived thereto. In the time of Queen Elizabeth, and not before, the Commons began to take upon them (as saith Mr. Pryn, a learned Member of that House) to seclude one another for undue Elections, whereas formerly the King and Lords were accounted the sole Judges of all Members of the Commons House, and to have the sole power to judge of their undue Elections, Returns, Misdemeanors, Breaches of Priviledges, and of all other matters concerning their Membership; also freeing any Members from Arrest or Imprisonments, did wholly and solely belong to the Lords, and not to the Commons unless it were by special Order referred by the Lords to the House of Commons, as heretofore sometimes hath been done.

In the time of King Charles the Martyr the Commons went farther, took upon them utterly terly to expell out of their House some of their Fellow Members, as Projectors and Monopolizers, although they had been duly Elected : After this, in the same Kings time, they expelled all such as adhered in Loyalty to the King; next they secluded and imprisoned all such as the Officers of the late Rebellious Army impeached, or disliked; then by the help of that Army, 50 or 60 of the Members of that House, expelled all the rest of their Fellow, and soon after, Voted down the King and the whole House of Lords, and Voted themselves to be the Parliament, to be the sole Legislators, and the Supreme Authority of England; into such a prodigious height of folly and impiety do Men run, when they once allow themselves to pass their due limits.

In the Court of Justice, called the Kings Bench.

FOR the execution of Laws, after the House of Lords in Parliament, the highest Court, in England, is the Kings Bench, so called, because antiently the King sometimes there sate in person on a high Bench, and his Judges on a low Bench at his Feet, to whom the Judicature belongs, in the absence of the King.

In this Court are handled the Pleas of the Crown, all things that concern loss of life, or Member of any Subject; for then the King is concerned, because the Life and Limbs of the Subject, belong only to the King, so that the Pleas here are between the King and the Subject. Here are handled all Treasons, Felonies, breach of Peace, Oppression, Mis-government, &c. This Court, moreover, hath power to examine, and correct all errors in facto, and in jure, of all the Judges and Justices of England in their Judgements and Proceedings, and this not only in Pleas of the Crown, but in all Pleas Real, Personal, and Mixt, except only in the Exchequer.

In this High Court, sit commonly four Grave Reverend Judges, whereof the First is stiled the Lord Chief Justice of the Kings Bench, and is created not by Patent, but by a short Writ, thus: Matheo Hale Militi salutem. Sciatis quod constituimus vos Jusficiarium nostrum Capitalem ad Placita coram nobis tenenda, durante beneplacito nostro, Teste meipso apud Westm.

The rest of the Judges of the Kings Bench, held their Places by Letters Patents, in these words, Rex omnibus ad quos presentes literæ pervenerint venerint salutem. Sciatis quod constituimus dilectum & fidelem Richardum Rainsford Militem, unum Iusticiariorum ad Placita coram nobis tenenda, durante beneplacito nostro. Teste, &c.

These Judges and all the Officers belonging to this Court have all Salaries from the King, and the chief of them have Robes and Liveries out of the Great Wardrobe.

In this Court, all young Lawyers that have been called to the Bar, are allowed to Plead and Practice.

This Court may grant Prohibitions to keep other Courts both Ecclesiastical and Temporal, within their Bounds and due Jurisdiction.

The Jurisdiction of this Court is general, and extendeth to all England, is more uncontrollable than any other Court; for the Law presumes, that the King is always there in Person.

None may be Judge in this Court, unless he be a Sergeant of the Degree of the Coif, that is, a Sergeant at Law, who, upon taking this High Degree is obliged to wear a Lawn Coif under his Cap, for ever after.

The

The Court of Common-Pleas.

THe next Court for execution of Laws, is the Court of Common-Pleas, so called, because there are debated the usual Pleas between Subject and Subject. Some say, this Court, as well as other Courts, was at first held in the Kings House, wheresoever he resided, but by the Statute of Magna Charta, it was ordained, that this Court should not be ambulatory, but be held at a certain place, and that hath ever since been in Westminster-Hall.

None but Sergeants at Law may plead in this Court, and so many of them as the King shall appoint, are bound by Oath, to assist all that have any Cause depending in that Court.

This Court may grant Prohibitions; as the Court of the Kings Bench doth.

The Chief Judge in this Court, is called the Lord Chief Justice of the Common-Pleas, or of the Common-Bench; holdeth his Place by Letters Patent, durante beneplacito, and so do the other inferior Judges of this Court, whereof there are commonly three.

In this Court, all Civil Causes, Real and Personal, are usually tryed, according to the strict Rule of the Law.

Real Actions are pleadable in no other Court, nor Fines levied, or Recoveries suffer'd, but only in this Court at Westminster.

The King allows to the Lord Chief Justice of this Court, a Fee, Reward, Robes, and two Tun of Wine, as is done to the Lord Chief Justice of the other Bench; also to the other Judges of this Court, and to four Sergeants, is allowed Fees, Reward, and Robes to each one.

is

In the 11th and 12th of Edw. 3. there were Eight Judges belonging to the Common-Pleas, at other times, seven, six, and five, and so in the time of Henry 6. and Edw. 4. but since usually but four, as at this day.

Before the Reign of Queen Mary. these, and the rest of the 12 Judges, rode upon Mules, and not upon Horses, as they now do, in great State, at the beginning of the Term.

A List of the several Officers belonging to His Majesties Court of Common-Pleas.

Lord Chief Justice, Sir Francis North, Kt. Sir Hugh Wyndham, Kt. Sir Robert Atkins, Knight of the Bath, Sir William Ellis, Kt. these are the present Judges of that Tribunal.

Then there is an Officer, called Custos Bre-vium, the first Clerk of the Court, whose Office is to receive and keep all Writs returnable in that Court, to receive of the Protonotaries, all the Records of Nisi Prius, called Posters. He holdeth his Place by Patent from the King, and hath the Gift of the Second Protonotaries Place, and of the Clerk of the Juries. Sir Joseph Ash hath this Office, and doth execute it by his Deputy, William Thursby, Esquire.

There are three Protonotaries, a word compounded of Greek and Latine (which with the Antients was usual) and signifies the first Notaries, they are Chief Clerks of this Court, and by their Office are to Enter and Inroll all Declarations, Pleadings, which the Filazers did formerly promiscuously do, Assises, Judgements, and Actions, to make out Judicial Writs, &c. These considerable Offices are in the hands of Thomas Robinson, George Townsend, and Humphrey Wirley, Esquires. The Chirographer (also from two Greek words, signifying to acknowledge a Debt, by setting ones hand) is an Officer who ingrosseth Fines acknowledged, &c. He holdeth his Place also

by Patent, and is at present Mr. Sparks, in Trust for Sir William Drake, who doth execute it by a Deputy Mr. Ways.

All these Officers aforementioned, sit in the Court, covered with black round Caps, according to the mode, immediately before the invention of Hats, which was since the beginning of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth. Moreover, they are all sworn, and have their Offices for life, as a Free-hold.

There are in this Court, three Officers unsworn, and hold their Places durante beneplacito; One Clerk of the Treasury, Mr. George Ingram, who hath the charge of keeping the Records of this Court, and makes out all Records of Nisi prius, and divers other things. This Office is in the Gift of the Lord Chief Justice. 2. Mr. Tho. Sergeant, Clerk of the Inrollments of Fines and Recoveries, who is by Statute, under the three Puisne Judges of this Court, and removeable at their pleasure. Note, That the Inrollment of Fines and Recoveries, or any part thereof, by Stat. 23 Eliz. cap. 3. is of as good force and validity in Law, to all intents and purposes, for so much of any of them so inrolled, as the same being extant and remaining, were, or ought by Law to be: The general neglect whereof in this Kingdom, hath occasioned many Law-Suits, and hath proved in process of time, exceeding dangerous to many Mens Estate. 3. The Clerk of the Outlawries, Richard Anwell, Esq; who makes out the Writs of Capias Uilegatum, (after the parties are returned Outlawed) in the Name of the Kings Attorney, whose Deputy he is, pro tempore.

There are five Clerks more, 1. Clerk of the Kings Silver, Henry Nurse, Esq; unto whom, every Fine, or Final Agreement upon sale of Lands is brought, after it hath been with the Custos Breuium, and to whom Money is paid for the Kings use. 2. Clerk of the Warrants, Mr. Thomas Brown, executed by a Deputy, Mr. James Mayo, who entreth all Warrants of Attorney, for Plaintiff and Defendant, and inrolleth all Deeds, acknowledged before any of the Judges of this Court. 3. Clerk of the Juries, Mr. John Green, who makes out the Writs, called Habeas Corpora, and Distringas Iuratorum, for appearance of the Jury, either in this Court, or at the Assizes in the Countrey. 4. Clerk of the Essoins, or excuses for lawful cause of absence, Mr. William Townley. 5. Clerk of the Supersedeas, Richard Abbot, Esq; which is held by Patent, but before King James's time, the Writs of Supersedeas were made by the Exigenter.

In this Court are also Filazers for the several Counties of England, so called from the French, Fil a Thred, because they file their Writs. These make out all Procces upon Original Writs, and do many other things, too long to be here set down; of these there are 14. viz. Fabian Philips, Esq; who hath London, Middlesex, Huntington and Cambridge Shires. The rest of the Counties are divided amongst these that follow: Sir Thomas Stringer, Kt. Mr. Rashley, Mr. Henry Dottyn, Mr. Richard Spiter, Francis Gray, Esq; Mr. Tho. Winford, Mr. Robert Child, Mr. Charles Clare, Mr. Edmund Le Neve, Mr. John Bennet, Mark Hildestey, Esq; Mr. Thomas Herbert, Ioachim Matthews, Esq; and Mr. Hughs, who is Protonotary Filazer, and Exigenter of Monmouth, by Patent, the rest, in the Gift of the Lord Chief Justice, and hold for life.

There

There are also four Exigenters, whose Office is to make all Exigents and Proclamations, in all Actions where Process of Outlawry doth lye. This Writ is called an Exigent, because it exacteth the Party, that is, requireth his appearance to answer the Law, and lies against a Transgressor of the Law, that cannot be found, nor any of his Goods within the County; so that after summons by the Sheriff, at five several County Courts, if he appear not, he is Outlawed. The four Exigenters at present are, Mr. Duke, Iohn Dawling Esq; Charles Clare, and Master Floyer, all in the Gift of the Lord Chief Justice, and are for life.

There are also belonging to this Court, four Cryers, and a Porter.

F 5 of

Of the Court called the Exchequer.

THe next Court for Execution of Laws, is, that called the Exchequer, so called, as some think, from a Chequer-wrought Carpet, covering the great Table in that Court, as the Court of Green-Cloth in the Kings House is so called from the Green Carpet, or else from the French word Eschequier, a Chess-board, because the Accomptants in that Office, were wont to use such Boards in their Calculation. Here are tryed all Causes which belong to the Kings Treasury or Revenue, as touching Accounts, Disbursements, Customs, and all Fines imposed upon any Man. In this Court, do sit the Lord Treasurer, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Lord Chief Baron, and four other Learned Judges, called Barons of the Exchequer, and one other Cursitor Baron, but the two first seldom sit, and the five last seldom fail. The first of these five, is the Principal Judge of this Court, and answers the Bar or the Baristers, who direct their Speech to him, takes Recognizances for the Kings Debts, &c. It is an Office of High Honour and Profit, he is stiled, Lord Chief Baron, is created by Letters Patents, to hold this Dignity, Quam diu bene se gesserit, wherein he hath a more fixed Estate than the Chief Justices of either Bench, for the Law intends this an Estate for life; in the absence of the Lord Chief Baron, the other three Barons supply his place, according to their Seniority, but the fifth is said to be a Cursitor of the Court, and administers the Oaths to the Sheriffs, Under-Sheriffs, Sheriffs, Bayliffs, Searchers, Surveyors, &c. of the Custom-House.

In the Exchequer are held two Courts, one of Law, another of Equity.

All Judicial Proceedings, according to Law, are coram Baronibus; but the Court of Equity, held in the Exchequer Chamber, is coram The-saurario, Cancellario, & Baronibus. This Court had its beginning, Primo Feb. & Mar.

The Authority of this Court is of Original Jurisdiction, without any Commission.

Note also, that all the other fore-mentioned Courts, were not Instituted by any Statute or Written-Law, but have their Original from the ancient custom of the Kingdom.

For a long time after the Conquest, there sat in the Exchequer, both Spiritual and Temporal Barons of the Realm, and in latter times there sat in their places, others that were not Peers of the Realm, yet stiled Barons, quia ibi sedere solebant Barones.

All the Twelve Judges belonging to these High Tribunals, sit in Robes, and square Caps, like Doctors of Divinity, because (as some say) they were antiently most commonly Clergy-men and Doctors, Bishops or Prelates.

A List

A List of the several Officers, belonging to His Majesties Court of Exchequer.

In this Office there were heretofore twelve sworn Clerks, whereof the two first were called Secondaries; and whose Names are now John Tutbil, and Christopher Barnard, Esquires. This Office also is in the Kings Gift.

Clerk of the Pipe, is Sir Robert Crook, Kt. who hath all the Accounts and Debts due to the King, drawn down out of the Remembrancers Office, and chargeth them down in the Great Roll or Pipe, and therefore probably was it called the Pipe-Office. And the Proceedings are accordingly by Declarations, Pleas, and and Trials, as at the Common-Law, because they should not be drawn out of their own Court, where their attendance is required. In this Office, there are four sworn Attorneys, viz. Thomas Arden, Richard Ogden, Thomas Haynes, and Robert Cutts.

Forreign Opposer is Charles Whittaker, Esq; whose Office is, whereunto all Sheriffs repair, to be by him opposed of their Green Wax, and from thence is drawn down a Charge upon the Sheriff, to the Clerk of the Pipe; this Office is kept in Grays-Inn.

Clerk of the Estreats, Williams, Esq; whose Office is to receive, every Term, the Estreats or Extracts out of the Office of the Remembrancer of the Lord Treasurer; and to write them out, to be levied for the King also, to make Schedules for such Sums, as are to be discharged.

Auditors of the Imprest, Godolphin, and Robert Wylde, Esquires, who Audit the Great Accounts of the Kings Customs, Wardrobe, Mint, First-Fruits, and Tenth, Naval, and Military Expences, Moneys Imprested, &c.

Auditors of the Revenue, there are seven, Sir Edmond Sawyer, Kt. John Philips, Esq; Sir Joseph Seymour, Kt. Aldworth, Parsons, Morice, Esquires, and Sir William Godolphin, Kt. These Audit all the Accounts of the Kings other Revenue, that arise by Aids, granted in Parliament.

Remembrancer of First-Fruits and Tenth, James Rogers, Esq; whose Deputies, George Farrington, and William Prettyman, take all Compositions for First-Fruits and Tenth, and make Process against such as pay not the same: this Office is kept in Hatton-Garden.

-There

There are also two other considerable Officers, called Deputy-Chamberlains, Mr. Vines, and Mr. Lawrence, in whose Office at Westminster, are preserved all the Counterfoils of the Tallies, (whereof more anon) so exactly ranged by Months and Years, that they may presently be found out, to be joyned with their respective Stock or Tally, when thereunto required; which being done, and proving true, they deliver the same, attested for a lawful Tally to the Clerk of the Pipe, for to be allowed in the Great Roll; but in case any corruption hath been used, the same is easily, and soon discovered, and the Offender severely punished, by Fine and Imprisonment.

There are also divers other Officers, as Clerk of the Parcels, Clerk of the Nichils, Marshals, Usher of the Exchequer, whose Office is executed by a Deputy; also four Under Ushers.

Of the other part of the Exchequer, called by some the Lower-Exchequer, where the Kings Revenue is Received and Disbursed, with admirable Order and Frugality.

THe Principal Officer is the Lord Treasurer, of whom, see the First Part of the Present State of England.

This Office, upon the Resignation of the late Lord Clifford, was conferred upon the Right Honourable, the Lord Vicount Latimer, since created Earl of Danby.

There is one Secretary, Charles Bertue, Esq; Brother to the Earl of Lindsey.

Next is the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who is also an Officer of great Account and Authority; he hath a Principal Power, not onely in the Exchequer Court, but also here, in the managing and disposing of the Kings Revenue: He hath also the custody of the Exchequer Seal. This Office is now enjoyed by Sir John Duncomb.

Then there are two Chamberlains of the Exchequer, Sir Nicholas Steward, and Mr. Hyl-diard, in whose custody are many antient Records, Leagues and Treaties, with Forreign Princes, the Standards of Moneys, Weights, and Measures, those antient famous Books, called Dooms-day, and the Black-Book of the Exchequer; whereof the former is Liber Censu-aliæ totius Angliæ, the Tax-Book of England, made by William the Conqueror, wherein is described described all the Lands of England, with the true value, and their Owners names; it was six years in making, viz, from the 14th. to the 20th year of that King, and called at first, Regulus Wintonia, but since named Dooms-day Book, because therein was set down an exact Account, not onely of all the Cities, Towns, and Villages of England, but the number of Families, of Men, Soldiers, and Husbandmen, Bondmen, Servants, Cattel; how much Money, what Rent, how much Meadow, Pasture, Woods, Tillage, Common, Marsh, Heath, every one possessed: and when any one was cited, or any difference arose about those things and Taxes, &c. there was no place for denying, or deceiving the King (whereof many men now make little conscience, though all good Christians ever accounted it a grievous and heinous sin) when this Book was opened, like as it will be at the opening of the Book, at the great day of Doom, or General Judgement of the world. This Book is kept under three Locks and Keys, not to be look'd into under 6 s. 8 d. and for every Line transcribed, is to be paid 4 d.

Next is the Auditor of the Receipts, Sir Robert Howard, whose Office is to file the Bills of the Tellers, whereby they charge themselves with all Money received, and to draw all Orders to be Signed by the Lord High Treasurer, for issuing forth all Moneys by vertue of Privy Seals, which are Recorded and Lodged in his Office. He also makes Debentures to the several Persons, who have Fees, Annuities, or Pensions by Letters Patents, from the King, out of the Exchequer, and directs them for payment to the Tellers. He receives every week, the state of the Account of each Teller, and also weekly, certifies the whole to the the Lord High Treasurer, who immediately presents the Estimate or Ballance to the King. He takes the Tellers Account in gross, at Easter and Michaelmas. By him are kept the several Registers, appointed for paying all persons in course, upon several branches of the Kings Revenue. He is Scriptor Talliorum, hath five Clerks to manage the whole Estate of Moneys received, disbursed, and remaining.

Next, there are four Tellers, Lawrence Squibb-Loving, Esquires, Sir George Downing, and Sir Will. Doily, Knights. Their Office is to receive all Moneys due to the King; and thereupon to throw down a Bill through a Pipe into the Tally-Court, where it is received by the Auditors Clerk, who there attends to write the words of the said Bill upon a Tally, and then deliver the same to be entred by the Clerk of the Pells, or his under Clerk, who there attends to enter it in his Book; then the Tally is cloven by the two Deputy-Chamberlains, who have their Seals; and while the Senior Deputy reads one part, the Junior examines the other part with the other two Clerks.

Clerk of the Pells, is William Wardour, Esq; whose Office is to enter every Tellers Bill into a Parchment Skin, (in Latine, Pellis, whence this Office hath its name) all Receipts and Payments for the King, for what cause, or by whomsoever; and is in nature of a Comptroller, hath four Clerks, whereof one is for the Introitus, and another for the Exitus. Moreover, he is to make weekly, and half-yearly Books, both of the Receipts and Payments, which are delivered to the Lord Treasurer.

In the Tally-Court, sit the Deputies of the two Chamberlains, Edward Falconbridge, and John

John Low, Esquires, who cleave the Tallies, and examine each piece apart.

A Tally in the Exchequer, from the French Verb, Tailler, to cut, is a very antient, and most certain way of avoiding all cozenage in the Kings Revenue; the like no where else in Christendom, and is after this manner:

He that pays the King any moneys, receives for his Acquittance a Tally, that is, the one half of a stick cloven, with certain proportionable Notches thereon, expressive of the sum from the said Deputy-Chamberlains, who keep the other cloven part of the stick, called the Foyl, and deliver it to the Tally-Joyners, on the other side of the Exchequer, who are also Deputies to the Chamberlains, and they joyn it with the Foyl, which agreeing, they give it their Test, and send it by an Officer of their own to the Pipe, where their Quictus est is ingrossed in Parchment.

Other Officers in the Exchequer are the two Ushers. Robert, and Philis Packer, Esquires, whose Office is to take care to secure the Exchequer by day and by night, and all the Avenues leading to the same, and to furnish all necessaries, as Books, Paper, &c.

There is also a Tally-cutter, and four Messengers.

By long continuance, and the wisest contrivances that the ablest Men of many ages could invent, the Exchequer of the King of England, is become the best ordered publick Revenue in the world.

Though the number of Officers in the Exchequer, is far greater, than in any other of the Kings Courts, yet not near so great as the Financers, and other Officers belonging to the Revenues of the French King, who are so many that that their Fees eat up a very considerable part of the whole Revenue : whereas, for rewarding all the Officers in the English Exchequer, whereof most are ever persons of Estates, Parts, and great Integrity, it costs the King a very inconsiderable sum of Money, as will easily appear to any one who shall consider, that in case of a gift from the King of Moneys, or Pension out of His Exchequer, he that receives it, pays but 5 l. per Cent. amongst the Tellers, Auditors, Clerk of the Pells, and their Clerks, and to all other Officers whatsoever ; and, which is remarkable, there goes not amongst the said Officers and Clerks, so much, as 5 s. per Cent. out of publick Payments, as for the Navy, Ordnance, Wardrobe, Mint, to the Conferer, Treasurer of the Chamber, &c.

In case of Moneys paid in by any of the Kings Tenants, Receivers, it costs them sometimes but 6 d. and at most but 3 s. for every payment, under a thousand pounds ; and that goes onely to the Clerks for their pains in writing and attending.

The bringing in of all Moneys to the King, costs His Majesty, amongst Receivers, Collectors, and all others in the Countrey, not above 2 s. in the pound ; and at his Exchequer, it costs him in a manner nothing at all ; for the Tellers who are bound to the King, in 20000 l. security, for the true discharge of their great Trusts, have under 33 l. p. an. for their Salary from the King, and the two Clerks of each Teller, who constantly attend their Offices, have nothing at all from the King.

The

The Court of the Dutchy of Lancaſter.

THere is another Court at Westmiſter, called the Court of the Dutchy of Lancaſter, which takes cognizance of all Cauſes, that any way concern the Revenue belonging to that Dutchy, which hath been long ſince annexed to the Crown.

The Chief Judge of this Court, is the Chancellor of the Dutchy, who is aſſiſted by the Attorney of the Dutchy. There are divers other Officers of this Court, a Liſt of whole Names here follow.

Sir Robert Carr, Chancellor, and one of His Majesties moſt Honourable Privy-Council, Sir John Heath, Attorney-General, Sir John Cuyzon, Receiver-General, Sir Thomas Trevor, Knight of the Bath, and John Fanſhaw, Eſq; Auditors. Sir Gilbert Gerard, Clerk of the Dutchy, Thomas Deſborough, Meſſenger. This Court is kept at Westmiſter, by the Lower Exchequer, and the Office of Sir Gilbert Gerard at Grays-Inn.

Of the High Court of Chancery.

NExt to the Kings Bench in Westminster-Hall, is wisely placed this High Court, to mitigate the rigor of that; it is called, Curia Cancellaria, as some judge, because, as some think, the judge of this Court saie anti-ently Intra Cancellus, or Lattices, as the East end of our Churches being separated per Cancellus, from the Body of the Church, aspecu-ly belonging to the Priest, were thence called Chancels.

This Court is the Officina Iustitiae, the Womb of all our Fundamental Laws, the Fountain of all our Proceedings in Law, the original of all other Courts. It is as antient as the civility of the Nation, though perhaps by another name.

This Court proceeds, either ordinarily, according to the Laws, Statutes, and Customs of the Nation, and in Latine, granting out Writs Mandatory, and Remedial; Writs of Grace, or else according to Equity and Conscience, and by Englisb Bill: so that the Chancery hath two Courts in one: the equitable part is by Bills, Answers, and Decrees, to examine Frauds, Combinations, Trusts, Secret Uses, &c. to moderate the rigor of the Laws, and rescue Men out of the hands of their Oppressors. To relieve a man, especially in three things, viz. against Cheats, unfortunate Accidents, and breaches of Trust.

Out of this Court issue out Writs or Summons for Parliaments, Edicts, Proclamations, Charters, Protections, safe Conducts, Writs of Moderata Misericordia, when any person hath been amerced too high, and for a reasonable part part of goods for Widows and Orphans, Patents for Sheriffs, Writs of Certiorari to remove Records, and false Judgements in inferior Courts, Writs of Audita Querela, and Scire facias; here are Sealed and Inrolled Letters Patents, Treaties and Leagues with Foreign Princes, Deeds between Party and Party, touching their Lands and Estates, or Purchasers, taking Recognizances, and making of Extents upon Statutes and Recognizances for payment of Moneys, or securing of Contracts, Writs Remedial or Magisterial, Commissions of Appeal, Oyer and Terminer, &c. The Court of Common-Pleas, which are betwixt Subject and Subject, hath its Original, and Commissions from the Chancery, and cannot hold Pleas without it.

For the Latine part of this Court, are the 24 Cursitors; and for the English Part, are the Six Clerks.

The Court of Equity, that proceeds not according to Law, is no Court of Record, and therefore binds onely the Person, not his Lands or Goods.

The Judge of this Court, is the Lord Chancellor, or Lord Keeper of the Great Seal of England. He is here the sole Judge, whereas in other Courts, there are three or four Judges but he may and doth, often in cases of greater weight and difficulty, in cases of Law, call some of the other Judges to his assistance; and therefore it is said, this Office may be discharged by one that is no professed Lawyer, as it was almost always antiently; and so of later times by Sir Christopher Hatton, and after by Doctor Williams, Bishop of Lincoln, to their great praise and commendation.

It is the highest Dignity in England, that a Layman is capable of, it is Summum ambientis animi quasi Solstitium; and the Chancellor is, Magistratum omnium Antistes.

Antiently the Lord Chancellor had sometimes his Vice-Chancellor, commonly called, Keeper of the Great Seal; but of latter times, they differ onely in name.

In France, he that is made Chancellor, is Durante vita, his Place cannot be taken away, although the Seals may. It is said there, that he is so to attend to the sole Interest of the King and People, that he must not be sensible of any Relations, or other consideration; and therefore he may not put himself in mourning, neither for his own Father, nor for the King himself.

Chancellours have been in England, as the Learned Dugdale finds, as soon as Christianity was embraced by the Saxons.

The Chancellor is said to be Keeper of the Kings Conscience, to judge secundum æquum & bonum, according to Equity and Conscience; he is to moderate the τὸ ἀκριβοδίκαιον, the exact Rigor and Letter of the Law, whereunto other Judges are strictly tied: For the Princes of this Realm, (in imitation of the King of Kings, governing the World by Justice and Mercy) have erected two Supream Tribunals together, at the upper end of Westminster-Hall; one of Justice, wherein nothing but the strict Letter of the Law is observed; and the other of Mercy, wherein the Rigor of the Law is tempered with the sweetness of Equity, which is nothing else but Mercy, qualifying the sharpness of Justice.

This Court being a Court of Conscience, the less it is perplexed with the quirks of Lawyers the

the.

The more it is guided by Conscience and Equity; and therefore the Kings of England would have this Court superior to the other Tribunals, that so, if any thing was done amiss, by those following the Rigor of the Law, here, by good Conscience and Equity, it might be amended: wherein they followed the noble Pattern of the Great Constantine, Qui omnes suas leges imperfectas esse voluit, ut inde subditi sui appellarent ad Episcopos; and therefore in all former times, the Judges of this Court were chosen out of the Clergy, able Divines, who by their skill in the Law of God, and of Nations, were best able to judge, according to Moderation and Equity, and most willing to execute accordingly; also fittest to dispose of the Kings Spiritual Benefices.

Besides, when this High Office was given to Bishops and Clergy-men, and thereby Wealth, and a publick Spirit, usually conjoynd, what great publick Acts of Piety and Charity, were done by them for this Nation? To mention onely in Oxford, what Noble and Rich Foundations are Christ's-Church, Magdalens, New-Colledge, and Meyron Colledge? All founded by Bishops that were Chancellors; and on the contrary, since the places of Chancellor, Treasurer, Privy-Seal, &c. have been usually in the hands of Laymen, what one great Work hath been done for the Publick, but onely Wealth heaped up for their own private Families.

The manner of Proceeding in this Court, is much like that in the Courts of the Civil-Law, the Actions by Bill or Plaint, the Witnesses examined in private, the Decrees in English or Latine, not in French. No Jury of Twelve Men, but all Sentences given by the Judge of the Court.

The Chancellor or Lord-Keeper hath twelve Assistants, antiently called Clerici, or Magistri Cancellariae, because they were usually in Holy Orders, and all Doctors of Laws, for Master and Doctor was antiently the same, as at this day, a Doctor in the Arts, is called Magister in Artibus.

The first of these is called Master of the Rolls, a place of great Dignity; and is in the gift of the King, either for life, or during His Majesties pleasure: and this Officer hath Iure Officii, the gift of those considerable Officers of the Six Clerks in Chancery, hath the keeping of the Rolls, hath the House of the Converted Jews, now called the Rolls, and in the absence of the Chancellor, hears Causes, and makes Orders, by vertue of a Commission, with two Masters, and that Iure Officii.

One reason, why the Masters of Chancery were ever Civilians, may be, because for all Causes, almost imaginable, some Law, or Case conformable thereunto, may be fetched by a good Civilian out of that Law of Laws, called the Civil Law. Another may be, because the Chancery more antient than in any other Court of England (for all original Writs and Commissions; whercupon the other Courts do ground all their proceedings, do ground from thence) hath probably been taken from the Civil Law; divers points of proceedings not used in Common Law-Courts, as the Defendants answering to the Bill, and sometimes to the Interrogatories upon Oath, though to the accusing of a Mans self, in divers Matters damageable, and penal; also by the whole manner of publication, the deposition of Witnesses upon Interrogatories, and in perpetuam rei memoriam, by the term and use of final Decree, and many other other points differing from the Common-Law, and wholly agreeing with the Civil Law.

This Court is always open, whereas all the others are shut, but onely in Term time; so that if a Man be wrongfully imprisoned, in the Vacation time out of Term, the Lord Chancellor may grant his Writ of Habeas Corpus, and do him justice according to Law; So likewise may this Court grant Prohibitions, in time of Vacation, as well as in Term time.

A List of the several Officers belonging to the High Court of Chancery.

This Office is now enjoyed by Henry Seymour Esquire, and executed by a Deputy, Mr. Edward Seymour.

The present State

Warden of the Fleet, or Keeper of the Fleet-Prison, is an Office very considerable, and is to take care of the Prisoners there, who are commonly such as are sent thither from this Court, for contempt to the King or his Laws, or such as will not pay their Debts, &c. The present Warden is Sir Jeremy Witchcote: It is executed by a Deputy.

Sergeant at Arms is Sir George Chernocke Knight, whose Office is to bear a gilt Mace before the Lord Chancellor or Keeper for the time being.

Six Clerks are Officers of great account, next in degree to the Twelve Masters in Chancery, whose Office is to inroll Commissions, Pardons, Patents, Warrants, &c. that are passed the Great Seal. They were antiently Clerici, and afterwards forfeited their places if they did Marry, till by Act of Parliament, in the time of Henry the Eighth, they were allowed to take Wives.

They are also Attourneys for Plaintiffs and Defendants, in Causes depending in this Court.

The present six Clerks, Sir John Marsham Kt. and Bar. Matt. Pindar Esq; Matt. Bluck, Esq. Sir Cyril Wiche Kt. John Wilkinson Esq; and Sir *Edw. AN

All the forementioned Courts of Judicature at Westminster, are opened four times a year, called the four Terms, viz. Easter Term, which beginneth always the seventeenth day after Easter, and lasteth 27 days. Trinity Term begins the Fifth day after Trinity Sunday, and lasteth 20 days. Michaelmas Term began heretofore a little after that Feast, but now, by a late Statute, begins the 23 of October, and lasteth 37 days. Lastly, Hilary Term begins now 10 days after St. Hilary Bishop, or the 23 of January, and lasteth 21 days; so in all 105 days, from whence must be deducted about 20 Sundays and Holidays, which are as Dies Nefasti, wherein the Courts sit not: so that in one fourth part of the year, and that in one City, all considerable causes of the greatest part of England are fully decided and determined; whereas in Foreign parts, the Courts of Justice are open all the year, except high Holy-days, and Harvest, and that in all great Cities. This may seem therefore strange to all Forreigners, till they know that the English have always been given more to peaceableness and industry than other people, and that rather then go so far as London, and be at so great charges with Attourneys and Lawyers, they will either refer their differences to the Arbitration of their Parish Priests, who do, or ought to think it a principal part of their Duty to reconcile Differences within their Parishes; or to the Arbitration of honest Neighbors, or else are content to submit their Differences to tryal before the Judges of Assises, called also Justices in Eyre, or the Itinerant Judges, who twice a year, viz. after the end of Hilary Term, and after the end of Trini-

Trinity Term, two by two of these principal Judges ride several Circuits, and at the principal Town of every County, sit to hear and determine all Causes of lesser moment, both Civil and Criminal; a most excellent wise constitution, begun by King Henry the Second, Anno 1176. who at first divided England into six Circuits (not the same that are now) and to each Circuit allotted three Judges. Wales also is divided into two Circuits, North and South Wales, for which are designed in like manner two Sergeants at Law for each Circuit. These Judges give Judgement of the Pleas of the Crown, and all Common Pleas within those Counties, dispatching, ordinarily in two or three days, all Controversies in a County that are grown to issue in the forementioned Courts at London, between Plaintiffs and Defendants, and that by their Peers: a Jury of Twelve Men, ex viceneto, out of the Neighborhood, whereabout the business lies. So that twice a year in England and Wales Justice may be said to be rightly and speedily administered even at our own doors.

Besides the forementioned Courts at Westminster, Henry the eighth erected, for the more ease of the Subject, a Court in the North of England, another for the Countrey of Wales, and Counties adjoining; and intended another for Cornwall and Devonshire; and these in manner of those Courts, called in France, Parlements, where all cases might be decided, both according to the Laws of England, and according to Equity in Chancery: Of these Courts, that for Cornwall was never fully erected, those people desiring rather to come to London for Justice; that of the North was, by the late Long Parliament taken away, and so was that that of Wales; but this last since the Restoration of the King again erected. Of this Court or Council of the Marches of Wales is a Lord President, at present the Right Honorable Henry Somerset, Marquis and Earl of Worcester; divers Counsellors, Secretary, Attourney, Solicitor, Surveyor, who have Salaries from His Majesty.

HAVING given a brief account of the Civil Government of all England in General, next shall be described the particular Government of Counties, Hundreds, Cities, Barroughs, and Villages.

For the Civil Government of all Counties, the King makes choice of some of the Nobility, Clergy, Gentry, and Lawyers, Men of worth and parts, who have their usual residence in the County, so many as His Majesty pleaseth, to keep the Peace of the County; and these, by Commission under the Great Seal, are called Justices of the Peace, at first styled Wardens of the Peace, and such of them in whom the King doth more particularly confide, or respect, are called Justices of the Quorum, from those words in the Commission, Quorum A. B. unum esse volumus, that is, some business of more importance, may not be transacted without the presence or concurrence of one of them.

One of the principal Justices of Peace and Quorum, is, by the Lord Chancellor, made Custos Rotulorum, so called, because he hath the custody of the Rolls; or Records of the Sessions.

ons, and is to bring them to each Quarter Sessions.

The Original of Justices of Peace is from the first year of Edward the Third.

Their Office is to call before them, examine and commit to Prison all Theeves, Murderers, Wandring Rogues, those that hold Conspiracies, Conventicles, Riots, and almost all other Delinquencies that may occasion the breach of peace and quiet to the Kings Subjects; to commit all such to prison, as either cannot, or by Law are not, to be bailed (that is, cannot be fet at liberty by Sureties, taken for their appearance at a place and time certain) and to see them brought forth in due time to Tryal.

Every Quarter or Three Months, the Justices meet at the Chief or Shire-Town, where the Grand Inquest or Jury of the County is summoned to appear, who upon Oath, are to inquire of all Traitors, Hereticks, Theeves, Murderers, Money-Coiners, Riots, &c. Those that appear to be guilty, are by the said Justices committed to prison, to be tryed at the next Assises, when the Judges at Westminster come their Circuits aforementioned.

For the execution of Laws in every County except Westmorland and Durham; the King every Michaelmas Term, nominates for each County, a Sheriff, that is, a Reeve of the Shire, Præpositus, or Præfectus Comitatus, a Governor or Guardian of the County, for the words of the Patent are, Commissarius tibi Curiam Comitatus nostri de N.

The Sheriffs Office is to execute the Kings Mandates, and all Writs directed to him out of the Kings Courts, to empannel Juries, to bring Causes and Criminals to Tryal, to see the Sen-

Sentences both in Civil and Criminal Affairs executed; to wait on and guard the Itinerant Judges twice a year, so long as they continue within the County, which at the Assises is performed with great Pomp, Splendor, Feasting, &c. In order to the better execution of his Office, the Sheriff hath attendant his under Sheriff, divers Clerks, Stewards of Courts, Bayliffs of Hundreds, Constables, Gaolers, Sergeants or Beadles, besides a gallant Train of Servants in rich Liveries, all on Horseback at the reception of the Judges.

He was antiently chosen as Knights of the Shire, but to avoid tumults it is now thus:

Every year about the beginning of November, the Judges Itinerant nominate six fit Men of each County, that is Knights, or Esquires of good Estates, out of these the Lords Chancellor, Treasurer, Privy Counsellors, and 12 Judges assemble in the Exchequer Chamber and sworn, make choice of three, of which the King himself after chooseth one to be Sheriff, for that year onely, though heretofore it was for many years, and sometimes Hereditary; as at this day to the Cliffords, who by descent from Robert de Vipont, are Sheriffs hereditary of the County of Westmorland, by Charter from King John.

Furthermore, the Sheriffs Office is to collect all publick Profits, Customs, Taxes of the County, all Fines, Distresses and Amerciaments, and to bring them into the Kings Exchequer or Treasury at London, or elsewhere, as the King shall appoint.

The Sheriff of each County hath a double function, first Ministerial to execute all Processes and Precepts of the Courts of Law, and to make returns of the same. Secondly, Judicial, dicial whereby he hath Authority to hold two several Courts of distinct nature, the one called the Sheriffs Turn, which he holdeth in several places of the County, enquiring of all Criminal Offences against the Common-Law, not prohibited by any Statute: The other called the County-Court, wherein he hears and determines Civil Causes of the County under 40 s. which antiently was a considerable sum; so that by the great fall of the Moneys now, the Sheriffs Authority in that part is much diminished.

He is said to be the Life of Justice, of the Law, and of the County, for no Suit begins, and no Process is served but by him, then no execution of the Law, but by him. Lastly, he is the Chief Conservator of the Peace in the whole County. Every County being subdivided into Hundreds (so called at first, either for containing an hundred Houses, or an hundred Men bound to find Arms) or Wapentakes, so called, from touching a Weapon, when they swore Allegeance (as the manner at this day is in Sueden, at their Solemn Weddings, for the chief Witnesses to lay all their hands upon a Lance or Pike) every such Wapentake or Hundred hath commonly a Bailiff, a very antient Officer, but now of small Authority: also Officers called Higb Constables, first ordained by the Statute of Winchester, 13 Edw. I. for conservation of Peace and view of Armour, they disperse Warrants and Orders of the Justices of Peace to each petty Constable.

There are also in every County two Officers, called Coroners, whose Office is to enquire by a Jury of Neighbors how and by whom any person came by a violent death, and to enter the same upon Record, which is matter matter Criminal, and a plea of the Crown, and thence they are called Crowners or Coroners.

These are chosen by the Free-holders of the County, by vertue of a Writ out of the Chancery. They were antiently Men of Estates, Birth and Honour: and therefore in the Reign of Edward the Third, a Merchant being chosen a Coroner was removed, quia communis Mercator fuit, whereas he ought to have been a Gentleman, which no Trademen is reckoned to be by our Laws.

Every County also hath an Officer called Clerk of the Mercat, whose Office is to keep a Standard of all Weights and Measures exactly, according with the Kings Standard kept in the Exchequer, and to see that none others be used in the same County, to Seal all Weights and Measures made exactly by the Standard in his Custody, and to burn such as are otherwise. He hath a Court and may keep and hold Plea therein.

Of the Civil Government of Cities.

F Very City of England by their Charters or Priviledges granted by several Kings, is a little Common-wealth apart, governed not as the Cities of France, by a Nobleman or Gentleman placed there by the King; but wholly by themselves, they choose among themselves their own Governor; in Cities a Mayor is chosen, commonly out of 12 Aldermen. In some other Corporations, a Bailiff is chosen out of a certain number of Burgeses.

They are not taxed, but by their own Officers of their own Corporation, every Trade having some of their own always of the Council, to see that nothing be enacted contrary to their pro- t.

Every City by Charter from the King hath haute moyenne & basse Justice, a Jurisdiction among themselves, to judge in all matters criminal and civil, onely with this restraint, that all civil causes may be removed from their Courts to the Higher Courts at Westminster.

The Mayor of the City is the Kings Lieutenant, and with the Aldermen and Common-Council (as it were King, Lords and Commons in Parliament) can make Laws called By-Laws, for the Government of the City.

He is for his time (which is but for one year) as it were a Judge to determine matters, and to mitigate the Rigour of the Law.

The next in Government of Cities are two principal Officers, called, though improperly;

Sbc-

Sheriffs, who are Judges in civil causes within this City, and to see all execution done, whether penal or capital, and should rather be called Stat-reeves, or Port-reeves (i. e.) Urbis vel Portus Præfetti.

In Cities the people are generally made more industrious by Manufactures, and less idleness suffered than in other places, so that in some Cities, children of six or seven years old are made to gain their own expences. In the City of Normich, it hath of late years been computed and found, that yearly, children from six to ten years of age, have gained Twelve thousand pounds more than what they spend, and that chiefly by knitting fine Fersey Stockings.

The Government of Boroughs, and other Towns Corporate, is much after the same manner. In some there is a Mayor, in others one or two Bailiffs, who have equal power with a Mayor and Sheriffs, and during their Offices, they are Justices of the Peace within their Liberties, and have there the same power that other Justices of the Peace have in the County.

For the better Government of Villages the Lord of the place hath ordinarily power to hold a Court Baron, so called, because anciently such Lords were called Barons, as they are still in many parts of France: or else Court-Baron (i. e.) Court of Freeholders, as the Barons of Germany are called Freyherren; so the Barons of the Cinque Ports in England are but the Freeholders of the Cinque Ports. And this Court may be held every three Weeks.

As for the Government of Villages there is a Petty Constable chosen every year by every ry one that is Lord of the place: this Officer is to keep the Peace, in case of quarrels, to search any house for Robbers, Murderers, or others that have any ways broken the Peace: to raise the Hue and Cry after Robbers fled away, to seize upon them, and keep them in the Stocks or other Prison till they can bring them before some Justice of Peace, to whom the Constables are subservient upon all occasions, either to bring Criminals before them, or to carry them by their command to the Common Prison.

Every little Village hath almost an Epitome of Monarchical Government, of Civil and Ecclesiastical Policy within it self, which if duly maintained, would render the whole Kingdom happy.

First, for the Civil Government, there is the Lord of the Soil, who from the Crown; immediately or mediately, holds Dominium soli, and is said to have in him the Royalty, as if he were a little King, and hath a kind of Jurisdiction over the Inhabitants of the Village; hath his Court-Leet or Court-Baron, to which they owe suit, and service, and where may be tryed smaller matters happening within the Mannor, Escheats upon Felonies, or other accidents, Custody of Infants and Lunatics, power of passing Estates, and admitting of Tenants, Reliefs, Hariots, Hunting, Hawking, Fishing, &c. under the Lord is the Constable or Headborough, to keep the Peace, to secure Offenders, to bring them before the Justice, &c.

Then for the Ecclesiastical Government of Villages, there is (as before hath been mentioned) the Parson or Vicar, who hath Cura Animarum, the care of Souls, (as the Lord of the Mannor, hath, in some measure Curam Corporum) for which he hath the Tythes, Glebe, and Church Offerings, hath under him the Church-wardens and Sides-Men to take care of the Church, and Church Assemblies; the Overseers of the Poor, to take care of the Poor, Sick, Aged, Orphans, and other Objects of Charity, and lastly, the Clerk to wait upon him at Divine Service.

Thus admirable and excellent is the Constitution of the present English Government, above, or beyond any other Government in Christendom.

*O Fortunatos nimium bona se sua norint

If English Men did know their Bliss,
Too great would be their Happiness.

Of the Military Government of England.

IT was a smart Motto, that the Great Henry the IV of France, Grandfather to our Gracious King now Reigning, caused to be engraven on his Great Guns, Ratio Ultima Regum: intimating thereby, that when Subjects refuse to submit to the Laws of the Land, or neighbors to the Law of Nations; then Kings have recourse to Force and Arms, to bring them to Reason.

So long as Subjects are prone to Sedition, and Neighbor Princes and States to Ambition, there will be a necessity of a Military Power in every State, both by Land, and likewise by Sea, where the Countrey is any where bordering on the Sea.

Of the Military Power of England, both by Land and Sea, the King of England, hath the sole Supreme Power, Government, Command and Disposition. And neither one, nor both Houses of Parliament, have any right to levy any Forces, or make any War, Offensive or Defensive, as they have at large declared in Parliament, Anno 14. Car. 2.

By Land, the next under the King, was the late Duke of Albemarle, who, by His Majesties Commission, dated the 14 of April, 1660. at Breda, was made Generalissimo of all His Majesties Forces, in all His three Kingdoms, Horse and Foot, Land Soldiers in pay, as well within Garrison as without.

Since

Since the death of the afore-mentioned Duke, the Horse and Foot which are in constant pay, are thus ordered: there are four excellent Regiments of Foot. The first is called the Kings Regiment, consisting of twenty four Companies, and near 1700 Men, Commanded by Col. John Russel, whose Lieutenant Colonel, is Edw. Grey, Brother to the Lord Grey, and whose Major, is William Rolleston.

The next is the Duke of York's Regiment, seven hundred and twenty Men, Commanded by Sir Charles Littleton, whose Lieutenant-Colonel, is Sir John Griffith, and his Major, Nathaniel Dorrel.

Of the third Regiment, 600 Men, Sir Walter Vane is Colonel. Thomas Howard of Suffolk, Lieutenant-Colonel, and Sir Thomas Oagle, Major.

Of the fourth Regiment, 960, the Colonel, is the Earl of Craven, his Lieutenant-Colonel is Sir James Smith, his Major, Winter.

There is also a gallant Regiment of Horse, consisting of eight Troops, about 500 Horse, besides Officers, commanded by the Earl of Oxford, and his Major is Francis Wyndham.

His Majesty hath besides, three compleat Troops for his Life-Guard, whereof, one is called the Kings Troop, consisting of two hundred Horse, and commanded by the Duke of Monmouth: Another the Queens Troop, One hundred and fifty Horse, and commanded by Sir Philip Howard; And the third, the Duke of York's Troop, One hundred and fifty Horse, and commanded by the Marquis of Blanquefort, whereof, see more in the First Part of the Present State of England.

The

The Pay of a Colonel of Foot, is 12 s. per diem, and of a Colonel of Horse, 20 s. per diem. the other Officers have proportionable Pay. Each Foot-Soldier in London, hath 10 d. a day, and each Horseman, 2 s. 6 d. a day. Onely those of the Life-Guard, have each 4 s. a day.

The rest of His Majesties Forces, that are in constant pay, are disposed of into several Garrisons, a List whereof follows Alphabetically, with the Names of their several Governours.

In some of these Garrisons, His Majesty is at the charge of above 500 Men constantly; each Garrison Soldier hath Eight pence a day.

Of all the Land Forces in pay, the Commissaries-General of Musters, are Henry Howard of Suffolk, and Sir Cecil Howard.

The Judge-Advocate, Doctor Sam. Barrow.

For regulating and ordering His Majesties Land Forces, that are in constant pay, there are no Orders, yet settled by Act of Parliament, as there are for his Sea-Forces, but may be in a short time.

Besides, the aforementioned Forces, there is a standing Militia by Land, of all England, settled in the King, to be Governed, Ordered, and Enlarged from time to time, as His Majesty shall see occasion.

For the management of these standing Land-Forces, the King himself makes choice of divers of the Principal Peers of this Kingdom, and by Commission, creates them Lord Lieutenants of the several Counties of England, with power to Arm, Array, and Form into Companies, Troops, and Regiments, to Conduct (upon occasion of Rebellion, or Invasions) and employ the Men so armed, within the Counties and Places, for which the said Lords are Commissionated, or into any other County, as the King shall give Order. To give Commissions to Colonels, or other Commissionated Officers, to present to the King, the Names of the Deputy-Lieutenants, who have, in the absence of the Lord-Lieutenant, the same power (and these are to be of the prime Gentry of the County) to charge any person in the County with Horse, Horsemen, and Arms, or

Et.

Foot-Soldiers and Arms, within the said County, proportionably to their Estates, with limitation, that no person be charged with a Horse, unless he hath 500 l. yearly Revenue, or 6000 l. personal Estate. No person can be charged with a Foot-Soldier, unless he hath 50 l. yearly Revenue, or 600 l. personal Estate. Those that have meaner Estates, are to joyn two or three together; to find a Horse and Horseman, or a Foot-Soldier,

The fore-mentioned Horse and Foot are to Muster once or twice a year, and each Horseman, during the time of the Muster, to be allowed him, for whom he serves, 2 s. a day, and each Foot-Soldier 12 d. a day.

For furnishing Ammunition, and other Necessaries, the Lord-Lieutenant, or Deputy-Lieutenants, may levy every year one fourth part (if they judge it expedient) of each Mans proportion in the Tax of 70000 l. a month, upon the whole Kingdom: and in the case of marching against an Enemy, they have power to cause every man so charged, to allow each Soldier one months pay, which the King is, after to repay, before they may be charged with another months pay.

These Forces are always in readiness, with all things necessary, at the beat of a Drum, or sound of Trumpet, to appear, Muster, and be compleat with Men, Horse and Arms, and are at certain times Trained, and Disciplined, that they become able, skilful, and useful Soldiers.

These are to be commanded, onely within the Kingdom, for the security of the King and Kingdom.

Subservient in the standing Milisia, to the Lord-Lieutenant, and Deputy-Lieutenant, are the Justices of Peace of every County, who,

upon

upon all occasions, according to the Orders of their Superiors, are to send their Warrantsto the High Constable of the Hundred, or Petty-Constable of the Parish, &c.

These are commonly called the Trainbands of every County, whereof the number is so great, that in only five of the bigger Counties of England, there are to be found well provided, forty thousand able lusty Men, ready to assist the King upon all occasions, so that in all times of Peace, the King hath six or seven-score thousand Men inrolled, and wholly and solely at his disposing, for the defence of his Kingdom of England.

For the better securing of the Kingdom, from forreign Invasion, besides the Ships of War, (whereof more anon) there are upon certain eminent places of all parts of England, Mediterranean, as well as Maritime, high Poles erected, whereon are fastened pitch-Barrels, to be fired by night, and a smoak made by day, thereby to give notice in few hours to the whole Kingdom, of the approaching Invasion; whereupon the Inhabitants in Arms, make haste to the Sea-coasts. These are called Beacons, from the Saxon, Beacen, or Beacnian, to shew by a sign. In all times of danger, some are set to watch at every Beacon.

Antiently, there were many Castles in all parts of England; but inland Castles, generally have either been demolisht in latter times, or wittingly suffered to decay, that to Rebels they might be no shelter, to Invaders no stay, nor to the Invaded any refuge in flight, and consequently, that there may not be any lingring War again in England, which is the greatest misery and calamity, that can ever happen to a Nation,

In

In 1588 upon expectation of the Spanish Armado, stiled Invincible, there went forth from the Queen, Commissions, to Muster in all parts of England, all Men that were of perfect Sence and Limb, from the age of 16 to 60; except Noblemen, Clergy-men, University-Students, Lawyers, Officers, and such as had any publick charges, leaving onely in every Parish, so many Husbandmen, as were sufficient to Till the Ground. In all those Musters, there were then numbred three Millions; but of those, fit for War, about six hundred thousand.

In another Muster of Queen Elizabeth, there were found in all England, fit for War, of common Soldiers, about four hundred thousand, and of those Armed and Trained, one hundred eighty five thousand, besides Horse, near forty thousands, and that the Nobility and Gentry were then able to bring into the Field, of their Servants and Followers, twenty thousand Men, Horse and Foot, choise Men, and excellent Horses, and in all, fit for War, and ready upon all occasions, six hundred forty two thousand, leaving sufficient to Till the Ground, and to furnish Trades, besides Nobility, Gentry, &c.

Of the present Maritime Power, belonging to the Crown of England.

THE Kingdom of England being a Peninsula, almost surrounded with the Sea, there will always be a necessity of Maritime Forces; and as next neighbors grow potent at Sea, the King of England will be necessitated to augment His Maritime Forces proportionable (how great soever the charges thereof, may be) or else to quit His antient Right to the Sovereignty of the narrow Seas, and to suffer His Merchants to be abused, and their Traffique every where interrupted.

It is true, that in the 24 of Eliz. upon a general View and Muster, there were found but 13 Ships of War, and 235 Ships of considerable burden, belonging to all the Subjects of England: and in the year 1600. her Majesty had but 36 Ships of War, and 13 or 14 Pinnaces, the biggest Ship was then of 1000 Tun, carried 340 Mariners, 130 Soldiers, and but thirty piece of Ordnance: the lesser Ships of War were of 100 Tun, Forty or Fifty Mariners, Seven or Eight Soldiers, and Eight Guns. The Pinnaces of Thirty Tun, Eighteen or Twenty Mariners, and Two or Four Guns; so small was the Royal Fleet in those days, when our next neighbor Nations were weak, and always engaged with Civil and Forreign Wars; but now, that their strength at Sea, is of late, so prodigiously increased, it will be most expedient for this Kingdom, to be always well provided. And God be thanked, we have a King that understands stands better, and takes more delight in Maritime affairs, and Ships of War, then any of his Royal Ancestors, or any Sovereign Prince, now living in the World, and who hath made it his chief business that way, to fortify this Kingdom.

The Forces of Potentates at Sea, Sont des Marques de Grandeur d'Etat, saith a French Author, Whosoever commands the Sea, commands the Trade of the World; he that commands the Sea, commands the Wealth of the World, and consequently the World it self.

Again, As he that is Master of the Field, is said to be Master of every Town, when it shall please him; so he that is Master of the Sea, may, in some sort, be said to be Master of every Countrey, at least of such as are bordering on the Sea; for he is at liberty to begin, and end a War, where, and upon what terms he pleaseth, and to extend his Conquests, even to the Antipodes.

To the Crown of England, belongs the Dominion of all the narrow Seas, round about the whole Island of Great Britain, by antient Right whereof, it hath had possession in all times. First, the Aborigines, or antient Brittains were possessors thereof, (as Mr. Selden makes appear) and in their Right, the Romans held it; then the Saxons having gotten possession of England, kept that Dominion, their King Edgar, amongst his Royal Titles, calling himself, Sovereign of the narrow Seas.

Afterwards the Normans possessing England, claimed, and quietly possess the same Dominion; in testimony whereof, the Swedes, Danes, Hans-Towns, Hollanders, Zealanders, &c. were wont to ask leave to pass the Brittish Seas, and to take Licences to fish therein: and to this day, do strike sail to all the Ships of War, belonging to the King of England, as oft as they pass by any one of them, thereby to express, that they acknowledge the Sovereignty of the Brittish Seas, to belong to the King of England, according to an Ordinance made at Hastings in Suffex, by John, King of England, about Four hundred and fifty years ago.

To maintain this Right and Title, to protect Trade, to subdue Pirates, to defend this Kingdom, against hostile Invasions, and to reduce forreign Potentates to Reason, the Kings of England have had (especially of latter times) a considerable number of Ships of War, for Strength, for Beauty, and Sailing (if not for number) surpassing all those of our neighbor-Nations: For Strength, by reason of the most excellent English Timber, they are like so many floating Castles and Barbicans; for Beauty, so proportionably, and spaciouly built, and so curiously and richly adorned, that they are as so many Royal Palaces, Amongst other Ships at Sea, they are as so many Lions amongst other silly Beasts, or as Eagles amongst other Birds.

Histories mention a great Fleet of Julius Caesar, a Fleet of the forementioned King Edgar, consisting of Three thousand six hundred Sail; a Fleet of Lewis, Son to Philip, King of France, of Six hundred Sail, that arrived at Sandwich, to assist the English Barons against King John; but those doubtless, were but as so many Cottages to Castles, in respect of the present Ships of War.

Henry the VIII. in the fifth year of his Reign, built a Ship, then accounted the greatest, that ever had been seen in England, and named it, Henry Grace de Dieu, or the Great Henry; it was of 1000 Tun.

In

In the Eighth year of King James, was built, by the Londoners, a Ship of 1200 Tun, and called the Trades Increase, which being lost in the East Indies, King James caused another to be built, of 1400 Tun, which being given to Prince Henry, was by him named the Prince.

King Charles the Martyr, perceiving the great Increase of Shipping in our neighbor-Nations, and that the Sovereignty of these Seas, was like to be disputed; amongst other great Ships of War, built one greater than any Ship of War, either in England, or in any Countrey in Europe, and named it the Royal Sovereign; which for a little diversion, shall here be more particularly described.

The Royal Sovereign, being a Ship of the first Rate or Rank, built in the year One thousand six hundred thirty and seven, is in length, by the Keel, One hundred twenty seven Foot, in breadth, by the Beam, Forty seven Foot, in depth, Forty nine Foot, her draught of Water, Twenty one Foot, of Burden, in all, two thousand seventy and two Tuns, and 1492 Tuns, besides, Guns, Tackle, &c. This mighty moving Castle hath six Anchors, whereof the biggest weighs 6000 l. and the least 1300 l. It hath 14 Cables, whereof the greatest is 21 inches in compass, and weighs 9000 l. her least Cable being eight Inches in compass, weighing near 1300 l.

To the Royal Sovereign belong eighteen Masts and Yards, whereof the greatest, called the Main Mast, is one hundred and thirteen Foot long, and thirty eight Inches Diameter; her Main-Yard, 105 Foot long, and 23 Inches Diameter; and her Main Top, Fifteen Foot Diameter: She hath ten severalsorts of Sails, of several names. (as every Ship of every one of the sixth Rate hath) whereof her greatest Sail, called her Main-Course (together with her Bonnet) contains One thousand six hundred and forty Yards of Canvas, Ipswich double; and the least Sail, called Fore-Top-Gallant Sail, contains, One hundred and thirty yards of Canvas. The charge of one compleat Suit of Sails for the Sovereign, is 404 l. Sterling Money. The weight of the Sea-store, in point of Ground, Tackle, and other Cordage, is Sixty Tuns, eight hundred and odd pounds.

Sail,

She carries a long Boat of 50 Foot, a Pinnace of Thirty six Foot, and a Skiff of Twenty seven Foot long.

The weight of her Rigging, Three and thirty Tun.

She hath three Tire of Guns, all of Brass, whereof there are Forty four in her Upper Tire, Thirty four in her Second Tire, and Twenty two in her Lower Tire, in all, One hundred Guns.

She carries in all, of Officers, Soldiers, and Mariners, Eight hundred and fifty Men.

Finally, her whole Charges for Wages, Victuals, Ammunition, Wear and Tear, for every month at Sea, costs the King 3500 l. Sterling; as hath been computed by a very skilful person.

The charges of building a Ship of the First Rate, together with Guns, Tackle, and Rigging (besides Victualing) doth ordinarily amount to about 62432 l. Those of lower Rates, proportionably.

All His Majesties Maritime Forces, are under the command of the Lord High Admiral of England, touching whose Name, Titles, Power, Priviledges, &c. See the First Part.

The Lord Admiral hath under him many Officers of high and low condition, some at Sea, others at Land; some of a Military, some of a Civil capacity; som Judicial, others Ministerial; so that the Dominion and Jurisdiction of the Sea, may justly be stiled another Common-wealth, or Kingdom apart. In Mari sunt Regna distincta idque Iure Gentium, sicut in arrida terra, saith Badius, that Learned Oracle of the Civil Law, and the Lord High Admiral of England, may fitly be stiled, or at least reputed, as a Viceroy of the Maritime Kingdom of England.

The Vice-Admiral of England, is an Officer, to whom, next under the High Admiral, it belongs to see the Royal Navy kept in good repair, the wages of Mariners, and Shiprights duly paid, and the Ships provided of all things necessary for any Expedition.

The Lord High Admiral of England, doth, by vertue of his place, appoint in divers parts of the Kingdom, his several Vice-Admirals, with their Judges and Marshals by Patent, under the Great Seal of the High Court of Admiralty. These Vice-Admirals and Judges do exercise Jurisdiction, in Maritime affairs, within their several limits, and in case any person is agrieved by any Sentence or Interlocutory Decree, that hath the force of a Definitive Sentence, he may appeal to the High Court of Admiralty.

For handling of Maritime Affairs, the Lord High Admiral, hath Courts of his own, whereof that at London is the Principal, or Supream, where all Process and Proceedings runs in his name, and not in the Kings, as it doth in all Common-Law Courts. In this Court, usually called the Court of Admiralty, he hath a Lieutenant, called Judge of the Admiralty, who is commonly some Learned Doctor of the Civil Law, and is at present Doctor Jenkins, lately Knighted for his great worth, and now called Sir Lionel Jenkins.

The Proceeding in this Court in all Civil Matters, is according to the Civil Law, because the Sea is without the limits of the Common-Law, but under the Admirals Jurisdiction; therefore the Civil Law onely (all Common Law secluded) is made use of, and by Libel they proceed to the Action, the Plaintiff giving caution to prosecute the Sute, and to pay what shall be judged against him, if he fail in the Sute; the Defendant on the contrary, securing the Plaintiff

Plaintiff, by sufficient Surety or Caution, as the Judge shall think meet, that he will appear in Judgement, and pay that which shall be adjudged against him, and that he will ratify and allow all that his Proctor shall do in his name, whereby the Clients are well assured, to obtain that which by Law shall be adjudged to them, let the cause fall on which side soever,

In the Admiralty Court of England, use is made, not only of the Civil Laws, but the Laws of Rhodes and Oleron, whereof the former is an Island in the Mediterranean Sea, about 20 miles distant from the Continent of Asia Minor, and is now under the Turk, the antient Inhabitants whereof, by their mighty Trade, and Power at Sea, grew so expert in the Regulation of all Maritime Matters and Differences, and their Determinations therein, were esteemed so just and equitable, that their Laws, in such affairs, have ever since been observed for Oracles. Those Laws were long ago incorporated into the Volumes of the Civil Law: And the Romans, who gave Laws to other Nations, and excelled all Nations in making of good Laws, yet for their Sea-affairs, referred all Debates and Controversies to the Judgement of these Rhodian Laws.

Oleron is an Island antiently belonging to the Crown of England, seated in the Bay of Aquitane, not far from the Mouth of the Garonne, where our famous Warrior, King Richard the First, caused to be compiled, such excellent Laws for Sea-Matters, that in the Ocean-Sea Westward, they had almost as much repute, as the Rhodian Laws, in the Mediterranean; and these Laws were called La Rool d'Oleron.

King Edward the Third (who first erected this Court of Admiralty, as some hold) made

at Quinborough, 1375. very excellent Constitutions, concerning Maritime Affairs, and many Statutes and Ordinances have been made by other Princes, and People, as at Rome, Pisa, Genoua, Marseilles, Barcelona, and Messina, yet, that fragment of the Rhodian Law, still extant with the Comments thereon, by the old Jurisconsuls inserted in the Pandects, and the Constitutions made by the Roman Emperors, contained in the Code, and in the Novelles, still holds the Pre-eminence.

The Customs and former Decrees of the English Court of Admiralty, are there of force, for deciding of Controversies. Under this Court there is also a Court of Equity, for determining differences between Merchants.

In Criminal Affairs, which is commonly about Piracy, the Proceeding in this Court, was by Accusation and Information, according to the Civil Law, by a Mans own Confession, or Eye-witnesses, found guilty, before he could be condemned: But that being found inconvenient, there were two Statutes made by Henry the Eighth, That Criminal Affairs should be tryed by Witnesses, and a Jury, and this by special Commission of the King, to the Lord Admiral; wherein some of the Judges of the Realm, are ever Commissioners, and the Tryal according to the Laws of England directed by those Statutes.

Between the Common-Law of England, and the Admiralty, there seems to be Divisum Imperium; for in the Sea, so far as the Low-water Mark is observed, that is counted, Infra Corpus Comitatus adjacentis, and Causes thence arising, are determinable by the Common-Law, yet when the Sea is full, the Admiral hath Juris-

Jurisdiction there also (so long as the Sea flows) over Matters done between the Low-water Mark, and the the Land, as appears in Sir Henry Constables Case, 5 Report, Coke, p. 107.

For regulating and ordering His Majesties Navies, Ships of War, and Forces by Sea, See those excellent Articles and Orders, in Stat. 13, Car. 2. cap. 9.

Of the Navy-Office, where the whole business concerning the Kings Vessels of War is managed.

First, there is the Treasurer of the Navy, Edward Seymour Esq; whose Office is to receive out of the Exchequer, by Warrant from the Lord Treasurer of England, and to pay all charges of the Navy, by Warrant from the principal Officers of the Navy, for which he had formerly Salary, 220 l. 13 s. 4 d. besides 3 d. in the pound for all Money paid by him, but hath now an Honourable Allowance certain from His Majesty in lieu thereof.

Next the Controller of the Navy, Sir Tho. Allen, whose Office is to attend and controll all payments of Wages, to know the Market Rates of all Stores belonging to shipping, to examine and audit Treasurers, Victuallers, and Store-keepers, Accounts, &c. his Salary is 500 l. yearly. This Office is executed at present by the Lord Vicount Brounker, the fore-mentioned Sir Tho. Allen, and Sir Jeremy Smith, since dead, and Sir John Earnly.

Surveyor of the Navy, Fo. Tippelly Esq; whose Office is generally to know the state of all Stores, and see the wants supplied; to find the Hulls, Masts, and Yards, and estimate the valew of repairs, by Indenture, to charge all Boatswains and Carpenters of His Majesty's Navy, with what Stores they receive, and at the end of each Voyage, to state and audit their Accounts, his Salary is 490 l.

Clerks of the Acts, Samuel Pepys Esquire, whose Office is to Record all Orders, Contracts, Bills, Warrants, and other businesse transacted by the principal Officers and Commissioners of the Navy, &c.

Next the Commissioners of the Navy, viz. the forementioned Lord Broucker, Sir Jeremy Smith, dead, and Sir Jo. Earnly, Edward Seamour, Sir Jo. Harman, and Sir John Worden, whose Office is as above specified; and a Salary to each 500 l. yearly.

Two other Commissioners, Anth. Dean, and Tho. Middleton Esquires, whose particular work is to be at Portsmouth and Chatham; always in readines, to give orders for the better management of His Majesties Affairs in His Yards or Store-houses there, Salary to each is 350 l. yearly.

Each of these Officers above-named, have two Clerks, and some of them more, all paid by the Treasurer of the Navy, all hold their Places by Patent from the King, and most of them during Pleasure.

The King hath, for His Navy Royal and Stores, 4 great Yards or Store-houses, viz. at Chatham, Deptford, Woolwich, and Portf. where His Ships are Built, repaired, and laid up after their Voyages. In which Yards are employed divers Officers, whereof there are six Principal, whose Office, Names, and Salaries follow.

Note, That the charges of the Clerks and Instruments are included in the aforementioned Salaries.

Besides these four Yards, His Majesty hath divers Rope-Yards, as at Chatham, Woolwich, and Portsmouth, where are made all his Cables and Cordage for his Navy.

Also in time of Sea-war, the King hath another Yard at Harwich, where there is out of War time continued an Officer, at the charge of 100 l. yearly.

All the forementioned Officers, and the whole Navy Office are governed by the Lord High High-Admiral of England, whose Lieutenant-Admiral is Prince Rupert, Salary 20 s. per diem, and 10 s. per mensem for each Servant, whereof he is allowed 16.

Lord Admirals Secretary is Sir Jo. Worden Baronet, his Salary from the King is 500 l. yearly.

All the other under Officers, as well those in the several Yards, as those belonging to any of His Majesties ships, hold their places by Warrant from the Lord High Admiral durante beneplacito.

The ordinary yearly Charge of His Majesties Navy, in times of Peace, continuing in Harbour, is so well regulated, that it amounts to scarce 70000 l. besides all charges of building of Ships, &c. or setting forth any Fleets, which some years, even in peaceable times, amounts to 12 or 130000 l. more, as may easily be conjectured by the charges of Building and Rigging of Ships, and of one Months expences at Sea afore specified, so that the English Subject need not long wonder how their late large Contributions and Aids have been spent, but rather how this Kingdoms necessary expences should be discharged with so-much less then our Neighbouring Nations can with all their frugality defray theirs, where the daily complaints are, that by Customs and Excises by Tailles and Gabells, more Money is every year squeezed from the Subject then was done in 20 years together in their Ancestors days.

LONDON.

LONDON, being the Epitome of England, the Seat of the British Empire; the Chamber of the King, and the chiefest Emporium or Town of Trade in the World; it will not be impertinent to give some account thereof.

To describe particularly all things in this City worthy to be known, would take up a whole Volume; therefore according to the intended brevity of this Treatise, here shall be inserted onely τα̅ μεγαλῆια ἡ πόλις Magnalia Londini, such things as Strangers and Forreigners commonly count remarkable.

Take then a summary account of the Name, Antiquity, Scituation, Magnitude, Streets Houses, Number of Inhabitants, Parish-Churches, Cathedral, Royal Exchange, River, Conduits, Aqueducts, Trade, Government, Publick Halls of Companies, of the Tower, Bridge, Custom-House, Publick Offices, Colledges, Schools, Hospitals, Work-Houses, &c.

LONDON, so called, as some conjecture; from Llongdin the British word signifying in the Saxon Tongue Skipton, or Town of Ships; was
I built

Antiquity built, as some write, 1108 years before the Birth of our Saviour, that is now 2779 years ago, in the time of Samuel the Prophet, and about 350 years before the building of Rome.

on. In the most excellent scituation of London, the profound wisdom of our Ancestors is very conspicuous and admirable. It is seated in a pleasant ever-green Valley, upon a gentle rising Bank, in an excellent Air, in a wholesome Soil mixt with Gravel and Sand, upon the famous Navigable River Thames, at a place where it is cast into a Crescent, that so each part of the City might enjoy the benefit of the River, and yet not be far distant one from the other, about 60 Miles from the Sea, not so near, that it might be in danger of Surprisal by the Fleets of Forreign Enemies, or be annoyed by the boysterous Winds, and unwholsome Vapours of the Sea; yet not so far, but that, by the help of the Tide, every 12 hours, Ships of great Burden may be brought into her very Bosome, nor yet so far, but that it may enjoy the milder, warmer Vapours of the Eastern, Southern, and Western Seas, yet so far up in the Countrey, as it might also easily partake even of all the Countrey Commodities: in an excellent air, upon the North side of the River (for the Villages seated on the South-side are noted to be unhealty, in regard of the vapours drawn upon them by the Sun) burroughed by gentle hills, from the North and South Winds; it lies in 51 Degree 30 Minutes Latitude.

The High-ways leading from all parts to this Noble City are large, straight, smooth, and fair; no Mountains nor Rocks, no Marishes nor Lakes, to hinder Carriages and Passengers, so that as Corn may easily be brought, and Cattle commodiously driven unto it by Land; so those heavy though necessary Commodities, Hay and Fuel, are more cheaply conveyed by water: in a word, all the blessings of Land and Sea near about, and by the benefit of Shipping, all the blessing of the Terrestrial Globe may be said to be here enjoyed, above any City of the World.

The City of L O N D O N with its Suburbs and places adjacent, is of a vast extention: Magni- tude. from Lime-House, measured to the end of Tottil or Turtle-street, from east to West, is above 7500 Geometrical Paces, that is, above seven English Miles and a half; and from the farther end of Blackmanstreet in Southwark, to the end of St. Leonard Shoreditch, is 2500 Paces, or two Miles and an half.

In this great City, the Streets, Lanes, and Streets. Alleys, as they are called, are in number above 500, and yet, some of them above half a measured Mile in length. Dwelling-Houses, before the late dreadful Fire, were computed onely within the Walls, above Fifteen thousand, and that was accounted but a fifth part of the whole City, as may be judged by the Weekly Bills of Mortality.

The Buildings, especially of late years, are Houses. generally very fair and stately, but within the City, the spacious Houses of Noblemen, rich Merchants, the Halls of Companies, the fair Taverns are hidden to Strangers, by reason that they are generally built backward, that so the whole room toward the Street might be reserved for Tradesmens Shops. If they had had been all built towards the Street; as in other Countreys, no Foreign City would, even in this particular much surpass London; Yet, if a Stranger shall view Lincolns-Inn-Fields, Southampton-Buildings, Covent-Garden, St. James's Fields, Hatton-Garden, Cheap-side, Lumbard-street, Canon-street, Fleet-street, and indeed, most of the other last built Streets within the City, he must confess, that for fair Piazza's, or open Places, for stately uniform Buildings, for spacious streight Streets, there is scarce the parallel in Europe.

Number

That the Reader may the better guess at the number of Inhabitants, or humane Souls within this great City, he must know; that in one year there were computed to be eaten in London, when it was less by one fourth part, 67500 Beefs, ten times as many Sheep, besides a bundance of Calves, Lamb, Swine, all sorts of Poultry, Fowl, Fish, Roots, Milk, &c. Also that communibus annis to supply London with Newcastle-Coal, there is brought into the River of Tbames Two hundred and seventy thousand Chaldron, and every Chaldron is 36 Bushels.

Again, the number of Inhabitants may be guessed at by the Burials and Births in London, which in ordinary years, when there is no Pestilence, amount of late to Twenty thousand in a year, three times more than in Amsterdam, and but one 20th part less than in Paris, as may be seen by the Bills of these three Cities.

As also by the quantity of Beer drank in London in a year, which to all Forreigners will be incredible, for in the year 1667, when the greatest part of the Buildings within the Walls and and some without lay in Ashes, and very many of the Inhabitants forced to retire into the Countrey for habitation, according to exact computation, there was brewed within that year in London, Four hundred fifty two thousand five hundred sixty three Barrels of Strong Beer, sold at 12 s. 6. d. the Barrel, and Five hundred and eighty thousand and four hundred twenty one Barrels of Ale, sold at 16 s. the Barrel, and Four hundred eighty nine thousand seven hundred ninety seven Barrels of Table Beer, or Small Beer, sold at 6 s. 6 d. the Barrel. The Beer strong and small is 36 Gallons to the Barrel, and the Ale Thirty two Gallons to the Barrel, and now since the Pestilence and the Fire, that this City is again fully peopled, there is much more Liquor brewed.

It is true, that some hereof is transported beyond the Sea, but that is scarce considerable.

Besides all this Beer and Ale, there is consumed in London a vast quantity of French and Spanish Wines, much Rhenish-Wine, Sider, Mum, Coffee, Chocolate, Brandy, and other Drinks.

The Excise onely of Beer and Ale for the City of London (though it be a very moderate Imposition) is farmed or rented of the King at above One hundred and twenty thousand Pounds a year, and about one fourth part of all that Excise throughout England.

Parish Churches, besides Chappels, there Churches. were in all One hundred and thirty, that is double the number of Churches Parochial to be found in any City of Christendom, the Mother Church whereof is dedicated to the memory of St. Paul, (the onely Cathedral of that Name in Europe, and founded by Segbert a Saxon King about the year 620, in a place where had stood a Temple dedicated to Diana, and afterward enlarged by Erdenwald, the Fourth Saxon Bishop thereof; and that old Fabrick being almost destroyed by Fire, Mauritius, another Bishop of London, in One thousand eighty three, began and finished a great part of the present magnificent Pile, in the space of twenty years, but the Quire and Tower were not finished till 1221, and then it was dedicated in a most solemn manner (as was the Temple of Solomon) the King, the Bishops, and a vast number from all parts of the Nation assisting therat.

It is seated on the highest part of all the City, and was more conspicuous perhaps than any Cathedral Church in the World; it was a Structure for length, height, and antiquity, surpassing all other Churches; the length of it was 690 Foot (therein excelling by 20 Foot St. Peters in Rome, which for beauty, proportion, and divers other things, excells all other Temples) it was in height 102 Foot, and in breadth 130, and stood upon so much ground as contained above three Acres and a half. The Church was built as other Cathedrals, in a perfect Cross, and in the midst of the Cross, upon mighty high Arches, was a Tower of Stone 260 foot high, and on that a Spire of Timber, covered with Lead, in height 260 Foot more, in all from the ground 520 Foot, above which was a Bole of Copper gilt, of 9 Foot in compass, whereon stood the Cross, 15 Foot and a half high, and almost 6 Foot across, made of Oak, covered with Lead, and another Cover of Copper over the Lead, above all stood the Eagle, or Cock of Copper Gilt,

4 foot long, and the breadth over the Wings
3 foot and a half.

In the year 1561, a part of this magnificent Pile was much wasted, and the rest endangered, by a Fire begun in that stately Timber Spire, by the negligence of a Plummer, who left his Pan of Fire there, whilst he went to Dinner, as he confess of latter years on his death-bed: but by the great Bounty and Piety of Queen Elizabeth, of the Citizens of London, and of all the Clergy of the Province of Canterbury, it was again repaired in the space of five years. After which, the Stone-work decaying apace, by reason of the corroding quality of the abundance of Sea-coal smoak, the Learned and Pious Martyr, Doctor Laud, coming to be Bishop of London, and after of Canterbury, was so zealous and vigorous for upholding this most antient Church, stately Monument of England, and Glory of the City of London, that by the Kings favor, and liberal Contribution of Godly People (maugre all opposition of the Puritans) the work was so eagerly pursued, that before the year 1640. the whole Body was finished with Portland Stone, excellent against all Smoak and Weather, and the Tower scaffolded up to the top, with purpose to take it all down, and to rebuild it more fair, and of a greater height; with a stately Pinnacle at each corner, because the Arches were not thought strong enough, to support another Steeple; and to place in that Tower, the biggest, and most tunable Bells in the World, for performance whereof, and for adorning the Church, there was in the Chamber of London, above one hundred and seventy thousand pounds, all taken out soon after, and employed in an Unnatural War, by a stiff necked

People, against the best of Kings, in which single act, a great part of the Citizens of London, and of the Long Parliament, became deeply guilty of a horrid Rebellion, and detestable Sacriledge.

After the Murther, or rather Martyrdom, of the forementioned Archbishop, the Scaffolds were taken away and sold, with some of the Lead, which covered this famous Structure, and this House of God made a Stable for Horses by the disloyal Army, , and almost all suffered to decay; till the Restauration of the King, who having a Pious intent, to set upon the repair thereof again, it was all ruined by the late dreadful Conflagration in 1666. Which yet hath not so discouraged our Gracious Sovereign, but that in the year 1673, having already with vast charges, pulled down the huge burnt Walls, removed the Rubbish, and cleared the Foundations; His Majesty, like another Solomon, intends to lay a new Foundation of such a Fabrick, as for Magnificence, Splendor, Solidity, Figure, and curious Architecture, the World, perhaps never saw the like; the Model whereof, hath been designed by that Prince of Architects, Sir Christopher Wren, and approved of by the King: so that they who have seen the old Temple, shall have no occasion (as the people in Ezra, Chap. 3. 12.) to weep with a loud voice, but rather to shout for joy, when they shall see, by the Foundation of the New, that it is likely to surpass the Old, as much as the present King doth surpass in Dominions, in Power and Revenue, that King, in whose Reign the Old Church was erected: for the speedy promoting whereof, to the Glory of God, to the Memory of the Prince of Apostles St. Paul, to the great Renown of King Charles the the II. and to the Honour of this City and Nation, both King and Parliament, City and Countrey, Clergy and Laity, High and Low. seem to stand engaged to lend their utmost aid and assistance; amongst other things, considering, that probably, it may be a lasting Monument, to evidence to all posterity, that in the midst of a crooked and perverse Generation, in the midst of many thousands, who had openly forsaken the Community of the Church of England, there wanted not a David to raise Money, and provide Materials, nor a Solomon, to begin and finish such a mighty Work of Piety, nor a Bezaleel, and an Aboliab, curious Workmen, nor a People willing-hearted, and liberal, in bringing in their Plate and Jewels in such abundance, till their liberality (as theirs Exod. chap. 35. 36.) was thought fit to be restrained.

Of the fore-mentioned Fire, that was able to destroy such a vast solid Structure, as the Cathedral of St. Paul, a brief account may here be acceptable, especially to Forreigners, who have had imperfect Relations thereof.

THe City of LONDON, within the Walls, was seated upon, near Four hundred and sixty Acres of Ground, whereon was built about Fifteen thousand Houses, besides Churches, Chappels, Halls, Colledges, Schools, and other publick Buildings, whereof, about four parts of five, were utterly devoured in the late dismal Conflagration, and about one part of five of the whole City and Suburbs, counting therein Westminster and Southwark. There were then destroyed, Eighty seven Parochial Churches, six Consecrated Chappels, most of the Principal publick Edifices; as the forenamed Cathedral of S. Paul, the Great Guildball, wherein are held nine several Courts, belonging to the City; the Royal Exchange, the Custom-House, most Halls of Companies, which were so many Basiliks, or Palaces, &c. whereof the whole damage is almost incredible.

In that one Commodity of Books onely, wherewith London abounded, was lost, as Judicious Stationers have computed, One hundred and fifty thousand pounds; for the loss fell most upon that, and three or four other cumbersome Commodities, not easy on a sudden to be removed, viz. Wines, Tobacco, Sugar, and Plums, wherewith this City was furnished beyond any City in the World: insomuch, that one person, Alderman Jeffreys, lost of Tobacco, to the value of Twenty thousand pounds. Yet, in this vast Incendy, not above Six or Eight persons were burnt; Of this dreadful Fire, there were many concurrent occasions.

First, the Drunkennels, or Supine negligence of the Baker and his Servants, in whose House it began.

Next, the dead time of the night, wherein it began, viz. between One and two of the Clock after Midnight, when some were wearied with working, others filled with Drink, all in a dead sleep.

Thirdly, the dead time of the week, being Saturday night, when Traders were retired to their Countrey Houses, and none but Maid-Servants, or young Apprentices, left to look to the City Houses.

Fourthly, the dead time of all the year, being then the long Vacation; on the Second of September, when Tradesmen were generally abroad in the Countrey, some in the remotest parts of England, to fetch in their Debts.

Fifthly,

Fifthly, the closeness of the Buildings in that place, facilitating the progress of the Fire, and hindring the usual remedy, which was by Engines, to shoot Water.

Sixthly, the matter of the Buildings thereabouts, which was generally Wooden, and of old Timber.

Seventhly, The long continued Drought of the preceding Summer, even to that day, which had so dried the Timber, that it was never more apt to take fire.

Eighthly, the matter of Wares in those parts, where were the greatest Magazines, and Store-houses of the City, of Oyls, Pitch, Tar, Rozin, Wax, Butter, Brimstone, Hemp, Cordage, Cheese, Wine, Brandy, Sugars, &c.

Ninthly, an Easterly Wind, the driest of all other, that had continued long before, and then did blow very strongly.

Tenthly, the unexpected failing of the Water, the Thames Water-Tower, near to the place where the Fire began, then out of order, and burnt down immediately, after the beginning of the Fire, so that most Water-Pipes were soon dry.

Lastly, An unusual negligence at first, and a confidence of easily quenching the Fire, on a suddain, changed into a general consternation and despondency, all People chusing, rather by flight to save their Goods, than by a vigorous opposition to save their Houses and the City.

These Causes thus strangely concurring, (to say nothing of Gods just indignation, for the notorious impenitency of the Citizens, for their great abominations in abetting, and instigating the shedding of the precious innocent Blood, both of Gods Anointed, and of their other other chief Governors, both in Church and State, for their still going on in their old heinous sins of despising Dominions, and speaking evil of Dignities, till there be no remedy) those forementioned causes, so wonderfully concurring by a general prodigious Conflagration, did make greater spoil in the space of three days, viz, from Sunday morning to Wednesday morning, then three or four Armies, unresisted, could easily have done in twice the time; for (to give the Reader some little prospect, of the huge damages done by this Fire) it hath been computed by an ingenious Person, that there were burnt in all, within the Walls of this City, Twelvethousand Houses, and without the Walls, One thousand Houses; all which valued; one with another, at no more than 25 l. yearly Rent, which at the low Rate of twelve years purchase, will amount in the whole to Three Millions and nine hundred thousand pounds Sterling. The the Eighty seven Parish Churches, the most spacious Cathedral Church of St. Paul, Six Consecrated Chappels, the Royal Burse, or Exchange, the Great Guild-Hall, the Custom-House, the many magnificent Halls of Companies, the several principal City Gates, with other publick Edifices, may well be valued at Two Millions.

The Wares, Household-stuff; Moneys, and other moveable Goods, lost and spoiled by the Fire, may probably amount to Two Millions of pounds, some say, much more.

The Money spent in a general removing of Wares and Goods, during the Fire, and bringing them back afterward, in the hire of Boats, Carts, and Porters, may be well reckoned, at the least at Two hundred thousand pounds; the total whereof, is Nine Millions, and nine hundred dred thousand pounds; which reduced into French Money, will amount unto One hundred twenty eight Millions, and seven hundred thousand Livers Tournois. And yet notwithstanding all these huge losses by Fire; notwithstanding that most devouring Pestilence in the year immediately foregoing, and the then very chargeable War against three Potent Neighbors, the Citizens recovering, after a few Months, their Native Courage, have since, so chearfully and unanimously, set themselves to rebuild the City, that (not to mention whole Streets, built, and now building by others in the Suburbs) within the space of four years, they have erected in the same Streets, Ten thousand Houses, and laid out for the same, Three Millions of pounds Sterling, counting but 300 l. a House, one with another; besides several large Hospitals, divers very stately Halls, Nineteen fair solid Stone Churches, that will cost above One hundred thousand pounds, were last year, all at the same time erecting, and will be suddainly finished; which is here the rather mentioned, to stop the mouths of our Romish Adversaries, who oft alledge, that since our Reformation, scarce one solid Structure hath been Erected for Gods Worship, by the English Protestants; and that although they have done divers considerable Works of Charity, in founding of Hospitals and Alms-Houses, yet they have been very deficient in Works of pure Piety, for advancing the Worship, the Praise, and the Glory of our Creator, which ought to be regarded in the first place; Moreover, as if the late Fire had onely purged the City, the Buildings are become infinitely more beautiful, more commodious, and more solid (the three main Vertues of all Edifices) than before; nay, as if the Citizens had not been any way impoverished, but rather enriched by that huge Conflagration, they may be said to be even wanton in their expences, upon the stately Italian Facciata's, or Fronts of their new Houses, Churches and Halls, (many of Portland Stone, as durable, almost as Marble) upon their richly adorned Shops, Chambers, Balconies, Signs, Portals, &c. Their Publick Halls are so richly adorned with curious Architecture, Carved Work, in Stone and Wood, with Pictures and Wainscot, not onely of Firre and Oak, but some with the sweet smelling Cedar. Their Churches beautified with excellent various Towers and Fronts of true Roman Architecture. They have made their Streets much more large and strait, paved each side with smooth hewen Stone, and guarded the same with massy Posts, for the benefit of Foot Passengers; and whereas before they dwelt in low, dark, Wooden Cottages, they now live in lofty, lightsome, uniform, Brick Buildings, so that although our gracious King cannot say of this his Capital City, as one of the Emperors said of Rome, Lateritiam inveni, Marmoream reliqui, yet he may say of it, what is almost equivalent, Ligneam inveni, Lateritiam reliqui, and of a Principal Structure of this City, the Royal Exchange, His Majesty may say, Lateritiam inveni, Lapideam reliqui; whereof take here this following brief Account.

THE former Burse began to be erected in the year 1566, just one hundred years before it was burnt: it was built at the cost and charge of a Noble Merchant, Sir Thomas Gresham, and in a solemn manner by a Herald, and sound of Trumpet, in the Presence, and by the special Command of Queen Elizabeth, Proclaimed

ed, and named the ROYAL EXCHANGE: it was built most of Brick, and yet was the most splendid Burse (all things considered) that was then in Europe (before the building whereof, the Burse for Merchants was kept in Lumbardestreets.)

Now it is built within and without, of the fore-mentioned excellent Stone, with such curious and admirable Architecture, especially for a Front, a Turret, and for Arch-work, that it surpasseth all other Burses, Quantum lentis solent inter Viburna Cupressæ.

It is built Quadrangular, with a large Court, wherein the Merchants may assemble, and the greatest part, in case of Rain, or hot Sun-shine, may be sheltered in side-Galleries, or Portico's. The whole Fabrick cost above 50000 l. whereof one half is disbursed by the Chamber of London, or Corporation of the City, and the other half by the Company of Mercers: and to reimburse themselves, there will be Lett to hire 190 Shops above stairs, at 20 l. yearly Rent each, and 30 l. Fine, besides the several Shops below, on the East and West sides, and the huge Vaulted Cellars under ground; so that it will be the richest piece of ground, perhaps, in the whole world; for, according to exact Dimensions, the ground whereon this goodly Fabrick is erected, is but 171 Foot, from North to South, and 203 Foot from East to West (for it is Quadratum oblongum) so that it is but very little more than three quarters of an Acre of Ground, and will produce above 4000 l. yearly Rent.

The River wheron is seated this great City, River. for its breadth, depth, gentle, strait, even-Course, extraordinary wholesome Water and Tides, Tides, is more commodious for Navigation, than perhaps any other River in the World. The Sea flows gently up this River, fourscore miles, that is, almost to Kingstone, 12 miles above London by Land, and twenty by Water, bringing the greater Vessels to London, and the smaller beyond; then against the Stream, Boats are drawn to Oxford, and higher, many miles.

It is high Water at this City, as oft as the Moon comes to the North-East, and South-West Points of Heaven, the one in our Hemisphere, and the other in the other Hemisphere. The highest Tides are upon a Land-flood, the Wind North-west at the Æquinoctial, and the Moon at full: when these four causes concurr (which is very rare) then the Thames swells in some places over its Banks, and Westminster is a little endamaged in their Cellars, not in their Chambers and Upper Rooms, as the City of Rome sometimes is, by the overflowing of the Tiber, and Paris by the Seyne.

This River opening Eastward, towards Germany and France, is much more advantageous for Traffick than any other River of England. To say nothing of the variety of excellent Fish within this River, above all, of the incomparable Salmon, the fruitful fat Soil, the pleasant rich Meadows, and innumerable stately Palaces on both sides thereof; in a word, the Thames seems to be the very Radical moisture of this City, and, in some sense, the natural heat too; for almost all the Fuel for Firing, is brought up this River from Newcastle, Scotland, Kent, Essex, &c.

From this River, the City, by Water-Engines, is in many places supplied with excellent wholesome Water; also, from almost twenty Conduits of pure Spring-Water, so com-commodiously placed, that they serve all the chiefest parts of this City; and moreover, by a New River, brought at a vast charge, and exquisite skill (by Sir Hugh Middleton, who deserves his Statue in Brass) from Amwell and Chadwell, two Springs near Ware in Hertfordshire, from whence in a turning and winding Course, it runs threescore miles, before it reaches this City; in some places, the Channel is necessarily thirty foot deep, in other places, it is carried over Valleys, more then twenty foot high above ground, in open Troughs. Over this new River are made Eight hundred Bridges, some of Stone, some of Brick, and some of Wood: Six hundred Men have been at once employed in this great Work. It was begun 1608, and finished in five years. It serves the highest parts of London in their lower Roomes, and the lower parts in their highest Rooms; moreover, this City is so situated, that in all parts, (though on the highest ground) it is abundantly served with Pump-Water, and those Pumps in many places, not Six Foot deep in the ground.

The vast Traffick and Commerce, whereby this City doth flourish, may be guessed at, chiefly by the Customs which are paid for all Merchandise, imported or exported, which are but very moderate Impositions, in comparison of the Impolls of most other Countreys of Europe, and yet the Customs of the Port of London onely (without counting the Customs of other Cities) did lately amount to above Three hundred thousand pounds a year, and are now risen to a much greater sum, by the infinite number of Ships, which by their Masts, resemble a Forrest, as they lye along this Stream, besides many that are sent forth every year, to carry carry and fetch Commodities, to, and from all parts of the known World, whereby it comes to pass, that no small number of Merchants of London, for Wealth, for stately Houses within the City for Winter, and without for Summer, for rich Furniture, plentiful Tables, honourable Living, for great Estates in Money and Land, &c. excel some Princes, in divers of our neighbor Nations. Moreover, one may conjecture at the huge Commerce, by the infinite number of great well furnished Shops; which a Spaniard once observing, together, with the great number of Law-Suits in Term time, made this Report of London to his Countrey-men, That it was a great City, but made up of nothing but Tiendas y Contiendas, Shops and Suits: whereas he might rather have said more truly, in a few more words, viz. That London is a huge Magazine of Men, Money, Ships, Horses, and Ammunition, of all sorts of Commodities, necessary or expedient for the use or pleasure of Mankind: That London is the mighty Rendezvous of Nobility, Gentry, Courtiers, Divines, Lawyers, Physitians, Merchants, Seamen, and all kinds of excellent Artificers, of the most refined Wits and most excellent Beauties; for it is observed, that in most Families of England, if there be any Son or Daughter that excels the rest in Beauty or Wit, or perhaps Courage or Industry, or any other rare quality, London is their North-Star, and they are never at rest till they point directly thither.

Government.

The Government of this City, considering the Greatness and Populoufness thereof, is very admirable, and might take up a Volume in the description thereof.

The Ecclesiastical Government is by a Bishop, was in the time of the Brittains by an Arch-

Archbishop, but when it became subject to the Saxons, the Archiepiscopal See, was placed at Canterbury, not because that was the more worthy City, but for the sake of St. Augustine, who first preached the Gospel there to the Heathen Saxons, and was there buried. Since which time it hath been under a Bishop, above ten Centuries and a half, in a continual Succession; In which space, there are reckoned 92 Bishops of London, to the present worthy Bishop thereof, the Learned Pious Divine, Doctor Henry Compton, Consecrated Bishop of Oxford, 1674. and Translated to London, 1675. To this Cathedral also belongs a Dean, a Chapter, a Treasurer, and Thirty Prebendaries, all persons of worth.

For the Ecclesiastical Government of the several Parishes, there are placed many excellent Divines, that have the cure of Souls, a Rector or Vicar for every Parish, and these have for a long time had the most excellent way of Sermonizing in Christendom, insomuch, as divers Divines of Forreign Reformed Churches, have come hither on purpose to learn their manner of haranguing in the Pulpit.

For maintaining these Divines, with their Families, there is in every Parish a Parsonage, or Vicarage-House, and in most, a competent allowance in Tithes. Antiently the Parsons due in London, besides the Tythes of the Tradesmens Gains, and Mortuaries, Obits, &c. was 3 s. 5 d. in the pound, of the yearly Rent of all Houses and Shops; and this was paid as Offerings on Sundays and Holidays, onely a Half-peny for each pound, whereby the Parishioners did hardly feel it, although the Sundays and Holidays were so many, that in a whole year, it amounted to 3 s. 5 d. in the pound. Afterwards many Holidays being taken away, and the the Clergy means thereby abated, it was ordained 25 H. 8. that 2 s. 9 d. in the pound of all Rents of Houses and Shops, should be paid yearly to the Parson; whereunto the Londoners did not noly consent, (as they had good reason, it being much less in the pound than before) but bound themselves by an Act of Common Council, to perform the same: and the said Ordinance was confirmed in Parliament 27 H. 8. and again, 37 H. 1. with a power given to the Lord Mayor, to commit to prison any Citizen that should refuse to pay his Tythes and Dues, according to that proportion. But since the Reformation, many Men willing to think Tythes a rag of Popery, or else making no conscience of robbing God, have devised many base and fraudulent ways, by double Leases, by great Fines and small Rents, and several other ways to cheat the Law, and rob their God, Mal. 3. 8. complaint whereof being made to King James, 1618. it was declared in his Court of Exchequer, by the Barons there, that the Inhabitants of London, and of the Liberties thereof, ought still (according to the aforementioned Acts) to pay 2 s. 9 d. in the pound, according to the true yearly value of the Rent of their Houses and Shops, from time to time; but the Citizens (who think 2000 l. per annum, not enough for an Alderman, or for a Lawyer, and yet 200 l. too much for a Pastor of a Parish) opposing the same, the business lies yet unestablished, to the great dishonour of the Reformed Religion.

The Civil Government is not (as it is at Paris, Rome, Madrid, Vienna, and other Capital Cities) by a chief Magistrate, some Nobleman set over the City by the King, as Supream Governor; or as it was here in the time of the Romans, when the Chief Magistrate was called (as it is still still in Rome) the Prefect of London, or, as it was in the time of the Saxons, when he was called the Portgreeve, that is, Custos, or Guardian, and sometimes Provost of London: but after the coming in of the Normans, the Chief Magistrate was called Bailivo, from the French word Bailly, tradere, committere, that is, Commissarius, or one that hath Commission to govern others, and there were sometimes, two Bailiffs of London, till King Richard the I, Anno 1189. changed the name of Bayliff into Mayor, which also being derived from the French, hath continued ever since, a Citizen chosen by the Citizens annually, unless sometimes, for the disloyalty of the Citizens, their Priviledges and Franchises have been taken from them, and a Guardian set over them, as was done by Hen. III. and Edw. I.

Of latter times, the Mayor of London, though always a Citizen and Tradesman, hath been of such high repute and esteem, that in all Writing and Speaking to him, the Title of Lord is prefixt, which is given to none others, but either to Noblemen, to Bishops, Judges, and of latter times, to the Mayor of York, or to some of the highest Officers of the Realm. He is also for his great Dignity, usually Knighted by the King, before the year of his Mayoralty be expired; unless he had received that Honor before, whilst he was Alderman, as of late hath been usual.

His Table is, and also the Table of each Sheriff, such, that it is not only open all the year to all comers, strangers and others, that are of any quality, but so well furnished, that it is always fit to receive the greatest Subject of England, or of other Potentate; nay, it is recorded, that a Lord Mayor of London, hath feasted four Kings at once at his Table; and the present present King and Queen have been by some of the late Lord Mayors, Treated at their Table.

Also for the Grandeur of the Lord Mayor, there is allowed above 1000 l. a year for his Sword-bearers Table, in the House of the Lord Mayor.

His Domestick Attendance, is very honourable; he hath four Officers that wait on him, who are reputed Esquires by their places, that is, the Sword-bearer, the Common Hunt, who keepeth a gallant Kennel of Hounds for the Lord Mayors Recreation abroad; the Common Cryer, and the Water-Bayliff. There is also the Coroner, Three Sergeants Carvers, three Sergeants of the Chamber, a Sergeant of the Channel, four Yeomen of the Water-side, one Under Water-Bayliff, two Yeomen of the Chamber, three Meal-weighers, two Yeomen of the Wood-Wharfs, most of which have their Servants allowed them, and have Liveries for themselves.

His State and magnificence is remarkable, when he appears abroad, which is usually on Horseback, with rich Caparison, himself always in long Robes, sometimes of fine Scarlet Cloth richly Furred, sometimes Purple, sometimes Puke, and over his Robes a Hood of black Velvet, which some say, is a Badge of a Baron of the Realm, with a great Chain of Gold, about his Neck, or Collar of SS. with a great rich Jewel pendant thereon, with many Officers walking before, and on all sides of him, &c. but more especially on the 29 of October, when he goes to Westminster in his Barge, accompanied with all the Aldermen, all his Officers, all the several Companies or Corporations, in their several stately Barges, with their Arms, Colours, Colours, and Streamers; and having there in the Exchequer-Chamber, taken his solemn Oath to be true to the King, returns in like manner to Guildhall, that is, the Great Common Hall of Guilds, or incorporated Confraternities, where is prepared for him and his Brethren, a most sumptuous Dinner, to which, many of the great Lords and Ladies, and all the Judges of the Land are invited, and the last year the King and Queens Majesty, the Duke of York, and Prince Rupert were pleased to honour that Feast with their Presence.

This great Magistrate, upon the death of the King, is said to be the Prime Person of England; and therefore when King James was invited to come and take the Crown of England, Robert Lee, then Lord Mayor of London, subscribed in the first place, before all the Great Officers of the Crown, and all the Nobility.

He is usually chosen on Michaelmas day, by the Livery-Men, or Members of the several Companies within the said City, out of the Twenty six Aldermen, all Persons of great Wealth and Wisdom, in which Election the Senior Alderman, that hath not been Mayor, hath usually the Precedence, yet in this particular, the said Electors are at their liberty.

The Lord Mayor on the day of the King's Coronation, claims to be Chief Butler, and bears the Kings Cup amongst the highest Nobles of the Kingdom, which serve on that day in other Offices.

His Authority reaches, not only all over this great City, and a part of the Suburbs, but also on the famous River of Thames, Eastward, as far as Yendale, or Yenleet, and the mouth of the River Medway, and Westward, as far as Colny Ditch, above Stanes-Bridge. He hath power er to punish and correct all that shall annoy the Stream, Banks, or Fish; and for that end he yearly keeps several Courts in the Counties adjacent to the Thames, for Conservation of the River, and punishment of Offenders: Onely, the strength and safety of the River, against an Invasion, and securing Merchandizing, and Navigation, by Block-houses, Forts, or Castles, is the care of the King.

The two Sheriffs of this City, are also Sheriffs of the County of Middlesex; and are annually chosen by the Citizens, from among themselves, in the Guild-Hall, upon Midsummer-day, a high Priviledge, among many other, anciently granted to this City, by several Kings and Queens of this Kingdom, but they are not sworn till Michaelmas-Eve, and then are also presented at the Exchequer, to be allowed by the Barons, and sworn; after which, they enter upon their Office. If the persons so chosen, refuse to hold, they incur a penalty, unless they will take a solemn Oath, that they are not worth Ten thousand pounds.

The 26 Aldermen, do preside over the 26 Wards of the City. When any of these dye, the Lord Mayor and Aldermen, chuse another, out of the most substantial Men of the City; if any so chosen, refuse to hold, he is usually Fined 500 l.

All the Aldermen that have been Lord Mayors, and the three eldest Aldermen that have not yet arrived to that Honourable Estate, are by their Charter, Justices of the Peace of this City.

To the Lord Mayor and the City of London belong divers Courts of Judicature of high importance. The highest, and most antient Court, is that called th Hustings, (i.e.) Domus Caesarum, Causarum, which doth preserve the Laws, Rights Franchises, and Customs of the City. There is a Court of Requests or Conscience. The Court of the Lord Mayor and Aldermen, where also the Recorder and Sheriffs (who are usually Aldermen, or else constantly chosen upon the next Vacancy) sit, Two Courts of the Sheriffs, one for each Counter. The Court of the City Orphans, whereof the Lord Mayor and Aldermen have the Custody. The Court of Common Council, consisting (as the Parliament of England) of two Houses, one for the Lord Mayor and Aldermen, and the other for the Commons; in which Court are made all By-Laws, which bind all the Citizens of London; for every man, either by himself, or by his Representative, gives his Assent thereunto, wherein consists the great happiness of the English Subject, above all the Subjects of any other Prince in the World, that neither in Laws, nor By-Laws, neither in Taxes or Imposts, any man is obliged, but by his own consent. There is another Court of the Chamberlain of the City, to whom belongs the Receipts of the Rents, and Revenues of the City, and to his Court the business of Apprentices, over whom he hath a great authority. To the Lord Mayor, also belong the Courts of Coroner, and of Escheator, and another Court for the Conservation of the River of Thames. Lastly, the Court of Goal-delivery, held usually eight times a year, at the Old Baily, both for the City and Middlesex, for the Trial of Criminals, whereof the Lord Mayor is the Chief Judge; and hath the power of relieving condemned persons.

There are other Courts called Wardmote, or the meeting of Wards, whereof there are 26 in the whole City: in which Court, inquiry is made into all things that can conduce to the regulating and well-governing of the City. Also the Court of Hallmote, or Assembly of every Guild or Fraternity, for regulating what belongs to each Company in particular,

The Traders of London are divided into Companies, or Corporations, and are so many Bodies Politique; Of these there are 12. called the Chief Companies, and he that is chosen Lord Mayor, must be free of one of these Companies, which are 1 Mercers, 2 Grocers, 3 Drapers, 4 Fishmongers, 5 Goldsmiths, 6 Skinners, 7 Merchant-Taylors, 8 Haberdashers, 9 Salters, 10 Ironmongers, 11 Vintners, 12 Clothworkers; and if it happen, that the Lord Mayor Elect is of any other Company, he presently removes to one of the Twelve: all which Companies have Assembly places, called Halls, which are so many Basilikes, or Palaces, and many of them worthy to be viewed by all strangers. It hath been the custom of some of our Kings, to Honour some of these Companies, by taking their Freedom thereof; and the present King was pleased to be made Free of the Company of Grocers, and the present Prince of Orange, lately chose to be made Free of the Company of Drapers.

Each Company or Mystery hath a Master, annually chosen, from among themselves, and hath other subordinate Governors, called Wardens or Assistants. These do exactly correspond to the General Government of the City, by a Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council; who are selected out of those several Companies: so excellent an harmony there is in that Government.

There are besides, near 60 other Companies, or Corporations, all enjoying large Priviledges, by the Kings Gracious Charter, granted unto them, and fair Halls to meet in- A

Something of the Military Government both Antient and Modern, of this mighty Populous City, is also well worthy to be known, both to English and Forreigners. In the 23 of Henry the Eighth, 1532. at a general Muster in London, were first taken the Names of all Men within this City and Liberties only (which reach not far without the Walls) from the age of 16 to 60. also the number of all Harnesses, and of all sorts of Weapons for War, then they drew out of these only such able Men, as had white Harness, and caused them all to appear in white Coats, white Breeches, and white Caps and Feathers, and because Notice was given, that the King himself would see them Muster, they all prepared to appear as Splendidly as the could, and to that end, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, Recorder, and Sheriffs, and all who had been Sheriffs, had all white Harness, and over that, Coats of black Velvet, with the Arms of the City Embroidered thereon, each one a great gold Chain, and mounted on a goodly Horse, with rich Trappings, on their Heads Velvet Caps, in their hands Battle Axes Gilt: Each Alderman and the Recorder had four Halberdiers in white Silk, or else Buff Coats, waiting on them with Gilt Halberds; and the Lord Mayor had 16 tall Men apparaell'd in white Satin Doublets, Caps, and Feathers, Chains of Gold and other gorgeous Attire, with long Gilt Halberds following his Lordship at a distance: but next to him he had four Footmen in white Satin, then two Pages cloathed in Crimson Velvet and Cloth of Gold, riding on gallant Horses richly furnisht, one of them carrying the Lord Mayors Helmet, and the other his his Pole-Ax, both richly gilt and adorned. Most of the Citizens of any Quality or Office, were in white Satin or white Silk Coats, with Chains of Gold, and some with rich Jewels. What was the number then of Men in Arms was not Recorded, but that may be guessed at by what follows. They mustered in Mile-end-Fields, and before Nine of the Clock in the Morning began to march, entering at Aldgate in excellent order down to Westminster, where the King and Court stood to view them passing by, thence they marched about St. James's Park, so through Holborn, up to Leaden-Hall, and there disbanded immediately; and yet this was not done till Five of the Clock in the Evening, which was eight hours continual March.

At the time of the happy Restauration of His Majesty now Reigning, there were in London and the Liberties, six Regiments of Train-Bands, and six Regiments of Auxillaries, and one Regiment of Horse. These thirteen Regiments, about six Weeks before his Majesties arrival, mustered in Hyde Park, being then drawn out for promoting and securing His Majesties Return. These Twelve Regiments of Foot were 18000 compleat. Eight of those Regiments had seven Companies in each, and the other four had six Companies in each, in all Eighty Companies. The Regiment of Horse of six Troops, and a hundred in each Troop. This considerable Army drawn together before the 29th of May, the day of His Majesties Return, was judged to be highly useful for facilitating that Happy Work. Some Months after, His Majesty sent to the City a Commission of Lieutenancy, appointing several persons to act as his Lieutenants in London; giving them the same Lieutenants have in their respective Counties, and in pursuance of that Commission, the Regiments were new settled. There were six Regiments of Train Bands, commanded by six Citizens, Knights, and their Lieutenant Colonels were all Knights; and there were six Regiments of Auxiliaries. In all these Twelve Regiments were Twenty thousand Men; then were listed two Regiments of Horse, each consisting of Five Troops, in all Eight hundred Horse. These were all drawn into Hyde Park, where His Majesty was pleased to take a view of them. But in case of need, it is certain, that in London; and within the Liberty, there may in few days be raised Forty thousand Men. Besides Southwark, one Regiment of Train Band, Fifteen hundred Men, the Hamlets of the Tower two Regiments, in all Three thousand Men; then Halborn Regiment and Westminster Regiment, Two thousand each; and in case of necessity, they can raise Twenty thousand more.

Besides these Train Bands and Auxiliary Men, there is the Artillery Company, which is a Nursery of Soldiers, and have been so above Three-score years. The present King listed himself there when he was Prince of Wales, and so did His Royal Highness the Duke of York at the same time, who since His Majesties Return, hath taken the Command thereof, and owns it as His Company: Under His Highness there is a Leader who exercises this Company every Tuesday fortnight, and the other Tuesday the Exercise is performed by the several Members of the Company, who are there trained up to command. Of this Society are many of the Nobility; also the Lord Mayor and most of the Aldermen. All the Commanders of the Train Bands and Auxiliaries here exercise Arms. This

This Company consists of Six hundred Men. Their Officers are, a Leader, two Lieutenants, two Ensigns, two Sergeants, a Provost Marshal, 3 Gentlemen of Arms, &c. They have also a Court-Marshal, consisting of a President, Sir John Robinson, a Vice-President, Sir Joseph Sheldon, a Treasurer, Colonel John Mews, and Twenty four Members of the Company. On the second Tuesday in February, at a general Rendezvous every year the Officers are elected.

For the security and defence of this famous City and River, there have been antiently divers Fortresses; but that called the Tower of London, hath been eminent above all others. It is not only a Fort or Cittadel, to defend and command both City and River, but a Royal Palace; where our Kings with their Courts have sometimes lodged; a Royal Arsenal, where are Arms and Ammunition for 60000 Soldiers; the Treasury for the Jewels and Ornaments of the English Crown; the only Mint for Coyning of Gold and Silver; the great Archive, where are conserved all the Records of the Courts of Westminster; the chief Prison for the safe custody of great Persons that are Criminals: in short, if the great extent thereof within the Walls be considered, and its authority over the several Hamlets without, and the many high Priviledges and Liberties belonging thereto, it may rather be reputed a City than a Cittadel.

The Tower of London is out of all County or Parish (onely a small part, some hold to be in Middlesex) is a liberty of itself, exempt from all Taxes to the King, to the Church, or to the Poor. It hath a Parochial Church exempt from all Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction of the Archbishop, and is a Donative bestowed by the King without Institution or Induction. There are thirteen Hamlets in several Parishes, of large extent, belonging to the Tower, whose Train Bands are all bound to assist the Constable or Lieutenant of the Tower; they all are called the Kings Company, are to wait on the Kings Person in time of need, and to go no farther than the King.

Within the Tower is kept the Office of His Majesties Ordnance, which hath been always an Office of great Accompt and Importance, as being the only standing and grand Magazine of the Principal Preparatives, Habiliments, Utensils, and Instruments of War, as well by Sea as Land, for the defence and safety of the Kingdom; and consequently hath influence in the Navies, Forts, Castles, and Armies thereof: having the superintendence, ordering, and disposing, as well of the Grand Magazine lodged in the Tower, as at the Minories, Woolwich, Chatham, Windsor, Portsmouth, Plymouth, Hull, and elsewhere; wherein is Ammunition at all times for as many Land and Sea Forces, as may not onely defend England, but be formidable to all our Neighbors. It is under the Government in Chief of the Master of the Ordnance, who is commonly a Person of great Eminence and Integrity, and is in France called Le Grand Maistre d' Artillerie; which word Artillerie, is either ab arte telorum mittendorum, or else as it denotes all manner of Ordnance, may possibly be derived from the Italian Artiglio, signifying the Talons or Claws of Vultures, Eagles, and such rapacious Birds of Prey, as also of Dragons, Basilisks, and Griffons, by which they not onely defend themselves, but tear and rend in pieces all that oppose them. Hence the several sorts of Cannon seem to be denominated ted from such kind of Creatures; as Falcons, Falconets, Sakers, Culverines, from the Latine Coluber, signifying a Serpent or Dragon, and Basilisks, &c.

The Place of the Master-General of the Ordnance is, since the Death of that accomplished Gentleman Sir Willim Compton, conferred upon the eminently deserving Sir Thomas Chiekeley Knight, under whom the Administration, and Management of the said Office is committed to these Principal Officers following, viz.

The Lieutenant-General, Surveyor, Clerk of the Ordnance, Keeper of the Stores, Clerk of the Deliveries, and the Treasurer and Pay-Master, who all hold their Places by Patent under the Great Seal.

Lieutenant of the Ordnance, since the death of Colonel William Legg, is David Walter Esquire, Groom of His Majesties Bedchamber, whose duty is, in the absence of the Master of the Ordnance, to impart all Orders and Warrants directed to the Office, and to see them duly executed, and to give order for discharging the great Ordnance, when required, upon Coronation-days, Festivals, Triumphs, and the like; as also to see the Train of Artillery, and all its Equipage fitted for motion upon any occasion, when it shall be ordered to be drawn in to the Field.

The Surveyor is Jonas More Esquire, whose Charge it is to survey all His Majesties Ordnance, Stores and Provisions of War, in the Custody of the Store-keeper, which he is to see so distinguished and placed, as shall be best for their preservation and safety, for a decent view, and a ready Accompt. To allow all Bills of Debt, and to keep Check upon all Labourers and Artificers Works; and to see that all Provisions received, be good and serviceable, and duly proved with the assistance of the rest of the Officers, and the Proof-Masters, and marked with the Kings Mark, if they ought so to be.

The Clerk of the Ordnance is Edward Sherburne Esquire, whose Place is to Record all Orders and Instructions given for the Government of the Office; as likewise all Patents and Grants, and the Names of all Officers, Clerks, Artificers, Attendants, Gunners, Labourers, and others, who enjoy the said Grants, or any other Fees from the King for the same; to draw all Estimates for Provisions and Supplies to be made, and all Letters, Instructions, Commissions, Deputations, and Contracts for His Majesties Service; to make all Bills of Imprest, and Debentures for the Payment and Satisfaction of the respective Artificers and Creditors of the Office, for Work done, or Provisions received; and Quarter-Books for the Salaries, Allowances, and Wages of all Officers, Clerks, and other Ministers belonging to the said Office; as also to keep Journals and Liegers of the Receipts and Returns of all His Majesties Stores, that nothing be bought, borrowed, given, received, lent, or employed, without due Record thereof, to serve as a Check between the two Accountants of the Office, the one for Money, the other for Stores.

The Store-keeper is Sir George March, who is to take into his Charge and Custody, all His Majesties Ordnance, Munitions, and Stores thereunto belonging; and to indent and put in Legal security for the safe keeping thereof, and for making just and true Account from time to time; to receive no Provisions whatsoever that are manifestly unserviceable, or before they

They have been surveyed by the Surveyor; nor to issue any Proportion of Ordnance, Munition, or Stores, except the said proportion be agreed upon, and signed by the Officers, according to the signification and appointment of the Master of the Ordnance, grounded upon order of His Majesty, or Six of the Privy Council, or the Lord Admiral, for matters concerning the Navy. Nor to receive back any Stores formerly issued, untill they have been reviewed by the Surveyor, and Registered by the Clerks of the Ordnance in the Book of Remains, to look that all His Majesties Store-houses be well repaired, and well accommodated, and the Stores kept in such Order and Lustre, as is fit for the service and honour of the King.

The Clerk of the Deliveries, since the surrender of the said place by George Wharton Esq; is Samuel Forterey Esquire, whose special and proper duty is to draw all Proportions for Deliveries of any Stores and Provisions, and to be present at the Delivery, and by Indenture to charge the particular Receiver of His Majesties Munition, whether Captain, Gunner, or other, and to Register as well the Copies of all Warrants for Deliveries, as the proportions delivered, thereby to discharge the Store-keeper.

The Place of Treasurer and Pay-Master of the Office, was formerly an Appendix to that of the Lieutenant of the Ordnance, but His Majesty that now is, for several Reasons, was pleased to order, that after the vacancy of that Charge, by the death of Colonel Legg, the said Office of Treasurer should be no more executed by the Lieutenant, or other Person having other Charge or Employment in the Office of the Ordnance, and accordingly hath been since

pleas'd to erect the said Place into a particular Office, distinct from any the aforesaid Offices, and to confer the same by Patent upon George Wharton Esq; who now enjoys the same.

There are other Subordinate Officers, who likewise hold their Places by Patent, as,

First, the Master-Gunner of England, Captain Valentine Price, who is to teach and instruct all such as desire to learn the Art of Gunnery, and to administer to every Scholar an Oath, which, beside the duty of Allegiance, bindeth him not to serve any Foreign Prince or State, (without leave) nor to teach the Art of Gunnery unto any, but such as have taken the said Oath, And to certifie to the Master of the Ordnance the sufficiency of any person recommended to be one of His Majesties said Gunners, and his ability to discharge the duty of a Gunner.

Secondly, the Keeper of the small Guns, Mr. Richard Batchler, who hath the charge and custody of His Majesties small Guns, as Musquets, Harquebuzes, Carabins, Pistols, &c. with their Furnitures.

There are divers other inferiour Ministers, Attendants, and Artificers, as the Clerks, Proof-Masters, Messenger, Master-Smith, Master-Carpenter, Master-Wheelwright, Master-Gunsmith, Furber, and the like, which, for brevity sake, shall be passed over.

Yet it may not be here omitted, that there is a further superintendency and jurisdiction, peculiar to the Master of the Ordnance, over all His Majesties Engineers, employed in the several Fortifications of this Kingdom, most of whom have their Salaries and allowances, payable in the said Office, to which they are accountable,

Moreover, in the Tower is kept the Office of Warden of the Mint, where onely, of later times, is minted all the Bullion that is minted in England; although the King hath power to set up a Mint in any other place of His Kingdom.

In this Office are divers persons of quality and worth, whereof the principal Officer is called the Warden of the Mint; whose Office is to receive the Silver and Gold brought in by the Merchants, Goldsmiths, or others, to pay them for it, and to oversee all the rest, and is at present Sir Anthony St. Leger, Fee 100 l. per annum.

Next is the Master-worker, who receives the Bullion from the Warden, causes it to be melted, delivers it to the Moneyers, and when it is minted, receives it again from them. His allowance is not any set Fee, but according to the pound weight; is at present Henry Slingsby Esq;

The third Officer is the Comptroller, who sees that the Money be all made according to the just Assize, to oversee the Officers, and Control them, if the Money be not as it ought to be; his Fee is 100 Marks; and is now James Hore Esq; These three Officers hold by Patent of the King.

The fourth is the Assay-master, who weighs the Bullion, and sees that it be according to the the Standard; whose Fee is also 100 Marks, and is Mr. John Britle.

The Fifth is the Auditor, to take the Accounts, and make them up.

The Sixth is the Surveyour of the melting, who is to see the Bullion cast out, and not to be altered after it is delivered to the Melter; which is after the Assay-master hath made Trial thereof.

There is moreover a Clerk of the Irons, a Graver, a Weigher, a Teller, Melters, Blanchers, Moncyers, with some other Officers belonging to the Mint.

Touching the Moneys there minted, the Gold or Silver Coin, a large account hath been given in the First Part of the Present State of England.

The Office of His Majesties Records; kept in the Tower of London, is of venerable Antiquity, and the place of Keeper, and Deputy of the same, dignified with special Trust, whereof Sir Algernon May Knight, is at present the Keeper, Salary 500 l. per annum; and William Ryley Esq; of the Inner Temple, is Deputy thereof.

This place is properly in the Master of the Rolls his Gift; and then His Majesty by His Letters Patents hath usually confirmed it.

As the Chappel of the Rolls in Chancery-Lane, and Petri-Bag-Office, doth fill with Records out of other Offices, they are transmitted into the Tower after some years, for it hath been the wisdom and care of former Ages, to send the Records of several Courts to the Tower, for their preservation and safety, not onely as a Policy of State, but the particular interest of all men, having Estates requiring ring it, there being many Precedents for it remaining in the Records of the Tower; and a particular form of a Writ to send the Records in the Chappel of the Rolls to the Tower of London. The Records of the Tower (amongst other things) contain the Foundations of Abbeys, and other Religious Houses, and the Records in the Rolls contain the dissolution of those Abbeys, and the Donation of the Lands, of which many Families are now possess'd; and if those Records were all in one place, the People might have access unto them, all under one and the same search and charge; which would be a great ease and benefit to the People and a safety to the Records of this Nation.

Besides these Records at the Rolls being join'd to those in the Tower, will make a perfect continuance of all the Antient Rights of the English Nation, which are now set forth in the Records of the Tower, wherof these following are a few heads or particulars of them, viz.

The Leagues of Foreign Princes, and the Treaties with them.

And all the Atchievements of this Nation in France, and other Foreign parts.

The Original of all the Laws that have been Enacted or Recorded, until the Reign of Richard the Third.

The Establishment of Ireland; in Laws and Dominions.

The Dominion of the British Seas, totally excluding both the French and Hollander to Fish therein, without Licence from England, proved by Records before the Conquest.

The

The Interest of the Isle of Man, and the Isles of Jersey, Guernsey, Sark, and Alderney; which four last are the remaining part of the Norman Possession.

The Title of the Realm of France, and how obtained.

And all that the Kings or Princes of this Land, have until that time done abroad, or granted or confirmed unto their Subjects at home or abroad.

Tenures of all the Lands in England, Extents, or Surveys of Mannors and Land, Inquisitions post mortem, of infinite advantage upon trials of Interest or Descent.

Liberties and Priviledges granted to Cities and Towns Corporate, or to private men, as Court-Lects, Waiffs, Estrays, Mercats, Fairs, Free-waren, Felons, Goods, or what else could come to the Crown, or pass out of it.

Several Writs, Pleadings, and Proceedings, as well in Chancery, as in all the Courts of Common Law and Exchequer.

Inspeximus's, and Inrolments of Charters and Deeds, made and done before the Conquest, Deeds and Contracts between Party and Party, and the just establishment of all the Offices in the Nation.

The Metes and Bounds of all the Forests in England, with the severall respective Rights of the Inhabitans therein to Common of Pasture, &c. Besides many other Priviledges and Evidencis, which are too long to be here repeated or inserted.

And are therefore in the Petition of the Commons of England in Parliament, An. 46. Edw. 3. Num. 43. said to be the perpetual Evidence of every mans Right, and the Records

These Records are repositied within a certain Place or Tower, called Wakefield Tower, adjoining to the Bloudy Tower, near Traitors Gate. There is another place called Julius Cæsars Chappel in the White Tower : The going up to this Chappel is in Cold Harbor, Eighty four steps up, with six or eight great Pillars on each side, and at the upper end thereof, there was a Marble Altar, which in the late times of Rebellion was caused to be beaten down, as a Monument of Tyranny and Superstition.

There are many Cart load of Records lying in this place, out of which, William Prymme Esquire, late Keeper of the same, with indefatigable labour, Collected and Printed many of Publick Utility, Annis 1659, 1660, 1662, 1664. in four several Volumes, beginning Primo Regis Johannis; for before that time there were no Rolls, but only Chartæ Antiquæ, or Antient Transcripts made and done, before and since the Conquest, until the beginning of King John. Then follows his Son Henry the Third, where the first Office Post mortem begins. Then there is Edward the First, Second, and Third, Richard the Second, Henry the Fourth; Henry the Fifth, Henry the Sixth, and Edward the Fourth; and Inquisitions Post Mortem of Richard the Third, who Reigned onely 3 years. The Rolls of that King are in the Chappel of the Rolls in Chancery Lane.

The Rolls of the Tower are variously distinguished, viz, Rotuli Patentium Cartatum Parliamentorum, Clausurarum finium Scotiæ, Vasconiæ, Franciæ, Hiberniæ, Walliæ, Normaniæ, Alemanniæ, Oblatæ, Liberatæ, Extractæ, Perambulationes, Forestæ

Foresta, Scutag. Rotul. Marechal. Roma, de Treugis Chart. & Patent. fact. in partibus transmarinis. Patent. de Domibus Judæorum Protection. de Pardonation, &c. Stapulæ, cum multis alijs, which are lately depicted upon the outside of every Press in the repository belonging to each Kings Reign, and very easily to be brought forth for the use of the Client, by a Table of Orders hanging up in the said Office, and subscribed by the Keeper hereof.

The same is to be kept open, and constantly attended for all Resorters thereto, from the hours of seven to eleven of the Clock, in the morning, and from one till five in the afternoon, every day of the Week, except in the months of December, January, and February, and in them, from eight till eleven in the morning, and from one to four in the afternoon, except on Holy-days, Publick Fasting, and Thanksgiving Days, and Times of great Pestilence.

The Governor of this Great and important Fortress, being called The Lieutenant of the Tower, is usually a person of great worth and fidelity, who is, Virtute Officii, to be in Commission of the Peace for the Counties of Kent, Surry, and Middlesex. He is High Steward of a Court there held, hath a Deputy, and may refuse an Habeas Corpus, may give Protection to all Debtors belonging to the Tower, infra Regnum Angliæ. Hath the Priviledge to take Unam lagenam, Two Gallons and a Pint. Ante malum & retro, of all Wine-ships that come, and to be, as some hold, Custos Rotulorum of the County of Middlesex. His Salary is 200 l. per annum. His usual Fee for every Prisoner sent to the Tower, who are commonly Men

Men of Estates, is 20 l. and 3 l. a week for an Esquire, and 5 l. for a Knight; For a Baron or above 50 l. at entrance, to whom the King allows weekly 10 l. whercof two parts go to the Prisoner, the third to the Lieutenant for Lodgings and Diet; and 50 l. to the Lieutenant upon the Prisoners Discharge. An. Dom. 1675. the Earl of Northampton was made Constable of the Tower of London, and Liberties thereof,

The present Lieutenant of the Tower is Sir John Robinson Baronet.

The Gentleman Porter of the Tower holds his place by Patent, and at the entrance of a Prisoner, hath for his Fee Vestimenta superiora, or else a composition for the same.

The Gentleman Jayler is put in by the Lieutenant of the Tower, his Fee is 41 s. of a Gentleman, and 5 l. of a Knight. Then there are 40 Warders of the Tower, accounted the Kings Domestick Servants, and sworn by the Lord Chamberlain of His Majesties Household, or by the Clerk of the Check,

The Moneys allowed by the King to the several Officers and Servants in the Tower, and for keeping in repair that huge Structure, amounts to a vast sum,

Near the Tower is St. Catharines, which hath a Royal Jurisdiction for the Ecclesiastical Causes and Probate of Wills, and belongeth to the Queen; Dr. Bud is Commissary; from whom, if any will appeal, it must be to the King in his Court of Chancery, who thereupon issueth out a Commission under the Great Seal, as in Appeals from the Arabes or Prerogative.

The

The next thing remarkable in the City of London, may be the Bridge, which for admirable workmanship, for vastness of Foundation, for all Dimensions, and for solid stately Houses, and rich Shops built thereon, surpasseth all other in Europe; it hath nineteen Arches, founded in a deep broad River, and some say on a soft ozy ground; Eight hundred Foot in length, Sixty high, and Thirty broad; hath a Draw-bridge almost in the middle, and Twenty Foot between each Arch; it was built Anno 1209. in the Reign of King John. The first Stone-bridge in England having been built above One hundred years before, by Queen Maud, Wife to Henry the First, at Stratford, on the River Lee, Three miles from London; so called from the High-way there passing over a Ford, and since called Stratford-Bowe, from the Arched Bridge, a piece of Architecture then new to the English Nation.

The building of this Bridge of London, was an exceeding difficult and costly piece of Work; and to those that consider the constant great Flux and Reflux at that place, it seems almost impossible to be done again. The charges of keeping it in repair, is so great, that it hath been thought fit by our Ancestors to have a large House, a vast Revenue in Lands and Houses, divers considerable Officers &c. to be set apart for the constant care and repair thereof: the principal whereof are the two Bridge-Masters, chosen out of the Body of the Liveries upon Midsummer-day, after the Sheriffs and the Chamberlain.

Concerning

When Neptune from his Billows London
 spy'd,
 Brought proudly thither by a High-Spring-Tide:
 As through a floating Wood he steer'd along,
 And moving Castles cluster'd in a throng.
 When he beheld a mighty Bridge give Law,
 Unto his Surges, and their fury awe;
 When such a Shelf of Cataracts did roar,
 As if the Thames with Nile had chang'd her Shoar.
 When he such massie Walls, such Towers did eye,
 Such Posts, such Irons on his back to lie:
 When such vast Arches he observ'd, that might,
 Nineteen Rialto's make; for depth and height.
 When the Cerelean God these things survey'd,
 He shook his Trident, and, astonish'd said,
 Let the whole Earth now all her Wonders count,
 This Bridge of Wonders is the Paramount.

Not far from this wonderful Bridge is the fatal place, where the dreadful fire aforementioned first began, near which is now erecting (as was ordered by an Act of Parliament, immediately after the Fire) a Pillar, in perpetual memory thereof. It will be of the Dorick Order, 175 Foot high, and 15 Foot Diameter, all of solid Portland Stone, with a Stair-case in the middle of black Marble, with an Iron Balcone on the top, not unlike those two ancient white Marble Pillars at Rome, erected in honour of the Emperours, Trajan and Antoninus, those two excellent Princes; they were there built above 1500 years ago, and are still standing entire. The Piedestal of this our Pillar, is also all of Portland Stone; and is 21 Foot square, and 40 Foot high, whercon is to be a large Inscription.
Dorick

Not far below this famous Bridge is placed the Custom-house, where is received and managed all the Impositions laid on Merchandise, Imported or Exported from this City, which are so considerable, that of all the Customs of England, divided into three parts, the Port of London pays Two thirds, that is above 330000 l. yearly.

The House where this great Office was kept, being destroyed by the late Fire, is now rebuilt in a very much more magnificent, uniform, and commodious manner by the King, and hath cost His Majesty 10000 l. the Building.

There are at present within this City of London, divers other very considerable Offices whereof take the account following.

Of the Office of Postmaster-General.

THE Profits of the said Office, are settled by Act of Parliament, on His Royal Highness the Duke of York; but His Majesty doth constitute His Postmaster-General, by Letters Patents, under the Great Seal of England; and accordingly, hath conferred that Office upon the Right Honourable, Henry, Earl of Arlington, Lord Chamberlain of His Majesties Household.

The present Postmaster-General, keepeth one Grand, or General Office in the City of London, from whence, Letters and Pacquets are dispatch'd.

Every Monday to France, Italy, Spain, Flanders, Germany, Sweden, Denmark, &c. and to Kent.

Every Tuesday, to the United Neatherlands, Germany, &c., and to all parts of Eng'land, Scotland, and Ireland.

Every Wednesday, to Kent onely, and the Downs.

Every Thursday to France, Spain, Italy, and all parts of England and Scotland.

Every Friday, to the Spanish and United Neatherlands, Germany, Sweden, Denmark, and to Kent.

Every Saturday, to all parts of England, Scotland, and Ireland.

And the Answers of the said Letters and Pacquets, are received in the said Office; in due course; and from thence dispersed, and delivered, according to their respective directions, with all expedition.

The

The said Office is managed by a Deputy, and other Officers, to the number of Seventy seven persons; who give their actual attendance respectively, in the dispatch of the business.

Upon this Grand Office, depends One hundred eighty two Deputy Post-Masters in England, and Scotland; most of which keep Regular Offices in their Stages, and Sub-Postmasters in their Branches, and also in Ireland, another General Office for that Kingdom, which is kept in Dublin, consisting of Eighteen like Officers, and forty five Deputy Post-Masters.

The present Postmaster-General keeps constantly, for the transport of the said Letters and Pacquets.

Between Eng- land and	}	France , Two Pacquet-Boats.
		Flanders , Two Pacquet-Boats
		Holland , Three Pacquet-Boats.
		Ireland , Three Pacquet-Boats.

And at Deal, Two Pacquet-Boats for the Downs.

All which Officers, Postmasters, Pacquet-Boats, are maintained at his own proper charge.

And as the Master-piece of all those good regulations, established by the present Postmaster-General, for the better Government of the said Office, he hath annexed and appropriated the Market Towns of England, so well to the respective Postages, that there is no considerable Market Town, but hath an easy and certain Converance for the Letters thereof, to and from the said Grand Office, in the due course of the Males every Post.

Though the number of Letters missive in England, were not at all considerable in our Ancestors days, yet it is now so prodigiously great (since the meanest people have generally learnt to write) that this Office is Farmed for thirty thousand pounds a year.

Note also, that Letters are conveyed with more expedition, and less charges, than in any forreign Countrey.

A Letter containing a whole sheet of Paper, is conveyed 80 miles for 2 d. two sheets, 4 d. and an ounce of Letters but 8 d. and that in so short a time, by night as well as by day, that every 24 hours, the Post goes 120 miles, and in five days, an answer of a Letter may be had from a place, 300 miles distant from the Writer. Moreover, if any Gentleman desire to ride Post, to any Principal Town of England, Post-Horses are always in readiness (taking no Horse without the consent of his owner) which in other Kings Reigns was not duly observed; and only 3 d. is demanded for every English mile, and for every Stage to the Post-Boy, 4 d. for Conducting.

Besides this excellent convenience of conveying Letters, and Men on Horseback, there is of late such an admirable commodiousness, both for Men and Women of better rank, to travel from London, to almost any great Town of England, and to almost all the Villages near this great City, that the like hath not been known in the World, and that is by Stage-Coaches, wherein one may be transported to any place; sheltered from foul weather, and foul ways, free from endangering ones Health or Body, by hard jogging, or over violent motion, and this not only at a low price, as about a shilling for every five miles, but with such velocity and speed, as that the Posts in some Forreign Countreys, make not more miles in a day; for the Stage Coaches, called Flying Coaches, make Forty or

Fifty

Fifty miles in a day, as from London to Oxford or Cambridge, and that in the space of 12 hours, not counting the time for Dining; setting forth not too early, nor coming in too late. The Post-Office is now kept in Bishopsgatestreet.

Of the Kings Great Wardrobe.

THIS Office was usually kept within the City, near Puddlewharfe; in an antient House, built by Sir John Beauchamp, Son to Guy de Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, and afterward sold to King Edward the III.

The Master or Keeper of the Great Wardrobe, is an Officer of great Antiquity and Dignity.

High Priviledges and Immunities were conferred by Henry the VI. and confirmed by his Successors; King James enlarged the same, and ordained that this Great Officer should be an Incorporation, or Body Politique for ever.

His Office is to make Provisions for Coronations, Marriages, and Funerals, to furnish the Court with Beds, Hangings, Carpets, and other necessaries; to furnish Houses for Ambassadors, at their first arrival here; Presents for Forreign Princes and Ambassadors, Cloaths of Estate, and other Furniture, for the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Lord President of Wales, and all His Majesties Ambassadors abroad, to provide all Robes for Foreign Knights of the Garter, for the Officers of the Garter, Coats for Heralds and Pursuivants at Arms, Robes for the Lord Chancellor, Lord Treasurer, &c. Rich Liveries for the two Lords Chief Justices, all the Barons of the Exchequer, divers Officers cers in those Courts: all Liveries for His Majesties Servants, all Linnen for the Kings Person, &c.

To defray all the forementioned charges, ordinarily there is expended yearly, about Twenty five thousand pound, besides all Extraordinaries as Coronations, Funerals, &c.

This Office is at present enjoyed by Ralph Montague, Esq; Son to the Lord Montague of Boughton, and one of His Majesties most Honourable Privy Council.

The present Salary to him, in compensation of all other antient Fees and Allowances, is yearly 2000*l*.

The said House, near Puddlewharfe, was long ago, annext for ever to the Master of this Office; but since the great Fire, this Office is kept in the Savoy.

The Chief Officers under the Master, are a Deputy, Thomas Townsend, Senior, Esq; his Salary 200*l*. and a Clerk, Thomas Townsend, Jun. Esq; whose Salary, in compensation of all Fees and Allowances, is yearly 300*l*.

Both these Officers had fair dwelling Houses, which were also consumed by the Fire, Belonging to this Office are divers Tradesmen, Artificers, and others, to the number of about forty, all sworn Servants to the King.

To this Office have lately been added, by Patent, during pleasure, two considerable Officers, viz. a Controuler, Andrew Newport, Esq; Brother to the Lord Newport, and a Surveyor, Col. Bullen Reymys, whose Salaries are 300*l*. yearly to each one.

Of the Colledges in London.

THE Famous City of LONDON may not unfitly be stiled an University, for therein are taught all Liberal Arts and Sciences, not only Divinity, Civil Law, Physick, which in other Universities are usual, are read here; but also the Municipal, or Common Laws of the Nation is here taught, and Degrees taken therein, which can be said in no other Nation: Moreover, all sorts of Languages, Geography, Hydrography, the Art of Navigation, the Art of Fortification, Anatomy, Chyrurgery, Chymistry, Calligraphy, Brachygraphy, or Short-hand, the Arts of Riding, Fencing, Dancing, Art Military, Fire-works, Limning, Painting, Enamelling, Sculpture, Architecture, Heraldry, all sorts of Musick, Arithmatick, Geometry, Astronomy, Grammar, Rhetorick, Poetry, and any other thing, that may any way contribute to the accomplishment of an Ingenious Nobleman, or Gentleman.

The Colledges of Municipal, or Common-Law Professors and Students, are 14, call'd still Inns, the old English word, for Houses of Noblemen, or Bishops, or Men of extraordinary Note, and which is of the same signification, with the French word Hofitel at Paris.

There are two Inns of Sergeants, four Inns of Court, and Eight Inns of Chancery.

The Inns of Chancery were probably so nam'd; because there dwelt such Clerks, as did chiefly study the forming of Writs, which regularly appertain to the Curftors, that are Officers of Chancery. The First of these is call'd Thavis Inn, begun in the Reign of Edw.
the

the III, and since purchased by Lincolns Inn, as was also Furnivals Inn; then there is Bernards Inn, New Inn, Clements Inn, Cliffords Inn, antiently the House of the Lord Clifford; Staple Inn, belonging to the Merchants of the Staple; and Lyons Inn, antiently a common Inn, with the Sign of the Lyon,

These were heretofore preparatory Colledges for younger Students, and many were entred here, before admitted into the Inns of Court,

Now they are for the most part taken up by Attorneys, Sollicitors and Clerks, who have here their Chambers apart, and their Dyet at a very easy rate, in a Hall together, where they are obliged to appear in grave long Robes, and black round knit Caps. These Colledges belong all to some Inns of Court, who send yearly some of their Barristers to read to these. In each of these Inns of Chancery, one with another, may be about sixty persons.

The Inns of Court were so named, as some think, because the Students therein, are to serve the Courts of Judicature: or else, because antiently these Colledges received only the Sons of Noble-Men, and better sort of Gentlemen, as Fortescue affirmeth.

Of these there are four: First, The Two Temples, heretofore the dwelling of the Knights-Templers, and Purchased by some Professors of the Common-Law, above three hundred years ago. They are called the Inner and Middle Temple, in relation to Essex House, which was a part of the Knights-Templers, and called the Outer Temple, because it is seated without Temple Bar.

The two other Inns of Court, are Lincolns Inn, belonging antiently to the Earls of Lincoln; and Greys-Inn, belonging to the Noble Family of the Greys.

In the Reign of Henry the VI. they so flourished, that there were in each of these, about two hundred Students, and a Student then expended yearly about 20*l.* which was as much as Two hundred pounds now; for they had usually (as the French Nobles have now in their Academies) every one an old discreet Servant, and divers Masters for to instruct them in all laudable qualities; and therefore saith the same Fortescue, Ultra Studium legum; sunt quasi Gymnasia omnium morum. And the Students were onely, saith he, Nobilium Filii, that is, Gentlemen, at least, for so the word Nobilitas was then taken here, and is still in France: And therefore by command of King James, none were to be admitted into these Colledges, but Gentlemen by descent. Our Ancestors thought those of inferior rank, would rather debase the honour of the Law, and would be prone to Chicane, or play tricks, and not like to be so fit for Trusts and Honours, whereas the consideration of Birth and Fortune, makes Men more careful of their Honour and Reputation.

If this Command of King James had been carefully observed, and one more added, viz. that none but Gentlemen should easily and ordinarily be admitted to Ecclesiastical Dignities, there would be in England, sufficient Provisions for the younger Sons of Noblemen and Gentlemen, whereof, now very many are the objects of pity, either for suffering, or at least, for doing much evil, for want of fit employments, and there would be, doubtless, less corruption in our Ecclesiastical and Civil Government vernment; the serious consideration whereof, would be a Work, worthy of our Parliament.

These Societies are no Corporations, nor have any Judicial power over their Members, but have certain Orders among themselves, which have by consent the force of Laws: For lighter offences they are only excommuned, or put out of Commons, not to eat with the rest; and for greater offences they lose their Chambers, and are expelled the Colledge; and being once expelled, they are never received, by any of the three other Societies, Which deprivation of Honour, to young generous Spirits, is more grievous, than perhaps, deprivation of life.

These also, when they meet at Chappel or Hall, or at Courts of Justice, wear a grave black Robe and Cap, at other times walk with Cloak and Sword.

There are no Lands or Revenues belong to these Societies, which being no Corporations, are not enabled to purchase, or have they any thing for defraying the Charges of the House, but what is paid at Admittances, and Quit-Rents for their Chambers.

The whole Company of Gentlemen in each Society, may be divided into Four parts, Benchers, Utter-Barristers, Inner Barristers, and Students.

Benchers are the Seniors, to whom is committed the Government, and ordering of the whole House; and out of these, is chosen yearly a Treasurer, who receiveth, disburseth, and accounteth for all Moneys, belonging to the House.

Utter Barristers are such, as from their Learning and Standing, are called by the Bench-ers, to plead and argue in the Society, doubtful Cases and Questions, which are called Moots (from meeting the old Saxon word for the French, Assemblée, or else from the French Mot a word.) And whilest they argue the said Cases, they sit uttermost on the Forms or Benches, which they call the Bar.

Out of these Mootmen, are chosen Readers for the Inns of Chancery, belonging to the Inns of Court, whereof they are Members; where in Term time, and grand Vacations, they argue Cases in the presence of Attorneys and Clerks.

All the rest are accounted Inner-Barristers, who, for want of Learning or Time, are not to argue in these Moots; and yet in a Moot before the Benchers, two of these Inner Barristers, sitting on the same Form with the Utter Barristers, do, for their exercises, recite by heart, the Pleading of the same Moot Case; in Law French; which Pleading is the Declaration at large, of the said Moot Case, the one taking the part of the Plaintiff, and the other of the Defendant.

The year also amongst them, is divided into three parts, The Learning Vacation, the Term times, and the Dead, or Mean Vacation.

They have two Learning Vacations, viz. Lent-Vacation, which begins the first Monday in Lent, and continueth Three weeks, and three days; and Summer-Vacation, which begins Monday after Lammas-day, and continueth also three weeks and three days. In these Vacations are the greatest Conferences and Exercises of Study, in manner following:

The Benchers appoint the eldest Utter-Barristers, to read among them openly in the Hall, whereof whereof he hath notice half a year before. He then, the first day, about eight of the clock, makes choice of some Act or Statute; whereupon he grounds his whole Reading for that Vacation, and declares such mischiefs and inconveniencies as were unprovided before the same Act, and are provided by the said Act, and then reciteth certain Doubts and Questions, which he hath devised, that may grow upon the said Statute, and declareth his Judgement therein: After which, one of the younger Utter-Barristers, repeateth one Question propounded by the Reader, and doth, by way of Argument, labour to prove the Readers opinion to be against Law; and after him, the Senior Utter-Barrister and Readers, one after another, according to Seniority, do declare their Opinions and Judgements in the same: And then the Reader, who did put the Case, endeavoureth to confute Objections, laid against him, and to confirm his own opinion: After which, the Judges and Sergeants, if any be present, declare their Opinions; then the youngest Utter-Barrister again rehearseth another Case, which is prosecuted as the former was. And this Exercise continueth daily three or four hours.

Out of those who have Read once in the Summer-Vacation, and are Benchers, is chosen: always one to Read in Lent, who observes the like manner of Reading, as before is expressed.

Out of these Readers, usually the Sergeants are chosen.

The

The manner of Mooting in the Inns of Court, is thus :

IN these Vacations, after Supper, in the Hall, or after Drinking on Fasting nights, the Reader, with one or two of the Benchers, comes in, to whom one of the Utter-Barristers propounds some doubtful Case; which being argued by the Benchers, and lastly, by him that moved the Case; the Benchers sit down on the Bench, at the upper end of the Hall, whence they are called Benchers: And upon a Form, in the middle of the Hall, sit two Inner-Barristers; and on both sides of them, on the same Form, sitteth one Inner-Barrister, who doth in Law French declare to the Benchers (as Sergeants do at the Bar in the Kings Court to the Judges) some kind of Action; the one being, as it were, retained for the Plaintiff, and the other for the Defendant. Which ended, the two Utter-Barristers argue such Questions, as be disputable within the Case. After which, the Benchers do likewise declare their opinions, how they take the Law to be in those Questions.

In those Mootings, the Junior always argueth first, as is used among the Judges in the Exchequer-Chamber, and amongst the Sergeants, in open Courts of Judicature. the Inner and Utter-Barristers plead here in Law French, and the Benchers in English; and at the Readings, the Readers Cases are put in English.

Mootings

Mootings in the Inns of Chancery, are thus:

IN the Learning Vacations, each Utter-Barrister, who is a Reader in the Inns of Chancery, go with two Students of the same Inn of Court, to the Inn of Chancery, where he is appointed to Read, and there meet him commonly, two of each Inns of Court, who, sitting as the Benchers do in the Inns of Court at their Moots, they hear, and Argue his Case.

In the four Inns of Chancery, that are scituated in Holborn, the Moots are read, either by those of Greys-Inn, or Lincolns-Inn; the others by those of the two Temples.

In Term-time, the onely Exercises of Learning, is arguing and debating Cases after Dinner, and Mooting after Supper, in the same manner, as in the Vacation-time.

The time between the Learning Vacations and Terms, is called the Mean Vacation, during which time, every day after Dinner, Cases are argued, as at other times; and after Supper, Moots are brought in, and pleaded by the Inner-Barristers, in the presence of the Utter-Barrister, which sit there in the room of the Benchers, and argued by them, as the Benchers do in Term-time, and Learning-Vacation.

The

in any of the Inns of Court, thus,*

THe Students hold a Parliament before Christmas, and in case there be in London no Pestilence, and that the House is furnished with such a number of Students, and of such quality, as are meet to keep a Solemn Christmast; then are chosen and appointed, certain of the Students to be Officers, in imitation of the Kings Court; as Comptroller of the Inner-Temple (an Office lately performed with much splendor and reputation, by Thomas Walker, Esq;) so of the Middle Temple, stiled, Lieutenant of the Tower, and Treasurer, &c. These bear rule in the House; during the whole time of Christmas; and are to behave themselves in that Port, Gravity and Authority, as if they were so in the Kings House, that so hereafter they may know the better to behave themselves, in case they should be promoted to that Honour: for these Gentlemen are usually of such quality, as come not hither with intent to profess the Law, but to learn so much Law, as may be necessary to preserve their Estates, and to make themselves accomplisht in other qualities, necessary for Gentlemen.

At such time, they have here divers Diversions, as Feasting every day, Singing, Dancing, Musick, Dicing, which last, is allowed there to all Comers, and is so excessive, that what the Dicers allow out of each winning to the Butlers Box, usually amounts to about 50*l.* a day and night, wherewith, a small Contribution tion from each Student, are the great charges of the whole Christmas defrayed.

Sometimes, when their Publick Treasury is great, they create a Prince among themselves, with such Title as they please to give him, and he hath all his Officers, and a Court suitable to a great Prince, and many of the prime Nobility, and great Officers of State, are Feasted and Entertained by him, with Interludes, &c. as was lately done at Lincolns Inn, with very much Magnificence, by Sir John Lort, by the Title of Prince de la Grange.

From All-Saints day to Candlemas, each House usually hath Revels on Holidays, that is, Musick, and Dancing; and for this is chosen some young Student, to be Master of the Revels.

Note, That the manner of their Parliament is briefly thus;

Every Quarter commonly, the Benchers cause one of the standing Officers of the House, to summon a Parliament, which is onely an Assembly and Conference of Benchers and Utter-Barristers, which are called the Sage Company, and meet in a place, called the Parliament-Chamber, and there Treat of such Matters, as shall seem expedient, for the good ordering of the House, and the Reformation of such things as they shall judge meet to be Reformed. Here are the Readers for Lent, and Summer-Vacation elected; also the Treasurer is here chosen, and the Auditors appointed to take the Accounts of the Old Treasurer, &c. Here Offences committed by any of the Society are punished, &c.

These Inns of Court, are most wisely scituated by our Ancestors, between the Kings Courts of Judicature, and the most Opulent City of London.

In

In the four Inns of Court, are reckoned about 800 Students.

Lastly, there are two more Colledges, called Sergeants Inn, where the Common-Law Student, when he is arrived to the highest Degree, hath his Lodging and Dyet. These are called, Servientes ad Legem, Sergeants at Law, and are as Doctors in the Civil Law; onely these have heretofore been reputed more Noble and Honourable. Doctoris enim appellatio est Magistrarii, Servientis vero Ministerii: and therefore Doctors of Law are allowed to sit within the Bar in Chairs, and covered; whilst Sergeants stand without the Bar, bare-headed, onely with Ccif, or Caps on.

To arrive to this high Degreee, take this brief Account.

The young Student in the Common-Law, being born of a Gentile Stock, and bred two or or three years in the University, and there chiefly versed in Logick and Rhetorick, both expedient for a Lawyer, and gotten some insight into the Civil Law, and some skill in the French Tongue, as well as Latine, he is admitted to be one of the four Inns of Court, where he is first called a Moot-man, and after, about Seven years study, is chosen an Utter-Barrister; and having then spent Twelve years more, and performed the Exercises before-mentioned, he is chosen a Bencher, and some time after, a Reader. During the Reading, which heretofore was Three weeks and three days, as afore-mentioned, the Reader keeps a constant and sumptuous Feasting, inviting the Chief Nobles, Judges, Bishops, Great Officers of the Kingdom, and sometimes the King himself, that it costs them sometimes sometimes 800, or 1000*l.* Afterward he wears a long Robe, different from other Barristers, and is then in a capacity to be made a Sergeant at Law, when His Majesty shall be pleased to call him, which is in this manner.

When the number of Sergeants is small, the Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, by the advice and consent of the other Judges, makes choice of Six or Eight, more or less, of the most Grave and Learned of the Inns of Court, and presents their Names to the Lord Chancellor, or Lord Keeper, who sends, by the Kings Writ, to each of them, to appear on such a day before the King, to receive the State and Degree of a Sergeant at Law; at the appointed time, they being habited in Robes of two Colours, viz. Brown and Blew; come, accompanied with the Students of the Inns of Court, and attended by a Train of Servants and Retainers, in certain peculiar Cloth Liveries, to Westminster Hall, there in publick take a Solemn Oath, and are clothed with certain Robes and Coifs, without which, they may be seen no more in publick; after this, they Feast the Great persons of the Nation, in a very magnificent and Princely manner, give Gold Rings, to the Princes of the Bloud Archbishops, Chancellor, and Treasurer, to the value of 40*s.* each Ring: to Earls, Bishops, Rings of 20*s.* to other Great Officers, to Barons, Great Prelates, &c. Rings of less value.

Out of these are chosen all the Judges of the Kings Bench and Common Pleas; wherefore all those Judges do always wear the White Linnen Coif, which is the Principal Badge of a Sergeant, and which he had ever the priviledge to wear at all times, even in the Kings Presence, and whilst he spake to the King, though antiently

ly it was not permitted to any Subject to be so much as capped in the presence of the King of England, as at present it is not allowed in the Presence of the Pope, or of the Emperor,

When any of the aforementioned Judges are wanting, the King, by the advice of his Council, makes choice of one of these Sergeants at Law, to supply his place, and constitutes him, by Letters Patents, Sealed by the Chancellor, who sitting in the middle of the rest of the Judges, in open Court, by a set Speech, declares to the Sergeant (that upon this occasion is brought in) the Kings pleasure, and to the People, the Kings goodness, in providing the Bench with such able, honest Men, as that Justice may be done expeditely, and impartially to all His Subjects, and then causes the said Letters Patents to be read; and being departed, the Chief Justice, places the said Sergeant on the Bench, Junior of all the rest; and having taken his Oath, well and truly to serve the King, and His People, in the Office of Justice, to take no Reward, to do equal and speedy Justice to all, &c, he sets himself to the execution of his Charge.

The Sergeant being then advanced to be a Judge; hath thereby, great Honour, and a very considerable Salary, besides certain Perquisites; for each one hath at least 1000 l. a year from the King: And now in some things, his former Habit of a Sergeant is altered, his long Robe and Cap, his Hood and Coif are the same, but there is besides a Cloak, put over him, and closed on his right Shoulder; and instead of a Caputium, lined with Minever, or de Minuto vario, divers small pieces of white rich Furr; onely the two Lord Chief Justices, and the Lord Chief Baron, have their Hoods, Sleeves

Sleeves, and Collars, turned up with Ermin.

Note, That to the two Sergeants Inns, belong the Twelve Judges, and about Twenty six Sergeants.

Antiently, the Fee expected by a Sergeant from his Client, for advice given at his Chamber, or for Pleading in any Court of Judicature, was no more than 20 s. and the Fee of a Barrister 10 s. (which yet is much more than is usually given in any of our Neighbor Nations at this day) but at present, it is become almost ordinary, to give some Sergeants 10 l. and some 20 l. and to a Barrister halfe as much, at the hearing of any considerable Cause; whereby it comes to pass, that some Lawyers in one year, gain in Fees, Three thousand pounds, and some Four thousand pounds; and in few years, purchase Estates fit for Lords, and sometimes live to see themselves to be advanced to be Peers of the Realm, as the late Lord Keepers, Coventry, Finch, and others.

Now all these forementioned Inns, or Colledges, for the Students in our Common-Law, being not far distant one from another, do make the most famous Profession of the Law, that is in the World, and it will be a very difficult thing to find in any one Forreign University, so many Students of the Law, that are of that ripe Age, past Childhood, and of that high Quality, most Gentlemen, and a considerable number of the Sons of the higher Nobility.

Doctors-Commons.

Although Degrees in the Civil Law, may be held onely in Oxford and Cambridge; and the Theory best there to be acquired; yet the practice thereof is, most of all in London, where a Colledge was long since purchased by Dr. Henry Harvey, Dean of the Arches, for the Professors of the Civil Law in this City; and where commonly did reside the Judge of the Arches, the Judge of the Admiralty, and the Judge of the Prerogative Court, with divers other eminent Civilians, who there living (for Diet and Lodging) in a Collegiate manner, and Commoning together, it was known by the name of Doctors Commons, and stood near St. Pauls, in the Parish of St. Bennets Pauls-Wharfe; which Buildings being utterly consumed by the late Dreaful Fire, they all resided at Exeter House in the Strand, and are lately returned to their former place rebuilt, at the proper Costs and Charges of the said Doctors, where they now keep their several Courts and Pleadings every Term, which begins and ends almost at the same time with the Term at Westminster.

The Chief Court of the Archbishop, is that of the Arches, whereof see more in the Chapter of the Ecclesiastical Government of England.

The Official, Principal of the same, and Judge of this Court, is stiled Dean of the Arches, and is at present Sir Robert Wiseman, Doctor of Laws;

Laws; who is now Vicar-General to the Archbishop of Canterbury.

He sitteth alone without any Assessors, and heareth and determineth all Causes, without any Jury of Twelve Men, as is necessary in Common Law Courts.

The Office of the Actuary is to attend the Court, set down the Judges Decrees, Register the Acts of the Court, and send them in Books to the Registry. This Office is enjoyed by Robert Thomson Doctor of Laws, and Publick Notary.

To this Court belongeth an Actury, a Register, and a Beadle.

The Register of the Court is John Clements, whose Office is by himself, or Deputy, to attend the Court, receive all Libels or Bills, Allegations, and exhibits all Witnesses, Files all Sentences, and keeps the Records of the Court.

The Beadle attends the Court, carrieth a Mace before the Judge, and calls the Persons cited to appear.

Those that are allowed to be Advocates, and plead in this Court, are all to be Doctors of the Civil Law, in one of the Universities of England who upon their Petition to the Archbishop of Canterbury, and his Fiat obtained, are admitted by the Judge of this Court, upon condition not to practise for one whole year, after such admittance.

The manner of their admittance, is thus, The two Senior Advocates in their Scarlet Robes, with the Mace before them, conduct them up to the Court, with three low Reverences, and present him with a short Latine Speech, and the Rescript of the Archbishop: Then the Oaths of Allegiance, Supremacy, and some other prescribed in the Statute of the Arches, being taken, he is admitted by the Judge, and a Place or Seat in the Court assigned unto him, either a Dextris or Sinistris, which he is always to keep when he Pleads.

The Judge, and all the Advocates in this Court, always wear their Scarlet Robes, with Hoods lined with Taffata, if they be of Oxford; or White Miniver Fur, if of Cambridge; and all round, Black Velvet Caps, and the Proctors wear or ought to wear Hoods, lined with Lamb-Skin, if not Graduates, but if Graduates, Hoods, according to the Degree.

Of the Colledge of Physitians in London.

Amongst other excellent Institutions in the City of London, there is a Colledge, or Corporation of Physitians, who by Charters, and Acts of Parliament of Henry the VIII. and since his Reign, have certain Priviledges, whereby no Man, though a Graduate in Physick, of Oxford or Cambridge, may without Licence, under the said Colledge Seal, practise Physick in London, or within seven miles of this City, (nor in any other part of England, in case, he hath not taken any Degree in Oxford or Cambridge.) Whereby also they can administer an Oath, Fine, and Imprison any Offenders, in that, and divers other particulars, can make By-Laws, purchase Lands, &c. Whereby they have authority to search all the Shops of Apothecaries, in and about London, to see if their Drugs and Compositions are wholesome, and well made; whereby they are freed from all troublesome Offices, as to serve upon Juries, to be Constable, to keep Watch and Ward, to bear Arms, or provide Arms or Ammunition, &c. any Member of that Colledge may practise Surgery if he please, not onely in London, but in any part of England.

This Society had antiently a Colledge in Knight-Rider-street, the Gift of Doctor Linacre, Physitian to King Henry the VIII. since which, a House and Ground was purchased by the Society of Physitians, at the end of Amen street, whereon the ever famous Doctor Harvey,

Anno

Anno 1652. did erect, at his own proper charge, a Magnificent Structure, both for a Library and a Publick Hall, for the meeting of the several Members of this Society, endowed the same with his whole Inheritance, which he resigned up, while he was yet living, and in health, part of which he assigned for an anniversary Harangue, to commemorate all their Benefactors, to exhort others, to follow their good Examples, and to provide a plentiful Dinner for the worthy Company.

Anno 1666. This goodly Edifice could not escape the Fury of that Dreadful Fire, and that Ground being but a Lease, the present Fellows of this Colledge, have purchased with their own Moneys, a fair piece of Ground in Warwick Lane, whereon they are now raising a very Magnificent Edifice.

Of this Colledge there is a President, Four Censors, and Eight Elects, who are all principal Members of the Society, and out of whom, one is chosen every year to preside.

The Four Censors of the Colledge have, by their Charter, authority to survey, correct, and govern all Physitians, or others, that shall practise in London, or within seven miles of the same; to Fine, Amerce, and Imprison any of them, as they shall see cause.

Antiently, the usual Fee of a Doctor was 20 s. and one that had not taken that Degree 10 s. at present there is no certain rule: but some that are eminent, have received in Fees yearly two or three thousand pounds, and purchased great Estates; which in other Countreys is very rare.

Besides the worthy persons mentioned in the List above, there are divers Physicians, that have good practice in London, although they never had any Licence, which is conniv'd at by the Colledge; and so is the too much practise of Empericks, Mountebanks, pretended Chymists, Apothecaries, Chyrurgeons, Wife-women, &c. In which piece of folly, the English surpass all the Nations of Christendom.

And yet, by the Law of England, if one who is no Physician or Chyrurgeon, or not expressly allowed to practise, shall take upon him a Cure, and his Patient die under his hands; this is Felony in the person presuming to do.

Of the Colledge of Heralds.

Not far from the Colledge of Doctors Commons, stood the Colledge of Heralds, (that is, of such as are to be Messengers of War and Peace, that are skilfull in Descents, Pedigrees, and Coats of Armories) an antient House, built by Thomas Stanley, Earl of Derby, who married the Mother of King Henry the Seventh, and bestowed by Queen Mary on the Kings Heralds, and Pursuivants at Arms for ever, to the end that they, and their Successors, might dwell together, (if they so pleased) and assemble, confer, and agree for the good Government of their Faculty; and that their Records might there safely be preserved, &c.

They were made a Colledge or Coporation, by Charter of King Richard the Third, and by him had several Priviledges granted unto them; as, to be free from Subsidies, Tolls, and all Troubleſome Offices of the Kingdom.

Afterwards, another Charter of Priviledges was granted unto the Society, by King Edward the Sixth, in the third year of his Reign.

Of this Collegiate Society are first, three, styled Reges Armorum Anglorum, Kings at Arms, six called Heralds, and four Pursuivants at Arms.

Amongst the Kings at Arms, the first and principal is called Garter, instituted by King Henry the Fifth, whose Office is to attend the Knights of the Garter at their Solemnities, and to Marshal the Solemnities at the Funerals als of all the Higher Nobility or England to advertise those that are chosen of their new Election, to call on them to be installed at Windsor, to cause their Arms to be hung up upon their Seats there, to carry the Garter to Kings and Princes beyond the Seas; for which purpose, he was wont to be joined in Commission with some Principal Peer of the Realm, &c.

The next is Clarencieux, so called from the Duke of Clarence, to whom he first belonged; for Lionel, Third son to Edward the Third, marrying the Daughter and Heir of the Earl of Ulster in Ireland, had with her the Honor of Clare in the County of Twomond; whereupon he was afterwards created Duke of Clarence, or the Territory about Clare; which Dukedom escheating to King Edward the Fourth, by the death of his Brother, George Duke of Clarence, he made this Herald, who properly belonged to that Duke, a King at Arms, and named him Clarencieux in French, and Clarentius in Latin. His Office is to Marshal and dispose the Funerals of all the lower Nobility, as Barons, Knights, Esquires, and Gentlemen on the South-side of Trent, and therefore sometime called Surroy, or Southbroy.

The third King at Arms is Norroy, or Northbroy, whose Office is to do the like on all the North-side of Trent.

The two last are called Provincial Heralds, England being by them divided into two Provinces.

These by Charter have power to visit Noblemens Families, to set down their Pedigrees, to distinguish their Arms, to appoint Men their their Arms or Ensigns, and, with Garter to direct the Heralds.

The six Heralds, antiently belonging properly to Dukes, have been sometimes named Dukes at Arms, and are thus called and ranked: First, Windsor, Secondly, Richmond, Thirdly Chester, Fourthly, Somerset, Fifthly, York, Sixthly, Lancaster. Whose Office was antiently to attend Dukes in Marshal Executions: Now they are to wait at Court, attend Publick Solemnities, Proclaim War and Peace, &c. thence perhaps named Heralds, from two German words, Here and Healt, that is, the Armies Champion, to denounce War, or offer Peace; as the Feciales of the Romans did: and from hence probably seven Danish Kings, and some Kings of Norway, and of Sueden, and some of England, before the Conquest, have had the name of Harold; which is all one (saith Verstegan) with Herald.

These have no certain Province under them, by turns wait upon the Kings at Arms, and have part of their Fees.

Of these Heralds in England there were antiently many, and so likewise of Pursuivants, whereof at present there are but four, thus named, Rouge-Cross, Rouge-Dragon, Portcullice, and Blewmantle; from such Badges heretofore worn by them, as it is thought.

The service of these, and of the Heralds, and of the whole Colledge, is used in Marshalling and Ordering Coronations, Marriages, Christenings, Funerals, Interviews, Feasts of Kings and Princes, Cavalcades, Shews, Jests, Tournaments, Combats before the Constable and Marshal, &c. Also they take care of the Coats of Arms, of the Genealogies of the Nobility and Gentry; briefly, whatsoever concerns concerns Honour is their care and study; they are Tanquam Sacrorum Custodes & Templi Honoris Aditui.

All these receive Annual Stipends out of the Kings Exchequer. They are all to be Gentlemen at least; and the six Heralds are expressly made Esquires by the King, when they are created Heralds.

Antiently the Kings at Arms were Created, and solemnly Crowned by the Kings of England themselves, and the Heralds and Pursuivants had their Creation from the Kings Hand: but of later times the Earl Marshal hath had a special Commission for every particular Creation, and to do all that before was done by the King.

For the Creating and Crowning of Garter King at Arms, there are first to be provided a Sword and a Book, whereon to take a Solemn Oath; then a Gilt Crown, a Collar of S's, a Bowl of Wine, which Bowl is the Fee of the new created King; also a Coat of Arms of Velvet richly Embroidered: His Creation is on this manner; First, he kneels down before the Earl Marshal, and laying his hand on the Book and Sword, another King at Arms reads the Oath; which being taken, and the Book and Sword; next are read the Letters Patents of his Office; during which, the Earl Marshal pours the Wine on his head, gives him the name of Garter, then puts on him the Coat of Arms and Collar of S's, and the Crown on his head.

The Oath is to obey, first, the Supreme Head of the most Noble Order of the Garter, and then the noble Knights of that Order; in such things as belong to his Office, to inquire diligently of all the Noble and Notable Acts of every Knight

Knight of this Order, and therefore to certify the Register of that Order, that he may Record the same, and to give notice to the King and the Knights of the Order, of the death of any of that Society: to have an exact Knowledge of all the Nobility, to instruct Heralds and Pursuivants, in doubts concerning the Office of Arms; to eschew and avoid all persons of ill reputation; to be more ready to excuse than to blame any Noble Person, unless called by Authority to witness against them, &c. This Officer hath a double Salary, double to the two other Kings, and hath moreover Fees at the Instalments; yearly wages given by the Knights of the Garter, hath their uppermost Garment at their Instalments, &c.

The two Provincial King at Arms Clarencieux and Norroy, are created by Letters Patents, a Book, a Sword, &c. as Garter, and with almost the same Ceremonies.

A Herald at Arms is also created with the like Ceremony; only his Coat of Arms must be Sattin, embroidered and enriched with Gold, and must be brought in with two Heralds, as the Kings at Arms are by two Kings at Arms.

They take a solemn Oath to be true to the King, to be serviceable to Gentlemen, to keep secrets of Knights, Esquires, Ladies and Gentlewomen; to assist distressed Gentlemen and Gentlewomen, Widows, and Virgins; to avoid Taverns, Dicing, and Whore-houses, &c. Pursuivants at Arms are created also by Letters Patents, a Book, a Bowl of Wine, and a Coat of Arms of Damask, and to be brought in, as the Heralds, before the Earl Marshal, or his Deputy; and to swear in solemn manner to be true to the King, to be serviceable to all Christians, to be secret and sober, to be more ready

This Office since the late dreadful Fire, is held in the Queens Court at Westminster, where are some always waiting, to satisfie comers touching Descents, Pedigrees, Coats of Arms, &c. as was formerly done at the forementioned House up in London, which is now begun to be rebuilt by the Members of the Colledge, (and it is hoped) may in a short time, by the bountiful Contributions of all men that have any sense of Honour remaining, be compleated, to the Glory of this City and Kingdom.

All of this Colledge, being the Kings sworn Servants, the Reader may find a List of their Names in the First Part, about the Kings Court.

Gresham-Colledge. Within the Walls of London is also seated a Colledge, built by the forementioned worthy person Sir Thomas Gresham, and endowed in manner following: After he had built the Royal Exchange, he gave the Revenue thereof, the one Moity to the Mayor and Commonalty of London, and their Successors; and the other Moity to the Company of Mercers in trust, that the Mayor and Aldermen should find in all time to come, four able persons to read within this Colledge, Divinity, Geometry, Astronomy, and Musick, and to allow to each of them, beside their fair Lodging 50 l. a year. And that the Company of Mercers should find three more able Men, to read Civil Law, Physick, and Rhetorick, and to allow to each one of them besides fair Lodgings 50 l. a year. And that these several Lecturers should read in Term-time, every day in the Week (except Sundays) aforenoon in Latin, and afternoon ternoon the same in English: The Musick Lecture, to be read only in English.

The Professors or Fellows of this Colledge have ever been, and still are persons of the choicest Parts, and are at present these that follow: For Divinity, Mr. Giffard, for Astronomy Dr. Pope, for Geometry, Mr. Robert Hook, who also hath a Mechanick Lecture for Natural Philosophy, lately instituted by Sir John Cutler, yet living, with a Salary of 50 l. per annum, to be read at the time and place where the Royal Society shall meet. Next the Musick Lecturer, is Sir Thomas Banes: for Civil Law Doctor Clerk; for Physick Dr. Goddard, and for Rhetorick Mr. Fencks.

Divers other worthy Works were done by that most Noble Citizen Sir Thomas Gresham, as can testify his Almshouse in Broad-street, the considerable sums of Money distributed quarterly for ever, to five Prisons and four Hospitals in and about this City.

There is also within London, another called Sion Colledge, founded by Thomas White Doctor in Divinity; for the use of the Clergy of London, and of the Liberties thereof; and a part thereof to be for 20 poor people; to perform all which, he gave 3000 l. and for the maintenance of those poor, he settled 120 l. a year for ever, and 40 l. a year for a Sermon in Latine, at the beginning of every quarter, and a plentiful Dinner for all the Clergy that shall then meet there. In this Colledge is a fair spacious Library, built by John Sympson, Rector of St. Olives Hartstreet, and one of the said Doctor Whites Executors, and by the bounty of divers Benefactors, this Library hath been well furnished with Books, chiefly such as as are useful for Divines. This Colledge felt the rage of the late Fire, but is almost repaired again.

A little without the Walls stands another Colledge or Collegiate House, called antiently the Chartreuse, now corruptly called the Charter-House, it being heretofore a Covent of Carthusian Monks, called in French des Chartreux. This Colledge called also Suttons Hospital, consists of a Master or Governor, at present Matthew Clifford Esq; a Chaplain, Doctor Patrick, a Master and Usher to instruct 44 Scholars; besides fourscore decayed Gentlemen, Souldiers, and Merchants, who have all a plentiful Maintenance of Diet, Lodging, Clothes and Physick, &c. and live altogether in a Collegiate manner, with much cleanness and neatness: and the 44 Scholars have not only all necessaries whilst they are here taught, but if they become fit for the Universities, there is also unto each one, out of the yearly Revenues of this Colledge 20*l.* yearly, and duly paid for eight years after they come to the University, and to others fitter for Trades, there is allowed a considerable Sum of Money to bind them Apprentices. There are moreover all sorts of Officers expedient for such a Society, as Physitian, Apothecary, Steward, Cooks, Butlers, &c. who have all competent Salaries. This vast Revenue and Princely Foundation, was the sole gift of an ordinary Gentleman, Mr. Thomas Sutton, born in Lincolnshire: and 'twas of such high Account, as it was thought fit, that by the Kings Letters Patents, under the Great Seal, divers persons, of the highest Dignity and Quality in Church and State, should always be the Overseers and Regulators of this Society, as the Arch-

Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Keeper, Lord Treasurer, and Thirteen others.

Besides there are in London divers endowed Schools, which in France would be stiled Colledges; as Paul's School, founded 1512, by John Collet, Doctor of Divinity and Dean of Pauls, for 153 Children to be taught there gratis, for which purpose he appointed a Master, a Sub-master or Usher, and a Chaplain, with large stipends for ever, committing the oversight thereof to the Masters, Wardens, and Assistants of the Mercers in London; for his Father Henry Collet, sometime Lord Mayor of London, was of the Mercers Company. This famous School was also lately burnt down, and is now reedified in a far more magnificent, commodious, and beautiful manuer, the worthy Master thereof is Mr. Gale.

There are in London divers other endowed Schools, as Merchant Taylors, Mercors-Chappel, &c. a particular Account whereof, the designed Brevity of this Treatise will not admit.

It would also make this Book too much swell, to give an account of the many richly endowed Hospitals; Almshouses, Workhouses, or houses of Correction, the many stately built Taverns, Inns, and Coffee-houses, some whereof surpass all others in Soreign Parts, and are worthy to be viewed by curious Travellers, who may also find it worthy their pains, to remark the several spacious well built Theaters, which for variety of Scenes excellent Actors, Language, Designs, Musick, &c. are hardly to be equalled: Moreover they may observe the many fair Market-places, abundantly furnished with all variety of Victuals, four times every week, the weekly Horse-fairs, the great commodiousness of Hackney-Coaches, of Sedans, of Boats, &c. The mighty chargeable and beautiful Work rendring Navigable the Fleet Brook, from the River Thames up to Holborn Bridge, the curious Stone-Bridges over it, the many huge Vaults on each side thereof, to Treasure up Newcastle Coal for the use of the poor. The costly Bow Tower in Cheapside, which for Height, Solidity, Architecture, and a Ring of Bells, will probably be one of the best in England. The neatly wrought Conduit in the Market-place, at the West end of Lumbard-street, whereupon is placed a very magnificent Statue of King Charles the Second on Horseback, trampling upon an Enemy, all in excellent white Marble, at the sole cost and charges of that worthy Citizen and Alderman of London, Sir Robert Viner Knight and Baronet; also to consider, the City of Westminster, and the Burrough of Southwark, both which seem now to be swallowed up in London, whereof let this brief Account following suffice.

Westminster.

Within the Precincts of Westminster are many Magnalia, several things are as remarkable as any aforementioned: The antient stately Abby-Church, founded before the Norman Conquest, by the Pious King Edward the Confessor, and most richly endowed; afterwards rebuilt from the ground by King Henry the III. with that rare Architecture now seen, wherein are the most Magnificent Tombs and Monuments of our Kings and Queens, of our greatest Nobles, and famous Worthies of England. To the East end of which is added a Chappel of King Henry the VII. which for the most admiral Artificial Work without and within, for a Monument of massy Brass, most curiously curiously wrought, is scarce to be parallell'd in the World.

This huge Fabrick stands where first was the Temple of Apollo, and afterwards King Sebert, the Saxon King, that first built St. Pauls aforementioned, built here a Church to St. Peter.

Queen Elizabeth converted this Abby into a Collegiate Church, and therein placed a Dean, 12 Secular Canons or Prebendaries, Petty Canons and others of the Quire to the number of 30, ten Officers belonging to the Collegiate Diet, two Schoolmasters, 40 Scholars, 12 Almes-men, with plentiful maintenance for all, besides Stewards, Receivers, Registers, Collectors, and other Officers; the principal whereof is the High Steward of Westminster, who is usually one of the prime Nobility, and was the late Lord Chamberlain. The Dean is intrusted with custody of the Regalia at the Coronation, honoured with a place of necessary service at all Coronations, and a Commission of Peace within the City Liberties of Westminster, the Dean and Chapter invested with all manner of jurisdiction, both Ecclesiastical and Civil, not only within the City and Liberties of Westminster, but within the Precinct of St. Martin le Grand, within the Walls of London, and in some Towns of Essex exempted in the one, from the Jurisdiction of the Bishop of London; and in the other, from that of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

For Ecclesiastical Causes and probate of Wills, it hath a Royal Jurisdiction, Dr. Rich. Lloyd is Commissary, from whom Appeal must be ouely to the King in his High Court of Chancery, who thereupon issueth out a Commission of Delegates under the Great Seal of England.

When the Convocation is adjourned from St. Pauls

St. Pauls (for the conveniency of being nearer to the Parliament) to Westminster, the Bishops first declare (upon a Protestation made by the Dean there) that they intend not thereby to violate that high Priviledge, viz. That no Bishop or Archbishop may come there without leave of the Dean first obtained.

There is also a fair Publick Library, free for all Strangers to study both morning and afternoon always in Term-time.

Next this Church stood the Royal Palace, and usual place of Residence for the Kings of England, who ordinarily held their Parliament, and all their Courts of Judicature, in their dwelling Houses (as was done at Paris by the King of France, in the Isle de Notre Dame, and is done at this day at Madrid by the King of Spain) and many times sate themselves in the said Courts of Judicature, as they do still in their Court of Parliament.

A great part of this huge Palace was in the the time of Henry VIII. destroyed by Fire, what remained, hath still been employed for the use of the Lords and Commons assembled in Parliament, and for the chief Courts of Judicature. The great Hall where these are kept, some say was built by King William Rufus, others by King Richard II. about 300 years ago, and for all dimensions, is not to be equalled by any Hall in Christendom.

Moreover, Strangers and Forreigners may take notice of the extraordinary commodiousness, conveniency and situation of the present Royal Palace, and usual place of Residence of our Kings, called Whitehall, belonging heretofore to Cardinal Woolsey, seated between a noble Navigable River, and a most delectable Park;

Park; of the great Chamber there, called the Banqueting-House, the like whereof for spaciousness, beauty, Peinture, and exact proportion, no King in Europe can paralel; of another Royal Palace, called Saint James's, of Clarendon-House, which, for situation, and an uniform solid Structure is admirable; of Berkeley-House, of the many stately uniform Piles in St. James's Fields, of Wallingford-House, Northumberland-House, and Tork-House, of Britains Burse, or the new Exchange, a place excellently furnished with all kind of choice Commodities, and Wares for Ladies, Salisbury, and Worcester-Houses; of the Savoy, a vast Building first erected by Peter Earl of Savoy and Richmond, Unkle to Eleanor, Wife to our King Henry the Third, who after purchased the same for her son Edmund, Duke of Lancaster, and is now a famous Hospital, built all of huge Stone, and more like a Kings Palace; of another Royal Palace called Somerset-House, built by Edward Duke of Somerset, Unkle to King Edward the Sixth, of Arundel, Essex, Exeter, Bedford, Leicester, Newport, and Southampton Houses, of the uniform stately Buildings, and forementioned large Piazza's or open Places (for which the Cities in Italy are so highly esteemed) in Covent-Garden, Lincolns-Inn Fields, and Southampton Buildings, not to be equalled in any of our Neighbor Countreys.

As for the Borough of Southmark, granted by King Edward the Sixth, by his Letters Patents to the Mayor, Commonalty, and Citizens of London, called the Buidge-Ward without, an governed by one of the twenty six Aldermen of London; it hath nothing much remarkable, only, that it is so rich and populous, that it pay, more in a Subsidy to the King, and musters more Men than any other City in England besides. Lastly, very remarkable also is the Campaign or Countrey on all sides of this great City, for the number of Royal Palaces, the multitude of stately Houses, and Gardens of Noblemen; the innumerable fair Summer Dwelling-Houses of the Wealthy Citizens; the pleasant fertile Meadows, enclosed Pastures and Corn Fields; the abundance of Nurseries and Seminaries, where are to be sold all sorts of Fruit-Trees, Flowers, Herbs, Roots, as well for Physick, as for Food and Delight; the frequency, populousness, and wealthiness of the Villages; whereas the Campaigns about Rome and Madrid are more lik Desarts.

The Arms of the City of London, are Argent Cross-Gules, with the Sword of St Paul, not the Dagger of William Walworth, as some have conceited; for this Coat did belong to the City before Walworth slew Wat Tyler the Rebel Learned Antiquaries affirm.

Of the Universities of England.

THe English Universities are so famous beyond the Seas, and so much surpass all other in the World, that they abundantly deserve a larger account then can sute with the designed brevity of this Manual; however they shall not be passed over in silence.

Nothing was ever devised more singularly beneficial to Gods Church, and Mans happiness, then what our Ancestors have, to their eternal renown, performed by setting such vast Revenues, and erecting such admirable Structures for Learning, as our Universities do contain; and by providing thereby that choice parts after reasonable time spent in contemplation, may be called forth to act and practice in Church and State.

In the beautiful Fabrick of the Kingdom of England, the two Eyes are the two Universities Oxford and Cambridge, those two Nurseries or Seminaries of Learning and Religion, which for number and magnificence of richly endowed Colledges; for Liberal Stipends to all sorts of Publick Professors; for well furnished publick and private Libraries, for large Charters, Priviledges and Immunities; for number and quality of Students; for exact Discipline and Order, are not to paraleld in the whole World.

They were anciently called Academies, from a Grove so named near Athens, whither Plato, Zenocrates, and other Philosophers retired, for the study of Sciences.

Of later times they have been stiled Universities. A professione Universaliū Scientiarum & Artium liberalium.

An University is now properly an Incorporation (under one Government) of many publick Schools, ordained especially for the Study and Profession of Divinity, Civil-Law, and Physick, and also of Philosophy, and of other Liberal Sciences and Arts, as Hand-Maids to the former.

Oxford, quasi Ousford, Isidii Vadum, the name of the chief River whereon it is seated, or perhaps from Bovis Vadum, a Ford for Oxen, to pass through before the use of Bridges, as Thracius Bosphorus, signifying the like, is by the Germans called Ochensfurt.

It is seated at the meeting of two clear Fishy Rivers, in such a healthy Air, and pleasant rich Soyl, that it hath anciently been called, Bellostrum Bellasis or Beaulieu.

It lies 51 Degrees, 42 Minutes Latitude, and about 22 Degrees Longitude, almost in the same Climat with that most ancient famous City and University of Athens, that once fruitful Mother, and careful Nurse of many Arts and Sciences, and beneficial Inventions.

Oxford was a place of publick Studies above Nine hundred years ago, and much augmented (not founded) by the Learned Saxon King, Alfred, hath been very anciently reckoned the Second University among the four principal of Europe, whereof the others are Paris in France, Bononia, now called Bologna, in Italy, and Salamanca in Spain: and although Paris hath usually been named in the first place, yet it hath been acknowledged to be Oxonia Propago; and if Paris for a time was more flourishing

Oxford is an ancient City, consisting of two sorts of Inhabitants, viz. Students and Citizens, living one amongst another, though wholly separate for Government, and Manners; for when former Kings of England perceived that they could not (as at Paris) be separated by a River, they thought best to disjoin them, as much as might conveniently be, by Privileges and whole manner of Government; so that there are not the same limits; for the University have them much larger, not the same stroke and authority of Justice, or Power of Magistrates; for the Chancellor of the University, and in his absence, his Vice-Chancellor is not only in place, but in all Affairs of Government, (though concerning the City itself) superiour to the Mayor of the Town.

Nor are they governed by the same kind of Laws, for all Members of the University, are subject to the Vice-Chancellors Judicial Courts; which are ruled wholly by the Civil Law.

Over the University, next is placed the forementioned Magistrate. Kingd the Chancellor; who is usually one of the Prime Nobility, and nearest in favor with the Sovereign Prince, Elected by the Students themselves, in Convocation, to continue durante vita; whose Office is to take care of the Government of the whole University, to maintain the Liberties and Privileges thereof, to call Assemblies, to hear and determine Controversies, to call Courts, punish Delinquents, &c,

This great Honour is enjoyed at present by James Duke of Ormond, Lord Steward of the Kings Household.

The next in Dignity amongst the Officers of the University of Oxford, is the High Steward, who is nominated by the Chancellor, and approved by the University, and is also durante vita; whose Office is to assist the Chancellor, Vice-Chancellor, and Proctors, upon their Requests, in the execution of their Places; also to hear and determine Capital Causes, according to the Laws of the Land, and Priviledges of the University, so oft as the Chancellor shall require him.

The Third is the Vice-Chancellor, who is yearly nominated by the Chancellor, and is commonly the Head of some Colledge, His Duty is in the Chancellors absence to do whatever almost the Chancellor might do if he were present. Moreover he takes care that Sermons, Lectures, ^{and} ~~disputations~~, and other Exercises, ~~be~~ conformists, Pandors, Bawds, and ~~whores~~, &c. be expelled the University, and the Converse with Students; that the Proctors and other Officers and publick servants of the University, duly perform their duty; that Courts be duly called, and Law Suits determined without delay; in a word, that whatever is for the Honour and Profit of the University, or may conduce to the advancement of good literature, may be carefully obtained. The present Vice-Chancellor is Doctor Kalpb Bathurst, President of Trinity-Colledge, now Bishop of Bath and Wells.

Fourthly,

Fourthly, The two Proctors, chosen every year out of the several Colledges by turns, these are to assist in the Government of the University, more particularly in the business of Scholastick Exercises, and taking Degrees, in searching after, and punishing all Violaters of Statutes, or Priviledges of the University, all Night Walkers, &c.

They have also the oversight of Weights and Measures, that so the Students may not be wronged.

They are at present Mr. Vernon of Exeter Colledge, and Mr. Croswait of Queens Colledge.

Next in order is the Publick Orator, whose business is to write Letters, according to the orders of the Convocation, or Congregation; also at the Reception of any Prince or great Person that comes to see the University, to make solemn Harangues, &c. He is now Robert South, Doctor in Divinity.

Then is the Custos Archivorum, or Keeper of Records, whose Duty it is, not only to collect and keep the Charters, Priviledges, and Records that concern the University, but also to be always ready to produce them before the Chief Officers, and to Plead the Rights and Priviledges of the said University. This Office is now in the trust of Dr. Wallis.

Lastly, is the Register of the University, Mr. Cooper; whose Office is to Register all Transactions in Convocations, Congregations, Delegacies, &c.

Besides the forementioned Officers, there are certain publick Servants of the University, called Bedels, from the High Dutch Bidden, or else from the Low Dutch Bidden, to summon, admonish, or pray; of these there are six, whereof three are called Squire Bedels, and carry large Maces of Silver Gilt; the other three are stiled Yeomen Bedels, and carry large silver Maces ungilt.

Their Office is always to wait on the Vice-Chancellor in Publick, doing what belongs to his place, and at his command to seile any Delinquent, and carry him to Prison, to summon any, to Publish the calling of Courts or Convocations, to Conduct Preachers to Church, or Lecturers to School, &c.

Upon more solemn times and occasions, there is a seventh, that carries in his hand a Silver Rod, and is thence called the Verger, who, with all the other Six, walk before the Vice-Chancellor, and is ready to observe his commands, and to wait on Grand Compounders, &c.

Other publick Servants of less note, shall be passed by.

Many Kings of England have been great Favourers of Learning, and esteemed it their Honour to give or enlarge the Priviledges of the Universities.

By Charter of Edward the Third, the Mayor of Oxford is to obey the orders of the Vice-Chancellor, and to be in subjection to him.

The Mayor, with the chief Burgesses in Oxford, and also the High Sheriff of Oxfordshire, every year in a solemn manner take an Oath, given by the Vice-Chancellor to observe and conserve the Rights, Priviledges, and Liberties of the University of Oxford.

And every year on the day of St. Scholastica, being the tenth of February; a certain number of the principal Burgesses, publickly and solemnly do pay to each one a Penny, in token of their

No Victuals to be taken by the Kings Purveyors, within five miles of Oxford, unleſs the King himſelf comes thither.

King James, of happy memory, honoured both Univerſities, with the priviledge of ſending each two Burgeſſes to Parliament.

It is none of the leaſt priviledges belonging to the two Univerſities, that they are ſubject to the Viſitation or Correction of none but the King, or whom he ſhall pleaſe to Commiſſionate.

By Charter of Henry 4. it is left to the choice of the Vice-Chancellor, whether any Member in the Univerſity there inhabiting, accuſed for Felony or High-Treaſon, ſhall be tryed by the Laws of the Land, or by the Laws and Cuſtoms of the Univerſity, though now, where Life or Limb is concerned, the Criminal is left to be tryed by the Laws of the Land.

No Students of Oxford may be ſued at Common Law for Debts, Accounts, Contracts, Injuries, &c. but onely in the Court of the Vice-Chancellor, who hath power to determine Cauſes, to impriſon, as aforeſaid, to give corporal puniſhment, to excommunicate, to ſuſpend, and to baniſh.

Antiently in Oxford (as now in moſt Univerſities beyond the Seas) the Students, without any diſtinction of Habit, lived in Citizens Houſes, and had Meeting places to hear Lectures, and diſpute. After that, there were divers Houſes for Students, onely to live together in Society (as now in the Inns of Court, and of Chancery at London) and thoſe places were called, either Inns, from the Saxon, or Hoſtels from the French, and at preſent are named Halls, where every Student live wholly upon his own charges, until divers bountiful Patrons of Learning, in their great Wisdom, thought best to settle for ever, plentiful Revenues in Lands and Houses, to maintain in Lodging, Diet, Cloaths, and Books, such Students, as by Merit and Worth, should from time to time be chosen, and to settle large Salaries for Professors to instruct them, and for a Head to Govern them, according to certain Statutes and Ordinances, made by the said Patrons or Founders. And these are called Colledges, whereof the first thus endowed in Europe, were University, Baliol, and Merton Colledges in Oxford, all made Colledges in the Twelfth Century, after the Birth of Christ; although University Colledge hath been reckoned a place for Students, ever since the year Eight hundred seventy two, by the Royal Bounty of our aforesaid Saxon King Alfred, and was antiently called, the University Colledge, where were divers Professors, and all the Liberal Sciences Read.

Of such endowed Colledges, there are in Oxford, Eighteen, and of Halls, (where with the like Discipline, Students live upon their own means, onely excepting some certain Exhibitions, or Annual-Pensions, annexed to some one or two of them) there are Seven; of all which, the Names and Governors, see the First Part of the Present State of England.

These Colledges have within their own Walls, Lectures, Disputations, all Professions, and Liberal Sciences Read and Taught, and in some of them, Publick Lectures for all Comers, and large Salaries for the Readers; insomuch that they seem so many compleat Universities, and are not inferior to some, in our neighbor Countreys. Lipsius, (whose Testimony among the the Learned is very considerable) saith of one Colledge of Oxford, in his time, what might be said of some others there, and in Cambridge, Non credo in orbe terrarum extra Angliam simile esse, addam, aut fuisse: Magna illic opes & utiligalia, &c. Verbo vis dicam, nūm Oxoniense Collegium (rem inquisivi) superat vel decem nostra.

The whole number of Students in Oxford, that live upon the Revenues of the Colledges, are about One thousand; and of other Students about twice as many; besides Stewards, Manciples, Butlers, Cooks, Porters, Gardners, &c.

There were antiently in this University, before the Founding of Colledges, Two hundred Hospitia Studiosorum, Inns, Hostels, or Halls, and, as Armachanus writes, there were Thirty thousand Students; and Twenty miles round Oxford, were by the Kings of England set apart, for Provision in Victuals for this City.

The Discipline of these Colledges and Halls, is far more exact and excellent, than in any Forreign University.

First, all that intend to take any Degree, are to take their Diet and Lodging, and have a Tutor constantly in some Colledge or Hall; then they are to perform all Exercises; to be subject to all Statutes, and to the Head of the House: Next, they are to be subject to the chief Magistrate of the University, to perform publick Exercise, and to be subject to the Publick Statutes thereof. They are to suffer themselves to be shut up by night in their severall Houses. They are never to be seen abroad out of their Chambers; much less, out of their Colledges, without their Caps and Gowns, (an excellent Order, no where observed in Forreign parts, but but in Spain.) Their Gowns are all to be black, onely the Sons of the higher Nobility are here in indulged; and all Doctors are honoured with Purple, or rather Scarlet Robes, which antiently were allowed only to Emperors or Kings; but now in England, besides the King, all Peers in Parliament, all Doctors in the Universities, all Mayors and Governors of Cities, and all the Principal Judges, are at certain times clothed in Scarlet.

The Degrees taken in the University, are onely two, viz. of Bachelor and Master, (for so they are antiently called, as well in Divinity, Law, and Physick, as in the Arts.) At present, the Degrees in those Three Professions, are called Bachelors and Doctors, onely in the Arts, Bachelor and Master.

Every year at the Act, or time of completing the Degree of Master, both in the Three Professions and Arts (which is always the Monday after the Sixth of July) there are (unless some extraordinary occasion hinders) great Solemnities, not onely for publick Exercises, but Feastings, Comedies, and a mighty Concourse of Strangers, from all parts, to their Friends and Relations, then completing their Degrees, whereby, and by the set Fees, it usually costs a Doctor of Divinity, Law, or Physick, about One hundred pounds Sterling, and a Master of Arts, Twenty or Thirty pound Sterling.

In these three Professions, and in the Arts, there proceed Masters, or Doctors yearly, about One hundred and fifty, and every Year, about Two hundred Bachelors of Arts.

The time required by Statute, for Studying in the University, before the taking of the fore-mentioned Degrees, because it is much longer than than what is required in any Foreign University, shall here be set down more particularly.

To take the Degree of Bachelor in Arts, is required four years, and three years more for to be Master of Arts.

Now the year is divided into Four Terms, the First begins the 10th of October, and ends the 17th of December, and is called Michaelmas Term: The Second, called Hilary, or Lenis Term, begins the 14th of January, and ends the Saturday before Palm-Sunday: The Third, called Easter Term, begins the 10th day after Easter, and ends the Thursday before Whitsunday: The Fourth, is called Trinity Term, beginning the Wednesday after Trinity Sunday, and ends after the Act, sooner or latter, as the Vice-Chancellor, and Convocation think meet.

To take the Degree of Doctor of Divinity, the Student must necessarily, First, have taken the Degree of Master of Arts, and then after Seven years more, he is capable of being Bachelor of Divinity; and then Four years more, is requisite, before the Degree of Doctor can be had.

To take the Degree of Doctor of Laws, the more ordinary way is, in three years after Master of Arts, one may be capable of the Degree of Bachelor, and in four years more of Doctor of Laws; the like for Doctor in Physick.

The Exercises required for taking these Degrees, are many, and difficult enough; yet not such, but that may be performed in less time, by any Men of good Abilities: But it was the Wisdom of our Ancestors, so to order, that before those Degrees were conferred upon any, and they allowed to practise, they might first gain Judgement and Discretion, which comes with Time and Years, and perhaps, that those of slower parts might, by Time and Industry, make make themselves capable of that Honour, as well as those of quicker Abilities.

To speak now particularly of the most magnificent and stately Publick Schools in Oxford, of the large Salary to each Publick Professor, of the most famous Bodleian Library, that for a Noble Lightsome Fabrick, number of choice Books, curious Manuscripts, diversity of Languages, liberty of Studying, facility of finding any Book, equals, if not surpasses, the famous Vatican: To speak of the curious Architecture, and vast Charges of the New Theatre, Fabricated by the most ingenious, Sir Christopher Wren, at the sole cost and charges, of the most Reverend Father in God, Gilbert, the present Archbishop of Canterbury, for the use of Scholastic Exercises, and of those most excellent Printing Presses there. To speak of the beautiful, solid Stone Buildings, Chappels, Halls, Libraries, large Revenues, admirable Discipline of several Colledges, excellent accommodation for young Noblemen and Gentlemen, Helps, and Allowances for Poor Scholars, &c. To describe the most delightful publick Physick Garden, abounding with variety of choice Plants, and surrounded with stately Stone Walls, at the sole Expences of the Right Honourable, Henry, Earl of Danby, would require another Volume.

What hath been said of Oxford, the like may be said of her Sister Cambridge, which for Antiquities, Gracious Priviledges, Beautiful Colledges, large Revenues, good Discipline, number of Students, plenty of Dyes, and of all other things necessary for advancement of Learning (if in complaisance, she will at any time give place to Oxford, yet at the same time) will will challenge Precedence, before any other University of the Christian World.

The University of Cambridge in some few particulars, differs from that of Oxford.

The Chancellor of Cambridge (at present the Duke of Monmouth) is not so durante vita, but may be elected every two years, aut manero in eodem officio durante tacito. consensu Senatus Cantabr. He hath under him a Commissary, who holds a Court of Record of Civil Causes, for all priviledged Persons and Scholars, under the Degree of Master of Arts, where all Causes are tryed and determined by the Civil and Statute Laws, and by the Customs of the University.

They have also a High Steward, chosen by the Senate, and holds by Patent from the University, is at present the Earl of Craven.

The Vice-Chancellor is at present, Dr. Baithurst, Head of Corpus Christi Colledge: This high Officer is chosen every year, on the Third of November, by the Senate, out of two Persons nominated by the Heads of the several Colledges and Halls. Here note. That the Halls at Cambridge are endowed, and priviledged as the Colledges, and differ onely in name.

The two Proctors are chosen every year, as at Oxford, according to the Circle of Colledges and Halls, they are for this year, Mr. Smallwood, Fellow of Queens Colledge, and Mr. Ben. Johnson, Fellow of Sidney Colledge.

There are chosen after the same manner, two, called Taxers, who with the Proctors have care of Weights and Measures, as Clerks of the Market.

The Custos Archivorum, or University-Register, is Mr. Matthew Whinn.

There

There are also Three Esquire Beadles, one Yeoman Beadle.

This University, for the encouragement of Students, hath also divers priviledges granted by several Kings of England. Every Michachmas day, the Mayor of the Town of Cambridge, at the entrance into his Office, takes a Solemn Oath before the Vice-Chancellor, to observe and conserve the Priviledges, Liberties and Customs of this University. Moreover, on Friday before St. Simon and Jude, at a Magna Congregatio, in St. Maries Church, allotted for the Assembly of the whole University, the Mayor brings with him two Aldermen, four Burgeses, and two of every Parish, to take their Oaths before the Vice-Chancellor, for the due search of Vagabonds, suspected Persons, &c. At the same time are sworn Fourteen Persons for the University, and Fourteen for the Town, to look to the Cleansing and Paving of the Streets.

The University hath also a Court-Lect, held twice every year, wherein are presented all Nufances, &c.

In Cambridge there are no unendowed Houses appointed for Students, as is in Oxford, and the Houses endowed, are no more than Sixteen, but those generally so large, that the number of Students, is commonly little different from that of Oxford.

Degrees at Cambridge are usually taken as at Oxford, except in Law and Physick, whereof, after Six years, they may take the Degree of Bachelor, and after five years more, that of Doctor.

In Cambridge, the Lent-Term begins the 13th of January, and ends the Friday before Palm-Sunday. Easter-Term begins the Wednesday after Easter week, and ends the week before Whitsonide.

South. Trinity Term, begins the Wednesday after Trinity Sunday, and ends the Friday after the Commencement. Michaelmas Term begins the 10th. of October, and ends the 16th of December.

The first Tuesday of July, is always Dies Commemorationis, there called the Commencement, wherein the Masters of Arts, and the Doctors of all Faculties complete their Degrees respectively; and the Bachelors of Arts do theirs in Leas, beginning at As Wednesday.

Cambridge lies in 52 Degrees, and 20 Minutes Northern Latitude.

Both these Universities are placed two easy days journey from the Capital City, and about the same distance from each other.

These are the two Glorious Fountains of Learning, to the Fame whereof, Foreigners come on Pilgrimage to offer up Honour and Admiration; and yet, even these had lately been like to be dried up, by the over-heated Zeal of some ignorant Fanaticks.

These are the chiefest Storehouses of Lettered-Men, which send forth yearly, a great number of Divines, Civilians, Physicians, &c. to serve all parts of this Kingdom.

To supply these great Store-houses, there are in several parts of England, Grammar-Schools, whereof the Principal are St. Pauls, Westminster, Winchester, Baton, Merchant-Tailors, the Charter-house, all richly endowed, to maintain Masters, Ushers, and a certain number of Scholars; so that a Child, once admitted into these Schools, if he become capable, may at length be preferred to be Scholar, or Fellow in some Colledge of one of these Universities, and will want little or no assistance from his Parents, all his life-time after.

Besides

Besides these, there are of late Grammar Schools, Founded and Endowed, in almost every Market Town of England, wherein the Children of the Town, are onely to be taught gratis, without any other Allowance, But in the multiplying of these Schools, it may be doubted, whether there appeared not more Zeal than Prudence; for the Parents of such School-boys, not able to advance them to the Universities, all the rest, besides Reading and Writing, becomes useles; and the Youths by Eight or Ten years lazy living, rendered unapt for the labor, belonging to the more profitable Plough, and beneficial Manufactures, usually turn either Serving-men, or Clerks to Justices or Lawyers, wherby they learn much Chicanery, they become cunning Petty-foggers, multiply Law-Suits, and cozen their Countrey; or if perhaps they are set to Trades, the little smattering in Learning, got at the Grammar-School, renders them commonly proud, stiff-necked, self-conceited, utopt to be governed, apt to embrace every new Doctrine, Heresie, Schism, Sect, and Faction: Or in case their Parents are able to put them to the University, yet for want of sufficient maintenance, and residence there, they get only to be half-Learned, and thereby a propensity to preach Faction, Sedition, and Rebellion, to seduce those that are more ignorant than themselves, as was evident in our late unhappy troubles, where it was observed, that the seducers were generally such, as had been from those Market-Latine-Schools, advanced to be either Commoners or Servitors, for a short time in the University (and not Fellows of Colledges) and the Seduced, ordinarily, such as from these Schools became afterwards Shopkeepers, or Pettyfoggers. If such had had been endowed with more, or perhaps with less knowledge, they had probably been much more Humble, Loyal, and Obedient to their Governors, both Civil and Ecclesiastical: And therefore the late King of Spain, consulting with his ablest Counsellors of State, for a general Reformation of matters, that were found, by experience, to be inconvenient and prejudicial to his Kingdom, after mature deliberation, came to this resolution; That amongst other abuses, the great number of Countrey Grammar-Schools, should by a solemn Prematica, or Ordinance, be diminished, and the Childrens time better employed at Manufactures, Trades, Husbandry, &c. Besides, upou serious consideration, it will be found, that England is over-stocked with Scholars, for the proportion of its preferments, and for its employments for Lettered Persons, whereby it comes to pass that too many live discontented, longing for ~~improvements~~ improvements and Changes, and watching for an opportunity ~~to~~ to alter the Government both of Church and State.

Thus the Reader hath had a small Map of a great Monarchy, the most just and easy, that ever any People lived under, (except only those who lived in England, before the late unparalleled Rebellion) and many ways, more happy than that which the great and good Statesman, Philip Comines, so much admired in his days, when he declared (after he had much commended the policy of the Venetian Commonwealth) That amongst all the Seigneuries in the World, England was the Countrey, where the State was best ordered, and where there was the least violence and oppression upon the People.

The

The Reader may here take notice, that a brief Account was intended to be given of all the rest of His Majesties Kingdoms, Dominions, Countreys, Territorics, Plantations, and Places; which shall be reserved for another opportunity: onely at present, mutuissie loco, shall follow a Catalogue of all the Governours, constituted by His Majesty in Forreign Parts; together with all the Ambassadors, Envoys, Residents, Consuls, and Agents, at this time employed abroad.

After England, the antient Kingdom of Scotland hath the precedence, the chief Governour whereof, under His Majesty, is the Lord Chancellor of Scotland, who by that Title, enjoys the ordinary Power and Authority of a Vice-Roy, and is at present, the Right Honourable John, Earl of Rothes.

The next is, the Kingdom of Ireland, the Governour whereof, is the Right Honourable, Arthur, Earl of Essex, who by the Title of Lord Lieutenant, is as Vice-Roy of Ireland, and lives with more Splendour and Grandeur, than perhaps, any other Vice-Roy of Europe.

Other Dominions belonging to the King of England, which either for number of People, or large extent, may as well deserve the name of Kingdoms, as divers Countreys which under the King of Spain, have long enjoyed that Title, as New-England, Virginia, Jamaica, &c. but our Kings have never affected those swelling Titles.
