McQUILLAN KNOCKED OUT OF BOX, RUTH HITS PAIR OF HOMERS IN WILD GAME

Bentley Wades Into Fray and Makes Pitcher Pennock Target for First Ball Thrown, Causing Furore

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Working on the theory that he home runs best who home runs last, the Yankees came back like a bad check this afternoon and won the second game of the world series from the Giants 4 to 2, following a Potpourri of circuit smashes. George H. Ruth, the esteemed author, staking himself to two of them. The others were furnished by Ward of the Yanks and E. Meusel of the Giants.

Some 45,000 citizens saw the pastime and became quite enamored of Mr. Ruth before the end of the afternoon. He first commended himself to general attention by smiting one of McQuillan's fast ones high on the roof of the right field stands to open the fourth inning and then made it official by nicking Bentley for a homer into the lower stands in the following inning, McQuillan having decamped, meantime, at the earnest solicitation of McGraw.

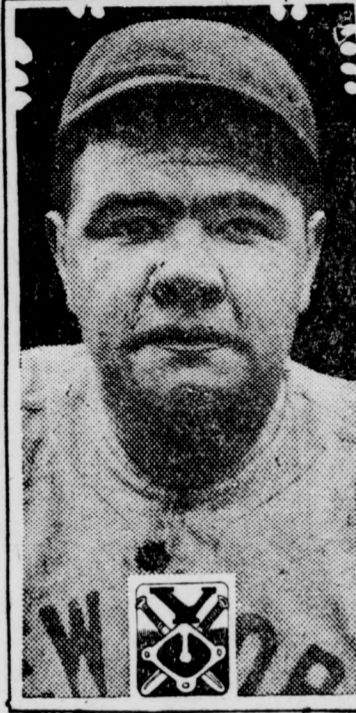

More Hilarity
Ward's homer came in the second inning and supplied the first run of the game, the ball dropping in the upper tier left field stands. The general hilarity had barely abated when E. Meusel stepped to the plate in the Giants' half of the same inning and drove a blinding liner into the same sector, tying the score. Ruth's first home run started the Yanks on a two run rally in the fourth and McQuillan on his way to the clubhouse, with hits by Pipp, Schang and Scott. The Giants final run was the result of successive singles by Groh, Frisch and Young to open the sixth.

Each Have Won
The victory was the first the Yanks were able to muster in their last world's series games with the Giants, starting back in 1921. It also evened the count for the present series, each club scoring one victory in two games to date.

The following is the story of the game by innings:
FIRST INNING
First half—Witt up. Strike one, called. Ball one, low. Ball two, wide. Witt out, Frisch to Kelly. Dugan up. Ball one, low. Ball two, low. Ball three, high. Ball four, wide. Dugan walked. Babe Ruth up. Ball one, wide. Ball two, low. Strike one, called. Ball three, low. Bentley up. Ruth walked. Dugan went to second. The crowd booed McQuillan for passing Ruth. Meusel up. Strike one, called. Ball one, low. Ruth out, and Meusel out on a double play, Bancroft to Frisch to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left on bases.

SECOND INNING
First half—Pipp up. Ball one, wide. Strike one, called. Pipp out, Groh to Kelly. The ball was so hard hit that Groh fell down fielding it. Ward up. Foul, strike one. Foul, strike two. Ward attempted to bunt it. Ball one. Ward hits a home run into left field stands. Schang up. Schang out on a foul to Snyder. Scott up. Strike one, called. Scott out, on a fly to Meusel.
Second half—Young up. Strike one, called. Young out, a pop fly to Dugan. Meusel up. Strike one, called. Ball one, high. Meusel hit a home run into the left field stands. It was almost a duplicate of Ward's smash. Cunningham out on a fly to Ruth. Snyder up. Snyder out, on a pop fly to Ward.
Third Inning
First half—Pennock up. Ball one, inside. Strike one, called. Pennock out, Frisch to Kelly. Witt up. Strike one, called. Witt out, Frisch to Kelly. Dugan up. Dugan out on a long fly to Meusel.
No runs; no hits; no errors.
Second half—McQuillan up. One strike, called. McQuillan out, Dugan to Pipp. Dugan made a sensational one-hand pickup (Continued on page 4)

DEFEAT SUBDUES HUGGINS' PLAYERS

Attendance at Polo Grounds Shows Falling Off in Ranks of Fans

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Somewhat more subdued, if not chastened, by the outcome of the first game, the boys in practice the silent setting of the Polo grounds this afternoon for their second meeting with the Giants, exactly a game further removed from a world's championship than they were at this time yesterday. Their appearance on the field was greeted with apathetic interest by what might be termed a morbidly curious crowd of 45,000, mostly those who make a business of attending public wakes and other lugubrious occasions.

Like professional pallbearers, they sat around in whispering groups and gave the efforts of the boys in practice the silent treatment. There was not a murmur left in the entire assemblage.

Attendance Slim
In fact, the entire occasion was singularly devoid of the usual world's series glamour. There was no all-night vigil preserved outside the gates nor no frantic rush by hysterical citizens for the choice seats in the unserved sections when the portals were opened at 10 o'clock. At that hour the crowd numbered less than 5000, and fifty minutes before game time this had been increased to 15,000, with most of the holders of the reserved seats to put in an appearance.

The Yankees appeared on the field first, coming through the wall at 12:40, clad in traveling gray. The Giants followed shortly afterward, and proceeded to indulge in batting practice.

Stengel Thrills Fans
Casey Stengel, who won yesterday's game with a home run in the ninth, staked the customers to a mild thrill by socking the first ball pitched to him in batting practice in the right field stands.

Nehf was eliminated as a pitching possibility at an early hour when McGraw sent him out to pitch to the batters in practice.

Labor Delegates O. K. Work of Committee
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11.—At least one record will probably be broken when adjournment of the forty-third annual convention of the American Federation of Labor is called some time Friday.

So far not a single recommendation on the numerous matters reported by committees has been turned down by the assembled delegates.

SEATTLE, Oct. 11.—With little debate and by an overwhelming majority, the Seattle Control Labor council last night voted compliance with the order of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor that it conform strictly to the political and economic policies of the federation and associated problems.

Judge Landis' White Locks and Players' Anxiety Give Musings for Mr. Medbury

By JOHN P. MEDBURY
Written for International News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Judge Landis started off the world series by sending mental messages to the newspapers telling them that the game could begin any time after he had been photographed.

His snowy white hair made every California fan homesick. They couldn't gaze in the direction of his box without thinking they were looking at Mount Shasta.

The crowd of 60,000 people was a marvelous spectacle. One man who didn't know anything about baseball thought it was a convention of Peggy Joyce's ex-husbands and ex-fiances.

Most of the ushers wore bright red coats and were closely guarded by policemen to keep anyone from shooting them, thinking they were British soldiers.

While Walter Hoyt allowed everybody else to hit the ball, he was careful not to let his own bat do any damage.

The catcher could fool him by tying a string to the ball and pulling it back as soon as he hits it.

The fans in the boxes needed excitement like this to take their minds off the $6.60.

The real thrill came in the ninth when Stengel walloped the ball so far it looked like somebody would have to chase after it on an elevated train.

Stengel's home run was a surprise to everybody. He couldn't believe it himself until he reads about it in the newspaper.

It was a gorgeous pop and took all his time tagging the bases. He looked like a night watchman making the rounds.

GRAND BALL OPENS BIG CONCLAVE

California Realtors' Convention to Hear About Glendale in Home Town Talk

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 11.—(1 p. m.)—Mayor Albert Elkus today welcomed California's Real Estate association convention to the capital city, twenty-three delegates from Glendale being among those present. At the noon luncheon N. H. Sloane, manager of the California Development association, spoke on plans of that body.

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 11.—The largest motor caravan in the history of the state swung into the convention city selected by the California Real Estate Association for its 1923 gathering at 6:30 o'clock last night, the southern cars containing double the number of those in the northern group.

The grand ball given by the President Frazier O. Reed of the state association at the Hotel Sacramento, the official headquarters during the convention, marked the start of the gathering, and the delegates were welcomed by President and Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Fred Reed, Lou F. Eppich, president of the National Real Estate association, and E. J. Morrissey, president of the Sacramento Realty board.

Backing Hanson
Thirty-three cities have entered their orators in the Home Town contest, among them some of the ablest spellbinders in the state, but Glendale delegates are placing their faith in Peter Hanson to capture the award for the best oration.

The registration of delegates and visitors to the convention greatly exceeds that of last year at Santa Ana, according to Glenn D. Willaman, secretary.

Pasadena is winning support hourly in her campaign to be chosen as the convention city for 1924, the latest recruits to the Pasadena cause being Stockton and Lodi, and John C. Bewley, president of the Lodi Real Estate board, declares that his board and the Stockton organization are a unit in backing Henry P. Barbours of Long Beach, state vice president, for the next state president.

Ball Is Brilliant
The president's ball was a brilliant affair, continuing until after midnight and attended by 400 delegates, their wives and daughters, among whom the Glendale women worthily upheld the prestige of the Fastest Growing City. Mae Liddy of Watts, the only (Continued on page 3)

STATE CAPITOL, OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 11.—Invisible government must fall, else the state of Oklahoma will be subjected to "indefinite turmoil and strife, the final results of which are bound to be disastrous." Governor J. C. (Iron Jack) Walton told the special session of the Oklahoma legislature when it assembled here today.

He renewed his challenge to the Ku Klux Klan with a demand that Oklahoma forever erase from her midst the hooded gatherings which he blamed for many outrages, resulting in military law and virtual rebellion of civic authorities a week ago.

Message Is Read
The governor did not appear in person. The joint assembly committee which waited upon him delivered the message at his request. The clerk of the joint session read the message.

"This invisible, insidious and terrorizing empire, represents in an exaggerated form of fear, falsehood and religious hatred, which is fully exemplified from its operations and the emblem engraved upon the official letterheads of the Imperial Wizard, sent out from the headquarters of his majesty's chambers.

"My investigation discloses from the sworn testimony in one case where six reputable citizens testified that they heard the grand titan of Tulsa make a statement to the effect that there had been six different 'Mer Rouges', similar to the Louisiana affair, committed in his jurisdiction, consisting of nineteen counties.

woman director on the state association, was also among the guests.

The opening session of the convention was held this morning in the Masonic hall, followed at noon by a luncheon at the Hotel Sacramento in honor of the past president of the association.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman of the San Fernando Valley division of the caravan, made a forceful one-minute speech at Stockton Wednesday noon, on behalf of the women, telling how much they were enjoying the trip.

Twining's Red Tie
"Bill" Twining, the irrepressible cheer leader of the Glendale delegation, was thrown off his stride momentarily when Barney McShane, Sacramento chief of police, tapped him on the shoulder, beckoned him into a remote part of the hotel, and asked him to explain the significance of the red tie he was wearing at a ball where everyone was decked out in more modest colored cravats.

Foster Reports All
Would Live Out Here

"Everybody who can raise the price of a ticket is leaving for California," R. L. Foster, of this city, now visiting in Hutchinson, Kansas, writes his old friend, W. G. Collins. Mr. Foster, who went east following the death of his wife, expects to return to Glendale by the end of this month.

Mr. Foster stated that the old soldiers of the east are dying off rapidly and gives his belief that they could prolong their lives considerably if they would live in California.

COLO. BLVD. MEETING

A meeting of property owners on Colorado boulevard will take place tomorrow night in the council chambers at the city hall. Reports will be made by the special committees elected two weeks ago. J. M. Roland, president, urges all members to be present.

Juniors-Seniors Battle Ends in Solar Plexus Bat

Somebody had a bright idea. They exhibited it yesterday afternoon at Glendale Union High school. It was a coffin, gracefully labeled "Juniors." Perhaps it was their goat.

And they buried it—after a fight in which the faculty, it is hinted, participated when the underclassmen made matters interesting for the Senior pallbearers.

The Seniors, also, exhibited a sartorial display which was the cause of another disturbance. "Stick up" collars and "butterfly" ties were the object of further Junior assault.

And to top it all off, Principal George U. Moyses arrived on scene just in time to be the recipient of one of the "bouquets" being passed by the boys, it is reported. Perhaps it was his solar plexus.

Which wasn't such a bright idea, he essayed.

Local Banker's Brother to Practice Medicine

OCTOBER PASSES $300,000 FIGURE
BUILDING ASSN'S ARE RATED HIGH
 Executive of Local Concern
 Telis Advantages as Investment Media
 E. J. Hermans, manager of the Glendale office of the Pacific Building & Loan association says:
 "If the people only realized the security back of the building and loan associations and that today they are rated next to life insurance in the world of finance, and that they are paying dividends equal to the best first mortgages on real estate, they would seek these investments."
 The annual report of Building and Loan Commissioner George S. Walker, prepared by Chief Deputy J. L. Fields, shows that during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923, the California associations made a gain of $20,537,698, or 31.72 per cent in assets. A total of 67,529 separate buildings have been financed.
System Appreciated
 Commenting on the general result, the report, as printed in the American Building Association News, points out that the figures presented are indicative of a more general appreciation of the benefits of a financial system that appeals to, and should stand closer to the common people, the wage earner and the salaried employe, than any other class of financial institution devised. It does not trust, combinations or speculative schemes; its field of operation is local; its results beneficial; its mission the accumulation of savings of thrifty people; the enrichment of the community; the fostering of that most valuable asset of the nation, the "American Home."
 "From the Saturday Evening Post, under the head of Net Savings in Pre-War Days, we find three leading items. The largest was life insurance, amounting to about $800,000,000 yearly for premiums, or $8 per capita. The second was building and loan payments, $500,000,000 yearly, or $5 per capita. Third came our savings banks," says Mr. Hermans.
$66.25 Per Capita
 Statistics show that in some of the eastern states the per capita in savings in building and loan associations run as high as $66.25, while California has only $11.19 per capita.
 "Glendale is the fastest growing city in the United States," and let us make it "First in Per Capita Savings" and boost for California all the time," says Mr. Hermans.

Building Permits for Month Send Year's Total to Nearly $8,000,000

The $300,000 mark for October building was surpassed yesterday in the building department at the city hall. With $7,620,340 to the credit of the year to date Glendale is now approaching the $8,000,000 mark for 1923.	Permits, amounting to $21,300, were issued yesterday and included the following:

Tuesday Afternoon Club Music Section Presents Famous Artists in Concert

Olga Steeb, American pianist, who will appear tomorrow afternoon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse in a program given under the auspices of the music section of the club. California is fortunate in being able to claim Miss Steeb as a resident. She will appear tomorrow with Florence Middaugh, contralto.

A program of rare excellence has been arranged by the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club for tomorrow afternoon, presenting two celebrated artists, Olga Steeb, pianiste, and Florence Middaugh, contralto.

Both of these artists are known to Glendale music lovers through previous concerts in this community, and the splendid impression they have created on each appearance makes certain that tomorrow's concert will attract a capacity audience.

The rise of Olga Steeb to the zenith of fame within the short period of a few years, has been one of the wonders of the musical world. From her early girlhood she has been marked by critics of the country as an artist of unmistakable genius, and even the great Paderewski predicted

The sidewalls are stronger, the tread tougher, the bead unbreakable.
 WE deem ourselves most fortunate in securing the distribution for these wonder-tires, and shall be glad to show and demonstrate them to you.

New P. O. Positions Were Already Taken
 The recent announcement that the local postoffice had been authorized to employ eighteen carriers and eight clerks brought a deluge of applications for position, resulting in much disappointment.
 All the eight clerical positions have been filled and there remain only four vacancies in the carriers' department, which positions probably will be filled soon from successful candidates in a recent civil service examination.
 Nearly all the employes authorized by the postoffice department had been working for some time under a temporary arrangement, as a result of which few new positions were made available.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists the world over at one dollar for a case, or you can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. ### LOCAL KIWANIS VISIT L. A. CLUB

About 600 Attend Luncheon and Hear Address On Movie Industry

It was visiting day yesterday for Glendale Kiwanians. Approximately seventy members of the local club with their wives, sisters or sweethearts were the guests of the Los Angeles Kiwanis club at a luncheon given at the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles.

Los Angeles Kiwanians were playing host on a large scale as an impromptu calling of the roster revealed the fact that numerous clubs from Southern California, as well as clubs from without the state, were represented. In all, nearly 600 were present at yesterday's luncheon.

Individual introductions were necessarily done away with, but the ranking officers or members of every club represented were seated at the speakers' table and were, in turn, introduced. Visiting members rose to their feet for one minute while the Los Angeles club gave them the salute of welcome, and enthusiastic does not begin to describe it.

Gets Prize Award

Mrs. W. C. Rickard of Fullerton won the attendance prize, a beautiful photograph in colors by the famous artist, Edwin S. Curtis, "The Vanishing Race."

Mary Alice Griffith of the Hollywood Egyptian Theatre, sang "Who Knows," "In Springtime" and "Susana," the last named being a favorite number rendered by her during each performance of "The Covered Wagon."

Milton Sills, successful motion picture director, actor, one time professor of philosophy at a Chicago university, and a member of the Los Angeles Kiwanis club, was the speaker of the day. His subject was "The Human Side of the Motion Picture Industry."

Inside Information

Mr. Sills proved himself an eloquent speaker. His audience perhaps received more first-hand information about the motion picture industry and members of its ranks than from any previous source.

Many incidents of daily routine in the studios, and others pertaining to the life of the individual in pictures were related in an informative manner.

At the close of Mr. Sills' talk, it is safe to make the assertion that everyone present felt just a little closer to the motion picture industry.

Glendale Attorneys in Luncheon Meeting

The Glendale Bar association held a meeting Tuesday at Jensen's Egyptian Village to discuss over the luncheon table, matters of interest to the profession and to become better acquainted. The association includes Mrs. Margaret D. Yale, Clifford H. Thompson, Eugene J. Wix, R. A. Ramey, Leslie R. Tarr, G. H. Vende, W. H. Springfield, A. H. Davis, C. L. Frazier, W. S. Gates, W. C. Anspach, Geo. H. King, Ray L. Morrow, Jas. F. McBride, Bert P. Woodard, H. W. Chase, Owen C. Emery and John Everson.

Officers Are Chosen for Community Band

The Community Band at its regular rehearsal last night organized its membership into a business organization, electing the following officers in addition to the director, Adolph Le Bourgeois; manager, A. C. Holcomb; assistant manager, J. B. Aageon; secretary-treasurer, F. C. Stroener; librarian, F. B. Rickseker; property custodian, W. Paul Elmer. The idea in the minds of the members of the band is to have representatives from their own membership that would be responsible for the general conduct of the band.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers Or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backaches and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

SUCCESS CROWNS WEBB STYLE SHOW

Dame Fashion Displays That Which Fall Dictates in Pleasing Revue

By RUTH SPAFFORD
Of The Evening News Staff

Dame Fashion made her appearance yesterday afternoon and evening to maids and matrons of Glendale at the H. S. Webb Company store on North Brand boulevard at Wilson avenue, in the fall opening and fashion revue. It was a series of pleasing pictures, showing the latest in street dresses, afternoon frocks, evening gowns, coats, and the ever popular sports wear. Each model presented a perfectly costumed figure, the hat, shoes, gloves and fur being chosen to harmonize perfectly with the gown, dress or coat displayed.

Introduced first was the sports wear including jaquettes, sweaters and skirts in camel hair in plain, plaid and checked effects in tan, sand, brown, greys, and trimmed in orange, king's blue, brown and grey. The sports coats were mostly fur trimmed, red fox predominating.

List of Shades

Poirer twill, broadcloth, Canton crepe, flat crepes and satin-faced cantons were used to advantage in the becoming street dresses; dull brick, cocoa, niger brown, midnight blue, king's blue, navy, grey and black. Many of the darker dresses were trimmed effectively in bright colors in cuff and panel linings.

Afternoon dresses of black, midnight blue, brown and grey in charmeuse, cotton, satin-faced canton, flat crepe, and satin were made in plain effect, many of them with draped skirts, and plaited panels.

Evening and dinner gowns were beautiful creations in georgette and chiffon in the delicate pastel shades, embroidered in rich silks or beautifully beaded in crystals, gold, silver or var-colored beads.

Long Waist Effects

Practically all of the dresses including the evening and dinner gowns were made long waisted with either plain, draped or pleated skirts.

The coats for street and evening wear were made in the rich fall shades of brown and blue and black with soft fur collars and cuffs of red fox, brown fox, beaver and wolf.

During the revue both afternoon and evening, two pupils of Miss Pearl Keller delighted the patrons and friends of the store with artistic dances. One was a patriotic dance by little Miss Eleanor Marek and the other, the "Powder Puff," by Miss Marie Louise Brown.

Sunkist Co. Bonds Offered to Investors

First Securities Company and Citizens National bank, Los Angeles, are offering today a new issue of $4,000,000 Fruit Growers' Supply Company first closed mortgage 6½ per cent serial bonds. The bonds are offered at par to yield 6½ per cent.

The Fruit Growers' Supply Company is a strictly co-operative corporation owned and operated by the members of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, an organization of 6,000 growers-members which markets about 75 per cent of the entire citrus crop of California under the well-known trade name "Sunkist."

The purpose of the Fruit Growers' Supply Company is to secure for its members an adequate supply of the materials used in producing and marketing the citrus fruits, to insure their purchase at equitable prices and to engage in the operation of sawmills and box factories which are incidental to the services rendered.

At the present time the business transacted by the Fruit Growers' Supply Company for its members is about $10,000,000 per year.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"The Gunfighter," William Farnum's new William Fox production, at the Glendale theatre today, is his most enjoyable production and in it he is at his best.

Mr. Farnum's career cannot be considered without the recollection of a long line of quaint and curious characters rising, as Billy Buell in "The Gunfighter," he diverges slightly from the "quaint and curious" and succeeds in absorbing one's interest in a role that is too vivid, sharp and violent for such a term to be applicable again.

Billy is a Westerner of the variety made famous in literature by Bret Harte. Bold, strong and chivalrous, with a keen sense of the romantic and dramatic, he appeals strongly to the love we all possess for such things.

In "The Gunfighter" the action is fast and furious, but wholly devoid of the typical and cheapening elements that mar most western dramas. It is true Farnum, as Billy Buell, fights with those trusted hardware utensils of his, and even engages to destroy an enemy by killing him, but a sufficient and highly plausible fore and after reason is given for such commotion.

THE GATEWAY

Enter "the crime deflector." His name will go down in the annals of the screen along with Sherlock Holmes, Arsene Lupin, Pinkerton and Burns.

A few years ago when the motion picture industry was still in its infancy a long serial was run depicting the adventures of the famous French detective, Arsene Lupin. Recently John Barrymore immortalized the famous Sherlock Holmes.

"The Crime Deflector" has now been reproduced in celluloid at the Goldwyn studios, where Raymond Griffith plays the role in "Red Lights," a film version of the stage play, "The Rear Car." The picture is shown at the Gateway theatre for three days.

"The deflector" is something entirely new in the field of sleuths. It is his business to see that no crimes are committed, and to deflect them before anything disastrous happens. This role was enacted on the legitimate stage by Richard Bennett.

There are probably as many people willing to change places with you as there are people with whom you would like to change places.

BAR ASSOCIATION IN STATE MEETING

Stockton Host to Lawyers This Week; Constitution Will Be Discussed

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

STOCKTON, Oct. 11.—California's Bar association opens its sessions here today with representation of the legal fraternity present from practically every county in the state. Speeches, social events and section meetings feature the program.

In addition to discussing the Constitution of the United States and the form of government created by it, the association will take up the topic of incorporation, a committee report on Saturday being expected to recommend such action.

Membership in the corporation shall be essential to the practice of law and confer on the organization the power of investigation, discipline and disbarment of its members. In other words, the barristers favor forming a huge trust, providing for the election of district boards of governors which in turn shall outline the methods to be followed by all lawyers, it is clearly indicated.

Legislative Report

The legislative committee of the association is due to report disappointment in their program, which was vetoed, in a large measure, by Governor Richardson. However, it is agreed that tinkering with the criminal code will gain nothing, according to the criminal law and procedure section recommendations.

The convention speakers will be President J. W. S. Butler of the California Bar association, whose official address will be on "The Relation of the Constitution to the Security of American Institutions"; Hugh Henry Brown of Tonopah, Nev., who will speak on "Our Generation and the Constitution"; the annual address by Leslie M. Shaw of Washington, D. C., former secretary of the treasury of the United States, whose topic will be "A Republican Form of Government versus Free Democracy"; and Lewis H. Smith of Fresno, who will read a paper on "The Right of the Supreme Court to Declare Acts of Congress Unconstitutional."

"Criminal Law Enforcement" is the subject assigned for discussion at the evening session of the convention on Thursday, October 11. That session will be given over to consideration of the report of the section on Criminal Law and Procedure and to two papers on the general subject of Criminal Law Enforcement, one by Walter K. Tuiler of Los Angeles on "Necessity and Means of Expediting Criminal Law Enforcement" and the other by C. E. McLaughlin of Sacramento on "Dangers of Encroachment on Constitutional Guaranties of Personal Rights and Liberties."

The sessions of Friday, October 12, will be devoted to considerations of the reports of sections and committees.

An interesting feature of the program for Saturday morning, October 13, will be the meeting of the Judicial Section, which is composed of all of the judges of courts of record of the state of California.

Residents From Six States Will Picnic

Former residents of six states are notified that the annual reunion at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, will be held Saturday, October 13, when a special program will be given. The six states are New York, Rhode Island, Nevada, New Mexico, Arizona and Connecticut.

The guests will bring their own basket lunches, and will get coffee at the picnic grounds.

MISS BUCK RECOVERS

Miss Helen Buck, assistant supervisor of art in the city schools, who was slightly injured in an automobile accident during the last week-end and was unable to attend the session of the county institute Monday, is meeting her classes this week.

DREAMLAND SHOW IS BIG SUCCESS

St. Mark's Guild Benefit Reveals Wealth of Young Glendale Talent

A revel of merriment was offered several hundred Glendaleans last night at the Tuesday afternoon clubhouse auditorium by the clever cast of over 300 Glendale children and adults in "A Night in Dreamland," presented under the capable direction of Jay Wellington and under the auspices of the St. Mark's Guild.

The pleasure afforded the audience by the large number of local entertainers was evinced by the ringing applause at the close of each of the varied acts with their vivid whirl of color and song and joy.

It all starts on the bare stage of the clubhouse with a prologue "A Children's Dreamland" with eleven pretty girls appearing as dream girls and girls from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the city schools as nursemaids and dreamland kiddies, children from the kindergarten, first, second and third grades. Dancing clowns, in gay colored costumes, added to the merriment.

Good Stage Setting
The artistic stage setting for the first act, indeed, likened to a dream garden. Beautiful trees, flowers and soft lighting effects added greatly to the charm of this act. It is, indeed, difficult to select a single most brilliant galaxy that was presented last night.

"My Rose of Waikiki," with Miss Eula Linkogel as soloist and the "Dance of the Hawaiians" was certainly an outstanding feature as was the artistic Mexican dance by Miss Kathleen Woods.

The feature number was the appearance of Madame Bruske-Hollenback, mezzo-soprano, soloist with the Russian and New York symphony orchestras. She sang "Oh, What Is Man?" (Beethoven), "Thoughts Have Wings" (Liza Lehmann), and a "Slumber Song," and was accompanied by Mrs. Carolyn S. Childs of Philadelphia and Pasadena.

Madame Bruske-Hollenback sings with marvelous interpretation. She delighted her audience with the unusual clarity and sweetness of the rich middle voice.

Good Specialty Act
The specialty number of the interior of a moving picture show with Miss Kathleen Woods as the principal, was well received by the audience.

The "Rosebud" song, with Miss Flora Phyllis Kilpatrick as soloist, supported by an American Beauty chorus, was another number greatly enjoyed. The second performance will be presented tonight and a capacity audience is assured. Glendale is to be congratulated upon the local talent displayed at the performance last night and which will be repeated tonight.

Parent-Teacher Association Support Enlisted to Pass Glendale Sewer Bond Issue

"The support of the parents of Glendale in the bond election, providing Glendale with a sewer system, will be a big factor in piloting Glendale, the fastest growing city in America, safely through the greatest crisis the city ever had or ever will face." Such was the sentiment strongly voiced by E. F. Sanders, secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, addressing over forty members of the Glendale Parent-Teacher association in Chamber of Commerce hall.

"Glendale is a beautiful home city," said Mr. Sanders. "You love it as much as I do, but do you realize that we are facing a crisis, that unless we put over this $1,000,000 bond issue with a sewer system, we are threatened with great tragedy by the 10,000 or more cesspools located about the city?"

Compares Cost
"Do you know that there are hundreds of cities that envy us what Los Angeles has offered us? Do you know that the $1,000,000 paid over a twenty-year period will hardly be noticed by the taxpayers? Of course, we could consider constructing a sewer system to the ocean, but do you know what that would cost? Perhaps $50,000,000 or more!"

An added inspiration to Secretary Sander's plea came from a brief talk from Councilman Sam Davis, who with Spencer Robinson just arrived from Los Angeles, where he with Los Angeles officials they had drawn up the final draft of the contract whereby Glendale can become possessor of a sewer system, at the smallest possible cost.

Represents Year's Work
"I am glad that you citizens are gathered together to hear just a brief word from me," said Mr. Davis. "This contract represents a year's earnest work. Los Angeles has been more than fair to us, and the contract we have is not a complicated document. It gives Glendale the right to construct a sewer line into the city of Los Angeles to connect with the city sewer line there. When you think of what this will mean to Glendale and its future you cannot fail to support the bonds when they are put to a vote."

The federation's response was the passing of a motion stating that individual members will be urged to support the bond issue at the polls.

Mrs. E. S. McKee, vice-president of the federation presided over the major part of the meeting, because of the absence of the president, Mrs. E. B. Moore, who was in Los Angeles attending the affair honoring the state president. Mrs. Moore arrived before the close of the meeting and occupied the presiding officer's chair.

Plan Teachers' Reception
Interest of the federation board members and the various associations is in the annual reception to the teachers of Glendale, to be held Friday night, October 19, in the girls' gymnasium at the Glendale High school. Mrs. A. J. Grand, courtesy chairman of the federation, is general chairman and is being assisted by the courtesy chairman of the associations. At the reception Mrs. Moore and the presidents of the associations will compose the receiving line. Each association will take part by having a special table, where the teachers and parents may meet for greetings. An entertainment program will be given during the evening.

The tables will be, Glendale High school; Wilson avenue and Glendale avenue Intermediate school table; Magnolia avenue and Cerritos avenue table; Acacia street and Broadway table; Doran street and Columbus avenue table; Central avenue and Grand View table; Colorado street and Pacific avenue table.

School Heads Speak
The federation members had as additional speakers yesterday, Superintendent Richardson D. White and Principal G. U. Moyle, both of whom spoke of the growing school needs of the Glendale schools, of school administration and of the co-operation between the teaching corps and parents.

Upon her return Mrs. Moore told of the coming conference of the first district October 25, at the Baptist church on Flower street, in Los Angeles, when Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson of Glendale, will speak on "Parents' Reading." She stated that the presidents' council will meet at 10 o'clock and the day's session will continue until 4 o'clock.

Former Parishioners Visit Father O'Neill
During the meeting Mrs. A. H. Brown announced that the constitution will be amended at the next meeting to provide for the two new departments, community life and better films.

Father James S. O'Neill, former pastor of the Church of the Holy Family, in Glendale, was the recipient of many congratulations and well wishes when he completed the first six months of his pastorate of the Santa Clara church at Oxnard, among the visitors to felicitate him being Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Keleher, 528 North Louise street, who called on him at his Oxnard home.

Many of Father O'Neill's Glendale friends keep in close touch with him since his departure from this city, making frequent trips to Oxnard to hear him preach.

Gold teeth are slipped over noses and worn as ornaments by the Chinese.

HILL TOP SUBDIVISION AT HEAD OF LOUISE STREET RESULT OF REALTY DEAL

Another knoll of the green Verdugo hills has been sold for subdivision purposes in Glendale! Another hill top will soon be dotted with fine country homes.

Rhoades & Smith, realtors, 106 East Wilson avenue, announce the sale of 138 acres of foothill property at the head of North Louise street to the DuBain Realty corporation with offices at 618 West Eighth street, Los Angeles.

E. B. DuBain, president of the subdivision firm, represented his company in the transaction with E. A. Stiles, owner, of 420 North Louise street, who was represented by James M. Rhoades.

Mr. DuBain, in turning his activity toward Glendale, is enthusiastic about the location of his forthcoming subdivision on which he already has ordered surveys and street work. It adjoins Bellehurst on the west and La Ramada on the north, including some of the most slightly elevated hill tops to be had in southern California.

The purchase price ran well into six figures, according to Mr. Rhoades. He adds that Mr. DuBain gave him personal assurances that this move will advertise Glendale greatly, like other projects now under way here.

ROY L. KENT CO. ENLARGES STAFF

Aggressive Campaign to Cover Every Phase of Local Realty, Plan

Extensive additions to the staff of the real estate department of the Roy L. Kent Company, 139 South Brand boulevard, presage the launching of an aggressive campaign that will embrace in its scope every branch of the real estate business in Glendale.

Heading the reorganized department as sales manager is E. C. Dalzell, who comes here from Sacramento after years of experience in the realty profession and as manager of some of the largest sales forces on the Pacific slope. Mr. Dalzell has brought his family with him and has already secured a home in Glendale, at the corner of Brand boulevard and Maple avenue.

Force Is Enlarged
Assisting Mr. Dalzell are the latest additions to the sales force, consisting of E. T. Allen, who has been engaged in the real estate business in this city for an extended period and who is in close touch with the local market; Frank M. Schadler, who comes from the sales department of the Southern California Edison Company; W. T. Carnell, a recent arrival from Kansas City, Mo., where he specialized in downtown business property; Perry Maxwell, until recently manager of the roofing department of the Bentley Lumber Company of Glendale; and Mary B. Wagon, who has been with the Roy L. Kent Company for several months and who now moves up to have charge of the listing of real estate offerings.

It is the plan of Mr. Kent and his associates to extend the field of their operations to cover every phase of the realty business in Glendale, from the smallest parcel to the largest transactions, and Mr. Kent feels that the new organization is amply fitted to handle any realty that may be submitted to the organization.

Furnish Service
In addition to the sales department, it is the plan of the firm to render every possible service to prospective investors who seek information regarding property here, furnishing them with all available data and information bearing on the local market.

The opportunities afforded by the growth of Glendale have been one of the main factors in influencing Mr. Kent to enlarge his staff as he has done and to branch out into the wider field that is opening here for realty men every day.

Demand for Rental Property Increases
Mrs. Stella Goodman reports the demands for desirable rental property is constantly increasing. She recently assisted Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Barnes of Hollywood to locate in the home of Mrs. L. R. Allen, 1741 Gardena avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Massie and family, who moved from their former home in Texas, leased the Rees property at 1323 East Wilson avenue. Mr. Massie expects to find an opening in the automobile business.

Mrs. Alice Herr and family have leased a bungalow home at 2843 Boice avenue, owned by Frank Harper.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McFarland have moved to 1002 South Glendale avenue, and Mrs. Anna Campbell has located at 364 West Park avenue.

Mrs. Lydia Haystead has moved to the duplex at 408 Salem street, owned by Mrs. George Wilkinson. Mrs. Haystead is well known in church work in the city.

MOVE PRISONERS
Following a recommendation of the finance committee, the Los Angeles City Council yesterday appropriated $2500 for equipment for additional prisoners to be sent to the municipal farm in Griffith park, near Glendale—too near, it is said.

Mysterious Tibet Provides Thrilling Experiences for Members of Exchange Club

Thomas Moseley of 1512-C South Glendale avenue, who is now on a vacation from his post as a missionary in Tibet, was the speaker yesterday noon in Jensen's Egyptian Village at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Exchange club. The luncheon also was attended by five Boy Scouts: Glenn Cunningham, Arthur Barton, Kenneth Solomon, Robert Eastman and Charles Bosserman. They made one-minute talks upon opportunities open to Scouts in the home, in the community, in the school, and in the church. A general report was given upon the recent state convention at Santa Barbara. The boys were accompanied and introduced by Francis J. W. Henry.

All luncheon clubs in Glendale should be invited by the Chamber of Commerce to have a quarterly meeting together in the opinion of Dr. Henry R. Harrower. He reported that such a get-together luncheon was proving very satisfactory in Oakland.

Suggests Paving Campaign
A campaign to educate property owners in regard to the relative cost and value of excellent and mediocre paving was suggested by R. E. Johnston. He asserted that much paving laid in Glendale is too light for the traffic.

The narrowness of the bridge over the Los Angeles river on Los Feliz road was commented upon by F. C. Butler. He recommended that the matter should be taken up by the civics committee.

Living conditions in Tibet were sketched briefly by Mr. Moseley in a talk which was found quite interesting.

Dogs Like Lions
Tibet is a closed land not only because it is shut in by high mountains, but also because the native priests have kept missionaries out for many years. He stated that it is impossible to travel in the country with safety without a guide or, rather, someone who is friendly terms with the natives. He added that the danger is increased because of the ferocity of the dogs who seem more like lions.

Tibet is the highest country in the world. Most of it is situated upon a plateau from 10,000 to 17,000 feet in altitude while the mountain peaks are between 20,000 and 28,000 feet in height. Because of the altitude it is difficult for persons used to sea level

GAME HERE WILL BE PROFESSIONAL

Mike Donlin to Manage Team for Kerwin, Leischner and Associates

Two announcements were made this morning by Frank A. Kerwin, representing a group of Los Angeles sporting promoters, which are of great importance to Glendale. They are:

First—This city will be included in the Triple A Winter league which is being organized at the present time. It comprises the Shell Oil company, Long Beach, San Pedro, Wilmington, Sawtelle, Anaheim, Ventura and the Union Tool company of Torrance, in addition to Glendale.

Second—A "long-term lease" has been signed up for a diamond at the corner of Park avenue and San Fernando road on property owned by Roy Johnston. More than $15,000 will be invested in a clubhouse and grandstand to accommodate 3500 people, according to Mr. Kerwin. Work will start in next few days.

It is stated that Mike Donlin, well-known player-manager, will be in charge of the local plant, also directing the destinies of the Glendale team which is being organized by Mr. Kerwin of the B. H. Dyas company, Grant Leischner and others.

The first game of the winter league series will be played the first Sunday in November, the teams to be organized from the professional ranks of the major leagues. Mr. Kerwin states that he is co-operating with Jesse E. Smith, president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and W. H. Reeves, city manager, in making an eastern league team—perhaps the Boston Red Sox, welcome here next spring for a six weeks' training period.

C. L. Lockard, president of the Seattle Baseball club, has addressed a letter to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce stating that he is anxious to bring his team south for the spring training and would prefer to have his athletes round into shape in Glendale.

Glendale Alumni Now Part of State Body

Glendale members of the Alumni association of the University of California, Southern Branch were informed yesterday by Robert Sibley, executive secretary of the California Alumni association, that their society has been recognized as a definite part of the state organization.

This announcement comes as the result of a campaign directed by Dean Laughlin.

New Depot Dislodges Capital's Chinatown

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 11.—Sacramento's Chinatown, said to be the oldest Chinese settlement in the state, is doomed.

With the announcement of plans for the new Southern Pacific depot, which will be on the verge of the Oriental section, plans are being made to move Chinatown to make way for expansion of the business district. The new Chinatown will probably be located across the river, in Yolo county.

Burma is famous for its jade.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Dr. Lulu: We are little twin girls, 18 months old. Each of us weighs 22 pounds. Our mamma has always fed us on cow's milk in the bottle. We don't eat very much of other food and we don't like to drink milk from a cup. Mamma says she thinks she ought to wean us from the bottle as she thinks we ought to eat more of different kinds of food.

"We are cutting our stomach and eye teeth and our gums are awfully sore."
"We hope you won't tell Mamma to take our bottles away from us while our gums are so sore, because it hurts them when we eat."
"If you think we ought not to have our bottles what shall we eat, and how often?"

"We hope you will answer soon as we are very much worried little girls and we believe you know all about little girls.—Juanita and Lereta."

Why, Juanita and Lereta, I'm surprised! Great big girls like you still eating as though you were very tiny babies not six months old! Why, at 18 months of age, you should be having a lot of solid food. You should be having bread and butter, all kinds of strained vegetables, scraped fruit and fruit sauces, cereals, milk toast, a little bit of crisp broiled bacon—Oh, a lot of good solid foods.

I guess your Mamma must have thought you had more will-power and were stronger than she is. She probably did not know when you refused the solid foods she offered you, that it is natural for children to refuse them when first offered. You babies seldom like new foods at first and often will spit them out—that is one of the reasons why we have to begin to feed you little tyrants at about six months of age. First we begin with tiny amounts of cereal—not more than half a level teaspoonful—and we increase the amount by not more than half a level teaspoonful every other day.

I have written all about this recently in the Friday issues of this paper. Did Mamma get these articles, I wonder?

I am terribly afraid, girls, that your sore gums may be an indication that you are suffering from the disease called scurvy. That comes when you have not had enough green vegetables and fresh fruit juices. However, if Mamma begins right away to give them to you—in very small amounts at first—you will recover and we hope no permanent damage has been done.

Now you will be good, I know. Take your milk from a cup—you should not have had it from the bottle after your thirteenth month—and have your meals very regularly, three times a day, with nothing between meals except the juice of an orange at 9 o'clock, and at mid-afternoon five or six ounces of milk—from the cup, remember that, girls! Then of course, you should have a good big drink of water three or four times a day between meals. You are more than a pound underweight according to the average table. You will gain when you begin to have more food.

Have Mamma write to me in care of this paper and I will give her the names of some books that will give her careful directions for feeding babies. Will you write me again and tell me how you gain and how much better you feel after you eat like the real big girls you are, should eat. See that Mamma is firm with you, and when you refuse solid foods, tell her to take your milk away from you for a half to a whole day if necessary until you are so hungry you could eat nails.

It is lovely to be twins. You are going to have lots of joy and happiness in life and you are going to give out lots of joy and happiness. You must be strong and healthy so you can do this. Tomorrow I shall have a table telling how to feed you. Don't forget to write again, will you, Juanita and Lereta.

Tomorrow—Feeding the Child—Its Second Year.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose a cent in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your names as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to give you individual advice. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

BEAUTY CHATS

A SINGLE HAIR

A single hair, if you pull it from the scalp and look at it closely seems a simple enough thing. It seems to be a very slender, easily breakable colored thread. But it isn't.
Hair, like your teeth and your nails, is a curious evolutionary development. It's the same as teeth and nails, feathers, or scales. Hair originally developed to protect the body, as teeth developed to eat with, and nails to protect the finger and toe ends. Don't ask me how far back "originally" means; one book on evolution that I read recently thinks four million years about right, and some scientists say that's too short a period for us to grow from the original single cell or whatever it is they quarrel about) into intelligent humans with heads of lustrous hair.
The hair itself is composed of an outer horny shaft and an inner pithy part. Moreover, there are three layers of cells in each hair; outside, middle and inner; if they're straight and uniform, the hair is straight, if they have a spiral arrangement, the hair curls.
Where a hair grows out, it's very complicated. First there's the skin, the real skin, then there are sweat glands, nearly 40 to an inch. There's the hair follicle, in which is the hair shaft, more glands called sebaceous which supply oil to the hair and skin, too, erector muscles, which you feel if you are frightened and your hair "stands on end," a papilla, which produces and nourishes the hair, and lastly a fatty layer under the skin which contains blood cell vessels and which feeds the hair through the papilla.
All that to each hair! And we've said nothing about color, which depends upon the amount of pigment and of air in those cells we talked about.
Blue Eyes; Anxious; Auburn; S. S. S.; Wading; Olive; Stenographer; I. M. P. and Mrs. James N. Y.—A woman of 25 years of age who is five feet two inches in height will be normal weight at 118 pounds. Subtract or add two pounds for each inch above or below this measurement, add or subtract two pounds for each five years above or below this age, up to 40 years, when three pounds gain in each five years to 50 years will be normal.
Discouraged:—Extract the coarse hairs by using a blunt end tweezers. Bleach the finer ones with peroxide unless you can have the electric needle treatment.
Tomorrow—A Long Chin
All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns of this paper. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. Still a personal or quicker reply is desired a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

From time to time, Reader Friends write me to ask what is considered an up-to-date ornament for the top of their dining room buffet. "Are candlesticks used now?" say some of these letters, or "Shall I have a vase containing flowers?"

Of course there are no set rules for what is good taste to put on a buffet. But the leading interior decorators of today have suggested formal arrangements for dining room ornaments, and these arrangements, are being widely adopted by housekeepers who are trying to make their homes artistic. I am going to describe some of the ornaments most popularly used:

Vases containing flowers are not often seen on the buffet-top. Perhaps this is because they make such attractive ornaments for the center of the dining table between meals. In most homes we find either a low bowl of short-stemmed cut flowers (or a lily bulb), or else a vase holding longer-stemmed flowers, standing on a centerpiece on the polished table between meals.

But candlesticks are a different matter. They are generally found

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am nineteen years old and I have been engaged to a boy of the same age for two years. I thought I loved him so much that nothing in the world could come between us, but now I find that what I thought was love was only "puppy love."
This summer I was on a vacation and while at the summer resort where I was staying I met another young man. He is 24 years old and just my ideal. I loved him from the first and I am sure that he loved me, too, because he arranged for a meeting as soon as he saw me at the hotel.
We had a wonderful time together on the water and it was not long before we loved each other very much. I told him of my engagement and he wanted my engagement and he wanted to break it. He said he could never love any one else and he would wait for me to write to him that I was free.
When I got home and saw my old sweetheart he was so glad to see me that I didn't have the heart to tell him I loved some one else. I tried to tell him, but I really couldn't make myself. I really no longer love the first one, but I care too much for him to want to hurt him.
What would you advise me to do?
ALICE W.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When a girl is in high school, is it correct for her to let a neighbor boy walk home from school with her and carry her books? A boy who lives in our neighborhood waits for me mornings and at night to carry my books. He is not my sweetheart and I do not want other schoolmates to think he is. What would you advise me to do?
SWEET SIXTEEN.
It is all right to let the boy carry your books. If you tell your girl friends to walk along too, no one will consider the neighborhood boy your sweetheart.
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a husband who is very good to me, but he forgets my birthday and wedding anniversary. This has given me many heartaches, because my father was the kind of man who loved to bring presents to my mother and he was always doing it even when it was not her birthday, Christmas or other celebration.
Do you think it is excusable for a wife to remind her husband that her birthday is coming or that such a day is their wedding anniversary? I don't like to do this, but my husband tells me I should. He says it is his failing to forget and he is very sorry about it.
FORGOTTEN WIFE.
A good many women would be forgotten on their birthday and wedding anniversary if they did not mention the coming event ahead of time. Women are more inclined to think of such things than men. They really forget and in order to save heartaches ought to be warned ahead of time that the occasion approaches.
The city council in Norwalk, Conn., recently passed a bill abating forever the taxes of Mrs. Della Sanford, aged 107, the oldest woman in the Nutmeg state.
Statistics show that nine-tenths of the women in China cannot write their own names.

MISS MARIE O. ANDRESEN
Judges are becoming more and more numerous. Are women learning to let reason rule their emotions, or does their alleged intuition help in making judicial decisions?
WOMEN TO THE FORE
Known a few years ago only as housewives and mothers, women now have reached the peak of the business world.
Practically every important business in the United States has a woman in a responsible position, where a few years ago they were hired only as stenographers or secretaries and, in some instances, not hired at all.
The remarkable hold which the newly developed woman now has on the business world is shown in a survey by the Eastern Underwriter, an insurance magazine, which conducted a national investigation.
This survey shows that in many cases women turning their minds to business have surpassed men in the hurly-burly world. It also reveals:
There are now five women bank presidents in the country and a half dozen women vice presidents.
There is a national bank in Clarksville, Tenn., the officers of which are all women.
Many women society leaders have started big manufacturing businesses, some of them operating on a million dollar scale.
Women now hold high judicial posts, with at least one state supreme court judgeship.
A California woman is president of a flourishing railroad.
Women Keep Out of Jails
Mrs. Margaret B. Steinmetz, general secretary of the Women's Prison association, one of whose duties is visiting prisons, says that on days in which she has visited jails she found at one time no women in twenty-seven and at another time seventeen prisons had only one woman. In fifteen jails they told her there had not been five women during the year, and in five no alcoholic men and women do not go into the county jails now, she says, but are found in hospitals or asylums, or have had suspended sentences.

Northwestern Forest Fires Under Control

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 11.—Messages received here from various towns in the fire-swept northwestern Wisconsin and Michigan woods indicated the flames had been brought under control in a majority of places. The all-night vigilance of hundreds of volunteer fire fighters, coupled with slackened winds, diminished the blaze, the messages said.
PLEGGED TO FRAT
CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 11.—Waldo Harding, Yale, former Glendale Union High school student, has been pledged to Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, one of the active secret societies of Oregon Agricultural college here.
RECOVERS FROM CROUP
"My boy had a very bad attack of croup. Tried everything but nothing did him much good. Then I used Foley's Honey and Tar and he not only recovered quickly but he has had no trouble since," writes Mrs. William Sims, Burlington, Wyoming. TODAY—8-Hour Day for Farmers; May be Political Issue.

By CARL L. TURNER For International News Service

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 11.—Institution of the eight-hour day for farmers in Missouri as a panacea for numerous agricultural ills is imminent, according to Senator W. R. Painter, Democratic leader. "Farmers today are suffering from overproduction," Painter declared. "The eight-hour day would cut off two-fifths of this surplus and result in an increase in prices of from 60 to 80 per cent, thereby making farming profitable. "I know there are many who will not agree with me," the speaker said. "They will say farmers cannot care for their stock, save the crops and get other work done under such schedule. "My reply is, do not plant more than you can care for in eight hours; dispose of the stock that cannot be handled in that period, and do not attempt to cultivate more than can be efficiently done in the eight hours. "This proposition is sound and is followed in every other business except farming," he explained. "Manufacturers cut their production and increase their profits and prices. The wage earner cuts his working hours and increases his pay. Railroad men do similarly. In fact, it is true that in all great industries and in organized labor they cut production and hours of labor and make more money. It is now up to the farmer to use the same tactics."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE WHEELBARROW "Uncle Wiggily!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the hollow stump bungalow one morning. "There are so many dried leaves around the place I think you ought to rake them up." "That's just what I shall do," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman, with a low and polite bow of his pink, twinkling nose. "And after you have raked up the leaves," went on Nurse Jane, "you had better put them in the wheelbarrow and cart them away so far that they won't blow back again." "I shall also do that for you," said Uncle Wiggily, whistling a jolly tune, for he was a happy rabbit. "Winter is coming!" sang Uncle Wiggily as he raked the leaves into little piles, before gathering them into the wheelbarrow. "Winter is coming! How jolly is winter! Here we go, over the snow! We skate and slide and have many a ride! Now I'll give the leaves a ride!" So saying, Uncle Wiggily gathered up in his paws as many of the dried leaves as he could hold, and put them in the wheelbarrow. Then he wheeled the barrow down to the far end of the garden and dumped the leaves.

He pushed the wheelbarrow along.

"All right—hop up!" invited Mr. Longears. And when Baby Bunty sat on top of the wheelbarrow filled with leaves Uncle Wiggily started to give her a ride. He pushed the wheelbarrow along until he reached the big pile of dried leaves at the end of the garden. And then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily had a funny idea. "I'll just upset the wheelbarrow," said the bunny rabbit to himself, "and spill Baby Bunty out on the pile of leaves. It won't hurt her a bit and it will be jolly good fun!" So, all of a quickness, Uncle Wiggily tilted the wheelbarrow on one side when he reached the big pile of leaves, and out spilled Baby Bunty just like or a haystack!

JEAN LOUIS MALVY Jean Louis Malvy, minister of war for France at one time and exiled for five years because of the charge of betrayal of the nation's trust, has returned to France with hopes of one more coming into power and obtaining revenge against the men primarily responsible for his banishment. Malvy was exiled by the French senate, sitting as a high court, in 1917. He had been minister of war from the beginning of the conflict until his trial began. As interior chief he was held responsible for the moral discipline of the nation. He was given unlimited powers in handling the treasonous cliques and their leaders. Instead of using this power, the senate decided, Malvy permitted unpatriotic movements, including the formidable "defeated" program. Malvy's return is welcomed by the left wing group in French politics. This group has been quietly at work lining up the support of all the opponents of the Clemenceau regime in power at the time he was banished. Definite plans to obtain Malvy's election to the chamber of deputies are under way, it is said.

COMBINE, BEWARE OF "QUACK" REMEDIES, ROOSEVELT TELLS FARMERS Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, advises farmers to combine and co-operate to better their condition. He said in a recent speech: "That our farmers have suffered and late years is a matter of common knowledge. This is not healthy for our country, and should be a matter of grave concern to all interests. "With the complication of modern society, business has organized and co-ordinated on a gigantic scale. The day of the small individual has, to a large extent, passed. Economy and efficiency are vital to success. It is axiomatic that either in buying or selling, if you deal in bulk, you can deal to your own advantage. "There is only one way the farmer can meet this condition. He must combine. If he does not combine and co-operate with his brother farmers he will unquestionably be forced under. "I want to issue a word of warning against 'quack medicines.' All over the country there are sincere but mentally limited fanatics and self-seeking politicians peddling false doctrines. These comprise such things as government price fixing and unsound loans. Steer clear of these. Remember that, in the long run, anything which hurts the country hurts the farmer, just as surely as anything which hurts the farmer hurts the country. "The government's part in aiding the agriculturist, he said, should be confined to legalizing fullest

EAGLE ROCK EASTERN SCRIBES LOOK WEST OVER

Desert Cloudburst and Cold Contrary to Accepted Belief Back Home

How would you like to have nothing to do for several months, just travel, that's all? And keep on traveling?

That's all F. Harland Rohm, Chicago Journal staff man, and his friend, G. W. Greene of the Milwaukee Journal, have to do, according to their interesting story of experiences in the wild and woolly west.

Presently they are visiting at the home of Miss Annie Greene, 4767 College View avenue, Eagle Rock, they state. Indeed, they like Southern California very much, but wonder how so many real estate men make a living here when Chicago only has half the number or less.

They are on an auto trip, so they say, which will lead them to British Columbia, then to Florida, but not to Chicago for some time. On the desert, recently they were nearly washed away in a cloudburst and suffered the torments of the Eskimo by nearly freezing to death.

And they had feared that the desert sands would engulf them and the heat overcome them. Ah, it is to live and learn.

A request has been sent to members of the Eagle Rock Professional and Business Women's club, which will hold its formal opening at the city hall tonight, to attend a special business session at 7:30, preceding the meeting.

Mrs. E. D. Snow, president, who recently returned from a trip north, has resumed her club activities.

Mrs. Anne Harrison, president of the Parent-Teacher association, has announced that, owing to the fact that there were two youngest girl exhibitors and boy exhibitors in the dahlia show, the prizes offered for that event have been duplicated. Rustic baskets were given the youngest girl exhibitors, Margaret Odell and Dona Morrow.

Musical Program
A delightful musical program marked the opening fall luncheon today of the Women's Twentieth Century club at the clubhouse on Kenilworth and Colorado avenues.

Mrs. Elsa Van Norman, accomplished contralto soloist, rendered several vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. Constance Braasch.

Mrs. Mary Holland Kinkaid, well-known Los Angeles clubwoman, was the main speaker. Mrs. A. G. Reilly, president, gave a short talk.

There was a large attendance at the free lecture and motion picture show at the Eagle Rock Springs auto camp last night. D. C. Summers, president of the California White Leghorn club and director of the Poultry Producers' association, lectured on poultry and berry raising.

Vaudeville Feature
A feature of the vaudeville show which the American and the Women's Auxiliary will present tomorrow night at the Women's clubhouse, Kenilworth and Colorado avenues, will be a Scotch act by George T. Vallance, the well-known tenor. Among his selections will be a number of Harry Lauder songs.

C. Henry Clark, Civil War veteran, popular adjutant of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., and senior vice-commander of the G. A. R. of California and Nevada, celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday yesterday at a big party. Many of "the boys in blue" were present at the event. A feature of the entertainment was singing by Harry Warren.

FARMERS PRAISE PRESENT TARIFF

Saved Them from Ruin, Is Claim of Their Solons at Washington

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The Fordney-McCumber tariff bill saved American farmers from a ruinous agriculture panic during the summer, although there is a general demand for revision of duties on industrial products to reduce the high cost of living.

This is a synopsis of opinions held by leaders of the congressional "farm bloc." It was learned here. The attitude indicates some western Republicans will support the Democratic move for a revision of tariffs in the next congress.

"Farm bloc" leaders say the tariff has saved farmers from complete ruin by blocking efforts of foreign agricultural nations which sought to dump cheap products into the United States in the last year. At the same time, they reported a feeling among farmers that some rates on manufactured articles were "too high" and a demand for their downward revision.

"The farmers feel that the duties on raw materials have been very beneficial," said Representative L. J. Dickinson, Republican, of Iowa, chairman of the "farm bloc."

Saved Wool Industry
"The protection given the wool industry has saved it from bankruptcy and revived it. The tariff has enabled corn growers to compete with Argentine imports east of the Alleghenias for the first time in history."

"The tariff on wheat has prevented Canada dumping her surplus into the United States and if it had not been for this tariff, the wheat situation would be far more desperate than it is. As a matter of fact, the tariff saved American farmers from an agricultural panic during the past year."

Sewer Contract a Bargain Glendale in Ball League Conspiracy of Silence Saving Some Reputations

By Gil A. Cowan

Further approval of the Glendale-Los Angeles sewer contract, after minor technical changes had been made, by the Los Angeles City Council yesterday indicates that the sister city is more than glad to have this issue settled.

While Glendale gives Los Angeles service in kind, the metropolis offers Glendale one of the biggest bargains ever struck, it appears to the writer. For a nominal investment in long term bonds Glendale gets rid of its sewage completely and conveniently. And that is what Glendale needs to do. No matter how it does so, the sewer-piper, if you please—will have to be paid. And no matter whether we lay the pipes up-hill or down-hill, it is going to take about so much to accomplish the purpose. There may be those so obstinate, so absurd, so utterly intent on destroying this community's civic entity, as to say the nay, but it is confidently expected that this element will be overwhelmed by the vote of the good and true thinking citizens.

The Parent-Teacher federation has taken up the word to vote the school bonds; the churches, the clubs, the civic and commercial bodies should likewise work to the end that no stone be left unturned in obtaining this needed improvement by voting the necessary issue.

Announcement is made today that Glendale will be in the organized winter ball league in Southern California. That will bring pleasure to the hearts of the hundreds of fans who are residents of this city.

Hundreds of these ball bugs look to The Glendale Evening News for the world series results this week, and we take pleasure in serving them with the latest.

We are glad to see the interest taken in sports in Glendale. It is the keen mind, the kindly character, the hall fellow well met, who enjoys a good game, be it pinocle or shoe pitching.

Has there ever been a conspiracy of silence in Glendale of its vicinity? We could name several instances where there was, but we shall let the dead rest in peace. At the same time, we give space to the views of The Santa Barbara News on the subject.

There seems to be an impression in the minds of some of the officials of Santa Barbara that a public office is in some sense private property. They forget that they are public servants placed, for a limited time, in positions to do the work of the people.

All of their official actions are or should be public. By law their records are open to the people. The suppression of records is a breach of trust, if not an absolute violation of law.

When a wealthy woman committed suicide in this county, the coroner, forgetting that he was a public official, became party to a conspiracy of silence. He evaded and denied, and in every way in his power sought to keep the facts from the people.

He even went so far as to tell newspapermen that there was nothing to indicate that death was not due to natural causes, in spite of the fact that at that very time the public record was completed in which a verdict of suicide was returned.

It would seem that to anyone with ordinary common sense the futility of such a childish course would be apparent. The main facts of the case were matters of common knowledge on the street. In the official record required by law, the full story, sooner or later, must be found.

It is not of record that the coroner has pursued the course of secrecy in the cases of the ordinary unfortunate who has taken a quick leap into the beyond.

Why should the coroner in his conduct of his office make fish of one and flesh of another?

For instance, we could publish the whispers we hear here, and what would result? Perhaps no libel, perhaps no bad, perhaps no good. Yet were we to give the readers every bit of gossip there are many reputations that would be ruined.

And we know that people would rather find out something the papers haven't printed!
