WILLIS JURY REMAINS IN DEADLOCK

Unable to Reach Verdict In Trunk Murder Case, It Is Predicted

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—With the prospects of a verdict growing dimmer, the jury deciding the fate of Mrs. Margaret Willis, accused of the murder of Dr. B. Baldwin, continued its deliberations today, resuming its session at 9 o'clock.

While principals and spectators of the sensational trial, which has been in progress for the past two weeks, waited anxiously, predictions that a verdict of first degree murder were returned it would carry a recommendation for life imprisonment instead of death were rife about the courthouse.

Reports Vary
According to one report, the jury was standing 11 to 1 for conviction, one juror demanding a verdict of murder in the second degree.

Another report has it that two jurors favor the lesser degree verdict. Few of those present at the trial are expecting a verdict of acquittal.

No progress was made toward reaching a verdict last night when the jurors spent more than three hours in deliberation. The case went to the jury at 5 o'clock and the jurors were taken to dinner a short time later, returning at 7:30 o'clock.

Laugh and Joke
They remained in session until 10 o'clock, when they were removed to the Rosslyn hotel, laughing and joking among themselves. Their deliberations were resumed at 9 o'clock this morning.

Deputy District Attorney Hammer closed the case for the state with a bitter arraignment of Mrs. Willis whom, he declared, had committed "one of the most terrible crimes in the history of this city."

APPROVE REPORT ON SALARY BILL

Measure Granting Increase To Postal Workers to Go to President

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Final action by Congress was taken today on the postal employees' increase bill through approval by both Houses of the conference report on the measure.

There is doubt whether President Coolidge will sign the bill because it carries no provision to meet the increased pay provision which approximates $60,000,000. The bill carries the provision for publicity of campaign contributions, limiting expenditures by senators to $10,000 and congressmen to $2,500 or the alternative of three cents for each voter in the state or district of the senator or congressman.

Prince's Relative, In Jail, Awaits Sentence

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—Said to be a relative of Prince Erik of Denmark, who recently came here to engage in chicken raising, Walter W. Booth faced sentence here today after entering a plea of guilty to charges of violating the corporate securities act in connection with sales of stock in a cooperative gasoline filling station company.

Booth, authorities said, is a cousin of Lois Booth, heiress of Toronto, Canada, who recently married Prince Erik. She is said to be the first Canadian girl to marry a nobleman.

ACCUSES COMEDIAN

NEW YORK, June 6.—Imogene Wilson, beautiful Follies girl, today took the witness stand against Frank Tinney, America's most famous black face comedian, and accused him of beating and kicking her while calling her "honey."

Mrs. Willis Sure She Will Receive Acquittal Verdict

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—"Don't worry. Mamma will be home with you tonight."

This was the whispered message of Mrs. Margaret Willis to her 14 year old son, "Sonny," here today after the jury trying her for the "trunk" murder of Dr. Benjamin Baldwin had been out for almost twenty-four hours without returning a verdict.

Bert Webster, the lanky carpenter, alleged "soul mate" of Mrs. Willis, sat in the courtroom all day waiting for the verdict.

"I want her back—I'll marry her if she is freed," Webster quietly told Mrs. Willis' friends.

INDICT BOYS ON MURDER CHARGES

Grand Jury Finds True Bills Against Two Wealthy Chicago Youths

CHICAGO, June 6.—Nathan Leopold, Jr. and Richard Loeb, 19-year-old sons of two of Chicago's wealthiest families, and youths whose intellects had been given the greatest opportunities for development, were formally charged in grand jury indictments returned here today with the brutal kidnaping and murder of 13-year-old Robert Frank, also the son of a millionaire.

Eleven counts are contained in each murder indictment against the young men, who previously had confessed they slew Robert, a chance passer-by, in pursuit of their plan to kill, just to "get a thrill."

Bail Is Refused
In the kidnaping indictments there are thirteen counts. Phrasing in each instance is practically the same, the only changes being those necessary to meet requirements of the law.

Leopold and Loeb were not in court when the indictments were returned. The documents were read by Frederick Hoffman, foreman of the grand jury. An attempt on behalf of the youths for release on bonds which is admissible under Illinois laws, at the discretion of the judge, was exploded by the action of Chief Justice Caverly, who supported the grand jury's recommendation that the pair be held in jail without bail.

Platform Is Adopted By Prohibition Party

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 6.—Denunciation of four years of nullification of prohibition laws by the Democratic and Republican officials, the keeping open of all places where "public" wards are kept for public inspection, scientific advocacy of Americanization of aliens, the reading of the Bible in the public schools and compulsory attendance of public schools were the chief planks in the platform adopted at noon here today by the national Prohibition convention.

War Veteran Is Shot, Tried to Enter House

SEATTLE, June 6.—Harry James Adams, 23-year-old Canadian war veteran, is dead here today following an attempt late last night to enter the home of Harry Hilpert while apparently intoxicated. He was fatally shot by a neighbor, Ivan Campbell, who was called to the house by a phone message from Estella Service, 23-year-old niece of the Hilperts, who, with her 10-year-old sister and the two Hilpert children, were alone in the house at the time.

Mellon Stamps Means' Whiskey Story False

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in a letter to Senator Brookhart of Iowa, chairman of the Wheeler-Brookhart committee, denied flatly that he was involved in a plot to sell whiskey to pay off the debts of the Republican National committee as alleged before the committee by Gaston B. Means, formerly agent of the department of justice.

FIVE ACRES PRESENTED GLENDALE

Fine Grove of Oak Trees On Property to Which City Gets Deed

Rossmoyne Park, the gift of the Haddock-Nibley company to the city of Glendale, was formally presented to V. P. Stone, city manager, representing the municipality, by Lon J. Haddock yesterday afternoon.

The site donated comprises approximately five acres, situated just south of the old Ross reservoir site on Mountain street in Rossmoyne, and contains a wonderful grove of oak trees, said to be one of the finest in Southern California.

Gift Worth $50,000
The gift of the park is the outcome of negotiations which have been pending for a long time between the city manager and the Rossmoyne subdividers and the property included represents $50,000, at a conservative valuation, according to a statement issued by Mr. Stone this morning.

The park site, situated at the foot of and on the eastern slope of a high table land, presents wonderful facilities for a natural amphitheatre, where outdoor exercises may be held. Thickly wooded, the oak trees, blending their massive foliage at a great height, form a canopy over the entire park that makes it a delightful spot even on the hottest summer days.

It is very accessible and may be reached from the main road west from the Egyptian temple on Verdugo road or from Brand boulevard via Mountain street.

Seeks More Park Sites
In speaking of the grant this morning, Mr. Stone said: "I believe that the site contains at least ten large lots, each of which has a minimum value of $50,000. If this tract can be valued at $50,000 at this time, in ten years from now it will be worth three times that much to the city."

"I have adopted it as a policy of my office that every large subdivider when opening property close to the city should be asked to deed some land to Glendale for park purposes. I plan to have a series of a chain of small community parks. If we could get this and then have one central park where large gatherings might be held we would be well equipped."

Mr. Stone stated that the present gift will furnish the Rossmoyne residents a beautiful community park and will be of great benefit to the entire city, in that it is only ten minutes' drive from Brand and Broadway. He planned to get the members of the City Park board together this afternoon.

People More Careful About Spending Money

The talk about reverses in business, scarcity of money and the cutting down of the building program, has not been of vital importance in Glendale—other than the lopping off of a few of the unnecessary expenses.

A motion picture show owner declared that his business has been cut in two and complaints have been offered by others in the same line. Whether the admitted slowing down of attendance at the moving picture houses is the result of the alleged "stagnation in business" or is caused by people saving the money formerly spent on picture shows is a question of interest.

Many believe that the great majority of pictures shown and scheduled have caused a large number of people to use their money to a better advantage—to spend it for something more pleasurable and lasting. It appears that many people are saving their money for investment in a lot, a house or an automobile—something that will remain with them; something that will prove of benefit. For instance, an automobile permits one to take trips out in the country—into nature's world and behold the real pictures; to enjoy the fresh air; to bask in California's sunshine.

At any rate, there is a strong tendency now to encourage the saving of money for the procuring of homes and the necessary automobile. The class of pictures being presented are failing to draw the public. The spoken play is becoming popular now, so that people, show inclined, are patronizing the spoken play almost exclusively. They refuse to waste their money any longer for picture shows that are off color or just plain rotten.

SEES SALVATION IN DAWES' PLAN

Relaxation of Tension In Politics Will Follow Acceptance, Claim

BERLIN, June 6.—Acceptance of the Dawes reparations plan means not only the salvation of Germany but a relaxation of political tension throughout the world, Foreign Secretary Gustav Stresemann told the Reichstag in a ringing speech this afternoon. In urging acceptance of the Dawes' plan, Stresemann declared it would save the Rhineland "from anarchy and chaos."

Cabinet In Balance
The fate of the Marx cabinet was hanging in the balance when the Reichstag met.

It was expected that the government could be saved from defeat only by the government parties introducing a "qualified" vote of confidence approving Chancellor Marx' foreign policies. Adherents of the chancellor said they expected the government to win, even if the majority was a narrow one.

French and Turks End Border Difficulties

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 6.—An agreement to put an end to hostilities between French and Turks along the Syrian frontier has been reached by General Billoche, the French commander, and the Turkish government. U. S. NOTE TO JAPAN IS READY

Reply to Exclusion Protest Will Be Delivered to Hanihara Shortly

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The reply of the United States government to the Japanese exclusion protest has been completed and will be handed shortly to Masanao Hanihara, the Japanese ambassador, it was learned at the state department today.

The American note was drafted by Secretary Hughes, who has been occupied with it since he received the Japanese note last Saturday.

Consults Coolidge
He has consulted at some length with President Coolidge on the reply which will mark the official diplomatic termination of the "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan for the regulation of immigration, but at the same time make it plain that there is no reason for any change in the friendship and good will between the two nations.

Perplexing questions were raised by Japan in the protest, chief among these being the question of the assimilability of the Japanese. It was understood today that Secretary Hughes, in the reply would simply state that the question of whether or not the Japanese are assimilable must be left to the American people through Congress, to decide. As Congress has already decided adversely, for the Japanese, the executive branch of the government must move to enforce the law by barring Orientals from this country.

Legal Aspects
Legal questions are involved, too, in view of the Japanese charge that the exclusion provision in the new immigration law, which becomes effective July 1, is a violation of the spirit of the commercial treaty of 1911.

Secretary Hughes will deal in a straightforward manner with

TWO NEW RELIEF BILLS REPORTED

Eleventh Hour Attempt Is Made to Aid Farmers By Committee

WASHINGTON, June 6.—In an eleventh hour effort to relieve farm distress, the Senate agriculture committee this afternoon favorably reported two new relief bills.

The first, proposed by Senator Curtis, Republican of Kansas, would create a private corporation to accelerate export shipments of farm products. The bill carried an appropriation of $10,000,000 to finance the corporation.

The second bill, sponsored by Senator Bursum, Republican of New Mexico, would cost the government $50,000,000 but would increase farm values $300,000,000.

WORK URGED FOR PRISON INMATES

Club Women's Resolution Asks All States to Provide Paid Employment

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—States of the nation are urged to immediately provide work for all prisoners, both men and women, in the first report of the resolutions committee presented today at the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Approval of payment to prison workers was endorsed by the resolutions committee, which urged other states to follow the lead taken in giving employment to prisoners by Colorado, Idaho, Utah, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Wyoming, Washington, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

Another resolution urges qualified women to seek judgeships in courts created to deal with cases of women and children. Delegates to the convention surprised Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Minneapolis, president of the federation, when they immediately pledged $65,000 to cover the amount remaining due on the General Federation headquarters building in Washington, D. C.

CITY MAKES REMARKABLY GOOD SHOWING IN TOTALS ESTABLISHED DURING MAY

Los Angeles, Long Beach and San Diego Are Only Ones Topping Glendale in Figures For Month; Beats Last Year's Mark

Glendale stands fourth in building for the month of May in the Pacific Southwest! It heads Pasadena, Santa Monica, Alhambra and other good sized communities. It is topped by Los Angeles, Long Beach and San Diego.

Building in the Pacific Southwest for May, 1924, fell off nearly eleven millions as compared with May of last year and a little more than five and a half millions compared with April, 1924, as shown by reports of permits issued from forty-six cities. The grand total for the month just closed in these cities, including Los Angeles, was $18,684,924. For May, 1923, the same cities reported a total of $29,883,406. Figures for the cities outside Los Angeles show the loss was chiefly in the southern metropolis, the total for forty-five cities outside Los Angeles for May, 1924, being $9,894,992, as compared with $10,956,474 for the same month a year ago.

Following are the figures for the Pacific Southwest for the current year to June 1, and for the corresponding period last year, Los Angeles being included in the totals:

Month	No. Cities	1924	1923
January	46	$24,620,020	$20,170,363
February	44	26,726,580	23,148,191
March	45	28,993,425	33,883,442
April	49	24,310,872	26,440,668
May	46	18,684,924	29,883,406
Totals		$123,335,821	$133,626,070

Glendale Stands Fourth in Total For May

Long Beach leads the cities outside Los Angeles with a total of $2,027,373 for May, 1924. This is a gain of a million and a quarter over the same month last year. The total for the month just closed includes a $1,250,000 permit for the addition to the Southern California Edison steam plant for generating electric power. San Diego is second with a gain of more than half a million, Glendale third and Santa Monica fourth. Totals of a number of cities in agricultural districts show losses compared with May a year ago. Culver City's unfavorable comparison is due to the fact that in May a year ago a permit was taken out for the buildings at the race track promoted by Dick Ferris.

Following is a list of the cities reporting, with the totals for May, 1924, and for the same month last year:

Don't let constipation make you an invalid—relieve it with Kellogg's Bran

Few people realize how dangerous is constipation until this dread disease tears down their health. Did you know that more than forty serious diseases can be traced to constipation?

Keep your health, or restore it, with Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed. It brings relief in mild and chronic cases of constipation. It is effective because it is ALL bran. FIGHT LOOMS IN BOURBON RANKS AS MEET NEARS

McAdoo and Smith Forces to Stage Bitter Contest in Convention

By ROBERT T. SMALL Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924 NEW YORK, June 6.—Bitterness between the McAdoo and Smith forces in the Democratic party has reached a point which promises anything but a peaceful clash when the opposing factions meet in Madison Square garden on June 24.

The McAdoo supporters recognize in what they choose to call the Al Smith "bloc" their only organized opposition at the convention. They believe that if they could break down the Smith forces the rest would be easy, and the former secretary of the treasury might be nominated on one of the early ballots.

Smith's War Cry The men in charge of the Smith boom are the ones who are crying "He shall not pass," and it will be up to them in the convention itself to rally the scattering opposition to the aspirant from California. Except for the Smith organization, there is virtually nothing. Some ten or twelve states will advance favorite sons, but there is no cohesion among these states, no plan of action, no general understanding. Governor Smith is the only outstanding figure for the nomination, other than Mr. McAdoo, who has attempted to develop something like cohesive strength.

Child Labor Law Acclaimed Vital To Entire Nation

"Every American-born child has rights to a sound body and an education as one of the vital principles of our democracy, and passage by Congress of the child labor bill is a guarantee that this principle is to be maintained." Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the women's clubs federation, said.

The federation was one of the early sponsors of the bill and the club women were elated over its passage.

There is a feeling in Democratic circles that former Governor Cox of Ohio, the standard bearer of the party in 1920, might have collected a considerable block of delegates to be used against McAdoo if he had permitted his name to be used in several states, particularly those adjoining the Buckeye commonwealth. But Governor Cox was adamant in his determination to confine his preliminary forces to the Ohio delegation and to leave the rest in the lap of the gods.

At the present writing it would seem that the opposition to Mr. McAdoo is relying heavily upon the assumption that many of the McAdoo delegates are not "loyal." The McAdoo managers have had to meet this statement almost at every turn. Apparently it is based upon the fact that in many states there was no opposition offered to McAdoo in the primaries, and therefore the elections went more or less by default. In other states, it is claimed, the endorsement of McAdoo was "lukewarm" to say the least.

The McAdoo adherents are perfectly well pleased to have the opposition proceed upon the theory that the McAdoo delegates will not stick. They believe they will. The very fact that the McAdoo forces had their own unopposed way in so many states leads to the belief that the delegates in these states must have been of the "hand picked" variety, and in this process great care must have been taken to insure the loyalty of the men who will help to make the presidential nominee.

ADVANCEMENT OF PROGRESS HIDES MISSION BEAUTY

Hard to Recall Spiritual Reflections Sitting In Automobile

By "OLD TIMER" Of The Evening News Staff. Out from the town through richest soil. The choicest of the friars chosen. No more they walk with quiet pace and slow. But western winds through open fields and the ruined choir loft through.

This contribution was inspired by a visit to San Fernando mission in the early years of the first decade of this century, possibly in 1905 or 1906, and it was the impression left from an afternoon spent in driving up the San Fernando valley and exploring the old mission which stood alone and deserted amidst the barley fields. Picnic lunch was enjoyed seated on a pile of the ripened grain stacked in close proximity to the big eastern doorway. The pony, left to his own sweet will, wandered through this aperture, a few pieces of farm machinery including him into the mistaken idea that it was a huge barn.

No living thing interrupted, and, as the shadows fell, the walls, now white, now brown, were lighted by the crimson glow of the setting sun. In the twilight one heard in imagination the sound of vespers, and brown-robed priests emerged and wended their way to the chapel, where were gathered the followers of the new form of worship brought from over the sea.

Call to Prayers The neophytes, white-robed, mounted on the stair leading to the choir loft at the southern end, the big beams supporting this being still in place. All in the immediate neighborhood responded to the call of prayer. Only the dead in the little cemetery behind the chapel, their resting places marked by the rude crosses, slept on.

The announcement that Saturday is to be "play day" for the great biennial of the General Federation of Women's clubs, now in session in Los Angeles, has been made, and one of the proposed entertainments is a motor trip through the San Fernando valley to the mission and other points of interest, with a stop at Glendale at the Tuesday Afternoon club, where the president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell; the past presidents and

START ERECTING TENT FOR SCIOTS Birthday Celebration and Ceremonial Saturday to Be Under Canvas

Workmen have finished erecting the big tent at the corner of California avenue and Brand boulevard in which the Glendale Scouts will stage their monster birthday celebration Saturday night. It has been put up on the site used by Murphy's Comedians before they moved to Casa Verdugo.

A 40x70 foot stage has been completed on which the fifty-two candidates for initiation will be fed to the crocodiles before visitors from nearly every pyramid in Southern California. The stage has been built at the end of the graded part of the property, and the tent will cover the same ground as did the Murphy tent.

Fresh sawdust has been sprinkled over the old in order to give the place a cleaner appearance. Work on arranging the interior with seats and apparatus for the ceremonial will be completed today and tomorrow morning. H. M. Bennett, Toparch, states that all will be in readiness for the celebration by Saturday noon.

Why I Am In Glendale I left Michigan about five years ago. I became tired of being "snowed in" about four months each year. I am a married man, in moderate circumstances. Since coming to Southern California I have lived at eight distinct localities, became intimately acquainted with each section before I became a Glendale property owner and booster.

ST. MARK'S PLANS TO HOLD PICNIC

Sunday School Children to Hold Annual Outing at Brookside Park

Plans for the annual picnic of St. Mark's Episcopal Sunday school were made last night at a meeting of the teachers and officers, following the dinner that was served by the members of the Women's Guild of the church. The date for the picnic has been set for Saturday, June 21, and the children will be taken to Brookside park, Pasadena, where lunch will be provided, and where a program of sports and other entertainments will be held.

The various committees were named last night to have charge of the details of the work of preparing for the picnic, and all of the St. Mark's children will be tagged to prevent a repetition of last year's experience, when children from another Sunday school that was holding its picnic close by invited themselves to share St. Mark's ice cream, and succeeded in cutting down the average share of the local group.

The work of the Sunday school will be maintained during the summer months, instead of being suspended, as in past years, and a special summer program is now being prepared by the officials.

The chicken dinner that was given by the Guild last night was enjoyed by a large number of the members of the congregation and their friends.

HUNDREDS ENJOY PROGRAM GIVEN ON BENEFIT BILL

Noted Artists Appear for Commandery; All Numbers Are Well Received

An appreciative audience of about 900 people was enthusiastic in its reception of the artists presented last night at the Broadway High school auditorium by the Glendale commandery, Knights Templar, in a benefit performance for the drill team. The musical numbers by the internationally famous artists, Calmon Luboviski and Ettore Campana, were especially well received and their selections elicited great bursts of applause.

The famous Orpheus Four from the Orpheus club of Los Angeles delighted with their perfect harmony work and responded to many encores from the eager audience. The diversified program proved to be exceptional in character and each of the numbers was received with delight.

The Glendale Union High school orchestra rendered several selections under Thomas Wood, assistant conductor, and Burton Kuntzner, student conductor, before the curtain rose on the first act. These were "Poet and Peasant," "Evening Star," "New Colonial" and "American Legion."

The audience showed its appreciation of the three selections rendered by Calmon Luboviski, the great concert violinist, by demanding encores to each number. He held the audience under the spell of his bow with the delightful "Romance Andaluza," by Sarasate, and the two Kreisler selections.

Marks Double Anniversary Of Webb Department Store With Huge Expansion Sale

Tells Of Policies Forming Basis Of Growth

The seventh anniversary of H. S. Webb and Company, now being observed with a special sale at the 139 North Brand boulevard store, is also the first anniversary of this latter institution, whose opening a year ago was a civic event, and is therefore doubly significant.

H. S. Webb, proprietor of this prosperous business, regards his success as the logical result of strict adherence to a policy of "better merchandise at a fair price," plus the remarkable growth of Glendale, which in the seven years he has been here has gone from a town of 10,000 to a city of over 50,000 population.

Mr. Webb came to Glendale from Chicago, where he was engaged in a similar line of business. The store he bought and for years operated was located at the southwest corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway. It had served the needs of the old Glendale, but the new proprietor realized that the city was growing and one of his first moves was to expand his business.

Grows with Glendale In the ensuing years he has continued to expand, growing as Glendale grew, ever with an eye to the future. At last, a year ago, finding his quarters too small for further growth, he purchased with E. U. Emery the location at 139 North Brand boulevard and they erected the beautiful building that now occupies the site.

There H. S. Webb founded the newer and larger department store that bears his name. At first it was exclusively devoted to men's apparel, the proprietor retaining a portion of his old location at 105 South Brand boulevard for men's apparel, refitting it, adding materially to the stock and calling it the H. S. Webb's Men's Shop.

CENSORSHIP WAR CLOUDS LOOM AS WRITERS CLASH

Gene Stratton Porter Takes Up Hughes' Challenge In Club Meeting

"Censorship is the greatest evil of modern times" was the dart of oratory that Rupert Hughes, novelist and writer, threw at American club women at their great press day program yesterday of the biennial convention in Los Angeles and the echo that came back to him in tones of the voice of Gene Stratton Porter, whose fame is no less than that of Mr. Hughes, was "Let's have understanding and wise censorship of both pictures and novels."

It was a tense atmosphere that dominated this feature day of the big gathering of women. From the crowd of 1000 or more women who surged before the doors of the banquet hall for one hour before they gained admittance to the afternoon session when Rupert Hughes rocked the boat of convention peace, the day was filled with a hustle and bustle indicating that the real business of the women is at last under way.

Out of the whole day's program Mr. Hughes' and Mrs. Porter's unannounced debate on the stage at the Philharmonic Auditorium, stood out as the biggest feature yet noted in the biennial activities.

Flatters Hearers In the sea of thousands of women's faces in the great auditorium there was none that was more of a study than that of Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, program chairman. She greeted Mr. Hughes with a smile, which soon faded into disinterest and apparent discomfort.

Flattering his hearers with wit and epigrams, Mr. Hughes was not long in declaring himself on the subject of censorship. He went back 300 years to let the modern American woman know how disgracefully the Puritans conducted themselves, much to the grief of Rev. Cotton Mather. The thousands of women before him listened in silence as he said "Women think they are gods to

Why I Am In Glendale I left Michigan about five years ago. I became tired of being "snowed in" about four months each year. I am a married man, in moderate circumstances. Since coming to Southern California I have lived at eight distinct localities, became intimately acquainted with each section before I became a Glendale property owner and booster. Bronchial troubles had impaired my health. Doctors advised "out-of-door exercise." We bought a bungalow in Glendale because I liked the dryness of the air, the perfect view of the mountains, the business opportunities and the accessibility to Los Angeles. My advice to friends is "come to Glendale, buy a home and get busy." My health has been restored from work in the yard, and lately I have connected myself in business and expect to make a barrel of money and enjoy spending it. HENRY RICHARDI, 1000 E. Maple Ave.

WE SHOULD EAT TO LIVE

This is the day of the food faddist. The nature and amount of food we eat undoubtedly have a great deal to do with our physical and mental well-being, but too much attention to the diet is as bad, if not worse, than too little. If some article of food disagrees with you, let it alone and forget it. Ten to one, if you ate it and forgot it it would not disagree with you.

If a man tried to read and to take seriously all that is written today on the subject of diet he would soon be a raving maniac. There is the vegetarian, the advocate of the raw food diet, the exclusive milk diet, the raw meat diet, the "fast" way to health, and of course there is Dr. Lulu Peters who feeds us on calories. There are hundreds of books on the subject of diet published and some of them are diametrically opposed to each other. All are written by "authorities," so how are we to know which is right?

We should eat to live, not live to eat. Diet is not the most important thing in life, although many make it so. Too much attention to what one eats and has eaten leads to all kinds of ills and consumes time that should be spent in the more important affairs of life.

Arthur Ruhl, writing of conditions in Moscow in a current magazine, says:

"The amount of food on which people can live and work would seem almost incredible to Americans used to a 'balanced' diet. An apparently delicate young lady, brought up to do nothing, to stay in bed half the morning and to have all the sweets and pastries of which Russians are so fond, will get up now in a cold room,—never really warm in our sense of the word,—swallow a glass or two of tea, without sugar or milk, perhaps, and a slice or two of bread, and walk a mile or so through bitter cold streets to her office. She will work here, with a shawl wrapped about her shoulders, in the atmosphere of a slightly tempered refrigerator, and with nothing to eat but a little more tea and bread; tramp home through the same cold streets, carry water, perhaps, up several flights of stairs, and cook, before she can have dinner."

"Thousands of gently-nurtured people live, or at any rate during the early years of the Revolution did live, in this way. In '19 and '20, in Petrograd and Moscow, about all such people got when they did get dinner, was a little black bread and tea, some warmed-up frozen potatoes, and now and then a salted herring."

The late Dr. Harry Ellington Brooks was one of the most extreme of diet faddists, and yet he did not live to be as old as many men and women who give little or no attention to what they eat. But Dr. Brooks wrote pertinently when he said: "The man who is continually speculating about what he eats and how the food is going to work in his 'innards' is on the high road to dyspepsia and perhaps to insanity. After you have learned what is the right thing to do, forget it. Don't be always brooding over your diet."

UNITED STATES NOTE TO JAPAN

It is evident that President Coolidge does not anticipate any great difficulty with Japan over the exclusion bill, for an International News dispatch to The Glendale Evening News from Washington late yesterday brought the information that the president, in a special message to Congress, asks for an appropriation of $1,500,000 to purchase a tract of land and erect a new embassy building at Tokio, Japan. The old embassy was destroyed in last summer's earthquake.

This is as it should be. The exclusion bill has become a law, and as time passes, the protests of Japan will lose their force. The United States' answer to the Japanese note of protest is now being prepared by Secretary of State Hughes, guided by President Coolidge. It is presumed that the principal feature of the reply will be to the effect that the "gentlemen's agreement," whereby Japan voluntarily restricted its immigrants to this country, has formally come to an end.

This country cannot longer continue the undertakings of that agreement in view of the fact that its efficacy has been overthrown by legislation through Congress. Secretary Hughes will point out, it is believed, that the contention of Japan to the effect that the new legislation is in violation of the commercial treaty of 1911, is without foundation, because the treaty included a reservation of the right by the United States to legislate on immigration at any time, irrespective of any treaty.

Further, Secretary Hughes is expected to take the view that the exclusion clause is not to be regarded as "racial discrimination" against the Japanese as a people, since the provision barring aliens may be applied to other than Japanese.

In brief, it is presumed that the answer of the United States to Japan will be based, too, on the ground that the Japanese are regarded as unassimilable in this country because of their ineligibility to citizenship.

The note will be ready for submission this month, it is predicted in Washington dispatches—and the storm of protests in Japan will gradually die down.

WHO TEACHES YOUR CHILDREN?

Two college boys have committed an atrocious murder. They are said to be over-educated. It is not that so much as that their education has not been along the right paths. It is no secret that a great many of our boys and girls go from our high schools, high-minded and clean-thinking, into some of our higher institutions of learning, and come out imbued with all sorts of distorted ideas in regard to life and government. It has come to the point where the church college is the only school where people can send their children and be absolutely certain as to the influences that will surround them.

It is well known that there are teachers in the high schools of Los Angeles who are extreme radicals, and what better place to spread their doctrine than among the young?

But when colleges train for cold-blooded murder it is time for the people to look into our educational institutions and find out what manner of men and women are teaching our children.

MOVE OVER!

The Gentleman Values

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The gentleman values are the strongest in the world. Because the gentleman is, first of all, a man. He is not a milkop. The gentleman is unafraid. As a rule the blusterer and the bully is a coward at heart.

The gentleman is quiet. He knows that power is silent; it is the waste from power that makes a noise. The steam in the locomotive that pulls the train cannot be heard; that which hisses and rattles is the escape.

You cannot be a gentleman without imagination. You must be able to think yourself into the other man's feelings.

The gentleman doesn't hurry. He may move swiftly but his eye is always on the speedometer; he knows how fast he is going.

The gentleman never loses self-control. And no man who does not control himself can control others.

The gentleman keeps the rules of the game. He doesn't cheat nor strike below the belt.

The gentleman respects himself. So others respect him.

The gentleman is not self-seeking. Hence honors seek him.

The gentleman minds his own business. He does not meddle. That is why others listen to him when he speaks and rely upon him when he promises.

The gentleman is a good loser. He does not boast when he gains and he does not whine when fortune turns against him. You have a feeling that the gentleman is a little indifferent both to your praise and your blame. Not that he is egotistic but that, after all, it is his own praise and blame that he values and fears.

The gentleman seeks justice; the half civilized man seeks vengeance.

The gentleman treats his superiors with dignity and his inferiors with courtesy.

The gentleman shrinks from hurting the feelings of any human being or causing pain to any animal.

The gentleman may appreciate fame and value admiration but he does not have the itch for notoriety.

The gentleman feels ashamed when he is praised for that which he does not deserve.

The gentleman's desire is to be great; the boaster's desire is to be called great.

The gentleman's desire is to be great; the character than about his reputation.

The gentleman is not known by his uniform; you can tell a gentleman in the clothes of a head-carrier as readily as in the clothes of a head-waiter.

The gentleman is courteous but not servile; quiet but not weak; strong but not obstreperous; self-respecting but not proud; fair-minded but not indifferent.

STATE'S DEVELOPMENT (From Long Beach Press)

California has developed and is developing prodigiously. But its development is only a beginning. It has not passed to the limit, or even in sight of the limit, in any form of developing. Its population is estimated at 4,000,000. This is a huge figure, compared with population of some states. But experts estimate that fully 30,000,000 people could live here in comfort, without crowding. Hence California might multiply its present population by seven and yet be "comfy."

In mining, the state has not exhausted its riches, by any means. In its vast, mountain ranges doubtless are enormous quantities of minerals of great value, which, in the fulness of time, will be discovered and developed.

In agriculture and horticulture, its possibilities are almost beyond calculation. Development up to this time is away under possibilities. There are vast areas of fertile but undeveloped land which, in time, will be converted into teeming acres by intensive farming.

In hydroelectric development and in manufacturing, possibilities scarcely have been approached. Mammoth industries will flourish eventually in this state, with multitudes of employees.

In commerce, California is destined to become one of the mightiest theatres of trade in the world. Commercial development on the Pacific is in its infancy, so far as America is concerned.

Out of and into California ports will flow mighty streams of commodities in international and inter-coastal trade.

California is great today, in its development. But it is pigmy compared to what it will be ten and twenty years hence.

AMERICAN PLACE NAMES (From Santa Ana Register)

The public in general approved of the Senate's action to drop the name Mount Rainier and restore the old name of Mount Tacoma to the famous peak overlooking

Puget sound. The former name had no significance, while the latter was given to the mountain by the Indians before the white men went into that region.

Another resolution subsequently introduced in Congress and proposing to change all foreign place names on the map of the United States has nothing to commend it. Instead of carrying further the fundamental principle back of the change in the mountain's name it does just the opposite.

If all the British, French, German and Dutch names were wiped out to be replaced by strictly modern American names, there would be lost hundreds of historical, romantic and descriptive place names with their rich associations. Foreign though those names may seem, they are as American as any arbitrarily chosen substitute names could possibly be, because they have come down to us from the earliest days of our history.

It is false Americanism that would not permit the continuance of old, historical names, like New Orleans, Santa Fe, Marquette, Georgia, California, and so on. Anyone who knows something of the discovery, settlement, exploration and development of this great country surely can have no resentment against the names which mark the progress by recalling the men and peoples that contributed to it.

"MEDICINAL WHISKY" (From Hollywood Citizen)

George Remus, Cincinnati "bootleg king" now serving a term in the Atlanta penitentiary, seems pretty well qualified to testify on the subject of "medicinal whisky."

He has handled millions of dollars' worth of that kind of medicine, buying distilleries that made it and selling it through chain drug stores which he organized primarily for that purpose.

And he told a Senate investigating committee the other day:

"I don't think there is one scruple of liquor ever prescribed by physicians that is used solely for medicinal purposes. The pro-

The People

Character Sketches

As I look back at my life in Anytown and the people with whom I was associated there I perceive that the most interesting study of mankind is man. I realize, too, that truth is stranger than fiction for some of the people of Anytown as I knew them would have seemed very much overdrawn as characters in a novel.

There was Mrs. Richard Fry who "enjoyed" poor health. You know there was a time when it was quite a distinction to be an invalid and Mrs. Fry fairly revelled in the delights of being constantly indisposed, of being the recipient of jelly and flowers and sympathy from her friends. She kept her husband poor paying doctor bills and her children were left to grow up without motherly care or training. They very much constantly being whinnily impertuned to behave and this was about all they knew of home discipline.

Mrs. Fry must have been really ill or our old Dr. Elliott would not have attended her, yet I can see that she was a very selfish woman and did not try to get well or wish to be well. Her pose as an invalid conferred too great a distinction upon her to be relinquished. To her there was nothing so thrilling, so enthralling as the recital of her symptoms and her reactions to certain treatment. When I knew Mrs. Fry operations had not yet become popular, but I am sure she had had two or three before this and even if they have not benefited her physically they certainly helped her in furnishing her with conversational material. I will wager she is telling her friends, like "Mama" in "Abie's Irish Rose," "It hurt mit it in and it hurt mit it out."

Mrs. Fry was small and dark and wrinkled. She affected a pose of serenity and sweetness. She seemed to say, "See how patient I am in spite of all my suffering." She was addicted to pink negligees, although they accentuated her sallowness, and she always received callers in bed. She rarely spoke to visitors above a whisper, giving one the impression that she was weak from suffering, but we knew that she could use considerable force when addressing her husband and children.

A martyr to her family was Mrs. Fry's pose. In reality her husband and children were martyrs to her. Mr. Fry was a quiet man and no one knew what he thought of the situation. He gave little heed to the children and they had to "come up" rather than be brought up.

Some of the Fry children did not turn out so well either. That was to be expected, but I presume that Mrs. Fry, instead of feeling herself to blame, considers this just another thorn in her crown of martyrdom. The average mother, in Mrs. Fry's place would have cared for and disciplined her children in spite of her own physical ailments. But in that day there was more discretion in being an interesting invalid than a good mother.

THE CASE OF JENNIE BRICE

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story so far:

Mrs. Pitman, who tells the story, ran away from home to marry, and was never reconciled to her old Pittsburgh family, although she returned to her home town to live after she became a widow. She kept boarders in what was then lower Allegheny, where, because there were floods every year, rents were cheap. One March there was an unusually high flood. Miss Jennie Brice, as she was known on the stage, was having an unusually quarrelsome time with her husband, Mr. Ladley. Mrs. Pitman overheard them talking with a man, and Miss Brice said, "That's all very well, but what about the house?" That night the water rose high, and in the middle of the night another boarder, Mr. Reynolds, woke Mrs. Pitman to say somebody had just rowed away in the boat she had tied to the stairs in the lower hall. Mrs. Pitman later saw Mr. Ladley returning. He said he had been out for medicine for his wife. Peter, the dog, finds a slipper of Mrs. Ladley's floating in the parlor and later a big knife of Mrs. Pitman's, with the blade broken. Mr. Ladley offers to pay Mrs. Pitman for a pillow slip he says was burned with a cigarette, and says his wife really was not ill, but went away in the night. A benevolent old gentleman, rowing around to feed stranded animals, stops at Mrs. Pitman's and offers to help her. His name is Holcombe. They discover that an onyx clock from the mantelpiece in Ladley's room is missing. They also find a blood-stained towel. Mr. Howell, a young newspaper man, helps Holcombe. Mrs. Pitman finds a slip of paper on which is written, "Rope, knife, shoe, towel, Horn—" Lida Harvey, Mrs. Pitman's niece, who has never seen her, comes to the house with Howell.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT XI—WHO HURT THE DOG?

Lida—for she was that to me at once, although I had never seen her before—Lida was all sympathy and sweetness. She actually asked me to go with her to a restaurant and have a real dinner. I could have imagined Alma, had she known. But I excused myself. "I have a good something for Mr. Reynolds," I said, "and I'm better now, anyhow, thank you. Mr. Howell, may I speak to you for a moment?"

He followed me along the back hall, which was dusk. "I have remembered something that I had forgotten," Mr. Howell said. "On Sunday morning the Ladleys had a visitor."

"Yes?"

"They had very few visitors."

"I see."

"I did not see him, but—I heard his voice." Mr. Howell did not move, but I fancied he drew his breath in quickly. "It sounds—it was not by any chance you?"

"A newspaper man, who goes to bed at 3 a. m. on Sunday, up and about at 10!"

"I didn't say what time it was," I said sharply.

But at that moment Lida called from the front hall.

"Think of Peter," she said. "He is shut in somewhere, whining."

We went forward at once. She was right. Peter was scratching at the door of Mr. Ladley's room, although I had left the door closed and Peter in the hall. I let him out and he crawled to me on three legs, whimpering. Mr. Howell bent over him and felt the fourth.

"Poor little beast!" he said. "His leg is broken!"

He made a splint for the dog, and with Lida helping, they put him to bed in a clothes basket in my upstairs kitchen. It was easy to see how things lay with Mr. Howell. He was all eyes for her; he made excuses to touch her hand or her arm—little caressing touches that made her color heighten. And with it all, there was a sort of hopelessness in his manner, as if he knew how far the girl was out of his reach. Knowing Alma and her pride, I knew better than that how hopeless it was.

I was not so sure about Lida. I wondered if she was in love with the boy or only in love with love. She was very young, as I had been. God help her, if, like me, she sacrificed everything, to discover, too late, that she was only in love with love!

Mr. Reynolds did not come home to dinner after all. The water had got into the basement at the store, he telephoned, one of the flood-gates in a sewer having leaked, and they were moving some of the departments to an upper floor. I had expected to have him in the house that evening, and now I was left alone again.

But, as it happened, I was not alone. Mr. Graves, one of the city detectives, came at half past six and went carelessly over the Ladleys' room. I showed him the towel and the slipper and the broken knife, and where we had found the knife-blade. He was very non-committal and left in a half-hour, taking the articles with him in a newspaper.

At seven the door-bell rang. I went down as far as I could on the staircase and I saw a boat outside the door, with the boatman and a woman in it. I called to them to bring the boat back along the hall and had a queer feeling that it might be Mrs. Ladley and that I'd been making a fool of myself all day for nothing. But it was not Mrs. Ladley. "Is this No. 42?" asked the woman, as the boat came back.

"Yes."

"Does Mr. Ladley live here?"

"Yes. But he is not here now."

"Are you Mrs. Pittock?"

"Pitman, yes."

The boat bumped against the stairs and the woman got out. She was as tall as Mrs. Ladley, and when I saw her in the light from the upper hall I knew her instantly. It was Temple Hope, the leading woman from the Liberty theatre.

"I would like to talk to you, Mrs. Pitman," she said. "Where can we go?"

I led the way back to my room and when she had followed me in she turned and shut the door.

"Now then," she said without any preliminary, "where is Jennie Brice?"

"I don't know, Miss Hope," I answered.

We looked at each other for a minute, and each of us saw what the other suspected.

"He has killed her!" she exclaimed. "She was afraid he would do it, and—has."

"Killed her and thrown her into the river," I said. "That's what I think, and he'll go free at that. It seems there isn't any murder when there isn't any corpse."

"Nonsense! If he has done that, the river will give her up, eventually."

"The river doesn't always give them up," I retorted. "Not in flood-time, anyhow. Or when they are found it is months later, and you can't prove anything."

She had only a little time, being due at the theatre soon, but she sat down and told me the story she told afterward on the stand:

"She had known Jennie Brice for years, they having been together in the chorus as long before as 'Nadly'."

"She was married then to a fellow on the vaudeville circuit," Miss Hope said. "He left her about that time and she took up with Ladley. I don't think they were ever married."

"What?" I said, jumping to my feet. "And they came to a respectable house like this! There's never been a breath of scandal about this house, Miss Hope, and if this comes out I'm ruined."

"Well, perhaps they were married," she said. "Anyhow, they were always quarreling. And when he wasn't playing it was worse. She used to come to my hotel and cry her eyes out."

"I knew you were friends," I said. "Almost the last thing she said to me was about the black and white dress of hers you were to borrow for the piece this week."

"Black and white dress! I borrow one of Jennie Brice's dresses!" exclaimed Miss Hope. "I should think not. I have plenty of my own."

That puzzled me; for she had said it, that was sure. And then I remembered that I had not seen the dress in the room that day, and I went in to look for it.

ITALIAN DISHES CAFE SPECIALTY

'Oh Joy Spaghetti Station' in New Quarters on East Colorado

Glendale's popular rendezvous for those who enjoy well-cooked native Italian dishes, the "Oh Joy Spaghetti Station," has moved to its new building at 1524 East Colorado boulevard, which was designed and built by Pietro Cane and P. Cane, Jr., the proprietors, to accommodate a constantly increasing patronage.

The interior of the new building is finished in gray and furnished with comfortable gray wicker chairs and tables, carrying out the quiet dining atmosphere that has always pervaded the cafe. Free parking space has been provided for the use of motorists who stop at the establishment.

Formal Opening
The formal opening will be celebrated Sunday with a real Italian dinner, it is announced. The Oh Joy cafe will specialize in Italian dishes, such as salads, spaghetti, Italian meat balls, and ravioli. Everything will be seasoned in the native Italian way that gives food a distinctive tang and flavor that American cooks are usually unable to imitate.

Pietro Cane Jr., says of his culinary art, "It requires the skill, inherited knowledge, and instinct of Italy's native sons to properly prepare spaghetti. Ours would make any Italian homesick. It is our endeavor to make our cafe a quiet refined dining place for real epicureans."

The Oh Joy cafe also prepares dishes to take out, and has been doing a thriving business supplying spaghetti and ravioli for parties, picnics, and banquets. Many of their patrons come from Pasadena, Hollywood, and from points as far distant as Alhambra and Santa Ana, the proprietors declare.

GLEN INN CANDY SECTION BIGGER

Cafe Remodeled to Enlarge Department; Mrs. Cook Placed in Charge

The Glen Inn at 152 South Brand boulevard has undergone alterations during the past week, and the front portion of the cafe has been remodeled to enlarge the candy department. New show-cases and fixtures have been installed that will allow for an attractive display of the large line of fine candies to be carried by the cafe.

The new candy department will feature the famous Albert Sheetz home-made mission candies, known throughout Southern California for their uniform quality and standard price of 70 cents per pound.

Mrs. Cook in Charge
The management also announces the employment of Mrs. B. P. Cook, formerly owner and manager of Cook's Cafe of this city, who will handle the candy department and act as cashier.

Mrs. Cook has a large number of friends in Glendale, and they will be pleased to learn that she has decided to again become connected with a candy and cafe business.

CAB SERVICE IS SHOWING GROWTH

Nish's Yellow Taxi Company Will Enlarge Fleet as Trade Increases

Glendale people are rapidly becoming accustomed to the service offered by Nish's Yellow Taxi company of 137 South Brand boulevard, operating three Yellow cabs, states N. P. Nish, proprietor.

In the few weeks the cabs have been in operation each day has seen an increase in the business as the public becomes acquainted with this metropolitan service, he states. While a number of fares are picked up around town in the customary manner, Mr. Nish has found that the larger number of his patrons order their cabs by phoning Glendale 1208.

All Over Country
Yellow cabs are a national institution. Starting in Chicago several years ago, they have so proved their superiority, states Mr. Nish, that today they are in successful operation in hundreds of American cities and towns.

The reason for this is primarily the superior construction of the cabs themselves, he believes, the manufacturer's object being to provide machines that are comfortable and dependable, rain or shine, 365 days a year, twenty-four hours a day.

To Increase Fleet
It is by the operation of such service in Glendale that N. P. Nish hopes to increase his cabs to a large fleet, serving the entire valley. The charges, he feels, are exceedingly moderate and make it cheaper for the average man to use this service when he needs a car than to depend on slower service of existing transportation lines when time is any object.

And many people are finding it preferable to patronize Nish's Yellow Taxi company than to use their own cars, particularly when going to Los Angeles, where the parking problem during business hours is a serious consideration. Mr. Nish believes that with the continued growth of Glendale and surrounding points, the taxi will become more and more a practical solution of the parking problem.

'SQUASH HEAD' IS FULL OF LAUGHS

Last Two Performances of Unusually Funny Farce at Big Tent

Those who want to learn all about "The Squash Head" had better hurry to the big brown canvas tent on North Brand boulevard at Stocker street, advises J. A. Menard of Murphy's Comedians, for the last two performances are tonight and Saturday night. The curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock, but the tent is open an hour previous to this, that all who wish to come early may get good seats.

"The Squash Head," as its name suggests, does not deal with the more serious things of life. It is in short, a farce-comedy, designed to appeal rather to the funny bone than to the brain. It is so funny, say those who have seen it, that one wakes up in his sleep laughing about it hours afterward. It is so funny that it would never do to think about it at a solemn moment, it is declared.

Funnier plays may be written—but it hasn't happened yet.

IMMIGRANT BAN ON JAPANESE IS CANADIANS' PLAN

British Columbia Seeks to Pass Exclusion Act to Shut Out Asiatics

By M. S. NEWTON
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924.
MONTREAL, Quebec, June 6.—British Columbia delegates in the Canadian House of Commons have inaugurated a determined drive for the exclusion of Japanese from the dominion, or at least for further drastic immigration restrictions, as a result of the Japanese note to the United States government, setting forth that Japan considered as cancelled, all terms of the "gentlemen's agreement" including that in which Japan promised to restrict the emigration of Japanese laborers to territory contiguous to the United States.

British Columbia, similarly situated to California in the United States so far as Asiatic immigration is concerned, long has favored Japanese exclusion, and many measures have been introduced by its representatives proposing that course. Heretofore, the government has been able to obtain their withdrawal without vote by promising to achieve a satisfactory solution by negotiations. Now, however, the British Columbians declare they will insist on a vote.

Land at Vancouver
Vancouver is the natural landing port for Japanese immigrants and, while many move into other territories, a huge number have settled in British Columbia, and now comprise the majority of the salmon fishers, as well as a large proportion of the truck and fruit farmers of the province.
The number of household servants or agricultural laborers coming to Canada in a single year already is limited to 150, by agreement with Japan. But, according to the British Columbians, this means a steady increase of exactly 150 a year, for, it is contended, a Japanese—or a Chinese—never officially dies in Canada. When one passes to his ancestors, his citizenship or other identifying papers, it is asserted, pass to some other Oriental, who slips quietly into the country and takes the place and the name of the departed.

Supersede Whites
In addition to the constant growth of 150 a year in the laboring Japanese population, Canada admits annually 448 students and other non-laboring classes. Many of these, however, are said to turn to farming or industry, with the result that many activities are being taken out of the hands of white residents.
The minister of immigration now has under consideration various steps to check the Japanese infiltration. One proposal is to levy on Japanese the same $500 head tax now required of Chinese immigrants. The British Columbians, however, insist that even more drastic measures must be taken.

Gives Russian Play
A. B. Kachel appeared in the first act of the "Meiting Pot," giving a dramatic interpretation to that thrilling play that will be long remembered by his audience. Throwing himself into the character of the persons he was portraying, he made them stand out and live as few readers are able to do.
Singing two famous grand opera selections, the prologue from "Pagliacci" by Leoncavallo and the Toreador song from "Carmen," Ettore Campana received much merited applause for his renditions. He responded to several curtain calls but would not comply with the demands of the audience for an encore.
Lois Naudain was exquisitely perfect in the charming dance, "Vanity Fair," and brilliant in the Spanish dance which she gave as an encore. The Orpheus Four followed Miss Naudain with quartet selections that were received as are all the appearances of this famous group in Glendale.
One Act Comedy
In the one act comedy, "He Said and She Said," presented by artists from the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music, the folly of too much gossip was clearly shown in an amusing farcical style. Mrs. W. G. Barber, also of the conservatory, gave as the closing number of the program two readings, accompanied on the piano by Grace Caldwell Bennett.
The proceeds from the performance will be used to send the Glendale commandery No. 53 drill team to Seattle in 1925, where it will take part in competition against teams from commanderies all over the United States.

ADVISE FARMERS TO PLANT GRAIN

Emergency Crops Offer Only Aid as Drought Brings Alfalfa Shortage

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—With a short crop of alfalfa hay and grain, due to the drought throughout the state, farmers are being urged by farm bureau officials to plant grain sorghums and other emergency crops to offset the loss.
Grain that is ordinarily threshed is being turned into pasturage for cattle because of its low quantity. Alfalfa hay was almost a complete failure in many sections of the state and the situation is acute in several communities where grazing is only fifty per cent normal.
Some relief was obtained in the south with the storm of about two weeks ago, but conditions are still far below normal, reports show.

SETTLEMENT OF RAIL DISPUTES SEEN BY BOARD

Agreement Between Union Officials and Managers Expected Soon

By GERALD MILLER
For International News Service.
CHICAGO, June 6.—Speedy settlement of the wage dispute with the managers within the next few days, at least before June 20, at which time the labor board's hearing is scheduled. Representatives for the managers were not at the hearing, but in admitting that they would receive the union officials with open arms.
Individuals Refused
The report was strengthened by the statement that certain unions, which have already approached individual railroads with offers of a compromise, have been refused. To each advance, rail officials declared their willingness to attempt a settlement in a body, but not individually. These same unions, it was understood, are making every effort to bring the controversy to an end.
Members of the federal board were so certain that a settlement would be made that the scheduled hearing was postponed.
Differ on Increase
The labor board took a hand in the dispute, which affects practically every railroad in the west and middle west, including Indiana, Michigan and Ohio, when it was learned the union officials and managers had broken off their negotiations, and a strike was threatened. Union officials had demanded approximately a 6 per cent wage increase as was granted New York Central employees. Rail officials were reportedly willing to grant the increase providing certain changes were made in working rules. These, they contended, were absolutely necessary because of the poor financial condition of western railroads.
Union officials then bolted the meetings because, they contended, the changes would eat up their increase. The railroads declared the workers would still get half the amount demanded.

Boys—America's Problem Our Educational System Is It Causing Trouble? Respect For Prohibition

By Gil A. Cowan

America has a real problem. It is the boy problem. Not a name-by-pamphlet task for hypocrites to work out, either. We have had enough theory. What is needed now is some practical horse sense plan for bringing the youth of this country to their senses.

There are certain things, the writer believes, more or less responsible for boy after boy being haled into court, baby bandits running amuck and the youth of today generally unfit for anything other than an asylum.

First of all, the educational system is such, we believe, as to drive many youth off a mental balance. Certainly the impressionistic young folks who are driven from one teacher and one class to another every few minutes do not get the benefit of either the personality of that teacher or the subject of that particular lesson.

Instead we find them confused, bewildered, following jazz bands the whole night through and showing remarkable brilliance in their school work.

Second, the suffragist movement has taken mothers, in many instances, from the homes. It has given women freedom which they never knew was theirs before. Think of it, folks, only sixty-eight out of more than 2300 girls in the Orange county schools intend to marry!

And they wonder why boys who crave excitement take up with "wild women" and together they seek solace in liquor.

The third and most tragic thing, however, is that aforesaid bootleg. Prohibition has made the young scoundrel believe he is missing something when he hasn't got his hip flask.

It is not a question of whether prohibition is doing great good, but how to impress the rising generation that disrespect for the law in drinking bootleg liquor only leads to more serious offenses.

There are too many people who wink at the law themselves and then bemoan the fact that baby bandits roam at large.

Schools that will do more than educate, and interest pupils in doing something useful; women who will be more than mothers, if that be possible; and laws which are to be respected rather than ridiculed—these are the things now necessary.

Also, the older influence is needed with the youth. He doesn't believe what he hears at home. And big brothers do not hold a candle to some boon companion who can lead the way to adventure, it would seem.

It is too bad that every 16-year-old doesn't have a twenty-five-year-old guardian.

And that guardian should be a graduate of the school of hard knocks.

All of which expresses the writer's idea on the subject. That's all.

SUPERVISION OF FILMS IS TOPIC

Authors Clash on Question Of Movie Censorship at Biennial Meet

Author pictures; one who wants to be a censor is not fit to be one. They even applauded him when he was through and Mrs. Burdette rose to whisper an unknown something in his ear. But not until Gene Stratton Porter spoke was the real attitude of the convention towards Mr. Hughes voiced, and in no uncertain terms.

Women's Attitude

Discreet in her statements, and speaking in a soft voice that reached to the highest gallery, Mrs. Porter spoke on the subject "How You Can Help to Improve Motion Pictures."

She said motion pictures are produced by men who have spent years in the business and are therefore vastly more qualified to judge the merits of a picture than censors, who know little or nothing about films.

At this point Mr. Hughes smiled the broad smile of satisfaction, for he is a film checker. "But I do stand for a check on the salaciousness of some productions, film writers and actors," said Mrs. Porter. "Cut the ho-hum and sex filth from the pictures and help us to express the beautiful and uplifting things."

Hughes Loses Smile

"A great deal of harm has been done by motion pictures but we must also accept the good they have done. In my opinion they have been the cause of many petting parties in which promiscuous embracing is indulged in, smoking by young women and acts of crime by youths who imitate crimes they have seen committed in pictures. I cannot agree with Mr. Hughes on some of the things he has said about pictures."

Mr. Hughes' smile had noticeably faded. Mrs. Porter was called back again and again by loud applause and later on the program asked for a minute to add that the type of pictures the American public sees depends to a great extent on the exhibitor.

Just what the result will be of this opening up of the censorship discussion in the biennial, is not definitely known. It is rumored that the board of directors may take definite action opposing Mr. Hughes' sentiments. Rumors were also current yesterday that the program chairman may be asked to explain Mr. Hughes' appearance on the program.

Favor Censorship

Ever since 1918 at the biennial at Hot Springs censorship has been a live subject with the General Federation. At that time the resolution was adopted and has never been rescinded, endorsing state censorship, but not federal censorship.

Several months ago it was predicted that when the biennial convened censorship would be a vital issue. This prediction was based on the fact that at the Chautauqua federation convention in 1922 plans for a campaign for censorship was launched. But at that time Will H. Hays took a hand and convinced the women that, since he had assumed the censorship of movieland, no one need bother about censorship.

Only this week Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, Federation president, said, when asked if the motion picture industry would come up during convention, "Motion pictures? I do not know. The platform of the federation is constructive and not destructive. We would much rather co-operate than criticize. Far better for the federation as a whole, with its thousands and thousands of members, to lend helpful aid to the motion picture industry, insuring the production of clean pictures, than to sit idly by and criticize."

So the election of a successor to Mrs. Winter does not remain the burning question to be decided ere the close of convention.

Guests of Honor

Among other honored guests and speakers at the luncheon and afternoon program yesterday were Princesses, Gladys, Lillian Burkhardt Goldsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, Leslie Stringfellow Read, Mrs. Frederick W. Weitz, Marjorie Shuler and Ida Clyde Clark.

Attending from Glendale

were Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mrs. R. W. Meeker, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Miss Eva Daniels, Katherine V. Sinks, Mary B. Darrow and others.

Take First Steps on Harbor Improvement

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—Merging of the Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors into a centralized port commission, abolition of the two cities' harbor commissions and expenditures of $11,000,000 for harbor improvements were reported here as the first steps planned in the $17,000,000 federal Los Angeles harbor improvements program.

the official family will keep open house.

The motor trip will consume only a few hours. The mission in its restored condition rises in the midst of a city park. The imposing approach and landscaped grounds will impress the visitor and possibly visualize to a certain extent its past glories, but to Old Timer the ruined wall of the first visit typified more truly the past than any other.

Beauty Spots Nearby

At one time before the auto made every place of easy access, the claim that Glendale was most strategically situated, being surrounded by points of interest not far distant, was seemingly confirmed.

Hollywood, with the beautiful and artistic Moorish palace of Paul DeLongpre, regarded as one of the finest residential suburbs of Los Angeles, was only three miles away; Pasadena, with its famous avenue, "Orange Grove," the Mecca of all tourists, five miles; La Crescenta Canada (the Crescent valley), surrounded with mountains, only two miles above; the San Fernando road, the famous old highway, offered an outlet up the wonderful valley. All these Glendale claimed and advertised as assets.

Rightly? Yes, for they but added to the desirability of Glendale as a place to make a home.

CALLED NORTH TO ATTEND FUNERAL

Dr. Margaret Brown Returns Home After Last Rites For Brother-in-Law

Dr. Margaret Morgan, of 500 Myrtle street, returned home yesterday from San Mateo where she was called on account of the sudden death of her brother-in-law, Frank Burt. She made the trip by automobile, accompanied by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Morgan of Tujunga.

Mr. Burt's death came as a shock to his many friends and relatives, as he was only ill a few hours. Funeral services were held in San Mateo on Wednesday. Mr. Burt was a very prominent business man and known as the man who first brought moving pictures to San Mateo and Burlingame. He was the first general manager of the Pacific Studio Corporation and director of the three cities' Chamber of Commerce. He was 62 years of age at the time of his death.

Webb Store Holding Big Anniversary Sale

as one of the smartest haberdasheries in the city. The growth of the business has also caused Mr. Webb to take over a store room at the corner of West Wisconsin avenue and Orange street, as a studio for the drapery department. So great has been the growth of the various departments, Mr. Webb reports, that the sales force has been practically doubled in the year the new store has been in operation.

Buyers Are Experts

In order to meet the purchasing requirements of such a large organization, Mr. Webb has associated with himself in every department the very best buyers, people who have gained their experience at such stores as Marshall Field in Chicago; J. Hays in Detroit; Meyer Frank in Seattle and the Broadway store in Los Angeles.

The anniversary sale now on will continue until June 15, he stated. This allowing customers of the store another full week to take advantage of the many presents being offered in money-saving values. Each day of the sale witnesses new and attractive bargains offered and so great is the rush to get these high grade goods that the daily sales are running far up in the thousands.

H. S. Webb is optimistic about the growth of Glendale and declares that business conditions are better than they have been in months. The sale is particularly gratifying to him and indicates that his many customers have learned by experience that when a sale is advertised the values are always there.

Check Zp License Plates to Avoid Trip to Station

Advice to have license plates plainly visible is offered by Manager M. B. Townman, Automobile Club of Southern California, 248 South Brand boulevard. Los Angeles county motorcycle officers are making a drive on motorists who violate the state vehicle code by carrying beat, dirty or otherwise illegible plates, he says. Illegal lights and similar misdemeanors are being rigorously checked by the county officers and state police, according to Mr. Townman, so motorists will do well to comply with the law.

POSTPONE FARCE UNTIL NEXT WEEK

'Kempy' Will Be Presented at Harvard High School June 12 and 14

"Kempy" was to have made his appearance in Glendale tonight, but announcement was made this morning through Mrs. Max Lynn Green, chairman of drama for Community Service that this interesting character appearing in the comedy of the same name will be given Thursday and Saturday nights, June 12 and 14 in the Harvard High school.

The play is a rickless comedy, a recent New York success and never before given on the Pacific coast. It was secured some weeks ago for presentation in Glendale, because at the time there was no stock company in Glendale.

Greenville Forbes Sturgis, who is now well known to Glendale drama lovers, is directing the production.

Brewster in Lead

"Kempy" is very different from "Mice and Men" and was chosen because of the splendid contrast. Another talented cast has been assembled by Mr. Sturgis. In the lead will be seen Harold Brewster, director of dramatics at the Glendale Union High school. He will portray the character of "Pa Bence," a retired harness-maker, who is kept busy keeping up with his very modern daughters.

Opposite Mr. Brewster will be Mrs. H. C. Vandewater, playing "Ma Bence." The eldest daughter and the only married one will be played by Mrs. Harold Brewster, who won recent success for her work in the leading part of the pageant "Ramona" at Hemet.

Others in Cast

Kate, the next daughter, and the one around whom the whole family revolves, is to be played by Mrs. Charles Gowan. Mr. George Hastings is to appear as Ruth, the youngest daughter. "Kempy," an architect by desire but a plumber by trade, is to be portrayed by George Jansen.

Completing the cast will be Lewis Sargent as Ben, Jane's husband and Paul Morgan as Duke, Kate's lover and a man of wealth.

PORTLAND MAN TO CONDUCT MARKET

E. J. Hartman Purchases Shop from Gus Ebsen, 133 S. Central

E. J. Hartman, formerly of Portland, Oregon, has recently purchased the meat market connected with the Daley Cash Grocery, 133 South Central avenue, from Gus Ebsen and is planning extensive improvements.

Mr. Hartman has been in the meat business for many years, having conducted one of the largest markets in Portland, prior to coming to Glendale. He sold his Portland market last February and, while traveling through Southern California, chanced to pass through Glendale.

He and his wife were impressed with the beauties of this city and they decided to make their home here. The deal was consummated between Mr. Hartman and Mr. Ebsen and the Hartman family is now residing at 352 Oak street. The Hartman market will handle only number one top steer beef and other meats of the best quality. Improvements in the interior of the market and in the arrangement will be started at once.

Club to Boost Bryan In Presidential Race

LINCOLN, Neb., June 6.—A sensation was caused here in political circles when announcement was made that a Governor Bryan-for-President club had been organized in Lincoln. Sentiment among members of the club is said to be the same as that expressed by Congressman Howard of Nebraska and Mayor Dahlman of Omaha, who declared Bryan is the only Democrat whose nomination at the New York convention would discourage and probably prevent the creation of a third party candidate under the La Follette movement.

CHILDREN STAGE VARIED PROGRAM

Thursday Afternoon Club's Final Social Session Of Season Held

The Thursday Afternoon club of Glendale held the last regular social meeting of the year Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1423 South Brand boulevard.

Mrs. E. V. Bacon, retiring president, presided at the business meeting and the members and visitors were delightfully entertained by a short program by pupils of Miss Hazel Campbell, director of dramatic art.

Varied Numbers

Betty Cline and Bobby Main gave a charming reading in costume. "When We Dressed Up Like Father and Mother;" Adele Lloyd and Marian Stadler gave three numbers, widely differing in character.

"A Matter of Husbands" was a drama, featuring the eternal triangle; selection from "East Is West" was especially pretty, with both girls in fetching Chinese costume. "Mudder's Rose," a skit in which the young performers impersonated newshybs, was originated by Miss Campbell and was especially pleasing.

Plan Exposition

At the business meeting a proposition was presented by Mr. Burgess of Los Angeles, asking the club to sponsor a Merchants' Exposition to be put on in South Glendale early in July. The proposition was accepted and details are to be announced later.

Mrs. Bacon announced that she had been unable to attend the sessions of the convention of the state federation and the biennial and that Dr. Jessie A. Russell had been delegated to report as substitute.

The matter of the club picnic, to be held June 19 at La Crescenta, with Mrs. L. C. Denman as hostess, was discussed and details relating to transportation and lunch was completed.

Mrs. M. P. Moberly, of 1011 San Fernando road, was hostess for the afternoon and was assisted by club members in serving delicious refreshments.

WHITE SHRINE TO WELCOME LEADER

Mrs. Warren Roberts Returns From Supreme Conclave In Cleveland, O.

The meeting tonight of Omar Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem, in the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard, will be an unusually happy occasion, for the members are to welcome home their worthy high priestess, Mrs. Warren Roberts, who arrived home Sunday from attending the Supreme Shrine in Cleveland, Ohio, and visiting relatives and friends in Iowa.

While attending the Supreme Shrine Mrs. Roberts was honored by being chosen one of the supreme queen's attendants.

Visits Home City

She states that there were over 5000 in attendance at the convention. Wonderful sessions were held and elaborate entertainment provided. While in Cleveland Mrs. Roberts enjoyed seeing the auditorium where the Republican convention is to be held.

From Cleveland Mrs. Roberts traveled by way of Chicago to Parkersburg, Iowa, her home city, and later visited in Waterloo and at Des Moines, where she attended Drake university. She enjoyed renewing many old friendships and was delightfully entertained every day of her visit.

Exaggerate Plague

"Business conditions are very quiet in the east," says Mrs. Roberts. "I noted that the eastern people are always ready to exaggerate anything about California and I was glad when I learned that the foot and mouth disease had been checked, for in the east it was pictured in glaring terms."

MUSIC STUDENTS TO GIVE CONCERT

School Children to Appear Tuesday Night; Unusual Program Planned

The second annual concert of the music departments and organizations of the Glendale city schools will be presented Tuesday night, June 10, in the auditorium of the Glendale avenue intermediate school.

A program has been arranged which will include selections by the orchestra composed of pupils from the elementary and intermediate schools. The glee club from the Glendale intermediate school and the Glendale City Teachers' Choral club will also render selections.

GUESTS TAKE TO CAFETERIA WAYS

Club Delegates Learn How to Juggle Trays and Pick Out Dishes

By GIL A. COWAN
By Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, June 6.—In this land of cafeterias the visiting club women are learning to eat a la Californians. Really, they are quite practiced at juggling trays and selecting dishes, according to Molly Byrnes, the girl who cuts the meat where the writer eats.

Yes, the women are wondering where the old-fashioned restaurants—meals 25 cents and up—have gone. Certainly they are not to be found in Los Angeles. There are the hotel cafes, with cafeterias in conjunction, and there are the tea rooms or chocolate shops, with a few dinner dainties houses.

Other than that there are only the dairy lunches, the lunch counters and sandwich shops. Restaurants are scarce. Why, the one or two still in existence downtown watch the crowds rush by the doors.

Plan Week-End Trips

Also, the club women are going to see some of Southern California. The Pacific Electric is taking 150 on Saturday through the orange empire. More than 200 have made reservations for Mount Lowe this week-end. They hope to look down upon Los Angeles, perhaps.

Three hundred more of the delegates are going to Catalina, where they will get first hand information on the one-piece bathing suits. Others will visit the southland homes with old friends.

The Janitors' club entertained their families and special guests last night at Glendale avenue school, about fifty being present. G. B. Wolkins was host and directed the program, put on in the auditorium early in the evening.

Maudie Nichols, in Irish costume, danced the Irish jig; an amusing reading was given by Jean Fritch entitled, "I Ain't Going to Cry No More"; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. LISTS GREATEST FOES OF BABIES

Relatives, Kindly Neighbors And Lenient Mothers Worst, Is Claim

The greatest enemies of a baby are over-anxious relatives, too-kind neighbors and too-lenient mothers, Dr. Arthur Lee Munger, a member of the Glendale Clinical Group, and a former lecturer at Stanford university, told Kiwanis at the regular weekly luncheon meeting held to lay noon at the Tuesday afternoon clubhouse. "The first four months of every baby's life is the most important period," Dr. Munger said, "while the first 48 hours constitute the time in which the habits and future welfare of the infant are molded. The brain and nervous system of a baby grows more in the first four months than they do in the entire lifetime, and a child is either ruled or does the ruling at the end of the first 48 hours.

Why Child Cries

"There are only three things a baby cries for. The first is exercise, which should not be interrupted; second is pain, which should receive immediate attention; and third, pure spunk, which should be allowed to run its course. When crying because of spunk, the baby will soon find that it can be more comfortable not crying, and will mechanically stop. Then its habits begin to form."

The attendance prize, donated by Dr. C. W. Taylor, was won by George T. Smith, President A. L. Baird announced a meeting of the board of directors at his office on next Wednesday night.

E. P. Hayward spoke on Baseball Day and urged the members of the club to give their support to the Glendale White Sox, and to be present at the ball park on June 14, when the Sox will play the champions of the Pacific fleet.

Eight persons will go from Glendale to Denver next Friday to attend the international convention. Fred Deal announced. The special Kiwanis train will carry forty-two delegates from Southern California, Mr. Deal said.

Plans for Picnic

Complete plans for the annual picnic, to be held tomorrow at Perry Whiting's ranch near La Crescenta, were outlined at the meeting by William Truitt, chairman of the program committee. The baskets are to be auctioned off at 5 o'clock, it was announced. Mr. Truitt gave the members present directions for reaching the picnic grounds.

this part of the protest, declaring the treaty and the exclusion law are not inconsistent, because questions of immigration were not included in the treaty.

It is expected that the note will be handed to the Japanese ambassador within forty-eight hours. Present plans are for it to be made public here simultaneously with its receipt at the Japanese embassy, though it may be held up until Hamihara has an opportunity to cable it to Tokio.

Jap Resentment

Consular reports from Japan to the state department indicate widespread unrest and ill feeling among the Japanese people over the American government's new exclusion policy.

Some alarm has been occasioned by these reports, but officials are confident the forthcoming American note will have a salutary and quieting effect.

The Japanese problem was discussed in a general way by President Coolidge and the cabinet today. Secretary Hughes outlining the main features of his note.

Before the cabinet meeting, Hughes had a short personal conference with the president on the same subject.

noon and show them the new park site. "I have worked very hard in conjunction with Mr. Nibley, in getting things in shape so I could announce this gift," said Mr. Haddock this morning.

"When first approached by Mr. Stone we felt that it was an ideal park site, but due to certain legal technicalities at several times almost gave up hope that we could present this land to the city. We are thankful to Glendale for what it has done for us, and we take this opportunity to show our appreciation."

Mr. Stone announced that the formal deed of the plot would be held at a future date when appropriate ceremonies attended by officials of the company and the city would be present. It is his suggestion that the site, while being developed and improved, be made as near as possible a natural forest park, where the beauties of nature should furnish the attraction rather than artificial flower beds which replace the natural forest undergrowth.

Capt. Richard Sparks Dies Suddenly In North, Is Brief Message

Meager news telling of the sudden death Sunday night, June 1, 1924, at some unknown point in middle California, of Capt. Richard Sparks, has been received in Glendale.

A letter telling of Capt. Sparks' death was received Wednesday from his brother by Miss Bertha Willmarth of 5510 Phyllis court, to whom Capt. Sparks was engaged to be married.

According to Miss Willmarth, Capt. Sparks was in government work and was in the north on business. Just where and how his death occurred she has not learned. She expects to learn the full details from his relatives in Idaho, where his body has been taken for funeral and burial.

Leaves of Death. Miss Willmarth, who has been teaching in the Chino schools, expected a message from Capt. Sparks Monday night. Failing to hear from him she telephoned her mother on Wednesday and the letter had just come telling of his death.

'BOY PROBLEM' IS OPTIMISTIC TOPIC

Pastor Cites Chicago Crime In Luncheon Address To Local Club

Rev. H. I. Rasmus, Jr., associate pastor of the First M. E. church, today addressed the Optimistic club of Glendale on "The Boy Problem" at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Harriet Mae tea room on East Harvard street, stating that the problem was the most vital one in America today.

The speaker referred to the recent juvenile crimes in Chicago and Hollywood, stating that the very fact they were committed by youths from wealthy families makes the problem graver. Parents are not measuring up to the responsibility of raising children, he said, and urged that more attention be given by churches and civic organizations to proper playground and gymnasium facilities for the young.

A speaker from the American Legion will address the club at its luncheon meeting next Friday noon, June 13, it was decided. The board of governors will meet Tuesday night, June 10, at the home of President Dr. H. R. Boyer, who presided over today's meeting.

'FIVE AND DIME' STORE GOING IN ON SHOW STREET

Bright Red and Gold Sign to Blaze Forth Along Fifth Avenue

By ROBERT T. SMALL Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. NEW YORK, June 6.—Another 5 and 10 cent store is about to invade the most sacred shopping precincts of Fifth avenue, the show street of America.

The new emporium where purchases will be paid for on the nickel and dime basis is to be located at the southwest corner of Thirty-fifth street, which is just across the Avenue from Altman's and only two short blocks from Tiffany's. A score or more of other shops of national and international renown lie within a few hundred yards of the new invasion.

The Thirty-fifth street store is scheduled to open about August when it will blaze forth in all its red and gold splendor. This outward "flash" in the way of store decorations is a thing which Fifth avenue has been trying for years to avoid.

Signs Are Scarce The Fifth Avenue Association long ago obtained the consent of all property owners and store proprietors to do away with electric signs. Next followed the abolishment of all signs overhanging the sidewalk. Lastly came the obliteration from many of the bigger establishments of any outward means of identification whatsoever.

Second on Avenue This is the second of the 5 and 10 cent stores to be located on Fifth avenue. The first one was located at Fortieth street some two or three years ago and those who passed the place were inclined to grin at it with amusement.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE MOVIE WORM

Uncle Wiggily hopped out of bed in his hollow stump bungalow one day, spun around on one toe like a top and laughed as he twinkled his pink nose.

"Oh, I feel very fine this beautiful day," cried the bunny gentleman. "I hope I have a wonderful adventure, and I hope I may help somebody out of trouble!"

Then he washed his face and paws and slid down the stair banister railing to the kitchen, where Nurse Jane was broiling the carrots for breakfast.

"My! You must feel gay!" laughed the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"I do!" answered Uncle Wiggily. "I feel sure I am going to have a wonderful adventure today. But before I go, may I have the pleasure of doing anything to help you, Janie?"

"You might bring in some wood for the stove," answered Nurse Jane. "It is too hot to keep a coal fire going today, and I'll get dinner and supper with a wood blaze."

So Uncle Wiggily brought in some chips and sticks of wood and then, calling goodbye to Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, off he hopped, over the fields and through the woods, looking here and there for adventures.

there in about a minute," said the bunny gentleman. "It's only about ten hops for me."

"Well, it's nearly a week's crawl for me," said the movie worm. "And the lady bugs have to go so slowly in order not to spill my piano out of the peanut shell."

Uncle Wiggily looked in the peanut shell. It was filled with tiny tables, chairs, beds, couches and a piano about as large as the head of a hat pin. For worms, you know, use very small furniture.

"Here is where I can help you," said the bunny. Then he picked up the lady bugs, the peanut van filled with furniture and he picked up Mrs. Crawl, the movie worm herself, though she screamed a bit and said: "Oh, how you tickle me!"

In ten hops the rabbit gentleman was at the new hole house of the movie worm, and there he put her gently down on the ground, with the peanut shell of furniture.

Oh, thank you, said the movie worm as the lady bugs began to move her things into the new hole.

"This certainly is wonderful weather," cried Uncle Wiggily, dancing up and down in a shady nook in the woods.

"Hi, there, if you please!" suddenly cried a little voice. "Look out where you're dancing! You almost stepped on me!"

"Bless my pink, twinkling nose!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman, suddenly stopping his dance and looking around. "Who are you and where are you?" he asked. "I don't see any one on whom I nearly stepped."

"Here I am, down on the ground, right between your two feet," was the answer, and, looking down, Mr. Longears saw a worm crawling along. It was a red fish worm, or angle worm, and it was a lady worm, for she wore a little sunbonnet on her head.

"Oh, excuse me! I didn't see you," said the rabbit. "I beg your pardon. I don't seem to remember you."

"I am Mrs. Crawl," was the answer. "I have often seen you, Uncle Wiggily, but I am so small, I suppose you never noticed me."

"I may have seen you," was the answer. "I hope I didn't frighten you, dancing about as I was. Where are you going, may I ask, and may I have the pleasure of helping you?"

"Well, just now I am a movie worm," said Mrs. Crawl. "A movie worm!" cried the bunny. "You don't mean to tell me you act in the movies? I know they have monkeys, dogs, cats, chickens and even rabbits, for I have been in the movies myself. But a movie worm—ahem—um—I don't know that I ever heard of such a thing."

"Oh, I'm not really in the movies—I don't think that!" laughed Mrs. Crawl. "I call myself a movie worm because I am moving from my old hole house to a new hole house. That's where I'm going."

"Oh, so you are moving, are you?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "But where are your things—your tables, chairs, piano and so on? If you are moving, don't you take your things with you?"

"Oh, of course. They are coming right behind me," answered the movie worm.

Uncle Wiggily turned and looked. Coming along the woodland path was a cute little moving van. It was made from half of an empty peanut shell, with dried peas for wheels. Drawing the peanut shell moving van were two little lady bugs who were harnessed to it with strong cobwebs.

"There are all my things in the peanut van," said the movie worm. "Please hurry, lady bugs," she called. "I should like to be in my new hole some time next week."

"My goodness!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Is it going to take you that long to move?"

"Yes," answered the movie worm. "You see I must crawl very slowly, and so must the lady bugs. My new hole house is over there at the foot of the pine trees," and she pointed with her tail.

"Why, I could go from here to

"Oh, excuse me!" said the rabbit

Rich Boy Cupid's Victim

JOHN NICHOLAS BROWN, who was dubbed the "richest boy in the world," is reported to be engaged to MISS HELEN MORAN, and an early wedding is predicted by their friends.

John Nicholas Brown, who was dubbed "Richest boy in the world," when he inherited $20,000,000 while an undergraduate at Harvard, has at last fallen victim to the wiles of cupid. The report persists in society circles that he will shortly lead to the altar Miss Helen Moran, pretty debutante, although her father, Charles Moran of New York and Newport, denies it. Young Brown has long been angling for by aspiring mothers, but his match with Miss Moran, society has it, is of his own making.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By H. N. BEEBEE
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 6.—There is a new type of woman in American politics today.

She is a genteel contrast to the unweid, masculine, ultra-feminist type and a radical departure from the militant suffragist who in years past stormed Congress and legislatures in behalf of "woman's rights."

The new type of woman politician is a "home-body."

She is the mother of children. She is still living in peace and harmony with her husband, and the husband cordially approves of her active interest in the nation's affairs.

New York got a "close-up" view of two representatives of this new type a few days ago. They are members of the committee on arrangements for the Democratic National convention, and they journeyed here and cast their votes in behalf of Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, who was elected temporary chairman of the forthcoming convention.

They are the only two women members of the committee of four.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair was one. Her home is in Joplin, Mo. She is vice-chairman of the National Democratic committee, and in charge of the organization of the women of the Democratic party.

Mrs. Blair's husband is a prominent attorney in her home state. The Blairs have two children—a daughter of 20 and a son aged 17.

The other woman member of the committee is Mrs. D. A. McDougal of Sapulpa, Ok. She is a Democratic "committeeman" of Oklahoma. Her husband, too, is a practicing attorney, known, she proudly declares, from one end of Oklahoma to the other as "the Judge," an honorary title.

Mrs. McDougal, in addition to keeping up a home, finds time for various civic and political duties. She organized Red Cross work in Oklahoma during the war, having called the first Red Cross meeting in that state. Later she went to Washington, where she did hospital work in behalf of the service men.

Mrs. McDougal evades most of the questions about herself, and sounds the praise of her three children," although two of the "children" are grown and happily married. She is especially proud of her daughter, Violet, 20, who is poet laureate of Oklahoma. Violet is coming to New York with her mother in June to write poems about the Democratic National convention.

"But you must say something about yourself," the interviewer persisted.

"All right," she smiled. "I'll say this for myself: My husband tells everybody that I can cook the best meal in Oklahoma in ten minutes—and he's always bringing strangers home to prove it."

Women of Today

By MRS. LILLIAN CAMPBELL

Mrs. Oren Root is a New York society woman and the originator of the national health day for children on May 1. Many prominent men sponsored Mrs. Root's idea, among them President Coolidge, Governor Alfred Smith and Mr. Herbert Hoover, etc. With Mrs. Root in the picture are little Micky and Tommy Manzione, wards of the American Child Health association and New York's 100 per cent twins.

"Next the torture of the tight corset was eliminated. Then came a few bolder spirits who decided that a head of unwashed hair, difficult to manage, was not necessarily a 'crowning glory.' So they began bobbing it. Some girls dared to don knickers, but

The Consumers' league of Cleveland, O., has organized a spring cleanup of unsanitary grocery stores. The league is trying to educate housewives to report unsanitary conditions to the board of health which will send out inspectors. The Cleveland Retail Grocers' association promises co-operation with the league as it is anxious to improve conditions in stores that fall below 100 per cent standards.

Sylvia Pankhurst of England, daughter of the noted militant suffragist, Emmeline Pankhurst, and herself an old-time militant, is disappointed with the results of suffrage and discouraged with world conditions generally. She thinks the only solution of the evils with which the world is suffering is the return of Christ to the earth. At present Miss Pankhurst is lecturing on the "Second Coming" in the United States.

Whichever political party wins the election in Kentucky in November, the women will be inclined to take credit for the victory. Twenty-two women, thirteen Republicans and nine Democrats, none of whom is a candidate for office, will take the stump this year. The most widely known are Mrs. J. Campbell Cantrill, Democrat; Mrs. Christine Bradley South, daughter of the late Senator Bradley, Republican; Miss Laura Clay, Democrat, who is a pioneer in suffrage work; Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, Republican, and widow of "Tobe" Hert, for years Republican national committeeman.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Chicago commissioner of health, commends the short skirts, knickers and bobbed hair of the modern girl. "The women of today," he says, "have broken away from the old standards of girlhood training and the marked sex repression which characterized earlier generations. Fortunately few remain of the anemic, tightly-corseted, skirt trailing women. The modern girl began a movement when she cut off several inches from her skirt and dared to show her ankle. By this act she complied with a long felt hygienic need.

THE GLENDALE
"The Mask of Lopez," with Fred Thomson, champion athlete, is the feature picture at the Glendale theatre today and Saturday.

PEACHES AND CREAM
The expression a "peaches and cream complexion" is no idle boast, according to Irene Rich, who is playing an important role in the Warner Brothers production, "Being Respectable," for she claims that a paste made of peach juice and cream, from an old-fashioned recipe, is the best beauty lotion she has ever used.

LEW CODY COMPOSER
Lew Cody, who is playing the role of Lamont in the current Ernst Lubitsch production, is somewhat of a composer of music. During the filming of his scenes in this Warner Brothers' production the musicians on the set have been playing some of Mr. Cody's own compositions among which is his well known "My Lady of the Orchids."

BABY IS FILM STAR
Baby Dorothy Brook has been engaged to play the child of Charles Carpenter and Suzanne in "Being Respectable," which Warner Brothers are producing from the Grace Flandrau novel. This is the babe that made such a decided hit in "Lilies of the Field." In "Being Respectable" the child is the cause of Charles remaining with Suzanne instead of going away with Valeria.

TRY THIS TO REDUCE
Now that everybody in the movie world is concerned with matters of weight, we find two voices from the Warner studio acclaiming a new diet. Cissy Fitzgerald, the former English music hall beauty, and Mary Alden, both of whom are appearing in "Babbit," are so enthused about the lamb chop and pineapple diet that they have almost induced Willard Louis, the star of the Sinclair Lewis story, to join them in it.

THE T. D. & L.
"A Son of Sahara," with Bert Lytell and Claire Windsor, is the feature picture at the T. D. & L. theatre today and Saturday.

THE GATEWAY
"Why Men Leave Home" continues at the Gateway theatre today and Saturday.

FARNUM DOES 'BABBIT'
The script of Sinclair Lewis' novel, "Babbit," was done by Dorothy Farnum, who has "Beau Brummel" to her credit.

PAGE LUBITSCH'S CIGARS
The only thing in the world that interferes with Ernst Lubitsch's work is his cigars. He lights one, takes a few puffs, then while he is showing some player just how he wants a certain scene played, he lays it down somewhere, anywhere, and then in turn hunts for it and never finds it. Then his deep voice rings out and can be heard all over the big stage—he calls for another cigar before he can go on with his work.

'GET THE HABIT'
Darryl Francis Zanuck, whose book, "Habit," was one of the season's best sellers, has been engaged by Warner Brothers to write a screen story to be directed by Mal St. Clair. This will be St. Clair's second production at Warner Brothers, he having recently completed George M. Cohan's George Washington, Jr.,

NOTED FILM COUPLE
Marie Prevost and Monte Blue are fast becoming the screen team of today. Not since the days of May Allison and Harold Lockwood have a leading man and woman in the position of co-stars attracted so much attention with their work together.

In these days of free lancing no two players are associated for more than one picture. Miss Prevost and Mr. Blue are now at work on their fifth picture together.

hole. "You were very kind to me, Uncle Wiggily."

"I'm glad I could be kind to someone, even if it was only a movie worm," said the bunny as he hopped back to his bungalow happily singing and twinkling his pink nose.

And if the safety pin will stand on its head long enough for the gold fish to play a game of tag with the canary bird, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the apple seeds.

T. W. Watson, president of the Board of Trustees, and O. A. Lane, trustee, drove over to Pasadena Tuesday evening to attend a board of trade meeting to discuss the advisability of having the name Colorado boulevard given to the public highway extending from the sea to Riverside. The highway now bears the name Colorado street, from San Fernando road to Lamanda park, east of Pasadena. It will be remembered that the name Sixth street in Glendale was changed to Colorado boulevard.

One of our citizens remarked today that it is the duty of every Glendale citizen to boost for the success of the Glendale & Montrose railroad. In the face of great barriers the managers of that company are going forward not the least daunted by any obstructions.

ONE-SLEEVE DRESS
LONDON, June 6.—The one sleeve dress is here again. It seems to be a happy compromise between the long, tight sleeve and no sleeve at all, since one arm is quite bare and the other amply draped.

VARIED BANGLES
PARIS, June 6.—At the moment the feminine arm is a cascade—or perhaps a ladder—of glass bangles. Each bangle is a different color and the effect is both bright and noisy.

Diet and Health

Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

MONTHLY FORM LETTER

My dear Followers: The following rules of the column will have to be followed in asking for discussions and for material which will enter. Otherwise your letters cannot be given attention:

First: When you ask for material we have offered, you must enclose a self-addressed and stamped envelope (s. a. s. e.). The address must include your full name, city or town, state and street number. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must also include four cents in loose stamps. Do not send money—it is too easily lost in the mails.

Second: Write legibly with pen or typewriter, and not more than 200 words. If your handwriting is not clear get someone to write for you.

Third: When you ask for material to be sent, have your s. a. s. e. at least a full-sized envelope. It is very difficult to stuff a whole pamphlet into a baby envelope.

Fourth: Address your letters to me in care of your paper. They will be forwarded to me at my office in New York City.

Fifth: Please sign your name as evidence of good faith. We promise that we shall not use it in any way.

Sixth: Do not ask for material unless it has been offered to send inquirers. You may, however, ask me to write on any subject of general interest which I have not covered, and I will be glad to do so as soon as possible.

Seventh: Do not ask for diagnoses or for individual treatment. I could not safely give you these even if I had the time. This is the province of your personal physician.

Eighth: Allow at least three weeks to elapse before thinking your request for material has gone astray or is ignored. And allow very much longer than that for an answer to appear in the column, if it can appear there.

Ninth: Watch any answers to correspondents and articles each day for something similar to the question you want discussed, and consider yourself answered when you see that, whether your initials are appended or not. Many people ask the same question and I must answer them altogether to save time and space.

Unless all of the first seven rules are complied with your letter cannot receive any attention. I dislike to have to put all of these restrictions on you, but unless you do follow them it is going to be impossible for us to handle our mail.

If you will remember that my "Diet and Health" is a syndicated feature, appearing all over the United States and Canada and in every section of the country, creating great interest, you will realize the extent of my mail. I want to be able to read all of your letters. They are an inspiration and a help to me, but I shall not be able to do it unless you follow these rules because of the tremendous number of them. You may never see your answer under your own initials, for in the column I can answer very few, and try to choose those letters by the answering of which I can help the largest number. Possibly 90 per cent of our letters have to do with the question of reducing, so, naturally, that subject being of the greatest interest—and, incidentally, of the greatest general importance—there will be a great deal on that subject always.

You will find I have to repeat my advice very often. But it is by repetitions that we learn, so that is desirable. I shall prepare many of my articles so that you can get them again by sending the s. a. s. e. and following the other directions. But unless I have written on a subject and have offered to send it to you, it will not be available for distribution.

Please remember that I cannot take the place of your family physician. I cannot make diagnoses for you, nor treat you personally, nor write individual diets. I appreciate very much the wonderful confidence you are showing in me, but if you think for a moment you can realize the diagnoses and personal treatment would be impossible. I can only take up in the column questions that will be of general interest to all my readers.

I feel like adding a tenth rule. It is this: Save some of your 200 words to continue telling me how much you enjoy the column and how much help you are getting from it. For that is as important to me and, of course, makes my work happier.

I shall probably have to run this article just as it is once a month, at least, to keep the newcomers in column order and probably to remind you, too, though I hope you will help me and hasten my reply to you by remembering to observe our rules.

Tomorrow—Answers To Correspondents

My Dear Followers—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to answer you or to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

What Coats Next Fall?

What coats to wear next fall? That's the question. What? With summer just breaking? To be sure. For he it known the styles for the coming fall and winter season are now being outlined. The illustration shows three models that will win popularity next fall and winter, it is predicted. Anyway, here are the styles—look them over.

By MME. LISEBETH

While most of us have not decided whether our summer frocks are to be of linen, voile, flannel, printed crepe or silk, or any of the other materials that offer a choice and therefore drive femininity distracted, the National Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' association declares that it has met in conference and decided our fate for next fall and winter as far as our coats and suits go.

They invited me to "sit in" on their showings and to confide their decisions to my readers so that they (the readers) would have no excuse for purchasing their next winter coats incorrect in color, material, trimming and line. I hereby present the fruits of their labors—and my own.

We will continue to be tall and slim and tubelike, although for those who want to flare out down below there is to be a word of hope as the season advances. Belts are no more; pockets on the more dressy type of coats have retired to the department of the interior and are merely hankie pockets in the coat linings. Fur is as popular as ever, and handings of it and of braid, embroidery and self material are much used.

The sober browns, blacks and navies of yore are to be rivaled by various shades of reds, browns and greens. Kossack, evergreen, pine tree and wood moss are some of the alluring names of the greens, and penny, mummy, manzanita, congo, mandalay and havana are the somewhat jazzy sounding browns. Closely woven, short napped fabrics are to largely replace the soft piled ones of the last two seasons.

The coat on the left is a green cloth with a collar and sleeve banding of cocoa squirrel. A wide banding of embroidery trims the bottom of the coat. The gray bustle cloth model in the center illustrates perfectly the points of the new coats with inverted tucks and pleats for fullness through the shoulders while maintaining the slim hip line. Grisette, a dyed squirrel forms the trimming. "Penny," the new reddish brown, is used for the last coat (right). It is effectively trimmed with baby fox fur, while cartridge tucks and gold stitching form a band above the fur.

WELL KEPT FINGER NAILS

If you envy your friends who always have that freshly manicured appearance, who look as though they rose late from refreshing sleep after a delightful evening, and had spent half the morning doing their nails and hair and complexion—remember that you can imitate them, or at least their polished finger nails, by spending not more than five minutes every day on the manicure.

Dip your nails before you take your bath. First of all, file them with an emery board. Two minutes is ample time to allow for this, which is an important part of the process. It gives a fresh, sharp edge. It keeps the nails the proper, slender shape.

Dip your orange wood stick into a small bottle of clear, strained lemon juice which should be kept handy with your manicure implements. Run all around the nails and under them. This takes less than a minute, and it bleaches stains. At the same time, push back the cuticle with the stick. The lemon juice tends to shrink up this ever growing skin anyway, but it is just as well to push it back while you are at work. Two minutes, or less, is all this takes.

Then wash the hands. You must wash off the lemon juice, which otherwise would be too drying, that's why I suggest doing the nails before your bath. And as the final part of the manicure, after the hands are dried, polish briskly with a clean buffer.

That's the five-minutes-a-day manicure. In spite of it, you'll have to take a longer period once a week or once a fortnight, and do your nails with a steel file, and with bleaches and cold cream and polishing powder. But such thoroughness isn't needed daily.

Elsie K. R.—Personally, I do not have any formula for making a beauty clay, but the one you sent is very much like those clays that are in the market.

L. N.—Any treatment that you take for gottle should be prescribed for by a good doctor. You

I recently spent a week-end in a town which was new to me, visiting an old friend. The night of my arrival one of my hostess' neighbors tapped at the door and asked to borrow her vacuum cleaner. My hostess amiably agreed to the loan of her cleaner and, when the woman had gone off carrying the heavy thing, she turned to me and said:

"She has borrowed my vacuum every week for three years."

Naturally, I was incredulous. "But how could anybody borrow a thing that often?" I exclaimed. "She has," asserted my friend, "and I expect her to go on borrowing it for years to come. It's a habit."

I peered out of the window, at

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

NO TRUE FRIEND

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a junior in high school. I have been keeping company with a boy two years my senior. A girl friend says bad things about this boy, which makes me feel very badly. She tried to break up our friendship, which she succeeded in doing.

Now her sister is going with the boy and she has ceased talking about him. The girl is very good at picking out everybody's faults and then she quarrels about everything she can think of.

Do you think she is a true friend? She is to be my sister-in-law. Please advise me what to do.

S. W. F.

The girl certainly is not a true friend if she is as bad as you paint her. Since she is to be your sister-in-law, however, try to overlook her troublesome qualities and appreciate what good you can find. If you refuse to see bad she may appreciate your true friendship and cease to be small in her relationship with you.

SHOULD SHE FORGET HIM?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Ten months ago I was with a very entertaining young man. I had known him for quite a while before this but had never been in his company. We had a wonderful time, but he has never come to see me since. The reason for this I know. His mother has another girl picked out for him—a girl with money. He doesn't like her; but in spite of it he will not come to see me. I admire him for obeying his mother, but do you think he has treated me right?

I do not love him, I am sure. He is just the splendid chum I have always wanted. He likes me, I know. Do you think he ought to waste his time on some one he doesn't even like? Do you think his mother ought to act as she does? Don't you think he ought to have told me he couldn't come to see me.

Don't advise me to forget him. I have tried and I can't. I have always given myself credit for a great deal of common sense. Do you think I am foolish to worry over him?

P. F.

The young man owes nothing to you merely because he was with you one night. Therefore your explanation why he stopped coming was not necessary. It seems to me his mother is making a mistake interfering in his affairs, but perhaps you have been misinformed and she does not interfere as much as you seem to think. To forget him would certainly be the wise thing. But since you will not, the only course left for you is to go on dreaming of an unfulfilled love and at the same time let other opportunities for happiness slip by you.

FRIVOLOUS CANES

BATHING STYLES

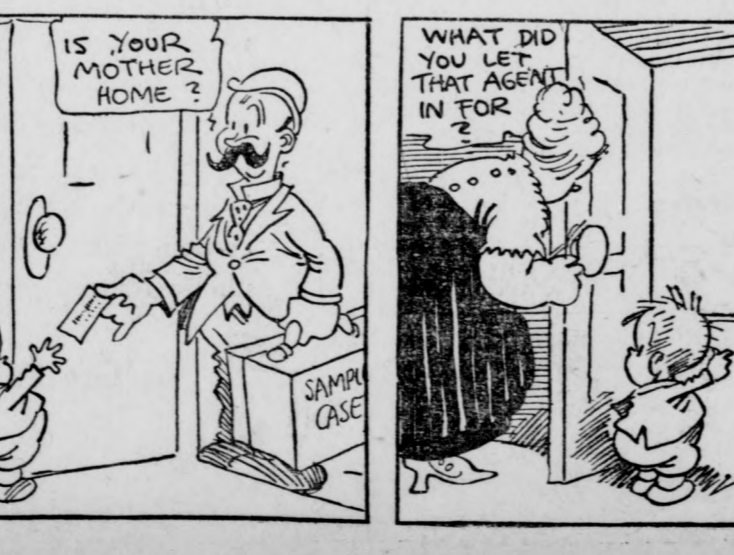

NEW YORK, June 6.—Bathing suit is made of any material nowadays including crepe de chine. The bathing suit, in fact, will be one of the most chic and vivid items of the summer wardrobe whether or not its shadow plaid crepe or its printed alpaca ever goes near the water.

SOLONS DEFEAT ANGELS, 4-1, IN GAME OF ERRORS

Cruise Gets Homer for Only Score of Seraphs But Makes Bingles

By BEN MCGUIRE
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, June 6.—Charley Hall, veteran Solon hurler, held Los Angeles to five hits yesterday, Sacramento taking their third straight win, 4-1. Ote Crandall also pitched a masterly game, allowing Sacramento only six hits, and not an earned run, errors by his teammates being responsible for all of Sacramento's scores.

The Solons scored two runs in the first on two hits and two errors by Beck and Cruise, their other two coming in the fifth on a single, sacrifice and another error by Cruise. The Angels only tally came in the ninth when Cruise hit into the right field bleachers for a home run.

Bill Hughes is Manager Pick's choice for Sacramento today while Payne will try to break the Angels losing streak.

BASEBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about baseball—If you want a rule interpreted—Write John B. Foster, the man who helped make the rules under which the game is played today. If you want a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column.

QUESTION—Would you please explain the term "waiver" as it is used in baseball and tell how it works and what it means?
ANSWER—A waiver is asked on the services of a player who is about to be released or transferred by a ball club. It is compulsory first to ask this waiver in order that every club in the same league may have an opportunity to hire the player if it wishes to do so. It is also compulsory to ask inter-league waivers in order that each major league club may have a chance to hire a player if it wishes to do so.

QUESTION—If a game in organized baseball is postponed by rain how is that game brought in the schedule? Is it played after their regulation schedule has been played?
ANSWER—It may be played on the first open date between the clubs, or it may be played as part of a double header between the same clubs if there is no open date. No games are ever played after the last of the schedule.

QUESTION—Will it be called a balk if a pitcher in his box and draws back his arm and makes a motion to pitch without the ball in his hand?
ANSWER—That is a balk as much as if he held the ball. The pitcher is not to try to deceive the base runner.

QUESTION—Did Branch Rickey ever play in the major leagues?
ANSWER—Yes. He caught for the New York Americans.

EXPECT HUNDREDS AT GAME SUNDAY

Fast Attraction Offered in Sox-Merchants Battle at Pasadena

The Glendale White Sox-Pasadena Merchant game scheduled for Brookside park next Sunday afternoon is attracting more attention than any recent semi-pro contest in southern California.

While the pale hose players have been piling up their record for fifteen straight wins, the cry of the visiting teams who have been routed has been "wait until we get you away from Glendale." This is especially true of Lorin Ury, Merchant boss, who firmly believes that he has a better ball team than Sawyer, although the Sox have beaten them three times in as many starts.

By far the largest crowd of the year is expected at Brookside park when the teams clash Sunday, as it is the first time the Sox have played away from home for several months. Fans from all over the country are planning on attending, and the game has all the aspects of a championship affair.

Palmer May Pitch
Palmer, the twirler who worked for Sawyer last Sunday and created such a furore by his showing, is uncertain whether he can work against the Merchants. He worked yesterday morning to an eastern city where his services are being demanded, and has not yet had a reply.

If he should be called away before Sunday, Kerwin has Lyle Bigbee, formerly of the St. Louis Browns and released this week by the Angels, to take the mound for the Sox. Palmer is very desirous of pitching, as he has heard so much about the hitting prowess of the Merchants, and wants to work against them.

Maner Opposing
The Pasadena pilot, Lorin Ury, is not saying much, but after the Sox's meeting last Monday night he told Kerwin that he would be ready for the Sox. Lyle Manker has been pitching for the Merchants since Lefty Thomas joined Vernon, and has had good success. He will find more punching power in the Sox than in any other team he has faced, however, and will have to "do his stuff."

Sawyer's line up will be the same one that has turned in win after win. With Shellenbach at first, Hirigoyen at second and Shields at third, Young, Dorman and Orsatt in the outfield and Carl at second, the Sox have a class team, and Kerwin will stand pat on them. Sullivan, whose work behind the bat has created favorable comment, will do the receiving.

RINGSID Gossip
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, June 6.—If red tape can be unwound with the dexterity and rapidity with which other red tape has already been unwound, Harry Wills and Bartley Madden will put up their ducks in the Queensboro Arena next Monday night. And the writer's tip is that when the bout is over, the fans will be wondering why all the fuss was made about this mixup—unless of course, Wills has gone way, way back. And this is so doubtful as to make the idea ridiculous.

Since it seems certain that Wills will figure quite prominently outdoors this summer he needs this Madden bout badly.

Bartley Madden is going to London after his affair with Wills is decided—if it ever is. The attraction is a July 7 bout with Jack Bloomfield, now regarded as the best of a poor lot of heavies in England.

Jersey men say that the New York Athletic Commission is trying to hound Mickey Walker into a fight with Dave Shade under conditions that do not appeal to Mickey. Leo Flynn, Shade's manager, is supposed to have a clever Italian finger in the pie. The trouble about the boxing authorities' threat to deprive Mickey of his New York license is that Walker has not got a New York license and hasn't had one for a long time.

Well, the big killing in Los Angeles which Spider Kelly had planned for Jack Dempsey did not come off. Pat Lester, the promising Pacific coast heavyweight who was to spring such a surprise upon the champion in the projected four round bout for the benefit of the orphans' fund, got stage fright and refused to mingle with the killer.

The story was that Spider Kelly, who has been pushing Lester, received a slight by Dempsey and Kearns a few years ago when he was derrickted out of a job as Dempsey's second in the first Mike fight. Since then Kelly has been aiming to get even. Lester was the weapon he decided to use. "We will go in the ring," he said, "and we will show up that big stiff forty ways. Watch us." The trouble was that Lester refused to join in the "we" stuff and so Dempsey still lives.

No one knows the exact origin of the word May.

SUMMER LEAGUE

The Gilmore Oil company team, with a home park at Third and Fairfax in Hollywood, the most recent entry in the summer league, intends to be a factor in the race.

Manager Richardson has signed Wallace, pitcher, turned loose by Marty Krug of the Angels, and it is reported that he is dicker for the services of Josh Billings, catcher. If he succeeds in landing the former American league receiver he will have one of the classiest batteries in semi-pro and, together with the punching power furnished by Walsh, Carlyle and Beumiller, should be able to make all of the other teams in the league sweat.

Frank Kerwin states that he considers Gilmore Oil to be the dark horse in the summer league race, and expects to see them give the White Sox their hardest fight for the championship.

Pat O'Shea, one of the best semi-pro infielders in southern California, and until recently one of the mainstays of the Catalina Cubs, has signed with Gilmore Oil and will wear an Oiler uniform next Sunday. He will strengthen the team with his clever fielding and hard hitting.

Jasper Washington stated last Sunday before his All-Stars went into action against the White Sox that he had ten of the best colored ball players in the south coming to Los Angeles and expected to put a team in the field that would make all of them get up and hustle.

A winning colored team is a great drawing card and would materially help the gates in the summer league.

The Southern California collegiate conference recently turned thumbs down on a proposition to have one of the colleges play the Catalina Cubs.

They followed this Tuesday with a ruling that any college team in the conference should not play any team that included professional players, or players that received money for their services.

Heading the list of the banned teams was the Glendale White Sox. The Sox will probably get along without competition from the colleges. Their idea is perfectly all right, but to any one familiar with the ways of college ball players in the summer time, it has all the appearance of a huge joke.

A baseball manager in a certain town near here called Frank Kerwin, secretary of the managers' association, on the phone this morning and asked him to send out a ball team to play next Sunday.

"But don't send me a high priced team," he said.

"Send out one that will play for expenses and not much of that."

"Why?" asked Kerwin.

"We won't have five people here," came the reply. "Everybody is going to Brookside Park in Pasadena to see the Glendale White Sox play the Merchants."

Kerwin hung up the receiver and smiled. Kerwin owns the White Sox, and the clicking of the turnstile is sweet music to his ears.

Sailor Moudy of the U. S. S. California, pitching ace of the Pacific fleet, who has a nice fat contract to play with the Seals at the expiration of his enlistment, signed up to pitch for Charley Hill's Pacific Electric last Sunday and did not appear, according to Hill's report.

Moudy has not made the grade in the Pacific Coast league yet, and may be glad of an opportunity to play with the semi-pro teams here. At any rate he should not behave like Al Jolson until he has "arrived."

The White Sox have a strange hold on first place in the summer league and undoubtedly will finish out in front. They have won six and lost none, while their nearest competitor, the Pasadena Merchants, have won four and lost one. If the Merchants should beat the Sox next Sunday Glendale would still be leading the league.

LEGION TO PLAY WILDCATS HERE

Buddies Will Endeavor to Boost Win Record to Nine Straight

With the White Sox playing at Pasadena next Sunday, the local American Legion team, which has been compelled to participate in the curtain raisers heretofore, will occupy the spotlight at the White Sox home on San Fernando road. They will meet the Tom Mix Wild Cats at 2:30 o'clock.

With a record of eight games won and no defeats, the Legion team has been wading through all opposition in clock like fashion. La Belle, veteran professional twirler, will be on the mound for Glendale and, although he has lost some of his high-powered ability, still is cunning enough to fool most of the semi-pros in this section. He also pitches for Carl Sawyer's Harris & Hull team and manages to keep in first class condition. Colledge acts as relief twirler and gets by in good fashion when the going gets rough for La Belle.

The Wild Cats are by far the best team that the Legionnaires have faced this year, and if they win Sunday the fans will be able to get a line as to the chances of their success in the County American Legion league which will get under way shortly.

FOR GAME'S SAKE
By LAWRENCE PERRY,
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, June 6.—Men who are deeply interested in tennis were discussing today an interesting point brought up by George W. Wightman, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association in his new outgiving on the player-writer situation.

Mr. Wightman fears that if amateur players are permitted to make the game of tennis their business and to make a livelihood out of it as player-writers, or in some other way, there is bound to develop a small group of from 10 to 20 players who are invincible on the tennis courts, thereby shutting out of all hope of championship titles those who take their game as a recreation and cannot afford either time or money for constant practice.

There is a modicum of truth in Mr. Wightman's logic, and as it appears, more than a modicum of false reasoning. The problem Mr. Wightman presents is this: Shall we be content to bring American tennis to the level of mediocrity, or to develop the game to its very highest notch?

If men such as Tilden, Vincent Richards and others who could not devote the time they do to the game save by virtue of their present activities are debarred, then only those who are endowed with money will be able to give to the game that amount of time and attention that are necessary for the highest development. Thus the term amateurism might well come to mean nothing save wealth which would not be at all a good thing.

Again, the fear that from 10 to 20 men who are invincible in lawn tennis will be developed need not be regarded as a grave future possibility. We already have such a group developed under amateur conditions which have applied to—or at least been accepted by—all save Tilden, the champion; Vincent Richards, who ranks number 4 in the national rating; Carl Fisher, number 7, and one or two others.

Tilden and Richards and the rest who became player-writers did not develop their game because of the money they made out of it. That came—as it does to all who write, or profit in other ways through tennis—after they had attained stardom. In other words, they had the instinct and the fundamental qualities for supremacy in the game and their articles on tennis developed merely as a by-product. There will always be a group of tennis players who are invincible—save when they play one another—no matter what rules are applied in the interest of amateurism.

As a matter of fact, since we have no leisure class in this country, it is time we took up this question of amateurism and considered it in a sane manner designed to benefit the many and not the few.

OAKS 3, BEAVERS 5
PORTLAND, June 6.—Del Howard sent the great Walter Mills to the mound yesterday in an effort to stop the winning streak of the Beavers, but he failed to turn the trick. The Portland sluggers found him easy and Oakland was beaten, 5 to 3. Bedient worked his first full game for Portland.

BEES 9, SEALS 5
SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—The Salt Lake team knocked Williams out of the box in the third inning yesterday, when a rally netted 6 runs, enough for them to finally beat the Seals, 9 to 5. Kallio, although touched up for 12 hits, kept the blows fairly well scattered.

CUT DOWN LEAD
The Cubs cut down the Giants' lead to two games, with a 6 to 4 victory. Keen's fast ball was too much for McGraw's men, while four New York pitchers vainly tried to stem the tide of defeat.

Co-ordination

FROM fragments, isolated and small, science can reconstruct the great creations of nature. A fossil bone reveals a race of giant lizards. A fern frond embedded in limestone tells of whole chapters in human history.

But rarely can man's handiwork, composite in its elements, be thus imagined from any of its parts. Considered alone, a tiny carbon granule from the telephone transmitter cannot even hint of the complex instrument. Only as part of a co-ordinated mechanism has this littlest unit its full significance.

The telephone needs of the nation require a service national in scope and operation. Men, materials and money on a vast scale are essential. Practical co-ordination of the numberless human and mechanical agencies indispensable to the service is possible only through a nationwide organization. This the Bell System provides.

Head of St. Louis Nationals Looking for Training Camp for 1925

In substantiation of the statement made several days ago in the Evening News that several major league teams are desirous of training in California next spring comes the announcement from Oscar Reichow, business manager of the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league...

Best Training Site

Year by year the belief is growing in major league circles that California, and especially the southern part of the state, is the ideal training ground.

It would do no good for any one individual to present the advantages of this city to any major league magnate. They only agree to train where the co-operation of the Glendale club is guaranteed.

Hornsby Popular Here

Hornsby alone would attract thousands of people to Glendale, as he became very popular here when managing a team in a winter league several seasons past.

"I have heard nothing from Firpo concerning a demand for the immediate closing of the Wills match and surely he would not make it if he felt that way about it," Rickard said.

Firpo Wants $250,000

Firpo, it is understood, has agreed to oblige for a matter of $250,000. Wills will get $150,000 and the opportunity of his comparatively young life.

Final League Game of Year Scheduled for Today

Today the Glendale High school Dynamiters ball players hook up with the South Pasadena "Striped Cats" on the latter's field at 4 o'clock. This will be the last game of the season and the Dynamiters will be on their toes to win this game in order to save themselves the disgrace of finishing in the cellar.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Harry Wills, the senegambian in the woodpile, and Luis Angel Firpo will meet on the afternoon of August 23 for all the money they can get inside Boyle's Thirty acres, Jersey, and the doubtful privilege of taking a subsequent punch in the forehead from Jack Dempsey.

Firpo Wants $250,000

Firpo, it is understood, has agreed to oblige for a matter of $250,000. Wills will get $150,000 and the opportunity of his comparatively young life.

BUSINESS NEWS

By PAUL C. HEDRICK SEATTLE, June 6.—Retail trade here for the last month has shown a substance and staying power surprising even to merchants. Reports show the larger department stores sales in May were about 10 per cent higher than in May, 1923.

By W. W. FOSTER PITTSBURG, June 6.—Operations in the building trades and in the steel mills still are so active that while merchants here expect that there may be a slight slump in the summer, liberal buying will take place in the fall.

"Every time I want to open a store," he said, "I go to streets where there is the most perambulation. People who have baby carriages have homes and live in them. No matter how good a street is for any other business, I would not take mine there unless there were plenty of kids in the neighborhood—the more the better."

BUSINESS WORLD

NEW YORK, June 6.—New buildings for dwelling, business and industrial purposes still are in demand throughout the country, but the "take it or leave it" policy of landlords, builders and real estate men has suffered a decided change.

As a consequence real estate men, now gathered at the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in Washington, are considering methods which would attract tenants and purchasers. Points of attraction were found to differ widely in various sections but the general feeling was expressed today that while a man's business created a value for the locality he was occupying, the locality and neighborhood often did equally as much for the business.

COOLIDGE WILL FEMINE DRESS PRESENT IDEAS AT CONVENTIONS ABOUT PLATFORM TO SET FASHION

Must Be Short, Positive and Concise, According to Advance Word
Political Delegates Chosen From Women of Charm And Good Taste

By GEORGE R. HOLMES. For International News Service. CLEVELAND, June 6.—When the Republican platform builders meet here next Wednesday there will be presented to them a fairly complete draft of just what President Coolidge desires in the way of planks.

Word to this effect has been brought to Cleveland by William M. Butler of Massachusetts, the president's campaign manager. Mr. Coolidge wants the platform short, positive and concise, according to word to leaders here, the main ingredients being prepared by his own hand. There will be more "pointing with pride" than "viewing with alarm."

On foreign affairs there will be a number of positive claims to achievement. The principal points the president desires emphasized are: 1—Affirmation of the party's faith in a world court as laid down in the Harding-Hughes program and endorsed by Mr. Coolidge.

2—America was enabled to help Europe, without, at the same time, getting her feet mired down in the morass of European trouble. 3—High praise of the Republican record in re-establishing peaceful relations with the world, pointing to the treaty of peace with Germany, resumption of relations with Mexico and the numerous steps taken to insure and promote peace in the Central American republics.

4—The arms conference, which will be described as the greatest diplomatic achievement in history, as it provided for arbitration of disputes between the signatory powers, slashed expenditures for national defense and removed the danger of war in the Pacific. There also will be a definite promise of other such conference as soon as world conditions make it feasible.

5—Reaffirmation of the party's intention of collecting and not cancelling the billions of dollars in European war debts. While great emphasis will be placed on the party's record in foreign affairs, it will be domestic issues that will claim the greatest attention.

Lieut. W. J. Royle, chief of the detective bureau of the local police department, will leave Sunday for Ogden, Utah, to spend two weeks' vacation with his mother. He will be accompanied by his son, Billy, Jr.

ASK SUPPORT OF INDUSTRY PLANS

'Keep White Spot White' Is Plea of Speakers at Meet of Business Men

LANKERSHIM, June 6.—At a business men's smoker held last night in the social hall of the Community church, officials and speakers of the Greater Los Angeles association told of the work being done by that body in mobilizing the Southland for industry, to create a firmer business foundation under the superstructure of wealth everywhere evident. Morgan Wood and George R. Beaton were among the speakers. They told the assemblage how to "Keep the white spot white" by furnishing capital for industrial expansion.

Boy Scouts are to hold open court of honor tonight at 7:45 in the Community church for the benefit of the people of Lankershim. The boys are anxious to show the community that they have made good and have been worthy of the support given them.

For each merit badge that the boys get it is necessary to do considerable work and study and then they are given a test as to their fitness in the work undertaken. Some of this work will be demonstrated to the public just to show what is really necessary to be a good scout. It is most interesting and the citizens should be anxious to encourage them in this splendid organization.

Music and motion pictures will be included in the program. Visit Tia Juana. Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hamilton returned Monday from a few days' trip to San Diego and vicinity. J. J. J. is resisting the temptation to run over the line to Tia Juana to give it the once over.

Mrs. Terrel arrived Sunday from Miami, Ariz., to visit her sister, Mrs. Will Shilling, whom she had not seen for twenty years. It is needless to say that the sisters are enjoying every minute of the visit.

Last Meet of Season Held by Music Club

LA CRESCENTA, June 6.—The Aeolian Music club held its last meeting of the season at the home of Miss Margaret Hauber on West Montrose avenue, when several new members were present who had lately joined the club of music students. A delightful program was given by members of the club. Miss Elizabeth Mattern of Glendale gave some exceptionally fine numbers from her repertoire, and cornet solos were delightfully rendered by John McCormick.

Young Benjamin Barnes played a serenade and valse on the guitar, and the hostess, Miss Hauber, delighted her guests with instrumental and vocal solos. At the conclusion of the program delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. F. Hauber.

SHOW FAIRYLAND IN PUPPET PLAY

Marionettes Win Applause in Performance at Club for Clever Work

EAGLE ROCK, June 6.—"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" came to the Women's Twentieth Century club last night with Ellen Galpin, known throughout the country for her work with marionettes. "Flummy" and "Diddle" were delightful, and her arrangement of the fairy ring is a beautiful addition to the play. The lighting was masterful and her handling of the puppets nothing short of miraculous.

Miss Galpin has given the play a roaring lion and a white duck whose acting is to be marveled at. Other additions have been made to the original cast of a wriggly bug and "Snowflake" the faithful canine friend of the seven dwarfs. While the play is fascinating to the children, it is even more so to their parents. "Grown-ups" love to make believe, and the illusion is so perfect in Miss Galpin's production that they quite forget they are not in the dreams of Fairyland once more. "Little Snow White" with her hair as black as jet, her face as white as snow and her lips as red as blood, and the cruel "Queen" become living people to the audience. The faithful ladies' maid and "Redbeard," her forester lover, win real sympathy.

Plan Eastern Trip. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner and family of Rockland avenue expect to leave soon for the east to spend the summer. They will return in the fall. He is a well known architect. They will go to Detroit and Canada.

Mrs. E. H. Wesbrook of La Verne avenue left Sunday for Detroit, where she will visit with her daughter, whom she expects to return with her in the fall to make this her home.

Little Miss Margaret Boynton of 5127 Rockland avenue is visiting her aunt in Pasadena for a few weeks.

T. B. McNary has gone for a three months' visit to Cannonsburg, Pa.

SUNLAND'S OLIVE PLANT IS CLOSED

Season Ended So Employees Will Enjoy Four-Day Picnic at Beach

SUNLAND, June 6.—Wednesday saw the end of the packing season at the Sunland Olive Cannery company's plant with an output for the season of 325 tons of canned olive oil. The plant will discontinue packing until next February, after finishing a small pack of green olives in fancy packages for the retail trade. The bulk of this season's pack was shipped by boat to New York. Boston and Seattle also took large shipments.

Next Monday the employees of the plant who have been employed there during the entire season will participate in a four days' picnic at Laguna Beach, given by the company.

Adams, proprietor of the cannery, and W. B. Lancaster and Elmer Adams are attending a packers' convention at San Diego.

Chicken Supper Adds $50 to Building Fund

TUJUNGA, June 6.—The building fund of the Tujunga Woman's club was further enriched Wednesday evening by $50, the proceeds of a cafeteria supper given at the school house. A committee under the direction of Mrs. D. J. Warnick and volunteers among the members prepared and served a meal that included chicken pies and baked potatoes which would make the solid south turn green with envy. A large patronage testified to the quality of the dishes prepared by the club women.

Improve Building and Ground at Old Studio

TUJUNGA, June 6.—Extensive alterations are being worked out in both the building and the grounds recently leased by Keith & White, morticians. The building was formerly the Fine Arts Guild studio established by Laura Lee Sweet.

A fountain for the wide grounds in front is included in the plans, to be done by George Harris, rustic wood and stone worker. New rooms will be added to the building for accommodating all branches of the business.

A huge waterspout, which attained a height of 800 feet, recently rose out of the sea within two miles off the coast of England.

YOUTH NO WORSE, SAY CLUBWOMEN

Leaders of Social Hygiene Movement and Others Rally to Cause

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—Although the nation has been shocked by the sensational features of the Robert Franks murder case in Chicago, involving two boys, sons of Chicago millionaires, youth in America today is no worse than in past generations and in many instances improved.

It is shown, prominent women attending the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, told International News Service here.

Opinions of the club chieftains upon the sheik and flapper of today follow:

Mrs. Edward Franklin White of Indiana, candidate for first vice-president:

"The youth movement is the forward movement. Youth of today, except that it has too much money, is all right."

Dr. Rachel Yarrow of Illinois, leader of the social hygiene movement:

"Youth today is better than in former times. Youth's new-found liberty is not wrong. We have suffered too much in the past from suppression and inhibitions."

Not Youth's Fault
Mrs. W. R. Alvord of Michigan, candidate, for second vice-president:

"Youth of today have more understanding than their elders. Dress of today is more sensible than ever and if the dance and music are worse than before it's our fault not youth."

Mrs. John D. Sherman of Colorado Springs, candidate for federation president:

"Too much money, liberty and gasoline is the trouble with youth today. Youth of today is no better or worse—it's just different."

Mrs. Henry Lockwood, past president Virginia federation:

"I have confidence in the everlasting spirit of American youth."

Mrs. Alexander Adams, prominent Texas club leader:

"American boys and girls are better patriots, more intelligent and better educated than in any preceding generation."
