Report That the White Pass and Yukon Railway Rates May Be Improved

Drought on Klondike Creeks Will Interfere Considerably With the Clean-Up.

(Special to the Times.) Vancouver, Aug. 7.—Steamer Islander arrived this morning from Skagway after a run of fifty-eight hours. She brought 60 passengers and $100,000 in gold.

Passengers say that the Klondike clean-up will be rather short on account of the drought on creeks, making it impossible to operate sluices. The Bank of British North America recently made a shipment of $1,000,000 gold to St. Michael en route to San Francisco for treatment at the mint there.

Travel is still very light on the upper Yukon, and crews and captains of all steamers, except four, have been paid off for the season. There is a prospect of better freight rates on the White Pass and Yukon railway.

There is no clue to the identity of the man whose headless corpse was found on the north side of the harbor yesterday. The authorities do not believe there was any foul play, although the absence of the head has not yet been explained.

GARRISON SURPRISED.

Seven Soldiers Killed by Triflesmen, Who Carried Off Rifles, Ammunition and Uniforms.

(Associated Press.)

Singai, Aug. 7.—Two hundred Mahonds attacked a militia post at Bashaikar on August 6th, killed a sentry, surprised the garrison, which sought refuge in the barracks.

The Mahonds demanded the rifles, threatening to burn the post if weapons were not given up. The militiamen then surrendered their rifles.

Seven of the men were killed, and an officer and three men were wounded.

The Mahonds then decamped with the rifles, ammunition, uniforms and kits of the garrison, without losing a man.

NO CLUE TO ROBBERS.

Police Think Gold Robbery Was Arranged in San Quentin Prison.

(Associated Press.)

San Francisco, Aug. 7.—Practically no clue has been obtained to the perpetrators of the $280,000 robbery at Selby smelter works. Strong efforts are being made to track the movements of a recently paroled convict.

The police believe that the plot was hatched in the state prison at San Quentin, and call attention to the fact that another convict was seen in the neighborhood of the smelter works immediately after his release from San Quentin. The paroled convict, whom the detectives suspect, was in prison when the other convict was released. Upon his discharge he immediately appeared in Crockett, remained several days and then disappeared. It is said the paroled suspect was employed years ago at the Selby smelter works. Afterwards he kept a saloon and lodging house at Crockett, which was frequented by Selby's employees.

Officials of the smelting company declared today that none of the employees are suspected of complicity in the crime.

The Case Of O'Brien

Application for New Trial Made in Behalf of Condemned Murderer.

Railway Mail Clerks Anxious to Have the Trackmen's Strike Settled.

(Special to the Times.) Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Mr. Bethune, of Chrysler & Bethune, appeared before Hon. D. Mills and Hon. R. W. Scott today and argued in favor of a new trial, under section 748 of the criminal code, in the case of O'Brien, the Yukon murderer, because, Mr. Bethune claimed, the judge admitted evidence which he should not have done. "If a new trial was not granted then Mr. Bethune asked, under section 744, for a fiat to appeal to the Supreme court.

The grounds on which Mr. Bethune bases his case are purely technical. "There is no doubt that O'Brien would have been found guilty, apart from the evidence objected to. It is scarcely likely that Mr. Bethune's application will be granted.

CHINESE NEGOTIATIONS.

Rapid and Satisfactory Progress Has Been Made—British Troops in China.

London, Aug. 6.—Lord Lansdowne, the foreign secretary, replying in the House of Lords today to a question of Earl Spencer, Liberal, said the Chinese negotiations had recently made rapid and satisfactory progress. The indemnity question was disposed of with the exception of a few minor points. There was still some question whether the matter of the commercial facilities in China had not better be transferred to some other place than Peking, and to some more widely body than the present conference. Great Britain was still in favor of the open door throughout China. They could not complain that they had not equal commercial advantages in the Yang-tze valley.

The foreign secretary also said the final strength of the legation garrison at Peking will probably be 1,800 men and that an additional force of 3,000 men would be distributed at different points along the route to the sea. The secretary regarded the Anglo-German and the Anglo-Russian agreements as satisfactory, and as tending to the maintenance of Chinese territorial integrity.

ANXIOUS TO FINISH.

Peking, Aug. 6.—Mr. Roschill and Mr. Munnu von Schwartzstein have telegraphed Chang Chün and Tung Liu Kun, the Hanchow and Nankin viceroys, requesting them to use their influence with the government not to raise objections to the protocol. All the ministers of the powers except Sir Ernest Satow are anxious to finish the business.

The British delay is not explained and causes some uneasiness.

General von Ron, the French commander, and his staff have departed and the French troops are leaving.

Financial and Industrial Crisis Is Spreading in Germany.

Berlin, Aug. 6.—Today's dispatches from various parts of Germany show that the financial and industrial crisis is spreading. The Rheinische Immo-bilien Bank of Cologne has been declared insolvent, and the cotton mills of Ehrenberg and Richter, in Ellenburg, have suspended. Nothing has yet been published regarding their respective liabilities. Dr. Vialin, chairman of the receivers of the machinery factory in Werdau, has been arrested. Two of the directors are wanted under suspicion of having forged checks.

Charges Against the President of Brazil is Causing a Bitter Feeling.

(Associated Press.)

New York, Aug. 7.—A special cable to the Herald from Rio Janeiro, Brazil, says:

"The minister of the interior and the chief of police have resigned. President Campos Salles has appointed Sabino Barroso, who is deputy for Minas Gerais, minister of the interior, and Edmundo Muniz, chief of police.

"Several other high officials, including the director of the medical college and the director of the sanitary department, have also resigned.

"The political situation is becoming worse every day. Statements by the brother of President Campos Salles, the political system, have contributed to aggravate the situation. The opposition newspapers have also accused President Campos Salles of having imported furniture without paying duty on it. This charge, though not proved, has increased the bitter feeling. The situation is regarded as precarious."

Will Attend The Funeral

King Edward and Queen Alexandra to Start For Homburg on Friday.

(Associated Press.)

London, Aug. 7.—A resolution providing for an address of condolence with King Edward and sympathy with Emperor William on the death of the Dowager Empress Frederick, their sister and mother respectively, was unanimously passed in the House of Commons today. Mr. Balfour, the government leader, in moving the resolution highly eulogized the exemplary life of the daughter, wife and mother, who throughout her life strove to the utmost to promote mutual comprehension and sympathy between the two great nations, upon whom so much of the future of civilization depended.

King Edward, Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria and Princess Nicholas, of Greece, who is the guest of Their Majesties, will start for Homburg on Friday to attend the funeral services of the Empress Frederick, to be held in the presence of the family next Sunday.

Funeral on Tuesday.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS PASSED Resolution of Condolence and Sympathy.

(Associated Press.)

London, Aug. 7.—It has been definitely decided that the funeral of the Dowager Empress Frederick will take place on Tuesday next, August 13th. The remains will be deposited in the Frederick Church Mausoleum near Potsdam. Emperor William has issued a decree ordering the army to go into mourning for six weeks and giving infinite details as to how the mourning emblems are to be worn. There will be no military music for eight days.

Court circles have been notified as to how the ladies and gentlemen of the court must dress till November 5th. The ladies are to wear full mourning until August 20th, medium mourning until September 23rd, and minor mourning until November.

Some of the papers take exception to the mourning orders. One paper, referring to the prohibition of public entertainments and musical and theatrical performances until after the funeral, says it believes this will hinder to a certain degree the purpose for which it was intended. It contrasts with this order Emperor Frederick's order upon the death of Emperor William I. in which he directed that on any mourning regulations leaving the people to show their sympathy in their own way.

The Hamburger Nachrichten, Prince Bismarck's old organ, draws upon its officer's reminiscences by saying Prince Bismarck repeatedly asserted in private conversation that it was quite untrue that the Empress Frederick caused him great obstacles during Emperor Frederick's reign, adding that on the contrary there was no time in his entire career in which he was freer from friction than during the "Ninety-nine days."

The Berliner Neueste Nachrichten, an influential Conservative organ which also cherishes Bismarckian tradition, has repeatedly denied that Empress Frederick took part in the intrigues which caused Prince Bismarck's downfall, saying: "She was much too shrewd a woman to do so."

THE BUFFALO EXPOSITION.

Directors Hope the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York Will Visit Exhibition.

(Associated Press.)

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 7.—The directors of the Pan-American exposition have decided to ask the exhibitors of various buildings to co-operate with newspapers of this and other cities in giving a wide range of publicity to the exhibit features of the exposition.

Two events of surpassing importance, the visit of the President and later of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, were discussed by the board. No date has been fixed for the visit of the President. A committee, including President Milburn, direct-general, will go to Canton tomorrow to make arrangements for the visit of the President. President's day will undoubtedly be on or about September 10th.

The Duke of Cornwall and York and his suite are expected at Niagara about September 9th, at which time it is expected that he will consent to have his itinerary changed slightly so as to include the exposition for a visit of a day or two.

Warships in Collision

Newly Built Third-Class Cruiser Cathaya Struck by Torpedo Destroyer.

Russian Proclamation in Regard to an Important Chinese Concession of Territory.

The Japanese mail brought by R. M. S. Empress of China give particulars of a collision on the 18th ult. between the newly built third-class cruiser Cathaya and the torpedo-destroyer Akehono, off Tatemama near Yokosuka.

The Japanese consul at Singapore reports that three submarine reports were heard after 4 o'clock on the morning of the 23rd inst., at Sourabaya, Java Island. It was discovered later on that Forat Mountain which lies some 60 miles to the southwest of the port was in active eruption.

The following is a translation of a proclamation which was posted by the Russians at Tien Tsin on June 27th. It has of course been known for some time that the Russians had obtained a concession at Tien Tsin, but the extent of it is an eye-opener.

"Notice is hereby given that we have agreed with the Chinese government that we shall have a concession granted in Tien Tsin as the other powers. In one way its boundary extends from Hoo-ku-woo-tung west of the temple of the God of Medicine on the east bank of the Peiho, down to Kerosine Oil Godown of Meyerink outside of We Tse gate. In the other direction, it stretches from the railway to the river bank. To mark out the limits of this concession, boundary stones have been erected, and people owning house and land properties within these boundaries are hereby notified to promptly send in their title deeds relating to such properties for official examination, before the 1st day of the 10th moon.

"At the expiration of the above date, any piece of land for which no title deed has been presented, will be forfeited, and the event of any title deeds being lost or destroyed during the late disturbance, permission is given to such land owners to apply for new copies with proper security.

"Strict observance of this is to be enforced from this date.

"(Signed) Consul-General for Russia, Wu Ting-fang, the Chinese minister to America, instructing him to induce the Chinese in that country to send in subscriptions towards the populace expenses on the condition that if any one may subscribe more than 10,000 taels, he may receive a high button from the Emperor on the same basis as the privilege granted in the late Chihli famine relief fund. News of alliance of villagers in the province of Chihli with the object of creating further depredations having reached the foreign minister at Peking, the latter have communicated with the Chinese peace plenipotentiaries urging that steps be taken at once to suppress these would-be revolutionists.

The petition to Mr. Chamberlain asking for an inquiry into the sanitary condition of Hongkong was to be sent to the world's parliament on the 14th inst. It is reported to be the strongest petition in the matter of signatures ever sent from the colony. Nearly all the doctors, architects, and engineers have signed, and it bears over a thousand signatures altogether. The Governor, Sir Henry Blake, wrote home last week asking for a sanitary expert to be sent out. The agitation has so far had this successful result, though there is a widespread opinion that the governor has tried to steal a march on the petitioners.

There is probably payable gold enough in the Rand (says a writer) to multiply the world's coined gold by four, to give every living human being two sovereigns "and still leave a reserve for the specially fortunate." Calculations bring out the Rand's estimated gold value at nearly 2,000 millions, 375 millions of which would be profit. Knows off even a quarter, he on the safe side, and more than 750 millions profit still remains.

SURE TO ASK

The Kind of Coffee When Postum Is Well Made.

"Three great coffee drinkers were my old school friends and her two daughters. They are always complaining and talking medicine. I determined to give them Postum Food Coffee instead of coffee when they visited me so without saying anything to them about it, I made a big pot of Postum the first morning, using four heaping teaspoons to the pint of water, and let it boil twenty minutes, stirring down occasionally.

"Before the meal was half over, each one passed up the cup to be refilled, remarking how fine the coffee was. The mother asked for a third cup, and inquired as to the brand of coffee I used. I didn't answer her question just then, for I had heard her say a while before that she didn't like Postum Food Coffee unless it was more than half old-fashioned coffee.

"After breakfast I told her that the coffee she liked so well at breakfast was pure Postum Food Coffee, and the reason she liked it was because it was properly made, that is, it was boiled long enough to bring out the flavor. I have been brought up from a nervous, wretched invalid, to a fine condition of physical health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

"I am doing all I can to help the world out of coffee slavery, to Postum freedom, and have earned the gratitude of many, many friends." Myra J. Toller, 1022 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

The Jail Investigation

A Prisoner Gives Evidence Before the Commission at New Westminster.

Officials Were Asked to Retire While Witness Was on the Stand.

The jail inquiry was resumed at New Westminster on Monday morning. Charles Hughes was sworn. Witness was formerly a driver on Clarke's express wagon. On one occasion he conveyed a dog-house and a sack to Mr. Booth's. The sack was tied, but it appeared to contain vegetables. This was about Christmas, 1890.

To Mr. Duckrill: It may have been a dog-house; but he did not pay much attention to it. The next witness was one of the prisoners who had been frequently referred to, Dan McCarthy. At the request of His Honor the prisoner was relieved of his irons, and the jail officials were asked to retire. His Honor warned witness he had nothing to fear from any jail official, and he could make his statement as clear and full as he desired.

The prisoner then stated he had served six months of a 23 months' sentence for stealing. Entered on February 15th. A week later he was put in the kitchen at work. The warden came in and got some paper, with which he wrapped up some garden vegetables. Cathcart, another prisoner, said he often did that. He objected to being taken that way. Next day the witness, at the request of the matron, took her a loaf of bread, covering it with a piece of sack. Cathcart said that was nothing. There was something like that every day. Cathcart showed him a list of such incidents; he said he would send it to Superintendent Hussey. A few days after he referred a similar request to Cathcart, who gave a loaf and egg in three pieces, so that it could pass through the bars, and the matron, who later gave him a loaf of home made bread. Another time Miss Rose Armstrong asked Cathcart for soap, and he gave her four big bars. Cathcart took sick, and witness, in conversation with Guard Turnbull, showed him Cathcart's memo. Next day the memo, book was gone. The day after the warden inquired after the book, and had words about it with Cathcart. A week after Cathcart again took sick. Witness was instructed to send his help to his cell at 6 o'clock. At that hour the governor came and looked over the stores, and sent upstairs two boxes of pepper, which had not been opened. Witness explained how he got a necktie, some tobacco and a razor from Turnbull, in acknowledgment of meat, French-fried potatoes, etc., from the kitchen. He also explained about the governor's incubator for hatching ducks and chickens in the hospital ward last spring. The heat was derived from coal oil lamps. The prisoners were put to work at

Making Torches for the Matfeling celebration, and oil had been sent up from town. Part of the oil had been appropriated for the incubators. The prisoners also made lamps for themselves of bottles, using oil and waste. Turnbull checked Teague for taking oil, and Teague got mad and told witness to keep his eye open that evening. Accordingly he did, and saw Turnbull, the governor, and a couple of prisoners looking at May Evans, who was doing a dance in her cell. Next day she told witness she would get a bottle for her, and he supposed she did, for she gave him a mug of whiskey. He told Fred Kelly who was in at the time Kelly said that was nothing. He saw the governor in May's cell. He and Cathcart then put their heads together and arranged to get to May's cell. Witness saw McKinnon go into May's cell. He was head trusty, and had a skeleton key. Witness here produced a skeleton key and gave it to the judge. He admitted he had not had a chance to try it. Witness and Cathcart tried to get into May's cell, but the warden caught them. They accused him of going in where they wanted to go. Soon after he caught the warden coming out of May's cell, and was promptly locked up, but nothing was said. Soon after he took more bread to the matron, walking past Guard Marshall. Later he went to look at the incubator, and while looking about it put the light out. Hearing some whispering in May's room, he looked in and saw the warden there with May. Witness said he told the governor the first chance he got he would report everything he knew to the government agent. After that the governor used to every evening. As witness' time was nearly up he asked for his clothes, and when he got them he found they were all moth eaten. When he got out he went to Mr. Robson and told him all he had to tell and made a written statement. He met the warden soon after and told him what he had done, and the warden gave him $3.25 to leave town. Mr. Robson got him board at the Colonial hotel, and subsequently a position at the college. He then explained the circumstances under which he was again put in jail for his present term. Subsequently he said the warden had called him a dirty cur. Later, he was asked if Calbeck tried to get him to make the statements he had. Witness said no. The warden then asked him to swear to a statement to the effect that Calbeck had tried to get witness to make the statements, and when he refused he said he would double on him until he made it.

Resuming at 2.30, the examination of McCarthy alias Blackie, was continued. The warden searched witness' cell, and bedding, etc., were thrown on the floor, the pillows torn open and the feathers scattered. He burned his papers, dates, etc., including two affidavits, and demanded them from the warden, who refused to give them up. This was the last Sunday the warden was on duty. The first time he was in he served ten months, being allowed two months for good conduct. WESTMINSTER GAOL.

It would be interesting to know what the Attorney-General, "the political head" of the present provincial administration, thinks of the revolutions in connection with the provincial gaol at New Westminster. A business government with an honest desire to live up to the reputation its chief organ has been laboring hard to establish for it, would naturally be expected to provide some system of inspection for its institutions. The great majority of provincial officials, like the great majority of people generally, may be depended upon to do their duty. But it has been proved by experience that it is well that governors of gaols, asylums and other public institutions in which the unfortunates of the world are confined should be held under a sense of responsibility to powers higher than their own will and conscience. We believe it was at one time the duty of the Chief of the Provincial Police to superintend and report to the government upon the working of the provincial gaols. For reasons which have never been explained Chief Hussey was stripped of practically all the powers necessary to the highest utility of the force which he commands, the duties of inspector of gaols among the rest. This was one of the reforms effected by Hon. Joseph Martin when he was Attorney-General. As he is still master of the administration his successor has not dared to, or is too indolent to, interfere with his arrangements. The department of provincial police is now worked from the office of the Attorney-General. The chief is an automaton whose will is merely that of the Hon. D. M. Eberts, or of one of his subordinates. Mr. Hussey has no power to do anything of his own volition; the initiative must be taken by Mr. Eberts, whose office hours are not unduly prolonged at any season, or by one of his deputies. Even the constables are assigned their duties by the "office." There are few complaints against the provincial police, but the consequence of such arrangements cannot but be a great deterioration in efficiency. The first fruits of such a system are the scandalous relations at New Westminster. The testimony given has disgraced the department of the Attorney-General and brought discredit upon British Columbia generally.

PROTECTION AND PROSPERITY.

Germany is slated for a period of depression. The panic is extending and will probably affect a large part of the business world outside of the empire. Russia on the one side has already felt the effects of the reaction and France on the other cannot escape. The strikes in the United States will nullify in a large degree the stimulating results of a good harvest. The world has become very sympathetic as a consequence of the extension of its business nervous system. Telegraphs and fast-ships have formed connections which are sensitive to a degree to the pulsations of commerce. As usual, the highly protected countries are the storm centres of these business disturbances. Great Britain cannot hope to entirely escape their consequences. The waves will extend to her shores, and probably shake up some time-honored business institutions. The extraordinary harvest has come to Canada at an opportune time. The crops in Europe are below the average. Even France will be compelled to import large quantities of wheat. The world must be fed, and before long Canada will be prepared to feed it. It is not the United States but Canada, on which the hungry consumers must soon rely to make up those deficiencies. We shall probably feel the coming depression in a slighter degree than any other country. Therefore we can afford to view in a more or less philosophic manner the efforts of the statesmen of Germany to ward off the threatening disaster. The duties on agricultural imports have been greatly increased for the purpose of enabling farmers to share in the protection which has been accorded the manufacturers. The probable result will be an enhanced price of the necessities of life and greater distress among the poorer classes. The ultimate effect of the artificial stimulus should be an increase in agricultural production and the final drop of prices to the old level when the country has become self-feeding. That is the theory, we suppose, of the advisers of the Kaiser. It will be interesting to observe how it works out. It may pay, as well as the fast ships which have been turned out under glass from the German shipyards. It proves, in any event, that the protectionists of the Fatherland are satisfied with the results of their system when they are so eager to extend its operations.

Another interesting development of the situation is the attitude of United-States protectionists. They have long held that Europe could not imitate their methods because her people had to be fed and to a great extent depended upon the United States to feed them. It is predicted that Germany will be compelled to recede or cease to be a manufacturing country. The cost of living will become so high as to prohibit manufacturing for export. We shall see. If all the world should become protectionist and every country decide to live off its own resources, the United States would be a very cheap place to live in. Great Britain could live off her colonies. But would it be an economical way of living, and would not universal free trade be a more sensible system? An object lesson is necessary, however, and it appears the world is drifting in the direction of one.

INDUSTRIAL CONFLICTS.

The struggle for mastery between the unions and the capitalists in the metal industries in the Eastern States promises to be a fight to a finish. The latter have to be "smeared," and in these modern times the party of the nation with the resources usually gains its point. Whatever happens, the capitalist and his family seldom lack bread. If the struggle continues for months privation will be felt in the home of many a worker. Therein lies the strength of the cause of the combines of capital. The dispute is not entirely over wages. It is a question of control of the shops, whether the unions or the employers shall run the business. At least that is what the "masters" say, and it is not contradicted by the French. A demand was made that all the shops should be brought under the jurisdiction of the labor organizations. This demand was resisted, and two reasons are given for this objection. The men in the non-union works were satisfied with their positions and were paid higher rates than in the other places, and these works paid better because the methods employed in them were more up to date than in the union establishments. It is alleged that the union men opposed the introduction of labor-saving machinery and thereby hampered industry. Few sensible, unprejudiced men will deny that while private ownership exists the right of an owner to employ whom he pleases and to conduct his establishment in the manner that will insure the highest results exist along with it. Therefore it is not impossible to conceive of labor becoming somewhat arbitrary in its demands when it thinks it has the employer in its power, say with contracts on his hands, the completion of which is called for within a certain time under heavy penalties. It is also true that there is something in the contention of the union men that non-union establishments are sometimes maintained by trusts for the purpose of coercing their union employees. The unions set the standard of wages in all trades that are organized, and all workers in that trade are benefited to some extent by the efforts of the labor organizations. For that reason it is contended that all shops should be brought within the union fold. The steel trust points to the fact that its non-union employees are paid higher wages than the scale calls for, and do not wish to be forced to join the unions. Corporations have no souls. Is the steel trust playing a deep game against the unions or does it pay its non-union men more money because they are worth more? High-handed and unreasonable actions upon either side often result in embittered relationships which endure for years. As a general thing, both parties to these industrial conflicts are heavy losers. Not only so, but the welfare of whole communities is affected by the misunderstandings. If the present organization movement be continued for a few years it is not impossible that a conflict may arise which will affect a whole continent. Is it not possible to settle these difficulties by a more common sense method than the survival of the party with the greatest resources? There is a right on one side or the other, possibly some rights on both sides. Is it not possible to determine which side is right and which is wrong, or, more probably, the rights and wrongs on both sides, and the concessions necessary to secure peace? In nine strikes out of ten the workmen are starved into submission after great losses have been suffered by both sides. But victory is not always with those who have the heaviest account in the scale of justice.

A Chicago dispatch says: Dr. John Alexander Dowie's faith cure methods have been brought sharply into contrast with those of regular physicians. After praying for several days over cases of diphtheria Dr. Dowie consented to allow a trial of antitoxin, with the result that in a few hours his patients were better. Antitoxin, it is understood, will hereafter be included as a part of the faith treatment of diphtheria in Zion. Failure of the prayer remedy in the case of a child led to the trial of antitoxin. The city authorities were astonished when a messenger from Zion came to request a supply of antitoxin.

The miners under the mint in California struck a very rich vein of gold. The "proposition" is now worked out. A PROTEST. To the Editor:—I beg leave to forward you this resolution, which was passed in L. O. L. No. 1,150, held in this city August 2nd, and trust you will be kind enough to publish it in your paper: "Resolved: That this L. O. L. No. 1,150, New Westminster, begs respectfully to protest against the importing of unskilled attendants and mechanics from Eastern Canada, or the Old Country, to take the places of those at present in the country, and also at present in the government service. We consider that those who have resided in the country and have stood its hardships for years are entitled to first consideration. And it was further resolved to forward a copy to the provincial premier, and also to the various trades and labor councils throughout the province, Wm. Henderson, Recording Secretary."

A COMPLAINT. To the Editor:—The tenders for the delivery of stone for the James Bay causeway were dealt with yesterday afternoon by His Worship the Mayor and board of aldermen. They have been under consideration for some time. Mr. J. M. Mortimer was the lowest tender for both cut stone and rubble sandstone, but for some reason he did not satisfy the board, and they considered the next lowest tender. For all granite my tender was the lowest, but to separate the tenders, we find Mr. Wood was the lowest, and he was awarded the board awarded to him in order to save some $1,420. I think the board was justified in doing so. For the rubble, my tender was granted, and the board awarded the contract to Mr. Hagarty, to be of sandstone, for the sum of $11,000; a difference of $1,500, which will keep me two stone masons employed nine months. Allowing six yards per day for each man, they will build 3,792 cubic yards. This will also reduce the weight of the wall, and the granite is much heavier than sandstone. I think the mayor and aldermen were not justified in their action, and should be called upon to explain why they proposed to award the contract in this manner, besides doing me an injustice. JOS. E. PHILLIPS. Victoria, August 7th, 1901.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.

Difficulty Between French Ambassador and Turkish Government Arises From Broken Promises. (Associated Press.) Paris, Aug. 7.—A high official of the French foreign office to-day explained to the correspondent of the Associated Press the misunderstanding at Constantinople between the French ambassador there, M. Constant, and the Turkish government. There are two matters pending between France and Turkey: The affair of the Quay company, and a number of claims of Frenchmen against the Porte, the amount of which was fixed and payment promised long ago. M. Constant has been unable to obtain satisfaction in either matter, and it may be intimated that he would be forced to ask for his recall if the Turkish government persisted in its procrastinating tactics. M. Delcasse, who returned to Paris yesterday, went to Constantinople, allied with President Loubet, spent the night at Rambouillet, and returned to Paris to-day; he will see the Turkish ambassador this afternoon or to-morrow. It is probable that he may have to renew M. Constant's intimation regarding his recall. In fact it is probable that the matter will be speedily settled in a manner satisfactory to France. The members of the Turkish embassy here maintain diplomatic silence.

WAITING FOR NEWS.

(Associated Press.) Washington, Aug. 7.—The state department has heard nothing from Mr. Rockhill for several days as to the situation at Pekin, and is at a loss to understand the reasons for the reported refusal of the English minister to sign the protocol. It is expected, however, that Mr. Rockhill will be heard from very fully on the subject in case the day before yesterday any serious issue over the conclusion of the negotiations. INJURED BY LIVE WIRE. (Associated Press.) New York, Aug. 7.—A live trolley wire broke in Marcy avenue, between South Third and South Fourth streets, Brooklyn, this afternoon, and the ends fell on a crowded street car. One boy was seriously injured and three others were hurt by the wire.

UNDER NEW RULES.

(Associated Press.) Manila, Aug. 7.—Gen. Geo. W. Davis, provost marshal of Manila, in the presence of General Chaffee, the military commander, and the whole of the military staff, turned over their administration to-day to Civil Governor Taft and the newly appointed officials. Judge Taft thanked the army for its good and conscientious work in the troublesome times.

Seeking Bail For Strikers

Application of J. H. Senkler Concluded Before Mr. Justice Walkem This Morning. Frank Rogers and Desplaines Included—A Useful Hint for Prisoners.

A useful hint for the guidance of prisoners, who have the selection of speedy trial or trial by jury, was thrown out by Mr. Justice Walkem this morning during the hearing of the application of J. H. Senkler, of Vancouver, for bail for the fishermen concerned in the recent strike troubles on the Fraser. It was in the early days in Cariboo, and the principal figure in it was a big red-headed fellow to whom Sir Matthew Begbie and Mr. Justice Walkem had each given $5 to enable him to go down the river. Later, in recognition of their kindness, the man sought free advice of Sir Matthew, and that old worthy summoned Mr. Justice Walkem to assist him in determining counsel to the fellow, who had got into a scrape and who wished to know whether it was advisable to come before a judge or before a jury.

"Well, if you are guilty," observed Sir Matthew, "you had better go before a jury, because then you stand a chance of getting off; but if you are innocent August 2nd, and trust you will be kind enough to publish it in your paper: "Resolved: That this L. O. L. No. 1,150, New Westminster, begs respectfully to protest against the importing of unskilled attendants and mechanics from Eastern Canada, or the Old Country, to take the places of those at present in the country, and also at present in the government service. PERSONAL.

Daniel Cadzow, a mining prospector, of Alaska, is a guest at the Dominion. He went into the country from Edmonton in 1868, and has remained North ever since. He is a rather thrilling experience when at Athabasca to Fort McPherson, up the river into waters which empty into Bell river, from Bell river into the Porcupine, and from the latter river into the Yukon. He passed on his trip within 500 miles of Dawson, but did not touch at that point, continuing to Alaska. He carried on his work of exploration most thoroughly, and states that there are undoubtedly some very rich properties in Alaska, but his value, as a general thing, is greatly magnified. Business, he says, is dead at Nome, owing to the lateness of the season. Mr. Cadzow had a rather thrilling experience when at Athabasca to Fort McPherson, up the river into waters which empty into Bell river, from Bell river into the Porcupine, and from the latter river into the Yukon. He passed on his trip within 500 miles of Dawson, but did not touch at that point, continuing to Alaska. He carried on his work of exploration most thoroughly, and states that there are undoubtedly some very rich properties in Alaska, but his value, as a general thing, is greatly magnified. WEATHER BULLETIN.
Daily Report Published by the Victoria Meteorological Department.
Victoria, Aug. 7-5 a. m. An area of low barometer, which appeared yesterday over the western part of the province, still holds its position, and a trough of low pressure extends thence southward through central Oregon to Nevada. The barometer is high on the Washington coast, and over the Rockies eastward to Manitoba another vast area of high barometer covers that region. These conditions will probably cause somewhat cooler weather in this district. The weather is mostly bright and sunny from the Pacific to the lakes, and temperatures lower in the Northwest. Thunderstorms occurred in upper California, and showers at Winnipeg and Port Arthur.
Forecasts.
For 36 hours ending 5 p.m. Thursday. Victoria and vicinity—Moderate or fresh southerly winds, mostly fair and cooler. Lower Mainland—Moderate or fresh winds, generally fair and warm.

A fire in the upper portion of Spencer's Arcade last night gave the firemen some occupation for a while. The alarm was turned in by E. A. Harris, who noticed smoke issuing from the roof while in his studio. Promptness on both his and the department's part prevented what might otherwise have been a dangerous fire. The flames were confined to the apartment between the ceiling and roof, where a quantity of old paper was burning. The damage amounted to about $25. In recognition of the excellent work of the firemen Mr. Spencer has forwarded them a cheque for $50. Two grass fires, one at Beacon Hill and the other at the junction of Douglas and Government streets, also occupied the attention of the department yesterday.
The members of the R. G. A. at Work Point are engaged again to-day in carrying out their annual course in musketry, with the carbines. Owing to the number of men who have to take part the practice is being carried out by sections, one section employing the range each day. It is expected that the practice will be completed by to-morrow night. On Monday next the Fortness Company, R. E., will commence their practice, being eighty rounds to a man instead of twenty, the number fired by the artillery. This practice also will occupy several days. The existence of a modern range such as that at Clover Point, and the permission of the Dominion government to use it, is a great advantage to the regular forces at the point, who were unable to carry out their practice last year through lack of range facilities.

Seattle Tennis Tournament Commenced
This Morning—Four Players From Victoria Participating.
The twelfth annual tournament of the Seattle Tennis Club which opens to-day at Seattle promises to be one of peculiar interest. Although the two local cracks, Powell and Goward, have not entered, Victoria is not by any means unrepresented as four well known tennis exponents from this city will take part in the tournament. They are: H. A. Goward, Alexis Martin, J. D. Hunter and G. Wilson. The Seattle T.C. says: "The absence of Powell and Goward leaves gaps which are hard to fill, as they have always been prominent at the tournaments."
Among the Seattle players to participate in the tournament is L. R. Freeman, the Northwest champion. It was thought that Freeman would not take part in the match which year, as he had left the country. He has, however, arrived from Spokane and announced his intention of participating. He will defend his title of state champion, and will also play in doubles with Newton. The gentlemen's doubles between Russell and Hurd and Freeman and Newton is probably the match which is being looked forward to with the greatest eagerness.
Eight of the most prominent players of Tacoma have entered, including Breeze, Romington and Tidmarsh. Twelve teams have entered for the men's doubles, and more are expected.
Almost immediately after the completion of the Seattle tournament, Tacoma will become the scene of tennis play. The annual tournament of that city will, it is expected, have more entries than ever before, and among them will be almost all the best players of Seattle. Tacoma of Victoria—Powell and Goward, of this city, as well as many other Victoria players, have announced their intention of visiting Tacoma. Many prizes offered will no doubt find their way to this city through the playing of the tennis enthusiasts of Victoria.

HOLIDAYS EXTENDED
Another Week's Vacation to Be Given Children All Over the Province.
With a view to getting the summer holidays extended on account of the present hot weather, H. Dallas Helmecken, M.P.P., waited on the Minister of Education this morning, with the result that an order will be passed prolonging the vacation term a week.
The news that their holidays have been increased will give the children an immense gratification, particularly to the boys, who are happily enclosed in some camp on the beach or who, by reason of the limited time he or she has at their disposal, would be obliged to cut short some enjoyable outing or visit. There is no doubt but that the present is the warmest part of the season and the boys do not feel here as it is on the Mainland, where, especially at inland points, the weather has of late been most oppressive. But what the school children desire here in the way of special favors will apply all over the province, and instead of schools opening next Monday, it will now be a week from that date.

There is no doubt but that the present is the warmest part of the season and the boys do not feel here as it is on the Mainland, where, especially at inland points, the weather has of late been most oppressive. But what the school children desire here in the way of special favors will apply all over the province, and instead of schools opening next Monday, it will now be a week from that date.

stupid opposition to progress and reform with their lives.

"In the meantime the sufferers by the last act of wanton folly are wondering how long before they will obtain their indemnities. The English seem to be preparing for prompt payment, as the legation is investigating individual claims and cutting them down as freely as possible after the American precedent.

"It seems utterly unfair that where a man's family were obliged to return to England or America while he was besieged in the legations, he should be obliged to bear the expenses of the double journey in order to lighten the burden of his recent tortures. The attitude of the legations seems to be that if a man is paid somewhere near the value of his effects, he should be satisfied, and not expect either full value, or expenses necessarily incurred by the events over which he had no control.

"This is a crying shame. Everyone besieged in Peking should be fully indemnified for every item of loss. The claims should be closely scrutinized, as there are sure to be cases of attempted imposition practiced, but the scrutiny should be done in a spirit of justice and not with a desire to cut every claim, just or unjust, in order to reduce the amount the governments will have to pay their suffering subjects or citizens in Hatanen street, now dubbed Ketteler street, by the Germans, which is intended to be erected by the base of the monument to be erected to the ill-fated Baron who was foully assassinated on that spot.

"It is only just that a monument should be erected right there in the middle of the street compelling all traffic to diverge to the right or left as it will, but it will be an awful blow to Chinese conceit, such a blow as should have been administered many times before in diverse places we can all call to mind. His death alone at last opened the eyes of the foreign ministers in Peking to what awaited every foreign resident, if they ventured beyond their legation wall, under a promised Chinese escort to see to the coast.

"With the recall of De Giers most of the legations will have changed heads and the residents of China are to be congratulated. The few who are left unchanged are harmless, and the new incumbents cannot but be improvements on their predecessors. The southern section of the city governed by the English under Captain Barrow has been turned over to Chinese administration. Captain Barrow and his capable interpreter, Mr. J. M. Allardyce made many friends among the Chinese of all classes by their fearless, impartial and merciful administration of a difficult task.

"A neat little station house has been built upon the bridge in Legation street by the Japanese, which commands a view of the four cardinal points of the compass. Hot weather is upon us and Pettibon the obituarist is but a pleasant memory of the past. Some say it will be rebuilt, but they are the sanguine ones. The majority of residents will not want to be so far removed from the troops for many years to come.

AN UNUSUAL OFFER. If you are at all skeptical about trying Griffiths' Menthol Lintment, your druggist will sell it with the understanding that if not entirely satisfactory your money back. Use it for rheumatism, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, muscular soreness and all forms of swelling and inflammation. All druggists, 25 cents.

GENIUS AND GOTT. This association of genius and gott cannot be a fortuitous coincidence. The secret of the association probably lies in the special biological peculiarities of gott. It is liable to occur in robust, well-nourished individuals. It acts in such a way that the poison is sometimes in the blood and sometimes in the joints. Thus, not only is the poison itself probably an irritant and stimulant to the nervous system but even its excretions are mentally beneficial. When it is in the victim's blood his brain becomes abnormally overclouded; when it is in his joints his mind becomes abnormally clear and vigorous. There is thus a well-marked mental periodicity; the man liable to attacks of gott is able to view the world from two entirely different points of view; he has, as it were, two brains at his disposal; in the transition from one state to another he is constantly receiving new inspirations, and constantly forced to gloomy and severe self-criticism. His mind thus attains a greater mental vigor and astuteness than the more equable mind of the non-gott subject though the latter is doubtless much more useful for the ordinary purposes of life.

It must not be supposed that in thus stating a connection between gott and genius it is thereby assumed that the latter is in any sense product of the former. All the uric acid in the world will never suffice of itself to produce genius, and it is easy enough to find severe gott in individuals who are neither rich nor wise, but merely hard-working manual laborers of the most ordinary intelligence. It may well be, however, that, given a highly endowed and robust organism, the gottic poison acts as a real stimulus to intellectual energy and a real aid to intellectual achievement. Gout is thus merely one of perhaps many exciting causes acting on a fundamental predisposition. Is the man of genius is all the better for a slight ferment of disease, we must not forget that if he is to accomplish much hard work he also requires a robust constitution. TRAIL

The city's new fire department held its first meeting on Thursday night at the fire hall. The members elected the following officers: President, Hamilton Jones; secretary, R. B. McCammon; foreman, John Craig; assistant-foreman, H. Williams. The boys are to commence practicing without delay, and are arranging for an extension of the fire hall to arranged suitable quarters for part of the department.

NEW WESTMINSTER

A workman on the new dredge had a narrow escape from being drowned about 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, a fatality being averted by the prompt action of Joseph Johnston. Mr. Johnston saw one of the men employed on the dredge fall into the river, between the dredge and the C. P. R. wharf. He at once ran across the street, and through a scow house, moored to the stern of which was a fishing skiff, which he unfastened and pushed out. He found the man clinging to the plank on which he had been walking on board the dredge, but he was chilled through and nearly exhausted. In his eagerness to grasp the helping hand extended to him he let go his hold on the friendly plank too soon, and Mr. Johnston thought it best to grasp the foot and leg, which then appeared above water, and thus rescued the man.

ROSSLAND

Rev. Ralph W. Trotter, R. A., pastor of the Columbia Baptist church, has finally communicated his decision regarding the call to the Rossland Baptist church. Mr. Trotter won't come to the Golden City, and the congregation will now be compelled to look elsewhere for a pastor.

The survey of the Velvet wagon road has been completed. H. B. Smith, the Rossland engineer who had charge of the work, has returned to the city and will proceed at once with the completion of the plans and the compilation of the other necessary information to be forwarded to the department of lands and works.

The verdict given by the coroner's jury in the matter of the sad death of the late William Young, brother of James H. Young, of Rossland, is not generally accepted, and steps are being taken to unravel the mystery attending the fatality. The verdict was that of suicide. James H. Young, of Rossland, is not disposed to accept the coroner's jury's verdict. He is satisfied that all the facts attending the terrible affair have not been revealed, and that when the story is told in its entirety the circumstances will point clearly to murder and not to suicide. At the present moment Mr. Young has a detective going over the ground and investigating the matter.—Miser.

A suggestion is afoot that the Rocky Mountain Rifles should journey to the Coast to take part in the Royal reception at Vancouver and Victoria to T. R. H. the Duke and Duchess of York. The savannah of Messrs. Bine, Fisher & Deschamps, located six miles north of the city, has an exceedingly narrow escape from destruction by fire on Wednesday afternoon. A forest fire almost surrounded the mill site, and the buildings were only saved by hard work and good generalship. Sixty or seventy men went out from the city to assist in the work of fighting the flames, but the crucial stage was over when they arrived on the spot.

VANCOUVER

T. G. Frith and his brother were upset at English Bay on Monday about 10:30 a.m. while out sailing in one of Simpson's boats. Two gentlemen sailing at Green's Bay saw the mishap and came to the rescue. They found them clinging to the seats some distance from the overturned boat, none the worse for their ducking.

The option of the McKinnon mines at Bridge river for a large sum to a New York firm is still in abeyance, but there is reasonable hope of its still going through.

A petition is being circulated to the attorney-general praying him to discontinue the prosecution of the fishermen arrested for alleged acts on the Fraser river during the strike.

The two Indians charged with cutting and stealing a Japanese net were acquitted yesterday. There not being sufficient evidence in Magistrate Alexander's opinion to commit them for trial. Their defence was that the net got foul of their own and they cut it away, and were not able to find the owner.

His Honor Sir Henri Joly opened Vancouver's annual flower show on the Hotel Vancouver lawn yesterday afternoon. The lawn is covered with tents in which the exhibits are arranged. The display is very creditable and far surpasses previous efforts in the number and variety of exhibits. A large number of citizens turned out to witness the beautiful display.

The necessary bill has been raised in the case of the fishermen Anderson and Emery, charged with cutting nets. A remarkable case of mistaken identity occurred on Lulu Island on Saturday. J. H. Connor and Arlun Ferrand were working in a field together. Connor went away, leaving his coat behind him. When he was gone, Ferrand, fearing the coat might be stolen, put it on, and shortly afterwards he dropped dead from heart failure. When he was found the most natural thing in the world was to look through the pockets of the coat he had on. In it were found letters addressed to J. H. Connor, and the man was about to be buried from Center & Hanna's parlors in Vancouver under that name, when Connor himself read of the account of his sudden death and rushed off to the undertaker's rectified the mistake before Ferrand was buried.

Mining News

Nelson Mines.

J. C. Drewry, of Rossland, on Friday completed the purchase of the controlling interest in the Great Dane group of claims, says the Nelson Tribune. The group consists of the Great Dane, White Star and Fisher claims, situated on Morris creek, the north tributary to the St. Mary's river, and known locally as the Sawyer group.

The group is one of the best developed properties in the St. Mary's district. The work done so far shows that it carries a couple of tunnels run in on the ledges and several big open cuts run across the ledges in different places to determine their values. In speaking of the present showing on the property, Mr. Drewry said it was the largest he ever saw in view of the amount of work done.

There are two strong ledges on the property. One of them is from nine to twelve feet wide, and is exposed for the greatest width in the upper tunnel and the lower cross-cut. The work done up on it so far indicates that the ledge carries between 4-12 and 5 feet of solid galena, the galena in this case carrying considerable quantities of copper pyrites. A copper assay made on the ore giving returns of 6 per cent. Between this body of ore and the hanging wall of the ledge there occurs about six feet of what is said to be a good concentrating ore, and on the hanging wall there is a second paystreak of about a foot of clean galena, which differs from that found on the foot wall in that it carries no copper values whatever.

On the second ledge the development work done so far shows that it carries about 2-12 feet of galena ore at different points where it has been cross-cut. This has been exposed in the short prospecting tunnel which has been run in the vein. This ledge is fully 12 feet wide, but in the work done so far the second wall has not yet been encountered. The ledge carries considerable quartz, with generous bunches of galena scattered through it, but so far there has not been sufficient work done upon it to form a very correct estimate of its probable extent.

The principal owners in the group were the Sawyer Brothers, of Pilot Bay, Adolphe Lapointe and wife, of the same place, and Fred Cogle, also of Pilot Bay. These owners contributed a pro rata of the holdings to the four-sevenths interest acquired by Mr. Drewry, the deal being upon a basis of $40,000 for the group.

Mr. Drewry has commenced work at once upon the development of the property, and has let a contract to the Sawyer Brothers to run a tunnel in on the Great Dane ledge for a distance of 200 feet. It is Mr. Drewry's intention to develop the Great Dane group, in a speaking of the St. Mary's district, Mr. Drewry said he was confident that the development of a dozen properties now being developed in a quiet way, upon the greater number of which there are highly encouraging showings of copper and galena, as well as some very good gold quartz showings at the head of Perry creek.

Mr. Drewry has just returned from a visit to the St. Eugene mine at Moyie and the True Blue mine near Kaslo, in both of which properties he is greatly interested. He says the St. Eugene has now a crew of about 100 men employed solely upon development. The big ore chute which the St. Eugene is now developing, which runs assays recently has been proven to a depth of 250 feet below the level of the lake by means of a diamond drill, and the company intend to commence the sinking of a thick compartment shaft from the level of the lowest tunnel for the development of this and the other ore bodies, which will soon open up on the property. This shaft will be put down for 200 feet as a starter so that two levels can be run from it.

In speaking of the True Blue property, Mr. Drewry said he had every confidence that he had in it the makings of the highest grade copper property in the province. Mr. Drewry has just returned from the True Blue vein at a depth of 100 feet, and for the last 20 feet has been following a 16-inch streak of copper pyrites on the foot wall, which assays recently received, carry 20 per cent. copper. The ledge at this point is nine feet wide and in addition to the paystreak mentioned carries a considerable quantity of galena, which are so soft that they can be shoveled out without difficulty. An assay made from these give an indicated copper value of within a small fraction of 20 per cent. There is also a quantity of decomposed rock in the vein, which has assayed 10 per cent. in copper. But the 16-inch pay streak is good enough to strike the ledge at a depth of 100 feet within the next 10 days if the vein is indicated in the upper workings hold out he will consider that he has one of the nicest little properties in the district.

THE TULIP MANIA.

Steele's essay shows the pitch to which the fancy had already reached early in the eighteenth century, and that when the London florists, men who grew their flowers in places like Camberwell and the City Road, beginning to introduce improved seedlings, and hence their tulip became essentially an English flower, for the florists of the low countries failed to recognize the qualities upon which our growers insisted. The early half of last century was the golden prime of the fancy; £50 was no uncommon price for a bulb; £74 is perhaps the highest recorded at a public auction; but little by little the fashion changed, certain trading malpractices brought the flower into disrepute, and to-day only a handful of enthusiasts keep alive a few shows, survivors of the gatherings that used to be held in almost every village in the Midlands and the North. For the tulip became one of the pets of that born fancier, the workman of the northern manufacturing towns, and as with many another flower, our garden owe their most beautiful to him. The tulip became a great social chimney itself; some of his fellows might be hastening to get wealth, others were deep in the heady fight of politics, yet his quiet and his devotion. His body might be bent over the loom or the stocking frame, but all his heart was with the little strip of ground that offered him under the shelter of a green willow chimney itself; some of his fellows might be hastening to get wealth, others were deep in the heady fight of politics, yet his quiet and his devotion. How Marion Was Detained

The Delayed Representative of La Presse Has Arrived From the Orient.

Interesting and Exciting Experience in the Land of the Tsar.

By long odds the most interesting passenger on the Empress of Japan, which arrived at quarantine last night, was August Marion, the representative of Montreal La Presse, who was Lorenzo Prince's companion in the world circling competition. The latter passed through here about a fortnight ago, having established an enviable record unaided by the magic lines of the plutocrat.

Mr. Marion, however, has a story to tell. In their dash through the great Asiatic, or rather Manchurian, waste, he fell by the wayside. From what he has learned, it would appear that certain rivals in the great race resorted to other means than legitimate competition to take the laurels from the speedy Canadian.

The belated journalist is typically French in his vivacity and enthusiasm, while his appearance would suggest no other nationality. He is somewhat above the medium height, with a rather fierce moustache and Imperial, and his frame is that of a man who could give and take a great deal. When his command of English was exhausted in the narration of his experience the expressive slang and gesture did the rest.

Although Mr. Marion has all the characteristics of the old La Belle France, his intense loyalty to British institutions, philosophical acceptance of defeat, and sturdy independence give him a claim to membership in the great Canadian fraternity of people.

He was standing with a number of passengers on the forward deck of the liner when approached by a Times representative. He certainly did not wait for the inevitable bombardment; he let fly a gauntlet of questions concerning his friend Prince, and excitedly asked a trifle when he learned of the splendid time his companion made. He expressed himself convinced that Prince would have lowered the flag in the time that they were not detained by Russian officials while crossing Manchuria.

"But what does it matter?" he remarked, with a prodigious shrug, "I have no other copy. We take defeat philosophically." It was suggested that Prince was justly entitled to first place in consideration of the fact that his efforts were aided by a syndicate which chartered tugs to place at his disposal. "Oh, well, we'll not say anything about that. Other people may, but we will not grumble. What's the use?"

This last argument appeared unanswerable, but before dismissing the subject Marion explained that the Hearst syndicate not only chartered tugs, but literally purchased them. The money consideration in connection with the American tug-tours must have been enormous. He then told of his experience in Manchuria, illustrating his narrative by trite illustrations, and from his account it is quite evident that he is a Bohemian of Bohemians and a man of energy.

Up to the time of detouring at Manchuria his adventures were identical with those of Prince. When they came to Manchuria station all was serene. This place is the starting point of the great arc-route journey of 3,000 miles down the Amur river, which would ultimately take them to Vladivostok. This was the route taken by Steigler, Le Comte, the Paris Le Matin and Journal men, as well as the Berlin Tageblatt globe trotter.

The Canadians, however, had a better plan. They, as mentioned in these columns some time ago in the account of Mr. Prince's trip, decided to make a dash across country—through the 1,500 miles of Manchurian territory which is now under the gentle authority of the Tsar. This would save them 1,500 miles and place them in the lead.

The chief engineer of the road which Russia is now building through this country, gave them their passports, arranged for the vehicles and horses to convey them across the gaps not covered by the railroad line, which is not nearly completed, and they started. They reached Hack in about a day and, in good time, and were supposed to render their papers to the commandant and execute others. Marion was feeling tired after his exertions, so he took to a friendly hay stack, while his friend went to interview the officer in charge of the place. Then the fun commenced. Suddenly Prince came dashing back with the startling information that "his papers had been taken away from him."

"Well, they'll never get mine," said Marion, and he made a wild break for his troika, or vehicle, which was awaiting him. Liberally bribing the driver, he took the reins himself and tore along the country at a great rate. He made from 150 to 200 miles a day, and was congratulating himself on his good luck when he ran into the arms of the Cossacks, just before he came to Charbin, his immediate destination.

"They took me to the officer," he continued, with a gesture which took up one side of the ship, and rather startled his interviewer, "and he received me very courteously. 'My friend,' said he, 'I pity you. I am sorry to see you in this predicament, but I've got to do my duty.'"

"Yes, monsieur, do your duty, but for God's sake don't send me back. Put me in jail, do anything you like, but let me go to Charbin, so that I will be one stage further on my journey."

The Russian, however, refused, and Mr. Marion decided to make the best of his misfortune. They gave him a pony—one of those miserable little mustangs which could almost walk from under him while he was engaged in looking for scenery—which was, incidentally, exhibited, and under an armed escort, of a dozen Cossacks he returned to Hack.

"How did you enjoy your ride back in such congenial company?" mildly queried the interviewer.

"Oh, well, I submitted to the inevitable. I had a good time en route. Ride

GOVERNOR ROSS'S HOME.

NEW GOVERNMENT HOUSE FOR THE YUKON.

When finished the new home of Governor Ross, of the Yukon Territory, will be the handsomest and most costly place of residence in the Klondike, and one more suitable to the habitation of the chief of the executive than the log cabin, which housed ex-Commissioner Ogilvie a few years ago. The interior arrangements will be the finest which can be provided, the dining and drawing rooms being of sufficient size for the accommodation of receptions, etc. It will be a two-story frame building, and it is estimated, will cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. The house is being built under the direction of the Dawson superintendent of public works, who also drew the plans for the building.

to their head, gave commands in French, and challenged any of them to a race. They didn't accept, however," and the Canadian laughed gleefully over the remembrance of the event.

It took them six days to get back to Hack, and when they arrived he learned that Prince had been liberated and allowed to depart about eighteen hours after their detention. Marion was taken before the officer, examined, and his papers inspected. Nothing wrong was found in them; no plot to assassinate De Witte or Muraviev, so the officer wrote his name on the back—an endorsement, and told him he could go.

"Oh, that officer," exclaimed Marion, with an eloquent grimace and another of his alarming gestures. "He was no gentleman. He was mean, and just before I left I said to him in French: 'Now, see here, on the honor of your spavinet, I want you to promise that if ever you come to Canada the first man you will find will be E. Marion, your humble servant.'"

The Cossack, the Canadian said, could not appreciate the irony of this invitation, and with a grin—the only one he was observed to make—replied that he would.

"Well," said Marion to his interviewer, "if that fellow ever shows his face in Canada and I see him, I'll give him a kick that will make him sorry he came. Marion was now out of the race. Prince had gone, and was making heroic efforts to fill in the gap caused by delay. The delay ruined all. Conveyances that were engaged at each station as were not in evidence at each station as he otherwise expected. When he did not appear on the appointed note they went away.

On the other hand, Mr. Marion decided to take in the country, so he proceeded leisurely. Hearing of a Tartar-Manch tribe not far away, he made for their habitations. They were in a strange place, and were garbed in fantastic clothes, and he, however, a stranger in a strange land, did not commit himself to a sword, and they returned the compliment with some curiosity. He presented them with cheese, and they dined on his rather scanty and delicately, strictly peculiar to their own inimitable culinary art.

After dallying here for a time, until he was in a somewhat better position, he left them with mutual expressions of regret. He then proceeded in easy stages, finally arriving at Vladivostok. From there he went to Yokohama in time to catch the Empress of Japan. He tells a funny story about Steigler, the Parisian, who passed through here recently.

Steigler thought he would take the Amur river route instead of the short cut; he was apparently very confident, and therefore was not in a hurry. A few days after they started the boat on which he was a passenger ran aground and Steigler had to dig down into his exchequer and hand out 2,000 roubles, equivalent to $1,000, to charter a craft to take him to his destination. That was one on Steigler.

Appropos of the suggestion that rivals were responsible for his and Prince's detention, Marion said he had heard this both at Vladivostok and Yokohama. "Mind you," he said, "I make no charge, but that is what I heard. The Russians were told we were Englishmen, and, as in the case of Col. Powell, they detained us. The colonel was arrested a few days before us. I don't mind if it is true. I call it a sharp trick," and Marion laughed heartily.

He proceeded on the Empress to Vancouver. His world tour is a matter of course, but he says the next race will probably be from the Cape to Cairo, in Africa.

"Will you go?" he was asked. "Yes, probably; just to start the ball a-rolling."

It requires about double the power to propel a steamship 21 miles an hour that it does to move along the same vessel at the rate of 10 miles an hour.

GOOD MEDICINE FOR CHILDREN.
"Through the months of June and July our baby was teething and took a running off of the bowels and sickness of the stomach," says Dr. P. M. Holliday, of Denning, Ind. "His bowels would move from five to eight times a day. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house and gave him four drops in a teaspoonful of water and he got better at once." THE OAR.

TOWNS ARRIVES.
Bat Fergate, Aug. 6.—Towins, the Australian sculler, accompanied by his trainer, Sullivan, and Pierce, another oarsman, arrived this morning. The station platform was crowded with members of the Rowing Club and citizens generally, who gave them a warm welcome. After their four boats were unloaded, they were escorted to the Rowing Club, where the two contestants met for the first time. When the visitors were shown the course they appeared delighted with it. Their boats will be rigged up today, and Tows—will take his first spin on Lake of the Woods to-morrow.

TWO BAND CONCERTS.

YACHTING.

CHALLENGER'S REAR.
London, Aug. 3.—The American light steamer St. Louis, which sailed from Southampton for New York this afternoon, has on board a duplicate outfit of sails and gear for Shamrock II. The Hon. Charles Russell will probably represent Sir Thomas Lipton on board the cup defender. Sir Thomas continues hopeful regarding the challenger. He is anxious to know which American boat will be decided upon as the defender.

BASEBALL.

FOR SATURDAY'S GAME.
The Nanaimo ball team will make their first appearance here since last August, when they played at the Caledonia grounds with the Amities. They have a very strong team this season; both Westminster and Vancouver having suffered defeat at their hands.

The Victorians are putting in hard practice this week, and will be in good form to give the Cool City boys a warm reception. Victorians will have their star battery, Holmes and Schwaberts, at work in the polo.

Saturday will also be the first "Ladies' Day." "Ladies' Day" means a general invitation to the ladies of Victoria to see the match. There will be admission charged for ladies either at the gate or on the stand.

It is the intention of the baseball club to have one or two more "Ladies' Days" before the season ends. In the Eastern League cities every Thursday has become recognized as "Ladies' Day," and the day has become a very popular one. The Victorians ask the ladies of the city to assist them in making "Ladies' Day" a popular one here, by all being present on Saturday.

CRICKET.

BELMONT TEAM DEFEATED.
(Associated Press.)
Halifax, N. S., Aug. 7.—In an exhibition game yesterday the Wanderers, of this city, defeated the Belmont cricketers, of Philadelphia, by a score of 115 to 104.

ANOTHER SUCCESS.
Henry Miller's Company Scores a Second Triumph at the Victoria.

Henry Miller and his fine company achieved another triumph last night when they presented "Darcy of the Guards" to a large and appreciative audience. "Darcy of the Guards" is not a play which will evoke great enthusiasm in a British audience even if given by a British actor, for it deals with events of the days of the revolution, and naturally is colored to suit the views of those residing south of the 49th parallel. But this feature was not allowed to influence the audience, and there was only one expression of regret at the close, and that was that the play was not prolonged for an hour longer.

While not strictly a military play, that presented last night has sufficient of the flavor of the bolsheroic camp and the interior to lend color and "go" to it, while through it all runs the old story of love and intrigue so dear to the heart of the theatre-goer.

One of the best features in connection with Mr. Miller's work is that he has surrounded himself with a company so excellent that it is difficult to select one or two for especial mention. All proved fully equal to the demands made upon them, and were as finished in their own particular roles as the great star himself.

The visit of Mr. Miller and his company has been most satisfactory, and Victorians will certainly accord him a splendid welcome should he tour this way in the future.
