FOREWORD

IT is a pleasure to be enabled to state that every assistance has been afforded the writer in seeking authentic information by permitting him to examine various church, family and private records. A few, however, have not replied to inquiries made, either from inability or misapprehension of the object, and as a necessary consequence no account of some of these families can be given with accuracy, if given at all.

To many members of the family, and others who have cheerfully assisted him, the author returns his sincere thanks. Especial mention is due to Mr. Edward L. Ryerson, of Chicago, not only for valuable statistical contributions, but for the first encouragement to the author in the early years of this work; to Mr. Ralph W. Skinner, an attorney at Newark, whose enthusiasm in family genealogy and convenient access to records at Trenton and Bergen County, many of which were copied and interpreted by him, rendered the author most valuable assistance; to Miss Jennie Ryerson of Goshen, Indiana, and California, who has been untiring in her efforts to collect statistics; to Mrs. Elizabeth (Ryerson) Neidig of Muscatine, Iowa; Dr. John G. Ryerson, of Boonton, New Jersey; Louis Johnes Ryerson, of Pompton Plains; Lorenzo Ryerson, of Wayne, New Jersey, and Mrs. Robert S. Hughes, of Paterson and Oakland, New Jersey. Dr. George Ansel Sterling Ryerson, M. P., of Toronto, Canada, was one of the most liberal and willing contributors, and his information was most interesting since it treated largely of the European origin of the family. Concerning the Adriance family, the author wishes to extend especial thanks to Mr. I. Reynolds Adriance of Poughkeepsie, New York; Mr. E. W. Adriance of Berkeley, California; Rev. George S. Adriance Moore, and Mr. Morris Patterson Ferris, both of New York.

THE NAME—ITS ETYMOLOGY

THE FAMILY—ITS EUROPEAN ORIGIN AND HISTORY

THE Ryerson family in America is distinctively of Holland (Dutch) origin. The name can be traced back in a direct line for three centuries and in disconnected lines for nearly six centuries.

We are thus enabled to identify the family as early as 1390, in which year one Wilhelmus Reyerszoon was Burgomaster of Amsterdam.

Dr. George S. Ryerson, of Toronto, states that when on a visit to Leyden, Holland, in 1890, he met a Dr. Riejer, then director of the Huguenot Library. He informed us that the name was originally a patronymic and that the root of the name "Ryer" (Ryer in Dutch) translated meant a rider, or Cavalier, the "son" (zoon) added meaning "son of." Dr. Ryerson made some extensive researches in Holland, and we are indebted to him for what information we have concerning the early European history of the family. Owing to the destruction by fire of many ancient records of the West India Company he was unable to establish direct connections of the first of the name to settle in America with their kinsmen. In Holland, however, Dr. Ryerson obtained much valuable information and succeeded in discovering the family coat of arms as registered. There is a tradition in the family that the Ryersons were of French Huguenot origin and that they sought refuge in Holland on account of religious persecution. Yet the family seems to have been of Dutch ancestry before the days of the Huguenots. That they espoused the Protestant cause and were also sympathizers and supporters of the Walloons and Huguenots, is true. There is little doubt in the author's mind, however, that the very early origin of the Ryerson family was in Norway and that those sturdy Norsemen in their conquests on the coast of France left representatives in that country who subsequently migrated to Holland.

The earliest published records of the name may be found in a volume entitled "Beschrijving van Amsterdam, door," by Casparus Commelin (History of Amsterdam, by Commelin). In the second edition, volume I, A.D. 1725, is found a list of Baillies, Burgomasters, Aldermen, Councillors, Treasurers and other Civic Officials of the city of Amsterdam from the year 1330 to 1693 A.D. Through this list we are able to trace the name Reyertz (Ryerson) for a period of nearly two hundred years.

When the blood-thirsty Philip II, of Spain, was crowned King of the Netherlands he at once established the Inquisition and sent as his regent, Margaret, Duchess of Parma, who in her bigoted misrule caused many to be put to death for heresy. It was but natural that the people rose against such atrocities, and waged a bitter war for years under the guidance of William, Prince of Orange, who ultimately succeeded in expelling the Spaniards from Holland. The Ryerson family took an active part in driving the tyrants from the country and suffered severely thereby. This is confirmed by the Ryerson Coat of Arms which shows that in battle the family was nearly exterminated. The battle axes and the uprooted tree tell the story.

The following letter is proof of the early connection of the Ryerson family with this country:

LETTER

Directors at Amsterdam to Director Stuyvesant, Honorable, Prudent, Beloved, Faithful. We received by vessels Trouw Hoop and Gulden Arent your general and particular letters of the 21st of July last with documents belonging thereto. As time does not permit us to answer at present by the vessel that most directly sails to the South River, we hope to do so by the ships which are expected to sail from here in the latter part of next month. Meanwhile we herewith send you, with a view to your special information, our resolution adopted upon a proposal of this city for which you will see what further privileges we have granted the magistrates of this city in regard to their colonies on the South river, and as said magistrates are now sending several colonists and families thither for the advancement thereof, in the hope that such will be crowned with success. Your honor may see from the invoice what necessaries of clothing for the soldiers, have been laden in the vessel while the remainder can be expected with the winter vessels. With which termination we commend you to God's protection, Honorable, Prudent, Beloved, Faithful.

Your good friends,

The Directors of the W. I. Co.

JACOBUS REYERS,

Abr. Wilmerdonk.

Amsterdam, Nov. 9, 1661.

To the Director General & Council in New Netherlands.

Enclosed with this letter were proposals of the Council of the Right Worshipful, the Burgomasters of the City of Amsterdam and an extract from the record of resolutions of the Directors of the W. I. Co.'s Chamber in Amsterdam (O'Callahan, Doc. Hist. N. Y., vol. 2, p. 173). The original of the letter may be found in the office of the Secretary of State, at Albany, N. Y.

From the foregoing we may assume that the aforesaid Director Jacobus Reyers (James Ryerson) sent many of his kinsfolk to the New Netherlands with the first colonists.

The late Rev. Dr. Schenck, of Pompton, New Jersey, spent many years of his life preparing a history of the early Dutch settlers in the Pompton Valley. This admirable work contains a genealogical sketch of the Ryerson family. The manuscript, which remains unpublished, is now in possession of the Newark Historical Society.

Dr. Schenck states in the introduction to his sketch of the Ryerson family that, "The late and aged George L. Ryerson, of Pacquanac, used to say that four or five brothers came to this country from Holland in the early days of the American Colonies." G. L. Ryerson was one hundred years old lacking three months, when he died in 1842. He was born 1742, and was a great-grandson of the first progenitor of the Ryerson family in America. His wife was his first cousin, being a daughter of his father's brother. Through his line have been handed down many documents of his own time, and some antedating his birth about one hundred years.

We now direct our attention to the first persons bearing the name of whom there is any record as having settled in this country during the early days. As early as 1637 we find that one Jan Ryerson resided at Renselaerswyck (now Albany). His name appears upon a list of first settlers of that town who came from Holland during that year.

Whether Jan Ryerson married and left any descendants or not in this country we do not know. If he did his descendants would more than likely have been named Jansen or Johnson. There is no doubt that he was kin to the first progenitors of the Ryerson family, perhaps one of the brothers referred to in George L. Ryerson's statement. The next earliest mention of the name in New Amsterdam is on July 20, 1645, when one Jacob Reyerson, attorney for Jan Van Hardenburgh, in an action to recover money due the late Hendrick Roesen, secures judgement for the plaintiff with costs. (O'Callaghan.)

The next in chronological order of their appearance in America, in accord with the early colonial records, were the two brothers Marten and Adriaen Ryerszen who came to America as early as 1646: the former being the known ancestor of nearly all the Ryersons in America, and the latter the known ancestor of the Adriance and Martense families.

Another member of the Ryerson family, "Gerrit Rieijerszen Van Breuckelen in't Sticht van Utrecht" married in the Dutch Reformed Church, of New Amsterdam (New York) on April 11, 1665, Annette Jans J. D. van Amsterdam. This old church record written in the Dutch language, translated, would read: "Gerrit Ryerson from Brooklyn in the province of Utrecht (Holland) to Annie Johnson (or the daughter of John) a young maiden from Amsterdam (Holland)." This marriage record would indicate that they came to the colony prior to 1665.

About this same period we find another of the family name in one Walburg Reyers, who, on August 3, 1696, was sponsor in baptism to Ariaentie, daughter of Jacques Terneur and Aeltje Michaelszen; and again in 1687, as sponsor at the baptism of Enock, son of Enock Michaelszen and Metje Meyers. From the foregoing we may learn all that the early records give us concerning the male persons bearing the name of Ryerson who were in the country prior to 1686; excepting, of course, the two brothers Marten and Adriaen the history of whose descendants constitutes the reason and body of this work.

Before going into further details concerning Marten, the first ancestor, it is necessary to state that his wife was Annetje Rapelje, daughter of Joris Jansen de Rapelje, whom he married in Brooklyn, 1663.

Joris Jansen de Rapelje came from Rochelle, France, in the ship "New Netherlands," the first ship sent out by the West India Company. He was married either just prior to his journey, upon the voyage, or shortly after his arrival. At any rate the lady who became his wife came on the same ship with him. Her name was Catalina Tricot. She was a daughter of George Tricot, and was born in Paris, France, in 1605. They were destined to become the parents of the first white child born in the colony, namely, Sarah Rapelje, who was born at Fort Orange (now Albany) in the year 1625 on June 9. This circumstance identifies the family with the very foundation of Christian civilization in America. The children and grandchildren intermarried with the Ryerson family, thus uniting the two families. A sister of Sarah, aforesaid, Annetje (Anne), was born Feb. 8, baptized Mar. 18, 1646, and married Marten Ryerson, of Amsterdam. Their descendants form the Ryerson family of today.

The children of Joris and Catalina de Rapelje:

- I. SARAH (the first white child born in the colony), b. June 9, 1625; m., first, Hans Hansen Bergen, second, Tunis G. Bogert.
- II. MARIA, b. Mar. 11, 1627; m. Michael Vandervoort.
- III. JANETJE (Jane), b. Aug. 18, 1628; m. Rem Vanderbeek.
- IV. JUDITH, b. July 5, 1625; m. Peter Van Nest.
- V. JAN (John), b. Aug. 28, 1637; m. Maria Frederickse (Lubertson).
- VI. JACOB, b. May 28, 1639; shot by the Indians.
- VII. CATALINA, b. Mar. 28, 1641; m. Jeremias Westerhout.
- VIII. JERONIMUS, b. June 25, 1642; m. Anna Denise.
- IX. ANNETJE (Anne), b. Feb. 8, 1646; m., first, Marten Ryerson, second, Joost Franz (Joseph Francis).
- X. ELIZABETH, b. Mar. 28, 1648; m. Dirck Hooglandt (Richard Hoogeland).
- XI. DANIEL, b. —; m. Sarah Klock.

Joris Jansen de Rapelje, with his wife, Catalina, first settled, in 1623, at Fort Orange, where his first child was born. He remained at Fort Orange about three years and then removed to New Amsterdam, where he remained nearly twenty-two years, occupying and owning a house and lot on the north side of the present Pearl Street, and abutting the south side of the fort, and for which he received a patent on the 18th of March, 1647.

About the year 1646, according to reliable authorities, Adriaen and Marten Reyersz (Adrian and Martin Ryerson) arrived in this country from Amsterdam, Holland, and took up their abode in Breuckelen, on the Island of Nassau (now Brooklyn, New York). Undoubtedly Adriaen was the elder brother and he was married and had issue before the custom of changing the name was abolished. Hence, his descendants are known to-day under the name of Adriaence, Martense, Ryers, Ryerse and Ryerson.

They were married by Dominie Selyns, who came from Amsterdam in 1660 and took charge of the "Breuckelen" Church. Marten Reyerson and Annetje Rapelje (who was born Feb. 8, 1646) had eleven children:

The marriage as recorded in Brooklyn reads: "Samuel Berry, born in Vlissingen, to Catalynte Martense, born in Brooklyn, with consent of Annetje Rapelje, the bride's mother." Samuel Berry was on the assessment roll of Brooklyn in 1693 and the census list in 1698. ## THE SECOND GENERATION

2. JORIS RYERSON (translated George Ryerson),<sup>2</sup> (Martin<sup>1</sup>), the eldest son of Marten and Annetje (Rapelje) Ryerson was bap. in Brooklyn on Sept. 19, 1666: d. 1749. The sponsors at his bap. were Michael Hanzen and Catalina Jeronymus. He was evidently named in honor of his grandfather, Joris Jansen de Rapelje. Up to the time of his marriage (about twenty-four years of age), he resided in Breucklen (Brooklyn) at the Wallabout, no doubt at the home of his father. He then removed to Manhattan Island, now New York City, where he engaged in farming, first on a farm leased from Trinity Church, then on the Dey farm, and where he resided for some years, subsequently selling out in 1708 and removing to New Jersey, which was then a wilderness. Here, in company with Capt. Arent Schuyler and others, he purchased from the Indians 5500 acres in N. E. New Jersey, upon which land he settled. He married on June 26, 1690, Hannah (or Anneken) (Schouten) Dey, widow of Teunis Dey, and daughter of Johannes Schouten. She was born Mar. 17, 1666, and died May 17, 1743. Her first husband whom she married on Feb. 4, 1685, died in 1688, leaving three small children, besides a five acre farm running from Broadway to the water's edge in New York, which the present Dey St. divided in the middle. The three small Dey children were reared by George (Joris) Ryerson with his own family, and one of the daughters, Jane Dey, married a younger brother of her step-father, namely Frans Ryerson. Her brother Derick (Richard) Dey became the father of Col. Theunis Dey, who distinguished himself in the Revolution as an officer in the Army and member of the Continental Congress. Joris (George) Ryerson was a prominent man in the community and as early as 1715 was one of "His Majesty's Judges" for Bergen County.

After the death of his first wife, Hannah (Dey née Schouten) Ryerson, Joris married in his old age, and his second wife was Hannah, or Susannah, widow of Abraham King, of Second River. Her maiden name was Susannah De Forest. Many old documents teeming with historic interest still exist concerning Mr. Ryerson's activity in colonial times of which the author has copies, but are too voluminous for other than mere mention in this genealogy.

Joris Ryerson was the father of ten children, and the step father of seven, three of the latter being his first wife's children, and four by his second wife's previous marriage. All of his own children were by his first wife, Hannah Ryerson, and were as follows:

J., in 1764. The old record of bap., still preserved, reads "Luyckes, son of Joris Ryerse and Anntie Schoute. Witnesses, Gerrit Burger, and Dina Klopp." His name in Dutch was written "Luyckes Reyerse." He usually wrote it "Luke Reyerse" and the descendants of his son, Samuel, still retained the old spelling modified to "Ryerse." He resided at Pacquanac, upon a farm adjoining that of the old homestead, and where the Laffin & Rand Powder Works are now located (Wayne, N. J.). He was a prominent man in his day, a county officer and Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. He was a large property holder, and seemed to have a hobby for buying land. He was a man of giant stature and great strength.
- Lucas Ryerson was thrice m., first, about 1736, to Elizabeth, dau. of Capt. Daniel and Elsie (Reading) Howell. She was b. in Amwell, Hunterdon Co., N. J., about 1714, and died about 1745. Her mother, Elsie (Reading) Howell, was sister of Gov. John Reading, whose wife was Mary Ryerson, sister of aforesaid Lucas Ryerson. (See Reading-Howell Family by J. Granville Leach.)

 V. ELIZABETH, m. Henry Mandeville.

It is not known definitely whether Lucas Ryerson had any children by his second wife, Susanna Van der Linden. William Nelson, the historian, is authority for the information concerning the next child, which, according to the date of birth, would indicate as being by the second wife. This child may have d., as it is not mentioned in the will of Luke Ryerson.

He afterwards removed to the Brockholst Place, which is the site of the residence of the late Maj. William Colfax. He was a man of sound judgment, and keen business sagacity. This is evidenced by the large estate which he distributed among his daughters and their children. Some indications point to a conclusion, which we cannot confirm, that his son, Ryer, married and left descendants who settled around Tappen, N. Y. Two of Mr. Ryerson's daughters married into the Schuyler family. A daughter of one of these became the wife of Gen. William Colfax, staff-officer of General Washington, and their grandson, Schuyler Colfax, Jr., became Vice-President of the United States.

He was a farmer of Flushing, L. I. He m. Brechtje, or Broghe (trans. Bridget). The Dutch pronunciation of this name was corrupted to Brechie, or Brackey, and there are descendants living at the present time who still bear the given name of "Brackey." 19. GEORGE RYERSON,<sup>3</sup> (Cornelius,<sup>2</sup> Martin<sup>1</sup>), son of Cornelius and Sarah (Jorise) Ryerson, died about 1778. Resided at Foster's Meadow, near Hempstead, L. I., of which community he was a much respected and influential citizen. He served as a lieutenant in the militia. He, like many other old Dutch settlers, was very indifferent as to how he spelled his name. We find it spelled two or three different ways sometimes in the same instrument, and his signature is found to be written Rierison, Riason, Reison, Reirson, Riorson, Ryerson and Roerison. He was a farmer and extensive property owner.
- We find on an oath of allegiance, signed by the inhabitants in 1766, the name of George Rierison, Peter Rierison and Cornelius Rierison.
- He died between 1774 and 1778, for we find in the "Annals of Hempstead," by Onderdonk, the following notice: Mar. 21, 1778. "A pleasant farm of two hundred acres, late of George Ryerson of Foster's Meadow, was sold at a vendue, Peter Ryerson and Gilbert Van Wyck, executors."

He usually spelled his name "Ryarson." He resided in Brooklyn, N. Y., the greater part of his life, although the days of his youth were probably spent on his father's farm in New Jersey. He acquired considerable property both in New Jersey and Brooklyn, also in Nova Scotia, Canada. He espoused the cause of the Loyalists during the Revolutionary War, and took a decided stand against the Colonists. The close of the war in 1783 found him in the same predicament as thousands of other Loyalists, a refugee, with property confiscated and obliged to flee the country. He went to Nova Scotia, accompanied by his wife, sons, a daughter and two servants. They left New York Oct., 1783, for Annapolis, Nova Scotia. In 1784 his name appears on the muster-roll of the Loyalists who were recorded in June of that year. He purchased land at Clements, N. S., of John Hall, and lived there about five years.

By reason of a new law passed by the Continental Congress he was enabled to regain some of his property which, no doubt, prompted him, about 1789, to return to Brooklyn, and forthwith he took up his abode in Newtown, N. Y., where he purchased, in May, 1790, a large farm at the

At the muster of the Loyalists held in Annapolis between the 18th and 29th of June, 1784, John Dobbs is registered as the head of a family of eleven, including himself and wife, four children under ten and five above ten years of age. These children were remembered in their grandfather's will (J. Frans Ryerson). We have not the names of all her children by her first husband, John Dobbs. Issue:

He was soldier, judge, and statesman. He was born in South Branch, Somerset County, New Jersey, where his father had settled.
- At about twenty-one years of age he entered the Revolutionary Army as a second lieutenant in a New Jersey regiment. He had also received an appointment to the same position in a Pennsylvania regiment, but he preferred that of his native state.
- He continued in the army, and as a prisoner of war, for about four years. He was at the siege of Quebec under Montgomery. Later he was taken prisoner by the Hessians, at the battle of Ft. Washington, Nov. 18, 1776, and after serving some time in the military prison was sent to the Jersey prison ships, where he suffered greatly. He was finally paroled and permitted to engage in clerical employment, obtaining a clerkship in the Commissary-General's Office, General Irvine, while the headquarters of the army were at Morristown, New Jersey.

After the war he remained some time in business in New York, and later he became associated with Robert Morris, of Philadelphia, and went to Western Pennsylvania, Washington County, locating and settling lands on joint account, remaining there some years at a place called Ryerson's Station. President Washington sent him a company of soldiers for the protection of his settlement against the Indians. In 1790 Mr. Ryerson was elected to the Pennsylvania legislature from Washington County. Subsequently he wound up his interests in Western Pennsylvania and moved to Easton, in the same state, from there to Bethlehem, thence to a farm in Delaware County, and finally to the old Turner homestead, 370 South Second Street, Philadelphia, where he died in his eighty-third year.

Lieut. Thomas Ryerson was forty years of age when he married Miss Mary Turner, whom he met while attending a session of the Legislature in Philadelphia. She was a daughter of the Rev. Joseph Turner, of Philadelphia, and sister of Rev. Dr. Turner, of New York, a clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church. She was 22 years of age when married, July 19, 1794. The marriage is recorded in the Parish register of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Philadelphia. In the rear of this church lie interred, in a private vault, the bodies of Thomas and Mary (Turner) Ryerson, and their daughter Elizabeth.

The keen sense of honor and high moral character manifest throughout the life of this man left a heritage honored and remembered by his descendants — a permanent monument to his memory. The children of Lieut. Thomas and Mary (Turner) Ryerson were:

Sept. 22, 1842, lacking but three months of completing the one hundredth year of his life. He m. Nov. 9, 1766, his cousin Mary, b. Apr. 26, 1746; d. July 9, 1809; dau. of George (Joris), Jr., and Mary (Duboise) Ryerson. He resided at Pacquanac, Bergen County, N. J., on his father's homestead, where the powder works are now located. He also built the "Stone House," residence of the late George J. Ryerson. His was an eventful life and filled with many trials and difficulties. During the Revolutionary War he remained neutral and as a consequence suffered much in the despoiling of his property. His two half-brothers, Samuel and Joseph, were Loyalists, and having fought with the British forces found themselves at the close of the war exiles from their native land. They both removed to Canada, and later entered into correspondence with George Luke Ryerson, who, it would appear, had contemplated following them to the land of their adoption. This, however, he did not do; but remained in Bergen County of which he became Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, Overseer of the Poor, and one of the Bridge Commissioners, an important post at that time. He was widely known as a man of undaunted courage and perfectly fearless in the exercise of right and justice.

George Luke Ryerson, according to Dr. Schenck, stated that there were four, or five, brothers of the family who came from Holland in the early days. Unfortunately, owing to the Dutch custom of changing the name, we are able to trace only the descendants of Martin and his brother Adriaen.

The children of George L. and Mary (Ryerson) Ryerson, among whom he distributed a handsome estate at death, were:

- I. GEORGE, b. Oct. 13, 1767; d. about 1840. He was a man of sterling worth, and a liberal contributor and strong supporter of the Church at Pompton Plains, of which church he was an elder. He m. 34. COL. SAMUEL RYERSE,<sup>4</sup> (Lucas,<sup>3</sup> Joris,<sup>2</sup> Martin<sup>1</sup>), son of Lucas and Johanna (Van der Hoff) Ryerson, was b. in New Jersey in 1752 and d. at Port Ryerse, Ont., Can. (the town he founded and which still bears his name), in 1812. He was twice m., first, to a lady whose name is unknown; second, in 1783, to Sarah Underhill, of New Brunswick, widow of Capt. Davenport. He retained the older form of the name "Ryerse" though in some of his letters to his half-brother, George Luke Ryerson, as also in some of the deeds drawn by himself he signed himself "S. Ryerson."

At the outbreak of the Revolutionary War he was known to be in sympathy with the British and was consequently imprisoned. He made his escape, however, and joined the Loyalist forces as a captain under Col. Ferguson. At the battle of Kings Mountain, Oct. 7, 1780, he was wounded and taken prisoner by the Revolutionary forces under Col. Campbell. He was later exchanged and again took the field. Before the end of hostilities he had been advanced to the rank of colonel.

After the close of the war Col. Ryerse found his property confiscated and himself exiled. The British government, however, in reward for his services as an officer granted him 3000 acres of land in New Brunswick, and later 5000, to himself and family, in Upper Canada. Thus he possessed at that time 8000 acres of land. He finally settled on part of this land, in Ontario, on the shores of Lake Erie and founded the town of Port Ryerse. He was appointed a judge of the District and Surrogate Courts, also colonel in the militia. At one time he was Deputy Governor-General, of Upper Canada. The late Rev. Adolphus Egerton Ryerson, of Toronto, nephew of Col. Samuel Ryerse, wrote a history of the U. E. Loyalists and in this will be found a most interesting account of the family as told by Col. Ryerse's daughter, the late Mrs. John Harris, of Eldon House, London, Ont.

A number of letters which Col. Ryerse wrote from the front during the Revolutionary war are still preserved, the originals now in possession of Dr. John Ryerson of Boonton, N. J. The author has copies of these letters which teem with interest, being first-hand history of many incidents in that memorable campaign including the battle of Kings Mountain.

So far as definitely known, Col. Ryerse had thirteen children, although there may have been another, named Jacob (who probably d. y.), for we find recorded in the baptismal records of the Pompton Church one Jacob Ryerson, b., or bap., Nov. 9, 1777, child of Samuel Ryerson and wife. In his letter, written 1779, to his half-brother George L. Ryerson, he states he has just lost his youngest child, which may have been Jacob. The children by his first wife were:

I. ELIZABETH (Betsy), b. about 1778, or, perhaps, 1776. She was twice m., first, to Elijah St. Liger, a retired officer of the British Army. They resided in Havana, Cuba. She m., second, a Mr. Roulette. She had children:

I. HENRY ST. LIGER.

II. GASTON ST. LIGER, who died in Port Ryerse.

III. EDGAR ST. LIGER, who is said to have been assassinated in La Guayra, South America.

88. III. SAMUEL, JR., b. Oct. 23, 1782; d. Aug. 29, 1874; m. Sarah Cyphor.

Mrs. Ryerse died, no doubt, shortly after this child was born. The children by the second marriage were ten in number, seven of whom died in New York when young. The surviving children were:

89. IV. REV. GEORGE JOSEPH, b. April 27, 1794; d. Feb. 1, 1876; m. twice.

He removed from New Jersey to Pennsylvania with his sister prior to the American Revolution and, it is said, settled at Easton, Pa. (Dr. Schenck.) Mr. Ryerson probably removed from Easton to Wheeling, W. Va., where one child was born in 1801. He then removed to Pennsylvania again, thence to Pickaway Co., O., where he resided until his death. He usually signed himself "John Ryerson of Pennsylvania." He studied for the ministry and was ordained in the Episcopal Church. He married, in New Brunswick, Nov. 18, 1784, Mehetable, dau. of Isaac and Elizabeth (Barker) Stickney, of Rowley, Mass., descendants of William Stickney the early Puritan settler. She was born in Marysville, N. B., Oct. 7, 1766, and d. June 10, 1850.

At the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, Joseph with his brother Samuel espoused the British cause and entered the army as a cadet at the age of fifteen years. Despite his extreme youth he won rapid promotion. Col. Sabine, in his history of the U. E. Loyalists mentions him as one of the eighty-six who returned safely from the siege of Charleston when the British force was completely cut to pieces and nearly all either killed or taken prisoners. At the close of the war he went to New Brunswick, where he married and remained until 1799. In that year he moved to the shores of Lake Erie and settled near his brother, Samuel, between Vittoria and Port Ryerse on a land grant from the British government comprising some 2500 acres. Here he lived for over 50 years.

He was a member of the first commission of magistrates; for many years chairman of the Court of Quarter Sessions; treasurer of the London District; and was a colonel in the Canadian Militia. At the outbreak of hostilities between the U. S. and England he, and his sons George, William and John immediately took the field and remained in active service throughout the war, 1812-15. He was master of the first Masonic Lodge in Upper Canada. Of his six sons, five became ministers of the Gospel and prominent in the affairs of the Dominion. The children of Col. 56. FRANCIS RYERSON,<sup>4</sup> (John F.,<sup>3</sup> Frans,<sup>2</sup> Martin<sup>1</sup>), son of John Francis and Mary (Wessels) Ryerson, was b. in Brooklyn, N. Y., about the year 1748, and d. in Nova Scotia, Canada, July 12, 1841. In 1783, he, being like his father an ardent Loyalist, left Brooklyn with his family for Nova Scotia. On a muster-roll of the Loyalists held in Annapolis, June 18 to 29, 1784, Francis Ryerson appears as having a wife, two children and one servant. He took a decided stand in favor of the King, and entered the British Army. Was appointed first an ensign and then a lieutenant. The old commissions are still preserved.

He settled at Clements, N. S., where he resided during his lifetime and thus became the ancestor of the Ryerson family of Nova Scotia, whose descendants are now scattered throughout the Maritime Provinces and the New England States. He left an extensive estate at his death. His descendants to-day own some of the finest farms in the Maritime Provinces. His property in New York was confiscated and he never regained it. He m. 57. JOHN RYERSON<sup>4</sup>, (John F.,<sup>3</sup> Frans,<sup>2</sup> Martin<sup>1</sup>), son of John Francis and Mary (Wessels) Ryerson, d. (sup.) in Jan., 1828. We have very little definite information concerning him. He, like his father and brother Francis, was without doubt a Loyalist, and went to Nova Scotia at the close of the Revolutionary War. He is said to have resided in New Brunswick and to have descendants residing there. We find the name John Ryerson recorded as a Loyalist on a muster-roll called at Digby, N. S., Mar. 29, 1784. His wife's name was Hannah, probably Hannah Applestall, for we find a marriage record in New York marriage licenses of one Johannis Ryerson and Hannah Applestall, m. June 2, 1764. Unless this lady's name was Hannah Elizabeth or Elizabeth Hannah we are forced to conclude that he had another wife whose name was Elizabeth. (See p. 528, b. 234, N. Y. Co. Rec.)

Mr. Ryerson was living in New Bedford in 1793. His son, Simeon, was sent to school there, according to a letter written by his uncle George, on Nov. 5, 1793. The New York City Directory, of 1828, gives the name of Hannah Ryerson at No. 6 Catherine Slip. He was the father of at least four children living in 1797, in which year the grandfather, John F. Ryerson, makes a will and refers to children of son John "the boys to have as much again as the girls" in the division of a 400 pounds legacy. We have the name of only one child, viz.:

I. SIMEON, b. —. Went to school in New Bedford in 1793. No further trace.

58. GEORGE RYERSON,<sup>4</sup> (John F.,<sup>3</sup> Frans,<sup>2</sup> Martin<sup>1</sup>), son of John F. and Mary (Wessels) Ryerson, d. about 1808. He was a farmer of Long Island and Bergen Co., N. J., and resided near Newtown, N. Y. At the close of the Revolutionary War, he, being a Loyalist, went to Nova Scotia in company with his father and his wife, Elizabeth, who at that time was only a bride. He settled at Clements and in the "Muster Rolls of the American Colony" of June, 1784, he is recorded as a Loyalist with one child under 10 years of age, and one servant. A few years later he returned to Brooklyn, and engaged in farming near his former home.

After his father's death, in 1798, he returned to the homestead farm at the Dutch Kills (now part of L. I. City). This farm contained 130 acres and was inherited from his father. On May 8, 1802, his mother conveyed to him all her dower rights in the farm. About a week later, on May 12, 1802, George Ryerson and his wife Elizabeth sold this farm to one James Lawrence.

Prior to the sale of the farm he had removed to New Jersey and settled in what was known as the English Neighborhood, in Bergen Co., where he resided until his death. He was twice married, first, on Aug. 6, 1783, to Elizabeth, dau. of Samuel and Mary Ellis (owned Ellis Island in N. York Harbor). She d. between 1802 and 1806. She is probably the Elizabeth Ryerson buried in Trinity Churchyard, New York, and who is recorded in the register of said church as having d. Mar. 28, 1804, aged 68 years. He m., second, Mary —. His children were by his first wife, Elizabeth Ellis:

98. REV. ADOLPHUS EGERTON RYERSON, D. D., LL. D.,<sup>5</sup> (Col. Joseph,<sup>4</sup> Lucas,<sup>3</sup> Joris,<sup>2</sup> Martin!), son of Col. Joseph and Mehetable (Stickney) Ryerson, was born at Charlotteville, Ont., Mar. 24, 1803, and d. at Toronto, Feb. 19, 1882. He m., first, Sept. 10, 1828, Hannah, b. As a boy Adolphus Egerton Ryerson determined to secure an education, and he did, but in the face of tremendous odds. The schools afforded little but the first rudiments, and his time was limited as he was required to work upon the farm. At the age of 16 years, however, he had acquired sufficient knowledge to fit him for appointment as assistant teacher to his elder brother, George. Thus began his career as one of the greatest educationists on the American continent, and as such honored throughout Canada and the U. S., and even in England and France.

He was ordained a minister of the Methodist Church, by Bishop Hedding, on his twenty-second birthday, and appointed to the Niagara circuit including York, as Toronto was then called. He continued his studies with unremitting zeal and in 1825, when he was but 22 years of age, his review of the Ven. Archdeacon Strachan's sermon on the death of Bishop Mountain won him immediate recognition. In 1829 the "Christian Guardian" was established by him and he was appointed associate editor. In 1833 he was sent to England as a delegate to the Wesleyan Conference and succeeded in bringing about the desired connection between that body and the Methodist Church of Canada. In 1835 he again visited England to enlist support for the establishment of a Methodist Academy in Canada and, also, to secure a Royal Charter and subscriptions for Upper Canada Academy then at Coburg, now Victoria College, Toronto. In 1840 he secured $16,000 and an act of incorporation from the Upper Canada Parliament erecting Upper Canada Academy into a university. Dr. Ryerson was unanimously chosen first president in 1842.

In 1840 he resigned from his pastoral charge of the Adelaide Street Methodist Church, and withdrawing from the active ministry devoted himself to the cause of education and the advance of learning in Upper Canada.

In 1842 the Wesleyan University of Middletown, Conn., conferred upon him the degree of D. D., in recognition of the benefits secured to the cause of religion and education not only in Canada but also, indirectly, for the U. S.

In 1845 Dr. Ryerson was appointed Superintendent of Education for Upper Canada with the understanding that he reconstruct the whole underlying foundation and establish it upon a more comprehensive and enduring basis. This he did, but not without bitter opposition from certain members of the cabinet. The system, as built up by Dr. Ryerson for public instruction, continues to-day, and will for centuries to come. He held the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction without interruption for 30 years, endearing himself to all and winning the veneration and esteem of the general public from the school-child to the greatest statesmen in the world. Mr. Gladstone (then Under Secretary of State for War) consulted him and from him secured much of the material used in the refutation of Hume's attack upon the government. The French government conferred upon him the "Order of the Palm Leaf," given only to men of the highest literary and scientific attainments. This was at the instance of the French Minister of Public Instruction, who realized that Dr. Ryerson's work was of world-wide influence and importance.

In 1859-60 he was instrumental in securing government land grants for all outlying universities, thus making it possible for these struggling institutions to fulfill their mission effectively. In recognition of the able manner in which he had met and overcome all opposition to such government action, Victoria College conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws, in 1861.

In 1869 he began urging the government to release him from office; but no action was taken until 1876, when he was relieved of his arduous duties and permitted to retire.

In addition to all his other labors he found time for extensive literary work. Among the best known of his productions are: "Scriptural Rights of the Members of Christ's Visible Church" (Toronto 1854, 8 vols.); "A Manual of Agricultural Chemistry;" "The Clergy Reserve Question;" "Compulsory Education;" "The Loyalists and their Times;" "The Puritans of Old New England;" and "The Story of My Life."

He was one of Canada's greatest divines though this fact is almost entirely overshadowed by his international reputation gained as an educationist.

In 1889, seven years after his death, a monument to his memory was unveiled on the grounds of the Department of Education, at Toronto; but no more enduring monument was needed than that which his own marvelous intellect and almost superhuman efforts created in his finished work. In 1831 he was elected State Senator for New Jersey. In 1832 he, and his brother, Peter M., and others procured a charter from the legislature entitled "An Act to Incorporate the Dundee Mfg. Co." He became heavily involved with his brother in the great iron works at Pompton and when that busi-

He built and operated two rolling-mills in addition to the furnaces, but this great iron industry, through a change in government policy, was forced to succumb to the conditions then existing, which proved his financial ruin as well as that of his brother, Jacob, who was associated with him. When the war broke out he was among the first to give his services to his country, and left for the front with his regiment in 1861. Further details of his military career will be found in the sketch, prepared by A. Z. Keasley and published in the Newark "Mercury," and from which the following excerpt is taken (copied from Evert & Becks History of Bergen & Passaic Counties, p. 129): "New Jersey has lost one of her worthiest citizens and bravest soldiers in Major Peter M. Ryerson, of the 8th Regiment, killed in the battle of Williamsburg. On Sept. 27, 1861, he was promoted and commissioned Major, and Staff Major on the 24th of Feb., 1862, which position he held at his death. * Garrabrant Van Houten. Nelson, the historian, relates that Judge Van Houten was from early life prominent among his fellows, not only because of his large possessions, but by reason of his commanding abilities. He was a descendant of Roelof Cornellsen, doubtless the father of Cornelis Rowlafson, bap. Sept. 10, 1651. This man, whose name is also spelled Cornelis Roelofse (son of Roelof, the Dutch for Ralph), was one of the patentees of Acquackanonck in 1685. Roelof Cornilsen, the common ancestor of the Van Houten family of this region, was a soldier in the Dutch army at New Amsterdam in 1648. He m. Geertje Van Ness. His son took the name of Van Houten, perhaps because his ancestors came from the pleasant village of Houten, in Utrecht, Holland. Richard, or Dirck, Van Houten was the father of Judge Garrabrant Van Houten, and from his will, dated Aug. 13, 1810, or Mar. 22, 1811, it appears that his son Garrabrant was already in occupancy of the old stone house so long a land-mark on Water St., Paterson, and which was built by his grandfather, Garrabrant, as early as 1769.

267. HON. MARTIN RYERSON,<sup>6</sup> (Theunis,<sup>5</sup> Theunis,<sup>4</sup> Theunis,<sup>3</sup> Frans,<sup>2</sup> Martin<sup>1</sup>), son of Theunis and Jane (Boice) Ryerson, was born in Paterson, N. J., Jan. 6, 1818; died in Boston, Mass., Sept. 6, 1887. He left New Jersey in 1834, when but 16 years of age, and went to Michigan with the intention of trading with the Indians. At Detroit he met Mr. Richard Godfrey, who was at that time fitting out an expedition, and started with him, in the course of a few weeks, for the Indian settlements. For some years he continued to trade with the Indians, but realizing the great wealth of the Michigan forests he went to Muskegon and, after learning the business, purchased from the T. Newell Co. their mill at that place. This mill was soon replaced by a much larger and more thoroughly equipped plant. From this on his rise in the industrial and financial world was assured and rapid.

In 1851 Mr. Ryerson removed to Chicago and became associated with Mr. John N. Williams and R. W. Morris in the lumber industry under the firm names of Williams, Ryerson and Co., of Chicago, and Ryerson & Morris of Muskegon, which later became Martin Ryerson and Co. of Chicago, and Ryerson, Hills & Co., of Muskegon. For over 30 years Mr. Ryerson was identified with the growth and progress of Chicago. Of his wealth he gave liberally to every worthy cause. His was a long and useful life which ended suddenly in Boston, Mass., Sept. 6, 1887.

(Meady) Ryerson, and author of this present "Ryerson Memorial," was b. at Hollis, N. H., Mar. 31, 1872. The days of his youth were spent in Concord, Mass., and he has pleasant recollections of a childhood friendship with Ralph Waldo Emerson, and his beautiful daughter Ellen, also Miss Rose Hawthorne, Louisa M. Alcott, and others who attended the School of Philosophy nearby, or lived in that neighborhood. His parents later removed to Woburn, Mass. After leaving the Woburn High School he entered into the employ of a Boston firm of manufacturing chemists as traveling representative. Before he was 21 years of age he had visited the principal cities of every state and territory in the Union. He located in after years in Detroit, Mich., and engaged in mercantile business, but subsequently returned to his old profession and has continued in that line to the present, traveling the North American continent over many times.

It was during these travels and meeting people of the same name that the idea was conceived of writing this genealogy. What at first proved a pleasant diversion soon developed, however, into a stupendous task, consuming all the leisure time of several years. Of a literary turn of mind he has written much for publication, particularly for Masonic journals; also is author of the Blanchard Memorial and Meady Family Genealogies. # THE ADRIANCE, MARTENSE AND RYERSS FAMILIES

FIRST GENERATION

500. ADRIAEN REYERSZ, REYERSZEN OR RYERSS (modern Ryerson) as his name was variously written, emigrated to America from Amsterdam in the year 1646. He came with his brother, Martin, who, it appears, was a minor, and they settled in Flatbush, on Long Island, (Rikers' "Annals," Stiles' "History of Brooklyn," Bergen's "Kings County"). Adriaen, therefore, became the first progenitor of the Adriaensen (since Adriaense or Adriance) family in America, also of the Martense family, (now extinct), of Flatbush, L. I., and the Ryers, or Ryerss, family of Staten Island, a branch of the Ryerson family. The descendants of his brother Martin's family are all known by the name of Ryerson and Ryerse. The peculiar Dutch custom of changing the names has been explained in the previous part of this work. While the name of Reyersz is of considerable antiquity in Holland and belongs to the privileged classes, they retained their Dutch family name until coming to America. In all probability the spirit of liberty and democracy which prevailed in the colonies led Adriaen to permit his children to follow the local American custom. Hence his two older sons, Elbert and Martin, became the ancestors of the Adriaence and the Martense families; Gosen, the younger son, removed to Staten Island, but retained the original family name in its Dutch spelling and became the ancestor of the Ryerss family of Staten Island.

On April 2, 1680, the name of "Adrien Reyerse" appears on a list of owners of the "New Lotts" at "Midwout" made by Joseph Hegeman and Stoffel Probasco, (overseers of said town) by order of Gov. Andros. Adriaen Reyersz was a man of affairs and during his life in Flatbush, L. I., was identified with the town as one of its leading citizens. He died in Flatbush, Nov. 24, 1710. He married July 29, 1659, Annetje, dau. of Roelof Martense Schenck, and sister of Roelof (Ralph) and Jan (John) Schenck, of Flatlands, L. I. The name of Schenck is of considerable antiquity and was identified with the nobility in the early history of Holland.

Like many of the old Dutch names it stood for more than an arbitrary appellation. Translated into English it signified "cup bearer" and the inference is, according to Dutch custom, that this family name was founded by a cup bearer to the ruler. This is true also of the origin of the name of Ryerson which translated signified "Cavalier."

As early as 1705 we notice that "Adriaen Reyerszen" (as recorded) and Annetje Schenck, appear on Oct. 15th of that year as sponsors in baptism of Elbert, son of Cornelius and Catalyna Hooglandt. Cornelius Hooglandt was probably a brother of Hendrick Hooglandt, who was Adriaen Reyerszen's son-in-law. Adriaen Reyerszen and Annetje Schenck had children:

- I. JANNETJE (Jane) ADRIAENCE (Reyerszen), b. July 25, 1660; m. Oct. 14, 1683, Jacobus Hegeman.
501. II. ELBERT ADRIAENCE (Reyerszen), b. Aug. 14, 1663; m. Catalyntie Remsen Van der Beeck. His descendants adopted the name of Adriaence (since Adriance).
570. III. MARTEN ADRIAENCE (Reyerszen), b. Mar. 9, 1668; d. Oct. 30, 1754; m. Sarah Remsen Van der Beeck. His descendants adopted the name of Martense.
- IV. MARGARET (or Geertje) ADRIAENCE (Reyerszen), b. Mar. 28, 1670. No further trace.

MARTIN ADRIAENCE (Reyersen)<sup>2</sup>, (Adriaen Reyersz<sup>1</sup>) the progenitor of the Martense (children of Martin) family of America, the second son of Adriaen Reyersz, (Adrian Reyerson) and Annetje Schenck, was b. Mar. 9, 1668; d. Oct. 30, 1754. Through the customs of the times his children and their descendants adopted, and were subsequently known by the name of Martense, which means, literally, son of or child of, Marten. He resided in Flatbush, L. I., on his estate which consisted of some 500 acres. In strange contrast to the descendants of Martin and Adrian Ryerson, the Martense family is nearly extinct. The Martense family to-day is represented by the family of the late Gen. Philip S. Crooke, whose wife was the dau. of Susan Caton, dau. of Patrick Caton and Susan Martense; by the Ferris and Wilbur families; and, also, by the Story family.

RYERSS FAMILY

THE SECOND GENERATION

600. GOSEN ADRIAENCE RYERSS, or Reyerszen,<sup>2</sup> (Adriaen Reyersz<sup>1</sup>), son of Adriaen and Annetje (Schenck) Reyersz, was b. (or bap. April 20, 1685. His name is also found in the records as Gosen Adriaence, although his children and descendants appear to have adopted the name "Ryerss." He probably married twice. His first wife, who appears to have been the mother of his children, was Femmetje (Phoebe), dau. of Aris and Hilletje (Vanderbeek) Vanderbilt, and sister of Jacob Vanderbilt, the ancestor of the Vanderbilt family of Staten Island and New York. Jacob Vanderbilt was the great-grandfather of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Mrs. Jacob Vanderbilt was dau. of Rem Janse Vanderbeek by his wife Jannetje, sister of Mrs. Marten Ryerson and dau. of Joris Janse de Rapelje. Records of the Schraalenburg Reformed Dutch Church, of New Jersey, show that on June 16, 1742, Gosen Adriaence, widower, residence, Staten Is., was m. to Cornelia Banta, widow, of Hackensack. According to the Banta Genealogy, her maiden name was Cornelia Pieterse De Groot. She was b. Oct. 13, 1700, and was dau. of Peter De Groot. The last lineal male descendant of Gosen Adriaence Ryerss to reside on Staten Island was the late David R. Ryerss, of Garretson, who d. in 1903. The children of Gosen Adriaence Ryerss and Phoebe Vanderbilt were so far as known:

I. FEMMETJE (Phoebe) RYERSS, bap. Mar. 9, 1708, in Brooklyn, as the dau. of Gosen Adriaence and Femmetje, his wife. The sponsors were Aris Vanderbilt and Annetje Adriaence.

II. ANTJE RYERSS, bap. Mar. 21, 1709.

601. III. ADRIAN RYERSS, bap. 1715; d. Dec. 12, 1779; m. Esther Dubois.

THE THIRD GENERATION

601. ADRIAN RYERSS,<sup>3</sup> (Gosen,<sup>2</sup> Adriaen Reyersz<sup>1</sup>), son of Gosen and Phoebe (Vanderbilt) Ryerss, was b. in 1715, and d. Dec. 12, 1779. He resided at Staten Island and was a prosperous farmer. He married Esther Dubois, sometimes erroneously recorded in the old records as Hester De Bao. Their children were:

602. I. GOSEN RYERSS, d. 1802; m. (sup.) twice.
 603. II. LEWIS RYERSS, b. Dec. 7, 1754; d. April 13, 1806; m. twice.
 604. III. ARIS RYERSS, m. (sup.) Sarah Stout.

THE FOURTH GENERATION

602. JUDGE GOSEN RYERSS,<sup>4</sup> (Adrian,<sup>3</sup> Gosen,<sup>2</sup> Adriaen Reyersz<sup>1</sup>), son of Adrian and Esther (Dubois) Ryerss, d. in 1802. He resided on Staten Island. He owned property in various parts of the country. He lived for many years at Port Richmond, S. I. He was a member of the Constitutional Convention in 1788, member of the Assembly 1791-4, and first Judge of the County in 1793, which office he held until his death. (Clute's "Hist. of Staten Is.," 1877, 419-20.) On July 26, 1801, Gosen Ryerss was a delegate from Richmond Co. to the convention for the adoption of the Federal Constitution. He was probably twice m., for we find in the records of New York marriage licenses, one issued to Gosen Ryerz and Jutegh (Judith) Dissoway on June 18, 1770; and ten years later, on April 18, 1780, we find records of another marriage license issued to Gosen Ryerz and Cornelia Duffee. Gosen Ryerss was the father of two children, probably by his first wife:

- I. JOHN P. RYERSS. He was a prominent man in the community, and a member of the Assembly. Of his marriage or descendants we have no information excepting a son:
 I. GOSEN ADRIAN RYERSS. Mentioned in the grandfather's will.

He was a prominent man in the community and held various offices. He was a sheriff 1788-9, and member of the Assembly 1795-7, also in 1801. He was twice married and it appears that his first wife, Catherine Connor, whom he m. Jan. 15, 1775, was the mother of his children. His second wife was Ann (perhaps Coursen) widow of Jacob Remsen, who d. Sept. 18,

1825, in her 71st year. Lewis Ryerss's children were baptized in the Moravian Church, on S. I., and are recorded as children of Lewis Ryerson and Catherine, his wife. They were as follows:

APPENDIXES

APPENDIX No. 1

ADRIANCE-AURYENSEN FAMILIES

If we are to accept Harvey's "History of Hudson and Bergen Counties, N. J." as an authority, the families of Adriance which follow in appendixes are in no wise connected with the descendants to Adriaen Reyersz, who was the ancestor of all the others thus far found who bear this name; but are, instead, descended from Lambert Arianse (or Auryensen) who came from Holland in 1682. Harvey asserts that Lambert Adriance was one of the original patentees of Tappan Patent, and that most of his descendants adopted the name Smith. Lambert Auryensen (or Arianse) m. in New York, April, 1682, and resided in Rockland Co. Two of his sons, John and Arie (Aaron), who married respectively Margaret Meyers and Cornelia Naugle, settled near Closter, Bergen Co., N. J. Aaron and Cornelia (Naugle) Auryensen had children: John Resolvent, Vroutes, Garret, Ann and Maria. John Auryensen, aforesaid, was the father of Daniel Auryensen, whose descendants are known to-day both by the name of Auryensen and Adriance. The author discovered in tracing the ancestry of some of the Adriances that certain members of the same family variously spelled their names Adriance, Adreance and Auryensen; also that the older members of their families relate that their ancestors were known by the name of Auryensen, therefore as there appears to be some probability of the following families being descended from an early ancestor of the Adriance family, it is thought fitting to preserve the records in this volume.

AN UNIDENTIFIED POMPTON FAMILY

The information concerning this family is from traditional accounts furnished by the aged widow of William Holland Ryerson, son of Jacob Ryerson, of Pompton. ### COL. MARTIN RYERSON AND CATHERINE COXE

Col. Martin Ryerson married Catherine Coxe (or Cock as the name was written by her forebears). She was baptized in the Reformed Dutch Church, of Kingston, Ulster Co., N. Y., as the dau. of "Thomas and Hellinoor Kok," Jan. 2, 1713. Thomas Cock was bap. Jan. 3, 1682, as the son of "Jan Kok van Out Engelant," (i. e. John Cock from Old England) as found in the Dutch records at Kingston upon his marriage July 27, 1679, to Magdalene (Maddeleen) Wood, also from England.* The wife of Thomas Cock was Elinor Asfordby, who was bap. in Kingston, Feb. 26, 1682, as dau. of William Asfordbye and Martha Borthon (Burton). (The olden time Dutch dominie had a very indifferent way of recording English surnames; for example, the name Asfordby is not spelled twice alike in the Kingston records. It may be found as Asforby, Asschurby, Asvortby, Asfurby, Esvoorby, etc.).

The Asfordby's were an old English family of distinguished origin. William Asfordby was a prominent man of affairs in the colony. He was of Stayne-in-the-Marsh, County Lincoln, England, and later of Kingston and Marbletown, Ulster Co., N. Y. He was baptized at Saltfleetby, England, Mar. 29, 1638. He was a magistrate of Ulster Co., N. Y.; a member of the first New York Assembly and Sheriff of Ulster Co. His will, dated Nov. 6, 1697, was proved Feb. 24, 1698. He married Martha, dau. of William Burton, of Burgh-in-the-Marsh, County Lincoln, Eng. She was living in England Mar. 18, 1668, and was sole heiress and executrix of her husband's will in Ulster Co. in 1698. She d.

* John and Magdalene (Wood) Cock came from England and settled at Marbletown, near Kingston, N. Y. Like many members of the Church of England, before their own Church was established in the vicinity they worshipped in the Reformed Dutch Church, where their children were baptized. John and Magdalene had children; viz., I. John; II. Thomas, bap. Jan. 3, 1683; m. Ellinor Asfordby; III. William, bap. Marbletown, Jan. 26, 1684; m. Jan. 8, 1716, Catrina Esfoort (Asfordby), probably sister of Ellinor. She was bap. Nov. 9, 1685; IV. Elsie, bap. Jan. 1, 1687; V. Elsie, bap. June 3, 1694; VI. Samuel, bap. May 24, 1696; m. July 5, 1722, Bregjen Middaugh; VII. Margaret, bap. April 27, 1701.

Thomas and Ellinor (Asfordby) Cock had several children and in the records of Ulster Co., and Reformed Dutch Church, their names frequently appear in olden time quaint spellings; for example, on Nov. 21, 1714, Thomas Kok and Leonora Eschorby bap. a child named Eels; on Oct. 7, 1716, Tomas Kok and Ellinora Esfordby bap. a son named Asfordbey Cock. On April 21, 1711, Thomas Kok and Abida Eysverby bap. Magdalena. (Alida was probably his first wife and sister of Ellinor.) In June, 1729, Thomas Kok and Nelly Esfoorby were sponsors in bap. for a neighbor's child. On July 29, 1733, Thomas Kok and Nelly Esvort were sponsors for Marretjen, child of Robert Bettis (Beatty) and Bata Middaugh. (Thomas and Ellinor were aunt and uncle to these parents). On Mar. 9, 1720, Thomas Cock, Eleanor, and William Cock and Joris Middaugh proved as witnesses to the will of John Beatty (husband of Susanna Asfordby, sister of Eleanor, wife of Thomas Cock).

April 20, 1711. William Asfordby was a descendant in royal line of the Plantagenet kings of England through his great-great-grandmother, Alice Dymoke. He brought with him from England a parchment containing twelve generations of his ancestry, compiled by the Herald of Arms. This document passed from generation to generation and is now in possession of Mr. Leander Crabb, of New York. A copy of this document and the Asfordby line of descent, with description of Arms, is as follows:
