Hon. William Sloan Announces Policy When Legislature Receives Resolution Asking Dominion Government to Amend Immigration Act to Bring About "Total Exclusion"; Foreign Population With Lower Standard of Living Threatens Our Economic Life Here, He Says.

Total exclusion of Chinese, Japanese, Hindus and all other Asiatics, was the wish of Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, in the Legislature Friday afternoon.

In an emphatic way he made it clear that total exclusion is the only way of solving the problem.

In his position as one of the Ministers of the Crown, Mr. Sloan's declaration was accepted by the House as the approved and adopted policy of the British Columbia Government.

Mr. Sloan made this declaration of policy in connection with the resolution he asked the House to pass calling on the Dominion Government to amend the Immigration Act so as to prohibit completely Asiatic immigration into Canada.

In building up his case, Mr. Sloan reviewed the whole history of anti-Asiatic campaigns and negotiations.

"Although in the past the question of Asiatic immigration has not been altogether dissociated from political activities the time has arrived for recognition that the matter is too important, and the situation becoming too acute, to permit of its being considered as merely a party or a political issue," Mr. Sloan said.

"With respect to Chinese immigration the Canadian Parliament first declared in 1885 for a white Canada, feebly it is true, by imposing a head tax of $50. As a result of further agitation it was increased in 1901 to $100. On January 1, 1904, the head tax was increased to $500. This latter increase was the outcome of the findings of a commission which had been appointed to investigate the Oriental immigration question.

"Let me briefly quote the findings of the commission on the Chinese portion of the investigation: "We find that the increase of capitation tax from $50 to $100 is ineffective and inadequate. Your commissioners are of the opinion that the further immigration of Chinese laborers into Canada ought to be prohibited.

"That the most desirable means of attaining this end is by treaty supported by suitable legislation. "That in the meantime and until this can be obtained the capitation tax be raised to $500.

"The only point on which your commissioners could not agree is the date when the capitation tax of $500 ought to come into effect. The Chairman and Commissioner Foley are of the opinion that the capitation tax should be raised to $500 at once, while Commissioner Munn is of the opinion that $500 should be maintained for two years, and if a prohibitive treaty is not obtained within that period that it then be raised to $500.

"Labor Influx Stopped. "This, however, did not have the desired effect. The influx of Chinese continued with very little apparent abatement.

"In June, 1913, an order-in-council known as P. C. 1292, was passed, which prohibited Chinese entry into Canada through British Columbia ports of skilled and unskilled labor. This applied to Chinese and all other classes seeking entry into Canada.

"Chinese then adopted the method of securing entry to Canada as students. This met their needs under the Immigration Act until it was required that they prove that it was their intention to attend universities conferring degrees.

"The next move of Chinese seeking entrance to Canada was in the role of merchants and it is stated that in 1921, 343 Chinese merchants came into Canada.

"Restrictions Evaded. "It, therefore, would seem that no matter how stringent our regulations are nothing short of complete prohibition of this class of immigration is sufficient to stem the tide.

"To justify this statement let me point out that the Chinese population of Canada, nearly all of whom resided in British Columbia, was well under 15,000. To-day the Chinese population of Canada is 68,000, and of this number 38,000 are credited to British Columbia.

PASTOR INDUCTED. Montreal, Nov. 11.—Capt. the Rev. A. M. Shore, formerly chaplain of the 137th Calgary Battalion, was inducted as the new pastor of St. Augustine's Church here last night.

TO OPEN POPPY BALL. Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald, Administrator of the Province in the absence of Lieut.-Governor Walter C. Nichol, will open the Armistice Day Poppy ball at the Empress Hotel at 8 o'clock this evening.

The ball will be held under the auspices of the Great War Veterans' Association and a large number of tickets have been sold for the event.

MINISTER WHO FATHERS MOVE IN B. C. LEGISLATURE FOR TOTAL ASIATIC EXCLUSION

HON. WILLIAM SLOAN.

SLOAN ANTI-ORIENTAL RESOLUTION WHICH IS GOING TO OTTAWA

Whereas the "Immigration Act" of Canada, and regulations thereunder have failed to stem the tide of Asiatic immigration into Canada:

And whereas the industrial and economic life of Canada, and particularly of the Province of British Columbia, is threatened by competition forced by a growing foreign population with a lower standard of living than that necessary for the well-being of Anglo-Saxon civilization:

And whereas there is a strong and compelling sentiment developing in the Province of British Columbia, at present most affected, that effective protective measures must be adopted:

Therefore be it resolved that this Legislative Assembly place itself on record as being in favor of the enactment of such amendments to the "Immigration Act" of Canada as is necessary to completely prohibit Asiatic immigration into Canada.

And be it further resolved, that a humble address be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, praying that a copy of the resolution herebefore set out be transmitted to the Hon. the Secretary of State or other proper official at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—It is definitely understood that the interim report submitted to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries by the Commission of members of the House of Commons which inquired into the British Columbia fisheries contains a very drastic recommendation with regard to the Fraser River. Messrs. Duff, Dickie, Stork and Neill, the majority of the Commission, agreed to recommend a close season of five years for sockeye salmon fishing on the Fraser and its tributaries and in all coast waters leading up to the same, provided the Americans would do the same on Puget Sound, and that an international commission be appointed consisting of representation of the State of Washington and the Dominion of Canada to govern the matter of regulations during the period named and a term thereafter. Commissioners McQuarrie and Martell dissented from the proposal.

The State Fisheries Board of the State of Washington has been urging that a decision on this matter be given on a visit to the province, but it is expected an early decision on the matter will be made by the Government.

CLOSED SEASON OF FIVE YEARS IS URGED FOR FRASER SALMON

Special to The Times

British Columbia on its returns of revenue and expenditure, has a surplus of $818,101.57 for the first six months of the current year, according to the statement of A. N. Mouat, Comptroller-General for the Province, presented to the Legislature by the Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance.

The revenue of the Province for the half year, the Comptroller's report shows, was $9,905,952.41. The expenditure for the same period amounted to $9,087,850.84.

DEATH LIST IS ONLY ESTIMATED

About 200 Chinese Coolies Perished Near Shanghai

Disaster Occurred When River Steamer Burned

Shanghai, Nov. 11.—It seemed apparent to-day that the number of lives lost in the burning of the river steamer Ta Shing near here yesterday, estimated at 200, probably never will be learned definitely.

No records are kept of the numbers carried by such boats, which daily are jammed with passengers of the poorest coolie classes. Scores of bodies have been recovered, many of them from the Yangtze River at Shanghai, and more probably are in the destroyed hulk of the vessel. The authorities are aiding the few survivors. About twenty were injured or burned.

The disaster was dismissed officially with brief routine police reports.

JAPANESE BUDGET 1,350,000,000 YEN

Tokyo, Nov. 11.—The Cabinet has approved a total expenditure of 1,350,000,000 yen for next year. The army will receive 295,000,000 yen and the navy 276,000,000 yen.

ALBERTA COAL FOR HOMES IN ONTARIO

Shipments to East Planned If Shortage Reported

Calgary, Nov. 11.—Assurance of support for the plan suggested at the coal conference here Thursday of placing Alberta coal on the Ontario market in the event of a coal shortage in Ontario this winter is contained in a wire received by the Calgary Board of Trade from Hon. Charles Stewart, Federal Minister of Mines.

Winnipeg, Nov. 11.—"My hope for this country is a national Protestant church," Rev. Dr. W. J. Clark, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, declared in addressing a Presbyterian meeting here last night.

Dr. Clark explained that he did not mean a state church, but one that gathered all the Protestant forces together. There was nothing after all that divided the denominations on vital questions, he claimed. On the fundamentals they stood as one.

TURKISH SITUATION STILL CRITICAL AND LITTLE NEWS COMING

London, Nov. 11.—The situation in Constantinople, where the Turkish Nationalists want the Allies to get out and the Allies are determined to sit tight, is still very critical, all the newspapers here agree, but none of them furnish any definite news to justify their view.

Even the Government itself is declared in some quarters to be largely in the dark, owing to the difficulty of communicating with the Near East as the result of the cutting of the cable near Chanak by the Turks. Even this fact is absolutely nothing can be learned regarding the present attitude of the Angora Government, and it is equally unknown whether the Allied Commissioners have carried out their threat to establish martial law in Constantinople.

Cause of Suspicion. The departure for Lausanne of the Turkish Nationalist Foreign Minister, Ismet Pasha, has attracted a great deal of attention here and in some quarters his unexpected start on the journey, without awaiting the Angora Government's reply to the latest Allied note, is regarded with suspicion.

The diplomatic expert of The Daily Telegraph presumes that "Ismet will not endeavor to emulate at Adrianople Poincare to make France's position clear, but it will be interesting to see whether he will endeavor to confer with the Bulgarian Government on the way to Lausanne."

Delay Causes Anxiety. Delay in settling the troubles in the Near East and in definitely fixing a date for the Lausanne discussion has caused serious anxiety here. Some quarters have an uneasy feeling regarding the Franco-British relations. The Times says these relations are being severely tested. Editorially it makes a very emphatic appeal to Premier Poincare to make France's position clear, declaring that conditions do not yet exist which would justify British representatives in attending the Lausanne conference. The British Government, it is said, is in a perilous position to-day as it is perilous as war. The Times declares:

"Even in the terms of the Mudania armistice, which brought the conflict between the Allies and Turkey to an end, it is not known whether France is prepared to stand with Great Britain and in case of need, act with her." The Times adds: "British in word and deed at Constantinople might be the signal for a disaster of immeasurable dimensions. There may yet be time to avert it, but the sands are running out. Swift and complete accord between London and Paris alone can preclude it, or should the worst befall, keep it within manageable limits."

COMPLETE ACCORD NEED OF MOMENT

URGES PROGRESSIVE FORCES FORM UNION

British Politics Need That, Says Lloyd George

London, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Mr. Lloyd George, speaking at Swansea yesterday, termed the Labor proposal of a capital levy as suicide, unconsidered and ill-timed. If Russia, which was the granary of Europe, could not feed its own people to-day under Communism, how, he asked, could "this little densely-populated corner, which little has to fetch two-thirds of its food across the ocean, hope to do it?"

"Russia will recover," he added. "She has indefinite resources, but if disaster fell upon this country through a false step in dealing with the delicate machinery which ground the corn for the people, it would not recover."

Progressives. Continuing the ex-Premier said: "I think the time has come for a union of the Progressives of all parties for the purpose of defending the cause of progress against reaction. I believe this election will end in that. The first thing that will happen is that the Labor Party will be badly beaten throughout the country, and they will say: 'This is what came of listening to visionaries.'"

"It is a crime against the country to divide the forces that are resisting the attempt to Russinize Great Britain. There is only one party to-day that is putting class first, and another party first, but there is not a pin to choose between them. Reaction is as dangerous as revolution, because it leads to revolution. I say to the Liberals: 'If you can get help from moderate Laborites and progressive Conservatives, for God's sake do not commit the stupidity of refusing it.'"

COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE IS BEGUN

The Community Chest drive for the $66,000 objective for the carrying on of associate charities in the city during the ensuing year started this morning with over two hundred workers engaged in canvassing for subscriptions. The Rotary and Gyrro Clubs have furnished 180 volunteers, and there are twenty-five others engaged.

The ladies are also doing splendid work. Eleven thousand booklets have been sent to householders and others making an appeal for subscriptions, and explaining the saving of expense and overlapping in the carrying on of charitable work through the introduction of the Community Chest.

The headquarters are at 45 Arcade Building, and Colonel Lorne Ross is supervising the operations. Every business house contributing will be presented with a window card and other contributors will be given a button to show that they have contributed and need not be approached for further donations for any purpose. The captain canvassers will have luncheon with the Kiwanis Club at the Dominion Hotel at 12:15 o'clock on Tuesday and file reports. A substantial sum has already been subscribed.

The Sultan, it is said, may formally appeal to the Allies for protection, but it is believed they could prevent a possible Nationalist coup only if martial law were declared.

Sir Horace Rumbold, the British High Commissioner, and General Pelle, High Commissioner of France, have been the only visitors at the palace since the decision of the Angora Government last week not to recognize the Sultan's temporal authority.

The Sultan has refused to comment publicly on the present situation or reveal his plans. He has expressed the determination to remain on the throne unless removed by force. He insists the Nationalist Assembly is not representative of the people and has expressed his intention to modify the status of successors to Mohammed, who have enjoyed temporal and spiritual power for more than a thousand years.

HOPES FOR BIG CANADIAN CHURCH

Moderator of Presbyterian Assembly Speaks of Union

Winnipeg, Nov. 11.—"My hope for this country is a national Protestant church," Rev. Dr. W. J. Clark, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, declared in addressing a Presbyterian meeting here last night.

Dr. Clark explained that he did not mean a state church, but one that gathered all the Protestant forces together. There was nothing after all that divided the denominations on vital questions, he claimed. On the fundamentals they stood as one.

WITH PARADE AND SERVICE VICTORIANS MARK ANNIVERSARY

Morning Tribute Shown With Two Minutes of Silence Everywhere; Notable Gatherings in Canada, Great Britain and France.

With due solemnity and impressiveness, in recognition of the day four years ago when the roar of cannon and the bursting of shells was stilled while the word "Armistice" flashed through the far-flung battle lines of the Allied forces, Victoria, capital of the Province of British Columbia, which contributed so generously to Canada's quota of men, money and resources, to-day celebrated the event.

Men, women and children took part in the commemoration of the sacrifices of the dead, and the living whose achievements in the world's greatest war once more restored the equilibrium of civilization. Naval, military and civilian organizations paid their respects to the men who had won honor and glory for the British Empire.

The entire city observed the two minutes of silence at 11 o'clock this morning in tribute to the dead, and at some of the larger business institutions memorial services were held. The staff and friends of Spencer's Limited gathered on the main floor at 10:55 and sang "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" followed by an address by Rev. W. J. Sippell, D.D., president of the singing of the National Anthem.

Dr. Sippell's Tribute. "We are not here to glorify war, but to have called to our remembrance the horrors of war that we moved on from them to the arts of peace," said Dr. Sippell. "Only when we secure peace of the world can we secure the prosperity of the world. Its unbridled chasms of human life supersede the progress of the race of men. We keep our selves from life's true goal if we harbor nothing in life that shuts us from our fellow man."

"The tragedies of human life are developed in the individual soul before they declare themselves in strife on the field of the world's conflict. "We should carry the torch as well as wear the poppy. The one is a reminder. The other is a light that reveals the way before us. The call of our heroes who paid the supreme sacrifice is not to the poppy, but to the torch," said Dr. Sippell, who concluded by reciting the last verse of "In Flanders Fields."

At Parliament Buildings. A special mass was celebrated at St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Church this morning.

All the officials and civil servants at the Parliament Buildings gathered under the dome and around the memorial tablet to the British Columbia journalists, and those of the 38th Fusiliers and the Gordon Highlanders, standing with bowed heads for two minutes, after which they disbanded in silence.

The city department rang bells No. 1, a pre-arranged signal for the district stations and the headquarters to come to attention at 11 o'clock, when the release was rung in two minutes later.

The Parade. At 2:20 o'clock this afternoon the Armistice Parade fell in at lower Yates Street and the procession moved off at 2:40 o'clock, following the route of march up Yates Street to Douglas, along Douglas Street to Humboldt Street, thence to Government Street and on to the Parliament Buildings, where memorial services were conducted.

Crowds lined the route of march and gathered at the Parliament Buildings grounds, reading the names of the parade, the order of which was as follows:

Boys' Naval Brigade Band, British Campaigners' Association, Navy Detachments from H.M.S. Capetown and H.M.C.S. Patricia, Boys' Naval Brigade, Maritime Detachment from Work Point Barracks, Victoria Cadet Corps Band, Victoria Cadet Corps, Victoria Juvenile Pipe Band, Victoria Boy Scouts, Victoria Girl Guides, pipers from the Canadian Scottish Battalion, Army and Navy Veterans' Association, Canadian Legion, Grand Army of United Veterans, Veterans of France and unaffiliated ex-service men.

The Armistice Day parade was arranged under the joint auspices of the Army and Navy Veterans, Canadian Legion, Veterans of France, Grand Army of United Veterans and the British Campaigners.

The memorial service at the Parliament Buildings was of short duration and was as follows:

Hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past"; invocation; the Bishop of Columbia; scripture reading; the Bishop of Columbia; prayer; the Bishop of Columbia; address; the Rev. Dr. J. Campbell; hymn, "O God of Love, O God of Peace"; benediction; the Bishop of Victoria; "God Save the King."

The social events of the day include the Fall Carnival at the Royal Victoria Theatre and the poppy ball at the Empress Hotel this evening under G.W.V.A. auspices; the Armistice ball at the Armistice; the suspension of the Armistice Perio Committee, representing all ex-service bodies in the city with the exception of the G.W.V.A., and to which the I.O.O.F. and other organizations are lending their support, and a number of other private and public affairs.

A message of sympathy was extended to Mr. Creer by the members attending the conference when the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. A. Hamilton, was announced at this morning's session.

WARNING GIVEN OF POISON ATTEMPT

Prominent Persons in Britain Told to Watch Mails

Scotland Yard Chief a Victim; Lies III

London, Nov. 11.—All night long master detectives from Scotland Yard scoured London for the perpetrators of the outrage upon their chief, Sir William Horwood, who was seriously ill to-day from malicious administration of poison. So far no arrests have been reported.

Sir William is not out of danger, but hopes for his recovery are entertained because of his great vitality.

Scotland Yard officials announced definitely that the attempt to assassinate Horwood was by means of poisoned chocolate sent through the mail. These officials said they believed this was but one step in a conspiracy to kill many prominent persons. The police have issued a warning to all persons of note not to eat anything sent them by post.

ALBERTA LEADS COAL PROVINCES

Nova Scotia Second Among Producers; British Columbia Third

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—For the past two years, says a return issued by the Bureau of Statistics, the Province of Alberta has held the premier position among the coal producing provinces of Canada, with Nova Scotia, the former leader, a close second, and British Columbia third, and with Saskatchewan and New Brunswick following in order.

DISCUSS DEBT TO UNITED STATES

Rumanian Representatives Now in Washington

New York, Nov. 11.—Eftimie Antonescu and Constantin Antonides, sent by the Rumanian Government to discuss its $38,000,000 debt to the United States with Secretary Hughes, arrived yesterday on the Aquitania and have gone to Washington.

Sir Eric Geddes, brother of the British Ambassador to the United States, was another passenger. He said he would attend to private business.

BOOTLEGGER PAYS LESS ALIMONY; INCOME FALLS

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Walter Jacobs testified in court here yesterday that he could no longer pay his wife $250 per month alimony, since he had retired from the bootlegging business. Judge Shortall, hearing the case, reduced the alimony to $50 per month. Jacobs testified his business now was confined to malt syrup and soda water.

SIR H. THORNTON WAS HONORED

Guest at Dinner Given by British Railway Managers

Success in His C. N. R. Task Predicted

London, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Sir Henry Thornton, the new president of the Canadian National Railways, who will leave soon to take up his duties in Canada, was entertained at a farewell dinner last night by Great Britain's railway managers. He was the recipient of souvenirs from the General Managers' Conference.

Frank Tatlow, general manager of the Midland Railway said Sir Henry had a big and arduous task before him but one he could and would face up to, and given fair play and freedom from political influence and interference, Canadians would find they had placed their national railways under the control of a man capable of seeing the thing through.

GREATER ARGENTINE AND AUSTRALIAN YIELDS OF WHEAT

Rome, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters)—The International Institute of Agriculture here reports that the estimated Argentine wheat yield is 231,000,000 bushels, against 180,640,000 bushels in 1921. The Institute also estimates that Australia has approximately 19,000,000 acres of land under wheat, as compared with 9,589,000 last year.

CANADA URGED TO INVITE MORE IMMIGRANTS

Montreal, Nov. 11.—Canada's immigration propaganda is lamentably weak when compared for instance with that of Australia, according to Mrs. Arthur Rogers, member of the Legislature of Manitoba for Winnipeg, who passed through here yesterday from a visit in England and France.

BONAR LAW'S VIEWS ON THE FRANCHISE

Age Equality For Men and Women Voters in Britain

London, Nov. 11.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Replying to an inquiry, Premier Bonar Law expressed the opinion that the discrimination in age between men and women regarding the franchise cannot be permanent. At the same time he recognizes there is a strong national feeling that the Government should not hastily attempt to make changes of a highly controversial character, and he feels he would not be justified in giving an undertaking that complete equalization of the franchise will be carried into effect by the Government in the coming Parliament.

WEDDING OF VISCOUNT'S DAUGHTER OLD WORLD ROMANCE

Special to The Times.

London, Nov. 11.—The Daily Express announces a peacetime romance in a quiet wedding in Portobello, near Edinburgh, of the Hon. Alexandra Louvima Knollys to Richard Henry Checkley. The bride is the widow of Capt. Alan Keith Mackenzie and the only daughter of Viscount Knollys, formerly Private Secretary to King George and Lord-in-Waiting to Queen Alexandra. She spent most of her life in the inner circles of the Court, Queen Alexandra, after whom she is named, being her godmother. The bridegroom, says The Daily Express, is the son of an usher in the court of sessions at Edinburgh. He served in the war and attained commissioned rank, but since demobilization and up till nine months ago he was an assistant salesman serving behind a counter in the shop of John Cotton, Limited, tobacco merchants, Albemarle Street, London. The marriage took place with the full knowledge and consent of Viscount Knollys, who would have attended the ceremony if the state of his health had permitted him to travel.

The romance, it is said, began in a war-time meeting while the bride was working as a hospital nurse. A psychologist objects to what he calls "hard thinking" but what a majority of people think is always what they've heard.

The Extra Cream

Mrs. Anderson says the extra cream has brought Pacific Milk up to the highest possible standard. She says the old process seemed to her to be perfect but 45 per cent of good cream makes it simply splendid for every household use. Mrs. A. thinks we have reached the final improvement. Perhaps we have, but we shall not discontinue trying to improve. To stop is to stagnate.

ELBOW ROOM FOR GERMANY

People's Party Wants Larger Place For Republic Among Nations

Berlin, Nov. 11.—Elbow room abroad, economically and politically, is primarily what Germany needs in order to get on her feet financially, declares the platform of policy adopted by the German People's Party. The basic trouble of the nation is held by this party to rest in the allegation that "the German is a man of inferior rights in the world." "So long as this condition prevails," continues the platform, "Germany can not move freely in the world of economics and is incapable of meeting her obligations." Belief is expressed that a foreign loan could be obtained if this freedom were accorded and the Entente relaxed certain pressure authorized by the Treaty of Versailles, such as the occupation of territory and the application of sanctions or penalties.

VANCOUVER ISLAND NEWS

RURAL NURSING SERVICE DISCUSSED

Special to The Times.

Colwood—An important meeting of the board of management of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service was held at Colwood Hotel Thursday night to receive the reports of the special committees appointed at the last meeting.

The president, G. D. Sloan, was in the chair, and after usual preliminaries, J. Stuart Yates, as chairman of a committee composed of himself, G. D. Sloan and H. A. Hincks, presented the constitution and by-laws as drawn up by them for the approval of the board, and for adoption at the annual meeting to be held in January. The constitution included four articles, and stated the name and objects of the association, qualifications for membership and office and scope for amendments. The by-laws had received careful consideration and were adopted by the board with the constitution, with one or two amendments.

R. I. Van der Byl presented the report of the committee appointed to draw up rules and regulations governing the nurse's work, the other two members of this committee being Dr. Donald and Mr. Burgess. The rules and regulations were broad and undoubtedly had received the attention due to such an important work, and were also adopted on motion.

Both committees received the thanks of the board for their services. The matter of procuring a new car for the use of the nurse in the district was brought up, but as the hour was getting late it was left with the executive to deal with. The nurse's report for October was given, showing that eight schools had been visited and inspected, 15 pupils inspected, 24 "follow up" visits made, 10 health talks given and 15 child welfare visits, in addition to other professional calls.

SALE OF WORK AND DANCE ARE PLANNED

Special to The Times.

Sooke Harbor—Next Tuesday evening the Sooke Women's Institute have arranged to have an Artistic Dance at the Sooke Hall in aid of the Sooke School Piano Fund. On Thursday evening, November 16, the ladies of the Knox Presbyterian Church will hold their Annual Christmas Sale in aid of the Manse Fund. The members of the Ladies' Aid are working at high pressure to make this sale a great success. There will be stalls for needlework, Christmas gifts, candies and home cooking. The manse, which was completed last month, was erected by Messrs. Richardson Bros. and the members of the congregation are anxious to pay off the loan that was raised as soon as possible.

Walter Liddell, who was wounded in the war, has returned to Sooke after being several months in the Jubilee Hospital, Victoria, undergoing treatment.

Mrs. E. Noel returned to town with her two children this week. Mrs. Throup, the popular post-mistress of Sooke, recently returned from England after a very enjoyable summer spent with friends in the Home Country. The weather was not kind to her, as the summer was one of the wettest experienced in England for some while. Mrs. Throup says the cost of living in England is still very high, but prices are coming down.

The Sooke residents are fortunate in that Mr. Ingram is now running a free bus morning and evening to meet the train to and from Victoria. The bus leaves Sooke at 9.10 and 5 p. m. and calls at the Sooke Harbor Hotel and picks up passengers. There is no charge made. Several Sooke people have already taken advantage of this.

BUYS HOME ON QUAMICHAN LAKE

Special to The Times.

Duncan—Mr. Dawson Thomas, who lately came to Cowichan from England, has bought Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hadgen's pretty home, "Fairfield," on Quamichan Lake, and with his wife and daughter will take up residence shortly. Mr. and Mrs. Hadgen will move to "Ambleside," the Hadgen farm, also on the lake.

Dr. and Mrs. Primrose-Wells will leave Duncan for Los Angeles, Cal., where they intend to spend the next few months. Owing to so many conflicting engagements, the cabaret which was being arranged for November 17 has been postponed until the New Year.

COWICHAN GOLF.

Special to The Times.

Duncan—H. E. Prevost easily won the Bunko cup competition Thursday afternoon by defeating H. B. Heyworth in a 36 hole match on the Cowichan Golf Club links by 9 up and 1 to play. Prevost took the first two holes, and Heyworth the next two, levelling the score, but after that Prevost was ahead all the time.

The Workers' Right To A "Living Wage"

Every rational human being in the United States stands for a wage that will give American workers an American living. President Harding and Secretary of Labor Davis have recently gone further and declared publicly that American workmen should have not merely a "living" but a "savings" wage. In the face of this comes the ruling of the Railroad Labor Board which declares that "the theory of 'the living wage' if carried to its legitimate conclusion would wreck every railroad in the United States and if extended to other industries would carry them into communistic ruin." It will be noted that what the Board opposes is not "a living wage" but the theory of "the living wage."

Read THE LITERARY DIGEST this week and learn what the press of the country thinks of the Labor Board's decision, and also the various interpretations of a living wage made by Labor journals and the press generally.

Can a Woman Run a Home and a Job Too?

She can if she has brains, replies Carolyn Wells; but this critic of human nature adds: "Few women have brains." Can a woman have a career in business or the professions, and still be a good housewife? This article consists of letters received by the "Digest" from 250 prominent women, such as Carolyn Wells, Lillian Mollra Gilbreth, Mrs. Robert E. Peary, Madam Nazimova, Marguerita Slyva, Anna E. Olesen, Anne Rogers Minor, Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, Mary Roberts Rinchard, Madam Johanna Gaski, Maude Ballington Booth, Helen M. Gardner. The article has a very real importance for several million American women. To get an opinion upon the subject, the "Digest" addressed a letter to the married women in the current edition of the American "Who's Who," and the answers received are from women of various professions and businesses.

FOUR YEARS AGO.

Four years ago to-day the world shook off the hideous monster of militarism. It looked back over more than four years of the most frightful carnage humanity had ever experienced.

We are reminded at this stage of the world's progress that the lessons of the war have not penetrated to the souls of men as it was anticipated they would have done.

On this day of days it is well to remember that the destruction of Prussianism means little or nothing if mankind shall permit the rise of oppression and reaction elsewhere.

It is time to plead with the world for a real League of Nations. Admiral Sims sums up the world's desire in these words:

The only thing that will bring about the end of these terrible world wars will be the pressure of disgust of a world against savagery and carnage. It must be that pressure of disgust.

It remains for every country to form its leagues of peace. Cultivate that "pressure of disgust" and let it be articulated in every man and woman throughout the world.

MR. CRERAR'S RESIGNATION.

The resignation of the Hon. T. A. Crerar, as leader of the Progressive Party, to be followed by his retirement to private life, is a political event of the first importance.

MR. PATTULLO IS RIGHT.

Most people will agree that Mr. Pattullo does not employ extravagant argument when he contends that this country is capable of absorbing 300,000 new settlers every year.

AN IDLE THREAT.

None of the Allies will be frightened at the suggestion that if the Near East question cannot be settled without war the Moscow Government will adhere to the Russo-Turkish military agreement.

BEER AND WINE.

Indications point to the commencement of a steady drive upon the members of the Legislature in the interests of those who desire the Liquor Control Act so amended as to permit the sale and consumption of beer and light wines in public places.

no new immigrants should be admitted until everyone here is profitably employed. But it would be safe to say that the acception of that principle would send the country into the hands of a receiver in a very short space of time.

DUPLICATED EFFORT?

I.O.D.E. PICTURES PRESENTED FRIDAY

Impressive Ceremonies in City Schools to Mark Armistice Anniversary

Tangible reminders of Armistice Day and its significance were conveyed to the younger generation in the course of a series of interesting ceremonies staged at a number of the local schools yesterday, when various Chapters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire presented historic pictures, as has been their custom in former years. In the majority of cases the picture chosen was that of Jack Travers Cornwall, the boy V. C., who although fatally wounded "carried on" on H. M. S. Chester during the battle of Jutland when his gun crew had all been killed.

High School.—The Victoria High School received a copy of the picture from the Camosun Chapter, the regent, Mrs. J. B. Phillips making the presentation. She was accompanied by Mrs. Luxton, Mrs. Miles, Mrs. Kippen, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. Hartley.

Gonzales Chapter.—Gonzales Chapter, I. O. D. E., presented a copy of the picture to Montezuma Chapter, Mrs. L. B. Kent, the regent, being accompanied by Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Mrs. David Miller, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Beetham, Mrs. Muscott and Miss A. B. Cooke. Following the presentation, Miss Florence Whitney, vice-regent of H. M. S. Resolution Chapter presented Mrs. Kent and Mrs. Sampson with bouquets and Mrs. Sampson presented the Chapter with its standard. Brief addresses were given by the Rev. G. H. Andrews and E. Tomlin, chairman of the School Board.

Bank Street School.—Poppies were used in the decoration of the rooms at the Bank Street School yesterday, when the Rev. G. H. Andrews on behalf of the Dr. O. H. Jones Chapter presented the picture to the school, in the presence of members of the Chapter and mothers of the children. The picture was received by the principal, Miss Patterson, and decorated with a poppy wreath by Kathleen Jolly.

Margaret Jenkins School.—At the Margaret Jenkins School a picture of the boy V. C. was presented by the Margaret Rocks Robertson Chapter, brief addresses being given by Principal W. H. Gee, Mrs. Spoford of the Board of School Trustees, while Miss Mary Langley read a brief history of the hero, Mrs. Gordon Smith, regent of the Chapter, made the presentation which was received by Master John O'Brien, and Mrs. Travis, educational secretary, spoke briefly.

Lampson Street.—Lt.-Col. John A. Hall related the story of Jack Travers Cornwall when the picture was presented by the Esquimalt Chapter to the Lampson Street School, after which Principal Tait thanked the Chapter and read a poem written by Dudley H. Anderson of Victoria. Mrs. L. Mulach, also spoke on behalf of the School Board. The singing of patriotic songs by the children brought the ceremony to a close.

South Park.—The South Park School was the recipient yesterday of a picture of Jack Cornwall, the gift of the Agnes Deana Cameron Chapter, I.O.D.E. Mrs. L. Hardie presented the picture on behalf of the members and was accompanied to the school by Mrs. W. G. Cameron and Mrs. Patt. Mr. Campbell, when accepting the picture, spoke of the life and achievements of Jack Cornwall.

University Military.—The University Military School was the scene of a patriotic ceremony yesterday afternoon, when the Robert Valentine Harvey Chapter, I.O.D.E., presented a Union Jack to the president, J. Barnacle, in memory of the late Captain R. V. Harvey. Mr. Barnacle spoke very feelingly on Captain Harvey's many sterling qualities, and as it was Armistice period, introduced two appropriate hymns.

The regent, Mrs. W. R. Sayer, made the presentation on behalf of the Chapter with a short speech to the cadets, introduced two appropriate hymns, and called for three cheers for the Empire and our flag, and Sergeant Pollard, the head cadet, called for three cheers and a tiger for Mrs. Sayer. Mrs. R. B. Mckicking also spoke briefly. Mrs. Barnacle very kindly entertained those present to the number of about fifty, including members of the Municipal Chapter, mothers of ward of the cadets, and others who had attended.

Kingston Street.—Great interest was evidenced by pupils of the Kingston Street School yesterday, when they received a picture of Jack Cornwall, the gift of the Robert Burns McKicking Chapter. The regent, Mrs. Crowe, made the presentation, which was received by Miss Lawson, principal of the school.

Spring Ridge School.—A handsome picture of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales was presented to the Spring Ridge School, a school hitherto "unadopted" by any Chapter, by Mrs. H. P. Crowe, regent of the Florence Nightingale Chapter. Denis Brown, whose father gave his life in the Great War, received the picture from Mrs. Crowe. Following the presentation the Chapter served tea at the Tubercular Ward of the Jubilee Hospital. A specially entertaining programme had been arranged for the occasion, the following artists taking part: Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Lewtas and Mrs. Glazebny, accompanied by Mrs. Conyers, Mrs. Porter had charge of the tea arrangements, and the patients expressed their pleasure at the visit. Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. Catterall, members of the chapter, were also present at the presentation ceremony.

The segregation of the sexes among certain barbarian peoples goes on in many cases that each sex has practically a different language.

Social & Personal

Mrs. Humble-Birkett, Miss Helen Nation, Major Schidm-Humphreys, Mr. Carew Martin, Mr. Barclay Monteith and Major R. H. B. Ker. The party later went on to the Union Club hall.

A marriage of wide-spread interest was solemnized recently at St. Paul's Church, Knightsbridge, England, when Lady Alma Stopford, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Courtown became the bride of Lieutenant-Colonel G. L. Hoare, C. B. E., eldest son of Mr. William Hoare, of Summerhill, Kent. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of gold tissue enriched with Brussels lace, and veil of old Bruges lace. The bridesmaids were Lady Eileen and Lady Marjorie Stopford, Miss Hoare, Miss Nancy Hoare, the Hon. Patricia, the Hon. Moyra, and the Hon. Cecilia Stopford. They were charmingly gowned in yellow georgette. Lieutenant-Colonel F. E. Packe acted as best man. A reception was held by the Earl and Countess of Courtown at 32 Chesham Place. The bride is a sister of Lady Sybil Lawrence of Vancouver, formerly of Victoria, and also a sister of Lady Edith Stopford, who was a recent guest in the city.

Edith Mary Wymond, daughter of the late Dr. W. W. Walkem and Mrs. Walkem, became the bride of Mr. Francis M. Ard, youngest son of Rev. Albert John Stanley Ard, of Tanbridge Wells, England, at a ceremony held in All Saints Church, Vancouver, on Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Rev. G. M. Nurse read the service. The bride, given in marriage by Mr. William Parker, looked lovely in her hand embroidered dress of white voile. She wore the traditional veil held in place with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums. Miss Edna Martin was the bridesmaid. She wore a gown of grey canton crepe, a hat of grey, with pink roses, and carried a bouquet of russet chrysanthemums. Mr. J. H. Clucas was groomsmen. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. H. Clucas, corner of Renfrew and Charles Streets, where the young couple received the congratulations of their many friends. The bride, who is well known in this city, is the niece of the late Mr. Justice Walkem of Victoria. After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Ard will take up residence in Vancouver. The bride travelled in a motor car, with a brown, with brown hat, trimmed with silver lace.

Mrs. W. W. Baines is leaving to-morrow to spend a few weeks visiting with friends and relatives in Vancouver.

Mrs. E. Palmer, has returned to Vancouver after visiting her sister, Mrs. Frederick Shepherd in this city for a few days.

TO PRESENT PICTURE OF FIRST GOVERNOR

Lady Douglas Chapter, I. O. D. E., to Commemorate Historic Anniversary

The Lady Douglas Chapter, I. O. D. E., will commemorate the historic event of the birthday of British Columbia by holding tea and musicale at the Empress ballroom, on Monday, November 20 at 3 p. m.

Sixty-four years ago Governor Douglas, founder of Victoria, accompanied by Mr. Justice Matthew Beale, proceeded to Fort Langley, then the presumptive capital and within the palisades of the Fort's buildings he held through the kindly and strenuous, publicly proclaimed on November 19, 1858, the colony of British Columbia.

The capital was, however, changed to Queenborough or New Westminster and remained so until the union of the Mainland and Vancouver Island, when it was finally transferred to the latter and Victoria made the capital.

The presentation by the chapter of a handsome picture of Sir James Douglas to the Government of British Columbia and accepted on its behalf by J. Forgy, provincial librarian, to be placed by him in the archives of the Parliament Buildings, will lend much dignity to the occasion at which also Mr. Lindley Crease will speak.

An attractive programme of music will be given by Mrs. D. B. McCann, Mrs. Styles Seal, Mr. Kenneth Angus and Miss Dorothy Dean. A cordial invitation is extended visitors and the public generally.

ST. JOSEPH'S AUXILIARY ACCOMPLISHED MUCH WORK LAST MONTH

At the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital, held yesterday afternoon in the nurses' recreation room, arrangements were made for a bridge tea to Sabre looks up. Looks around. Gets his hat. Collects his old stick. Starts Wednesday, December 5. Friends desirous of assisting the hospital in this manner will kindly telephone Mrs. Stuart Robertson, who is convener of the committee for the bridge.

The gift of a motor attachment for a sewing machine donated by the Girls' Club of Angus Campbell & Co., was much appreciated by the Auxiliary as well as a cash donation from Miss Bloomquist. Mrs. MacLaughlin, convener of the sewing committee, submitted the following report for the last month: 18; handbags triangles, 18; red bed dresses, 14; making a total of 1,120 pieces.

A Winter Fair is to be held early in the New Year and plans were discussed whereby novel features of entertainment would be provided; convener being appointed for that purpose. A report on the home nursing classes which are being conducted each Wednesday evening at eight o'clock was most satisfactory, all being unanimous that the instruction given by Mrs. Lucas is splendid.

The secretary reported that a new roof had been put on the Institute kitchen and a new sidewalk laid, at a cost of $250. This had been badly needed for some time and has greatly added to the comfort of the Institute. The president gave her report on the recent district conference and was accorded a hearty vote of thanks. Reports regarding the Fall Exhibition and "Hard Times" Hallway dance were also handed in and proved satisfactory. The principal and teachers from the district school were in attendance, the institute according them a hearty welcome. After serving refreshments a motion to adjourn was in order.

Sale of Work—St. Barnabas' Parish Guilds and Women's Auxiliary will hold a sale of work in the schoolroom on Wednesday, November 22, to be opened by the Rev. W. Foray, at 3 p. m. Tables of fancy and plain work, home cooking and candies will be provided. The "Grouse Goose" hopes to be present. Dainty afternoon teas will be served.

The Institute has arranged an Armistice dance for Tuesday, November 14, in Sooke Public Hall, in aid of the school piano fund. At the next meeting of the Institute in December there will be a stall for the sale of articles made by members.

A Bazaar to Help Building Fund Mrs. Schofield opened the Y. W. C. A. bazaar this afternoon, which is being held in aid of the raising of funds for the new Y. W. C. A. building. A presentation of flowers was also made by the bazaar committee, following stalls were capably handled by the following people: Home cooking, Miss Stridger; candy, Miss Guy; tea, Mrs. Mitchell; art and novelties, M. J. Barry; handkerchiefs, Miss Moughton, needlework, Miss Koyie.

The increased sales of cigarettes in this country is attributed to the hundreds of thousands of women, who have joined the ranks of smokers.

MARY GARDEN NOT ENGAGED SHE SAYS

Prima Donna Says Mules More Tractable Than Men

New York, Nov. 11.—Mary Garden, queen of American prima donnas and erstwhile director of the Chicago Opera Company, arrived yesterday on the Atlantic with her new manager, and a lot of enthusiasm in her mind.

Miss Garden was as vivacious as ever. Even more so, she declared, for having lost nine pounds clambering up and down the mountains of Switzerland, she feels "less weighed down with responsibility," she said.

Another "impression" she launched at those who greeted her at the dock was "mules are preferable to men because they're more easily managed."

Discussing her plans, Miss Garden was vague, except that she understood she was to sing "Carmen" at Chicago soon, leaving for that city to-morrow.

But she is not "engaged"—referring to men—and doesn't intend ever to be again—referring to opera management.

Miss Jessie Brown will give an address before the Kumtiks Club at their monthly business meeting to be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the president, Miss Lottie Bowron, corner of Vancouver and Collinson Streets. Several very important matters affecting legislation concerning women and children will be brought to the attention of the members.

POPPY BALL AT EMPRESS TO-NIGHT

Pleasing Spectacle Will Be Final Scene of Carnival

The advance sale of tickets for the Poppy Ball of the Great War Veterans' Association at the Empress Hotel to-night indicates that the event will quite live up to the expectations of being one of the most brilliant and enjoyable social events of the season. The appropriate decorations, the gay costumes of the carnival performers, and the dress of the army and navy officers, will certainly make a spectacle pleasing to the eye.

The spirit of the successful carnival and the rejoicing of Armistice night will pervade the affair and "conform with the general spirit of festivity the ballroom will be appropriately decorated for the occasion.

Carnival artists will join the dancers after the performance at the Royal Victoria Theatre and take part in the proceedings. Some of the popular numbers of the Carnival will also be repeated during the evening.

Requests for the scene to be made for several of the scenes to be repeated at the Poppy Ball. One or two of the chief numbers only, however, will be given, as that attending the dance may share in the general programme of the evening.

SOOKE INSTITUTE

Members Welcomed Home From England at Recent Meeting. There was a large attendance of members of the Sooke Institute at the usual monthly meeting held on Tuesday in Sooke Public Hall. The meeting was in the form of a welcome home to the members, Mrs. G. Throum and Mrs. D. Barton, both of whom have just returned from a visit to the Old Country, and a farewell to Mrs. T. Pagliaro, who is leaving the district but who was unable to be present. After a few words from the president, Mrs. A. Kohout, a dainty tea was served with music by Mrs. M. Higgs and Mrs. A. Campbell. The institute has arranged an Armistice dance for Tuesday, November 14, in Sooke Public Hall, in aid of the school piano fund. At the next meeting of the Institute in December there will be a stall for the sale of articles made by members.

The Critical Age

—the School Age

William Cobbin was a weakly child, unable to eat food. Now, at 11, he is tall for his age and has splendid limbs. Virol saved his life.

The School Age is the age of growth—of strain—of infection. It is the age during which the body of your child is being built for life. The material out of which the body is built is Food, and Food only. Food is not "anything you can eat." It must possess those essential properties which are so richly contained in Virol.

Virol is the building-up food for all ages. It has been specially designed by medical experts to provide those elements which are most often lacking, and to restore the balance in diet during the critical period of school life and adolescence.

"Dropped back on his seat like he was shot. Twisted himself up. Sat rocking. "Court cleared in less than no time. Me left in my corner. This Lady Tybar. Sabre, twisted up. Bobby or two, I began to come forward. Sabre looks up. Looks around. Gets his hat. Collects his old stick. Starts to hobble out. "This Lady Tybar gets in front of him, she alongside of her by then. "Marko, Marko." (That was what she called him.) He sort of pushes at her and at me: "Let me alone. Let me alone. Get right away from me." "Hobbles away down the road. "A bobby stops him. "Better go this way, sir. Rough lot of people out there." Leads him to a side door. Door followed him up, she and I. Door gave on to a lane running up into the Penny Green road. She tried at him again, gently, very tenderly. "Marko, Marko, dear." Would have made four, he said. "I tried at him: "Now then, old man! Swung round on us. "Let me alone. Get away. Get right away from me!" To the main road, the pair of us, up to the main road, the pair of us, I tried. He swung round and looked at us. "Let me alone. Won't any one let me alone? Get right away from me! Look here. Look here. I want to do anything for me, get right away from me and leave me alone. Leave me alone. Do you hear? Leave me alone!" "Hobbled away out towards Penny Green, hobbling along on his stick fast as he could go. "She said to me, "Oh, Oh—" and began to cry. I said I thought the best thing was to leave him for a bit and that I'd go over, or she could, or both of us, a bit later. "One was only driving him mad by following him now. There was a cab come prowling by. I gave the chap a pound note and told him to follow Sabre—Get up just alongside and keep there, I said. "He'll likely get in. Get him in and take him up to Crawshaw, Penny Green, and come back to me at the Royal Hotel and there's another quid for you."

"Old man, I went along to the Royal with this Lady Tybar. Told her I was mad, what I knew. Ordered some tea there (which we didn't touch) and she began to talk to me. Talk to me. . . I tell you what I thought about that woman while she talked. I thought, leaving out limelight beauty, and classic beauty and all the beauty you can see in a frame presented as such; leaving out that, because it wasn't there, I thought she was the most beautiful woman I had ever seen. Yes, and I told my wife so. That shows you, she couldn't say where it was or how it was. You could only say that beauty abode in her face as the scent in the rose. It's there and it's exquisite: that's all you can say, if she'd been talking to me in the dark I could have felt that she was beautiful.

"What did she tell me? She talked about Sabre and Sabre. What did she say? No, you'll have to let that go, old man. It was more what I read into what she said. I'll keep it—for a bit, anyway. "There's also to tell than that. That cabman I got hold of sent in awhile after to see me. Said he'd picked up Sabre a mile along and taken him home. Stopped a bit to patch up some harness or something and 'All of a heap' (as he expressed it) Sabre had come flying out of the house again. He, the cab, and told him to drive like hell and all to the office—to Fortune, East and Sabre's. Said Sabre behaved all the way like as if he was mad—shouting like to me in a hurry and carrying on inside the cab so the old man was terrified. "I said, 'To the office.' What the devil now? I ran in to Lady Tybar and we hurried round. We were scared for him, I tell you. And we reasoned to be—when we got there and found him."

When that cab which Haggood had despatched after Sabre from the corner's court overtook its quest, the driver put himself abreast of the distracted figure furiously hobbling along the road and, his second pound note in his pocket, began, in a fat and comfortable voice, a beguiling monologue of "Keb, sir? Keb? Keb? Keb, sir?" Sabre at first gave no attention, but when he had deflected his quest, his stick in signal of dismissal, about a mile along his disabled knee, and all his much overworked body reared up in his tumultuous mind. He stopped in physical exhaustion and reared upon his stick. The cabman also stopped and turned afresh his enticing and restless rhythm: "Keb, sir? Keb? Keb? Keb, sir?"

He did not think to give a direction, but the driver had his directions, for when he was set down at his house, to make payment; but payment had been made. The driver assisted him from the cab and into his door—and he needed assistance—and being off his box set himself to the adjustment of a buckle, repair of which he had deferred through the day until (being a man economical of effort) some other circumstance should necessitate his coming to earth.

Sabre stumbled into his house and pushed the door behind him with a resolution expressive of his desire to shut away from himself all creatures of the world and be alone—left entirely alone. By habit—he climbed the stairs to his room. He collapsed into a chair.

OUTLINE OF HISTORY
The Romance of Mother Earth

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT—54
Slaves and Social Classes
The Common Man in Ancient Times

We have been sketching in the last four chapters the growth of civilized states out of the primitive Neolithic agriculture that began in Mesopotamia perhaps 15,000 years ago. It was at first horticulture rather than agriculture; it was done with the hoe before the plough, and at first it was quite supplementary to the sheep, goat and cattle tending that made the "living" of the family tribe.

We have traced the broad outlines of the development in regions of exceptional fruitfulness of the first settled village communities into more populous towns and cities, and the growth of the village shrine and the village medicine man into the city temple and the city priesthood.

The Growth of Empire.
We have noted the beginnings of organized war, first as a flickering between villages, and then as a more disciplined struggle between the priest king and god of one city and those of another. Our story has passed on rapidly from the first indications of conquest and empire in Sumer, 6,000 or 7,000 B.C., to the spectacle of great empires growing up, with roads and armies, with inscriptions and written documents, with educated priesthoods and kings and rulers sustained by a tradition already ancient.

We have traced in broad outline the appearance and conflicts and replacements of these empires of the great rivers. We have directed attention, in particular, to the evidence of a development of still wider political ideas as we find it betrayed by the actions and utterances of such men as Nabonidus and Amenophis IV.

It has been an outline of the accumulations of human experience for ten or fifteen thousand years, a vast space of time in comparison with all subsequent history, but a brief period when we measure it against the succession of endless generations that intervenes between us and the first rude flint using human creatures of the Pleistocene dawn.

But for these last four chapters we have been writing almost entirely not about mankind generally, but Without Voice Or Will.

The life of the common man was, of course, affected and changed by these things, just as the lives of the domestic animals and the faces of the cultivated country were changed; but for the most part, it was a change suffered and not a change in which the common man upon the land had any voice or will.

Reading and writing were not yet for the likes of him. He went on cultivating his patch, loving his wife and children, beating his dog and tending his beasts, grumbling at hard times, fearing the magic of the priests and the powers of the gods, desiring little more except to be left alone by the powers above him. So he was in 1900 B. C.; so he was, unchanged in nature and outlook, in the time of Alexander the Great; so over the greater part of the world remains to-day.

He got rather better tools, better seeds, better methods, a slightly sounder house, he sold his produce in a more organized market, a civilization progressed, a certain freedom and a certain equality passed out of human life when men ceased to wander. Men paid in liberty for safety, shelter and regular meals.

By imperceptible degrees the common man found the patch he cultivated was not his own; it belonged to the god; and he had to pay a fraction of his produce to the god. Or the god had given it to the king, who exacted his rent and tax. Or the king had given it to an official who was the lord of the common man. And sometimes the god or the king or the noble had work to be done, and then the common man had to leave his patch and work for his master.

The Beginning of the Peasant.
How far the patch he cultivated was his own was never very clear to him. In ancient Assyria the land seems to have been held as a sort of freehold and the occupier paid taxes; in Babylonia the land was the god's, and he permitted the cultivator to work thereon. In Egypt the temples of Pharaoh—the god or the nobles under Pharaoh were the owners and rent receivers.

But the cultivator was not a slave; he was a peasant, and only bound to the land in so far that there was nothing else for him to do but cultivate, and nowhere else for him to go. He lived in a village or town, and went out to his work. The village, to begin with, was often merely a big household of related people under a patriarch headman, the early town a group of householders under its elders.

There was no process of enslavement as civilization grew, but the headmen and leaderly men grew in power and authority, and the common men did not keep pace with them, and fell into a tradition of dependence and subordination.

On the whole, the common men were probably well content to live under lord or king or god and obey their bidding. It was easier. All animals—and man is no exception—begin life as dependents. Most men never shake themselves free of the desire for leading and protection.

TELL-TALE ELECTRONS DISCLOSE DISEASE

Even Birth Place No Secret From Radio-active Frequency of Human Frame

An interesting discourse on the theory of Dr. Albert Abrams, of San Francisco, was given by Dr. Ernest Hall before an overflow meeting in the Metropolitan Church last night, under the auspices of the Women's Educational Club of Columbia College.

Vibratory Analysis.
Dr. Hall recited what he had seen and heard at the clinic of the new exponent of vibratory analysis and diagnosis of disease. Based on the electron theory it is held that the human body gives off radio-active emanations at a constant frequency.

"Frequency" the Key.
A change in frequency denoted the presence of conditions unusual and sub-normal. In this manner testing instruments could be made to discover the nature of the change and what it portended.

The address was illustrated by black board drawings, which served to emphasize the remarks of the speaker.

If the Abrams theory were true, stated the speaker, it would prove to be the greatest discovery of medical science since the history of the healing art.

Even to Nationality.
It was claimed for the theory that it could be so applied on test as to determine the mental characteristics and even the nationality of the subject under observation.

Mrs. Jost presided. The meeting opened with Dr. Sippell leading those assembled in prayer. Mrs. Walker contributed a pianoforte solo.

The search for the fountain of eternal youth

BEAUTY NO LONGER A DREAM
PONCE DE LEON—that bold adventurer who in 1512 sailed to the shores of Florida—dreamed of a Fountain of Eternal Youth. He did not know that in the far interior of Mexico lay certain hills—that these hills contained a special clay—of wonderful purity and whiteness—which acted like a charm when applied to the skin.

A MAGIC CLAY

NO LONGER is beauty a dream. Thanks to this magic clay beauty has become a scientific reality—the perfect complexion of the native women who use it—the absolute triumph which has followed its every test—all prove that Peerless Beauty Clay is everything it claims to be.

A new complexion in one-half hour

Get a jar of Peerless Beauty Clay—your choice of "12 treatment" or "5 Treatment"—slices—apply it gently and smoothly to your face and neck—it quickly dries, then uncles delightfully—a perfect cleansing of the pores.

After one half-hour you will look at a complexion that is almost a stranger—VELVET-SOFT, WITHOUT A BLEMISH, PERFECT IN COLOR.

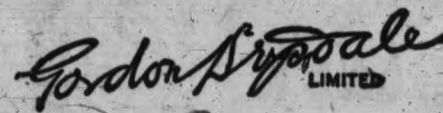

Every Treatment A Sure Step To Beauty
Nothing else is needed except this wonderful clay—no creams or cosmetics—set your jar now!

BRITISH TO BUILD CALIFORNIA SHIPS

New Plan For Transportation of Grape Crop Grows Eventually to Own the Vessels

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—The British Government stands ready to move California's grape crop in the latest type of ventilated refrigerator ships, to be built specially for the grape trade, E. M. Sheehan, president of the California Grape Growers' Exchange, announced yesterday. A preliminary investment of $24,000,000 has been pledged by the British Government for the construction of the ships, which through a series of payments will become the property of the growers in ten years, Sheehan said.

It is planned through the placing of some of the vessels under American registry to have the ships engage in the inter-coastal as well as the export trade. The ships will be the same type as those of the United Fruit Company line, the cargo holds being continually filled with cold air from dock works set up for that purpose. Most of the American refrigerator ships on the Pacific are equipped with the coil system, from which cold air radiates, and, according to Sheehan, the coils are affected by the temperature through which the vessel is passing. He said the Exchange also had under consideration the building of $6,000,000 worth of refrigerator ships through subscription of the growers.

IXION AT HONGKONG.
 The Blue Funnel liner Ixion arrived at Hongkong November 9 from this port via Japan. On completing her discharge at Hongkong the Ixion will go to Liverpool via the Suez Canal. She is being replaced on the North Pacific route by the liner Achilles, expected to arrive here December 27.

TOKIWA ARRIVES.
 The N. Y. K. steamship Tokiwa came up to Vancouver yesterday from the Orient. A big silk freight for shipment over the C. P. R. tracks to the East was included in the Tokiwa's cargo.

OPIMUM SEIZED ON TYNDAREUS

Narcotics Worth $50,000 Removed From Ship by Customs at Seattle

Seattle, Nov. 11.—More than 150 ten-tael cans of opium, valued at approximately $50,000, were seized by Seattle customs officers yesterday when they searched the Blue Funnel Line steamship Tyndareus, here from the Orient. They also seized several hundred dollars' worth of jewelry, said to have been smuggled here from Japan by members of the crew of the steamship President Grant, which arrived in Seattle Tuesday.

No arrests have been made in either case. An investigation will be made into the possession of the opium, which is the largest quantity seized at one time by Seattle customs officials in recent years. Millard T. Hartson, collector of customs, said. The opium cans were cleverly concealed in the boiler rooms of the liner. The search of the government agents expected to find additional quantities of the narcotic concealed in other parts of the ship. Continuing the search the government agents expected to find additional quantities of the narcotic concealed in other parts of the ship. Continuing the search of the government agents expected to find additional quantities of the narcotic concealed in other parts of the ship.

CHINESE DIPLOMAT URGES IMPROVED NEWS SERVICE

Dr. Alfred Sze, Minister to Washington, Returning Home

Trade between China and the North American continent is hampered by lack of cheap and efficient means of intercommunication," declares Dr. S. F. Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to the United States, who is on board the Admiral-Oriental liner President Jackson, in port this afternoon bound for the Far East.

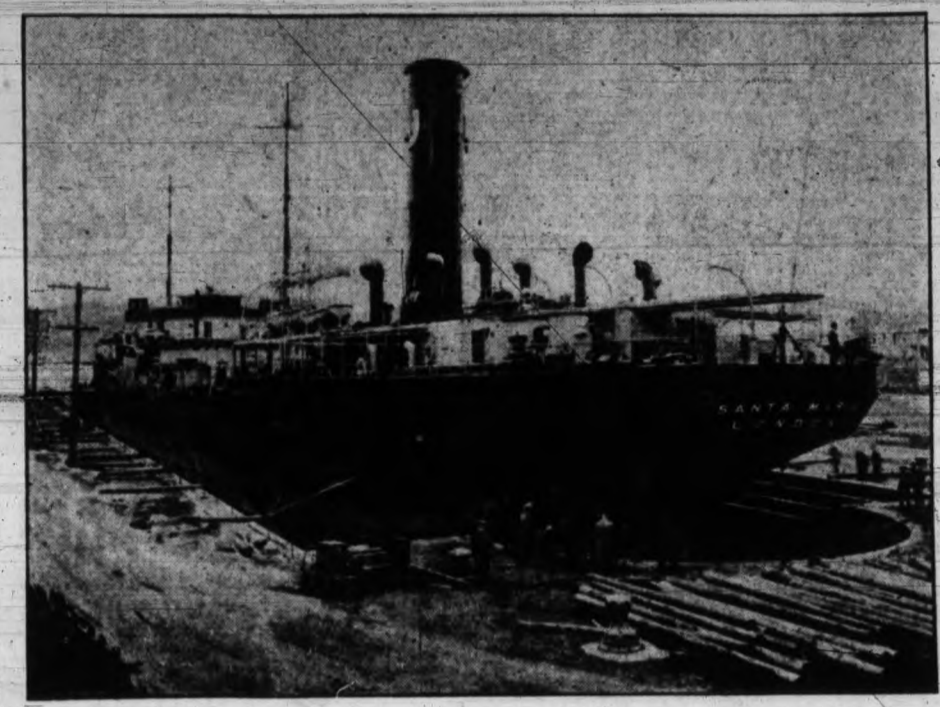

In an interview Dr. Sze said: "I hope to see the day when newspapers on the Pacific Coast will print as much news from China as present day papers on the Atlantic coast print from European capitals. It will mean much to trade relations and will bring about a better understanding."

Dr. Sze has spent practically all his life in the diplomatic service. He is a graduate of Cornell University, and has held the post in Washington for two years. He was Chinese minister to Great Britain during the war. The distinguished Chinese diplomat, scholar and lecturer is on his way to China on a leave of absence. He is accompanied by Mrs. Sze, his secretary, W. S. Lao, and Miss Catherine Shurman of New York. Miss Shurman is the daughter of Attorney George Shurman of New York, former law partner of Secretary of State Hughes. She is on her way to China to visit her uncle, J. Gould Shurman, United States minister at Peking.

PROHIBITION WILL NOT BE INJECTED INTO SUBSIDY FIGHT

Washington, Nov. 11.—The question of prohibition on the high seas will not be injected into the fight over the U. S. Ship Subsidy Bill, Representative Edmonds, Pennsylvania, ranking Republican of the merchant marine committee, announced yesterday. While it may bob up unexpectedly, Mr. Edmonds said the committee itself would propose no amendment relating to liquor selling conditions beyond the three-mile limit. "Between the prohibition question having been entirely taken care of by the Department of Justice and the matter being now before the courts," said Mr. Edmonds, "it is hardly possible that any move will be made to do anything with it because the question was settled by application of the Vostead law to ships."

Largest Tanker to Enter Esquimalt Dock

The picture shows the Union Oil Company's tanker Santa Maria in drydock at Esquimalt, the largest tank vessel which has entered the Government graving basin here. The Santa Maria was docked stern first and the keel blocks were raised two feet in order that the ship might get inside the dock gates.

YOKOHAMA MARU CROSSING OCEAN

N.Y.K. Ship Has 22 Passengers and 250 Tons of Freight For This Port

The Japanese steamship Yokohama Maru sailed from Yokohama November 6, and is scheduled to arrive at this port November 21. The ship is running right on schedule. W. R. Dale, local agent, Great Northern Railway, coast agents for the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, has been advised by cablegram that the Yokohama Maru has 22 passengers and 250 tons of Oriental freight for Victoria. The local passengers are made up of seven first class and 15 third class. For Seattle the Japanese ship has 12 first class and 14 third class passengers. The steamship Shidzohoku Maru, of the N. Y. K. fleet, is due to leave this port to-morrow afternoon on her return voyage to the Orient. She is taking a full list of passengers and a capacity cargo.

TEES PRESSED INTO WEST COAST SERVICE

AFTER being laid up at this port for several months, the C.P.R. steamer Tees has again been pressed into the coastwise trade and is now running to the west coast of Vancouver Island and handling the fish surplus. An unusual run of herring has been experienced on Barkley Sound, and the steamer Princess Maquinna, carrying heavy shipments of pulp and ore from Port Alice and Sidney Inlet, has been unable to participate in the fish rush to any great extent. In order to ease the situation the steamer Tees was put on the route. The whaling steamer Gray recently came in from Barkley Sound with seventy tons of herring. The white fishermen on Barkley Sound have been catching from fifty to 200 tons of herring per day and quite a fleet of boats is being operated. The Welk freighter Haleric is due on Barkley Sound next week to load a big consignment of herring for the Orient. The Haleric is being handled by the Dominion Shipping Company.

THE ROUTE OF THE "CONTINENTAL LIMITED"

In Western Canada its route is known as the "Jasper Park-Mount Robson" route, and while the line passes through some of the finest mountain scenery in the world, it has the distinction of having the lowest altitude of any transcontinental railway crossing the Rockies, the highest point reached in crossing the "Great Divide" being 3,712 feet. Eastbound across the prairies through Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg, the line traverses some of the finest farmlands of the West, thence east from Winnipeg over the transcontinental route through the beautiful lake country of Northern Ontario and the famous Cobalt mining districts, reaching all southern and western points of Ontario through North Bay, thence on to Ottawa, the capital city, and Montreal, the eastern metropolis of Canada. The equipment of the "Continental Limited" is of the latest all-steel construction and carries cars for all classes of traffic, including colonist, tourist and standard sleeping cars, with model dining and observation cars, as well as the regulation coaches for day passengers. This train leaves for the East at 7:45 p.m. daily from the Canadian National depot, Vancouver. Reservations and all details arranged at the Tourist and Travel Bureau, 911 Government Street.

H.M.S. CAPETOWN WILL LEAVE FOR NANAIMO MONDAY

H.M.S. Capetown is under orders to leave Esquimalt on Monday morning for Nanaimo. The British light cruiser will remain at Nanaimo for several days and will arrive at Comox November 17 for gun practice, being accompanied by the Canadian destroyer Patricia.

CAPT. WILLIAM BRAGG IS DEAD AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Nov. 11.—Capt. William Bragg, friend of every seafarer and chieftain who was in the Yukon gold rush during the few years following the discovery of gold in 1897, passed away at St. Paul's Hospital after a brief illness, and there is sorrow among the old-timers. Captain Bragg was sixty-two years of age and leaves a son and daughter in Toronto. He came to the British Columbia coast many years ago on the clipper-built sealing schooner Agnes Macdonald and was considered one of the best of the masters of the great fleet of sealers that was then operating. He later sailed on the Maude S. In 1897, he went to the Yukon and was master of the steamers Ora Nora and Flora respectively. These were the first steam vessels on the Upper Yukon River, and the captain carried many thousands of the first gold seekers to and from the Eldorado. Bragg also commanded the Scotia, and the Halley. For years he worked for the White Pass and Yukon Route Company after it entered that country, and was in its employ at the time of his death. He was in charge of one of the departments of the company's shipyards at White Horse, and was a close friend and associate of the late A. Henderson, superintendent of the yard, who died at his home in Victoria a few days ago. Captain Bragg came down from the Yukon a few weeks ago, when navigation closed.

FREIGHTER WITH FIRE IN BUNKERS MAKES HONOLULU

Dangerous Job Begun in Lightering Case Oil and Gasoline

Honolulu, Nov. 11.—Efforts were continued early to-day to put out a fire in the bunkers of the British freighter 'Clan Macbrayne, which docked here last night conveyed by a fire tug and with wisps of smoke arising from holds in which were stored 4,000 tons of cased oil and gasoline. The vessel's plight was reported here in a wireless message received yesterday. She is bound from Port Arthur, Texas, to Hongkong, and carries a crew of 72. The fire in the bunkers of hold No. 3 was separated from the cargo by only a wooden bulkhead when the ship arrived. Lightering of the cargo was begun immediately. The fire broke out at night near the dock with apparatus ready to combat the flames if they pierced the bulkhead. Captain Smith said he first noticed the fire Monday when smoke rose through the decks. Small quantities of water were poured into the bunkers and the vessel was moved a few feet toward Honolulu. The captain said the fire probably was caused by spontaneous combustion. It is estimated that several days will be required to remove all the cargo. During this time the stevedores and others aboard will be endangered by the possibility of the fire spreading to the oil. The burning bunker contains 350 tons of coal, which will not be touched until all the cargo is off.

PLENTY OF LIFE IN THE SEA SAYS PILOT BACHELOR
 "There plenty of life in the sea," Capt. Robert Bachelor cheerily said when informed by a landlubber that business ashore was not particularly rosy. Capt. Bachelor brought the Japanese freighter pillar of the pilotage framework, Hakata Maru down from Vancouver early this morning, bound for sea. "She was loaded down to the guards," he added.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Chamber of Commerce Directors will meet at Spencer's at 12.30 o'clock on Monday for the usual weekly luncheon and business session.

The members of the Tuberculous Veterans' Association wish to extend their sincere thanks to Mr. Johnson, manager of the Underwood Typewriter Co., Fort Street, who donated them a typewriter for their use. They find it of splendid service.

At the Monthly Meeting of the W.C.T.U. Central the members unanimously decided to affiliate with the Victoria District Union which will be organized at a meeting on November 24. The next parlor meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Spofford.

The presentation of a picture of Jack Cornwall was made to the Bank Street School yesterday by the Dr. G. M. Jones Chapter, L.O.D.E., and in the absence of the regent, Mrs. Wm. Ivel, Rev. G. H. Andrews made the presentation, followed by an address. Kathleen Jolly, one of the young pupils, decorated the picture with poppies, and the pupils sang "O, Canada." "Oh God—Our Help in Ages Past" and "Abide With Me." Principal Miss Paterson acknowledged the gift and extended the thanks of the school.

The Morning Class of the Metropolitan Church gave a delightful entertainment at the Aged Men's Home last evening. Mr. Hodgson presiding as chairman. Choruses, dialogues and drills, piano solos by Lila Dennstedt; recitations by Florence McGibbon, Gerald Yeaton, E. Carey and Mrs. Dearborn; violin solos by Miss Handley; singing by girls in Japanese costumes, and a fairy pantomime by nine girls. At the close of the programme refreshments were served and the visitors were cordially invited to return at some not too distant date.

In a short session before W. W. Northcott, J. P., in the city police court today, Lee On was charged with being found in a gaming house known as the Chinese Club on the top floor of premises at 581 Figgard Street. The accused pleaded guilty through R. C. Lowe, his counsel, and was remanded until Thursday for hearing. The raid was made by Chief Fry and squad last night. S. Jory was fined $25 on a charge of driving at a greater rate of speed than fifteen miles an hour. Constable Allen gave the circumstances, the accused pleading guilty.

In a campaign for new members the newly formed junior lodge of Loyal Order of Moose held a social evening Thursday in the K. of P. Hall when a varied programme was given and the lady members afterwards served refreshments. Those who assisted were Messrs. T. W. Spouse, George Allen, L. Drysdale, G. W. Sidwell, "Yorkie," Tom Bishop, T. Tooby and Bro. Penton, of the senior lodge. Messrs. Spouse, Parrall and Oliver, of the Mooseheart Legion, serving the refreshments. T. W. Spouse is the organizer and governor, and applications from young men between sixteen and twenty-one years of age will be received by him.

The opening social gathering of the season arranged under the auspices of the Young Men's Institute and the Catholic Women's League was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Wednesday and proved to be a very successful affair. The 160 odd guests of these two societies enjoying a pleasant evening at cards and dancing. Upon completion of the military five hundred at the card tables refreshments were served by the ladies, after which dancing took place until one o'clock, excellent music being furnished by Perry's orchestra. A similar event is planned by these organizations for the evening of Wednesday, November 29, at the same hall, to which a cordial invitation is extended to all their friends.

In order to impress upon the children of Sirwarthy Yacht School, the meaning of Armistice Day, the members of the Women's Institute together with the teaching staff, arranged a short programme, which took place on Friday afternoon at the close of school. Lieutenant Warren, gained the children's attention at the commencement, telling them that the boys who fight to protect those weaker than themselves, must fight "on the square." Revs. A. Nixon and Frank Hardy also spoke. Trustee Hull took the chair, and the speeches were interspersed with patriotic songs, sung by the children. After singing the National Anthem the teachers presented each child with candy donated by the Women's Institute, and the affair was brought to a close.

UNPREPARED, CITY FACING TASK OF PROVIDING JOBS

Destitute Men Flock to City Hall; Relief Plans Fail

Unprepared for such conditions, the civic authorities have found themselves during the last few days face to face with a real unemployed problem and the necessity of providing work or food for many destitute men. During the last week dozens of men have applied for work at the City Hall and many of them told city officials that they and their families were in actual need. While the work of grading the High School grounds and a few other small jobs will be started next week, these will not provide enough work to employ all those who are asking the city for relief.

Months ago, in the middle of the summer, a committee of the Council undertook to prepare plans for coping with unemployment this Winter. Among other projects it was planned to establish a camp where unemployed men would cut cord wood or a wood yard in the city. For reasons which the Council does not understand, nothing whatever came of these plans and the city is just as unprepared this year as last year to cope with the situation which seems to be looming up now. Mayor William Marchant, who had been leaving the matter to the committee formed for the purpose, took hold of the situation himself Monday and announced that he would call a special Council meeting to deal with it. In the meantime he proposed immediate commencement of work on the High School grounds as a partial measure of relief.

NEW CITY HALL SYSTEM READY FOR NEW YEAR

Edmonton Finance Methods Will Start Functioning January 1

The city's new financial machinery, modelled upon the system in force in Edmonton, will be ready to start functioning at the beginning of the new year, it was made known at the City Hall today. Preparations for the inauguration of the new methods are progressing in the city treasury department now.

The new accountability methods which will be shaped on the basis of the Edmonton methods will involve the use of an entirely new set of ledgers and other books in the treasury department, it was explained today. Under the new system the City Council will know how the city stands financially at the end of each day and will be able, moreover, to compare its position at any time with its position on a corresponding day the year previous.

The new system is being installed by City Auditor Ismay in co-operation with Assistant City Comptroller Muirhead. These officials recently investigated the Edmonton City Hall methods.

THREE HOOP GAMES ON CARD TO-NIGHT

Three games of basketball will be played to-night at the Trades Hall Gymnasium, Broad Street, commencing at 7.30.

St. Andrew's Junior Girls will meet the Wide Awakes from First Presbyterian Church. These girls are under fifteen years of age, but can play a fast game.

St. Andrew's Senior Girls will then meet the Christ Church girls in what should prove to be a speedy game.

Florrie Gates, Grace Welburn and Kathy Welburn are appearing on the Christ Church team, and always play a fine brand of basketball.

Dorothy Melville, Jean Burridge, Lola Worthington, Belinda Hamilton, Jessie Widdowson and Helen Boyce are with the St. Andrew's team.

The third game of the evening will be played by St. Andrew's Senior Men's team including Earl Squire, Bill Erickson, Geo. Tripp, Henry Estlin, Chas. Pillar and John Simpson.

Who will oppose the St. Andrew's team has not been decided upon, but a speedy team will be secured to-day from one of the local clubs, and a good fast game is assured.

SEVERE EARTHQUAKE IS RECORDED HERE

Instruments at the Gonzales Meteorological Observatory last night recorded one of the most severe earthquakes that has occurred here for some years. The first wave reached here at forty-six minutes past eight and the maximum wave, at a quarter past nine. The instruments recorded continued shocks until after midnight.

Dr. Napier Denison, director of the Observatory, estimates that the earthquake originated 6,000 miles away, probably in Chile.

LIQUOR PENALTIES LIKELY TO BE CUT TO AID ENFORCEMENT

Police Do Not "See" Offenders, as Municipalities Dislike Jail Costs

Hospitals May Get Liquor Profits Direct From the Government

The Government liquor act is to be amended by way of cutting down fines for first offenders, according to intimations given by Attorney-General Manson today at the conference between the executive of the Union of B. C. Municipalities and Premier Oliver and his cabinet.

Reeve Chambers, of Penticton, brought up the question explaining that there were a great number of cases where 30 days or 30 days in jail was considered too heavy a penalty, especially when the high fine prevented many offenders from paying and then they had to be sent to Okalla and their transportation costs paid. The result is that the costs in Penticton in connection with this administration are greater than the revenues and that there is a tendency in municipalities for police to close their eyes when they see cases of drunkenness.

The Attorney-General said that in the last six months there has been several hundred convictions for drunkenness and that the convictions had had a salutary effect. He said the act at present might be a little too stringent and that there might be a tendency to overlook cases.

Cut Fine in Half

"You mustn't loosen up," I went on. "We are determined drive drunkenness out of public places, and off the streets."

He said that the fine might be reduced down to $25 and the penalty cut to 10 or 15 days so that offenders might be kept in local jails and the expense of sending them to Okalla would be saved the municipalities.

"Ten days in jail is equal to a $50 fine any time," Premier Oliver said.

Vancouver's Special Privileges.

When Mayor Marchant brought up the suggestion for wider areas for municipal control, so that one body could administer police, water works, relief of poor, hospitals and that the Government should be invited to formulate a plan by which this could be done, Attorney-General Manson said that the Government was giving encouragement to such development of inter-municipal control and that from a municipal standpoint Vancouver should be extended to include part of South Vancouver.

Then the Attorney-General announced that Vancouver had put through its charter bill in such a way that it was not responsible for the care of the poor and indigent within its boundaries and that it did not even have to bury its indigent dead.

"These conditions will not be allowed to continue," the Attorney-General said. "They crawled out of these responsibilities when they put through their charter, and it was not noticed by the Legislature at the time, Vancouver is the only municipality that has used these duties. Municipal representatives explained that it was a gross waste of money to have two municipalities side by side with two separate sets of machinery when one set could handle the work for two.

"The municipalities really want the power to amalgamate for certain common purposes," the Premier said.

Liquor Profits.

Present method of distributing liquor profits was criticized by the municipal representatives. Commissioner Wells Gray, of South Vancouver, said that municipalities had been counting on using this money to pay their ordinary bills.

Attorney-General Manson pointed out that such action was against the law.

"It is being done, however," Mr. Gray replied.

"It was being done, but it is not being done any more," Mr. Manson said.

Forcing Discrimination.

Mayor Marchant explained that the municipalities thought the Government should pass the liquor money for hospitals direct to the hospitals, rather than through the municipalities.

"We are not trying to pass the responsibility for dividing it between respective hospitals," the Mayor said. "But give us what money you propose to give us, and give it to us untrammelled, and let it go at that."

Members of the executive said that the Hon. J. D. MacLean as Provincial Secretary had been trying to work out such a system of distribution of liquor profits among hospitals all Summer. Premier Oliver indicated that the suggestion of the municipalities would be taken up if a satisfactory method of distributing these profits could be worked out.

"Ooh! That CORN"

TAKE IT OUT SO THAT IT WON'T COME BACK

Don't merely cut the top off with a razor or burn it off with caustics, plasters, etc. It doesn't do any good. It may do great harm by causing infection or even blood poisoning.

The business end of a corn is the root. That is what hurts when pressed on sensitive nerves, and it is the part you have to get out.

A good handful of Reudel Bath Saltrates dissolved in a gallon or so of hot water will soften corns and callouses, like water softens soap. Just soak them in this for a while, then take hold of the corn with your fingers, and out it will come root and all.

The refined Reudel Bath Saltrates come very little, and any chemist will have it. A half-pound or so is sufficient to rid the whole family of all foot troubles.

Hockey Show Will Open Monday Night

Interest In P. C. H. A. Opening Rivals That Which Prevailed In 1912, When the Game Was Introduced; Harry Meeking Will Likely Start At Left Wing For Victoria; Other Positions Will Be Held By Same Players As Last Year

Monday night will see the longest schedule in the history of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association get underway with the Maroons and Mets meeting in Vancouver.

Interest in the opening of the season is rivaling that which attended the introduction of the national winter sport on the coast in 1912. The reason for the unusual interest is due to the fact that a new style of game is to be introduced. The six-man game is to reign supreme. The adoption of the bob-tailed game by the Coast League makes it universal. The fans, many of whom have never seen pro teams engaged in the six-man game, are anxious to make comparison with the style which has been in vogue here since the Patricks opened their rink.

Several new faces will be introduced in the Coast League this season and each club will pack three substitutes in uniform. The substitutes will all be forwards, due to the fact that the line men must keep on the go all the time, back-checking furiously and keeping the odd man from getting in. The defence men will be expected to stand the cuff longer although they will be due for spells should they find the going particularly heavy.

Maroons Have New Men. Vancouver will take the ice with the most new material, but it remains to be seen whether or not it will come up to the class of veterans who have passed Jack Adams, leading scorer in the league last year, will not be in centre ice, and Art Duncan will be missing from the defence. Hughie Lehman cannot report until early in December. Jack Asseline, Frank Boucher, Alf Newell and Charley Reed will be forced to fill the positions vacated by the veterans and it remains to be seen whether or not they will be able to carry the burden.

Seattle will have one new player, Jack McCarthy, who formerly played with Hamilton and Saskatoon. The Mets are well off as the two substitutes they obtained last year, Gordon Fraser and Archie Adams, showing blossom on the ice world-beaters this winter. All the old reliables will be back on the job, with Riley and Foyston going like cyclones.

The Victoria club will introduce one new face to the fans. Jocko Anderson is the man. In practice he has been showing plenty of speed and shooting ability and looks like a splendid asset to the club.

Victoria fans are anxious to learn how Lester Patrick, manager of the club, intends to arrange the opening game. The opening game will be on Wednesday night. Lester has not unfolded his plans as yet, but it looks as if last year's players will start off in the regular position.

The only position that appears to require more consideration than the others is left wing. Harry Meeking, almost certainly starting there, has shown wonderful form in the workouts and his back-checking is what is needed on the line.

Eddie Oatman will start at right wing. Frank Frederickson will do the fancy stuff in centre ice. This assures the line of three excellent back-checkers and three men who can bore in and score goals.

"Slim" Henderson will relieve Eddie Oatman at right and Tommy Dunderdale and Jocko Anderson will split off the centre and left wing men.

Not Much Difference. There will not be the same distinction between regulars and substitutes in the six-man game as there was in the seven-man game. The line will be of high calibre in order that the line may not be weakened when players are relieved.

Victoria possesses the best attacking division in the league. With two players of the boring type and a goal-keeper of Frederickson's standard in the defence, the line should be a corker. When Henderson, Dunderdale and Anderson are on the ice the speed and effectiveness of the attack should be carried on almost successfully. No other clubs in the league will be able to show such a flashy sextette of forwards, and the Aristocrats should lead in goal-getting this winter.

Brothers on Defence. The two Loughlin boys will work on the defence. Clem will be at left defence and Will at right. Clem seems to be going faster than ever this year. In the practices he has been kicking the snowflakes up over the rail.

Will is not yet in his best form, but he has been bouncing the boys around. The other afternoon he put Lester Patrick into an express train had hit him. Will later gave "Freddie" such a ride that when the surprised icelander came to he was flat on his back. Harry Meeking also took a hot one in the chest from Will. It is hoped that Will will show this same sort of fight when the boys meet and the rest of the Seattle crew faces Victoria on Wednesday night.

Hee Fowler, who got into town today and completed the squad, will mind the nets. Hee has always been given plenty to do in the past, but in the six-man game he will probably be called upon to stop twice as many drives. But Hee says, "Let 'em all come."

Make way for the going contingent. The Aristocrats are now going to take up camp so that they will be able to get up early in the morning.

Exterminator Has Chance To Set New Turf Record

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 11.—The Pimlico Cup Handicap, feature event of to-day's closing card of the Maryland Jockey Club at Pimlico, will find Exterminator, Willis Kilmer's crack gelding, attempting to win his fourth Pimlico Cup. If successful, he will succeed Man o'War as the greatest money winner in American turf history. Five other horses are entered in the race to be run over a distance of two and a quarter miles. The race will be worth $10,000 to the winner. Exterminator will carry top weight of 126 pounds.

The World's Greatest Trick Shot

JOE KIRKWOOD

Although this famous Antipodean holds the Australian open golf championship and has won many other important honors, it is ability to make the rubber sphere do everything but talk that has gained him the greatest fame. He performs all kinds of trick shots. Last winter he gave an exhibition here and the hundreds who witnessed his feats marveled at his uncanny influence over the pellet. Next Wednesday Kirkwood will give his second exhibition at the Colwood Club. Kirkwood will be here with Walter Hagen. The two international stars will play a 36-hole match with Phil Taylor, of Oak Bay, and Willie Black, of Colwood.

GOLFERS PLAY FOR CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

Frank Thomas and Jack Hargrave Will Appear in 36-Hole Match To-morrow

Golfing interest to-morrow centres around the final for the Victoria golf championship, which will be staged at the Colwood links. Frank Thomas and Jack Hargrave will meet in a 36-hole match. The final in the first round was between Eddie Oatman and R. J. Darcus. The date for the match will be arranged later.

Much interest is being taken in the outcome of to-morrow's match for the championship. Both players have strong following. Thomas is playing an exceptionally strong game at present, and is fancied by many as the man who will wear the crown at the end. Hargrave is a younger player, but is steady and is good on the greens.

The match should be close, and may not be decided until the home green is reached. It is expected that a large gallery will witness the match.

HARVARD IS MEETING PRINCETON IN CLASSIC

New York, Nov. 11.—The first of the big three football classics, the Harvard-Princeton clash at Boston, overshadowed all other games on Eastern United States gridirons today. Both elevens are evenly matched, and the outcome probably will depend on the breaks of the play and the individual efforts of one or more players.

Other important games between apparently evenly matched elevens will be Army and Notre Dame, Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania, and Bucknell and Lehigh.

What's in a Name?

They're still coming in. Monikers for the Victoria hockey team are reaching the Arena offices in dozens. Lester Patrick and his committee of "pickers" are still holding off in making their decision, although it is believed that they have narrowed their choice down to three or four names. Two persons have submitted the name "Swallows" as a substitute for the "Aristocrats." One advocate of "Swallows" points out that "we have swallows all the year round. It is further the graceful, gliding, speedy movements of these beautiful Summer birds, that fit into the scene of our evening of thrills and excitement and sensations at the Arena. The name would also be a rooster in exciting times to help pile up the score, viz: "Swallow 'em boys."

The other advocate of "Swallows" gets a real kick out of his suggestion. He says that Victoria boasts of the best swallows in the country. He adds: "They don't fly in the air, either; they are retailed at the liquor vendor's store."

Another writer puts forth the name "Malahats." "It is a word pertaining to local surroundings, easily pronounced and uncommon, though widely known, especially to tourists," he says. "If this name is chosen the three Coast teams would have names starting with the letter 'm.'"

Another suggestion and one which finds considerable favor is the "Sunbeams." It would act as a great advertisement for the city. For instance when the Victoria team goes on its prairie tour the paper would announce that the Victoria Sunbeams are coming and they would be very welcomed in view of the sun weather being experienced at the time.

It appears that the selection of names has narrowed down to "The Oaks," "Sunbeams," "Rosebuds," "Roses" and "Angoras." Those who put forward the last name think that it would give a certain amount of fight to the team, whereas "Roses" and "Sunbeams" are only fit for the drawing room.

The name will be selected the first of the week as the squad must have their new name before proceeding to Seattle on Wednesday to meet the Mets that evening.

Victoria Teams To Seek Two Trophies

Rep. Rugby Team to Go Into Serious Training In Hope of Bringing McKechnie Cup Back to Capital; Union to Pick Players and Get Them In Shape; All-Star Soccer Team Movement Going Ahead; Will Try For B.C. Title

Determined efforts are to be made in the city this winter to win both the soccer and rugby championships of British Columbia. The footballers have been active for some weeks trying to line up a real rep. eleven that will be capable of staving off the strong competition from up-Island. The teams on the Mainland are not feared, but the locals realize that to knock out the miners in the play-off they must have one team and one good one.

The Victoria Rugby Union has come to the same decision. The competition for the McKechnie Cup will be keener this year than at any time in the past. Vancouver will have a powerful rep.

Need Good Half-Backs. Victoria must have a cracking good squad to make any kind of a showing against these splendid sides. The Victoria Rugby Union intends to pick twenty-four players and get them out and train seriously. In the past the players have never made any definite attempt to get down to real training. The rugby union hopes to have its players in tip-top condition so that no matter how hard the going gets the boys will be able to hold out until the final whistle.

Victoria made several gallant efforts to retain the McKechnie Cup last year but the 'Varsity was too strong, making a clean sweep. The Capital has always fielded strong rugby teams in the past and the officials here will make extra efforts to see if they cannot surpass the calibre of former years.

Victoria will be able to turn out a better pack than last year and the three-quarters should be alright. No fear need be felt for the full-back position as Boss Johnson will be available and no better player can be found anywhere. The one big problem for the rugby union to solve is at half-back. All the teams seem to lack good connecting half-backs between the scrums and three-quarters. If two good halves can be found or developed the Capital can figure on putting up a great contest to bring the McKechnie Cup here.

Cowichan to Play Here. The first game in the McKechnie Cup series to be played here will be staged next month. Cowichan will be the local opponents. Boss Johnson, rep. captain of the rep team and H. Pendray will be vice-captains.

The plans for the organization of a Victoria rep soccer team are proceeding. This team will be entered in the Jackson Cup series, the winners of which earn the right to enter the play-off for British Columbia honors against the Mainland and Upper Island champions.

As a result of the soccer and rugby rep teams Victorians should see some first-class tussles this winter.

SIKIMOW GETS KICK FROM UNITED STATES

Black Battler Must Clear Up Charges Brought Against Him or Be Barred

New York, Nov. 11.—Battling Siki, under ban by the French Boxing Commission and excluded from the ring in mixed bouts in the United Kingdom, encountered another obstacle in his pugilistic aspirations last night. William Muldoon, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, announced that the Sengalese would not be permitted to engage in contests in this State until he had been cleared of charges brought against him by all organizations.

The French Boxing Federation, in addition to suspending the boxer for nine months, took away his title of light-heavyweight champion of France. It is reported that the National Boxing Association of America, which includes all the states in which boxing is permitted with the exception of New York and Massachusetts, will be asked to uphold the ruling of the British Government and the French Federation.

Followers of boxing may say the sentence is one of the most severe imposed in the history of boxing.

WILSON HOLDS GOOD

The feature bout of the card slipped a little when Johnny Morgan, the Ladysmith battler, sent down word that his hand had been poisoned. This made it necessary for a last minute switch. Al Davies, a former Pacific Northwest bantam champion, entered the ring in place of Morgan and faced "Tug" Wilson, ex-lightweight champion of the British navy. Davies gave away twenty pounds to Wilson, on the other hand, did not step out, being content to give an exhibition and only tapped his opponent. Davies' speed and footwork however, gave Wilson a chance to show off everything he had with the exception of his hitting power. "Tug" let the fans see that no doubt the heavier punishment as at time he left his mid-section wide open for Al to plunged away at and he never whimpers under the hardest punches. Wilson is a very shifty battler. He has a fine knowledge of infighting and he can also stand off and bang away. His footwork is good, and no doubt he has plenty of power behind his blows. He had to hold himself in check last night. Davies showed his old-time class, although he was not a heavy hitter and a smarter opponent.

In the other bouts on the card Bob Colpitts and Jack Andros, both of the Y.I.A., had two soft rounds, and they made the gore fly in the third round.

In the second bout Stoker Bull and

CAPETOWNS BEATEN IN "RUBBER" GAME

Garrison Obtain Possession of Maynard Cup After Very Spirited Game

Seaman Litson, both of the Capetown mixed teams for three lively rounds. Toe to Toe Battling. Real toe to toe battling was shown by Seaman Dring, of the Capetown, and Ted Beales, of the V. I. A. A. They stood up to one another and banged away. Beales took a lot of punishment.

The two Benson boys at 155 pounds, showed some class in their bout. They are only youngsters but shape up well.

Harry Picea took a hard jolt in the first round of his bout with Seaman Midgley, of the Capetown, and the fight was halted until he recovered. They then went along for three lively rounds.

The Aible and Jumbo Davies, dust-wigged champions of the world, might be brothers when they sit at the breakfast table but turn them loose in a ring and they got a real kick out of their exhibition.

A total of $117.50 was taken last night which leaves a sum of $102.50 to be equally divided between the "Filly Muir Fund" and the free boxing classes of the V. I. A. A.

OAK DAY TO PLAY FOR THOMPSON CUP

Victoria "High" Beaten For Second Time by Suburbanites; Score 3-0

Oak Bay Backs Were Given More Openings and Went Away For Gains

The Oak Bay High School yesterday defeated the Victoria High School for the second time in the Thompson Cup series by 3-0, thus earning the right to play the High School champions of Vancouver for the coveted trophy that has been on the Mainland for several years. In the past it has been practically traditional that Victoria should have the honor of playing the Terminal City. This year matters are different. Oak Bay's great desire was granted by the fates and they will battle the Vancouver champions in the near future.

The teams fought frantically yesterday. The Victoria "High" was a game behind in the series and there was little wonder they played hard and well. There was no doubt, however, that Oak Bay was superior in most respects, so that the result was not surprising.

The lone score of the game was made in the first half. Playfair making the try. It was a hard kick from the posts and was left unconverted although tried nicely. The Victoria boys, greatly disappointed at such a result, were dashed into the battle and strove hard to break the opposing line. Oak Bay had the edge on the combination work.

Edwell scored a goal more frequently than the city stars, but the latter were so keen and in such good form that they took all the hard knocks offered and gave a few back. However, they were outclassed in play but not in determination.

Victoria High Presses. In the last half the Victoria High, encouraged by their army of supporters, had the ball almost the whole time in Oak Bay's territory. They were working well then, flashing out of the line-outs and getting the ball to their halves. These men kicked as a rule and did not give the ball to their three-quarters. This fact made it impossible to gain ground with end runs and left the three out in the cold until they were needed for defensive work.

In few school games have three-quarters and forwards worked so nicely together as the Oak Bay boys did yesterday. The Oak Bay forwards broke evenly with their opponents in getting the ball back, but they got it far enough to allow their three to kick freely and unhampered. This gave them more ground. Probably it stopped more than one of Victoria's dangerous rushes.

Pleasure Deserved. Oak Bay deserves this bit of pleasure as much as any other school. They have worked untiringly and trained well. They were keen and did for win. And now they have got it. They should make a good showing in Vancouver.

The line-ups were as follows: Oak Bay: High School—Gilmer; Johnston, Collison, Willis and Showers; Miller and Playfair; Fell, Adamson I., Elliot, Crombie, Brown, Adamson II., Mathewson and Killen. Victoria High School—McLennan; Lock, McIntyre, Champion and Jones; Farritt and Owen; Olsdn, Nachtrieb, Huxtable, Cameron, Charleston, Davis, Muirhead and Palmer.

THE PLAYHOUSE

To-night will be the last performance of the successful port opera, "The Wizard of the Nile," which has been playing to large and enthusiastic audiences for the past two weeks. For bright snappy humor involving many local events and delightful music, presented as it is in an exceptionally beautiful setting, Playhouse show number seven ranks among the best ever seen here. The audiences that have attended the performances up to date are loud in their praise of this show, which is well up to the standard of the previous productions by this company. For a good laugh and an evening of mirth and music, Playhouse show number seven can be highly recommended. Seats may be reserved at the box office or by telephone.

CAPITOL

The wettest picture he ever made. So Bert Lytel terms "To Have and To Hold," the George Fitzmaurice Paramount production in which he is featured with Betty Compton, and now being screened at the Capitol Theatre this week. Four times he has been in the limelight from the deck of a seventeenth century pirate craft. "And that isn't all," means Bert. "For close-ups they made me duck clear under 26 times in one day. And the clothes they wore in 1620 were never intended for bathing suits!"

The supporting roles of this romantic photoplay are portrayed by Theodore Kosloff, Raymond Hatton, W. J. Ferguson, Arthur Rankin, and other noted screen players identified with the recently organized Paramount Stock Company.

COLUMBIA

The fight scenes in "The World's Champion," Wallace Reid's new Paramount at the Columbia Theatre today, were filmed in the monster stadium erected by the Hollywood Post of the American Legion, where amateur bouts are staged every week before large audiences of motion picture and boxing fans. About a thousand persons were employed as extras.

The sequence in question is the one wherein Reid, as "Gunboat Williams" is shown to defeat his opponent, winning the world's middleweight championship after which he returns home to England, shocks his conservative parents with his prestige among the healthy, thrashes his rival, who had beaten him in a former fistic combat, and wins the girl, Lois Wilson plays the leading feminine role.

DOMINION

When the Paramount picture, "The Old Homestead" was produced, facts concerning Grace Church, New York, which figures in the story, had to be ascertained. Among other things it was discovered that in 1885, the period of the story, the choir consisted of 28 persons—seven being men. They were grouped in the chancel and only ordinary garb was worn. This choir will be seen in the picture which comes to the Dominion Theatre all this week. It will be recalled that Uncle Josh goes to New York and stopping outside Grace Church, hears the choir singing and enters to see if his boy Leuben might be there. Theodore Roberts plays Uncle Josh.

EDNA WALLACE HOPPER TO BE HERE NEXT WEEK

Plastic cosmetic surgery, though not unheard of, has been a mysterious progress. Women who utilize it have heretofore denied it or kept silent about it. Now comes Edna Wallace Hopper, who not only admits her scientific restoration of external charms, but who has done to the unprecedented extreme of having moving pictures made of the actual operation, in its every stage.

According to best authorities, Miss Hopper will be 62 years old next week. However, her age has been a matter of discussion wherever she has appeared. Press and public have claimed her to be all the way from 48 to 88. The camera shows her as she looked a few months ago, the woman of 61, and as she looks today.

as a girl of the team. She calls herself "My own granddaughter."
Miss Hopper was a famous beauty and star before motion pictures had been made practical. The tragedy of middle age came upon her with wrinkles and sagging cheeks. She then submitted to the knife. To-day school boys try to flirt with her on the street. She has bridged a space of over thirty years in appearance.
The picture attraction will be Allen Holubar's latest photo-dramatic sensation starring Dorothy Phillips.
The romance of the open sea and the open sky, the mystery of the underworld, the love of a real man for a real woman, the battle against villainy and the redemption of an untamed spirit—these are the high lights of "Hurricane's Gal," a First National attraction.
Dorothy Phillips is the star of the production and Allen Holubar, the creator of "Man-Woman-Marriage," produced it.
There are many thrilling and novel features in "Hurricane's Gal." Schooners, torpedo boat destroyers, aeroplanes and hydroplanes are utilized in the production. Most of the action takes place at sea, and the tale ends up in a palatial mansion in San Francisco following a series of underworld complications.

SUNDAY CONCERTS OPEN AT CAPITOL

Programme for First Concert To-morrow
The first band concert of the season, under the patronage of the administrator, will commence to-morrow evening at the Capitol Theatre. These concerts proved to be very popular last year, and will be conducted at the same hour, which enables all those who attend church to also attend the band concert, which will begin at 8.45.
The programmes have always maintained a high standard, and there is no doubt that the efforts of the 16th Canadian Scottish Band under Bandmaster James W. Miller will be appreciated. Mrs. Harry Briggs will be the first soloist.
The programme for to-morrow evening has been arranged as follows:
"O Canada"
March—"Vanished Army"
K. Alfaro Overture—"Buy Blue"
March—"Chin Chin"
Norton Song—"The Spring Song of the Robin"
Wakfield Cadman Intermezzo—"In a Persian Market"
Synopsis—The camel drivers gradually approach the cries of beggars for "back-sheesh" are heard; the beautiful Princess enters, carried by her servants; she stays to watch the jugglers and snake charmers; the Caliph now passes through the market and interrupts the entertainment; the beggars are heard again; the Princess prepares to depart and the caravan resumes its journey; the theme of the Princess and camel drivers are heard again in the distance and the market place becomes deserted.
Trombone solo—Selected

Accompanist—Mrs. A. J. Gibson

DO YOU WANT A BETTER JOB?

Do you want a better job than you have now? Do you want to be sure of this job, whether business is good or bad? Do you want such a job with a larger salary—a future?
For Thirty Years, Canadians in thousands, have profited from the vocational and academic training of the International Correspondence Schools.
In 1921, approximately 7,000 Canadian Students of this institution prepared more than 80,000 Recitations and Drawings, requiring more than two million study-hours to accomplish. No single institution can show such a record of educational achievement, nor is any other institution so adequately equipped to provide the commercial, technical and industrial training for the men and women necessary in the commercial life and development of the country. With unrivalled texts, easy to study, easy to remember, and easy to apply; with such texts arranged into comprehensive, practical courses; with these scholarships conducted by an educational staff trained to help, to criticize and correct—you have training of so practical a character that you can apply it day by day to your advantage and profit.
If you want to make use of your present position; if you want a better position—start now to become a trained man.
You can do this easily in your spare time at home, without denying yourself a single pleasure—without losing a day, or a dollar for your present work.
Let us show you how easy it is—how fascinating—how profitable.

SOME FEATURES OF CALVERT RECITAL

Will Be Notable Event on Monday

(By George J. Dyke.)

The announcement of the forthcoming violin and piano recital by the Misses Calvert is attracting much attention and interest throughout the music circles of the city. Such a recital is of rare occurrence as it is on unusual lines. The Misses Calvert are both accomplished and severely practicing in all they do and they are extremely talented soloists on their respective instruments.
In the programme of their choice there are many numbers that cannot but make a delightful appeal to the many followers in the city of the popular classic, and some descriptive notes on the several compositions.
The evening number is "Sonata for Piano and Violin," by Brahms, and in the usual three movements. Vives man non troppo, Adagio, and Allegro molto moderato. Johannes Brahms (1833-1897) was one of the greatest of masters whose talents even when a young man made a profound impression on such as Schumann, and Joachim, and Brahms, the pianist, the fourth full of "Fire and Ice" became as a composer a standard-bearer of the traditions of a glorious past. He wrote three sonatas for violin and piano, and it has been written that he was an artist of the highest and purest type and passages which under other hands seemed dreary wastes, are made to "blossom like the rose."
The "Rhapsody in a Minor" is one of the most beautiful compositions of the minor by the same composer, and in the realm of the pianoforte music they enjoy real and undisputed popularity.
Hungarian Dance.
The "Hungarian Dance" for violin, is one of the many Hungarian dances which were originally written as pianoforte duets and becoming instrumental in the hands of Franz Liszt, his friendship for Edward Remizki, Brahms dedicated these dances to that great violinist. These dances are all of the most characteristic of the Czardos, the alternating "Lassan" and "Friszt" being excellently employed. These violin arrangements were made by Joseph Schram, the great violinist who was a warm admirer of Brahms.
"Etude in C Minor," is by the refined, romantic and spontaneous great violinist, Chopin. His compositions are all intended as studies, or as preludes, and have their individual places in the works of the composer. These are all addressed in the hearts of the audiences of Chopin's admirers. The C minor etude is a great favorite with all pianists.
The "Concerto in J. Minor," is by Max Bruch, born at Cologne in 1838, died last year, and is one of three concertos written by him, his first concerto, in A minor being a great favorite with all violinists.
His compositions are known for their beautiful sound effects and clear melodious inventions. Who has not heard also of his "Klavier Concerto" for three years Max Bruch was well known in the North of England, being conductor of the Liverpool Philharmonic Society from 1880 to 1883.

FALL CARNIVAL AGAIN A SUCCESS

Record Crowds Attend Royal Victoria; Last Offering To-night

Another large audience listened enraptured to the musical numbers and the various items of interest on the elaborate programme given by the large aggregation of artists taking part in the Fall Carnival at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night, and which, under the auspices of the Great War Veterans Association will be again staged this evening, commencing at 8:15 o'clock. Last night's performance was very well attended, a great many children attending the carnival.
Speciads after spectacle of vastness and magnificence is given in the offering, and the show is probably one of the most pretentious ever staged in the city.
In addition to the carnival events at the Royal Victoria, the G. W. V. A. is also responsible for the Grand Armistice Ball which will be held in the Empress Hotel this evening. Tickets for which have been selling rapidly. This event, too, is assured of being a great success and the G. W. V. A. officials are greatly pleased with the success of their Armistice Week programme. They wish to thank the public for their hearty support given the various features they have put on.

"Etude in C Minor," is by the refined, romantic and spontaneous great violinist, Chopin. His compositions are all intended as studies, or as preludes, and have their individual places in the works of the composer. These are all addressed in the hearts of the audiences of Chopin's admirers. The C minor etude is a great favorite with all pianists.
The "Concerto in J. Minor," is by Max Bruch, born at Cologne in 1838, died last year, and is one of three concertos written by him, his first concerto, in A minor being a great favorite with all violinists.
His compositions are known for their beautiful sound effects and clear melodious inventions. Who has not heard also of his "Klavier Concerto" for three years Max Bruch was well known in the North of England, being conductor of the Liverpool Philharmonic Society from 1880 to 1883.

FALL CARNIVAL AGAIN A SUCCESS

Record Crowds Attend Royal Victoria; Last Offering To-night

Another large audience listened enraptured to the musical numbers and the various items of interest on the elaborate programme given by the large aggregation of artists taking part in the Fall Carnival at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night, and which, under the auspices of the Great War Veterans Association will be again staged this evening, commencing at 8:15 o'clock. Last night's performance was very well attended, a great many children attending the carnival.
Speciads after spectacle of vastness and magnificence is given in the offering, and the show is probably one of the most pretentious ever staged in the city.
In addition to the carnival events at the Royal Victoria, the G. W. V. A. is also responsible for the Grand Armistice Ball which will be held in the Empress Hotel this evening. Tickets for which have been selling rapidly. This event, too, is assured of being a great success and the G. W. V. A. officials are greatly pleased with the success of their Armistice Week programme. They wish to thank the public for their hearty support given the various features they have put on.

SOME FEATURES OF CALVERT RECITAL

Will Be Notable Event on Monday

(By George J. Dyke.)

The announcement of the forthcoming violin and piano recital by the Misses Calvert is attracting much attention and interest throughout the music circles of the city. Such a recital is of rare occurrence as it is on unusual lines. The Misses Calvert are both accomplished and severely practicing in all they do and they are extremely talented soloists on their respective instruments.
In the programme of their choice there are many numbers that cannot but make a delightful appeal to the many followers in the city of the popular classic, and some descriptive notes on the several compositions.
The evening number is "Sonata for Piano and Violin," by Brahms, and in the usual three movements. Vives man non troppo, Adagio, and Allegro molto moderato. Johannes Brahms (1833-1897) was one of the greatest of masters whose talents even when a young man made a profound impression on such as Schumann, and Joachim, and Brahms, the pianist, the fourth full of "Fire and Ice" became as a composer a standard-bearer of the traditions of a glorious past. He wrote three sonatas for violin and piano, and it has been written that he was an artist of the highest and purest type and passages which under other hands seemed dreary wastes, are made to "blossom like the rose."
The "Rhapsody in a Minor" is one of the most beautiful compositions of the minor by the same composer, and in the realm of the pianoforte music they enjoy real and undisputed popularity.
Hungarian Dance.
The "Hungarian Dance" for violin, is one of the many Hungarian dances which were originally written as pianoforte duets and becoming instrumental in the hands of Franz Liszt, his friendship for Edward Remizki, Brahms dedicated these dances to that great violinist. These dances are all of the most characteristic of the Czardos, the alternating "Lassan" and "Friszt" being excellently employed. These violin arrangements were made by Joseph Schram, the great violinist who was a warm admirer of Brahms.
"Etude in C Minor," is by the refined, romantic and spontaneous great violinist, Chopin. His compositions are all intended as studies, or as preludes, and have their individual places in the works of the composer. These are all addressed in the hearts of the audiences of Chopin's admirers. The C minor etude is a great favorite with all pianists.

MAIL SERVICE TO FAR NORTH

The Post Office Department has arranged for a mail service during the coming winter season of 1922 and 1923 to points in the Mackenzie River district. It is necessary, however, to limit the mail matter for these dispatches to registered and ordinary letters, newspapers and parcels of a reasonable weight. Preference will be given in every case to registered matter according to the date of posting.

Mails will leave Fort McMurray for Fort MacKay, Fort Chipewyan, Fort Fitzgerald and Fort Smith on December 1 and 13, January 1 and 13, February 1 and 13, March 1 and 13, and April 1 and 13.

The dates for departure of mail to Fort Resolution from Fort McMurray are December 1, January 1, February 1, March 1 and April 1. Mails for Hay River will also leave from Fort McMurray on the same dates except April, when no mail date is given at all.

The first day in December, January and February are the dates set for the departure of mail for Fort Providence and Fort Simpson from Fort McMurray, while the mails will leave from the same place for Fort Wrangley, Fort Norman, Fort Good Hope, Arctic Red River, Fort McPherson and Aklavik on December 1 and February 1.

Mails to connect with the above dispatches will leave Edmonton on the Monday previous to the departure from Fort McMurray.

CLOSING DATE FOR CHRISTMAS MAILED

Postmaster Advises Early Mailing to Catch Steamships

The Victoria general post office has been deluged with inquiries pertaining to the closing dates of the Christmas mails and other information. Postmaster Bishop has drawn up a list of dates which give the desired information.

Letter and book mails going out of Victoria for Australia must be mailed not later than 3 p. m. November 25. The mail will be forwarded on the R. M. S. Niagara in order to reach destination before Christmas. A parcel mail in Canada are made up in Vancouver all articles of parcel post must be mailed not later than 11 p. m. on November 23.

In order to ensure the arrival of mails for Hong Kong before Christmas all letters must be posted before 4 p. m. on November 30 for dispatch on the R. M. S. Empress of Asia. An earlier time has been set for parcels, the date being 11 p. m. on November 29. Mails for India and Africa must be mailed without delay as otherwise they will be too late for the Yule-tide delivery.

Although the closing date for all mail to England has been set for December 2 there is a possibility that it might reach the Old Country before Christmas if mailed on December 8, but the public is advised that December 2 is the more favorable date. The public are also advised that better service can be given if addresses are clearly written in at least two places on the parcel with the address of the sender in one of the corners. All parcels are asked to be bound tightly and firmly to avoid damage in transit. In mail letters also the sender's address should be written in the upper left hand corner of the reverse side of the envelope.

There is only one safe way to mail money. Postmaster Bishop wishes to point out, and that is by money order, draft, or registered letter. Small parcels containing valuable articles can be registered, if paid at letter rate. Parcels for the United Kingdom are forwarded direct from Victoria in sealed sacks to Liverpool and London.

CHINESE HOSPITAL IS OPENED TO-DAY

New Institution Will Serve Chinese of the Island

The Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association will open its new hospital on Herald street to-day—the second largest Chinese hospital in Canada. The hospital will be ready to receive outside patients in ten days. It was announced last night at present the staff is white, because there is no qualified Chinese doctor in Victoria but later a Chinese doctor probably will come here to take charge of the institution and the services of Chinese nurses also will be obtained.

The equipment of the hospital is thoroughly modern and there is little about the building to suggest that it is Chinese. The furniture and inside finishing is similar to those of any up-to-date white hospital. The hospital will have accommodation for sixteen patients and private rooms and public wards, and it will serve the needs of Chinese from all parts of Vancouver Island.

COLONEL UROUHART GIVES ADDRESS TO COLLEGE STUDENTS

Lieut.-Colonel H. M. Urouhart, M.C., D.S.O., yesterday addressed an assembly of Victoria College students.

The colonel told the students some of the most remarkable episodes of the war, who in the face of death in its worst forms, smiled, laughed and joked, and actually fought the presence of the enemy. On one occasion the officer was walking along one of the front line trenches. The men were talking and laughing. Someone gave a warning. But the Tommies only grinned and admitted they had forgotten where they were. He cited examples of self-sacrifice and unselfishness. When, battered and dying, a man was brought back from an attack that had been repulsed, he complained that they had not been allowed to continue in the advance, for, said he, they would certainly have gained their objective. This was a common incident, probably, but served to show the morale, the unconquerable spirit of the Allied troops.

What was it, the colonel asked, that had stopped the German machine in its early advances? The French forts were to the east, whereas the attack was through Belgium and from the northeast. The British were a mere handful. The Belgians were no more. The French had no great efficiency at the early stages of the fighting. But the enemy had been stopped. One of the reasons for this achievement in Colonel Urouhart's opinion, was the lack of efficient command by the German forces. Then a greater reason was the morale of the Allied troops. Colonel Urouhart spoke of the Government's position during the war. They could not possibly have refused to enter the struggle. If the Canadian Parliament had backed down the people would have regarded them as cowards and out of office. Governments do not make war. Little facts like these the speaker brought forcibly to the minds of the students. His talk was greatly appreciated.

RED CROSS ISSUES STATEMENT AS TO NEW WORKSHOP CONDITIONS

In view of the publicity which has recently been given to the Red Cross Workshop, the committee has issued the following statement:

The Red Cross Workshop Committee hopes that the letters and other articles that have recently been published will not obscure the following important facts:

The assistance being given by the Government will not relieve the Red Cross Society of all expense. The society is finance 15 per cent of rent and equipment. Considerable new machinery will be required for cutting and operations and the committee is looking for other and larger premises.

The society must also finance the loss on operation of the workshop, except that the Government will contribute three quarters of the loss up to a maximum of $25 on each man passed by the admission board. This at present will not apply to men receiving full pension or nearly so.

The workshop committee knows that there will always be a loss on operation. Any other result would mean that employment was not being given to the class of men needing it most.

There are 18 men working at the shop now, 12 of whom have 50 per cent and greater pensions, and three have 100 per cent. There is also one 100 per cent man working at home because he prefers it, another being helped by the Red Cross to establish a workshop at home. In addition six men, of whom four were 100 per cent disability, have been employed, but had to resign for various reasons, generally to return to hospital.

The society is looking to the Community Chest for funds for the next year, and has no doubt they will be forthcoming.

Neither Government help nor voluntary donations, however, will create work. What is needed are orders for the products of the shop, especially for basket work of all kinds, that being the work most suitable to the heavy disability men.

The workshop committee has recently secured Major S. H. Okell as manager of the undertaking. New markets and other lines of work, such as weaving homespun, are being explored. The committee asks suggestions as to additional work or increased markets, and emburles for special goods required.

The committee also welcomes enquiries from organizations or others wanting information on any phase of its work.

With increased patronage, more machinery, and more suitable premises, more work should be available all the time. The committee looks forward to caring for all the disabled men belonging to this district, who are unemployable and their immediate families, but have some earning capacity under sheltered conditions.

The cases which are clearly outside the above classification cannot be dealt with through the workshop, but are a separate problem for the proper department of the Government, and a problem which should receive prompt and sympathetic consideration.

The Old Favorite Is Just As Popular As Ever

And Just as Effective in Relieving Coughs, Colds, Croup and Bronchitis

For over a quarter of a century Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has been the favorite treatment for coughs and colds.

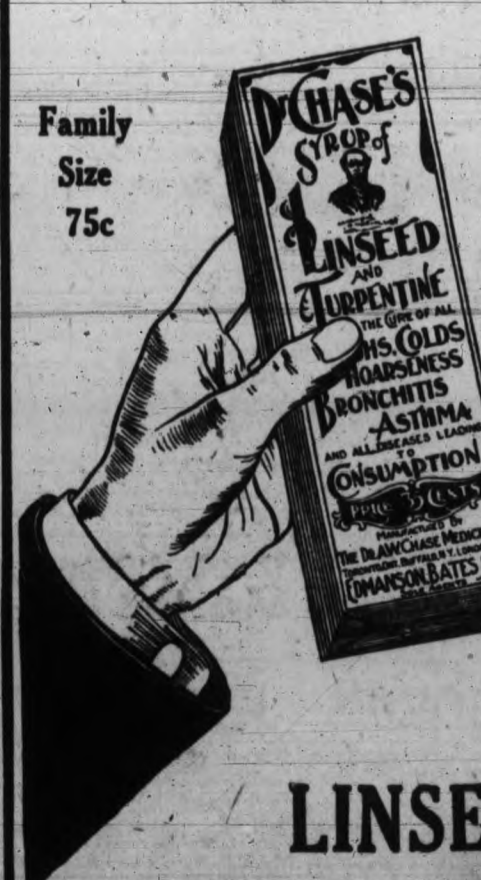

It is still growing in favor, for the simple reason that it can be depended on as a positive relief for Croup, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough and Asthma.

Bronchitis

Mr. J. Penrose, 207 Oak St., Toronto, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with bronchitis and had a very bad cough. I had the cough so long I was becoming afraid of other developments. I tried all kinds of cough remedies without relief. I saw Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine advertised and tried a bottle. I was greatly surprised at the relief I got from the Linseed and Turpentine. I bought five more bottles and was completely relieved."

Severe Cold

Mr. Lloyd Ballen, Sunnyside Farm, Pownal, Lot 49, P.E.I., writes:—"After I got over the 'flu' last winter, I took a very severe cold. I tried several kinds of cough medicines, but none of them gave me relief and I began to fear it would turn to something more serious. One day, however, I picked up a copy of Dr. Chase's Almanac and saw your Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine advertised. I got one bottle immediately, which completely relieved me."

MUST OUST ASIATICS FROM LAND CONTROL

Mr. Bowser Proposes to End "Gentlemen's Agreements" With Japan and That New Treaties Be Subject To Approval of British Columbia.

Amendment of the Sloan resolution calling for the total exclusion of Orientals from Canada so as to provide for the submission to and approval by the British Columbia Legislature of any treaty or arrangement between Canada and any Asiatic power, was proposed in the Legislature yesterday afternoon by W. J. Bowser, K.C., Conservative Opposition Leader.

In his amendment Mr. Bowser proposed "that this Legislative Assembly place itself on record as being opposed to the making of any treaty or arrangement with any Asiatic power, or the passing of any regulations by the House of Commons of Canada or under the Immigration Act dealing with the immigration of Asiatics into Canada unless the same have been made subject to the approval of the Legislative Assembly of the Province before the same becomes effective, or, unless such treaty or regulations specially reserve to the Province of British Columbia power and the right to pass laws prohibiting the ownership by Asiatics of land, or the employment therein in B. C. of Asiatics in industries in B. C."

Total Prohibition
He further proposed "that this Legislative Assembly place itself on record as being in favor of the enactment of such amendments to the Immigration Act of Canada as is necessary to prohibit totally any Asiatic immigration into Canada."

In his preamble he points out that there is a "strong and compelling sentiment especially marked in B. C. for the total exclusion of Asiatic immigration," and that when the B. C. Legislature last year passed a resolution calling for total exclusion of Asiatics from Canada, it was substituted for the words "effective restriction" for "total exclusion."

Such an amended resolution, Mr. Bowser explained, could be carried into effect by law in Canada only if the same treaty or arrangement will be made with some Asiatic power or people or that regulations will be made in Canada for the admission into Canada of Asiatics under certain restrictions.

He went on to explain that "if any such treaty or arrangement is made, unless the rights of this Province are preserved, it will have the effect of curtailing the Provincial right of this Province to enact legislation prohibiting the employment of Asiatics in industries of the Province, or prohibiting the ownership of lands by Asiatics in this Province, both of which are a growing menace to our ernment majority of 136 to 34. "So the friends of Ottawa of my honorable opposite to me in this House decided that they did not want exclusion," Mr. Bowser went on. "We find the Hon. J. H. King, who in this House last year and voted for the resolution of the Member for North Vancouver, forgetting what he did in this Legislature last November in supporting the Stewart amendment at Ottawa."

Oriental on Crown Lands
There was a little discussion over the case of the Province lost before the Supreme Court, when it was decided that the Province had not got the power to put into contracts a clause prohibiting the employment of Orientals on Crown lands. In connection with this Mr. Sloan sent over to Mr. Bowser the cable which had been sent to London, and which had not been published, telling of the "threat" being made by the British only to be made more aggravated by a renewal of the present (Japanese) treaty.

The serious part of this menace is in connection with the Orientals of this Province acquiring lands and the entry of Asiatics into the industries of this Province," Mr. Bowser went on. "We were waiting to bring to the attention of the friends in Ottawa of my friends opposite in this House, the fact that we don't want it to happen that a new treaty should be made between this country and Japan or China, along the lines of a gentleman's agreement whereby Japan be allowed to settle how many that shall be allowed to come in here, and that we should have a new treaty between the Mackenzie King Government and Japan that they shall reserve to us the right to get into the land in the same manner that we have had in the past. We want to keep in this Legislature the unquestioned right to deal with the land in this Province which may pass into the hands of our Legislature and that we can prohibit the employment of Asiatics in the industries of this Province. We want to tell the Ottawa Government not to interfere in any way with the rights of this Province to interfere with the ownership of land and prohibit if necessary land passing under control of Orientals."

Mr. Uphill
Tom Uphill, member for Fernie, declared that the workers should take to heart the statement made by Mr. Sloan that merchants and professional men are now taking up the cause against the Oriental.

"This all goes to show again that Governments will take notice of the professional men and business classes but they will not take any notice of the workers," Mr. Uphill went on. "Mr. Uphill said that fruit growers were in favor of the Oriental coming in because they were able to get their labor through them, but now with the Orientals getting control of land their competition is brought home to them and they have come to the anti-Oriental attitude of the laborer."

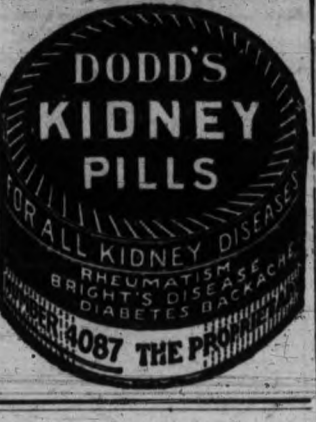

He asserted that the low wages paid by corporations were largely responsible for the patronage accorded Oriental merchants by workingmen and agriculturists. "I force many families to buy from such stores. He said that the granting of coal mining certificates comes under the Minister of Mines and that he had it within his power to cut down on the number of Orientals certificated."

Mr. Guthrie
This Oriental question has been made a political football for years by the two chief political parties," said Sam Guthrie, Socialist member for Newcastle. "I think big business men are getting after them now and that is why they are coming out against the Asiatic."

Mr. Guthrie declared that the Minister of Mines does not need a law to keep Asiatics out of the mines as he could do it now by making the examinations more strict so that none of them could pass. He asserted that there were now more Asiatics in the mines at Cumberland than when Mr. Sloan took office.

"All this stuff of my honorable friend about keeping the Asiatic out of the mines is just so much bunk," he added.

Kenneth Duncan, member for Cowichan, adjourned the debate until Monday.

Navigation was entered into between the United Kingdom and Japan, providing among other things that:

"Subjects of each of the high contracting parties shall have full liberty to enter, travel and reside in the territories of the other, and conforming themselves to the laws of the country."

"They shall have the right equally with native subjects to carry on their commerce and manufacture and trade in all respects of merchandise of lawful commerce, either in person or by agents, singly, or in partnership with foreigners, and of native subjects."

"They shall in all that relates to the pursuit of their industry, callings, professions, and educational studies, be placed in all respects on the same footing as the subjects or citizens of the most favored nation."

Lemieux Negotiations Started.
"Canada, after a long delay and some considerable correspondence, finally agreed in 1902 to become a consulting party to this treaty. This decision was ratified by Canadian Parliament in the session of 1906. At that time the assurance was given that the Government would not interfere in any way with the rights of this Province to interfere with the ownership of land and prohibit if necessary land passing under control of Orientals."

"Shortly after this, early in the year 1907, an alarming influx of Japanese immigrants into the neighborhood of 7,000, occurred. Investigation showed that, while many of these emigrants were from Japan, the major portion were from Korea, the Government of Canada of that day dispatched the Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, then Minister of Labor, to Japan to negotiate upon serious situation which had so suddenly developed."

"As a result early in the year 1908, what is known as the Gentlemen's Agreement was entered into between Canada and Japan. The full text of this agreement has not been published but in effect it was agreed to keep the numbers of Japanese emigrating to Canada down to a stipulated figure, somewhere in the neighborhood of 400, which the Japanese authorities undertook to see was not exceeded."

"That agreement is still in force and it has been generally accepted by Ottawa that Japan has been carrying out its terms so far as direct immigration from that country is concerned."

"Japan, however, is not assuming to exercise authority over subjects in Hawaii."

"The Treaty of Commerce and Navigation was again assented to by Canada in 1913 with the following additional proviso in its application to Canada:

"That nothing in the Treaty, or in the Act, shall be deemed to repeal or effect any of the provisions of the Immigration Act."

Terminate in Twelve Months.
"This treaty is to remain in force until 1916, 1923. It contains, however, the further wise and self-explanatory provision:

"In case neither of the high contracting parties shall have given notice to the other, twelve months before the expiration of the said period, of its intention to terminate the Treaty, it shall continue in force until the expiration of one year from the date of either of the high contracting parties shall have given notice."

"As regards the British Dominion, colonies to which the present Treaty may have been made applicable in virtue of article 26, however, either of the high contracting parties shall have the right to terminate it separately at any time on giving twelve months notice to that effect."

"I previously mentioned that in 1901 the Japanese population was 2,518. It now is estimated to total 16,211, most of whom are in British Columbia. From these figures it will be seen that there is a marked increase notwithstanding the efforts that have been made to restrict this immigration."

Hindu Problems.
"At this moment also the question of Hindu or East Indian immigration. Prior to 1904 there were less than fifty Hindus in Canada. This class of immigration began in 1905 when there were some 400 arrivals. In the following two years, viz. 1906-07, the arrivals numbered some 4,000 or over. To meet this situation in 1908, the Council under authority of the Immigration Act was passed bearing date of May 27, 1908, which prohibited the entry of:

"Immigrants who have come to Canada otherwise than by continuous journey from the country of which they are natives or citizens, and upon through tickets purchased in that country."

Komogata Maru Victory.
"Some technical legal defects in the phrasing of the above mentioned order-in-council was further amended."

The Only Remedy Says This Doctor
"The treatment of skin diseases (eczema) and dandruff is known to be difficult. However, there is one remedy that is known to be completely effective in all cases of dandruff and troublesome skin diseases. I refer to D. D. Prescription."
"If you have never tried D. D. Prescription for your skin troubles, you are missing a great opportunity. It is the only remedy that is known to be completely effective in all cases of dandruff and troublesome skin diseases. I refer to D. D. Prescription."
"If you have never tried D. D. Prescription for your skin troubles, you are missing a great opportunity. It is the only remedy that is known to be completely effective in all cases of dandruff and troublesome skin diseases. I refer to D. D. Prescription."

ed and finally on Jan. 7, 1914, an order-in-council, P. C. 23, having the same general effect was passed and is in force to-day and has the effect of making it very difficult to bring the Komogata Maru very difficult.

"It will be recalled that a very strenuous effort was made to override these various orders-in-council by the Komogata Maru in Shanghai by Gurdit Singh, which vessel steamed into Vancouver Harbor on May 2, 1914, with 396 Hindus on board. It was necessary to rectify the many efforts made to land the passengers in the port of Vancouver, all of which endeavors were unsuccessful. These extended over a period of two months, and finally the Komogata Maru, and her 396 passengers, returned to the Orient, sailing from Vancouver on July 21, 1914. This attempted Hindu invasion was an organized movement on their part to establish the principle that they had a right to be accepted as citizens of Canada and that Canada had no authority or control in respect thereof. Before I am through I shall refer to this again."

No Place for Hindu.
"I do not think that British Columbia is a very attractive field for the Hindu. The climatic and other conditions probably account for the fact that Hindu immigration, in proportions, returns for the last five years, ending March 31, 1922, showing that only thirteen Hindus were admitted to Canada in that two-month period."

Oriental Penetration Antagonies.
"I wish to submit some very interesting figures which show the extent of the activity of Orientals within our Province, and which indicate serious inroad in respect of our industries of fishing, agriculture, and stock raising, and also in respect to business and trade."

"In 1920, 2,227 gilt net licences and 519 trolling licences, a total of 2,746, were issued to Japanese by the Department of Fisheries and Game."

"It may safely be said that there were 5,492 Japanese fishermen at work in British Columbia in 1920, which number certainly has not decreased in recent years."

"The Asiatic Exclusion League of Canada points out that the total number of births in British Columbia in 1920, which number certainly has not decreased in recent years, was 107,000. The proportion of Japanese to whites in 1921 was about 1 in 13."

"Out of 438 grocery licences issued in Vancouver in 1920 over 171 were held by Orientals."

"There were 89 Oriental laundries, 121 restaurants, 713 Orientals were employed, and 50 per cent of said restaurants were owned and operated by Orientals and Chinese."

"There are 62 Oriental barber shops in Vancouver."

"Sixty per cent of the merchant tailors in Vancouver are Orientals. In 1920, 11,192 suits were made and 62 Oriental barber shops in Vancouver."

"In my own constituency, in Nanaimo, an industrial district, it is noteworthy that the Asiatic population has been obtaining a footing, as is indicated by the following facts:

"In that city there are three Chinese laundries, two Chinese barber shops, and five Oriental merchant tailors."

"There are three Chinese fruit and vegetable merchants, dealing from door to door, at least 75 per cent of the truck farming of the district is controlled by Orientals."

Must Boycott Them.
"It seems surprising to me that, in an industrial district such as that of Nanaimo, the Orientals should receive the support that they have been given. For myself, during 35 years spent in Nanaimo, I have not yet seen the first article laundried by an Oriental. I have been consistent in my attitude on this question, both in my public and private life, having every white resident of British Columbia had adopted the same position there would be no Oriental problem."

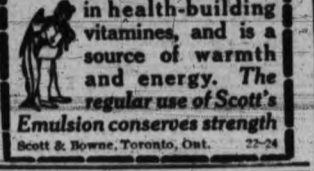

"The truck gardening industry, both of the Mainland and Island, is dominated by Orientals."

"In the Ashcroft and other agricultural districts of British Columbia the Orientals are becoming more and more predominant."

"It is estimated that Orientals own or lease or cultivate about 25,000 acres of most fertile truck and orchard lands of the Province."

myself as Minister of Mines. It follows:

"The Japanese Treaty supplementing representations made to agriculture wish to emphasize that fisheries of British Columbia now are largely controlled by Japanese. Indications also point to their desire and intention to enter coal mining field. In view of Treaty have no power to restrict Japanese working underground in coal mines of this Province. In the demand for the coal mines of British Columbia, and our people are hoping you can successfully maintain position with reference to this Treaty that will prevent continuance of threatening conditions which, in their cumulative effect, must become disastrous. These conditions can only be further aggravated and made more aggravating by renewal of present Treaty."

JOHN OLIVER, Premier.
WM. SLOAN, Minister of Mines.
Total Exclusion Only Cure.
"As Minister of Mines I have given much thought and consideration to the question of the employment of Orientals in and around the mines of the Province. I have concluded that the only policy calculated to effectively meet this condition is the policy outlined in the resolution now before the House, as it will be effective, not only in respect of mining, fishing, agriculture, but in respect of all other industrial activities."

"As I have endeavored to make clear and as I pointed out in my cable to Rt. Hon. Mr. Meighen, the Treaty of Commerce and Navigation with Japan continues, we are powerless to prevent the employment of Orientals in the coal mines of British Columbia. In this connection I was particularly gratified that the resolution moved at the last session of the Legislature by the member for North Vancouver, and seconded by the member for Alberni, advocating the giving of the necessary twelve months' notice of the termination of this Treaty met with the unanimous support of this House. This was a striking indication of the feeling of the people of this Province on this whole question."

Both Cannot Survive.
"In the face of all the facts that I have been able to assemble it must be clear to us that the industrial and economic life of British Columbia is already endangered by Asiatic competition and that the white people cannot compete with this foreign population for the chief reason that Orientals are, as has been repeatedly emphasized, accustomed to and contented with a much lower standard of living. In the final analysis it must be admitted that while a single state may continue to contain two races it cannot long continue to contain two conflicting and distinct civilizations."

"In this relation I am reminded of an Oriental story: An Arab laborer was killed in a carriage, thoroughfare. One rainy day a camel stopped at his door and pitifully begged leave to put his nose in of the wet. 'Certainly you may,' replied the tailor politely. And so the camel put his nose in out of the wet. Gradually and almost imperceptibly his head followed his nose, then his neck, shoulders and fore quarters, until finally his whole carcass was snugly sheltered. The rain had meanwhile ceased, and the tailor being much incensed by the presence of the great beast, requested him to leave. 'Leave?' exclaimed the camel indignantly. 'Leave yourself; if you don't like my presence here take yourself off elsewhere.' 'I do not think it will be necessary to emphasize the point conveyed."

Business and Professions Affected.
"This is not because of any assumption on our part of racial or national superiority over the people of any other race or nation. It is a declaration that we are prepared at all times to discharge a national duty and a national responsibility, a duty and a responsibility which is recognized in every self-governing dominion of our Empire. It is the duty of the Dominion Government to prevent if necessary the occupation of this or any portion of Canada by a population that shall interfere, hamper or deter in any material degree those ideals of freedom, citizenship and individualism which are the characteristics of our Anglo-Saxon race."

Canada Must Control.
"In brief, immigration to Canada must be controlled from within and not dictated from without. As a self-governing Dominion within the Empire, and in the Empire it is well recognized that each component part shall have the right and the opportunity guaranteed to work out its destiny, and the possibilities of that particular portion in accordance with the ideals of the people. I do not think that it has ever been suggested that we in Canada should accept the dictation of any other people in the work of building up our country. That, I think, was clearly accepted by Great Britain when Canada in 1905 announced her adherence to the Treaty of Trade and Commerce with Japan. Great Britain at that time made it quite clear that this Treaty could be accepted with or without reservation. Canada, however, gave her assent to that Treaty at that time and again in 1913, without the reservation referred to by Great Britain."

"In conclusion, let me say that I have endeavored to make it clear that this Treaty is of paramount importance and of national and international concern, in a manner I hope entirely free from political, sectional or racial considerations, and trust it will be so accepted not only by the members of this Legislature, but also by the people of this country."

"It has been stated that this is a question for the West. If it were so the question is not one of the West but of Canada. Canada as yet does not take the situation into the serious consideration that rapidly developing conditions justify. Canadians as a whole do not as yet appreciate or understand our desire that Canada shall be white from the Pacific to the Atlantic."

"Personally I have always considered that exclusion was the only solution. When the $500 tax was imposed I accepted that as a compromise, in the expectation that it would have the desired result, it being the general opinion at that time that this tax would prove prohibitive. But after years of trial with attempted restriction, and from a perusal of figures showing marked increases, I am convinced that half measures and compromises will not meet the situation with which we as a province are confronted, and therefore the resolution before the House is in no uncertain terms in that regard."

Misses in Own House.
"In further reference to the attempt made by the passengers of the Komogata Maru to land in Canada contrary to express orders-in-council passed under authority of Class 38 of the Immigration Act, let me say that the immigration law of Canada is a declaration on the part of Canada that she is mistress in her own home, and takes the authority and responsibility of deciding who shall and who shall not be admitted to the rights of citizenship and to all the privileges and rights of such citizenship within the confines of our Dominion.

THEY LIVE in
OUR MEMORY

IN FLANDERS' FIELDS

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
 Between the crosses, row on row,
 That mark our place; and in the sky
 The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
 Scarce heard amid the guns below.
 We are the dead. Short days ago
 We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
 Loved and were loved, and now we lie
 In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
 To you, from falling hands we throw
 The torch; Be yours to lift it high!
 If ye break faith with us who die
 We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
 In Flanders' fields.

Vancouver Island's War Memorials to Be Decorated To-day

"On Fame's Eternal Camping Ground Their Silent Tents Are Spread"

ALL ISLAND CENTRES WILL HONOR MEMORY OF THOSE WHO FELL

Thousands Will Attend Memorial Services and Decorate Monuments; Day Will Be One of Universal Commemoration of Canada's Heroes.

Vancouver Island throughout its settled communities from North to South commemorates the Fourth Anniversary of cessation of hostilities on November 11, 1918, when the last shot put a period to the strife that brought Canada from the misery and anguish of war service into the settled dignity of a nation.

The passage of years has not lessened the meaning of that day, only enhanced it in all its potency, its pathos and its pride. Those who were spared to return unite with those who waited anxiously at home to-day in the reverent commemoration of the part played by Canada's dead—the bravest of her nation by whom the highest honor won in the war was given, the epitaph, "Killed in Action." No medal, no cross, nor mention in dispatches can equal the distinction of having laid down a life that from might live on.

To revere then, those who fell and to honor those who returned, thousands all over the Island to-day attend memorial services and decorate the crosses, cairns, and obelisks erected to the glorious memory of the dead.

Will Decorate Memorials. In the city the Cross of Sacrifice cated, and Ladysmith now adds its own memorial.

The Unbroken Line

By CANON SCOTT, C. M. G., D. S. O.
Senior Chaplain, C. E. F.

We who have trod the borderlands of death,
— Where courage high walks hand in hand with fear,
Shall we not hearken what the Spirit saith,
"All ye were brothers there, be brothers here?"

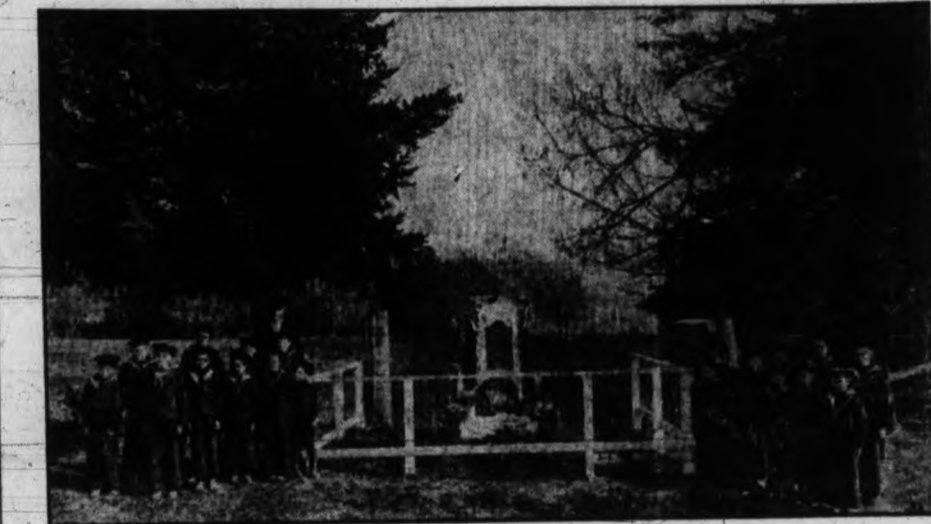

We who have struggled through the baffling night,
— Where men were men and every man divine,
While round us brave hearts perished for the right,
By chalice shell-holes stained with life's rich wine.

Let us not lose the exalted love which came — From comradeship with danger and the joy
Of strong souls kindled into living flame
By one supreme desire, one high employ.

Let us draw closer in these narrower years,
Before us still the eternal visions spread;
We who outmastered death and all its fears,
Are one great army still, living and dead.

WHAT THE NAVY DID

At this time on Armistice Day it should be a matter of interest to refer back to the days of the great struggle and the splendid service rendered by the men and women of Victoria and Vancouver Island. Victoria then bore the aspect of an armed camp; thousands of sailors and soldiers were constantly coming and by volunteers, ready to "mix up" with any enemy craft which might be encountered. Had the enemy been sighted, the result would doubtless have been disastrous for the Rainbow and her crew. The longer range and greater weight of metal of the enemy guns would have made it easy for them to sink the little vessel before she came within striking distance of her own inferior guns; but nothing daunted, the gallant crew, under the command of Captain Walter Hose, scoured the seas ready at all times for a fight to a finish.

The Esquimalt naval station was under the command of Vice-Admiral W. O. Storey until he was transferred to Halifax, when the command was assumed by Captain E. H. Martin, C.M.G. Large numbers of Victorians were trained at Esquimalt, eventually proceeding to England, where they joined the Imperial Navy. Many served in the Motor Boat Patrol, which was recruited when the submarine menace became acute, and more than one enemy under-water craft failed to reach its home port on account of intervention of men trained at Esquimalt. In Mesopotamia Victorians performed valuable work with the shallow draft steamers of the Inland Water Transport, operating from Basra to advanced points on the Tigris.

Volunteers from Victoria were not found wanting for any branch of the naval service. The perilous mine-sweeping work in the North Sea was not neglected; many local men served in the little trawlers which defied the hidden menace to shipping as they sailed over the mine fields, hauled up the mines and destroyed them. On every sea, and in every branch of the naval service, Victorians served with credit and distinction.

AVENUE OF MAPLES MARKS LINE OF SHELBOURNE STREET

Victoria Will Have One of Outstanding Tributes In Empire; Among First to Mark Roadway of Heroes.

While thousands of Canadian war heroes are sleeping where the poppies wave in Flanders' Fields and in many another field of the great war areas where fire-raged and destruction stalked with a free stride through the ranks of human kind and his pigmy creations, loving hearts and hands are engaged in setting up in Victoria, capital of the wonderful Province of British Columbia, one of the most lasting and beautiful memorials in the Empire.

In speaking of keeping the memory green in the case of the heavy sacrifices in men, money and resources laid on the altar of Empire, there is something deeply natural and sympathetically sentimental in the idea of a memorial that rises from the dust, grows and becomes sturdy in life and adds to the history of the world just as the brave men of the Empire who, in the height of their strength and manhood were cut down. The only difference will be that the memorial will be kept everlastingly green.

An avenue of maples, or to be exact, plane trees, which to the uninitiated is similar to the maple but more suitable to the purpose, will stretch for almost five miles along Shelbourne Street, from the heart of Victoria to Mount Douglas Park. On either side of the splendid paved road wide boulevards will stretch in the coming years will be shaded in lines of trees, broken here and there by clumps of rose bushes and other attractive floral displays. In Victoria the grass is always green and many of the roses bloom all winter, so that even during the period when the trees are sleeping and leafless there will be an atmosphere of life and beauty along Memorial Avenue. The school children for sentiment's sake, and the people of the country generally as a duty to the honored dead, will contribute to the establishment of this wonderful tribute. Among the distinguished men who planted trees in the Avenue are Governor-General Byng, Lieut.-Governor Walter C. Nichol, General Sir Arthur Currie, Marshal Joffre and others. General R. F. Clark is the head of the committee having the scheme in hand, and it is being carried out under the auspices of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

THE PRICE OF EMPIRE

The warlike of our isles,
The men of field and wave;
Are not the rocks their funeral piles—
The seas and shores their graves?

AT INAUGURATION OF DUNCAN MEMORIAL

at Ross Bay Cemetery will be the scene of a tribute from the I.O.D.E. Services are held at the Duncan Memorial, the Parkville Cross, the Chemainus Memorial, the Cobble Hill Obelisk, the Nanaimo Memorial, the Sooke War Memorial, and the Courtenay Cairn, as well as many other monuments through the length and breadth of the Island. Courtenay Cairn is formally dedi-

A. P. Munro; benediction, the Vesp. Archdeacon H. A. Collison; National Anthem. Afterwards flowers may be placed on the memorial. The Boy Scouts and Girl Guides will parade in uniform, and every school child in the locality is specially invited to be present. The Sister Agnes Keyser Chapter, I.O.D.E., have arranged for a Rev. F. L. Stephenson, of Ladysmith, will address the congregation. The war memorial has now a cement curb, diamond shaped with boulder post at each corner. Chains will be put from post to post. Inside the curb and base of the memorial white shell has been placed. These additions are a very great improvement.

going; the streets echoed with the sound of the marching feet of battalions of volunteer soldiers; bands enlivened the city with martial airs, and the men who had yet to "win their spurs," yelled the latest war songs and topical ditties with the full force of lungs officially certified to be sound. The navy was represented by the 3,000-ton cruiser Rainbow when war was declared, and it was to this vessel and two submarines purchased at the instigation of the late Sir Richard McBride that Victorians looked for protection from the German cruisers which were known to be roaming the Pacific and destroying merchant shipping. Fears were entertained for the little Rainbow, obsolete, and armed with ancient six-inch guns, greatly inferior to the modern weapon of the German ships, put out to sea, manned

MOTOR NEWS

MOTORISTS WILL BE SEEING STARS SAYS C. W. LOVELL

Carload Shipment of Star Cars Will Be Here Monday

"Every motorist in town will be seeing Stars pretty soon and the particular kind of star I refer to is the new Star car for which we are now distributors, and a carload of which will be unloaded in Victoria on Monday," Sales Manager C. W. Lovell remarked to The Times man-to-day when speaking of the activities of the Atkinson Motor Company, who handle the Star and the Durant cars.

The news that more Stars will be here Monday will cause general rejoicing among a large number of local motorists who have been waiting patiently for delivery of orders placed when the first Star was landed here. It was impossible to keep one on hand for show purposes and five orders were placed during a short space of time during which the first Star was unloaded and the time the first purchaser ran off with it, refusing to allow the distributors to keep it to let some of the other fellows see what it looked like.

The Atkinson Garage at the corner of Vancouver and Collinson Streets has been besieged by people wishing to see the latest addition to the line of modern motor cars, and they will be welcomed during the week if the management can manage to keep at least one of the new arrivals on hand for show purposes. Orders will be put through just as rapidly as possible to meet the demand.

"We have two good lines in the Star and Durant," says Mr. Lovell, "and we are on the job to see that they keep moving. Details of the car and demonstration of its merit will be gladly given at any time," he says.

FAMOUS SPEEDWAY FOR HORSES NOW USED BY MOTORS

Romantic History of Harlem River Course

New York, Nov. 11.—(By Canadian Press) One more outpost was won by the motor car in its conquest of the realm of the horse when the Harlem River Speedway, which at one time was New York's chief attraction for hundreds of Canadian horsemen, was thrown open to automobilists.

Cars of all descriptions, from flivvers to high priced racing machines, now glide over the stretch of river bank which at one time was closed to all but speeding horses. With the opening of the motor craze the old race of keen, enthusiastic lovers of the trotting horse disappeared from New York, and there are few who regret the change. Yet in its early days the Speedway was a conspicuous success. Horsemen from all parts of the country visited it regularly. Many enthusiasts from the Dominion considered it the one big attraction of New York.

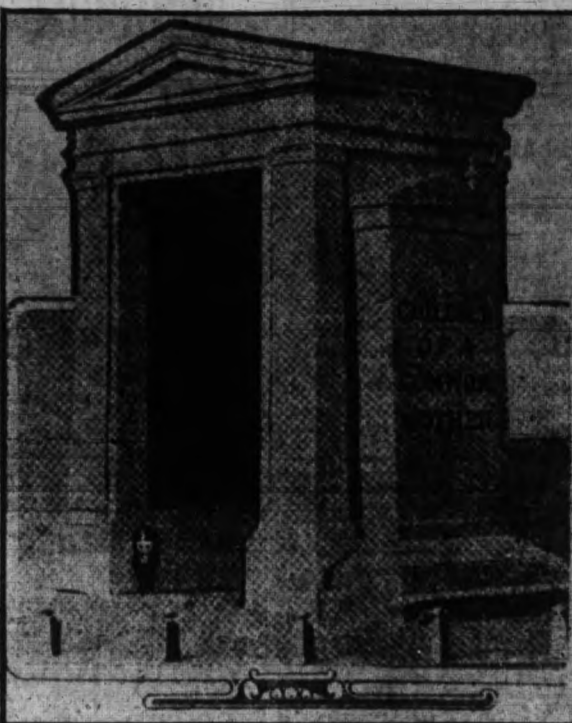

In the old days, when it was fashionable to own and drive a fast trotter, New York's horsemen used to make use of two of the wide avenues in the north end of the city. They organized many important races and vied with each other in the perfection of their turnouts. The growth of the city rendered speeding on these thoroughfares dangerous, and the city authorities, who had afforded the horsemen a superb stretch over which they could test their fleet trotters and pacers, and it also gave pleasure to thousands of others, who, though not owning horses, still had a strong love for them. It was also the gathering point for hundreds of visiting horsemen.

Many of the most prominent men in New York patronized the Speedway, and several built private stables in its neighborhood. On a fine afternoon Nathan Straus, behind the California gelding Cobwebs, 2:12, a son of the half-bred sire Whipps, by Electioneer, was sure to be out in search of a contest. Cobwebs was king of the Speedway for a period. Another familiar figure was C. K. G. Billings, an amateur reinsman of great skill. It was over the Speedway that Lou Dillon, 1:53 1/2, when queen of the turf, pulled her owner a quarter in 25 1/2 seconds, showing the highest speed ever attained by a harness horse. The black champion of his day, Unham, 1:58, was another of the Billings stable often seen on the Speedway.

Other noted amateurs seen on the Speedway were General Blayton Ives, behind Monte Carlo, 2:07 1/2; James Butler, with King Direct, 2:04 1/2; Frank Work with Praytell, 2:09 1/2, and Pilot Boy, 2:09 1/2, the latter a handsome gray, now a pensioner on a Long Island farm through a provision in Mr. Work's will.

Another Wall Street man who took his recreation on the Speedway was N. B. O'Quinn, who owned Tiverton, 2:04 1/2; E. E. Smathers had a number of fleet trotters and pacers for pleasure driving on the Speedway, the best known being Lord Derby, 2:05 1/2; John M. 2:02 1/2, and Morning-side, 2:04 1/2. James A. Murphy never dodged a brush with Don Derby, 2:04 1/2; Ardelle, 2:04 1/2, or Coast Marie, 2:11 1/2. Fred Gerken with The Monk, 2:05 1/2, finished in front oftener than elsewhere, while John Lawrence from Hoboken with Lizzie March, 2:02 1/2, and a record of a half mile in 4:51 1/2 over the course, took the dust of few.

In later years the horses taking part in this sport were not of as high quality nor were their owners comparable in skill as reinsmen with the men who made the early history of the Speedway. With the coming of the automobile into general use "hoss trotting" was relegated to the smaller communities, and the Speedway recently was practically deserted. Now it is once more crowded, but gasoline, and not the horse, provides the motive power for the speeding vehicles.

CONSTANT CARE PAYS DIVIDENDS

Regular Cleaning and Adjustment of Car Necessary

Our furnace, representing an investment of perhaps $500, gets regular cleaning and adjustment, regular vacuuming, sewing machine and washing machine all come in for periodical attention by the family head.

But—how about your motor car? How about this investment of more than a thousand dollars which is standing in your garage and forgotten until you need it?

The vacuum cleaner, sewing machine and washing machine all come in for periodical attention by the family head. A motor car cannot complain because of ill-treatment. It will run until the neglect has caused a deterioration of some vital part. And then it collapses—perhaps to be condemned by the very person who is directly responsible for the collapse.

Cases Parallel.

A locomotive speeds along at from twenty to forty miles per hour over smooth rails, on ballasted tracks and on favorable grades. Its right-of-way seldom calls for emergency stops or starts, or sharp, quick, wrenching turns. Yet at 300-mile intervals the engine is put in the roundhouse for an overhauling.

The average motor car is called upon to go from twenty to forty miles per hour—sometimes faster—over roads where the going is oftentimes rough. The car sometimes is tugging through mud, sometimes weaving over rocky roads, making sharp turns, stopping and starting—most of the time straining itself to the utmost tensile strength of the finest steel. High speeds are maintained for long periods of time, causing a great heat.

Delay Is Costly.

All these things tend to tear down the mechanism and shorten the life of the car or some of its component parts. Sometimes 20,000 miles are covered before the owner will concede his car the mechanical attention it deserves. And then—some actually complain at a fair cost of repairs.

Given proper care, an automobile will deliver transportation at a reasonable cost—unreasonable use will make operating cost commensurate with the abuse.

Remember, after all, an automobile is only a piece of machinery, and machinery must have proper care if it is to function properly and give the maximum results.

A MAGNETO TEST.

To test the magneto disconnect the lead wires to the spark plugs and set the ends one-eighth to one-half inch from some metallic part of the engine and see if sparks jump from the wires. If no spark jumps the magneto is at fault.

CLEANING REFLECTORS.

A mixture of denatured alcohol and water in equal parts is best for cleaning reflectors in headlights. To avoid scratching the highly-polished surface the solution should be applied with cotton or a soft cloth.

NEW CARS AND THEIR CARE.

New cars should be driven slowly for the first 1,000 miles, never attempting a speed of more than 25 to 35 miles an hour. A thorough inspection should be made after each trip.

COOLING
Feddlers radiator, honey-comb type; 16-inch fan; four blades; water pump; water capacity, 8 quarts.

FRONT AXLE
Timken; standard drop forge "I" beam section, with Elliott type steering mechanism. Wheels are adjustably mounted on Timken bearings.

REAR AXLE
Timken; three-quarter floating, simple design. Timken bearings used throughout.

BRAKES
External contracting; internal expanding; 10-inch brake drums. Easy and accessible adjustment is provided.

SPRINGS
Front, 2 1/2" long; rear, 4 1/2" long.

TIRES
30" x 3 1/2", all around.

OILING SYSTEM
The oiling system is the force feed type. The oil gear pump is driven directly from the rear of the camshaft and feeds through the camshaft to all camshaft bearings and to holes drilled in the case to the main crank shaft bearings, to the camshaft arms, to connecting rods and bearings.

CARBURETOR
Tillotson, 1-inch. Exhaust and intake manifold mounted on left side of engine to which carburetor is attached.

STARTING, LIGHTING, IGNITION
Automatic generator, starting motor, igniter and coil. Unaffected by weather conditions.

CLUTCH
Single plate, dry type; enclosed in flywheel; easily removable without disturbing engine or transmission.

TRANSMISSION
Standard, selective, sliding gear type, three speeds, forward and reverse. The design conforms in all respects to standard practice.

DRIVE
Left-hand drive, centre control; accelerator pedal mounted on toe board. Spark and throttle mounted within easy reach of driver and easily operated. Design is simple. Ignition and lighting switch mounted in instrument board.

STEERING GEAR
Warner, semi-irreversible worm and gear type. Ball thrust bearings are used, with suitable adjustment for wear. 16-inch steering wheel. Horn button on wheel.

GASOLINE SUPPLY
Capacity of tank 11 1/2 gallons; placed at rear. Petrol vacuum feed in provided. Fire hazard reduced to the minimum.

WHEELBASE
102 inches.

BODY TYPES
Touring car, Sedan, Coupe, Roadster, Station Wagon, and Commercial types.

THE creation of the Star Car by W. C. Durant revolutionizes the automobile world. Never before in the annals of the automobile industry has such wonderful value been anticipated in a motor car as the Star with its Continental Red Seal Motor, Three-quarter Floating Axle, Timken Bearings, 3-Speed Transmission, Spicer Universal and Warner Steering Gear.

This car ranks both for construction and appearance in a class of motor cars of considerably higher value. It is the Star achievement for a popular priced motor car. Its creation is the most brilliant and important accomplishment of any individual identified with the automobile industry since its inception. Very smart in appearance and of thorough mechanical performance and modern design.

The Star represents the most advanced step since the invention of motor cars because it provides for the first time a quality automobile standardized in construction and operation for a modest sum of money. Like the Durant "4" and Durant "6," the Durant Star has become the most popular universal car.

THE LUCKY OFFICE BOY THAT COL. HAM HELPED

Trust Col. Ham to Find the Humorous Way Out of a Difficult Position.

MURRAY GIBBON, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, tells the following story of his friend, Col. George H. Ham.

Col. Geo. H. Ham

George Ham has always had a reputation for making other people happy, and one of his pursuits is helping people out of trouble.

"So you left the bank?" queried the colonel. "Yes, I got fired," said the boy.

"Give me the money," said George. "It wasn't for that," retorted the youngster.

"The boy produced the letter, which the colonel read carefully. Then, 'Let's see the envelope.' This was looked over.

"Have you been back to the bank yet?" he asked in a moment. "No," was the response, the boy thinking the colonel had taken leave of his senses.

"Well," he asked again, "have they called for you?" "No."

"Well, this envelope says, 'If not called for in five days return to the Bank of...'"

The boy took the advice and is now on the fair way to become the president of the institution that once fired him.

NERMAN must have had some premonition when he caricatured the great pianist in the Tatler as a human periscope.

ROBERT LeHEUP, mayor of Halleybury, officer of the Children's Aid Society of Temiskaming, and one of the heroes of the recent Northern Ontario disaster, spent several years of his youth as deck-hand on a freighter on the upper lakes.

Some days, or weeks, after, wash day was celebrated, and Robert LeHeup hung out his labeled sock on an improvised clothesline on deck.

"What blankety blank striped ass owns these socks?" he roared. "I do, sir," responded young LeHeup. "Well," said the captain, "I have known some fools in my day, but I've never seen one with so little brains that he had to mark his socks 'Right' and 'Left.'"

Aunt Jane was Her Daddy. It was the first day of school and the teacher was taking the names of the children, those of their fathers and the business of each one.

Mainly About People

STRANGE FLAIR FOR CATS

IT is curious how often writers and musicians are found to be great cat lovers. Paul Keeler, the playwright, who dramatized "When Knighthood Was in Flower" and wrote "Countess Roudine," "The Cousin of the King," as well as poems and a successful novel called "His Own Country," is extremely fond of cats.

Recently when in Toronto he saw outside his hotel a miserable, half-starved cat that seemed to beg for kindness. Unable to resist its appeal, he wrapped it up in a newspaper and carried it to his suite, depositing it in the bath tub while he went in search for milk.

The Cream of the Joke Was On J. Obed Smith. Just the Hind Legs of the Pig Fell in the Cream That He Had for Breakfast.

WHEN J. Obed Smith was immigration agent at Winnipeg for the province of Manitoba, he had frequent occasion to make lengthy trips through the newly settled districts, especially those homesteaded by people from foreign lands.

Supper and bed were quite acceptable, and breakfast was in the nature of a spread in his honor, and he particularly enjoyed the abundance of cream, in spite of the unpleasant habit of the man of the house making frequent allusions in broken English to something about a pig falling in it.

As after each sally the burly Rumanian would roar with laughter, and his bare-footed wife seem much incensed, Mr. Smith continued to help himself to cream, judging it a joke.

Upon leaving, however, he asked the woman "The pig didn't fall in the cream, did it, Mrs. Stralick?"

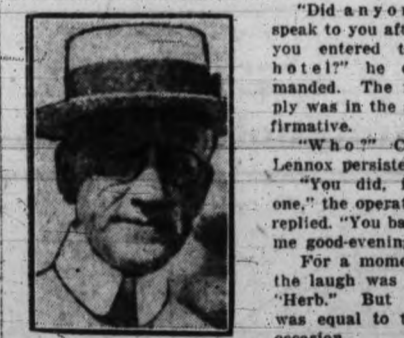

The woman cried indignantly, "No! no! meester! Papa he make me the laugh! The peeg he never fall in the cream at all, meester! Just his hind legs, they get in!"

MAKES CONCESSIONS AT ELECTION TIMES

When It Comes to Candor It Takes Col. T. H. Lennox to Give Tit for Tat.

LT-COL. T. H. LENNOX, M.P.P. for North York, is outspoken in his opinion of the Ontario Temperance Act. But his candor extends to other subjects as well.

When Col. Lennox's charges were under investigation in the public accounts committee of the legislature last session "Herb" was questioning a license department operator regarding the now historic Sutton liquor raid.

GEORGE C. DOUGLAS IS A YOUNG MAN O' PARTS

MR. GEORGE C. DOUGLAS, whose picture this is, is described as a prominent young man of the city of Ottawa.

Mr. Douglas is further described as the youngest municipal association executive of Ottawa. He is in just exactly what he looks—twenty-one years of age. But he is secretary of the Glebe Municipal Association, and a good public speaker. He is also a charter member of the Sons Club of Ottawa, and is connected with number of other associations in the capital.

So far Mr. Douglas has made no attempt to obtain a seat in the house of commons, which is quite convenient to his activities, but then there has not been a general election since he was twenty.

THIS is the first photograph ever made of the Irish cabinet in official session in Dublin. From left to right in the group are J. J. Walsh, postmaster-general; over his shoulder may be seen Kevin O'Higgins, minister of home affairs; Ernest Blythe, minister of the local government, comes next; then William Cosgrave, chairman of the provisional government, who took Michael Collins' place; Hugh Kennedy, legal adviser to the provisional government, and Major-General Joseph McGrath, minister of industry and commerce.

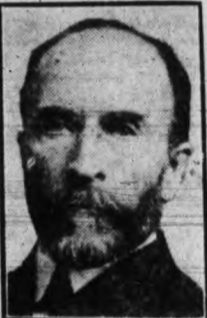

Senior Member of the National Railways Effervesces Occasionally into Verse

R. J. H. SINCLAIR, K.C., of New Glasgow, who represents the maritime provinces on the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways, is not only the senior member of the new body, but he is the veteran of them all in public service.

He represented Guysborough in Nova Scotia legislature for ten years before his election to the House of Commons for the same constituency.

In parliament he made a good place among the debaters, and, unlike some of the second rank men, never regarded himself as belonging to the first flight. He specialized on marine affairs, and, for many years, tried to amend the shipping act, so that a coasting captain's certificate, instead of limiting the holder to the sea north of the fifth degree, would entitle him to circumnavigate the whole western hemisphere.

Mr. Sinclair's parliamentary speeches were always full of common sense, but they did not seem to reflect an abounding sense of humor. Indeed, one observer from the press gallery once said that Sinclair was devoid of the saving grace of a joke lover. But he found out that Presbyterian Sinclairs and lawyers are not always as solemn as they seem. Mr. Sinclair

HIS EXCELLENCY the Governor-General has returned from the west laden with gifts and trophies to adorn his eastern residence, but one gift, presented to him in the city of Edmonton before a great crowd of people did not go with him to the federal capital, but remains "to be sent for."

This was the gift of two young and comely squaws, presented to him by the old Chief Ermine Skin on the occasion of Lord Byng's becoming a chief of the Crees.

"I cannot take you along with me," the dusky plane of activity. In his new picture these are just protective tops. Vanity Fair could not miss the opportunity of showing Charlie in advance, masquerading as a dignitary, just at the moment when he finds himself forced to undertake the reformation of a particularly wicked town. Here is his look of shocked surprise as he enters a gambling hell.

W. J. BURNS GETS A LINE ON ONE OF HIS SHIRTS. In an Expansive Moment, the Husband of His Washerwoman Astounds the Noted Detective.

W. J. BURNS, the great detective, once suffered a loss of reputation with at least one man. He told the story himself. "I well remember," said he smiling, "a walk I once took down Market street in San Francisco. As I strode along, proud and happy, a rose in my buttonhole and a gold-headed cane in my hand, a drunken man had the impudence to stop me.

BYNG LIKES THE COMICS

THE governor-general, who during the first session of the 14th parliament gave several luncheons at Rideau Hall to the M.P.'s, in groups assorted without respect to political affiliation, also entertained, one day, the members of the parliamentary press gallery. There was a preliminary reception, with a group of aides on duty, name-cards and a seating plan, and the occasion was by way of being just a trifling formal—until Lord Byng of Vimy in a few pleasant and entirely informal words of welcome made everyone feel at home.

"These old halls may appear to you somewhat dreary, but I assure you that even about the corridors of this sombre building there is heard at times a ripple of laughter—it is caused by some member of my family or staff reading the doings of the Katzenjammer Kids."

'ALL KINDS HAS DERE MERITS'

SO many jokes have been made regarding the alleged propensity of the American dorky for robbing henrosts that it would seem almost impossible for anybody to evolve a new one.

The impossible, however, seems to have been accomplished by Miss Mabel Normand, the well-known film actress, who related the following recently at a social gathering:

"A man asked an old negro what breed of chickens he considered the best. "All kinds has dere merits," replied the dorky after a moment's consideration. "De white ones is de easiest to find; de de black ones is de easiest to hide aftah you gits 'em."

CHARLIE has not really retired to a higher plane of activity. In his new picture these are just protective tops. Vanity Fair could not miss the opportunity of showing Charlie in advance, masquerading as a dignitary, just at the moment when he finds himself forced to undertake the reformation of a particularly wicked town. Here is his look of shocked surprise as he enters a gambling hell.

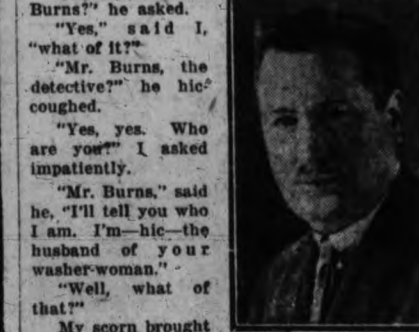

THE people here, as a whole, have a strong sentiment against Chinese, so it is rather hard for a young "Chink" to make acquaintances in refined society. I don't feel at home at all. The hearty welcome I get from church people makes me feel the more that I'm among strangers; they greet me so much more warmly than they greet each other, it makes me feel that I am different.—Living Church.

AN abandoned, barren, sun-scorched bit of land favored by thistles and by wasps and bees. Yes, this was my wish, my dream, always cherished, always vanishing into the mists of the future. The Eden of bliss where I mean to live henceforth alone with the insects. Forty years of desperate struggle have won it for me. One of the greatest naturalists in the history of the world, Henri Fabre, finally attained the garden of his dreams, which he describes in the paragraph quoted above, when he reached the age of 56 years, and had published but a single volume of the insect studies by which he was to become world-famous. His "barren" garden produced knowledge and literature. Both the garden and the house, which he afterwards managed to build, are now the property of the French government, a shrine for naturalists, and other scientists, and people in general who appreciate great and enduring achievement. The "forty years of bondage" of which Fabre speaks in one of his autobiographical chapters, began early. He owed absolutely nothing to heredity, writes Charles Buxton Going in the Survey (New York). He owed less than nothing, it appears, to any sympathy or encouragement from his family or associates, to educational opportunity or the circumstances of his lot. All these were against him. As Mr. Going briefly tells the story of the great naturalist's early life, which is really the story of the making of that famous garden, immortalized in ten volumes, and now the property of the French government.

He came of the poorest Provencal stock, almost or quite illiterate. Henri's inspired curiosity in the natural world around him, already stirring in the bare-footed child of seven as he herded ducklings to and from the brook, filled the hours with eager observation and his pockets with rapturously collected treasures of the field; but it aroused his parents only to distress and rebuke.

"You rascal!" cried his father, "I send you to mind the ducks and you amuse yourself picking up stones, as if there were not enough of them all around the house. Make haste and throw them away!" Broken-hearted, he obeyed. Quartz, crystals, mica, flakes, petrifications, heavily blue beetle, all are thrown on the rubbish heap outside the door.

Mr. Going quotes him further: "I flung myself with the milk and main into conic sections and the calculus. Next came the physical sciences, studied in the same manner, with an impossible laboratory, the work of my own hands. Of scientific education, the fruit of college training, I had none whatever. I never set foot in a lecture hall except to undergo the ordeal of examinations."

W. J. Burns

"You see, you don't know everything, Mr. Burns." "What don't I know?" "Well," said he, "you don't know that—I'm wearing one of your shirts."

A RAINBOW FOLLOWED THE COLONEL'S STORM

Col. L. E. Jones Had Made Dire Threats About "Round Robins," But This Letter Was a Surprise.

THERE were few more popular officers during the late war—in the eyes of the rank and file—than, Lieut.-Col. L. E. Jones, C.M.G., D.S.O., of Toronto, who brought the 15th Canadian Battalion through the last two years of the conflict, and who since his return to civil life has been actively connected with the provincial-highways department of Ontario.

Lieut.-Col. L. E. Jones

However, popular as he was, Col. Jones was a strict disciplinarian, and once off the playing field handled his charges with a just retributive contentment. "Familiarity breeds contempt," was a belief to which he paid an unwavering allegiance. And most distasteful of all little breaches of regimental etiquette, to his way of thinking, was the circulation of "round robins," those minor petitions borne of the perpetual "grouser's" imaginary grievances, which were invariably predicted to bring the C.O. to time but which invariably never accomplished such.

"Bring me these letter writers—I'll look after them," was a declaration from Col. Jones that commanded the widest respect throughout the unit. So no such letters found their way to his orderly room and it was considered a safe speculation that none ever would.

But after Hill 70, where losses had been heavy, came large batches of keen-eyed reinforcements, eager, generally speaking, for their initiation to battle, yet untutored in regimental etiquette and unaware of the pet aversion of Lieut.-Col. L. E. Jones. The result was that a few days afterwards a subaltern going over his platoon's work came upon a letter to his chief. It was the work of a second to scan the contents. Whereupon he sealed the envelope, tucked it in his pocket, and the same evening at mess, politely handed it over to Col. Jones, remarking casually that he considered it his duty to bring to his superior's notice the evidence of such gross insolence within the battalion.

Col. Jones turned red at the sight of that letter, there's no denying.

"What impertinence—what's this fellow's name?" he thundered. The whole mess sat up. The devil to pay, they figured. Poor gump! The nerve of him writing such a letter. Well—he's sure in for it, they judged as the fingers of their C.O. tore the envelope asunder.

"Fourteen days F. P. No. 1 I'll bet," the Doc, whispered to his neighbor.

But Col. Jones had turned even a redder red. His lips twitched. Then a twinkle in his eyes. He grinned a bit. Finally he sat back and roared.

"Read it, padre," he said, tossing the offending communication in the centre of the table. And the padre read:

"Dear colonel. How'd you like to swap photos. Mine enclosed. No hurry."

A Barren, Weedy Garden This Scientist's Eden

The Dream of Henri Fabre, Great Naturalist, Realized After Forty Years of Desperate Struggle.

AN abandoned, barren, sun-scorched bit of land favored by thistles and by wasps and bees. Yes, this was my wish, my dream, always cherished, always vanishing into the mists of the future. The Eden of bliss where I mean to live henceforth alone with the insects. Forty years of desperate struggle have won it for me. TRAINED FINGERS NEED TRAINED MIND

TONG years ago, before machinery was developed to take the place of human hands, mankind was adept in the use of his fingers. He could make things to serve his needs. Now machinery has taken such a wide share in the manufacture of world needed commodities that few save the old fashioned can make anything with their own hands. Yet one of the surest ways of developing a thinking mind is the use of the hands in conjunction with the brain.

From being the prime work of a man, manual work has become a hobby for many. For instance, all the ready art that may be expressed by a keen eye and skillful hands in carpentry and cabinet making is now confined, as a life work, to relatively few specialists, "carpenters" and "cabinet makers," we call them. Few average people know enough of this once well known practice to make for themselves the simplest kind of a shelf.

"Fretwork" is the hobby that in part has come to take the place of the former ability to make things in wood. True, in school, there are manual training classes; but even there it is only a few boys in every class that attain any real aptitude for wood working to an appreciable extent. The same might be said of many other lines of industry once common property in that sense.

Every girl and boy should have at least one good hobby that requires skill of hand and eye. Girls take naturally to needle art and embroidery, but for boys it must be something more readily accessible and timely. Fretwork has many enthusiastic followers in the hobby class, and can be made a most attractive acquisition. From drawings marked on thin sheets of wood, designs may be cut with a hand fret-saw that may be turned to useful as well as ornamental account.

Fretwork does not confine itself to the making of complicated wall brackets which bear a jig-saw-puzzle air, but may be used to turn out all manner of joining and other woodcraft. It lends itself readily to picture-framing and like practices and may be used to weave away many a long rainy evening in pleasure.

The process is simplicity itself. Wood, at least one foot wide, and not more than three sixteenths of an inch thick should be obtained. On this is drawn through tracing paper, or in stamped design the proposed piece of work. The spaces that will appear in the finished work are then cut out by one by one. To do this it is necessary to have a few simple tools. A hand fret saw, a small gimlet to punch holes, a clamp to hold the wood while sawing, and that is all. The cost of the hand fret-saw is very slight, and the work that may be executed after a little practice is astonishing to the uninitiated.

Many who pursue this hobby mark their finished piece of fretwork with pyrography, that is, with a burning needle, another hobby that may be practiced jointly with fretwork with great effect. Beginners would do well to start with the most simple things, such as learning to cut along straight lines and then curves until proficiency is attained in handling the rapidly gliding saw. Many make use of a foot peddle saw for the work, but that is not accessible to all, and indeed the hand saw is capable of finer work, it is said.

If you are lost for a hobby, little reader, get in touch with a friend who has a fret-saw and see for yourself what an excellent hobby and practical achievement this can be made. One thing alone will make this hobby appeal to boys and that is the large assortment of beautiful things that may be made which are suitable and charming as Christmas presents. Presents which are made by the donor are of great value to the recipient, more by reason of the thought that prompts the present than from its material gain.

If the pyrography is joined to the former hobby the results are greatly enhanced, for the burning needle etches a fund of light and shade that presents the most beautiful contrasts. In this latter hobby it is well to take care for a red hot needle is a highly painful matter to handle incautiously. Parental advice and guidance is necessary in pyrography, but with a little practice even the beginner will soon learn control over the burning end of the set. The work is done by burning in line drawing or shading by dots the design outlined on the wood. In this case the wood may be much thicker than in fretwork, but should be of a soft face that makes the work of the needle easy. White pine is inexpensive and an eminently suitable wood for the combined hobbies of fretwork and pyrography.

By the use of these two hobbies it is easy to turn out articles that will prove a delight to the maker and a readily acceptable gift at Christmas time. Indeed where brothers and sisters join forces it is possible to go the whole gamut of home handicrafts and add hand-painting and charm to the finished product. Pyrography may be applied to leather with equal effect, and in this case painting is of great service to heighten the effect. Red hand-painted poppies may be set in a background of pyrographic design that brings out the best in both pieces of workmanship.

Do not however do as one little boy did who was given a fretwork set as a birthday present. Bobbie was twelve years old and an eager amateur carpenter. His daddy gave him a fretwork set and showed him how to use the saw. While the family were away one day Bobbie ran short of wood for his hobby. Nothing daunted he "fretted" his way through a kitchen table, several chair backs and was just starting on the ironing board when his daddy returned. Needless to say, Bobbie forgot his passion for that hobby. Fretwork is a hobby that can be made an art, not a playtoy.

Esquimaux Value Their Seal Prey

LIVING in the land of the frozen North the Esquimaux have acquired a way of making use of everything to their hand that serves in turn to keep them in relative luxury at the proper hunting seasons of the year. The seal is a great source of profit, not in cash but in value and products to these Northern people. They pursue the seal in the open water at one period of the year in kayaks and harpoon their quarry.

A bladder of air is attached to the end of the harpoon line and this in time prevents the seal from diving and it is dispatched with a lance.

The holes made by the harpoon and lance are plugged with wooden plugs to prevent loss of blood and the prey is inflated by blowing between its hide and flesh. It is then floated to the side of the frail canoe and the hunter makes for his home. In winter the hunter crawls on his face over the ice imitating the cry of the seal. The prey comes up through the holes in the ice and is often deluded into thinking the man is a companion, until a swift blow from a knife puts an end to its career. The skin of the seal is sewed for making kayaks, tents and family boats for the Esquimaux, as well as belts, shoes and clothes.

Oil is obtained from its body that furnishes light, and indeed is sometimes sold as cod liver oil. The flesh serves for food, while a thick soup is made from the blood. Its sinews are twisted into thread, while from certain transparent parts of its organs curtains are made for the tent windows, shirts, and bladders for their fishing tackle. The bones are used to point all instruments. So the seal is a great asset to the successful hunter in the North, where prey of any kind is none to plentiful and difficult to catch. Seal hunting, as carried on by the Esquimaux is dangerous and many a wounded seal has taken the life of his captor by smashing the frail skin canoe called the kayak.

FOR CHILDREN The Sandman Story For To-night

BEFORE THE CHERRY TREES BLOOMED

Part I. In far off Japan there once lived a little girl named O-Koto-San. Poor little Koto could not play as the other Japanese children did for she was sick and her little pale face looked very white and wan with her fringe of black hair around it and her dark almond-shaped eyes looked very bright when she lifted her eyelids and looked out into the garden.

O-Koto-San was looking for something in that garden as she sat among her cushions with the sliding paper walls of her home pushed open that she might see the beauty before her, but though the garden was filled with many beautiful things, the thing she looked for was not there and she feared she would never see the sight for which she longed again.

There were many trees in the garden; not tall towering trees but prettily shaped small trees. There were flowers just blooming and many little wooden bridges, almost like toy ones, arched over little rivers which made sweet murmurings as they bubbled over rocks and around small green islands.

On some of these miniature islands were figures of queer looking dwarfs and dolls with huge heads or many hands and some of the islands had dwarf trees which made them look like the homes of the goblins or the elves.

There were big rocks in the garden also with dragons chiseled on their rough surfaces. There were tiny lakes and small waterfalls

O-Koto-San was looking for something running over rocks that formed a wall around this beautiful place. All this and more did the pretty eyes of little Koto behold as she looked from her home, but these were not what she longed to see.

O-Koto-San was looking for the snowflakes, the beautiful white snow that fell over the garden, making the trees look like white figures standing in a great white world, for while many think of Japan as a place where flowers and trees are always in bloom and the sun is always warm, the snow does fall there and it was for this that little Koto longed.

"But I shall never see it—the beautiful white snow—again," sighed O-Koto-San. "The honorable doctor said I should never be able to walk. I heard him when they thought I slept but I was not asleep. I lay very still that I might know the truth. And now I know I cannot walk and soon I shall go to Sai-no-Kawara, but I shall not be afraid for the good Jizo will be there to protect me from the Oni and I will be happy."

Sai-no-Kawara is the place where it is believed all children go when they leave this world. Jizo is a Japanese divinity who protects the children after they reach Sai-no-Kawara from the bad Oni, and the Oni does not love the children and bothers them.

"But if once before I go I might see my garden all white and the trees filled with the soft white snow as the pretty flakes come dancing down I should not mind the going, but it is not the time for snow and I shall never see it again."

If little Koto had been any other than a little Japanese girl she would have cried. I have no doubt, but the children of that land learn when very young not to let their feelings be known, much less seen, so little Koto closed her eyes and leaned back among her soft cushions, looking whiter than ever.

Then came the sound of a silvery tinkle like that of a sweet toned bell. "It must be the bell of a far-away temple," thought O-Koto-San as she opened her dark eyes.

She almost forgot she was ill, did O-Koto-San, for on the huge vase which stood on the floor near by her, right on the top edge stood a tiny little creature ringing a tiny lotus-shaped bell.

"Oh," cried O-Koto-San, stretching out her small white hands, "are you a fairy come to give me my wish?"

Tunny Fishing In Mediterranean

STRANGE as it may seem the tunny and the mackerel belong to the same fish family, the Scomberidae, though the humble mackerel be but about three pounds weight and the tunny as carried out by inhabitants on the shores of the Mediterranean, many of whom depend upon it for a living.

The tunnies are fixed in their notions of what constitutes a proper place to be and travel with great regularity. At a certain time they are to be found moving west in great shoals, and at others in the opposite direction. The method of catching the fish varies, but nets are usually used in one form or another. In some parts tunnies are really fished for, that is by the use of baited lines, but as they weigh in the neighborhood of 200 pounds nets are more often employed.

The tunnies swim in a series of great jumping rushes and often spring clear of the water line like our salmon do on this coast. They are equipped with excellent swimming power and are a strong and powerfully built fish. When caught in nets they are drawn to the surface where they are either harpooned or lassoed, depending on the whim of the fishermen. Trawlers go among the nets and take the fish on board. Where a fully grown tunny is lassoed, it takes three men to haul it on board.

In their schools they swim in a "V" shaped formation, much in the manner adopted by wild ducks in flight. The leader is an old and wise member of the family and seldom errs in his sense of direction. Though it is also a sport for the wealthy visitor to the shore of the Mediterranean, tunny fishing is an industry that supports many families. The fish are found also in the ocean, but not so commonly.

Turtles Swarm On Southern Sands

TURTLES six feet long and weighing over 200 pounds are not unusual among the many islands in the southern waters of the oceans of the world. The turtle is one of the few examples of the survival of the fittest class in marine life. Their presence forms a profitable source of living for many who garner them in to furnish food, the far famed green-fat, and other bi-products for the use of mankind. The turtles are of many kinds but all have the same peculiar build, low squat bodies well armored in their hard scutes of shell. They have a wicked looking head, and a hard round eye that has a rather unlovely look in its amber glint. In the water they swim by the aid of flattened, almost webbed feet, but on land they are very awkward and when once turned on their back they remain until righted by some other agency than themselves. In the breeding season they swarm ashore and lay hundreds of eggs in the sand, covering them over lightly to hide their presence there. The hot sun of the semi-tropical shores hatches the eggs rapidly and the little turtles hobble away to the water, but before many have got there they are swallowed by hosts of sea birds that lie in wait for this time. Once in the water they seek cover and many grow to maturity in safety only to fall a prey to the needs of mankind.

How to Build An Automobile Clock Case

Nearly every family has one or more old watches lying around unused, while at the same time the family automobile has no timepiece. The above diagram shows how to turn an old watch into an attractive automobile clock.

In the upper left corner is the photograph of such a clock which I recently made. It used mahogany wood, stained and varnished, and it looked very well. Any other good wood may be used however.

If you have a piece of wood thick enough for the back part, start squaring up the stock; if not, you will have to glue up two pieces to make the thickness.

Square up the back part and then cut to form, using the saw and plane. Lay out the cutout for holding the watch, and the piece through which to project the stem and then work out the material using a chisel or a new tool called the expansive bit.

The front piece can have the hole cut and beveled up to within 1-16 inch of the required dimensions and then fastened to the back part with the screws or bolts. After it has been fastened in place, it will be found very easy to plane the proper angles on the edges, using the back piece as a guide for the bed of the plane.

This case is to be fastened to the switchboard in your automobile. It may be fastened with screws if the panel is made of wood; but if it is made of metal, holes may be bored and stove bolts used. However, I have used ordinary wood screws by making the holes to receive them small enough to allow the thread of the screw to be forced into it tightly.

The case can be painted and decorated with bright colors, if desired. It will make an excellent Christmas or birthday gift for father, mother or yourself.

Two of the most famous swordsmen in Italy are shown here fighting with unguarded rapiers. The bout ended when Sasfene (left) received a thrust in the left shoulder. The winner was Aurelio Greco. Contestants in these bouts fence with bare arms and the swords are lowered as soon as blood is drawn.

The New Home Film Show With Music

Here's an English device which shows motion pictures and plays music, co-ordinately, the device being intended for showings in private homes. The same mechanism works the projection machine and the recording instrument. Known as the Cinephone, it was devised by Mr. A. E. Inglethorpe, and is already popular in England. A miniature screen is combined to provide a medium for displaying the picture, the music being broadcasted about the room in ordinary manner.

WAS CHAIRMAN AT SEVENTEEN YEARS

Wm. Phillips Hall was Chairman of Religious Work Committee When Boy

A boy of seventeen was Chairman of the Religious Work Committee of the Meriden, Conn., Y.M.C.A. some forty years ago, and so well did he fill the place that he engaged nearly every virile young man in the city in Christian work. His name was William Phillips Hall and to-day he heads not only several large business enterprises but is president of the American Tract Society and a vice-president of the American Bible Society. He has been all his Christian life an evangelist with power. He was a worker with McBurney for a period, a trusted friend of D. L. Moody, a deep Bible student in its original language. He began his Christian life in Brattleboro Vermont when a boy of fourteen and through another boy. He declares to-day: "Whatever service I may have been in the world is due, under God, probably most to the Young Men's Christian Association and the opportunities it gave me, through the work it led me into, and the touch with men like McBurney, Morse and Moody who believed in boys and young men and thrust them forward into service. It is a boy doing for Mr. Hall's son, what that young man did for him when fourteen and the Meriden Association's wise leaders when he was 17. Maybe the reason why so few young men attend the men's meeting is because young fellows are not responsible for it. Greyheads forget that this is a Young Men's Christian Association we find 'big,' 'influential,' 'experienced,' 'moral' men conducting it. It must be a work for young men by young men. Young men and boys are influenced by young men and boys so much that we may say almost only. We old fellows may back them, steer, train and suggest but the work of the Young Men's Christian Association is to be done by young men. Trust them and thrust them into it. Lead them and compel them to carry the load.

Possibly the retirement age for secretaries is put too far ahead at 60. It might better be at 40 to those who have not caught the idea of youth's influence, power and respectability. F. See was general secretary of the Brooklyn Association at 26. McBurney in New York at 25. George Warburton was an evangelist and secretary at 20—and Morris of Baltimore is doing his best work as executive and guide of a virile association of young men at 70.

TO RENDER CANTATA

The Centennial Church will render Maunders' Cantata as a special Thanksgiving musical service to-morrow evening. The Cantata offers plenty of scope for some good solos, and the choir which has been practicing for weeks on the Cantata promises an entertaining evening. In addition to the soloists in the choir, Morris Thomas and E. R. Locke, both well-known Victoria soloists, have been secured for the occasion, and will be heard in some excellent parts. Mr. Adams will play the organ during the evening.

AT CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

A choral baptism and children's service will be held in Christ Church Cathedral to-morrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. The Dean of Columbia, Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, who is announced to preach at the 11 o'clock service, will continue at the morning service a series of sermons on "Lessons of Great Spiritual Revivals," speaking to-morrow on "The Franciscan Revival Under St. Francis of Assisi in the 13th Century."

PULPIT EXCHANGES IN EFFECT SUNDAY

Will Give Ministers Opportunity to Address Other Congregations

The Victoria Ministerial Association has agreed to an exchange of pulpits in the city twice a year, among ministers of the respective denominations. The first exchange will take place to-morrow at 11 o'clock, being left to the wish of the respective churches. The plan drawn up by the executive, and adopted at the regular monthly meeting last Tuesday was as follows: Metropolitan Methodist and Emmanuel Baptist—Rev. Wm. Stevenson and Rev. W. Leslie Clay will exchange on Nov. 13.

First Presbyterian and First Baptist—Rev. W. P. Freeman and Rev. W. J. Sippell will exchange later.

First Presbyterian and Belmont Methodist—Rev. Lashley Hall and Rev. W. G. Wilson will exchange.

First Congregational and James Bay Methodist—Rev. J. W. Saunby and Rev. A. K. McMillan have already exchanged.

Fairfield Methodist and Reformed Episcopal—Rev. A. de B. Owen and Rev. S. Cook will exchange in the evening at the usual hour.

St. Columba Presbyterian and Hampshire Road Methodist—Rev. W. J. Sippell and Rev. J. H. White will exchange.

Wesley Methodist and Gorge Presbyterian—Rev. D. Walker and Rev. J. F. Dimmick will exchange.

St. Paul's Presbyterian and Esquimalt Methodist—Rev. B. Black and Rev. J. S. Patterson will exchange, taking to special services, at a later date.

Oaklands Methodist and Knox Presbyterian; this has been cancelled owing to illness of the pastor.

Centennial Methodist, having no regular pastor, it was decided to make no exchange this time.

ENGLISH MISSIONER COMING NEXT MONTH

One of the Church of England's best known and most loved missionaries, the Rev. Cyril Bickersteth, is announced to conduct a mission in Christ Church Cathedral from December 1st to 15th. During this period, daily services will be held in the Cathedral, including a mission service every evening open to all who will come. There will be also special services conducted by the missioner for men, for women, and for children.

WAS NOTABLE METHODIST DIVINE

The Methodist Church of Canada has lost a notable character in the death of the Rev. William Eriggs, many years Book Steward.

Of Irish and Scottish descent, William Eriggs was born at Banbridge, County Down, Ireland, on September 1, 1856. He was educated in England, where he graduated from the Collegiate Institute. He afterwards acquired a commercial training in Liverpool. He came to Canada while still a young man. Mr. Eriggs was received "on trial" in the Methodist Church at Durham, Province of Quebec, in 1880, and was there ordained as a minister in 1883. In the course of his career as a Methodist pastor he was stationed at Cobourg, Toronto, Hamilton, Montreal, London, Ont., and Belleville, and again at Toronto, the Metropolitan Church there being his last important charge.

The special abilities of Dr. Eriggs in church matters were recognized by the conference in which he was at various times stationed, and he was secretary of several of them. He was a delegate to all Methodist General Conferences while he was in active pastorate. He was a delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States in 1883. He was a delegate to the Methodist Ecumenical Conference in Washington, D.C., in 1891, and to the Ecumenical Conference in London, England, in 1901.

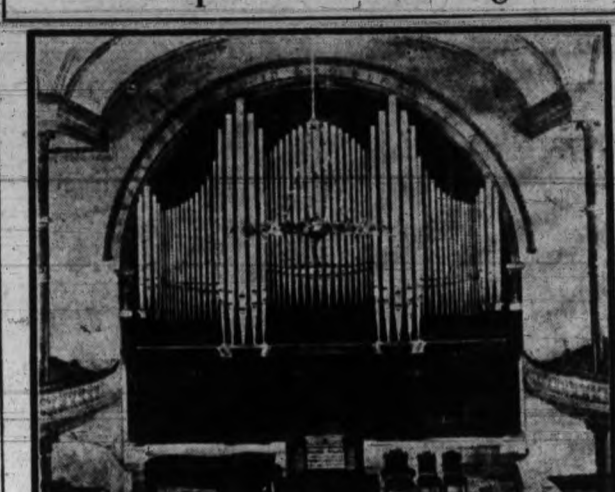

Book Steward in 1879.

Dr. Eriggs was first elected Book Steward of the Methodist Book and Publishing House, Toronto, in 1879. He received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Victoria University in 1896. He was a member of the committee of the Twentieth Century Thanksgiving Fund, 1898; a member of the Committee of the Conference in 1900; a member of the Board of Regents of Victoria University in 1906 and 1907; a member of the Joint Committee, which reported on the Twentieth Century Thanksgiving Fund, 1906; and Vice-Chairman of the Local Executive Committee on the Fourth Ecumenical Conference, 1911.

In the course of his busy life, Dr. Eriggs served as President of the Methodist Social Union of Toronto, and was also President of the Master's Union and Bookbinders' Association. He married Rosalie Marian Clark, of Melbourne, Australia, in 1885. She predeceased him by several years. Alfred W. Briggs, K.C., of Toronto, is a son.

Dr. Wang Ching-hui, Minister of Education in the Chinese Cabinet, is the son of a Christian pastor.

BAPTIST FRATERNAL UNION TO MEET

Will Be Held Here on Wednesday For Vancouver Island

The annual meeting of the Baptist Fraternal Union of this city and Vancouver Island, will be held next Wednesday afternoon and evening in the Emmanuel Baptist Church, Gladstone Avenue. The session will open at 3 o'clock with a discussion on women's work. Following this there will be a conference on extension work.

In the evening the association sermon will be given by Rev. E. M. Cook, of Chemainus, and Rev. J. Willard Litch, Superintendent of B. C. Baptist Missions, will give an address. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

The present officers are: President, Dr. William Russell; vice-president, Rev. W. F. Freeman and Mrs. T. L. Boyden; secretary-treasurer, Miss H. Standish.

ARMISTICE SERVICES AT ST. JOHN'S SUNDAY

Sunday being the second Sunday of the month the morning service will be arranged especially for children who are invited to come with their parents. Children's hymns will be sung, and a short address will be given by the pastor, Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, in view of the Armistice Sunday, the Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs are to parade to the service. In the evening the monthly service of praise will be held, and G. T. Burnett, the organist, will give a short organ recital, preceding the service from 6:10 to 7 p.m. The service will consist of well-known hymns and chants, and a short Armistice Sunday address will be given.

SPECIAL SERVICES

On Sunday at the St. Columba Presbyterian Church, special services will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. F. H. White, M. A.; formerly Chaplain Major of the 44th Battalion, C. E. F. He will speak on the lessons of the war. In the evening there will be a special song service by an augmented choir conducted by Mr. Mitchell. The choir will be ably assisted by Miss Ede, Mr. Jones and Fred Wright with vocal solos, and Mr. Sheenson, violinist. The heating system of the Church has been renovated, and comfort is assured all those who attend, in addition to an excellent programme.

SMOKING IN CHURCH

Many reasons have been given for the average small attendance of the male sex in churches on Sunday. It has been claimed by some that if the men were allowed to smoke during a more or less long tedious sermon they wouldn't mind accompanying their female relatives to church.

It is a question if there would be a larger attendance in Toronto churches if the example of Peru, or Holland, or even parts of Old London was followed.

According to Tit-Bits smoking is common in South American churches. A visitor to Peru records that at a church in Lima, he noticed one of the congregation enjoying a cigar during a service, while through an open door he caught a glimpse of a bishop, in full episcopal robes, including in the same luxury.

Y.M.C.A. ORGANIZE FELLOWSHIP HOUR

Supper and Study Hour With Musical Programme at Association Building

The Y.M.C.A. is conducting a religious and entertainment programme on Sundays for men living away from home. This programme will be held each Sunday during the winter months, with variations in the subjects and musical numbers.

A fellowship supper will be held in Room 207 at 5:15 o'clock, followed at 5:45 to 6 o'clock by hearty singing of many of the old-time favorite hymns.

Commencing at 6 o'clock an interesting practical Bible study, based on the life of Christ will be held, led by J. M. Graham, General Secretary of the local Y.M.C.A.

Men staying in the Association building and other rooming places, are recommended to adopt this attractive and workable programme. Old timers and newcomers are heartily invited to come together for supper, song and study as outlined above.

This programme has been formed to create fellowship and to help those who are away from home. The subject is an inspirational one, and is sure to be very interesting.

NAVAL CHURCH PARADE

Bluejackets will parade to St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, from the H. M. S. Cape town and H. M. C. S. Patricia tomorrow. There will be the dedication of a brass erected to the memory of ex-cadets fallen in the war. The Bishop of Columbia will preach.

REV. T. E. ROWE COMPLETES MISSION

Is on His Way Back to Victoria; Will Lecture En Route

Quebec, Nov. 11.—Rev. T. E. Rowe who returned by the Montreal on his way back to Victoria will stop over at Toronto, Winnipeg, Moose Jaw and other Western cities to lecture in regard to his mission to England where he had been invited to attend a conference of the Guild, held in Gilton College, Cambridge, in connection with the Psycho-Therapists. It was attended by two hundred and fifty members of the Guild in connection with the Church of England. He said that all papers and discussions taken into consideration were intensely interesting and were bound sooner or later to exert a tremendous influence in the church.

"After the conference," said the Rev. Mr. Rowe, "I took opportunity of seeing and consulting with the workers and leaders of all this line of healing under the sanction of the Anglican Bishops in the West.

Mr. Rowe said that he had removed from his medical dictionary the words "impossibility to cure." "The age of miracles," said the Rev. Mr. Rowe "has not passed. Jesus knew all that the scientists are now teaching us. I have carried the ministry of healing of the body and mind in Vancouver and Victoria for the last three years with the most wonderful

News From the Markets

WHOLESALE FRESH SHIPMENTS

Map Oranges Due Here Nov. 20; Onions Advance As Result of Rain

The first shipment of new crop map oranges is due to reach Victoria on or about November 20. No definite quotation has yet been named as the selling price will be governed according to the condition of the fruit on arrival.

California oranges are again lower in price, particularly the small sizes, which should increase sales.

The onion market is showing considerable strength. Dry good quality stock has already advanced in price although inferior quality, not properly matured, are still selling at fairly low prices. Okanagan growers took precautions this year, following the shortage which was a feature of last year's onion market. But prices were ridiculously low this year at time of harvesting, so that growers let the crop remain in the ground with the intention of taking them out when the market offered a more favorable price. But rain came along and spoiled a great deal of the crop, and as a result the price of onions has advanced.

Japanese chestnuts have again made their appearance on the local market. Boxes lots selling at 25c per pound, less 30c per pound.

Practically all makes of cheese have advanced at shipping points, hence reason for local advances. It is expected that further advances will take place before the market declines.

The time has arrived when cold storage eggs, which are selling at a reasonable price and also of a reliable quality, should be used for cooking purposes, as new laid eggs are now selling at high prices. The quotations on the wholesale row this morning have been revised as follows:

LIQUIDATION IN STOCK MARKET

(By Burdick Bros., Ltd.)
New York, Nov. 11.—It can be said that the stock market to-day was distinctly weak. Scattering liquidation was very much in evidence and the buying power in practically all departments was surprisingly thin. Many influences have been suggested as having caused selling in the market in the last few days, but it seems to be the consensus of opinion that much of the selling was due to the general election results of last Tuesday and the reaction thereon, rather than to the Turkish situation.

Stock dividend talk and possibilities also seem to have had its potency in shaping market values, at least for a while. Reported car shortages on the railroads and reported congestion at many points is also a factor in the selling movement. In conclusion, it may be said that the market needs fresh stimulating influences of a bullish character in order to maintain present levels.

FURTHER DAILY INCREASE QUOTATIONS

Market is Strengthening With Exportations to United Kingdom

Cheese has advanced. Following a stiffening up in prices in the East, due to excessive exportations of both butter and cheese, local dealers boosted their quotations on cheese to a higher level to-day. Readjustments as high as six cents on the pound were made, while other changes ranged around two and three cents.

The appearance of the local produce market tells of the successful season that celery growers have had. Even now celery is selling on the market at this late date, while the peak season is but productive of low prices. The long, dry summer, which played havoc with many lines of vegetables and fruits, was not without its compensation, for celery growers secured an abundant supply of this edible stem and enough to place in storage to hold the market over the holiday season.

There are about 2,000 beekeepers in British Columbia, owning altogether 1,500,000 bees. It is estimated that some 500,000,000 bees assisted growers this year. The retail market has been revised as follows:

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS

Winnipeg, Nov. 11.—With the United States market closed to-day, the local wheat market was dull and featureless. Wheat prices were firm, the close was 1/2 cent higher, with November leading. The coarse grains market was firm again to-day, but the volume of business was limited.

REMEMBER HEROES IN ALLIED NATIONS

Armistice Day Observed in Britain, France and U.S.

London, Nov. 11.—With solemnity that is heightened rather than diminished by the passing of years, Great Britain to-day rendered homage to those "who gave the most that man can give—life itself—in the great conflict that ended four years ago with the signing of the Armistice in the battle-scarred forests of Compiègne.

For the fourth time the anniversary of that event was observed this morning by a great silence throughout the land and in the distant Dominions. The pulse of the great Empire stopped its beat at 11 o'clock as a tribute to the memory of its fighters.

At Cenotaph. For the moment the hour at which hostilities ceased was signalled until two minutes had passed, everything and everyone in the nation was still. There were no elaborate ceremonies in Great Britain to mark the great silence. Even at the cenotaph in Whitehall, the heart of the Empire, the proceedings were of the most simple character. The King, representing the nation, laid a wreath on the memorial to the silent sons of Britain. The ministry, representatives of the army, the navy and the Dominions paid similar tribute and then the people, coming in a great pilgrimage through Whitehall, placed their offerings about the memorial. Throughout the day thousands passed in a constant stream by the tomb of the unknown warrior in Westminster Abbey.

This was Poppy Day, too, and millions of the little symbols were sold recalling the poppies that grow in Flanders fields.

The Day in France. Paris, Nov. 11.—"Let each of us remember to-day the emotion which shook him when he learned the news," reads the Armistice Day message of Marshal Joffre.

Every year the 11th of November is ought to echo that hallowed hour when the people learned as never before what fatherland means, his message, published in the Echo de Paris says, "tempered again by this memory, it should give us a horror of selfishness, barren quarrels, and demoralizing pessimism."

Paris Shows Reverence. The forenoon programme in Paris called for a celebration of exceptional grandeur. At 11 o'clock President Millerand, accompanied by his ministers and Marshals of France and officers of the French and allied armies, stood beside the tomb of the unknown warrior beneath the Arc de Triomphe. The visiting Canadian officials, Finance Minister, William S. Fielding and Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Fisheries, will join in the Canadian government. In the moment of silence the colors of 448 disbanded regiments will be lowered. The stillness will be ended by the pealing of bells and the roar of saluting cannon.

On Scene of Signature. In the afternoon Marshal Foch, Earl Haig, who was Commander-in-Chief of the British armies in France and Belgium, and Vice-Admiral Sir Rosslyn Wemyss, war-time British First Sea Lord, will stand again on that spot in the Compiègne Forest.

We advise the purchase of long term bonds. Dominion of Canada (Guar. G.T.P.) 3% Bonds, due 1962, price 65.05.

REMEMBER HEROES IN ALLIED NATIONS

Armistice Day Observed in Britain, France and U.S.

London, Nov. 11.—With solemnity that is heightened rather than diminished by the passing of years, Great Britain to-day rendered homage to those "who gave the most that man can give—life itself—in the great conflict that ended four years ago with the signing of the Armistice in the battle-scarred forests of Compiègne.

For the fourth time the anniversary of that event was observed this morning by a great silence throughout the land and in the distant Dominions. The pulse of the great Empire stopped its beat at 11 o'clock as a tribute to the memory of its fighters.

At Cenotaph. For the moment the hour at which hostilities ceased was signalled until two minutes had passed, everything and everyone in the nation was still. There were no elaborate ceremonies in Great Britain to mark the great silence. Even at the cenotaph in Whitehall, the heart of the Empire, the proceedings were of the most simple character. The King, representing the nation, laid a wreath on the memorial to the silent sons of Britain. The ministry, representatives of the army, the navy and the Dominions paid similar tribute and then the people, coming in a great pilgrimage through Whitehall, placed their offerings about the memorial. Throughout the day thousands passed in a constant stream by the tomb of the unknown warrior in Westminster Abbey.

This was Poppy Day, too, and millions of the little symbols were sold recalling the poppies that grow in Flanders fields.

The Day in France. Paris, Nov. 11.—"Let each of us remember to-day the emotion which shook him when he learned the news," reads the Armistice Day message of Marshal Joffre.

Every year the 11th of November is ought to echo that hallowed hour when the people learned as never before what fatherland means, his message, published in the Echo de Paris says, "tempered again by this memory, it should give us a horror of selfishness, barren quarrels, and demoralizing pessimism."

Paris Shows Reverence. The forenoon programme in Paris called for a celebration of exceptional grandeur. At 11 o'clock President Millerand, accompanied by his ministers and Marshals of France and officers of the French and allied armies, stood beside the tomb of the unknown warrior beneath the Arc de Triomphe. The visiting Canadian officials, Finance Minister, William S. Fielding and Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Fisheries, will join in the Canadian government. In the moment of silence the colors of 448 disbanded regiments will be lowered. The stillness will be ended by the pealing of bells and the roar of saluting cannon.

On Scene of Signature. In the afternoon Marshal Foch, Earl Haig, who was Commander-in-Chief of the British armies in France and Belgium, and Vice-Admiral Sir Rosslyn Wemyss, war-time British First Sea Lord, will stand again on that spot in the Compiègne Forest.

We advise the purchase of long term bonds. Dominion of Canada (Guar. G.T.P.) 3% Bonds, due 1962, price 65.05.

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS

Winnipeg, Nov. 11.—With the United States market closed to-day, the local wheat market was dull and featureless. Wheat prices were firm, the close was 1/2 cent higher, with November leading. The coarse grains market was firm again to-day, but the volume of business was limited.

Red Mountain The prompt recovery of Red Mountain shares from the low level of 45c to Friday's close of 58c partially fulfilled the prediction we made in these columns. We are advised by the Boundary Red Mountain management of a second bullion production record amounting to $3,985 in seven days. This was at the rate of $565 per day and showed a material improvement over the preceding nine days when the daily gross output was $493.

WHY NOT INVEST YOUR SAVINGS? Shrewd young men nowadays regard a savings account as the stepping stone to a permanent investment where the principal is just as safe and the earnings much larger. All over the country are hundreds of savings accounts of a hundred dollars or more which could be invested in bonds of the highest security and yielding almost double the interest return. We recommend only securities of the highest standing. "Before You Invest, Consult Us" British American Bond Corporation, Limited Established 1901 B.A. Bond Bldg., 723 Fort St. Phone 319, 2121

RED MOUNTAIN The intrinsic worth of Boundary Red Mountain shares is shown by a recovery in price from 45c to 58c in seven days. Professional speculators on the selling side of the market failed to take into account the buying power created by announcement of prevailing bullion production at the rate of $565 per day. We believe that this production record will lift the shares to figures far in advance of their recent level of 66c. There is a graphic and impartial description of the Boundary Red Mountain Mine in last week's issue of "Mining Truth." A copy will be sent free in exchange for this coupon.

VICTORIA HOMES SERIES

A modern Heating Plant for Victoria's modern Homes

More Than a Hundred In Victoria

The fact that we have installed more than a hundred Caloric Furnaces in Victoria homes within the past year or two proves that the advantages of the Caloric have been thoroughly investigated and have proved satisfactory.

The Caloric is a substantially built furnace in every particular. It will last as long as any make of furnace on the market to-day, but during its lifetime it will give more uniform heating throughout the home and will consume many less tons of fuel.

The Caloric is guaranteed to reduce fuel bills 1-3 to 1-2.

UNIVERSITY TO MAKE MEN, VANCOUVER MEMBERS SAY IN URGING CONSTRUCTION

When the University question came up in the Legislature late yesterday on the motion of Capt. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal member for Vancouver, he said that now the Government had decided to go ahead with the construction of permanent buildings, there was little more to be said. But he added that he had been dissatisfied with the brief reference to the University in the King's Speech and also wished to protest against announcements of Government policy being made any place else than on the floor of the Legislature.

"The building of the University is a question of Provincial significance," said the Vancouver member, "and there is unquestionably a greater need for a proper university in this than in any other province in Canada. British Columbia is the most British of the provinces and some day will be a strategic point in the fabric of Empire."

He quoted Lord Haldane on the duty of a university, as follows: "The purpose of a university is the making of men."

"So it must be here," continued Capt. Mackenzie, "it is not a matter of providing education—but it is a matter of making men."

J. W. De Farris, another Vancouver Liberal member, said he was called on to second the resolution. He addressed to inform the Opposition that no crocodile tears need be shed over himself, as he inferred Mr. Bowser had done, but they might well be saved until later in the session.

Mr. Bowser asked the Speaker what that had to do with the resolution, and Mr. Farris proceeded: "There has been delay in the commencement of this important undertaking, and that was unavoidable in many ways. I think I may take some credit for the policy now adopted. I fear that no crocodile tears need be shed over himself, as he inferred Mr. Bowser had done, but they might well be saved until later in the session."

SLACKERS' PENSIONS, PENSIONED, HE SAYS

But Relicts of Dead Veterans Find It Hard to Get Aid

Canon Hincliffe Asks House to "Regret" Pensions Board Policy

Mother's pensions came up in the Legislature when Canon Hincliffe, in his resolution, asked the House to express regret over matters of policy.

The Victoria Conservative member complained that the board was discriminating against the wives and dependents of returned soldiers, since it was impossible for the wife of a veteran who had died within six months after the war to get a pension.

"Fruit-a-tives" Brought Her Health and Strength

624 Champlain St., Montreal. "For 3 years, I suffered constantly from Kidney Disease and Liver Trouble. My health was miserable, and nothing in the way of ordinary medicine did me any good. Then I started to use "Fruit-a-tives" and the effect was remarkable. All the pains, Headaches, Indigestion and Constipation were relieved and once more I was well. All who suffer from such troubles should take "Fruit-a-tives."

which had been shared by most of the eighteen ratepayers present and had covered a wide range of broadening taxation basis by assessing improvements, school curriculum and political issues. A special meeting will be held on Thursday, November 23.

City officials have completed the drafting of by-law amendments which will make it unnecessary for the city finance committee to approve all City Hall expenditures and will bring it before the City Council Monday night. This announcement was made at the City Hall Friday following the dismissal Thursday of the charge against Mayor William Marchant and the finance committee of paying $100 to Police Commissioner W. E. Steneland wrongfully and against the will of the Council.

The amendments to be considered by the Council at its next meeting provide that city accounts may be paid if they are "within the scope of the annual estimates" provided they are approved by the city controller, the purchasing agent, where necessary, and the head of the responsible department. The accounts will not have to be referred to the Council or even to the finance committee.

At present the finance committee signs all warrants for city expenditures, but the accounts are so numerous that the committee members accept the advice of the officials. Under the new regulations officials would be made entirely responsible for the outcome of the Steneland grant, dismissed by Judge Lammpan yesterday. They will prevent the possibility of a recurrence of such proceedings, it is expected.

The Police Commission as well as the School Board expenses will come under the new regulations.

ONE CHINESE PARENT REFUSES TO BE COERCED

Remarkable Case in Segregation Issue

That his willingness to obey the order of the City School Board and send his small children to the segregated school was fair to get Wing On, the sole consenting parent, into considerable trouble was reported by that much harassed man to the City Police Station this week.

Wing On complains of being accosted on the street and heckled by the striking pupils. He complains also that he was made the object of an attack in a story he alleges was printed in the local Chinese press, and finally he complains that he is at the moment virtually a prisoner confined within the walls of his own home, and dare not stray far from that protection.

All this was made the subject of an investigation by the police, with the result that a translation in the hands of Chief Fry gives a startling insight into the situation. Wing On, who is known to the Chinese as Lew Neuy, is referred to as "Tin" in the police translation of this follows, said to be a free copy of the story which it is alleged appears in The New Republic on November 7:

"Local news. "Cold-blooded moving creature should resolve this insult: "The City School Board can be contemptible to the Chinese citizen since the yellow and white segregation school matter was accomplished. Among the Chinese citizens who are struggling for the honor of their country and family, every day is angry in his heart and trying to the utmost of his ability by editorial writing to stir up and call for assistance and hope to cancel the former determination of the segregation question. "However the justice of the question is not settled, and every student left the segregated school and boycotted it, and now we find only Tin's children attending the segregated school. All the Chinese students are against this matter and are very angry, and took the chance to stop his children coming home from school and accosting them, questioned them. "His children said: 'It is not our doing—we go under our father's instructions and are compelled to do so.' Thus the said students found out the reason why Tin destroy and spoil the community of the Chinese Society and lose his qualifications of nation-

Canadian Fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day is warm and bright, and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. (Adv.)

THE AVERAGE WOMAN NEEDS MORE BLOOD

Poor Blood the Cause of Headaches and Run Down Feeling.

To the woman in the home—the woman closely confined to the house, whether through household duties or the care of children, or both—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a positive blessing. The average woman has too little blood. Her nerves are easily irritated and she worries over little things; has severe headaches and backaches and generally feels worn out. With the woman who uses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the condition is different. She is always well and the care of her children or household duties is a real pleasure. This is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich brings vigorous health and strength. Mrs. H. Everett, Parry Harbor, Ont., has used these pills with benefit and says:—"I cannot recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly. I was run down and very weak, and after using the pills I felt like a different woman. They are wonderful strength-givers. For nursing mothers they are a blessing, at least I have found them so."

If you are suffering from any condition due to poor, watery blood, or weak nerves, begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now, and note how your strength and health will improve. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Adv.

QUIET MEETING IN WARD SEVEN

Few Matters Before District Ratepayers' Association

J. O'Connell may run as a school trustee in Saanich, he last night informed the Ward Seven Ratepayers' Association at Tillamook School. Opposition to manual training and the increasing cost of High School tuition would be chief planks in his platform.

O'Connell opposed to free High School tuition, save scholarships for brilliant students," he said, describing his candidature as "a sort of plebiscite on educational matters."

A general debate of school questions occupied most of the evening.

The Ward Vacancy

Attorney-General Manson considered the Ward Seven election matters, reported J. M. Kellie to the association. He explained this opinion to be the opinion of the Municipal Council to accept the resignation tendered last August by Councillor Doolley.

Messrs. Kellie, Orr and Simpson had been appointed a delegation to interview the Minister and urge action. Efforts will be made to have the law amended to prevent repetition.

His remark as caused by the friendly character of the debate.

A better understanding in Ward Seven was anticipated by Chairman Millbrook at the conclusion of the regular meeting.
