The Beginning

Creative Commons Indonesia (CCID) is one of Wikimedia Indonesia (WMID) projects to adapt and promote CC license in Indonesia for digital works.

The Beginning

Creative Commons Indonesia (CCID) is one of Wikimedia Indonesia (WMID) projects to adapt and promote CC license in Indonesia for digital works.

The first attempt done by Wikimedia Indonesia was becoming a host organization for CC Indonesia.

The Beginning

This is very helpful for CC Indonesia to establish funded projects as a non-legal entity until now.

What's Exchanged?

CC Indonesia helps explain the legal aspect of open content, including Wikimedia projects in workshops and partner meetings.

What's Exchanged?

CC Indonesia held train-the-trainers event to sustain the availability of CC license experts for Wikimedia Indonesia and/or any institution with CC license expertise assistance needs.

Including scholarships for 5 Wikimedians from Indonesia to join the September 2019 CC Certificates course.

Handling Current Legal Issue Of Implementing Open License In Indonesia

And since 2016, CC Indonesia still have an ongoing attempt in "copyright reform" aspect to exempt CC license and another type of licenses from license recordation mandatory regulation, which really affect the works protection aspect from the license.

Handling Current Legal Issue Of Implementing Open License In Indonesia

Until today, CC Indonesia and Wikimedia Indonesia are still working together under the same roof and always try to have each other back and also seek opportunities to continue our collaboration.

We believe that by working together we can cover a lot more issues and create more impact than we expected.
