LIGHTS AND SHADES OF THE EAST.

DEDICATED TO THE HONORABLE SIR BARTLE FRERE, K.C.B., GOVERNOR OF BOMBAY.

I IGHTS AND SHADES OF THE EAST, by I FRAMMER BOMANJER (late of the E. College):—
This Work, to be nearly of the size of Dr. Russell is Diary in India; '400 pages or upwards, 8vo, and neatly cloth-bound, is now being printed at the Alliance Press, Bombay, and will be out about the close of the next month. The MS, has been looked over, with a view to judge of its merits, by more than one well-known Eoglish scholar, and been pronounced as the result of "a great deal of thought," &c. It is an earnest exposition of the Native character in its social, moral, and intellectual aspects, which as yet has been felt a desideratum, and in which, while treating of the life and career of Badoo Harisonander, the late Editor of the Hindeo Patriot—to whose memory Natives of all parts of India, and even Englishmen of rank and position at Calcutta, have resolved on erecting a monument, the Author analyses the sources of his success, traces how far these are wanting among the majoricy of the rising generation of India, and points out how the character of the young Indian Student may be completely formed and ameliorated. He acat discusses the best means of regenerating the mass of the people; and then passes to a dissertation on "Civilisation," with a view to show that the future Civilisation of the World will take its rise from Indian soil.

With a view to give the most general dea of the World, with a view to give the most general dea of the Orther of the prople; and then passes to a dissertation on "Civilisation," with a view to show that the future Civilisation of the World will take its rise from Indian soil.

With a view to give the most general dea of the World, the principal heads of the contents are published and may be seen at any of our Libraries.

The price of each copy of the book will be either Four or Five Rupees.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

HOUSES FOR EUROPEAN GENTLEMEN IN THE NEW TOWN.

SIR,-It is reported that Government have decided on throwing down the battlements and converting the space now occupied by them as well as part of the explanate into a building area. That such a plan is a most wise, one no one can deny, but while they are about it Government should take care that some provision is made in the new town they are erecting for the wants of the European population, which, though yearly on the increase, is being gradually turned out of all its old haunts by the enormous increase in rents and the. determination with which the wealthy natives grasp at every good house as it falls vacant. The fol-lowing seems to me to be a scheme which would not only tend to the comfort of Europeans but would be rumunerative to Government. I would have the portion of the space made available for building which fronts the sea set apart for a row of fine three storied houses to be erected at the Government expense and assigned to the different officials who reside at the Presidency. Every Government servant would gladly pay say 250 or 300 a month for a really good house with lofty spacious rooms, for a really good house with icity spacious rooms, water laid on and other comforts which are not attainable in the houses of Bombay at present, and it should be an understood thing that when an officer took a Bombay appointment he took the house belonging to it from Government. Were this plan adopted the frontage of Bombay would really the later than the plan adopted the frontage of Bombay would really the later than the plan adopted the grant which would really the later than the plan adopted the grant which would really the later than the plan adopted the grant which would really the later than the plan adopted the grant which would really the later than the plan adopted the grant which would really the later than the plan adopted the grant which would be a plan to the plan adopted the grant which would be a plan that the plan adopted the grant which would be a plan to the plan adopted the grant which were the grant which w consist of splendid buildings which would greatly add to the beauty of the place; those whose residence in Bombay is compulsory would know that there were always houses for them, the rents of which would not be raised as at present of the officials of the Presidency, I do not wish it to be understood, that I lose sight of the claims on Government which other Europeans possess. The merchants of Bombay have made the place what it is, and are day by day adding to its importance, and I consider that Government would do wisely to set apart, a fine site for buildings to be erected by Europeans, and to become their property with the sole provises, that the houses should be built after a fixed plan, and should never be let to any but Europeans. This would bring down the rents of houses on Malabar Hill and elsewhere, and would enable European gentlemen to house themselves at a reasonable cost. THE ATTORNEYS AND THE LAW

SIR,—Allow me, at the outset, to affirm that I am not afflicted with the cacoethes scribendi, and have no wish 'to inflict myself' upon newspaper editors and their readers; but still the leader in your paper of the 20th instant, on the subject of the Attorneys and the Law Students induces me to give expression to the few thoughts I have upon the matter. May I hope, then, to see this letter in print. I agree with you, Mr. Editor, in considerprint. I agree with you, Mr. Editor, in consider-ing that however imperfect human tests of compe-tency for the bar, the pulpit, or the profession of medicine may be in individual inclances, still there is no reason for saying that "these should be no authoritative tests of medical or legal proficiency, authoritative tests of medical or legal proficiency, and that churches should pronounce no judgment as to the gifts of such as desire the office of a Bishop." By all means, use the very best tests available, and admit only those who pass through the ordeal successfully. If persons seek to be members of such high and glorious public professions, it is not too much for the public to demand that they should possess the requisite qualifications. This is all perfectly true and reasonable; but, Sir, you have no ground for saying that the Law Students have not passed through the ordeal prescribed for them. They do not ask for a public recognition, as you say, 'on their own opinion of scribed for them. They do not ask for a public recognition, as you say, 'on their own opinion of themselves,' but on the strength of the testimony borne to their proficiency by independent and impartial Barristers, who have nothing to gain but everything to lose by declaring them 'qualified.' Can you, with any justice, compare a qualified Law Student with a quack who has never been within the walls of a College, or has deen ignominiously driven out, if he ever was there? Would not the comparison be more just, and go home more dicomparison be more just, and go home more di-rectly to the minds of your gentle readers, if it were instituted between the Certificated Students of the Law College, and the diplomaed graduates of the Grant Medical College? In the one case, as in the other, the student undergoes the prescribed course of professional education, extending over several years, under competent instructors, and is, at the end of the course, subjected to a rigid examination conducted by disinterested gentlemen of acknowledged ability and totally unconnected with his tuition. If, however, the students belong to the Medical College, they are made Sub-Assistant Surgeons, or at all events invested with a G. G. M. C., and sent forth into the world with a diploma M. C., and sent forth into the world with a diploma which shews that they are NO QUACKS. Why, you will even say that "their opinions should be taken as to the sanitory condition of camps, hospitals, and public buildings and institutions, that their certificates should be accepted by Government as warranting a demand for leave of absence by their servants, or that their evidence should be received as to the cause of death in trials for murder by courts of justice." But if on the other hand, the student belongs to the Law College you will, with the Honorable Mr. Scott, style him you will, with the Honorable Mr. Scott, style him 'a self-constituted lawyer,' a lad afflicted with the cacoethes loquendi who fancies himself skilled in law,' and desires 'to be allowed to inflict himself on courts of justice. Honorable, forsooth! with what justice, I ask can you make this invidious distinction between the graduates of the Medical College and the graduates of the Law College? Whence proceeds that cherishing of the one, and this dislike of the other? To introduce Law Students, tried and qualified, to plead in our courts of justice is, in your opinion, a hasty and inconsi-derate loosening of the foundations of the system which has produced an Erskine and a Campbell; but you have discovered no such nightmare in the system whereby students of the Medical College are graduated, and sent forth to practice medicine among the people. By a parity of reasoning, you might call that system an innocation upon the system which produced such gems as Sir Astley Cooper. The truth, however, is that these are no innovations at all. They are but the natural results of the civilisation of Britain being translated into India. A want having been felt for natives nto India. A want having been fe for natives educated in the science of medicine to take charge of dispensaries, hospitals, &c., the Grant Medical College was established, which, while it supplies the want by furnishing annually a number of mea skilled in medicine, also exercises a most beneficial influence over the people; but no one ever dreams that to educate and send out students from that College is thoughtlessly to sap the foundations of the College is thoughtlessly to sap the foundations of the system which has raised the reputation of England for her skilled physicians and surgeons. But look at the Law College for an instant! The Law School has been opened in connection with the Elphinstone College, with the design that it may bring forth men who having cultivated the study of the law, under proper tuition, would be found better qualified than ordinary Indian Vakeels, who would supply candidates of sterling ability for the native bench, who would contribute to raise the who would contribute to raise the native b ntelligence and character of the people, and prove in every way a blessing to their countrymen. But, un-fortunately for them, some of the Attorneys took it into their heads to raise a hue and cry against allowing these men'to share in their 'loaves and fishes, to exclaim, in genuine dog-in-the-manger fashion, that this was an invasion of their vested rights, and to stifle, if possible, their newly-con-stituted competitors. For a time, the tables had stituted competitors. For a time, the tables had turned against them: Government refused to listen to their pretensions to a monopoly of legal practice—the newspaper press, too, including I believe your journal among the number, was down upon them. They had, consequently, no resource, but to succumb under such circumstances. A better day at last dawned upon them. When the Small Cause Court Bill came before the Legislative Causeil and the greening of the prescription. by those unwelcome intruders—the Law Students. The specious arguments which that Hon'ble member for the Attorneys used in his opposition to the class of pleaders were based, indeed upon most obvious grounds of public policy and public expediency: he would not have qualified Law Students to practice in law, because they were neither Baris-ters nor Attorneys,—in other words, because they could not afford, from various causes, to go to Eng-land, and take law dinners in the Inns of Court for a certain period; or because they would not wade through the 'dirty drudgery' of an Attor-

LATEST DATES RECEIVED IN BOMBAY. MEERUT ... ALCUTTA Oct 22 SUEZ

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1862.

WE published yesterday Sir William Maus-field's Minute on the Land Defences and Re-moval of the present Ramparts of Bombay. The Commander-in-Chief enters fully into the subject, shows himself master of the military udgment on it, and from clear, sound and irresistible premises draws the following conclusion :sidered, the more thorough must the conviction-be, that the position of the Fort is either untenable or one which should not be held. I believe, therefore, the present Fort to be a source of great weakness, as causing feelings and notions of false security in time of peace, which are absolutely contrary to fact and the promptings of professional science and experience. If there were no other grounds but the last, I should say that it was indispensable to knock down the present Bombay ramparts. But there are others of a non-military character, which in their own fashion are more important than those already stated, and which ought, I think, to weigh down military objections if they existed." The other grounds to which His Excellency alludes relate to the actual and prospective growth of the city; the approaching completion of our railway system, which when in full operation will cause a commercial development in this city of which it is not easy now to form any idea; the unprecedented increase in the value of ground; and the absolute necessity of undertaking some able or one which should not be held. I beunprecedented increase in the value of ground; and the absolute necessity of undertaking some great plan, by which the overcrowding of the city may be remedied, its conservancy and ventilation improved, and some alleviation brought the book of the control over the buildings to be erected on to bear on the alarming figures by which the state of the public health is demonstrated. The conditions stated by His Excellency are thus summed up:—" First. We have a fortified enceinte built in ancient times, and in Small cause Court Bill came before the Legislative Council, and the question of the recognition of the pleaders who had for two years previously been permitted to practice in that Court was mooted, they found a fitting champion in the Honorable Mr. Scott, who at ence ran to their cause and preserved their rights from invasion cause and preserved their rights from invasion or cause and preserved their rights from invasion creasing daily by rapid strides. We have of no imaginable use in a military point of view. Secondly. We have a population increasing daily by rapid strides. We have wealth advancing in a like ratio. We see manufactures springing up and threatening to view with the commerce which has attained such with the commerce which with the comm great proportions, while there is literally no room to meet these wants. of India, we must expect these wants to become the cost? Cost what they might, it is clear that these changes, both as military and com-mercial improvements, would be worth more than would cost. The Committee prove, however, that there will not only be no cost to Gowernment in effecting them, but if the plan be adopted in its integrity there will positively be a gain of two hundred and titty lakhs of rupecs, after the new works in place of the Fort shall have been constructed. Out of this sum the Harbor Defences and floating batteries might be paid for, the Barracks of Bombay which have long been needed might be built, and have long been needed might be built, and there would still be a balance to the credit of the Treasury of one hundred and fifty lakhs of rupees. These estimates have not been published. Colonel Rivers' name is a sufficient lished. Colonel Rivers' name is a sufficient guarantee for their accuracy.

The Committee's plan in its integrity includes the absorption of a considerable slip of the Esplanade. The Commander-in-Chief does not think that in its integrity it is required so far as this part of it is concerned. His Excellency observes on this point:—

"I am much inclined to think that the dem an much incined to think that the demand for more room, according to present wants may be encountered without this sacrifice, and that the new building ground should be, at all events now, and until it is fairly occupied and built on, limited by the line in the Committee's plan called the Explande main road. It is true that this will diminish the saleable area by about one half. On the ther hand it will raise the price of that which is other hand it will raise the price of that which is sold in proportion.

"Thus the Committee after liberal allowance, reckons that the extended area it proposes to sell, will have a value of Rupees thirty per square yird all round. Assuming this estimate to be fairly correct, there can be little doubt, if the saleable area be reduced by one half, that the blocks left for sale would fetch about Rupees sixty per square yard, perhaps even more; at any rate it could not, be less than Rupees forty-five.

bernaps even more; than Rupees forty-five.

"But were no more than Rupees thirty to be obtained, we should still have sufficient money for all our works and a balance left for the Tréa-

"This being so, it appears to me that we should pause before we absolutely commit ourselves to that part of the plan, which would deprive he citizens and population of their beautiful and breezy play ground, unless the sacrifice be enavoidably demanded, which I cannot bring myself to believe to be the case just yet."

We are inclined to concur in the views of the Commander-in-Chief on this point, now that a new scheme is before Government for enlarging the suburbs of Bombay by the annexation of Salsette. With fine macadamised and iron roads, the hills of Salsette would soon become what Malabar hill now is, the dwelling place of those who are favored with fortune's smiles. The new space acquired by the demo-lition of the ramparts might be wholly appro-priated by commerce, as a part of the more room which she urgently requires for her extending operations. The healthful abodes on the hills of Salsette attracting the richer portion of the community, a very large amount of good house accommodation would be thrown into the market, and the middle classes of the community would enjoy airy dwellings near their respective offices at rents within reach of their moderate incomes. It is gratifying to know that not even the Secretary of State for India is opposed to these real and great improvements. We conclude this notice of these important papers with the following extract from his Despatch No. 10 dated 17 June 1862, in the Public Works Department :—

"Another subject, demanding special notice,

Another subject, demanding special notice, is the appropriation of the new ground about to be acquired, whether by reclamation or by the removal of the land defences. After reserving what will be required as sites for the new forts, and what must be kept clear round the forts, there will remain a very considerable area available for building and other purposes. One of the draw-ings received from you in the Military Department purports to show the direction which it is intended shall be taken by future streets between the pre-sent Fort and Back Bay. From this it would seem that sufficient attention has not been given to the essential point of having occasional squares and other open spaces. Professor Challis read a paper to show that the earth's atmosphere is of limited extent, and reasons were adduced, in the absence of data the opinion that it extends as far as the moon, it other article from the same machine. Such, inwas argued, that, as the moon would in that case attach to itself a considerable portion by its gravitation, which would necessarily have some deviation beyond the one-thousandth of an nexion with the rest, there would be a con- inch. The speaker then proceeded to notice the tinual drag on the portion more immediately surrounding the earth, and intermediately on the earth itself, which would in some degree retard the rotation on its axis. Hence, if, as

It was stated that, by actual compurisons of the two kinds of determinations, such an excess to the amount of from 6" to 8" was found. This difference may reasonably be attributed to the existence of a lunar atmosphere of very small magnitude and density. of a solar eclipse. The case in which the cur-vature of the path of the ray is greater than that of the globe was assumed to be that of the sun's atmosphere; and it was shown on this supposition, that all objects seen by rays which come from the sun's periphery are brought by come from the sun's periphery are brought by the refraction to the level of the boundary of the atmosphere, whether they proceeded in the objects on the surface of the interior globe, or from clouds supposed to be suspended in the atmosphere. Accordingly, the contour of the atmosphere continuous, and the shell would be so deadened that the second plate shell would be so deadened that the second plate atmosphere, whether they proceeded from the sun should appear quite continuous, and the augmentation of apparent semi-diameter will would stop it. The Whitworth 70 pour be equal to the angle subtended at the earth by the whole height of the atmosphere. The apparent diameters of the planets will, for like was attached to a second plate of 2 inches thick, reasons, be augmented to a certain amount by the effect of refraction; and on account of the great distances of these bodies from the earth, powder pierced the outer side of the target comthe eclipse of a satellite will take place as soon as the visual ray is bent by the interposition of the atmosphere.

Mr. W. Spottiswoode read a paper 'On the Hindú Method of calculating Eclipses.'

In Section E,-Geography and Ethnology Mr. J. Crawfurd read a paper 'On Colour as a Test of the Races of Man.'-Colour in different races appeared to be a character imprinted upon them from the beginning, because, as far as our experience goes, neither time, climate nor locality has produced any change. Egyptian paintings 4,000 years old represent the people as they are now. The Parsees in India who went from Persia are now the same, as when they migrated a thousand years ago. African negroes that have for three centuries been transported to the New World remain unchanged. The Spaniards settled in tropical America remain as fair as the people of Arrogan and Andalusia. He contended that climate had no influence in determining colour in different races. Fins and Laps, though fur ther north, are darker than the Swedes ? and within the Arctic circle we find Esquimaux of the same colour and complexion as the Malays under the Equator. Yellow Hottentots and Bushmen live in the immediate neighbourhood of Black Caffres and negroes. There is as wide a difference between the colour of an African negro and a European, between a Hindoo and a ese, and between an Australian and a Red American, as there is between the species of wolves, jackalls and foxes. The arguments for the unity of the human race drawn from anatomical reasoning would also prove, that there was no difference between hogs and bears, the ine and equine, and the canine families. Sir C. Nicolson said that, notwing a paper, ingenuity displayed in Mr. Crawfurd's paper, in his conclusions. But there India a race of Jews perfectly black; and in China the Jews had long become the same in physiognomy as the Chinese, and the Jews never intermarry. Among the natives of late Surveyer-General in India, and Sir A. Waugh, opposed the views of Mr. Crawfurd. In Section G,-Mechanical Science, the President, Dr. W. Fairbairn, opened the proceedings of the Section with an address in which, after briefly alluding to the great advance

The Rev. Dr. Pritchard gave a sketch of the construction and effect of the reflecting plate of glass, as suggested by Sir J. Herschel. Its most important office was that it sent off from the eye of the observer 98 per cent. of the sun's heat, which before was so intense as frequently that the observed glass by which states the observed glass by which served glass as served glass of the sun's bitton. A very casual glance at this exhibition as compared with those of 1851 and 1855, shows to break the obscured glass, by which the eye had been protected, so suddenly as to endanger loss of sight. Now the observer was placed in the most absolute security, and could at plea

In land steam-engines, the horizontal is rapidly supplanting the beam or vertical engine, and is applied not only with efficiency to manufacturing, but also to agri-cultural purposes. In marine engines we are without rivals: we find in them beauty of execution, compact form and colossal dimensions, combined with a simplicity, concentration of power and precision of action never before equalled in this or any other country; and it had drawn it through her fingers. He read another paper 'On the augmentation of the Armarent Diameter of a hedy resist such powerful ordnance as has been by its Atmospheric Refraction.' For reasons given in the preceding communication, it was assumed that atmospheres generally have definite boundaries at which their densities have small but finite values. Two cases of refraction were considered: in the one, the curvature of the course of a ray through the atmosphere was assumed to be always less to bear. Under ordinary circumstance in the shot—a charge which the gun was unable to bear. resist such powerful ordnance as has been curvature of the course of a ray through the atmosphere was assumed to be always less than that of the globe it surrounds; and in the other, the curvature of the globe might be the greater. The former is known to be the case of the earth's atmosphere; and it was supposed that, a fortior, this must be the case with results to sustain these enormalisms. that, a fortion, this must be the case with respect to any atmosphere the moon may be supposed to have. On this supposition it was shown that the apparent diameter of the moon, as ascertained by measurement, would be greater than that inferred from the observation of an occultation of a star, because, by reason of the refraction of the atmosphere, the star would disappear and reappear when the line of vision was within the moon's apparent boundary. of upwards of 2 feet in diameter. This experi-ment would not apply to ships of war, which could not carry ordnance of such immense weight, but was applicable to the case of forts, from which an enemy's ship might be struck at the distance of 1,000 yards. Passing from the Horsefall gun, Mr. Fairbairn related the late experiments with the Whitworth gun. There Number of Passengers, 21,134. The author also stated that from this result had been very early established the distinction there would be reason to expect, in a solar eclipse, that a slender band of the sun's disk immediately contiguous to the moon's border trate even a moderately thick plate of iron, and s border trate even a moderately thick plate of would be somewhat brighter than the other it was concluded that a comparatively thin parts, and advised that especial attention should be directed to this point on the next occurrence inches, and even 2 inches were considered a be directed to this point on the next occurrence inches, and even 2 inches were considered a sufficient thickness. The late experiments with a Whitworth gun and flat-fronted hardened shells had, however, dispelled these notions.

> From this it was clear that 4 inches of iron and 9-inches of wood was no protection against such a gun, and that no gun-boat, such as those on the American waters, was proof against such a weapon. In point of fact Mr. Whitworth, with a rifled gun lighter than a 68-pounder, could destroy them with his steel-hardened shells at a distance of 1,500 or 2000 yards. A further experiment with a larger Whitworth gun, a 120ounder, at a distance of 600 yards, proved hat the sides of the Warrior are no longer shell-proof. A 130 lbs. solid shot, with charge of 23 lb. of powder, went through the 4½-inch plate, and lodged in the wood behind A shell of the same weight with a charge of 25 lb. of powder, penetrated the armour-plate and exploded, tearing the wood backing, and lodging in the opposite side. From these experiments Mr. Fairbairn inferred that the

OUR réaders will doubtless remember that on the 31st of July last, it was ruled that all receipts for salaries paid to government servants require a stamp of one anna to be affixed to them, like all other receipts given for payment of money under Act X. of 1862. Since the promulgation of this rule, a reference has been made to government as to whether the salaries of servants of the British Jews never intermarry. Among the natives of America there was an evident approximation to the Red Indian in physiognomy; they were assuming the hatchet face and loosing the beard. The same effect could be discerned the European completion of America is a continuous and the States alluded to, the stamp duty cannot legally be demanded. ATTEMPTED MURDER AND SUICIDE. - At about 9 o'clock on Saturday morning last information reached Mr. Constable Tandy at his quarters at Cammateepoora that a man was murdering a woman at Nagpada. On the Constable proceeding to the house accompanied by his Havildar, and on his entering going upstairs towards the room, he heard a man say that the woman was going to die heard a man say that the woman was going to die and that he would die also. Upon his going into the room he saw a man make a stab at a woman. Mr. Tandy and the Havildar then laid hold of the man, but that it was a Purdassee who had run away. A buggy was procured and the miscreant conveyed to the Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy Hospital. Mr. Tandy took the injured woman himself to the Hospital. On their admission they were examined by the medical officers in attendance when it was ascertained that the woman had sustained very severe injuries; she had wounds in the abdomen, breast, two in the small of the back and several on he had drawn it through her fingers. The man himself has a wound in the right side of the abdomen which he had inflicted on himself before the arrival of the Police. As the Havildar was taking the scoundrel along towards the Hospital in a buggy, he pointed out a man, a Purdassee, who he said was the man who had committed the deed. The Havildar called the man towards him and the moment he came near the buggy, the would-be assassin jumped up and clasped him round the neck and covered him with blood that was flowing from his own wound, saying "look the man is covered with blood that he is the man." This man was detained for a short time and then set at liberty by order of Mr. Forjett, but his coat was detained The name of the man that has communes sanguinary act is Luxumon Dajee, a Purdassee, he is rather above the middle height and appears to be between 30 and 40 years of age. The name The name of the man that has committed this of the woman is Parvattee, she is young and very the Magistrate as soon as she can be removed.

Lallubhoy Vallubhoy and others vs. Cowasjee Nana-bhoy and others.

Mr. Westropp and Mr. Dunbar, instructed by Mr.

Keir, for plaintiffs.

Mr. White and Mr. Green, instructed by Mr. Crawford, for defendants.

The hearing having been again resumed on Thursday, The hearing having been again resulted on Autrousy, Mr. Bunbar called two of the directors and co-plaintifs, Habibboy Ibrahim and Americand Becherdars, for evidence, but they did not answer to their names. The learned counsel then read a few extracts from Cowasjee's answer, pointing out the admissions made by the defendant.

Cowasjee's answer, pointing out the admissions made by the defendant.

Mr. Westropp next proceeded to cite legal authorities in support of the prayer of the bill. In Aspdia v. Austin, 5 Q.B. 671, it was decided by Lord Denman that defendant was not boiled to employ plaintiff for three years, but only to pay in case the plaintiff performed his agreement for that time 1 it does not follow that because parties have expressly covenauted to perform certain acts, they must be held to have impliedly covenanted for every act convenient or even necessary for the perfoct performance of their express covenants. So here there was an express stipulation to pay a commission of five per cent, to Cowasjee on all gross sales, there was no covenant on the part of the Company to sell yarns. In Dunn v. Sayles, 5 Q.B. 685, the plaintiff covenanted that his son should serve and continue with the defendant as his assistant in the art of a surgeon-dentist for five years, and should execute and perform such work and service in the art as the defendant should direct, and the defendant searched with the plaintiff to the art as the defendant should direct, and the assistant in the art of a surgeon-tenuts for two years, and should execute and perform such work and service in the art as the defendant should direct, and the defendant covenanted with the plaintiff that he would, during the term of five years, in case the son should well and faithfully serve, &c., pay him certain weekly wages, it was held that as there was no express covenant on the part of the defendant to employ or retain the son in the defendant's service for five years, the defendant was at liberty to dismiss him whenever he pleased, and discontinue the payment of the weekly wages. In King v. The Accumulative Life Fund and Insurance Co., 3 Jurist N.S. 1204, plaintiff effected insurance on his life, the Company transferred their business and policies to another Company, the plaintiff sued the Company for not continuing to accumulate profits, it was held that there was no implied covenant on part of the Company to carry on the business. The other cases were Stocker v. Brocklebank, 3 M. and G. 250, and Patrick v. Nolan, 1 Irish Chancery Reports, 671: in the latter the Court refused to decree the specific performance of an agreement to employ a shopman. Mr. Justice Couch,—That was the case of a shopman, while here the defendant is a partner in the concern.

OAZEPTE, TURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1862.

Date to a construction of the state of the st Although he bas power to make calls. [Mr. Justice Couch,—Although he bas power to make calls, there is no mention made as to whether he has power to declare dividends of profiles.] That power conses under the general management vested in him. Mr. White their cited passages from "Lindley on Partnership" to shew how meetings of a joint-stock company are to be fised, and remarked that the decidency which had not been decidency which had not been decidency which had not been given to the shareholders that a meeting was to be held for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the Company. It was an adjourned from the B. Strickley of the payment of dividends, which was to be held for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the Company. It was an adjourned from the S201 September when the notice given to the shareholders was that the accounts were to be laid before them. The accounts were, however, passed at the meeting, and about twenty minutes afterwards Mr. Faithfull was in no better position at the accounts being passed; in was, perhaps, angry at the resolution being not carried in his presence, and proposed that the affairs be wound up. It was quite a surprise, the shareholders having no notice of the motion; and the resolution may fairly be said to be sampled, Mr. Faithfull was a that swell to the payment of dividends, while it is admitted that it as surprise, the shareholders having no notice of the motion; and the resolution may fairly be said to be sampled, Mr. Faithfull said it was January 1862; Cowasjee, however, sented attogether 4 shares, while on the other and appropriate the suicidal measure. The parties proceeded in Court upon that resolution. The defendants representation on the payment of dividends, while it and the payment of dividends, while it is admitted that the motion; and the resolution may fairly be said to be sampled. Mr. Faithfull said it was January 1862; Cowasjee, however, and the suicidal measure. The parties proceeded in Court upon that resolution. The defendants representations on the the plaintiffs followed Mr. Faithfall like a flock of sheep following a shepherd; they had no independent opinion of their own, and so far as their will went, it was the will of Mr. Faithfull. [Owing to the lateness of the hour, the hearing was here adjourned until the following day, Friday, when Mr. White resumed his observations]. The learned counsel again argued that the contract of partnership could not be construed as a partnership dissoluble at will of one or more of the co-partners, but that, leoking at the circumstances that the shares were transferrable and that the shareholders had contracted themselves out of management and had contracted themselves out of management and agreed to pay a commission of 5 per cent. to Cowasjee for life, the conclusion was inevitable that it was n partnership for the life-time of Cowasjee, and not dissoluble by will; and to dissolve it the shareholders must huble by will; and to dissolve it the shareholders must be shewn that the concern was in a hopeless state and that there was misconduct on part of one or more members of the co-partnership. The learned counsel then commented upon the authorities cited by Mr. Westropp, remarking that they referred to cases of ordinary partnership, and were inapplicable to the present case, where there was an express covenant on the part of the shareholders to pay a commission to defendant Cowasjee for life. [Mr. Justice Couch said he remembered a case where an architect was employed by a person to turn him out, except at the meeting of 3rd August when he was asked to retire from the management, and he very properly disputed their right to ask him to do so without allowing him the commission, under the articles of partnership. At a subsequent meeting, a resolution was passed by Mr. Faithfull, Lallubhoy and others, divesting Gowasjee of management and Cowasjee protested against it. In consequence of their not carrying out this resolution, for which the defendants are not responsible, the management continued in Cowasjee shand and is still with him. A proposal to refer matters to arbitration was seconded by timed in Cowasjee's hand and is still with him. A pro-posal to refer matters to arbitration was seconded by Lallubhoy, but Mr. Faithfull opposed it and dissuaded Lallubhoy from supporting it. Mr. Faithfull proposed an amendment and Abus skulked the proposition, which was lost by a majority of votes. There was no doubt, upon the evidence of Mr. Faithfull, that the pro-position to settle the matters by arbitration was entirely lost in consequence of his opposition. Mr. Faithfull was the principal mover in these proceedings, he was the holder of ten shares, and as soon as be became aware that Cowasjee was the sole manager, be adopted these the noter of the Shares, and as soon as no ceans aware that Cowasjee was the sole manager, be adopted these means to change the constitution of the Company so as to deprive Cowasjee of bis rights under the deed. If the Company was dissolved, Cowasjee would be deprived of his commission. It was a matter for the discretion of the Court whether they would grant be wearened the bill or not.

The Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor said that, as this Bill had not been circulated in its amended form, he would postpone his motion for its passing till the next meeting.
The Council adjourned at half-past 1,--Hurkarn,

CAPTAINS T. PULMAN, and A. H. Hezth, of the Royal, late Bengal Artillery, have arrived at the Presidency, for the purpose of organising and training two new batteries of artillery, one of which is, we believe, to be stationed at Barrackpore and the other at Dum-Dum. These batteries will be formed from the artillary recruits now arriving, and about to arrive, from England, and the local company of artillery now in Fort William. We are glad to see this latter-mentioned beily about to be utilised and moved about, as "local" dots not mean Caloutte, but Indian, and a permanent stay at the Presidency must have a Capuan influence on any British troops. The men in question can be utilised all over India or Asia; and as they have availed thamselves of the right to be local, they can be detached and removed to their batteries, thould those with which they may at any time be serving get orders for Europe. — Englishman, Nov. 14.

and the company was dissolved. Cowasjee would be deprived of his commission. It was a matter of the discretion of the Court whether they would grant the prayer of the bill or not. In concluding his observations, Mr. White reminded the Court, with regard to the charge of incorrectness of accounts, that the accounts, Mad been legally passed, that they were audited before being passed, and that the auditors had not impeached their correctness.

A question having been raised during Mr. White a observations to the Court whether all the shareholders had made their appearance in Court and it being doubted whether Candass Narrondass was a shareholder or not, he having not made his appearance, the Court, after the conclusion of Mr. White's address, enquired into the matter, and upon the examination of Cowasjee Nanabhoy and the Secretary of the Company, Ardaser Romanjee, it appeared that Candass Narrondass was a shareholder for eight shares, and that he was absent from Bombay. The Court, hereupon, declined to proceed any longer with the case, and adjourned till Thursday next.

An amusing typographical error occurred the other day in the Times among the list of subscribers to the Garibaldi surgical fund. A poor bookbinder gave the case is a subscriber in order was a well known. Italian lady, married to an English gentleman named Fletcher. This lady, name is A. Lega Fletcher, but her subscription was acknowledged as from "A ledger titcher."

How little inclined the Madras authorities are to How little inclined the Madras authorities are to allow the sale of waste or the fee-simple of assessed lands, we lately alewed from the Neilgherry rules. But they seem determined to carry their obstructive policy to the extent of a breach of faith. A Mr. Burgess and his two partners applied under Lord Canning's rules for grants of land in unhealthy Ganjam, to the extent of 5000 acres among the three. Mr. Forbes, the collector asked permission from the Board of Revenue to make over the land, stating his conviction that the application had suffered loss from the long delay in carrying out the Rules, and their subsequent undiffication by Sir C. Wood. The Board, to do them justice, endorse this opinion. Declaring that the land with boundaries duly specified, was advertised for months in the District Gazette and that no other competitors applied for it, they leave it to Government to months in the District Gazette and that no other competitors applied for it, they leave it to Government to Government to Mothing could be plainer. In every sense even Sir C. Wood would admit that the purchase had been "completed." Yet the Madras Government decline to grant the land, on the ground that "though the lands, were marked out and a notification of the application made in the District Gazette whatever may have been done beyond that was done by the applicant himself at his own risk." And this decision, it is said, is to rule all similar cases. We can only rity Madras which has such a Government. The reply is dated 9th October and we charitably hope, must have been written in ignorance of Lord Elgin's decision that the liberal rule of Bengal on this subject is to be adopted. Doubtless the Madras Government will accept Lord Elgin's ruling.—Friend of India, Noc. 13.

The Messageries Inferiales.—The Erymanthe arrived in our roads yesterday morning and sailed last night. Our special had some curiosity to see this steamer, the pioneer of the Messageries Imperiale Company's undertakings in these waters, and accordingly went off to inspect the arrangements and general condition of the vessel. He was courteously escorted by the Captain through the ship, and enabled to form a decided Captain through the ship, and enabled to form a decided opinion as to her fitness for the line upon which she has been placed. Her flush deck is peculiarly commodious and free from obstructions being provided with comfortable seats, such as are denied by the P. and O. Co. The saloon is lofty, airy, and well-proportioned, with large mirrors let into the panels on each side; and the usual fittings up of the English steamers. The aft cabins are somewhat larger than those of any vessels plying on this coast, and furnished comfortably with good, white, and blue crockery, clothes nets, hat pegs, and so forth. The second class passengers are berthed forward like all bachelor first class travellers are liable to on the P. & O. beats, and should the steampegs, and so forth. The second class passengers are liable to on the P. & O. boats, and should the steamer be full, four passengers will be placed in one cabin, whereas only two are berthed together in the first class. But as both the first and second class passengers mess together, few single men will feel any objection to traveling under the after class, and apparently with the view of providing more second class passengers mess together, few single men will feel any objection to traveling under the after class, and apparently with the view of providing more second class accommodation when required the couches in the first class cabins turn up and can be formed into beds, so that eventually first class passengers will be the exception not the rule as they are on board our own steamers. The crying want of Anglo-Indians for many years has been a respectable second class accommodation in the Overland steamers, at reasonably moderate rates, and as the P. and O. Co. have declined to gratify it and allowed Cape ships and steamers to run away with a very large number of people yearly who would far rather travel overland, we are very glad to welcome the French steamers in these parts believing that they will prove of great convenience to the majority of Europeans resident in India who cannot consistently afford the high rates of the P. and O. and yet dread the idea of going round the Cape with their families. We believe that third class passengers will be taken from Madras to Marseilles for Rs. 450 including the railway fare across the desert, whilst the first class rates will be about the same as those of the P. and O., excepting that a man and his wife can travel together, and have "reserved" accommodation at single rates. Second class passengers will pay Rs. 900. Doubtless the Agents will be instructed to make fair allowance for children under 12 years of age, and we confidently expect to find it possible for a husband, wife, and three children to reach Marseilles from this at a cost of Rs. 3,000 including steward cost of Rs. 3,000 including stewards fees and boat hire.

NIZAM'S DOMINIONS.

HYDERABAD, DECCLY, November 4.—Lord Elgin's orders regarding the Murray case have arrived. The efficiating Resident, in regard to Ekhtadar-col-Moolk, is directed not to invite him to any party at the Residency, by which, I understand, that he is tw hold no intercourse with him, and he is directed to request the Nizam nor to admit Ekhtadar-col-Moolk to the presence when the Resident attends the court. This is sufficient. It marks his lordship's sense of this nobleman's conduct, and will, I hope, be a warning to others and put down the intrigues which it may almost be taid pervade every minute of each day, and almost every great house in this capital. It will bring quiet to his Highness the Nizam by leaving his mind undisturbed by misrepresentations, and to the people peace by precluding conflict within the capital itself among powerful personages. I must not be supposed as saying HYDERABAD, DECCAS, November 4 .- Lord Elgin's powerful personages. I must not be supposed as saying that this small lesson by the Governor-General will achieve all things. But as I regard it as the forerunner of a series of similar repressions, several examples having already been made, none reaching so high as the researt. I have to find it more registed than its autohaving already been made, none reaching so high as the present, I hope to find it more profitable than its oncedents have been. In regard to the Murrays, the papers concerning their case are before the law officers. They must necessarily be brought to trial. I trust, however, for the sake of truth and justice and a proper exposition of the whole case to the English Government, that they may not be tried solely by native judges and moulvies, but by an English commission if practicable; or else, as has been the practice here here-tofore, by a mixed commission of English and native officers: at all events under the supervision of an English officer, according to the usage obtaining under a inh officer, according to the usage obtaining under a provision in the treaties of all the European powers with Turkey. Indeed, I desire to see this supervision extended to all cases in which a Christian may be crimingally concerned. East Indians as well as Englishmen.—Englishman, Nov. 14.

NORTH-WEST PROVINCES.

The following special telegram was forwarded to us early on Monday morning:—" Intelligence of the death of the Putilala Rajah has reached Simla. Sir Herbert Edwards is hastening down."—Mofusztitle, Nop. 18.

Ws much regret to have to announce the death of Dr. W. J. Thomson, Civil Surgeon of Goorgaon, (near Delhi.) This officer was not only well-read and conversant with his profession, but he was possessed of a powerful mind, which, by esteful training, was stored with much valuable information on points of science, particularly in its applications to practical art. He was a Chemist, a Geologist, and a Botanist. For his scientific reports on different parts of his District he had, more than once, received the thanks of Government. Under his inspection and superintendence, a bath has been completed at the mineral spring of Sonah. It may, one day, prove a most valuable spa. This bath has been constructed for the treatment of European soldiers, suffering from tropical disease. We trust it may be made use of in real earnest, as we have reason to believe that Sonah will, ere many years, become a well-known and much-frequented place. As an amateur photographer, Dr. Thomson was very successful. His views of Delhi and the surrounding districts, as also of the temples in Central India, are most interesting. He entered the service under competitive rules, taking the honorable position of second on the list of successful candidates. His early death is much to be deplored. He was an honor to the Medical service, and within a few short years gave promise of being a very valuable servant to Government. It is no slight praise to be able truthfully to say of him that he is sincerely regretted by the natives of the district in which he served. In testimony of such regret, the inhabitants and native officials of Goorgaon submitted a request to be allowed to follow his remains to the grave. All honor to their gratitude. Would 'that such a tribute were more common to European worth in India. Would that such sympathies were widely extended, by the more frequent merging of all distinctions of race in the ennobling sentiments of a common love. In the present instance, we see how a conscientious man, in even a very small station, by limiti Ws much regret to have to announce the death of

The Capital of this Company has been subscribed in England; but the Directors have though it right ito reserve one-tenth of the Shares for India.
The undertaking for which the Company has been formed is: to lay down and work light and inexpensive Ratheage on such important public roads, existing or projected, as may be suitable for the purpose; so as to afford those subsidiary facilities of communication which are now found essential and indispensable to the development of the resources of this great Country.
The first road upon which the Company will lay down a line is from Nulhatee on the East Indian Railway, to Moorshedabad; a new first-class road just now in course of completion. As the permanent way materials and engines for this line have already left England, and as Government reports the road will be entirely ready by the end of these rains, there is no doubt that the line can be opened for traffic by the 1st of January next (1863.) Inconveying the sanction of the Governor-General in Council to the establishment of a light Railway on this road, the Secretary to the Government of India states:

"His Excellency in Codneil considers the scheme a very desirable one, and the line selected a very suitable one for the experiment of such a Railway. Should it be successful, a very large field would open for the construction of similar lines, where traffic would probably be greater, though extent and position render them less suitable for experiment."

The Company has consequently opened negotiations with the Government of India for the concession of other Important roads both in Bengal and the North-Western Provinces. And there is no reason to doubt the granting of further concessions, on terms similar to those already approved of by Government for the Nulhatee line.

As, by these terms, the Government agrees to grant, not only the use of the Toad, but all land required for Nulhates line.

As, by these terms, the Government agrees to grant, not only the use of the road, but all land required for stations and aidings; it follows that the Company having only tosupply the permanent way sheds, engines and carriages, at a cost not exceeding £2,600 a mile, will of course have its profits divided only over that timited amount of capital.

It is to be remarked that on the lines now open in India, the receipts follow very nearly the ratio of the population; and as the Nulhatee and Moorshedabad road, as well as all others for which the Company is in these twith Government near through the rights and road, as well as all others for which the Company is In treaty with Government, pass through the richest and most populous districts, there is no doubt that a high rate of dividend will be speedily attained.

The lines of this Company will be worked entirely by L. comotive power. This system is now exclusively adopted in Europe; and in India, the great difficulty and expense of maintaining catife-tracks during the rains, would render any other system highly impracticable: even were the supply of catile adequate, and the cattle suited for the purpose.

The Directors render their services gratuitously until the rate of dividend paid to the Shareholders shall amount to 5 per cent. the rate of dividend paid to the Shareholders shall amount to 5 per cent.

Prospectuses and Forms of Application for shares, as well as further information to be obtained at Messrs. Gillanders, Amburanor and Co. Calcutta. The amount of Rupees 10 for deposit and Rs. 10 for the first call on sach share applied for must be paid to the Company's Agents at the time of presenting the application: and these sums will be returned if no allotment is made to the applicant.

Messrs. Ewart; Latham & Co. have been appointed Agents for the Bombay Presidency and will receive payments on behalf of the Company.

Longarish House, near Whitchurch, Hants.

Sir,—I cannot resist informing you of the extraordinary effect I have experienced by taking only a few of your LOZENGES. I had a cough for several weeks that defied all that had been prescribed for me; and yet I got completely rid of it by taking about half a small box of your Lozenges, which I find are the only one that relieves the cough without deranging the atomach or digestive organs.

I am, Sir, your lumble servant, P. HAWKER.

TNFANT-REARING .- MISS MARTINEAU, who, like all philosophical ladies, has studied the matter horoughly, says, that "in England alone, 40,000 babes thoroughly, says, that "in England alone, 40,000 babes die annually; and one-third more of that number grow up either idiotic, sickly, or deformed." The reason is evident, as Mothers, through inability to nurse their offspring, resort to the administration of baked flour, biscuits, tops-and-bottoms, or pap. The infant stomach cannot assimilate such crude preparations, and frequently rejects them; but still the nurse or mother continues them, under the hope of soothing the child. Internal infamation takes place—eructations, diarrhoza, and consumption appear—and most frequently convuisions are induced which seal the infant's fate

The Medical Times and Gazette, conveys Dr. C. B. F.

The Medical Times and Gazette, conveys Dr. C. B. F. Routh's views on the same important subject, and his opinion is that Du Barry's Revalenta Arabica Pood is adapted to obviate the mischief effectually. Dr. Routh is physician to the Samaritan Hospital for Women and Children. This learned and experienced practitioner says:—

"The human milk contains besides set of lime, chloride of potassium. Now, in common with carbonic acid, this sait enjoys the peculiar property of dissolving carbonate of lime or chalk. An absence of it in the food, as in wheat bread, is very injurious to a growing child; hence, a child fed on pap for a time grows fat but the bones are soft; frequently it sickens, and severe symptoms supervene. Amongst the vegetable substances, that which comes closest to milk in its composition, besides being more easily assimilated and synthems spectrate. Another the togetate such stances, that which comes closest to mitk' in its composition, besides being more easily assimilated and strengthening, is, without doubt, Du Barry's Revalenta Arabica Food, containing both phosphoric acid in abundance, and chloride of potassium; it also includes casein, the same principle which is found in mitk in its constituent parts. No wonder, therefore, that under its influence many children affected with atrophy (wasting away of the body) and marked debility, have completely recovered. I have given it with the greatest advantage in such cases; and, so far as I may judge from my own experience, practice fully carries out what theory, from a knowledge of its composition, led us to anticipate. It gives good muscle and alrengthens the bones, restoring tone, and a healthy, regular action to the stomach and bowells, whether constipation or a relaxed state of the system is complained of."
