

WORK ON CITY LOTS

DETAILS OF WEED KILLING, TREE PLANTING AND STREET PARKING BY CITY MANAGER

Before a large and interested audience, at the meeting of the Garden Society, Thursday night, City Manager Watson gave some interesting details regarding the cleaning up of the city lots, the parking of the streets and the planting of trees. He said that the work recently done in the city in the way of killing the weeds had cost from $1.00 to $1.65 a lot. The cleaning up had led to the ploughing up and planting to various crops of many of the lots, quite a number having been planted to potatoes.

Mr. Watson pointed out that water was going to be cheaper than ever this summer. It was being delivered to the people of Glendale at a rate cheaper than any other water in the valley. This, he felt sure, would encourage people to create gardens and extend those already in existence. The city gave the people, also, the privilege of using the water on their lots or neighboring lots for garden purposes. This would greatly facilitate the growing of vegetables.

Mr. Watson answered a number of questions, most of them about parking, and impressed on those present the fact that the city council held itself as the servant of the people and within the legal limits was ready to carry out their desires at any time.

Mr. Watson further said: "The last State Legislature has given us a very good law under which 'noxious or dangerous weeds growing upon streets or sidewalks, or upon private property within municipalities' may be declared a public nuisance and creating a lien upon the property fronting upon such streets or sidewalks, for the cost of the abatement of such nuisance. This act was approved May 26, 1915, and became effective August 8, 1915. There was also another Act passed and approved May 4, 1915, effective August 8, 1915, which gives the Board of Trustees power to declare what constitutes a nuisance and to provide for the summary abatement of the same, making the cost of such abatement a lien against the property on which said nuisance exists.

"This Act also gives the Board of Trustees the power to remove sand, weeds, or other obstructions from sidewalks, parkings or streets, and to make the cost thereof a lien or charge upon the abutting property, and to make provision for the enforcement of such lien by the sale of said property or otherwise; this Act also confers upon the Board of Trustees the power to require or provide for the removal from property, lands or lots of all weeds, rubbish or any material which may endanger or injure neighboring property, or the health or welfare of the residents of the vicinity, and to make the cost thereof a lien or charge against such property, lands or lots and to make provision for the enforcement of such lien by the sale of such property, lands, lots or otherwise.

"We operated last year under the provisions of the first named Act, inasmuch as the best season for destroying weeds had already passed before these laws became effective, and we did not want to further delay the matter in order to work out a detailed plan and embody the same in an ordinance or required by the last mentioned act. I believe, however, that with the experience gained last year, a detailed plan can be worked out and embodied in an ordinance which will have some advantages over the plan operated under last year. This plan should provide for the removal of grass, weeds, waste matter and rubbish from lots, lands, sidewalks, parkings and streets. It should also provide for the removal of sand and other obstructions from sidewalks, parkings and streets.

"A definite date should be fixed, which date should not be changed from year to year, at which time the city would do said work should the property holders fail to cause such work to be done after having received notice of the City's intention to do said work, at least twenty days prior to said date. The work should be done at least six weeks earlier than it was done last year.

"Lot cleaning is a new function of city government, and we are exercising a decree of caution in relation thereto. Whenever disputes arise over charges and other matters in connection therewith, the property holder is given the benefit of whatever doubt or uncertainty there may be in the matter. Although some errors have occurred this year, we believe they have all been disposed of satisfactorily. We believe public sentiment is greatly in favor of this work being done every year, as is evidenced by the way in which every-

GARDEN LOVERS MEET

ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING OF LOCAL SOCIETY SHOWS VAST PROGRESS MADE

How definite and gratifying is the progress made by the Garden Society this season, under the leadership of Mrs. Nanno Woods, was shown by the large and enthusiastic audience that gathered last night to take part in the proceedings of the society and to hear the paper read by City Manager Watson on "City Lots and Parking." The president, Mrs. Woods, presented apologies from Mrs. Lucky and Mr. Dawson, both of Pasadena, who were prevented by sickness from being present and giving addresses.

After having read and discussed the constitution and by-laws of the society the meeting voted to adopt them with one minor change. Mr. Watson, City Manager of Glendale, gave an interesting address which is published in another column, and afterward answered many questions with regard to the planting of trees and other subjects.

Mrs. Ella Richardson, chairman of the Flower Show committee, which had been instructed to endeavor to make arrangements with the city council regarding the Flower Show, reported that they had been received courteously by the city fathers, who were enthusiastic over the plans for holding a show without charging for admission and had promised co-operation.

Mr. Freeman Kelley reported that his subcommittee had been occupied in preparing schedules for exhibits at the coming Flower Show; that they had practically agreed on a schedule modeled largely on the Pasadena schedule and that a printed copy of the schedule would be submitted to next meeting.

Mrs. Woods said that it had been arranged not to offer prizes; but instead to give badges as first, second and third awards. She believed that true flower lovers would appreciate the honor more than the material award. In the juvenile department however, it had been agreed to offer prizes and these would be donated. Prof. Houdyshel offered in this section some rare bulbs. Mr. Fred Burlew of Casa Verdugo offered a copy of the valuable work, "The Wild Flowers of California" for the child who should show the best collection of local wild flowers, dried, pressed and classified.

Mr. P. Oliver reported that the committee appointed to see the city council with regard to granting a sum of money for the Flower Show had been received courteously and that the council had appointed a committee to investigate and report. He also stated that Mr. Watson, the City Manager, had expressed the opinion that a free flower show would do a great deal to advertise the city.

Mr. Hommel gave a most interesting talk on the art of making willow hanging baskets. He stated that he was willing to take a class of boys, show them where to get the willows, teach them to weave them, show them how to reinforce the baskets and put them in such shape that they would be able to sell them at a good profit.

Miss White, of the Intermediate school, stated that she was in constant receipt of requests from the boys of the school for information regarding vacant lots that could be cultivated by them. She asked members of the society to inform her of such lots. Various members indicated where such information could be obtained.

Mr. J. C. Beldin warned the society with regard to vacant lot cultivation, stating that they had better see that what bargain was made was properly agreed on as his experience had been that after having cultivated such a lot he was called on to pay for the privilege.

Mrs. Woods reminded the members that the next meeting would be a public affair, on Thursday, Feb. 2, at 8 p. m., in the Union High School auditorium, when Prof. Shufeldt, professor of agriculture in the Los Angeles schools, would give an interesting stereopticon address. The meeting then adjourned.

TO PLAY AT ASSEMBLY

Miss Melicent Virden, the rising young pianist of Tropic, will be a guest at the High School Assembly, Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, head of the music department, has asked Miss Virden to play on this occasion. Miss Virden will play the last movement from the "Sonata in B Minor" by Chopin; "On Wings of the Morning" by Mendelssohn; "The Brook," by Leschetisky, and "The Music Box," by Liadow.

ABOUT BOND ELECTION

CITY MANAGER WATSON SAYS FUTURE OF GLENDALE IS IN BALANCE

City Manager Watson says that the election to be held Tuesday, Jan. 11, is fraught with serious considerations for the future. "It would be well for the voters to consider this bond matter carefully," said Mr. Watson. "It is not a matter to be carelessly voted on; or to be voted on because someone has said something about it; or to be entered unadvisedly.

"In the first place, it would be well for the voters to understand that no considerable part of the money asked for will be spent on rights of way. Throughout the greater part of the distance easements have already been obtained by the city. The city has acquired the right to install and maintain an open channel 60 feet wide, reserving 15 feet on each side on which to plant trees as an additional protection.

"The cost of the piling and wire protection similar to that which is now installed in Verdugo canyon would not exceed $2 per linear foot, on each side of the channel. The protection work installed in Verdugo canyon is of a substantial character and has received the approval of the County Board of Flood Control. Every voter should personally inspect that work before next Tuesday.

"It is well worth the consideration of the taxpayers also that should there be a tax levy, covering the whole county, for similar work, the Los Angeles Board of Supervisors has put itself on record by resolution, which has been published in The Glendale Evening News, and of which there is a copy on file at the City Hall, as agreeing to take over the protection work of Glendale and make it part of the County plan, reimbursing the City of Glendale for its outlay. From this it is readily seen that there is no danger that the taxpayers will be taxed twice.

"Of the $70,000 asked for $52,500 will be devoted to protection work along Verdugo Wash and $17,500 will be applied on the cost of improving Sycamore Canyon road in such a manner as to carry such flood waters as accumulate in that district, through the City of Glendale. Proceedings for opening and widening Sycamore Canyon road from the Sinclair Pumping plant southeast to the Childs' Tract line and thence to the south city limits are now under way.

"It may be well to explain that the sum of $17,500 is applied to the Sycamore Canyon district because the assessed value on the Sycamore Canyon Storm Protection district is approximately 25 per cent of the total value of the city assessment and therefore 25 per cent of the money asked for should be devoted to the project in that district.

"The opening of Sycamore Canyon road and later on the improvement of that road will cost somewhere about $100,000. After deducting the $17,500 which will be applied there should the bonds carry, the balance will be raised by an assessment on that district.

"Those who have necessarily had to give these matters a great deal of attention during the past few years are persuaded that they are of vital importance and that the future of Glendale, in great measure, depends on the manner in which the voters handle them at the coming election."

MINISTERS WISH TO CO-OPERATE

The following resolution was unanimously adopted at regular Ministers' meeting, Jan. 5, 1916:

The pastors of various churches in Glendale, Tropic and Casa Verdugo would very respectfully request all organizations and social groups to, as far as possible, plan not to hold any entertainment, social gathering or any other meeting which would directly conflict with the Prayer meeting hour, namely Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 8:30.

From the beginning of the church life in this valley, this hour has been sacredly held by the churches represented in this association.

We desire to assure the different organizations of our sympathy and cooperation to the fullest extent, of all high-grade entertainments and social functions, and we will endeavor to arrange our church gatherings so as not to conflict, but rather assist in making them a success.

We also desire to go on record as appreciating the kindly spirit of many people, not only in the home circle, but also in organizations outside the church, in planning affairs which are being held on other than Wednesday evenings, thus showing a splendid spirit of co-operation.

Mr. Richard H. Wells of 1504 West Broadway, left last evening via the Santa Fe for Richmond and San Francisco, on official business.

GARDEN DEVELOPMENT IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

In view of the active campaign now being carried on by the Glendale Garden Society for the encouragement of garden development and the beautifying of the city generally, it is interesting to note the rise of the garden cult throughout Southern California. In Los Angeles, and in the cities of Southern California down to San Diego there has been a marked rise in the knowledge of horticulture on account of the interest taken in the subject in the schools.

In Los Angeles itself 300 schools took part in a contest and vied with each other in making their grounds lovely with floral growth. Twenty-one women's clubs and a number of the smaller cities of Los Angeles county were also in the competition. More than $100,000 is said to have been spent by the various competitors in the efforts to win cash prizes which aggregated only $8,000.

The money spent by schools and municipalities included not only the cost of lawns and plants but also many permanent improvements, such as the putting in of cement sidewalks and curbing, and in many cases building summer houses, pergolas, and other garden fixtures.

Pasadena received the first prize of $1000 for the most beautiful floral effects. The East Whittier grammar school took a special prize of $400 for the best improved school grounds. The Shakespeare club of Pasadena won a $400 prize for having the most beautiful grounds around its club building.

These things actually happened within easy distance of Glendale and yet Glendale was not heard of in connection with the matter. There is no reason whatever to be assigned for this except that the Glendale people made no attempt to get into the competition. It is useless to plead that there was no chance for a small city like Glendale in competition with a rich Pasadena. Looking at the other prizes awarded it is seen that Las Virgenes school, in the mountainous desert of Calabasas won a prize of $25 for a garden of unusual beauty. This was an example of what perseverance and faith can accomplish. Miss Mattie Wolf, the teacher at Calabasas, with six small pupils, carried water every evening a distance of more than a mile to accomplish the development of their school garden and they succeeded.

In connection with the home garden contest it is interesting to note that there were 8388 competitors among 1000 of whom was distributed $21,325 in prizes. Vegetable gardens had equal chances with flower gardens in this contest. Intelligence and efficiency were the tests and not mere beauty. Contestants were supplied with seeds when they so desired and $5,000 was spent for this purpose.

Glendale has this example before it as to what ought to be done to encourage the beautifying of the city and the development of gardens both useful and ornamental. This city has an abundant supply of irrigating water and should be able to take its place in any such competition alongside of any other city of Southern California.

HUMANE WORK OF AMERICAN NAVY

While war drums are throbbing in Europe and the rattle of the machine guns drowns the groans of the wounded and the dying; while the embattled squadrons of the nations hold the seas in grim contest of destruction, the ships of the American navy are doing work of the highest humanitarian order. In the far frozen icefields of the Beaufort sea; on the grim rock-bound coast of northeastern Siberia where Cape Serdze-Kamen frowns down on all intruders; in the famine-stricken islets of the Aleutian archipelago, will be found the American cruiser or cutter aiding and rescuing those who are in want or even at the point of death.

In the dry records of the latest report of the Secretary of the Navy may be found some interesting details of this work, told in a matter-of-fact manner, without comment or commendation. Indeed it is very often a thankless task to work for Uncle Sam, especially where one is not in the limelight or has no opportunity of walking the quarter deck as a "beautiful example" with the Secretary of the navy. That may lead to promotion and better pay; but the man who risks his life in the cause of humanity in the arctic or the tropics or the horse-latitudes, whither the Secretary of the navy never goes, is allowed to pay for his humanitarianism out of his own pocket and finds himself docked of his pay without remedy when he is traveling from one point to another to take up new work.

It is pleasing, however, to find that Commander J. M. Poyer of the United States navy, who assumed office as the governor of the Island of Manua in American Samoa comes in for some small mention for his wise and kindly handling of a delicate situation in that island.

In January last the island of Manua was visited by a hurricane which completely devastated the coconut plantations and destroyed all growing food crops. The population of 2100 was in danger of famine for a period of eight months until taro and other food crops could be planted and come to fruitage. The taro was immediately replanted all over the island but a worm attacked it and played havoc with the crop.

In order to piece out the food supply crops of corn, which ripen in that tropical climate within two months, of sweet potatoes, which ripen in four months and of wild arrowroot which yield food in six months were planted. To relieve the situation Congress appropriated $10,000 and the Red Cross Society $2000.

These funds were wisely and economically administered by the governor who found it necessary to transport about half the population of the island, chiefly the older women and the younger children, to Tutuila, where they could be more easily fed, while all the able-bodied persons remained in Manua to cultivate the crops. These conditions are bettered considerably now, thanks to the able administration of this capable naval officer, who will probably get permission to remain in Manua after he is superannuated. Even neglect and total ignoring of good service, however, does not daunt the American naval officer in the discharge of his duty.

AT RAILROAD CROSSINGS

Five hundred and twenty-five vehicle drivers on the Pacific Coast did their best to break into a railroad crossing accident in the two years ended June 30, 1915, despite the fact that gates were down and warning bells ringing. This is shown in a report of the Southern Pacific company which reveals that during the period mentioned five hundred and twenty-five crossing gates were broken by drivers who risked life and limb for speed and carelessness. The gamble taken by the drivers is obvious. To be broken the gates had to be down and the gates are down only when trains are approaching. The railroad company spends over $100,000 annually to operate and maintain crossing gates but feels that the active cooperation of motorists and other vehicle drivers is imperative if crossing accidents are to be minimized.

Recently the Southern Pacific had observations taken at various crossings throughout the state to observe how careful drivers were in approaching the tracks. Of 17,021 motor vehicles observed, 11,836 drivers or 69 1/2 per cent looked neither way before crossing the tracks; 2.7 per cent looked one way only and but 27.8 per cent looked in both directions. The almost incredible number of 3391 or 19.3 per cent of the total number of drivers observed ran over the crossings at a reckless rate of speed. Only 35 drivers stopped their machines before crossing the tracks to see that no trains were approaching.

THE USE OF CANDIED CRANBERRIES

Candied cranberries make a delicious sweet, similar to candied cherries, say the home economic experts of the United States department of agriculture. They may be used to give a bit of color to cakes, custards or whipped creams, put into cakes or puddings chopped up like citron, added to "tutti-frutti" ice cream or eaten as candy.

In candying cranberries, the fruit must become thoroughly saturated with sugar. The berries must be cooked slowly, and there must be ready at hand a dish large enough to permit all the berries to float at the top of the sirup during cooking. The skins are very tough, and much be pierced before cooking to let the sirup into the pulp. Three little slits, each one-eighth of an inch long, should be made in each berry. Choose large, fine cranberries, and cook as follows:

For one and a half cups of berries make a thin sirup by boiling together until clear two cups of sugar and two and a half cups of water. When the sirup is cool, add the berries and bring very slowly to the boiling point. If the berries are heated too quickly the skins will burst before the sirup soaks into the pulp. As soon as the sirup boils take the dish off the stove and let it stand over night. Next day drain the sirup from the berries and boil it until it is reduced to about half its original volume. Put the berries into this medium-thick sirup and heat slowly; boil gently for three or four minutes, and then allow to stand for two hours or more. Then boil gently a third time for five minutes. A smaller dish probably will be needed for the third and last boiling. When thoroughly cold, or better still, on the following day, drain off the sirup and spread the berries out on a lightly buttered plate or a sheet of clean, waxed or lightly buttered paper until the surface of the berries dries.

If these directions are followed, the berries will candy separately, not in a sticky mass.

A delicious ice cream may be made by adding one-half to three-quarters of a cup of chopped berries to each quart of the cream mixture. Cranberries also may be combined with bits of candied orange or lemon peel, or put with glace fruits into "tutti-frutti" ice cream. The sirup left from the cooking of the berries has a pleasant flavor and brilliant color, and is excellent as a pudding sauce.

THREE HATS IN ONE

How one young woman made a single hat do the duty of three, while on a short visit, is a story which may help some one else to solve the same problem. The limited space of a week-end trunk prompted her ingenious plan. She not only needed a simple tailored hat for traveling and morning wear, but a dressier one to accompany a blue velvet afternoon costume; and she very much wanted a feathery pink pompadour to wear with a taupe velvet suit. Finally she combined the three in one and worked it out as follows:

A hat of black velvet, with bell-shaped crown and narrow brim, which had a rolling twist on the left side, was already her selection for morning wear. Its simple trimming of a black moire band and a glittering steel buckle, to lighten the mass of black, gave it distinction. She then purchased a band of blue ostrich feathers, a trifle lighter in tone than the blue velvet coat; this and the moire band were interchangeable by the use of snappers on the hat and the bands. The buckle and two notched ribbon ends were attached to the band, which snapped on to the hat at the right side of the buckle. The band, passing around the hat, returned to fasten with a few snappers on the other end of the band, concealed beneath the notched ribbon end at the left of the buckle.

The band of blue feathers was set on to a strip of black velvet, which extended from the stem almost to the brim, and was covered by the ostrich flues. This snapped to fasteners, placed a little below the upper edge of the moire ribbon and all around the crown of the hat. Over the stem was placed a narrow silver ribbon with a bow, and this, snapping on to the other end of the ribbon, held the feather band snugly to the crown of the hat; yet it in no way interfered with the loose tendrils above.

The soft blue feathers relieved the rather hard lines of the hat, and made it appropriate for calls and receptions.

Then the pretty rose pompadour was added, by arranging the stem on a bit of wired canvas, which fastened with corresponding snappers at the left of the front of the hat. This gave the hat grace and the striking contrast of light and dark, which is so effective in the evening. The moire band could have been placed over the fastening, entirely concealing it, but a black spangled and jetted band in its place was an improvement. The moire band had an inner band of soft black cloth, tacked along the edges so that the snappers on the hat, while flat, would not cause it to wear in the places where it covered them.

Here were three hats in one. Only one to carry, since the two bands and the feathers packed into a small box; only one to seek for as to becomingness, and it is not easy to find three equally becoming hats—and only a little more than the price of one to pay!

FOR OVERNIGHT

For the maid who goes from one girl friend's house to another's just to spend the night, nothing could be more convenient than the overnight bag of black leather. These overnight bags measure from 20 to 22 inches long and look like suitcases in small editions. Their shape and their smallness make them doubly attractive, for in a case of this description the daintiest dress can be packed conveniently without receiving a countless number of creases. The cases are beautifully lined with figured silks and each lid is fitted with a pocket so that little trinkets can be tucked safely therein.—Philadelphia North American.

CREASELESS PACKING

When preparing to pack a trunk have four or five pieces of cardboard the size of your trunk, so that they will slip in easily. Wrap dresses or blouses in tissue paper and attach them to these boards with tape. You can then pack and unpack many times and your dresses will not be disturbed, but will come out when required in good condition.—Ottawa Citizen.

Leaving Tuesday evening on the Owl were two charming and popular Glendale girls, Miss Pauline Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hamilton of 303 West 10th street, Tropic, and Miss Sharpe, daughter of Mrs. John W. Sharpe of 111 North Central avenue, Glendale. These young ladies have gone north to resume their course of study at Mills college.

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett of 101 Brand boulevard, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club of this city, was a guest at luncheon in Westgate, near Sawtelle, on Wednesday, having as hostess Mrs. G. C. Dennis, past president of the California Society of the United States Daughters of 1812. The afternoon meeting was opened and presided over by the club's president, Mrs. H. T. Wright of Hollywood, and a most interesting program was given. Mrs. Bartlett is state registrar of the United States Daughters of 1812.

MRS. McCURDY HOSTESS

A delightful affair was the afternoon given on Wednesday by Mrs. Leo Carroll McCurdy, in her home, honoring Mrs. William Empey.

A color scheme of pink Mamon Cochet roses, ferns and crisp bows of tulle was tastefully combined in the rooms, using the same beautiful blossoms at the large supper table where cards marked places for the hostess, honoree, mother and sister of the hostess, Mrs. Susan McCurdy and Mrs. Henry McCurdy of Pasadena, Mrs. David Miller, Mrs. William Mackie, Mrs. Walter Campbell, Mrs. Homer Terry, Mrs. William Loesdy, Mrs. John Herron, Mrs. Louis Auger, Mrs. Robt. Atkins, all of Los Angeles; Mrs. L. Baker and Mrs. Frank Grosvenor of Glendale.

Guessing games and cards furnished diversion for the afternoon hours.

GLENDALE DANCERS REFINED

In an interview by our correspondent yesterday, B. T. Anderson, who with George Butler conducts the Saturday evening dances at the latter's hall, says: "I have had considerable experience in conducting and managing dances in Glendale, Los Angeles and the east, and without comparison, the young people of Glendale are the most polite and orderly at public dances. We have been holding dances here every week for more than three months, and have yet to speak to the first offender for improper dancing or boisterous conduct."

GOOD GAME PROMISED

In the grammar school league basketball series, the strong Colorado Boulevard team defeated the boys from Central Avenue with a score of 23 to 0. The Colorado team meets the Broadway boys next Wednesday, the 12th, and since neither team has been defeated, an interesting game is expected.

COLORADO BOULEVARD P. T. A.

Colorado Boulevard Parent-Teacher association held its regular meeting Thursday, Jan. 6, at 2:45 p. m. The proceedings were opened by a parliamentary drill, in the kindergarten bungalow. This was conducted by Mrs. McNutt. The meeting then adjourned to the main building, where a business session was held. Mrs. Beamon, the president, presided. The speaker was Mrs. Martha Law of Los Angeles, who spoke on "Don'ts for Mothers," in which she advocated high ideals in child training.

Miss Lillian Mason gave a piano solo, "The Flatterer," by Chaminate, and responded to an encore by playing Wagner's "Oh, Evening Star." "Auntie Doleful's Visit," was recited by Miss Dorothy Brown with much character. Lillian Mason sang a "Slumber Song," accompanied by Dorothy Brown. A social hour and refreshments closed a delightful afternoon.

body co-operated in the work last year. The Tax Collector has received to date $1161.05 for lot cleaning.

"The Tree Planting Act of 1913 provides for the planting of trees and shrubs and for the care of same, payment for which is provided for by direct assessment against the abutting property; that act was amended in 1915, including within its provisions the planting and maintaining of lawns in parkways as well as trees and shrubs, also providing for the district plan of assessment.

"Under the provisions of this Act, we set out and cared for five hundred and ninety-two parkway trees on Verdugo Road and Colorado street last year at an average cost of $1.25 per tree. A few months ago we took a census of the street trees of our city and we found that we had one parkway tree for each inhabitant, or a little over eight thousand trees in all.

"Our parkways contain over fifty acres of land. Including both sides of all the streets in our city, they are one hundred and fourteen miles in extent and if completely planted to shade trees averaging thirty-five feet apart, they would accommodate seventeen thousand one hundred and ninety-seven trees; deducting the eight thousand trees already growing, there remains to be planted over nine thousand trees.

"To complete the planting of all the parkways of our city to shade trees, averaging thirty-five feet apart and to care for the same for one season, would cost approximately $1,125.00, if trees of the ordinary accepted varieties were planted."

FREE FOR THE PUBLIC.

Under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon club and at short intervals, a series of most interesting entertainments and lectures have been arranged for. The first of these to be given in the auditorium of the Glendale High School on Monday evening, January 10, at 8 o'clock, by the College of Oratory of the University of Southern California.

The members of the Tuesday Afternoon club wish to impress upon the general public that they are invited to attend any, and all, affairs as guests of the club, particularly High School students, for they can profit largely by the scientific exposition which will be given of this subject.

THIRD LECTURE IN SERIES

The third in the series of lectures being given in the studio of Miss Ruby Dale, 1307 1/2 Hawthorne street, will be delivered Saturday, Jan. 15, at 3 p. m., by Mrs. Charles H. Toll. The subject will be "Children's Reading." Mothers and teachers are urged to attend this interesting affair.

TROPICO

A lively game on the municipal ground is promised for tomorrow afternoon, when the Schoolmasters ball team of Los Angeles will cross bats with the Saturday team of Tropic. The diamond has been scraped and dragged and since the rain presents a fine ground for the game.

Christmas and its attendant festivities seem the gladdest and merriest of all the seasons. This, and the fact that Merton Moser attained his seventh birthday anniversary, were the motifs for a celebration to honor the event, and Wednesday afternoon Merton's mother, Mrs. Charles E. Moser, entertained with a pretty party at her home, 533 Acacia street. December's own colors, red and green, were obtained in the decorations of royal poinsettias. Games and music were enjoyed by young Merton and his guests, but the one feature of the jolly afternoon was the large Christmas tree, around which the children danced in expectant glee. At the appointed time the good Saint Nick appeared and presented each guest with a token of the happy Yuletide. Then came the dainty refreshments, which claimed the attention of the dear little people, who all with one accord said they had the best time ever.

Merton's young guests were the little Misses Dorothy Chappins, Elsa Gardner, Mary Ballentyne, Mabel Todd, Edna Strong, June Gotow, Ruth Gotow, Gertrude Burch and Mary Gotow; Masters Everett Berkeley, Leon Ferry, Rowland Oliver, James Ferry, George Ward, Stewart Ayres, Edward Cline, Robert Moser and Benjamin Zeigler.

Enjoying the afternoon with the youngsters were Miss May Cornwell and Miss Gladys Hamilton, of the Acacia street school, Miss Harriet Myers, Mrs. Frank N. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Ayres, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ayres, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burch of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and the happy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Moser.

Midst beautiful floral decorations, soft and sweet music and surrounded by their children and loved ones, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chandler celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary at their home on West Cypress street, New Year's night. Under the artistic touch of Mrs. C. L. Chandler the house throughout was a bower of beauty and fragrance, in the white, yellow and green decorations. The evening was one that will ever linger as the happiest of the many anniversaries that this venerable and most estimable couple has ever enjoyed.

There was music, old songs, interspersed with those of the present day; games and conversation, replete with reminiscences of those days passed in the sunlight of long ago. The happy father and mother, with their proud children and interesting grandchildren, and great grandchildren, listened to two poems written on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, ten years ago, by the relatives who were present at that time, and one of whom was at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Chandler sixty years ago.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening's festivities. With the exception of Mrs. M. E. Cole, Mrs. R. Pedem and Mr. Lyman Dennick Balkema, the guests present were near relatives, who assembled New Year's night to assist Mr. and Mrs. Chandler in the happy celebration of sixty years of married life, sixty years of unalloyed happiness, a golden dream of wedded bliss.

Three sons and three daughters, each with his or her family, Messrs. A. L. Chandler and C. L. Chandler of Tropic, oldest and youngest sons, and L. O. Chandler of Elizabeth Lake, second son; Mrs. Edward B. Ellias and Mrs. Charles L. Peckham of Glendale, and Mrs. Edward Henry Weston of Tropic, daughters; Mrs. L. O. Mrs. C. L. Chandler, Charles L. Peckham and Edward Henry Weston, daughters and sons-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Perle Chandler, Mrs. Fleta Kenna, Miss Bessie Chandler, Miss Lillian Ellias, Miss Emily Ellias, Miss Frances Peckham, Miss Gladys Peckham, Masters Chandler Weston, Vassar Peckham and Brett Weston, grandchildren; Miss Lucile Barnes, Miss Media Kenna, Masters Louis and Pliny Barnes, Allison and Kenneth Kinne, great grandchildren, were present. One grandson who is still a resident of Chicago was unable to be present.

Mrs. Allan Fairchild of 1321 Arden avenue spent Tuesday of this week in Los Angeles, where she was the luncheon guest of friends.

THE FANCY TOUCH ON ICE CREAM

Instead of ordering expensive frozen desserts the economical hostess can have plain ice cream delivered for use in lining her melon mold. She can then prepare her own filling of mixed fruits, whipped cream with chopped nuts or pounded macaroons, charlotte russe mixture, or any preferred combination. The mold is then repacked in the pail of ice and salt in which the plain ice cream was delivered and unmolded when ready to serve.—Ottawa Citizen.

PREPARATION SAVES STEPS

When the best and happiest housekeeper known to the writer was asked to tell the secret of her speed in housework, she replied: "I never iron with a cold iron, cut with a dull knife, or go to my kitchen to prepare a small meal without a clean small hand towel pinned to my apron belt on one side and a similar dish towel pinned on the other. Try it, and you will be surprised to see how much time and how many extra steps you will save."—Minneapolis Journal.

MONTROSE

Miss Clara Green, daughter of the foreman of the Sparr Fruit ranch, spent the holiday season in Redlands with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Potts of the Montrose grocery were Los Angeles visitors New Year's day.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Morris spent Thursday in Los Angeles.

Photographer B. D. Jackson of La Canada took several pictures last Thursday of snow covered Montrose from Somes peak.

Mr. J. W. Burton of 563 Montrose avenue returned Saturday from a holiday visit with his brother at Woodford, Cal.

High-Flying Scheme

It is proposed by a professional aviator to establish a hangar at Montrose with a late model biplane and to carry passengers to the Mt. Wilson observatory and return. It is understood that negotiations are under way for the purchase of a machine for such purpose.

Fifteen minutes is the time required to make the round trip via flying machine and the promoter believes the innovation would prove quite popular. Although this new mode of transportation would prove more expensive than auto, it is believed that the novelty of the affair would make it popular enough to warrant the establishment of an air route. As terminus of such an air route Montrose would be greatly advertised.

LA CRESCENTA

Fairmount Lively Place

A beautiful romance could undoubtedly be woven into story form around the courting and final winning of the hand of Miss Marion Stimson, a society belle of Los Angeles, by Mr. Hugh Gordon, a prominent young attorney of Glendora. The engagement of this popular couple, who were many times week end guests at this popular resort, was announced last week at a smart social function in the city. Miss Stimson is the daughter of Mrs. M. I. Stimson and a sister of Marshall Stimson, prominent in financial circles.

Cupid is not the only busy person about the Fairmount, however, for a party of photographic artists, including Mr. and Mrs. Earl V. Lewis, Mrs. F. A. Walton, Miss Doris Johnson and Mr. Frank Walton, were at the hotel Thursday taking beautiful multi-colored snow scenes. Mr. Lewis, who is well up in Los Angeles photographic circles, has promised to send Proprietor F. D. Hanger some colored pictures of his mountain resort.

Another "snow party" at the Fairmount consisted of Mrs. M. G. Heintz, Miss Josephine Heintz, Miss Roberta Crutcher and Mr. Carl Heintz. This party, never having seen snow of any depth on the ground before, went so far as to roll in the "white blanket." Miss Rosenberg, another guest, secured pictures of the A. J. Wallace castle and of the snow during her week end visit.

A marshmallow party was the diversion for New Year's eve. Others registered not already mentioned were: Miss Adaline Barnard and Mr. John Crutcher. Mr. and Mrs. Adam of Oakland, who are residing for the time at the Fairmount, are expecting their son Frederick to arrive from Berkeley the seventh instant.

Water Company Assesses

At a meeting of the La Crescenta Water company Monday it was decided by unanimous agreement to make an assessment of three dollars on every share of water stock in the company for improvements in the company's holdings, reports Joe Hawkins, secretary for the concern.

A cover on the reservoir, extra piping on Michigan avenue and the further improvement of the tunnel are the three principal causes for the assessment. The total outlay will amount to nearly $800.

"All That Glitters Is Not Gold"

"All that glitters is not gold"—for it is sometimes cold.

At least that was the experience of several young people who made a hiking party to Mt. Wilson last Wednesday night and Thursday.

All had been fair for the pleasant party until the Thursday morning wind and snowstorm and then it was a long, long way to La Crescenta for the mountain climbers. Before arrival home, which allayed the fears of the frightened populace, the young people had to tramp snow four feet deep—and in clothes never meant for a snowstorm. Regardless of their cold experience, none of the party is reported suffering any ill effects from their exploit.

Roads Are Not Bad

"Roads, in and around La Crescenta, are good, exceedingly good," seems quite ludicrous to those easterners who have never experienced roads other than paved or macadam. Yet Gustave Escalle, who has been in La Crescenta for twenty years, says that the roads, today, are exceedingly good, when compared to the trails existing in Los Angeles county eighteen years ago.

At that time, he told the Progress reporter, the last good road to this part of the country stopped at Taylor's mill on the San Fernando boulevard, and from there on team drivers experienced eighteen inches of sandy loam mud interspersed with rocks equally as far above ground.

The improved, dragged road of today and the state boulevard, although they do not reach to all sections of the valley, make teaming a comparatively easy matter in contrast with the old trail. And it was over this trail of rock and mud that Mr. Escalle hauled much rock and other material for the improvement of the roads and homes here. Mr. Escalle has done a great deal of the cobblestone work in the valley, just completing that part of the work on a new home on Los Angeles avenue, recently.

La Crescenta Popular

La Crescenta proved to be the storm center for people who had never before seen snow, after the falling of "the beautiful" on Thursday of last week. Hundreds of autos arrived here during the afternoon of the storm and the little folks (and not a few bigger folks) reveled in the four-inch covering over the ground. The snow was a great surprise to the residents but it did no damage and furnished La Crescenta with much publicity.

The guests of the evening were Mrs. Lutes, of Los Angeles, Misses Claire Glenn, Christine, Flora and Jessie Harper, Mr. and Mrs. S. King, Mr. Chapell, Jack Meers, James Chapell and Howard Ward.

Old Sailing Master in Burbank

F. E. Parker, who has established a rooming house here, is an old sailing master, having spent thirty years traveling "o'er the briny deep." Mr. Parker can recount some most wonderful tales of his travels and incidentally he picked up a half dozen languages—those of the Maroris, Papuans, Fijians and other South sea islanders. He managed a coffee plantation in Brazil and lived for six years in Mexico in the state of Chapas on the west coast. He told the Progress reporter of the banana crop which is raised there.

He stated that after the sprout has been inserted it takes but nine months for bunches of bananas to develop in this wonderful climate. All sorts of cereals grow in abundance in this favored section. Fields of corn have been harvested which grew eighteen feet high. Rubber trees mature two years sooner in Chapas.

The reason for this great productive fertility is the incessant rain. Every night of the year brings rain. It is odd, he noted, that it is never known to rain through a half day, yet the

In relating his travels as master skipper of both sailing and steam craft Mr. Parker told of learning the various languages. The Maori tongue is quite easy as far as alphabet goes, there being only fourteen letters, but the sounds are all guttural without a movement of the lips.

Mr. Parker went to sea when he was but twelve years old and became a master mariner a short time before he was twenty-one. He has come to Burbank to locate permanently.

School opened again Monday after one week's vacation.
