King Alexander Repeals Objectionable Laws and Re-creates Those Which Existed Previous to 1901.

(Associated Press.)

Belgrade, Serbia, April 7.—King Alexander to-day executed a coup d'etat. He issued two proclamations, the first decreeing a suspension of the constitution adopted April 19th, 1901, repealing objectionable laws passed thereunder, retiring the senators and the councillors of state, dissolving the skupshtina, and re-enacting the laws as they existed previous to the constitution of 1901. The second proclamation restores this constitution to its former validity.

In the first proclamation, King says the senate and the skupshtina, created under the constitution granted by him in 1901, passed laws which proved impracticable. Furthermore, the constitution by tending to fan political passions, prejudiced the interests of the fatherland and hindered its development as a state and nation.

Affairs in the Balkans, the King adds, are very serious and Serbia needs order, unity and peace. She should offer a bright example of a peace-loving state and at the same time always be ready to defend her own interests should this become necessary for the purpose of restoring the unity, strength and order of the country.

The King then suspends the constitution of 1901 and declares the mandates of the senators to be null and void, and the proclamation goes on to announce that the councillors of state are retired and that the skupshtina is dissolved. Several of the laws, including the press law, the common law, and the act governing the electoral system, are annulled, and replaced by laws previously existing.

THE PURCHASE OF MINERS' GOLD

G. RILEY, M. P., STRIVES FOR GRANT TO CITY

The Budget Speech Will Be Delivered Next Week—House Adjourns To-Morrow.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, April 7.—In last year's estimates there was an item of $1,000 for the purpose of permitting miners disposing of their gold at the provincial assay office in Victoria without having to go with it to Vancouver. Dr. Haanel, superintendent of mines, has reported against the grant and Mr. Riley, M.P. for Victoria, is fighting hard to get this decision reversed.

Messrs. Kelly and Burnett, who are here, had an interview to-day with Hon. R. Prefontaine. They want a lease of False Creek, Vancouver. If they get it they will dredge it and build harbors and wharves. Hon. Mr. Prefontaine, while not giving a definite reply, seemed favorable to the proposition.

IMMIGRATION.

(Associated Press.)

Montreal, April 7.—A special from London to-day says:

"The tremendous increase in Canadian immigration as shown by the official returns is published to-day. According to the reports 12,864 went to Canada during March, as compared with 5,294 in March, 1902. Canada secured 34 per cent. of the total emigrants, compared with 18 per cent. in March, 1902. The emigration to United States during the month is 19,082, as compared with 17,635 last year. Canada's total for three months is 19,925, as compared with 8,820 in 1902."

REDUCED FREIGHT RATES.

Concessions Secured by Commissioner Palmer on E. & N.

R. M. Palmer, freight rate commissioner for British Columbia, who has been up at Dunsmuir and other places along the E. & N. line lately, has been negotiating with James Dunsmuir in respect to securing lower charges for transportation along that railway, has just obtained some important concessions. Among these is a reduction on the rate of potatoes from first-class to about fifth class freight, or to about $2.50 a ton. On raspberries the reduction is from first to fourth class freight or 40 per cent. The people of Dunsmuir had sought a preferential rate on pedigree stock, and through Mr. Palmer's services have secured a reduction from first-class to fourth class freight, or about 40 per cent. on all stock shipped in less than carload lots.

For some time Mr. Palmer has been receiving many inquiries from prospective immigrants regarding this province. There has been a big influx of people into British Columbia, principally from the Northwest and Manitoba, and they have been finding homes around Kamloops in the Okanagan country and the Similkameen peninsula. Numerous people, however, have been passing right through British Columbia and are making California their destination, passing from one extreme to the other.

HILLSIDES vs. ESQUIMALT.

What was probably the first baseball game of the season was played at Victoria West between the Hillside Ave. Intermediates and a team from Esquimalt. The match was very evenly contested, the latter players showing themselves in every way formidable opponents for the Hillside boys. The latter team won by a score of 8 runs to 2.

OPPOSITION CAUCUS.

E. C. Smith States His Position and Then Withdraws.

The opposition members held a caucus last evening at the Dominion hotel. The principal interest attending it was the presence of E. C. Smith, of South-east Kootenay, who made a statement before them of his position, which was similar to that given in the Times on Saturday evening. After doing so he withdrew.

A. W. Neill, of Alberni, was not present at the caucus.

After some little discussion of the situation in general the meeting broke up.

John Oliver, in his speech this afternoon on the debate on the King's Speech, is expected to renew his attack upon the government in connection with the Southeast Kootenay coal lands matter.

Mr. Oliver's Charges.

Upon the House resuming this afternoon John Oliver, in continuing the debate on the speech, charged that in the preamble of a bill introduced last session respecting the Columbia & Western railway the government had deliberately misrepresented matters for the purpose of deceiving the Governor and legislature. He challenged the government to go before a committee of the House and face the charges. He promised that he would move that such a committee be appointed later on.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION.

Work May Soon Begin on the Coast End of the V. V. & E. Railway.

A. Guthrie, of St. Paul, is in the city inspecting the work which has been going forward in connection with the Victoria Terminal Railway Company, in which project he holds a controlling interest. He is well satisfied with the progress being made, and expects the line will be in good running order by the 1st of May. On the Malahat and the grading from Port Guichon to Cloverdale has been completed, and the bridges built. Three locomotives are now running on the line carrying supplies.

Work on the line connecting New Westminster and Vancouver is now commenced. Gangs began last week clearing the way, and work will be pushed forward.

On the V. V. & E. line, with which Mr. Guthrie is closely related, work is expected to begin early from the coast end. Pending the settlement of the dispute at the Kootenay end work will continue to be suspended there, but on the coast end it is believed surveying parties will early be placed in the field. The general course of the line is understood to run from near Port Kells through the rich valley to the international line at or near Sumas. From that point it will probably swing farther into Canadian territory, and proceed towards the Hope mountains. A surveying party under Mr. Scampany is now in that country prospecting for a line.

Mr. Guthrie will not remain long in the city at this time.

IRON DEPOSITS ALONG THIS COAST

INTERESTING REPORT BY THE MINERALOGIST

The Advantages of Vancouver Island as Site for Smelting Works Set Forth.

The report presented last evening in the legislature by Premier Prior on the "Iron Ores of the Coast of British Columbia" is one which contains much which is most gratifying to residents of this province. The report has been prepared by W. F. Robertson, the provincial mineralogist.

The opening sentence is one of the truth of which makes Vancouver Island the great centre for future iron works to be established. It states that "the chief importance which attaches to the British Columbia iron deposits is that they are practically the only known occurrences of iron ore in quantity on the northern part, at least, of the Pacific coast and, consequently, iron manufactured therefrom would have the whole of such territory as a market."

The report of the geological survey of the State of Washington for 1901 is quoted as follows:

"Washington has plenty of material suitable for fluxes and no fear need be felt in this particular. Labor is perhaps a little higher in Washington than it is in the East, but the difference would have little effect on the price (cost of production) of iron. The whole Pacific coast would furnish the market, as the very little pig iron, if any, is being produced in any of the states west of the Rockies, except Washington, at the present time (March, 1902), and the steel and iron being used on the coast is shipped from the East. The results shown here are rather against the probability of Washington ever becoming a very large producer of pig iron from ores occurring within her own borders, at least unless other deposits than those known at present are found. There is, however, one factor that has not been taken into consideration as yet, and that is the British ore occurring on Texas Island and perhaps some of the other islands of the Straits of Georgia."

The advantages of the Canadian side in which to establish smelting works is set forth very forcibly. While the larger market at the present time in the United States offers an inducement for the establishment of smelters south of the line, yet "it is handicapped by an import duty of 40 cents per ton on all iron ores imported (at least 75 per cent. of the total supply) and an inferior quality of local coke as fuel. On the other hand, if iron works were erected in British Columbia, they would have the advantage of better and cheaper fuel and the product would earn the bounty offered by the Canadian government."

"On this coast," it is pointed out, "there are no hardwoods and charcoal to be made from spruce or fir, producing a fuel which is very much inferior in quality to hardwood charcoal. Under these conditions it is a question whether charcoal iron can be produced here to compete with the Eastern product; certainly the ironstone furnace never paid running expenses, according to the report of the geological survey of Washington. Wherever, then, iron ore is smelted in British Columbia on an important scale, it will have to be with coke as a fuel."

"In the mining of iron ore the necessity of cheap transportation cannot be overestimated, and in this respect, at least, the known deposits of iron on the coast of British Columbia are singularly fortunate, inasmuch as nearly every one is within reach, by a short and cheaply constructed tramway, of the navigable waters of the inlets which indent the coast line."

"On the waters between Vancouver Island and the Mainland, transportation could be carried on with barges, if so desired, and the coals and fluxes could be similarly conveyed, but for the ores of the West Coast of Vancouver Island, where the outside passage would be resorted to, more seaworthy, and probably self-propelling boats, would be essential."

"If an iron furnace was erected on the East Coast of Vancouver Island, the ores from the vicinity of the Alberni canal could be shipped across by a railway, which must eventually be built to the land-locked waters of the Straits of Georgia."

"While magnetite can be smelted alone, it is certainly economically desirable to have some of the other ores of iron to mix therewith, hence the importance which would attach to the discovery of workable deposits of hematite (limonite or near Vancouver Island)."

"Limonite, or bog iron ore, has been found at several points, but has not yet been developed. Hematite has been reported as found at several localities, but careful inquiry has failed to show any instance where such discovery has received any development, and where the mineral has been found in commercial quantities. Both hematite and limonite are most likely to be found in beds lying covered with soil and vegetation, for which reason, in such a densely wooded district as is the coast of British Columbia, such deposits, if they exist, would be likely to remain for some time undiscovered, except by accident, or where beds had been cut into by some stream."

Dealing with the prevalence of magnetite the report says:

"As will be noted, most of the iron discoveries have been made on Vancouver Island or the islands of the Straits of Georgia. The Mainland is densely wooded and little explored, and it is quite probable that future prospecting may discover iron there, as the geological formation is similar though more covered with later deposits. Of the magnetite iron deposits of the West Coast of Vancouver Island, one point is very noticeable when the known locations are plotted on the map, i.e., that these iron discoveries lie on a straight line parallel with and from 10 to 15 miles back from the general west coast line of the Island, and the impression is at once struck that the cause of such deposits must be very closely connected with the general granitic upheaval which uplifted the central portion of the Island, and which sent up spurs of dykes, penetrating the originally stratified rocks."

The report concludes with a review of the different locations and a description of the work done upon them. A table of analysis of the iron ores of the coast is also appended, which is interesting to prospective investors.

The report contains several half-tone engravings, which also assist in making clear the descriptions. These have been executed by the B. C. Photo-Engraving Company.

BLACKSMITHS' STRIKE.

Both Employers and Employees Firm in Their Positions.

It looks as though the present strike of the blacksmiths is to be a fight to a finish. The master blacksmiths, at a meeting held last week, decided that they were paying wages that positively could not be increased under any conditions. They claim that the men are paid as well here as anywhere, if not better, and they mean to fight for their contentment.

President John Weston, of the Master Blacksmiths, stated this morning that in his opinion the men were demanding unjust terms of settlement; that they had offered good inducements for the return of the union men, but that they (the men) would not listen to reason.

The union men on the other hand claim that they have given away more than the Master Blacksmiths and that they had now reached the limit.

"What we want," said an official of the Blacksmiths' Union, "is $18 for 51 hours' work, and we mean to fight hard for it."

At a meeting held by the union last night it was decided that if one union man was taken on by the Master Blacksmiths the union men would open up a union shop in opposition to the Master Blacksmiths.

It was also decided at this meeting, that as the Master Blacksmiths were crying "quiet times," they would put the proposition before them of going back to work until May 4th, 1903, at $17 per week on the one condition that the Master Blacksmiths guarantee to submit to the terms of the union at the expiration of that time.

One of the union men left the city yesterday evening, but the president states that he intends holding out for some time until a final settlement has been made. Both sides have written to Vancouver for particulars as to the settlement of the blacksmiths' strike there. A reply is expected to-night, and it is altogether likely that the advice from Vancouver will have some weight in bringing about a settlement here.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT.

Three Young Men Charged With Beating a Chinaman—Saw Stealing.

Three young men, A. Anderson, Alfred N. Stewart and Saml. B. Sutton, were charged in the police court this morning with committing an aggravated assault on Wong Low Fong, an employee of Wah Yee's. The alleged assault occurred at Wah Yee's store, adjoining the fire headquarters, and the victim is reported to have been pretty badly used. In fact his injuries were such as to require the attention of a physician. The accused were arrested by Constables Munro and Harper. The cases were returned this morning. Two of the accused, Sutton and Stewart, were liberated on recognizance being given to the extent of $200 each.

Daniel McCallum was charged with the theft of three saws valued at $7.75 from A. McLeod, of James Bay. He was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Perdue and Macdonald. The case was remanded until to-morrow. A woman was fined $2.50 and $1 costs for drunkenness.

LEGAL NEWS.

Full Court Sitting at Vancouver—No Applications in Chambers To-Day.

The full court went into session in Vancouver this morning. There were no applications heard in Chambers to-day, all the judges having gone to Vancouver, with the exception of Mr. Justice Walker, who is unwell.

The following applications were disposed of by Mr. Justice Martin yesterday:

Fox vs. Spencer.—An application by defendant for security for costs, on account of wrong address in writ of summons, was dismissed, with costs to defendant in any event. G. H. Barnard for defendant, C. A. Bury contra.

Macdonald vs. V. Y. & S. Railway.—An application for particulars of account was withdrawn, costs being allowed the applicants in any event. Thornton Fell for defendants, A. E. McPhillips, N. C. contra.

The regular sittings of the County court is set for Thursday next, but will be adjourned to the 23rd inst., owing to the absence of the judges.

MORE MEN HAVE JOINED THE UNION

WORK PROCEEDS AS USUAL AT CUMBERLAND

Mr. Dunsmuir Threatens to Close Down Rather Than Submit to Dictation—Ladysmith Situation.

A dispatch from the Cumberland correspondent of the Times says:

"The secretary of the newly formed union reports that fifty members were enrolled last night and that more are joining this morning. O. Barber, president of the union, was dismissed yesterday for firing a shot without permission. The union took no action in the matter and work proceeds as usual."

James Dunsmuir takes quite as determined a stand with respect to the Coxe situation as he did in the Extension trouble. His account of the organization proceedings ascribes to outsiders the greatest activity. Jas. Baker, the organizer for the Western Federation of Miners, backed by men outside of employees of the Union mines, formed the meeting and carried his purposes, the steady men of the camp withdrawing from the meeting.

As an evidence of the unfair tactics alleged to be employed by Mr. Baker, Mr. Dunsmuir tells of the crushing of the voice of the meeting by a refusal to put an amendment to a motion that they form a union and affiliate with the Western Federation of Miners. The amendment aimed at postponing decisive action with regard to affiliation. Yet this was refused to be put to the meeting, and the motion carried after many of his men had withdrawn. Only a few of the miners of the camp have joined the union, he says. He is still as strongly opposed to the Western Federation of Miners as he was when he took his determined stand in the Extension affair. He fears the work of foreign agitators, and is prepared to close the Union mines also rather than submit to their interference.

AT LADYSMITH.

Ladysmith, April 6.—In Ladysmith the miners are more united than even at the time of the lock-out. No symptom of defection is yet evident. As the men are away at their gardens or in the clearing of their lots the town is "as quiet as Sunday" all the day long. The men do not, in these occupations, feel anxious for a return to work, but only a greater respect is shown in the Extension affair. He fears the work of foreign agitators, and is prepared to close the Union mines also rather than submit to their interference.

All or practically all the young men have left the town. It is the determination of many of the men with families to also go and to support from assistance the families who remain. A "one guard" will keep the fort and the Western Federation from its headquarters will do the rest.

The men are being strongly backed by the moral support of almost every civilian who has had any extended acquaintance with the drift of affairs here. Perhaps the most striking feature of the men's combination is the almost rigid firmness of the "foreign" element. They are the most utterly uncompromising of all. This is said to arise from the loss of their homes at Extension and the resulting bitterness.

A NIGHT ATTACK

Will Be Conducted at Beacon Hill This Evening—Plans All Ready.

Beacon Hill and vicinity will see a- with the rattle of musketry, the inspiring sound of the bugle, sharp words of command and the groans—no, not the groans of the dying—but rather the cheers of a nation, for the hour of combat evolution will be purely imaginary. To-night is the time fixed for the night attack at Beacon Hill or thereabouts in which the officers and men of the Fifth Regiment will take part. One part of the regiment will defend a certain stronghold, and the other section will attack it. The plans of both sides have been completed, and nothing remains but the battle to decide which force meets its Waterloo. Capts. Hall and McCann will be the umpires. Each man will be provided with thirty rounds of ammunition (blank cartridges), and the other section will attack it will be a lively one and well worth witnessing. Spectators should not get in the way or they will be captured as spies and promptly executed.

OPENED TENDERS FOR WATER METERS

WILL AWAIT REPORT OF THEIR OFFICIALS

Ald. Barnard Hands Out Bouquet to the Chamber of Commerce—Question of Harbor Board.

Tenders for supplying the city with water meters were opened at last night's meeting of the city council, but the list was so large and varied that the civic legislators referred them to the water commissioner, purchasing agent and finance committee for report.

The Union Publishing Company informed the council that they were ready to commence the work of street numbering at once and would furnish security for proper performance of the undertaking.

The water commissioner and purchasing agent reported the following: Tenders for supplying 8,000 feet of 4-inch water pipes received from the following parties:

The water commissioner and purchasing agent reported the following: Tenders for supplying 8,000 feet of 4-inch water pipes received from the following parties:

memorandum to be submitted to the ministers as follows: (a) An act to incorporate a board of commissioners, three to be appointed by the government, the Mayor of the city, and one representing the board of trade and shipping interests.

(b) The commissioners to take up and inquire into the whole question of harbor improvements, to take expert and other evidence and report and submit suggestions to the government.

(c) An adequate appropriation to meet expenses incidental to the efficient carrying out of the objects and intentions of the act.

(d) The commissioners to appoint such temporary officers as may be necessary for the carrying out of the objects of the act.

On the 30th June, Senators Macdonald and Templeman, and Messrs. Earle, Hootch, Riley and myself attended the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, when Senator Macdonald suggested that I should draft a short act in accordance with this memorandum, and the minister undertook to lay the matter before the council on the 3rd July.

On the 3rd July, this he did, and on the 4th July he wrote me saying: "I beg to state that I brought the subject before the council to-day and read your letter. The conclusion was, that, considering the importance of the subject and the proposed legislation and state of public business now before parliament, it would be quite impossible to give the matter the consideration necessary to enable the government to reach any conclusion in time for the passage of a bill this session."

The water commissioner and purchasing agent reported the following: Tenders for supplying 8,000 feet of 4-inch water pipes received from the following parties:

H. Darling, Vancouver, $50.25; Victoria Machinery Depot, $51.75; Robertson, Gordon Co., Vancouver, $52.25; The Hilton Electric Co., $55.75; Boyd, Burns & Co., Vancouver, $55.80; W. Bowman, $55.94; C. M. Cookson, $56.35; J. H. Warner & Co., $56.50; A. Sheret, $56.53; J. L. Beckwith, $58.95.

The lowest tender, that of Mr. Darling, is for Scotch pipe, as is that of the Victoria Machinery Depot, the latter requiring ten weeks before making shipment, while Mr. Darling makes no stipulation as to time, beyond what the specification calls for.

The Victoria Machinery Depot has also sent in a tender for pipe in 9 feet lengths at the rate of $47 per set, the specification calls for 12 feet lengths, and the difference in length would entail an extra expense on the whole shipment of about $200.

Allowing for this it is still the lowest tender, but does not comply with the specification as to lengths. This pipe would be shipped by the Great China steamer, leaving Liverpool on the 28th inst., and would arrive here about the 1st July. The specification calls for delivery in eight weeks.

Ald. Stewart moved that the contract be awarded to the Victoria Machinery Depot. Ald. Kinman seconded the motion.

Ald. Dinsdale moved that Mr. Darling be awarded the contract. The motion was carried and the Victoria Machinery Depot gets the contract.

Chas. Kent, city treasurer, complained of the way in which the Simmons & Coker vehicle tax case was being handled in the police court. It first came up some time in January and was still undecided.

The city solicitor expressed surprise that this letter was written. He explained that the case had been argued, but it wasn't his fault that the magistrate had not made up his mind. The speaker had not asked for an adjournment.

Ald. Yate's motion regarding harbor commissioners then came up. The father of it pointed out that the harbor needed improvements, which should be carried out in a systematic manner.

The incorporation of a board of harbor commissioners would provide the necessary machinery. He was willing to amend his resolution so as to read "upon lines similar to the acts incorporating the Quebec and Montreal boards."

Ald. Cameron seconded the motion. Ald. Grahame took exception to the statement that Victoria was the second shipping port in the Dominion, which was incorrect.

The Mayor favored the incorporation of a harbor board. He had heard nothing which could alter his views. He pointed out that many powers were asked for which would never be used.

Ald. Vincent said that if the board attempted to collect tonnage dues they would drive away the liners which called here.

Ald. Stewart suspected that the present agitation was merely the "thin edge of the wedge" to revive the old harbor scheme.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE

DEBATE ON REPLY TO SPEECH FROM THRONE

Moved by Messrs. Hayward and A. W. Smith - Leaders on Both Sides Speak.

At the opening of the sitting of the legislature yesterday afternoon prayers were read by Rev. J. H. S. Sweet.

The consideration of the reply to the speech from the throne occupied the sitting.

W. H. Hayward, in moving its adoption said that he would not waste much time, following the example set by the minister in adjourning at the opening in order to save time.

The characteristic of the speech was peace. This was seen in various ways in the provision being made for the industrial affairs and for the settlement of the E. & N. railway land troubles.

The question of removing taxation from the mining industry he was agreeable to, but he also hoped that the mining interest was the only one which was to be relieved. The farming industry also should be protected against taxation pressing upon them.

The speech from the throne contained allusion to the farming industry. He pointed out the danger from having pre-emptions scattered all over the country.

The location of farmers in scattered settlements meant the maintenance of roads and the establishment of schools to serve them. He would favor an arrangement by which public lands could be surveyed and thrown open to settlement in blocks so that a community might be established, thus making a saving in the expenditure for schools, roads, etc.

He pointed out that provision would be made for stamping powders when the Small Holdings bill was brought down.

Alluding to the railway legislation he said that with land grants to railways in which provision was made that it should be sold to settlers at the same rates as public lands, no injustice could be worked upon anyone.

He believed that the question of the relations with the federal government was of the greatest importance. They had sent repeatedly deputations to the federal capital. He believed they might well expect that the time was coming when they must do more than send deputations to Ottawa.

A. W. Smith, in seconding the motion, called attention to the benefit which might arise as a result of this conciliatory legislation proposed with respect to the settlement of the troubles between capital and labor.

He would support any legislation aiming at making them work together. He was pleased that the farmers of every description were remembered by the government. Horticulturists and others were to receive attention. He also referred to the legislation proposed with respect to the mining laws and the relations with the federal government.

R. McBride moved the adjournment of the debate. Premier Prior objected to this. He saw no good reason for it. He could not see what reason the opposition had in asking for an adjournment. It was unreasonable. They had just had an adjournment of two days and would likely have another adjournment over Easter.

Mr. McBride thought it was but a usual act of courtesy to adjourn this debate. There was business enough before them without considering this question.

Premier Prior would not consent to an adjournment of it, however.

John Oliver pointed out that the Premier should have no objections to allowing the adjournment of the debate in view of the fact that there was plenty of business before the House.

Mr. McBride said that the first minister was unfair in this contention. Premier Prior said that any unfairness must be attributed to the opposition. The member from Delta was anxious to proceed with the debate on Thursday.

"No, no," from Mr. Oliver.

He did not propose that the government should be charged with flitting away the time of the legislature.

Mr. McBride, in speaking to the question, said the peace alluded to by Mr. Hayward was a very unstable character. The conciliatory measures spoken of appeared to be only those intended to carry a majority over the session for a government which did not possess the confidence of the country.

How would they have peace in this country when the first minister promised measures in which he did not believe himself. The first minister was on record during last session, and in his speeches in the city of Victoria as being opposed to anything but a land grant to railways. The first minister had pledged himself to the people of Victoria that if he was elected he would use his best endeavor to bring the Canada Northern to this city. He even went so far as to display the letter to the public and the draft bill by which the city of Victoria was to be benefited. It was not in the public interests to allow a public man to break his pledges in this way. The first duty of the Premier was to see the construction of the Canada Northern line. He was sent here to do that, pledged to do it to the city of Victoria. He was in a better position to-day than he was during last session. Why did the Premier not move along the lines outlined in that bill and give the member from Esquimalt an opportunity to give him the support which he left the ranks of the opposition to do on the ground that it would benefit the country.

Then what had become of the promise to introduce legislation providing for cold storage in the upper country. The Minister of Agriculture surely would do something in this direction as promised.

He thought that something should have been forthcoming as to the attitude of the government on the subject of the recommendations of the Provincial Mining Association's convention. Neither the mover nor the seconder referred to that subject. The Premier, he understood, had endorsed the convention to the extent of promising to hasten the proceedings of that convention.

Premier Prior explained that the government had only promised to assist in this.

Mr. McBride, continuing, said the conciliatory measure which was outlined, and which consisted largely in the publishing of the evidence, he had reasons to believe from a press letter written by J. C. Brown, the ex-Provincial Secretary, had been inspired by that gentleman. Or if not, it was, he felt sure, the work of the present Provincial Secretary, who had made a careful study of the labor question.

This matter should be carefully considered. The mere publication of the evidence gathered in the Provincial Gazette was not enough. He hoped that when the bill was introduced that it would show that advantages had been taken of the New Zealand legislation. Every one in the province lamented the labor troubles in British Columbia. The question was how to settle these. Strikes were terrible things. Having in view two of these, the C.P.R. trackmen's strike and the Pennington coal strike, he pointed out that in both of these the result of the arbitration had been in favor of the employees. In the light of these recent troubles it was seen that the employer and not the employee was to blame. This should be carefully considered. He hoped soon to see the strike settled at Ladysmith. The opposition had an anxiety to see conditions changed in the country in this regard and hoped to see work resumed in the mines.

The seconder of the motion represented the rich constituency of Lillooet. Even if there was no food for thought in the speech prepared by the government, yet he thought the member should have said something to say as to endorsement of the government. The member was in such an embarrassing position that he dare do nothing else but support this government. He felt sorry for the mover and seconder. Though the mover had lost his railway and the seconder admitted that the government was largely responsible for the present conditions, yet they supported this administration.

Going into the history during the recess, Mr. McBride said that the government had gone before the country in three instances. In West Yale and North Victoria the government was defeated by large majorities. In North Nanaimo the Hon. Provincial Secretary was returned by a large majority. There was a reason for this. Parker Williams, who opposed the Provincial Secretary, represented the Socialist party with some very radical ideas, and hence was defeated. Had Parker Williams followed his advice and given place to a straight opposition candidate the Provincial Secretary would have been defeated.

He attacked the government's attitude last session in depriving the constituency of North Victoria of a representative in order to prepare the constituency for the election of a member favorable to the government. It was even reported that the first minister endorsed the remarks of Mr. Robertson, that if any official of the government did not vote for the government candidate "off would go his head."

"That is not correct," said Premier Prior.

Mr. McBride said yet in spite of all these heroic measures they would have none of them.

"Who are they?" inquired Premier Prior.

"The electors of North Victoria, not those of Ross Bay," returned Mr. McBride.

Quoting from an interview appearing in the Vancouver Province, the Premier had said that "a stronger man might have won." That was all the thanks Mr. Robertson got for ten months' work. He pictured the anxiety of the government to provide wharves for the residents of the islands of North Victoria. The First Minister could scarcely sleep in his anxiety for the loss which the residents had experienced through lack of wharves.

In West Yale, during the election campaign, there was a great need for bridges. Bridges were promised at a vast number of points. In Lower Nicola a policeman was sent almost with indecent haste. A court house and jail, it was said, were promised. At Lytton a cable was being stretched for it. To serve Ascroft a road was to be built to reach the Island valley. The Minister of Agriculture, on account of a speech delivered by him, would likely be held responsible for this Island valley road.

These many bridges would be provided for in the estimates, he supposed. Otherwise they must believe that the government were only doing as in North Victoria, holding out inducements to the electors. The First Minister had tried to revive the sectional feeling between Island and Mainland.

Premier Prior objected to this.

Mr. McBride said he believed it was so reported in the government organ, the Colonist. He blamed the First Minister for reviving this sectionalism.

Richard Hall interjected that Mr. McBride was the greatest enemy Vancouver Island had.

Mr. McBride repudiated this and said he had always opposed that sectional feeling. He urged that Mr. Hall had assisted in this when he stated last year in debating the question of fish traps that the Fraser river had had a monopoly long enough and it was time Victoria got it.

Referring back to the Premier's violation of his pre-election pledges, Mr. McBride said that the First Minister, if he ever sought the suffrages of his constituents, would be defeated.

"Yes said that before," retorted the Premier.

Continuing, Mr. McBride said: "I admit I did, but I neglected to reckon Ross Bay."

The First Minister and the second member for Victoria (Mr. Hall) were little lighted on the subject. They would not be endorsed by the electorate.

Referring to the "impersonation cases" which had unhappily arisen in the North Victoria election, he said the opposition had nothing to do with the impersonation. They regretted that such should have taken place. They were more anxious to punish the violators of the election laws than the government was.

The First Minister had stated that he was not in favor of building up cities in the north. He was in favor of encouraging Victoria and Vancouver. What would the representatives of Cassiar and the Interior say to that? The Premier said in an interview published in the Vancouver Ledger stated that he had no favor with the establishment of a rival city at Port Simpson.

The Premier showed signs of objecting to the question of the election laws. "Do you deny it?" asked Mr. McBride of the Premier.

"I do," said the Premier.

Continuing, Mr. McBride said he believed it could be proved that these were the exact words of the Premier, and that the proofs had been revised by Premier Prior in the office of the Ledger.

Referring to the mission to Ottawa, Mr. McBride said that the visit of Premier Dunsmuir and the Attorney-General to Ottawa had been described by the present Provincial Secretary as resembling the trip of two foreign potentates. Would he have the same to say of this last visit.

Proceeding, he said the Premier had in his interview with the Premier at Ottawa and the Federal members shown that he did not know what was the amount returned to British Columbia in connection with the Chinese head tax. Premier Prior had asked for 50 per cent. of that tax. He was informed that the province had been receiving that amount.

The Premier denied that this took place.

The leader of the opposition read from the Globe report to substantiate his position.

The subject of Japanese immigration was a subject which required even greater attention than that of the Chinese question. If the province could not get redress from the Federal government in this respect he believed they would be justified in going to the Imperial parliament and seeking redress there. An excellent opportunity along this line had been missed by the delegation to Ottawa in respect to getting redress. The Premier of the other provinces might have been enlisted in this work.

The question of foreshore leases was touched upon. He viewed with concern the alienation of the foreshore. There was a direct promise that before anything was done in the disposition of these foreshores that the legislature would be appealed to.

Taking up the question of traps he was afraid that the introduction of these would work to the disadvantage of the salmon industry. The American people were showing a readiness to act in a conciliatory way in this respect. He thought it would be an opportune time for the government to seek to enter into negotiations with the American government to do away with trap fishing.

He referred also to the report that the Premier had neglected to attend a conference with the Premier of the Federal government at Ottawa on account of his absence at a banquet in Montreal. Nothing, he felt safe in saying, would result from this conference.

"Not if you can help it," retorted the Premier.

Mr. McBride said he and the other members of the opposition were prepared to assist in every way to get benefit from it.

Touching on the taxes upon the mining industry, Mr. McBride referred to the fact that the government was necessary and that other interests were taxed also. The lumbering interest had been made to pay a large share. The two per cent. tax was not what hurt British Columbia mining the most. It was rather the flotation of rotten mining enterprises.

He would favor measures being taken to counteract this latter. The influence of such schemes as those of Whittaker Wright had done a great deal of injury.

Stable conditions, and prosperity in this province would never be attained until the present government was subjected to the judgment of the people. This government had never been endorsed by the people. There should be an appeal to the country. Whenever the people got a chance to record their judgment they had decided against them.

The Premier had said he had a promise from the Lieut.-Governor to be allowed to go to the country.

Premier Prior, objecting, said he had never said so.

Mr. McBride said he had understood him to state that at the West Yale election.

Premier Prior congratulated the mover and seconder of the reply to the address. He had not given any reason for the statement that he intended to remove the two per cent. tax. Yet he believed that it would pay the farmers, and all other branches of industry in the province, to have the two per cent. tax removed altogether for two years. The country was not ripe for that, however. He hoped to adjust this tax.

The leader of the opposition had a reputation in the country as a speaker. He had not given a good account of himself in this respect. With such a subject as the King's speech he thought they should have expected better. He had devoted the great part of his speech to the account of what took place on the hustings.

No member of the government wished to remain in power if they do not have the confidence of the people.

He admitted that his aim and object was to get the Canada Northern railroad for this province. He had not gone back on that. He was able to look after himself as the representative of Victoria and the electorate of this city could look after their interests. He had been elected by them. He might or might not be so elected next time.

"You resigned. That is true that you handed your resignation to the chairman of your committee," asked Mr. McBride.

"It was not accepted," replied the Premier. (Laughter)

Continuing, the Premier said he was not going to fall into the discussion of election promises.

He paid a high compliment to the abolition of the tax on the value of the Provincial Mining Association. The government had seen fit to assist them at the outset. The association had appointed a committee to go to Fernie to endeavor to settle the trouble there. It was a young organization and short of funds. He had, on behalf of the government, promised the necessary funds. The labor of the committee had been attended with success and amply repaid the country for the money spent.

The conciliatory measure to be introduced had been carefully prepared. It was as long a time as it could be prepared. He had, on behalf of the government, promised the necessary funds. The labor of the committee had been attended with success and amply repaid the country for the money spent.

The leader of the opposition wanted compulsory arbitration.

"I did not say so," interjected Mr. McBride.

"He said it did not go far enough," said the Premier. The trades unions at

THE PROVINCIAL SITUATION.

Our old friend and genial adversary the Colonel is as happy and chirpy, apparently, under the most depressing circumstances as Mark Tapley ever was. The Premier is resting on no bed of roses at the present time. There are thorns in his Eden other than those Mr. McBride is endeavoring to thrust into his shrinking flesh. The Colonel knows he does not possess the confidence of the country, however reluctant a majority of the present Legislature may be to turn him over to the tender mercies of the people. He knows perfectly well that circumstances alone are responsible for the power he at present possesses, and is very far from enjoying. Notwithstanding the seeming confidence of the Colonel's tone in addressing the House yesterday, he feels keenly the fact that by his acts he has estranged the political friends whom he must look to in the future if he hopes for a prolongation of his term as Premier of British Columbia. The forces he might have organized and cemented into an enduring union by his vaunting ambition he has scattered and demoralized, and when the time comes for them to go forth to battle it will be as a rabble instead of as an orderly, well-disciplined force, strong and confident in its cause and hopeful of the result.

There can be no disguising the fact now that the people of British Columbia are disposed to regard a division of the political forces on "party lines" as a remedy for the uncertainties and unholy alliances which have characterized the movements of the members of the present Legislative Assembly. Conservatives are disposed to believe that but for the untoward intervention of Colonel Prior they would have been in a most favorable position to take advantage of the leanings of the electorate and the dissensions amongst Liberals. But if there are two factions of Liberals fighting about the disposition of the crown of leadership, there are at least three divisions of Conservatives jostling over the coveted position, with the Colonel holding the post which commands the whole situation and declaring that if he is pulled down he will drag the whole outfit with him.

To add to the miseries of the Premier's position, he is not only burdened and borne down by a tremendous load of broken pledges made personally to the people of his constituency, but more than any of the other members of the government he must be held responsible for the shortcomings and the blunders of the administration of which he is the head. It has frequently been asserted during the recess that the financial position of the province was perceptibly brightening, and that there was a strong probability of the receipts and expenditures, possibly for the first time in the history of the province, balancing. From an examination of the public accounts for the year ending June 30th last we should say, and we think the public will agree with us, that it is time for a change. The revenue for the year was $1,807,925.24 and the expenditure $2,537,373.22, the deficit being about three-quarters of a million dollars. In his statement last year the Finance Minister estimated that he would be in receipt of a revenue of considerably over two millions of dollars and that his deficit would be in the neighborhood of three hundred and thirty thousand dollars. No doubt the minister will be in quite as optimistic a frame of mind this year. When the financial critic of the opposition takes this matter up and confronts the Colonel with it no doubt the criticism will be met with the usual Tapleyan cheerfulness of spirit. Notes of hand covering the situation will be distributed with the business-like alacrity of a Micawber, in the hopes of something turning up at a later stage in the province's history to bring relief. But that sort of thing has been going on for years and nothing has turned up to produce an equilibrium. What is needed is a government that will do something. The receipts, it is true, have increased, but the expenditures have increased in a greater ratio. The time has arrived for a reformer to appear on the scene. It will be well for the province if he brings an axe with him, for the reform must be a root and branch one.

In view of the showing for the past year it would be interesting to know just how much of the new loan has been taken up and how far what is left of it will carry us along after all present liabilities have been met. How long will it be at the present rate of retrogression until the banks are again lifting us over the shoal places?

REVOLUTIONARY LEGISLATION.

The good old Tories of Great Britain must be rubbing their eyes these days and wondering where they are standing. Here is a government which was elected on the anti-home rule cry proposing a measure for the pacification of Ireland which the Gladstone party would not have dared to bring down. And it is hinted that the utmost has not yet been proposed for the cause of peace and harmony. It is proposed as a natural corollary of the land purchase scheme to grant a comprehensive measure of self-government, something that will approach very closely to the home rule the nationalists aspire to. The government has had its reward already, as but for the assistance it has received from the Irish members the administration would have been defeated in the House, so completely demoralized have its forces become. We wonder what the attitude of the House of Lords will be towards this reactionary programme. At the time the land purchase scheme was introduced the Times intimated that the tenants of England and Scotland would be apt to inquire when their case would receive consideration. We observe that a representative of an English constituency has asked the government when it proposes to extend its programme and make it applicable to the three kingdoms. The reply was not unfavorable. It was admitted that the time of the tenant farmers of the whole country may come and that the scope of the scheme may include more than mere followers of the agricultural industry. Something more radical than the mere uprooting of landlordism was hinted at. Verily the world do move when such things are hinted at in conservative, aristocratic England. The land purchase scheme is to be applied in Ireland as an experiment. If the results are satisfactory there, the benefits of a scheme similar in scope may be extended over the country generally. Before another generation or two shall have passed away conditions which in the abstract appear to be ideal may prevail in Great Britain.

The Hamilton Times says: In Ottawa on Saturday evening Sir Louis Davies rather "took down" Prof. Braze, a Vassar man, who had the bad taste to sneer at Britain's record of arbitration. The professor delivered an address on the French shore question, and in the course of it said the Newfoundlanders would refer the matter to arbitration, "but that Britain usually got the worst of it in arbitration." Sir Louis promptly rose and called the Anglophobe's attention to the falsity of his statements, pointing out that Britain had had 75 cases of arbitration. Of these she had lost 18, had wholly gained 25, and in 32 she had been awarded the predominance of power. Sir Louis further reminded Prof. Braze that all territorial rights in Newfoundland belonged to Great Britain. The Vassar man was a little confused, and the lesson in courtesy and facts may be good for him.

The all-red cable, it is said, will show a considerable deficit as the result of its first term's operations. The depression in Australia is to a large extent responsible for the discrepancy between receipts and expenditures. The showing, all things considered, is held to be very satisfactory. The dull times cannot last; there will soon be a different story to tell.

The London Chronicle holds that the Ontario government has done the right thing in insisting that the charges made by Gurney shall be referred to a judicial commission for investigation and report. This was the method adopted in the celebrated Parnell case, which resulted so disastrously for the prosecution and was followed by the suicide of the informer.

SOUTH AFRICAN LAND GRANTS. To the Editor:—Now that the House is in session we hope that the applications for land grants of those who served in the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth regiments of Canadian Mounted Rifles in South Africa will be considered. An act has already been passed giving the first contingent their land grants, but this act is only good to those who served up to 1901, so that there will have to be another act passed giving land grants to those who served in the later contingents. Hoping the government will consider these applications, and not make flesh of one and fish of another.

THAT BUSINESS DIRECTORY. To the Editor:—I notice in the Times a gentle reast re our Directory systems. We may say that this is the first reast we have ever received, and the cause, I presume, is on account of the Chinese firms appearing on the Directory. We will cut them out. I am very sorry we had the misfortune to get those firms, but they are all complimentary, and we did it to give a good representative list of all business firms. Our clearance in Victoria amounted to $10.85 when everything was paid, not $200 as the gentleman wrote to your newspaper. UNION PUBLISHING CO., LTD., April 4th, 1903.

COLUMBIA TOWED IN MINUS MASTS

REMARKABLE TRIAL IN STORM OFF CAPE

Vessel, After Drifting Four or Five Days, Picked Up by Norwegian Steamer.

A few terrific blows and the magnificent German ship Columbia, in a hurricane experienced off the Cape early last week, was stripped of her two forward masts, nothing being left but the jigger and mizzen tops. The ship was left practically helpless. Her crew went close to the deck, and of the rigging not a vestige remains. Briefly this is the condition of the ship as she was towed into Esquimaux this morning by the Norwegian steamer Norman Isles. That the wrecked ship ever reached port is a miracle. For four or five days she wallowed about in rough seas, drifting up and down the coast, until yesterday morning the steamer was signalled. At the time the Norwegian, in command of Capt. Peterson, was bound for China. She loaded lumber at Portland and had in her hold a cargo of Island's coals, taking in bunker coal. On Sunday morning she had passed out to sea.

The Columbia was a four-master. She is another such a vessel as the Alsterpik, having a tonnage of 2,518 tons. She left Kobe 65 days ago, and her trip from beginning to end has been adventurous. To begin with, she left the Oriental coast in a storm, and was carried far out at sea before the Japanese pilot had a chance to land. The pilot then determined to continue the voyage, but now says that he will never go to sea again. When the storm struck the Columbia three hundred miles off the Cape, the thermometer dropped to 28.88. A tremendous sea raged. Only very little canvas was set, and this went with the first heavy gusts.

What followed can best be imagined. With the falling of the wreckage the poop deck was slightly smashed in. In the galley the stove was overturned, and in fact the whole deck was strewn with rigging and masts. One man was hurt and laid up for a day, but the crew generally escaped most fortunately.

During the severity of the storm six canaries which were in the ship were weeks before set up a despairing chorus which continued while the excitement lasted. The effect was awe inspiring. The crew have not yet ceased talking of so remarkable an occurrence, and will probably never forget it. The Columbia is in charge of Capt. Schulte. She is in ballast, and was under charter to load at the Hastings mills. A heavy claim for salvage, amounting it is thought to about a third of her value, will, it is said, be entered against her owners by the owners of the Norman Isles. This vessel is in Esquimaux, but will proceed to sea just as soon as some basis of settlement can be arrived at. The Columbia will have to undergo extensive repairs before leaving port. Because of her long voyage re-insurance was yesterday advanced on her to 50 per cent.

SOMETHING IN LUCK. Capt. Andrews of the British ship Glenavon, which completed such a fast trip from Liverpool on Sunday, while not a believer in superstition, does think that there is something in luck. Though his ship made the voyage in 113 days, just six days longer than the memorable and record run of the Puritan, Capt. Amesbury, now a member of the Victoria and Vancouver Stevedoring Company, yet he does not attribute the remarkable performance so much to speed as to phenomenal luck. On scores of passages he has noted this. He has known ships of as great speed as the Glenavon to be in company with him at different parts of the ocean and yet he would arrive first by probably a couple of weeks. As for crowding canvas on a ship, the captain thinks that theory greatly overestimated, for a ship will only carry so much sail, and he never forces them to do more. The Glenavon is no stranger to Victoria. She has seen fifteen years of service and has been here at least three times.

NEW SOUND SERVICE. Steamer Rosalie will take the Majestic's run from April 14th to April 21st, inclusive, while the Majestic is being painted and otherwise overhauled for the summer traffic. When the Majestic resumes her run on April 22nd the Rosalie will be laid up for a week's overhauling so as to be ready to start the double daily service on May 1st. The double service will be performed by the Majestic and Rosalie during the month of May, and by the new steamer Clallam and Majestic after June 1st. The Clallam is to be launched on April 15th.

QUEEN CITY TO-NIGHT. It will be the Queen City which sails for west coast this evening. Having recently been thoroughly overhauled the vessel is now ready to resume her place on the run, relieving the Tees, which has been operated on the route during the last few months. The Queen City will carry among her passengers to-night H. Horel, A. P. Givens, W. J. Boyd, G. J. Johnston and H. E. Newton.

MARINE NOTES. The steamer Athol, of the China Commercial Steamship Company's fleet, has left Hongkong for San Francisco. The Athol is a 3,000-ton steamer built for freight traffic. She is expected early in May, as she will touch at Japanese and Chinese ports and will call in at Manzanillo before going to San Francisco. She will inaugurate the new Chinese line of which the two promoters recently visited Victoria. Schooner Hesperus, of Victoria, Capt. Fulton, 35 tons register, is lying at the C. P. EVIDENCE WAS NOT STRONG ENOUGH

ESTES CASE WAS DISMISSED YESTERDAY

Magistrate Did Not Feel Justified in Sending Him Up for Trial—Address by Counsel.

The case of George Estes, president of the U.B.R.E., charged with attempting to incite the crews of the Charmer and Danube to go out on strike and in this way delay the progress of the King's mails, will not require the deliberations of a jury. Yesterday afternoon Magistrate Hall decided that there was not sufficient evidence before him to justify a commitment to a higher tribunal and the defendant was thereupon dismissed. Thus has ended one of the most interesting cases brought before the criminal court for many years, and the only affair of its kind to attract the attention of the public in recent years, if not in the history of the city.

Counsel for the prosecution, E. V. Bodwell, K.C., with whom was associated Mr. Neill, of Vancouver, addressed the court for the greater part of the day. He went exhaustively into the evidence, which he described as overwhelming against the defendant, who, he pointed out, was not charged with personally delaying the progress of the steamers, but with attempting to incite others to do so. The court had to decide whether the evidence was sufficient to show that there was a question of substance for the consideration of a jury. The latter would take note of other things besides the words uttered by witnesses, and would be drawn from the witnesses' demeanor. Counsel referred to the manner in which several had given their evidence, pointed out that they had fenced and evaded questions which would have elicited answers in their opinion detrimental to the cause of Estes.

Counsel held that if it had been clearly proved that an attempt had been made to stop the Charmer and Danube. After the meeting in which it was determined to strike Mr. Bailey went down to the hold of the Charmer to call out the men, and it was only by extraordinary effort that the steamer was enabled to sail. After going into the motive for the strike, the desire of the U.B.R.E. for ascendancy and power, and the gratification of Mr. Estes' personal ambition, counsel traced its history, defining the efforts made for reconciliation and the plan of campaign undertaken by the strikers whereby they hoped to tie up the C.P.R. He also pointed out that the release of the tug "Clear" by the defendant's order showed that Estes was the head of the movement.

The men here in Victoria did not want to strike. Bailey made a number of trips to Vancouver to inquire into the situation, and in response to a request to call on him he had been refused. The strike had not knocked anything down; so they wanted it to extend to Victoria. Bailey interviewed Estes in Vancouver. The object was, according to a common sense inference, that the union did not want to strike, and Bailey, after his return, inspired by what he had heard in Vancouver, had called that meeting at which the strike was ordered. It was clearly shown that the seamen's union in Victoria had refused to strike, and pressure was brought to bear on them. In the first place Bailey had been over, and then C. H. Thompson came from Vancouver, read the riot act to them, and told them what their duty was. The purpose was to tie up the C.P.N. fleet, and Thompson argued to convince them that it was their duty to do what the headquarters association in Vancouver wished to further the strike.

Counsel recited at length the circumstances leading up to the strike of the local steamboat men. Estes and C. H. Thompson came down from Vancouver for the express purpose of inducing them to go out. Mr. Bailey had entered into an agreement with Capt. Troup stipulating that they wouldn't go out on strike without giving twelve hours' notice. This had tied their hands, and Bailey had shown that he had not the ability to deal with the case. Somebody more persuasive and of more prominence was necessary, so it was decided in Vancouver that Mr. Estes was to come down. He was invited to the private meeting held here. He certainly could not have gained access unless he was invited. He came down to talk to lead men, and at that meeting he induced them to take the step essential to the success of the U.B.R.E. movement. The evidence clearly showed that Estes was the moving spirit and dominating influence.

In reply Mr. Powell, for the defence, said he thought they had to face a crime, but all he could gather from Mr. Bodwell's remarks was that there had been a strike in Vancouver. No evidence of crime had been submitted, although the prosecution had embarked on an extensive voyage of research for it.

As to what took place in Vancouver, he considered that did not concern the case. He would not go into the dispute between the commercial body and the union. The U.B.R.E. was not a lawful organization. With the advance of trades unions it was shown that men had the same right to combine as men had corporations, and to do what was lawful to obtain their ends. They had the right to strike, quitting peacefully. If there were any acts of violence, the law reached them. He quoted several authorities in which it was held that men had the right to strike. As for the strike of the steamboat men, it had been decided to strike on the 13th, but Capt. Troup had made an agreement with the men suspending the strike.

Counsel went on to show how, under the rules of unionism, a grievance was passed from one union to another, and the unions struck simply because of their loyalty to the laws of unionism.

Counsel raised the point that the steamer must have started on her voyage before the offence of obstructing the passage or progress could be committed. Then also no evidence had been put forward to show the steamer was carrying mail.

Magistrate Hall said he had been unable to find any direct evidence against the defendant. He had gone through several hundred pages and failed to discover a single line, and there was therefore no case to go before a jury. Witnesses had sworn that Mr. Estes had no power to call out the steamboat men. This was a matter in which the union decided for itself. The evidence did not show that Estes had attempted to incite anyone to go on strike, but on the contrary had directed his efforts towards a settlement. The magistrate did not feel justified in sending the case up for trial, and he therefore dismissed it.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND THE SPRING SYSTEM CLEANSER AND HEALTH BUILDER MAKES SICK PEOPLE WELL.

There is nothing doubtful or uncertain about the working and effects of Paine's Compound. It stands supreme as a spring system cleanser and health builder. It reaches without loss of precious time the cause of sickness and disease in a way that no other remedy can do. Its first and most important mission is the purification of the life stream, increasing its volume and quality. It then stirs all the organs that work sluggishly. It restores strength, renews vitality, regulates the kidneys, liver and bowels, and makes people well and strong. For these reasons Paine's Celery Compound as a spring medicine stands far above all other prescriptions and remedies that promise so much and accomplish so little.

"I am now sixty years of age, and have been ill for nearly twenty years. During my long illness doctors and patent medicines failed to cure me. At the hospital I was told that I was suffering from tumors; and often, no matter how I tried to cheer myself, I felt like putting an end to my life. I heard of your Paine's Celery Compound and commenced to use it, and it has done wonders for me. I feel better than ever before in my life, and my friends are surprised at the wonderful change in my health. Paine's Celery Compound is a grand medicine, and I will always recommend it."

HOLDS INQUIRY IS NOT COMPULSORY

THE JUDGE REFUSED TO GRANT MANDAMUS

Text of Judgment in Application Concerning Charges Preferred Against a Local Practitioner.

As briefly announced in yesterday's Times, Mr. Justice Drake refused the application for a mandamus to compel the Medical Association to hold an inquiry into charges preferred against a local practitioner.

The rule nisi was granted in this case upon the facts stated in Mr. Inverarity's affidavit, in which he makes certain definite charges against a medical man for malpractice and want of care and skill owing to intoxication while attending the wife of the complainant, and for cutting up the body of Mrs. Inverarity after death without obtaining the leave of her husband.

There is nothing in the act which compels inquiries to matters which are capable of being investigated in a court of law. The charges of infamous or unprofessional conduct, to use the language of the act, are dealt with independent of any legal rights the complainant may have.

At any other time I should have been curious and excited, and my first thought would have been to put an advertisement in the paper; but as it was, it didn't seem to matter very much whether the handsome young man who had dropped the bag got his property back to-morrow or the next week, though, of course, he must—

As I sat waiting—a perfect mass of electric wires—there was a sound of footsteps outside the door, and when it opened there stood Noel himself with two men in uniform. One of them came in with him; I suppose he must have been a warder, and he stopped near the door of the room, which was so small that everything one said in an ordinary tone of voice could be heard from one end to the other.

I sprang up from the chair in which I had been sitting and began to talk as quickly as I could, for there was a strange look in Noel's eyes which pierced my heart, and I did not know what he might say before he understood my position.

"We are all so dreadfully sorry for what has happened, Mr. Brent," I stammered, trying to be quite cool, like an ordinary friend, though suddenly I loved him more than I ever had, and could have forgiven worse things than he had done if only, only he had loved me, and not that other. "I couldn't help coming at once, as I knew my father would wish me to, so I got permission to see you. And—what I wanted to say is—at least one of the things—I think the lady here in Paris who we spoke of at the railway station in London yesterday—what ages ago!—might be able to do something to get you out of this position before it becomes more disagreeable, and as for me, I saw you in the street after you left us all in the hotel; that is why I mention the other matter, because you can guess that the two might be connected, and if there is anything I can do—"

I spoke very, very fast, hoping that the warder might not be familiar enough with English to catch every word, and only hitting the mark instead of saying them straight out. But when I had gone so far, Noel cut me short.

"I can't tell you how much I thank you for this," he said. "It's far beyond thanks, though it's like you to have come, Miss McKeen. It's wonderful enough for me to know that you should do it, but as for what you propose, it must not be. Nothing would be gained—rather the other way. Believe me when I say that I know this. And neither you nor any of my friends—who are here about me—Everything will surely come right, sooner or later, though I may have to suffer a little annoyance for a while."

"Annoyance!" I echoed. "If only it is no worse than that."

"It won't be. I shall be well defended. It will all be shown up as a huge mistake."

"There's nothing I—we can do then?" I asked, miserably, conscious that he was determined not to have Juliette de Nevers's name brought in.

"He hesitated a moment. "I suppose," he said at last, "that there's no use hoping you will believe me innocent of something else which hurts me worse than the accusation that has landed me here?"

"I think there's not much use talking of that," I answered.

"Well," sighed Noel, "I won't talk of it then, though I hoped—oh, don't misunderstand me—I know that after all this disgraceful publicity I would not have the right to press for anything beyond bare justice. I wouldn't do it even if I had the right. But I hoped you might have come to say that, though nothing could be as it might have been, you believed me true."

IT STARTS YOU THINKING.

The first dish of Malt Breakfast Food that you try will start you thinking. You wonder why you were so long a user of oatmeal and rolled oats. You will think too of the times when you felt out-of-sorts through the use of blood-irritating and starchy oatmeal preparations. You will regretfully think of what you have missed in the past of Baver, deliciousness and palate-pleasing qualities. Unless your taste is sadly depraved or very peculiar, you will quickly determine that Malt Breakfast Food will be your chosen cereal food whenever you can get it in the morning. Malt Breakfast Food affords mental vigor and lasting health. See your Grocer about the great health food.

A couple of tonsorial artists on Douglas street got mixed up this morning, and in the combat managed to imprint a few illumination effects on each others' faces. Flits, not razors, were used, and honors were about even judging by the effects. This is a very unrelaxing way of ascertaining the fortunes of the struggle. It is true, but in the absence of a referee it is the only way.

The matter was up before the health committee of Vancouver last week and Inspector Marston then asked that action on the overcrowding and alterations in buildings be left over till he could inquire into the Victoria by-law.

Yesterday afternoon the funeral of William Lucas took place at 2 o'clock from the family residence, Toluca avenue. Services were conducted at the house and at the Cedar Hill cemetery by Rev. J. Grundy, of St. Mark's church, Cedar Hill. There was a large attendance of sympathizing friends, and many beautiful floral tributes. Flats following acted as pall-bearers: Messrs. V. Dempsey, A. Duncan, R. Keeler, A. D. Young, J. Elsworth and C. Chislett.

The Nicola Aspen Grove Mining Association is the first branch of the main organization to send returns in to headquarters. Its officers are as follows: President, A. G. Howse; first vice-president, Geo. Murry; second vice-president, J. S. Bates; secretary, A. R. Carrington; treasurer, Jas. Pooley; executive committee, Messrs. A. Sim, John Clapper, M. P. Stewart, Wm. Munro. Representatives on the central finance committee were appointed. This branch was organized on April 1st. A meeting was scheduled to be held at Kaslo on Friday last for the purpose of organizing a branch.

La Grippe, that pernicious terror, has seized several clerks in the post office, and three or four letter carriers. Until they recover mail delivery will be somewhat slow, and the general public will have to make allowance for circumstances over which nobody has any control. This tedious demoralizer is no respecter of persons. It attacks everybody with impunity, and leaves no foothold if it goes through an entire establishment. It even interferes with police officers in the discharge of their duty, a serious offense under the law, and one which cannot be punished.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL-CUMBERLAND REFEREES.

A telegram was received from Cumberland yesterday to the effect that the latter team will be unable to play the Capitals on Good Friday for the provincial intermediate championship. It was stated that the only day it is convenient for Cumberland to play is on a Wednesday, and the Capitals are certain it will be almost a possibility to take up a good strong team on any day in the middle of the week.

ATHLETICS.

The annual meeting of the Capital Athletic Association was held at their hall, James Bay, last evening, there being a fair attendance. Important business was transacted, principal of which was the receiving of reports and the election of officers for the ensuing term.

The report of the secretary was very satisfactory, showing that the record of the club during the past season has been one which the members can regard with pride. The club had entered teams in the junior league, the intermediate baseball league, the senior, intermediate and junior basketball. The club team was the latter league, had taken second place in the intermediate league, but had not been so successful in the senior series of games. The junior and intermediate Association football leagues had been won by the Capital team, and the junior lacrosse league had been lost by the Capital team only after a hard struggle. The boys had tied with the Central school fifteen, but in the final had been defeated by a very narrow margin. The club was now looking for the intermediate provincial championship, and were organizing a team that would make a good bid for this honor. The first game of junior Rugby played by the club had been successful, and next season it was the intention to have both junior and intermediate Rugby teams in the field. This year, when read, was greeted with enthusiastic applause. It was adopted unanimously. The financial secretary was then called upon to make his report. This also caused the greatest satisfaction, showing as it did that, although the club is by no means rich, all expenses have been paid and there is a small balance of about $10 in the treasury.

upon to make his report. This also caused the greatest satisfaction, showing as it did that, although the club is by no means rich, all expenses have been paid and there is a small balance of about $10 in the treasury.

President W. A. Lorimer then addressed the meeting. After congratulating the club on its success, he advised the members to pull together during the ensuing season and make the year an even greater success than the past season had been. He outlined some of the plans of the association for the new year, and warned the members that in order to carry out the intentions to a successful issue it would be necessary that they all work together for the best interests of the club.

The election of officers next took place. Col. Gregory was elected as honorary president, W. A. Lorimer was re-elected president, J. Henfrey was chosen recording secretary, Ed. Whyte financial secretary, and committees were selected as follows: Finance committee, F. Schroeder, G. Temple, A. J. Cookley; social committee, J. Richmond, T. Gawley, E. Fawcett; athletic committee, L. Sweeney, J. Lorimer, T. Peden, A. Haughton and W. Laing.

Mrs. Weisslitz, president of the German Womans' Club of Buffalo, N. Y., after doctoring for two years, was finally cured of her kidney trouble by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Of all the diseases known with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless prompt and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives. Being fully aware of this, Mrs. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that dreaded disease, woman's kidney troubles. The Vegetable Compound acts in harmony with the laws that govern the entire female system, and while there are many so-called remedies for kidney troubles, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women.

Read What Mrs. Weisslitz Says.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For two years my life was simply a burden. I suffered so with female troubles, and pains across my back and loins. The doctor told me that I had kidney troubles and prescribed for me. For three months I took his medicine, but grew steadily worse. My husband then advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and brought home a bottle. It is the greatest blessing ever brought to our home. Within three months I was a changed woman. My pain had disappeared, my complexion became clear, my eyes bright, and my entire system in good shape."—MRS. PAULA WEISSLITZ, 176 Seneca St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Proof that Kidney Trouble can be Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel very thankful to you for the good your medicine has done me. I had doctored for years and was steadily growing worse. I had trouble with my kidneys, and two doctors told me I had Bright's disease; also had falling of the womb, and could not walk a block at a time. My back and head ached all the time, and I was so nervous I could not sleep; had hysteria and fainting spells, was tired all the time, had such a pain in my left side that I could hardly stand at times without putting my foot on something.

"I doctored with several good doctors, but they did not help me any. I took, in all, twelve bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, five boxes of Liver Pills, and used three packages of Sanative Wash, and feel like a new woman, can eat and sleep well, do all my own work, and can walk two miles without feeling over tired. The doctors tell me that my kidneys are all right now. I am so happy to be well, and I feel that I owe it all to your medicine."—MRS. ORAL STRONG, Dalton, Mass.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address Lynn, Mass.

Gold medalist. Can read you from childhood. She is the most famous palmist that has ever been in Victoria. All those whom she has met have been well pleased with the accurate readings. Both in phrenology and palmistry she reads very accurately. She has been in several homes where Prof. Alexander has been, and they were just as well pleased with her readings. The phrenology is indispensable. Think of it, parents, what a snap, only one dollar for children. Admits two dollars; palm reading, one dollar. Miss Best still offers a free ticket and a ring.
